SERVING HANSFORD COUNTY SINCE 1907 Spearman Junior High Team Wins Stock Market Game

A Spearman Junior High Team took top honors in the West Texas State Championship of the Fall 1999 Stock Market Game Worldwide.

The team of Jentry Edwards, Nubia Maacharingue, Adan Briseno, and team captain Garrett Martin were notified by the College of Business Administration and Economics at New Mexico State university, sponsor of the annual competition.

The team also placed in the top four teams nationally in the competition of over junior high and high school teams. Six teams from Spearman placed in the top 50 in the contest. Junior high teacher Richard Trantham coordinated the program for the Spearman teams.

The Stock Market Game is an innovative method for teaching economics to students in a computer simulated competition played this fall by over 4,500 high school, middle school, and ele-mentary students throughout New Mexico and West Texas.

Each team begins with an imaginary $100,000 and during a tenweek period each semester "plays" the market, making transactions based on the daily closing prices from all three stock exchanges. Players may buy, sell, short sell, and short cover, and all transactions are charged a 2% broker fee. Teams may also buy on margin, but are charged interest at &5. The goal is to make as much money as possible during the ten-week period. There are two versions of the game: a scansheet version in which transactions are recorded on scan sheets that are mailed to

NMSU, read by an optical scanner, then fed into a computer. Each week the portfolios are updated and mailed, along with a ranking report to each participating team. An Internet version began three years ago and has been steadily growing now representing 85% of growing, now representing 85% of registrations in the NMSU SMGWW. Teams are able to conduct their transactions on line, receive dividends and interest on cash balances; portfolios are updated daily and rankings are performed weekly on Friday nights. Each semester the top state, regional, and essay contest win-ners in New Mexico and West Texas are presented with plaques and t-shirts, and every participating teacher's top team are awarded certificates

The holidays! They're supposed to be a time of warmth, hap-iness and excitement. And for many people, they are. But for some, the season can be a paradox, Joyous feelings and family and religious traditions can be overshadowed by stress, fatigue and gloom - "the blues." It's quite normal to experience a little unhappiness or frus-tration during the holidays. After all, it's an emotional and busy tration during the holidays. After all, it's an emotional and busy time of year. The key is knowing how to respond to your feel-ings and having realistic expectations. In addition to all of the gifts, goodies, decorations and events, the holiday season can be filled with many pressures. However, contrary to popular belief, research has failed to demonstrate that suicide increases during the holidays. A recent 35-year study in Olmsted County, MN, (where Mayo Clinic Rochester is located) found no increase in the number of suicides before during or after Thanksgiving

Christmas, New Year's or the Fourth of July. The holiday blues, as the name implies, tend to be temporary and seasonal, as opposed to depression, which is longer lasting and may require treatment. Family misunderstandings and conflict can also develop a this time of year. You may want your entire family to gather at your house, as they perhaps traditionally have. But they may have different plans or want you to come to their house. Or, there may be strained relationships between family members that commonly cause feelings of uneasiness when everyone gets together.

You may also expect too much from the holidays - that pic ture-perfect celebration, expensive gifts or hearing from longlost friends - and then become disappointed when those expect tations fall short.

Physical - The strain of shopping, attending social gatherings and baking holiday goodies can make you tense or fatigued. Too much food and drink during the holidays can also cause weight gain, which can be specially frustrating if you're trying to lose weight.

PRAYER 2000

May you get a clean bill of health from your dentist, your cardiologist, your gastroenterologist, your urologist, your proctologist, your podiatrist, your psychiatrist, your plumber and the IRS. May your hair, your teeth, your face-lift, your abs and your stocks not fall; and may your blood pressure, your triglycerides, your cholesterol, your white blood count and your mortgage interest not rise.

May you find a way to travel from anywhere to anywhere in rush hour in less than an hour, and when you get there may you find a parking place.

May Friday evening, December 31st, find you together with your beloved family and cherished friends, ushering in the New Year. You will find the food better, the environment quieter, the cost much cheaper, and the pleasure much more fulfilling than anything else you might ordinarily do that night.

May you wake up on January 1st, finding that the world has not come to an end, the lights work, the water faucets flow, and the sky has not fallen.

May you go to the bank on Monday morning, January 3rd and find your account is in order, your money is still there and any mistakes are in your favor.

May you ponder on January 4th: How did this ultramodern civilization of ours manage to get itself traumatized by a possible slip of a blip on a chip made out of sand.

May we relax about the Third Millennium of the Common Era, and realize that we still have 240 years until the dawn of the Sixth Millennium of the Jewish Calendar by which time the computer is long since obsolete and so are we.

May God give you the strength to go through a year of presidential campaigning, and may some of the promises made be kept. May you believe at least half of what the candidates propose, and may those elected fulfill at least half of what they promise, and the miracle of reducing taxes and balancing budgets happen.

May you be awe struck by God's sense of humor as you wrestle with the possibility that a professional wrestler could become president of the United States. - -

May what you see in the mirror delight you, and what others see in you delight them.

May someone love you enough to forgive your faults, be blind to your blemishes, and tell the world about your virtues.

May the telemarketers wait to make their sales calls until you finish dinner, and may your checkbook and your budget balance, and may they include generous amounts for charity.

May you remember to say "I Love You" at least once a day to your spouse, your child, your parent; but not to your secretary, your nurse, your your hairdresser or your tennis masseuse, instructor.

And may we live in a world at peace and the awareness of God's love in every sunset, every flower's unfolding petals, every baby's smile, very lover's kiss and every wonderful. aston

Mary DeLaRosa and daughter, Deedee returned recently from an eight-day cruise off the west coast. They flew to San Diego where they met family members. They sailed on the Carnival Line aboard the Jubilee Ship which has excellent facilities.

Their first port was Puerto allarta, Mexico, then to Vallarta, Manzanillo, and the final stop was Cabo San Lucas.

At each place they enjoyed sight-seeing, shopping and entertainment in pleasant weather.

Their family group consisted of Mary's two brothers, a sister, her mother and some of their children. Her mother hosted and financed the cruise for the family - a total of 16.

Ima Vaughn, widow of Dan Vaughn, former Spearman resident, was in Spearman overnight last Friday. She was visiting friends and some of Dan's relatives in Memphis, Amarillo, and Spearman. While here, she was a guest of Ron, Ray and Helen Gibson. She now lives in San Antonio.

Chunky Blackburn of Houston is spending the week with his mother, Ora Lee Blackburn. He is expecting to do some pheasant hunting while here.

Late word from Bodil Bradley, her daughter and son-in-law, Susan and Jim Steve Owenby, who are staying in Albuquerque temporariy, regarding the dreadful vehicle accident, is that Dr. Tim Owenbey is still critical. It is expected that it will be many months before he is recovered. His wife, Nancy, was killed in the accident and his two children, four and six year sold, are still hospitalized with head injuries.

Weekend guests of Ruth Bryan were her son and daughter-in-law, Joe Mike and Dee Bryan. They are from Amarillo.

To the great relief of many friends and well-wishers, Janna Brock returned home from Chicago on Friday. She underwent surgery at Columbus Hospital in Chicago on Monday. The surgery was very long, technical and exacting, involving the cranium and vertebra at the junction. It appears to be successful, but will not be known definitely for some months. Her parents, Stephanie and Kim Brock, were with her, and express optimism for the success of the surgery.

Guests of Patti and Bert Sheppard over the weekend for pheasant hunting were her sister and husband Dixie and Coy Jones of Brownfield, Lee Allen Jones of Brownsville and Skip Lesly and friend Robert of Stephenville.

Local hunters who joined them were Bobby and Lance Smith, and their guest, Kenneth Lee of Pampa. All reported a good bag.

The weather was ideal for their pheasant hunting, but their results were scanty.

Many are affected by the pass-ing of Dean Cluck on Friday, December 10th in the hospice of Amarillo. The complete obituary is elsewhere in this issue.

With his passing, his brother, Bob, is the only survivor of the family of D.G. and Edna Cluck. Dean was an entrepreneur and exemplified many successful busi-ness men in the U.S. who started from "scratch."

This writer was employed by the family firms for 25 years and was associated with the various activities and the growth. At that time Dean and Rita lived in a modest frame farm house in east Sherman County, when they bought the first half section of land.

In those years the land holding grew into thousands of acres in Texas and New Mexico. The frame house locale developed into a cluster of brick homes and offices for family and employees - a settlement. Dean had the first cattle feed lot in the Sherman-Hansford area. There was one in Moore County, owned by a Mr. Diedrichson, now

Nettas Nails

specializing in Christmas Nail Art

deceased - and he advised Dean on the fundamentals. Dean learned constantly and added several other lots.

The family firm was part owner of the original Caprock feed lots and Dean supervised the construction of the two lots.

He developed and owned several subsidiary businesses, including an aerial spray company for which he was a pilot; and was involved in banking and oil and gas development.

To Rita, his devoted wife since 1952, and to other members of the family, deepest sympathy is extended.

The poet of long ago can express the sentiment better than we can: "Toiling, rejoicing, sorrowing,

Onward through life he goes; Each morning sees some task begin; Each evening sees it close; Something attempted, something done. Has earned a night's repose.

Thanks, thanks to thee, my worthy friend,

For the lesson thou has taught!" Since earning his "night's repose. " Dean was laid to rest in the Gruver cemetery beside his parents and sister.

Christmas Around The World

Christmas is the happiest and busiest time of the year for millions of Christians throughout the world. People of different countries celebrate the holiday in various ways, depending on national and local customs.

In the United States and Canada, people decorate their homes with Christmas trees, wreaths, and ornaments. City streets sparkle with colored lights, and the sound of bells and Christmas carols fills the air.

During the weeks before Christmas, children write letters to Santa Claus and tell him what presents they would like to receive. Many department stores hire people to wear a Santa Claus costume and listen to children's requests. People share holiday greetings by sending Christmas cards to relatives and friends. Many companies give presents to their employees.

A Christmas tree is the main attraction in most homes. Relatives and friends may join in trimming the tree with lights, tinsel, and colorful ornaments. Presents are placed under the tree. Many young children receive presents brought by Santa Claus, who arrives on Christmas Eve in a sleigh pulled by reindeer. Some youngsters hang up stockings so Santa can fill them with candy, fruit, and other small gifts. Families open their presents on Christmas Eve or Christmas morning

In many parts of the United States and Canada, groups of carolers walk from house to house and sing Christmas songs. Some people give the singers money or small gifts or invite them in for a warm drink

Many people attend church services on Christmas Eve or Christmas morning. Churches are decorated with evergreen branches, red poinsettias, and scenes of the Nativity. Churchgoers listen to readings from the Bible and join in singing Christmas carols.

A traditional Christmas dinner includes stuffed turkey, mashed potatoes, cranberry sauce, and a variety of other dishes. Some families have ham or roast goose instead of turkey. Favorite desserts include minice pie or pumpkin pie. plum pudding, and fruitcake. eggnog is a popular Christmas beverage in many homes.

In some parts of the United States and Canada, various ethnic groups observe Christmas customs of their ancestors. For example, Spanish traditions are popular in the Southwestern United States. Many families in the province of Quebec follow French customs. Some black Americans combine Christmas with Kwanzaa, an Afro-American holiday. Kwanzaa lasts seven days, from December 26 on Christmas Eve. Most Spanish through January 1. Each day, fam- homes and churches display a vision. In England, dinner on Christmas Day features roast turkey and dessert of mince pie and plum pudding. During the days before Christmas, children or groups of adults go from house to house singing Christmas carols. Children ask for money for themselves, but adults usually ask for money for charity. This tradition began many years ago, when visitors sang carols in return for a drink from the wassail bowl. The bowl contained hot punch made from ale, apples, eggs, sugar, and spices. The word wassail comes from Was haile, an old Saxon greeting that means Be healthy. Today, English people at large parties still drink punch, but it is usually made from wine and other alcoholic beverages, fruit, and spices.

In Ireland, people put a lighted candle in their window on Christmas Eve as a sign of welcome to Mary and Joseph. In Wales, people have caroling contests during the weeks before Christmas. Roast turkey is the main course for dinner. People in Scotland also have roast turkey and exchange small gifts. Some Scottish families decorate a Christmas tree and sing carols, but most hold their main celebrations on New Year's Day.

In France, children put their shoes in front of the fireplace so Pere Noel (Father Christmas) can fill them with gifts. Many families attend midnight Mass and then have a festive supper called Le reveillon. Large numbers of French families also decorate their homes with small Nativity scenes. In these scenes, clay figures called santons (little saints) portray the story of Jesus' birth. Some people put additional santons in their Nativity scenes every year. They buy these figures at special holiday fairs that are held before Christmas.

In Germany, Saint Nicholas visits children's homes on St. Nicholas Eve, December 5, and delivers candy and other sweets to be opened on December 6, St. Nicholas Day. According to one tradition, the Christkind (Christ child) sends the gifts on Christmas Eve. This tradition is most popular in the mainly Roman Catholic region of southern Germany. In the northern, mainly Protestant areas, parents usually say the Weihnachtsmann (Christmas Man) brings the gifts.

Most German families have a Christmas tree that they decorate with lights, tinsel, and ornaments. Spicy cakes called lebkuchen are made in various shapes and used as decorations

In Spain, people dance and sing in the streets after midnight Mass ilies light a candle symbolizing one miniature Nativity scene called a streets on a white horse. His servant, Swarte Piet (Black Pete), accompanies him. Saint Nicholas goes down the chimney of each house and leaves gifts in shoes that the children have put by the fireplace

In Italy, most homes and churches have a presepio (Nativity scene). On Christmas Eve, the family prays while the mother places a figure of the Bambino (Christ child) in the manger. Many Italians serve eels for dinner on Christmas Eve. They also bake a Christmas bread called panettone, which contains raisins and candied fruit. Italian children receive gifts from La Befana, a kindly old witch, on the eve of Epiphany.

In Poland, people attend Pasterka (Shepherd's Mass) at midnight on Christmas Eve. Many Polish families follow the Christmas tradition of breaking an oplatek, a thin wafer made of wheat flour and water. Nativity scenes are stamped on the oplatek. The head of the family holds the wafer, and each person breaks off a small piece and eats it. The Christmas Eve meal features fish, sauerkraut, potato pancakes, and beet soup.

In Denmark, Norway, and Sweden, Christmas dinner includes rice pudding, called julgrot, which has an almond in it. According to tradition, whoever gets the almond will have good luck throughout the new year

Santa Claus is a familiar figure in the Scandinavian countries. But many children there believe that a lively elf brings them gifts from Santa on Christmas Eve. The Danes and Norwegians call this elf Julenissen, and the Swedes refer to him as Jultomten.

The Christmas season in Sweden begins on St. Lucia Day, December 13. In the morning of this day, the oldest daughter in the home dresses in white and wears a wreath with seven lighted candles on her head. She serves the other members of the family coffee and buns in bed.

A popular Christmas custom in Norway is ringe in Julen (ringing in Christmas). Throughout the country, people ring church bells at 5 p.m. on Christmas Eve. In Denmark, people decorate their Christmas tree with small paper cones filled with candy. Children are not allowed to see the tree until Christmas Eve.

In Australia and New Zealand, December comes during the summer. Many people celebrate Christmas by going on a picnic or to the beach. Schoolchildren have a six-week summer vacation at Christmastime. Caroling takes place in many cities and towns. Popular Christmas foods include turkey and plum pudding. Both Father Christmas and Santa Claus are popular symbols of gift giving in Australia and New Zealand.

The nine days before Christm shaped like an animal, an elf, a star. or some other object. It is hung from the ceiling, and the children take turns trying to hit it with a stick while blindfolded. When someone breaks the pinata, the gifts and candy fall to the floor, and the children scramble for them.

In Venezuela, people have a late supper after returning from midnight Mass on Christmas Eve. Most of these meals include hallacas, which are corn-meal pies stuffed with chicken, pork, beef, and spices. A favorite Christmas dish in Argentina is ninos er vueltos (wrapped children). It consists of rolled beef slices filled with seasoned mincemeat.

Children in some Latin-American countries, including Brazil, Colombia, and parts of Mexico, receive gifts on Christmas Day. In Argentina, Venezuela, Puerto Rico, and most areas of Mexico, the wise men leave the presents on the eve of Epiphany. Relatively small numbers of Christians live in the countries of Asia, and so Christmas is not widely celebrated there. In areas where Christmas is observed, people follow such Western customs as attending religious services, giving presents, singing carols, and decorating Christmas trees.

In Japan, Christians are a minority, yet the popular aspects of Christmas are increasingly seen. Gifts are exchanged, lights decorate business districts, and department stores often display Christmas trees. Even Santa Claus makes his appearance in the crowded stores

In the Philippines, people attend Misas de Gallo (Masses of the Cock), which are celebrated early each morning the nine days before Christmas. On Christmas Eve, Filipinos parade through the streets carrying colorful star-shaped lanterns called parols. These lanterns are also displayed in the windows of most homes.

On Christmas Eve, Christians from throughout the world gather for midnight Mass in Bethlehem, the town near Jerusalem where Jesus was born. They kneel to kiss the silver star that is set in the ground at the spot where Jesus' birth is believed to have taken place.

In Africa, as in Asia, the celebration of Christmas is not widespread because most of the countries have small Christian population. Missionaries brought Christmas customs to Africa and so people in the Christian communities generally follow Western traditions. However, Africans sing carols and hymns in their own languages. In Ethiopia, members of the Ethiopian Orthodox Church hold religious services on Christmas, January 7. The major celebration takes place nearly two weeks later at Epiphany.

Many Christmas customs that are popular in the United States and Canada originated in the British Isles. These customs include sending Christmas cards and hanging a sprig of mistletoe in a room or hallway. According to tradition, a person may kiss anyone standing under the mistletoe. On Christmas Eve, children hang up stockings for Father Christmas, the British version of Santa Claus, to fill with presents. On the afternoon of Christmas Day, most British families watch their monarch give a special Christmas message on tele-

Nacimiento. During the evening of January 5, children put their shoes on a balcony or near a window. The next day is Epiphany, the last day of the Christmas season. It celebrates the visit of the Magi to the infant Jesus. According to legend, the Wise Men arrive during the night before Epiphany and fill the children's shoes with small gifts.

In the Netherlands, Belgium, and Luxembourg, according to legend, Saint Nicholas gives presents to children on St. Nicholas Eve. December 5, which they open on December 6, St. Nicholas Day. Wearing a red robe, he arrives on a boat from Spain and rides down the

Two children carrying figures of Mary and Joseph lead a procession of people to a particular house. The people knock on the door and ask for lodgings. They are refused at first but finally are admitted.

After each posada ceremony, Mexicans feast and celebrate. Children enjoy trying to break the pinata, a brightly decorated paper or clay figure containing candy and small gifts. The pinata may be

POLICY STATEMENT

25.05 These paragraphs describe the policy of the North Plains Groundwater Conservation District the policy of the North Plains Groundwater Conservation District (NPGCD) ("the District") regarding the assessment of administrative penalties by the staff prior to a hearing before the Board of Directors. Enforcement actions may result from serious or unre-solved violations discovered during an inspection or during a review of the record of information submitted to the District, or from information that concerns violations and is gained from permits or meetings related to permits, or from other sources. This policy statement does not address the conse-quences which may result after an enforcement action is initiated but nforcement action is initiated, but other how the District staff shall valuate violations for the purpose of assessing administrative penal-ties or recommending administra-tive penalties to the District's Board Directors of Directors. Penalties sought through enforce-ment actions initiated by District's legal counsel may be based upon this policy; however, the statutory maximums for civil penalties and injunctive relief may be sought. Determining the Number of Violation Events 25.06 The number of violation events that will be assessed a penalty depends on the number of times the violation is observed, the penalty depends on the number of times the violation is observed, the specific rule or requirement violat-ed, the duration of the violation, and other case information. 25.07. Certain violations will typi-cally be considered discrete events. For these violations, one penalty event will be assessed for every documented observation. Discrete violations are situations every documented observations Discrete violations are situations that are observed and documented during a discrete interval in time. during a discrete interval in time. These violations involve practices or actions that may not occur con-tinuously. An example of a violation that would be a discrete violation would be the failure to submit doc-uments or reports. For discretely occurring violations, one penalty event will be assessed for every documented observation of the noncompliance.

25.08. Other violations are con-sidered to be continuing. These violations are not constrained by documented observations of the noncompliance. Examples of viola-tions the would be considered to tions that would be considered to be continuing are the exceeding of permitted groundwater production, groundwater waste or contamina-

For continuing violations, the num-ber of events will be linked to the level of impact of the violation and the number of days it existed. The duration of events concerning continuous violations, for the pur-poses of preparing an enforcement action, may begin with the initial date of noncompliance with a requirement, rule, or permit and extend up to the time that the viola-tion is eliminated by appropriate action. action

In practice, continuous violations will be assessed beginning with the documented date of noncompli-ance or the date that the violator "knew or should have known", whichever is appropriate, as the beginning point. a site-specific basis and will exami-ine a two-year history. In order to answer this question, staff will review the following: • whether the violator received a previous Notice of Violation (NOV), verbal or written, for similar viola-tions: tions whether the violator had submit-ted compliance plans for prior vio-lations noted in the same program; and

and • whether documentation that indi-cates culpability exists. If the answer to any of the above issues is "yes," then 25 percent may be added to the penalty amount. Good-Faith Effort to Comply 25 11 When deciding how to apply

Good-Faith Effort to Comply 25.11 When deciding how to apply the reduction for good-faith efforts, it is important to note that the staff will consider the respondent's efforts to bring the facility into com-plete compliance with all applicable rules and regulations. Thus, any reduction will be applied to all vio-lations and events. The analysis of good-faith efforts involves two fac-tors; the timeliness of the respongood-faith efforts involves two fac-tors; the timeliness of the respon-dent's action and the quality of that action. Accordingly, the respondent is to be given credit for timeliness, quality, or both. Timeliness is defined by when the respondent took action to correct the violations: whether corrective actions are taken as soon as violaissuance of a Notice of Violation (NOV). Quality is defined as the degree to which adequate action is taken. The maximum good faith reduc-tion is 25 percent. Violators who are considered culpable will not receive a reduction for corrective action taken after the issuance of an NOV. Good faith efforts will only be considered if the violator has achieved compliance with applicable rules and regulations. Other Factors That Justice May Require 25.12 The staff may recommend adjustment of the penalty amount, on a case-by-case basis, upon a consideration of factors unique to the repondent's the situation, the respondent's compliance history, and the eco-nomic benefits gained through noncompliance.

Lake Depth - December 13th, 1999 - 53.25 ft. (down 3 inches) Jim's Report

JoAnn Hawkins first spotted the cedar tree decorated with red bows 6.5 miles from Spearman on the East side of the highway and in the corner of the Park. It is a mystery as to who thought of this bit of Christmas spirit. If you drive out to see the geese, bald eagles, or just to view the Lake, watch for this lovely tree.

Boy Scouts camped in the Park in tents over the weekend. Part of the Scout training is to camp in the winter and learn how to handle the cold

Two big bunches of geese were seen this weekend. Possibly stirred up by pheasant hunters, a lot of sand hill cranes flew over.

The permanent boat ramp on the office side will not be usable any day now, but the one where Horse Creek runs into the 'ake on the office side has uncovered and is ready for boats. Signs will go up pointing the way for this ramp this week

Congratulations to Margarette Evans for winning the Barnard Award from the Native Plant Society of Texas with her photograph of lavender horse mint. A book of her photographs taken of flowers in the Park is on display at the office.

From Olin Sheets' papers we found the story of the two graves north of the dam on the Buschman ranch. The first was of a cowboy for the 777 Ranch and the second was of a nameless Mexican sheep-herder who worked for a Mr. Chase that had a large sheep ranch in the area that had formerly been the 777 Ranch. Two of the Mexican sheepherders had been over to Caple's store on the part of Hackberry Creek over in No Man's Land. They got drunk on Hall Stutters Bitters. On their way home they got into an argument and one of them became very angry with the other. He leaned over in his saddle and put his six shooter against the other Mexican's head and pulled the trigger and blew the top of his head off. Moad Maize came by and found them. He went to headquarters, got a team and wagon and hauled him home. He lived one day and one night. This was June 25, 1895.
