A large crowd of Sacred Heart School alumni and friends gathered Saturday night for a $25.00 per plate dinner to benefit the Sacred Heart School Trust Fund. The dinner program contained detailed reports on the condition of the Trust Fund which has a net worth of $373,747.00 for the 1986 calendar year. The dinner itself netted $3,400.00 for the fund.

The Trust Fund Committee and guests welcomed guest speaker, Robert J. Allen, who is the development officer for the Diocese of Fort Worth. Allen serves on the President's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped and the Governor's Task Force on Mental Retardation in addition to his diocesan duties.

He is also president-elect of the Arlington Sierra Club and is a director of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. Mr. Allen spoke about the unique advantages afforded by Catholic education. He emphasized "Economic priorities shouldn't dictate your value of Catholic education," and encouraged all present to seek the highest levels of academics and morals.

Diocesan Director of Education Ed Doherty was also a guest at the dinner.

The committee revealed its goal to have a net worth of one million dollars in four and one-half years. The interest from the fund is currently used to fund teachers for Sacred Heart School in the pursuit of excellence of education.

Paving issues dominate council agenda Monday

"I want the best job for the best cost. Let's just get it done, either way," Kim Nix remarked at Monday night's meeting of the City Council. His statement seemed to generally reflect the feelings of other residents who gathered to discuss upcoming paving projects.

The council meeting opened with the responses of six companies to the city's bid for the paving job in the area of the Endres Addition. Streets to be paved on this project are S. Mesquite, Eddy, Endres, Hillcrest and Cross Streets.

Controversy on this job arose over the type of paving material to be used. Property owners with a majority of the front footage along the streets to be paved signed a petition requesting that the less expensive chip and oil be used rather than hot-mix asphalt. City Manager Joe Fenton conceded that the quality of the chip and oil is not as good as the asphalt. Resident Tom Swirczynski held that "it doesn't justify, for maintenance and quality, going the cheaper way."

The decision on the bid and the type of paving to be used will be reached by councilmen at another meeting on Thursday, Aug. 20, at 7:30 p.m.

Attention was then turned to the other corner of Muenster with a discussion on the paving of West Ninth Street. Residents of that area were present to again request action from the city on both Ninth Street and Cherry Lane Bridge.

"With petition in hand, we'll give it number one priority for next year," Mayor Ted Henscheid promised them. Also, the city will act to improve the condition of the Cherry Lane Bridge in the near future.

Steps were taken at this time towards the Muenster Centennial celebration when councilmen and visitors at the meeting suggested local residents as possible members of the Steering Committee. The Steering Committee will be made up of four or five directors to oversee plans and organize specific committees. The list of potential members for the committee is long, and people will be contacted soon and asked to serve. "This list is primarily what we were after at this point," Mayor Henscheid declared.

Ray Wilde, the first member of the Steering Committee, advised that work on centennial preparations needs to begin immediately. "Everyone from the young to older people can do something to help. The biggest projects will be the history and communication with past residents."

Next on the agenda was the issue of the Muenster Volunteer Fire Department selling beer at the baseball park during Autofest. The council favored the sale which will raise money for a new fire truck, and aldermen decided to amend a 20-year-old ordinance to allow the sale of alcohol outside the fire zone for special and temporary uses. City Attorney Chuck Bartush Jr. said, "we will update the ordinance to make it work."

In other action, the council:

- Approved the request from Sacred Heart faculty to use the City Park on Aug. 23 for Summerfest.
- Approved fire contract with the county.
- Denied the request for a street light in 200 block of N. Oak based on the past policy of putting street lights on corners only.

Fire dept. BBQ is set for Aug. 22

The Muenster Volunteer Fire Department is sounding the alert for its Third Annual Barbecue Supper on Saturday, Aug. 22. The goal of the event is raising funds for the purchase of a new fire truck.

Held at the Muenster City Park, an all-you-can-eat meal will be served from 6 to 9 p.m. Tickets for the meal are priced at $5 for adults and $3 for children under 12.

The swimming pool is set to be open from 7 to 10 p.m. that evening, with free admission. Everyone is welcome to attend the event to benefit the community.

Telling the history of the supper, Fire Chief Herbie Knabe said, "Originally the first barbecue supper was held to raise funds for the purchase of protective clothing for all Muenster Volunteer Firemen. The first supper was such a success that we decided to keep it going."

"The results have been over $7000 being put into the department - improving equipment and updating others."

"In 1986 over $2100 went toward the purchase of the new fire truck with the remainder spent on fire prevention and other smaller things used in the fire department," he added.

Tower sits idle as construction interrupts toll service for 9 hrs.

For the second time in less than six months, Alvin Fuhrman, Manager of Muenster Telephone Corporation, reported that construction crews along Hwy. 82 west of Gainesville cut the toll cable serving Muenster and the west part of Cooke County and Forestburg and the southeast part of Montague County leaving us without toll service.

At about 6:22 Tuesday morning, workmen of the PCT Paving Company of Great Bend, Kansas removed dirt along the south end of the highway bridge extension about a mile and a quarter east of Lindsay in preparation of packing the dirt down better. In the process, the toll cable was cut. Instead of reporting the cut cable, the contractor covered it up and continued to replace the dirt and pack it down. At 8:15, when the owner of the company doing the dirt work was questioned about the severed cable, he denied any knowledge of the cable. At first he said he only packed dirt down, did not remove any dirt. Later when questioned about fresh dirt noted on the sides of the opening and questioned further, he acknowledged removing some dirt but claimed he did not go lower than before. The cut cable was located about noon by Southwestern Bell Telephone personnel. Special instruments were necessary to locate the problem since all evidence was covered up by the contractor. Because the contractor did not cooperate, a 6-hour delay was caused in restoring telephone service.

Toll service to the Muenster system is subject to interruptions caused by events outside our control, Fuhrman reported. The cable was cut in Southwestern Bell Telephone Company's area west of Gainesville. "We have to rely on them to restore service. Locating the cut cable was made difficult by the contractor who would not admit cutting the cable and continued with his work and covered it up, causing about a 6-hour delay in restoring service," Fuhrman said.

He further noted, "One of the uses of the communications tower, which the city will not let us use and is standing idle by the telephone company office, is to give the Muenster Telephone system an alternate toll route to Valley View so that interruptions we are experiencing would have less chance of occurring."

Watermelon Festival highlights homecoming in Forestburg

Celebrating the production and sale of one of their major seasonal crops, Forestburg residents and especially members of the Forestburg Community Service Club originated the idea of a midsummer festival publicizing the luscious red melons and incorporating a "Homecoming" and reunion theme with a party atmosphere. The Homecoming this year is set for Saturday, Aug. 22.

Now in its seventh year, the Forestburg Watermelon Festival has shown growth and improvement with each event. It began as a means to build a fund for construction of a new community center and it has been successful in its purpose. This year profits will be directed toward current expenses, general repairs and upkeep, and eventually, to build an adequate storage facility.

Several new features are being added to the standard entertainment that visitors are accustomed to finding at the festival. Sponsors and chairmen are adding a Carnival Row for games in booths. One group is painting plastic "egg shapes" to resemble watermelons which will be hidden about the grounds. Lucky finders may receive small prizes, certificates or tickets to be redeemed at various booths.

Most activity will take place at the rodeo grounds. Realizing that a walk from the rodeo grounds to the Forestburg Community Center, where dinner will be served, will be "too hot, too long to walk on a summer day," Perryman Denham will drive a "Shuttle Run," improvised by a tractor pulling a flatbed trailer, with seats bolted down. He will transport people to the meal and return them to the rodeo grounds as long as there is a need.

A display of handcrafts and arts will be set up in the Masonic Building across from the rodeo grounds. Admission is free. The invitation is "just come and look." Various concession stands will sell ice cream, soft drinks, baked goods, snow cones, etc. throughout the day.

The dinner menu offers brisket, ham, meat loaf, cole slaw, red beans, potato salad, vegetable salad, onions, pickles, bread, ice tea, coffee, cobbler. The "all you can eat" meal costs $4.00 for adults and $2.00 for children under 12. All food is donated by community members except the ham and briskets which are purchased at the store and paid for by private donations. Serving begins at 11:30 a.m.

Activities on Saturday, Aug. 22, begin with registration at 7 a.m. for the Fun Run which begins at 7:30 a.m. A parade will step off at 10 a.m. followed by a demonstration by the Old West Gunfighters.

Lunch will be served at the Community Center beginning at 11:30 a.m., continuing as long as there is food available. Happily, the Community Center is air conditioned.

The afternoon's entertainment includes a fiddlers' contest at 1 p.m. and various games follow, including children's egg toss; sack races; adults' egg toss; watermelon eatin' contest; watermelon seed spittin' contest; tricycle race; bike race; watermelon toss; volleyball tournament; children's tug-of-war; adults' tug-of-war; horseshoe pitchin'; dunkin' booth; etc. A Country and Western Dance will begin at 8 p.m. There will also be a drawing for a $100 bill and other small prizes. There will also be Gospel Singing and a musical program 2 p.m. to 4 p.m.

A free, supervised children's play area will be provided from 1

Good News!

This, rather, is the fasting that I wish: releasing those bound unjustly, untying the thongs of the yoke; setting free the oppressed, breaking every yoke; sharing your bread with the hungry, sheltering the oppressed and the homeless; clothing the naked when you see them, and not turning your back on your own.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

We would like to publicly express our gratitude to the Myra Volunteer Fire Department for their efforts on Sunday, Aug. 2.

It's more than slightly embarrassing to be lolling on the sofa and snoozing in the bed while generous volunteers are doing the fighting for your hard-earned property. We're certainly grateful that friends and neighbors are more aware than we are.

Let me assure you, when Sammy walked through the living room saying, "You know, I think someone's playing on the road in front of our house," then opened the door to the sight of many vehicles, numerous firefighters and several pieces of firefighting equipment, as well as a blackened mass of ground, I felt as if we were in a Laurel and Hardy movie. Maybe you know the feeling - you open a door and there's a train racing at full speed right at you?

Needless to say, our faces were red, but thanks to those volunteers, our hearts remain light when we think of the damage that could have been wrought had it not been for their assistance.

Sincerely,
Sam and Peggy Sparkman

Letter to the Editor:

I have many items on my mind at this time, but a happening this day brings to mind the urgency of a local problem that needs some way to be resolved at the earliest possible time.

Muenster Telephone Tower
Of whatever issues are involved, I feel that it is very important to the town that it be worked out and resolved.

I have visited with my fellow auto dealers, and they concur with me that it is a very expensive loss of dollars each time that the land lines are cut for our long distance service. Today they were cut off at approximately 8 a.m., and at the time of this writing at 4 p.m., they are still out. Gregg's Chevrolet depends very much on long distance service in many ways. We are constantly in contact with GM by computer via telephone lines for the locating of automobiles, ordering of parts, receipt of information for office, parts, and service for working on automobiles. The obtaining of financing, insurance, etc. means a cost by delay up into $1,000.00's of dollars per day at some times. All businesses in town are dependent upon the use of the long distance service, and some of the primary means of operating.

This cut of the land lines is getting to be a regular occurrence, and as I understand, it is at the pleasure of SW Bell how rapidly they get the repairs made. It seems since it is for service to an independent telephone at Muenster, they do not get too excited or detail that many personnel to fix the problem rapidly.

In my understanding of the plans of Muenster Telephone Co. with the use of the tower adjacent to their office, they would be able to install microwave antennas that could by-pass land lines for connection to their Valley View exchange, and to the area service center in the Metroplex. This would give us service that very few cities could duplicate.

I understand that the Telephone Co. has been offered the right to install their antennas for a month, and then possibly have to take them down? Surely if this is for a trial period, it should be at least for a year or longer.

I understand the fear is from ice falling off the tower. My recollection of cars parked in that area during that severe of icy weather is "nil"??

Please, for the sake of the general population of Muenster, the people involved, please let's get it resolved and cut out the professional expenses and spend it on the streets of Muenster instead!

Thanks for the opportunity to say my "piece."

BORK-BASHING EXPOSED

By Edwin Feulner

How many more intellectual drubbings must liberals take? Their peace-at-any-price foreign policy has been exposed as an inducement to totalitarian aggression, and their welfare-statism as a contributor to the very poverty it was supposed to alleviate. Now they must brace for a drubbing that, unless I miss my guess, will be equally humiliating.

Before the end of the confirmation controversy over President Reagan's nomination of Robert Bork to the Supreme Court, one of liberalism's most embarrassing secrets will likely be more fully exposed than ever. The secret is that, despite all their rhetoric about championing The People against fat cats and special interests, today's liberals are too often anti-democratic elitists.

So many of modern liberalism's pet policies, far from reflecting popular sentiment, have flown in the face of it. Examples are endless—forced busing, reverse-discrimination quotas, abortion on demand, and many policies in the areas of church-state relations, pornography, and criminal justice.

My point here is not to argue for or against any of those policies, but simply to call attention to the root question on which any constitutional democracy stands or falls: Who decides which policy issues and in what fashion? The Constitution's purpose is to answer that.

As every schoolchild should know (but today probably doesn't), the Constitution vests ultimate power in the people. They have the right not only to amend the Constitution but even to draft a new one. They make policy through representatives they elect and can vote out.

The judicial branch's role is not to legislate, but to provide an additional check to prevent the other two branches of government from running roughshod over our rights. For example, no matter how unpopular an individual's views, the majority cannot trample his constitutional liberties, such as free speech. The court's role is to hold up the red flag if our lawmakers try. And that is the extent of its role, as the Constitution makes clear.

Consider what the consequences would be if nine justices, appointed for life and accountable to no one, could go beyond determining the constitutionality of policy and assume Congress' role of making policy. That practice would be oligarchical, not democratic. Unfortunately, that is exactly the kind of power the Supreme Court has assumed over the last generation.

Liberals still make eloquent references in speeches to the sanctity of the Constitution, but pin them to specifics and it's clear that all they really care about is pushing their policies by the handiest means available. All's fair, so if Congress won't do your bidding, try the courts. Winning is all that counts. Pay no mind to the rules of the game.

Consider all the bills liberals have emptied on Bork. They've made no attempt to conceal their fear that his confirmation would be hazardous to the policies they want enacted, by judicial fiat when necessary. That's why Bork's impressive academic and legal background counts for nothing with them. What horrifies them is that he believes in democracy, not in an oligarchy of judges.

The principle we've lost is basic to constitutional democracy, under which policy is not made by imposing the personal preferences of nine unelected people; even if they fancy themselves to be geniuses compared to the rest of us. In democracies policy is not imposed: it is arrived at and implemented through institutions whose power derives from the consent of the governed.

I look forward to a helluva show. Few spectacles are more entertaining than the shock and horror liberal Democrats exhibit when faced with someone who really believes in democracy.

Williamson authors county jail legislation

By Richard F. Williamson, State Representative, District 63

This is the first of a series of articles I will offer to explain the legislative program I managed during the recently concluded legislative session. The taxpayers of Cooke County deserve to know the contribution made by their public servants. This article will deal with potential impact on county jail activity.

During the recently concluded regular session of the Texas Legislature, I focused most of my legislative efforts on producing state law that would allow county government to operate as efficiently as possible, subject to the actions of your commissioners' court and the voters in your county. One of the areas of high cost in our part of the state concerns jail construction and operation. To that end, I successfully authored and passed into law two bills that should provide more flexibility to the taxpayer.

The first law (HB 16) allows any county to now locate their jail outside the city limits of their county seat. Previously, each county was required to locate within the city limits of the county seat only. This should allow for a less costly location and perhaps less local opposition to a jail site (disruption of the neighborhood, etc.) when considering the construction of a new jail. This change was also necessary to put into place the possibilities of the second law I authored and passed.

The second law (HB 400) which will require the approval of the voters statewide this November, sets up a mechanism to let each county form a jail district within the county or (more importantly) with other counties. The jail district could levy property tax only for constructing a jail. The purpose of this proposal is two-fold:

1) to allow citizens of low population counties to band together in the constructing and operating of a county jail - this will save tax dollars;

2) to allow citizens to see separately on their tax statements the cost to construct a county jail.

Several important aspects of the proposal merit individual discussions.

First, a juvenile detention facility now qualifies as a jail facility. This means that should the citizens of Cooke County be forced to build a separate facility for juveniles, commissioners' court could contact adjacent counties and explore the possibility of a central facility in an effort to cut down the cost.

Second, any jail district created under this proposal must be approved first by commissioners' court and then via a county-wide election. This keeps the voter involved in the decision.

Third, after the jail district is created, directors of the district must be elected by the voters. Again, voter control is in place.

Fourth, the jail district board would have broad powers to contract, acquire site locations and arrange for long-term lease agreements, thus placing a maximum level of responsibility on the board of directors.

Fifth, after any jail is constructed, the county in which the building is located will take over operations and presumably collect from each participating county a fee per prisoner to offset operating costs.

Finally, the constitution must be amended by approving HJR 18 this November before the law may take effect.

This law will allow taxpayers of several counties to band together to pay for the one time cost of constructing a jail facility. I believe that significant savings to the taxpayer can be realized. I also believe that taxpayers of each county are well served by any accounting system that recognizes "cost per prisoner per day" as the basis for ordinary operation.

During the next few months, I will be meeting with the commissioners' court to discuss these new laws along with the balance of my 1987 legislative package. I encourage you to contact either myself in Weatherford or Flossie Schoppa here in Cooke County to ask questions or make comments on these new laws.

The next installment of this series will discuss changes in the emergency medical services area.

p.m. to 6p.m. for ages 6 and under. For information, call 964-2483 or 964-2435 or 964-2346.

Historically, according to information received during a conversation with Liz Johnson of Forestburg, that area with its fine, fertile sandy loam was known as the Watermelon Capital of Texas 20 years ago.

A large, very old map is kept at the Forestburg scales. It shows locations of markets all over the U.S.A where Forestburg watermelons were shipped in those years. This map is very fragile, because of its age, but sponsors hope to display it at this year's festival.

Production, said Liz Johnson, probably topped out 15 to 20 years ago. The good sandy loam is still there today, but field help is scarce and is becoming "scarcer." Local growers told her that although production then was many times greater than today, an estimate of the 1985 or 1986 production was about 80,000 lbs. of watermelons shipped mostly to the Metroplex and always by refrigerated trucks. At press time, Mrs. Johnson was attempting to get information on the estimated peak production 15 or 20 years ago.

At that time, favorite varieties were the Tom Watson and the Black Diamond, known especially for size and delicious flavor. Several residents said they recall melons so large, two high school boys were needed to carry one; one person told of loading melons on a truck bed, and placing a particularly fine specimen on the front seat of a pickup. It reached from door to door, and "there was no room left for us."

Growers now are planting other varieties. Favorites are the Jubilee and All Sweet, because they provide "refrigerator-size melons."

Average production in the Forestburg area is 15,000 to 20,000 lbs. of watermelon per acre.

Three generations of the Lynch families have been planting, raising and selling watermelons in the Forestburg area for approximately 60-75 years, beginning with Bob Lynch, followed by Glenn Lynch and now, Doyle and Gordy Lynch.

Gordy Lynch donates all the watermelons used at the festival.

Forestburg residents invite everyone to attend and promise to roll out the red carpet of welcome. Mrs. Larry (Debra) Dill and Mrs. Gary (Liz) Johnson are general chairmen.

Williamson named to education board

State Representative Richard F. (Ric) Williamson, D-Weatherford, has been recently appointed by Texas Governor William P. Clements, as a delegate to the Southern Regional Education Board. The 10-person Texas delegation will serve on behalf of the State of Texas during the upcoming Annual Legislative Work Conference of the SREB.

"The SREB is vital to the educational systems of Texas and all of the states of the South," stated Clements. The SREB will address two fundamental questions that are before state education and government leaders today: What must states do to maintain the momentum for education improvement? and how will a state know whether its educational reforms are working? The SREB's recommendations are aimed at helping state leaders answer these questions about their schools and colleges. Ways that two-year colleges can help improve undergraduate education is also viewed.

Members of the delegation attend at their own expense.

Williamson said, "I am looking forward to an opportunity to discuss Texas' participation in the Southern Regional Education Board and its impact on education for the future."

Other members named to the Texas delegation are Representatives Bill Haley, Kent Grusendorf, Charles Evans, Mike Millsap, John Culberson, Bill Hammond, Cliff Johnson as well as Texas Senators Carl Parker and Cyndi Krier.

Tompkins points out hard times...

Burglars strike again!

This time it was at Dave and JoAnn Walterscheid's home on Highway 82, west of town. Between 9 and 10:30 a.m. Tuesday, the burglars entered through an unlocked back door and took a VCR, some jewelry, some tools and a gun case which contained a pellet gun. Mrs. Walterscheid said they ransacked a little, but not much damage was done. No one has yet come forward with information or sightings of a vehicle in the area.

Police Chief Helen Tompkins

has no leads yet but says the crime is like many other county burglaries these days. "They're taking easy to sell items such as VCRs, gold, cash and guns," she said.

Tompkins commented that some thefts are surely to get money to support a drug habit, but as economic times get harder and people get laid off their jobs, some decide they have to do something. They may have to steal to make pickup payments or even to feed their family.

She said, "Muenster hasn't felt the problem as much because we tend to take better care of our own, but I just don't know about the future if things don't get better around here."

Muenster lost three longtime residents on Friday, Saturday and Monday in the deaths of Mrs. Odessa Mae Morrison on Aug. 14, Mrs. Victoria Gremminger on Aug. 15 and Theodore R. Vogel on Aug. 17.

Mrs. Gremminger, 85, passes away Aug. 15

Mass of Christian Burial was held for Mrs. Victoria Gremminger, 85, at 10 a.m. on Tuesday, Aug. 18, in Sacred Heart Church, officiated by nephews, Father Joseph Weinzapfel and Msgr. Thomas Weinzapfel, both of Dallas; and by Father Denis Soerries and Father Victor Gillespie.

Burial was in Sacred Heart Cemetery, directed by McCoy Funeral Home of Muenster.

VICTORIA GREMMINGER

Participating in the funeral liturgy during Mass were Mrs. David Bright, a niece, with the Readings and Offertory petitions; Ruth Felderhoff and Emily Klement with organ and vocal music; the homily by Father Joseph Weinzapfel; Joe Weinzapfel and Chris Pagel as Mass servers and Msgr. Thomas Weinzapfel who conducted graveside services.

Victoria Gremminger was born in Windthorst on March 23, 1902 to Henry Weinzapfel and Agnes Reidsdorf Weinzapfel. She married Anton Frank Gremminger on Aug. 8, 1924, in Windthorst. They became parents of three daughters, Geneva, Marian and Dolores.

He preceded her in death on Jan. 12, 1957. She was also preceded in death by a daughter, Geneva Pagel, a granddaughter, Gloria Mayer, a sister, Kate Morbitzer.

Mrs. Gremminger was a wife, mother and homemaker. She died suddenly at her home on Saturday, Aug. 15, at 6:45 p.m. She was also a former owner of a beauty shop; she retired in December 1982 as a proof operator at Muenster State Bank and continued as a volunteer worker at Muenster Public Library. ## Earn college credits from CCC in Muenster Muenster residents can earn three full hours of college credit in English this fall without having to commute to a college campus, and high school seniors may be eligible to enroll.

Upon invitation from Muenster Independent School District, Cooke County College will be offering the course EN 1043 - Grammar and Composition at Muenster High School beginning Aug. 31.

The class will meet Monday evenings from 6 to 8:55 p.m. and will run through Dec. 18.

"This is the basic, first-level college English course required for nearly all college majors," says Linda Mast, director of CCC's Division of Continuing Education & Extension. "It's virtually identical in content to equivalent courses taught at all other accredited colleges and universities."

"In short, it's one of the required 'basics' for all freshmen college students, no matter where they might go to school and regardless of their academic major."

High school students who will be seniors in 1987-88 may be eligible to enroll in the course, but they Pallbearers were grandsons Dwayne Pagel and Jacob Pagel; and grandsons-in-law Phil Endres, Bobby Hartman, Dan Jezek and Jim Jezek.

Other relatives attending included Marian and Cliff Stebbins of Pilot Point; Dolores Howell of Oceanport, N.J.; Maurice Pagel of Muenster. And grandchildren Dwayne Pagel, Glenda Russell, Jacob Pagel, Marlene Endres, Sharlene Hartman, Chris Pagel; Bobbie Jezek and Rachel De Jernet of Pilot Point, Tina Jezek of Denton. Stephanie Castle of Phoenix, Jill Howell of Oceanport. Rebecca Davis of Boiling Point, Pa. was unable to attend. Great-grandchildren attending were Nicole, Chase and Adam Jezek of Pilot Point; Lisa and Amanda Russell; Lacy and Ricky Endres; Joshua and Jacob Jezek of Denton. Michael, Jason and Laura Davis of Boiling Springs were unable to attend.

Brothers and sisters attending were J.M. Weinzapfel, William Weinzapfel, Alice Hemmi and Margaret Rasch.

Theo Vogel, 81, dies Aug. 17 in Denton

Theodore Roman Vogel, a lifelong resident of Muenster for his 81 years, died on Aug. 17 at 7:32 a.m. in AMI Medical Center in Denton after a brief illness.

Immunizations required by school

More than any other preventive health care practice, immunizations begun in childhood and kept current, save money, misery and lives. In the U.S., an estimated $1 billion are saved annually in would-be medical costs because of immunization against polio, tetanus, measles, rubella (German measles), mumps and diphtheria.

In Texas proof of vaccinations for these six communicable diseases is required by law for all children registering for day care or public school. In addition, pertussis vaccine is required for children less than 5 years old in day care and public school. The Texas Department of Health (TDH) and the American Academy of Pediatrics recommend pertussis (whooping cough) vaccine for most children through six years old as well.

Wes Hodgson of the TDH Immunization Division, said, "Today's parents of young children are sometimes too young themselves to remember a time when immunizations were neither available nor required. But a few decades ago, outbreaks and epidemics of killer diseases such as polio and diphtheria not only threatened every child but were occurring more frequently every year."

Hodgson said because of vaccinations, polio and diphtheria are now rare in Texas. In the past 10 years, only six cases of diphtheria and four cases of polio, one of them fatal, were reported in the state.

"What some young parents may not realize is that although outbreaks of vaccine preventable diseases are now less frequent in Texas, the diseases can still spread among us. Children are not born immune to these diseases," Hodgson said. "It is important that their parents follow their physicians' advice in scheduling all the necessary vaccinations and boosters, and in keeping accurate records for each child," he added.

Some preventable diseases persist, mainly because parents often do not take them seriously enough to ensure their children's immunizations are up-to-date. In 1986, TDH recorded sporadic outbreaks of measles (398 cases), mumps (239), pertussis (112), rubella (78), and tetanus (12) in the state. Victims included unimmunized children as well as adults who had allowed their own immunizations to lapse.

Hodgson said, "Parents who are not sure that their children's vaccinations are current should begin now to update their records, to be ready for the upcoming school year. Their family physicians should be able to advise them on any booster shots that are due. Parents who have no family physicians, or who cannot afford a private doctor, should check with local public health clinics."

A classy trash act

Daryl Ferber and granddaughter, Stacie Campion of Rochester, Minnesota, recently dumped their talents on Muenster trash barrels when they painted six of the containers around town.

"I volunteered to help," said Daryl, a Chamber of Commerce member, explaining her involvement in this Clean Sweep project. They have been working on the project for the past six weeks, painting three barrels each. "There will probably be more," Daryl promised.

A recurring theme the two artists used was promoting Muenster. "We looked at magazines and used cartoon ideas," Daryl told.

The painted barrels are located at various places around Muenster. "State of Texas" is at Gina's School of Dance, "Ducks" is at Floyd's Bar, "Mouse with Cheese" is at Hess Furniture, "Scenery" is at Mid City Park, "Car with a Face" is at Hofbauers and "Dog with Sausages" is at Hennigan Auto Parts.

But the Chamber hopes that the barrels will be used as well as admired. After all, no one wants Daryl and Stacie's time and energy "to go to waste."

This painting of trash barrels kicks off Muenster's entry in the 1987-88 Clean Sweep Campaign which begins in September, according to Chamber member Gary Fisher. "We have an excellent chance of winning again because of the few entries in our size division," Fisher stated.

The $20,000 Muenster was awarded for winning the contest two years ago will be spent on antique lights along Highway 82 and Main Street. More information on the purchase of the lights and participation in the contest will be released by the Chamber soon.

Local women see Cash!

When Mrs. Virgil Henscheid and Mrs. Elizabeth Mollenkopf met up with country music superstar Johnny Cash on a recent plane flight, it was "a dream of a lifetime."

The Muenster women chanced to be on the same flight as Cash and his wife June, enroute from Vancouver, Washington to Dallas.

As the last passenger to board the plane in Vancouver, Mrs. Henscheid told that she first noticed Cash because of his necklace - a long gold chain with a large turquoise stone. Even though he wore dark glasses, Mrs. Henscheid was quick to recognize him.

"He said 'Howdy' to me. I was so excited," Mrs. Henscheid laughed. "We exchanged a few words about his records."

She went on to relate that from her seat on the plane, she could watch Cash during the flight.

Mrs. Henscheid and Mrs. Mollenkopf had been in Vancouver to visit the Howard Mollenkops. Other highlights of their trip were touring beautiful sites including the Grotto, the Japanese Gardens, the Rose Gardens, Bridge of the Gods, Bonneville Dam, Mt. Hood and Mt. Saint Helens.

Tour takes 46 to Colorado and New Mexico

Nineteen from Muenster joined a group of 46 members of a tour group spending a week, July 29 through Aug. 4, in New Mexico and Colorado, with Weldon Cowan director and Karen Lambert tour guide.

Enroute, the group spent overnight and the following day in Santa Fe, N.M. where highlights were seeing the oldest church in the U.S.A.; the church of Loreta and its famous staircase; sightseeing in treasures of Santa Fe's colonial and mission era; and shopping. In Santa Fe, Margie Pagel came to meet her mother, Agnes Owen, at the motel and toured with the group the next day.

In Chama, N.M., very memorable experiences were La Magna Pass and an eight-hour narrow rail gauge train trip. In Clayton, N.M. they visited a volcano crater.

Crossing into Colorado, their tours took them to shrines, churches, magnificent scenery, tunnels and gorges.

In Colorado Springs, they visited the Hall of Presidents Wax Museum; rode the cog train up Pikes Peak; toured the U.S. Air Force Academy; Garden of the Gods; Cave of the Winds; Seven Falls; and enjoyed many gift shops.

At the awesome Royal Gorge, they walked across the bridge. Rain prevented riding the cog railway to the bottom. They went sightseeing through Cripple Creek and Trinidad and drove up Mt. Capulin, to the crater of an extinct volcano.

In Colorado Springs, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Erpelding (Honey Swirczynski) visited at the motel with their cousins, Gen Pels, Bonnie Hess and Armella Cler, and other Muenster friends. Also visiting were nieces of Mrs. Owen and Mrs. Cunningham.

Members of the tour group from Muenster included Agnes Owen, Julia Cunningham, Gertie Sims, Genevieve Pels, Augusta Walterscheid, Bonnie Hess, Ella Haverkamp, Florence Fisher, Sis Klement, Regina Pels, Armella Cler, Margaret Kupper, Leona Eberhart, Betty Pautler, Juanita Knabe, Lucille Hess, Millie Voth, Romana and Frank Bayer.

Enroute home and traveling through Clayton, New Mexico, Sis Klement became ill and was hospitalized for two days. Florence Fisher and Juanita Knabe remained with her until Klement family members arrived. Some stayed with their mother and others brought Mmes. Fisher and Knabe home. Sis Klement has recovered nicely and is up and around again.

Workshops to begin Sept. 16

Sacred Heart Parish in Muenster will sponsor a series of workshops for parents beginning Sept. 16 in the cafeteria of the Community Center.

From Old Glory...

Remember me?

The Enterprise is indebted to Vince Felderhoff who brought this item to our attention.

REMEMBER ME?

Some people call me Old Glory, others call me the Star-Spangled Banner, but whatever they call me, I am your flag, the flag of the United States of America. Something has been bothering me, so I thought I might talk it over with you.

I remember some time ago people lined up on both sides of the street to watch the parade and naturally, I was always there, proudly waving in the breeze.

When your daddy saw me coming, he immediately removed his hat and placed it over his heart. Remember? And you, I remember you standing there straight as a soldier. You didn't have a hat but you were giving the right salute.

Remember your little sister? Not to be outdone, she was saluting the same as you, with her hand over her heart. Remember?

What happened? I'm still the same old flag. Oh, I have added a few more stars since you were a boy, and a lot more blood has been shed since those parades of long ago.

But I don't feel as proud as I used to. When I come down your street, you just stand there with your hands in your pockets. I may get a small glance but then you look away.

I see the children running around and shouting. They don't seem to know who I am. I saw one man take off his hat and look around. He didn't see anybody else with his hat off so he quickly put his back on.

Is it a sin to be patriotic anymore? Have you forgotten what I stand for and where I've been? Anzio, Normandy, Omaha Beach, Guadalcanal, Korea and Vietnam.

Take a look at the Memorial Honor Rolls some time. Look at

WHO IN THIS FAMILY IS BEING TREATED FOR A MUSCLE DISEASE?

GUESS AGAIN.

The answer is, they all are.

Oh, only the child in the wheelchair is disabled. But his illness affects the entire family.

And that's why the Muscular Dystrophy Association, through its 240 clinics, provides patients and their families with the help they need.

Parents of a child with a neuromuscular disease may feel angry, even guilty, about the child's illness. They face the task of caring for him, while not neglecting their healthy children's needs—or each others.

Siblings can feel guilty, too, just for not being the sick one.

An MDA clinic will counsel a family on problems like these. Provide many essential services, such as diagnosis, therapy, and orthopedic equipment. And point out other available community health resources. All at no direct cost to the patient or family.

It's often said that with muscular dystrophy, the family is the patient.

So at MDA, that's exactly who we treat.

The names of those who never came back in order to keep this republic free. One Nation Under God. When you salute me, you are actually saluting them.

Well, it won't be long until I'll be coming down your street again. So, when you see me, stand straight, place your right hand over your heart. I'll salute you waving back. And I'll know that you remembered.

Al Martin, a psychologist from the Fort Worth area who deals mainly with parents and their relationships with children will give the workshop. Martin has also had extensive experience in working with teens who are dependent on alcohol or drugs. The program focuses on the democratic approach to parenting and includes a variety of topics about how parents can better relate to their children from dealing with basic parental tasks to adolescent sexuality and providing help to children who have alcohol or drug dependency.

The STEP program is open to the public. There will be a charge of $15 per family. For more information or to pre-register, call Barbara Fuhrmann at 759-4067 or the Sacred Heart Parish rectory at 759-2511.

Summer Signals Watermelon Weather

(AUSTIN)—Summer. Time to kick off your shoes, spread some newspaper on the picnic table and slice into an ice cold watermelon. There's hardly a lazier, more enjoyable, less expensive way to spend an evening with the family.

Choosing the right melon is the first and most important step. Size will depend on the number of people and the extent of their appetites. If the kids are particularly hungry, a family of five or six can devour a 15-pounder on the spot. A group of 16 less-exuberant eaters, on the other hand, can make do with a 20-pound melon if everyone just wants a slice.

Whole Texas watermelons, primarily Long Grays and green-striped Jubilees, average 20-22 pounds with larger ones weighing in at 28-32 pounds. The big ones usually are cut first at supermarkets and sold in halves, quarters or slices. Cut melons are wrapped in clear plastic, which gives customers the advantage of actually seeing a melon's meat and seeds before buying one.

Shiny pink meat with no white streaks and black or dark brown seeds indicates a good melon, according to Carol Ware, Texas Department of Agriculture (TDA) home economist. Ware suggests passing on those with mealy flesh, indicative of overripeness, or white seeds, which mean immaturity.

Some yellow-meat watermelons are also being sold, but they are so few in number that shoppers pay a premium for them. "The most time-tested are the red ones," said Gary Miller, TDA Market News reporter. "We also grow a few seedless, but these are more of a novelty. They're expensive to breed and hard to raise."

Buying a whole watermelon involves more guesswork than buying a portion of one. Whole melons must be judged solely on outer appearances. Thumping one to test for ripeness is considered ineffective. To get the best deal, look for symmetrical melons with dull, velvety blooms rather than shiny surfaces. The undersides of ripe melons—the spot where they sit while growing—should be yellowish.

As for sweetness, it is impossible to be sure without tasting. "Sweetness is governed by growing conditions," said Miller. "Ideally you need warm nights, medium-hot days and sunshine to let the vines make sugar and send it into the fruit," he said.

Before slicing into a whole watermelon, chill it eight to 12 hours to enhance its flavor. Uncut, a melon will keep a week in the refrigerator. Cut and carefully wrapped, it will last three to five days. Leftover melon can also be cut into chunks and stored in a covered container for easy nibbling.

Texas watermelon season got off to a slow start this year, set back by a March freeze and cool, rainy weather that delayed maturity. South Texas melons were due at the market by mid-June. Harvest in East Texas will be under way by mid-July and will move north and into the Panhandle from there.

Leroy Biggers, TDA marketing specialist in Tyler, said late spring rains came at the right time for East Texas melon growers. "We're smiling ear-to-ear," he said. "We're looking for good yields and good quality."

Once you've had your fill of plain melon, try these recipes from the TDA test kitchen.

Tigers face Alvord

The Sacred Heart Tigers will be put to the test at Alvord Friday night at 6 p.m. "The back field looks great," stated Coach Pasqua, "if our tackles come along, we'll have a good first team."

Working with a four-man front pro defense, the starting four down linemen will be Donnie Knabe, Deano Bayer, Darrell Mullins and Tommy Bonner. Randy Miller is positioned as middle lineman with Wayne Becker and Ryan Bayer playing the outside. Playing the four deep secondary are Scott Taylor, Darrell Dangelmayr, Glen Swirczynski and Curt Bayer.

Offensive starters will be Darrell Dangelmayr as quarterback, Wayne Becker fullback, Ryan Bayer wingback, and Glen Swirczynski and Scott Taylor alternating running backs.

At end position will be Tony Grewing and Curt Bayer. The line consists of offensive tackles Chad Fleitman and Nathan Bayer, guards Donnie Knabe and Deano Bayer and center Tommy Bonner.

"The two freshmen boys, Darrell Mullins and Josh McCoy, are looking real good," said Coach Pasqua.

The Tigers' first injury, Shawn Dangelmayr, will be out six to eight weeks with a fractured collarbone.

MIKE REITER smooths the first of four layers of rubberized material this week on the MPS track. Above, Shonna Reiter washed the track prior to the resurfacing work. The track will not be completed until next week.

Old Milwaukee gives good showing at state tournament

Old Milwaukee Light competed in the State USSSA Class D Tournament last weekend in Amarillo. The Muenster team finished with a 5-2 record which tied them for 13th out of the 151 teams at the state tournament.

Results of their seven games were: Old Mil, 12; Advanced Plumbing of Amarillo, 11 (in eight innings);

Old Mil, 10, Thunderducks of Euless, 2; Old Mil, 12; Nazareth Exes, 3; Old Mil, 13; Woodies of Briscoe, 10; Citywide Delivery of Dallas, 19; Old Mil, 5; Old Mil, 6; P.P.B.C. Angels, 1; Marchants Paint of Sherman, 23; Old Mil, 0.

The two teams that Old Mil lost to ended up in the top four teams at the tournament.

Old Mil's outstanding finish qualified them for the 5-State Regional Tournament in Moore, Oklahoma over Labor Day Weekend. But, Coach Tim

Felderhoff said that "we probably won't go."

In earlier competition on July 22, Old Mil placed second in Cooke County Men's League. Old Mil won the first half, with Parker Electric winning the second half.

Results of the three-game playoff with Parker Electric were:

Parker Electric, 5; Old Mil, 4; Old Mil, 9; Parker Electric 6; Parker Electric, 17; Old Mil, 11. Players making up this year's

Old Milwaukee Light team were Brian Herr, Cory Klement, Brian Bednorz, Greg Haverkamp, Nick Walterscheid, Glenn Walterscheid, Tim Felderhoff, Tim Endres, Chris Stoffels, Dale Hellman, Andy Serna, Alan Corley, Steve Henscheid, Mark Felderhoff and Dale Swirczynski.

The team would like to express its thanks to Bob Vogel, Urban Endres and Cooke County Distributing for support during a successful season.

Jaycees to sponsor trap shoot Sunday

The Muenster Jaycees will sponsor a Trap Shoot Sunday, Aug. 23, at 2 p.m. The event will be held at the J.P. Flusche farm, 7 miles north of Muenster.

There was a very good turnout last week, so come out Sunday for more fun!

For more information, contact Jack Flusche, project chairman, or David Flusche Jr., Jaycee president.

Texas Parks and Wildlife adopts new regulations for dove season

A number of Texas dove hunters have asked Texas Parks and Wildlife Department officials why the 1987 mourning dove season in the South Zone will be opened on Sunday, Sept. 20, rather than Saturday, Sept. 19.

Ron George, dove program leader, said the official season framework issued by the U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service prevents opening the South Zone season earlier than Sept. 20.

"We (the department) wanted to open the season as early as possible, and most hunters probably would agree that opening it on Sunday is preferable to delaying opening day to the next weekend," George said. "This federal restriction is designed to protect late-nesting mourning doves in South Texas."

George also pointed out that the 10-bird aggregate bag limit for mourning and white-winged doves during the special whitewing season (Sept. 5-6 and 12-13) likewise was mandated by the federal framework. The regulations permit the taking of only two mourning doves per day during the four-day whitewing season in the Special White-winged Dove Hunting Zone.

Shooting hours during the four-day whitewing season will be from noon to sunset. Shooting hours during the mourning dove season will be one-half hour before sunrise to sunset.

"The concurrent full bag limits of both species permitted during the whitewing season from 1966 through 1983 ultimately resulted in an annual harvest of about a half-million mourning doves, or twice the number of whitewings," Georgesaid.

"A harvest of this magnitude was deemed unacceptable in the mourning dove population where approximately 25 percent of the birds were still nesting on Sept. 1."

The 1987-88 dove seasons, adopted by the Parks and Wildlife Commission on July 23 are: mourning doves, North Zone, Sept. 1-Nov. 9; Central Zone, Sept. 1-Oct. 30 and Jan. 2-11; South Zone, Sept. 20-Nov. 18, except in the Special White-winged Dove Area where the season is Sept. 20-Nov. 14. The winter season for mourning doves in the South Zone is Jan. 2-11, 1988. No changes were made in season lengths or zone boundaries for mourning and white-winged doves.

As in the past, one fully feathered wing is required on all dressed doves at all times in the South Zone and the Special White-winged Dove Area.

The system of whitewing sanctuaries also remains unchanged during the 1987-88 seasons, with Sanctuary "B" closed this year and Sanctuary "A" open.

The season for rails and gallinules is Sept. 1-Nov. 9, and shooting hours are one-half hour before sunrise to sunset. The bag limit for king and clapper rails is 15 daily and 30 in possession; Sora and Virginia rails, 25 per day and 25 in possession. The gallinule bag limit is 15 per day and 30 in possession.

Sale barn develops colorful history

John Bayer ran Muenster's first livestock auction, located at the east end of the present Mid-Park. "Gus" Stelzer was the auctioneer and Victor Hartman was the clerk.

On Sept. 21, 1946, E.A. "Babe" Felker and W.F. (Frank) Solomon conducted the first livestock auction in this newly completed concrete and metal building. With the most complete facilities in a radius of over 50 miles, the partners hoped to develop one of the leading livestock exchanges of North Texas.

While featuring livestock, the auction also handled farm machinery, tools, household items, etc. before the stock.

Over 300 bidders and spectators attended the first sale, where 179 headstock were sold in less than two hours and 30 minutes.

The operation was run like this: Stock was unloaded through a chute into a runway leading to 12 separate pens, 8 of which were equipped with feed racks for cattle brought in earlier. Two gates led into the auction ring inside the 40x60 building. There, the auctioneer had the animals before him and the buyers seated beyond, behind an iron fence. Stock was sold by the head or by the pound. If by the pound, it was driven over a scale on its way out of the ring than to a pen. The buyer then moved its stock to the loading chute.

In December 1946, Dick Cain replaced Solomon as Felker's partner. Cain, after finishing an pletely destroyed the sale arena of the Muenster Livestock Auction. The blaze was far advanced when discovered and leaping high before volunteer firemen arrived. The fire was brought under conreluctant to spend money on rebuilding when the arrangement of pens and other features were not what he wanted. At the same time, Pagel and Klement felt their space between the Livestock Aucspectators.

On either side of the arena were rooms, the west an office and record room, to the east a lunch room.

Outside space is also much larger. There are 15 12x44 pens and 30 12x20 pens for cattle and 30 concrete floor pens for hogs. The pens are all metal construction.

An overflow crowd of 500 came to the open house and about 650 cattle were sold.

Cain operated the sale barn until December 1965 when it was sold to W.J. Miller, and managed by R.P. Cain. Carl Mullins acquired an interest in the business from Miller in July 1966 and took over the job of full-time manager. The sale date was then changed from Monday to Thursday.

On April 23, 1967, Dick Cain died of a heart attack. After 2½ years, Miller repurchased the business. Mullins' shares then sold to Bill Hamer.

In May 1971, Bill and Sam Hamer bought out W.J. Miller, and in 1976, Mike Hamer joined his father and today they remain the operators of the Muenster Livestock Auction.

auctioneering course in Mason City, Iowa, shared the job with A.C. "Gus" Stelzer, who had worked alone from the business' start. Cain also continued his former business of hauling livestock, grain and milk.

In May 1948, Dick Cain bought out Felker's interest in the Muenster Livestock Auction. Felker returned full-time to livestock raising on his farm near Hood. The same week, Solomon opened a livestock auction business in Gainesville.

On Sunday, July 28, 1957, one of the most destructive fires in Muenster's history almost comtrol in about an hour, preventing its spread to the office and stock pens. The cause was believed to be the electrical wires that lead into the building. Damage was estimated at $12,000 to $13,000, partly covered by insurance. Dick Cain, owner and auctioneer, was out of town during the excitement.

The next week, Jerome Pagel and Rody Klement of Community Lumber Company bought the location and remainder of the building and stock pens. Cain was tion and the Electric Co-Op was too cramped for a lumber yard.

The present Muenster Livestock Auction, a mile west of town on Hwy. 82, had its grand opening on Saturday, Oct. 5, 1957. Overall, the floor space was twice as big, measuring 50x80. The main arena, 50x50, has more space for buyers, the auctioneer, and clerks, plus more space in the livestock lane. Sixty-three theater-type seats were provided for buyers and grandstand seats for about 350

Beef Breakfast Meeting

The August Beef Breakfast Meeting will be held Wednesday, Aug. 26, at 7:30 a.m. at the Cooke County Fairgrounds Meeting Room. This month's program will center on results of Small Grain Herbicide Demonstrations held in the county during 1986 and '87. Producers wishing to graze small grain and experiencing problems from cheat, ryegrass, and other broadleaf weeds need to plan early for proper control. Herbicide application timing and other grazing restrictions are important to stocker producers. The meeting is open to the public.

Cattle Grading School Set for Texas A&M

To help producers gain a better knowledge of cattle grades and their role in the marketing process, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service will conduct a Beef Cattle Grading School at Texas A&M University Sept. 10-11.

The school is aimed at teaching a common nomenclature and grade specifications for feeder, slaughter and carcass beef. This will help producers to better determine the grades of their cattle and thus their value as they deal with prospective buyers.

The two-day school will include classroom, field and meat locker instruction, practical grading exercises, and attendance at a sorted and co-mingled stocker-feeder sale at Brenham.

Anyone interested in attending the Beef Cattle Grading School must pre-register by Sept. 1. Registration information is available at the County Extension office. Participation in the school is limited to the first 150 individuals who pre-register.

The school will begin at 9 a.m., Sept. 10, at the Louis Pearce Pavilion on A&M's west campus. Dr. Zerle L. Carpenter, Extension Service Director, will give opening remarks followed by a discussion of beef cattle grades by Dr. Gary Smith, head of Texas A&M's Department of Animal Science.

Officials of Texas A&M's Animal Science Department and the Livestock Market News will discuss feeder cattle and slaughter cattle grading as well as slaughter cow and bull grades. Concluding discussions will focus on carcass grading and evaluation and beef cattle marketing strategies.

RUNNING AND READY to display is this 30-60 Aultman & Taylor tractor. The tubular style 120 gallon radiator pulls air through 192 2-inch tubes. The power plant is of 4 cylinders, with a 7-inch bore and 9-inch stroke, operating at 500 RPM, giving an amazing pulling power of 9,160 pounds. Two clutches are used to run this monster, one in the flywheel for forward ground travel, the other for belt work. An idler could be pulled for reverse travel. The rear wheels stand 7'6" tall. The Aultman & Taylor Machinery Company was organized in 1892. Steam engines, threshers and other farm machines were offered. Gas tractors were added in 1910. On Jan. 1, 1924, Advance-Rumely Thresher Co. acquired Aultman & Taylor. For about six months, Rumely sold the remaining inventory and no Aultman & Taylor machines were built after 1924. Janie Hartman Photo
