Dr. Milton Friedman gave enthusiastic approval to Reaganomics Sunday in his appearance on Meet the Press. In his opinion the outlook of the country isn't near as bleak as political foes are saying. On the contrary, the predicted escalation of national deficit will switch to a declining deficit if the country will follow the policies the administration proposes. Furthermore, he thinks the recession is on its way out and good times are just around the corner. Present indications are a reduction in the rate of inflation and a drop in interest rates.

Friedman is convinced that the President should stick with his policies of reduced spending and reduced tax. Doing otherwise would be to continue the mistakes which caused the trouble in the first place. It's been politically easy, he said, to favor the public with more and more services and then just raise taxes to pay for them. But it takes character to say no and face the antagonism of people who benefit by government generosity toward their vast array of pet projects. These rather than the needy are the targets of proposed federal economies.

Dr. Friedman's opinion is music to the ear of all conservatives, who have been waiting eagerly since November 1980 for an end of big spending and big taxing. It was satisfying to hear the encouraging word when so many are striving desperately to hang on to the old ways.

Our hope is that his message gets around to millions of people and pays off in November with victory for President Reagan's policies at the polls. That can be almost assured if the economy makes the desired change while it can still be an important campaign factor.

As regards defense spending, Dr. Friedman disagreed with those who claim the figure is too high. On the contrary, he claims that it is lower now than a few years ago on the basis of comparison with the gross national product.

As we think about the vast project of getting the government back in line, we can think of lots of ideas, especially reducing the wild spending and allowing people to keep a larger portion of their earnings. As regards the spending, a good idea is to start with the government itself, reducing the enormous staff of workers with their big related expense; also eliminating millions of dollars worth of free services; and most of all cracking down on corruption. Washington can save billions by eliminating waste and thievery and pork barrel dealings and unneeded help or service. Besides, it can save more billions by declining some of the big give-aways to foreigners who hate us.

While confidently expecting improvements along that line, we have to wonder lately whether foreign policy is getting to be the bigger problem. The number one concern is what to do about Central America, which appears to be partly lost already and in grave danger of being completely taken over by Communism. President Reagan has logic on his side when saying that El Salvador will go the way of Cuba and Nicaragua unless US intervenes on the side of legitimate government. Take-over of that country would be tragic.

MHS No. 1 in district one-act play contest

Tuesday was a red letter day in dramatics at Muenster High. For the first time in the school's history, its entry won the top trophy in the district one-act-play contest. MHS has been a perennial competitor since the program started and was runner-up several times, and finally has reached its goal.

Presented at Grayson County College, the Muenster play was a Tad Mosel production entitled "Impromptu" and directed by Martha Koelsler.

The cast included Brent McElreath as Tony, who was judged best actor; Rene Stelzer as Winifred, who was named on the all-star cast; Lyle Huchton as Ernest, who received honorable mention; and Mary Winn as Lora.

Assistants were Peggy Winn, student director;

Kristi Oakley, lighting director; and Traci Sawyer, makeup director.

Other schools entered were Alvord, which was judged the runner-up, and Forestburg, Era, Valley View and Krum.

The next level of one-act-play competition will be held next Tuesday, March 30, at Midwestern State University, Wichita Falls.

Over $5,000 stolen from Kountry Korner

Community thievery escalated Sunday night when one or more persons stole a bank deposit pouch containing an estimated $5000 to $6000 from H&W Kountry Korner. About half the money was in checks, the balance in cash.

As told by Police Chief Helen Tompkins the theft occurred between 7 and 7:45 p.m. Sunday while the store was having more than an average rush. The money was known to be in the office at 7 and it was gone 45 minutes later. It's assumed that the guilty person or person entered the office and made a getaway unnoticed while store employees were busy.

At this time no clues have been found and Muenster police will welcome any related information. For instance a description of unknowns. Anyone in the store between 7 and 7:45 who recalls a possible suspect is urged to come and tell.

It was also suggested that local people who paid by check recently watch their bank statement for clearance of the check. If it fails to show up another check can be written to replenish that much of the loss.

A better hope is that the thief will discard the checks where they can be found.

Another theft in the city was reported by Al Hess after his return from a two weeks vacation trip to Washington State. That happened while he was gone and the amount, estimated at $200 to $300 was taken from the office of his appliance repair service in the back of Hess Furniture. This was a daylight job, Chief Tompkins said. There are no signs of a break-in. Someone just walked in and helped himself.

Tompkins added that a report from Bowie throws suspicion on the same thief who has been operating here and at Gainesville, Denison and Sherman. Again the job was selective and neat...no disturbance whatever and a definite preference for expensive loot. Lots of less valuable items were not taken.

Junior stockmen show and sell projects

More than 300 project animals were shown by 4-H and FFA members of Cooke County last Wednesday through Friday at the annual Junior Stock Show held in Valley View. There were 59 steers, 99 sheep and 157 swine along with five broilers.

In each of those divisions two were selected for champ and reserve champ honors. In steers Toby Fuhrmann and his sister, Kelly of Lindsay got the top prizes. In sheep Jeff Dumas of Valley View and Dave Reiter of Gainesville were No. 1 and 2. In swine they were Paul Pembroke and Angie Skinner, both of Callisburg. And in broilers they were Margie Knabe and Mark Knabe, both of Era. Champs and reserve champs were selected for the several classes of each division and champs of the division were selected from the class champs.

Judging procedure was to award blue, red and white ribbons on the basis of quality then to judge the blues competitively to select the top two of each class, and finally the class champs were judged to select show champs.

Awards for Muenster steer entries were given as follows. Darren Chaney and Jarred Bayer had blues which were named class champs. Also Douglas Fleitman and Curt Bayer had blues named as class reserve champs. Other Muenster entries received awards as follows. Steven Vogel, blue; Samuel Fleit-

Muenster had only three exhibitors in the sheep division, Matt Sicking received a blue; Stephen Becker and Scot Vogel a red.

Kevin Switzer had Muenster's only swine entry. It was rated a blue.

Good News

Mark 6:53-56

They crossed the lake and came to land at Gennesaret, where they tied up the boat. As they left the boat, people recognized Jesus at once. So they ran throughout the whole region; and wherever they heard he was, they brought to him the sick lying on their mats. And everywhere Jesus went, to villages, towns, or farms, people would take their sick to the marketplaces and beg him to let the sick at least touch the edge of his cloak. And all who touched it were made well.

Special meeting set for parents of Kindergarten

A special meeting for parents whose children will enroll next year in the kindergarten of either local school has been called for next Tuesday, March 30, 10 a.m., in the Muenster High School Auditorium.

Its purpose, according to Tom Fluker, counselor, is to set up a county wide pre-school screening conducted by the State Department of Education to determine how many students to expect and their special needs.

Parents only, not the children, are asked to attend.

It's time for Dogwoods

Joe Wyatt of Callisburg phoned friends at Endres Motor Co. Tuesday to ask them to remind area residents that his dogwood trees are almost ready to bloom and probably will be beautiful by next Sunday. He expects the peak of the blooms to last for about one week, but he cautions that the harsh weather and heavy rains last fall will make walking a bit rougher than usual and he suggest wearing boots.

For persons unfamiliar with the area, he suggests turning left off Hwy. 82 on the Callisburg road, and driving about one mile to his house. He will direct sight-seers and delights in giving a bit of local history.

Weather Mild and Dry

The weather was ahead of the calendar in relation to the arrival of Spring during the past week.

Low and high readings were reported as follows by Steve Moster. Mar. 18, 66 and 83; Mar. 19, 68 and 85; Mar. 20, 58 and 78; Mar. 21, 50 and 66; Mar. 22, 40 and 67; Mar. 23, 47 and 68; Mar. 24, 50 and 70.

Moisture readings were zero. Current rain totals are 1.33 in. for March and 5.94 for the year to date.

INDIVIDUAL RETIREMENT ACCOUNTS

One of the greatest opportunities ever for the average working American taxpayer has just become available. These are the new Individual Retirement Accounts (IRA's) which went into effect on January 1.

In addition to being an excellent means of saving for retirement years, the new IRA's provide a tax shelter of up to $2,000 a year ($2,500 a year when only one spouse works).

Even if you don't itemize deductions, the money that you place in your IRA account is deductible from your income tax right off the top. U.S. News & World Report provides this example:

"a person who would otherwise have annual taxable income of $28,000 would only have $26,000 after contributing $2,000 to an IRA. For a married couple filing a joint return, that reduction means a 1982 tax saving of $580. In effect, it costs this couple only $1,420 to make a $2,000 investment. The savings are bigger for people in higher tax brackets, smaller for people in lower tax brackets."

Frankly speaking, anyone who passes up the opportunity to open an IRA is not thinking very clearly. It is important, however, to shop around. There's no hurry, but if you think your taxes are too high, and if you have funds you can put aside, you should take advantage of this golden opportunity.

Anyone who earns pay from employment of any kind, even part-time, can set up an IRA. It does not matter if you are already covered by another retirement plan at work or elsewhere.

A working husband can place up to $2,000 a year into his IRA and open another IRA for his nonworking wife, putting up to $250 in her's—or the $2,250 total can be split between the two accounts in any ratio. If both spouses work, each can contribute up to $2,000 in their own IRA's.

Because of the tremendous potential for funds represented by IRA opportunities, all kinds of financial institutions are offering plans. Some employers plan to offer IRA plans to their employees.

The important thing to keep in mind, and we repeat for emphasis, is not to jump into a plan in too big a hurry. Shop around. IRA's are being offered by banks, savings and loan associations, credit unions, brokerage houses, mutual funds and insurance companies.

Factors to be considered in choosing a plan include whether or not your IRA account will be insured. Banks and savings and loan IRA's are insured by the Federal government up to $100,000.

Another point of primary concern should be the rate of return. Check for the institution offering the highest return consistent with safety. Find out how often interest is compounded: annually, monthly or daily, and compare the projected returns at various potential rates.

Some firms will charge a fee to open the account and some will charge an annual maintenance fee. Other institutions will charge no fee at all.

This rare opportunity to save on your income taxes and at the same time set aside funds for retirement should not be overlooked. You owe it to yourself, your family and your country to investigate IRA opportunities.

We like the sentiment seen in one IRA advertisement: "Worrying about the economy won't solve anything. Investing in your future will."

"They decided to turn me loose and lynch my pistol!"

GOVERNOR'S REPORT

by William P. Clements Jr.

No more important question will come before the U.S. Congress this year than whether to extend the Voting Rights Act of 1965.

I fully support extension of the Act in its present form for 10 years. While it has worked well for the last decade in Texas and most past abuses of voting rights have ceased, I have come to the conclusion that its protections are needed for another 10 years.

My position is the same as President Reagan's—for continuation of the act as is. I certainly do not advocate weakening it.

At the heart of the controversy is revision of Section 2 of VRA to change the current law from an "intent" test to prove discrimination to an "effects" test. The version passed by the House of Representatives does not require a showing that an individual or community intended to discriminate but only that conduct in question had a discriminatory effect.

To define a violation on the basis of whether "results" of any election demonstrate a discriminatory effect could make most political subdivisions subject to court challenges on grounds that they have failed to produce proportional representation by race or membership in a language-minority group.

Thus, a community with 30 per cent minority population could be faulted under the House version of the bill if it does not have a matching minority representation on its city council. A violation in the political arena would be decided solely on a statistical analysis—that is, had the election met the "quota."

The right to vote is a fundamental constitutional principle which has remained the cornerstone of our democratic system of government. There is no guarantee that candidates will be elected because they belong to a particular racial or ethnic group. Those principles were not altered when Congress first enacted VRA with an "intent test." When the statute was re-enacted in 1970 and 1975, Congress again did not see fit to make the change now proposed in the House bill.

Proponents of the House change contend the present intent test makes it "virtually impossible" to prove a violation. I strongly disagree. The intent test has long been the standard of proof for constitutional and statutory violations in the civil rights area, and it has worked most effectively. That point was underscored by Justice Stewart in a recent case where the U.S. Supreme Court confirmed that Section 2 of VRA has, and has always had, an intent standard.

To change to an effects test in Section 2 would invite years of unnecessary, complex and disruptive litigation just when the courts had settled most of the difficult questions under present statute. It would also leave political subdivisions throughout the country at the mercy of litigation which could result in the restructuring of governmental systems simply because they are not designed to produce proportional representation based on race or membership in a language-minority group.

I will continue full cooperation with federal authorities. Our goal, over the course of the Act's extension period, is to reach a point where all Texans have full confidence that their right to vote is fully protected without need for indefinite federal oversight.

If all of us sat down and drafted a voting rights act, there would be as many variations as there are drafts.

The message I would emphasize is that the current Voting Rights Act has been good for Texas, and I strongly feel that Congress should expedite passage in its present form. Election year is upon us. Minority groups need to be assured of continued protection.

We must not procrastinate further and spend a lot of time arguing about whether the current act should be made more liberal or more conservative, more restrictive or less restrictive. We should stop the political bickering and extend the Voting Rights Act as is.

Farm Bureau proposes remedy for farm problems that we have over-expanded our agricultural production plant compared to demand," Chaloupka said. "This came about partly because of federal farm and credit programs which have stimulated too much production. In addition, federal budget cuts are hurting at a time when farm prices and income are down."

Immediate actions needed, Chaloupka said, include the following:

- Implementation of the Economic Recovery Program. Farmers and ranchers are already feeling some of the benefits of reduced inflationary pressures, Chaloupka said.
- The farm leader said that the projected federal deficit of $92 billion "cannot be accepted." He called for reducing this deficit to $50 billion through cuts in entitlement programs and a moratorium on all cost of living adjustments in federal spending programs.
- Passage of legislation which guarantees that grain purchased by foreign buyers scheduled for delivery within 120 days will not be embargoed for any reason short of war. Chaloupka said this would strengthen foreign confidence in the U.S. as a reliable supplier of grain.
- Immediate funding of the Commodity Credit Corp. export revolving fund. This fund has been authorized, but no money earmarked. Chaloupka said this would help U.S. grain compete in world markets.
- Allocate a "fair share" of Export-Import Bank financing for agricultural exports.
- Farmers should be encouraged to properly use storage as an essential tool for profitable marketing. However, because of the current glut, additional production and long-term storage should not be encouraged, Chaloupka said.
- Inform farmers and ranchers of severe economic adjustments which will be needed if production continues to expand beyond demand.
- Control costs at the farm level.
- The Farm Bureau program contains two short-term actions, Chaloupka said:
- Encourage the secretary of agriculture to change the wheat and feed grain set aside program to include a cash incentive to participate. The objective is to encourage enough producer participation to reduce production and stocks, Chaloupka said.
- The Farmer-held reserve must be an orderly-marketing tool, as originally intended, and not a quasi-government storage program to limit market price opportunities for farmers, the farm leader said.

Farm Bureaus across the nation are supporting a comprehensive 12-point program designed to improve depressed farm income, according to Carrol Chaloupka, Dalhart, president of the Texas Farm Bureau.

Chaloupka, a grain and beef cattle producer, is a member of the American Farm Bureau Federation board of directors which has adopted the plan calling for action on the immediate, short-term, and long-term fronts.

"Our main problem is the reserve for the 1982 or 1983 crops; no waiver of first year interest; and no increase in yearly storage payments.

Chaloupka said Farm Bureau wants three long-term actions:

- End the farmer-held reserve. The U.S. has become the residual supplier of grains to the world because the government has encouraged long-term storage.
- Work with international agencies to teach developing nations the value of building storage facilities and buying U.S. grain when prices are favorable to them.
- Expand market development activities in cooperation with other U.S. farm groups and U.S. Department of Agriculture with particular emphasis on those developing countries which have rapidly-rising per capita incomes.

CAPITOL UPDATE

John Tower
U.S. SENATOR for TEXAS
142 RUSSELL OFFICE BUILDING
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20510

Excessive and unreasonable regulation is about the federal government. Well-intentioned attempts to secure national goals by establishing federal standards have been lost in a maze of red tape and unreasoned procedures.

No one will deny that we must remain committed to these valid goals, such as the integrity of our financial markets, a clean environment and protection for workers and consumers. On the other hand, ill-conceived regulations which exceed both the scope of legislative intent, and common sense itself, have imposed an exorbitant cost on taxpayers. This cost takes the form of unnecessary financial burdens, inefficiency, increased paperwork, delays and sheer frustration.

We must reverse this tide and make the regulatory process an aid rather than an impediment to the achievement of appropriate federal goals.

Already, the Administration has made much progress toward the end. The Office of Management and Budget has become a watchdog for regulations issued by executive branch agencies. Under this system, executive agencies are prohibited from issuing major regulations unless the potential benefits to society outweigh the estimated costs.

The Administration's regulatory policy-making has been centralized under the Task Force on Regulatory Relief headed by Vice President Bush. The Task Force has been instrumental in involving citizens in the regulatory process, and identifying areas in which improvements and simplifications need to be made.

This week, Congress is considering legislation to take the process one step further. S. 1080 can serve as the legislative cornerstone upon which we can rebuild our regulatory approach.

At the heart of this bill is a provision for regulatory analysis to balance the costs and benefits of proposed rules. This analysis would not be limited to a strict dollars-and-cents comparison, but rather is a much broader concept which considers non-financial benefits and costs to society.

Additionally, the bill provisions to help insure that federal agencies enforce their regulations fairly and effectively. For instance, under the current system, when a dispute over interpretation of a federal regulation goes to court, the court can assume that the agency is correct. The burden is then on the individual to prove that it is not. Under the proposed legislation, the courts could not make this assumption. The federal agency would have to prove its case.

Another provision would require agencies to review major rules every ten years to determine whether they should be revised or withdrawn.

Still other parts of the bill streamline the procedures for reviewing regulations and disputes concerning them, and allow more involvement from those to be affected before the rules are being put into effect.

Certainly this legislation is not the final answer to our regulatory problems, but it is indeed a major step toward making the process more fair and effective.

By updating our administrative procedures to meet the regulatory challenges of today, we can improve the effectiveness of federal regulations, while eliminating its unnecessary burdens.

another step in Communism's drive to world conquest. Reagan, like most of us, is worried, wondering if and when our many losses to the Reds will reach the point of no return. He believes in helping the legitimate Salvador government to start a comeback for freedom.

No one can deny the logic of his thinking. The issue is whether Salvador will be our friend or our foe at the end of this conflict. But our country has big problems in deciding what to do. The situation is very similar to Cuba and Guatamala, with sharp contrasts of wealth and poverty. Eventually the peasants reached their limit and revolted, with the help of Communists. The rebels won both struggles and now have their own variety of dictatorship and slavery in both countries.

Likewise in Salvador. The original government is feudal, living it up while peons are suffering. While admitting the government should have reformed long ago and deserves this revolution, we have to face a double consequence if government loses the struggle. Slavery under Reds is no better, and maybe worse than under the feudal barons. And secondly the country would become our enemy instead of our friend. Along with all that we think also about the horrors and expense of another war.

It seems that US made its mistake in Central America long ago, especially with regard to our countrymen's industrial interest there. Those people should have developed better conditions for their workers. But they continued the feudalism, lived in luxury while the peons lived in poverty.

So now what's the answer? The President has a point, but he faces a situation in which the Reds are seen in white hats and the Americans in black hats. Unfortunately lots of our own people have similar ideas about the color of hats.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

Just a few words in response to my good friend Tom Hess's letter several weeks ago. It is certainly true that it is by the grace of God that we are saved. I would add, however, that salvation has two parts: 1st, God's grace, and 2nd, man's response. We cannot be saved without God's grace, and we will not be saved without our response.

Tom quotes very fittingly from Scripture about God's grace. I would like to quote Scripture about our response. Paul says in Romans 2, 5 to 8: "In spite of this, your hard and impenitent heart is storing up retribution for the day of wrath when the just judgment of God will be revealed, when He will repay every man for what he has done; eternal life to those who strive for glory, honor, and immortality by patiently doing right; wrath and fury to those who selfishly disobey the truth and obey wickedness." Also in Ephesians 6, 8 he says, "You know that each one, whether slave or free, will be repaid by the Lord for whatever good he does." Jesus Himself says in John 5, 29, "Those who have done right shall rise to live; the evildoers shall rise to be damned."

The parable of the unforgiving servant is another good example of our necessity to respond. See Matt. 18, 21 to 34. An even better example is Jesus's account of the last judgment. See Matt. 25, 31 to 46.

Jesus tells us that we must store up treasure in heaven in Matt. 6, 19 and 20. "Do not lay up for yourselves an earthly treasure. Moths and rust corrode; thieves break in and steal. Make it your practice instead to store up heavenly treasure, which neither moths nor rust corrode nor thieves break in and steal." He is telling us that we must respond to His gift with our own good works.

There are many other places in Scripture that tell us that our response is necessary, for example, see James 2, 14 to 24. All of these merely say that even though we cannot be saved without God's grace, neither will we be saved unless we respond to it.

In Jesus,
Father Placidus Eckart, O.S.B.

Dick Ferber, re-elected as Muenster Chamber of Commerce president, presents a plaque to outgoing director and treasurer, Alvin Fuhrman, in recognition of his outstanding chairmanship of Germanfest 1981.

Chamber presents awards, features program on Germany

Beauties and charms of Germany related in a Luftansa Airlines film highlighted a program presented at the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet last Friday night in the K of C hall.

The speaker was Gabriele Whelehan a veteran of years of travel in her native Europe as well as America. She talked briefly on the attractions of West Germany before turning her program over to the travel film which, she said was more extensive and colorful, as put together by experts. The show was especially interesting to persons who think about foreign travel.

A welcome program addition was a handsome 64 page booklet of descriptive material, maps and photos of Germany.

Otherwise the banquet program was taken up principally by a review of chamber activities and multiple recognitions and presentations related thereto. Dick Ferber, re-elected president for another year, traced through the list of dividuals and their Germanfest jobs and their number of years on the job. The items are intended to be worn at Germanfest as identification, a bar to be added every year.

The first was given to Mattie Endres for her husband, the late Leonard Endres, who headed the program as chairman the first three years. Other presentations were to Bertha Hamric, David Bright, L.B. Bruns, Jane Monday, Al Wiesman, Al Walter, Edgar Dyer, Frank Luke, John Pagel, Mike Otts, Monica Hess, Dick Ferber, Dick Pagel, Ray Wilde, Pat Fisher, Al Hess, Henry Weinzapfel, David Fette, Sam Endres, John Fisher, Larry Kinard, Ted Henscheid, Dennis Hess and Doris Hamer. Fuhrman added that others will be given to persons who might have been overlooked, after which Ferber added that one obvious oversight was Fuhrman himself, who was chairman two years and involved every year.

Also in recognitions Ferber identified the board of directors: Lupe Evans, Larry Kinard, Dick Ferber, David Fette, Sharon Wolf, Stan Endres, Monica Hess and Ron Hess; listing the officers, President Dick Ferber, V.P. David Fette, Secy. Lupe Evans and Treas. Sharon Wolf.

Visitors introduced were Scott Davis, Owen Davis, Bill Patterson, Bill Coody, Sue Ann Hays, David Howeth, Jim Robertson, Mr. and Mrs. Don Malcolm, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Pelzel and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Stephenson.

Pearl Evans directed the program as mistress of ceremonies, and made concluding remarks praising the chamber's achievements. The event opened with an Indian prayer as invocation by Arthur Endres followed by the pledge of allegiance led by Mark Lippe, Jaycee president. It ended with an inspiring benediction by Anthony Luke.

OUR FAMILY PORTRAIT EXPERIENCE

Recently, our family had a portrait made by an area photographer who is known for fine quality work and personalized service. With two little boys, ages one and two, we knew we would be in for a challenge to get them to cooperate. We wanted something really special, because our family means the world to us. We made our appointment and bought some new clothes that would be appropriate for this special portrait. The photographer made some suggestions on clothing selections that turned out to be very helpful.

We arrived early enough at the studio to visit and relax a little, but, as luck would have it, our boys were already tired and sleepy when it came time for our portrait session. We were a little disappointed at their sleepiness, because it would now be more difficult for the photographer to get the kind of results we were hoping to achieve. The kids cried and whined and wouldn't stay in place for more than a few seconds at a time. The photographer worked rapidly in adjusting lights, changing our poses, adjusting our clothing, and keeping the children's attention with funny sounds, toys and soap bubbles. We all ended up having a lot of fun, and we could hardly wait to see our finished poses, hoping that we would be pleased with the work.

After a couple of weeks, our portrait poses were ready for viewing, and we were completely delighted with the poses that were shown. Our hearts melted at the sight of the poses of our two little boys as their expressions were captured the way we see them so often. They weren't always smiling every time, but it didn't seem to matter. They don't always smile at home!

We ordered a large wall portrait of our entire family group, and smaller wall portraits of the boys together and us together to be displayed on either side of the family group. Our portraits are bonded to canvas, attached to stretcher frames and look almost like paintings. We are very proud of the portraits, because in them, we can see a family that loves one another. We see the innocence of our children and how they are dependent on us to guide and protect them. All the careful posing, lighting and clothing selections -- as important as they are in a fine portrait -- now become secondary compared to the joy and emotion we feel when we view our portraits. Sure, it took some planning, some time and effort -- and some money -- but it was really worth it to us. And, we plan to do it regularly.

May we help you experience what we did? Call us to arrange for a portrait of your family. Do it today!

Bloodmobile chore helps Kirk earn Eagle Scout rank

Kirk Klement, candidate for Eagle Rank in the Boy Scouts of America, Troop 664, participated in the recent Red Cross Bloodmobile visit as part of the requirements for his Eagle service project.

In preparation, he worked with the planning committee and met with the Red Cross representative; when the Red Cross truck arrived, he helped unload equipment, set up tables and recliners, and during the day was available for odd jobs as needed.

Klement was in charge of publicity, placed posters in advantageous places, and scheduled and prepared to show a film to students who, by age, were eligible to give blood. At the end of the day he helped with reloading and packing. His assistants were Scouts Kevin Wolf and Craig Stoffels.

One of the important issues in my campaign concerns juvenile delinquents. Texas law requires that if the County Judge is not a duly licensed attorney, then an alternate juvenile court must be designated. As a practical necessity, this would force the citizens of Cooke County to spend tens of thousands of extra tax dollars each year to form and operate a County Court at Law. At the present time, I am the juvenile court judge and can continue to operate as such in the future without this needless expenditure of tax dollars.

I pledge to serve the citizens of Cooke County as a FULL-TIME Judge to the best of my ability with an OPEN-DOOR POLICY.

Arts and Crafts Sell-o-Rama scheduled November 19-20

The dates for the second annual Arts and Crafts Sell-O-Rama have been set for 1982. The second annual Arts and Crafts Sell-O-Rama, which is being sponsored by the Cooke County Extension Homemakers Council, will be held on Friday, November 19 and Saturday, November 20 at the Gainesville Community Center.

The Arts and Crafts sale which was started by the Extension Homemakers Council in 1981, is designed to provide an outlet for the many people in this area who enjoy doing one or more of the many different types of crafts, needlework or other handcrafted items. It will also provide an opportunity for people who do not have the time or talent to make quality craft items, a way of purchasing them.

Reservations are currently being made for people who want to have a display table. To obtain a reservation form call or write Mrs. Joyce Herzog, Reservation chairman, at 2008 Everglade, Gainesville. Mrs. Herzog's phone is 665-0284.

Individuals as well as organizations are invited to have a crafts display.

Michael Morrill of Forney, Texas 1982 Easter Seal poster child, presents the first sheet of seals to Governor Bill Clements at the Capitol. Traditionally the governor opens the campaign by buying the first sheet. The campaign enables the Society and its affiliates to provide therapy, orthopedic equipment, treatment and evaluations to disabled children and adults in Texas. It also helps to fund the Easter Seal Action Line, a toll-free number to call for information and/or assistance from the Society.

Let's Create Homemade Jelly

It's Easy And Rewarding!

There are many signs of autumn, among them the appearance of fresh Concord grapes in local markets. If you enjoy grapes "in season," you'll enjoy them just as much in your very own homemade Grape Jelly. Whether spread on biscuits, muffins or golden pancakes, this spread promises eating pleasure over the months ahead. Peanut butter and grape jelly lunch box sandwiches are sure to be extra special.

Assuming you have selected Concord grapes with best color and flavor, remember that the ripened stage often decreases the natural pectin content and prevents jelly from setting properly. That's the reason why this recipe calls for a package of powdered fruit pectin. It's the addition of commercial fruit pectin that helps assure a good "set" and also helps capture more of the fresh fruit flavor.

Follow recipe directions accurately. It's the exact proportion of correct ingredients that brings successful results.

Never interchange powdered fruit pectin and liquid fruit pectin. Both types of pectin bring successful jelling results, but they cannot be used interchangeably because recipes are developed for a specific type of pectin.

Because preparation of this recipe moves along quickly, it's best to prepare the jelly glasses before beginning the recipe. Use directions in the leaflet tucked inside the package of powdered fruit pectin. Prepare the grapes as instructed so that you'll measure five cups of grape juice into a 6- or 8-quart saucepan. Size of the pan is important so that a mixture of fruit juice, sugar and powdered fruit pectin can come to a full rolling boil. Remember, a full rolling boil is one that no amount of stirring will reduce. After all directions are followed, ladle quickly into the sterilized jelly glasses and cover at once with hot paraffin as instructed.

Line up your first batch of jelly in a cool dry place, in order to avoid mold or mildew. Properly sealed and stored, this jelly should keep at least a year.

Grape Jelly

- 5 cups prepared juice (about 3-1/2 lb. fully ripe Concord grapes and 1-1/2 cups water)
- 7 cups (3 lb.) sugar
- 1 box Sure-Jell fruit pectin

First prepare the juice. Thoroughly crush, one layer at a time, about 3-1/2 pounds grapes. Place in saucepan; add 1-1/2 cups water. Bring to a boil, cover and simmer 10 minutes. Place in jelly cloth or bag and let drip. When dripping has almost ceased, press gently. Measure 5 cups into 6- or 8-quart saucepot.

Then make the jelly. Measure sugar and set aside. Mix fruit pectin into juice in saucepot. Place over high heat and stir until mixture comes to a full boil. Immediately add all sugar and stir. Bring to a full rolling boil and boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and skim off foam with metal spoon. Ladle quickly into hot sterilized glasses. Cover at once with 1/8 inch hot paraffin. Makes about 8 cups or about 9 (8 fl. oz.) glasses.

Reports Are Due April 15

People who received at least one Social Security check in 1981 and who earned more than the annual exempt amount last year have until April 15 to file an annual report of their 1981 earnings, a Social Security spokesman said recently.

The 1981 annual exempt amount was $5,500 for people 65 or over and $4,080 for people under 65 all of 1981. A person who was 72 or older all of 1981 does not have to make a report. Neither do people who receive benefits because of disability, since different rules apply.

A person who did not receive any checks in 1981 because of expected earnings does not have to make a report of his or her earnings. But, the representative said, if those earnings were less than expected, it would be in that person's best interest to make a report.

This is because just $1 in benefits is withheld for every $2 of earnings above the annual exempt amount. It could be that some benefits may be due. If they are, they will be paid after the annual report is reviewed.

Most people who have to make a report of their 1981 earnings have already received a form for this purpose in the mail. Those who did not receive an annual report form or those who misplaced the one they did receive can get a copy at any Social Security office.

The people there will be glad to answer any questions about the annual report of earnings. The address and telephone number of the nearest Social Security office can be found in the telephone directory.

Extension Service schedules landscape clinic March 30

With Spring officially here, thoughts turn to the outdoors. For many people this means work in the yard and ways of beautifying the home landscape. To help interested people, a special Landscape Clinic is planned for Tuesday, March 30. The clinic, which is being sponsored by the County Extension Service, will be held at the Chamber of Commerce Action Hall in Gainesville. Major areas of concern in the landscape will be included in the day's activities. Some of these will include planning the landscape, landscape plant materials which do well in this area, lawn care, and disease and insect control. Four specialists with the Exension Service will be presenting the programs. A special feature of the afternoon will be a design and landscape clinic where individuals can bring their specific questions and problems. If disease is present on a shrub or tree you have, bring a sample of it to the clinic to be diagnosed.

Pre-registration for the Landscape Clinic should be made with County Extension Agents, Craig Rosenbaum or Evelyn Yeatts by calling 665-4931 or 665-

A schedule for the day is given below:
9:30 a.m.-10:00 a.m. - Registration and coffee.
10:00 a.m.-10:30 a.m. Landscape Plant Materials by Dr. Robert Moon, Landscape Horticulturist
10:30 a.m.-11:00 a.m. - Dr.

Bill Knoop, Extension Turfgrass Specialist
11:00 a.m. - 11:10 a.m. - Break
11:10 a.m. - 11:40 a.m. - Dr. Norman McCoy, Extension Plant Pathologist 11:40 a.m. - 12:10 p.m. - Dr. John Owens, Extension Entomologist
12:10 p.m. - 1:30 p.m. - Lunch (On your own) and Plant Identification Quiz
1:30 p.m. - 2:15 p.m. - Landscape Design - Robert Moon
2:15 - 3:00 p.m. - Design Clinic - Robert Moon
Plant Clinic - Owens, Knoop and McCoy

The Landscape Clinic like all activities sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service is open to all people regardless of social economic level, race, color, sex, religion or national origin.

3 new members join local 4-H'ers

The Muenster 4-H Club met at the Public School cafeteria on March 9 at 3:30 p.m. to welcome three new members, to hold the regular monthly meeting and to hear a number of reports.

Members turned in the money they collected for the Beef and Hog raffle. Tammie Reiter received the first prize for selling the largest number of tickets. She also was first place county winner. Stephen Becker was second and Valerie Vogel was third. The money goes into a fund to sponsor 4-H County activities throughout the year.

Members signed up for the Garden project and the Livestock Judging project, both presently in progress. Ten members have completed a Leadership project, taught by Cookie Myers. Other projects recently completed are Clothing, Livestock and Livestock Show.

4-H'ers are busy now on their Method Demonstrations, scheduled to be presented on April 15 at the Era School. The Project Fair will be held at the same time, and crafts, collections, hobbies, etc. will be judged and awarded ribbons.

The program for the March meeting was on "Wildlife" given by Andy Burnette and Stephen Becker.

Tickets for the Omelet Rodeo were distributed. The next 4-H Club meeting will be on Tuesday, April 13. Members should bring items for the Project Fair. Older members will have an opportunity to sign up for a Dance project.

In later information received, it was announced that Tammie Reiter competed in the District Food Show in Denton on March 13 and won a blue ribbon for her "Mexican Salad." Congratulations were offered to Tammie.

CCC to host symposium on business end of cattle raising

The business end of cattle ranching and breeding operations will be a primary focus of the fifth annual Southwest Hereford Symposium to be held at Cooke County College on March 26-27.
 "An Investment in the Future" is the theme of this year's symposium, being sponsored jointly by CCC and the Texas Hereford Association.
 A featured sidelight to the program will be the Bluebonnet Bonanza Sale, a special offering of approximately 10 to 12 very select females, bred and open.
 "We have a really outstanding group of speakers this year," says T.J. Davidson, director of CCC's Department of Agriculture, "and they will be bringing information that we think will be of substantial benefit to both small and large breeding operations."

Davidson, also manager of CCC's Beef Cattle Evaluation Center, reports that the program will get under way on the evening of March 26 (Friday) with a dinner for participants who will be entertained afterwards with a special session of "Hereford bingo".
 Prizes include breeding certificates and Hereford arts and crafts.
 The dinner and entertainment, which will begin at 7 p.m. in the CCC Activities Center on campus, will be followed at 8:45 by a preview of Bluebonnet Bonanza Sale animals.
 The Saturday (March 27) session will begin at 8:30 a.m. with an official welcome and introduction, to be followed at 8:45 by a presentation by Dr. Samuel Dunlap of Dallas.
 Dr. Dunlap, area extension livestock specialist with the Texas A&M University Extension/Research Center, will speak on the management of cows and heifers nutritionally for maximum reproductive efficiency.
 A discussion of proposed changes in the USDA meat grading system and the effects they will have on future breeding programs will follow at 9:30 a.m.
 Leading this discussion will be Dr. Dennis Stiffler, meat science extension specialist from Texas A&M University at College Station.
 Following a 10:15 a.m. coffee break, participants will hear a presentation on selecting bulls for a commercial herd by Glen Cantrell, manager of Gray Ranches from Ardmore, Okla.
 Just prior to the noon luncheon, Abilene attorney Randall Jackson will discuss the tax and non-tax considerations of estate planning. He will continue his presentation at 12:45 p.m. with information on establishing a Texas Hereford Association Foundation, Inc.

 Computers as a "way of the future" in cattle breeding operations is the topic to be examined at 1:15 p.m. by Robert Pugh, representative of Choice Computer Corporation at Plano.
 The Bluebonnet Bonanza Sale, featuring animals from some 11 consignors from throughout the state, will cap the days activities beginning at 2 p.m.
 Davidson says that the program is open to all interested ranchers, breeders and others in the agribusiness field. Fee for participation, including the noon luncheon on Saturday, is $12.50 per person.
 For registration information, contact Davidson at Cooke County College, P.O. Box 815, Gainesville, TX. 76240, telephone 817-668-7731, extension 253.

keep this danger in mind and make sure to heed the double warning...that is, the motionless school bus, and the amber light which flashes while the bus door is open.

TIA visits St. Richard's

The TIA service committee advisors and members treated residents of St. Richard's Villa to an afternoon of Bingo on Sunday, March 14. Beginning at 2 p.m. they played bingo for an hour and then served home-made cake and ice cream. TIA members attending were Dora Sicking, Jill Wimmer, Craig Felderhoff, Curtis Rohmer, Debbie Bindel, and Pat Herr. Adult leaders for this visit were Sug Bindel and Viola Rohmer. The committee plans another visit for March 28, with Imelda Rohmer in charge of activities. Any TIA members interested in attending is urged to call her. She suggests this would be a good project for Confirmation candidates needing to earn merits.

H2O Skating Party

The skating party, jointly sponsored by the H2O social and recreation committees was well attended on Sunday, March 14, by 90 H2O members and chaperones. They left from the Community Center at 12:30 p.m., visited a park in Denton and went skating for two hours; then returning to the park for hamburgers, chips and Cokes, before returning to Muenster about 6:30 p.m. Jo Ann Pagel and Theresa Walterscheid, committee chairmen wish to thank John Walterscheid, Joyce Bayer, Marlene Walterscheid, and Herbie and Debra Fisher for helping throughout the day. H2O members are unanimous in hoping for another similar outing soon.

H2O sponsors benefits on parking lot

Don't forget the combination garage sale and bake sale sponsored by H2O on Saturday, March 27. It will be held at the Community Center, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Persons wishing to contribute items for the garage sale and needing to deliver such things in advance of the date may phone Mrs. Chuck Bartush, Jr. or Gehrig Hardware. All H2O members are asked to bring baked goods for the bake sale. Any H2O member who can help at either sale is requested to phone June Bartush. Items that sell well are pies, cakes, breads, rolls, etc. TIA members who wish to or are able to contribute baked items will be very welcome and gratefully received. TIA is urged to participate in this fund raising event.

Sponsors request that all items be priced by the donors and to have them at the Community Center by 8:45 a.m. Any garage sale items remaining at 3 p.m. will be given to charity unless picked up after sale.

Adult-Youth Volleyball

The TIA recreation committee has announced plans for an adult-youth volleyball tournament on Sunday, April 4. Each senior high youth who plans to play is expected to sign up an adult. A sign-up sheet will be posted in both high schools. More information is available from Neil Flusche, JoEll Hellman or Amy Reiter at Muenster High School and Connie Bayer or Sandy Taylor at Sacred Heart High. Wanda Flusche is project chairman.

Concessions successful

From preliminary reports, the TIA-H2O Concessions stand at the volleyball tournament was a huge success. H2O members worked 6 to 8 p.m. and TIA members worked 8 to 10 p.m. The Youth Ministry groups gratefully acknowledge the kindness of the teams of Wimmer Diesel, Lone Star Gals and Tops & Teams for allowing them to maintain the concessions. Each committee member had the responsibility of bringing baked goods to sell, and working one evening during the week. Co-chairmen were Chuck and June Bartush. Reports will be given at the next monthly youth ministry meeting.

Bike-a-thon

Mrs. Betty Kleiss, H2O spiritual advisor, is in charge of the Bike-a-Thon, "I'm Riding for Terri" and she needs help. Anyone wishing to help may phone her. The Bike-a-Thon will be held Sunday, March 28.

Marathon

There will be a Marathon Run at OLV in Ft. Worth on April 3. Entrants collect pledges and run the course, (3/4 mile) as often as they can. Their group, school or church will receive 75% of the profits (after expenses) and the Catholic Education Center will receive 25%. Interested persons may receive more information by phoning Linda Knabe, Peggy Grewing or Wanda Flusche.

Parent-teacher conference urged at Public School

"Teachers at Muenster Public Schools have regularly scheduled conference periods every day," said Alfordene Winn, principal of Muenster Public School. "If a parent needs to talk with a teacher, the parent should call me or the teacher and set up a conference during that time."

Mr. Winn said that it is a state law that all teachers be given a period that can be used for conferences. When there are no conferences scheduled, teachers may use that time to prepare for their classes.

If conference time of teacher is not convenient for parent, the conference could be scheduled after school or whenever it is convenient for the parent.

Vocations stressed in CCD March Liturgy

"Vocations" was the theme for the CCD liturgy on March 10, in which Sister Monica's 5th grade CCD class participated.

The altar banner, a beige background with bright blue, green and orange details, carried the message depicted with a telephone: "God is Calling; Don't Hang Up; Listen, Vocation Week."

Stacie Sicking read the introduction of the banner, and giving its meaning. She said that "Vocations are everybody's business, therefore we must continue to pray and listen to God so that we will be blessed with priests and nuns to help teach us the way to our Lord. Priests, Nuns, Brothers - they need us and we need them and Jesus needs you. Don't say 'No!' Pray for vocations."

Father Stephen Eckart was celebrant of the Mass and servers were Danny Black, John Herr, Jim Herr, Paul Black and Stuart Hess. Readers were Kim Hess and Cheryl Bayer. All of the 5th grade students participated in the petitions and Offertory procession.

Music was provided by Eileen Fisher and Ruth Felderhoff. In keeping with the theme, the first song was "I Heard the Lord Call My Name."
