Roller-coaster record broken

50¢

It had its ups and downs, but an American man says his 2,000-hour roller-coaster ride (concluded Sept. 7) was all worthwhile: He broke his own record and plans to donate the funds he raised to charity.

Richard Rodríguez made the pronouncement after stepping off the Big Dipper at Blackpool Pleasure Beach in northwest England. He had ridden it continually since June 9 except for breaks of five minutes per hour.

That nearly doubled his previous record of 1,013 hours, set two years ago.

Rodríguez, a New York native who is now a teacher in Chicago, completed his last three-minute lap to cheers from supporters. A jazz band played "Show Me the Way To Go Home" as the ride ground to a halt.

"I'm on top of the world," he said. "It's a great day — I'm on an emotional high."

Rodríguez said he is donating sponsorship funds to a children's charity, but did not disclose the amount raised.

It won't be one for the record books, though. The Guinness Book of Records stopped tracking roller-coaster competitions several years ago. Rodríguez said he had continued to follow the guidelines set by Guinness previously.

Kangaroo terrorizes family

A kangaroo terrorized a family in a northern Australian town for three hours after smashing through their glass front door in the middle of the night, police reported recently.

Five children were sleeping in the house in Jabiru, a mining town 125 miles west of the Northern Territory capital of Darwin, when the 5-1/2-foot-tall animal crashed in shortly after midnight, injuring itself. The ordeal ended when police roped the animal and hustled it into a police car. The kangaroo was later put down.

Mules reach 5-0 mark by blanking Seminole

JOURNAL STAFF REPORT

The Muleshoe Mules extended their record to 5-0 with a 34-0 homecoming victory over Seminole on Friday in frigid, windy weather.

The game didn't get off to the best start for either team. Seminole took D.J. Domínguez's kickoff on its own 21-yard line, but lost the ball to a Lupe Piñeda pass interception on the third play from scrimmage.

But the Mules started out with trouble of their own. On the first play, quarterback Lincoln Riley couldn't get of the ball and was thrown for a three-yard loss. A short gain by Darrell Lewis and an incomplete pass left the Mules with a fourth-and-12. Domínguez's 52yard field-goal attempt fell short.

On the next series of downs, Seminole's Cornell Adams showed signs of life with a 16-yard run for a first down, but three plays later disaster struck as the Mules's Stephen Woodard presented the Indians with a six-yard loss.

That forced Seminole into a punting situation, and Danny Ramírez turned it into paydirt with a 60yard return for a touchdown.

The Mules weren't able to make the two-point conversion, but they still owned a six-point lead with 6:57 left in the first quarter.

Despite Muleshoe getting slapped with a 15-yard penalty for unsportsmanlike conduct on the ensuing kickoff, Seminole again went nowhere, turning the ball over Bradley Thomason (No. 60).

Muleshoe took over on its own 25-yard line, and nine plays later -highlighted by an 11-yard keeper by Travis Tunnell and a 41-yard romp by Ramírez — Ramírez made his second trip into the end zone with a five-yard run. This time, T-Bird Cox added the extra points and Muleshoe led 14-0.

The Mule defense again forced Seminole to punt.

This time, the Mules took only eight plays to score, as Lincoln Riley found Jeff Shelburne with a 12-yard pass to extend the score to 20-0. Joey Tucker made it 22-0 with 7:30 left in the half.

The Mules were forced to redo their kickoff, but then fell on the ball at the Seminole 44-yard line, and relinquished the ball for only one series of downs for the rest of the half - and that was after a fiveyard pass from Tunnell found Lewis completely open in the end zone for another touchdown.

The Mules' usually reliable twopoint conversion machine failed again, leaving the halftime score at 28-0.

After the break, the Mules received the kickoff and it took only two plays for Ramírez to break

The world champion chickenroping, scheduled for Oct. 15 in Ruidoso, apparently will not be held because of protests from a Virginia-based animal-rights group called United Poultry Concerns.

Joe Rhodes of Muleshoe, sponsor of the event that had been scheduled in conjunction with the 11th annual Lincoln County Cowboy Symposium, could not be reached for comment late Friday.

The Ruidoso event was to pit Texas champions (who won at Joe's Boot Shop) against New Mexico champions.

An "action alert" on the protest group's web site urged people to "demand cancellation of this cruel and degrading 'entertainment.' "

A press release from the group quotes Rhodes as telling the group's president, Karen Davis, that chicken-roping bolsters "the cowboy way of life."

The press release calls chickenroping a "cockamaniac event" and asks the The Hubbard Museum of the American West at Ruidoso Downs to cancel the event "before it becomes a national animal-rights

China trade bill offers light for Texas farmers

SPECIAL TO THE JOURNAL

COLLEGE STATION - A landmark trade bill agreement between the United States and China will open new doors for trade opportunities among agricultural producers across the nation and in Texas to sell products and services to the world's largest emerging marketplace.

The passage of the Permanent Normal Trade Relations will allow several future developments to take place, said Parr Rosson, director of the Center for North American Studies at Texas A&M University. He noted that the agreement should increase the opportunity and probability that China will become a larger market for U.S. food and agricultural products.

"This eases the way for China to become a member of the World Trade Organization," Rosson said. "China must agree to abide by the same trade rules as other World Trade Organization signatories. While this alone won't open markets, it will force closer scrutiny of the mechanisms and polices used by China to support agricultural production, protect markets, employ state trading enterprises and ensure the integrity of human, animal and plant health.'

The U.S.-China trade agreement, as well as other topics relating to international agriculture, and Texas' role in exporting goods produced across the state will be discussed at the upcoming International Trade Summit scheduled for Nov. 14-15 at the Hyatt International in campaign.

The document goes on: "If cowboys are going to bully birds who have done them no harm, United Poultry Concerns will publicize their cowardice. Grown men and women who think it's cute chasing and tying up terrified birds below their boots with little ropes, calling their cowboy gags a 'competition,' are saying: 'I don't respect myself or other living beings. I lack dignity and empathy. I'm not a stud. I'm a dud.'

Davis and her group apparently believe such a stand will help them

According to the web site, United Poultry Concerns also is protesting guineafowl drops, chicken-flying contests, ostrich races, the raising of emus for slaughter, Heifer Project International and the "Chicken Run" promotion by Burger King restaurants.

The group also will be organizing a Thanksgiving Day protest "for turkeys," the web site states.

Much of state sorghum crop lost

COLLEGE STATION -Producers in many areas of Texas have lost most of this season's sorghum crop due to drought conditions, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service reports.

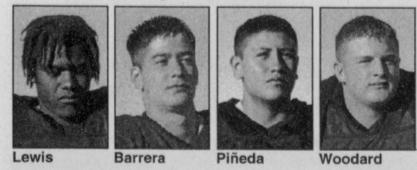

District Extension director Dr. Bob Robinson in Amarillo said annual rainfall in the Panhandle is 6 inches below normal and much of the region has not received measurable moisture since mid-July. He said about 75 percent of the sorghum planted in the Panhandle this year will be lost.

"Grain sorghum has been devastated in the West Central region," said district Extension director Scott Durham in San Angelo. "It's been a brutal year for all crops."

Durham said grain sorghum, which usually produces about $6 billion to $12 billion in his region, will bring in about $2 billion this year.

loose on a 75-yard scoring run. Domínguez's extra-point kick was no good, so the score --which turned out to be final --stayed at 34-0.

Although the Indians controlled the ball for much of the second half, sometimes aided by penalties against the Mules, they were frustrated in finding the end zone.

The Mules were penalized a total of 90 yards, far more than usual, but still amassed 330 yards total offense (282 rushing) to Seminole's 111 (with 107 rushing).

Ramírez was easily the game's leading rusher at 156 yards. Also for Muleshoe, Tunnell rushed for 62 yards, Lewis for 36, Cox for 31, Jesús Tovar for 13 and Stephan Shelburne 4. Tucker tacked on 33 yards in receptions.

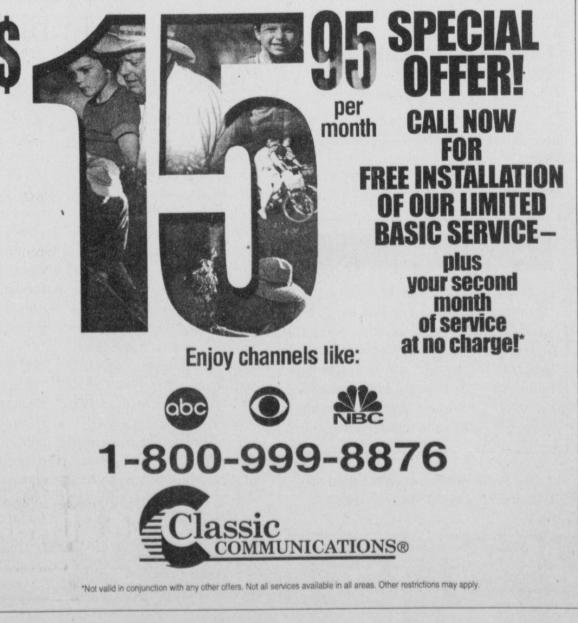

Kyle Atwood may have had the most frustrating night of all, with a 19-yard run and a 47-yard end-zone pass interception both nullified by the officials.

With Plateau Wireless, Dave's calls are billed in six-second increments so he can make more calls without being charged more. Pastors' Wives Are Often Wiser Than Their Husbands need to lighten up. My wife tells me, kindly, that I've recently been out of sorts and surly, somewhat depressive and depressing. What's more depressing is that she's usually right about these things. So . . . here's a story about another pastor and some wisdom his own wife imparted. This is from Charles Westerman's funny and insightful book Pastor Karl's Rookie Year and is about one day in the life of Karl Beck, pretty new pastor/very new catcher on the church softball team. Understand that Karl's team, Zion Community, is playing Mannheim Lutheran. Bottom of the second. Down six runs. He, Pastor/Catcher Karl, has already been chided by the ump for "interference." Understand that, after a bad call, Karl muttered something about the ump and contact lenses. Understand that another batter has belted what may be an inside-thepark homer and is heading home. The third baseman fires the ball Karl snags it and makes the tag. "I got him!" I yell.

"Safe!" he [the ump] yells back. "Safe? Safe? I nailed him two feet away from the plate!" "Too bad I didn't have my contacts in then." This is too much, really. Ed

[Zion Community pitcher and deacon] heads toward me, motioning "calm"-but how can I, a minister of the gospel, be unimpassioned about such a blatant miscarriage of justice?

'So just what exactly would it take around here to get a guy out? You need photos next time?" "Next batter."

"Speaking. See, that was the third out, so I'm the next batter, chowderhead."

Ed, on his way to me, pivots and heads back to the mound. Ed knows "over" when he hears it.

The ump resumes his smug smile. "But Pastor, there's no way you can be the next batter . . because you're outta the game!"

Outta the . . .? Then it dawns on me. Pastor, leader, role model. Ejected.

MASTERPIECE THEATRE "Oliver Twist"

One of Britain's most distinguished dramatists, Alan Bleasdale, takes on one of the greatest storytellers of all times in a daring threepart adaptation of a favorite novel by Charles Dickens. "Oliver Twist" launches the 30th anniversary season of Masterpiece Theatre.

The rags-to-riches story of an orphan boy's adventures among criminals stars spunky child actor Sam Smith as Oliver. Robert Lindsay stars as Fagin, prince of thieves. Michael Kitchen plays Oliver's benevolent patron, Mr. Brownlow.

Oliver Twist was Dickens's second novel, serialized in gripping monthly installments between 1837-1839. The young Queen Victoria found the tale of penury, pickpockets, and prostitutes, centered on an innocent orphan coerced into crime, "excessively interesting" -as did millions of her subjects.

Masterpiece Theatre "Oliver Twist" can be seen Sundays at 9:00 p.m. beginning October 8th. The series repeats Fridays at 12:30 a.m. beginning October 13th (12:00 a.m. on 27th).

FRONTLINE "Drug Wars"

Frontline continues its traditions of hard-hitting investigative documentaries with "Drug Wars," a special two-part program.

"Drug Wars" examines America's ceaseless efforts of the past three decades to stop the flow of illegal drugs into this country. The drug wars have absorbed hundreds of billions of dollars, altered the criminal justice system, and put millions of people in jail. Despite the United States' expenditures, the use of heroin, cocaine, marijuana, and other illicit drugs continues to thrive on American streets. Meanwhile, international drug-trafficking has become a globalized multibillion dollar industry — one that is now an integral part of the world economy. Have the efforts been in vain? In exclusive interviews with both "drug warriors" and drug traffickers, Frontline presents a television history of America's war on drugs from both sides of the battlefield.

Frontline "Drug Wars" can be seen on consecutive evenings, Monday and Tuesday, October 9th-10th at 10:00 p.m. (Parts I and II) on KENW-TV.
