Council works to trim budget

The Muenster city council worked until past midnight Monday to trim the fat off the proposed 1984-85 city budget and hold the line on taxes.

Speaking to a small group of citizens at a public hearing before the budget workshop, mayor Ronnie Felderhoff outlined the council's position on the new budget.

"I can assure you, we're going to do everything we can to hold it to where it was last year," he said. "We have to pay taxes too — we don't want to see them go up any more than you do."

The council fielded questions in the brief public hearing before moving on to their night's work. They pored over the numbers in city administrator Ron Montgomery's proposed budget in an effort to hold expenditures within the estimated revenue of $387,386 with no tax increase.

Whether or not they can do that will not be known for several more days.

After reviewing the budgets for the water and sewer, police and fire, garbage, street, health and sanitation departments, parks, swimming pool, library and administration, the council voted to meet again this coming Monday in executive session to discuss salaries.

Another budget workshop may be held later in the week as they finalize the proposed budget.

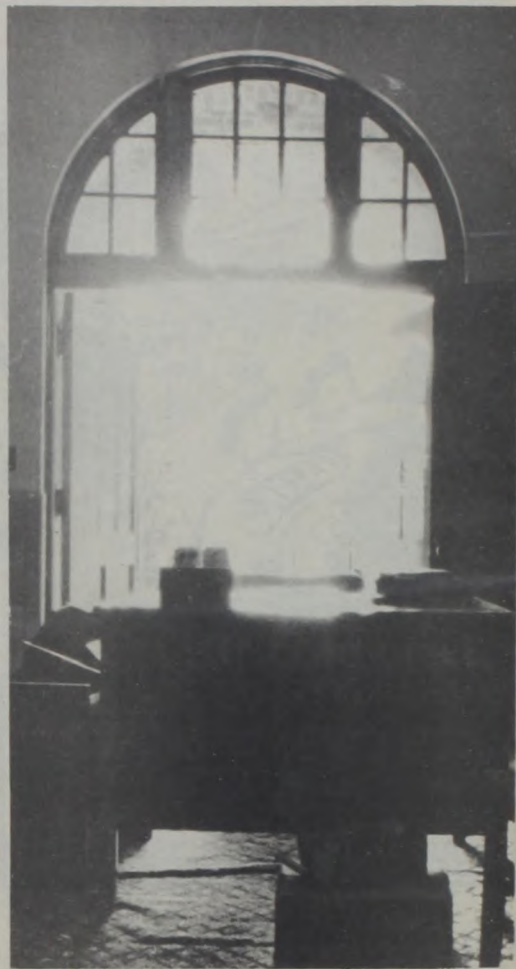

The budget will be adopted after another public hearing September 4. The tax rate will likely be set by the council at that time, with the new budget taking effect October 1.

White Monday's session took care of the bulk of the day-to-day operating budgets in the various city departments, the figures are still incomplete without salary changes, social security or workman's compensation payments figured in. Also to be considered are capital improvement projects and debt retirement.

Estimated city revenues for the coming year include just over $140,000 in city ad valorem taxes, using a 100 percent collection rate.

Jaycees seek funds for MDA

The Muenster Jaycees will sponsor a door-to-door fund-raising drive for the Muscular Dystrophy Association next Thursday evening, August 30th.

The drive will begin at 6 p.m. when Jaycees and all interested volunteers will gather at the club's meeting room in the city park and divide up the town. Drive chairman Wayne Klement says they will hand out maps to make sure the entire city and surrounding area gets covered.

"We're asking for help from the entire town for this drive," Klement says. "We want all the Jaycees, but we'd like everyone else who wants to spend an evening for a good cause to come out and work with us."

The funds raised through the drive will be presented to MDA officials during the Labor Day telethon on channel 12. Last year the Muenster Jaycees had a beef raffle and raised $2,500 for the association. The goal of this year's drive is to raise at least that much.

"There are a lot of people in Muenster who would give, but they just don't take the time to call in during the telethon," Klement says. "We're hoping that by going door-to-door we'll give these people more of an opportunity to make a contribution."

Klement urged anyone who is not contacted or may not be home Thursday night to call him at 759-2739 or 759-4992. Someone will come by and pick up the donation.

A few weeks ago the Democratic national convention distinguished itself by selecting a woman as its nominee for vice president of the nation. Their action was a strong gesture of acknowledgment that women had become an important part in our system of government, and particularly that the National Organization of Women had become an influential force in the Democratic party. The prevailing comment relating to the nomination was that Mondale caved in to the pressure of NOW.

Procedure at the GOP convention this week stood out in sharp contrast to that women not only had key positions on the program but definitely upstaged Mrs. Ferraro. They stood out in presenting a strong appeal for the president's re-election rather than demonstrating success of an ERA objective. Instead of signifying ERA support in the party, the GOP speakers indicated that respect for women's rights had already arrived in the party even though the ERA amendment had been rejected in the GOP platform.

The contrast isn't likely to be overlooked by a big segment of the voting public. There's a difference between the National Organization of Women and millions of average American women who strive to be good responsible citizens of God and Country. While stressing a few worthy objectives such as equal rights and equal pay, ERA degrades itself by moral outrages such as abortion and homosexuality. These people openly violate the law of God whereas the other element merits and enjoys human right and dignity by living up to the ideals of God and country.

Hopefully the American public will keep the moral distinction in mind while they decide on their vote this year. Economic, political, military and scientific considerations can all be influenced by such qualities as religion, morality and integrity. A government that strives to live according to God's way is far more likely to find the right answers than one which violates His way.

Both of the GOP speakers, Jeane Kirkpatrick and Katherine Ortega, presented a sharp comparison of conditions existing before Reagan took office and now. In foreign affairs he reversed the policy of detente which allowed the Soviet military buildup and expansion of influence while US was constantly slipping in power and influence. Reagan's policy was to strengthen US while resisting the Soviet global conquest.

Economically the contrast is equally impressive. US has more Please see CONFETTI, Page 2

Gramm to visit in Gainesville

U.S. Rep. Phil Gramm, candidate for the U.S. Senate, will attend a public reception for the residents of Cooke County at 2 p.m. on Sunday, August 26, at the new Holiday Inn in Gainesville.

Gramm is best known for co-authoring the Reagan economic recovery program, and for resigning from Congress and winning re-election as a Republican after being stripped of his Budget Committee seat in reprisal for his efforts to control federal spending.

The congressman, who won the Republican nomination with an extraordinary 73 percent of the vote against three opponents, said Texans deserve an issue-oriented campaign in the general election race for the U.S. Senate this year.

"The people of Texas face a clear choice between two dedicated advocates of distinctly different philosophies," Gramm noted. "I have spent six years in Congress working for a balanced budget, lower taxes, great economic opportunity for the working people of this country and a strong defense. My opponent has consistently demanded higher taxes, more government spending and less defense."

Congressman Gramm introduced a balanced budget amendment to the Constitution on his first day in Congress.

City pool closes Sunday

Following the usual schedule, the city swimming pool closes as the new school year starts.

The closing date is Sunday, according to pool supervisor Serena Wright. Until then, patrons are reminded to check for items that were forgotten or lost at the pool during the summer season.

The articles can be claimed at the pool until it closes Sunday.

Commissioners to set budget, tax rate

Cooke County commissioners will approve a budget for the coming fiscal year and set a tax rate at their meeting Monday morning in Gainesville.

The $5.1 million budget is slightly higher than last year's spending plan, but no increase in the tax rate is expected in Monday's session. The new budget takes effect October 1.

Also on the agenda for the commissioners will be approval of a fire contract with the city of Muenster. The county for several years has paid the city $2,250 per year to compensate for the Muenster fire department's coverage of the rural areas in western Cooke County outside the city limits.

Approval of that contract is expected to be routine.

The commissioners will appoint election judges for the November general election, and discuss voting booths with county clerk Frank Scoggins. They will also discuss permanent improvement funds and handle other routine items.

The meeting begins at 10 a.m. in the county judge's office at the courthouse, and is open to the public.

MISD hearing slated

The Muenster ISD school board will hold their public hearing on the proposed 1984-85 budget next Thursday night, August 30, at 8 p.m. in the school administration office.

The budget for the coming year is expected to be slightly lower than last year's $1.125 million spending plan, according to superintendent Charles Coffey.

The public hearing is required by law and is open to the public.

Water district to meet

The Muenster Water District board of directors will meet Friday night at 7:30 at City Hall to discuss the coming year's budget.

According to board president Jim Roark, the board will review the budget and see how much revenue the current tax rate of .0867 cents will bring in.

The session, which is required by state law, is open to the public.

Power usage peaks Monday

Customers of Texas Utilities Electric Co. set a record for power usage Monday afternoon.

Harry Bomar, manager of the Texas Power & Light Co. office at Gainesville said Monday's peak demand was 15,120 megawatts. The record demand came between 4 and 5 p.m.

Monday's record eclipsed a record of 14,730 megawatts. That peak was set on July 16.

"This summer has seen new peak demand set for every month so far," Bomar said. The Company's generating division projected yet another record would be set Wednesday afternoon — with 15,300 megawatts.

Bomar said peak demand for the summer of 1984 so far has increased by almost eight percent from the highest demand day of 1983. The 1983 peak load was 14,029 MW on August 15.

"From last summer to yesterday's peak load represents an increase of 1091 megawatts. That is very close to the 1150 megawatt capacity of unit 1 of our Comanche Peak Nuclear Plant," Bomar said. He said customers would be more secure were Comanche Peak operating now.

Unit 1 of the plant is now 98 percent complete and is awaiting licensing procedures conducted by

COMMENT

Out in the open ...

The recent furor over Geraldine Ferraro's tax returns is a fresh reminder of the power of the press to ferret out information about public figures — no matter how hard those people fight their disclosure.

Throughout our history, this has happened to the high and the mighty — witness the fall of Richard Nixon — and the old obnoxious, nosy press has done most of the legwork. Although they tell us unpleasant things, most of us will agree it's better to know the bitter facts than to operate in ignorance.

Other things like the recent school reform legislation, child safety restraint laws, tougher drunk driving laws, and prison reform have been at least partially brought about by the watchfulness of the press. Perhaps we all got tired of seeing "Why Johnny Can't Read" articles in the paper a few years ago — but at least now Johnny will have to learn to read in order to graduate.

The press isn't responsible for all the good things that happen in our society, but it has a role to play. It's hard to imagine a lot of these things happening in a society where there is no free press.

The press — this newspaper, to be specific — has a role to play in Muenster and Cooke County as well. That is why we try to cover public meetings and get budget figures and find out what is going on in county, city and school. We feel it's important for people to know what an official says about a policy or a budget item, for the workings of tax-supported agencies such as sheriff's departments and police departments to be part of the public record.

For one thing, you have a right to know. It's your money that is being spent, your children being educated, your life and property being protected. The open operation of public bodies is vital to this society, and we are committed to be there even if no one else shows up.

Most public officials are aware of this. It is to their advantage to operate in the light of public scrutiny. They realize the best shield against unjust criticism is to have people know what you're doing. When officials are silent and hide behind closed doors, they keep us all ignorant of their actions and intentions — and ignorance breeds suspicion.

Those few who want to hide the facts from the public display an alarming disregard for the intelligence of the people who voted them into office and who pay their salaries.

Anyway, we intend to keep showing up at public meetings, listening to what is said and reporting it to our readers. Most of our public officials appreciate the attention. We haven't misquoted anyone or even quoted them out of context. We don't quote people in order to embarrass them, but simply to let our readers know what is going on. We believe people can deal with the facts. It's our job to provide them with those facts.

That's what we call giving you your quarter's worth.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

The people of Muenster have always supported community projects. They have done so knowing it is important to present an image to the outside world, but more importantly for our own well being.

The Muenster Kiwanis Club has undertaken a project to build-up the downtown area. Our club is small and needs the help of others to locate the building materials necessary to finish the job. We are in need of whole or parts of RR ties. We need smooth flat stones for walks, and lumber or funds for a small gazebo and benches.

The area North of the Charm Shop will be dedicated to those elder residents that helped all of us come this far. Please help with your support. Drop the material off at the lot, or call Gary at 759-4644. We would be happy to come and get any amount.

Our sincere thanks,
Gary J. Fisher

Dear Fellow Texans:

Over the years, our state and its citizens have prospered through an abundance of natural resources.

However, in recent years, production, more jobs lower inflation and interest rates, a better all around standard of living than it did four years ago.

The contrast is equally sharp in guidelines spelled out by platforms of the two political parties. As pointed out by convention comment, the list of policies enumerated is likely to be amended in administrative developments of the next four years, but it presents a general outline of aims. Principal planks adopted by the Democrats are in support of abortion, the gay lifestyle, ban of prayer in school, busing to promote integration, the nuclear freeze, and tax increase rather than spending cuts to make ends meet. On the other hand the policies of the GOP platform present the opposite views in almost all regards.

One fact is obvious. Conventions of San Francisco and Dallas differed as much as light and day. Voters definitely have a choice.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights

AUSTIN—Texas Attorney General Jim Mattox last week mailed over $10 million in checks to victims of a fraudulent insurance sales plan. Additional checks were on the way.

The money sent to the 1,600 Texans was the settlement Mattox wrestled from Academy Life Insurance Co. of Pennsylvania, and it might be the largest consumer settlement in state history.

Mattox said the company used high-pressure tactics to sell the product to rural, elderly clients, many of whom thought they were buying an investment plan to avoid high taxes.

a fact reflected in our current water rationing programs in many of our cities and shortages in our troubled agricultural areas.

As industrialization and population continue to increase, our water requirements and water protection needs will continue to multiply.

That is why I implore you, my fellow citizens, to become more aware of the severity and magnitude of this problem. It will take your efforts and the efforts of your Legislature combined to find a solution to the problem of our water conservation and development needs that will benefit all Texans.

My staff is currently working with me in formulating a conceptual plan for water development and conservation. If you would like additional information on our efforts, please contact Ms. Mary Rinaldi, Research Department, Office of the Speaker, P.O. Box 2910, Austin, Texas 78769.

Your help is needed and I encourage your active participation in the process by contacting your elected representatives.

You and future generations of Texans will be the major beneficiaries.

Thank you for your concern.

The art of throwing ...

The throwing-of-things has always fascinated me.

Throwing a ball is probably one of the most common occurrences in our society. Pitchers do it with blazing speed and pinpoint accuracy, time after time in baseball games. Basketball players toss a ball through a hoop from unbelievable positions. Quarterbacks hit moving targets under great pressure.

It's amazing, when you think about it, and I do. I'm a compulsive thrower-of-things.

Consider the sheer physical act of throwing something. You take an object and, using your arm, hand and shoulder, deliver it to a distant location by hurling it through the air. Just being able to do that accurately can make you a wealthy person.

People throw things for different reasons. I can toss you the car keys, a pencil or a book just to save a few steps. We can get our gloves and throw a ball just for the sake of throwing, or for exercise. Still, there's a certain joy in the simple act of connecting with somebody else by long distance.

I've found one of the most effective means of dog discipline involves throwing things. If she doesn't come when I call, or if she's doing something she shouldn't be doing, a well-aimed missile accomplishes the ultimate in behavioral adjustment — it delivers pain while the undesirable act is in progress. That way, pain is associated with the act forever in the dog's mind. Theoretically, she'll remember the pain next time she decides to, say, chew up the neighbor's flowers. Either that or she'll remember that last time she did that I threw a rock and broke out the neighbor's window, and she'll be so puzzled she'll forget about the flowers.

(That type of behavioral adjustment depends on the accuracy of your throwing arm — perhaps that's why old baseball players make the best dog trainers.)

But there's another type of throwing that defies classification. You're not disciplining a dog or trying to save steps or anything else — you're throwing for art.

There are different levels of artistic throwing, just as painting progresses from graffiti on the subway wall to Rembrandt, and music from the Rolling Stones to Bach.

There is your low-level tossing, things like chunking paper into the trashcan across the room or flipping paper clips into a little box on your desk. Throws like this often involve small wagers.

Then there's moderate-level hurling, like skipping stones across a lake or tossing paper into the wastebasket in the next room, or the one downstairs. This involves a greater challenge and complexity, and is usually done just for the artistic satisfaction it brings.

The high-level stuff, like rare art, only comes around a few times in your life. It defies explanation and has a soul that gives it life long after it has happened.

Once when I was a kid, I got run off the playground by a bunch of older kids. After getting a good safe distance away, I recklessly picked up a rock and let it fly back in their direction. The rock arched through the sky and caught the main bully squarely on top of his head. I was transfixed with fear and glee. He thought it fell out of the sky — I don't think he ever admitted to himself that a squirt like me could have thrown it from so far away.

Throws like that give you a warm feeling inside, like when you get elected choir president or a girl says she'll go out with you.

There's one other throw that comes to mind. It happened when I was walking down the campus one day when I was in college. Having just wadded up my notes from English class, I was looking for a place to chunk the paper. (Compulsive throwers never simply drop things in the wastebasket.)

Spotting a trashcan about 20 feet away to my left, I let fly with a right-handed behind-the-back toss. It soared through the sunlight-dappled spring air and thunked into the can.

I looked around desperately to see if anyone — anyone at all — might have witnessed the once-in-a-lifetime feat.

A lone flute major, sitting on the wall working on a Mozart concerto, caught my eye. She laid her flute on her lap, smiled, and gave me a brief round of applause.

I bowed, of course. We artists have to stick together.

How many troops?

WHEN ONE of the U.S. Senate's leading "hawks" proposes a measure to withdraw American troops from Europe, and the proposal gets 41 votes despite frantic opposition from the Administration, it is a signal to our NATO allies that they had better shape up. If they don't, good old Uncle Sam may soon force them to carry more of the burden for defending themselves.

Ten years ago, when the Senate Democratic Leader proposed unilateral reductions in U.S. forces in Europe, Senator Sam Nunn (D-Georgia) blocked the proposal. But last month it was Nunn who demanded that our allies keep their promise either to increase defense spending three percent a year or to prepare the weapons, ammunition, and airfields that would enable NATO to fight a conventional war for at least 30 days.

If the Europeans refuse, Nunn proposed, the U.S. would wait two years and then start shipping its boys home at the rate of 30,000 a year for three years. (Even then, there would be some 236,000 American troops in Europe.)

Although Nunn's measure failed by a vote of 55 to 41, it was a shot heard 'round the world. The Georgia Senator, one of NATO's strongest supporters and one of the last Democrats in Congress to fight for a strong national defense, was obviously fed up with the unwillingness of our allies to protect themselves. His real purpose was not to bring the troops home, but to ensure that their continued presence is part of a rational, realistic strategy to protect Europe from further Soviet conquest and to protect the legitimate interests of the United States.

For 30 years, NATO strategy in Europe has been based on the idea that the Americans stationed there are hostages against a possible Soviet invasion of Western Europe.

The conventional (that is, non-nuclear) forces of NATO are sufficient to hold off the Soviets only a few days. But — according to the NATO game plan — the Soviets are deterred from invading Western Europe by the threat that we will respond with an all-out attack on the USSR. According to NATO strategy, the U.S. is prepared to commit suicide by firing its nuclear missiles at the Soviets and absorbing the blow when the Soviets retaliate. The presence of our troops in Europe is supposed to be a "tripwire," a guarantee that our President will push the button.

The problem with that strategy is that it was designed at a time when NATO's conventional forces could hold their own against those of the Warsaw Pact (the Soviet counterpart to NATO) and when the U.S. held a position of unchallenged superiority in nuclear and conventional weapons. Since then, the balance of power has shifted toward the Soviets. The threat that we will kill ourselves to save Brussels and Paris has little credibility today.

Even Henry Kissinger has come to the conclusion that we must reevaluate the current structure of NATO. In a recent issue of Time magazine, he proposed that we "Europeanize" NATO — that is, that we make it much less of an American operation. For example, he suggested that we put a European officer in the traditional position of Supreme Allied Commander Europe.

In this case, Kissinger is right. U.S. defense policy in the past has been based on the presumption that there are only two countries in the world that count — the U.S. and the USSR. That has enabled us to direct the defensive strategy of the Free World, but at a terrible price: it has made us the principal target of the Soviet empire.

We and our allies would be much better off if the Soviets had to deal with another "superpower," a united Europe. If Western Europe, with one-and-a-half times the population of the USSR and twice the national income, would take the responsibility to defend itself from invasion, the United States could save some of the $90 to $129 billion a year (up to 44 percent of the defense budget) that it spends to defend Europe.

The world would be a safer place if we would all share the burden. The question is: How do we get our allies to cooperate?

Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger admits that European support for NATO is "far less than seems equitable" but he warns that efforts to "punish" our allies would be counter-productive. He may be right, but a carrot-and-stick approach only works if one is prepared to use the stick. Without political pressure, including threats to withdraw U.S. troops, European politicians are unlikely to increase the defense burden on their own people.

Forestburg hosts 'Melon Fest

Forestburg is rolling out the red carpet this weekend, welcoming friends, neighbors and former residents to a weekend of fun, homecoming and reunions and especially to the fourth annual Watermelon Festival.

Sponsored by the Forestburg Homemakers, the weekend program is packed.

Beginning with the pageant Friday night at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium to name Ms. Watermelon 1984, the schedule calls for a parade at 10 a.m. to open Saturday's festivities.

The Old West Gunfighters will put on their traditional crowd-pleaser at 11 a.m.

Lunch will be served from 11:30 a.m. until 1 p.m. The menu, as announced Tuesday will offer a choice of barbecue or baked ham, and potato salad, red beans, corn, a variety of cobblers and pies, iced tea, coffee. Price of the meal is $4.00 for adults and $2.00 for children under 12.

A Fiddlers Contest will begin at 1 p.m. followed at half-hour intervals by a variety of games for adults and children.

At 6 p.m. there will be a dance contest for ages 13 and up. The Fun Run will begin at 7 p.m. and the Country and Western Dance will begin at 9 p.m.

On Saturday morning, booths for snacks, and cold drinks will open at 10 a.m.

Plans are to make this year's parade the best ever.

The Arts and Crafts show will be held at the Rodeo grounds on the dance pavilion. All entries must be in place at 9:30 a.m. and must be removed at 2 p.m.

For sure, the welcome to visitors will be warm, entertainment will be continuous Blue Grass Music will be featured all day long, and watermelons will be cold and abundant.

Proceeds will benefit the new Community Center Building. For more information call 817-964-2232 or 2483 or 2468 or 2336 or 2468.

Council trims

The city's franchise taxes will likely bring in $45,000, while the one percent sales tax should bring in another $95,000. Revenue sharing, which is allocated on a per capita basis, will bring in $18,960.

The council also got estimates on income from the city's water and sewer departments, sanitation department, swimming pool and other revenue sources.

The majority of Monday's meeting was spent going line-by-line through the budget and discussing the expenditures listed there. Among the items discussed were bond payments for the water district, work needed on the lagoons at the waste treatment plant, capital improvements at the fire department, anticipated expenses as the city opens a new landfill in the coming year, raises in utility rates from TP&L and anticipated increased activity in the area of street repair.

This coming Monday, the council will open their 7:30 meeting in open session and then go into executive session to discuss personnel and salaries for the new budget year. No action is anticipated, but any votes would have to be taken after the meeting is reopened to the public.

Fiddlers' contest set

This Saturday from 11 a.m. till 6 p.m., North Texas State Fair will be hosting the biggest Old Time Fiddlers' Contest the country has ever had.

More than 40 of Texas' top fiddlers will be competing for the places of Grand Champion and Runner-Up Champion.

There will be $2,000 in prize money awarded to top fiddlers in their classes. James Roden, President of NTSF, said that since over 50 percent of the best fiddlers live in a 100 mile radius of the metroplex, the show will be worth any person's time to hear.

The contest will be held at the bandstand at the Fair Grounds on Carroll Boulevard. Paid admission to the fair is $3 for adults and $1 for children under 12 until 5 p.m. This admits one to all activities at the fair including the rodeo and dance.

The big rodeo dance with a western swing band will take place from 9 p.m. to midnight.

The North Texas State Fair will run through Sunday, August 26th.

"We are adding more than 90,000 customers a year to the TUEC system. That is close to adding the City of Arlington to the system every 12 months," he said.

He said growth in the TP&L service area is above that of the TUEC system. "TP&L added 61,431 customers in the 12 months ending in July," Bomar said. "That level of growth requires good management of existing resources and the certainty of new sources of power for the coming months and years."

Farm Trail plans activities

The Cross Timbers Farm & Crafts Trail has slated its first membership of the 1985 harvest season for Thursday, August 30, at the Wise County Extension office.

The farm trail is an association of farmers in Wise and Montague counties offering farm products and craft items for sale at the farms. Each year a map is developed showing the location of each member farm, and shoppers are urged to visit the farms to purchase products at peak harvest times, directly from the growers.

The meeting August 30 will be held at 7 p.m. Rex Bearden, president of the farm trail, said members enjoyed a good response last year and added that requests for more information were coming in every day.

"We're excited about the organization," Bearden said. "We want to encourage more growers or craft producers to participate. We're proud of being the first farm trail in the state of Texas, and we invite anyone interested in starting their own trail to attend our meetings."

Bearden noted requests for information had been received from Cooke, Grayson, Denton and Parker counties about starting farm trails in those areas.

"The response for this year's trail was better than expected," he added. "We printed 3,000 maps and ran out by August. Next year the map will be larger and we'll print a good deal more. Every year we look forward to a better farm trail." The maps are distributed throughout the Wise and Montague county area, and also in the Dallas-Fort Worth metroplex through the help of the Texas Department of Agriculture. Maps are also available through the Farm Trail itself by contacting the Wise County extension office at 817-683-2370.

-AESOP'S FABLE STILL HOLDS TRUE BIGGER ISN'T ALWAYS BETTER- THE BEST SHOPPING IS HERE AT HOME

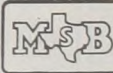

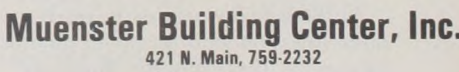

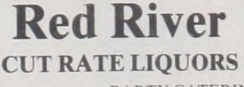

THE FABLE: Aesop, a famous fable teller is remembered for his story about the dog trotting home with a prize bone. On the way he saw what looked like a much larger one in the reflection of a stream . . . but, in grabbing for it, lost the bone he already had.

THE FACT: Many of us today are still risking and losing some of the good things we have by reaching for a tempting offer outside our own community.

By shopping elsewhere for "The bigger bone" we seriously undermine the economic structure that supports our schools, churches, businesses and everything else that makes our home town a great place to live and work.

This community could enjoy greater prosperity and many more social and civic facilities if out-of-town spending were kept in our local economic bloodstream. Shop At Home - Don't be a victim of a 1300-year-old fable.

"Moving Muenster Forward"

At St. Anthony's Church Yosten, Carr wed in Hereford

Gay Lynne Yosten, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Nick Yosten of Hereford and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ewald Berend and the late Mr. and Mrs. Nick Yosten of Muenster, was married to Joseph Scott Carr during a Nuptial Mass in St. Anthony's Catholic Church in Hereford. Father Frank Eldridge officiated on Saturday, Aug. 18.

The groom is the son of Cyril J. Carr and Dolores Carr both of El Paso.

The bride is a graduate of Hereford High School, attended Amarillo College and West Texas State University and is employed at Hi-Plains Savings and Loan. The groom is a graduate of Eastwood High School in El Paso, attended Arizona Western College and WTSU where he played football for both schools; he is employed by Excel Corporation.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was wearing a white crystalline organza gown designed with a white satin bodice covered with Venise lace, hand sewn pearls and iridescents; off-shoulder neckline shaped into puff sleeves covered with crystalline ruffles. The skirt was bouffant and gathered to the waist. The hemline was completely surrounded with triple layers of organza swirling beneath tapestry embroidery, and sweeping into a cathedral length train.

Her wide-brimmed bridal hat was trimmed with Venise lace appliques, seed pearl embroidery and silk flowers. The cloud illusion veil was attached in back with silk flowers, and drifted over the length of the train.

Her elbow length Venise lace gauntlets were made by her maternal grandmother, who decorated them with hand sewn seed pearls.

Her bridal bouquet was a cascade of cymbidium orchids, white roses, stephanotis, ivy, white lace and ribbons. For tradition she wore her mother's pearls and matching earrings, carried a gold rosary borrowed from her grandmother and a handkerchief from her great-grandmother.

Attendants

Gayle Yosten of Amarillo was her sister's maid of honor. The bride's sister-in-law, Mrs. Glynn Yosten, and Mrs. Lanny Jackson and Mrs. Tommy Walch were bridesmaids, wearing tea-length, orchid organza dresses, designed with double ruffles dipping in back and forming a surplice wrap in front. Their flowers were nosegays of white roses and miniature orchid carnations.

Aimee Alley was flower girl, dressed in orchid, wearing flowers in her hair and carrying a basket of roses, carnations and gypsophila. The bride's cousin, Bryant McNutt was ring bearer. Ricky and Tony Yosten, brothers of the bride were candle lighters.

Richard Haro of El Paso was best man. The groom's brothers Bart and Kirk Carr, and John Josserand were groomsmen. Glynn Yosten, bride's brother, and Pat Cottman and Gil Hamilton were ushers.

Michael Berend and Andy Kalka were Mass servers. Leroy Berend, uncle of the bride, Leonard Walterscheid and Tommy Albracht were liturgical and Eucharistic assistants.

The bride's brothers, Garry and Gregg Yosten and her godparents, Mr. and Mrs. George Mollenkopf of Muenster presented Offertory gifts.

Wedding music included "Wedding Song", "Ave Maria", "Bridal Vow", "Our Father" and the Unity Candle Song.

The church altar was decorated with a pair of 21 branch spiral candelabra and four arrangements of white and orchid gladioli, carnations, roses and mums.

Reception

A reception and dinner-dance followed in the KC Hall in Hereford.

The four tiered wedding cake, topped with a porcelain bridal figurine, was surrounded by four additional cakes, each decorated with an orchid. The chocolate groom's cake and brass candelabra, and the wedding cakes were placed on individual tables covered with white lace over orchid.

Reception assistants were Mrs. Gregg Yosten of Hereford, Dana Berend of Friona, and Mrs. Bobby Meyer, Alice Vargas, Sandy Jones, Phyllis Kahlich and Joan Kalka.

When the couple returns from a wedding trip to the Bahamas, they will be at home in Hereford.

Among guests at the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Werner Yosten, Mr. and Mrs. Herbie Yosten, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Spires, Mrs. Werner Cler, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Cler and Amy, Tamy and Tony, Kevin Cler, Tim Cler and Glen Cler, Mark Yosten, Mr. and Mrs. James Mollenkopf, Gay Sandmann, Mr. and Mrs. George Mollenkopf and daughter, Jill, Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Weinzapfel, Mr. and Mrs. Herbie Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Walterscheid and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Voth.

Resident wins In Pilot Point beauty pageant

Frontier Manor has a celebrity in residence. Mrs. Edna Jamison, was chosen as a second place winner, in a recent North America, beauty pageant.

The pageant was held at Pilot Point Nursing Home. Five residents from six different nursing homes, participated in this event.

Mrs. Jamison, entered the nursing home on May 20, 1982. She enjoys oil painting classes, singing, any kind of outings, especially the plays. She likes to attend the church services.

Even though she is deaf, she can understand and gains from any activity she attends. She is the mother of Varley Jamison of Gainesville, and the mother of Mrs. Ann Malone, of Fort Worth. Being deaf doesn't stop her from having fun. She was awarded a 2nd place trophy and six beautiful red roses.

Betty Mitchell and Christine Smart, were also participants in the pageant. They were awarded a ribbon for being in the show. They are residents of Frontier Manor.

First place winner was Mrs. Ben Peters, of Pilot Point Texas. Third place winner was Cora Williams, of Beaumont Texas. They were all beautiful.

Ladies from Saint Mary's Catholic Church, and Saint Peters Catholic Church, hosted the August birthday party at Frontier Manor on Aug. 2. The ladies baked and served homemade cakes and punch for all residents who have birthdays in August. The ladies also sang and Mildred Lawson, accompanied them on the accordion. Ladies of the Broadway St. Church of Christ, made and presented beautiful corsages and boutonnières for birthday honorees, who are as follows, Marie Felderhoff, Louise Hord, Jack Lee, Eula Owen, Myrtle Pearman, Verna Sparkman, Mary Wharton, Audye Smith, Ida Dudley, Mary Becker and Katie Rosson. New residents at Frontier Manor are Pete Miller and Dorothy Stokes.

Family night was held at Frontier Manor on Aug. 7. The Cross Timbers Band performed for the residents, staff, family and volunteers. This was also an opportunity for everyone to get acquainted with new administrator, Jody Puttman. Leo Ladouceur, formerly Admin. of Frontier Manor, was promoted to the Regional Vice President of ten nursing homes in this area.

Jody has been here only a short time, but already, she has made friends with residents and staff and family.

Families and staff members made and helped to serve 11 freezers of all flavors of homemade ice cream.

A noon luncheon meeting was held at K-Bobs for the family forum. Members of the board were Helen Thompson, pres. of the forum, and Jody Puttman admin. of Frontier Manor. Louise Leaton, Lois Dees, Mrs. Clyde Crawford attended the meeting.

The group meets quarterly and has been set up to help new residents' families cope, with having to put some one they love in a nursing home. Usually it is a parent. Sometimes there is a feeling of guilt or helplessness, and it is well to know that some one is there to talk to you and help you to deal with your feelings.

The next meeting will be Nov. 8. All families will be welcomed to attend.

On Saturday, Aug. 18th Debbie Nortman presented a puppet show for the residents and staff of Frontier Manor. She comes and entertains all residents each month. Every one has a good time watching her perform as Miss Piggy and Kermit the Frog. She always makes it fun. Residents look forward to having Debbie back again.

96th birthday party honors Rhoda Elam

The 96th birthday of Mrs. Rhoda DeBorde Elam was a two-day celebration in the home of a daughter and son-in-law, Lona Mae and Claude Hamilton of Roswell, New Mexico. Also attending were another daughter and son-in-law, Nina and John Perry of Elgin, Oklahoma. Two sons of Mrs. Elam were unable to attend.

Rhoda DeBorde Elam is the only living sister of Henry DeBorde. The children of Henry and Maude DeBorde all traveled to Roswell to join in the celebration.

Attending were Wilbur and Wanda DeBorde, and Beulah Dill of Era, Hallie Berry and Edith Richardson of Gainesville, Dorothy Riley of Sanger, Wilma Thurman of Forestburg, and Mildred Berry of Hood. Also two nieces, Imogene Gooch of McKinney and Sally Sue Berry of Grand Prairie.

Nieces and nephews of the honoree enjoyed the gracious hospitality in the Hamilton home and the delicious meals and were particularly impressed with the pies made by their Aunt Rhoda, who can still cook at age 96.

During the afternoon of the party, all were served cake, punch and coffee and then watched their aunt open her gifts. One gift was a book telling "How To Live To Be 100." Many group and individual pictures were made. One of Rhoda's delights was telling how she moved with her family 70 years ago to Roswell from San Angelo, traveling across the prairie in a covered wagon.

Wilbur and Wanda DeBorde and Mildred Berry also drove to Hobbs, New Mexico to visit another aunt, Mrs. Flora DeBorde.

News of the sick

Rita Pels returned home last Friday evening, dismissed from St. Paul's Hospital in Dallas, after being hospitalized 18 days following surgery.

Herbie Walterscheid was released from Muenster Memorial Hospital Tuesday, to continue recuperating at home.

Lawrence Wimmer is a patient at St. Paul's Hospital in Dallas, where by-pass surgery was performed Tuesday, Aug. 21. He is doing well, will be in ICU for about three days and is looking forward to coming home in about a week, according to word from his family.

CELEBRATING MRS. EDNA JAMISON'S SPECIAL PRIZE are, 1 to r Louise Leaton, social activities director at Frontier Manor, who is favoring a sprained ankle; Jody Puttman, administrator at Frontier Manor and Mrs. Edna Jamison, 2nd place winner in the North Texas Beauty pageant for Senior Citizens in Nursing Homes, held in Pilot Point.

Walter-Reiter kinfolks plan family reunion

Plans are being developed for a reunion of descendants of pioneers, Christopher Walter and John Reiter, to be held in Muenster in the Community Center, beginning with a covered dish dinner at noon on September 2.

Individually, the two family groups have held reunions in the past, but this will be a first for the combined gathering.

Locally, direct descendants are members of the John Walter families, the August Reiter families and the Mrs. Rosa (Walter) Martin families. Everyone who is related is urged to attend. All relatives, local and out-of-state, are requested to bring family histories, old photos and family keepsakes to display.

For more information, call Bernice Sicking, 736-2217 after 5 p.m. or write to her at Box 55, Myra, Texas, 76253.

Julia Fleitman celebrates sixth birthday with family

Julia Fleitman was six years old on Tuesday, Aug. 14 and celebrated twice. The first observance was on Sunday, Aug. 12 at a dinner hosted by her parents, J.D. and Patsy Fleitman.

The birthday cake featured a Cabbage Patch theme. Gifts and pictures added to the fun.

Guests included Julia's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Bruno Fleitman of Muenster and Mr. and Mrs. Julius Hermes, Sr. of Lindsay; a great-aunt, Mrs. Hilda Self and uncles, aunts and cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Zimmerer and Greg, Mr. and Mrs. Don Lester and Donna, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Hermes and Kelly and the honoree's brothers Douglas, Samuel and Jon.

On Wednesday, Aug. 15 two friends, DaLana Endres and Jennifer Sicking came to play. They also enjoyed birthday cake and ice cream. Gifts were opened and displayed.

Grandchildren of Muenster residents Putz, Klement wed at Mission

Patricia Jean Putz became the bride of Jonathan David Klement in a Nuptial Mass and double ring ceremony officiated by Father Jerry Frank in St. Paul's Catholic Church in Mission, Tx. on Aug. 18 at 2:30 p.m.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Putz, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Klement all of Mission. He is also the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Klement and Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Wolf, all of Muenster.

Vows were exchanged before an altar decorated with matched, multi-branched tree candelabra and arrangements of mixed pink and lavender gladioli, alstromeria, carnations and daisies. Pink satin bows and flowers marked pews in the center aisle.

The bride was accompanied to the altar by her parents. She wore a traditional wedding gown of white organza with bodice covered by French lace and pearls outlining the portrait neckline and fitted, V-shaped waistline. Sleeves were sheer, short and puffed to the elbow, edged with wide lace ruffles and lace appliques. Matching lace gauntlets came to points over her hands. The hem of the formal skirt was edged with French lace and pearl embroidery which continued around the cathedral train. She wore a wreath of white stephanotis and elegance carnations, attached to the tiered illusion veil.

The bridal bouquet was a cascade of pink sweetheart roses and stephanotis, centered with a detachable corsage of three phalaenopsis orchids.

For sentiment she carried a white handkerchief made from the baptismal cap used at the groom's brother's best man. Christopher Klement and Michael Klement, groom's brothers and Paul Lenig, Charles Tehas and Timothy Curl were groomsmen. Richard Putz, Jr., Jeff Fulwiler, Jerry Fulwiler and Ronald Smith were ushers.

Participating in the wedding liturgy were Mass servers Patrick Moses and Richard E. Putz, Jr. Also lay readers Martha Sherek and David Martinez and lay ministers R.D. Martinez and Mr. and Mrs. Gary Clark.

bearing a replica of the Texas A and M University logo.

Among the many reception assistants were Kristen Kupper, Mrs. Leroy Kupper, Mrs. Christopher Klement, Mrs. Lynn Davis, and Mrs. Norma Cain.

The bride is a graduate of Mission High School and is attending Texas A and M University, majoring in education. The groom is a graduate of Sharyland High School and is attending Texas A and M, majoring in agricultural economics. When they return from a wedding trip to Cancun, Mexico, they will be at home in College Station, Tx.

The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents in their home.

Among guests at the wedding were grandparents of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Putz of McAllen and Mrs. Alfred B. Brady of Beaumont; and grandparents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Wolf and Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Klement of Muenster.

Among the large group of Out of the Valley guests were Mrs. Leroy Kupper, Kristen Kupper and Joey Kupper of Rockwall; Mrs. Marcie Marr of Fort Worth; Mr. and Mrs. James Wolf of Decatur; Mrs. Dickie Cain, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Davis and Staci Davis all of Ardmore.

Attendants

Paula Kathrine Putz was her sister's maid of honor. Mary Margaret Putz, another sister, Maria Lynn Putz, a cousin, Mary Margaret Burns, Nancy Katie Stables and Loretta Mary Volz were bridesmaids, dressed identically in Princess gowns of pink taffeta. Fabric roses marked the waistline of the full, tea-length skirts and sleeves. Each wore a halo of pink carnations, lavender alstromerias, and baby's breath and each carried a bouquet of pink and white elegance carnations, lavender alstromerias, gypsophila and pink satin ribbons.

Staci Davis of Ardmore, cousin of the groom, was flower girl. John Lawrence Putz was ring bearer.

Reception

A reception and buffet followed at Cimmaron Country Club. Floral centerpieces of Edwardian design in silver compotes were used on the buffet table with silver candelabra.

The guest registry held the bride's bouquet, and a candle in a brass candlestick, with the bridal portrait on an easel at the side.

The four tiered wedding cake, with strawberry filling, was decorated with fresh flowers in the bride's chosen colors, with a bouquet filling the bottom tier; and, decorating the top keepsake tier was the wedding figurine used by the groom's parents at their wedding.

The groom's cake was traditionally chocolate, iced in white, decorated in maroon and

Grandparents from Muenster attend Tulsa ceremony unites couple Tamy Sue Wiesman and Jim McMurrion Jr. of Tulsa exchanged wedding vows in St. Pius Catholic Church on June 21 at 3 p.m.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Wiesman of Tulsa and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Al (Lee) Haverkamp of Muenster and the late Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wiesman of Gainesville.

Father Dennis Dorney presided for the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with heart-shaped candelabra and lighted candles, and arrangements of greenery.

Music for the ceremony was provided by a friend, Bill Dierker, and several selections included the Ave Maria, the Twelfth of Never, and Sunrise, Sunset.

Leroy Wiesman, father of the bride escorted his daughter to the altar. The bride was wearing a white wedding gown of imported Chantilly lace and organza. Seed pearls and lace adorned the sweetheart neckline, covered the bodice and accented the short puffed sleeves.

A bouffant skirt fell from the waistline, into a chapel train. At the front instep, lace ruffles graced the hem with Chantilly applique. Above the ruffles, the sheer overskirt was caught up in beautifully detailed, simulated scallops.

She carried an arrangement of white roses, stephanotis and babies breath.

Attendants

Karrie Kearney of Tulsa was maid of honor. Other attendants were the bride's sisters Deanna Wiesman and Lynn Wiesman and a cousin Gina Henry. They were attired in long burgundy dresses with ruffled necklines, puff sleeves, and cummerbunds. They carried burgundy roses and white babies' breath.

Kristen Hatz and Jana McMurrion were candlelighters, wearing identical pink dresses.

Mark Fruechting was the groom's best man. Other attendants were Jeff McMurrion, Curtis Wiesman and Lyndale Cole.

Reception

A reception followed in the K.C. Hall with 150 guests attending the dinner and dance.

Mrs. Lonnie Jones and Sherri and Sally Wiesman served the wedding cake.

Following their wedding trip, the couple is at home in Bixby, Oklahoma.

Among guests at the wedding were grandparents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Al (Lee) Haverkamp; and Mr. and Mrs. Bud Boydston and family and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Haverkamp and family all of Muenster; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Schumacher and Janie, Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Schumacher, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Miller, Bertha Wiesman and Mr. and Mrs. Monte Haverkamp all of Gainesville.

Also Mr. and Mrs. David Forgy and family of Dallas;

Daryl Wiesman of Sherman; Rhonda Jones of Irving; Dana Wickliffe of Nacogdoches; Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Wiesman and Leslie of Tyler; Peggy Potts of Eules; Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Wiesman of the Rio Grand Valley; and Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Haverkamp of Whitesboro.

Rehearsal Dinner

A patio pool party hosted by parents of the couple was held at the home of Vera and Don Hatz. Approximately 40 guests attended. A personal and miscellaneous shower honored the bride-elect when Mrs. Kay McAuliff and Mrs. K. Kearney were hostesses.

Vogels entertain Houston visitors

Guests in the home of Lu Vogel, arriving on Saturday, Aug. 11 and remaining through Wednesday of the next week, were Mrs. Gloria Petzold and daughter Kerri of Houston. They are the daughter and granddaughter of Alphonse Vogel, and also visited other relatives in the Vogel relationship.

A covered dish meal at 6 p.m. in the pavilion of City Park on Sunday honored the Houston visitors. Kerri and her second cousins enjoyed a swim Sunday afternoon.

On Monday morning they drove around Muenster; and visited the Theo Vogel farm in the afternoon and the Leonard Vogel farm

Monday evening. Gathering eggs was a new experience for Kerri. Together all day were Lu, Gloria and Kerri, and Tracey and Misty Vogel.

They attended the Tuesday luncheon at SNAP, Kerri and her cousins went swimming in the afternoon and that evening visited the Cler Brothers Dairy. Kerri was disappointed to see mechanization, expecting instead to see hand milking.

On Wednesday they again attended the SNAP luncheon at the Community Center, prior to the Petzolds' departure for Dallas, where they spent several days before returning to Houston.

VFW Auxiliary meets at Frances Bayer home

Members of the VFW Auxiliary held their business meeting on Aug. 20 in the Post Home with Frances Bayer presiding.

Routine ritual included opening prayer led by Flora Mae Knabe followed by Pledge to the Flag. Ida Bindel read roll call and minutes of the previous meeting. General Orders were read and filed and the treasurer was bonded.

Members signed a get-well card to Geneva DeBorde, a sympathy card to Donna Bayer and baby congratulations to Janet Barnhill.

To complete Program Participation for August, members voted a contribution to the bingo fund at St. Richard's Villa. Agnes Hesse accepted chairmanship of the Voice of Democracy project for schools. The president urged members to pay dues in August.

Frances Bayer reported on the district convention also attended by Mr. and Mrs. Herbie Herr, Ethel Hesse, Mr. and Mrs. Art Bayer and Virgil Hess. The next district meeting will be held in Denison on November 3 and 4.

Members were urged to report their volunteer services at the district meeting, such as helping with bereavement dinners for families, entertainment at the Rest Homes and helping at schools, all part of the Community Service program.

Plans are underway for the auxiliary's annual Bake Sale to benefit Cancer Aid and Research project, tentatively set for Sept. 28. Members were asked to bake two items or contribute $8.00 each. They were reminded that rolls, breads, cakes and pies sell well.

They agreed to purchase pins decorated with musical notes to help the cancer aid and research program.

Ethel Hesse gave the treasurer's report. Marie Herr served refreshments to 13 members and Linda Knabe volunteered to be hostess for the September meeting. Daryl Ferber won the door prize.

Muenster sends 20 to county 4-H camp

Cooke County 4-H Camp was held July 11-13. Fifty nine 4-Hers from over the county attended, twenty of them were from Muenster.

They were Althea Brawner; Stephen, Wayne and Werner Becker III; Amy and Dana Dankesreiter; Amy Davidson; Janet and Tammie Reiter; Sherilyn and Darwin Sicking; Staci Sicking; Kristi Stelzer; Amber, Marcia and Scot Vogel; Valerie and Keith Vogel; Andy Burnette and Marcy Mullins, all of Muenster.

Mrs. Margie Burnette of Muenster is the counselor accompanying the 4-Hers.

Anyone interested in joining 4-H and who has entered third grade or is 9 year old is eligible to join. 4-H is open to all youth, grade 3 or 9 year old to age 19, regardless of socio-economic levels, race, color, sex, religion or national origin.

Officers of the Muenster 4-H Club are Wayne Becker president; Tammie Reiter vice president; Charlene (Peachy) Switzer secretary; Valerie Vogel reporter; Amy Davidson council delegate; Darren Cheaney alternate delegate; and Amy Bayer song leader.

They all attended a Leadership Training meeting in Leonard Park on Aug. 14, and after the meeting enjoyed swimming in the Gainesville swim pool. Valerie Vogel is reporter for the Muenster 4-H club.

Healthy Hornets could do damage in district

JOHNNY ELDRD ... to call Hornets' signals ...
LESLYE WELLS ... speedy MHS tailback ...
RONNIE TRUBENBACH ... two-way tackle ...

The Muenster Hornets are hoping for fewer trips to the doctor and perhaps a trip to the playoffs in district 4-A football this year.

Last year's squad finished 4-6, but lost three games by a grand total of seven points. Sickness and injuries plagued coach Leonard Peters' team from the very start of two-a-days last August.

An outbreak of good health in the ranks could paint a very different picture this year, as Muenster returns nine starters on both the offensive and defensive teams.

"Experience is our big plus," Peters says. "And we've got a little size to go along with it. We don't have the overall quickness as a team that I would like, and we don't have the speed we'd like to have. But we're better in all those areas than we've been the past two years."

Returning to lead the offense for the Hornets is junior quarterback Johnny Eldred, a 160-pounder. Eldred started every game last year as a sophomore, and "improved in every game" according to his coach.

"He threw the football well and executed the offense well," Peters says.

Eldred's passing game will be good enough to keep defenses honest, Peters says, but the meat-and-potatoes of Muenster's attack will continue to be the running game.

"We'll be more of a running team than a passing team," he notes. "We've got big, strong backs — that's our biggest asset. And we've got a line that should be able to move people out."

Leading the way in that backfield will be senior wingback Leslye Wells, a 155-pounder who was second team all-district last year at the tailback position. His quickness gives the Hornets a breakaway threat when the holes open up.

When the situation calls for straight-ahead power running, Peters will call on senior fullback Neal Flusche. Flusche was all-district at linebacker last year, and at 178 lbs. his running style will likely deal out some bruises to opposing defenders. He is a third-year starter for Peters.

At the tailback position, Peters will go with 185-lb. senior Ronnie Fisher, who missed most of last season with injuries. Drue Bynum, a 145-lb. sophomore, and Jeff McAden, a 150-lb. junior, also saw duty at that position last year and will get some work there this year.

At the tight ends, look for senior Keith Klement (170 lbs.) and sophomore Andy Burnette (175 lbs.) to see a lot of action. Klement missed about half of last season with an injury, but both youngsters have looked good in practice so far this year.

Junior strong-side tackle Ronnie Trubenbach, at 201 lbs., has "all-district potential" according to Peters. Lining up beside him at strong guard will be Tim Fleeman, another senior who crowds the 200-lb. mark. Fleeman was second team all-district last year.

Senior Craig Monday was to return at the other guard spot, but sustained a back injury in workouts and may not play for a while. His injury is the only cloud on the Hornets' horizon so far.

"Right now we're in good shape except for Monday," Peters said before the start of workouts this week. "Losing him hurts us — he's a good football player."

Senior Kevin Wolf returns at the split end position to finish out the list of offensive starters returning to Peters' lineup.

On defense, look for Klement and Burnette at the ends, Trubenbach at a tackle spot and Fleeman at noseguard. Flusche is a strong returner at linebacker, and Gary Grewing, a 170-lb. sophomore who started as a freshman last year, will fill the other linebacker slot.

Wells will start at a cornerback, Eldred at strong safety and McAden is a likely starter at the other corner.

"We've really got a lot of other guys who started some football games for us last year," Peters notes. "These guys started more than others, but we had so many injuries last year we started a lot of different people throughout the

Tigers plan surprises

Sacred Heart lacks experience, but not talent

Sacred Heart's Tigers are going to surprise some people this year. That's not a prediction — it's a fact.

When you start an entire backfield who are new to their positions, there are bound to be surprises. The Tigers are not without some good athletes this year, but experience is a precious commodity.

"There's no way of predicting what these guys are going to do," coach Virgil Henscheid says. "We're smaller and less experienced than last year's team. We might be pretty competitive if we can get by without getting anyone hurt — that's the disadvantage of not having many kids out for football."

Henscheid and Julian Walterscheid are volunteer coaches at Sacred Heart, whose athletic program is under the direction of Jon LeBrasseur. Henscheid, who doubles as Muenster's postmaster, has been filling the head coaching spot for the last six years.

This year's Tigers are small in both size and number. With a 24-man roster, they will field a varsity only and strive to build some depth at that level.

At quarterback for the Tigers will be 6'2", 185-lb. senior Bret Walterscheid, who played at offensive guard the past three years. Walterscheid's size and agility make him "probably the best athlete" on the squad according to Henscheid, and that is why he will call the signals.

"Bret played quarterback in the last two games last year after our starter (Neil Hesse) got hurt," Henscheid says. "He's not exceptionally fast, but he's agile. He's a little better than average on speed and quickness, and he's got a fairly good arm. All he really lacks is experience at that spot."

Walterscheid's partners in the backfield will also be new to that area. Running back Stephen Schmitt, a 163-lb. senior, broke his arm just prior to the first scrimmage last year and sat out the season. Darren Voth, a 174-lb. junior, will get the nod at fullback in his first year of football. Also testing the backfield waters will be 121-lb. junior John Nasche and 148-lb. freshman Greg Bell.

"We may have to pass quite a bit if the line can protect the quarterback," Henscheid says. "We like to pass the ball. It just depends on how these boys develop — we'd like to be able to move the ball on the ground, too. You always want a balanced attack."

The line offers more experience, with several returning starters from last year's team. Darrell Hess, a 175-lb. senior, anchors the line at center, a position he played last year. Keith Hennigan (jr., 173 lbs.) and Tim Knabe (sr., 143 lbs.) will work at the guard spots on offense, while Tim Bartel and Kevin Switzer, both juniors, will start at the tackles.

Bartel is a healthy 163 lbs., but Switzer at 246 will carry the beef for the Tigers on the front line. Henscheid says Switzer's quickness is good for his size, and notes he is "stout as a bull" when it comes to holding off a defensive charge.

Ken Hesse, a 161-lb. junior, will start at tight end while Craig Voth, a 148-lb. sophomore, will trade out with 123-lb. senior Chris Dangelmayr at wide receiver. Dangelmayr did not play last year, while Voth saw a lot of action as a freshman.

"Ninety percent" of the players will go both ways, Henscheid says, but he hesitates to try and name the defensive starters after just a

Young Knights hope to continue tradition

After losing 11 players from a 9-3 squad, most people don't expect the Lindsay Knights to field as tough a football team this year as they have the past couple of years.

But don't tell them.

Lindsay's players, with a strong tradition to build on, are working hard and expect to be in the thick of the district 4-A race come playoff time. Although dealing with the unknown factors of youth and inexperience, coach Grady Roller isn't displeased with what he has seen so far this year.

"If we can get our young kids to come through, we'll be competitive," Roller says. "It has started out slow this year because we've got so many young kids, but they'll pick up."

Roller will make the most of experience in a backfield that has been blessed with a 1,000-yard-plus runner for the last two years. Steve Corcoran, a six-foot, 185-lb. senior who has started at quarterback for the past three years, will move to the full back spot in Friday's scrimmage against Alvord. Corcoran, who doubled at fullback last year, could again give Lindsay that big-play back they've become accustomed to.

Moving into the quarterback spot will be junior Wayne Fleitman, a 6'2", 169-pounder who shows signs of becoming an outstanding passer.

"Wayne played in two games last year when Corcoran was hurt," Roller says. "He throws the ball real well, and he's smart enough to develop into a good quarterback, given some experience."

At tailback in Friday's scrimmage will be Kenneth Furhmann, a senior who weighs in at 158 lbs. Furhmann "could be the fastest kid in the district this year" according to Roller. Wingback Victor Schmidkofer, a 155-lb. senior, played full back last year while Furhmann played in the wingback position.

"We've been about a 90 percent running team the last couple of years," Roller says. "I'd like to pass more if we can do it. We've got enough talent that I think we can run about the same offense as we have been. We're not going to change our attack that much."

Lindsay runs out of the I formation, using multiple sets and going to the option and power

A roundup of area sports happenings

Golf scramble set

The Muenster Golf Association will hold their regular monthly scrambles tournament Sunday at the Gainesville Golf Course. Tee-off time is 3 p.m.

The tournament is open to members only, but as always, anyone may join for a $5 membership fee. Those desiring further information may contact Brent Hess at 759-4893.

Scrimmages on tap

Friday night scrimmages for area football teams are set, and the schedule looks like this:

- Muenster will host Chico at 6 p.m. on the MHS field;
- Sacred Heart will host Perrin, also at 6 p.m., on their field here;
- Lindsay will host Alvord at Lindsay beginning at 6 p.m.;
- Era's scrimmage was held Thursday night, as they travelled to Aubrey for a 6 p.m. encounter;
- Saint Jo will go to Windthorst for a 6 p.m. scrimmage;
- Callisburg will host Sanger in a 6 p.m. matchup;
- Valley View will travel to Prosper for a 6 p.m. scrimmage.

MHS volleyball begins

Muenster's volleyball squad has two scrimmages slated for this week. They will host Chico at 5 p.m. Tuesday, then travel to Gainesville for another 5 p.m. contest Thursday.

passing will be on spring-out type plays, with the rest coming from a drop-back position.

On the offensive line in Friday's scrimmage will be split end Tim Carpenter, a 155-lb. junior, and tight end Leroy Hermes, a 6'2", 170-lb. junior who split duty with the starter last year. On the left side will be tackle Kurt Hermes, a 5'10", 175-lb. senior, and guard Jeff Metzler, a 5'11", 166-lb. junior.

Junior Adam Arendt (5'10", 160 lbs.) and sophomore Frank Fangman (6'3", 170 lbs.) will split time at the center spot, competing for a job that "is still wide open" according to the coach. Senior Jeff Wimmer, the squad's biggest starter at 210 lbs., returns at the right guard position, and Scott Fleitman (6'3", 190 lbs.) will take over the right tackle spot after starting on the defensive line last year.

Most of Roller's varsity personnel will go both ways, with only 35 kids out for football and 14 of those freshmen.

The defense for Friday's scrimmage looks like this: Jeff Metzler at left end, Scott Fleitman at left tackle, Fangman at noseguard, Arendt at right tackle and Leroy Hermes at right end. Jeff Wimmer, Corcoran and Schmidkofer will start at the linebackers, with Schmidkofer playing the right outside linebacker or right cornerback spot, depending on the defensive alignment. Kurt Hermes will be the Quarterback on the other side and Carpenter and Fuhrmann will serve as safeties.

The Knights will run a five-three defense Friday as Roller takes a look at his kids. After the 6 p.m. scrimmage against Alvord, they will get set to host Paradise the following week in their final pre-season scrimmage, also set for 6 p.m.

Paradise, who plays in the west zone of district 4-A, is the top-ranked team in the state in class A this year.

Lindsay is coming off a 9-3 season which ended when they lost to Overton in the bi-district game.

Valley View picked to win this zone, was one of the teams to defeat Lindsay last year although they had to forfeit the game due to an ineligible player. Lindsay's only other regular-season losses last year were to Callisburg and Bells.

Roller is entering his fourth year as head coach at Lindsay, after moving from Georgetown where he was assistant football coach and head track and cross-country coach during his five-year tenure. He is a graduate of Era High School and earned his degree at North Texas State.

The Knights' season opener will be at S and S on September 7.

Hot dog feed set after MHS scrimmage Friday

Hornet fans are reminded that Friday is "Soap and Towel" night before the MHS-Chico scrimmage.

The Muenster Quarterback Club will host a free, charcoaled hot dog treat on Friday, following the Chico-Hornet scrimmage. Hornet and Dragon football players, Band members, parents, grandparents and fans are welcome and urged to attend. The regular Quarterback Club meeting will be held on Tuesday, Aug. 28 at 8 p.m. at the Field House.

Boys football deadline nears

Last call for players on the third and fourth grade Muenster team in the Cooke County Boys Club football league. A report from the Boys Club Tuesday reveals that several vacancies still exist and will have to be filled this week if a team is to be organized. In addition, a coach is needed.

Any boys or any adult wanting to participate are asked to contact Clifford Sicking, 759-4242, immediately. To qualify a boy must be a member of the Cooke County Boys' Club, membership fee $6.00 a year, and if admitted to the team he will need to pay a $7.50 fee for materials and also buy a jersey.

year." The team will run from a "multiple-set" offense that makes use of the straight T, wing-T, I, wing-I and slot-I formations. While giving opponents a lot of different looks, the offense will remain fairly simple as the Hornets concentrate on the running game. Passing will be mostly play-action and bootleg, with very little in the way of straight drop-back passing.

The five-two defense will also show opponents a lot of looks, but there won't be much stunting as the Hornets will concentrate on reading offenses as they line up.

The Hornets' first scrimmage is set for Friday against Chico, a district opponent which dropped down to class A after a dismal 0-9-1 season last year in AA. The two teams will begin running at each other around 6 p.m. Friday.

Next Friday, the Hornets will travel to scrimmage Southlake Carroll, a strong AA team which made the playoffs last year. That contest should help prepare them for a district that includes two of the state's top 10 rated teams.

In Muenster's zone, Valley View will be the favorite, returning seven starters after going 8-3 last year. They are ranked seventh in the state in pre-season polls, and will meet the Hornets here for the last regular-season game November 9.

The Hornets open the regular season September 7 when they host Nocona at 8 p.m. Peters, beginning his fourth year at the helm, will hope for a drought in the injury department and a few breaks along the way.

Here's to your health, Hornets.

Sacred Heart seeks experience

week of workouts.

"I don't know where they're going to play yet," he says. "We've been working on offense most of the time and the defense isn't set."

Sacred Heart will scrimmage class A Perrin, a team from the west zone of district 4-A, here Friday. Perrin's coach says his squad is long on backfield experience, but short on experienced linemen.

"We used to scrimmage Lake Dallas," Henscheid says. "We held our own, but they're so much bigger it was not a good deal for us. We would get kids injured and that can really take the wind out of your sails in pre-season. We just want some competition."

Friday's scrimmage should be a pretty good matchup, as the Tigers' inexperienced crew gets its first crack at handling the ball.

"We'll run basically a straight T or power-I formation," Henscheid says. "We'll put a man in the slot or split a tight end now and then."

On defense, the Tigers will run a five-two with a man on the center, a guard and end on one side and a tackle and end on the other side, with linebackers in the gaps. They will stunt with the two middle linemen or run a five-three or a six-man line at times, depending on how the personnel shapes up.

The Tigers will be rated the underdog in district 3-AA with Tyler's T.K. Gorman and Wichita Falls Notre Dame the teams to beat. Sacred Heart lost both their TCIL district games last year enroute to a 4-6 overall finish.

This year's squad will be out to prove that a losing season was not the norm for Sacred Heart.

Duck season set

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission has set the special early teal duck season for Sept. 15-23 statewide.

Meeting in Austin last week, the commission also retained the same bag and possession limits as last year.

Hunting, fishing licenses stamps now available

The 1984-85 Texas hunting and fishing licenses and special stamps have been delivered to Texas Park and Wildlife Department offices and license agents across the state and are now available to the public.

Department officials remind sportsmen that 1983-84 hunting and fishing licenses expire on Aug. 31, 1984, and the 1984-85 licenses now available for purchase are not valid until Sept. 1, 1984.

Resident hunting and resident fishing licenses are priced at $8 respectively, and resident combination hunting and fishing licenses are $12.

Texas' state waterfowl stamps are priced at $5, and are required in addition to a valid hunting license for hunting waterfowl in the state, including the Sept. 15-23 teal duck season. Federal regulations require a duck stamp.

White-winged dove hunters also are reminded that a $6 White-winged Dove Stamp is required in addition to a valid hunting license for hunting that species.

African priest visits sponsor in Lindsay

Father Puis Twuchukwu, a native of Nigeria, W. Africa was in Lindsay for a couple of days.

He was ordained a priest in 1977. He spent the past year in Spain studying Theology and will return there for another year to continue his studies after completing his six-week tour of Texas.

He spent the first few days in the USA at Subiaco, then with Abbot Raphael DeSalvo came to Lindsay, visiting at Gainesville and Lindsay.

From here they went to Muenster and Windthorst and other parishes where Benedictine Priests are stationed.

While in Lindsay he visited with Mrs. Clem Hermes, Sr., his vocational sponsor. He told of the great need for financial help, for the people of Nigeria are very poor, and that there are many vocations.

At times there are more men wanting to enter the priesthood than there is room to house them.

Mrs. Hermes was hostess to a covered dish supper to honor Father Puis on Sunday evening.

Attending were Mary Hundt, Joe and Elfrieda Hundt, Ed and Lou Schad, Harold and Rita Corcoran, Joe and Alice Hermes, Clem and Wanda Hermes, David and Berniece Strittmatter, Eddie and Elaine Schad, Anna Hermes, and Gilbert Hermes.

Sr. Maria makes vows at Victoria

Sister Maria Bezner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Bezner of Corpus Christi, made her first profession in the Order of Sister of the Incarnate Word and Blessed Sacrament at Victoria on August 11 at 2 p.m. in the convent chapel.

Bishop Charles Grahmann of Corpus Christi was celebrant of the Mass and also gave the homily. Presenting the offertory gifts with sister Maria were her brother Rick Bezner and her sisters Janet Pfau and Dolores Bezner.

A reception in honor of Sister Maria followed the ceremony.

Present for the ceremony and reception were Mr. and Mrs. Bruno Zimmerer and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bezner all of Lindsay; Isabel Galvan of Irving; Elsie Benenate of Farmers Branch; Mrs. John Kuntz and son Mark of Valley View; and Sister Ramona Bezner and Sister Catherine Henry Fuhrmann of San Antonio.

Society preparing for Oktoberfest

Members of the Saint Anne's Society met Wednesday evening August 15, following the 7 p.m. mass.

President Kathy Lutkenhaus presided. To begin, Kathy reported on the picnic dinner — 771 people were served.

Clara Fuhrmann gave a report on the convention in Honey Creek that had taken place in July.

The president gave a report on the breakfast hosted by the St. Anne's on July 29. A total of 117 people were served.

One new member, Karen Nolan, was inducted into the organization.

A special thank-you was given to the ladies who kept the servers vestments clean over the summer months. Members were also asked to remember Fr. Cletus in their prayers and cards.

Shower in Gainesville honors Becky Bezner

Becky Bezner attended a layette shower held in her honor July 28, 1984 in the home of Mrs. Juanita Burden, 1313 Fair Avenue, Gainesville. Mrs. Marjorie Lowe and Mrs. Margaret Loerwald acted as co-hostesses.

Approximately 20 guests enjoyed lemon cake, punch, nuts and mints after the baby gifts were opened and displayed.

Special guests included Mrs. Joan Bezner and Mrs. Ann Geray, the baby's paternal grandmother and great-grandmother.

The honoree received an adjustable baby carrier and baby booties made by Mrs. Burden as hostess gifts.

Personals

Father Cletus Post, O.S.B., Pastor at Lindsay, was dismissed from Scott & White Hospital in Temple on Friday, Aug. 17 after being a patient there for 10 days.

He is reported to be doing fine but still needs lots of rest.

Marguerite Kell of Carrollton has been named 1984 Woman of the Year by the Reunion Charter Chapter of the American Business Woman's Association. The group raises funds to offer college scholarships to young women.

Mrs. Kell served as president of A.B.W.A. Chapter during the first year. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Benenate of Farmers Branch.

Brad and Kerry Felderhoff of the Colony spent the week with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Bruno Zimmerer of Lindsay and Mr. and Mrs. A.J. Felderhoff of Gainesville. They are the children of Donna and Steve Felderhoff.

Also visiting with grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Zimmerer were Tonia and Billy Zimmerer, children of Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Zimmerer of Louisville.

Mr. Damond Fuhrmann has returned home from the hospital following an accident at his home. He is reportedly doing well.

Mr. Weldon Bezner was honored Sunday evening August 19 when friends surprised him with a birthday cake decorated with a deer hunting theme. The gathering took place at Metzler Bros. Restaurant to honor Weldon upon his 55th birthday.

Shawna Hellman studies in Austria

Shawna Hellman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C.J. Hellman of Lindsay, recently spent about two months living and studying in Europe under a program sponsored by Texas Tech University.

Shawna left for Germany on May 21 and visited cousins Kelly and Paul Kiesel, who are stationed in Friedberg where Paul is a member of the artillery battery in the U.S. Army.

From June 1 through July 5 she attended school in Vienna, Austria. During that time, she studied the German language and culture along with nine other Tech students. They lived in apartments with a "hausfrau" and attended school in the Palais Corbelli, an old palace downtown.

While they were in school, the students visited many palaces, castles and museums. They learned the language well enough to communicate, including ordering like experts in the coffee houses, restaurants and bars.

On weekends when there was no school, they went to other countries. Shawna visited Switzerland, Hungary and Italy.

After completing the courses in Vienna, Shawna returned to Germany where she visited two weeks with the Kiesel, doing more sightseeing and touring with Kelly. She and Kelly spent three days in Koln visiting the Erick Walterscheid family, German relatives who have never been to the U.S. Only the Walterscheid's oldest son spoke English.

She returned to the United States July 24.

LISD calendar date changed

Lindsay school students will get a day off Thursday, August 30, as teachers will take a day of in-service to attend a special program in Gainesville.

The 30th was originally scheduled as a regular class day. To make up for the missed day of classes, schools will be open for classes on a scheduled in-service day October 15, according to superintendent Glenn Hellman.

The program at Gainesville will give faculties from several surrounding districts a review of new legislation affecting schools in Texas.

Forestburg News

by Myrt Denham

This will be the last opportunity to remind everyone about the Uz Homecoming at 12 noon Sat. Sept. 1. Come meet your friends under the shade trees of the old school grounds and break bread with them.

While chatting with Billie Anderson learned she spent last Tues. night the 21st in the Muenster Memorial Hospital after getting mixed up with a yellow-jacket nest on their place that afternoon.

Mrs. Jennie (Shults) Conway was dismissed from a metro-plex Hospital early last week and is now with her mother, Ola Mae Shults. Jennie's husband, Sheriff Conway was moved to the Muenster Hospital where he is presently a patient.

Ted Jackson and his "frau" Laura Belle left Tues. a.m. Aug. 14th for Floydada to visit with their daughter, Mrs. Ouida McCandless till Fri. Aug. 17th. Ouida's son, Todd, came over from Lubbock to visit with them that Tues. night. The next day Ouida's daughter Billie Dale Terrell and her three sons of Roaring Springs came for a couple of days visit. They all visited with Billie Dale's brother Darrell McCandless and his family and on Thursday night the 16th, there was a family supper at Ouida's home with all the above mentioned plus Don McCandless' three girls. The Jacksons made it back home Friday the 17th. Then Saturday night the 18th, Kelley Colwell spent the night with them and went to church with them on Sunday a.m.

Fred Wakeman of Wichita Falls spent one night last week with his mother Mrs. Oma Wakeman.

Carolyn and Raymond Wood, their daughter Tayna, and three of their grandchildren all of Wichita Falls were down a-visiting Carolyn's parents, Merle and Clifford Hudspeth, Thursday and Friday of last week.

Kenneth Woods was in Waco Tuesday and Wednesday of last week attending a Farm Bureau meeting.

Word has it that Willie Sandusky, son of Faith Sandusky, flew out to Phoenix, Arizona Friday night August 10. He visited with friends out there, returning home Sunday night Aug. 19.

Miss Diane Steadham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Steadham, was honored with a very lovely wedding shower Friday night Aug. 17th at 7 p.m. in the Community Center. Diane is the bride-elect of Gary Scott, son of the Gene Scott's. The wedding is to be Saturday Sept. 1.

Kendall and Brent Holland drove to Denton Friday afternoon the 17th to meet their brother Mitch of Gainesville at their sister Christy Rashid's home. Then the four continued on to take in a Texas Ranger baseball game. Mitch returned home after the game but Kendall and Brent spent the night with Christy, returning home Saturday night the 18th.

Chris Carter, of Windthorst, visited with his grandparents Jack and Vesta Carter of Dewey and with his dad Johnny of Gainesville.

Kyura Orrell left for Houston Friday to visit with Martha Townsbridge, who was a roommate of Kyura's at Texas Tech in Lubbock. Kyura will return from Houston Wednesday the 22nd. In the fall Kyura will do her practice, teaching at Woodrow-Wilson Elementary School in Denton. She now has a Teacher's Certificate in Math and Bilingual.

The Buford Greenwoods and their friends Mr. and Mrs. Garvin Clower of Duncanville, Oklahoma enjoyed an evening out Friday the 17th with a fish supper in Bowie.

Miss Lecia Lynch of Arlington visited her parents Virginia and Doyle Lynch from Friday the 17th to Sat. the 18th.

Mrs. Dave Ray of Bowie was a Friday the 17th through Sunday the 19th visitor with her daughter Mrs. Imogene Lynch.

Visitors, vacations reported 'Burg residents remain active Millie Reynolds and Wanda Perryman were in Bowie Saturday the 18th. Wanda Lee went on business and Millie planned to visit her sister, Mrs. Joe Denham but Joe had flown the coop again.

John Willis, Olin Merritt, Carvin Mosely all of the Burg and Raymond Pannell of Greenwood attended the Texas Ranch round-up in Wichita Falls Saturday the 18th.

Vera Mae McGee was a visitor with her daughter Mrs. Edna Merle Hill of Bowie from Fri. a.m. the 17th till Sun. a.m. the 19th.

Mrs. Becky Scott and Jennifer, Caton Orrell of Gainesville and Veda Brogdon left Fri. Aug. 10th for Gillette Wyoming where they visited Mr. and Mrs. Max Brogdon and to pick up Jason Brogdon who had been visiting his father Max and wife, while there toured Deadwood, South Dakota. In Deadwood they found a little of Forestburg present when they shopped in Anthony's Department Store and saw Jamar Shoes made in Forestburg. On their way home they stopped in Dodge City, Kansas and toured the Old Dodge City where they visited Long Branch Saloon made famous by Matt Dillon, Miss Kitty, Festus and Doc Adams. We almost forget to mention that they also visited Mount Rushmore in South Dakota before going on to Kansas. They were back home Aug. 17th.

Mrs. Liz Johnson graduated from TWU in Denton at 10:30 a.m. Saturday the 18th. Present for the graduation were Liz's parents, Mrs. Ben Gunter of Jacksboro, Liz's grandparents Mr. and Mrs. G.W. Couger of Possum Kingdom who spent the weekend with Liz and family. Liz didn't say, but I'm certain her husband Gary and her two sons were also present at the exercises plus other relatives and friends. Saturday night Liz's sister and husband Mr. and Mrs. Ran Greenead surprised her with a lovely graduation party with many friends and relatives attending.

Another graduate on Saturday 18th at 4:30 p.m. from North Texas State was Pamela Edwards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Edwards. Those attending were Pam's parents, sister Veronica and brother Doug, grandparents Mr. and Mrs. J.P. Embry of Saint Jo and Mr. and Mrs. Jack C. Dill and Chris Greenead. Pamela received a B.A. degree in Library Science and Psychology. After the graduation the group enjoyed a Barbecue supper prepared by Pam's mother the day before.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Woods drove to Austin Saturday the 18th to take their great-niece Erica Cain to visit with her cousin McKenzie Martin while Erica's parents Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cain of Thackerville, Okla. are spending this week in the Bahama Islands. McKenzie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Martin, and Mrs. Jack (Patsy) Martin is the Wood's daughter. Grandson Andy returned home with his grandparents to spend the week. Might add that Mrs. Cain is the former Peggy Willis, daughter of the John T. Willis'.

Mrs. Paula Barber and Angela of Wichita Falls made it to the Burg this past Saturday and Sunday to spend the time with Paula's parents, Merle and Clifford Hudspeth.

Kerry and Cynthia Daly of Dallas spent Sunday the 19th visiting Cynthia's grandparents, Dude and Bula Mae Berry. Cynthia's father is Mike Berry. Mr. and Mrs. Bill Looney of Decatur were Sunday evening visitors with the Berry's.

Mrs. Eva Crayton of Montague and her son Don and his three children of Loving were Sunday afternoon the 19th visitors with the Kenneth Holland family.

The Larry Baileys of Denton were visitors with his mother, Juanita Sunday the 19th.

Mr. and Mrs. Buford Greenwood were over in Gainesville Sunday the 19th to visit with Nancy and John Dunn, Braydon and Jace. Buford just simply had to go view that new grandson, Jace, and give him a few pinches.

Mrs. Linas Boggess of Saint Jo called on Veda and Barney Brogdon Sunday afternoon the 19th.

August 18-19 visitors with the Joe Hunts of New Harp were: Helen Freeman and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hunt and boys of Alvord, Mr. and Mrs. David Vandeventer and family of Decatur, Mr. and Mrs. Monnie Joe Hunt and family of Sunset, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Freeman, Mr. and Mrs. Eddie McCleire and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Matloch and family.

Shirley Lanier, Cleo Lanier and Christine Cook attended the benefit Fish Fry in Nocona Friday night, Aug. 17, in memory of the Kennedy's who were fatally burned.

James Morgan of Forestburg will observe his 69th birthday on Sunday, Aug. 26, with a special dinner and birthday cake hosted by his wife at noon. Their daughter, LaDell Gilbreath and family of Denton will attend. We wish him a "Happy Birthday."

Millie Reynolds roused her side-kick, W.T., out of the bed early Monday morning the 20th to take her to Bowie to catch a bus at 6 a.m. for Claude. There she was to meet her sister, Mrs. Pauline (Perryman) Gray of Canon City, Colorado. Then the two will do some kin-folk visiting this week.

Mrs. Beth Dill took her children, Keith, Kody and Keisha for a day out in Bowie Monday the 20th. They took care of some business, did some shopping and had lunch at the Pizza Hut.

In closing this week we have a little item about a Wild Badger to pass along to you. How many of you have ever seen a real live Badger — except in a zoo?

Perhaps you have seen pictures of them or viewed them on these nature stories on TV. Did you know we have them here in our area? Well, we do.

One got itself caught in a trappers snare on the W.T. Reynolds Ranch. W.T. and his helper, Willie Howard got him out of the snare and W.T. kept him in the bed of his pickup for a couple of days for folks to see. Yes, the Badger was alive as the snare had caught in on his hind quarter.

Upon seeing the Badger, Vesta Carter remarked she had been seeing animals like that on their place for a couple of years. She did admit she did not know what kind of animals they were until she saw W.T.'s capture and he told her what it was. After a couple of days W.T. turned the critter loose as they are rodent and snake killers and eaters. Badgers are known to be very vicious animals when cornered.

There are more species of wild creatures in this area than we realize. Beavers have taken up on the J.P. Embry place at Dye Mound. Am sure there are many more around and I'm told there are also a few porcupines about. Leave us all remember they are God's creation — He put them here, so this old earth belongs to them also. So let us leave them go about their business peacefully.

Meeting set Monday at FHS

A meeting has been scheduled for Monday, August 27 for all incoming freshmen and their parents at Forestburg High School. The meeting will be held at 7:30 p.m. in the high school library, and will serve as an orientation session.

All incoming ninth graders and their parents are urged to attend. Freshmen will also pre-register at this time. All other classes will register on the first day of school September 4, according to superintendent Glenn Morrison.

Forestburg schools will open for classes at 8 a.m. September 4, and dismiss at 3:30 p.m. Buses will run and breakfast and lunch will be served on that day.

New essential elements and course offerings for high school, under the new legislation, will not be fully implemented until the 1985-86 school year, but incoming freshmen will be required to meet the new graduation requirements.

Supplies needed for kindergarten at Forestburg include:

- glue;
- blunt scissors;
- tissue;
- three primary pencils;
- one box of primary crayons;

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Woods drove to Austin Saturday the 18th to take their great-niece Erica Cain to visit with her cousin McKenzie Martin while Erica's parents Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cain of Thackerville, Okla. are spending this week in the Bahama Islands. McKenzie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Martin, and Mrs. Jack (Patsy) Martin is the Wood's daughter. Grandson Andy returned home with his grandparents to spend the week. Might add that Mrs. Cain is the former Peggy Willis, daughter of the John T. Willis'.

Mrs. Paula Barber and Angela of Wichita Falls made it to the Burg this past Saturday and Sunday to spend the time with Paula's parents, Merle and Clifford Hudspeth.

Kerry and Cynthia Daly of Dallas spent Sunday the 19th visiting Cynthia's grandparents,

Do you have an investment that can

Double in 6 years
Triple in 9½ years
Quadruple in 11 years

Zeros Coupon Bonds from Prudential-Bache Securities can. How? Zeros are purchased for a fraction of their face value. And instead of paying interest periodically, the interest is automatically reinvested and compounded over the life of the bond. The effects of this compounding are quite dramatic. For example, a $350 initial investment would grow to $1,000 in as little as 9½ years.

Zeros are especially attractive for retirement planning and funding your children's education. To learn more call Kenneth Floyd at 817-759-2725 or 817-665-7612 or stop by our office at 800 E. California, Suite 9.

CO-OWNERS MIKE STURM AND LARRY GOBBLE of Muenster Auto Parts and Muffler Shop invite everyone to come in and check out their inventory and prices. They specialize in quality and service.

Muenster Auto Parts offers selection in small package

Muenster Auto Parts, located at 711 East Highway 82, is proof that good things often come in small packages.

The little shop holds a large and growing inventory of automotive parts and accessories. Co-owners Larry Gobble and Mike Sturm are committed to expanding their inventory to meet the needs of their customers.

"We appreciate the support and business we've gotten since we opened the shop here," Gobble says. "We don't have the largest store in the country, but anytime somebody needs something we do our best to get it for them. We stress service and quality."

Gobble and Sturm are both natives of the area, Gobble having graduated from Muenster High School and attended Cooke County College before serving in the Army. Sturm is from Gainesville, but his family is widely known in the area and extends into Muenster.

Both men were foremen at National Supply Co. in Gainesville and were laid off at the same time. They decided to get together and put in the auto parts store, a muffler shop and a hydraulic hose-making machine. Sturm also does custom welding on the side.

The auto parts store carries parts for all types of automobiles, farm equipment and machinery. They carry the All-Pro line and sell name brands such as Niehoff ignition parts, Gabriel shocks, All-Pro starters and alternators, Everco air conditioning parts, Hygrade carburetor kits, Dorman bolts, nuts and fasteners, GE headlights, AC, Champion and Autolite spark plugs, Fram filters, BCA bearings, Ideal clamps, Moog front end parts, Raybestos brake parts — the list is almost endless.

They also offer a full line of oils such as Quaker State, Ford, Chevron and Exxon, two-cycle oils for outboard motors, motorcycle oil, and Continental and Power-Pack batteries.

But that's just one aspect of their business. They operate one of the most complete muffler shops in this area, handling stock mufflers for all makes and models of cars and offering custom exhaust service for any type of vehicle.

The hydraulic hose machine makes one-piece hoses for farm equipment, heavy industrial machinery — any type of vehicle that uses a hydraulic system. The one-piece system offers the advantage of stronger construction and reduces the possibility of breakage that exists when two or more hoses are spliced together.

Gobble and Sturm invite everyone to come by and check out their inventory and prices before shopping elsewhere for auto parts. They also hope people will give them a try when they need exhaust system work, mufflers and hydraulic hoses.

It's a little shop with big abilities.

IN THANKS

Thanksgiving Novena to St. Jude, Oh Holy St. Jude, Apostle and Martyr great in virtue and rich in miracles. Near kinsman of Jesus of Jesus Christ, Faithful intercessor of all who invoke your special patronage in time of need. I have recourse to you from the depth of my heart and humbly beg you to whom God has given such great power, to come to my assistance. Help me in my present and urgent petition. In return I promise to make your name known and cause you to be invoked. Say 3 Our Fathers, 3 Hail Marys and Glorias. St. Jude pray for us and all who invoke your aid. Amen. 40-1C1P

I would like to express my thanks to everyone for all the prayers, flowers, visits and phone calls I received while I was hospitalized at St. Paul's in Dallas. I will always remember your thoughtfulness and kindness. My family joins me in expressing my gratitude. Rita Pels 40-1C1P

Blister beetle poisoning in livestock has been a widespread problem in the southwest for years, but frequency of toxic poisoning is low. Cantharidin is a toxic substance produced in the glands of blister beetles that causes the problem.

Livestock poisoning occurs when animals eat fresh-cut forages or hay which was harvested while blister beetles were feeding. Beetles feed in swarms in small areas of a field, so generally only a small fraction of the forage is contaminated. Adults should not occur in significant numbers until late July. This past weekend we were in some soybean fields being cut for hay that were pretty much infested with blister beetles.

Cantharidin is highly toxic to horses and they may develop colic by eating only two to five beetles. Little problem is associated with cattle eating the hay, though. Blister beetles can be found in any type of forage if weeds or other blooming plants are located in the fields. However, beetles are more attracted to alfalfa because of flowering at harvest. Alfalfa is an excellent horse feed, and we should not discourage its use as a livestock feed.

The blister beetle problem is not unique to Texas, and purchasing hay from other states will not solve the problem. The level of toxic cantharidin will vary between individual insects of the same species, and animal reaction depends on the number of beetles consumed.

A good understanding of the beetle's life cycle and feeding habits will help plan management strategies to reduce financial losses. The female beetle deposits up to 1,000 eggs in the ground where the larvae live and feed on insect eggs. Grasshopper eggs are the main host for developing beetles.

Following emergence, adult beetles congregate in swarms and feed on the pollen of flowering plants. Common host plants are potatoes, tomatoes, alfalfa and weed species like nightshade and pigweed.

Blister beetles suspected of causing most cantharidin poisoning are the three-striped blister beetles. The ones we saw were the gray blister beetles and in visiting with entomologists this week, they said you will get the same effect from either species. The critical problem develops when large swarms of adult beetles are physically incorporated in feed during the harvesting process.

Adult beetles range in size from about 1/2 to 3/4 inch long. General body color is black with longitudinal yellow stripes on their back. The bodies are cylindrical, elongated and fairly soft to touch.

Inspection of baled hay for beetles is impractical. Detection of infested feed is difficult because the pest is small and may be found in only a few portions of a given lot of feed. Previous specimen collections and field observations indicate that hay cut before June 1 should be relatively free from adult blister beetles.

Adults are mobile and can be found in pockets throughout a field. When inspecting a field, two days before harvest, give extra attention to field margins. Adults will be migrating into the field from larval development areas and will be located in the field margins first.

If baling for horses, beetle-infested areas can be left unharvested or sprayed with an insecticide. This approach will not guarantee absence of beetles, but will reduce higher populations in harvested hay. Low-level populations are not as important as abundant adult populations which are suspected of causing the serious problems.

FmHA loan deadline extended

Eligible farmers are able to receive Farmers Home Administration Emergency Loan Assistance due to heavy rains between Oct. 19 and Oct. 23, 1983. The farmers can apply for the loan and receive further information through the local FmHA office, according to an announcement from Sen. John Tower's Washington office.

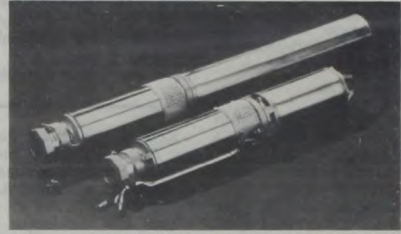

Bindweed meeting set Friday

Field bindweed has developed into a problem for some producers in Cooke County. The perennial weed is only spotty in the area, but it takes some special care in control. Usually two herbicide applications are necessary to clean up a field. One in the fall to get rid of the old plant and then again after wheat harvest to kill the seedling.

Friday, August 24, Jimmy Hilburn with Velsicol Chemical Company, and Jim Blalock, Texas Agricultural Extension Service Agronomist, will conduct a workshop on Bindweed Control at the James Geray farm south of Gainesville off Highway 51. The meeting will begin at 10:00 a.m. If you have problems on how to get to the Geray farm, then give us a call at the Extension Office, 665-1966.

DON'T KISS $8,938 GOODBYE

That's how much you could lose just on resale value
if you don't buy a John Deere

Looking for a big discount when you buy a tractor? Don't get stuck with an even bigger discount when you want to trade.

Always consider resale value when you price a field tractor. Because the differences among brands may sometimes be bigger than ANY purchase incentive.

Compare John Deere with our two leading competitors. According to the Spring 1984 Official Guide of the National Farm and Power Equipment Dealers Association, the average 5-year-old John Deere 4440 sells for 106 percent of its 1979 list price. One leading competitor averages 87 percent of its 1979 list price. The other averages 73 percent.

What's that mean in dollars? Add the John Deere gain on original price to the competitor's loss. The John Deere advantage is as much as $8,938!

Is this only true of one model? No. Every 40 Series 90- to 180-hp tractor has an average resale price that's higher than its new price five years ago.

Is resale your only John Deere advantage? No. Don't forget the remarkable fuel efficiency of today's 50 Series John Deere Tractors. And don't forget our unmatched reputation for high quality and high reliability. See your John Deere dealer. He'll be happy to explain the big difference between a low-price tractor and a low-cost John Deere: 100-hp 4050, 120-hp 4250, 140-hp 4450, 165-hp 4650 or 190-hp 4850.

NOTE: Average resale prices taken from Spring 1984 Official Guide of The National Farm and Power Equipment Dealers Association.
