• The city has legal power to adopt and the personnel to administer the regulations.

· The city's ordinance, resolutions and regulations provide a reasonable opportunity for considering views of interested parties in rate regulations proceedings.

• The city (franchise area) is not subject to effective competition.

After the city becomes certified, they have 120 days to implement regulations that are consistent with the FCC regulations. It is also stated that the city must require a public hearing when considering a cable rate increase.

Before the city can regulate the rates, they must notify the cable company that they have become certified and have adopted the cable regulation ordinance. According to the report, basic cable rates and the cost of installation, cable converters and additional outlets are the only things subject to regulation.

Certain "bench mark" rates against which the city government can regulate rates proposed or charged by cable companies have been established by the FCC. It is stated that if the cable company charges more than the bench mark rate, the city can roll back the rates to that mark or a level that is 10 percent below the rate in effect as of September 30, 1992, whichever is less.

City Manager Kelvin Knauf stated that because of the complexity involved, the city engaged legal assistance at last month's city council meeting.

In other business, Knauf informed the board on the proposed ordinance #630. This ordinance deals with the removal of substandard buildings and structures. It is meant to replace an ordinance written in 1922. It was explained that the ordinance not only deals with buildings, it also applies to fences, awnings, canopies, signs, sheds, council the power to order the building to be repaired, vacated, demolished or removed outside the city limits. In this ordinance the property owner will be given an opportunity to dispute or show why the property should not be declared dangerous after the city staff believes a structure is not safe. If the property owner fails to demolish or remove the property, then the city may do so at the owner's expense.

Mr. Knauf showed a video to the council of structures located abut the city that would be considered dangerous. A motion was made to adopt the ordinance. It was seconded and carried unanimously.

The council approved an agreement with C.E.G. Industries of Borger to collect specific recyclables at no cost to the city or residents. The items in this agreement include paper, aluminum, steel, tin cans, plastic soda bottles and plastic milk jugs. It is specified that the items must be sorted and contaminants removed.

Authorization was given to Knauf to solicit bids for the wastewater treatment plant refurbishment project. Dwight Brandt, the city's engineer on the project, showed the plans of the project to the council. He explained that the plans are in Austin to be reviewed by the Texas Natural Resource Conservation Commission. He added that the TNRCC has delayed the time schedule and in order to try and follow the completion time of the project, he suggested that the city go ahead and advertise for bids as soon as possible. It was stated that if the state is slower approving the plans than expected, the city can do an addendum for a later bid opening date.

More business before the council included contracting the auditing for the fiscal years ending 1994,

County sales tax rebate up for Jan. 1994

Hansford County reported a 14.92 percent increase in sales tax rebates for the month of January. It was recorded that in January 1994, $15,476 in sales tax rebate checks were mailed, as compared to the $13,465.91 in January 1993.

According to a report from State Comptroller John Sharp, Spearman received $12,229.82 in sales tax rebate checks for January 1994. This is a 25.20 percent increase over the $9,767.52 received in January 1993.

Gruver, on the other hand, received 12.22 percent less in sales tax rebates when compared to 1993. It was reported that for January 1994, Gruver received $3,246.18, while in 1993 $3,698.39 was received.

"Why doesn't she leave?" On the

She faces the batterer's threats to herself and/or to the children. Sometimes even when she makes valiant efforts to leave, he succeeds in blocking her efforts.

> And you wouldn't believe what wonderful apologies he can make, what marvelous promises he can make, how beautifully he courts her again. It's hard for her to believe that so sweet a man can really do such a dastardly thing again. (Or for anyone else to believe it either!) So she returns. Come to think of it, why do we put the burden on the woman to get away from the batterer, even if it's just to the Shelter? When it comes to that, why don't we get the batterer out of the house instead of sending her off? Why don't we take these calls for help seriously?

"Oh, they'll patch it up. Don't worry about 'em!" Or even, "I know "im, I'll handle 'im." as a late Deputy said as he drove to his death.

Tacitly we condone such carrings-on by not taking positive action ourselves. Does a murdered deadline body press charges? No, we take action! We get into the scent. Domestic violence is a problem all the way from the bottom of the social and economic scale to the top. Our response to it is, "How can she be so dumb as to be taken in by him." Or, "If she were a proper wife she wouldn't get beaten." Or, "If she had any sense she wouldn't cross him." Rarely do we blame the fellow who's doing the battering. We blame her! We imply that women are too stupid to know better, even that they like or they'd get out, or that a man's got a right to take a stick to his "woman." When will we come to will be fulfilled on or about April 15, realize that this is a serious business? That it is actually a powerful factor in producing children who themselves grow up engaging in violence? This is not a simple problem. Let's get our brains to working! Let's do something creative!

Parents can help infants learn in a number of ways by taking simple steps. Some routine activities are important to a baby's growth and well-being.

Parents can help infants to feel your baby. safe and secure by:

• Handling them gently.

• Supporting the back and head of infants when you pick them up.

· Picking them up gently when they cry. You won't spoil babies if you pick them up every time they cry during the early weeks and months. Crying is the infant's only way of letting you know his or her needs.

• Let babies suck on a pacifier if this comforts them. Parents also need to make the baby feel clean and comfortable. Here are a number of things you can do:

· Keep infants dry and clean. Change their diapers and wash their bottoms when wet or dirty. Young babies have very tender skin that gets sore easily.

• Dress babies according to the temperature. A baby's body cannot adjust to outside temperatures as well as an adult's body. Avoid overdressing infants.

Babies learn through sight, sound, touching and motion. These activities can help your child learn: SIGHT--

• Place unbreakable mirrors and simple patterns within the baby's sight. In the early weeks, black and white objects are just as interesting to babies as colored ones.

• Hold the child close so the baby can see your face. Use animated expressions, smile and laugh with

SOUND-

· Expose the baby to various sounds, such as the vacuum sweeper, water running, radio and t.v., and music.

· Talk to the infant about what you are doing.

• Touch the baby with your hands or soft fabrics. Give a gentle mas-

· Rock them.

• Walk them in a stroller.

These parenting behaviors let babies know that they are loved. Parents also communicate through body language and emotions. When parents are tense, they communicate this by the way they hold and touch the baby. Infants often respond with fussiness or tension.

Parents will grow in confidence and competence as they spendtime getting to know the uniqueness of their infant and appropriately responding to meet those needs.

On January 18, the City Council panic; (j) if the building or structure property, as well as any mortgagpassed an ordinance to regulate dangerous buildings and structures in Spearman. The ordinance applies not only to buildings but also to fences, awnings, canopies, signs, sheds, garages, houses, tents, and other structures. There are several reasons for this ordinance. First, buildings or structures that are falling down or in disrepair are inviting targets for children to play in (and thereby create a health hazard). Second, they attract rats, mice and snakes. Third, they can catch on fire more easily than safe buildings. Last, they distract from the appearance of neighborhoods and the city as a whole thereby lowering property values and the attractiveness of property around the dangerous building or structure.

Hounds dominated this game from the get-go, opening up a 13-0 lead in the second quarter. The Gruver gals held Spearman without a field goal for the entire first half. Spearman was 0-10 shooting from the field in the first half. Mika McLain, who is shooting 46 percent on the year, shot 7-13 (54 percent) and Julie Meyer shot 3-6 (50 percent). McLain shooting 82 percent for the year. Meyer was 9-16 (56 percent) from the charity stripe. Coach Steve Myatt after the game, had not enough praise for Meyer. "I am especially proud of Julie," said Coach Myatt. "She shut down one of the biggest offensive threats in the district, Kara Townsen. Her defense on Townsen set the tone for the whole team." Coach Myatt had more to say. "I was pleased with the aggressiveness of going to the basket," he lead to 8-4, and 10-6, but the Lynx added. "It was also nice to see Wynn came back to tie 10-10. Then hitting a 3-pointer. We had some really nice assists. When we are playing our best, we pass the ball well. We have a whole week to get ready for WT. We intend to make have the Hounds a 17-12 lead. They WT play our game. The key is in breaking their press. We've proven we can win on the road, now we need to maintain the momentum. This is the second district game in a row where we have held an opponent scoreless for a quarter."

SYNOPSIS: Sammy Renteria shook off the pressure, and hit two critical free throws with 8.1 seconds left in the game for the 40-37 final margin. Spearman got the last shot, a 3-pointer to try to tie, but it failed. According to Coach Tim Garland, not enough can be said about the defense in this very slow paced game. "Neither coach thought it would be that slow," said

Coach Garland. "It was just good sound fundamental defense from both ball clubs. We expected the press, and when that didn't happen, the tempo was dictated. Jace and Sammy's defense on Jason Varnon was the key to the game. The shot selection wasn't that bad, it's just that there were defenders in each player's face. Not enough can be said about the defense."

Hoel hit an early trey, but Spearman held a 4-3 lead in the first two minutes of the ball game. Then each team went almost seven minutes without scoring. Finally Ricardo Soto hit from under the basket with 7:22 left in the half, and Gruver led 5-4. They built the Renteria hit a running jump shot with 1:25 left in the first half, to give Gruver a 12-10 lead. A Renteria trey at the first halfbuzzer maintained the lead until 7:30 left in the game, when the Lynx hit a trey to take a 25-23 lead, their first lead since 4-3. The crowd was going wild. But it was short-lived, as Travis Ferguson hit a pair of free throws to tie, and Wylee Maupin hit a free throw to put the Hounds up 26-25 with 6:08 left in the game. The Hounds then built a big ten point lead, 37-27, thanks in large part to a pair of treys by Hoel, and a steal and layup by Renteria, but Spearman rallied at the very end. as the Hounds couldn't hit their free throws, to pull within one point, 38-37. The Lynx had a one-and-one opportunity with 9.9 seconds left in the game, to pull out the victory, but the first free throw was missed, and Maupin came down with the big rebound. Renteria went to the line, and the rest is history. Renteria is already a seasoned ball player, after playing in only his second varsity game of his career.

Coach Garland goes on to say, "If we win our games one at a time, we have a chance. The kids are going to give the effort again, as they did tonight. But Boys Ranch completely controlled the boards, and it killed us. We hit our free throws as well as we have all year, and it gave us the opportunity late in the ball game, but I didn't give them that opportunity to win." The Hounds were 24-31 (77 percent), Boys Ranch took an early 6-2 lead, and, although Jarrod Hoel hit a 3-pointer to cut the lead to 15-14 with 2:00 left in the quarter, extended that to 21-14 at the end of the first quarter. Then the Hounds rallied again.

Ricardo Soto hit five out of six free throw opportunities, and the Hounds trailed only 21-19. Jace Dawson canned a pair of free throws, and it was 21-21. And Max Frick hit one of two free throws, and the Hounds led 22-21 with 5:40 left in the half. Although the Ranch tied it with a free throw at 22-22, the Hounds jumped up 27-22 as Frick hit from under the basket with 4:52 left, and Roma Tomlinson came off the bench and canned a trey with 4:11 left. It looked good for the Hounds.

But they would have to rally again, as the Roughriders came on strong at the end of the half, and scored 10 straight points to pull into a 32-27 halftime lead.

In the third quarter, the Hounds fell 8 points behind, 36-28, then rallied again. Soto keyed the rally again, with a steal and a lay up with 5:00 left in the quarter. Travis Ferguson then hit four out of four free throw opportunities, and the Hounds trailed only 36-34. Ferguson then hit on a beautiful

Boys Ranch would force the Hounds to rally, as they took a five point 46-41 lead early in the 4th quarter.

Frick hit one of two free throws, then scored on a driving lay up, and it was 46-46 with 5:34 left in the game. Hoel then hit a pair of free throws with 4:13 left, and it was 50-48. Then several times Boys Ranch took a two-point lead, but the Hounds would come back to tie the game. Then the Ranch took a 6point lead, with under a minute left, and it looked like the game was over

But Hoel hit one of two free throws with 46.6 seconds left, and Wylee Maupin hit from under the basket with 36 seconds left, and quickly it was down to 62-59. A pair of free throws by Boys Ranch with 32.5 seconds left made it 64-59, but Ferguson nailed a critical trey with 24 seconds left to give the Hounds a chance. Gruver called a time out with 22 seconds left. It was 64-62. Gruver fouled, and again the Ranch hit a pair of free throws, and it was 66-62. But Hoel quickly nailed a trey, and it was only a one-point 66-65 margin with 14 seconds left. Again a time out was called with only 12.6 seconds left. Gruver then fouled, and the Rancher missed the front end of the one-and-one with 11.2 seconds left. Gruver dribbled the ball down court, and Renteria attempted a 3-pointer, but it was no good, and the Hounds couldn't get the rebound to put it back up

Next year will be a big year for the Gruver Varsity Boys, and for the Gruver Junior Varsity Boys also. By my calculation, there will be only three spots open on a 15-man Varsity roster for the JV talent, and the rest will be back on the JV next year. This year's Gruver JV team is very good, and they will be a year older and wiser next year. Coach Tim Garland will have a lot. of juniors to choose from next year. Many of those juniors will be back on the JV. It will really be a killer JV

Well, it's not the Super Bowl I predicted, but it will also be a good game, if you are a Cowboys fan. Dallas vs Buffalo, again.

I am proud of my playoff predictions, especially compared to some commentators who get paid for their thoughts. Norm Hitzges of ESPN was 4-6, and his picks really reeked. I was 8-2, despite the one miss last week. I'm sure everyone realized that despite picking the Cowboys, I was rooting for the 49ers, as I am really an avid 49er fan. But it was my best pick, to pick the Cowboys. It would have been nice for Joe Montana to make the Super Bowl again but it wasn't to be. The Cowboys will win 43-17, and Buffalo will be remembered as the worst Super Bowl team in history.

can now start to think seriously about practice games on Feb. 11 and 15, and a possible bi-district game with Wellington on February 18. It is possible one of the practice games could be against Borger. Coach Steve Myatt has some planning ahead of him. It is the kind of planning that every coach would love to do.

If the Hounds beat Boys Ranch and West Texas this week, they can seriously consider a bi-district match themselves, with Wheeler or Clarendon on Feb. 24. They will have a number of dates for possible practice games, and Coach Tim Garland must really be pleased with the surprise showing of the Hounds this year. Last week I made a mistake on who the Hounds would play, should they win bi-district. They would probably play Hale Center or Shallowater in their area game, not Abernathy or Springlake-Earth. But that is a long way in the future, and just speculation.

Here is some very current information for you. The Texas Association of Basketball Coaches monthly newsletter, "Roundball Roundup" will have been mailed out last night, Wednesday, Jan. 26, but I already have their top twenty in girls class AA. Here are the ranked area teams: No 10 is Springlake-Earth (16-7) -With a two-game lead on second note: they played a very tough game at Abernathy this past Tuesday night. No. 11 is Gruver (22-4) - they moved up a notch. And No. 15 ia Wall. Prediction: Gruver will be in the top ten by the end of the year. (Although, I grant you, the rankings mean nothing ...).

"Yes, I would like to join the bowling team. It sounds like fun; but I don't want to be embarrassed. I'm new at this. I'll just roll those awful gutter balls!"

No one ever began as an expert. It takes a lot of gutter balls to result in a strike. Without trying, you haven't a chance. Go for it! So it is with life; every gutter ball is a potential strike, but you must read the rules.

First, get on your feet, and have faith in yourself and in God. You will be able to take a firm stand and face in the right direction. Then take aim ... with some thought behind it. Lastly, get a firm grip and go for it!

Remember, everyone needs practice. Review God's Word often and you will maintain your courage as you visit God each Sabbath. The Mighty Counselor is on your team. You can't lose.
