Grain harvest starts Tuesday

An intriguing thought relative to the big dispute in Congress and elsewhere about the possible choice between nuclear freeze and an arms buildup contest is the proposed alternative known as High Frontier.

The first two programs both involve the Mutual Assured Destruction (MAD) concept in which either way could lead to a nuclear showdown, the difference being only in degree but not in kind.

Nuclear freeze proposes a halt of the arms build-up at their present stage on the assumption that deterrence is adequate on both sides. However, President Reagan and his supporters claim that USSR has a clear advantage and is seeking to perpetuate it. He would consider a freeze only when the sides are equal.

That, of course implies obvious problems. Russia does not acknowledge equality unless it is ahead. And Russia's record of cheating makes it a poor risk to honor an agreement.

With the freeze solution very unlikely, the expected result is continued arms buildup, each concerned primarily with restraining the other through fear. But the horrible thought is that an exchange of bombs would bring massive death and destruction in either case, and much more so in the unrestricted.

In sharp contrast with both of those unacceptable methods of preparing for super horror warfare, the High Frontier way is described as one which could stop nuclear war in its beginning rather than let it develop into awesome desolation on both sides.

David Graham, a retired US general, who originated the High Frontier missile defense system, and describes it as the highly-potent and long-smothered method of US defense, explains how it operates as an effective and fool proof anti-missile "umbrella."

The heart of the system is a space-based network of what some defense experts call "shotgun satellites." These are inexpensive non-nuclear satellites that would use a remarkably simple device to knock out any massive ICBM attack by the Soviets.

It works like this: Since a single anti-missile satellite could normally knock out only one Soviet ICBM, and since hitting even one demands great accuracy, this network of "shotgun satellites" would instead fire clouds of high velocity pellets at any incoming wave of missiles.

Tests already conducted clearly prove that even one pellet striking a ballistic missile at high speed will destroy it totally. So, one can imagine the power of a whole network of satellites each carrying up to 24 ready-to-fire "clouds" of these pellets.

Defense scientists assure the High Frontier group that this part of the system alone would wipe out 80 percent of any mass ICBM attack while it is still over Soviet territory.

That leaves 20 percent of the original assault units. With modern radar, a chain of carefully placed non-nuclear ground launched projectiles would easily destroy most if not all of the remaining ICBMs.

That's where the third part of the system comes in. "Even as we are getting our first two parts into place we would be working on a 'second generation' of anti-missile satellites. With America's superior scientific know-how we could have particle beam and laser-firing satellites in orbit, ready and waiting for whatever the Soviets come up with."

The end result of this operation would mean an end to today's frightening balance of nuclear terror. In short, the menace of a world ravaged by nuclear devastation would be virtually eliminated.

General Graham's presentation of High Frontier's amazing potential makes a person wonder why President Reagan is encountering so much opposition to getting the system into action.

But it is a fact that many liberals of Congress are still fighting it, insisting instead on a nuclear freeze or major US concessions in the arms talks with USSR...either of which would still leave the world facing a nuclear nightmare.

The community's wheat harvest is just getting under way following a delay of almost a week by a drop in temperature and rain.

First deliveries were made to the Muenster Mill elevator Tuesday by Aloys Fuhrmann of Lindsay and Wilfred Reiter. Both loads tested 60, and the outlook continues favorable for a bumper crop in spite of reports that scattered diseased spots have been located.

The first harvesting delay can be explained by a drop in temperature retarding the grain's maturing process. Then came Sunday's rain varying in measure from .7 to 1.5 inch, which soaked the ground to the extent that combines could not operate. By Wednesday fields were generally ready, and so were dozens of farmers.

However no harm was done by the delay. All straw remained sturdy keeping the grain heads erect and intact. On the other hand the rain was great for other crops... hay, sudan, milo, pastures, as well as for oats and late wheat.

The usual question of yield could not be answered up to noon Wednesday, because the acreage harvested was too little for basing a calculation. But signs remain encouraging, such as the good test, good stand and general freedom from disease and insects. The early guess is that the yield is equal to last year's.

Quiet election is expected Saturday

Signs are pointing to a quiet election for Saturday's Democratic Primary runoff. The ballot awaiting Muenster voters will have three races, all statewide, of which the highly active and vocal contest for US Senate nominee has received the lion's share of interest. Those contenders are Kent Hance and Lloyd Doggett.

Other choices present Roy E. Greenwood and W.C. (Bill) Davis as the candidates for Judge of Criminal Appeals Court, Place 2; and Bill White and Thomas B. (Tom) Thorpe as candidates for Judge of Criminal Appeals Court, Place 3.

For voters of Muenster's north box, Precinct 18, the location, usually the public school, has been changed to the K of C hall. Polls will be open 7 to 7 and the election judge is Christi Klement. The south box, Precinct 17, will be located at the usual place, the VFW hall, from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. Janet Fisher is the election judge.

Plans announced for Father's Day picnic

The Finance Commission of Sacred Parish will sponsor the annual Father's Day Picnic and Bazaar in the Community Center on June 17.

Co-chairmen are Chuck Bar-tush Jr., Evie Felderhoff, Alfred Bayer, Art Bayer and Sylvan Walterscheid. In addition, Evie Felderhoff was named chairman of Children's Booths and Children's Games. She has appealed for suitable toys, games and donations suitable for use as prizes in this area. A basket is placed at Ben Franklin Store for convenience of those who wish to contribute.

More announcements and further information will be forthcoming as plans are developed. Call 759-2941.

Memorial honors deceased service men

An edifying attendance of one of Muenster's largest Memorial Service crowds in recent years gathered at Sacred Heart Cemetery Sunday to honor the men who served their country in war. The ceremony was distinguished by participation of Andy Stelzer, state commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and a native of the community.

In his memorial message he said that "we are here to bless the memory of those who gave their lives so that the nation can be free.

They are great Americans." These heroes, he said, served with the highest ideals. They sacrificed and died with the conviction that theirs was a just cause, to preserve the sacred principles of Americanism. In addition, they were dedicated to the belief that they were fighting a war to end all wars.

Stelzer urged all to bless the memory of those we honor today, "who stepped forward when the nation called, who kept us free."

The ceremony followed the 7 a.m. mass at Sacred Heart Church with a procession headed by the VFW color bearers and honor guard, and followed by VFW Auxiliary officers with floral arrangements and children with individual long stem red carnations.

First stop at the procession was the group of crucifixion statues where a wreath was placed and prayers were offered for all deceased of the community.

At the service men's area an Auxiliary officer placed a floral arrangement at the monument and children placed their flowers on the graves. The memorial address followed, then the traditional 3-volley rifle salute and taps. Special places of honor and special flowers were provided by the Auxiliary for the Gold Star Parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bayer, Mrs. Theresa Moster and J.M. Weinzapfel.

Three events mark Memorial Sunday

The special liturgy for the Memorial Sunday Mass in Sacred Heart Church at 7 a.m. and the procession to the cemetery included participation by members of the VFW and its Auxiliary.

Members of the Color Guard and Rifle Squad in the procession were Pat Knabe, Willie Fisher, David Fisher, Donald Hellman, Art Bayer, Herbie Yosten, Bernard Hesse, Meinrad Yosten, Maurus Rohmer, Dink Hudspeth, Earl Hess and Leo Becker.

During the liturgy, three members of the VFW presented Offertory gifts, Frances Bayer, Auxiliary president was song leader and Tony Luke was organist.

Auxiliary members participating were Mmes. Bayer, Josephine Schilling, Flora Mae Knabe, Linda Knabe, Janet Barnhill, Hilda Sicking, Magdalen Yosten, and Lillian Walterscheid.

The Sunday observance included three events: the special liturgy and Mass, the ceremonies at the cemetery and the dinner for VFW members and auxiliary members and spouses Sunday evening.

Seated at the head table were Department Commander Andy Stelzer and his wife Rosemary, Commander Pat Knabe and wife Shirley, Auxiliary President Frances Bayer and husband Art Bayer, and Past Department Commander Robert Speake and his wife Jean of Denton.

Frances Bayer and Pat Knabe presented gifts to Rosemary and Andy Stelzer. Rohmer's Restaurant catered the dinner and Doug Martin and the Rustlers played for dancing.

Advanced lifesaving class cancelled

Advanced swimming instruction in the Muenster pool, normally taught in two weeks, has been reduced to one week. The reason is that the class includes only one student who is qualified for the second week and the minimum requirement is 5.

The standard Red Cross class in Basic Rescue and Water Safety got under way Monday with Serena Wright as instructor and Janet Reiter and Tammy Reiter assisting, and Jeannene Flusche recording. Nine are enrolled.

Completion of the class is a requirement for Advanced Lifesaving scheduled next week, however it includes only one who is over 15, the minimum age requirement. Accordingly, that class had to be cancelled for this year. Kathy Hartman was the class instructor.

Mark 4: 26-29

He also said: This is how it is with the reign of God. A man scatters seed on the ground. He goes to bed and gets up day after day. Through it all the seed sprouts and grows without his knowing how it happens. The soil produces of itself first the blade, then the ear, finally the ripe wheat in the ear. When the crop is ready he 'wields the sickle, for the time is ripe for harvest.'

Honoring Parents

IN MARK 7:10 Jesus tells his listeners, "For Moses said, 'Honor your Father and Mother; and, 'He who curses his father or mother must be put to death.'" In these verses Jesus was referring to the commands which God had given to Moses in Exodus 20:12 and Exodus 21:17.

We honor parents in many ways.

1. Honor is shown through obedience. Just as love for God is shown only by being obedient, so one can only claim to honor parents through obedience. Whether or not the parents deserve honor, the child must always show honor. At times we honor parents by exercising our own responsibility and making ethical decisions for ourselves. As usual, we find that Jesus set the example for us to follow. Nowhere in the scriptures do we ever find that Jesus was disrespectful of his parents; all indications are that He was obedient to them in all ways.

2. Sometimes we are tempted to seek ways of avoiding our responsibility to parents. Sometimes children seek to avoid their responsibility by running away from home. By losing contact, they no longer feel they must do anything for their parents. At other times, children sever ties by doing the things they know will hurt their parents most. As we grow older, we may get so caught up in things in which we are most interested that we neglect our parents through unconcern, inattention, and failure to give them the needed time to make their lives full and useful. Once more we see Jesus setting the example. Even as He hung dying on the cross, He made arrangements for John (the disciple whom He loved) to care for his mother (John 19:27).

3. Honor to parents continues as long as the parents live. God did not set time limits on his command. Spouse and children need time and attention. They should never be neglected. We must not think, however, that Social Security, Medicare, and nursing homes can take the place of loving children. Our parents may have been no more perfect as parents than we are. Just as God overlooks our failures, so we must overlook theirs. They did their best to provide for their children. No more could be asked of them. We must honor them. They are the only parents God has given us.

Politics in Olympian Garb

VIRTUALLY EVERYTHING today becomes embroiled in politics. Take the Olympic Games. The international athletic events have become more a battleground for competing ideologies than for competing athletes.

The 1984 summer games in Los Angeles will be no exception. Already throwing a pall on the upcoming games the Soviet announcement that Soviet athletes will not compete because of alleged U.S. violations of the Olympic Charter. The Soviets charge that "extremist" groups are planning to create "unbearable conditions" for the Soviet delegation and that the U.S. would "not insure the security...and create normal conditions for holding the games."

The U.S. State Department dismissed the charges as "totally without merit." What the Soviets are really worried about is that American human rights activists will make it too easy for Soviet-bloc athletes to seek political asylum in the U.S. by setting up "safe-houses" in the Los Angeles area for potential political defectors.

But the politicking doesn't stop here. The Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO), which claims "credit" for the massacre of eleven Israeli athletes and three others at the 1972 Munich Olympic Games, is petitioning the International Olympic committee for participation.

Although there is virtually no chance the PLO can clear the political obstacles necessary for participation in this year's games, the fact that PLO participation is considered worthy of discussion is a sign that "world opinion" has forgotten the Munich slaughter.

Moreover, a 17-year-old, who may be the fastest female 5,000-meter runner on earth, has her own Olympian problems. Zola

Budd, a South African, has run the distance in 15 minutes, 1.83 seconds — more than six seconds faster than the official world record of U.S. Olympian Mary

Decker. Zola recently was granted British citizenship after Home Secretary Leon Brittan personally waived the normal three-year waiting period. South Africa currently is banned from participating in the Olympics. But why shouldn't Budd, if she's the best in the world in her class, be allowed to participate, even if the policies of her country are objectionable? Is the Soviet Union's slaughter of Afghans less objectionable?

And then there's Taiwan. The Nationalist Chinese government on Taiwan is by no means among the bloodiest on the globe. Compared to most of the world — including the People's Republic of China (PRC) — the country is a model of enlightenment. Yet Taiwanese athletes aren't allowed to represent the Republic of China. Only the government of the PRC is officially recognized by the Olympic Committee. So at the 1984 winter games, Taiwanese athletes appeared in the opening parade carrying the Olympic flag, rather than the flag of their homeland.

More than just the Republic of China's flag was absent from the winter games in Sarajevo, Yugoslavia. The International

Olympic Committee also decided that correspondents for Radio Free Europe and Radio Liberty should not be allowed to cover the games. Because these networks, funded by the United States, broadcast news behind the Iron Curtain, the Olympic Committee ruled they are propaganda outlets, rather than news organizations. Of course, Radio Moscow, which broadcasts Soviet propaganda globally, and other state-run Communist propaganda operations were welcome and awarded the same credentials as CBS and NBC.

These are by no means isolated cases. The Olympic Games today are no longer just a showcase for athletic talent. Despite their Olympic garb, many of the world's premier athletes have become political punching bags.

The Olympic Games are supposed to transcend politics. So why should South Africa athletes be banned for crimes over which they have no control? Why should the Soviet Union even think of demanding concessions in return for participation? Why should a terrorist organization claiming

"credit" for the slaughter of fourteen innocent people at an Olympic event only twelve years ago be welcome like the prodigal son at subsequent Olympics?

The outcome of these tests will demonstrate the true spirit of the modern Olympic Games.

El Salvador's Answer

Last year, the federal government came up with $8.4 billion to bail out the big international banks. It spent $2.5 billion to keep the price of milk high. Right now, a bill to forgive the debt of the Kennedy Center (where rich people in Washington go to the opera) appears headed for passage; it will cost the U.S. Treasury up to $850 million.

It is amazing how the Washington establishment can find billions of dollars for all sorts of boondoggles that benefit a tiny minority. But when President Reagan requests $93 million in aid to help El Salvador fight the communist guerrillas, and a paltry $21 million to fight the Nicaraguan communists, liberal Congressmen decide that that expenditure would be a waste of money.

Recently, while Congress fiddled with the aid request, the people of El Salvador were hard at work restoring democracy to their country. May 6, their election day, was like the Fourth of July in smalltown U.S.A. Daddies carried their three-year-olds on their shoulders. Vendors sold ice cream and hot dogs to people waiting in line. The streets were filled with cars and buses carrying voters to the polls. Young male and female poll-watchers, proudly wearing the jackets of their political parties, walked to polling places hand in hand.

Some citizens were so determined that they walked three hours to the polls, waited in line three hours, and walked three hours back home. One Salvadoran adult in thirty spent the entire day at the polls as an election official or poll-watcher. And the turnout was higher than the United States has experienced in any election this century.

Dr. George S. Benson Looking Ahead

Instructions from "Uncle Joe"

HERE WE are well into 1984, being reminded on all sides that this is the year George Orwell selected for the title of his famous book about what life might be like if we did not take steps to prevent the ultimate tyranny he foresaw.

Although like in America is still relatively free, and we are a long way from life depicted in Orwell's masterpiece, still, we have gone a long way toward the system he envisioned.

There are many present day philosophies of political economy, but all save one, Individualism, are varieties of its opposite, Socialism. At various times and places we have observed National Socialism, or Nazism as practiced in Hitler's Germany. There have been countries which instituted Fascism. But the variety of Socialism which concerns us most today is Marxism-Leninism, popularly called Communism.

This is the world-wide revolutionary movement with two heads, one in Moscow and one in Peking. Now squabbling over techniques, but comrades of Marxism-Leninism nevertheless.

This is the tyrannical philosophy which controls the lives of 1,742 billion people, 38 percent of the world's population, and 33 percent of the earth's land surface. And this movement has made great headway in the United States. Here is how they did it.

In the last 26 months, there were three elections in El Salvador to replace the ruling junta with a democratic government. Three times the communists threatened to kill anyone who goes to the polls; three times the people stood up to the communists. Each time it gets a little easier.

Now the transition to democracy is complete and El Salvador is ready to take its place among the free nations of the world. The only thing that stands in its way is the possibility of a military victory by the communists.

For four years, the communists have tried to destroy the economy of El Salvador. They have sabotaged bridges, demolished factories, burned farms to the ground, and knocked out electrical power. As a result, the gross national product has declined 25 percent and the income of the average Salvadoran has plummeted by one-third. The Salvadorans are among the hardest-working, most productive people in the world, but while the communist guerrilla activity continues there is no way to lift El Salvador out of poverty.

The Salvadorans don't ask us to send our boys down there to fight. They don't ask us to risk our own lives to protect them. All they ask is that we provide them the military and economic aid they need to keep the system of government they have chosen freely.

We cannot help El Salvador if our President is hamstrung by Congress. Members of Congress must stop interfering in President Reagan's efforts to eliminate the communist threat to their country, the people of El Salvador have given us their answer. When they ask us for help, what is our answer to them?

to the anti-communist forces in Nicaragua.

The communist guerrillas in El Salvador can never be defeated as long as Nicaragua provides them with sanctuary and with all the Soviet-made weapons they need. We will either provide assistance to the contras fighting the Nicaraguan dictatorship, or we will force the Salvadorans to fight a no-win war that can end only with a communist victory.

We cannot, like Pontius Pilate, wash our hands of the whole affair. The Salvadorans are too much like you and me. Just like us, they drink Pepsi and eat Big Macs. Just like us, they drive Toyotas, watch movies on Sony video-tape, and play Pac-Man down at the arcade. Just like us — Heaven help us! — they turn on the radio to hear Boy George singing "Karma Chameleon."

More important, they have the same faith in God, the same determination to succeed, the same drive to build a better life for their children. But there is one difference. We in the United States take democracy for granted because we have never lived in tyranny. We have been free for so long that we have forgotten what it is like to live without freedom.

The Salvadorans have not forgotten. For 50 years, until now, they have lived under one dictator or another. They know how precious and how fragile democracy is, and they are willing to fight to protect it.

Patrick Henry asked: Is life so dear or peace so sweet as to be purchased at the price of chains or slavery? By risking everything to bring democracy to their country, the people of El Salvador have given us their answer. When they ask us for help, what is our answer to them?

Over a decade ago our long-time, very good friend, Dr. Howard Kershner, told a very significant story. At that time he was president of Christian Freedom Foundation and editor of its newspaper, Christian Economics.

Howard said the story was told to him by Sherman Rogers, editor of The Outlook, who had become a close friend of William Z. Foster, at the time, Chairman of the Communist Party, U.S.A.

In 1928 the Soviet dictator, Joseph Stalin, "invited" Foster to Moscow. When Foster returned, speaking to Sherman Rogers, he quoted Stalin as follows:

"Comrade Foster, you can never get the American people to vote for communism, or ever for Socialism, but you can lead them into our program through the back door."

"Go home and say that you support the present system, but that you wish to improve it by more government action on behalf of needy people. Take your stand for anything that will involve government more deeply in the regulation and control of the activities of men. Stand for municipal ownership of utilities, government aid for underprivileged people, more subsidies of all kinds, stricter regulation by such government bodies as the Interstate Commerce Commission, the Federal Trade Commission and any municipal, state or federal plan for any kind of intervention with the economic activities of the people. In this way you can bring America into Communism and the people will never know it."

And this is precisely what the Communists, their fellow travelers, sympathizers, dupes and misguided people have been doing ever since.

Letter to the Editor

Please express my sincerest gratitude to the dear students at Sacred Heart whom I had the privilege of teaching in 1944.

All the dear ones who were in my classes during the fourteen years I taught are still in my thoughts and prayers.

I sincerely appreciate the beautiful card those at the reunion of the class 1944 sent me. It will always be one of my cherished treasures.

I have taught many students during the 56 years of my career, and the dearest people I ever met were those at Sacred Heart in the grades and high school, in the "Tin University" and in the beautiful red brick edifice, a memorial to all the worthy Catholics of Muenster.

Gratefully,

Roger Taylor devised a safe way to view Wednesday's eclipse, improving on the pin-hole method stressed by media coverage for several days. He mounted binoculars in a tall box and obtained this double image of the partially eclipsed sun. A telescope would have produced a single image. An eclipse occurs once a month but is noticeable only when the moon is closest to the earth in its orbit. Today's event won't happen like this again in the magnitude in our area in this century. In Atlanta, Georgia at this same time today, it became dark enough to cause street lights to turn on automatically.

Sharon Rohmer weds David Shallenberger

Sharon Ann Rohmer and David Lee Shallenberger of Dallas were married in Sacred Heart Church of Muenster on Saturday, May 26, with Father Gale White, their pastor in Dallas officiating for the Nuptial Mass and double ring ceremony at 5 p.m.

When they return from a wedding trip to Europe, traveling in Germany, Austria and Switzerland, they will make their home in De Soto, Texas.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Urban Rohmer. She is a graduate of Sacred Heart High School, attended North Texas State University and is a graduate of the University of Texas Health Science Center at Dallas, with a bachelor of science degree in Physical Therapy. She is a physical therapist employed by Charlton Methodist Hospital in Dallas.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Yarwood of Youngstown, Ohio. He is a graduate of Boardman High and Youngstown State University with a bachelor of science degree in Chemical Engineering and is a process engineer for Owens Corning Fiberglass.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. For her wedding she selected a gown of silk chiffon by Alfred Angelo designed with a wedding ring neckline of re-embroidered Alencon lace and Venise lace. The yoke of English net was outlined in Venise lace and pearls with a wide flounce of Wedgewood lace. Long tapered sleeves were accented with re-embroidered lace, and edged at the wrist with Venise lace.

The fitted bodice was edged with matching lace at the waistline, and attached to the full skirt sprinkled with re-embroidered Alencon lace appliques. The entire skirt was edged at the hemline with Venise lace, sweeping gracefully into a cathedral length train. To complete her attire the bride chose a matching headpiece of exclusive re-embroidered lace and pearls attached to a veil of bridal illusion, with re-embroidered lace motifs highlighting around her face. Tiny seed pearls were sprinkled over the entire veil.

She carried a cascade of white gardenias, white roses, stephanotis, pale yellow tea roses and ferns, and white and yellow streamers. Entwined in the flowers was a pearl rosary formerly belonging to her late grandmother, Mrs. Louise Kuhn. She wore an antique ruby ring once owned by her late great-grandmother; and for sentiment she wore her mother's wedding pearls.

Attendants

Kathy Rohmer of Dallas was her sister's maid of honor. Lori Griffin, and Pat Bramble, friends of the bride and both of Dallas, and Judy Shallenberger of Youngstown, Ohio, groom's sister were bridesmaids.

They were gowned alike in pale yellow chiffon. The spaghetti-strap bodices were covered with high necked sheer jackets trimmed with re-embroidered lace and cap sleeves and a yellow satin sash at the waist.

Each carried a white lace fan with a cluster of white daisies and yellow forget-me-nots and yellow and white streamers. Each wore yellow and white forget-me-nots, attached to a comb, as a headpiece.

Bruce V. Dewey of Warren, Ohio was best man. He is a cousin of the groom.

Steve Canchola and Michael Keegan friends of the couple of Dallas and Richard Gal of Canton Ohio, friend of the groom were groomsmen.

Alan and Gary Rohmer of Dallas and Curtis Rohmer of Muenster, bride's brothers and Jim Kueser of Dallas were ushers.

Stephen Becker, bride's cousin and J.J. Filipek were Mass servers and candlelighters.

The wedding liturgy included readings selected by the couple and given by Alan, Gary and Curtis Rohmer. Brian Rohmer, the youngest brother carried the Unity candle which the couple lit following their marriage vows. The bride's godparents, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Kuhn presented Offertory gifts. The bride presented yellow roses to her mother and the groom's mother.

Wedding music was presented by the St. Francis Choir of Lancaster, Texas, with organist Nancy Whissen and choir director Christina Clem. Organ preludes were presented as guests were seated. Among choir selections were "How Great Thou Art", "Abba, Father", "Wedding Song", "Hail Mary, Gentle Woman." The traditional wedding marches were "Trumpet Voluntare" and Purcell's "Recessional."

Altar decorations included arrangements of white gladioli with tall floor candelabra holding white candles in heart-shaped arrangements entwined with greenery and white flowers. Baskets of Boston fern were used within the sanctuary and at the Communion rail.

Reception

A reception followed in the Community Center, hosted by the bride's parents. Ginny Schneider catered the dinner and Mike Otts Disco played for dancing.

Robin Rohmer, bride's sister-in-law and Marie Smith registered 300 guests.

Melinda Canchola, Barb Bradley, Linda Muller and Marie Smith were reception assistants.

The all white, three-tiered angel food bride's cake was a Betty Rose creation decorated with white roses and string work, with yellow bows and ribbons on the separating pillars. Standing above a lighted yellow fountain, the cake was surrounded with yellow votive candles and silk flowers. The top layer held an all-white arrangement of doves, bells and flower wreath. The chocolate groom's cake was decorated in chocolate and beige, with his monogrammed initials.

Decorations were made by Mrs. Arnold Knabe. The bride's table held arrangements of white lace fans, white stephanotis, yellow spring flowers and yellow votives in silver candelabras. Yellow roses were used in the centerpiece.

A wall and window decoration featured an Austrian pouf curtain, yellow tulle swags draped with matching bows, with two wedding rings and two white hearts with the couple's names on white ribbons, creating a focal centerpiece.

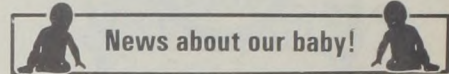

A large bell-shaped hanging arrangement with white and yellow flowers, greenery and white doves were suspended from the ceiling. The bride's chosen colors decorated guest tables and arrangements were made of white lace fans, yellow flowers and hurricane globes over yellow candles.

The groom's parents hosted the rehearsal dinner at The Center on May 25.

WITH AVERAGE BILLING, YOUR ELECTRIC BILL WILL BE ABOUT THE SAME EACH MONTH.

Everyone knows electric bills go up and down throughout the year. Some months they're low. Some months they're higher, depending on how much electricity you use.

But for most of us there aren't any highs and lows in our monthly income. It's pretty much the same from month to month. So, balancing the monthly budget can be a problem.

Well, Texas Power and Light Company has an answer. It's the Average Billing Plan.

And each month after you join, you'll pay an average of your monthly electric bills over the past twelve months. No more ups and downs.

Of course, you're still paying for all the electricity you use. But with average billing, your electric bills will be about the same each month. So budgeting will be that much easier.

If you want to know more about our Average Billing Plan, call your local TP&L office today.

DPS warns about using alcohol

Approximately 100 million adult Americans drink alcoholic beverages. Some drink and drive, in fact, all too many. At least 55 percent of all fatal accidents involve alcohol use. These accidents occur most often late in the evening and early morning hours, on weekends. Most involve a single vehicle.

Young men and women are the group most affected by this social menace. The age group of 16-24 years accounts for about 34 percent of all alcohol-related fatalities while representing less than 22 percent of all licensed drivers. On any given night, one out of every 50 drivers on the road is drunk.

Alcohol is a depressant. It works on the central nervous system, slowing down brain and spinal cord activity. Reaction time and coordination are considerably impaired with increasing intoxication, as is vision.

Alcohol is rapidly absorbed into the blood stream. Some is instantly absorbed through oral tissues upon taking a sip. When it reaches the stomach, about 25 percent of the alcohol is immediately absorbed into the blood through the stomach wall. Within 20 to 30 minutes, the remainder is processed through the intestinal tract into the blood stream. The blood carries it to all organs and tissues. The brain, rich in blood and having a high water content, is quickly affected.

A full stomach can slow the absorption process, not stop it. A normal person, drinking two drinks or two beers in an hour, will have a blood alcohol content of about 0.04 percent. The legal intoxication point in Texas is 0.10 percent, or one drop of alcohol for one thousand drops of blood.

Society's total financial loss including wages, productivity and medical and legal cost exceeds $10 billion annually as a result of alcohol-related traffic accidents.

Tina Koelzer honored

Sharing hostess duties were Mrs. Cindy Dennis of The Colony, Mrs. Phyllis Garcia of Lewisville, Mrs. Guy Bindel of Wichita Falls and Mrs. Ben Bindel. The party room was decorated in the bride's colors of orchid and pink. A decorated cake by Betty Rose and pink punch were served to 20 guests.

Hangover cure remains elusive

The Romans ate owl eyes and raw owl eggs to try to cure hangovers. The Greeks wore parsley to ward them off. Haitian voodoo worshippers stuck pins in the cork of the bottle from which they drank.

Today, the search continues for a cure for the after-effects of drinking too much alcohol. There hasn't been much success, says the Texas Medical Association.

People nowadays try soups, flat beer, vitamins, fish, ice cream, water, bitters, tabasco, oysters, chili peppers, snorts of oxygen, vigorous exercise, rolling naked in the snow, and sitting in a sauna bath. The only benefit of these is the distraction.

One reason for the lack of a universal cure is that each person has different tolerance levels and reactions to alcohol. Through the ages, most hangover cures have included a certain amount of alcohol itself in the formula. But no research has shown that alcohol will minimize or reduce a hangover.

Some over-the-counter drugs carry claims of relieving hangovers or preventing drunkenness. But a Food and Drug Administration panel recently found no product or single ingredient that is "unique in relieving the symptoms of a hangover" or that "can entirely prevent inebriation."

For hangover relievers, the FDA panel recommended using preparations with a combination of ingredients such as pain relievers for headaches, antacids for upset stomachs, and caffeine for fatigue or dullness.

The only ingredient the panel reviewed for claims of reducing or minimizing a hangover was activated charcoal. Activated charcoal is safe in recommended doses, the panel said, but clinical studies are needed to determine if it is effective in minimizing hangovers.

Fructose was the only ingredient the panel reviewed for claims for preventing or reducing drunkenness. Promoters claimed it could prevent inebriation if taken before drinking or sober one up if taken afterward.

The FDA panel noted that studies indicate fructose plays a part in lowering blood alcohol levels. However, the group said there was not enough data to prove fructose has much effect in minimizing inebriation, and additional research is needed.

MICROWAVE BASICS

The Salad Progresses

The salad had a simple beginning. It consisted only of a combination of edible herbs or plants dressed with salt!

Today salad making has taken a turn for the better and cooks are tossing together everything from fruit to nuts to create a salad.

The Banquet Foods Test Kitchens have prepared a delicious main dish salad with the help of a microwave oven and simple ingredients. And, with the addition of a frozen prepared convenience product, this salad becomes a meal.

Hot Beef Salad

|---|---------------------------------------|
| 1 package (4 oz.) Banquet Cookin' Bag Gravy with Sliced Beef, thawed* | 1 cup shredded lettuce |
| 1 teaspoon prepared horseradish | 1/4 cup (1 oz.) shredded Swiss cheese |
| | 2 radishes, sliced |

In small microwave-safe bowl, combine gravy with sliced beef and horseradish. Heat, covered, on HIGH 2 to 3 minutes or until mixture is hot and bubbly, stirring once. On plate, layer lettuce, sliced beef mixture, cheese and radishes. Makes one serving.

*COOKIN' BAG THAWING NOTE: Place unopened pouch in a bowl of hot tap water for five minutes.

Coors Schuetzenfest recalls traditions of popular festival

The 1984 Coors Schuetzenfest, recalling the festive traditions and fine old guns of the popular 19th century sport of single-shot rifle target competition, will be held at the Golden Gun Club, Golden, Colo., from Aug. 18 through Aug. 25.

In its third year, the 1984 Schuetzenfest, which features more than $10,000 in prizes, promises to be the biggest and most popular event yet. Match organizers estimate at least 100 single-shot rifle enthusiasts from throughout the country will attend the competition, sanctioned by the National Rifle Association and the American Single-Shot Rifle Association. More than 180 shooters from throughout the United States have attended the last two events. Adhering closely to the spirit of old-time Schuetzen matches modern-day competitors are required to use only lead load rifles, just like those used by the first German and Swiss immigrants who brought the target sport to this country in the mid-1800s. The Schuetzen guns, whether authentic antiques or reproductions, are works of art and are designed purely for target sport, not hunting or military use. In keeping with the traditions of the last century's Schuetzenfests that often lasted a week, too, the 1984 competition will feature three events: Bench Rest (200 yds.), Scope Off-hand (200 yds.) and Iron Sight Off-hand (200 yds.).

Malcolm D. Jacobs Jr. recognized for merit

Navy Petty Officer 3rd Class Malcolm D. Jacobs Jr., son of Sandra and Malcolm Jacobs Sr. of Forestburg, Texas, was recently awarded a Meritorious Mast while serving with the Third Battalion, Ninth Marines, First Marine Division, Camp Pendleton, Calif.

A Meritorious Mast is official recognition of superior performance from an individual's commanding officer. It is issued in the form of a bulletin distributed throughout the command, and a copy is entered in the individual's permanent service records.

The first real word in the average dictionary is probably "aa." It is the name for a kind of spongy lava.

Coffee adds a delicious flavor to sweets

©Homestyle hospitality starts with a cup of coffee and freshly baked cookies or a satisfying sweet.

But if you thought coffee tasted great only in your cup, you'll really enjoy these delicious recipes, made even better with coffee as a rich, flavorful ingredient. Here are just a few taste-tempting ideas from the Folger Coffee Kitchen.

OLD-FASHIONED RAISIN BARS

Top these tasty bar cookies with Coffee Icing below or a sprinkling of powdered sugar —

- 1 cup hot strong-brewed Folger's coffee
- 1 cup raisins
- 1 cup sugar
- 1/2 cup cooking oil
- 1 slightly beaten egg
- 1 3/4 cups all-purpose flour
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- 1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
- 1/2 teaspoon ground nutmeg
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon ground allspice
- 1/4 teaspoon ground cloves
- Coffee Icing, recipe below
- 1/2 cup chopped nuts (optional)

Pour hot coffee over raisins; cool to lukewarm. Stir in sugar, oil and egg. Stir together flour, soda, cinnamon, nutmeg, salt, allspice and cloves. Add raisin mixture; stir till combined. Pour batter into greased 13x10x1-inch baking pan. Bake in 375° oven for 12 to 15 minutes or till done. Cool. Spread with Coffee Icing. Sprinkle with nuts, if desired. Cut in bars. Makes 4 dozen.

COFFEE ICING

- 3 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 2 cups sifted powdered sugar
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- Strong-brewed Folger's coffee

In mixer bowl cream together butter or margarine and powdered sugar. Beat in vanilla and enough coffee to make of spreading consistency, about 2 tablespoons. Use as icing for cookies or coffee cakes.

It pays to topdress pastures.

Pastures are too often overlooked in an otherwise comprehensive fertility program.

The fact is, proper fertilization of pasture will greatly increase meat and milk production. You'll see faster weight gain, more pounds of gain per acre, a longer grazing season and greater carrying capacity. It can also dramatically increase your milk production.

Begin with a soil test. Then apply the fertilizer shown to be needed. Add lime, if your soil is found high in acidity.

County Agent's Report

Recently we were in some wheat fields south of Muenster and several problems were very evident. The first is the increased incidence of crown rot or foot rot in wheat. The problem has gotten worse in the past several years and in some fields it appears to have spread over about a fourth of the field.

The cause is a fungus called Helminthosporium. I throw that name in mainly because it's hard to spell and pronounce both. Seriously, this fungus is a big problem in certain fields and little can be done for control.

The foot rot can occur singly, in small circular spots, or large areas of a field. The most evident characteristic besides the dead spots is the black rotted area around the crown or base of the plant. Many times you can pull on the plant, and it will come up due to the rotted roots. The disease is more apt to be in fields that are continually recropped to wheat. Barley and oats can be affected but to a much smaller degree.

Residue management and deep plowing are two of the best ways to control foot rot if you are going to recrop to wheat. Deep burial of stubble so that it will rot will help to reduce the problem. The fungus can live for several years in the soil so rotation to non-susceptible crops like milo or a legume will also help. And, the use of seed fungicides will also aid in reducing the problems. There appears to be no relation to seed source or wheat variety in slowing the development of the fungus.

Producers should look for the black rotted crown while combining this year's crop.

One other problem that's popping up in fields is the presence of blank heads randomly throughout the field. The primary cause is a small grub called a wheat stem maggot. They generally feed inside and around the node at the flag leaf. The head and part of the stem will separate from the plant at that point. They cause little economic damage in most instances and well it is, too, because little can be done with the use of insecticides.

Besides these two problems, the wheat crop looks very good over the county.

One last mention about grain sorghum-sorghum is growing fine in most fields. The beneficial insects have brought the aphid infestation under control the past two weeks, and the plant is now responding by growing rapidly. In the areas that are still dry, inspect the lower leaves for the presence of spider mites. Watch the lower leaves to see if they start to dry from the feeding of this pest. If you have to treat for this pest, put in a wetting agent to help get coverage of the leaf on the underside. Increasing the amount of water per acre when treating will give better control.

Montgomery applies for invention patent

Ronald S. Montgomery of Muenster, has recently applied for a patent of his invention call "Gyro-Cube." The product is a novelty design variation of the now-famous Rubik's Cube, mounted on a finger ring and consisting of two discs on 90-degree opposite axes. The discs are composed of identical small rings of squares which can be rotated in either direction about their axes. Since the rings intersect at their mutual third axis, the squares at the intersection plane are part of both rings when they cross and can be moved in either plane from that point. If each of the rings of squares are of different colors creating patterns, then random rotation disrupts the original or "start-off" pattern. If the pattern was distinctly uniform originally, the novelty objective then, is to return them to that original display.

The design actually creates a game that can be played on a finger.

Mr. Montgomery, a city administrator, is married with four children. He conceived this idea based on the workings of gyroscope.

Recently, a patent search was conducted by a registered patent attorney who determined that Mr. Montgomery's idea was indeed unique and was patentable.

American Patent Research Corporation is acting as a publicity and licensing agent for the inventor and the described IDEA. Headquartered in Washington D.C., APRC works directly with licensed registered patent attorneys, engineers, technical writers, and graphic artists. While approaching potential buyers, promotion and publicity of a new product concept becomes an essential part of the process.

Strong majority supports Finnell

Texas Secretary of State John Fainter has notified the office of State Rep. Charles Finnell that Finnell received more votes than any other Representative involved in a contested race in this year's Democratic and Republican primaries.

Finnell (D-Holliday) serves the nine-county 80th House District where he received a record 14,466 votes in his bid for re-election on Saturday May 5. "Congratulations," said the Secretary of State, "to you and to the citizens of your district for the outstanding results in the primary."

"I am grateful for the confidence and citizen participation expressed by the voters," Finnell stated, "and proud that the 80th district indeed exercises a most precious freedom — the right to vote." Rep. Finnell ranks fourth in seniority of the 150 State Representatives and is chairman of the House Committee on Retirement and Aging. He is unopposed in the November general election.

Proposed bill would exempt some passbook savings tax

Congressman Charles W. Stenholm (D-Stamford) has announced his co-sponsorship and introduction of legislation to provide tax relief to low and middle-income families with passbook savings accounts and to help lower overall interest rates. The bill is titled, "The American Passbook Savings Act."

This bill, introduced by Congressman W. J. "Billy" Tauzin (D-La.), Stenholm, and 54 other members of both parties in the U.S. House of Representatives, would exempt from federal income taxation the first $5,000 ($10,000 on a joint return) of interest earned on "traditional passbook" savings accounts paying up to 6 percent interest. "This bill will accomplish three very important things," Stenholm said. "First, it will ease the tax burden on the average family that manages to save a little. Second, by reducing the cost of money that is the source for mortgages and other loans, it will help bring down interest rates. Third, by attracting more money into savings accounts, it will make more money available for the capital investments needed to maintain our country's economic recovery."

"For years," Stenholm said, "Our tax laws have encouraged everyone, including the government, to go into debt. Rewarding people for saving for a change, while bringing down the general level of interest rates at the same time, will be a shot in the arm for the entire economy."
