The following specific livestock, crop and weather conditions were reported by Panhandle Extension directors: Cold and wet conditions prevailed, with unpaved roads and fields still muddy when not frozen early in the day. Spring crop preparation remained on hold because of wet conditions. In some areas, wheat improved from recent moisture, but growth awaited warmer weather. Producers' hay supplies were becoming low, but cattle still needed supplemental feeding in order to maintain body weight. Cold weather combined with muddy conditions has been hard on cattle in pastures and feedlots.

Words from Faith & Grace

by Cecil R. Biggers, Lutheran Lay Minister The season of Lent is an invitation to thirst and hunger for the Word of God. We prepare to dine lavishly as we study Isaiah 55: 1-9, Psalm 63: 1-8, 1 Corinthians 10: 1 13, and Luke 13: 1-0. Isaiah invites all who thirst and hunger to come to a banquet, to realize the fullness of the moment and of God. The imagery is that of a mizarum edict, the order of a new King announcing the forgiveness of all debts. We learn from this passage that God provides both spiritually and materially for his people. Isaiah shows that the covenant (contract) made between God and David, now applies to the people. With this covenant, Isaiah issues a call for repentance and as sures the believers of God's forgiveness.

The Psalmist sings a song of thanksgiving and trust that sustains the believer. He sings that his soul thirsts and faints for God, as one in a dry and weary land with no water. When the Psalmist thinks of God at night, his soul is satisfied as with a rich feast. When we dwell in the presence of our God, we are satisfied. Yet, verses 9 13 reflect the fate of those who do not dwell in the presence of God.

Paul gives the Corinthians a history lesson of his people. All the people of God saw the wonders of the exodus, but many perished because of their lack of faith and their reliance on being a part of the "Chosen". Paul warns the Corinthians not to be over-confident in their faith, that we should not live in sin just because we rely on the grace of God in Jesus Christ. The faith community is warned that all will be tempted (tested). Yet, Paul assures all in the faith community that even when we are tested, God remains faithful to us. We will to be tested beyond our ability to resist and God will provide a means for us to escape. Therefore, as Christians we cannot rely on our own righteousness or our own status as faithful, lest we fall. We must rely upon the saving grace of Jesus Christ if we are to resist idolatry (anything that displaces God in your life), fornication (living for simple, bestial pleasure), testing God's mercy by reveling in

The deadline is closing in on us for the history book, Dorothy and Ann should so get to work and finish your histories. Also work with your town, church, local merchants, etc. in bringing us up to date on your community since 1976. This is our slice of history that future generations are going to use to reflect on our times.

> March is also membership month and the renewals will be going out soon. We appreciate each and every one of you that supports the museum.

> The Book Committee will meet March 10 from 1-3 p.m. at the museum, followed by the Board from 4-6 p.m. These are public open meeting and all are invited to join us.

our sin, and grumbling against God.

Jesus is responding to comments from the crowd about current calamities. The Jews connected suffering with sin. Hence the question about those who had been killed by Pontius Pilate's troops when they went to sacrifice at the temple. Jesus then mentions those killed when the 'tower' at Siloam fell on them. Jesus tells them that those who were killed are not greater 'sinners' than any of them. Now, the crowd may have thought of those killed as 'sinners' because the worshipers were part of a protest against Pontius Pilate who had levied on monies of the Temple to build water aqueducts for Jerusalem; the workers at Siloam were possibly working on an aqueduct tower, and were being paid by Temple funds. Jesus stresses that all need to repent. There are at least five elements of repentance in the Hebrew teshuva: recognition of one's sin as sin, remorse, desisting from further sin, restitution where possible, and confession to God and the one(s) wronged. Jesus parable of the nonproducing fig tree illustrates the 'gospel of a second chance' with a warning that there is a time when there will be no chance. We can learn from this that uselessness invites disaster; one who only takes cannot survive.

May the Holy Spirit enable you to dwell in the presence of your God that you may be filled.

Delegates of the Convention of 1836 wrote and adopted the Texas Declaration of Independence overnight. They elected a committee of five delegates to draft the document. It was briefly reviewed, then adopted by the delegates. Afterwards they prepared a Constitution for the newly formed Republic, and organized an interim government. These actions were accomplished amid almost daily reports of the invasion on Texas soil by Mexico, and the collapse of the Alamo and destruction of its Defenders.

The ad interim government that was created by the delegates took office at the close of the convention and served until the following October, when general elections were held. With their mission accomplished, the delegates and the newly formed government of the Republic of Texas adjourned in haste during the rested, 18 already have early morning hours of March 17th, following news of the approach of Santa Anna and the Mexican army.

Big Brothers Big Sisters Thank Your Mentor Project

Little Sister Pheobe makes a card for her Big Sister Lisa Pipkin. Pheobe and Lisa have been matched since August 2009.

Little Brothers and Little Sisters involved in Big Brothers Big Sisters' programs in Spearman and Gruver participated in a Thank Your Mentor project as part of National Mentoring Month in January. The children decorated cards for their volunteers, their "Bigs," and included a special message.

"This was a fun way to recognize the volunteers who are making such an impact in these children's lives," said Kimberley Lopez, local agency case manager. "It warms your heart to hear the kids themselves tell how they feel about their Bigs."

"I think you are the most friendlyest person ever," wrote Aneth, 9.

"I think you are a good person who is always helpare there when I need a helping hand and I would like to thank you for that." "I appreciate you for being here for me. You are a great person. You have taught me so many things and I thank you a lot," wrote Eva, 13. "You are my best friend. I love you." Little Sister Ruth, 9, wrote, "I love being with you. You are like a real sister to me." "Thank you for being my Big. I like you so much. I think you are so nice and special," wrote Manuel, 11. "I want you to be my Big forever and never leave me." "I think you are the best big in the world," wrote Mary Jane, 10. "I enjoyed every second we played or made something together." "You can never be replaced because you are the best anyone could get. Thanks for spending time with me, I will never forget you," wrote Roy, 11. Little Brother Marcos, 15, wrote, "I like the way you treat me and the way you talk to me.'

scribed as a relationship with a purpose," said Lopez. "Big Brothers Big Sisters' mentoring creates intentional friendships that encourage children to grow up positively."

There are three program options for volunteering in the local area. School based mentoring allows the volunteer and child to meet on the school campus during the school day with no contact outside of school. Matches typically meet about 30 minutes and play games, read, talk or do homework together. In the community based program Bigs and Littles meet about two hours a week according to their own schedules. They choose activities they both enjoy like working in the yard, attending ball games, going ing," wrote Alex, 12. "You for walk or doing a project around the house. The third option, School Plus, is a blending of the school and community programs. Matches generally meet at school to provide consistency, but they do have the option to meet outside of school occasionally. They might go out once a month or talk weekly on the phone; this option allows school based matches to continue to meet throughout the summertime. Volunteers in Spearman's Bigs in Schools program are Sutten Garnett, Stevie Couch, Tate Batton, Joselyn Terrazas, Nikki

There is that playoff motto called survive and advance.

The Gruver Greyhounds played that role a little too perfect for their coach Thursday night.

Gruver overcame firsthalf shooting woes, receiving a boost from coach Troy Seagler at halftime and the instant offense of senior Rily Urban in the third quarter, to slip past Hale Center, 55-48, in a Region I-1A Division I area boys high school basketball playoff at Amarillo

High Activity Center. Gruver (23-5), a regional finalist last year, moved into the regional quarterfinals against the winner of tonight's Wellington-White game, we knew we could do it again."

Gruver senior Blake Fitzgerald contributed a clutch 3-pointer with 4:31 to play to break a 42-42 tie, and the Greyhounds made Hale Center pay for fouling, going 17-of-22 from the line.

Gruver senior post Tyler Wills scored 11 points, made several nice giveand-go passes to Urban, and battled Hale Center 6foot-6 sophomore Tyrell Johnson.

Johnson scored 10 points, blocked eight shots, grabbed 14 rebounds and frustrated Gruver early by altering several shots near the basket.

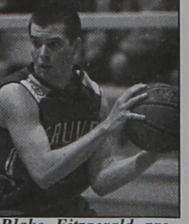

Hale Center received a spark from junior guard Ray Ortega, who made three 3-pointers and had a team-high 15 points. The Owls last tied the game at 42-42 with 4:38 to play on a Nathan Shaver fast break bucket.

Fitzgerald Lifts Greyhounds To Victory

Those in Gruver know where they can find senior Blake Fitzgerald for about an hour and a half most every day.

Shooting that basketball over and over in the Gruver High gym.

About 1,800 fans and the Wellington Skyrockets witnessed the result of Fitzgerald's hard work Monday night when the 6foot guard drained a career-high six 3-pointers in leading Gruver to a 67-55 Region I-1A Division I quarterfinal win against No. 12 Wellington in the Amarillo High Activity Center.

Fitzgerald finished with a game-high 24 points, making six of the first eight 3-pointers he attempted, and that outside shooting was too much for Wellington's one-two offensive punch of AJ Johnson and CJ Nash to overcome.

"I'll tell you what Gruver did was get us out of our game plan," Wellington coach Tim Webb said. "We came in knowing that 24 (Rily Urban) and 21 (Tyler Wills) make them go. And then No. 10 (Fitzgerald) comes up and just killed us."

Fitzgerald made a trio of treys in the first quarter, added one in the second and two in the third, producing a season-high number of 3-pointers and helping Gruver hold a lead throughout the second half.

In the third quarter, on a Johnson three-point

Fitzgerald scored all eight of Gruver's points, helping build a 42-34 lead.

"Seeing Blake do that, it's one of those deals where you feel good for his success because you know he put in the effort," said Gruver coach Troy Seagler, his team advancing to Friday's regional semifinals against Olton. "He can shoot the 3."

Fitzgerald said he fed off the vocal crowd, and making his first two 3pointers built his confidence.

"This was exciting," Fitzgerald said. "It was kind of intimidating playing Wellington because they were highly ranked. I just got in the flow of the game.

Wellington's flow was produced by the strong drives and outside shooting of Johnson and Nash, who scored all but two of Wellington's 28 first-half points and combined for 39 points.

But Wellington's last lead was at 10-9 with 2:44 to play in the first quarter play as Gruver ended the first quarter with (what else?) a pair of Fitzgearld 3-pointers over the final 53 seconds to own an 18-13 lead.

No. 17th-ranked Gruver did other things well besides relying on Fitzgerald. Gruver made 14-of-18 free throws in the fourth quarter when Wellington was forced to foul. There was the play of post Wills battling the taller Wellington posts inside and grabbing 13 rebounds and scoring seven points. Then team leader Urban scored 17, and wing Danny Bonilla added 10.

"When knew going in it was going to be tough to contain (Johnson and Nash)," Seagler said. "I am truly blessed to coach this group of guys. I can't say enough about their hard work and dedication."

The National Geographic Bee is when students are quizzed on their knowledge of geography. The National Geographic Society sponsors it. There are three different rounds. The Preliminary Round is the first. The second round is called the Final Round. The third and last round is the Championship Round. Only the top two students competing in the Bee go to this round. For our school Bee the two students competing in the Championship Round were an 8th grade student named Molly Lieb and a 6th grader named Hunter Hopkins. When the round was over, Hunter was the winner. After the Bee we were making jokes saying that he swallowed an atlas. Hunter took the State Qualifying Test the following school day. If he qualifies, he will go to the State-Level Bee. The winner of the State Bee will go to Washington D.C. for the National-Level Bee. All the students were also given a Participation Ribbon, a Geobee T-shirt, a Geobee bracelet, a Geobee pencil, and a Certificate of Participation. We wish Hunter Good Luck!!

Giving Spirit Soars at SJH!

by Ember Keith, Spearman Junior High

SJH students raised $152.00 for Haitian relief efforts in the "Jump for Haiti" fundraiser. Students bought chances to perform their best aerial stunt into a mountain of purple bean bags at the PRIDE assembly. They were enticed by the fact that Mr. Shane was a confirmed competitor in the event already!

The other fierce competitors chosen on PRIDE assembly day were Trent "Broken Toe" White, Javier "Big Air" Caro, and Ryan "These Cowboy Boots Lack Traction" Schnell.

Mr. "Hold My Glasses and Phone-this is Seri-Whiteley, SJH principal, ous" Whiteley got lots of style points for his flying full mid-air layout, but in the end the winner by popular vote was Javier Caro.

The real winners in this case, however, are the Haitian people who continue to show amazing resilience and our students of SJH, who are always willing to "Go BIG" to help those in need!

running, though it is raining as I write. I am expecting good rains this spring, to replenish the lake.

The lake finally thawed in the last week. I saw more ducks this week. The bald eagles still number four to eight. The picture this week shows just one, but five were there watching, as I took the lake level. Roadrunners, mountain bluebirds, cedar waxwings, and robins have been seen this week.

The Panhandle Water Planning Group approved the initially prepared plan, last Monday, February 22. This is the third, five year planning cycle, required in Texas. The plan looks at supply and demand of water for the next fifty years. Where shortages are are devised. The plan will be approved by the Texas Water Development Board, and with the plans of other regions in the state, will become the new state water plan. Detailed information on our plan is available at www.panhandlewater.org.

This is a week of meetings for me. The annual Canadian River Compact Commission meeting will be in Oklahoma City, on Tuesday. The Texas Water Conservation Association will hold the annual meeting in Dallas. The TWCA always has a variety of topics and speakers. It is a great place to stay in touch with other water people, along with legislators, engineers, attorneys, and some just interested in the topics at hand.

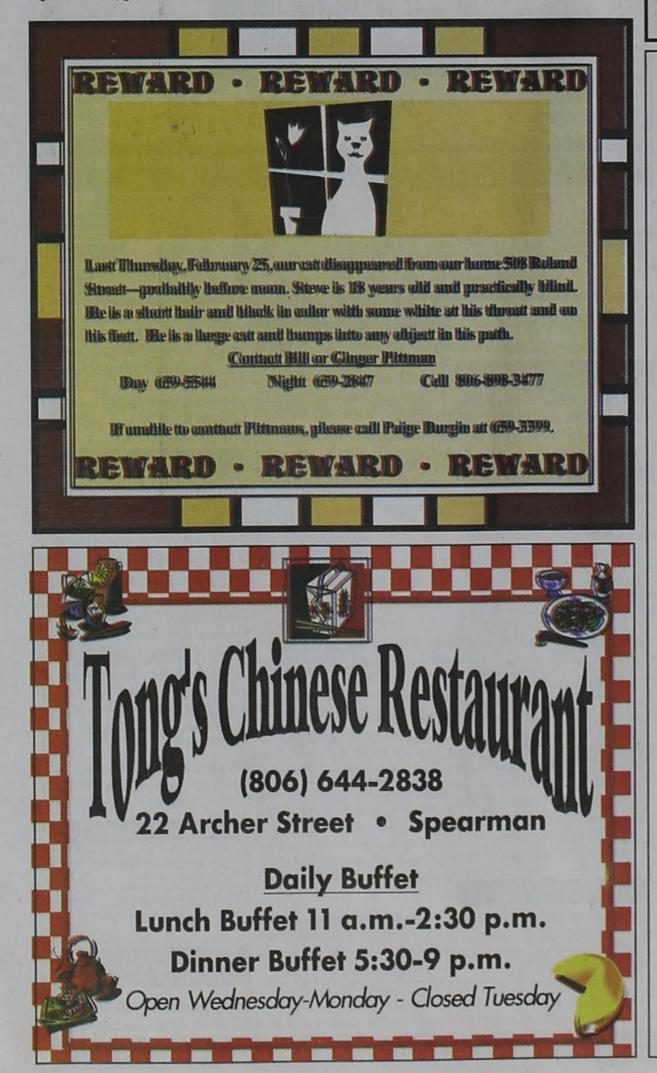

March 1, 2010 - Lake level - 15.79 (Record low -15.67)

Lake Palo Duro continues to go down, even though we have had a lot of moisture. The snow has melted, except for the shady areas. Some of this snow has been on the ground for exactly a month! The creeks are not
