

Probably the greatest mystery of present inter-national policy is the cooperation of European countries in defying US efcountries in defying US efforts to prevent construction of the Yamal pipe line from Siberia to Western Europe, and to set up the deal making themselves dependent on the Soviets for a large part of their future fuel needs. This situation is puzzling not only in that it is loaded with possibilities of becoming the victims of Russian applied economic and political pressures, but also that they are double crossing the ally which has been a staunch supporter in the past and even now joins them in defending their homeland.

One has to wonder about homeland.

One has to wonder about the European problem if US were to respond in the same spirit. Suppose our country decided to withdraw its NATO troops and leave those countries exposed to the tender mercies of the Communist monster which has already taken over a Communist monster which has already taken over a large part of the world. While mulling over that thought those people ought to give special consideration to the fact that their own close-up neighbors like Poland, Romania, Hungary, East Germany and others have already been gobbled up by the Red monster.

Really it's hard to believe that people can be aware of such consequences and take a stand risking their very survival. This could develop survival. This could develop soon if the international snub leads to a decline of American influence over there. Or it could develop later after the pipe line deal gives Russia control over the European fuel supply. Moscow then would be in a position to demand its way or leave the millions in the cold.

If this sounds like an unscrupulous ultimatum, we would do well to remember that it does not clash with Soviet principle. Lots of treaties have been ignored and lots of countries have been taken over by the Reds.

and lots of countries have been taken over by the Reds. They are not concerned with right and wrong but only by what serves their purpose.

Before leaving this thought we have to consider that European countries may have studied the situation and decided that it's already too late to resist Moscow. As depressing as this idea is, it presents the possibility that European leaders see the handwriting on the wall. Already convinced that they can't lick 'em, they may have decided to join 'em.

This idea leads to President Reagan's frustration over Europe's choice. He definitely does not think that Moscow has a cinch in its world conquest. On the contrary, he believes that the free world can still be the ultimate winner. However he is practical enough to know the everny has made tremedous progress and it's high time for others to get together in a show-down for exercical.

tremedous progress and it's high time for others to get together in a show-down for survival. It's easy to understand why he demanded rigid control by US and its allies over items needed for the Yamal project.

The president's idea in this respect applies to more than just the pipe line. He knows from the historical record of more than 50 years that Communism has been sustained by American help. It begged, borrowed and stole from us to sustain the system that was not able to support itself. Its present debt is enormous, and much of the help from us was free to help in disaster, and the

Huge Harvest Hoedown is ready

Final preparations are in progress this week to shane up the most appealing Harvest Hoedown ever promoted in Muenster. It is intended as a combined fun and saving event in appreciation to friends who have been buying here as well as an occasion for stores to offer special values.

special values.

The Hoedown is spon-sored by the Chamber of

She has listed the featured attractions along with a schedule telling when they are booked.

Total fun time of the Hoedown is 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and Shorty the Clown will mingle from 11 to 4 shaping ballons and visiting, and giving his magic show at Mid-Park at 1 o'clock.

Another crowd pleaser is Danny Darwin, Texas Rangers pitcher, who will mix with the crowd 12:30 to 2:30.

The Number 1 attraction for kids is the ping pong ball drop at 12:30. It should gain 100 percent in popularity because the number of balls has increased from 200 to 400. Balls are redeemable for $1.00 in trade anywhere in town and a number of special balls will have premium value. Kids are reminded that the balls will be dropped from an airplane on the second, block of Main Street.

Specially for the event, business people have been invited to have displays and costumes, the judging for which will start at 1 p.m.

Another special is a pie contest and auction sponsored by Beta Kappa as a benefit to finance flood repairs at Camp Sweeney. Anyone can participate with no limit on the number of pies entered. The pies may be delivered to the Chamber of Commerce office, 115 E. First St., between 10 and 2. Judging starts at 2. At 3 pies will be taken to an auction at Mid Park, across from the Chamber office, where starting bids of $25, $15, and $10 are guaranteed for first, second and third place pies. The selling price of the top three becomes the prize to the person who entered the pie. Proceeds from auction of the other pies will go to the Camp Sweeney fund.

Still another big attraction is a drawing sponsored by business firms. Over 40 are participating by providing a prize and conducting a free registration for visitors to their stores. At 4 p.m. Saturday all tickets will be mixed for the drawing. Names drawn are the winners. A person need not be present to win. Then there will be another drawing at which the winner must be present. This is for four tickets to the Cowboys game with Cleveland on Thanksgiving day (with a hope that the players are back in business by then.) A minimum age of 18 is required for registrations.

Other attractions of the day are bargain prices on hot dogs, lemonade, Dr. Pepper and Coke. Regarding hot dogs, the Chamber will provide the makings and library personnel will do the work and keep the proceeds for library needs. Likewise lemonade makings will be provided by the Chamber and cheerleaders of the two schools will share proceeds for doing the work.

Armed mental patient holds Judy Fisher hostage 17 hours

Judy Fisher, 23 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Fisher, is gradually getting back to normal after being rescued from 17 hours as hostage of a mental patient on the 11th floor of John Peter Smith Hospital in Fort Worth. The actual experience was a strain and she came out of it mentally and physically exhausted.

Her deliverance from the nightmare came about 1 p.m. last Friday after alert policemen stormed the entrance of a room occupied by Jimmy Brown, 34. Brandishing a small black pistol, he had kept Judy in the room with him. Near 1 o'clock he told her to get ice from an ice machine some 20 feet away. Policemen who were nearby but out of sight from the hostage room, heard the order and were ready when Judy came. Immediately after she came through a door they fired shots at the opening to keep the gunman isolated inside while she dropped to the floor and crawled to the shelter of the nurse's station. The policemen captured Brown unharmed in moments. Her deliverance from the room. He made no objection when the other two walked away about 11:30 while Brown was on the phone speaking to police.

Judy became the lone hostage when the gunman made a deal with police to release Mrs. Anderson in return for hamburgers and a pack of cigarettes. He had been pointing the gun, which he said was a 32 caliber pistol, at her, but was agreeable when she asked him not to point it at her. After that he pointed at the floor and ceiling.

Judy said he tried to be nice to her and told her he released Mrs. Anderson because she had children and because Judy was Judy's intention was to speak with him, hoping he would eventually tire and fall asleep, the conversation being on light subjects and a number of jokes. That was all right except when he got moody. Then she thought it was safer to be quiet. He said he did not want to kill anyone but wanted to be killed. She asked him not to induce police to shoot because she might be hit by stray bullets. stray bullets.

Waiting to greet Judy on her release were ner parents and her brothers Gary and Robert. Mrs. Fisher was visiting with Gary and family at Mesquite when she first heard of the capture on TV.

Knowing it was duty time for Judy at the hospital she called and her fear was confirmed. Administrative personnel invited her to come and be the hospital's guest while rescue efforts were under way. Mrs. Fisher had the highest praise for hospital personnel as well as the tactical squad of Fort Worth police. She said they were hospitable and cooperative all the time, answering every question they

Before coming to the hospital, Mrs. Fisher notified her husband at home and Robert at his home in Arlington. They came to the hospital Friday morning.

Ginny Fisher, escorted by Gary Klement is seen with the crown and roses received when she was named queen of the Muenster Public School homecoming. Other candidates for the honor were Kyla Hale, Stephanie Richey and Shelly Zimmerer.

COMMENT

The Owner's Manual

It has been said that many people worry themselves into an early grave. Many verses in the Bible speak out against the act of worrying. One of these is Psalm 127:2 which says, "It is vain for you to rise up early, to sit up late, to eat the bread of sorrows."

One definition of worry is One definition of worry is that worry is "assuming responsibilities that God never intended for us to have." Worry has also been defined as "a small trickle of fear that meanders through the mind until it cuts a channel into which all thoughts are drained." The psalmist tells us of the futility of rising up early and stiting un late to mull over sitting up late to mull over troubles that are beyond our control. Putting our trust in God's good leading and providence is the only an-tidote for this needless anxiety.

Jan Maclaren warned against the adverse effects of worry. He inquired, "What does your anxiety do? It does not empty tomorow of its sorrow, but it does empty today of its strength. It does not make you escape the evil, it makes you unfit to cope with it when it comes."

J. Arthur Rank devised a practical way of handling this problem. Not having enough faith to overcome his troubles immediately, he decided that the next best thing was to postpone thinking about them until his mind had cleared. So when something disturbing his mind had cleared. So when something disturbing occurred, he wrote the problem on a card and would not dwell on it until a little time had passed. Then when he reviewed the difficulties that had been of such concern a week or so. such concern a week or so before, he found to his sur-prise that most of them had already disappeared. He therefore concluded that unnecessary waste of energy and loss of sleep, for God had stepped in and directed things along paths he had never envisioned.

We cannot deny that cer-tain cares are real, but we are instructed to turn them over to the Lord, for He has over to the Lord, for He has promised to provide all that is needful. Jesus himself said in Matt. 6:32b-33," For your heavenly Father knoweth that ye have need of all these things. But seek you first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness, and all these things shall be added unto you." As you can see, God knows our needs even before we ask, but before we can expect him to meet our needs, we need to make sure that we put him first in our lives. So, troubled heart, stop troubled heart, stop worrying. Start trusting God.

Out of the recent public debate on whether and how to change our income tax system has come an idea which many believe will make it more fair and simpler to manage. You will be hearing a great deal about this proposal in the weeks ahead, so I would like to take a moment to discuss its strengths and weaknesses

Advocates of the "flat-rate tax" want to see everyone taxed at the same percentage rate, and to eliminate all tax deductions. This, they contend, would be fairer, because the deductions. Ins, they contend, would be fairer, because the rich could not take refuge in tax shelters. The rate middle-income taxpayers pay would be lower, so even without tax deductions, many people would pay less than they do now. The flat-tax rate would be simpler and cheaper for both taxpayers and the government, and would result in more investment since there no longer would be the incentive to put money into losing concerns to save tax dollars, according Certainly, our tax system is too complicated. And in too many cases, middle income workers -- particularly mar-ried couples -- without enough deductions to itemize their returns wind up paying a disproportionate share of their in-come in taxes. More than half of all government regulations come from the Internal Revenue Service. Clearly, reforms

However, the flat-rate tax carries some pitfalls that must be considered before it is embraced as the answer to our problems.

Tax deductions, or expenses that are exempt from tax-ation, have been created with specific goals in mind. Ex-traordinary medical expenses are exempt because we have decided that we should give some assistance to families which must bear this financial burden. Home mortgage interest is deductible because we as a nation have tried to make it easier for families to own their own homes. Some forms of income, most notably Social Security, are exempt from taxation entirely because we have come to believe we should not diminish further the frequently small incomes of our

A true flat-rate tax would eliminate all of these considerations, and I am far from convinced that such an action would be consistent with our national goals and

Additionally, our current progressive tax structure is based on a belief that those who have higher incomes are able to pay a higher percentage of their incomes in taxes. A flat-rate tax, by definition, would not be progressive. Even without any deductions or tax shelters, high-income taxpayers would pay less into the federal treasury than they do

Some proposals would keep some of the deductions most frequently used by middle-income Americans, or even create two or three different tax brackets so that those with higher incomes would continue to pay a greater percentage of their income in taxes

But if we decide to keep some deductions and eliminate others, more questions as to fairness arise.

Your letters to me indicate that an increased number

Your letters to me indicate that an increased number of Texans are interested in the concept of the flat-rate tax, but that opinion is about evenly divided on its merits. Nor is there a consensus among either Democrats or Republicans.

The Senate Finance Committee will begin hearings on the subject Sept. 27. I will follow the testimony with great interest, because I believe it will be most helpful in illuminating the advantages and disadvantages of the flat-rate tax and its variations. No major revision of our tax code should be made hastily, without full consideration of all of the ramifications.

I hope you will give me the benefit of your views on the subject as public discussion continues in the weeks ahead.

$100 BILLION QUESTION

The do-gooders are at it again. They think they've discovered a "new" cure for black unemployment. All it will take is a little money... about $100 billion. What do we get for our money? We get a new government boondoggle that those of us who have been around for a while will recognize as a jazzy, dressed-up version of the old Humphrey-Hawkins "full-employment" scheme of a few years ago. The new plan, as all new plans scheme of a few years ago. The new plan, as all new plans do, has a pleasant-enough sounding name: the "Universal Employment and Training System."

What it amounts to, however, is throwing good money after bad — a policy that hasn't worked in the past, and won't work now.

The new scheme was given its debut at the recent National Usban League convention. Usban League National Urban League convention. Urban League President John E. Jacobs described the plan as a domestic Marshall Plan for people; our own people.

There is, of course, a serious problem here that deserves our attention. Black unemployment stands at nearly 20 percent — more than double the national average. Black tenage unemployment, according to Clarence Pendleton. teenage unemployment, according to Clarence Pendleton, Chairman of the U.S. Civil Rights Commission, is above 50 percent. And that's a disgrace.

The $100-billion question is, what can and should we be doing about the problem?

Social scientist Charles Murray, who is starting to receive national attention for his pioneering research into the effects of throwing money at poverty, alcoholism, unwed motherhood, joblessness, and other social problems, unwed mothermood, jobiessness, and other social problems, has concluded in a new study that most Great Society programs have actually been counterproductive; the more money we have thrown, he shows, the more people who have been encouraged to line up to catch the money.

Dr. Murray claims there is a myth that badly needs debunking: namely, "that the federal government has in its power to do something about our most severe social."

its power to do something about our most severe social problems, if only we are willing to spend the money."

Jacobs says, "A Marshall Plan for the 1980s would rebuild the cities and get our dying industries producing again for the benefit of all. More important, it would reach out to the poor and the unskilled with job training opportunities"— which, one would be led to believe, we opportunities — william, one the haven't done in the past.

To the contrary, in fiscal 1980 more than $10.8 billion more than $10.8 billion.

was spent on training and employment programs, more than double the amount ($4.9 billion) spent in 1975. Yet, foday, joblessness stands at a record post-war high.

Joblessness stands at a record post-war high.

The reason is simple: because the economy has fallen on hard times. Not because we aren't spending record amounts of money to combat these problems.

What we need, Dr. Murray would argue, is a revolutionary new approach that instead of making the cities, dying industries, and the poor wards of the state, will encourage them to fend for themselves.

Murray believes for example, that competition broads.

will encourage them to fend for themselves.

Murray believes, for example, that competition breeds excellence. Thus, he suggests that if the federal government were to offer a limited number of full college scholarships to needy, exceptional students, there would be a real incentive for students to do well in school. While the cream of the crop would receive a free ride through college, the competition for the scholarships would result in many others also doing well in school. And they, and society, will all be better off.

CRIME: IT'S THE VICTIMS WHO ARE LOCKED UP

LOCKED UP

I want to talk to you this week about an issue that troubles me greatly and which I know is of great concern to Texans. It seems that whenever I have spoken about crime in the past 12 months I have gotten a strong and troubled response. No matter where I am—Jewett, Roma or Dalhart—people tell me they are angry and afraid about crime in our state.

This anger and fear concerns me for two reasons. First, because this kind of anger and fear serves as a sort of "jail" for innocent people. They are the ones locked in their homes at night while criminals go free. The second reason I am concerned is because unless something is done to stop the crime epidemic, neople will be riple for the kind of politician who will play on citizens' lears. The result could be that Texans lose their liberty in return for their "safety". In that sense, the crime problem is like a cancer growns or served and the could be that Texans lose their liberty in return for their "safety". In that sense, the crime problem is like a cancer growns or a democracy. The incumbent Lt. Governor's response to the crime issue has been shameful. While he has been in office the erime rate has risen 131%. He has done nothing to attack crime in a substantial way. In fact, he has fought stronger anti-crime measures. He openly opposed the new wiretapping law designed to catch drug dealers. He openly opposed the Governor's anti-crime package by putting it in a legislative committee run by a hostile Senator, who promptly bottled it up. Much of the package passed anyway and now Mr. Hobby has the gall to go around the state taking credit for it!

His sympathies in the fight against crime are evident. Not long ago he allowed the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) to hold a fundraiser in its Houston mansion and he proudly defends it. The ACLU has consistently opposed laws that would make it easier to deal with the crime problem.

COLLEGE STATION —
Texas is now the fastest growing state, says a census analyst who predicts that by 1990 the Lone Star State will be the second largest state in the nation.
Dr. Robert L. Skrabanek, a Texas A&M University sociologist and demographer, compares Texas to a "giant human magnet pulling people from all regions of the country."
During the 15 month period ending July 1, 1981, Texas added more people than all the 22 northern states put together," said Skrabanek, "and for the first time, Texas had a larger growth rate in percentage and in number of people than the nation's most populated state, California."

Tigers trample Panthers 33-7

In their best game of the season to date, Sacred Heart's Tigers rolled over the Saint Jo Panthers last week by a count of 33 to 7.

It was a good team effort in spite of an occasional break down, according to Coach Virgil Henscheid who was pleased with the continued improvement. "Our aim is to keep up the good work, making fewer mistakes all the time."

Though Sacred Heart played a fine game and savored the joy of victory, Saint Jo stole the show. About half way through the second period with the Panthers on their own 1 yard line, Clint Thurman passed to Kevin Reeves who broke away on a touchdown gallop, a distance of 99 yarto Kevin Reeves who broke away on a touchdown gallop, a distance of 99 yards. It was the Panthers' only TD, and Steven Tucker's extra point kick upped the score to 7.

Otherwise Sacred Heart dominated, starting the runaway on first possession. The 73 yard drive was completed in nine plays, Ricky Hennigan crashing through tackle for the last 9. Curtis Henscheid's kick added a point as the clock read 8:45. varsity and JV at Nocona, 4

After the Panthers punted to end their first series SH launched its second drive with 66 to go. It used 10 plays including a 14 yard screen pass to Hennigan and an 11 yard pass to Herr. Neil Hesse made the last yard through the middle.

For the remaining 4:16 of the first quarter and the beginning of the second, the game had variety. Item 1: Wade Walterscheid recovered a fumbled punt for SH. Item 2: Kelly Guerin intercepted for Saint Jo. Item 3: two runs by Hennigan and one by Herr gained 31 to the Panther 5 where Chris Parker recovered a fumble for Saint Jo. Item 4: Thats when Saint Jo made the 99 yard sensational play.

Then the Tigers took over a 78 yard drive featuring a 54 yard run to the 13 by Hennigan. The drive used 10 plays and Hesse hit the middle for the last yard.

In the remaining 3:50 of the second period, Saint Jo had brief success gaining 35 yards before losing possession on its fourth series. Half time score was 21-7.

After intermission the Tigers got going again. It was a 38 yard drive overcoming 25 yards of penalties along the way, and using 11 plays. Hennigan made the last 5 yards at 4:35 in the third. A pass for two extra points failed to connect.

The final touchdown came early in the last quarter after Wade Walterscheid intercepted on the Panther 44. Hesse stepped off 6 yards of the distance on the next play and finished the job with a 38 yard sprint up the middle. A kick for bonus point was bad. minutes had a few more big plays. At one point Thurman was apparently headed for a score when Hennigan nailed him at midfield after a gain of 39 yards. Moments later Saint Jo fumbled after completing a first down and Bret Walterscheid recovered on the Tiger 39.

Tigers will play at Bryson Friday

A big question mark looms will have their hands full, in front of the Sacred Heart Tigers as they journey to Bryson for this week's pleasing performance at Saint Jo last Friday. They adminated both offense and current record of 1-1-1, defense, rushing and which includes a tie with the highly respected Throckmorton team.

Other data is that the team is husky, with a 185 Panther yardage would have average in the line, and it based in the line, and it based in the line and it based in the line real "taste-treat of dogs.

The canine birth control pill, Ovaban®, is certainly a treat for concerned dog owners, particularly for those who wish to breed their animals sometime in the future. It is a convenient, effective alternative to surgically spaying your animal.

Developed by Schering Veterinary, a leading manufacturer of animal health and veterinary products, Ovaban, an oral contraceptive, is the only canine birth control pill currently approved for use in breeding animals. In the seven years since its U.S. introduction, Ovaban has proven to be a safe, reversible and dependable method for controlling a female dog's heat cycle.

It works by creating a hormonal excess in the blood-stream, which signals the brain to shut down production of the heat-inducing chemical. Unlike human birth control pills, Ovaban is given once a day for only eight days, beginning at the first sign of heat. Treatment is not repeated until the animal again goes into heat, usually in about six months. When you wish to breed your dog, simply do not repeat the treatment. Your animal will be ready for breeding at her next heat cycle.

Trojans nudge Hornets 8-7

Two big plays spoiled the homecoming game for Muenster's Hornets Friday night. The Windthorst Trojans did the spoiling, first by scoring on an 80 yard pass play, and then making good on their choice of a two pointer for the PAT attempt. That was a goahead two pointer for the PAT attempt. That was a go-ahead play and they held the 8-7 lead for the remaining 4 minutes and 35 seconds.

The TD play was a combination of good pass and good run as Bacon was wide open for the heave of some 25 yards by Baumer and got the help of two timely blocks as he headed for pay dirt.
Carl Sicking, in hot pursuit, for his feet near the 10, but failed to reach him. Baumer lofted an easy pass to Tim Schneider in the end zone for the precious 2 points.

The one point margin is about the measure of what the visitors earned, their performance being better but just barely. Whereas the Hornets led in rushing gains they were a poor second in passing, MHS runs added to about 130 and WHS to 65, but passes were 1 of 8 for 14 for MHS and 5 of 14 for 122 for WHS. But that's only a part of the story. Along with 2 interceptions and five incompletions Muenster was caught on 5 quarterback sacks. Yardage lost by them was 53, so Muenster's net rushing was actually cut back to 75.

In the ground game the Hornets did considerably better. In spite of Trojan advantage in size and experience, Muenster moved the ball and held the visitors to low yardage.

The game started as a stalemate: a first down by Muenster, then a kick; a first down by Windthorst and an exchange of kicks, and an interception by Leslye Wells giving the Hornets fine field position only 21 yards away. Carl Sicking made the distance in 4 carries and Kevin Felderhoff's kick upped the count to 7-0 with 21 seconds remaining in the first quarter.

The second quarter was about even. After an exchange of kicks Windthorst completed two first downs and fell short by a yard on the third series. Then the Hornets moved the other way, also making two first downs and losing the ball by interception on the next series. The Trojans were in midfield as the half ended.

The standoff continued through the third quarter, each side making a first down and exchanging punts before Joe Hennigan recovered a fumble for MHS on the Trojan 20. It was the Hornets' second good scoring opportunity of the game, the opportunity which might have won for the Hornets' second good scoring opportunity of the game, the opportunity which might have won for the Hornets' Sicking reached the 8 on 2 tries and three more runs got to the 4. Then on fourth down Felderhoff tried for a field goal. It was blocked.

Fourth quarter procedure was the same. It consisted of one Trojan series being short by a yard and two ending in punts, also three Hornets.

That went on for almost 8 minutes until the sudden turn-around that sent the visitors home happy. One big play was the fine pass and fine run putting Windthorst on the board. The next was the 2-point PAT taking the lead.

Spirit Moms cheer Hornets

Spirit Moms providing remembrances and cheer for the Muenster Hornets this week were Mmes. Gwen Carroll and Juanita Bright, with the assistance of cheerleader Diane Gibson.

They gave each Hornet a keepsake red wrist sweat band, bearing the Hornet insignia MH. And they baked and provided cookies for the pep rally, placing both gifts first in the boys lockers. Posters also were made by the Spirit Moms for the locker room, where homecoming decorations room, where homecoming decoration were made by other friends.

Next week, Mmes. Cindy Russell and Doris Fleeman will be Hornet Spirit Moms, assisted by Jo Ell Hellman.

These queens of former Muenster High homecomings, accompanied by their escorts participated in crowning formalities at last week's homecoming. They are Ann Grace Scoggins, '52, and her son Bobby; Bobby Stephens, '62 and her husband Choice Stephens; Pam Newman, '72, and her husband Ray Newman; Lou Dyer, '79, and Don Frazier; Barbie Wimmer, '80, and David Felderhoff; and Traci Sawyer, '81 and Frankle Stoffels. They presented the crown and banner and flowers to the queen and her six princesses.

MHS hosts Prosper in district opener

Starting this week, the District 9A teams are playing for keeps, and the Hornets will start by hosting the Eagles of Prosper in a contest which can be regarded as a toss. Over all they are "about our caliber of team," in the opinion of Coach Leonard Peters, who points out that the line is husky and two backs are hard workers but not especially fast. They have average potential, he said, but so do the Hornets. In fact he is confident that the Hornets have a good chance.

His opinion is based par-

His opinion is based partly on the fact that Muenster had lots of good spots in its game with Windthorst last week. Defense was solid except on a busted play which developed into the big play and set up the opportunity to win with a 2-point PAT.

On the other hand the Hornets did the better job of moving the ball the rest of the game but failed to carry through on two opportunities that could have won.

Everything considered, Peters is pleased with the progress he sees in the bunch of youngsters, particularly of youngsters, particularly last week's defense by Neal Flusche, Leslye Wells and

An encouraging note on physical condition: No one was hurt last week and Fisher is back to normal since his injury early in the season. However, three others who were hurt early are out for the year.

Muenster juniors lose at Windthorst

Eighth graders of Mun-ster Public School were the losers by a count of 6-0 in their game last week with the junior high boys of Win-dthorst. In so doing they dropped their season record to 1-1.

The game presented a sharp contrast in performance of the teams. Windthorst made few gains but broke loose on a long gain that won the game. On the other hand the junior Hornets made several gains but could not put them together in a sustained drive.

Next action for the juniors will be at Prosper Thursday night, 6 p.m.

Cardinals deal a decisive blow

Pottsboro wrecks Lindsay rating

by Donna Arendt Lindsay's high rating took a tumble at Pottsboro last week, the Knights being clobbered 29-0 by the Cardinals who rank as No. 10 of the state in Class 2A.

To Lindsay's credit it can be said that the action was closer than the score indicated. The Knights got to the 17 yard line in the first period and to the 5 yard line in the second, but found the Cardinal defense too tough both times. And their own defense forced Pottsboro to punt six times, just as Lindsay did.

The difference was in offense, the Knights gaining 150 on 9 first downs while the Cards made 337 on 7 first downs.

An injury to Gary Weems early in the game accounts for some of lindsay's problem. He was out of action for the rest of the time but is expected to be back next week for the district opener with Valley View.

On Pottsboro's first possession it drove 56 yards for the touchdown. The score came when Pottsboro quarterback Jeff White completed a pass to Jamie Johnson for a 34-yard gain. The PAT by Greg Wright was good to make the score 7-0 with 8:10 left in the first quarter.

In the beginning of the third quarter Mike Hermes recovered a Pottsboro fumble on the Cardinal's 18-yard line. But even with an off sides penalty against Pottsboro, the Knights couldn't score. On fourth down and 5 yards to the goal Leonard Fuhrmann missed a 22-yard field goal. So the score remained 10-0 with 10:03 left in the third quar-ter.

Only minutes later with 3:23 in the quarter Pottsboro again scored. White completed a pass to Alfred Morrison for a 65-yard touchdown. The PAT by Greg Wright was good to make the score 17-0.

end zone from 10 yards out for his second score of the night.

The PAT by Wright failed, though, when Gary Dankesreiter blocked the kick. So with 6:53 left in the game the score was 23-0.

Pottsboro raised the count to 29-0 late in the game when Alfred Morrison ran in 11 yards to score. The PAT again failed when Leonard Fuhrmann sacked the quarterback who tried for the two-point conversion.

Zoo expert predicts exotic animals doomed to extinction

COLLEGE STATION — In just a generation or two, children may live in a world where the elephant, blue whale, condor, rhino and mountain gorilla exist only as pictures in a book, says an expert with the San Diego Zoo.

Zoos need research ties with universities to establish self-sufficient populations of species that are endangered or near extinction, Dr. Kurt Benirschke said at Texas A&M University where he recently gave several lectures.

"Extinction is forever and many animals — thousands of species, in fact — are becoming endangered or near extinct," said Benirschke, director of research and health survices at San Diego Zoo, one of nation's leading facilities.

Benirschke, a German-born physician, urged today's college students to take up the cause of endangered species so that future research would be aimed at increasing the reproduction of rare animals in zoos and wildlife sanctuaries. COLLEGE STATION —

Unusual in appearance, size, growth habits, tolerance of a hot, dry summer and performance is this specimen of a Mexican Daisy in the garden of Ann and Albert (Buster) Herr on West 7th Street. Now at least 10 ft. tall, it began blooming in June and promises to continue until frost, and is covered with new growth and buds. The bright orange flowers make good cut flowers in arrangements. Ann Herr received the seeds from her neighbor, Mrs. Paul Endres. Inset shows detail of one blossom.

I would like to thank all the ex-cubscouters who have come to my aid when I asked for "used cub scout uniform items." They have all been put to good use. You have been able to help new boys join plus helping some of the boys "trade" when they outgrow their present uniform. Your interest in the cub scout program is greatly ap-preciated.

This marks the 39th Annual National Farm Safety Week, co-sponsored by the National Safety Council and the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The theme for the 1982 observation of Farm Safety Week is "Make it a Safe Harvest".

In the proclamation, Judge Robertson said, "There is a basic set of safety practices that apply to the operation of all harvesting equipment. These include:

* Read and heed the operator's manual for each

* Read and heed the operator's manual for each machine in your harvesting

Joe Smetana, Texas Farm Bureau Safety Director,

Waco, said, "There is a slogan that all harvest machine operators should learn to live by "Lock itblock it- or don't get under it". According to Smetana, this means before crawling under the header, double check that its safety latch or jack stands are locked into place, or that it is solidly blocked. The heavy header can fall if the hydraulic force holding it up is relaxed because of system failure or someone (or something) activating the control. Such a mishap can mean serious injury. Clear obstructions or work on the header only when the engine is turned off.

New laws relative to walk-behind rotary

After many years the Federal government has introduced a new law affecting the production of rotary lawn mowers in the U.S. Any mower produced after June 30, 1982, by an manufacturer for sale in the U.S. must be equipped with some device that will stop all blade movement within 3 seconds after the operator removes his hand from the handlebars.

lawn mowers

his hand from the handlebars.

The intent of the law is to prevent injury to the operator when leaving the area of the handlebars and coming in contact with the blade.

The mower manufacturers have settled on three methods for stopping the blade and starting it again.

The first method is called "Zone restart". When the operator releases a lever on the handlebar an internal brake is automatically applied to the engine flywheel and an engine kill switch is activated. The engine and the blade will then stop within 3 seconds. To restart the lever must be held on the handlebar to loosen the brake and de activate the kill switch, then pull the starter rope to restart the engine. The starter rope has been moved from on the engine to up on the handlebar in the so called "Save Zone" hence the name "Zone Start".

One manufacturer will be allowed to lease the starter rope on the engine because its mower deck design has been determined to be safer if a person were to stick his feet under the deck. The Zone Start method will add $30-$40 to the price of the mower's advantages; cost; engine will stop assuring operator that blade has also stopped; fewest additional parts; Disadvantages: manual restart of engine will be required each time. The second method is manual restart of engine will be required each time.

The second method is called a Blade Brake Clutch. When the operator releases the lever on the handlebar a large clutch under the deck disengages the blade from the engine. The blade will stop in 3 seconds but the engine will remain running. To restart the blade, the lever is grasped on the handlebar to re-engage the clutch and the blade. The Blade Brake Clutch will add $40-$50 to the cost of a new mower. Advantages: do not have to restart engine each time; disadvantages; More moving parts that can go wrong since clutch is under deck exposed to grass and dirt; clutch cannot be serviced by owner; higher cost than zone start. Owner may have difficulty knowing if blade actually stops since engine is still running. Blade must be re-engaged while engine is running full throttle.
The third method is the Electric-alternator restart.

engine is running full throttle.

The third method is the Electric-alternator restart system. This method is similar to Zone Start in that the engine will die when the lever is released. But instead of restarting by pulling a rope, the unit will be equipped with an electric starter powered by a 6 volt or 12 volt battery. Also the unit will be equipped with a builtin alternator that should keep the battery charged enough to restart the engine every 3 minutes. There will also be an extra charger to use that can be plugged into a 110 volt outlet for additional recharging if necessary. Additional cost on this method over a regular start mower will be $30-$45 or $95-$100 over the price of a rope start engine. Advantages; ease of starting, no physical effort required; engine will stop assuring operator that blade has also stopped; disadvantages; cost; more parts that Zone Start.

Since 2 of 3 methods will require extra restarting of Since 2 of 3 methods will require extra restarting of the engine, most engine manufacturers have redesigned their engines to be easier to start. Some mower brands will use all three methods in different models, some will use only one method for all of their models and there may be slight variations between brands. These charges will affect all push or self propelled rotary mowers produced after June 30, 1982, but many producers and retailers may have units in stock for awhile that were made before then and do not have these changes incorporated in them.
