Cattle sold on July 15 beat the heat in the shade at the Athens Commission Co. in Athens. Faced with lack of grazing, hay and water, Texas livestock producers are culling into the "hearts" of herds that they may have spent years building up, according Texas AgriLife Extension Service reports. ## Livestock Producers are Culling into the 'Hearts of Herds'

By: Robert Burns

Faced with lack of grazing, dwindling hay supplies and shrinking surface water sources, livestock producers continue to cull deeper into herds, according to Texas AgriLife Extension Service re-DOILS.

"They're culling a lot deeper than they normally would, and they're culling a lot harder than they normally would," said Rick Hirsch, AgriLife Extension agent for Henderson County, west of Tyler. "And they're culling into the heart of their herds.'

By "heart of their herds," Hirsch meant heifers and three- to six-year-old cows that should form the core of future production.

Producers are also selling calves early In Henderson County, sales have been in the range of 2,500 to 3,000 head per week at the Athens Commission Co., he said. During an average year in July, weekly sales counts should be more like 1,600 to 2,000 head.

"Statewide, I've been hearing huge numbers from auction markets in Central and West Central Texas," Hirsch said. 'The numbers have been astronomical for this time of year."

According to reports from AgriLife Extension personnel in the Rolling Plains, area sale barns were turning people away because their sales were running so long.

On June 25 in Van Zandt County, east of Dallas, ranchers sold 825 head and 1,655 head on July 9, according to Tommy Phillips, Agrilife Extension agent for Van Zandt County.

It will take years to rebuild these herds, Hirsch noted.

"Partly because of the sheer numbers being culled, and the other (factor) is the higher cost of production," Hirsch said. "We have higher cattle prices right now, and that is helping the situation. But the high cost of replacements, the cost of fertilizer and the cost of fuel — all will make it harder to build numbers back up.

To help producers make better culling decisions, Henderson County will host a training on Aug. 22 in Athens titled "Managing the Effects of Drought for Beef Producers." For more information contact Hirsch at 903-675-6130.

Other training programs and information on the current Texas drought and wildfire alerts can be found on the AgriLife Extension Agricultural Drought Task website http://agrilife.tamu.edu/drought/.

Texas Crop & Weather

The following specific livestock, crop and weather conditions were reported by Panhandle Extension directors: The weather remained hot, dry and windy. A few isolated areas reported receiving from 0.6 inch to 2 inches of rain. Soil-moisture levels were very poor. Irrigators continued to heavily water all crops. Corn was in poor to very poor condition, stressed from the drought and an increase in spider mites and western bean cutworms. Many producers were diverting irrigation to fewer acres and abandoning some crops, such as corn, because of the high water demands. Cotton was in poor to very poor condition in most counties. Rangeland and pasture conditions were in poor to very poor condition with most reporting very poor. Producers continued to provide supplemental feed to livestock.

Medical Fund Established At First National Bank for Dynell Moore

Shawn and Dynell Moore, children of Johnny and Brenda Vera and Terry Moore of Spearman, have recently relocated their family to the Dallas-Fort Worth area. In March, Dynell was diagnosed with stomach cancer. She will be receiving treatments at MD Anderson in Houston and Baylor Medical Center in Fort Worth. After the birth of their second child, three tumors were discovered, two of which contained malignant cells. The tumors were safely removed at Mary Washington Hospital in Fredericksburg, VA. At which time, Dynell began oral oncology treatment to keep the cancer from spreading. The Moore's made the decision after consulting with their physician to continue an aggressive treatment program at MD Anderson Cancer Center in Houston as well as their sister facility in Fort Worth. There has been a Medical Fund established for the Moore family at First National Bank in Spearman to aid in treatment expenses. The Moore's feel extremely blessed with the early diagnoses of Dynell's condition and the support they have received from family and friends.

Words from Faith & Grace

by Cecil R. Biggers, Lutheran Lay Minister

In the sixth week of Pentecost, we learn something of the relationship between the Word of God and our relationship with God as we study I Kings 3: 5-12, Psalm 119: 129-136, Romans 8: 26-39, and Matthew 13: 31 33, 44-52.

Solomon has become king at David's death. He is at Gibeon to worship at a high place with his Egyptian wife (a form of worship deplored by the prophets). God comes to Solomon in a dream and says "Ask what I should give you." Solomon speaks of the good things his father, David, has done in his relationship with Godfaithfulness, walking in righteousness and uprightness Solomon acknowledges that he is the servant of God as was his father; Solomon compares himself to a 'little child not knowing what to do as king. Solomon did not ask for wealth, long life, or victory over his enemies Solomon asked for "an understanding mind to govern God's people". This pleased God and it was so.

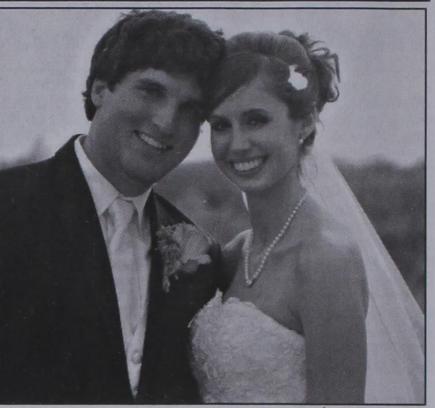

The Psalmist sings a song of wisdom. The part we are studying has as its theme, the Word of God. The poetic theme is the human body, as various parts respond to a living relationship with God. The Psalmist pleads, "Turn to me and be gracious to me, as is your custom toward those who love your name." This reflects the truth that we cannot of our own strength or effort believe in God keep God's word, or defeat sin. It is God who has done all of this for us; therefore, we should praise God and follow his commandments.

Paul tells the Romans that the Holy Spirit helps us in our weakness, for we do not know how to pray. We do not know what is to come in the future and we do not know those things that are truly good for us. The Holy Spirit intercedes for us and we can trust that all things work together for good for those who love God. Indeed. "If God is for us, who is against us?" As sin entered this world and our hearts through one man, Adam, so too has our righteousness been attained through one man, Jesus The Christ. So God works in our past, present and future for our good. Paul reaches the conclusion that I have recited at many funerals because of its impact on how we live, that is: "I am convinced that neither death, nor life, nor angels, nor rulers, nor things present, nor things to come, nor powers, nor height, nor depth, nor anything else in all creation, will be able to separate us form the love of God in Christ Jesus our Lord.

Jesus tells the parable of the mustard seed and of the pearl of great price. From the small mustard seed comes a great bush which gives shelter to birds. Similarly from a band of twelve came the Church which is charged with bringing all peoples to Christ, and into the Kingdom of Heaven. A man finds a treasure hidden in a field and then goes and sells all that he has in order to buy the field. This tells us the level of commitment necessary to be a disciple. When we discover the treasure of Jesus The Christ we must sacrifice all that we have to claim it for ourselves and share it with others. (Compare this with the reaction of the rich young ruler who approached Jesus to be a disciple, but who could not bear to part with his earthly wealth. May the Holy Spirit intercede daily for you that you may understand the Word of God and have life abundantly.

Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Anderson

Haney, Anderson Wed

Sharon Haney, daughter of Marty and Sandy Haney of Spearman, and Aaron Anderson, son of Tommy and Susan Anderson of Tulia, were married on July 2, 2011 at Three Falls Cove near Lake Meredith.

The wedding party included the bridesmaids and bride's college roommates, Angela Jackson (maid of honor) and Haley Hill, the bride's cousins, Olivia Gilbert and Allison Rodgers, and the bride's sister-in-law, Lauren Haney. The groomsmen were the groom's brothers, Shane and Jayson Anderson (the best men), the groom's friends, Tim Barnes and Blake Adams, and the bride's brother, Steven Haney. The bride's cousin, Lily Rodgers, was the flower girl and the groom's friend, Peyton Arthur, was the ring bearer.

The ceremony began with a prayer by the bride's grandfather, Rev. Roland Haney of Spearman. Minister and dear friend of the groom's family, Kevin Burrow, brought the wedding message. Pianist Brandon Dorris, a dear friend of the bride's family, supplied the music for the ceremony. He also sang "When I Say I Do" by Matthew West during a sand ceremony.

After the exchange of vows and rings, the bride's cousin, Allison Rodgers, sang "My Beloved" by Kari Jobe. During this time, the bride and groom took communion. The ceremony took place against the background of a picturesque pond and three crosses on a hill.

The bride lived in Spearman from Kindergarten through high school and is a 2007 Spearman High School graduate. The groom lived in Tulia all of his life and is a 2006 Tulia graduate. They both are recent graduates of Wayland Baptist University in Plainview.

After a honeymoon in Western Caribbean, the couple will reside in Plainview.

By Laura Hays

Goodwell residents, families and friends gathered on the Fourth of July holiday to commemorate our country's independence while helping the town raise money for its ambulance service. The festivities began with the annual scramble format tournament on Oklahoma Panhandle State University's golf course and twelve teams competed for cash and prizes. While the weather was fine, clouds crossed some faces as putts refused to fall due to the tricky pin placements.
