Pardon me for seeming to revert to an old habit — that of prog-nosticating about the war. If it bores you, try to make allowance for the fact that this column has for the past several weeks exer-cised commendable restraint in that respect. But now, since a major break has come, and especially since everybody else seems to be talking about it, Con would like the privilege of putting in his two bits' worth.

The incident, of course, is the Italian fold-up. Which, though still a long way from the eventual goal, is definitely a long step in goal, is definitely a long step in the right direction. It means that menths have been surfacelly quite a few other local fans recogmonths have been automatically deducted from the duration and that thousands of allied lives have been saved. Anybody that's optimistic can find plenty cause for rejoicing in has the vaunted U-boat fleet. Millions of patriots in occupied countries are breaking out in sabotage and open rebellion. Oil supplies are dwindling. Transportation is deteriorating. Arms manufacture has been critically slowed down. And, if recent expanse of the Gestapo has any significance, German morale isn't so hot either.

All that in itself is enough to give the ex-paperhanger an awful hangover. But added thereto is the growing Allied power in contrast with depleting Nazi power. Relentless punishment is taking its toll. Consider the Russian counter-offensive for instance. It that this is equivalent to the army is rolling back the eastern front so fast that Hitler's retreating legions aren't able to keep ahead. Result is that thousands of guns, tanks and trucks are falling into Red hands and the terrified fleeing Heinies are being picked off like ducks in a bath tub. That's hurting Hitler. Hurting him plenty. And if he doesn't hurry up some reinforcements to help those deflated specimens of the master race, Stalin is going to chase them all the way to Berlin.

If history repeats itself the Germans will vell kamerad as soon as they see their goose is cooked. If they fear the kind of treatment they have been dishing out to others, they may go on fighting like a pack of cornered rats.

About One-Fourth Of Quota Is In: Committee Will Solicit Next Week

Wednesday

Muenster bond sales in the Third War Loan drive reached a total of approximately $20,000 Wednesday noon, according to J. M. Weinzapfel, local chairman. He urged citizens to lend their fighting dollars in an all-out effort to meet the quota of $90,000 by October 1.

Thus far in the drive purchases have been voluntary, Weinzapfel said. It appears, however, he added, that the local bond committee will begin soliciting next week to promote sales. The committee plans to call on all citizens, especmaneuvers in Louisiana. He enterially those who are too busy with field work and cotton picking to come to town.

> The bond committee, named by the chairman, is: Albert Hen-scheid, Bernard Voth, Wm. Becker, C.J. Fette, H.P. Hennigan, J.R. Danglmayr, John Bayer, J. B. Klement, G.H. Hellman, Felix Becker and Frank Trubenbach.

339 Register At Sacred Heart School And 60 Report At Public School

Three hundred and ninety nine pupils registered at both Muenster schools on Monday morning, the opening day of the current year. Of this number 339 enrolled at Sacred Heart school, and 60 at the public school.

At the parochial school 276 are in the grade department and 63 enrollment in the history of the institution. Three Benedictine Sisters as instructors, divide the high school subjects, and eight Sisters teach one grade each in the grade department.

Attendance at Mass preceded registration and pupils were present in full numbers. Rev. Thomas Buergler, pastor, was celebrant and the children sang hymns.

Enrollment at this school will go well beyond the 350 mark when children who are now picking cotton and did not register on opening day come to classes.

Sacred Heart High opened Monday with the largest number of students in the history of the school. The enrollment of sixtythree students includes twentyone freshmen. All of the old students have returned with the exception of Frank Hennigan '44 and Herbert Fette'46, who have entered Subiaco Academy. Our sincerest wishes for a very successful scholastic year go to these two young men two young men.

Among new faces on the campus among the upper classmen we see Henry Yosten, '45, Arnold Knabe, '45, and Thomas Grem-minger '46. Welcome to these new students. The sophomore class consists of eighteen members, the Junior class of twelve and the Senior class of twelve members.

On Monday, following the registration Reverend Father Thomas, the Principal, addressed the students and enumerated his plans for the coming year, including the athletic program. The students showed great enthusiam and promised him their wholehearted cooperation.

The faculty includes Reverend Father Thomas, instructor in Religion and Church History, Sister M. Geraldine, Languages and Commercial, Sister M. Paula, English and Social Science, and Sister M Georgia, Science and Math-

Experience shows that farmers who destroy cotton stalks in the fall have less boll weevil damage the next season. This is especially true where a group of farmer cooperate as a community in stalk destruction. The earlier the stalks are destroyed the better - sixty days before frost is more effective than thirty.

In any event, cotton stalks era-dicated at least four weeks before frost is effective and profitable in reducing the number of boll weevils which survive the winter to attack the next year's cotton crop. Weevils feed only on growing cotton. When cotton is harvested early and all green stalks destroyed, weevils are without food until they seek winter quar-

Experimental data from different sections of the Cotton Belt reveal that from 19 to 24 times as many weevils survive the winter in or near fields where cottor stalks grow until frost, compared to fields where stalks were de stroyed by October 15. One pair of weevils which sur vive the winter is capable, under favorable conditions, of adding twelve million weevils to next year's population. In view of this, a farming practice as simple and economical as stalk destruction which will destroy eighteen out of nincteen carry-over-weevils is

Any practical means, such as plowing, disking, or cutting, of completely stopping the growth of cotton stalks is satisfactory

In this extremely crucial period, needs for all kinds of materials, equipment and food are increasing with expanding attacks on the enemy. One of our important responsibilities is to supply the extra dollars for these extra needs.

Lone Star folks are backing their more than 900 fellow-employees who are serving in the Armed Forces with extra dollars invested in extra war bonds. War Bonds pay a dividend of priceless value—freedom. So, back the attack.
