THIS TREE IS ONE of the more spectacular sights of dozens of trees splintered like matchsticks by high winds Tuesday evening on the R.F. Walterscheid lease southeast of Muenster. Other damage of the area consisted principally of sheet metal siding and roofing torn from lease buildings and minor damage to Mel Walterscheid's house.

Finnell to speak at dedication of center

State Rep. Charles Finnell of the 80th House District will be featured speaker at the dedication of the new Forestburg Homemakers Community Center on Friday, Aug. 23, 7:30 p.m.

The dedication is open to the public and culminates over five years of local fund raising activity, according to Charles T. Edwards, master of ceremonies.

Rep. Finnell, Chairman for Budget and Oversight of the House Financial Institutions Committee, is a member of the Appropriations Committee, Conservative Coalition, and Interstate Oil Compact Commission, and serves the nine-county 80th House District, which includes Montague County.

As the political games of the Potomac are going nowadays, it's easy to understand why President Reagan is getting frustrated and why millions taxpayers are getting discouraged about the tax relief they have been expecting. The country's first problem is not the high cost of things it needs, but rather its vast number of pork barrel appropriations whose chief merit is to pamper folks back home. And it should not be overlooked that the politicians share in the goodies by way of constituent gratitude expressed at the polls.

We've heard many times that the senators and congressmen have a system of swapping favors. A votes for B's favorite bill if B will vote for A's. Getting results requires getting lots of people involved, with the end result that lots of pet projects get approval, every one of which is added to the tax payer's bill, and the combined cost of all becomes our typical multi-billion dollar burden.

The urgency of changing the system has been mentioned lots of times, but doesn't get the needed attention. It's so easy to appropriate a bit of taxpayer money for a measure that will please a constituent while increasing one's own political influence.

In the long run the method means that lots of pork barrel legislation gets approved only because a self interest lawmaker was buying support for his own project. Understandably it's difficult to influence lawmakers to change their ways, especially when everyone is doing it. They're simply reluctant to give up the obvious political benefits.

But there is a way, and it's included in the president's tax reform program. It's the line item veto permitting him to veto one item in a tax bill without affecting the rest of the bill. As is, a bill has to be approved or rejected in entirety. This applies to approval or veto as well as original passage.

Many bills that clearly do not deserve passage are added as amendments to important and deserving bills that have a strong chance of passing, and receive approval only because the principal provision is that important or that

A.J. Felderhoff dies of injuries received in accident

A.J. Felderhoff, 55, of Gainesville, died Saturday night about 9 o'clock in Westgate Hospital, the victim of a tractor accident during the afternoon at the Albert Kubis farm north of Lindsay.

There were no witnesses to relate the tragedy, but it was discovered about 4 p.m. by his wife, "Girle," and his son, Jeff, who called for an EMS ambulance. He arrived at the Gainesville Hospital about 4:30 and was transferred to Westgate Hospital a short time later.

Though still conscious when taken to surgery, Felderhoff was rated as critical, and X-rays indicated that he had several broken ribs and internal bleeding. He died shortly after the surgery.

His funeral service was held Tuesday, Aug. 20, in St. Mary's Church, Gainesville, with his uncle, Father Alcuin Kubis, officiating, and five priests concelebrating at a Mass of Christian Burial. They were Fathers Nicholas Fuhrmann, Cletus Post, Denis Soerries, Victor Gillespie and Joe Weinzapfel.

Also participating were the St. Mary's Choir, and Father Nicholas, Victor and Cletus in scriptural readings and prayers of the faithful. Ann Flederhoff, Margie Klement and Helen Pulte, who presented offertory gifts, and also the pallbearers, were relatives and friends of the family.

Interment was in the Lindsay Cemetery directed by Geo. J. Carroll and Son Funeral Home, and pallbearers were Chad Felderhoff, Greg Walterscheid, Kenny Thurman, Toby Kubis, Ralph Klement and Richard Blythe.

Services preceding the funeral were rosaries recited at 4 and 8 p.m. in the funeral home chapel.

Father Nicholas, in his funeral homily, referred to A.J. as one who lived by his faith in God and devotion to his family. He was generous in love and invariably matched his good advice with good example. Likewise in his business associations, his customers were his friends, always knowing he wanted to help. He lived God's way and death comes as a well-deserved beginning of a happy eternity.

Mr. Felderhoff was a native of Muenster, born Oct. 8, 1929, a son of Tony and Theresa Felderhoff. He was a farmer, a 35-year employee of Schad and Pulte and lately an employee of Case Power and Equipment Co. He was married on Aug. 9, 1951 to Mary E. Kubis in St. Peter's Church, Lindsay. He was a member of St. Mary's Church and the Knights of Columbus.

He is survived by his wife Mary E. (Girle); his children, spouses and grandchildren: Anthony Felderhoff Jr. of Chanute, Kansas; Steve and Donna Felderhoff and Bradley and Kerri of The Colony; Carol and Bobby Zimmerman and Jessica, Russell and Kristin of Gainesville; Ron Felderhoff of Austin; Cindy Felderhoff of Austin; Mary Felderhoff of Arlington; Kathy and Karl Metzler of Denton; Jeff Felderhoff of College Station; and Judie Felderhoff of Arlington; his parents, Tony and Theresa Felderhoff of Muenster; two brothers, Charles Felderhoff of Highland Village and Joe Felderhoff of Muenster; and two sisters, Joanie Hartman and Theresa Mae Walterscheid, both of Muenster.

175 tons hot mix fills city's pot holes

There's a reason why Muenster streets look better lately and why driving them is more pleasant than it used to be. It's because some umpteen thousand pot holes have been filled by more than 175 tons of hot mix cold lay asphalt since the first of the year.

The material is a mixture of crushed rock with hot asphalt and is applied with shovels, then packed with a heavy roller. City employees did the work with City Manager Joe Fenton directing.

Pasture fire clears 100 acres

An estimated 100 acres of pasture went up in smoke Tuesday afternoon in a grass fire on the Felderhoff ranch located on the former Camp Howze northwest of Gainesville.

A half dozen rural fire trucks, along with several farm units, battled the tinder dry grass, along with such obstacles as ditches and concrete barracks foundations, in fighting the flames. City trucks on the job were two each from Myra and Gainesville and one each from Lindsay and Moss Lake. Muenster was not notified.

Evening classes set for Defensive Driving course

An evening class in Defensive Driving will be offered for persons whose daytime jobs prevent them from attending the usual classes. Mrs. Alice Hellman, the instructor, has announced the classes for

Monday and Tuesday, Sept. 9 and 10, 6:30 to 9:30 each evening, to be held in her home.

Those attending must be at least 50 years of age, or older. To qualify for a 10 percent reduction in insurance rates, both husband and wife must be enrolled. However, widows and other singles may also qualify for the reduction.

For more information, call Mrs. Alice Hellman, 759-4966.

They repaired the worst places of every street in town. From Jan. 1 to June 25, they applied 30.75 tons at a rate of four tons a day when weather permitted. After June 25, the work schedule got more regular and they used 144.4 tons of mix.

However, work is due to slow down after Sept. 1 when some of the summer crew returns to school. Street repair then will be done mostly by the sanitation workers who normally will be available only on Wednesdays.

Sesquicentennial Committee holds ceremony

An impressive sanctioning ceremony for the Cooke County Sesquicentennial Committee was held Thursday afternoon, Aug. 15, on the Courthouse steps at 3:30 o'clock.

A large gathering from many parts of the county came for the outdoor program arranged by the committee with Margaret Parx Hays, county chairman of the committee, in charge.

Special speakers were Mrs. Jo Starr, program officer for the Texas 1986 Sesquicentennial Committee, Austin, State Representative Richard Williamson of Weatherford and Anita Pitchford of Gainesville.

The program was opened with a choral prelude by the Gainesville Sesqui-Singers, presented by Anetta Earle which sang a group of Texas songs. Call to order was by County Judge Jim A. Robertson, followed by the Posting of the Colors by the Boy Scout Troop #650 sponsored by the Whaley United Methodist Church of Gainesville.

Miss Hays explained the history of the local Sesquicentennial project and introduced the committee members. She presented Representative Williamson and Mrs. Starr, who spoke briefly concerning the state-wide observance.

Mrs. Pitchford was recognized for her part that she will play in the observance as teacher of the Wagon Train that will visit many parts of Texas beginning the first of January 1986 and continue for six months. The Train will be in Muenster and Gainesville during specified times in July of 1986. Mrs. Pitchford will take a leave of absence from her duties as principal of Gainesville's J.M. Lindsay School to teach the children riding the Wagon Train.

Mrs. Starr awarded the official flag of the Sesquicentennial and a certificate to Judge Robertson, and the local chairman and committee members.

Additional music by the Singers was directed by Mrs. Earle and her daughter, Susan, as they sang a special number. The youth also presented a square dance in keeping with the Texas theme.

To close the ceremony, the Sesqui-Singers led in the singing of "Texas, Our Texas," the state song of Texas and the pledge to the Texas flag.

Miss Hays issued an invitation on behalf of the Gainesville National Bank to attend a reception in the bank's community room across the street from the courthouse immediately following the ceremony.

Ed Alexander, board chairman, and his staff welcomed a large number of Cooke County citizens to enjoy the punch and party refreshments.

The Constitution and governing power

A FEW YEARS AGO, Mr. Dan Smoot was a well-known personality on radio and TV. He was also an F.B.I. agent for years. Due to serious illness, Dan Smoot dropped out of sight for the past several years. But he is now returning to the lecture circuit. Dan Smoot was quite a student of the Constitution of the United States. This column is a solid quote from his address, "The Constitutional Road to Prosperity and Peace" and is presented to you in honor of his return to public life.

"The Constitution - written in 1787 by a convention representing all the states; ratified, during the next two years, by state assemblies representing all the people - was put into operation in 1789 as the charter of a new federal government. It embodied the uniquely American concept of God, man, and government that Jefferson had written into the Declaration of Independence in 1776. God created man and gave him certain rights that no earthly power should be permitted to alienate. Man created government and gives it just enough power to perform the essential task of government; to preserve for men the blessings of liberty which they had from God before they ever made a government.

How much governing power is enough? No one has ever known. All power that is necessary in a great nation cannot be defined and rigidly bound by a constitutional contract. Many forces are forever changing society and its needs. Yet, if you give a national government discretionary power to do whatever governing officials claim to be needed, officialdom will eventually enslave the people, under the pretext of taking care of them. A dilemma! But the Founding Fathers flanked it. They realized that most of the governing power needed in America already existed, and was in proper hands, at the state and local levels. They wrote a Constitution, leaving that state power structure largely untouched, to do most of the governing - denying the federal government all of the undefined, stretchable, powers to intervene in the lives of people, leaving those dangerous powers to be exercised, if at all, by state and local government.

The federal government was given ample authority to conduct urgent. And in his turn the president feels that approval is either important or urgent even when he thinks the amendment should be vetoed.

The line items veto would solve this problem. It would allow the president to veto any part of a bill without affecting the validity of other parts. It would enable him to eliminate countless pork barrel amendments for special interests and the lawmaker's personal influence. Billions of dollars could be trimmed from the budget that way. We know it is possible because it is working in many state governments.

But getting the line item veto passed will not be easy. The same people who attach pork barrel amendments to other legislation can be expected to oppose passage of the line item veto. In fact they are already working at it. Just a few days ago Senator Hatfield of Oregon, in helping a filibuster, said the line item veto of individual budget items was one of the most dangerous proposals ever to come before the Senate. Two other prominent opponents were Senators Byrd of W.Va. and Mathias of Maryland. All those have been promoting measures of special benefit to their states and themselves. They don't want their president to have the power to scratch their special interest projects.

However, the outlook for line item veto is far from hopeless. There are supporters who think special interests should not be allowed to raid the treasury, and especially that taxpayers deserve relief from the high cost of pampering political favorites. Among the supporters is Senator Dole, who thinks line item veto can pass as part of a bill that can't be filibustered. For instance a bill to raise the national debt ceiling. If opponents and their allies kill it they will also stop their own favorite spending.

West celebrates with Westfest

Westfest is an annual Czech festival held on Saturday and Sunday of Labor Day Weekend in the community of West, located 17 miles north of Waco on I-35.

The first Westfest was held in 1976 and organized to preserve the Czechoslovakian heritage of the community and to raise funds for community projects. Additional funding from Westfest enabled the city to purchase land and construct a new ballpark and a new community center in past years.

Thirty to forty thousand people attend this event each year. Most attendees come from within a 150-mile radius, with Houston 150 miles south of West and Dallas/Ft. Worth 85 miles north.

The festival kicks off with a street dance Friday night held in conjunction with the Miss West-fest contest. A parade is held Saturday morning and a 5000-meter run is scheduled for Sunday morning. The festival grounds open at 11:00 a.m. both days.

Six bands play each day at Westfest and folk dancers from around the country perform. The music is predominantly Czech featuring polkas and waltzes. There are also exhibitions by the Sokol gymnasts.

Twenty-eight food booths feature a variety of foods to appease almost any appetite, beer gardens to quench a thirst, and almost 100 arts and crafts booths to browse through. There is also a children's area with games, rides and supervision.

Admission to the event is $3.00 for adults and $1.00 for children. Admission is good for all dances, entertainment, exhibits and activities within the festival grounds.

High Hill Parish observes 125th

St. Mary's Catholic Church and the small community of High Hill, Texas, will celebrate their 125th anniversary on Labor Day weekend. The parish festival has been extended this year to include Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Bishop Charles Graham of Victoria will co-celebrate the 10 a.m. Sunday Mass. It will feature a German-style Mass and sinzine from the famous Liederkranz of San Antonio.

St. Mary's Church was recently entered in the national registry of historic places. A historical display, souvenirs and a country store will add to the occasion. Other Sunday activities include a chicken and stew dinner with country sausage also available.

Band performances are booked Friday night and dances on Saturday and Sunday. The Beethoven Maennerchor, the Liederkranz and other bands will entertain all day Sunday. Another Sunday attraction is a country auction at 2 p.m.

High Hill is located three miles northwest of Schulenburg, about halfway between San Antonio and Houston off IH-10.

Immunization clinic set for August 28

The Texas Department of Health Region 5 office in Arlington announces a free Immunization Clinic to be held in Muenster on Wednesday, August 28, 1985 at Sacred Heart Community Center from 9:00 A.M. - 12:00 Noon.

The clinic will provide immunization against Diphtheria-Tetanus-Pertussis (DTP), Polio, Rubella (Red Measles) and Rubella (German Measles). Precautions must be taken with females in the 12-18 age group to insure that they are not pregnant when they are immunized with Measles and/or Rubella vaccines, and that they do not become pregnant for 3 months following immunization.

Immunizations are incomplete if a child has not received three (3) doses of DTP and four (4) doses of Polio vaccine with one dose administered past the fourth birthday. All children under 18 years must have an informed consent form read and signed by the parent or legal guardian. If possible, the parent should accompany the child to the clinic. Immunization records should accompany the child to the clinic and be examined by the public health nurse who will answer any questions.

Lay Franciscans hold August prayer hour

Secular Franciscans met Sunday, Aug. 18, at 3 p.m. in Sacred Heart Church for their monthly prayer hour and fraternity business.

Mrs. Leo Henscheid, prefect, led the Liturgy of the Hours, then read official communications and distributed current copies of "Canticle News" which serves Secular Franciscans of the Oklahoma Region, to which the Muenster and Lindsay chapters belong.

News notes from the area in the magazine included an item about Mrs. Teresa Hermes, Lindsay prefect, having suffered a broken hip on July 15. Although she is improving, members were urged to remember her in their prayers.

Members received an invitation to attend a regional meeting in St. Francis Village at Crowley on Aug. 31. Local members discussed plans to attend.

Mrs. Frank Herr, secretary, read minutes of the July meeting and Mrs. Felix Yosten gave the treasurer's report.

Before adjournment, the group prayed the Rosary for Loretta Wilde, recently deceased member of the fraternity, and concluded with the Peace Prayer of St. Francis.

Eight members attended and Sister Barbara Bernauer was a special guest.

Forestburg News

Last reminder, folks - Forestburg's Annual Watermelon Festival is upon us - this weekend. Do hope you have made your plans to attend.

If you attend the festival you might like to know that if you are tired, hot and thirsty, come by the OLD Community Center, sit down to rest, and have a cold drink on August 24. Movies of early Indian Raids will be shown at intervals through the day and at 7 p.m. Plans are to keep the building open as a Hospitality center throughout the day.

Another reminder - this time about the Uz Homecoming Saturday, Aug. 31, at the Uz School grounds - under the shade trees, at noon so bring your dinner, eat, visit and relax with friends and neighbors - present and past.

From time to time this writer does not get all the information concerning certain events that take place. One such event was the Landers Family Reunion at the New Community Center on June 14. I have since learned that $400.00 was donated by those attending the New Community Center. $100.00 for stainless steel flatware and the rest for 5 new tables. Also 27 new members were added to the WBAP Community Service Club.

Funeral services were under the direction of Burgess-Fry Funeral Home in Bowie, with services in the Dewey Church and burial in the Perryman Cemetery.

"Miss Charity" is survived by one daughter Mrs. Vista Lee Carter, one son Lester W. Boyd, Jr. two brothers, one sister, three grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

It was a very beautiful candlelight wedding for Veronica Edwards and Chris Greenead Saturday, Aug. 17 at 7:30 p.m. in the Forestburg United Methodist Church. Veronica is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Edwards and Chris is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Odell Greenead of Dallas. The wedding was followed with a reception in the New Community Center.

Perryman Denham says the above wedding was quite different from the first wedding he ever attended many years ago. He and some other lads were at Johnny Moore's station (now Dill's Garage) one Sunday morning when someone ran in and announced, "Laverne True is getting married over at 'Doc' Jones (the Justice of Peace)." They all dashed down there. Perryman says "Doc" Jones looked at the marriage license and said, "Take the lady by the hand. By the authority vested in me, I pronounce you man and wife. That will be two dollars, please." That was the short and sweet of it all.

HORNET BACKS AND ENDS, still in their shorts Sims for route instructions on a play. when this picture was snapped, huddle with Coach

Hornets face first test at Chico

After a week of work with the Hornets, Coach Dewey Sims is smiling. He says he likes their hustle as well as their progress in polishing up their offense, also that they are playing it smart in applying new ideas.

He's equally pleased with the defense in spite of giving the lion's share of practice time to the offense. For the time being, the defenders will depend mostly on ability and alertness. Overall he thinks the boys are in good shape after two weeks of practice, and he's looking forward to their first test in a scrimmage at Chico Friday.

That event has the appearance of a toss-up, according to the Hornets boss. The rosters are near equal, and players are about the same size.

Varsity and junior varsity will both see action, meaning both MHS teams will have a depth problem if and when replacements are needed. As regards the varsity, they have strength and experience all they way, but JVs have to depend almost completely on freshmen.

The action is booked for Chico starting at 6 p.m. They will use the controlled scrimmage method, in which the teams take turns at 20 offensive and 20 defensive plays. If they can make first down yardage in three tries, they keep going, otherwise they go back to the 30 for another attack.

August 23

Tigers await test at Perrin

Tiger coaches, pleased with their past two weeks of practice, expect to get more definite ideas Friday night when they meet Perrin in a practice session. The action will be at Perrin starting about 6 p.m.

As compared by pre-season data, the teams are about even. Sacred Heart, with nine returning lettermen along with normal gains in experience and weight, should be stronger in the opinion of Coach Jon LeBrasseur, but there are a few offsetting disadvantages, such as less speed and less depth. "Our first hope is to keep healthy and avoid substitutions," says Coach Jon.

The report is that the opponents rate about equal. After last year's build-up year with lots of youngsters, Perrin has lots of returnees with gains in size and experience.

Overall, the Sacred Heart coaches are pleased with their progress. Team enthusiasm is high, seniors are doing a good job of leading and plays are developing in spite of the two-day strain in August heat.

However, the two-a-day grind continues only a week longer. After school starts on the 26th, grid practice time reduces to once daily, probably after 6 until cooler weather.

Knights have bright prospects

There's a reason why the ratings this year point to Lindsay Knights to repeat as the north zone champ of District 4-A.

The response of 42 at first practice was a delight to Coach Grady Roller. It means a wealth of talent and experience and ample depth for both varsity and JV teams.

In a few respects, the boys are not up to last year's potential, as Coach Roller sizes them up. They are smaller, weighing about 165 on an average, and they don't have the break-away speed of recent years. But they are well-coordinated and have the quickness to get the jump on average opponents. Without any individual standouts, the team as a unit appears to have stand out potential.

The team will get an idea of its ability Friday night at Alvord.

CHEERLEADERS OF LINDSAY HIGH SCHOOL attended a special cheerleader camp at Tarleton State University July 8 to 11 and achieved an excellent record, winning a number of awards. They received one excellent ribbon; three superior ribbons; won the Spirit Stick on Monday and Wednesday and were privileged to bring it home on Thursday. Additionally, they were nominated for the "Award of Excellence" and were among the six finalists. They also received a Super-Star Squad ribbon for attendance at camp. Shown in the photo, 1 to r, top: Christy Hellman, Katrinka Griffin, Minnie Hundt; front: Tammie Sandmann, Jolanda Wimmer and Sonya Eberhart.

Cattlemen workshop booked for Sept. 11

A stocker calves program as a way to increase profits of small grain pastures in Cooke County is the subject of discussion at a workshop, with meal and entertainment as a bonus, sponsored by the Cooke County Beef Association on Wednesday, Sept. 11, at the Hinton Ranch near Gainesville.

The program headliner will be Buddy Farris, extension veterinarian of Texas A&M. His subjects are on Receiving Health Program, Growth Stimulants, Bloat Control and Mineral Programs.

Also Buddy Smith, S-Agri Management Systems of Maxwell, will cover soil fertility in this area and will have a group of Blond d'Aquitaine cattle on tour. Ken Stokes, area economist, will be available for budgeting and projections.

The additional attraction is country singer and entertainer Don Edwards of Fort Worth. Cattlemen are invited to bring a spouse or other guest.

County Agent's Report

by Craig Rosenbaum

For the most part, Grain Sorghum yields have been above average this year. Many producers have made 4,000 plus pounds. However, with many crops, we still have some poor yields throughout the country. These are due to a number of factors.

Some grain sorghum producers have experienced severe lodging in their fields this year. There are many reasons for lodging. Some that we have seen this year are due to fungus, high yielding varieties, late drought stress, and seeding rates. A fungal disease called Charcoal Rot has been observed in some fields. This disease is prevalent when late season droughts occur during or at head filling time. The fungus consumes the softer tissue in the lower part of the stalk and will cause the grain sorghum to go down.

Ways to alleviate this problem would be through lower planting rates, irrigation, or selection of shorter, stiffer stalked varieties. There is no fungicide or other cultural practice that will help with this fungus. We have observed another fungus called Fusarium that will also cause the lower part of the stalk to rot and the maize will go down.

These two fungus are not the only cause of our grain sorghum going down this year. Most varieties have a poor shallow root system due to the early wet weather that caused the maize to make such excellent growth. We have many new varieties that have very high yield potential, and this, coupled with higher seeding rates that causes smaller stalks, again will cause maize to go down.

Even with the few isolated problems, sorghum yields and returns should be favorable for county producers.

4-H teaches record keeping

Have you ever wondered what you did a year or two ago? Or, how much something cost? With records you can easily find out.

Records are very important to our lives. Such examples of records we must keep up with in our everyday lives include: income tax; school records; employment; birth certificates; social security and business records.

4-H record keeping is not an extra task but an integral part of the 4-H program. Not everyone enjoys keeping records, but developing a good habit early in life will be most helpful for a lifetime.

Although Cooke County 4-H'ers have just finished up their calendar year of record keeping and have just finished up their forms and recordbooks for the 1984-85 club year's accomplishments this might be the perfect time to approach why do records???

The 4-H program offers various opportunities, scholarships, and special projects. The 4-H award program record book is one opportunity that a 4-H member can take advantage of for personal growth.

Some ways of record keeping are:

- * To help a 4-H member develop the habit of keeping a record of accomplishments.

- * To help a 4-H member realize what he has learned and accomplished in a certain period of time.

- * To serve as a basis for planning a 4-H program.

- * To give a concise picture of overall project or business situation.

- * To help a 4-H member learn how to figure detail, show financial gain or loss.

- * To help the 4-H leaders and agents realize what members have learned and what additional challenges need to be offered.

- * To provide evaluation for leadership, citizenship, and award programs.

- * To provide evaluation for leadership, citizenship, and award programs.

- * To provide personal value for the 4-H member and his family.

To ensure proper growth ... you need to plan ahead (as soon as possible for the 1985-86 year). 4-H records are easier to do if you have been keeping records of what the 4-H member has done (is doing) throughout the year. So start now instead of next June to record all the 4-H activities you are involved in. The Cooke County 4-H calendar year starts on July 1, 1985 through June 30, 1986. Which means, have you started your record keeping yet for the new year?

Soil survey saves cost

Here's a message for homebuyers:

Before you buy or build, study a soil survey. It can warn of soils that flood, soils that have a high-water table that can cause a septic system to fail, or other problems.
