Much is being said these days about the urgency of improving the state's school system. The special meetings promoted by Ross Perot suggest a number of changes scrapping standards of past years and replacing them with new ideas.

A suggestion is to give the children more class time by a longer class day and eliminating some extra curricular activity such as too frequent sports events, and also to lengthen the school year.

Of course, few proposals come without price tags, and Governor White now calls for a special legislative session to raise the billions that will be needed to fund the new ideas. All of which makes sense if kept within common sense guidelines. For instance, few will deny that teachers deserve a pay raise, and merit teachers deserve an inducement. But is it necessary to give extravagant pay and add it to current expenses?

In keeping with suggested improvements, some present frills could be taken from the curriculum at substantial savings while giving the kids more basic subjects. And the astronomical waste of busing for integration could be eliminated to save billions. And why not?...when opposed by whites and blacks alike! The original purpose was to allow all students to attend the school of their choice. But busing doesn't achieve that. It doesn't allow freedom of choice, just forces students to go where integrationists dictate. Freedom and economy could both be served by this means. We're all for raising tax to increase school revenue wherever it's needed. However, we firmly believe the governor and the legislature ought to be as determined to save as to generate new revenue.

In applying the principle, education reform urgently needs to tackle the nation's program; even more so than the state's. School's everywhere could be improved vastly by cutting out radical ideas, radical programs and degrading courses originating with organizations like the Department of Education and the National Education Association. For years those people have been sabotaging American schools, destroying traditional values like morality, patriotism, free enterprise and respect for God and fellowman as observed by our forefathers.

Just a few of the country's educational faults were brought to light a few days ago in an article in Human Events after a number of hearings on education requested by Secretary of Education Terrell Bell. In it Phyllis Schlafly wonders whether the secretary will publish the essence of more than a thousand pages of testimony by American parents on what their children are being taught. The testimony is significant though belated because it reveals the very facts that Bell asked for in 1974. Well, he's been told what parents think and the question now is can he or will he buck the forces of evil which are undermining American education?

Schafly said the extensive report speaks with the thunderous voice of hundreds of parents who are angry at how their children have been mentally and emotionally abused by experimental and behavioral programs during classroom hours when the parents thought their children were being taught basic education. Parents complained that such programs are alienating school children from their parents, from religious beliefs, and from our nation's patriotic heritage. Parents claim that educator "change agents" have spent federal tax dollars to use local schools as laboratories for social engineering and experimentation rather than for traditional academic instruction.

From this we have an idea of what America really gets from many programs hailed by the feds as their aid to education.

A Pennsylvania parent testifying at a Washington hearing said she removed her four children from school after discovering that sexually explicit films were used in a human development curriculum required for all students. She said a 20 minute film for eighth graders was morally degrading. Actually pornography was used in teaching young children.

Muenster High School

"Make the most of your education, be the best in what you do." That was the message of Urban Endres to the seniors of Muenster High School at their graduation Friday night.

In keeping with that aim he suggested giving careful thought to the immediate future, whether to continue their studies in college or technical school to qualify for future comfort and happiness.

He reminded them too that their heritage of freedom permits them to do whatever they wish, and the sky's the limit. The Wrights were the first to fly, Lindberg was first across the ocean, astronauts were first to the moon, and now individuals talk about going there. He also mentioned the marvels of computers and communications as a reminder that opportunity is unlimited.

Craig Felderhoff was valedictorian and Deborah Hale was salutatorian of the graduating class at Muenster High.

Farm Bureau qualifies for voter registration

The Cooke County Farm Bureau board of directors has approved a voter registration campaign to help make a maximum number of persons eligible to vote in the Nov. 6 general election, according to Leonard Hartman, county president.

In order to facilitate the registration of eligible voters, the county Farm Bureau has received approval for a deputy voter registrar to be stationed in the county office at Gainesville, Highway 82. The registrar is Norma Leslie, county secretary, a staff member of the Farm Bureau.

County President Hartman said his organization urges farmers and ranchers and others in the county who have not done so to come by the county office to register.

Awards banquet honors SH students

Students of Sacred Heart High School were honored for their past year's achievements at the school's annual recognition and awards banquet last Thursday in the parish community center.

Their program also included a valedictory message by Susan Walterscheid and a salutatory by Gus Reiter.

Stenholm and Hall join Nance on campaign trail

US Congressmen Charles Stenholm and Ralph Hall will join Kent Hance this weekend campaigning with Kent Hance in behalf of his nomination as Democratic candidate for US Senator in the general election.

The trio of representatives will start early Saturday the 26th traveling to most of the major cities in Stenholm's and Hall's districts. "I want to encourage people of my district to put their full support in the US Senate candidate who will truly work in our best interest," Stenholm said. "Kent Hance is undoubtedly that candidate."

Starting at Texarkana the Han-

Keep in mind, he said, that there are three kinds of people: those who make things happen, those who watch things happen, those who don't know what happens. A parting thought was "Go, get 'em."

Diplomas to the twenty graduates were awarded by D.J. Hellman, president of the school board, with Eddie Green, principal, assisting. The class sponsors, Mr. and Mrs. Jon Ward, did the honors of changing class rings and tassels.

In addition, three scholarships were awarded by Principal Green. As valedictorian, Craig Felderhoff received one from Independent Colleges and Universities of the state, and one from state supported institutions. Debbie Hale, as salutatorian, received one from the independent institutions.

Also, certificates of perfect attendance were awarded to Pam Hermes, Paula Russell, Wesley Sicking, Steven Vogel and Duane Walterscheid.

Sacred Heart High School

Fr. Denis Soerries advised seniors of Sacred Heart High at their graduation Sunday evening that the way to success, comfort and happiness in this life and the next is to stay close to Christ, that His way is the sure way to avoid many mistakes which appeal temporarily but lead to disappointments.

In that regard he referred to challenges like drink and drugs, shirking religious and scholastic duties or deserting the solid principles of their early training.

He further stated that it's wise to be prepared for hard work in college. Whereas high school is inclined to "help you pass, the colleges seem to dare you." And the next important thought is the proper idea of success. The real measure of success is not to be rich or famous, but to be helpful to others and live up to Christian principles.

He specially urged a more responsible attitude to marriage than our present society has. Though divorce is accepted by the world it is failure, usually causing unhappiness and broken lives. Father Denis likewise told students to be grateful to parents and parish for the sacrifices made in giving them a good start and to live up to the principles they are taking from Sacred Heart.

The graduation followed the 6 p.m. Sunday Mass at Sacred Heart Church with liturgy specially arranged for the occasion. Participants were Jim Bartush, Jeannene Voth and Rita Pels in scriptural readings; Sondra Trubenbach reciting petitions;

Gail McGraw, Jon LeBrasseur and Judy Carver presenting offertory gifts, the class in an offertory song, Serena Wright leading the songs and reciting a graduation poem. Fathers Denis and Victor were con-celebrants.

Diplomas were presented after Mass by Father Denis with Father Victor and Sister Carmelita assisting. Serena Wright, class sponsor, turned tassels as the grads received diplomas.

Harvest outlook is encouraging

As the 1984 harvest approaches, the outlook is highly satisfactory. That is the general impression as seen and heard by Muenster's two grain dealers as well as County Agent Craig Rosenbaum and ASCS Supervisor Tim Gilbert.

The first good news is that the crop is a dandy and probably rates as a near equal to the 1983 average of 42 to 45 bushels per acre. A conservative guess is 35, and the actual figure yield hopefully will improve later when combines get on the job.

More good news is the price. The latest quotation, from Tony's Seed and Feed, is $3.70 to $3.80 for hard wheat, as compared with $3.50 last year.

On the other hand the bad news, at least up to now is limited. Scotland reports indicate a disease in the grain, probably identifiable as crown rot. It has been observed in only a few patches and is expected to cause little trouble unless it spreads rapidly and soon. Over all the crop is in good health.

As of now farmers are sweating out the starting date, which is expected to be early next week. Moderate weather with this week's rain apparently has caused a few days of delay.

Acresage this year is greater because less has been taken out of production to participate in federal programs. County wide some 4,000 acres are idled whereas the figure was near 11,000 last year.

The report on oats is less favorable. It is rated as only fair and the acresage is limited.

State Commander Andy Stelzer to have part in Sunday memorial service

Emmett A. (Andy) Stelzer, state commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, will participate in Muenster's annual memorial service to be held next Sunday, May 27, following the 7 a.m. Mass at Sacred Heart Church.

The service, to be conducted by VFW Post and Auxiliary, will start with a procession from the church to the cemetery led by the post's color bearers and honor guard along with Auxiliary officers carrying wreaths, flower bearers, and the public.

First stop in the cemetery will be the crucifixion statues where the Auxiliary will place a wreath honoring all deceased persons of the parish and prayers will be recited.

Next stop is the service men's area where Auxiliary members will place floral arrangements at the monument and children will place individual red carnations on the service men's graves. That will be followed by prayers for the honored dead, a memorial message, and the traditional taps by Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Weinzapfel and a three-volley rifle salute by the VFW honor guard.

Special places of honor and special flowers are provided by the Auxiliary for Gold Star parents. Mrs. Frank Bayer and Mrs.

Theresa Moster will receive corsages, Frank Bayer and J.M. Weinzapfel will receive boutonnières.

Commander Andy Stelzer is a native of Muenster, born June 26, 1926, now living in Post and in business as an independent oil operator. He and his wife Rosemary have three children, David, Linda and Mary Ann.

He served in the Rhineland and Central Europe 21 months during World War II, receiving the EAME campaign ribbon with two bronze stars, the Army of Occupation ribbon, World War II victory ribbon, and two overseas bars.

He is a 35 year VFW member and has held all offices at the post level including two years as commander, also a year as district commander and a year at department instructor, a year each as junior and senior state vice-commander before being elected to his present office of state commander.

Triathlon winner

Harry Scoggins extended his athletic career through another major athletic event last Sunday at the Texoma Triathlon in Sherman. He was first place winner in the 50-59 age group with a time of 1 hour, 36 minutes. Activity of the triathlon includes a 300 yard swim, a 16.5 mile bike ride and a 5K (3.1 m) run.

Good News

Acts 4: 32-35

The community of believers were of one heart and one mind. None of them ever claimed anything as his own; rather, everything was held in common. With power the apostles bore witness to the resurrection of the Lord Jesus, and great respect was paid to them all; nor was there anyone needy among them, for all who owned property or houses sold them and donated the proceeds. They used to lay them at the feet of the apostles to be distributed to everyone according to his need.

Praise the Lord - Part II

LAST WEEK we looked at an excerpt from a sermon by evangelistic T.D. Hall telling us why we should praise the Lord. Today we look at another excerpt from this same sermon on how we can praise the Lord.

Singing is one of the greatest ways a Christian has to praise the Lord. "My heart is fixed, O God, my heart is fixed: I will sing and give praise. I will praise thee, O Lord, among the people: I will sing unto thee among the nations" (Psalm 57:7,9). If we love Jesus there should never be a time when a song leader says, "Let's sing" that a Christian does not wholeheartedly respond. I guarantee you that it pleases God for you to praise Him in this way. It glorifies Him for you to sing. You are praising God when you sing.

Prayer is another way we have of praising God. "Because thy loving-kindness is better than life, my lips shall praise thee. And my mouth shall praise thee with joyful lips: When I remember thee upon my bed, and meditate on thee in the night watches" (Psalm 63:3, 5b - 6). This can be done anywhere. You can pray like the psalmist in your bed. You can pray while you drive down the highway. You can do it while you wash dishes. You can even go into the closet to pray. But there is plenty of time in every day to praise the Lord. What better way could we ever use our lips to praise the Lord as we pray to Him expressing our gratitude. We can use our lips to share our testimony with the saved and the lost. Wherever you go you can praise God and share with people what the Lord means to you. When this is done, some people will be ready to listen and trust the Lord.

According to Psalm 63:4 another legitimate way of praising God is by lifting our hands to Him. In some churches this is practiced and in others it is not. But all Christians should realize that it is a scriptural way of praising God and not criticize those who do. It will be a great day in Christendom when Christians stop being suspicious of others just because they praise God in a different way. Especially when it was practiced by the psalmist.

One lady told about how God helped her to overcome this problem. She had not been used to attending church where people would lift their hands to the Lord during prayer or during the songs. She seemed to recoil when this would happen, but could find nothing in the scripture that would forbid Christians praising God in this fashion. She asked the Lord to give her understanding about this matter. One day when she was in the kitchen she heard her two year old child crying in the den.

She went in to check on her child and when she walked in the room, her little one lifted both hands straight up toward her. And all at once the Lord spoke to her about her problem with the raising of hands during the service. When she saw her child lifting her hands she knew that she wanted her and that she needed her and everything in her was ready to reach down and pick her child up and meet her needs. And the Lord said to her, "That's the way I feel when I see my children lifting their hands." She went on to give her testimony that after this experience she found that when others did it, it did not bother her. And, in fact, she found herself practicing this in private and in some occasions in the church along with others.

Clapping hands is another way of praise. "O clap your hands, all ye people, shout unto God with the voice of triumph" (Psalm 47:1). In some churches people clap their hands during some of the songs and after special music if they have received a special blessing. In other churches people would be very much offended by this. However, they do praise God in other ways. The Christian attitude should allow for Christians to use whatever methods which best suit them to praise the Lord. One way is not necessarily more spiritual than the other because he is praising God in a certain way. However, every Christian should be praising God in some way.

Richard Viguerie Let'em stay home

ON A typical evening a few years from now, the boys in the Kremlin may get together after a hard day's work to share vodka and swap funny stories about the Americans who humiliated themselves over the 1984 Olympics. Remember Jesse Jackson rushing to meet with Anatoliy Dobrynin, the Soviet ambassador to the U.S.? Remember Walter Mondale advising President Reagan to "roll up his sleeves" to get the Soviets to reverse their decision? Ho ho ho, comrade.

Despite wishful thinking by various politicians and Olympic officials, it is unlikely that the decision to boycott the Olympics will be reversed. It was a cold, calculated decision, necessary to avoid the spectacle of Soviet-bloc athletes deserting the "socialist paradise" of their youth. Who knows how many runners would have crossed the finish line and kept running to the nearest immigration office?

As usual, commentators in this country are falling over each other in the rush to blame the boycott on the United States. It's in retaliation for our boycott of the Moscow Olympics four years ago, they say. It's because of Ronald Reagan's anti-communist rhetoric, they say. The President should make concessions to get Soviets to change their minds, they say.

One wonders whether the same commentators would bring their hands if South Korea, Chile, and other anti-communist nations boycotted the games. Would they encourage the President to crawl on his knees and beg them to show up for the torch-lighting ceremony? Or would they say the games are better off without those countries?

South Africa is banned from the games, and the Republic of China on Taiwan is allowed to participate only on the condition that it not use its own flag and national anthem. Politics has always been an integral part of the competition, as the Soviets have long understood. In 1958, Pravda declared: "An important factor in our foreign policy is the international relations of our sportsmen. A successful trip by the sportsmen of the USSR, of the (communist) countries, is an excellent vehicle of propaganda in the capitalist countries." As Time magazine put it recently, "The Soviets...view success on the Olympic stage as vindication of the Soviet system..."

Then why the boycott? First, the U.S. made it clear that it would make things difficult for the spies the Soviets were sending by the boatload and plane-load into this country. For example, the U.S. denied a visa to the Soviet "advance man" for the Olympics — the man responsible for preparations for the Soviet athletes — because he was a well-known KGB agent.

The Soviets were upset over the decision to accredit Radio Free Europe and Radio Liberty to cover the games, and they strongly objected to the financing of the games by "capitalist" companies like McDonald's and 7-11. (Because much of the Olympic activity is being financed by private enterprise, the 1984 games may be the first since 1932 to make a profit.)

And, by boycotting the Olympics, the Soviets can send the message that they just can't get along with Ronald Reagan. With an eye on the November election, they can make it look like the President is an impediment to peace. (Incidentally, they tried to same sort of tactic in West Germany last year and failed miserably.)

But perhaps the most important reason was the fear of defections. Members of the Ban the Soviets Coalition, an organization of 165 anti-communist groups, planned to set up "safe houses" where defectors could hide from the KGB. They were going to advertise the sanctuaries through handbills, posters, and radio announcements. They planned to rent billboards that would display (in Russian) telephone numbers for defectors to call to get help. In addition, they intended to spread the word in Los Angeles through a network of people speaking different Soviet-bloc languages. The dissident network inside the Soviet bloc was to help spread the word behind the Iron Curtain.

The Soviets do not understand why the U.S. government cannot simply round up the Coalition members and keep them out of sight during the games. After all, that's the way the Soviets handled the Moscow Olympics in 1980.

They exiled some 300,000 "undesirables" from the city, including dissidents. They denied some two million people their normal access to the areas where the games were held. They used slave labor to build Olympic facilities and to mass-produce the cute little teddy bear that was the games' mascot. Meat, produce, canned foods, and other scarce items were taken away from people in the rest of the country and sent to Moscow, so that the abject poverty of the Russian people would not be apparent to visitors from around the world.

Unfortunately for the Soviets, this is a free country. We don't do that sort of thing in America.

For decades, the Soviets have dragged young children away from their parents, pumped them full of hormones, and tried to create a sort of "master race" of athletes. Like the Nazis, the Soviets have used every opportunity to politicize the Olympics and turn ceremonies into propaganda shows. If they are so afraid of their own athletes that they would rather lose by default than compete, I say good riddance.

COMMENT

Dr. George S. Benson Looking Ahead

The Prayer Amendment

IN A 1982 Gallup poll it was found that 95 percent of the American people believe there is a God, "the God of Abraham, Isaac and Jacob." Another Gallup poll, conducted in late 1983, found that 81 percent of our people are in favor of the Prayer Amendment. Only 14 percent opposed it, while 15 percent had no opinion.

Why is the Prayer Amendment necessary? Why is there such a sense of urgency about this project? We think Congressman Newt Gingrich of Georgia, speaking on the floor of the House on March 1 of this year, summed up the reasons pretty well when he said:

"...I came to realize that here in the United States there really is a sense of concern about religious freedom and a sense of frustration, and year by year we have seen the American Civil Liberties Union and its lawsuits erode what were basic American beliefs for the first 180 years of our history. I came to realize that there is no answer except a constitutional amendment."

Here is what the Prayer Amendment says: "Nothing in this constitution shall be construed to prohibit individual or group prayer in public schools or other public institutions. No person shall be required by the United States or by any state to participate in prayer. Neither the United States nor any state shall compose the words of any prayer to be said in public schools."

Rabbi Seymour Siegel, professor at the Jewish Theological Seminary of America in New York, in supporting the Prayer Amendment, writes:

"...an education interfused with reverence for the Divine will help lead human beings to deal kindly with each other...In prayer, we acknowledge our dependence on a Power greater than our own... Man may master all of science, literature and history, but if he does not know how to establish a dialogue with God, if he has not learned how to revere life and life's Creator — he has not fully developed his humanity..."

We agree with D.L. Cuddy, Ph.D., of Raleigh, North Carolina, who has pointed out the "freedom of speech" aspect of banning prayer. In a letter to Human Events, he wrote: "The issue is whether we lose our right to 'freedom of speech' when we set foot on public property."

There is an attempt right now in Congress to limit permissible prayer to "silent prayer and meditation." Says Cuddy, "But 'freedom of speech' is meaningless unless it means 'audible' speech. Therefore, if students in public schools can voluntarily say audibly, 'Thank you, teacher,' can we deny them the freedom of speech to voluntarily say audibly, 'Thank you, God?'"

As this is written the Prayer Amendment is being debated in the Senate. It would appear that the liberal humanists in that chamber will be able to prevent the amendment resolution being passed in its proper, undiminished form. The liberal humanists in the House have the amendment resolution bottled up in committee and are so numerous as probably to be able to keep it there.

The only remedy for the people, the only way we will ever be able to put God back in public life and institutions, is by going to the Senate legislatures with resolutions calling for a convention to amend the constitution, just as has been done with the balanced budget amendment.

The People want God back in American life! The humanist-dominated courts and Congress have denied Him. It is now time for the People to act through their States!

Outsmarting The Bear.

When the bear's loose on Wall Street, those with large investments there, have cause to worry. The bear is mean. But he can be outsmarted. Just join the Payroll Savings Plan and buy U.S. Savings Bonds each payday.

The variable interest rate lets you share in higher returns of a bull market. Then, if the bear does appear, he won't be able to chew up your entire nest egg. You're protected by a guaranteed minimum. The smartest move you can make is the move to U.S. Savings Bonds.

Take stock in America.

The testimony goes on and on, teaching disrespect for religion and patriotism and our economic systems, and denying a difference in right and wrong.

We don't have to depend on such hearings for an idea of many twisted theories as well as outright crimes that are being imposed on American Young people by criminals and/or demented phonies. The daily news exposes them frequently. We need no more evidence that education needs a thorough housecleaning. This should be priority in the state and the nation. After that, improvements can be built on a sound foundation. But to pour more money on present depravity is only a way to perpetuate the evil and probably increase it.

Lemons Photography of Nocona

MRS. ROBERT WAYNE DOBBS

The wedding of Nancy Sue Zimmerer and Robert Wayne Dobbs of Gainesville was held in St. Peter's Church of Lindsay on Saturday May 19 at 5 p.m. Father Cletus Post celebrated the Nuptial Mass and officiated for the double ring vows. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Zimmerer of Rt. 2 and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Dobbs of Gainesville. A graduate of Lindsay High School, the bride is attending Cooke County College and is employed as a secretary by Bomber Bait Co. The groom is a graduate of Gainesville High School, attended Cooke County College and is a stocker at Tom Thumb. Presented at the altar by her father, the bride was wearing a white designer gown by Alfred Angelo fashioned of silk chiffon with a fitted bodice and a Victorian neckline of Wedgewood lace, and Schiffler lace forming the V-shaped yoke that was edged with two wide ruffles of Wedgewood and Chantilly laces. Full, sheer bishop sleeves were cuffed at the wrist with matching lace and tied with delicate white satin ribbons. The bodice was closed in back with tiny white buttons. Four wide rows of matching lace surrounded the full skirt, descending to form the chapel length train.

Her illusion veil was attached to a white Victorian bridal hat of lace with bands of satin and pearls.

Her bridal bouquet was a cascade of red and white roses, white babies breath, English ivy and white satin streamers. Entwined was the bride's mother's blue rosary, carried at her wedding and also the weddings of the bride's sisters.

For sentiment and tradition, the bride wore a ruby ring belonging to her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Cecilia Hermes.

Bridal attendants were Diane Luttmer of Lindsay, a friend, as maid of honor, and Barbara Nortman of Alvin, Texas and Janet Bayer of Valley View, sisters of the bride, and Laura Headrick of Gainesville, cousin of the groom as bridesmaids.

They wore identical gowns of red and white designed with a lace yoke edged with a red and white ruffle. The top skirt was gathered at the edge over a deep red ruffle and was held in place by red bows. Cumberbunds were fitted around the gathered skirts.

Each carried a nosegay of red and white carnations and white babies breath, with red and white streamers.

Julia Fleitman of Muenster, friend of the bride, was flower girl.

John Hughes of Gainesville a friend of the groom was best man. Justin Aughter of Spring, Texas, groom's nephew, Greg Zimmerer of Lindsay, bride's brother and Dwight La Rue of Gainesville, a friend were groomsmen.

Jerry Brawner of Muenster, bride's cousin and Robbie Sandmann of Lindsay were Mass servers.

The altar was decorated with arrangements of red and white flowers, ferns and candelabra. Greenery and lighted votive candles were placed on the communion rail. Red and white bows marked pews in the center aisle.

Wedding music included the traditional processional and recessional by organist Pat Hennigan, Jr. Guitarists were Kenny Bezner, Martha Fuhrmann and Deana Nortman, joined by vocalists Denise and Laura Fuhrmann. Selections were "Love," "The Wedding Song", "Mother, At Thy Feet", "Eres Tu" and "Treasures."

Assisting with the liturgy were lecturer David Nortman bride's brother-in-law; Clara Hermes bride's aunt and Rudy Dieter as lay ministers. Marie Zimmerer and Alcuin Zimmerer, bride's godparents, presented Offertory gifts.

Reception

A reception followed in the Knights of Columbus Hall in Gainesville.

Lisa Hess of Lindsay and Lisa Sandmann of Dallas presided at the bride's book.

Decorations on all tables included red and white flowers made by the bride's maternal grandmother, Mrs. Cecilia Hermes.

The three-tiered wedding cake, made and cut by Betty Rose Walterscheid, stood over a lighted red fountain. On the cake table, holding red candles, were crystal candleholders, gifts from the bride's paternal grandmother, Mrs. Rose Zimmerer. The groom's cake was cut by Donna Zimmerer, bride's sister-in-law.

Matthew is three

Matthew Edward York is three years old. He is the son of Margie and C. Ed York of Buckhurst Hill, Essex, England and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Felderhoff Sr. of Muenster. He celebrated his birthday with a party in his home on Sunday, May 6 in England. Seven playmates attended. Decorations were of an English "Mr. Men" theme.

The children played games for prizes in the back garden. Matthew's father grilled hot dogs for their tea and then they enjoyed ice cream and the decorated birthday cake made by his mother.

On his actual May 10 birthday his playschool class honored him with a celebration, and refreshments of chocolate cupcakes and milk.

Matthew plans another birthday celebration when he arrives in Texas for a three week holiday beginning May 24. He will be accompanied by his mother Margie York, (formerly Margie Felderhoff of Muenster) and his three and a half month old baby brother, Christopher, to visit in the home of parents and grandparents, Tommy and Barbara Felderhoff. His father will be unable to accompany them, but must remain in London for his work.

Travis Trachta is first communicant

The First Communion Day for Travis Trachta was on Saturday, May 5 at 3:30 p.m. Father Glenn D. Gardner was celebrant of the special Mass in St. Elizabeth Seton Catholic Church in Plano for a class of 100 second graders.

Attending the service were Travis' parents Tom and Sue Trachta and daughter, Michelle; the grandparents Dave and Georgi Mae Trachta and J.P. and Hazel Flusche and son, Bill; godfather Hank Trachta and his wife Kathy and their daughter Lynsi of The Colony; the godmother Marge Clement was unable to attend but sent her greetings. Also attending were aunts, Sharon Boruff and daughter Tracy of Dallas and Jeannine Flusche and sons Mark and Michael of Muenster.

St. Elizabeth Seton Church was decorated with items the children made. A "stairway to heaven" was made of cut-out handprints of each First Communicant.

Candles on the altar were made by the children. Arrangements of tissue paper flowers used in church were later given to parents. Father Glenn D. Gardner's Mass vestment was made and decorated with paint by the children.

Following the church service, the Tom Trachtas hosted a chicken dinner in their home for their guests.

The First Communion cake, by Betty Rose Walterscheid, was brought by the Trachta grandparents, and was served for dessert.

Travis enjoyed opening his gifts and playing with his cousins.

Family reunions at Agnes Lehnertz

A family reunion developed recently in the home of Mrs. Agnes Lehnertz, whose children arrived over a two week period for visiting and attendance at Germanfest, when all were together at the same time for several days.

Particularly enjoyed were their visits with old school friends, relatives and former neighbors.

Only family member missing was Floyd Lehnertz of Saunderson, Rhode Island. He was injured sometime before planning to come to Texas, when he fell from a 3 story building while repairing a roof. He received extensive injuries to an arm, a leg and vertebrae. Although dismissed from hospital care, he is confined to his home before receiving further treatment.

All other family members included Mr. and Mrs. Jim Lehnertz and Cheryl of Gainesville, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lehnertz of Bossier City, La., Gene Lehnertz of Spokane, Wa., G.M. Lehnertz of Tyler, David Lehnertz of Spokane, Jane Ross of Spokane, Dolly Shively and daughter Cathy Garrison of Memphis, Tenn., Mr. and Mrs. Quintin Lehnertz of Spokane, and Don Lehnertz and Claude Lehnertz all of Spokane.

CCC summer school starts June 6

For the many local and area students planning to spend at least a part of their summer vacation in the classroom, summer school at Cooke County College is just around the corner.

Regular registration for the first summer session at CCC will take place June 4-5 (Monday and Tuesday) on campus, with classes set to begin June 6.

According to Bill Caver, director of counseling, regular registration this summer promises to be much lighter than usual due to the extensive response to a new system of pre-registration.

Under the new system, students planning to attend summer school have been allowed to come to the CCC Counseling Center ahead of regular registration and sign up in advance for all classes. Pre-registration will continue up through the Friday (June 1) preceding the start of regular enrollment.

To take advantage of the advance registration, students should call for an appointment with a college counselor. All paperwork will be completed at that time, and students will be fully enrolled when they pay their tuition and fees.

Caver stresses that students pre-registering should be prepared to pay their tuition and fees when they come to enroll.

For regular registration, unlike for the longer fall and spring semesters, there will be no time permits issued for summer enrollment. Registration will be conducted on a first-come, first-served basis.

"For returning students, getting into summer school couldn't be easier," says Dr. Don Stafford, CCC registrar. "All that previously enrolled students have to do is come to registration on Monday or Tuesday (June 4-5) and sign up for classes. Counselors will be on duty in the registration area to assist students who need help choosing courses."

Dr. Stafford says that students who have not previously attended CCC — whether recent high school graduates, college transfers or holders of GED certification — should visit the Registrar's Office as soon as possible to pick up and complete an application for admission.

In addition, the student is required to have a transcript from the last school attended or GED certification.

FHA officer election held at MHS

Woodshop students see three plants

Twelfth grade Woodshop students of Muenster High School saw three areas of special interest during a field trip on May 8.

They had the opportunity to see the Sanders Mfg. Company in Gainesville, at their first stop. This company builds church furniture. Of particular interest was the construction of wood veneer furniture.

Next stop was at Paxton Lumber Co. in Fort Worth. The students saw a wide variety of domestic and imported lumber and plywood. They also toured the millshop which produces fancy moulding and trim.

They made their third stop at Peterbilt Truck Factory in Denton, and saw there an assembly line operation of truck building from start to finish which produces 13 trucks a day. Most impressive was the clean, organized plant operation. The students were able to sit behind the wheel of a completed truck.

Transportation on the field trip was furnished by Albert Zimmerer.

Fourth graders take field trip

Fourth graders of Muenster Elementary and their teacher, Barbara Robison visited three places on a field trip May 8.

Their first stop was Weber Aircraft where they saw seats and kitchen equipment being manufactured for an assortment of planes.

Next they went to Cooke County College for a science lecture by Bill Stanley on poisonous and non-poisonous. The class was fascinated by it.

The last stop was the Cooke County zoo to see the assortment of animals and finish the field trip with lunch and recreation. The students were accompanied by Jean Park, head room mother, plus Alice Walterscheid, Margie Wimmer, Lynn Hacker, Sherrie Poulsen, Leanne Ladd and the bus driver, Pat Walterscheid.

Do you have an investment that can
Double in 6 years
Triple in 9½ years
Quadruple in 11 years

Zero Coupon Bonds from Prudential-Bache Securities can. How? Zeros are purchased for a fraction of their face value. And instead of paying interest periodically, the interest is automatically reinvested and compounded over the life of the bond. The effects of this compounding are quite dramatic. For example, a $350 initial investment would grow to $1,000 in as little as 9½ years.

Zeros are especially attractive for retirement planning and funding your children's education. To learn more call Kenneth Floyd at 817-759-2725 or 817-665-7612 or stop by our office at 800 E. California, Suite 9.

WITH AVERAGE BILLING, YOUR ELECTRIC BILL WILL BE ABOUT THE SAME EACH MONTH.

Everyone knows electric bills go up and down throughout the year. Some months they're low. Some months they're higher, depending on how much electricity you use.

But for most of us there aren't any highs and lows in our monthly income. It's pretty much the same from month to month. So, balancing the monthly budget can be a problem.

Well, Texas Power and Light Company has an answer. It's the Average Billing Plan. And each month after you join, you'll pay an average of your monthly electric bills over the past twelve months. No more ups and downs.

Of course, you're still paying for all the electricity you use. But with average billing, your electric bills will be about the same each month. So budgeting will be that much easier.

If you want to know more about our Average Billing Plan, call your local TP&L office today.

IN THANKS FOR SALE FOR SALE FOR SALE FOR SALE WANTED

IN THANKS
Words cannot express our thanks to the many, many friends and relatives for their kind expressions of sympathy, prayers, Masses, and flowers for our beloved Andy, and for the food sent to our family. Thanks to the Abbot of Subiaco, the seven priests and to Sister Carmelita for the beautiful liturgy and vigil services. Also thanks to the choral group, the CDA for the family meal and the KCs for the use of the hall. I will try to answer and thank each and every one of you personally in due time. God willing.
WHY GOD?
I cannot see, I do not understand So suddenly like this. Fear overwhelmed me then; we loved him so, now miss him so. This must have been God's will. Now we can see Andy smiling at us from heaven's shining golden hill.

County Agent's Report

by Craig Rosenbaum

Recently many homeowners have been noticing the bumps or galls appearing on their pecan tree leaves and stems. This is the result of a tiny insect called the pecan phylloxera.

Phylloxera, tiny yellow, soft-bodied insects that look like aphids, can damage pecans severely unless controlled. The pests attack leaves, tender shoots, leaf stems, catkins and nutlets.

Phylloxera can be controlled with dormant oil or the insecticides, malathion and phosalone (Zolone), but not now. Wait until next year.

Apply dormant oil at the rate of four gallons of 97 percent oil emulsion per 100 gallons of water. Spray prior to bud-break and when the temperature is between 40 and 70 degrees F. Be sure to thoroughly cover the tree's trunk and branches.

Malathion and phosalone may also be applied at bud-break. Use 25 percent WP malathion at the rate of three pounds per 100 gallons of water. Apply 34.4 percent EC phosalone at one and one-third pints per 100 gallons of water at three-day intervals until leaves are one-third grown or until egg-hatch ceases.

Phylloxera overwinter in the egg stage and can be found in protected areas on pecan trees, such as under bark and in crevices. Overwintered eggs hatch in early spring and migrate to newly developing leaves and twigs.

The tiny pests insert their sucking mouthparts into young tissue and begin to feed, causing galls to form. These galls continue to grow and envelop feeding phylloxera.

Inside the galls female phylloxera lay many eggs which hatch in just a few days. Adults and nymphs continue to feed inside galls for one to three weeks. Galls then split, releasing phylloxera to migrate and lay eggs for a second generation. Second generation females produce eggs which lie dormant on the tree until the following spring.

We are past the time now for phylloxera control. Homeowners should evaluate their trees and plan to spray next year if you have a high level of leaf gall infestation or medium level of stem infestation. The insects tend to not move great distances.

Happy Birthday, Timmy Fernandez

It pays to topdress pastures.

Pastures are too often overlooked in an otherwise comprehensive fertility program.

The fact is, proper fertilization of pasture will greatly increase meat and milk production. You'll see faster weight gain, more pounds of gain per acre, a longer grazing season and greater carrying capacity. It can also dramatically increase your milk production.

Begin with a soil test. Then apply the fertilizer shown to be needed. Add lime, if your soil is found high in acidity.

Let our Fertilizer Specialist help you. He has the know-how and we have the materials. Come see us soon. We're ready when you are.
