Tower boosts G.O.P. Senator addresses Cooke County group

U.S. Senator John Tower told a gathering in Gainesville Saturday that Texas Republicans need not be ashamed of their party affiliation anymore.

"Being a Republican, where I grew up, is becoming quite fashionable," Tower said, speaking to a crowd of more than 200 people at the county's first G.O.P. fundraiser. The barbeque supper was held at the KC hall in Gainesville and featured Tower along with Congressional candidate Dr. Richard Army of Denton.

Supporters of the Republican ticket in this year's election paid $15 a plate for the barbeque. The money will be used to help seek votes for candidates in this and future campaigns.

Tower is retiring this year after 24 years in the Senate. He was a professor of political science at Midwestern University in Wichita Falls when he won a special election in 1960 to fill the Senate seat vacated by Lyndon Johnson. He has served for the last several years as chairman of the powerful Senate Armed Services committee, and spoke out strongly in favor of foreign policies.

"Ronald Reagan is trying to provide a climate of opportunity for the people of this country," he said. "His policies are actually a lot more compassionate than the proposed Democratic alternative."

Commenting on Reagan's defense policy, Tower said, "You've got to have something to negotiate with," when dealing with the Russians. "Ronald Reagan has restored pride and respect from friend and foe, and

While the presidential campaign involves principally the choice between a conservative and liberal occupant of the White House, the effect on the Supreme Court could become equally important, and possibly more so. The next president's term is for four years whereas a high court judge is appointed for life, which could become the equivalent of four or more presidential terms. Considering that the number of appointees could be as many as five, it means that the next president could be as many of five, it means that the next president could influence the Court for a long time.

Well, that situation is highly possible, the reason being that five Court members will be 76 years old or older when the president takes office. They are William Brennan, Warren Burger, Lewis Powell, Harry Blackmun and Thurgood Marshall.

The guess is that three, possibly all five, will choose to retire in the next term, the net result being that the election winner may determine whether the court's majority is liberal or conservative. This fact is vitally important because the high court members have their jobs for life and answer to no higher authority, yet their decisions have a greater impact on people than anything the president or Congress does.

The Court's decisions in the past 30 years have made pornography available at newsstands; have bused school kids across town to schools plagued by drugs and violence, and robbed unborn children of a right to life, and allowed un-elected bureaucrats to make decisions that used to be made by elected representatives.

The liberal Supreme Court made it possible for murder and rape to be excused on technicality and has imposed guidelines of government red tape and racial quotas. Since the appointment of Earl Warren it has altered the Constitution in trying to re-shape society, and imposing its own opinions on the public.

As a result of the high court's attitude the Constitution's respect at law schools has declined. Law courses speculate on what the document supposedly means rather than on what it actually says. When a district judge applies constitutional principles, the Supreme Court does not hesitate to over rule him.

As the nation is well aware, the present liberal court has drifted far from the Constitution. But imagine how much farther it would go if adopting the Mondale campaign policies, like women must be included in the military draft, and affirmative action programs must be used to remedy "past discrimination" against homosexuals, and there's a constitutional right to abortion at taxpayer expense.

Another fault in the court is its inconsistency in ruling on issues because of a difference in nature of the applicant. For instance, a school must not ban secular organizations from use of its facilities because they are protected by the First Amendment. On the other hand it must ban religious groups from that right. To make matters worse, some anti-religious groups are allowed because they claim to be secular.

Likewise the court decrees that government must provide the opportunity for citizens to communicate in their native language regardless of cost. For instance when instructions or ballots are presented in Spanish for the benefit of Hispanics.

Still another Court ruling is that all resources of the oceans or outer space belong to the United Nations, which could allow the

Amendments reviewed Propositions would affect banking, colleges

First in a series

Texas voters will do more on November 6 than just select their presidential and vice presidential choices. In addition to a full slate of national, state and local officials, the ballot will contain eight proposed amendments to the Texas Constitution.

The Texas Legislative Council has provided a brief synopsis of each amendment and listed the arguments for and against them. The highlights of that report are given here to better inform voters about their choices regarding the amendments.

Amendment No. 1 — "The constitutional amendment to provide state banks the same rights and privileges as national banks."

State banks are chartered and regulated by state supervisory authority, which varies widely from state to state. National banks, on the other hand, are created and governed by federal law and subject to the authority of the Comptroller of the Currency.

Federal law regarding banks takes precedence over state law, but when state laws do not expressly conflict with federal law, frustrate the purpose for which the national bank was created or impair the efficiency of the national bank, the national bank is subject to state banking laws.

One of the greatest restrictions on national banks now is the prohibition of branch banking — a restriction the federal government seems likely to abolish soon. The proposed amendment would do away with that restriction in state law, leaving it up to the federal government.

Opponents of branch banking have traditionally held that it results in the loss of local financial control, allowing distant banking conglomerates with no regard for local or community issues to move in and take over local markets. But recent trends in state law have allowed greater and greater freedom to banks: the approval of drive-in windows and separate tunnel-connected banking facilities in the 1950's, the approval of bank holding companies in 1975, and the use of electronic fund transfer machines in 1980.

By the time the constitutional amendment was passed in 1980 to allow electronic banking, 50 percent of all Texas deposits were controlled by 15 institutions.

Seven other states prohibit branch banking, but Texas is the only state to do so by both statute and constitutional amendment. The proposed amendment will continue to forbid branch banking in the state unless national banks are given the power to do so by the federal government.

The amendment also gives a blanket grant of rights to state-chartered banks, allowing them a chance to compete with national banks should branch banking be legalized.

Absentee voting open for election

Absentee voting for the November 6 general election opened Wednesday at the Cooke County courthouse.

Voters who are over 65 or plan to be out of town on election day may cast ballots at the Tax Assessor-Collector's office in the courthouse from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. through November 2. Proof of voter registration is required.

Topping the ballot, of course, is the choice between incumbent president Ronald Reagan and his running mate, vice-president George Bush, and the Democratic challengers Walter Mondale and Geraldine Ferraro. Texans will also elect a new U.S. senator to replace the retiring John Tower, choosing between Democrat Lloyd Doggett and Republican Phil Gramm.

Also on the ballot are Congressional races and numerous state and local offices. The only contested local race for Cooke County voters is for county sheriff, between John Aston and Kenneth Fitts. Incumbent Dan Tiller is not seeking re-election.

Eight proposed amendments to the Texas Constitution are also on the ballot for voter approval.

Muenster Jaycees selling circus tickets

Advance ticket sales are in high gear for the Al G. Kelly and Miller Brothers Circus, which comes to Muenster Tuesday.

The circus is sponsored by the Muenster Jaycees and will give two performances at the city baseball field, Oak and Second St. Tickets can be purchased at most local businesses or from any member of the Jaycees up to the day of the performance.

Advance tickets are $4 for adults and $2.50 for children. On Tuesday, tickets will be sold only at the baseball field and will cost $5 for adults and $3 for children.

The Jaycees are sponsoring the circus to raise funds for their many activities in the community.

The three-ring circus will stage hour-and-a-half performances at 4:30 and 7:30 p.m., featuring trained animals, crazy clowns, top circus performers, comedy and excitement. It is a family-style show that everyone can enjoy.

Children are especially invited to come to the baseball field on circus morning and watch the big top go up, with the help of the elephant. All the animals will be unloaded and fed at that time, and children will be allowed to watch and get close to them, free of charge.

School district seeks input on local classes

The Muenster Independent School District is seeking public opinion on the possibility of offering community education classes using school facilities and teachers.

Superintendent Charles Coffey said this week that forms would be sent home with students to poll parents and see if there is enough interest. Those interested are asked to return the forms to the school office by October 30.

Possible course offerings include:

Another biased ruling applies to religions. IRS has sole discretion to decide whether a church's doctrine is consistent with public policy, that is, whether it agrees with Congress and courts on various issues. If it doesn't IRS can cancel the church's tax exempt status until the doctrine is changed. In effect, IRS bureaucrats can dictate to the churches.

In one matter after another our present liberal Supreme Court interprets constitution and legislation in language that favors socialism and immorality and departs from the original intent of our founding fathers. And it appears the only way to restore former values is to appoint conservatives to succeed them as they leave the bench.

This is what many people regard as the most important part of the election. Reagan's election is vital to restoring traditional Americanism on the court where as Mondale's election would assure a continuation of liberals and a continued drift away from traditional moral and patriotic values.

In this connection we have to remember the coming election concerns a generation, not just a four year term. The judges are appointed for life, actually about 20 years, on the job. During that time much good or harm can be done.

Reagan supporters are eager for his re-election and continuation of the economic, political and social recovery that has been under way for four years. Their votes are just as urgently needed for the improvement of our Supreme Court.

why we must re-elect President Reagan, and this is important also, but morally I have no choice but to vote Republican.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

I am moved to write to encourage people to vote for Ronald Reagan this November — not because he is perfect or that he is a perfect solution — no one is — but the thought of having Mondale and Ferraro in the highest offices in our great country is enough to frighten me.

A few documented quotes: Geraldine Ferraro, June 27, 1979: "The cost of putting an unwanted child through the welfare system far outweighs the cost of abortion procedures."

Ferraro, Ms. Magazine, Jan. 1979: "It's a simple matter of economics. Unwanted children so often end up in the criminal justice system as offenders or as persons in need of supervision and it's very expensive to take care of them."

Jan. 1983: "While saying she is 'personally opposed' to abortion, she indicates that if one of her daughters wanted an abortion, she would give her the money."

While saying she is "pro-family" — she upholds the "rights" of a 13-yr. old child to obtain birth control and abortion without parental consent. (Sept.

30, 1982 Dannemeyer Amendment vote).

While saying she is "pro-child", she voted against measures to protect handicapped infants from infanticide — (Feb. 2, 1984 Murphy/Erlenborn Amendment).

From Walter Mondale: (Life Advocate Sept. 84) "Although I have never formally joined a humanistic society, I think I am a member by inheritance. My father was a humanist...and all our family has been deeply influenced by this tradition including my brother, Lester Mondale," (a signer of the Humanist Manifesto II).

Mondale was one of five U.S. Senators who favored the "Danish" solution to pornography: remove all controls and repeal anti-pornography laws. The result of the current laxity in prosecuting pornographers has been an explosion of pornography of the worst kind, violence against women; "Kiddie" pornography; blasphemous portrayals of Christ in Magazines like "Hustler", etc. etc. This seemingly doesn't overly concern Mr. Mondale.

Many people in this community can give the economic reasons

Letter to the Editor:

Jeers to the Lindsay fans who taunted the Muenster players and coaches after the Muenster-Lindsay football game Friday night.

Many times sports rivalries such as the one between Lindsay and Muenster bring out the worst in all of us. And many incidents have occurred over the years that cannot be a source of pride to either town. Has winning become so important to us that we forget all of the Christian principles we should practice? What has happened to good sportsmanship, fair play and graciousness to those who have been out-scored despite a good effort?

Can we find any redeeming value in a sporting event that is surrounded by so much spitefulness and hard-feelings?

Perhaps the winners are not the highest scorers, but those who can show that they have learned lifetime values from the sport. If this is not the case, let's do away with competitive athletics.

Sincerely,
Theresa (Fisher) Walterscheid

The "oops" factor

This political campaign is looking less and less like a contest of ideas and more and more like an "unfortunate comment" sweepstakes.

It's not a matter of who can say the best things and win people's hearts and minds anymore. It's a contest to see who can say the stupidest things and lose the most votes. A candidate who simply announced and then was silent might have an advantage over them all.

Frankness is one thing, but whatever happened to common sense?

When I was younger I used to long for honesty from politicians. I always felt cheated when a president or other elected representative made a speech, because they all seemed so careful. It sounded like they were reading plastic words off a cardboard page. It was like listening to Muzak instead of bluegrass or gospel or good old honest rock-n-roll.

I wanted honesty. I wanted to know what they really thought, not just what their speechwriters felt was safe to say.

Now I would vastly prefer those good old days. If the current trend is giving us an insight into these people's true thoughts, we are really in trouble. Most of our candidates, at one time or another, have become living proof of the old adage, "Better to remain silent and be thought a fool than to speak and remove all doubt."

President Reagan's crack about nuking the Russians was bad enough. Then he compared the bomb-proofing of our embassy with remodeling a kitchen and caught more heat. The only thing that has saved him so far is that the other side has been just as unwise — Geraldine Ferraro questioning his Christianity, Mondale saying the future of civilization depends on his election, etc.

Now, after George Bush does a creditable job in his debate with Ferraro, he gets quoted as saying that he "kicked —" Then his wife calls Ferraro a "rich b---." Are they taking tact lessons at the Lloyd Doggett school of campaigning?

Surely, one must ask, the people smart enough to run this country are smart enough to keep their mouths shut when necessary — aren't they? (No, they aren't. And don't call me Shirley.)

What's next? I can see Reagan meeting with Chernenko and breaking the ice with a comment like, "Nice tie, Chernie. I hope you find a shirt to go with it someday," or "Hey — how's it going in Afghanistan? Shot down any airliners lately? How about those Olympics, huh?"

The release of Nixon's White House tapes may have started this whole thing. We learned that Richard Nixon, who was always so careful and measured in his public utterances, talked like a sailor around his aides. He said things in the privacy of his office that would have made Harry Truman blush.

Nixon's mistake was that he taped them, and they eventually got out — first to the courts, and then to the public.

Nowadays, politicians don't bother with tapes. They say their stupidities right out in public to begin with. Spiro Agnew got the ball rolling, Earl Butz raised it to new levels and James Watt perfected it. None of the present crew has topped Watt yet, but they're trying, bless'em. They're trying.

Granted, we've all said things in our lives that we wish we could take back. It's human to put your foot in your mouth. I've done it so much I've come close to getting athlete's tongue.

But a strange thing has happened as I've gotten older — something that seems to have bypassed many of the people in the political limelight. I've learned to keep my mouth shut.

Much of the credit has to go to my wife, who picked up a valiant struggle my mother had carried on for years with little success. For some reason, just a look from my wife can put things in perspective when I get a little too talkative in public. A glance can convince me that perhaps that joke doesn't need to be told, perhaps they don't want to hear about my high school football team, maybe they wouldn't appreciate my views on a certain person.

I'm not there yet, but some improvement is discernible. If she could bottle that look, we could get rich selling it to political candidates.

But as I've started exercising my jawbone less, I've learned a wonderful thing. When you talk less, you tend to think more. What you don't say can give you time for thought, and eventually improve the quality and content of what you do say.

I guess, then, what really disturbs me about this year's political rhetoric is not the talk itself, but the thought — or lack thereof — that it represents.

I've always thought those people were smarter than me. Some of the, apparently, are not. Now that's really scary.

State Capitol Highlights ...

AUSTIN—The battle between Texas Democrats and Republicans to see which party could register more new voters ended last week, but the winner can't be declared until after Election Day.

The biggest voter registration contest in Texas history will probably result in 700,000 new registrants, bringing the estimated statewide total to 7.5 million voters.

Surveys of each party indicated that neither could count on a significant advantage among new registrants.

Phase Two of the election—the Get-Out-The-Vote effort—is already in full swing.

In taking the voter pulse, analysts concentrated on key strongholds, or consistent precincts, for either party. The theory is that if 1,000 new voters are registered in a precinct that is traditionally strong for either party, the odds favor that party picking up support from the new voters.

In urban areas, San Antonio reported about 33,000 new registrants; Houston, about 17,000; Rio Grande Valley, 26,000; El Paso, 21,000; and Fort Worth, 7,500.

High Court Hispanic

Meanwhile, Governor Mark White continued to break Texas historical barriers with his appointments by naming the state's first Hispanic to the Texas Supreme Court.

Corpus Christi appeals court judge Raul Gonzalez was tapped last week by White to fill the seat previously held by Justice Charles Barrow. Barrow resigned to become dean of Baylor University law school.

A former migrant-farmworker, Gonzalez earned his law degree from the University of Texas and worked in the Houston city attorney's office before becoming an assistant U.S. attorney for South Texas. He was a Brownsville state district judge until 1981, when White's nemesis then-Gov. Bill Clements named Gonzalez to the 13th Court of Appeals.

Inmates, Waste Dumps

In other actions last week, White—Accused the federal government of playing too much politics in selecting a nuclear waste dump site for Texas and charged their flawed selection process should be scrapped for a new one.

Among items White listed in a letter to the U.S. Energy Secretary was the failure of the feds to share information and consultation with the state.

—Announced that Texas is considering swapping troublesome prison inmates with other states to break up inmate gangs blamed for rising prison violence.

Education Chief

Outgoing Commissioner of Education Raymun Bynum was branded a saboteur of school reform by Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby. The incident was noteworthy because Hobby made his remarks to the 15 new state school board members only minutes before Bynum welcomed them at their swearing-in activities.

Hobby told them the state education establishment was trying to sabotage the school reforms approved by the Legislature this summer.

Bynum, who has steadfastly held to his opinions of the shortcomings of those reforms, last month said he would step down as early as possible.

"I think I have been painted as a non-reformer, but I have done more (for reform) than any other commissioner" he said.

Mattox, Local Prosecutors

Texas Attorney General Jim Mattox is meeting opposition from Texas local prosecutors in his effort to get the authority to prosecute some criminal cases. The Texas Constitution gives him only the power to prosecute civil matters, but he wants to go after Medicaid fraud and organized criminals.

"Ten percent of every dollar spent in the Medicaid program is fraudulent," Mattox said.

Mattox painted Medicaid fraud as often involving prominent members of a community, who local prosecutors are reluctant to go after for political and other reasons.

But at a recent meeting of the Texas Association of County and District Attorneys, the membership voted unanimously to oppose Mattox's plan. Spokesmen disagreed with the Mattox statement that political considerations determine which cases go to court.

Dr. George S. Benson

God and government

IT IS hoped, as we enter the final weeks of the 1984 election campaign, that American voters will really think about the issues involved and not be swayed by emotional appeals.

One such appeal involves prayer in schools, but we would like to suggest that is only a surface manifestation of a much broader underlying issue which is the interrelationship of man, government and God — or as we would prefer to phrase it — the issue of "God and Government."

There are those who are misinterpreting the First Amendment by implying that it prohibits prayer. It does no such thing! It prohibits Congress from making any "law respecting an establishment of religion."

What could be clearer? The people did not want Congress establishing a particular state religion and supporting it with taxes, so they spelled out this prohibition among others in the Bill of Rights.

But the Founders did not prohibit prayer or a relationship between government and God. They had a very close relationship with God and knew how important it was that their efforts have God's support and protection.

For example, in the very convention where our Constitution was being framed, when things were not going too well, Benjamin Franklin suggested an appeal to God with these words: "If a sparrow cannot fall to the ground without his notice, then how can we as a new nation expect to prosper without the blessing of Almighty God."

In his first inaugural address, George Washington clearly demonstrated the close relationship between God and the people of this country when he said:

"It would be peculiarly improper to omit in this first official act my fervent supplications to that Almighty Being who rules over the Universe, Who Presides in the Councils of Nations, and whose providential aids can supply every human defect, that His Benediction may consecrate to the liberties and happiness of the people of the United States a Government instituted by themselves..."

In setting aside a day of thanksgiving in 1789, President Washington proclaimed: "...it is the duty of all nations to acknowledge the providence of Almighty God, to obey His will, to be grateful for His benefits, and humbly to implore His protection and favor..."

Our third president, Thomas Jefferson, said: "God who gave us life gave us liberty. Can the liberties of a nation be secure when we have removed a conviction that these liberties are the gift of God?"

The Supreme Court prayer decisions have been interpreted by government officials to mean there can be no communication with God in any government institution, but especially schools.

Such reasoning is fallacious and should be opposed by every patriotic citizen, by every citizen who is loyal to the spirit of the American Revolution as exemplified by the well-documented historical record left by the Founders.

When we become so arrogant as to believe we are no longer responsible to the Creator — when we fail to pay our respects to the "Author of Liberty" — we are riding for a fall!

Many people have the wisdom to decide correctly on this issue!

CCC exes to form association

Ex-students of Cooke County College will get a chance to be involved in the establishment of the college's first alumni association at a special organizational meeting called for Thursday night, October 25.

The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. at the Activities Center on campus.

A special committee has been organized to help form a CCC Ex-Students Association. That committee is chaired by Dee Blanton and made up of Bruce Schneider, Jerry Henderson and Robert Martin. They have completed most of the paperwork required to qualify the association as a certified non-profit corporation, and will soon apply for official tax-exempt status from the IRS.

All they need now is the involvement of the alumni, Blanton says.

"We're moving along nicely in regard to the organizational framework for the association," she says. "What we really need now is the active participation of many more of our fellow alumni."

The Thursday meeting is open to anyone who has ever been a student at Cooke County College, even if they were enrolled only for one or two courses. Also included are alumni who have come back to school and are now enrolled as well as all current and former faculty and staff.

"We hope for a large turnout at this meeting, because there is so much work to be done," Schneider says. "We realize people tend to lose interest quickly if they don't have some specific jobs to do in an organization, but we can assure everyone that there's no shortage of things they can begin working on right now."

Compiling lists of alumni, putting together a monthly newsletter and planning and implementing specific programs and activities are some of the jobs available.

"Perhaps our biggest and most important task of all is simply getting the news out to as many former students as possible," says Blanton. "Just about everyone who's heard about it so far has expressed very positive interest, and we want to see that interest spread far and wide."

Anyone wishing to obtain more information about the CCC Ex-Students Association may contact any member of the organizing committee or call Rodger Boyce, director of alumni affairs, at 668-7731.

MISD releases first honor rolls

Honor rolls were released this week by Muenster High School principal Eddie Green, covering the first nine weeks of school.

This year, the school will name two honor rolls: the "high honor" roll composed of students who had no grades below 90, and the "honor" roll with the names of students who had grades below 80.

Making the honor roll were:

Seniors: Amy S. Reiter, Anita L. Meurer and Keith A. Klement; Juniors: Karen A. Wolf, Tammy S. Reiter, Jean M. Pagel, Francine G. Hudspeth, Rose M. Herr, Amy L. Davidson and Dana R. Dankesreiter;

Grewing, Samuel J. Fleitman, R. Drue Bynum and Judy A. Biffle;

Freshmen: Jamie B. Walterscheid, J. Meredith McDaniel, Melody G. Klement and Brian D. Hess;

8th graders: Joseph S. Wimmer, Jeff P. Walterscheid, Rhonda L. Stewart, Staci L. Sicking, Kim A. Hess, Jennifer L. Carroll and Deanna L. Bierschen; 7th graders: Michael D. Abney, Jenny L. Wimmer, Dana K. Wimmer, Marshall S. Smith, Lisa L. Robison, James A. Herr and Misti M. Ford.

Students on the honor roll are:

Seniors: Leslye Wells, Jean M. Trubebach, Sandy M. Temple, Craig M. Monday, Jay G.

Mollenkopf, Cory D. Klement, Patricia L. Herr, Jana K. Hamilton, Neal E. Flusche and Kim M. Eldred;

has restored pride in the military."

Arney, who opposes Democratic incumbent Tom Vandergriff for the House seat in the 26th Congressional District, is a former head of the NTSU economics department and has lectured nationwide on the market system. He also spoke out on economic issues.

"I believe you should give everyone a chance and then trust them," he said. "I've learned that you're entitled to it if you earn it.

We have the most hard-working, enthusiastic, forward-looking young people in this country, and they shouldn't have to endure the Democrats' hard times."

Bob Heffron, former manager of Weber Aircraft in Gainesville, served as emcee for the banquet. After Tower and Arney spoke, the videotape on Reagan's administration that was shown at the Republican National Convention in Dallas was played for the group.

Organizers proclaimed the event — the first of its kind in Cooke County — a huge success.

Immunization clinic set here

The Texas Department of Health announces an immunization clinic to be held in Muenster at Sacred Heart Community Center on Wednesday, October 24, from 9 a.m. to noon.

The clinic will provide immunization against Diphtheria-tetanus-pertussis (DTP), polio, rubella (red measles) and rubella (German measles), for infants two months through 18 years.

Precautions must be taken with females in the 12-18 age group to insure that they are not pregnant when they are immunized with measles and/or rubella vaccines, and that they do not become pregnant for three months following immunization.

Immunizations are incomplete if a child has not received three doses of DTP and Polio vaccine with at least one dose administered past the fourth birthday. All children under 18 years must have an informed consent form read and signed by the parent or legal guardian.

If possible, the parent should accompany the child to the clinic. Immunization records should accompany the child to the clinic and be examined by the public health nurse who will answer any questions.

The following children would have immunizations deferred:

- Those acutely ill and with fever;
- Those taking antibiotic treatment for an acute illness;
- Those who have completed antibiotic treatment for an acute illness, but have not been pronounced well by their physician.

The department makes no charge for the immunizations. Since these diseases can be quite harmful, each parents or guardian is encouraged to protect their children from them.

"Persons who have private physicians should consult with them for advice," stated Hal J. Dewlett, M.D., director of Public Health Region 5 in Arlington.

Police Chief named "Good Neighbor"

By Knights of Columbus here

Helen Marie Tompkins, Muenster chief of police, is this year's selection by the local Knights of Columbus for the title of Good Neighbor, in keeping with the ecumenical spirit of improving relations among the creeds. Eligibility for the honor is membership in a church other than Catholic.

She received the award Sunday following the 9 a.m. Mass in Sacred Heart Church from Grand Knight Robert Knauf. In the presentation he described a good neighbor as a friend who doesn't ask why and is willing to help known and unknown persons in good times or bad. He said Helen is that kind of person. She has been good to Muenster and for Muenster.

Helen is a native of Bowie and lived there until going to Washington in January, 1980. She came to Muenster in May, 1980, and joined the local police as a patrol officer. She attended Texoma Regional Police Academy and qualified as a certified police officer in May 1981. Shortly later she was appointed chief of police of Muenster and has been on the job since then.

Helen has one daughter, two sons and seven grandchildren.

A Proclamation

WHEREAS, Sunday, October 21, 1984, has been designated by the National Board of the Catholic Daughters of the Americas as "National Catholic Daughters of the Americas Day"; and

WHEREAS, the theme chosen for the observance of "Catholic Daughters of the Americas ... a new kind of loyalty to church"; and

WHEREAS, Catholic Daughters of the Americas have exemplified true Christian behavior as they stress loyalty to church; and

WHEREAS, through its "Heart Speaks to Heart Program" members of the Catholic Daughters of the Americas are able to lead the way to a new kind of loyalty to Church as they help and assist those in need; and

WHEREAS, in our community we are grateful for the individual and corporate services rendered by the member of Court St. Mary No. 249;

NOW, THEREFORE I, Ronnie Felderhoff, Mayor, do hereby proclaim Sunday, October 21, 1984, as "National Catholic Daughters of the Americas Day" in the City of Muenster, TX.

Signed, Ronnie Felderhoff Mayor

The Nose Knows.

An aromatic chemical is added to natural gas to give it a distinct odor. One that's easy to detect.

It's this distinct odor and knowing what to do when you detect it that keeps gas safe.

If you're outdoors and smell gas, you should call your local Lone Star Gas office.

If you're indoors and detect faint whiffs, check to see if a pilot light has gone out or a burner valve has been left partially open. These are corrective steps you can take yourself.

If your equipment is working properly and you still smell gas, please follow these precautions:

1. Don't switch anything electrical on or off. Don't strike a match or do anything that could cause a spark.
2. Have everyone leave immediately, leaving door open to help ventilate.
3. Go to a nearby phone and call Lone Star.

Help us keep natural gas one of the safest energies available. Use your nose. Then use your head... and follow the proper precautions.

Amendments propose bank, college changes

Arguments for:

Proponents say the amendment will ensure continued parity between state and national banks, allowing them to compete effectively if federal law is changed to permit branch banking. The survival of state banks depends on the amendment, they contend.

They also note that the acceptance of drive-in teller windows, electronic fund transfer machines and bank holding companies clearly indicates both judicial and popular support for the loosening of certain long-standing banking prohibitions. The trend is toward greater choice and convenience for the banking customer, and the amendment is a logical step in that direction.

Arguments against:

Opponents say the amendment will enable large financial institutions to open branches in unfair competition with smaller, local banks, pulling accounts away and forcing them to merge with major institutions. That would produce an unhealthy degree of financial concentration, they say, and wipe out the tradition of small, independent banks.

The passage of the amendment would deprive rural communities of financial self-determination, putting them under the control of distant corporate banks, they add. Projects of local importance could be denied financing if they did not conform with the standards of a bank far removed both in distance and understanding.

Critics also claim the broad wording of the amendment leaves many things dangerously undefined, and could easily produce unforeseen results — many of which would be undesirable.

Amendment No. 2 — "The constitutional amendment to create from general revenue a special higher education assistance fund for construction and related activities, to restructure the Permanent University Fund, and to increase the number of institutions eligible to benefit from the Permanent University Fund."

The amendment would dedicate $100 million a year of the state's general revenue, beginning September 1 of next year, for construction, rehabilitation and equipping of buildings or the purchase of library books or materials at the following institutions:

- East Texas State University (including ET-SU/Texarkana);
- Lamar University (including the Port Arthur and Orange campuses);
- Midwestern State University;
- North Texas State University;
- Pan American University (including PAU/Brownsville);
- Stephen F. Austin State University;
- Texas College of Osteopathic Medicine;
- the Texas State University System Administration, including Angelo State, Sam Houston State, Southwest Texas State and Sul Ross State universities;
- Texas Southern University;
- Texas Tech University and TTU Health Sciences Center;
- Texas Women's University;
- the University of Houston System Administration including campuses at University Park, Victoria, Clear Lake and Downtown;
- the University System of South Texas Administration, including Corpus Christi State University, Laredo State University and Texas A&I;
- and West Texas State University.

This amendment, the most complicated and controversial of the eight proposed, would not only provide a dedicated fund for construction at the above-named universities, but would restructure the Permanent University Fund (PUF) to include all current University of Texas and Texas A&M system institutions among those eligible to benefit from bonding against the fund.

It would also designate Prairie View A&M as a university of the first class under the governance of the Texas A&M board of regents.

The proposed amendment defines the available fund constitutionally for the first time as the income from the PUF, dedicating that amount — currently about $180 million a year — to the payment of principal and interest on bonds, with the Texas A&M System receiving one-third and the UT System receiving two-thirds of the remainder. The leftover funds would be used for support of the respective system administrations and main campuses.

Prairie View A&M would be entitled to part of that leftover as well, in addition to an "equitable portion" of the funds allocated for the Texas A&M system plus $6 million a year for 10 years from the funds allocated for the University of Texas system.

The institutions benefiting from the funds dedicated in the amendment would not be eligible for other appropriations of state money for construction or repair purposes except in the event of a disaster. The legislature would be able to require prior approval of any new construction projects except at the University of Texas at Austin, Texas A&M University at College Station and Prairie View A&M.

No school outside the Texas A&M and University of Texas system currently benefits from dedicated funding for construction — including 12 four-year colleges and two-year upper level institutions created since 1956. Those institutions must now seek funds from the legislature every two years, and there is no authority to issue bonds for construction other than a limited statutory authority to issue revenue bonds.

Arguments for:

Those in favor of the amendment say dedicated funds and the related bonding authority are the most rational, cost-effective method of providing construction funds for state universities. They provide for planned, orderly growth based on anticipated and actual needs.

Universities, they contend, are ill-suited to lobby for funds in competition with other state agencies — the few universities that have political "muscle" receive a disproportionate share of the funds allocated in that manner.

They add that dedicated funding for education is a

Texas tradition which began in 1845, and say that if education is to retain its status as a top priority, all forms of dedicated funding should be preserved.

Restructuring the PUF will help lessen the effect of the $100 million-a-year general revenue dedication, they note, because many of the UT and A&M system schools which were coming to the legislature for funds would have construction funded through PUF bonds under the new system. It puts the enormous Permanent University Fund to greater use than ever before, they say, without endangering the integrity of the fund or the systems it supports.

The amendment would also give Prairie View A&M the support and status it deserves, rectifying long-standing discriminatory practices against the mostly-black school.

Arguments against:

Opponents say the need for dedicated construction funding is past, with college enrollment predicted to be stable or declining during the 80's. They also add that constitutionally dedicated funding limits the discretion of the legislature to appropriate funds where the most need is shown.

They say the current system works, and even if a dedicated fund were needed, the amount dedicated is far too large for the need.

While restructuring the PUF may be needed, they contend that the wording of the amendment is faulty, allowing long-term debt to finance short-term assets like library books and materials. Such unwise practices could eventually jeopardize the fund's ability to support the two leading institutions, Texas A&M University and the University of Texas at Austin, both genuine, nationally recognized institutions of the first class.

Opponents add that the recognition of Prairie View A&M as a first-class institution is largely symbolic and oppose placing it constitutionally under the jurisdiction of the Texas A&M board of regents. That limits the legislature's authority to structure the overall system, they say, and the goal of fair treatment for Prairie View A&M could have been accomplished without this restriction.

Cooke County Red Cross provides a host of services to area

The activities of the Cooke County Chapter of the American Red Cross are varied.

During the past year the local chapter trained water safety instructors not only for the chapter's swimming program, but also for the Gainesville Boys Club, Camp Fire, Camp Sweeney, and the Gainesville State School. Red Cross certificates were issued through these organizations.

A zone water safety instructors class was held in May with students from Denton, Grayson, Montague, Wise and Dallas Counties. These people were not only trained to teach in Red Cross programs; many were planning on teaching in summer camps, city recreation programs, and some in schools which have swimming programs.

C.P.R. instructors were also trained. Four from the local emergency medical service were certified as Red Cross C.P.R. instructors and have been teaching many classes for industry and individual groups.

Gainesville State School is training all employees in C.P.R. as well as first aid. Callisburg School is also training their students in Red Cross first aid.

Instructions in all Red Cross programs are free. During December 1983 Red Cross opened disaster shelters three times, serving 79 people.

This was due to the ice which make driving so hazardous people were advised not to drive further.

Shelters are not opened until all motels are full, and though the accommodations are not as good as in motels, all the people were grateful to have a warm place to stay. Army cots were furnished by Civil Defense. The local chapter served hot coffee, hot chocolate, donuts, milk and soft drinks. While those people were from outside Cooke County, county residents could find themselves in the same situation when traveling in bad weather.

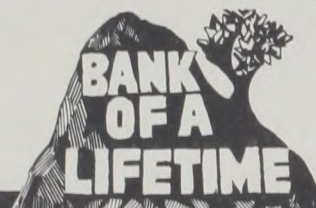

Other services provided by Red Cross include service to military personnel and their dependents.

Statistics show each service man or woman uses the Red Cross at least four times during an average three-year enlistment. Cooke County has a number of people serving in the Armed Forces, and their need is the same as other military personnel. The chapter delivered 381 messages from July 1, 1983 to June 30, 1984.

More than 1,000 people were trained in water safety, while others in the county were trained in first aid and C.P.R. The total trained in all phases of safety in Cooke County last year was 2,132 people, with all classes being taught free. The students only bought their books. The Red Cross is a United Way agency.

Win highlights busy homecoming at SH

The Sacred Heart Tigers' 21-0 win over Bishop Lynch's junior varsity was only the climactic act of a week of homecoming festivities for the Muenster school. After decorating the hallways two weeks in advance, the After decorating the hallways a week in advance, the students met on Monday night for competitive games including a balloon shave, egg toss, sack race and tug-of-war. The seniors won. The juniors and freshmen combined, however, for a win in the Powder Puff game Wednesday night, however, by a score of 14-6.

Thursday, the Queen's court had a luncheon in the Community Center, hosted by the Student Council. Friday saw the high school faculty challenge the students in a volleyball game and win two of three. A candlelight pep rally and hot dog supper replaced the traditional bonfire Friday night.

BIKER JUAN CASTILLO stopped in Muenster last week after covering more than 6,500 miles of a journey around the country. The native of Costa Rica hopes to attract attention to the plight of hungry children through his efforts.

Costa Rican continues journey alone Biker seeks aid for hungry

by Bob Buckel

He pedaled into town last Thursday, a small, dark figure on a weather-worn heavily packed bicycle. In his muscular legs, the strength that had carried him more than 6,500 miles was evident.

In his eyes, another kind of strength was just as plain. Juan Castillo was a man with a mission.

The 27-year-old native of Costa Rica is biking across the United States to try and spark interest in the plight of hungry children, to encourage people to sponsor a needy child through Children, Inc., a Virginia-based organization that coordinates aid throughout the world.

Castillo has lived in the U.S. since 1980, when the American company he worked for in Costa Rica offered him a job in New Orleans. After that company went bankrupt, he wrote a friend in Nashville, Tennessee and found another job — he has worked at Elm Hill Meats as a meat-cutter for the last three years.

On a visit to Costa Rica last summer, he told his mother he wanted to "do something different" with his life, and said he was thinking about a bicycle trip across the country.

He returned to the U.S. and began looking for a company or organization to sponsor his trip. During that time, he met Mark Renz at the March of Dimes office in Nashville. The two became friends and decided to make the trip together. Although they found no sponsor — other than a $500 donation from Juan's boss they funded the trip totally on their own money — they did find a cause.

Juan isn't collecting any money himself, but he is trying to get people to donate $18 a month to sponsor a child through Children, Inc. The organization works in 26 countries throughout the world, and that monthly donation allows a person to "adopt" a child, providing food, clothing, shelter and educational needs.

In return, the sponsor get a photo of the child and his history, and can correspond with him if he wishes.

"Children, Inc. feeds 13,000 kids every day," Juan says. "We are doing this for the children, strictly volunteer, nobody's paying us. We want to get one child sponsored in every town we go through."

"If we could do that, the trip would be good. That child would be saved."

Setting out July 1 from Nashville, the two young men pedaled to Columbus, Ohio and then headed west across the plains and over the Rocky Mountains to Seattle, Washington. They went up to Canada and then headed back south through Oregon and California and into Mexico. They took a ferry from Baja California to Sonora, on the Mexican mainland.

The money began to run short. They counted it, and went on.

From Mexico they came back up to Douglas, Arizona and then rode east to El Paso. There they counted the money again, and decided there was not enough for both of them to finish the trip. Mark flew home to Nashville, and Juan is finishing the trip alone.

He arrived in Muenster about 11:30 Thursday morning, after having spent the previous night at Buffalo Springs. A family there left a good impression of Texas hospitality.

"I went up to their house and knocked on the door to ask permission to camp on their land," he said, his English heavily accented but clear. "When I told them what I was doing, they said yes. Then they invited me in for supper, and this morning they fed me breakfast before I left. It was wonderful."

From Muenster, he heads east on Highway 82, hoping to work his way through Arkansas and into Tennessee. If he arrives home before Christmas, his boss said his job will still be waiting for him.

"We planned to do the trip in six months," he grins. "Six months, six thousand miles. I have almost three months left, and I have come 6,590 miles so far."

"I cover a hundred or more miles a day. I camp behind bridges, in rest areas, or near a house if people will let me. People have been nice to us all along the way. The Lord is working."

Children, Inc. is working in Latin America, Africa, Europe and Asia. While Mark and Juan were in El Paso they crossed over into Juarez, one of the poorest of the Mexican border towns, and saw first-hand where the money goes. In a shelter there, 75 homeless children receive food and clothing, schoolbooks, guidance and love through the efforts of the organization.

The visit convinced Juan more than ever of the value of their mission.

"When we were in Oregon, a man asked me how I knew for sure the money would go to the children," he says. "I had to tell him I didn't. Now, since I've been to Juarez, I know. I saw 75 beautiful kids. I asked some of them if they got help from Children, Inc. and they said yes, they did. I saw it with my own eyes."

Mexico, Juan says, is where many of the neediest children live. Recent economic hardships and severe overpopulation have given the country a burden of poor people it cannot possibly bear alone. As a native of Latin America, Juan feels a special kinship to those people, even though his own country is prosperous by comparison.

"Costa Rica is not so poor as Mexico," he says. "We have poor people, but we also have a large middle class and many wealthy people. We are a democratic country, one of only two countries in the world that has no army. The United States is our ally."

In a few weeks, Juan will be back to a regular job, cutting meat in Nashville. A bachelor, he is picking up English and enjoys the freedom and prosperity of the United States.

Although he loves it here, Juan has no plans to become a U.S. citizen. To do that would mean giving up his citizenship in Costa Rica — something he is not prepared to do.

"The way it is now, I can work in this country as long as I want as a resident alien," he says. "If I want, I can return to Costa Rica and work there. I have a choice.

The only reason I would apply for U.S. citizenship would be if the communists took over my country and I couldn't go back home. But the U.S. protects my country, and we have a strong democratic tradition."

Sometimes at night, his aching legs keep Juan from sleeping when he lies down in his tent. The aches of the journey will go away soon, however, and he will sleep much better knowing his trip has helped improve the lives of children throughout the world. His effort is a small thing compared to the magnitude of world hunger, but it is something.

"I was eating breakfast in Carlsbad," he recalls, "and I was talking to a black couple about what I was doing. When the check came, they took it and said, 'Let us buy your breakfast.' I told them I did not expect that from them — they weren't rich themselves. But they insisted. I asked them why, and they said, 'Because you are doing a great thing.'"

He headed east Thursday afternoon in a hard rain, eager to make time with less than 800 miles to go. His dark eyes, intent on the road ahead, are hauntingly like those of the children who stare out from ads for organizations like Children, Inc. — eyes filled with hunger and fear and uncertainty about the future.

But Juan Castillo's eyes shine with his purpose. He is watching the road for those children.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Although they cannot "endorse" trips like Juan's, the people at Children, Inc. do know of his effort. The non-profit organization is based in Richmond, Virginia and has worked for 20 years in countries around the world to help fight starvation and neglect. Anyone desiring more information may contact Mrs. Jeanne Clarke Wood at Children, Inc., P.O. Box 5381, Dept. ET, Richmond, Va. 23220. Gifts are fully tax-deductible and annual financial statements are available on request.

TRPC receives government funds

Texoma Regional Planning Commission was one of 18 community action agencies awarded a contract for activities and services authorized by the Community Services Block Grant, it was announced last week.

The commission, based in Denison, was awarded $98,705 for a 12-month period. It was the smallest of the 18 contracts awarded in the first round of offerings. About 52 contracts are expected to be let during the program year which runs from October 1 of this year through November 1 of 1985.

The total amount of contracts awarded in the first round was $8,621,121.

The contracts are administered by the Texas Department of Community Affairs and provide funds to support service delivery systems addressing the causes of poverty.

County gets road money

Cooke County has received a check for $31,481 from the state for construction and maintenance of lateral roads, farm-to-market roads or state highways.

The Lateral Road Program pays each county in the state on a yearly basis according to area, rural population and lateral road mileage. Checks totalling $7.3 million were sent out by the State Treasurer's office recently.

The largest check went to Harris County, for $466,707, while Sterling County got just $6,714. Counties in this area received the following amounts:

- Denton County, $49,909;
- Grayson County, $54,610;
- Montague County, $32,534;
- Wise County, $33,940.

Police seek forgers after incidents here

Muenster police were investigating a string of forgeries this week after three local businesses were hit by hot-check writers.

The first was on a check cashed at Schilling's Fina August 30, for $35. The check was written on Brian Pearson Construction Co. in Gainesville and was one of four which had been reported stolen from the company.

Police Chief Helen Tompkins said Wednesday she had an appointment to question a suspect from Gainesville and was prepared to file charges. The check was cashed by a young white male.

The other two forgeries are apparently related, as two local liquor stores were bilked out of a total of $264 by a young woman who signed two different names to checks cashed October 2 and 8.

The first was cashed at Red River Liquor for $157 on October 2. The check, on the account of a Ronald Johnson of Montague, was made out to a Sue Romine and was endorsed in that name by the suspect.

The second was cashed October 8 at 82 Liquor, for $207. That check, also on Ronald Johnson's account, was made out to and endorsed by a woman giving the name Sally Romine.

Both checks were on the Farmer's and Merchant's Bank of Nocona. The personalized checks were apparently left in an abandoned vehicle and picked up by the suspect.

Tompkins said forgery and other charges were pending against a suspect in Nocona in connection with the two liquor store checks.

Sorority establishes love fund

Beta Kappa Sorority of ESA in Muenster has opened a Love Fund for Cindy Tempel, the infant daughter of Jeff and Sandy Tempel, in order to assist with payment for her hospitalization and medical care. Persons who wish to participate may make a deposit at Muenster State Bank. The Love Fund originated by Beta Kappa for Patsy Walterscheid also remains open at Muenster State Bank.

Also for Patsy Walterscheid, Muenster KCs donated proceeds of their benefit bingo party Sunday.

New York newspaper targets Phil Gramm

New York City's liberal newspaper, The Village Voice, has named Congressman Phil Gramm of Texas as its prime target for defeat this year, objecting to his stand in support of rural Texas and President Reagan.

The Voice picked Lloyd Doggett as the candidate most likely to reflect urban, New York-style thinking in the Senate.

In supporting Doggett, the New York paper criticized Gramm for co-authoring the President's economic recovery program in Congress and for representing a rural Texas district.

"The election for the Senate in Texas pits urban, Nader-like Democrat Lloyd Doggett against rural, Reaganite Republican congressman Phil Gramm," it noted.

The Voice endorsement dubbed Doggett a premier "Reagan Buster," and said that Doggett won his nomination over consecutive Congressman Kent Hance in the June run-off election "by getting 76 percent of the Hispanic vote, 65 percent of the black vote and 65 percent of the urban vote."

"There are many Voice readers who ridicule Reagan at dinner parties, yet won't surrender the equivalent of a dinner to help progressives who are, collectively, a constitutional check against his policies," said the Voice in urging New Yorkers to contribute at least $50 each to Doggett.

As yet, Doggett has received no Texas newspaper support. Newspapers in Amarillo, Killeen, Lubbock, San Antonio and Temple are among those backing Gramm.

Renee Wilde pledges business club

Andy Monday, 58, dies of heart attack

Funeral service for Andrew Berthel Monday Jr., 58, was held Thursday morning at 10 in Sacred Heart Church with Father Victor Gillespie officiating at a Mass of Christian Burial and Father Denis Soerries concelebrating.

Interment was in Sacred Heart Cemetery conducted by Father Denis and directed by McCoy Funeral home. Pallbearers were Dickie Pagel, Dolphy Joe Hellman, Dr. Gerald Graham, Craig Monday, Stanley Wimmer and Wylie Lewis.

Preceding the funeral a rosary was recited at 4 p.m. Wednesday in the funeral home chapel and a wake service was held at 8 p.m.

Monday died suddenly Monday night at 11:30 on the way to Muenster Memorial Hospital following a massive heart attack at home. He has been ill with a heart condition since Christmas 1983. At that time he retired from the AMPMI milk products plant.

Andy was born at Crab Orchard, Tenn., on March 5, 1926, a son of Andrew B. Monday Sr. and Edith Monday. He was married to Evelyn O'Connor in Dallas on December 2, 1944, and the couple came to Muenster in 1946.

Survivors are three daughters, Dolores Wimmer of Edmond, Okla., Shirley Wilde of Muenster and Joan Covington of Forestburg; two sons, Roy and John, both of Muenster; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Monday Sr. of Crab Orchard, Tenn.; four sisters, Betty Turner and Wanda Hamby both of Crossville, Tenn., and Louise Clarr and Elizabeth Givens both of Crab Apple, Tenn.; and eleven grandchildren.

Fort Worth resident Carolyn Wiesman dies

Mrs. Joe Henry Walterscheid and Mrs. Henry Felderhoff and Mr. and Mrs. Al Horn, all of Muenster; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Zimmerer and Mrs. Wilfred Hess, all of Lindsay attended the funeral of a cousin, Mrs. Albert (Carolyn) Wiesman in Fort Worth Monday.

Mrs. Wiesman died suddenly Friday morning. Her daughter spoke to her about 8:30 a.m. but failed to receive an answer when she phoned again about noon.

Survivors are her husband, one daughter and one grandson.

Mass of Christian Burial was held at 10 a.m. at St. George's Church in Fort Worth. Burial followed in Mt. Olivet Cemetery.

A rosary service was held the previous evening at Mt. Olivet Funeral Home.

Three earn degrees at NTSU

Three Muenster residents received degrees at summer commencement last August at North Texas State University in Denton.

Earning Master's degrees were Sharon M. Felderhoff, in physical education, and Jon Paul LeBrasseur, in secondary education.

Teresa Diane Webster received a Bachelor's degree in personnel management and organization behavior.

Some 1,068 students were awarded degrees during the ceremonies, including 558 bachelor's, 446 master's and 64 doctoral degrees.

Frei, Jaska marry in Waco

Groom is son of former residents

The marriage vows of Gretchen Marie Frei and Matthew Gregory Jaska were solemnized on August 25 in St. Mary's Catholic Church of the Assumption in Waco. Msgr. Edward Rabroker officiated at the Nuptial Mass and double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Col. (Ret.) and Mrs. James R. Frei of Seattle, Wash. and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Struble of Wichita, Kansas.

The groom is the son of former Muenster residents Mr. and Mrs. Ernest H. Jaska of Crockett, and formerly also of Robinson, Texas. He is the grandson of E.J. Meuhlstein of Hillsboro.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride was wearing a white wedding gown of peau de soie, designed with sweetheart neckline and tulip sleeves, enhanced with lace and pearls. The skirt was scalloped above the hem with a full gathered wide lace ruffle underneath.

Her veil was fashioned of silk illusion, attached to a band of peau de soie sprinkled with pearls. She carried a bridal bouquet of white roses, fern and baby's breath, tied with ribbon streamers.

Attendants

Rita Frei, the bride's sister was maid of honor. Bridget Jaska Krahula of Austin, sister of the groom; and Janice Simon of Houston, Wendy Walker of Tyler, and Laura Lopez of McAllen were bridesmaids.

They were identically gowned in burgundy organza, wore silk flowers in their hair, and carried nosegays of spring flowers. Paul Johnson of College Station was the best man. David Jaska, groom's brother of College Station, Ed Martinez of Corpus Christi, Phillip Treadgill of Tulsa and Gary Devloo of Houston were groomsmen.

Traditional wedding music was presented by Mrs. Raymond Zapletal, aunt of the groom, of Ennis.

Reception

A reception, dinner and dance followed in the Waco Syrian Club. The bride's three-tiered white wedding cake was decorated with burgundy and white flowers. It was baked and decorated by Mona Zahirniak of West. The chocolate groom's cake was decorated in maroon and white.

Members of the house party included Regina Holley, Marian Tustison and Susan Tustison, all friends of the bride.

The bride graduated from Kapan Mount Carmel in Wichita, Kansas. She is a recent graduate of Texas A and M University where she majored in Finance, and is now employed by a Corpus Christi bank.

The groom is a former Muenster resident, attended Muenster schools and is a graduate of Robinson High School. He graduated from Texas A and M University with a degree in Chemical Engineering. While a student there he was a member of the Ross Volunteers, elite service organization in the Corps of Cadets. He is now a senior project engineer in the production department of Exxon Company in Corpus Christi, where the couple is at home.

Fishers attend mass in Quito, Ecuador

Mr. and Mrs. J.W. Fisher returned Friday from a one-week trip to South America to attend the ordination and first mass of a priest they had sponsored through his seminary studies at Quito, Ecuador. The ordination was on Oct. 6 and the mass on Oct. 7.

Joe said it was a delightful experience for him and Bertie: great hospitality, guided tours through an interesting city mingling old and new, rich and poor.

The priest sponsored by the Fishers is a member of the Salesian Missions with headquarters in New Rochelle N.Y. The order has 19 seminaries with 1500 students. Some of them are poor and need sponsors. Persons who wish to give can get help from the Fishers about getting in touch.

Companions on the trip were the Fishers' son Neil, and grandson, Ben, of Fredericksburg. They flew from DFW to Quito with a stopover at Miami.

KC event features Holy Land scenes

Views of sacred places in the Holy Land and Italy from an assortment of slides narrated by Sister Barbara Bernauer featured the Knights of Columbus communion breakfast Sunday in the KC Hall. The event is held annually by the local council in observance of Columbus Day, feast of the KC's patron.

The interesting and enlightening program showed dozens of shrines, churches and other scenes commemorating the travels, sufferings, death, burial and resurrection of the Savior as well as some places that are deeply meaningful to Moslems.

Sister Barbara, a native of Muenster, is the daughter of Katie Miller Bernauer and the late Joe Bernauer. She lived here until moving to Hereford in 1924. From there she joined the Franciscan order of the Atonement in Graymoor N.Y. An interesting sidelight is that the order originated in a small group of Episcopal men and women, admitted into the Catholic church in 1909. Sister Barbara has been a member 50 years. At this time she is on a leave of absence living with her aged mother. She has been assigned to duty all over the nation, principally in mission work and teaching CCD classes to public school students, but does not teach academics.

J.W. Fisher introduced Sister Barbara and presented a thank you token in behalf of the council.

Also as a part of the breakfast program, seven plaques were presented to families recently named as family of the month in recognition of Christian ideals as well as services to council, parish and community. Knights cited were Gilbert Hess, J.W. Fisher, J.M. Weinzapfel, Charley Hellman, Dale Klement, Maurus Hacker and David Flusche.

Homemakers win area honors

The Muenster chapter of Young Homemakers of Texas brought home many of the top honors and awards given at the 22nd annual meeting and awards luncheon for Area V on Saturday, Oct. 13.

Presentation of awards was made during the luncheon at W.E. "Pete" Ford Middle School in Allen, Texas.

Muenster YHT received a $100 check for being the Outstanding Chapter of Area V; won the first place Public Relations Award; the second place Outstanding Scrapbook Award; second place Community Service Award; and Superior Chapter Award Certificate.

Jana Hamilton received a certificate for participation in the Outstanding FHA award project. In November the Muenster chapter will compete on the state level with winners from nine other Texas areas.

Certificates of perfect attendance were given to Janie Hartman and Janet Felderhoff.

Accepting the awards and representing the Muenster chapter were Joni Sturm, chapter advisor; Janet Felderhoff chapter president; Pam Felderhoff vice president; Pam Dangelmayr past-president; and Jana Hamilton, Outstanding Future Homemaker of MHS.

Nine area chapters were presented at the meeting. Era won first place for a centerpiece depicting "YHT-Shaping Homes and Communities", and Gunter won second.

Zetta Smith of Howe presided for the general session. Speakers were Trudi Staples, an independent Houston business woman, on "How To Be Super People On Planet Earth" and Sherry Lundquist, an independent Richardson business woman on "Its Time to Stencil."

Robin Burns of Van Alstyne catered the noon luncheon which was partially funded by area rural cooperatives including Cooke County Electric Co-op.

In election of officers Pam Felderhoff of Muenster was named as vice president of awards and projects. New area officers were installed during a red carnation ceremony. Pam Dangelmayr and Janet Felderhoff were Muenster's voting delegates. Chapters brought donations for the two Area V projects, Spina Bifida, and POWER.

Shower honors Mrs. Hoedebeck

A "baby brunch and shower" honored Mrs. Joe Hoedebeck on Saturday, October 6.

Hostesses were Reneta Walterscheid, honoree's sister and Terri Cagle, Diane Hoedebeck and Peggy Grewing, honoree's sisters-in-law. The party was held in the home of Mrs. Grewing.

The brunch menu included baked ham, a decorative melon basket, homemade cinnamon rolls, orange juice punch and coffee. Desserts of blueberry and cherry cheesecakes were served, instead of the traditional decorated cake.

Decorations carried out the honoree's chosen nursery theme of teddy bears.

She opened and displayed her gifts from 25 guests including friends, relatives and classmates. Gift from the hostesses was a stroller.

Mrs. Joe Hoedebeck is the former Shellie Walterscheid. Special guests were Mrs. Gene Hoedebeck; the first time grandmother-to-be Mrs. Theo (Annette) Walterscheid; and the first time great-grandmother Mrs. Joe (Marie) Knauf.

At Immaculate Conception Church

Wolf, Stinedurf wed in Waco

MRS. KENT WOLF
...nee Lori Ann Stinedurf...

Lori Ann Stinedurf became the bride of Kent Ernest Wolf in a Nuptial Mass with double ring ceremony in Immaculate Conception Church of Denton officiated by Father Peter Lyons at 3 p.m. on Saturday, October 13.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Ramon D. Stinedurf of Garland, and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wolf of Rt. 4, Gainesville.

The bride is a graduate of North Garland High School, attended Victoria College, Richland Community College and is attending NTSU where she is also a lab instructor, and will graduate from North Texas State University in August 1985. She has been on the Dean's List for two years, belongs to Kappa Delta Pi and is a member of the Catholic Campus Community Council.

The groom is a graduate of Sacred Heart High School, Cooke County College and is an honor graduate of North Texas State University. He was on the Dean's List and belongs to the Catholic Campus Council. He is a manufacturing engineer employed by Texas Instruments in Dallas.

In a candlelight setting created by two 14-branch candelabra at each side of the altar, and two 7-branch candelabra in the sanctuary, with green plants in containers, and floral arrangements on the altar, the bride was given in marriage by her father.

She was wearing a designer gown of shimmering white organza. In design it featured an exquisite Victorian neckline of Alencon lace traced with a pattern of tiny seed pearls, above a sheer yoke. Appliques of Alencon lace covered the entire bodice to the natural waistline. Sheer bishop sleeves carried appliques of matching lace. Her A-line skirt, flowing gracefully into a chapel length train, was completely bordered by a deep flounce of crystal pleating. She completed her total ensemble with a double-tiered finger tip length veil.

For sentiment she wore her grandmother's ring and borrowed pearl earrings from Vicky Nevares and carried a bridal bouquet of pink and white silk roses.

Attendants

Laurie Garcia of Pharr, Texas, a friend of the bride was her maid of honor. Kelley Smith of Ashdown, Arkansas, cousin of the bride, Sherry Shepherd of Garland and Vicky Nevares of Richardson, friends were bridesmaids. They wore rose chiffon gowns, identical in design, with two tiered bodices, draped skirts and ribboned waists. They carried bouquets of mauve and burgundy silk roses with ribbon streamers.

Dale Wolf of Gainesville was his brother's best man. Troy Wolf of Gainesville, a brother and Charles Hess and Kevin Hess, both of Muenster, friends of the groom, were groomsmen.

Mike Friske, a friend of the couple was candlelighter and Mass server. Mothers of the couple lit two candles preceding the ceremony and the bride and groom lit their unity candle from these at the Offertory. Stuart Wolf, brother of the groom and Ray and Ron Stinedurf, brothers of the bride participated in the Offertory procession. Richard Nimz and Beth Green assisted as Eucharistic Ministers.

Contemporary wedding music was presented before the ceremony, sung by Norma Stinedurf, sister-in-law of the bride. Wedding songs were current traditional arrangements from "Glory and Praise". Vocalists were Mrs. Stinedurf, Phil Grussenmeyer, Pat Borter, Barbara Fuhrmann and a choir of college students and Incarnate Word Sisters from Victoria. Mr. Grussenmeyer played the piano; Cindy Collins and Mr. Borter the guitars, and Cody Birdwell played the trumpet.

As the couple left the altar he presented a red rose to the bride's mother and she presented a red rose to the groom's mother.

Special guests were the groom's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wolf of Muenster, and the bride's maternal Grandmother Long and paternal Grandmother Elva Stinedurf both of Garland. Illness prevented the attendance of the groom's grandfather John Zimmerman.

Reception

A dinner reception for 300 guests was hosted by parents of the bride and groom in the Knights of Columbus Hall.

The bride's table was covered with a mauve tablecloth, burgundy net and lace, holding a basket of satin roses and wheat. The bridal portrait was displayed on a pedestal.

The white, three tiered wedding cake was placed over a lighted fountain and was cut by Betty Rose Walterscheid. Assisting with serving the wedding cake and chocolate groom's cake were Mary Ann Kozel; Joyce Baumann; Karen Standifer; and Barbara Nevares.

Decorations included baskets of mauve and burgundy flowers and candles. Most of the table and wall decorations were made by the bride's mother. Baskets of flowers were made by Cecilia Novacek, of Fort Worth, aunt of the groom.

A slide show composed of pictures of the bride and groom in earlier years was presented, arranged by the couple as a surprise gift to their parents. The couple added special significance to the date by choosing her father's birthday as their wedding day.

The couple will be at home in Lewisville. Because of enrollment in school, they will delay their wedding trip until a later date.

Rehearsal Dinner

The rehearsal dinner, hosted by the groom's parents, was held at Wyatts in Denton. Decorations were made by Cecilia Novacek, aunt of the groom. A shower for the couple was given by Vicky Nevares in Denton on October 6.

Among local relatives and friends attending the wedding were Cecil Wolf, Catherine Voth, the Martin Beckers, Paul Beckers, Joe Mosters and Jamie, the Harold Knabes, the Charles Wolfs, Hope Fuller, Sandra Henigan, Sherrie Wolf, the Bernard Wolfs, the Leroy Kupperts, the Lawrence and Raymond Zimmerers, Mrs. Leo Neusch, Clarence Neusch, Arnold Fuhrmann, Martha Fuhrmann, the Albert Zimmerers, John Zimmerer, Shirley Fuhrmann, Gary Zimmerer, Diane Caplinger, the Frank Novaceks, Sam Hess, Gene Fuhrman, Pat Herr, the Joe Hesses, Charles and Sharon Hess, Kevin Hess, the Maurus Rohmers, Kenneth Sicking, the David Fettes, the Jerry Waltersheids, Cathy Bartush, Albert Zimmerman Jr., and friends from Cooke County, Saint Jo, Fort Worth and Gainesville.

Garden Club sets programs

Program material for the Muenster Garden Club for the 1984-85 garden club year is varied in content, appealing to a wide range of interests. All meetings are held at 8 p.m. on the second Monday of the month, unless otherwise stated. In September, members heard Mrs. Juanita Leach of Gainesville, an authority on horticulture and flower arranging; she is a national flower show judge. Mrs. Arthur Endres was hostess in the Cooke County Electric Co-op Building.

In October, Mrs. August Felderhoff, a member of the Muenster Garden club, spoke on Flower Arranging, Color and Design. She presented the program and was hostess in her home, in preparation for the flower show the club scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 20.

The November meeting will feature a program on Tropical Plants by Mrs. King Koch, and Mrs. Ed Knauf will be hostess in her home.

A plant exchange and Christmas party will be included with the December meeting, with Mrs. Herb Miller as hostess in her home.

Mrs. W.J. Luke will lead the program in January, speaking on Cold Frames. The meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. R.N. Fette.

Mrs. B.J. Brock will conduct a Topiary Workshop for the February program. It will be held on Saturday, Feb. 9, with the hour to be announced, and Mrs. Paul Endres will be hostess in the Cooke County Electric Co-op Building.

The March meeting will feature a program by Kenneth Kaden on Horticulture and Hybridizing. Mrs. John Mosman will be hostess in her home.

Mrs. Dick Ferber, a member of the Muenster Garden Club, will present a program on Wildflowers, for the April meeting, and Mrs. Larry Tisdale will be hostess in her home.

An installation ceremony and a covered dish dinner will conclude the garden club year for the May meeting. Mrs. Ray Wilde will be the hostess in her home.

Officers of the Muenster Garden Club in 1984-85 are Mrs. Herb Miller, president. There are three vice-presidents whose additional duties are as follows: Mrs. Jim Roark, Programs; Mrs. Alfredo Antonetti, Yearbook; Mrs. Ray Wilde, Membership. Mrs. B.J. Brock secretary; Mrs. W.J. Luke treasurer; and Mrs. Paul Endres, parliamentarian.

Parent group meets here

For Young Children's Learning Center

The Young Children's Learning Center Parent Group held its regular monthly meeting at the Learning Center on Wednesday Oct. 3. Co-president, Shelley Kneupper, conducted the meeting. Twenty-three parents were in attendance.

The agenda included amending constitutional by-laws, and viewing slides presented by Loretta Felderhoff, L.C. Administrator. Mrs. Felderhoff described some of the school's Montessori materials and fielded questions from the group.

Main topic of the meeting concerned discussion and approval of a dance fundraiser to benefit the Young Children's Learning Center.

The group approved sponsoring a New Year's Eve dance to be held at the S.H. Community Center with inclusion of a Waikiki-trip Raffle.

It was agreed to feature free pick-up foods, 4 free beer tickets for each couple, free party favors, and door prize give-aways at the dance. Also to provide a spectacular raffle give-away to dance ticket-holders for a week-long trip to Hawaii plus $500 cash (a $2000 value). Ticket price will be $30 per couple.

All parents took tickets to sell and all were enthusiastic about the event.

Committees were set up to help organize plans which include Entertainment - June Bartush, Ticket Sales - Linda Tamplin, Food - Shelley Kneupper, June Bartush, Laura Stoffels, and Peggy Grewing, Decorations - Joyce Cler and Linda Tamplin, Publicity - Peggy Grewing, Trip - Patti Bayer and Shelley Kneupper, and Beer - Chuck Bartush and Ernie Martin.

The next meeting was scheduled for Nov. 7, 7 p.m. at the meeting room at the Community Center. Honored guest will be Ms. Bronte Gonsalves of Denton, who is the Curriculum Advisor for the Learning Center. Her topic will be the History and Evolution of Montessori.

She will be accompanied by Keith McFarlin, owner of CHAD'S RAINBOW of Denton, and Ellen Norwood, former S.H. Kindergarten teacher. Together, they will display and present a variety of educational and developmental TOYS offered by CHAD'S RAINBOW.

This will be an excellent opportunity to start Christmas shopping and see some beneficial toys for youngsters.

Hawaiian students join in First Baptist activities

Five Hawaiian students from Oklahoma Baptist University are heading for a busy weekend in Muenster as guests of Jimmy Hutcherson, assistant pastor of First Baptist Church, and his wife Beth.

The visitors will start as featured guests Friday night in a "Fifth Quarter" gathering at the church following the Muenster Collinsville football game. They will sing, present a skit and demonstrate — as well as teach — the fine art of the hula.

Saturday they will attend the State Fair, going to Dallas in the church bus and inviting as many as the vehicle will hold to join them. Departure time is 8 a.m.

Sunday they will sing at the 11 a.m. worship, after which they will attend a special youth spaghetti luncheon.

And Sunday evening, beginning at 6:30 they will have charge of the worship with singing and sharing and performing the Christian hula.

The Hutchersons and their visitors invite the public to attend all of the activities.

4-H club holds meeting to report activities

A meeting of the Muenster 4-H Club on October 9 consisted principally of a report on recent activities in which the organization took part. Tammie Reiter presided over the event which was reported as follows by Valerie Vogel.

Stephen Becker reported on the county council meeting. Angie Oakley reported on family fun night.

Marcia Vogel reported on the awards banquet at which the Wreath display tops homemakers meet

Mrs. Bernard Sicking was hostess to members of the Muenster Extension Homemakers when they met on Wednesday, Oct. 10, and Mrs. Bernard Wolf was program leader.

When family illness prevented the presence of both the president and vice president, Mrs. Bill Lutkenhaus and Mrs. Ray Sicking, the meeting was conducted by Mrs. Charles Bilderback, council delegate.

Following ritual opening prayer and pledge to the Flag, the hostess read the inspiration "The Tongue" and Mrs. Bilderback gave a biblical quotation. Mrs. J.H. Wimmer, secretary called roll and read previous minutes.

The county council report told of the quilt show to be staged in Gainesville on Nov. 1-2 and Muenster hostesses received their hours of duty.

Mrs. Wolf presented a program on "Wreath Making" for all occasions. She displayed about 20 finished wreaths, using several custom materials, but also using various unusual materials such as corn husks, newspaper strips, (sprayed in colors), grapevines, ribbons, straw, and old, colorful neckties. Particularly attractive was a dark green corduroy cowboy boot holding Christmas flowers, or possibly tree ornaments.

Two new members were received into the Muenster Extension Homemakers Club, Mmes. Lillian Appel and Ruth Barter. Two guests also attended, JoAnn Sicking and Rita Fisher.

The hostess served refreshments of apple pie a la mode and coffee to 18 members and their guests.

The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Al Yosten. Evelyn Yeatts, County Extension Agent will speak on "Being the Best You Can Be."

Youngsters get taste of baking

In "Breadmake" session sponsored by Gainesville church

Breadmake? What's it all about? Breadmake is an intriguing community service project sponsored by the Gainesville Seventh Day Adventist Church, 2400 North Weaver Street. The Community Service Leader is Paula Reiter of Era.

On Monday she demonstrated the method and taught a group of boys and girls who spent a delightful time in the former Myra school building, (now used mostly by the Myra Community Improvement Club.) The children used ingredients and equipment provided by Mrs. Reiter.

She told them "Breadmake is a happy, joyous event." To onlookers she said "If you can imagine laughing faces, floured hands, and the old-fashioned delight and good humor of people making bread together, then you have an idea of what Breadmake is all about.

"Each participant dons an apron to make bread on the spot. He measures, mixes and kneads... then rests the dough, punches down and shapes... Finally there's fresh dough in the pan, ready to take home, let rise and bake. The new, fast Breadmake technique lets it all happen in about an hour and a half.

"Those who have never made bread before are fascinated with the feel of living dough that grows up right before their eyes. Experienced breadmakers say they have never made bread so quickly nor so easily.

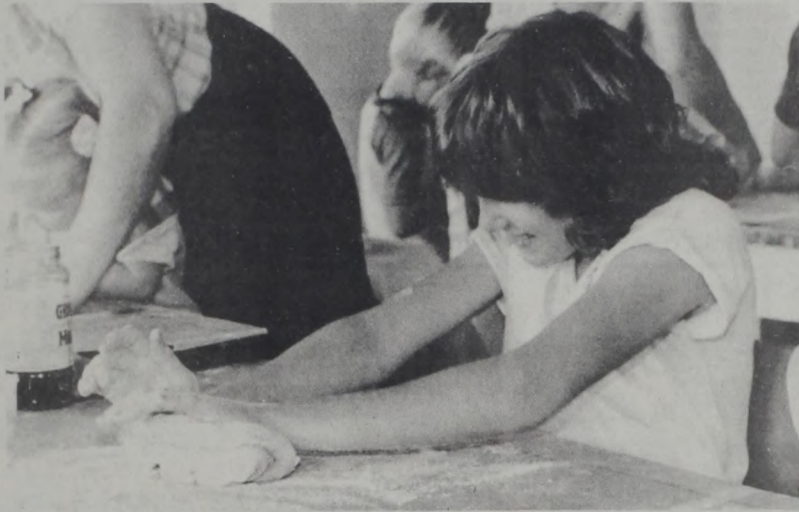

"At a Breadmake each pupil uses identical tools and ingredients so the whole group proceeds together at a uniform pace toward the final goal — dough in the pans."

Mrs. Reiter concluded by saying "Breadmake is a fast, new technique for making bread in half the usual time — about 40 minutes from raw dough to bread in the pans." She also provided pans, paper bags and baking instructions for the boys and girls to carry home. Persons who are interested in having a Breadmake may call Paula Reiter at 726-3669 for more information.

Seminar to deal with women's issues

"Women: Challenges and Choices" will be the topic of a seminar to be presented by the Cooke County Extension Service October 27 in the fellowship hall of the Whaley United Methodist Church in Gainesville.

The seminar was developed to encourage every woman to reach her full potential, according to Evelyn Yeatts, county extension agent for home economics. Registration begins at 9:30 a.m. on the Saturday of the program at the church building, 701 Rosedale.

Opening the seminar will be the keynote speaker, Dede W. Casad, public relations administrator, communication consultant and author from Dallas. She will speak on "Becoming by Being."

Morning sessions will be on "Effective Communications in the Home and at Work" by Gene Glaeser, minister of Hillcrest Church of Christ and "Concerns of Women as We Move into the Year 2000" given by Linda Mast, outreach counselor at Cooke County College.

Following a noon luncheon, afternoon sessions will be "Stress Management" by Marti Kashani, counselor, Cooke County Mental Health Clinic and "Women's Rights and Responsibilities" by Nancy Ondrovik Williams.

The final program will be on wardrobe planning and use of accessories given by Priss Salpeter, fashion director from Casual Corner, Fort Worth. The seminar will close at 3 p.m.

The Women's seminar is being sponsored by the Home Economics Committee of the County Extension Service in cooperation with other local women's organizations.

There is a registration fee of $6.50 per person if preregistered by October 25. Registration at the door will be $10.00. The registration fee includes the luncheon, morning coffee, and expenses for the seminar. Child care will be available by preregistration.

To register for the seminar call the County Extension Office at 665-1966 or 665-4931 or come by the office in the courthouse basement.

YCLC staff attends workshop in Denton

Loretta Felderhoff, YCLC director, and staff members Patsy Bayer and Chetia Whittington, and YCLC Parent Group members Patti Bayer, Shelley Knepper and Peggy Grewing attended a workshop sponsored by the Denton Assoc. for Education of the Young Child on Saturday, Oct. 13.

Courses offered were Music, Creative Art for Young Children, Math for the Young Child, and Appropriate Reading and Writing Experiences for the Young. New insights about guiding development of the pre-school age child were offered.

The group also attended courses on Public Relations and the Director, Teaching the Developmentally-Delayed Child, Stress in the Young Child and Teaching Responsibility in the Home.

The group joined Mrs. Bronie Gonsalves for lunch before returning home.

Bake sale aids cancer research

VFW Auxiliary sponsors project

Report of a highly successful bake sale by the VFW Ladies Auxiliary last month was made to members by Frances Bayer, auxiliary president, during the October 15 meeting. The group's participation in the national cancer aid and research project benefit from the bake sale. Mrs. Bayer thanked all who helped for their generosity and dedication; and she presided for the business meeting. During the meeting plans were made for observance of Veterans Day, Nov. 11 when a Mass will be offered in Sacred Heart Church and a short memorial service will be held at the Veterans' monument in the cemetery. The public is invited to attend.

Linda Knabe told of the presentation of an American Flag to the local Cub Scout Pack.

Peggy Walterscheid reported completion of the annual audit of auxiliary books.

Agnes Hess reported on the Voice of Democracy program, telling that both Muenster schools are participating in the essay contest and that grades 3 and 4 of both schools are participating in the poster contest. The auxiliary will announce the winners.

Frances Bayer read communications from District President Mary Lu Ritchie inviting attendance at an Americanism program in Lewisville; she also stressed membership and told members that the Auxiliary's State President will attend the district convention in Denison on Nov. 3-4.

Rose Hudspeth thanked those who helped her send out dues cards, and urged quick response. Members voted a contribution to the national Health and Happiness Fund and to the Christmas Cheer Fund. Agnes Hesse gave the treasurer's report. A Get-Well card was sent to Kathleen Hamilton.

Mrs. Norbert Knabe was reinstated as a member of the auxiliary.

The opening and closing rituals were led by Flora Mae Knabe, chaplain. Roll call and minutes of the September meeting were read by Ida Bindel, secretary.

Linda Knabe won the door prize. Lu Vogel served refreshments to 22 members and Elizabeth Koessler will be refreshment hostess in November.

Layette shower honors Mrs. Jim Biffle here

Five hostesses and 38 guests honored Mrs. Jim Biffle with a layette shower recently when they gathered at her home.

Party decorations and refreshments carried out a Sunset, Rainbow and Clouds theme.

The honoree opened and displayed an assortment of gifts. Guests visited and were served refreshments of punch and cake.

Special guests were the maternal grandmother, Mrs. Emma Lou Hess; the first-time paternal grandmother, Mrs. Colette Biffle and two great-grandmothers-to-be, Mmes. Pauline Hellman and Mildred Biffle.

Hostesses were Tammy Hess and Linda Grewing, sisters of the honoree; and Mary Hess, Judy Biffle and Darlene Hess, sisters-in-law. Mrs. Jim Biffle is the former Donna Hess.

Knights slip past MHS

Big plays crucial in 13-7 Lindsay win

The big plays did it. Lindsay came up with two big plays, while Muenster managed just one as the Knights prevailed, 13-7, in a tooth-and-nail district 4-A showdown at Lindsay last Friday night.

Muenster's moment came with just four seconds left in the half as quarterback Johnny Eldred hit split end Kevin Wolf for a 35-yard touchdown pass to break a scoreless tie. Neal Flusche's kick gave the Hornets a 7-0 lead and all the momentum going into halftime.

But Lindsay came back with a heart-breaker to tie the game late in the third quarter -- a "delayed reverse" to halfback Kenneth Fuhrmann that went 40 yards on a third-and-10. The kick tied the game, and a fourth-quarter interception by Eddie Hughes went for a 50-yard touchdown to send the Hornets down to defeat.

"On the delayed reverse, one of the Muenster kids had ahold of Fuhrmann's foot, so he had to sit in there longer than he wanted to," Lindsay coach Grady Roller said. "By the time he got loose and got out of there, everyone else had left the area. It's a real deceptive play -- there's not that much to it."

Hughes' interception was almost identical to the one Muenster's Ronnie Fisher got against Van Alstyne the previous week. The Lindsay sophomore cornerback waited for the pass in the flat and picked it off at a full run, sailing untouched into the end-zone for the go-ahead points.

"It was just a stupid call on my part," Muenster coach Leonard Peters said. "We should have kept on playing for field position and waiting for a break. We just rushed it and they were waiting."

Muenster's touchdown came on a third-down play as the half was winding down, after they had threatened the Knights throughout the game. Penalties stalled a drive that penetrated the Lindsay 10 early in the game, and a field goal attempt was blocked as the Hornet rivalry, Roller said. "We really couldn't afford to think about Muenster, with Van Alstyne and Whitewright to play the previous two weeks. We didn't even mention Muenster until last week."

Still, Roller said, his team was "mentally drained" after the win. They will have the closest thing to a week off in district 4-A Friday as they play the struggling Saint Jo Panthers on the road. Muenster, on the other hand, needs to recover to beat a 5-1 Collinsville squad that lost its first game last week at the hands of Valley View.

"The team is down," Peters said, "There wasn't a whole lot of movement in practice yesterday -- we were just kind of there. The way it is this year, one loss can still get you in the playoffs, but we've got ours already. That's all we can afford to have."

Peters said Collinsville had a wide-open offense that puts the ball in the air about 20 times a game. He expects to see a lot of screen passes and running from the quarterback.

Roller is hoping the Panthers game will help get his team back on an even keel after the emotional roller-coaster of the Muenster victory.

"Of course you can't take anyone for granted, but if you're going to have a week, this is a good time to have it," he said. "Saint Jo has just got all kinds of problems with injuries, and they were a small team to begin with. It's a real bad situation."

Gametime for both contests, at Muenster and Saint Jo, is 7:30 p.m.

nets came up empty.

"The game went pretty much as I expected," Peters said, "except I thought we'd move the ball better on them. We couldn't sustain a drive -- that was the difference in the football game."

"We had poor field position most of the night," he added. "When we got good field position, we turned around and gave it right back to them."

Both coaches said the intensity of the Muenster-Lindsay rivalry drained their kids and kept both sides from performing up to their abilities.

Tigers claw even at 3-3

With 21-0 homecoming win over Lynch JV

The Sacred Heart Tigers evened their season record at 3-3 Saturday by ripping the Bishop Lynch junior varsity 21-0 for a homecoming win.

The Tigers, who lost the first three games of the season before defeating Saint Jo, Windthorst and Bishop Lynch, will put their three-game winning streak on the line in Fort Worth Friday against Trinity Valley.

Saturday's game saw Sacred Heart's offense work quickly against the bigger but less experienced Dallas boys. The Tigers scored with 4:13 to play on a one-yard plunge by Kevin Switzer, and added a two-point conversion to make it 8-0.

They struck again early in the second quarter when quarterback Scott Taylor hit Bret Walterscheid for a touchdown on an 11-yard screen pass. Switzer's kick made it 15-0. With 48 seconds left in the half, Walterscheid went six yards right up the middle to make it 21-0 and the scoring was all over for the night.

"As big as they were, I was surprised we moved them out on the line of scrimmage as well as we did," coach Virgil Henscheid said. "They were quite a bit bigger than us -- we probably blocked better than we have in any of our previous games."

Henscheid cited Tim Bartel for his defensive play at a linebacker spot. The 165-lb. junior sparked a defense which dominated the Friars, keeping them out of the end zone despite a fairly potent passing attack.

"Bartel played exceptionally well," he said. "We blitzed him a lot and he made quite a few tackles. He did a good job on pass coverage downfield, too. It was his best game of the season by far."

Walterscheid, blitzing from the other linebacker spot, made the most of several opportunities and sacked the Bishop Lynch quarterback six times, sailing untouched through the line. Switzer was also cited for his play at noseguard.

"We're improving," Henscheid said of his Tigers, who started the season with some lop-sided losses. "We're getting more experienced every week and reacting to situations a lot better than we were at the first of the season."

The Tigers' improvement will be put to the test Friday as they take on a big, quick Trinity Valley team in Fort Worth.

"They're big," Henscheid said.

"They average 181 on offense and they've only got one guy over 200 -- they're all around 185, 195, and they move well. They just look like a real strong team; we'll have to play good football to beat them."

Walterscheid said Trinity Valley runs mostly from the I formation on offense, going to the power-I near the goal line. They use a 5-2 defense and zone pass coverage.

The Tigers beat them 14-13 last year.

"We've been so lucky with injuries," Henscheid said. "If we'd had a couple of guys get hurt it could have really put us in a bind, but up to now we're all healthy except for the normal bumps and bruises."

Gametime Friday night in Fort Worth is 7:30.

Fans planning to travel to the game should note the route:

Follow I-35 through Fort Worth to I-20, also identified as 820. Exit right and follow 2 miles to McCart. Exit south on McCart and follow 1 mile to Trinity Valley.

Lindsay, Muenster juniors fight to split

Junior teams of Muenster and Lindsay broke even in a pair of games on the MHS field last week. The Junior Hi Knights won the opener 24-8, and the MHS Junior Varsity took the second by a count of 12-0.

Fleet-footed M. Dieter almost made it a one-man game by accounting for 22 of the Lindsay points. Neu accounted for the remaining 2 in a PAT run.

Dieter made his first TD with 1:13 remaining in the first half. It was a 65 yard sprint down the right side on a pitchout play. Next score came less than two minutes into the second half as Dieter broke away for 45 yards. And again near the end of the third period he went over from the 7 ending a 37 yard drive after an interception.

Muenster kids got their score near the end completing a drive of about 60 yards. Keith Klement made the last 30 and Chris Klement followed for extra points.

The JV game was mostly an exchange of punts and fumbles in the first half, but just before intermission Darren Cheaney ended a 25 yard drive with a 5 yard run. Other help was Kevin Anderle's 7 and a pass from Anderle to Brian Hess for 13. The last score early in the fourth ended a 60 yard drive including Cheaney's 30 and a 4 yard scoring plunge.

Oilers defeat CBJ

Final game slated here Tuesday at Sacred Heart field, 6:30 p.m.

Muenster's KC Oilers, coached by Clifford Sicking, Larry Gobble and Dale Swirczynski, were 14-0 winners in a Boys Club football game last week. They defeated CBJ Tire of Gainesville coached by Charley Haverkamp.

Scorers were Mike Gobble with a TD and extra points and Helmut Koelzer making the second touchdown. Other offensive standouts were Ryan Sicking, Brad McDaniel, Jason Brock Ryan Gehrig, Tony Perryman and Scott Hudspeth. On defense the Oilers were Jason Biffle, Ryan Hess, Steve Nasche, Troy Pagel, Darre Mullins, Gary Hess, Darre Klement, Larry Switzer and Kell Colwell.

The Oilers will end their season next Tuesday, October 23, 6:30 p.m. on the Sacred Heart field.

Menacing Eagles look to Era

After 47-7 crushing of Collinsville

With one previously-undefeated district foe out of the way, the Valley View Eagles will be looking to retire another opponent from the ranks of the undefeated as they square off with Era Friday night.

The Eagles, now 5-1 after an opening-game loss to Paradise, put Collinsville down 47-6 last Friday in an awesome display of offensive firepower and defensive dominance. They return home this week to host this year's miracle team, the 6-0 Hornets from Era.

"We're aware of their record," Eagle coach John Kassen said. "Again, we still don't know how good they are. You've got to figure anytime somebody wins six games they're doing something right. We're not taking them lightly."

Valley View didn't tread lightly last Friday as they ran over Collinsville with a 365-yard rushing attack. Ray Sappington galloped 211 yards on 17 carries to lead the pack, while Gary Ward ran for 77 yards and quarterback Mike Montgomery rushed for 66.

The first Eagle touchdown came on a six-yard run by Montgomery in the early moments of the game. He led the team back into paydirt before the first quarter was over, again scoring himself, this time on a 38-yard run.

Sappington's fuse got lit in the second period as he scored on runs of 19 and 73 yards. Collinsville answered with a 25-yard touchdown pass from Ragsdale to Reed, but it was 27-6 at the half.

The Eagles' three second-half touchdowns came on a one-yard sneak by Montgomery and an 11-yard run by Sappington in the third quarter, and another 11-yard scamper by Ward in the fourth period. Mike Alexander was five-for-seven on extra points during the night.

"Our kids were well-prepared," Kassen said. "No one stood head and shoulders above the rest, they just all played well as a group."

| Valley View 14 13 13 7 47 | Collinsville 0 6 0 0 6 |

Alexander had two pass receptions for 34 yards, while Steve Sparkman caught one for 29 yards. Ward and John Grussell each picked off a Collinsville pass and Montgomery got one of his intercepted.

As expected, Kassen won't change up his game plan any against Era, sticking to the bread-and-butter team of Ward and Sappington carrying the ball, with Montgomery a double threat as a rusher and a passer.

When your offense has generated 1,482 yards on the ground an 210 points over the last five games, you don't change it.

"We'll sink or swim," Kassen said. "We'll continue to play our game."

Gametime at Valley View is 7:30 p.m.

'Cats plan offensive changes

After a 19-3 loss to Celina last Friday, Callisburg Wildcat head coach Gary Utsler is planning a change of offensive philosophies in preparation for a decisive showdown with Southlake Carroll this Friday.

"We probably should have been in a different type of offense this year," he said. "We just don't have the backs to execute the option — we're going to go to more of a power offense and cut down the splits in the line, run straight at people."

Utsler's crew fell to 1-1-1 on district play with the loss to Celina, managing only a field goal in the first quarter despite 162 yards of offense. Fumbles and the absence of a punt return game hurt the Wildcats, but two blocked punts set up the first two Celina touchdowns.

In the second quarter, Callisburg was kicking from their own 24 when Celina blocked a punt and recovered at the 15. Although they failed to get into the endzone that time, the exchange put the Wildcats in a hole and Celina scored on their next possession.

Then in the third quarter, Celina blocked another punt and scooped it up, returning it 40 yards for a touchdown to make it 13-3. They scored again in the fourth period.

The Wildcats' score was set up by a 53-yard pass play from quarterback Clint Hollandsworth to tight end David Marshall. Mark Pethel booted a 15-yard field goal after Celina's defense stiffened, and Callisburg had their 3-0 lead in the first quarter.

"Without the blocked punts it probably would have been 7-3," Utsler said. "Our defense was on the field practically the whole game — we just got in a critical situation and couldn't get out. They averaged 41 yards on four punts, and we didn't get a yard of return — we didn't even field one to keep it from rolling. We just gradually worked ourselves out of any field position at all."

Celina, on the other hand, did all their work on the ground as they piled up 221 yards of offense, using several different running backs. They were 0-for-1 in the air, while Callisburg picked up 99 yards through the air with Hollandsworth completing six of 12 passes. Marshall had two receptions for 63 yards, and Richard Edwards also caught a pair for 21 yards.

Utsler cited linebackers Marshall and Pethel for their play on defense, and noted defensive tackle Mike Newton turned in one of his best games of the season. James Kennedy also got praise for his performance at defensive end.

Southlake Carroll, 3-3 on the season but 3-0 in district, has a young team according to Utsler, with only five players who go both on offense and defense.

"They execute real well," he said. "They play their positions real well — they knock people down, they come after you."

Carroll's 0-3 pre-district record doesn't reflect their talent, Utsler said, noting they almost always enter district with a losing record after taking on 3A teams in the early going. Callisburg's task will

| Callisburg | Celina |

| 9 first downs | 10 |
| 63 yds. rushing | 221 |
| 99 yds. passing | 0 |

be to try and eliminate mistakes against Carroll.

"In a sense I feel like we've been playing the Oklahoma offense," he notes. "Pitch the ball out on the ground and let it lay there until somebody picks it up. We've been fumbling the ball a lot and losing most of them, and that bothers me. I think with a more straight-ahead offense, we'll have fewer fumbles."

Injuries continue to nag at the Wildcats. Starting center Darrin Baucum and guard David Weaver are doubtful for this week's game, but tackle Allan Bauwin should be back after suffering an injury in the first district game against S&S. Gametime at Southlake is 7:30 p.m. Friday.

Cubs win 8-6 over Dallas

The Sacred Heart Cubs grabbed an 8-6 win over the Dallas Boys Club Golden Knights here last Thursday.

The Cubs' touchdown came in the second quarter when quarterback Darrell Dangelmayr hit Ryan Bayer for a 61-yard touchdown pass and run. Bayer ran the two-point conversion in for what proved to be the winning points.

The Golden Knights scored in the third quarter on a 35-yard run, but their two-point attempt fell short and the final margin was on the board.

The Cubs will play Trinity Valley Friday at 5 p.m. in Fort Worth.

6-0 Era looks for respect against Valley View

The amazing Era Hornets went 6-0 last Friday night with a 44-0 district win over Saint Jo. The Hornets scored 22 points in the second quarter to break away from the injury-riddled Panthers, now 2-4 on the season.

This Friday, though, the Hornets will face their biggest test so far as they play 5-1 Valley View, whose only loss was a squeaker to Paradise, the top-rated team in the state.

"We're looking forward to playing Valley View," Era coach Mike Allison said. "We feel like it's a big challenge and we want to accept the challenge and play a good ball game. Valley View is a sound football team in every aspect of their game, but we feel like if we can eliminate mistakes and get some breaks, we can beat them."

Era's game at Valley View may highlight the district slate Friday, but Saint Jo coach Steve Qualls feels his squad's bout with Lindsay will be crucial as well.

"Lindsay is sitting in the driver's seat after beating Muenster last week," he said. "It's going to be a tough game for us — we've still got some key people out on defense."

Last Friday's pounding at the hands of the high-flying Hornets was the latest in a series of beatings the Panthers have taken after two early-season wins. Although they compiled over 100 yards rushing, Saint Jo ran afoul of the officials 14 times for 120 yards in penalties, and got stopped by Era's stingy defense whenever the goal line loomed near.

"The officiating had nothing to do with the outcome of the game," Qualls said, "but I don't particularly want to see those four guys again. We really did the things they were calling, but they just got on us something fierce."

Era's defense was fierce as well, living up to their team name in every respect.

"They play like Hornets," Qualls said. "They buzz around and bug you to death. They are playing good defense — they don't give up the big play. They just out-hustled us."

"If Valley View makes some mistakes, Era's going to jump on them," he added. "That coach has got them sky-high."

Era's first score against Saint Jo came on a 17-yard field goal by Mark Knabe in the first quarter. They added a touchdown moments later on a nine-yard run by Chris Sikes, who rushed for 48 yards to lead the balanced Hornet attack.

Knabe hit Kevin Ford for a 26-yard touchdown pass to start the action in the big second quarter. Bradley Fenley, who picked up 43 yards on the night, got the next six-pointer on a 10-yard run and Sikes found paydirt again before half-time on a two-yard dive over the line.

Knabe returned the second half kickoff 80 yards for another touchdown. Reserve ball carrier Todd Clark added a final touchdown from nine yards out in the fourth quarter.

Knabe had his usual good night, scoring on the kickoff return, passing for a touchdown and putting eight points on the board with his toe. He rushed for 42 yards for the Hornets, who compiled 221 yards on the ground.

Allison, while realistic about Valley View's strengths, feels his team can compete if they continue to play sound football. At 6-0, he has made believers out of Era fans, but has yet to convince the pollsters, who ranked the Hornets 85th last week.

"We'll have to play a real good ball game and not have any mistakes mentally or on our kicking game to have a chance to win," he said. "We're going to try to take advantage of a couple of things they're doing defensively, but basically we won't do anything different for them."

Allison said his squad will likely throw the ball more to try and open up Valley View's defense.

"We'll have to pass more. We only threw one time with our first team Friday, but it was complete for a touchdown. When we've had to pass, the passing game hasn't been too bad. We'll probably use some sprint-out passes and try to get out from in front of their tall linemen."

Era's injury situation continues rosy, with nothing but the standard bumps and bruises. Saint Jo's situation is consistent as well, with more players joining the walking wounded every week.

The Era game sent senior tackle Michael Dennis out with a bruised knee, and he will miss the Lindsay game. While Kevin Reeves returned and rushed for 74 yards against Era and quarterback Donald Castle was also back in the lineup, Saint Jo remains strapped on defense with senior end Chris Houtchins and cornerback Donnie Haney, another senior, also out.

"The attitude is low," Qualls said. "That's to be expected after the poundings we've been taking. All you can do is try to get something positive out of it."

Gametime at Valley View for the Era game, and at Saint Jo for the Lindsay game, is 7:30 p.m.

Couple observes 25th

One hundred and seventy five friends and relatives helped Mr. and Mrs. Julius A. Hess celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary on Sept. 29 at the Lindsay parish hall.

Julius A. Hess and Elsie M. Popp were married on Sept. 26, 1959 in St. Mary's Church in Gainesville, with Father E.J. Gerlick officiating. Their attendants were Rose Mary (Hess) Fangman, Alma (Haverkamp) Bierschen, Clem Hermes and Bobby Bierschen.

Julius and Elsie Hess are parents of three children who helped with the anniversary celebration. They are Joy, Eric and Gina.

Blue and white, the original wedding colors, with silver added for the anniversary, were used to decorate the hall. Guest tables held blue and white floral arrangements and silver candles.

The ceramic bridal figurine from the original wedding cake was used with a silver wreath, to decorate the three tiered anniversary cake, which was served by Mrs. Henry Voth, Jr. She also made an anniversary candle with the original wedding invitation and the silver anniversary invitation embossed on either side.

Guests attended from Colorado Springs, Colorado, Dallas, Irving, Oklahoma City, Denison, Sherman, Pilot Point, Nocona, Denton and the Cooke County area.

In observance of the actual wedding date, the Hess family attended a special Mass offered by Father Placidus Eckart on Sept. 26.

Lindsay ISD board studies tutorial program

The Lindsay ISD Board met on Monday, Oct. 15 for a regular meeting. Frank Sandmann, president, conducted the meeting.

The first two items on the agenda was the approval of the general operating fund checks.

The next item on the agenda was to report on the tutorial program. Mr. Hellman stated that they started on Monday Oct. 8. They are held two days a week, 45 minutes each day for students who are failing in any subject. Under the new guidelines all schools must provide tutorial services but it is not mandatory for the students to attend. This is for all grades, one through 12.

The proposed building for the L.I.S.D. was then discussed. A rough sketch was passed to each board member to study. The proposed building would include classrooms, rest rooms, activity center, trophy cases and lobby area. The building would connect the present high school to the gym. After much discussion, the members voted to table this so more study could be done on it.

Item no. five on the agenda was concerning the custodian who will retire on Jan. 1, 1985. No members knew of anyone who would take the job, so it was decided to advertise now.

Members then went into executive session. Present were: Jim Myric, Tim Wimmer, Carol Fuhrmann, Red Eberhart and Sandmann. Absent members were, Winston Fangman and Henry Popp.

JUNIOR HIGH PEP CLUB members at Lindsay include (not in order) eighth graders Sandra Hess, Cindy Anderson and Joan Schmidkofer; seventh graders Julie Fuhrman, Calista McGilvray, Tonia McGilvray, Amy Sandmann and Amy Williams

Ex-residents baptize baby

A former Lindsay resident, Jan Endres and her husband Danny, baptized their baby, Michael Stephen, Sunday, October 14, at the Sacred Heart Church in Muenster. Father Victor Gillespie performed the ceremony. Michael's Godparents were Patty and Tom Eberhart, an aunt and uncle. The baptismal gown worn by the infant was also worn by his father on the day of his baptism.

Those attending the baptism were grandparents, Mrs. Bill Metzler, and Mr. and Mrs. Urban Endres. Also there were Erin and Sarah Eberhart, daughters of the Godparents.

Following the baptism, a gathering was held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Urban Endres. Lunch was served and gifts opened. Two cakes served as centerpieces. One was decorated for the occasion, and made by the Godmother. The other, also decorated for the baptism, was made by Mrs. Betty Rose Walterscheid.

Honor roll released

Lindsay High School has released their list of students which make up the honor roll for the first six weeks of the 84-85 school term. These students have maintained an average of 90 percent or above on all school work for a given period of six weeks.

The following students were named to the list:

Victor Schmidkofer 98.5, Minnie Hundt 96.6, Collette Hoinig 96.5, Doris Voth 96.0, Deana Nortman 95.2, Wayne Fleitman 95.0, Carol Hermes 95.0, Christy Hellman 94.8, Leroy Hermes 94.2, Gina Arendt 93.6, Katrinka Griffen 93.5, Sonya Eberhart 92.6, Gina Sandmann 92.4, Cheryl Dennison 92.4, Julie Myrick 92.0, Kevin Fuhrmann 92.0, Jeff Hellman 91.8, Brenda Haverkamp 91.4, Laura Fuhrmann 91.2.

Borquin talks

John Borquin, assistant county extension agent, and Eddie Krebs presented a program on insects at the Lindsay Junior 4-H club's meeting last Thursday.

Thirty-three club members attended the meeting along with five adult leaders. John Krebs presided and Troy Eberhart led the inspiration.

Krebs told the club about coming events and they discussed entertainment projects for the coming year. Laura Lutkenhaus won the door prize.

LINDSAY JUNIOR HIGH cheerleaders this year are (l-r) Felicia Hellinger, Angela Fuhrman, Yulonda McGilvray, Selina Eberhart and Julie Sandmann.

Franciscans hold feast

The feast of St. Francis of Assisi on October 4th was observed by the members of the Secular Franciscans after 7:15 a.m. Holy Mass with a special liturgy which was assembled by the Provincial SFO.

The President Mrs. Tony Hermes led the prayers. At the beginning, the song "Francis, friend of all things living," was sung, and at the closing members joined in singing "St. Francis, Image of the Lord".

On Wednesday October 10 after 7:15 a.m. Holy Mass during the reception ceremony Mrs. Marie Zimmerer was enrolled in the S.F.O. Immediately after Novice Rose Neusche and Bernadine Schmidkofer made their Profession in a simple but impressive ceremony. The Pastor Father Cletus was celebrant for the Mass and also performed and Profession of the new members.

After enrollment the President distributed a copy of the S.F.O. Communication, to each member present. It is a publication to let members know of the activities of the Province.

Blake Andrews Bezner baptized at St. Peter's

Blake Andrew Bezner, infant son of Becky and Dale Bezner, was baptized Sunday morning, October 14, following the 10:00 a.m. Mass. Father Cletus Post performed the baptism. Godparents for the baby were his aunt, Zinda Smith and his uncle, John Smith, a sister and brother to Blake's mother Becky. The baptismal gown worn by the infant was also worn by his father on the day of his baptism. Other guests attending the ceremony included Blake's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Bezner and Mr. Julian Smith. Also his aunt and uncle Melinda and Jeff Dieter, and another aunt, Ms. Margaret Smith.

Following the ceremony the group gathered together for a family dinner.

IN THANKS
My sincere thanks to my family and relatives for their constant care and love, and for the food they sent to my home. Thanks to Dr. Juarez and the wonderful nurses of Muenster Memorial Hospital for the special care they showed me and to the housekeeping staff and cooks for every kindness. Thanks to Fr. Victor, Fr. Denis and Bishop Dangiway for their visits and to all who sent cards, flowers, visited, phoned, or prayed for me. My loving thanks to my husband, Ben, who spent so much time taking wonderful care of me. May God be with all of you.
Mrs. Ben Haverkamp 48-1C1

Firm takes part in sales event

The Second Annual National Furniture Sale and Sweepstakes ends Monday at Rodney's Home Furnishings, 2003 East Highway 82, in Gainesville.

Rodney's is the only Cooke County furniture dealer taking part in the national sale, a coordinated nationwide promotion which figures to generate $2 billion worth of furniture sales over a 10-day period.

During the sale, Rodney's is joining thousands of stores and hundreds of manufacturers to bring exceptional values to area customers. Manufacturers have made special considerations on their furniture for the sale, enabling local dealers to offer once-a-year low prices on name-brand furniture.

During the sale, Rodney's is offering free delivery and set-up as well, and six months' interest-free financing with a minimum purchase of $500 and 20 percent down payment.

While shopping at Rodney's customers may enter the "Great Get-Away Sweepstakes" and win a two-week vacation for two anywhere in the world every year for the next five years — plus $10,000 in gold. Second prize in the sweepstakes is a two-week vacation in Ireland plus $5,000 in silver bars. Other prizes include vacations at Acapulco, Orlando, Florida and other locations throughout the U.S.

Rodney's has been in Gainesville for the past five years. With 12,000 square feet of display area, the store offers area customers a wide variety of samples from manufacturers' showrooms at the World Trade Center in Dallas. Buying the furniture direct and shipping it to Gainesville, owner Jack Gross is able to offer his customers substantial savings on leading name-brand furniture in the latest styles and fabrics. Gross has been in the furniture business for 30 years, and in the wholesale business for the past 25 years. He invites everyone to come in and take advantage of the special buys available during the National Furniture Sale and Sweepstakes.

BUSINESS

NFIB names Stenholm small business guardian

Rep. Charles W. Stenholm, has earned the "Guardian of Small Business" Award from the National Federation of Independent Business (NFIB) for his outstanding voting record on small-business issues.

The nation's largest small-business group presented him with the award because he voted in support of positions voiced by the majority of NFIB members 83 percent of the time.

House members were rated in 18 recorded votes during this session of Congress. Issues ranged from cutting the federal deficit to controlling payroll taxes to giving small firms a chance to compete for government contracts.

"Good old prices" listed

Back in the good old days of present old timers, a trip to the store required somewhat less money than it does now, but it's equally true that shoppers had less money to take with them. By comparison the low prices probably were no more of a bargain than the good buys now being offered.

A good sample of prices then was found a few days ago by Joe Hoenig among mementos stored away more than a half century ago by his late wife, Susie. It's a list of some of the things she bought in 1927, a few years before the big depression took hold. Here are some of the prices.

County Agent's Report

Weeds — continuous wheat has caused problems. Several demonstrations have been initiated with industry personnel and by TAEX with local producers to determine which weed control method is safe to the crop, provides acceptable weed control and is economical. However, before making recommendations for weed control, we must be able to identify species that are present in large enough numbers to create a production problem. The following tips should help with a few of the most common weeds in Cooke County.

1. Chest, Bromus secalinus — A winter annual with the same growing season as wheat. Stems and leaves are hairy. The ligules are membranous and toothed. The seed glumes are downy with awns about 5/8 inch long. Control — Sencor @ 4-6 ounces per acre Early Post on TAM 101, 105 and Newton varieties only. Crop rotation to an alternate season crop for 3-5 years.

2. Ryegrass, Lolium spp - A winter annual with the same growing season as wheat. Stems and leaves are smooth with an oily appearance. Seeds are produced on alternate sides of stems without awns. Control — Sencor @ 4-6 ounces per acre applied Early Post on TAM 101, 105 and Newton varieties or Glean applied PE or Post @ 1/2 ounce on any variety and rotation for 3-5 years to alternate season crops.

3. Wild Oats — Avena fatua — A winter annual with the same growing season as wheat. At early emergence, plant looks like oats. Leaves are broad and have a counter clockwise rotation. Mature oats have a black awn protruding from each glume. Control — Crop rotation for 3-5 years, Avenge, Hoelon and Carbine.

4. Corn Gromwell — Buglossoides arvensis — Winter annual with alternate, lance shaped, hairy leaves without lateral veins. Small white flowers produced in dense terminal clusters. Seed pods are in a dull brown capsule containing 4 small wrinkled, pitted, grayish seeds. Control — 1/4 pound Brominal applied Post or 1/4 ounce Glean applied PE or Post. Banvel or 2, 4-D is not effective.

5. Tansy Mustard — Descurainia pinnata — Winter annual, with erect, much branching hairy stems with yellow flowers 4 petaled and in clusters.

Control: Glean PE or Post @ 1/4 ounce or 2, 4-D Post.

6. Henbit — Lamium amplexicaule — Winter annual with square stems, rounded opposite leaves with purple flowers. Control: Glean applied PE or Post. 2, 4-D is not very effective. Brominal plus Banvel applied Post.

7. Wild Buckwheat — Polygonum convolvulus — Winter annual with twining stems bearing leaves with ovate blades. Whitish flowers are in axils. Seed are black and irregular. Control: Glean applied PE or Post on all varieties; Sencor applied Post on TAM 101, 105 or Newton or Butyril or Brominal applied Post on all varieties.

8. Field Bindweed — Convolvulus arvensis — Perennial, reproducing by seed and underground rootstocks. Plants form a mat with stems from 2-7 feet long. Leaves are alternate, simple, petioled and vary in shape with white to pink flowers. Control: Banvel or Roundup applied at 1/2 gallon/acre 30 days prior to first anticipated frost.

9. Sunflower — Helianthus annuus — Summer annual — stem is erect, simple to much branching with alternate leaves that are hairy with toothed edges and show yellow flowers. Control: Glean PE or Post.

10. Kochia — Kochia scoparia — First leaves appear opposite (later alternate). Leaves are densely hairy with reddish stem. Control: Summer fallow or chemical control with Glean, Rhonox, Chiptox, Bromoxynil or Sencor.

11. Jointed Goat Grass — Aegilops cylindrica — Seed pods resemble a totem pole with straight awns 2-3 inches long emerging from the top floret. This grass is a winter annual and seems to be a major weed of wheat in the Red Rolling Plains Area. No registered chemical control.

Before applying any of these chemicals, be sure and read the label for specific application methods, recropping intervals and specific information. Give us a call or talk to your chemical representative or seed dealer.

Cooperatives cited with special month

October is Cooperative Month in Texas and across the nation as proclaimed by most of the country's governors.

Governor Mark White, in his official proclamation, urged the people of Texas to "give special recognition to the constructive and responsible roles of agricultural cooperatives in the economic progress of our State."

"Texas has more than 400 agricultural cooperatives operating and serving over 133,000 members", according to Billy Conner, executive vice-president of the Texas Agricultural Cooperative Council.

"These cooperatives are doing business volumes of almost four billion dollars annually," he said.

Cooperatives in Texas range from farmer-owned gins, elevators and compresses to marketing, supply and credit organizations. Health, housing, insurance, electric, telephone and other service cooperatives are becoming more and more important to all Texas citizens.

"Cooperative Month," said Conner, "is a good way to remind the people of Texas just how important cooperatives are to our well-being."

DON'T KISS $8,938 GOODBYE

That's how much you could lose just on resale value if you don't buy a John Deere

Looking for a big discount when you buy a tractor? Don't get stuck with an even bigger discount when you want to trade.

Always consider resale value when you price a field tractor. Because the differences among brands may sometimes be bigger than ANY purchase incentive.

Compare John Deere with our two leading competitors. According to the Spring 1984 Official Guide of the National Farm and Power Equipment Dealers Association, the average 5-year-old John Deere 4440 sells for 106 percent of its 1979 list price. One leading competitor averages 87 percent of its 1979 list price. The other averages 73 percent.

What's that mean in dollars? Add the John Deere gain on original price to the competitor's loss. The John Deere advantage is as much as $8,938!

Is this only true of one model? No. Every 40 Series 90- to 180-hp tractor has an average resale price that's higher than its new price five years ago.

Is resale your only John Deere advantage? No. Don't forget the remarkable fuel efficiency of today's 50 Series John Deere Tractors. And don't forget our unmatched reputation for high quality and high reliability. See your John Deere dealer. He'll be happy to explain the big difference between a low-price tractor and a low-cost John Deere: 100-hp 4050, 120-hp 4250, 140-hp 4450, 165-hp 4650 or 190-hp 4850.

NOTE: Average resale prices taken from Spring 1984 Official Guide of The National Farm and Power Equipment Dealers Association.

Percentages calculated from best currently available information on 1979 list prices.

Forestburg News

by Myrt Denham

Everyone is invited to a Community Singing at the Prairie Point Nazarene Church Sunday night Oct. 21, at 7 p.m.

A little late but our congratulations go to Mr. and Mrs. Don Farrell who celebrated their 24th wedding anniversary Oct. 8.

Mrs. Ellen Cox and Julie and Mrs. Nina Salter of Bowie were visitors with Mrs. Betty Reynolds Mon. Oct. 8.

Visiting Cleo Lanier, Tuesday, Oct. 9, were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Roark of Gainesville, Mr. and Mrs. Mack Roark of Ponca City, Okla. and Willie Orell of the Burg.

Merle Hudspeth, Cleo Lanier, Mrs. Gary Covington and Vanessa and Mr. and Mrs. Perryman Denham attended the annual Montague County 4-H

Achievement Banquet at the Nocona Community Center Tuesday Oct. 9 at 7 p.m.

A delightful day was enjoyed last Tuesday Oct. 9 by Mrs. Emma Steadham and Mrs. Debra Dill and children as they went shopping in Muenster and Gainesville.

Wapaknucka, Okla. visitors with Mag Huckabay from Wed. Oct. 10 to Fri. Oct. 13 were her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Brandon Evans.

Juanita Bailey and Eula Faye Galmor celebrated their birthday together at Juanita's house on Wed. Oct. 10 with Loveta Bewley at their guests. Eula Faye's birthday is on Oct. 9 and Juanita's is on Oct. 11.

The Forestburg 4-H met in the School Library at 3:30 p.m. Thurs. Oct. 11. President James Lively presided over the business meeting then turned the program over to their guest speaker, Mrs. Audi Marie Hays. Mrs. Hays gave a very informative and interesting program on First Aid. Then refreshments were enjoyed by Mrs. Hays, 21 4-H members and three leaders.

Max Cunningham and his sister Carol of Irving made "pop-visits" with their grandmother Mrs. Emma Steadham, and with their uncles and families — the Donal and Jimmy Steadhams Friday night Oct. 12.

Cleo Lanier attended funeral services for Alton Miller in Saint Jo Thursday afternoon Oct. 11th.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Galmor of the Burg and their daughter Mrs. Rosetta Hoover and Jody of Montague motored to Wichita Falls Friday Oct. 12 to visit with Forrest and Edna Galmor who now reside at Heritage Manor Nursing Home in that City.

Willie Sandusky and his buddy Scott Brady both of Wichita Falls, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Sandusky of Saint Jo and Mrs. Jeanne Rasure of Moss Lake were visitors with their Mother Mrs. Faith Sandusky the Oct. 13, 14 weekend.

Miss Lecia Lynch of Arlington and Jim Pickens of Edgewood spent the Oct. 13-14 weekend visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Lynch.

Oct. 13-14 weekend visitors of Mary and Hal Hays were their daughter Leann and her friend Gail Jeffries of Denton. Leann is a student at NTSU in Denton as is Gail, and Denton is also Gail's hometown.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dill and Mr. and Mrs. Gary Johnson motored to Dallas Sat. the 13th returning home Sunday p.m. While in Big-D they took in a concert put on by "Alabama" — a country western group.

Mrs. Esther Shears, Rhett Shears and Mrs. Elva Carter were in Bowie Saturday the 13th getting in some shopping. From there they went on to Nocona to visit with Mrs. Eugene Shears.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Martin and children of Austin and Dr. and Mrs. Kenne Woods of Henrietta were visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Woods and John this past weekend. Dr. and Mrs. Woods had attended the Texas U-OU Football game in Dallas on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Edwards of Stockton, Calif., have been in the area visiting relatives. Mrs. Edwards is a sister of the late Willie Kuykendall.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Galmor, Mrs. Bobbie Wylie and granddaughter Kimberly, Mrs. Georgia Greenwood and Wynona Riddles all attended the Mobley Family Reunion at Newport Sun. Oct. 14. The Mobley family used to live in the Stoney Point Community and the children attended school at Forestburg.

Mrs. Jeanette Montgomery of Greenwood visited with Cleo and Shirley Lanier Sun. the 14th. They had lunch in Bowie then drove on to Sunset to the Surrys Mill to watch them make homemade sorghum.

Betty and Bennett Reynolds made it down Greenwood way Sun. p.m. the 14th, to visit with Mr. and Mrs. Joseph St. John and sons.

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Morse and their son Clifford and wife of Nocona were out riding around the Stoney Point area and visited with Mrs. Morse's cousin and family, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Holland and children on Sunday p.m. on the 14th.

Mr. and Mrs. Truman Greenwood of Pilot Point were Uz community visitors Sat. the 13th with his mother Mrs. Georgia Greenwood, Wynona and JoAnn.

It was a busy past weekend at the Dorothy and Joe Hunt home in New Harp. Visitors were: Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Hunt, Helen Freeman, Mr. and Mrs. J.P. Howard all of Alvord, Pauline Moore of Bowie, Mr. and Mrs. David Vandevetter and family of Decatur, Mr. and Mrs. Israel Salinas of Haltom City, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Freeman, Mr. and Mrs. Eddie McClure and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Mattoch.

Mrs. Shirley Lanier visited with her mother Mrs. Lenora Moore who resides at the Yes-ter-Year Home in Saint Jo.

Our Vera Mae McGee is still on the "not-feeling-so-well" list.

Saw one Howard Sockwell very busily engaged in building a new gate this past week. He was so busy he barely looked up as passers' by honked a greeting at him.

Mrs. Louise Shults of Forestburg and Mrs. Evelyn Brown of Leo attended funeral services for Loyce Chrestman at Coker Funeral Home in Decatur Mon. p.m. Oct. 15. Burial was in Alvord cemetery.

This week's closing item comes again from Radio Bible class Literature and I quote:

"A man knelt with his pastor and committed himself to God to give a certain percent of his income as long as he lived. From his first week's pay he gave $1 to the Lord. Soon his weekly offering had increased to $10. As time went on, he continued to prosper. Before long he was giving $100 a week, then $200, and in time $500 a week.

Finally he called the pastor. "Please come and see me," he said. "It's urgent!" When the minister arrived, the host said, "You remember that promise I made to God years ago? How can I get released? When I made the promise, all I had to give was a dollar, but now it's $500. I can't afford to give away money like that." This wise old pastor looked at this friend and said, "I'm afraid you cannot get a release from the promise, but there is something we can do. We can kneel down and ask God to shrink your income so you can afford to give a dollar again."

MR. AND MRS. DOYLE RAY LYNCH of Forestburg, Texas announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter Chorlecia Jan to James W. Pickens, son of Mr. and Mrs. H.W. Pickens, Jr. of Edgewood, Texas. The couple will unite in marriage Saturday December 1, at 6 p.m. at the Forestburg United Methodist Church. Rayanne Lynch, sister of the bride, will be maid of honor with Diane Scott and Robin Moore as bridesmaids. Larry Hooks will be the best man, with Mike Malouf and Mark Murray as the groomsmen. The bride-elect is 1977 graduate of Forestburg High School and a 1982 graduate of the U.T.A. School of Nursing, receiving a R.N.B.S. degree. The groom is President of the First National Bank of Edgewood. The couple will reside in Edgewood. All relatives and friends are cordially invited.

Forestburg Fire Dept. sponsors country show

The Forestburg Volunteer Fire Dept. will sponsor a Country and Western Music Show by Joe Paul Nichols and His Five Pennies Band and Dal Lay, on Friday, Oct. 19 at 8 p.m. at the Forestburg School.

Admission tickets will be $4.00 for adults and $1.50 for children. Proceeds will benefit a repair fund for the Forestburg fire truck, and for the purchase of radios. For more information call John Mosely, fire chief.
