

Burglars caught at rural residence

Mike Dangelmayr stopped a burglary in progress at his residence Tuesday afternoon according to a copyrighted story in the Gainesville Daily Register Wednesday. Dangelmayr held one of the burglars at gunpoint with a .22 caliber rifle until sheriff's deputies arrived. The two men had several items including jewelry, guns and a telephone rounded up and ready to go when Mike surprised them.

At one point, the two tried to escape, but on Dangelmayr's command, one stopped. The other continued to run, saying "shoot if you want to." Dangelmayr elected not to shoot.

Arrested at the scene was William Theodore Belew III, 18, of Gainesville. He has been released on a $5,000 bond.

Sheriff John Aston said late Wednesday that there were no further developments in the case. "We have a warrant for his arrest, but we won't release his name until he's apprehended," said Aston.

The un-named man was lucky to escape because "all the brothers, uncles, neighbors and five or six deputies were out searching for about three hours," according to Mike's brother Chris. "They found tracks going onto the highway but none going off," he said. Chris received the first call from Mike after the sheriff was notified. The burglars made their escape-try out the back door during the call.

Hartman selected as Outstanding Young Farmer

TULSA, OK - Tim Hartman, 34, of Muenster, will be the Texas Jaycees' representative at The U.S. Jaycees 32nd National Outstanding Young Farmers Awards Congress (NOYF) to be held the end of February in Orlando, Florida. Hartman is among nominees from 40 states who will be vying for the honor of being named one of four National Outstanding Young Farmers for 1988. Deere and Company, manufacturer of John Deere equipment and implements, has sponsored the program for the last 12 years.

Hartman and Leonard Hartman (his father and partner) are operators of more than 2000 acres of farmland and raise livestock, wheat, oats, hay and milo. He is an active member of the Myra Volunteer Fire Department. He helped raise funds to build an addition to the new fire hall, obtain new equipment and secure training for the members.

A member and director of the Cooke County Farm Bureau, Tim also serves as the Economic Service Chairman and has attended several American Farm Bureau Conventions and meetings, including trips to Hawaii and Washington, D.C. He is also a member of the Civil Defense Sky Watch and held several terms as an officer in the Muenster branch of Catholic Life Insurance Union. This has kept him very active in his community.

He and his wife, Janie, have two children: Kristine, age 7, and Kirk, age 2.

The U.S. Jaycees has conducted the National Outstanding Young Farmer program since 1954, recognizing hundreds of farmers across America.

The purpose of the National Outstanding Young Farmers is to foster better urban-rural relations by creating a greater interest in, and understanding of, today's farmers and their problems.

Hartman was nominated to the Texas Outstanding Young Farmer competition by the Gainesville Jaycees and was selected the Texas Jaycees' representative last month.

Sheriff's candidate speaks at Muenster Chamber meeting

Muenster Chamber of Commerce members present for the February luncheon meeting Tuesday met the challenger in the Cooke County Sheriff's election race. Jim Bleything, currently a Gainesville policeman, spoke to the Chamber and told of his desire to improve community relations between county residents and the sheriff's department. "I would want my deputies to stop and talk to, and get to know, the residents," he said. Officer Bleything spoke of increasing service by restructuring the department rather than increasing costs and taxes.

For Muenster, he would strive for more patrol time. "I won't exclude you from the map," he said. "Helen (Police Chief Helen Tompkins) does an excellent job, but sometimes she can use assistance. I want to provide more."

Training programs and criminal intelligence briefings, including Muenster officers and others in the area, were mentioned.

Bleything said the sheriff and deputies should be more visible. "If elected, I will make time to get out," he said. He added that Muenster should not have to pay for extra security during Germanfest. He wants to establish a small budget for the reserve system to make that extra service feasible.

Bleything spoke finally about the drug problem in the county. He called it a big problem - big business in Cooke County. "The time is coming to quit ignoring the problem and start addressing it," he said. Federal grants are available and they should be applied for. Undercover work and education programs extending to the schools are necessary.

Bleything was accompanied by his associate, Buck Tatum, also with the Gainesville Police Department.

Following the address, Chamber members heard short reports on the proposed Red River Bridge, the annual banquet and the decorative street lighting project. Letters of intent will soon be sent to businesses and property owners along Highway 82 and Main Street describing the project in detail and seeking their cooperation. Chairman Gary Fisher hopes to see the project finished for the 1989 centennial year.

Commissioners meet; discuss tax discounts, exemptions

by Elaine Schad

County taxpayers will again receive discounts for early payments of taxes and senior citizens will again receive an additional homestead exemption following action this week by the Cooke County Commissioners' Court.

Commissioners approved a $6,000 homestead exemption for property owners over 65 years of age. The Cooke County Appraisal District estimates the exemption will result in $56,557 total tax loss for the county. The county granted the same exemption last year.

Also approved was a discount for early payment of taxes, which the CCAD estimates will result in $47,650 in lost tax dollars. County property owners who pay their taxes in October will receive a 3 percent discount, 2 percent if paid in November and 1 percent if paid in December. The county also granted this exemption last year.

Commissioners appointed the first lake zoning board to regulate development in southeastern Cooke County near Lake Ray Roberts.

The board became necessary following a successful election in January which grants the county authority to adopt zoning and building construction ordinances within 5,000 feet of the 645-foot elevation lake line for Lake Ray Roberts.

Those appointed include Valley View Mayor Preston Murray, Robert Heying, Billy Vann, Glenn Fisk, Owen Roane and Narva Nehib.

The county must give final approval to any ordinances recommended by the zoning board before they can take effect. City ordinances within the same area will also have precedent over any ordinances passed by the county according to the legislation.

In other business, commissioners accepted a $1,600 bid from Ralph Kirk of Gainesville for the sale of miscellaneous surplus county equipment and accepted the bid of $801.51 from Lloyd Dean Westbrook for the sale of surplus 1982 GMC ambulance.

The Muenster Enterprise welcomes Elaine Schad as a new correspondent, sending in news from the Cooke County Commissioners' Court, and local news from the Valley View and Lindsay areas. Her coverage of news will gradually spread to a wider area. She has the added credits of having been a contributor of news items to the Denton Record-Chronicle, the Fort Worth Star-Telegram and the North Texas Catholic.

EDWARD J. DOHERTY, diocesan superintendent of schools of the Fort Worth diocese, visited Sacred Heart High School Tuesday to present Accreditation Certificates from the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools and the Texas Catholic Con-

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

The Mystery and the History
Up until Feb. 2, the residents of not only Muenster but even of Lindsay and Gainesville perhaps noticed a Christmas tree all lit up in a big picture window just east of Muenster. "Gee, what kind of a wierdo lives there?" "Doesn't he know that Christmas is over?" "When is that tree going to be taken down anyway?" These are a few of the questions posed over this most intriguing mystery. The answers lie in the traditions and history of the Bavarians and Austrians and any others who so desire to share in it. Instead of putting up a Christmas tree on Dec. 1 (or even earlier) and then taking it down again as soon as possible after the 25th of December, these people do it differently. In a normal Bavarian or Austrian family, the tree is not to be put up until Christmas Eve. The expectancy of the coming Christ is made even more exciting in this way. Advent and preparation over, the tree is decorated and lit up with lights, many times real candles, to hail in the celebration of Christ's birth.

Epiphany marks the end of the official season of Christmas. This day, which is a Holy Day of Obligation in Austria, is the day that many people use to take down Christmas decorations and the tree. (Epiphany is always on Jan. 6, not just on a Sunday close to it.) But what about the rest of the people and most of the churches? Tradition demands that the Christmas tree remain intact up to

Feb. 2. Why? First, what is Feb. 2? It is the feast of the Presentation. This is the day Jesus was brought to the Temple to be offered up to God, as he was the first born of Mary. Jesus was officially recognized in the Jewish community at this time. The Christmas tree is lit up as the birth of the Light of the World is celebrated. The tree remains lit until the Light is publicly, in accordance with the law, presented to God and man.

So, to answer all those questions: an Austro-Bavarian lives in that house; he does know that Christmas is over; and the tree received its rest on Feb. 2. Bis zum naechsten mal, auf Wiedersehen, Weihnachtsbaum.

Dear Editor,

When, in last week's paper, I read about the Council not infringing on the rights of people to watch pornography, it made me cringe. Like not denying people the right to take poison. It seemed technically right, but so wrong if we really care about people. Watching that type of material does not help anyone to feel good about themselves or produce any good. On the other hand: a 20-year study of violent crime in Michigan revealed that in 41 percent of the cases, pornography has played a role either during or immediately prior to the offense. Studies by Attorney General Edwin Meese's Commission on Pornography and research by Ed

Donnerstein of the University of Wisconsin indicate an association between pornography and aggressive behavior toward women.

William A. Stanmeyer's book, "The Seduction of Society," cites a Los Angeles study that demonstrates a link between areas that offer adult entertainment and a significant increase in violent crime such as homicide, rape, aggravated assault, burglary, and in non-violent crime like narcotics, fraud, prostitution, gambling and liquor law violations.

These studies totally disprove the argument that pornography is a victimless crime. We don't want any part of this in our town.

Some will say, "They will get it anyway. We just as well make it money from it." I don't think that answer will get us off the hook when it is time to answer for the harm we have done.

Let's support our hometown people so they will have a market for wholesome entertainment and ask them to keep out the other.

Thanks, Imelda Rohmer

Dear Editor:

With your help we made Texas history in 1986 when I was elected to the Texas Supreme Court. Today our progress and the Court's integrity are threatened by San Antonio attorney, Frank Herrera, Jr., who has pledged to spend $500,000 of his own money to defeat me on Super Tuesday.

Herrera, who last September made the motion that I be endorsed by the Mexican-American Bar Association, is executing a personal vendetta against me for writing a dissenting opinion against one of his clients.

After a month-long search for an attorney to serve his cause, Herrera resorted to filing his law partner minutes before the deadline on Jan. 4. Art Vega, who aspires to sit on Texas' highest court, has never served as a judge or held public office. He has not even been granted a writ to try a case before the court on which he wishes to sit. Vega is, without a doubt, another Don Yarborough waiting to happen.

As a judge who feels extremely uncomfortable raising large amounts of money to finance high-profile political campaigns, I am turning once again to you for your help in informing Texans that there is a clear choice for Place 3 on March 8. Vega captured the AFL-CIO endorsement by promising the unions what they wanted to hear, and stumping like a state legislator or congressional candidate. Vega erased any doubt of how he would vote on a union case before the Texas Supreme Court. His actions underscored the threat he presents to judicial fairness, independence and integrity.

I stand for an independent, qualified judiciary that is not ensnared in the political trappings of promises, trade-offs, and pay-offs. My judicial experience and commitment to leadership are public record. I am asking for your help in informing Texans that their votes are worth more than Frank Herrera is willing to pay.

I urgently need your help in communicating this message to the voters of Texas.

Sincerely, Raul Gonzalez

Senator Gramm named "Texan of the Year"

U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm has been selected as the 1988 Texan of the Year by the Texas Legislative Conference.

The award, which recognizes "outstanding service for the benefit of Texas," will be presented in a formal ceremony set for Friday, March 11, at New Braunfels.

The senator will also deliver the keynote address to the 22nd annual Texas Legislative Conference.

Previous recipients include Vice President George Bush, U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, Baylor University President Abner McCall, Lady Bird Johnson, Treasury Secretary James Baker and former U.S. Rep. George Mahon.

"I am flattered and deeply honored to be included among such distinguished company," Gramm said.

Gramm won election to the Senate in 1984 after serving six years in the U.S. House of Representatives as a congressman from Texas. He currently serves on the Senate's Armed Services and Banking committees.

He is the chief author of three pieces of landmark legislation - the Gramm-Latta I Budget, the Gramm-Latta II Omnibus Reconciliation Act and, most recently, the Gramm-Rudman-Hollings balanced budget.

The senator's abiding interest has helped produce a string of successes on programs of such major Texas impact as the creation of two U.S. Navy homeports on the Texas Gulf Coast and Texas emerging as one of only seven finalists in the national race to win the multi-billion-dollar Superconducting Super-Collider.

Lindsay City Council examines ordinances, sets May 7 election

Lindsay City Council members are asking for input from the community after passing on first reading an ordinance establishing a curfew and another ordinance requiring the removal of high grass or other materials which may constitute a safety or public health hazard.

The ordinances will not receive final approval until they've had three readings, which will take place during the March and April council meetings. The next council meeting is 7 p.m. March 7.

"We're looking for community support," said Lindsay Mayor Don Metzler. "We had no opposition on the first reading, but if there is any, they should come to the next meeting," he said.

The curfew, if finally adopted, would be for those 17 years of age or younger. Curfew hours would be from 11 p.m. to 5 a.m. on weekdays and 1 a.m. to 5 a.m. on Saturdays.

There will be a 30-day grace period following final approval to familiarize the public with the new ordinance, but violators could be ticketed and fined after that time, Metzler said.

The high grass ordinance states that it is unlawful for any property owner within the city limits to allow weeds or high grass on any premises or to allow rubbish or any other objectionable material to collect.

Should any area be deemed a hazard, the city will notify the owner in writing. Should the owner fail to clean the area, the ordinance provides that the city may order the work done and charge the owner. Violation is a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of up to $200 per day.

Metzler said there are provisions in the ordinance which exempt lots located in the city limits which are strictly used for agriculture.

The council has approved a 9.5 percent rate increase for Community Cable as requested by owner George Moreland. Moreland said he needs the increase to purchase equipment in order to provide better service to city customers.

Council members told Moreland they've been unhappy with cable reception and the inconsistency in getting various channel selections. The council will review the increase in six months, and if service hasn't improved, may look for another cable company, Metzler said.

In other business, the council called for a May 7 election to fill the council positions of Jerry Kneupper, Wilbert Block and Metzler whose two-year terms are expiring. Those interested may file between Feb. 22 and March 23 with Block, the city secretary. They also named Pat Bowman to the Planning and Zoning Commission for two years replacing Steve Zimmerman. The P&Z will be holding a series of workshops over the next two months with representatives of the Texoma Regional Planning Commission to totally revise the city's zoning and subdivision ordinances.

Election set by Valley View City Council

The Valley View City Council this week called for two elections set for May 7, one to consider an increase in the sales tax and another election to fill four council seats.

The council called an election to increase the city sales tax from one percent to 1.5 percent. Any additional revenue derived from sales taxes would probably be used for road repairs, said alderman Mike Wilson. Valley View has not city property tax and depends upon franchise and sales tax revenues to fund its budget. Wilson said most area cities have already adopted the 1.5 percent sales tax.

The terms of aldermen Wilson, Frances Hogan and Walt Slaughter are due to expire and a one-year unexpired term will also be open to replace Dwight McLaughlin who resigned. Those interested may file from Feb. 22 to March 23 at the City Hall.

Doris Heying requested the city institute a Crime Watch Program in the Valley View area. Heying, who helped establish the program in the Mountain Springs area several months ago, said crime in that area has declined dramatically. Her group has signed up more than 300 families in southeastern Cooke County in the program. For more information about the Crime Watch program in your community, call Heying at 637-2360.

CCC's Learning Center offers help

There's a lot of learning going on outside as well as inside the regular classrooms these days at Cooke County College, and a rapidly growing number of formerly marginal students are reaping the benefits.

It's all a result of a special program being run out of CCC's very aptly named Learning Center, a facility that was first opened on a trial basis a year ago. As of the opening of the current spring semester, all elements of the program are now in place.

"Basically, our Learning Center is a place to come for students who need some extra help mastering a skill or learning a concept that's been presented to them in class," explains Ann Waggoman, CCC faculty member who coordinates one of the Learning Center's most important services - the peer tutoring program. "The facility has been set up to provide that help, either from staff here in the center itself or through outside tutoring."

Waggoman points out that two kinds of tutoring actually are available. First, there is "drop-in" tutoring from Learning Center staff who, in turn, can help students in either of two ways.

The first way, explains Tami Cole, staff tutor and Learning Center supervisor, is her working directly with them in the center - either individually, perhaps using special computer programs, or in small groups - on problems that can be worked out in one or a few fairly brief sessions. To take advantage of this service, all a student needs to do is come to the Learning Center in Room 121 on campus and ask for it.

TWENTY-ONE are attending the adult Computer Class at Sacred Heart High School that is held five days a week from Feb. 1 to Feb. 19, 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. each day. Shown are, at left, Frances Perez and

Social security numbers are required for young children

As a result of the Tax Reform Act of 1986, a taxpayer claiming a dependent who is at least 5 years old must include that dependent's taxpayer identification number on the taxpayer's return. For most individuals, this number is their social security number. This new law is effective beginning with 1987 tax returns.

If the dependent has a social security number, but the taxpayer does not know what it is, the taxpayer should contact a local Social Security Administration office.

To get a social security number, a dependent must have evidence of: (1) date of birth, (2) U.S. citizenship or legal alien status, and (3) identity. A public, hospital, or religious birth record is generally sufficient for the first two items. A school record and certain other documents can be used for proof of identity. For more information, taxpayers may ask at any Social Security Administration office for the free leaflet, Applying for a Social Security Number.

Sister Barbara Bernauer takes part in event

Sister Barbara Bernauer is taking part in a history-making event for the Franciscan Order of the Atonement of Graymoor, N.Y.

A Muenster native, and a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Bernauer who moved as a family to Hereford in 1924, she became acquainted with the Franciscan Sisters of the Atonement and the Franciscan Fathers who staffed the mission church at Hereford in its early days. The Franciscans were invited by the late Bishop Joseph Patrick Lynch of Dallas to staff St. Anthony's parish. The Sisters arrived in 1917 and the Friars came in 1920.

In May, 1931, Sister Barbara Bernauer became a Postulant at the Graymoor Motherhouse, high up in the Hudson Valley of Graymoor, N.Y. There she was involved mostly in Catechetical Work, and was stationed in Connecticut, Wyoming and New York State for 55 years.

Now in semi-retirement, she makes her home with her mother here in Muenster. Her father died several years after the couple returned to their hometown to retire.

One of the highlights of the past year for her was the recent visit of Brother Denis Bennett of Graymoor, for interviews of great importance. Father Fred Alvarez, S.A. and Sister M. Annunciata Griffiths and Sister Eilish Sweeney, S.A., are also gathering testimonials from other members of the order that will eventually lead to the Beatification of the founder of the Society of the Atonement, Father Paul Watson, and the foundress, Mother Laurana White.

They were interviewing members of the Franciscan order who lived in the Franciscan community, or who knew, or had met Father Paul Watson and Mother Laurana White. Their purpose was to glean as much information from the memories of the young postulants, that could be added to the testimonials.

Sister Barbara Bernauer, who joined the order from Hereford, was one of its earliest members and knew both Father Paul Watson and Mother Laurana White well, and was therefore one of the principal sources of information the interviewers were seeking.

To The Muenster Enterprise, Sister Barbara Bernauer related how Father Watson and Mother White founded their religious order in the Episcopalian Faith, which finally led to the reception into the Roman Church of seventeen persons, on the morning of Oct. 30, 1909. This corporate reception of the Society of the Atonement into the Roman Catholic Church was the first such occurrence since the Reformation.

Sister Barbara went on to explain that both the founder and the foundress were known for their great love for the poor, their love for St. Francis, and the Franciscan way of life. Hence the Society of the Atonement follows the Franciscan Rule. The members also pray daily for Church Unity. From its beginning days at Graymoor, the society has worked to bring about the Atonement (At-one-ment, in this reference, "Unity").

The week of prayer for Christian Unity, initiated 80 years ago by Father Watson, remains a force for unity that is celebrated annually from Jan. 18 (Feast of the Chair of St. Peter) to Jan. 25 (Feast of the Conversion of St. Paul). From its humble beginning and despite strong opposition in its early years, the week of prayer is now observed by Catholic, Anglican, Orthodox, and Protestant Christians with special prayers and Bible services.

Sister Barbara Bernauer continued to relate to The Enterprise, the circumstances leading to the move of a number of Muenster families to Hereford in approximately 1924, an event well-remembered locally. Sometime before this, St. Anthony's Church was staffed by Franciscan Friars and St. Anthony's School by Franciscan Sisters. That's when Sr. Barbara Bernauer, Sr. Regina Koelzer, Sr. Emma Marie Herr and Father Bonaventura Koelzer, all formerly of Muenster, learned to love the Franciscan Rule, and became postulants in the Society of the Atonement. As a result, they all were well-acquainted with the founders, and were considered prime sources of most reliable information.

From Muenster, Brother Denis Bennett went to Vancouver, British Columbia to interview Sister Regina Koelzer.

Being interviewed on matters of such importance was a great honor for the Sisters, and they are rejoicing in the knowledge that, should the Beatification take place after many years, they were part of the history of the event as it was occurring.

"We are finally starting to get healthy," continued Coach Jon. "Hopefully, Thursday Juline will be able to rejoin us and we will be at full strength for the remainder of the year."

Thursday, Feb. 11, Sacred Heart will host Oakridge for the final district game.

"Starting Friday we will begin our playoff preparation and we are almost sure of the No. 1 seed in the Dallas region," stated Coach Jon. "The 'sweet sixteen' will be announced Sunday in Waco."

"The girls have had a great year in recording their 8th straight district title and are looking for their 30th win Thursday," concluded Coach Jon.

Tigers 41, Lexington 31
The long drought ended for Sacred Heart's Tigers Tuesday night, as they exploded for 41 points to take their first district win and second win of the season, 41-31, over Lexington.

"The boys did a great job last night," bragged Coach Jon LeBrasseur. "We nailed the free shots down the stretch." The Tigers completed 10 for 20 at the free throw line, in the second half.

"Walter Smith and Wayne Becker played outstanding defense. We played a triangle and two with Walter on Motsney and Wayne on Loy. These two combined for 32 points on Monday but only got 17 tonight," continued Coach Jon.

"Deano and Darrell controlled the game with their board work and Glen hit the big baskets."

Big Red to battle #3 Graford... Hornets, Hornettes finish district 10-0

For the second consecutive District 33-A season, the Muenster Hornets and Hornettes finished off their district championship seasons with victories over the Forestburg Longhorns for perfect 10-0 district ledgers. The Hornets bounced the Lady Horns 76-24 and the Hornettes played one of their better games as they won 68-32 at the Hornet's Nest. Both teams finished unbeaten at home and the girls continued a home winning streak of 21 games.

Muenster had four girls in double figures for the third consecutive game. Melody Klement scored 18, Staci Walterscheid 14, Meredith McDaniel 12, and Dana Wimmer 10. Jennifer Carroll scored 8, Melissa Bayer and Peachy Switzer 4 each, and Shona Reiter, Jenny Wimmer and Tara Walterscheid added 2 apiece. All 10 Hornets scored while the Lady Horns were led by Krista Shults with 15 and Melanie Griffin with 1 point. Wimmer led Muenster with 8 rebounds. Walterscheid added 7 assists, McDaniel had 5 assists and also connected on 5 of 7 field goals. Walterscheid also got 6 of a Hornette season-high 30 steals. The girls were also a season-high 53 percent (34 of 64) from the field.

"We're getting better, which is a good thing to be saying at this point of success," said Hornette Coach Ted Heers. "The younger girls are showing more poise. We play Henrietta-Midway at Alvord this Friday to give us a good test before next Tuesday night's game with Ponder."

The win boosted the girls' mark to 18-6 for the year.

The Hornets rambled to their 23rd win against 3 losses by jumping on the visiting Horns in the first quarter. Muenster ran and pressed its way to a 23-5 lead and never looked back. They led at intermission 33-12.

Kevin Anderle hit 14 points and had 6 assists. Brian Hess scored 20 points, followed by Mike Pagel and J. Shane Wimmer with 10 points each. Pagel also had a team-high 10 rebounds. Keith Klement and James Hennigan scored 4 each, and Dale Reiter, Chris Klement and Alan Hudspeth 2 each. Bart Sirman paced the Horns with 14 points.

"We clicked the cylinders tonight," said an ecstatic Coach Heers as the Hornets clinched a 10-0 district slate. "We talked earlier about maintaining intensity and when securing a lead, to build on it. At Saint Jo, we had seen a 24-point lead with 5 minutes to play fall to 10. Tonight, the guys showed they were willing to play for 32 minutes. We played very well."

Forestburg, the second place finisher with a 7-3 record, could never get untracked against the tough defensive pressure of the Hornets. Muenster outscored the Horns 35-20 in the second half.

Muenster will test its strength against 2 Region II playoff qualifiers this week. Friday night they play Henrietta-Midway at Alvord at approximately 8:30 p.m. following the 7 p.m. girls' game. Monday night, they travel to Henrietta-Midway's new gymnasium to battle the Class A powerhouse Graford, ranked 3rd in the state at 26-1.

"Whether they're a powerhouse or not, I don't know. We're looking at Midway first and we really hope we just play a couple of solid games and improve. It's playoff time and consistency is our number one priority. We don't play sudden death until Feb. 23, we'll be loose for the Jackrabbits."

The Hornets will meet Slidell in bi-district competition at a site and time to be determined on Feb. 23.

Golf tourney slated for Feb. 14, 9:30

The Muenster Golf Association will host a golf tournament at Nocona Hills Golf Course on Sunday, Feb. 14, at 9:30 a.m., weather permitting.

Meredith McDaniel 10, Jennifer Carroll scored 7, Melissa Bayer and Jenny Wimmer 6 each, Shona Reiter 2, and Peachy Switzer 1.

The Hornets will try to hit the 20-win plateau this Friday at Alvord against Henrietta-Midway warm-up game.

The Muenster Hornets will face off against the Ponder Lady Lions on Tuesday night, Feb. 16, at Denton High School at 7 p.m. in bi-district action.

SAFETY

The absolute prohibition of construction of houses or other buildings and use of equipment within six (6) feet of high voltage power lines is increased to ten (10) feet if certain precautions have not been taken set out in the Act.

These precautions include negotiating with the operator of the power lines so that temporary work can be done while they are temporarily de-energized. The power company may make a charge for this service, however, it is limited to the power company's actual expense, and the power company must be given at least forty-eight (48) hours advanced notice to arrange for temporary clearances.

Finally, the Act provides for penalties up to $1,000.00 for a person violating it and makes those same persons liable for damages as a result of its violation. For a complete context of Article 1436c, persons and firms having personnel engaged in construction and operating equipment and other acts in close proximity to power lines carrying over 600 volts of electricity should consult Article 1436c Vernon's Annotated Civil Statutes or their attorney.

We believe that everyone needs to be aware of what the law says. Needless to say, the dangers which are outlined in these articles should be avoided and the letter of the law adhered to.

If you have additional questions about electric safety, please feel free to contact Gene Davenport, Member Services Manager, or Jerry Admire, Staff Engineer. The Cooperative also has a video presentation available and printed material which further discusses some of the electric hazards which might exist.

FARM AND RANCH NEWS

Tax deductions for farmers

Expenses for education relevant to a farmer or rancher's current work may be deductible, the Internal Revenue Service says. To qualify as a deduction, the expenses must meet one of two tests.

• Education required by employer. Taking the course of study must be required to keep one's salary, status, or job, if the requirements are for a business purpose—for example, a veterinarian required to take a course to retain his or her state license.

• Education to maintain or improve skills. If the course is not required by an employer, the course must maintain or improve skills required in one's present work—for instance, a farmer or rancher taking a course in machinery or engine repair or welding for the purpose of maintaining farm or ranch equipment.

However, not all education expenses are deductible. Expenses for education that prepares one for a new trade or business—such as a farmer studying law—may not be deducted, even if the education may be required or beneficial in the taxpayer's present employment. Similarly, the expenses for study to meet the minimum educational requirements for a position are not an allowable deduction.

Educational expenses include amounts spent on tuition, books, supplies, laboratory fees, and certain travel and transportation costs. Generally, educational expenses are deductible as miscellaneous itemized deductions on Schedule A (Form 1040). Beginning in 1987, most miscellaneous deductions, including educational expenses, are deductible only to the extent the total of these deductions is more than 2 percent of adjusted gross income. In those cases where meal expenses are claimed or where reimbursement is received from an employer or a third party, Form 2106, Employee Business Expenses, must be completed before entering an amount on Schedule A (Form 1040).

Additional information on educational expenses is in free IRS Publication 508, Educational Expenses, available by using the order blank in the tax return package or calling IRS toll-free at 1-800-424-3676.

Fuhrmann Farm Photos

from the Henry Nicholas Fuhrmann Collection

A TYPICAL WASH DAY on the Fuhrmann farm on a bright summer morning with family members involved in specific duties. Wash tubs are under a shade tree. The family laundry gets the benefit of the breeze, two babies are playing on the grass under watchful eyes and the farmer and sons are ready to move a bale of cotton.

Fuhrmann Farm Photos from the Henry Nicholas Fuhrmann Collection

LIFE on the Fuhrmann farm could get rough during the winter months. Freezing cold temperatures and heavy snowfall stranded many rural Cooke County residents. Farmers had to rely on stored hay and grain for feeding the livestock. Times were also rough on the livestock. Above photo, horses huddle near the barn for warmth. Below, what it was like "before the roads were cleared." These pictures were taken in the early 1920's.

County Agent's Report

by Craig Rosenbaum

The dormant season is a good time to carry out practices that will help reduce diseases during the growing season in gardens and flower beds.

Selectively pruning lower limbs of trees and woody ornamentals will help improve air circulation, thus help dry the foliage faster after a rain or dew.

Many disease organisms such as those that cause powdery mildew and black spot can overwinter on dead leaves and infected canes. Pruning out infected canes and composting leaves will reduce disease pressure next growing season.

When removing old bedding plants, check roots for knots. Presence of knots will usually be a sign of root knot nematodes.

Rotation is a practice that will aid in reducing losses from soilborne diseases such as cotton root rot, fusarium, damping off and seedling diseases. This dormant season would be a good time to design your vegetable garden planting plan.

Earliness is a disease escape mechanism that can be utilized with some vegetables. Use of plastic as a mulch will help warm soil earlier and such vegetables as tomatoes can be planted 10 days to two weeks earlier in plastic mulch. Garden soils can be prepared now, put in raised beds and covered with plastic. Be sure to use black plastic for heat absorption and weed control.

Weeds are natural hosts of many virus diseases. Applying herbicides in garden sites during dormant season will help eliminate the virus-carrying weeds. Be sure to use herbicides recommended for vegetable gardens. Clean tilling during dormant season will help eliminate weed host. Adding liberal amounts of organic matter has shown some success in reducing cotton root rot. Dormant season is a good time to clean out your compost pile.

All gardeners usually have some used potting soil lying around in pots or containers. This soil can be reused but should be sterilized first. Small batches of soil can be sterilized in the microwave oven in 3 to 5 minutes. Conventional ovens take 30 minutes at 180 degrees F. Store sterilized soil in clean containers until ready for use.

Now you can collect seed catalogs and place your order for disease and nematode resistant varieties. When planting season gets here, you will be ready to plant.

Tax guide available for farmers

A free publication, designed to explain how tax laws apply to farming, is available by writing or calling the Internal Revenue Service.

IRS Publication 225, Farmer's Tax Guide, is full of information covering such topics as farm income, farm business expenses, tax credits, sales of farm land, and soil and water conservation expenses.

Written in easy-to-understand language, the guide can be a valuable resource at tax time as well as a handy reference all year. It contains a sample return with step-by-step directions on filling out not only Schedule F, Farm Income and Expenses, but also other forms and schedules dealing with tax situations common to most farmers.

The guide contains a calendar of important tax dates, tips on methods of recordkeeping and accounting, and other useful topics. The first page, "Highlights," alerts readers to important changes in the tax law.

The Farmer's Tax Guide was prepared by the IRS, with the assistance of the Extension Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, the Extension Service of the State Land Grant Universities, and the Regional Farm Management Extension Committees. It is available by using the order blank in the IRS tax return package or calling the IRS toll-free at 1-800-424-3676.
