Roy Bayless Announces For Constable

Roy Bayless has authorized the Journal to announce that he is a candidate for constable, Precinct 1.

In his official statement, Bayless said:

"I take this opportunity to announce my candidacy for the nomination of constable precinct one (1), Bailey County, Texas, subject to the action of the Democratic Party of Bailey County at said Primary Election, May 4, 1968.

"I make this announcement after very thorough thought about this important office, and believe that with my experience I can best serve the citizens of this precinct. The position of Constable is a Constitutional Office, and a Constable has as much authority under the law as the Sheriff has, in the precinct he serves, and with the growing crime wave, this important office has a very distinct function in our government and society.

"As all of you know I have served on the Police Force of Muleshoe, and believe from this experience and my experience in association with the Sheriff's Department of Bailey County, that I can do a good job as your Constable.

Ellis was cited for his cooperation in allowing his employee, Jaycee member John Blackwell, time off from work to assist with the various Jaycee projects during the past year.

John Warner, Pampa attorney, was principle speaker. In addressing the Jaycees, their bosses and guests Warner compared the activities of the organization with a track star "pacer."

"The Jaycees," he said are the pacers of the town and community. They are responsible for many things which otherwise the town would lack. Some of the many things are the Miss Muleshoe contest, Kid's Day, their contribution to Little League, tourist program, sports and entertainment programs and the raising of the American Flags, to name only a few.

"Good pacers makes better communities. Warner also outlined the importance of motivation. All plans made can not put over a project without motivation of the townspeople.

This was brought out by Warner by example of his experience as a Jaycee leader. One of the experiences which remains vivid in his memory is a planned trip to Boy's Ranch for Pampa Jaycees and their families.

"All details were arranged, locally and with Boys Ranch, for the visit. Time and date came and Warner himself was the only one who appeared at

FFA in Texas

The Future Farmers of America organization is in its 32nd year in Texas. There are over 46,000 members studying vocational agriculture in 968 high schools in Texas. In these vocational agriculture classes, students are provided an opportunity to secure technical and scientific training in agriculture as well as to receive training in leadership, citizenship and cooperation.

Texas membership has grown from 28,643 in 1950 to over 46,000 in 1968. In a recent study conducted by George Hurt, State Director of Vocational Agriculture, it was found that over sixty percent of the vocational agriculture students who graduated from high school last year and were available for employment are now in full-time farming or in agricultural related occupations. Over forty percent of this number are in full-time farming. The theme this year for the FFA is "Challenging Youth in Agriculture," and it certainly is. It involves those who process and distribute many agricultural goods. Many people are employed in agricultural occupations such as engineers, scientists, management personnel, sales and service personnel and educators. Also, there are over 60,000 desirable openings each year for farm operators, farm engineers and full-time hired farm labor.

Vocational agriculture and the FFA are striving to provide a sound and a continuing education to help produce the leaders and work force so directly needed in our nation's agriculture industry.

PCG SAYS Cotton Deadline Unchanged

Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. announces the U.S. Department of Agriculture has made a decision that there will not be a change in the cotton program for 1968. The PCG review states that the cotton situation now and expected supply for 1968-69 indicates no need for elimination of five percent diversion requirement or other change to increase production as some had requested.

The department admitted 'tight' supply of cotton stapling, 1 1/16 inch and longer, but said high premiums (decreasing oil take and increasing production) should allow some buildup in stocks of these qualities by August 1, 1969.

Officials estimate disappearance of the 1-1/16 inch and longer staple to be down about 1 million bales this marketing year, while production of these cottons will be 60 to 65 percent of the 1968 crop (8 to 8.5 million bales) which is the highest percentage on record. U.S.D.A.'s review further indicated an adequate supply of cotton stapling less than 1-1/16 and a continued decline in the carryover of cottonstapling below an inch.

The Cotton Growers report says "It looks like the deadline for signing up on cotton allotment will remain March 15, despite PCG and other efforts to get it extended. Congressman George Mahan informed the group that he has done about all he can. Farmers are advised by the PCG review of the situation to not plan on waiting beyond March 15 to make cotton planting decisions. However each farmer should figure from all angles before a decision is made.

Tax Man Sam Sez:

Taxpayers who are retired have been given a number of extra benefits by Congress. The good tax folks tell us that many retired taxpayers fail to claim their retirement income credit on their tax return. Others fail to claim the additional exemption for being over 65, and finally, many taxpayers don't know that you may qualify for an additional retirement income credit in Texas due to the community property law. Be sure to read your instructions carefully so you will get all of the benefits Congress provided for you.

Who is at the Helm?

Who guides our lives? Are we a ship without a helmsman? Are we adrift, going no place?

Thanks be to God, who loves us so, He is willing to guide us, to show us the way over all manner of seas. How glorious to know there is such a One! All of us follow someone, some standard, but the true standard is God and His Word.

Let Him take over the wheel. He doesn't promise smooth sailing all the time, but He promises to guide us through the storm, and show us the way over calm and sweet but sometimes market-less seas.

"And the Lord shall guide thee continually, and satisfy thy soul in drought, and make thy way bones; and thou shalt be like a watered garden, and like a spring of water whose waters fail not."

Isaiah 58:11

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny, the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Ask Amy

BY AMY ADAMS

HER MAIL IS ALL "JUNK"!

Dear Amy: I am on the "sucker" list! Please can you tell me what to do? I have given donations to several church groups and now some poster me by coming to work each week. Others send letters from all over, even Europe. I also receive articles from different organizations which I never sent for, each one asking for a donation. I wrote to them to cross my name off their list but it has done no good. I send the articles back "Refused", but they keep on sending. There must be some way to stop them.

H. L. M.
Dear H. L. M.: Door to door solicitation of donations can be discouraged with a curt "No" and the refusal to discuss the matter further. Unsolicited mail can just be dumped into the nearest waste paper basket... or returned "Refused" as you have done. But, in most instances, "junk" mail doesn't enjoy a "return-to-sender" privilege so that the sender is never aware that you have refused his letter. I'm sure that many of my readers are plagued by unsolicited mail and I would like to hear how they handle the problem.

Dear Amy: My son is a man, 25 years old, and he is going steady with a girl a little past 16. My husband and I think she is too young for him. As parents, we tried to instill some sense into him, but he won't listen. What's wrong with her parents? Don't they see the difference in their ages? Do you think I should call up the girl's mother and tell her how nearsick his dad and I are about his?

Please Help!
I certainly would enlist the aid of this girl's mother. I cannot conceive a mother permitting her daughter of 16 seeing a man 9 years her senior - seriously of otherwise. And she will be able to exert more influence on her child than you have been able to exert on your "man".

Dear Amy: When I was 8 years old I started getting an allowance every three weeks. It has been

Family Health Hint

Make sure the family wash is really clean. U.S. Department of Agriculture tests show that even freshly-washed fabrics can harbor and spread disease-causing germs. USDA's recommendation: Use a disinfectant along with your soap or detergent to reduce the germ count. This is especially important if there is sickness in the family or if you use a community washer. Among the USDA-approved products are high-concentration pine oil disinfectants. Use 1/2 cup for a top-loading machine and 1/3 cup for a front-loading machine. Be sure to read the label on the disinfectant you choose and follow the manufacturer's directions. Then the family wash will be as clean as it looks.

ABOUT YOUR HOME

In most sections of the U.S.A. the gardens are in a very unattractive stage. However, in order to be happier over next spring and summer's results, now is the time to put in some hard work and planning.

Make a compost pit, which is very easy and an important "must" for impoverished soils. Simply dig a pit one to three feet deep and five or six feet in diameter, depending on the amount of compost needed. Arrange alternating layers of leaves, weeds, stalks and manure. Add to this a quart or so of a good commercial fertilizer. Moistens and turns frequently. Allow thorough decomposition before using.

Start new beds at this time by incorporating manure and bone meal deep in the soil and allowing the soil to remain turned until spring. Also, put wood ashes on beds to be dug under next spring.

Perennial borders should be mulched after the ground is frozen or very, very cold. Some reliable mulches are buckwheat hulls, leafmold and peat moss.

In many parts of the country it is, or soon will be, rose-planting time. Good plants must be chosen in the first place to have rewarding blooms. Remember, not all varieties are hardy. Select the varieties which experts have found can stand your climate. Good, strong varieties are not often bothered by insects or diseases. Japanese beetles are not attracted to red tones quite so much as to the light colored ones.

Army ROTC is Available To College Students

College students in Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and New Mexico with two years' study remaining can still receive commissions as second lieutenants through the college ROTC program, according to Maj. Gen. Francis J. Murdoch, deputy commanding general for reserve forces at Fourth U. S. Army, Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio, Texas.

The traditional Reserve Officers' Training Corps program requires four years of on-campus training. The two-year program enables students who have not taken ROTC during their first two years in college to qualify for a commission. Although designed specifically for junior college graduates, many students beyond their sophomore year have qualified for the program.

To qualify for the program applicants must complete six weeks of summer training at Fort Benning, Ga., during June and July. This training substitutes for the on-campus training given to four-year ROTC students during their first two years of college. In addition to meeting physical, moral and mental standards, candidates must be at least 17 years of age and cannot be older than 28 years when commissioned as second lieutenants.

Students are paid at the rate of $95.70 a month during the summer training period plus travel pay to and from Fort Benning. Those who qualify for the program enter the ROTC advanced course and receive $50 a month during their last two years of college. An additional six-week period of summer training is mandatory for all ROTC students, (at Fort Sill, Okla., for those in the Fourth Army area) usually between the junior and senior years, the pay for this session is $160.46 a month.

ROTC cadets study for degrees in the fields of their choice. The military portion of their college training provides instruction and experience in organizing, motivating and leading others. It helps to develop qualities of self-discipline, physical stamina and bearing.

Many ROTC graduates make the Army their career. Others who return to civilian life after completing their military obligation as officers, find that the leadership training and experience gained through the ROTC program have enhanced their chances for success in almost any kind of career.

Students interested in the program may obtain an application questionnaire from the professors of military science at any of the 259 colleges and universities throughout the nation offering Army ROTC training, or any of the 38 within the five-state Fourth Army area. Applications must be submitted before March 31. They will be reviewed during April and the names of students selected for summer training will be announced in May.

Army ROTC is offered at: Texas: Hardin-Simmons University, Midwestern University, Prairie View A & M College, Rice University, Sam Houston State College, Stephen F. Austin State College, St. Mary's University of San Antonio, Tarleton State College, Texas A & I University, Texas A & M University, Texas Christian University, Texas Technological College, Trinity University, University of Houston, University of Texas at Arlington, University of Texas at El Paso and West Texas State University.

Arkansas: Arkansas A & M College, Arkansas Polytechnic College, Arkansas State University, Henderson State College, Northwestern State College, Oklahoma State University, Oklahoma State University, University of Oklahoma.

Louisiana: Louisiana State University, Loyola University, McNeese State College, Northwest Louisiana State College, Northwestern State College of Louisiana, Southern University, and University of Louisiana.

Amherst Bows to Eighth Grade

With Amherst leading all the way into the fourth quarter, Muleshoe eighth grade girls summoned extra energy and fought back to win one of the closest games of the season 26-25.

Amherst forward Alane Weaver did not play the game all by herself as her tremendous score would seem to indicate. The outstanding forward had a lot of help from all her teammates to make all of Amherst's 25 points.

Brenda Kimbrough, Muleshoe forward, came out from behind and scored 13 points before the end of the game to lead her team in scoring, and Kay Douglas, hit for 8 points and forward Barbara Woodards had 5 points.

At the one-quarter buzzer, Amherst was leading with an eight-point margin, 10-2 and at half time the margin had narrowed to 14-13 with Amherst still leading. The slim two point lead held by Amherst at the three quarter mark, 19-17, faded early in the fourth quarter when Muleshoe went ahead 22-21. With 49 seconds left to play in the game, Muleshoe scored on a field goal, and Alane Weaver made one last free throw to end the game and the 1967-68 basketball season with the eighth grade girls

Muleshoe victorious, 26-25. High defensive rebounder for the 1967-68 season was JoAnn Dobbins and high offensive rebounder was Barbara Woodards. High point girl for the season was Kay Douglas with 201 points, followed by Brenda Kimbrough with 141 and Barbara Woodards with 135.

Other outstanding guards were Debby Parks, Janice St. Clair and Deanna Mick.

Other team members included Cynthia Gable, Lauri Skipworth, Karen Locker, Marilyn Pool, Mitzi Bass, and Debby McDaniel.

Managers were Vanda Spurgeon, Judy Calvert and Vicki Stallins.

The eighth grade basketball girls ended a good season with an outstanding record of 17 wins against five losses.

"Thank You"

By Cleta Creamer Williams of the Journal Staff

I would like to say "Thank You" to the coaches, school administrative officials, parents, teachers and the players on all basketball teams in Muleshoe during the season just past. During the entire season, the cooperation I received from each of you has been more than adequate, and this has helped in attempting to publish as many basketball stories about all of the teams as could possibly be done.

With the 1967-68 basketball season in the past now, the 1968-69 season will be looked to with anticipation of such continued cooperation as I have received during this year.

Major Charles Bradley (right) receives Silver Star and Air Medal from Col. Johnson for "outstanding performance in Vietnam."

Major Bradley Is Decorated

ESSEX, England---Major Charles W. Bradley, son of Mrs. Edith A. Bradley, Goff, Kan., has been decorated with the Silver Star and Air Medal for heroism in Vietnam.

Major Bradley, who is currently stationed at Wethersfield RAF Station, England, was cited for Gallantry in air action against the enemy.

The major, pilot of an F-100 Super Sabre, led a flight of two F-100s to the aid of friendly troops pinned down by automatic weapons fire.

Major Bradley's repeated attacks on the enemy in the face of intense hostile ground fire and severely restricted visibility saved a friendly ground force from possible defeat. He was cited for "courage and aggressiveness in the face of great danger."

He is now a member of the 20th Tactical Fighter Wing.

A graduate of Goff (Kan.) High School, the major is married to the former Patsy Steelman, daughter of Carroll Steelman, Bovina.

Your Agriculture Agencies

COLLEGE STATION---The Texas Agricultural Extension Service carries on a state-wide educational effort in its role as the field educational arm of Texas A&M University and of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The agency was created in 1915 when the State Legislature accepted provisions of the Smith-Lever Act. Reaching now into every community, Extension conducts educational programs in 44 subject-matter areas of agriculture, home economics and related fields.

Extension gives major emphasis to nine important areas. These include efficiency in both production and utilization of agricultural products; conservation of natural resources; management on the farm and in the home; family living; youth development; leadership development; community improvement and public affairs education.

The county staff is Extension's basic educational unit and every effort is made to provide services of both agricultural and home demonstration agents, along with needed assistants, to people in each Texas county.

In Texas, Extension maintains well-trained county staffs of "generalists" who speak the language of local people and understand their problems. County personnel get strong support from highly skilled teams of state and area specialists stationed at strategic locations.

Each county has a broadly representative group of local leaders who serve voluntarily on "program building" committees. Initially, these committees are organized by local Extension agents, but, once organized, they develop their own rules and objectives.

The county program building committee usually divides itself into a number of study groups to review the county situation. They consider all aspects of agriculture and related business organizations, population characteristics and all natural, institutional and human resources of the county.

Once studies are complete, a long-time program for the county is developed. It describes the existing situation, problems and opportunities and establishes objectives desirable to the committee.

The committee then divides itself into subcommittees based on particular interests and economically important agricultural enterprises of the county.

Extension widely employs the result demonstration, a teaching tool of its own invention. It involves the field testing of new research findings and adapting them to local situations. Last year, more than 4,000 result demonstrations were conducted in Texas, covering all phases of agricultural production. Almost as many were conducted in home economics.

Extension's educational work is supported by three levels of government. The Federal Government participates through the U. S. Department of Agriculture; the State Government through the Board of Directors of Texas A & M University; and County Government through the County Commissioner's Court.

Extension agents strive to provide information based on research in an unbiased and objective manner, giving individuals a basis for making sound decisions of their own. In doing so, Extension recognizes and responds to changing needs of the people it serves, molding leadership that can guide these changes wisely and contribute to a higher level of living for all people.
