

THE LAST FEW MONTHS, the Muenster Jaycees have been repairing the F-84-F Thunderstreak jet plane in the Muenster City Park. With the vandal-induced holes patched, the plane sanded and cleaned, the obsolete Korean War plane was ready to paint. David Muller and Darren Voth are shown applying the gray paint. They were helped by Bret Walterscheid and Ron Trubenbach. The Jaycees plan to return the original decals to the airplane for a more authentic appearance. The Jaycees installed the plane in 1971.

Council discusses appraisal budget, flouride in city water

Much discussion and few Council actions were the sum of a relatively short Muenster City Council meeting Monday night.

In old business, aldermen opted to table a request from Mom's Pie Co. for wood trim on its building. Concern for fire safety and the key rate of the city's insurance were reasons the issue had been tabled from a previous meeting of the Council. The decision of granting the wood trim will be made after the Council receives more information.

Bill Sherman, chief appraiser for the Cooke County Appraisal District, began new business on the agenda by answering questions from the Council concerning the proposed Cooke County Appraisal District budget. Robert G. Klement, a member of the appraisal district board of directors, also was present.

The Council on July 6 had voted to reject the proposed budget of $462,860. Sherman on Monday night said that six of the 11 Cooke County taxing entities that have voting rights on the budget have rejected it. These six entities are Muenster ISD, Valley View ISD, Era ISD, Walnut Bend ISD, Lindsay ISD and Callisburg ISD.

Six of the 11 entities must approve the budget before next Monday for it to pass. Muenster Independent School District, another entity with voting rights, has not taken action on it.

The Council's reason for rejecting the budget last month was its increase from last year.

"Increases breed increases," Joe Fenton, Muenster city ISD.

Court poses hardship for non-Gainesville voters

Want to vote in next Saturday's special election for the 30th District State Senate seat?

You'll have to go to Gainesville to do so.

All voting precincts in Cooke County for the Bobby Albert/Steve Carriker state senator race have been consolidated by the county commissioners court to Gainesville. Stationed in that city will be four polling locations for all county voters. These four locations are the only voting places in the county for the special election.

According to Debbie Hess, Cooke County Republican Chairman, voters in Precinct 17 will vote at First United Methodist Church at 214 S. Denton Street in Gainesville. Precinct 18 voters will vote at Commerce Street Church of Christ Annex, located at 602 N. Commerce Street in Gainesville. Voters in Precincts 14, 15 and 16 (Myra, Rosston and Forestburg areas) also will vote at the First United Methodist Church in Gainesville.

Jim Robertson, Cooke County judge, on Wednesday said the court voted on June 13 to consolidate the voting precincts as a cost saving measure for the county.

The court's consolidation move was based upon a recommendation from the county clerk that voter turnout for the special election would be low, Robertson said.

"I'm not trying to say that the special election is not important," he said. "but people will be able to choose between the same two candidates in November, when the legislature will be in session."

Robertson said that the candidate elected in the Aug. 13 election will not serve legislative duties before the next term begins on Jan. 1, 1989 unless the governor calls a special session of the Senate.

"And whoever wins in August may not win again in November," he said.

Robertson said the consolidation will save the county money by not having to hire as many election judges. But he said it would be difficult to predict whether the voting turnout will be lower than if the voting precincts were not all located in Gainesville.

Absentee voting in the special election continues at the county clerk's office until Tuesday, Aug. 9.

Candidates to battle in special election

The heated race for the 30th District State Senate seat will come to a head next Saturday in a special election between Democrat Steve Carriker and his Republican opponent, Bobby Albert.

Carriker and Albert are campaigning for the unexpired senate term vacated earlier this year by Ray Farabee. The two candidates again will vie for the same post on Election Day, Nov. 8.

Bobby Carr, a worker at Albert's campaign headquarters in Wichita Falls, said on Tuesday that he expects a low voter turnout on Aug. 13.

"People are more focused for November. They're not thinking about voting in the middle of August," Carr said. "I don't feel the turnout will be truly representative." But Muenster voters could make a difference, he said.

Among issues Albert stands for are a ban on a state income tax, support for workers' compensation reform, local control on school districts and tougher penalties for drug pushers and users, Carr said.

"Muenster is a conservative area of Cooke County and Bobby is the conservative in the race," he said. "He is a small businessman who knows what attracts small businesses to create that environment in Muenster."

Bill Brannon, manager of Carriker's campaign, said on Tuesday that he expects a fair turnout: for the election.

"It'll be an advantage in November for whoever wins," Brannon said. "And should the special election be decisive, it will be especially advantageous for the incumbent."

Carriker's major issues, Brannon said, are property tax relief at the state level, and energy and agriculture concerns. As a state representative, Carriker consistently has opposed and will continue to oppose a state income tax, he said.

"Steve has legislative experience, knowledge and ability. He will not need on-the-job training," Brannon said.

It's a sport... it's a hobby... it's addictive

Diving from the sky

Wenche Larsen had a hard time explaining how it felt to freefall at a rate of 120 miles per hour.

But after gently landing with a smile and a thumbs-up sign, she said she'd recommend skydiving to anyone.

"In the plane, I wasn't nervous," explained Larsen, a native of Norway who is staying in Fort Worth. "But when people started jumping and it was our turn, it was scary. Then there was no way back."

Larsen had her first skydiving experience Sunday during "DC-3 Boogie" at Gainesville Municipal Airport. She was one of about 100 people who turned out to jump from a 1943 Paratrooper DC-3 plane during the special weekend offered by North Texas Parachute Center.

"There was a strong wind in my face. It was a little hard to breathe, but it was just lovely," Larsen said. "I kept thinking,

'Does it (parachute) open, or doesn't it?'"

Bill Parson of North Richland Hills, a veteran skydiver with more than 1,750 jumps, filmed his own jump with a 35mm camera on the front of his helmet and a video camera attached to the back.

"It's an exotic sport. It's exhilarating," Parson laughed. "I'm hooked on it."

"Oh! I have slipped the surly bonds of earth And danced the skies on laughter-silvered wings..."

from "High Flight" by John Gillespie Magee Jr.

From a plane such as the DC-3, which dropped jumpers from an altitude of 13,000 feet, Parson said, jumpers freefall for about 75 seconds before descending under open parachutes for about 2 1/2 minutes.

Parson said he likes to skydive at the Gainesville center because there is less air traffic there than in cities, and safety conditions are excellent.

Forest McBride, owner and general manager of the parachute center, said he moved the North Texas Parachute Center from Dallas to Gainesville in April 1987. And most of his regular weekend jumpers come from Metroplex cities.

"It's not for everybody," McBride said of skydiving. "By the time somebody makes five or six jumps, they decide whether they like it. And if they do, they're hooked."

On a usual weekend, three small crafts operate at the center for skydivers, he said. Starting at about 5 p.m. on Fridays, the jumping continues until about 11 p.m. and begins again at 8 a.m. on Saturdays and Sundays for daylong action. Cost for a ticket to jump from a regular craft is $12.

About once a month, however, the center features a special aircraft such as the DC-3. This plane gains higher altitude than smaller crafts and can carry up to 40 jumpers. Cost to jump from the DC-3 was $14.

There have been only six injuries, all of them minor, out of the almost 17,000 jumps that have been made at the center, McBride said.

"Skydivers trying stunts hurt themselves. Generally it's a safe sport," he said.

The center offers three different training courses, ranging in price from $125 to $250, for people interested in learning to skydive.

"Skydiving started out as a daredevil sport in the 1950s and graduated into weekend recreation," McBride said. "It's an adult carnival."

Good News!

Blest too the peacemakers; they shall be called sons of God.

Is abortion Democrats Achilles heel?

At the opening press conference of the National Right to Life Committee (NRLC) Convention, leaders of the group predicted the abortion issue would prove to be the "achilles heel" for the Democrats' Dukakis/Bentsen ticket.

"This is the most pro-abortion presidential ticket in history," declared NRLC President John C. Willke, M.D. "Both Governor Dukakis and Senator Bentsen have demonstrated time and time again a staunch commitment to legal abortion-on-demand, and to federal funding of abortion. These men are bad news for unborn babies."

"Pro-life voters can provide the margin of victory in an election," said NRL PAC Director Sandra Faucher. "Millions of pro-life Democrats have been abandoned by their party again. With a solid pro-abortion ticket and platform in '88, the Democratic Party has told all voters who are concerned about the continued killing of helpless, unborn babies to vote for George Bush. Bush is pro-life. Bush favors overturning the Roe vs. Wade abortion on-demand decision and opposes abortion funding," said Faucher.

"The number one priority of the pro-life movement until the election is to educate every pro-life voter on the hard-core pro-abortion positions of Dukakis and Bentsen," Willke added. "When enough people know the truth, they will not vote for a ticket that denies compassion for the most helpless human beings of all - unborn babies."

Senate approves North Texas water projects

The U.S. Senate has given final approval to a broad-ranging energy and water appropriations bill that will fund $255 million in Texas projects, U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm reported recently.

Overall, the bill funds $18 billion worth of projects nationwide, Gramm said.

The funding affects literally thousands of projects throughout the United States through the departments of Interior and Energy as well as the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, Gramm noted.

"Particularly in Texas, these projects are vital for such varied activities as flood control, navigation and economic development," he said.

"They mean jobs for Texans and a specific return on the invest-

Dear Voters of Cooke County,
 On August 13, 1988 there will be a Special Election to fill the unexpired term of Ray Farabee - State Senator for the 30th District. The race is between Democrat Steve Carriker and Republican Bobby Albert. This race is important! The winner of this race will get his feet wet before the November Election. The consensus is whoever wins this race will probably win the November race also.

The problem for Cooke County is that your County Commissioners saw fit to drop the number of voting precincts to four for this race. Their reason, they say, is to save taxpayers money. Well, there are a lot of ways to save taxpayers money and not discriminate against those voters who do not live in Gainesville. The Texas election code 42.008 specifically says the commissioners may consolidate precincts for a special election as long as the polling place is located so it will adequately serve the voters of the consolidated precinct. It is my opinion and the opinion of many others that the voters who live outside of Gainesville have not been adequately served. Then, the commissioners must also have submitted preclearance to the Justice Department of Washington 60 days prior to the election. This is under question.

What can be done, you ask? First complain to your commissioners about not having adequate voting precincts. Call or write the Justice Department; I was told if it does not involve blacks or hispanics then it is harder to get results from this department. But second and most important, you can vote for a candidate who is a strong, caring family man. Bobby Albert is backed by the Texas Right to Life Group. He is ready to help us the 30th district and help Texas. You have until Tuesday, Aug. 9 to vote absentee at the county courthouse. Anyone can vote absentee now; you no longer have to be away from the county on election day in order to vote absentee. If unable to do that then please go to Gainesville on August 13 and vote. Feel free to call me for information on where to vote. If you need a ride we will get you to the polls. Please take the time to make this an important election because your vote will make a difference!

Sincerely,
 Debbie Hess,
 Cooke County Republican Chairman

Letter to the Editor,

On Sat. Aug. 13, we are going to have a special election for State Senator for the Texas Legislature. This election is to fill the position left empty by the resignation of Sen. Ray Farabee.

This position, like all others, will have to deal sooner or later with the issue of abortion and the rights of the unborn child.

In the Sacred Heart Bulletin recently we were given quotes from the Bishops reminding us how important it is for us to choose elected officials whose beliefs will offer protection to the unborn in accordance with Christian teachings and basic laws of nature. This is the single most important issue when selecting a candidate for public office.

We find in this race that Steve Carriker is taking the stand in favor of abortion, while Bobby Albert, a well-respected family man, is strongly opposed to abortion and in fact has the statewide support of the Political Action Committee of the Texas Right to Life Organization.

I urge you to vote for Bobby Albert. Voting will be only in Gainesville on Sat. Aug. 13, or you may vote absentee at the courthouse until Tuesday, Aug. 9.

Bentsen pushing new trade bill

by Lloyd Bentsen,
 United States Senator

Under current policies - without a dramatic change in U.S. trade policy - Americans can expect to see a growing bite taken out of their standard of living.

In fact, according to a new Library of Congress study, without new policies U.S. international debt will triple over the next six years alone.

What does this mean for the men and women of Texas, of the U.S.?

For one thing, the benefits of healthy economic growth would be cut significantly. If the Gross National Product grew at a brisk three percent, for example, one third of that would be needed to service our country's foreign debts.

If our GNP increased by just one percent, which is the pessimistic outlook, all of that growth would go to paying off those foreign debts.

On a practical level, this mushrooming debt would mean consumer goods will be higher priced and harder to come by for Americans.

The bottom line would be a cut in our standard of living. All of this has happened rather quickly.

Earlier this decade, as the study points out, our nation - in the short period of three years - went from the largest creditor to the No. 1 debtor nation in the world. This year, for the first time, the amount we are paying to service our foreign debt exceeds what we are owed.

According to an analysis of the study, this "is a projection of where 'current policy' likely leads."

Even though the trade deficit will go down a little this year and again a little bit next year, this study predicts that it will start back up unless our trade policies change.

The results of this study are, of course, very troubling and a solid argument for enactment this year of the Bentsen trade bill.

My legislation, which passed both the Senate and the House by impressive, bipartisan majorities, is aimed at establishing an effective national trade policy, increasing world trade and expanding our markets, allowing us to sell more of our goods in more markets.

The trade bill alone won't solve our trade problems. But it will be a positive thrust for trade. And it will help us raise the standard of living for families in Texas and throughout the nation.

Gramm amendment protects farmers

WASHINGTON - The U.S. Senate has approved an amendment to the drought aid bill that will protect prudent ranchers and farmers by assuring them to the USDA's Emergency Feed Program.

Under current law, Gramm said in offering the amendment, "if a person in the cattle or dairy business recognized up to two months ago that we were having a drought and went out and stockpiled hay and paid a premium for it, he would not be eligible for the Emergency Feed Program."

The Gramm amendment reverses that rule, allowing farmers and ranchers who tried to deal with the drought by purchasing feed before their counties were declared eligible for the Emergency Feed Program to take part in the program.

"A person shouldn't be barred from the feed program because he saw the drought coming and tried to do the right thing," Gramm said.

The Senate's drought relief bill passed overwhelmingly, including the Gramm amendment.

Lindsay ISD School Board rejects inflationary budget

by Elaine Schad

Charging that it was inflationary, the Lindsay School Board has rejected the proposed 1989 budget of the Cooke County Appraisal District.

Lindsay became the fifth taxing entity in the county to reject the $462,860 budget, an increase from the $426,140 adjusted 1988 budget. The actual 1988 CCAD budget, which included collection costs, was $482,440.

The City of Muenster, Walnut Bend ISD, Valley View ISD, and Era ISD have all notified the CCAD office that the budget has been rejected. Should a sixth entity reject the package before the Aug. 7 deadline, the CCAD board of directors must submit a new proposal for consideration, said Bill Sherman, CCAD chief appraiser.

A major change in the CCAD proposed budget included upgrading of the district's mapping system. That part of the budget is proposed to increase from $30,000 to $63,600. Also included in the budget is the final $37,600 installment for the purchase of the district's computer.

Cost for tax collections, estimated at about $70,000 for 1988, has been deleted from the CCAD budget. That function will be taken over by the county beginning Oct. 1, because of a successful referendum vote to transfer those duties from the CCAD to the county.

Estimated cost to the entities for 1989 collection is about $100,000. The county's 14 taxing entities will pick up the tab for both the CCAD budget and the county's collection budget.

In other business during its regular monthly meeting, board members welcomed the district's new social studies teacher and assistant football coach, Warren Dane Elrod. Elrod, a former teacher's aide at Del Rio, is a graduate of Virginia State University.

The board also reviewed the 1988 certified tax roll which shows a drop in total taxable value in the Lindsay ISD to $51,180,000. The 1987 taxable value was $51,750,000. Most of the loss was attributed to the closing of the DeSoto plant which was located in the Lindsay school district.

In other matters, the board:

- Reported 1987 tax collections to date at 97.4 percent complete.

- Approved the Booster Club use of the concession stand for football with the club receiving 60 percent of the proceeds.

- Accepted the auditor's report as presented by Mike Kendall, CPA.

- Accepted a bid from Borden's to provide milk for the cafeteria during 1988-1989.

Money market account offers rate protection features

Gibraltar Savings and First Texas Savings have introduced the Guaranteed Money Fund, a high balance money market deposit account with a number of special rate protection features.

With a $25,000 minimum, the Guaranteed Money Fund will earn a rate of at least 7.75 percent through Dec. 31, 1988. (The monthly compounding yield will be 8.03 percent) During 1989, while the rate on the account will change monthly, it will be equal to at least 1 percent above the 6-month Treasury auction rate. Additionally, throughout 1989, the rate on customers' accounts is guaranteed not to go below 6.50 percent, even if the Treasury rates drop significantly.

"We believe the Guaranteed Money Fund is one of the finest money market accounts in the country," said Geoffrey B. Johnston, Senior Vice President of Marketing. "Not only do we offer a solid rate for 1988, but the 1989 guarantees are significantly better than what our competition offers.

"To date, we have found the Guaranteed Money Fund to be very attractive to high net worth individuals. The account offers both the value and liquidity they are looking for in today's uncertain financial markets," said Johnston. "In addition, the rate protections through 1989 provide incentives for the customer to keep their savings with our associations. This will give us time to establish additional relationships with them, including a special line of credit product we have designed to meet this group's particular needs."

Although the account is being offered nationwide, Houston and several Florida markets were chosen for the primary introduction. In the four weeks that the Guaranteed Money Fund has been marketed, results have been very positive. Over $80 million has been deposited in this account during that time. According to

Johnston, "the majority of this money is new to the associations."

The product is available at any Gibraltar or First Texas office in Texas as well as from their National Banking Department. "Today, we serve the needs of over 14,000 people outside of Texas," claims Bill Dimitt, Vice President in charge of National Banking activities. "We have a team of specialists who understand the difficulties of banking long distance. Each customer is assigned to a personal representative who does everything possible to make sure we're as convenient to our customers as the bank right down the street. We have procedures, like including crediting the deposit as of the date of postmark, to ensure customers feel comfortable banking long distance with us."

Gibraltar Savings and First Texas Savings comprise the largest savings and loan holding company in Texas, with assets of over $9 billion.

manager told Sherman. "You're doing something that looks like a bad trend."

But Klement defended the budget increases with the claim that the county is legally bound to map its land. Less than 2 percent of Cooke County has been mapped by the appraisal district, Sherman said.

"What Bill is trying to tell you is that he's got to follow the law and get it done, and he's got to have people to do it," Klement said. "The board is trying to work as economically as possible - no new equipment, no raises. There's no fat in the budget."

Dollars were again the main topic of concern when the Council moved to its next item, discussion of the city returning to a program of injecting fluoride in city water. Mayor Ted Henschel said he has gotten a number of telephone calls and one letter from Muenster residents since a Muenster Enterprise article about the city's fluoride situation was printed in the newspaper on July 1.

The city of Muenster injected fluoride in city water from the 1950s until 1980, when the City Council voted to discontinue the program. Muenster is the only city in the state to have stopped fluoridating its water.

"It was more trouble than it was worth at the time, it seemed like," Henschel said. He was a Council member in 1980. "But if it's (fluoride in water) is that beneficial, I suppose we could handle it."

Alderman Claude Klement said he thinks many Muenster residents had been unaware that the city was not fluoridating its water. Fenton, meanwhile, expressed concern over the cost to buy necessary equipment.

"I'm sure that it's possible to buy the equipment, but it's the cost that's the question," Fenton said.

The Council will study the matter further.

In other business, Council members gave go ahead for the city to buy the 13 guard lights at the city park from TU Electric, using gate money from Germanfest. Cost for the lights is $4,829. This purchase, Fenton said, in the future will represent a savings from the $110 the city pays each month for the lights.

The Council during its meeting also:

MRS. JOHN ANTHONY WALTERScheid
...nee Dana Rose Dankesreiter ...

July 30 ceremony unites couple

Dana Rose Dankesreiter became the bride of John Anthony Walterscheid on Saturday, July 30, in a Nuptial Mass with double ring ceremony at 5 p.m. by Father Victor Gillespie in Sacred Heart Church.

The bride is the daughter of Thomas and Rosemary Dankesreiter. She is also the granddaughter of Theresa and Tony Hermes of Lindsay and Lawrence Dankesreiter of Muenster. The groom is the son of Gerald and Betty Rose Walterscheid. He is also the grandson of Mrs. Margaret Kupper of Muenster and the late John Kupper, and Mrs. Tony Walterscheid of St. Richard's Villa.

She was given in marriage by her father.

For her wedding, the bride chose an original Mara Lee designed formal white gown with fitted bodice of sheer organza illusion enhanced by an overlay of silk lace appliques. Featuring a high, scalloped lace neckline, the yoke was edged with matching lace that extended into a deep applique. Sleeves were double puffed at the shoulders, slim-fitted to points at the wrists, and heavily appliqued with matching lace and bridal pearls.

The skirt of white iridescent embroidered Alencon lace flowed into an attached cathedral train with cloud ruffles dropping from the back waistline into the hemline. A panel of re-embroidered lace appliques accented the front of the skirt.

Her headpiece was a wreath of seeded pearl fabric flowers with a delicate cascade of bridal pearls on one side. A scalloped, poufed fingertip veil was caught to the back of the wreath.

She carried a bridal bouquet, created by the groom's mother, of cascading white stephanotis, lilies of the valley, white roses, hibiscus, and seed pearls accented by palest pink star flowers and English ivy. Ribbons and a pearl rosary, a gift from her maternal grandmother, completed the arrangement.

For something old, she wore a gold cross and chain necklace that belonged to her late grandmother, Mrs. Mary Koesler, also worn by the bride's mother on her wedding day. For something borrowed, she wore her mother's diamond earrings; something new were pearl and diamond earrings, a gift from the groom. She wore the traditional blue garter, and a lucky penny in her shoe.

v-shaped waists and short, puffed sleeves, accented with pleats and bows. Skirts were gathered at the waist line. Donna wore auvergine, Deann wore mauve, Leah wore dusty pink, Amy wore candy pink and the flower girl, DeAnn Beaty wore baby pink. She is a cousin of the bride and daughter of JoAnn and Riley Beaty of Howe. She carried a basket of flowers similar to the bridesmaids' nosegays.

Zachary Kupper was ring bearer. He is a cousin of the groom and son of Jim and Janel Kupper of Valley View. The Unity candle was carried by Jason Hermes, cousin of the bride and son of Ralph and Debbie Hermes of Gainesville.

The bridesmaids carried nosegays of alstromeria pink and mauve miniature carnations, forget-me-nots, shades of pink star flowers, pink and mauve miniature lilies, white baby's breath, accented with net ribbons to match each girl's dress.

Wreaths of matching flowers completed their attire. Each girl wore a pearl necklace, a gift from the bride.

Ben Luke of Muenster, friend and classmate of the groom, was best man. Doug Walterscheid of Grapevine and Ronnie Walterscheid of Muenster, both brothers of the groom, and Eric Dankesreiter of Muenster, bride's brother, were groomsmen.

Ushers were Larry Fleitman of Dallas, a friend; Jason Walterscheid of Muenster, groom's cousin; Tim Kupper of Rockwall, groom's cousin and Chris Hermes of Woodbine, bride's cousin. Mass servers were Tommy Joe Dankesreiter, bride's brother; Jeffrey Hermes, bride's cousin; and Derrel Kupper, groom's cousin.

The Unity candle was lit by the couple after their mothers presented each with a lighted taper from the main altar. The bridal couple then offered a special couple's prayer.

Other participants in the liturgy were grandparents of the couple, Tony Hermes, Lawrence Dankesreiter and Margaret Kupper, who presented Offertory gifts at the altar. The first Reading was given by Douglas Hermes of Austin and the second Reading by Joey Kupper of Rockwall. Leigh Ann Walterscheid of Grapevine, groom's sister-in-law, read the Offertory petitions.

Eucharistic ministers were Miriam Caplinger, Lucille Hesse, Rudy Koesler, Sister Monica Swirczynski, Leroy Kupper, Mark Hermes and Sam Endres.

Wedding music included organ, guitar, trumpet, piano and vocal selections. Traditional processional and recessional bridal marches, Trumpet Voluntary and Trumpet Tune were given by Ruth Felderhoff, organist, and Ronnie and Tina Weinzapfel on the trumpets.

Vocal selections were given by Pam Fette, Christi Klement and Wendell Black, including "Just You and I", "We've Only Just Begun", "Turn Around", "Two Candles", "Wedding Song", "Mother, At Your Feet We're Kneeling" and "Beginning Today."

Church decorations included white silk gladioli in fan arrangements, tied with pink bows, and candelabras with white candles on the high altar; English ivy with pink votive candles on the Communion rail, and a pair of tall, footed heart-shaped candelabra with lighted candles in the altar space.

with pecans and chocolate and white icing curls. Both cakes were made by the groom's mother, who also made all flowers for the wedding party.

The bride's cake was cut by Joan Walterscheid, groom's aunt. The groom's cake was cut by Leigh Ann Walterscheid, groom's sister-in-law. Cake servers were Jennifer, Kim and Susan Kupper, Julie Walterscheid, Karen Kay Hermes, Loren Hermes and Jennifer Hermes.

A slide program was arranged by Larry Lemons of Nocona to present pictures of John and Dana, from their childhood to the present time.

Guests attended from Fort Worth, Gainesville, Lindsay, Lewisville, Grapevine, Roanoke, Valley View, Floresville, Rockwall, Weatherford, Lake Dallas, Sherman, Howe, Tioga, Bedford, Farmers Branch, Carrollton, Benbrook Pilot Point, Muenster and Wisconsin.

The bride is a graduate of Muenster High School, participating in State track, District basketball and North Texas Honor Band. She attended Cooke County College and Austin College in Sherman where she was a member of the Austin College Jazz Band and Texas Nursing Student Association. She is employed at Gainesville Memorial Hospital.

The groom is a graduate of Muenster High School and attended Cooke County College. He is employed by Cooke County Electric Co-op as an Electrical Meterman. He is the newly elected Grand Knight of the Muenster Knights of Columbus.

When the couple returns from a wedding trip to Runaway Bay in Jamaica, they will be at home in Muenster.

Their rehearsal dinner was held on July 24 at 4 p.m. in the home of Dave and Joan Walterscheid.

A shower on July 10 for classmates and friends was hosted by Donna Fuhrmann, Amy Dankesreiter, Debbie Hermes and Leah Hermes. Another shower for 35 family members and relatives on July 17 was hosted by Joan Walterscheid.

Looking back 50 years is reunion theme

Eighth grade graduates of 1938 and high school graduates of 1942 of Sacred Heart Schools met for a reunion on July 2 in the Knights of Columbus Hall. Some had not seen each other since elementary school graduation 50 years ago. Their delight at renewing old friendships was evident throughout the event.

The celebration began with a happy hour at 5 p.m. followed by a catered dinner, a program and dancing, with music provided by Mike Otts.

During the program, each former classmate related high points of "My Last 50 Years," including family, careers, etc.

Plaques were presented to Juanita (Muller) Knabe, first of 1938 class to marry; Rose (Hennigan) Johnston, traveling the greatest distance; Lee Roy (Buddy) Yosten, least changed; Henry Felderhoff, most changed; Cecilia (Walterscheid) Wimmer, parent of most children with nine.

A letter from former teacher Sister Theresina was read to the gathering. Former student, Veronica (Yosten) Durbin of Kenner, La. sent a letter and family picture.

Five former classmates have died since 1938, and their memory was marked with a moment of silence.

Of Sacred Heart's eighth graders, eight continued to graduate from SH high school. Others transferred to Muenster High School, out-of-town academies, moved away to other towns or did not finish the next four years.

Father Denis Soerries was a guest and led the invocation and benediction.

The planning committee for the reunion spent many weeks in organization and tracing old ad-

Hospital honors Mary Hesse in July

Mary Hesse, daughter of Mrs. Ida Hesse and the late Meinrad Hesse, has been honored by Presbyterian Hospital of Dallas, where she has been employed for 13 years.

The official Employees' and Volunteers' Newsletter, "The Beeper," carried her picture and a commendation in the July issue. She also was named "Employee of the Month" for July.

One of the ballots received in nomination gave as one of the reasons: "Mary Hesse takes pride in her work and never says 'no' when anyone asks her to help. She is always pleasant to patients and co-workers no matter how busy."

When asked what person most influenced her life, she said: "My grandfather, Frank (Franz) Hesse. I have read his life history, about his courage as an early pioneer."

To the question "What are your favorite songs?" she replied: "Song of Joy" and "Morning Has Broken."

"My favorite quote is 'They that wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength - they shall mount up with wings as eagles.' Isaiah 40:31.

"The best advice I ever received," she continued, "was: 'Be kind and compassionate to others. Do not wish revenge on those who have hurt you.'"

When asked about her best childhood memory, she said: "The time spent with my dad, mom, brothers and sisters on the farm in Muenster; the cats, puppies, cows and other animals."

She added: "When I'm not working I like to read, watch TV, walk, swim, visit with family and friends."

To "Who is your favorite historical person and why?" she answered: "Mother Teresa of Calcutta, because of her great generosity and faith, and her wisdom to see the inherent value, beauty and equality of each and every created human being."

Mary Hesse is a native of Muenster and a graduate of Sacred Heart High School.

Wichita Falls hosts musical production

Falls Fanfare, featuring one of the most spectacular displays of musical entertainment and outdoor pageantry in North America, is coming to Memorial Stadium in Wichita Falls, Texas on Friday, Aug. 12, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Six of the top drum and bugle corps from the United States and Great Britain will bring their musical productions to life through the creative use of colors, choreography, costuming, props and intricate drill designs.

Drum Corps is Broadway on a football field. It bears as much resemblance to a typical marching band as midget football does to the Super Bowl. It is an unparalleled profusion of pageantry and pattern - marching and maneuvering to music as diverse as Buddy Rich and Tschaiokovsky; Gershwin and Frank Zappa.

Headlining this year's production is the number six ranked corps from the United States, the Madison Scouts from Madison, Wisconsin.

Celebrating a half-century of exciting educational youth development, the Madison Scouts will come out strong in 1988, with a unique blend of jazz and contemporary classic styles. The holder of a DCI World Championship, this corps from Madison, Wisconsin, is one of only two corps who have been DCI finalists every year since 1973.

The traditional Madison Scouts' emphasis on entertainment, excitement and variety will be evident in their program of "Concerto for Guitar and Jazz Orchestra" and the favorite "Malaguena."

Also performing in this 1988 production will be the Velvet Knights, Anaheim, California; the Sky Ryders, Hutchinson, Kansas; the Freelancers, Sacramento, California; Black Gold, Tulsa, Oklahoma; and as very special guests, the British Crusaders from Rainham, England.

This second annual production of Falls Fanfare is sponsored by a joint affiliation of the three Wichita Falls High School Band Parent organizations. Hirschi, Rider and Wichita Falls High Schools have combined to become the WFISD Band Parents Association.

Tickets to this event are $8.00 (reserved) and $6.00 (general admission). Mail ticket orders to Falls Fanfare, Rt. 2, Box 344, Wichita Falls, TX 76301, or call 817-692-2803.

Falls Fanfare is one of 48 Drum Corps International (DCI) events this summer leading up to the DCI World Championships, Aug. 15-20, in Kansas City, MO.

Scouts hike through Philmont

Ten Boy Scouts from Troop 664, along with Scoutmaster Waylen Poole and Stephen Vogel, joined Scouts from across the United States for adventure and wilderness excitement at Philmont Scout Ranch.

The ranch, located near Cimarron in northeast New Mexico, observed its fiftieth anniversary this summer. The Muenster Scouts were there from July 5-18.

Attending Philmont in the group were Eric Dankesreiter, crew leader; Gus Felderhoff, Jon Fleitman, Mark Flusche, Ryan Gehrig, Jimmy Herr, Rodney Knabe, Keith Vogel, Joe Weinzapfel and Brad Neu of Gainesville. They rode on a chartered bus for the 13-hour drive with Scouts from Sherman and Oklahomacities.

The Scouts backpacked for 10 days in the rugged wilderness of the Sangre de Cristo range of the Rockies, hiking for more than 50 miles. They camped out every night, prepared all their meals and carried food and supplies with them. They purified creek water to drink and put their dehydrated food in "bear bags" every night for protection.

While at Philmont, the Scouts also explored a gold mine and panned for gold, climbed rocks and poles and enjoyed western and Indian lore and trout fishing. They enjoyed the rich natural beauty of the area, including the soaring Tooth of Time, Mount Baldy, the blue water of the Cimarron-Cita Reservoir and sometimes cold temperatures. They interacted with different wild animals freely roaming the ranch.

The Scouts earned the Philmont Arrowhead Patch and the 50-year Anniversary Patch and, upon completion of a few hours' conservation work, the 50-Miler Award for hiking 50 miles.

Ticks can carry Lyme disease

Summer is the season for ticks in Texas. And anyone working or playing outdoors should be alert that some ticks, and the corkscrew-shaped organism they carry, can inflict serious arthritic misery.

People can contract Lyme disease after being bitten by an infected tick carrying bacteria called spirochetes. Lyme disease is named for the Connecticut town where it was first recognized in the U.S. in 1975.

The first symptom is often a red circular rash that enlarges. Victims seem to have a flu-like illness with fever, headache, chills, a stiff neck, and extreme fatigue.

Later, other health problems may include arthritis, and disorders of the heart and nervous system lasting months or years. The disease can be passed from a pregnant woman to her unborn child.

Lyme disease was detected in Texas by microbiologist Julie Rawlings at the Texas Department of Health's (TDH) Bureau of Laboratories in Austin. Suspecting the presence of the disorder, she began looking for it while examining lab specimens submitted for Rocky Mountain spotted fever. Today, health professionals at TDH's laboratories use a blood test to detect the disease.

"If a doctor begins treatment soon after infection, consequences such as long term joint problems can often be prevented," Rawlings explained. "If you have Lyme disease symptoms and a known tick bite, you should go see your doctor."

She added the Lyme disease is not a life-threatening health hazard, but can cause long-lasting discomforts.

In 1987, a total of 33 cases of Lyme disease were confirmed in Texas, compared to nine cases the previous year. Most of the cases occurred in the Dallas-Fort Worth area, but other cases also occurred in the Panhandle, and in Central, East and South Texas.

"We have found the spirochete in six kinds of ticks in Texas," Rawlings said. These are the Lone Star tick, the American dog tick, the brown dog tick, two types of rabbit ticks and the Ixodes tick.

"The disease is reported most during the summer months, and a good preventive measure is to check yourself and your pets for ticks after being outside," Rawlings said.

To remove a tick, she said, gently grasp it with tweezers close to the skin, and slowly pull it loose. Avoid crushing the tick with your fingers.

Rawlings said that Texans needing more information about the disease can contact the Southeast Division of the National Lyme Disease Foundation. The leader of the support group is Judith Williams, at 214-796-2806.

The Muenster Hornets, picked sixth in the seven-team district by Texas Football Magazine, and fourth overall by the Harris Rating System, get things started this week hoping to prove the experts wrong. Coach Bill Jump, along with Ted Heers and Tim Ratliff, a recent graduate of Oklahoma State University, hope to lead the Hornets to a better mark than last season's 3-7 slate.

Jump announced that physicals will be given Saturday morning at 7 a.m. in the Hornet Gym. All incoming freshmen and incoming junior high athletes for any sport must have a physical. Any transfer students or first-time athletic participants must have a physical. Anyone who had injuries requiring medical attention are recommended to receive physicals also.

Friday evening from 5 to 7 p.m., Hornet football players can report to the fieldhouse to receive socks, shoes, and locker assignments.

Practices officially begin Monday morning at 8 a.m. and again at 4 p.m. Coach Jump had a couple of warnings for the reporting players.

"We hope they will all be aware of the heat. As usual, we will be susceptible to heat exhaustion, and hope they are drinking a little more water and increasing their salt intakes; maybe eating some bananas, too. It doesn't hurt to prepare," he said. "Secondly, we hope they have been running sprints and distance. We have some conditioning surprises in store for them."

Friday, Aug. 19, Muenster will travel to Chico for a scrimmage. On Aug. 26, the Hornets will meet Howe here in their annual home scrimmage.

Athletic physicals are Aug. 6

Athletic Director at Sacred Heart High School, Coach Jon LeBrasseur has announced that physicals for all boys who will take part in any athletics during the 1988-1989 school year will be held on Saturday, Aug. 6 at 7 a.m. in the Muenster High School Gym. The program will be administered by Dr. Martin Kralicke.

Mourning dove hunting season prospects bright

AUSTIN -- Hunting prospects are good for mourning dove seasons beginning this September, but less rosy for white-winged doves in the Rio Grande Valley, Texas Parks and Wildlife Department officials said.

Ron George, dove program leader, said recent call-count surveys indicated mourning dove breeding populations in Texas are about 10 percent above last year's survey totals, and some 13 percent above the long-term average.

The highest counts occurred in the Rolling Plains region of North Central Texas, followed by the South Texas Plains and the Gulf Prairies and Marshes. Good populations also exist in the Post Oak Savannah, the Blackland Prairie and Cross Timbers regions, George said.

Relatively high mourning dove populations and dry weather are a good combination for hunters, George said. "Waterhole hunting should be good this year if the dry weather continues. Also, dry habitat may cause the birds to be highly concentrated in some areas and scarce in others."

The Parks and Wildlife Commission was to set 1988-89 dove hunting season dates and bag limits in its meeting in Austin on July 21.

Dry weather across most of the state has not been harmful to mourning dove production, as the birds commonly fly several miles daily for water. Valley white wings, however, have been hurt by a combination of weather conditions that included drought, high winds and heavy rains.

Crimes mar weekend

Rumors that floated around town Tuesday luckily developed into less than feared, although potentially could have been the start of another string of thefts and break-ins.

Police Chief Helen Tompkins Enjoy park facilities - with reservations

Reservations for use of Muenster City Park areas, along with a $25 deposit, are now required because of past litter problems at the park.

Beginning last Saturday, those wishing to use park facilities such as the pavilion, picnic table and barbecue areas or the center of the park inside the cables, must fill out reservation forms at City Hall. The forms include the date, time and park area desired for the reservation.

A $25 deposit is required at the time the reservation is made. The money will be returned if the area used passes a litter inspection afterward by a city employee.

The Muenster City Council voted for the reservation/deposit system at its July 6 meeting after seeing photographs of trash scattered through the park.

reported that inside the city limits, a battery was stolen from a pickup at Flusche Enterprises, sometime between Friday night and Monday morning.

Outside the city limits, officers were investigating a break-in at the home of Leonard Reiter Sunday night, July 31. Reiter reported that nothing was missing, but his safe showed signs of tampering.

His son had awakened that night, heard noises in the house, but apparently scared off the thief or thieves when he approached. They had apparently entered the house through a back window by prying off the screen.

Chief Tompkins also reported that the weekend was generally quiet and peaceful.

Almon antiques on display at Cooke County farm show

by Elaine Schad

Visitors to this year's 3rd Annual Cooke County Antique Tractor and Farm Machinery Show will see the operation of a threshing machine once used by a longtime Cooke County farmer and rancher who left his mark in the hearts and minds of those who knew him.

Burney Almon, 88, who was still very active in the ranching business until his death July 24, set out to restore several items about two months ago at his place east of Gainesville, said Leon Knauf, antique club member.

"He stopped at my shop one day about the first of June, and we talked about putting the threshing machine in the show," said Knauf. "His wife said he was really excited about it."

Almon told the club he'd like for several pieces he used back in the early 1900's to be in the show Aug. 27 and 28 at the Lindsay Tractor Pull Arena. The pieces are now owned by Almon's son, Harold.

Besides the threshing machine, which needs little restoration, Almon also had an early 1900's manure spreader and two antique grain wagons. All were in fair condition, but needed a lot of work to get them back into usable shape, said C.L. King, a longtime friend of the Almon family.

"He came to see me one day and said he wanted it all restored," said King, who remembers reroofing one of the barns on the Almon place for Burney's father many years ago.

King has already finished the John Deere fertilizer spreader, repairing some rotten areas and painting it in its original colors. He's almost finished with the grain wagon, which should also be ready in time for the show.

Almon bought the McCormick-Deering thresher in 1938 from Schad and Pulte in Gainesville, and used it for three seasons before retiring it to his barn, where it has set, virtually untouched, since 1941. Most farmers used the threshing machine to harvest their grain until the early 1950's when the combine came along.

"To me, it's always been an ominous kind of thing out there in the barn, said Janice Call, Almon's granddaughter, who also plans to restore many of the buildings on the Almon home place. "I can remember coming out here and seeing it as a little bit of a kid when we came out here to visit Grandmother and Granddad," she said.

Knauf said the thresher will be a tremendous addition to the show, which annually features more than 100 pieces of antique farm equipment, motors, and other farm antiques. "Those are the kind you want to put in the show because there's very little restoring you have to do," he said.

King said Almon used the grain wagon to gather the corn for many seasons, and used it a lot to haul cotton to the gin. He's tried to retain as many original parts of the wagon as possible.

Featuring Almon's antiques will be a way Cooke County residents can remember the former Farm Bureau president who worked hard all his life while dedicating himself to his community and family. "That was a man who left a footprint wherever he went," said King.

Drought to impact meat, poultry and produce prices

Drought-driven increases in feed grain prices will eventually have an impact on consumer costs for meat, poultry, some produce and canned goods, according to specialists with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service at Texas A&M University.

"Food shoppers probably won't see higher meat prices until late this summer," said Dr. Dick Edwards, an agricultural economist.

"The first indication of rising prices is usually fewer and fewer sales on meat, or slight discounts only on the less expensive cuts such as chuck and hamburger," he said.

"During the midsummer, consumers should find attractive meat prices and sales as farmers continue to sell off their stock," said the economist.

Extension Service poultry marketing specialist Dr. David Mellor said shoppers will find a similar situation with poultry.

"Consumers can expect a 3-6 month lapse before poultry prices rise because most poultry producers locked in grain prices the futures market months ago. But the drought will eventually have a heavy impact on poultry since 60-65 percent of the price the farmer receives goes to feed," he said.

"With the large supply of poultry and especially eggs on the market now, consumers can expect low prices and more specials throughout the summer."

According to Edwards, the produce counter may be the first place shoppers notice the effects of the drought.

"Now should be the start of the summer vegetable season from the midwest, but consumers aren't going to see the abundance of produce that usually prompts sales and falling prices as the season progresses," he said.

"We've already seen this effect with Texas watermelons, cantaloupes and peaches. There's no shortage, but prices aren't falling as you would expect during the height of the summer."

Since the upper midwest is the source of many vegetables for canning, such as sweet peas, Edwards said consumers will also see higher prices on some canned goods next winter.

While prices are still low this summer, consumers may want to stock their home freezers.

"If you do buy meat in bulk, protect it with moisture-vapor proof freezer wrap, freezer containers and tape so you have a good quality product three or four months later," said Extension family economics specialist Bonnie Piernot.

"Also consider the cost of the electricity it takes to run the freezer. If, for example, the electricity for your freezer costs $15 per month, that could offset the savings you realized by buying extra meat now," she said.

Conference slated for Oct. 19-21

County Agent's Report

by Craig Rosenbaum

With forage conditions as they are, producers can plan for additional forage by using small grains in fall plantings. This past year we looked at various wheat varieties and their potential for forage production in both fall and spring months. Our greatest need for forage in any type of livestock operation would be during the fall and winter months. Small grain varieties, especially wheat, vary greatly in their forage production capabilities. The following tables show the results of the hard and soft wheat forage yield demonstrations conducted on the Frank and Don Sandmann Farm at Lindsay and the Jerry Hudspeth Farm at Era.

Producers should realize that some of these varieties have other characteristics which are unfavorable. The Mit wheat is one of the earliest maturing varieties and could have problems with a late freeze. It also is a very susceptible to Septoria Leaf Blotch. Consider disease, grain yield and other production factors in making decisions on forage quality wheats.
