Record Vote Is Recorded As Sales Tax Is Defeated

Hereford Mayor Ray Cowsert, in a statement to the Brand following the defeat of the one-percent city sales tax election Tuesday, said that he "was gratified from the large number of voters who had shown enough interest" to turn out for the city election.

The total vote was 1,096 which is approximately 400 voters above the turn-out total in any previous city election.

Voting against the proposal were 599 residents, with 497 for its passage.

Mayor Cowsert had spent a lot of his time recently campaigning for the tax proposal.

"It may have been defeated," Cowsert said, "but it is behind us now. We will simply have to go on to other things for the progress of Hereford. There are certainly no ill feelings."

City manager Dudley Bayne said, "We put it to the vote of the people to see what they wanted. That's what the commission wanted all along."

The tax issue cannot be put to another vote for two years. The City Commission had agreed to reduce the ad valorem tax from $1.40 to $1.30 per $100 if the tax had gained approval in Tuesday's election. But they had indicated they would not raise the ad valorem above $1.40 if it did not pass.

Bayne reported that cuts would have to be made in the street maintenance programs and the park program in order to stay within the budget, now that the tax election has been defeated.

The tax department at city hall, where the election was held, reported that five or six times during the day there were lines waiting to get inside for the voting.

Boy Is Injured By Shotgun Shell

A 10-year-old Hereford boy narrowly escaped serious injury Tuesday afternoon when he exploded a live shotgun shell he had found in a downtown alley.

Jim Donald McFaul, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl McFaul of 340 W. 4th, was treated for lacerations of his left hand at Deaf Smith County Hospital.

The boy told officers that he and two companions had found a shotgun shell in the alley behind the Ben Franklin store downtown about 6 p. m. Tuesday. The trio had taken the shell home and McFaul had stuck the shell in a pipe and hit the end with a hammer.

The shell went off and some of the charge struck McFaul in the hand.

City manager Dudley Bayne said, "We put it to the vote of the people to see what they wanted. That's what the commission wanted all along."

The tax issue cannot be put to another vote for two years. The City Commission had agreed to reduce the ad valorem

Wester Is Guilty In Death Of Baby Girl; Four Doctors Give Testimony

By EARL MOSELEY
Eleven men and one woman decided punishment of two years in the penitentiary for their conviction of Frankie Wayne Wester, on the charge of murder of a baby last July in Hereford, Wednesday in the Deaf Smith County Court House in a record deliberation.

The jury which had heard the case of the State vs. Frankie Wayne Wester returned its verdict in Deaf Smith County District Court of murder without malice aforethought, in the second count (striking and beating with an instrument unknown to the Grand Jury.)

The verdict was reached after a deliberation of five hours and 20 minutes, and was delivered to the court at 1:50 a. m. Wednesday.

It was noted as being one of the latest-hour decisions in the local courts for several years. Judge Archie McDonald, prosecutor Bill Hunter and defense attorney Andrew Shuval expressed the opinion that this case was also one of the most complicated trials to reach local courtrooms in recent times.

The jurors selected to serve for the State vs. Wester trial were Audrey W. Rogers, Lloyd Crume, Mrs. Raymond Higginbotham, W. J. Albracht, Melvin Henderson, Marvin Kendrick, Elmer F. Reinart, Anthony Hofman, Alfred A. Reinart, James Boyd, Merlin Weber, and Clinton Jackson, selected as foreman.

At 11:15 a. m. Wednesday, they returned to District Court. It was pointed out to them that Frank Wester had never previously been convicted of a felony in this or any other state.

Thirty minutes later, these twelve people handed the judge their decision that Frank Wester on be sentenced to two years in prison.

The list of charges read to the jury at 5:23 p. m. Tuesday was lengthy, including the verdicts of murder with malice, murder without malice and aggravated assault, whether it was striking or beating with the fists in the first count, or with an instrument in the second, or if the defendant was not guilty of the crime.

The charges also reminded the jurors that the case was based on circumstantial evidence.

District Attorney Hunter's closing argument leaned strongly on the testimony of the four medical doctors who had appeared as witnesses, on their unanimous opinion that the victim, Toni Lynn Wester — a six-month-old baby girl — was a "battered baby." However, defender Shuval pinpointed the claim that "the baby's adoption was not yet complete — the baby could have been returned to its mother without a family crisis, instead of murdering it."

Shuval's final argument was so charged with vital questions that "had not been answered" during previous testimony that it was also considered by several of those in attendance as being another factor which delayed the jury's verdict. Shuval had pointed out that no examination of the room where the victim had died was presented to the court.

The principal concern Hunter said was, could the baby have received all the bruises about its head from a fall to the floor or did the bruises indicate death by other means?

Hunter, however, pointed out that one of the doctors had testified that such a fall from a bed would have had to be 20 feet high in order to sustain such injuries to the child — even to falling upon a concrete floor.

Shuval asked, "Where is the blunt instrument?"

Earlier in what appeared to be a surprise move, Frank Wester, a 34-year-old young man of less than 6 feet in height but strongly built athletically, took the witness chair in his own defense. His attorney asked him if he had been drinking on the day of the child's death.

Wester answered, "Yes, three sips out of a whisky bottle." This had happened after 8:30 and before 9:30 on July 13, 1967. He said that he had gone back

Extensive Damage In Fire Saturday

Local authorities are continuing their investigation into the Saturday night fire at Allred Oil Co., 102 Veterans Road, which caused extensive damage to the business and its contents.

The Hereford Police Department received a call at 7:26 p. m. Saturday that the business was on fire. On arrival, patrolmen and fire officials first noticed that a window on the east side of the office was broken out near where the lock was, and the window was standing open.

It took firemen about 20 minutes to control the fire to such an extent that they could look for the source of the blaze. They had first found fire in the office, but further checking led to discovery of another fire burning along the east in the rear part of the building where supplies were kept. Partitions separated the fires.

All units of the Hereford Volunteer Department were dispatched to the scene and found that the fire was well under way when they arrived. They immediately tore into the building on the east side to get to the blaze.

There was no gasoline in the building, as officers first feared, but they were wary of numerous quantities of motor oil, which could have created a stronger fire. Little of the oil was ignited, however.

Volunteer fireman Albert Maxwell narrowly escaped injury when a batter exploded and threw acid on him. He was rushed to Deaf Smith County Hospital, where doctors there treated his eyes. Maxwell was forced to wear bandages on his eyes until Sunday, when further examination proved his eyes were not damaged.

Firemen could not determine what had caused the fire and nothing was thought to be missing. The owner, Jimmy Allred estimated that there had been between $15,000 and $20,000 in materials stored in the general area of the fire.

About half of the building, especially the east side, was extensively damaged by the fire. Firemen were at the scene until about 10:30 p. m. A moderate rain fell all during the fire.

to bed at 9:30. It was pointed out that the child was not his own. But he said, "She (Toni) was my daughter, but we just didn't have the papers on her." He indicated that he had been very interested in adopting the little girl. And such was the strange conflict which maintained a constant feeling of uncertainty in the court, from the moment the jury panel met Monday afternoon to hear the case until the sentence was passed on Wester Wednesday morning at 11 a.m. From Tuesday at 6:55 p.m., when the jury was taken out in a body to dine at the Jim Hill Hotel prior to deliberations, until early Wednesday morning, no one who waited outside the Grand Jury room could make an accurate guess as to the verdict which would be delivered. There were even rumors that it would result in a hung jury.

After the jury was dismissed, foreman Jackson reported that the number of ballots taken had not been counted. "There may have been two-dozen or there may have been four-dozen. Anyway, we nearly used up all the paper."

There were perhaps 25 spectators who remained at the court until the verdict was announced. Some were close friends of the defendant. The defendant, dressed in a gray-green suit with tie, listened to Hunter read the indictment to the court at 3:30 p.m. Monday. He appeared nervous and his shoulders were slightly stooped, as if they carried a heavy weight.

Wester had been indicted for murder with malice by the Deaf Smith County Grand Jury on July 31, 1967, sixteen days after the death of his foster daughter. It alleged that he had killed her with his fists or with an unknown instrument. Wester pleaded not guilty in the 60th Judicial District Court to the charge. Hunter delivered his opening statement at that time, but Shuval reserved the right to make his statement later. The state's first witness was Dr. John H. McCrary of the Family Medical Clinic, Hereford. He testified that he saw the defendant and the baby at the clinic at 8:30 p.m. on July 15. "The baby was very sick," he said, and observed from his records that Wester was very excited. The doctor said he "got right to the examination of the baby" and found that its head was badly bruised and its eyes were swollen shut. The breathing was shallow.

"The bruises were of different ages," Dr. McCrary testified, "even on the head. I had to prize its eyes open. The baby's head was swollen almost round—solid bruise." He said he tried to relieve the intercranial damage he felt had resulted and obtained a "good amount" of blood. "Thirty to forty c.c.'s of the baby's blood was drained from the brain. Immediately, I called Dr. (Louis A.) Finney in Amarillo and said I was sending the baby up there."

McCrary said that he had spent fifteen or twenty minutes on the baby's examination and got an ambulance, a total of 30 minutes "at the outside" before the baby was on its way to Amarillo. Over defense objections which were overruled, the Hereford doctor was asked his opinion on how the injuries could be accounted for. "I could not see how these injuries could have been sustained from a fall from a bed. This was a very, very sick baby."

He testified that Wester had told him he had been sleeping and found the baby crawling on the floor. It had bumped its head on a candy stand. He was told the baby had been picked up and put back into its bed, but it didn't respond. It was then taken to the hospital. When pinned down on the age of the bruises, Dr. McCrary said that was "pretty tricky. Maybe some of them were a day or two old," judging from the bruise colorings. Some were fresh.

Under cross examination, Dr. McCrary was of the opinion that the baby would have had to have fallen several times from the bed to have received the total amount of injuries. He said Wester, however, seemed quite worried about the baby's condition, although they did not have the time to talk about it. The trial was resumed Tuesday morning pending the arrival of the Amarillo doctors.

Dr. John Edgar Jones, who specializes in pediatrics and pediatric cardiology (for children), testified that he had been paged from a local theatre in Amarillo for an emergency at St. Anthony's Hospital. When he had first seen Toni Wester, in X-Ray, "the child was having convulsions." He and Dr. Finney had taken color pictures of the child at that time, and they were introduced as evidence. "The child had sustained very severe head injuries," Dr. Jones said. He consulted with Dr. Finney and an operation was performed to relieve pressure on the brain, after an exploratory procedure. From an incision through the scalp a portion of the skull was removed. "We found what we had expected to find — bleeding beneath the dura of the brain."

The infant was then taken to intensive care, where it lived approximately half an hour. "This type of surgery was the only chance this child would live at all," Dr. Jones stated. "In this case, there was not much of a chance at all." Dr. Jones said he and Wester had talked briefly at St. Anthony's. "This was a battered child syndrome," Dr. Jones issued his opinion. "The child was physically abused. It had been hit or struck by an object or by hand—beat up. It could have been caused by striking or beating of the child." He testified that brain hemorrhaging could not have been caused from the fall from a bed. He also testified there were no fractures involved. The baby was a chubby baby, he said, but he thought the child was anemic. But we did not say it wasn't a healthy baby. "I made my own judgment," he pointed out, on his belief that it was a battered baby case.

Dr. Finney took the stand as a neurological surgeon. He said Toni's eye did not react to light, and he backed up the original diagnosis of Dr. McCrary at Hereford. He said there had been a 4-millimeter movement of the brain from center in the child, by sonar examination. The child had been administered fluids and a quantity of blood had been replaced. Blood clots were discovered in all three areas in their three scalp incisions at St. Anthony's, he said, but no blood clot had been found on the left side of the brain and no bruising of the brain could be identified at this point. Dr. Finney said, "This child survived surgery satisfactorily. But about 30 minutes later, I was called back and told that his child had died. Dr. Jones pronounced it dead."

Dr. Finney said he had talked to two women and one man, who had been identified as related to the child, and it was "mentioned that the child had fallen. But my time was much more valuable than talking to the parents. I was trying to save the child."

He could not positively identify the Westers. "I wasn't with them more than fifteen minutes during the entire evening."

He said he had been told that the child had fallen on objects gotten at a grocery store. He believed one of the ladies had said the baby had fallen down the stairs.

Finney explained that at the time the Wester baby had been brought to him, he had another emergency going at the same time — other patients had died. But he recalled that the Wester baby had multiple injuries about the head and gave the opinion that the baby could not have received the injuries "from a fall from a crib or through a maze of obstacles."

As Shuval ended his rather strenuous cross-examination of Dr. Finney, he questioned: "I understand you recently lost a baby of your own?"

"Yes," Dr. Finney replied, shaken, "about four years ago."

"Did you tell the three people you saw at the hospital about this when you last saw them, after Toni had died?"

"Yes. I gave them my condolences. I told them the walk to the cemetery is the longest walk they'll ever make in their lives."

Mrs. Wester, seated beside her husband at the counsel table, buried her face in her hands. The defendant consoled her with tears in his own eyes.

During the afternoon session, Mrs. Jana Hobbs, formerly of Hereford but now living in Amarillo, testified she had been Toni's babysitter for four months prior to the child's death, approximately nine hours per day six days per week.

She told the court that she had cared for the child on the night before its death until one a.m. She had gone out and had taken the child to the Westers directly upon her return. She had seen the baby the following day, between 11 a.m. and 3 p.m. and the baby had no bruises of any kind at that time.

Mrs. Hobbs said that the Westers seemed pleased to have the baby, and she had never seen Wester abuse the baby. But she had never seen Wester often — not around the child, only a couple of times while Mrs. Wester was at work. She said she may have seen Wester pick up the baby one time.

Sheriff Ed Robinson testified that he had investigated the death of Toni Wester. He went to the apartment of Frank Wester on Monday, following the death on the previous Saturday after the child's funeral. "They had company at that time, and I told them I would come back a little later. But they told me the company was leaving and I stayed a few minutes. I told Frank he was not in custody, but I told him he was under suspicion. As I remember it, I told him his rights. Judge Roberts had called me. He was not happy with the post mortem on the baby."

Previous testimony had revealed that Wester had maintained that the baby had fallen on a glove rack beside its bed. Sheriff Robinson said this rack had been moved to another part of the apartment. He said that Wester told him he hadn't known about the baby's accident because he was taking a nap at the time. According to Wester, the baby had fallen from the bed.

Dr. Robert E. Brierty, a pathologist from Amarillo, testified that he had performed the autopsy on Toni Wester. He had removed the brain for examination, and it was swollen. "But embalming had occurred prior to the autopsy, making the skin color more uniform." He could not judge the age of the bruises accurately.

His opinion was that death had been caused by multiple injuries to the head. But he could not determine any specific blows which could have pinpointed death, as a definite source.

Whereupon, the State rested its case at 2:05 p.m.

At this time, Shuval made his opening statement. His main point: What was the motive of the crime; "Wester had no motive or intent."

The first defense witness was Charles Leffel, 25, who had lived at Hereford twenty years. He testified he had known Wester since 1953. "Once he came to my house to get some skis. Frankie took the baby with him to my garage, although the baby was asleep at the time. He seemed very happy with the baby, even though he said she was eating him out of house and home."

Leffel was not at the Wester apartment on the day of the death.

The defendant's wife was then brought to the stand, in order to establish how they had obtained the baby. She identified the child's natural mother, but said she and her husband had had the baby since it was a week old. She and her husband had just been married then, she said, and had discussed the baby's adoption. Since she had known that she could not bear children, she maintained that her husband was very interested in the legal adoption.

Mrs. Charles Leffel related to the court that she had never seen any abuse toward the baby, that Frank had come to her home many times with the baby while his wife was working and always seemed proud of the baby. "There was no evidence that Frank did not love the baby as his own baby."

She was not present on the day of the death.

Darrell Sampson, 16, a son of Mrs. Fern Wester by a former marriage, testified that he was living with his mother and stepfather when the baby was brought home. He had lived with them five months. He maintained that his stepfather loved the baby and had given it more care than the average father. Since then, Darrell had lived at Wichita, Kansas, but he made it clear that he had not been subpoenaed for the trial and had come of his own free will.

But he, also, was not present on the day of the death.

Mrs. Jess M. Carter, manager of the Fullwood Apartments where the Westers lived and the death occurred, testified that at times she had seen Frank feed, dress and bathe the baby. He would bring her to her office—because he thought she was "pretty." But she was not in the apartment house on July 15; she was there but she could not remember being on the floor of the Wester apartment.

Mrs. Fern Wester was returned to the stand and testified, "All we wanted was to get the papers (to adopt Toni legally.) He was more eager to get the papers than I was."

On the night prior to Toni's death, Mrs. Wester testified that they had gone by the babysitter's (Mrs. Hobbs) more than one time, because Frank wanted to pick up the baby.

"Frank and I picked her up there at 3 on Saturday," Mrs. Wester said. "Frank took me to work at four. The next time I saw Frank was at the store after the baby had been taken to the hospital. We followed the ambulance to Amarillo. Dr. Jones had us go into an office at St. Anthony's to get the baby's history — and told us to get in contact with the natural mother to sign papers for the operation."

"Frank told us that when he woke up, he found Toni on the floor. He couldn't get her to wake up. After surgery, maybe she would recover."

"We saw her in the recovery room once, but a nurse said later she had died. She wanted us to wait because Dr. Finney wanted to talk with us. Dr. Finney told us there would be a post mortem."

"No," Mrs. Wester said, "Frank never did hit the baby. He was an exceptional father. Toni was hard to get to eat — Frank was almost always the one who fed her. I would start giving her a bath, Frank would even finish them." She was in tears.

There were questions as to whether Frank Wester had been drinking on July 15.

"No. He got up early to see about a job. The smell of alcohol on his breath? He was in bed asleep when I left. We had both been drinking some the night before — but when Frank drinks, he's the kind you can always smell it on his breath the day afterward. Was there any liquor in the house? I don't think so."

Shuval was opposed to this testimony being entered, because of "moral turpitude" of the general public. Judge McDonald said that he was "prone to keep it out at this time."

Mrs. Wester was recalled. "What kind of a floor does your apartment have?" Shuval asked.

"Cement," she answered.

After a few minutes of private outside consultation between lawyer and defendant, Shuval returned at 3:25 and had Frank Wester take the stand in his own defense.

Wester admitted to having three drinks on Saturday morning. "I got up about 8:30. A boy came over about a job he wanted me to see about," Wester said.

"Did he have any liquor?" "Yes."

Wester said he returned home and went to bed at 9:30, but woke up when his wife took the baby to Mrs. Hobbs. He then got up and watched t.v. a little while and went to a drive-in for a bite to eat. He then went back home.

He said he watched t.v. again while Toni was in the bed asleep. She had cried. He fixed her some milk. Then he gave her some water. Afterward he laid her on his bed and he stretched out on the couch. He said he woke up and found her lying on the floor. He immediately took the baby to the hospital.

"Did you kill the baby?" Shuval asked.

"I did not," Frank Wester replied.

Under cross examination by Hunter, he explained that he had not checked on the job that morning because it was Saturday and the place was closed.

Wester said, "That baby did not crawl yet."

He said there was no liquor in the house.

At 3:40, the defense rested. The jury was recalled at 5:23 for the reading of the court's charges. Final arguments were ended at 6:55.

At 12:50 a.m., Judge McDonald offered the jurors an opportunity to leave the Grand Jury room for their homes and return the following morning, but they declined the offer.

"No. We are fairly close now. Down to one word."

The judge offered to answer a question on a written slip of paper delivered to him through their door. The jury sent out this question five minutes later.

The word they wanted information on was "Intent." And they wanted the penalty for aggravated assault. (Assault carries two years.)

At 1:50 a.m. they knocked on the door to be let out.

They delivered their verdict at 2 a.m.

The jury was then excused until 11 a.m., when they were to decide upon the penalty.

The natural mother of Toni Lynn Wester did not testify, nor did she appear in the courtroom.

As the rain fell briskly Monday afternoon outside the courthouse, the new jury panel reported to District Court for selection on the Wester trial at 1:30. Judge McDonald told them, "This is a good omen. It's too wet to plow. We have several cases to try before spring, but today no one can offer excuses for not being present."

Hunter, who lives at Dalhart but is district attorney for five counties, explained the new system to prospective jurors, that they would no longer be kept together until the final charges were presented — they could go home separately.

After explaining to the large group the difference between murder with malice and murder without malice (with a voluntary killing without justification or excuse; without an act per-

First Concert Is Set For Saturday

First Night for members of Hereford Community Concert Association will be Saturday, when an organ concert by Richard Leibert will be presented at 8 p. m. in the high school auditorium. Admission will be by membership card in the association which was formed last summer to bring nationally-famed musicians here for a series of programs.

Leibert's concert will open the first season, since a program scheduled in November was postponed because of the illness of pianist Peter Nero who was scheduled to play then. Nero's appearance is being re-scheduled for this spring, with March 31 as the tentative date.

A radio star before the introduction of television, Leibert is known to audiences on the latter medium through his part on annual Easter morning broadcasts from Radio City Music Hall and the Christmas tree lighting ceremonies at Rockefeller Plaza. He has been chief organist at the Music Hall since that New York City amusement spot was opened.

His musical talent was recognized when he was a child and he began piano lessons early. He became interested in the pipe organ at the chapel of the Moravian School he attended, and began playing hymns for morning services when he was only seven years old.

When he was 15 his family moved from Bethlehem, Penn., his birthplace, to Washington, D. C., where he began serious study of the organ and soon was playing in a theater. He won a scholarship to Peabody Conservatory at Baltimore for three years of study.

Recognition came to him as a theater organist and he played in movie palaces of Pittsburgh, Cleveland and Chicago before winning competition for the organist's post at Radio City. Recordings and radio broadcasts won him nationwide popularity.

His appearance here will be followed by that of the Texas Boys Choir Feb. 22, then the postponed piano concert by Nero.

formed under the immediate influence of a sudden passion without adequate cause; Hunter asked any of them to show cause why they could not be selected for this jury.

Two ladies gained disqualifications when they told the Court they did not believe they could offer a fair verdict, when the victim had been a baby. A young fellow offered primarily the same reason. A man was excused because Wester had been a customer of his previously, and another because the defendant had once worked for him.

All who were excused were told by Judge McDonald to return to District Court on Wednesday morning at 9:30, for future jury service.

Seven others offered questionable states of mind, but were cleared for jury duty after questioning on various points pointed out that they could offer a fair verdict.

One prospective juror asked if there "was something about the case in the paper at one time." When questioned about the importance of the news story as an influence, he replied, "No, there wouldn't be. It's been too long ago. It had been in the paper and I had read it, but it couldn't influence my decision."

One man there had previously served on a jury trial for a murder case — about two years ago — but several had served on various grand juries in the past.

The defendant's wife, father and brother were present throughout the jury selection process.

Chris Hutcherson Gets Band Honors

Chris Hutcherson, a senior at Hereford High School won All-State Area Band honors last Saturday during try-outs held on the Texas Tech campus.

Four members of the Whiteface Band participated in these try-outs, but Hutcherson was the only one to place.

Hutcherson has been in band since his seventh grade year — compiling 5½ years of hard and dedicated work. He has received a 1 rating in all of the solos and ensembles that he has entered. As a sophomore, he was an All-Area and All-State alternate.

As a junior, Hutcherson placed 1st chair in All-Region and 6th chair in All-State Symphonic Band. This year, he placed 1st in All-Region and 2nd in the All-State area tryouts.

This past summer, Chris attended a session at the University of Kansas in Lawrence, Kansas where he played in the top band and orchestra. He is also 1st chair in the Hereford band.

Hutcherson has won 10 medals and was named as "Outstanding band student" in his freshman year.

Tennis, ping pong, and music rate the highest on his recreation list. Some times on sunny days he can probably be found just wandering around enjoying the weather; at least when he isn't practicing his clarinet — which he does for three or four hours a day.

Because of his mother's ability to sing and play a piano, he decided on the clarinet for band.

Chris has a 14-year-old sister who plays in the Stanton Junior High Band, and another sister, 9, who plays the piano.

All-State tryouts will be held Feb. 8-11.

First Aid Practiced In Young Mothers Club

Practice of mouth-to-mouth resuscitation was a part of the program given for Young Mothers Study Club Tuesday evening when Ray Simpson was the guest speaker and a life-sized dummy, "Resuci Ann", was used in the demonstration of the life-saving method being discussed.

A film, The Pulse of Life, was shown first to illustrate the mouth-to-mouth system of first aid designed to restore breathing to victims of electric shock, drowning and other accidents. Simpson demonstrated use of the dummy and the club women practiced under his instruction.

Mrs. Lynn Pittard and Mrs. Bud Thomas were hostesses for the meeting. Plans were made for a Valentine dinner with members' husbands as guests on the next meeting date, Feb. 13. Dinner will be served at the Calsion House.

New Protection Is Now In SS

Many of the provisions of the amended social security law give added protection to the young worker and his family, Travis C. Briggs, manager of the Amarillo office said today.

The old law required that the disabled have at least 5 out of the last 10 years in work covered by social security before becoming disabled to be eligible for disability payments. For some young workers, this was impossible as they became disabled at an early age. Now, if a worker becomes disabled before age 24, he only needs one and a half years work out of the three years before disability began.

If a worker becomes disabled before age 31, he now only needs work credits for half the time between age 21 and the time he became disabled, with a minimum requirement of one and a half years.

If the worker who becomes disabled is married and has minor children, his wife and children receive payments each month he is entitled.

Payments to dependents of young workers who die have been increased substantially. For example, if a young man should die who has averaged $400 a year in work covered by social security, leaving a widow and two or more minor children, monthly payments to the family would be $290.80. In ten years, the amount paid the monthly payments of $156 for the remainder of her life if she did not remarry.

If a young man 27 or younger now pays social security on the new maximum taxable of $7800 yearly each year for every year until his death in 1970 or later leaving a widow with two or more children, social security payments to his family would be the maximum payable, $434.40 monthly, or over $52 thousand in 10 years.

Payments to a young widow with entitled children in her care continue until the children are age 18. If the children continue in school and do not marry, their payments continue until they reach age 22. The widow in this example case would again be eligible at age 60 for monthly payments of $156 for the remainder of her life if she did not remarry.

County To Take Bids On Fuel

Deaf Smith County Commissioners voted to advertise for bids on fuel during their regular meeting Monday, and Set Feb. 26 as the day for opening of the bids.

Commissioners said they felt Feb. 26 would give local dealers plenty of time to submit their bids.

In other action, commissioners were presented the monthly fire report. During December, the report showed, there were four fires in the county and seven in the city. The Hereford Volunteer Fire Department answers the county fires with limited forces and the county pays the costs of operation.

Appointed as appraisers under the Veterans Land Board program were W. H. Gentry, Virgil Marsh, and Jerome Friemel. The three will appraise tracts of land in Deaf Smith County to be purchased under the Veterans Land Board program.

Commissioners appointed the men, effective immediately, for a period to continue until the death or resignation of one or all three.

Turn the mixture for tomato aspic into small ring-shaped molds; chill until set. Unmold, surround with salad greens and fill the center with cream-style cottage cheese mixed with chives. Garnish with green olives.

An attractive way to garnish stuffed eggs: criss-cross a flat anchovy (cut in half) over the deviled yolk mixture after it has been stuffed back into the whites.

Hospital Managers Make Annual Finance Report

The Deaf Smith County Hospital Board of Managers has reported a 1967 gross profit of $70,379.65 and a net of $27,867.94, before depreciation.

But it was noted in the annual report that the difference in the net profit and loss, and that of the regular operating statement is the amount charged off the books through persons paying old debts. Actually, the loss on accounts for 1967 was $71,519.86 less a recovery of accounts previously charged off of $11,415.55 for a net loss of $60,104. There was a minor adjustment in depreciation and in social security tax expense accounts for the small balance.

"Perhaps the outside force which most influenced our operations for the year (1967) was the increased activities of the various nursing organizations and labor unions for increased wages in all departments of the hospital," the Deaf Smith County Hospital's annual report stated to the Commissioners' Court on January 15. "Since there is a very real and serious shortage of trained nurses and others in the para-medical field, we have been forced to meet competition in order to obtain and keep what we feel is an excellent staff."

The Deaf Smith County Hospital Board of Managers who made the report were John Douglas Pitman, president; A. H. Cook, vice-president; Ed Leorwald, secretary; and Wayne E. Thomas, Carl S. Perrin and J. H. McCrary, M.D.

They pointed out that the trend toward higher wages for trained personnel at the hospital will continue, at least until the supply equals the demand.

"The construction of the new Baptist hospital in Amarillo has made the competition for personnel rather intense in our local area," they said.

But the Board of Managers do feel that there has been a measure of success for 1967. Since their gross income was slightly below $600,000, that felt that it was fairly near their goal of a break-even mark.

All costs, including depreciation, bad accounts, etc. (with the exception of $800.09) had been absorbed by them, it was indicated.

The fact was also pointed out that the hospital had found it to be a year of transition for them. It saw the first full year's operation under the Medicare law, the wage-hour law of Feb. 1, and the Medicaid act of July 1.

"Since the information as to these programs and the ground rules given us as to our responsibility in complying with these programs was rather limited and vague, we were forced to resort to some trial and error methods, changing our procedures as more information was furnished and obtained," they reported. "Changes are still being made in these various programs by the Congress and by other agencies and we are still having to change to conform."

Total admissions, exclusive of new-born babies, was 2,372 in-patients for a total stay of 12,429 patient days. The newborn total was 394—down some from 1966—for another stay of 1,560 nursery days. A total of 4,330 were treated in their out-patient emergency department.

This brought the total to 7,106 patients treated.

"Since statistics over the years have proved that one in every eight persons in a given community will be a patient in the hospital during the year, it would seem that our service area would have a population of from 19,000 to 20,000."

The average charge for a room was $23.31. Nursing service, insurance service, medical records and meals accounted for all but $1.58 of the charge.

"This leaves only $1.58 for administration, laundry, house-keeping, operation of plant, utilities, etc.," they reported. "We hope some day to be fully able to explain this to those people who still feel our 'room' charge is too high."

The total cost per patient day in 1967, including depreciation "was $41.65—up $3.94 per day from 1966. This compares with a cost per day for an Amarillo hospital, whose audit was published some days ago, of $48.47. The American Hospital Association has reported that national costs per patient day for the fiscal year of 1967, ending September 30, was $55.82, for an increase of 14.3 per cent over 1966."

They reported that figures for the State of Texas were not available at this time, but they understood them to be between $50 and $55 per day.

"In September 1967, we graduated another class of vocational nurses. These students made among the top grades in their State Board examinations. We have been informed that we now have one of the highest percentages of trained nurses to untrained aides of any hospital in the area. We hope to be able to keep that ratio."

The Board of Managers expressed their gratefulness to the passage of the hospital bond, by its margin of 2½ to one.

"With all the uncertainties and unrest over high taxes that now exist, the weather on the day of the vote and other factors make us feel that we do enjoy a pleasant relationship with our community."

They found it difficult to forecast 1968 and future years. "It seems certain that our costs of operation will continue to increase so long as the inflationary spiral continues. There are many bills in Congress which, if passed, will affect our operations. We are now under the influence of many more outside agencies than we have ever been. Decisions made by those agencies will determine to a large extent our activities. "We know that we must keep our organization and management flexible enough to make changes as those changes are either warranted or demanded. We must try to predict far enough ahead to make intelligent plans so that the hospital will not suffer from want of leadership and be caught unprepared for any eventuality. We shall continue every effort to operate the hospital so as not to be a burden on the County but to be a real asset to the entire area we serve."

Music Club Members Play Program Numbers

Organ and piano selections from Mendelssohn's composition were played by Music Study Club members to illustrate the program on Early Romantic Composers at a meeting Monday in Mrs. B. Y. Crosthwait's home.

Mrs. Paul Lyons conducted the program, defining the romantic movement in European art during early years of the 19th century as an outgrowth of new interest in the common man. Music became more personal, with more fervent melodies expressing more imagination and humor, she said.

Composers discussed as typical of the period were Beethoven, Schubert, Schumann, Mendelssohn and Ber-lioz.

Mrs. Lowell Sharp played an organ solo, Duetto, Mrs. A. J. Schroeter and Mrs. Crosthwait a piano and organ arrangement of Andate Con Moto, both by Mendelssohn.

Mrs. Richard Godwin, who presided for business, led members in singing the hymn of the month selected by the National Federation of Music Clubs, God of Grace. Mrs. Wilson Green played accompaniment.

Also present were Mrs. J. C. McCracken, T. W. Roberson, A. O. Thompson, Bill Brady, W. T. Carmichael, S. O. Wilson, Tom Burdett, Clifford Trotter, Jesse Stanford, R. P. Coneway, J. T. Gilbreath, and Miss Frances Dameron.

Those which have not nominated a member were reminded to do so at an early meeting, by Mrs. Paul Hoff, County THDA chairman. She announced a district training meeting to be held at Vega Jan. 30.

AUSTIN HIGHLIGHTS

Primary Race For Top Spot May Be Five-Ring Circus

By — VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

AUSTIN — Democrats will have at least a five-ring circus in the upcoming primary race for governor. In fact, there's a good chance that as many as eight candidates will toss their hats in the ring by the February 5 filing deadline.

It will be a free-for-all, with the two best-known Democratic leaders, Gov. John Connally and Sen. Yarborough, standing on the sidelines. For the first time since 1956 the incumbent governor will not be running for re-election.

Lt. Gov. Preston Smith, happy that his prediction that Connally and Yarborough would stand aside, continued his steady campaigning for governor as, one by one, other candidates got into the race.

Gordon B. McLendon, Dallas radioman, and Pat O'Daniel of Dallas, son of former Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel, were the first to follow Smith in the filing.

Then came former Attorney General Waggoner Carr. Secretary of State John L. Hill of Houston lined up at the post Monday for a running start to become No. 5.

Don Yarborough of Houston, who ran against Connally in 1962 and 1964, was in chute No. 6.

In chutes Nos. 7 and 8 were two Texans who have been serving as ambassadors. These are Eugene Locke of Dallas, who has been in South Vietnam, and Ed Clark of Austin and San Augustine, who has been in Australia.

Decisions by Sen. John Tower and U. S. Rep. George Bush of Houston to stay out of the Republican primary for governor leaves that race open for the moment. Albert Fay of Houston is mentioned most among the GOP as their standard bearer against the winner of the Democratic donny-brook.

JUNIOR COLLEGES TO 'OPEN DOORS' — Junior college admission for anybody who wants to "succeed or fail on his own effort" is part of the policy of the public junior college master plan adopted by the Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System.

Senior colleges and universities are getting more and more selective, and the Board felt there must be a place for the "late bloomer" — the student who demonstrates academic ability later than most, as well as the person whose employment ambitions require only two years of college, and the post-college age people who need continuing education.

There are 39 public junior college campuses in the state now, and the Board's plan envisions 73 within 20 years, with total enrollment of 305,000. Junior college enrollment is increasing at the average rate of 20 per cent a year, compared to a 10 per cent average increase for four-year schools.

Ironically enough, the plan adopted and labeled "emergency" was similar to one proposed by Rep. Jerry Sadler in 1955, but rejected as "too advanced".

ATTORNEY GENERAL RULES — A member of the Texas

Teacher Retirement System can "buy" out-of-state experience credit less than three years before he retires and draw corresponding additional benefits three years after payment. Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin held.

In other recent opinions, Martin has concluded that:

* Texas Air Control Board must determine which plants processing agricultural products in their natural state (those which come to plants in substantially the same condition as they existed in nature) are under its jurisdiction.

* Members of Air Control Board also can serve on the advisory National Center for Air Pollution Control or as faculty members at state-supported universities.

* Junior colleges are exempt from standard floor space, type building, bond and number-of-instructors requirements for cosmetology training courses.

* Utility companies are responsible for cost of relocating poles and other facilities incident to widening of county roads where facilities are located on a prescriptive road right of way. Companies have no right to any portion of right of way due to long use.

PAR KFUNDS GRANTED — A $219,500 federal grant has been approved for acquisition of 1,259-acres of land on Lake Livingston in Polk, Trinity, San Jacinto and Walker Counties to develop six different park sites.

Trinity River Authority will put up an equal amount for the project.

TRAVEL TRAILS — Governor John Connally has designated 10 Travel Trail Areas in Texas. Each route is designed to help Texans and Texas visitors find some of the most interesting parts of the Lone Star State.

These include the Plains Trail in the Panhandle; the Mountain Trail in the Big Bend; the Pecos Trail in the region below San Angelo; the Forts Trail in the old Indian country from Menard to Jacksboro; the Hill Country Trail in LBJ country; the Lakes Trail in the region of lakes above and below Dallas-Fort Worth; the Brazos Trail through Central Texas and the Brazos Valley; the Forest Trail through the Piney Woods and other parts of East and North-east Texas; the Independence Trail through the Galveston, Victoria-San Antonio region; and the Tropical Trail from Corpus Christi down through the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

APPOINTMENTS ANNOUNCED — Governor Connally named First Assistant Atty. Gen. George Cowden, 37, chairman of the State Board of Insurance. Cowden, of Waco, succeeds William Hunter McLean of Fort Worth, who is retiring February 1 after five years' service on the major state board.

Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin then elevated Nola White to Cowden's post as Martin's top assistant. White, 62, of Beaumont has been heading the crime prevention division on the attorney general's staff.

Connally appointed to the Committee on State and Local Tax Policy John McKee of Dallas, Hugo Loewenstern of Amarillo and Dr. John Stockton of the University of Texas in Austin.

Other members will include Reps. Ben Atwell of Dallas, W. C. Sherman of Fort Worth and Hudson Moyer of Amarillo, selected by the speaker; and Sens. Henry Grover of Houston, Bruce Reagan of Corpus Christi, and David Ratliff of Stamford designated by the lieutenant governor.

Mrs. Tobin (Anne) Armstrong of Armstrong in Kennedy County was selected Republican national Committeewoman from Texas at a recent GOP state executive committee meeting here. She succeeds Mrs. J. C. (Barbara) Man of Dallas who resigned.

New deputy presidents of the Texas Federation of Republican Women are Mrs. James R. Foulks of Waco, Mrs. Jack Garrett of Danbury, Mrs. M. R. Bullington of San Antonio, Mrs. Max Preston of San Angelo and Mrs. Jack Hart of Gruver. Mrs. Lee Briscoe of Eagle Lake is the new TFRW treasurer.

STATE WINS FIRST AIR CONTROL CASE — First case filed under the 1967 Clean Air Act was won by the State. So ruled the 151st District Court, for the Texas Air Control Board, in a suit against Harris County garbage dump operators.

With a finding of air pollution, the trial court ordered seven dump operators to convert to landfill operations, and told two to cease operations, put out all fires, and cover all wastes with dirt.

SMITH NAMES COMMITTEES — Lt. Gov. Preston Smith named four Legislative Council committees to undertake studies ordered by the 1967 Legislature. Committees also will make recommendations to the Council, and the 1969 Legislature.

To the Committee on Feasibility of Establishing and Operating an Academy of Science in Crime Prevention and Detection, Smith named Rep. Gene Hendryx of Alpine, chairman; Sen. Jack Hightower of Vernon; Sen. David Ratliff, Stamford; and Reps. Paul Floyd of Hous-

By MELVIN YOUNG

We still hear people talking about the recent Chamber of Commerce banquet and without a doubt, it was the best such affair that we have had in a number of years. Perhaps ever. Certainly everything went according to schedule — the food was good as usual, the speaker was unusually good and the length of the program was appropriate. We have in our midst one of the finest caterers that can be found and as far as we're concerned, the famous Ft. Worth man who has previously come to Hereford for this banquet can now spend more time barbecuing down on the LBJ ranch. We don't need his services. It's great to have local people who can do these things and by all means we should avail ourselves of their services.

And before we forget, we might add that Lynn McLarty, who happens to be the band director at La Plata Jr. High, is to be commended for the musical portion of the program. Also, the decorations, furnished by the Hereford Garden Club, were superb. But the thing that impressed this writer more than the program or the food, was the fact that the Master of Ceremonies did such a magnificent job. We believe that this adds more to the success of a banquet than any of us previously realized. Of course, MC Earnest Langley is also the incoming president of the Chamber and will be one of the best we've ever had. You can bet your money on that. But if he never does a thing more as president, he has earned the admiration of many people for the way he handled the MC job.

And another old boy who should not be forgotten is J. W. Robinson Jr. J. W. was always in the background, but he was chairman of the banquet committee — a group that spent many hours finding a program and planning the entire affair. He deserves our thanks.

All in all, it was an excellent affair. Former chamber manager Bill Linderman and Mrs. Linderman were on hand for the big event. As a matter of fact, they spent two days in Hereford waiting for the banquet. Bill will probably not appreciate this, but we're going to tell the story anyway.

Thinking that Wednesday was the date for the banquet, Bill and Mrs. Linderman came to town, secured a room in one of the local motels, and decided to spend the day visiting friends in town. They did, and then there discovered that the Chamber banquet was the following night. "To heck with it," he says, "We'll just spend two nights here." And they did.

Following closely on the heels of a successful Chamber of Commerce was the wonderful rain that we received this weekend, and with the two together, you can well understand why you see more smiles around town this week than previously.

But the rain has caused some problems. Some folks didn't remember what rain looked like and were somewhat disturbed. As a matter of fact one farmer called into the ASCS office early this week and told manager Faust Collier that something was wrong with his wheat. "It's turning green," he said.

Judge H. C. "Hank" Williams, along with Commissioners Earl Holt and Donald Hicks, as well as a representative of Columbia Securities Company, recently made a flying trip to New York City in connection with the county's bond rating, and as is usually the case when these guys get together, there were a few shenanigans.

Everything went well until time to eat breakfast on the plane. At this time, Judge Williams whispered to the stewardess that the two men behind him (Hicks and Holt) were prisoners and when she brought them their breakfast, under no circumstances was she to give them silverware. "Just bring it to me," the Judge said, "and I'll let them have a spoon or something to eat breakfast with." The wide-eyed young lady was completely taken in and did just as the judge said. "I thought something fishy was going on when the judge passed those spoons to us," Hicks said, "but not wanting to act like some country bumpkin, I didn't say a word. But have you ever tried to eat your bacon and eggs with a spoon?" The stewardess finally decided that something was amiss and about the time Earl and Donald finished breakfast, she mustered the courage to ask: "Are you really prisoners?" Needless to say, by the time that plane landed in New York City, both Commissioners had mapped plans for revenge. The men wouldn't disclose what took place during the remainder of the trip, but you can bet that "Hank" was on guard from that moment on.

If you made a right turn from the left lane, you're probably just careless and reckless — and not what the fellow behind you called you.

PECAN TREES

One of the questions which the new home owner asks is, "what should be planted FIRST in the overall landscape plan?" "If you could plant only one thing the first year what would it be?" This is a pertinent question. It should not be answered until it has been given much thought. Usually I answer... PLANT A TREE.

The time it takes to establish the full structure of a great tree must be considered. Money cannot buy the years of its beauty and its usefulness. Nor can one appraise the soft loveliness of its cooling shade or the charm of its trunk and limbs and its beauty etched against a gorgeous plain sunset or sunrise.

However, a relative value can be placed on such attributes as sturdiness, rate of growth, adaptability, utilitarian usefulness, and the life span. These things are to be considered when choosing a tree or trees for your land, or for the placement in the landscape design.

Many trees do well in our soil and climate. I am just Scotch enough to think of the monetary value of a tree, when a selection is to be made. Several weeks ago I was visiting with Mrs. J. A. Pitman, and when I returned to my car, I looked up at the beautiful trees which were growing near the driveway. Two of these were pecans, and as I looked I noticed that the pecans had not been gathered. I walked over to the tree nearest to me and reached up and gathered a few of the pecans.

Thinking that they perhaps had not been gathered because of the early freeze which harmed many of the pecan trees, I was a bit doubtful as to whether the nuts would be edible. I peeled off the outer shell, and then placed two pecans in the palm of my hand and cradled them. The nut meats fell out nicely and I ate them, they were delicious.

All the time I was doing this my mind was very busy. I remembered the year when the special horticultural planting of The Hereford Garden Club was the planting of pecan trees. These trees were some of those that were sold and planted, and they have borne a good crop of nuts for a number of years. I resolved that I would advise people, to plant some of these unusual stately, hardwood trees. Not only will they give pleasure of a long life span, a dense shade, but would also usually bear delicious nuts. If you are going to plant a tree... make it a PECAN TREE.

The history of the pecan tree is fascinating and very interesting. It was officially designated as the state tree of Texas by an act of legislature in June 1919. By an amendment in 1927 certain state agencies were requested to give due consideration to the pecan tree when beautifying state parks and other public property belonging to the state.

The Pecan (Carya illinoensis) is a native of Texas from the Pineywoods west throughout central Texas. It reaches its peak of development in the watershed of the Colorado River. In our neighboring state Oklahoma, the Red River valley is noted for its Pecan Orchards. The pecan makes an excellent shade tree and is very valuable for the nut crop it bears. Many varieties are planted in orchards. Recent development of the Pecan has made it more disease resistant, and through study the tree produces earlier than it did years ago.

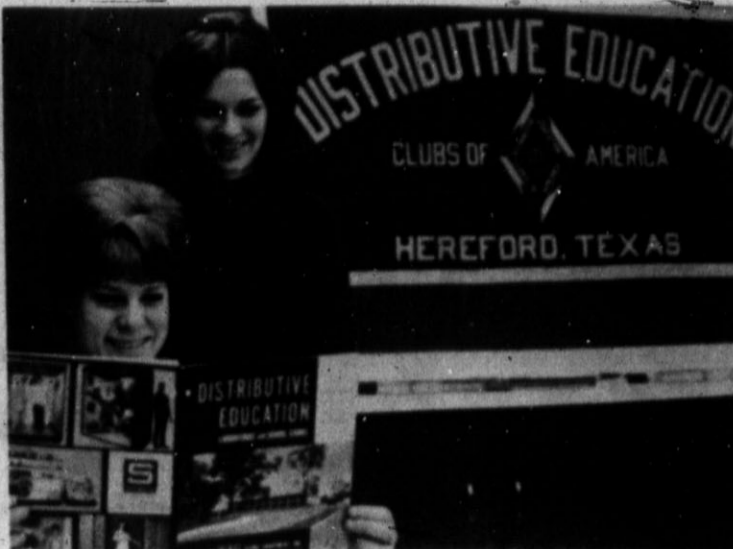

It attains a height of over 100 feet. When growing in the open it forms a large round symmetrical crown. The bark of the tree is rough, hard, tight, but is broken into scales. Leaves resemble those of the hickory tree and the black walnut. The male flowers hang in tassels and are from 2 to 3 inches long. Nuts of the cultivated varieties are sold in markets in large quantities.

The flavor of the small native pecan is delicious, better than that of the higher bred and cultivated nut, but is hard shelled and hard to pick the nut meats from the shells. There is a native pecan tree growing at the Frye home on Avenue E. They also have other pecan trees which were planted by Nelse McRight. These are good flavored nuts, and when sprayed and cared for bear a good crop. The wood of the pecan tree is hard and brittle. It with stands hard treatment, and is a good playmate for children because they can share its bountiful shade, and climb its limbs, and share its fruit.

Governor James Hogg was very fond of the pecan tree and its nuts. He planted many of the trees on his land and around the home. History quotes him as saying, "I want no monument of stone or marble, but plant at my head a pecan tree and at my feet an old fashioned black walnut. When these trees shall bear, let the pecans and the walnuts be given out among the plain people of Texas so they may plant them and make TEXAS A LAND OF TREES."

If one has time, and patience, trees may be grown from the nuts. Select a well developed nut. Select a well developed one that has not been polished or treated. Place in the freezing compartment of the refrigerator. Let it remain there for several weeks, then plant it deep, keep it moist, so that it will germinate more readily.

Watch, wait, and a tiny tree will appear. Black walnuts, oak, chestnut, and gum trees can be grown the same way. I have a nice chestnut growing, which was started in this way. There is satisfaction in watching it grow, and I hope some day when its growth is completed that it will bring happiness and satisfaction to others.

IN THE CLASS ROOM — DE students, Rema Coffin and Joyce Curtsinger look over one of the books provided for such students. DE students attend school one half of the day learning things about their trade, and then go to work for the remainder of the day.

Mrs. Argen Draper shared an interesting pamphlet with me which was prepared by The Honorable Ralph Yarborough of Texas, and delivered to the Senate of the United States.

The following are some excerpts from the speech. "This delicious nut has improved the diet and graced the table for more than 4 centuries. It is the most widely planted tree grown for orchards in Texas. It is found throughout the State, and especially in the central portions. It is of great economic importance. Texas raises 21 percent of the pecans raised in the United States.

35 million pounds per year over a 10-year period and the crop brought to the state $8 million dollars.

CONTINUED NEXT WEEK... Kinds to plant. Where to purchase. Soil, and cultivation.

TO DO:

These winter days, and evenings are good times to do some reading. Include on your reading list some books on gardening. These I recommend and they are good, "The American Garden Book," by Evans-Lippincott; "Garden Design," by Crowe; "A Latin Primer," a picture-glossary of Thelwellian, botanical names this is a JUST FOR FUN book, and is good for the whole family. "Anyone Can Grow Roses," by Cynthia Westcott; "Birds of North America," Chandler S Robbins; "The Complete Book of Growing Plants from Seed," by Eida Haring.

This book is a valuable assembly of information for all who garden and grow plants from seed.

The rains has been wonderful, we will not have to do much winter watering, so make plans to do the dormant spraying for the roses, shrubs, and trees.

Attention: Nora Alice and Miss Rutherford, thanks! for your letters, they did my heart GOOD. To all who sent Christmas Greetings, notes while I was in hospital, and all other correspondence THANKS, all was greatly appreciated. It is GREAT to have friends, they help me to be GLAD.

Income Tax Facts

Taxpayers on $93,000 individual income tax returns for 1965 excluded sick pay from their income — averaging $650 or 8 percent of the salaries of those using this provision.

This was reported in the Internal Revenue Service publication — Statistics of Income — 1965, Individual Income Tax Returns — available now for $3 from the Superintendent of Documents, U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C. 20402.

The record of 67.6 million individual income tax returns filed for 1965 reflected almost 95 percent of the Nation's population, either as taxpayers or dependents, according to the IRS publication — Statistics of Income — 1965, Individual Income Tax Returns.

The book is available now for $2 from the Superintendent of Documents, U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C. 20402.

Arrange canned sardines on buttered toast and heat in the oven; cover with a cheddar cheese and serve as a main course for lunch. Good accompanied by tomato salad.

For a good mixture for meat loaf, have pork shoulder ground and add it to ground beef. Use about half a pound of the pork to a couple of pounds of the beef.

Jim Brink

Jim Brink Is Choir Member

FORT WORTH — The A Cappella Choir, composed of 48 singers selected from the University at large, and the Chamber Orchestra of Texas Christian University will begin their seventh annual concert tour today with appearances scheduled in six Texas cities.

HEREFORD RESIDENT Jim Brink, son of Mr. and Mrs. E.K. Brink of 211 Sunset, is a member of the choir.

Organized seven years ago by B. R. Henson, TCU director of choral activities, the choir will appear in Conroe on the first day of the tour. Other concerts will be given in Spring Branch on Friday Corpus Christi, Saturday McAllen, Sunday a Singville Monday; and San Antonio, Tuesday.

The orchestra, under the direction of Assistant Professor Kenneth Schanewerk, will include persons chosen from the TCU musical organizations specifically for the tour concerts.

Just recently we moved from Memphis, Tenn. I first came here in December as a candidate for the Greenwood Baptist Church and was impressed with this fair city's business section and outlying area. I knew from a casual observation that you had an aggressive Chamber of Commerce in the city. I would like to take this opportunity to say that the folks are unusually friendly here. When you are accustomed to over half a million people this does something to you. I would like to say that this city communicates to others. It really makes you feel wanted.

I entered my son David into the first grade after we arrived and have picked him up on several occasions at his school. I was a little shocked to see so little care for the children crossing the streets with only one traffic officer and the children were crossing at all points along the street. Perhaps Hereford could do as Memphis. They enlisted Mothers for a small salary and uniformed them to direct traffic and escort the children through the cross walks. They could be assisted by patrol boys from the upper grades. These boys are selected by their teachers on the basis of superior grades. This also proves to be an extra incentive for the boys.

Federal Crop Insurance Agent Is Visiting Deaf Smith County

Improvements in the All-Risk Federal Crop Insurance program on irrigated grain sorghum in Deaf Smith County for 1968 were announced Monday.

B. V. Shirley, FCIC representative from the District Office at Amarillo, says the program has been readjusted to more adequately reflect the demands of farmers and the insurance experience here.

On a 23-county basis where the changes have been made, readjustment for grain sorghum has resulted in an eight per cent average increase in the hundred weight guarantee while premium rates have been decreased 7.6 percent on the average.

Shirley is now in the county for a limited time explaining the provisions of the FCIC insurance programs to farmers and taking applications.

"About 30 insured farmers in the county shared during 1967 in more than $2 million in Federal Crop Insurance payments made in Texas for losses on cotton, grain sorghum and wheat crops due mostly to drought, flood, excessive moisture and wind," the agent said.

"This added an estimated $36,000.00 to the county farm economy and helped to offset financial losses due to poor crops.

The All-Risk FCIC insurance plans guarantee farmers an established amount of good quality production based on yield history of the land, amount of risk involved and estimated costs of production. FCIC by Congressional Act is allowed to insure only production costs or the farmers' investment in his crop.

When crop production falls short of the guarantee due to drought, excess heat, flood, too much moisture, insects, disease or any other natural cause, Federal Crop Insurance picks up the tab paying a cash loss sufficient to meet the guarantee.

Some additional benefits gained by Deaf Smith County farmers through the insurance, Shirley says, include premium discounts for good experience, use of the protection as additional collateral to assist in securing the credit financing so vital in today's farming and added stability to individual farming operations.

On-The-Job Training Is Paying Off For Students

By MARSHALL DAY
Staff Writer

As Distributive Education and Industrial Co-operative Training go into another year at Hereford High School, it seems that more and more students are leaning on these courses in an effort to establish themselves in their preferred vocational fields.

The main purpose of Distributive Education, known as DE, is to help students enter jobs and get on the job training in marketing, merchandising, and distribution of goods and services. Among the types of businesses that DE training offers are drug, automotive parts, agents, and petroleum products. Thus far this year the DE department feels that the local merchants have really co-operated in assisting the school with employment for the students as all of the students are now employed in various fields.

Industrial Co-operative Training, also known as ICT, has a total enrollment of 28 students attending three classes a day. The main purpose of this portion of student training is to educate students in the basic skills of vocations such as auto mechanics, cosmetology, photography, and printing just to name a few.

Out of the 25 students who participated in ICT last year, it has been noted that seven of these went on to work in the jobs which they were trained to do while in the ICT course. Also out of the same 25, seven more are now working at jobs related to those taken in ICT. The main reason for this is that the students have a choice as to which field of work they would like to enter and thus are able to work at the thing they enjoy most.

Bill Brady, owner of Brady Photography, says that the program is definitely a good one because it gives the kids experience in their chosen fields and that it is much easier to teach younger people. Brady, who has ICT student Delores Manning working for him, said that the program provides contact with people for the student and allows her or she to get better acquainted with the public in general.

Another example of an ICT student is Keith Winkler who is employed at Hedrick Dodge where he works in the parts department learning the qualifications of that trade. R. E. Bolmer, under whom Winkler works, states that the program is really a fine one because it allows people to be trained the right way whereas it would be difficult to "take someone off the street" and train them. Bolmer, along with many other local merchants feel that it is much easier to train younger persons than older ones, and this is one of the great assets of ICT.

Most students who take DE or ICT attend school the first half of the day and then go to their places of employment somewhere around noon and work the remaining part of the day. The courses count two credits for each year taken and can be taken during the junior and senior years of high school.

Alvin Smith, instructor of ICT, feels that the school as well as the community and students have greatly benefited from the two programs. Smith also asked that if there is any merchant or businessman who would like to employ an ICT student to please contact him.

Growth Of Shur-Gro Liquid Feeds Is Keeping Stride With Area Expansion

By MARSHALL DAY
Staff Writer

After having begun construction of the Shur-Gro Liquid Feed building in September of 1963, and having completed it in January of 1964, Shur-Gro Liquid Feed Incorporated celebrates its completion of four years of service to this area.

Being established in 1964 by a four-man team consisting of Jerry Skhags and Roland Barton, both of Hereford, and Z.A. McCaslin and Robert H. Shiller, both of Clovis, N. M. Shur-Gro Liquid Feeds Inc. has expanded its area of distribution to cover areas ranging from Colorado to Louisiana. Other states within which Shur-Gro has dealers who distribute their product are Oklahoma, Kansas, Arkansas, New Mexico, and Texas.

With the main office located just southwest of Hereford because of its being the center of the feed country, Shur-Gro has under its employment some 17 workers. For hauling, they have four semi-trailer trucks which are equipped to haul up to 24 tons, or 4,000 gallons of the liquid feed.

With Red Barn Chemical Company the dealer for Shur-Gro in the immediate area, the rest of the hauling is done by commercial haulers who distribute the product mostly to dealers in other areas and to feedlot owners.

Chemicals, for mixing with feeds, which Shur-Gro uses include molasses for energy, urea for protein, phosphoric acid for the needed amount of phosphorus, trace minerals for good animal nutrition, vitamins, growth hormones, antibiotics, and anthelmintics.

By combining these chemicals with the feed, in proportion to the amount needed, it has been discovered that a better feed can be produced. Amount of how much of what to be put into the feed is determined by an IBM computer so that rations can be completely and correctly combined.

Shur-Gro also has at its disposal a spur from the local railroad which brings in urea, molasses, and phosphoric acid. Recently installed to the railroad spur was equipment which will speed up the unloading of the rail cars.

"Holly molasses, alcohol pro-

Austin, come into the local plant and are both used because of the good and bad points of each," stated Barton. "We find it much better to use both of these types of molasses because the bad points in one are made up by the good points in the other," he also said.

"We have also found that no one feed mixture will work in every situation," commented Barton. "The per cent of protein in each area differs so we must take each area separately in order to obtain the best mixture suited for that particular place."

In commenting about the amount of expansion over the past few years since the establishment of the company, Barton said that continual process of expanding has to be met by equal expansion of the company. In the past six months, figures show that the company has just about tripled the capacity of its expansion.

In ending, Barton stressed the fact that, "Hereford has been good to us from the very start and we are very pleased with the co-operation given to us, and are looking forward to many more years of serving this area."

Charles Atchley Named Director

Representing Hereford in the state's only junior Angus Association, organized Sunday night during a meeting of about 70 Panhandle Angus breeders at the Coronado Inn in Amarillo, is Charles Atchley.

Atchley, a senior at Hereford High School, was elected to the board of directors for the newly founded High Plains Junior Angus Association along with some five others from the Panhandle area.

The son of Mr. & Mrs. Thurman Atchley of Summerfield, Atchley showed the reserve champion Angus at the 1967 Deaf Smith Livestock Show. He plans to study for a career in veterinary medicine and has been active as president of the 4-H Club, Happy Hustlers for two years and has been a delegate to the County 4-H Council one year.

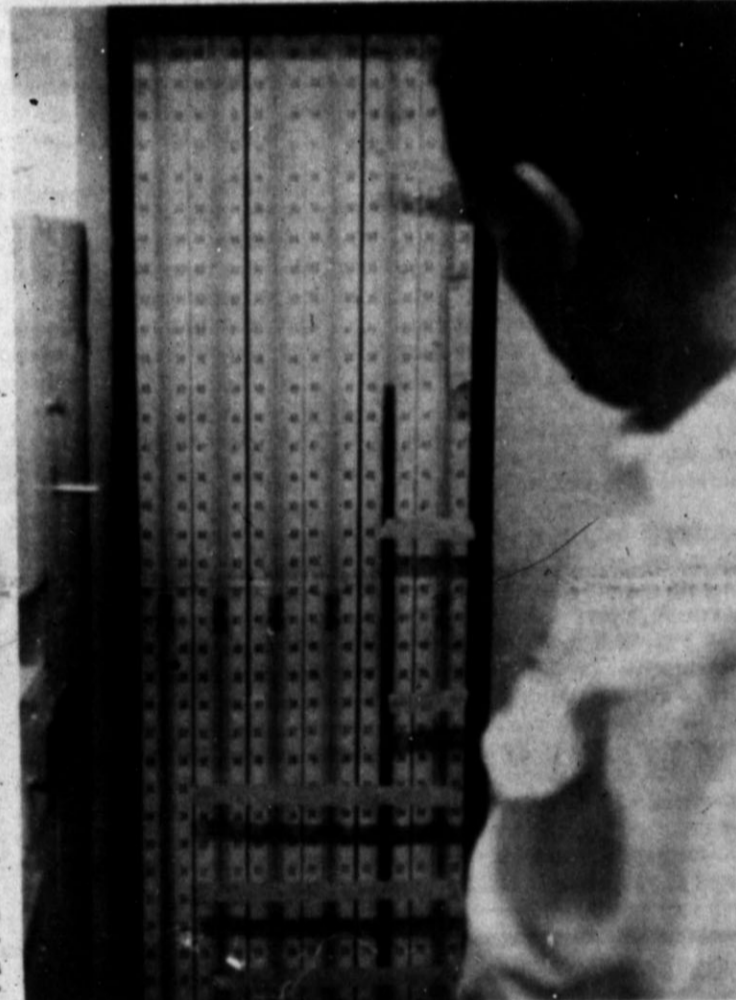

Raymond Ashely of Fort Worth said the youth group was established because of the numerous requests from Angus breeders throughout the Panhandle. Ashely is the southwestern field director for the American Angus Association.

Fast-Moving Demons Defeat Herd In 46-43 Contest

By MARSHALL DAY
Staff Writer
Before a large homecoming crowd, the fast moving Dumas Demons rallied in the last half to take a 46-43 win over the Whitefaces.

With both teams playing good defensive ball at the start of the contest, neither was able to score in the first few minutes of play. The Herd finally broke open for five quick points as they garnered a 5-2 lead but fate wouldn't allow them to retain this lead as they fell behind when the Demons hit for four points to take the lead. The first quarter score ended with the Herd trailing by six points at 13-7.

Working against a fast-moving Dumas team that reacted with precision, the locals were able to overcome their six point deficit in the second quarter as they surged forward to tie the game up at 13-13 before the Demons knew what had happened. Hitting for six straight field goals, the Whitefaces took a 25-20 lead into the locker room at halftime, after they finally got their momentum up in the waning minutes of the second period.

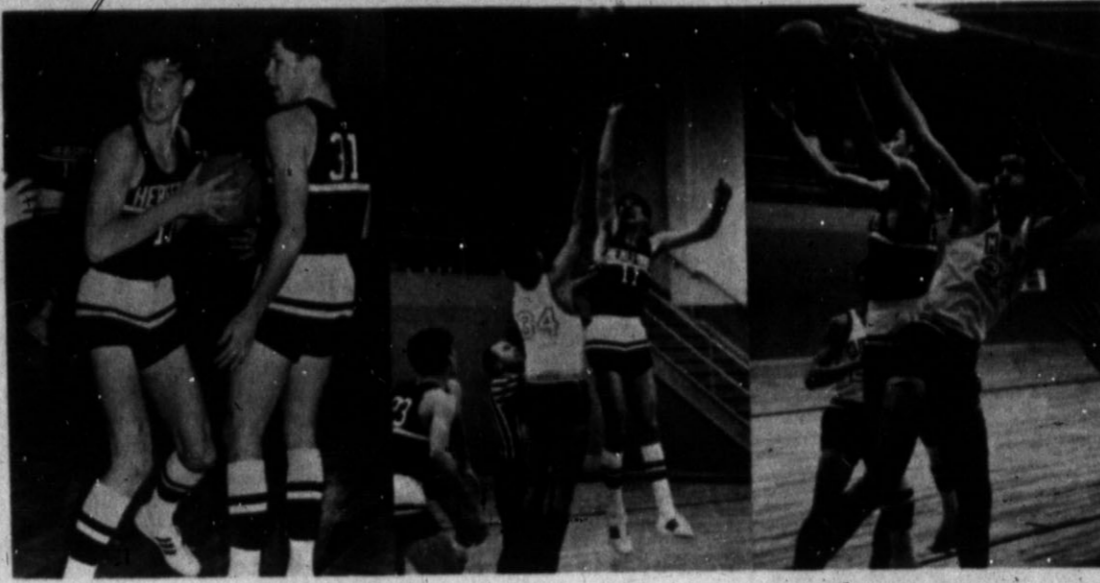

Coming back from the dressing room after halftime, the Demons immediately began hitting bucket after bucket to tie the game up, then proceeded to take the lead with the third quarter ending with the Demons in front 38-35.

Trailing by three points going into the final period, the Herd couldn't overcome the fighting

Dumas team as the scoreboard ticked away the much-needed seconds and minutes. At one time in the final quarter, the Demons lead by as many as seven points, but the Herd, not giving up rallied for four points. The rally fell short when they went down in defeat for the fourth time in conference play. Hitting in the double figures for the Herd were Bobby Burwick with 12 points and Marsh Pitman who had 11.

Prior to the "A" game, the B-team rolled to an easy run-away victory over the Dumas "B" by a 58-35 tally. The "B" team had four players hit in the double figures as Bill Russell hit for 14 points, Percy Mays with 12, Jim Rakestraw with 10, and Scott Neville, who had 10.

Cage action will begin its second half in Tulla next Tuesday, with the "B" game starting at 6:15 p. m. and the varsity beginning at 8 p. m.

Financial Director Talks To Classes

By MARSHALL DAY
Milton Morris, director of financial aid at West Texas State University and founder of The Opportunity Plan, Inc., spoke to the junior and senior classes in an assembly on "Financing a College Education" Tuesday morning.

Morris, named "Area Citizen of the Year" by the Amarillo paper, gave a talk on the responsibilities of today's youth and the importance of higher education.

"We started out some years ago financing students, but in recent years, we became involved with talking to high school counselors to see if we could decrease the number of students who end their learning after high school," explained Morris. "This is our goal still."

"We have your interest at heart," stated Morris, "but for heaven's sake don't enter a college or university unless you know what you plan to do. My guess would be that about 25 to 30 per cent of the students in college today don't belong there and ought to be somewhere else. They have no idea what lies ahead of them, and these are the ones that live off their father's money for a year or two and hope that someone will be kind to them."

Morris said that while some colleges and universities are open only to the students in the upper 10 per centile grading, those students who do not fall into this category must "use the ability God gave us and do what we can." He went on to state that "everyone must prepare himself for what he or she is best qualified for and take up their role in life."

After outlining the responsibilities of the financial aid department, Morris emphasized the fact that the responsibility fall on the students themselves.

"Boys, now is the time for you to train yourselves for something and stick with it," said Morris, "and for you girls, it is time for you to get yourselves in position so you can give assistance when and if it is needed."

In closing, Morris said, "Let me remind you that there is no way for someone to open up your head and pour in a degree for you. You've got to decide for yourself and have the ambition to follow it up."

Morris, along with three members of his counseling staff, stayed at the high school for two days talking and discussing financial aid and assistance to student and parents.

Agricultural Briefs

FEWER BUT LARGER FARMS — The number of farms in the U. S. continues to decline but their size is increasing. The USDA's crop Reporting Board estimates there'll be 3,059,000 farms operating in the nation in 1968, down 3 percent from the 1967 total. The average 1968 farm, at 369 acres, will be 2.5 percent larger than in 1967 and 28 percent larger than the average farm in 1959. Texas with 195,000 farms leads the nation in farm numbers.

TEXAS MILK Production Up In Dec. — Milk production in Texas during December was up 6 percent over a year earlier. Production per cow averaged 690 pounds, up 82 pounds. For the nation, milk production for December was down 2 percent.

ARBOR DAY IN TEXAS — January 19 is Arbor Day in Texas. Gov. Connally in his proclamation urges all Texans, especially garden clubs, civic clubs and the public schools to observe the occasion by planting one of more trees.

CAREER OPPORTUNITIES In Agriculture — Too often there are more good employment openings than qualified people to fill them. In addition to farming and ranching, job opportunities in agribusiness include research, conservation, industry, business, education and communication. There are more than 500 distinct occupations in 8 major fields of agriculture. There are opportunities also for young people whose background does not include extensive farm or ranch experience.

One of the major aspects of U. S. efforts to halt Communist aggression in South Vietnam is our PL - 480 or Food for Peace program. In addition to the U.S. AID program in that country, more than $500 million in agricultural assistance is now being furnished in the form of rice and other food as well as technical assistance in better methods of farming, livestock and poultry raising.

Before the end of the first session of the 90th Congress, Representative W. R. Poage, Chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, authorized a trip for a committee delegation to the Republic of South Vietnam, Thailand and Japan for the purpose of looking into the operation of our agricultural programs in those countries. Six of us embarked from Washington, D. C. on January 2 and returned on January 13 just before the new session of Congress convened. I would like to report on what we learned during our tour which also included visits to a member of U. S. air bases, combat areas and an aircraft carrier. In the first of a series of reports, I would like to emphasize the importance of our technical agricultural assistance program in South Vietnam under which the U. S. Department of Agriculture has major responsibilities in cooperation with the government of South Vietnam in such areas as Provincial Agricultural Advisors; Credit and Cooperatives; Irrigation and Rural Engineering; Plant and Seed Multiplication; Forests; Statistics and Price Reporting and Agricultural Economics. Also, of course, Japan and Thailand are of great value to the success of our efforts in Southeast Asia. Japan, in fact, is now our largest cash customer of agricultural commodities and imports. This country has imported about $140 million a year in cotton alone, much of it produced in Texas. In 1967 alone, the U. S. furnished South Vietnam 800,000 tons of rice and an additional $180 million dollars worth of agricultural commodities have been donated to Vietnam, both directly from government-to-government, and through voluntary contributions to Vietnam, both directly from can assure you, after a visit in that country that there are many who are in real need of all the basic necessities of life including food. Under the pacification program, the residents of entire villages are moved from areas controlled or infiltrated by the Viet Cong and relocated in new areas where they are secure from enemy threats and intimidation. More than one million natives have been relocated and more than 750,000 more will be relocated this year. These people are being fed with U. S. PL - 480 food and housed in entire new villages built with U. S. assistance. This, the pacification program, is but one of the three phases of the war but a most important one. The others are the ground and air war in South Vietnam and our air and naval harassment of North Vietnam as well as the interdiction of supplies from North Vietnam to the South.

The South Vietnamese natives have lived in the most primitive conditions - no sanitation facilities, no roads, water from canals, and few, if any, medical facilities. Our people are now teaching them how to build such facilities, and we saw new schools and modest dispensaries. We met several agricultural advisors including graduates of Texas A & M and Oklahoma State University who were living with these villagers and improving their chance in life by teaching them new methods of raising food and ways to improve their diet with what they have. The villagers do not like the Viet Cong but have been intimidated through fear of death or dismemberment, and have lived with this fear most of their lives. The Viet Cong have demanded a share of the rice the natives raised and have stolen it as they pleased. It appears now that the villagers are beginning to have confidence in our troops and believe that we intend to stay and protect them from their tormentors. More and more of them will

Changes In Social Security Law Will Increase County Benefits

One of the changes in the social security law signed by President Johnson January 2 will mean a benefit increase of at least 13 percent in the social security checks of about 1,500 men, women and children in Deaf Smith County, according to Travis C. Briggs, district manager of the Amarillo social security office. Beneficiaries need not take any action to get the increase. It will be sent them automatically. Area residents can expect the first increased check on Saturday, March 2nd. Some social security beneficiaries will receive more than a 13 percent increase. The minimum benefit for workers retiring at 65 is increased from $44 to $55. The average benefit payable to a retired worker, about $86, will be raised to $98. The average couple's benefit, now $145, will go up to $165. The last increase in social security benefits amounted to 7 percent and was effective January 1965. About 3 out of every 10 beneficiaries receiving the increased check will be someone under 65, many the children of working fathers who have died.

Page Three
With the increased benefit payments provided, the face value of social security survivor's insurance protection is increased to $940 billion. Under the amended law, maximum payments to families now on the social security rolls will go up to $322.40 monthly. In the future, the maximum payable to anyone family can be as high as $434.40 monthly.

Talk of Texas

By JACK MAGUIRE

SET 'EM UP — Texas' most famous saloon, the Buckhorn, is gone from its original site at the corner of Houston and Flores Streets in San Antonio. It's still very much in business, however.

It has been one of the Alamo City's favorite attractions since Albert Friedrich built it before 1900. Originally it had no chairs because the owner didn't want customers to sit and sip. However, cowboys on well-behaved horses were welcome to ride through the swinging doors and up to the bar. There they sat in the saddle while tossing down the Buckhorn's best.

After national prohibition, the Buckhorn was turned into a curio store. Tourists continued to come to see the huge collection of animal horns displayed. Then, a few years ago, the site was bought for another business.

A San Antonio beer manufacturer saved the old saloon by buying it and moving the bar, horn collection and interior furnishings to his brewery. There the Buckhorn still welcomes visitors — and offers them a free draught of beer.

SOMETHING OLD, SOMETHING NEW — Cas County's courthouse looks as if it might have been built this year, but it is 109 years old.

At least some of it is. Construction began in 1859 and was completed in 1866. Through the years, it has had additions tacked on and was given a complete face-lifting after a 1933 fire. However, it remains the oldest courthouse in Texas being used for its original purpose.

HELP WANTED — Gillespie County is looking for somebody who's willing to furnish the money to build a replica of the world's first airplane.

No, it won't be a copy of the Wright brothers' plane. This one was built by Joseph Brodbeck, a Fredericksburg school teacher, and he flew it around the Texas Hill Country 35 years before the Wrights ever got off the ground at Kitty Hawk, North Carolina. Brodbeck's plane was demolished when he crashed it on one of his flights, but his original sketch of the plans turned up not long ago.

If somebody can be found who will finance the building of a full-scale replica of the first airplane that ever flew successfully, the Fredericksburg Chamber of Commerce would like to put it on permanent display.

HISTORY'S COVER-UP — It used to be that every unmarried girl was expected to have a "baker's dozen" of quilts in her hope chest before she could expect to marry.

The first 12 of the coverlets would be "pieced" and quilted by her and her friends starting about the time she entered her teens. However, the 13th quilt — to cover the bridal bed — wasn't even started until some swain had asked for her hand.

This was the signal for an engagement party which usually turned out to be an all-day quilting bee. Friends came from miles around to get the bridal cover completed in one day.

WHAT'S IN A NAME? — How many Texas towns have names that are coined by spelling a word backwards?

Sacul (Lucas) in Nacogdoches County is one. Reklaw (Walker) in Cherokee County is another. Do readers know of any others?

7 Million Vehicles To Be Registered

AUSTIN — State Highway Engineer J. C. Dingwall has announced that Texas will register approximately 7 million vehicles during 1968. "This is the largest number in our history," Dingwall said.

All 1968 Texas license plates have been delivered to the 254 County Tax Assessor-Collectors for issuance during February and March of 1968.

Of the estimated 7 million vehicles to be registered, the Texas Highway Department believes that 4.75 million will be passenger cars and 1.9 million will be commercial trucks and tractors. Trailers and motorcycles will account for the balance.

The most dramatic increase is expected in the motorcycle category, based on the past two years' experience. While passenger car and commercial truck registration will increase about 3½ percent, motorcycle registration is expected to increase 16 percent. This follows a 25 percent increase in motorcycles in 1966 over 1965 and another 17 percent increase last year.

Motor vehicle owners can avoid long lines by registering during the month of February, rather than waiting until the March rush.

Owners should bring four items to the Tax Collector's office when registering vehicles: certificate of title, 1967 license receipt, current resident address and zip code.

State law requires each owner to register his vehicle in the county in which he resides and to present his certificate of title as evidence of ownership.

During the 1967 session the Texas Legislature amended the Texas Registration Law by changing passenger car license fees and establishing a minimum fee of $5.30 for all vehicles, including boat trailers.

The new rates for passenger cars are as follows: up to 3,500 pounds, $12.30; 3,501 - 4,500 pounds, $22.30; 4,501 - 6,000 pounds, $32.30, and more than 6,000 pounds, 55 cents per 100 pounds.

Uncle Sam's Selective Service

Ignorance of the law excuses no one.

That is something everybody has heard, and it applies to a draft board's deliberations and actions, as well as to any other agency set up to administer public law.

The law makes it the responsibility of the individual to do everything that the law requires of him. The law requires him to do these things within a certain time limit. If he doesn't do them, he can lose privileges and rights given him under the law.

"It is the duty of every man registered with a draft board to be alert and protect his rights under the law," advises Colonel Morris S. Schwartz, state director of Selective Service.

"Certainly it is the moral responsibility of parents to have their sons make themselves aware of the necessity of complying with all provisions of and regulations," he says.

"It is too bad that some young men, their parents, and employers often sleep on their rights until it is too late, or extremely difficult under our regulations, to do anything about their cases," he says.

Colonel Schwartz says that sometimes young men, parents, and employers never request anything at a draft board until after an order to report for induction is issued.

Registered men, parents, and employers should begin to concern themselves about the Selective Service law and regulations immediately after men register. Colonel Schwartz points out.

The state draft director reminds all registrants, their parents, employers, public officials, and citizens in general that the doors of Texas draft boards are always open to tell the people how to get information and help with draft problems.

TAX MAN SAM SEZ:

Taxpayers who are retired have been given a number of extra benefits by Congress. The good tax folks tell us that many retired taxpayers fail to claim their retirement income credit on their tax return. Others fail to claim the additional exemption for being over 65, and finally, many taxpayers don't know that you may qualify for an additional retirement income credit in Texas due to the community property law. Be sure to read your instructions carefully so you will get all of the benefits Congress provided for you.

FOR GOD SO LOVED THE WORLD

Here are seekers after God. They are anxious and determined. They want in... will those doors open? Is it any use to knock? Jesus said, "ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find; knock, and it shall be opened to you." Big locks and heavy doors will break open to those of great faith. Your child and mine need God; they need His church. God said to Joshua, "as I was with Moses so I will be with Thee." "Maybe He's here?" He said, "Suffer little children, and forbid them not, to come unto me."

Caribbean islanders use every part of the coconut palm. Fronds thatch roofs; the waxy blossoms decorate homes; the nutshell converts to charcoal. The meat becomes oil and soap, the soft palm heart delights gourmets, and the wood makes fine paneling.

The word "salary" comes from ancient Rome. Soldiers were paid "salarium" or salt, a commodity precious enough to serve as money.

LET'S COOK SOMETHING

Old Cookbook Valued

By SUE COLEMAN WOMEN'S EDITOR
A cookbook came with the new kitchen range, a splendid piece of home equipment that gleamed with black polish and nickel trim and to the child's eyes of Betty Brooks was "the prettiest thing I'd ever seen" in her Arkansas home.

BETTY IS NOW Mrs. George Jowell of 800 E. Third, a teller at First National Bank, who still has that cookbook and uses many of its recipes as her mother did before her. Her mother used the stove, a Home Comfort Range, for many years, burning coal in the winter to help heat the house, but changing to wood in summer for a quick fire to cook a meal and then cool off.

The range had all the conveniences of its era. There was a 15-gallon water reservoir on the side to supply hot water for bathing or other purposes, a warming closet above, where youngsters coming home from school could always find a substantial snack of leftovers, and even an oven thermometer.

Mrs. Brooks didn't depend on the latter gadget; she would open the oven door and thrust a hand into the heat to determine whether the temperature was right for baking, as all efficient housewives could do at that time.

"WHEN ELECTRICITY was available, Papa bought an electric range and had it installed while Mama was away from home", Mrs. Jowell chuckles.

"But he wasn't too sure about it; he had the old stove set on the back porch, just in case." "Mama tried out the electric stove for about 10 days, then sure enough, she returned it and had her Home Comfort range put back in the kitchen".

Mrs. Jowell's father was a lumberman and she says she was "raised in a sawmill". She was employed in the J. C. Penney Co. store at Pampa when she married a member of one of Deaf Smith County's earliest pioneer families.

HER HUSBAND, George Ratliff Jowell, is the third of that name, which was borne by his father and grandfather. Their son is George Ratliff IV. They have a daughter, Mrs. Kay Kirkland, and there are three grandchildren whom they enjoy having nearby.

Betty Jowell likes preparing meals for the entire family, including various members of the Jowell clan who live in this area. Her big kitchen is a cheerful place to work and holds some of the antique furniture and accessories which she collects.

Big rooms are characteristic of the Jowell home, which is known as the old Pitman place, home of John D. Pitman's grandparents for a number of years. The Jowells chose it because they like its roominess and features which make it a perfect setting for the old furniture they have gathered.

SOME ARE family pieces, like the wall clock from Mrs. Jowell's childhood home and the bedroom pitcher which was among the items Jowell's mother began housekeeping with.

Others they have bought when they found something they liked; a sister who deals in antiques has helped Mrs. Jowell acquire many pieces, including the carnival glassware which is her especial interest.

The Jowells collect coins and have an old cash register shined and polished to new-metal luster, in which they keep a few of the souvenir coins. Betty Jowell also collects cookbooks, with the old Home Comfort book a star item.

As well as she likes cookery now, she and her sisters grew up without learning that household art at home - probably because their mother enjoyed cooking too well to spend time as a teacher. She learned in home ec classes at school, and credits her mother-in-law, another cook with a wide reputation, as her best teacher.

AMONG RECIPES in the Home Comfort cookbook, one of her favorites is for fried frog legs, not as useful here as it was in her former home where small creeks provided frogs as plentifully as fish. When she goes back there for visits, Mrs. Jowell makes a point of dining on fresh frog legs at least once. The old recipe begins with basic instructions:

Select fine fresh bullfrogs. Skin legs carefully, leaving the legs in pairs, cut off claws and place legs in fresh cold water until ready to use. Then put them in a bowl and marinate with 1 tb. each vinegar and salad oil, seasoned with salt and pepper.

Take out legs, dip them in frying batter and plunge them one at a time into hot deep fat.

Fry five minutes. Lift out and drain them on soft paper or cloth; dress them on a hot dish, on a folded napkin; garnish with parsley sprigs and serve with tartare or other sauce.

USED OFTEN is a recipe for molasses cake, which Mrs. Jowell's grandchildren like, as she did when a child, for its spicy fragrance and taste. Her mother used molasses made in a sawmill near their home, but the grocery-store variety will serve.

MOLASSES CAKE

- 1/2 cup brown sugar
- 1/2 cup butter
- 1/2 molasses
- 1/2 cup milk
- 2 cups flour
- 3 tsp. baking powder
- 1/4 tsp. soda
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1 tsp. mixed spices
- 1 egg

Cream butter and gradually cream in the sugar. Add molasses and beaten egg and mix well. Sift and measure flour, add baking powder, salt, soda and spices and resift together. Add flour and milk alternately to first mixture and mix well. Bake in a well-greased shallow pan in a moderate oven about 40 to 45 minutes. Serve while yet warm. Ice if desired.

Road Safety Knowledge Is Reviewed For NSA

Gaps in their knowledge of traffic regulations and highway safety rules were revealed to members of the Hereford Chapter, National Secretaries Association, in a program presented by two Department of Public Safety officers Monday evening.

Florence Robinson was in charge of the program at the REC Building and introduced the guests.

Ed Richards of the Amarillo DPS office showed a film titled Red Light Return, showing common violations of traffic safety rules, and the consequences.

Wayne Williams

Williams Gets Bank Promotion

Wayne Williams, an employee of the Hereford State Bank since 1948, has been made bank vice president and cashier by the Board of Directors.

Since joining the bank in 1948 as bookkeeper, Williams has been employed continuously by the bank except for a four-year tour with the United States Air Force from 1961 to 1965. He was made cashier in June, 1956. Williams is presently serving as a director and treasurer of the Deaf Smith County United Fund. He joined the bank upon graduation from Hereford High School in 1948.

In making the announcement, Harlan D. Vander Zee, president stated that "Wayne's ability and knowledge of banking procedures makes him an invaluable asset to the Hereford State Bank. He has seen this bank grow from the beginning to what it is today, and in many ways he is responsible for much of this growth. We are happy to have a part in this promotion, and are fortunate to have Wayne as a member of the Hereford State team."

Williams is a member of the First Methodist Church, and resides at 1815 Blevins.

CCA Secretary Is Club Speaker

Just preceding the first program brought to Hereford by the recently-organized Community Concert Association, El Llano Study Club had the association's secretary, Mrs. Joe Reinauer, as guest speaker for its Monday evening in Mrs. Ben Childers' home.

Mrs. Reinauer explained operation of Community Concerts and told of steps in forming the local organization. She said nationally known musicians, like Richard Leibert who is to play an organ concert here Saturday evening to open the concert season, are selected by the local board which considers suggestions of members as to preferred artists.

She asked El Llano Club members for suggestions on programs they would like to hear, and the program ended in a general discussion of possible future concerts for this city.

Members present were Mmes. Raymond White, R. C. Winget, Labry Ballard, Jim Bookout, Clyde Coleman, Olen Caviness, Fate Caviness, O. G. Hill Jr. and John Jacobsen Jr.

Showers Honor Carol Robbins

Miss Carol Robbins, who will marry Gene Duvall Friday in Frio Baptist Church, was honored at a lingerie shower Monday and at a miscellaneous shower Saturday, entertainments preceding the wedding.

School friends of the bride-to-be were guests at the lingerie shower in the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Sparkman Jr. Hostesses were Mrs. Tommy Sparkman, Mrs. Eugene Baldwin, and two friends who will attend Miss Robbins as bridesmaids, Miss Darlene Sparkman and Debbie Ogan.

The evening was spent casually in conversation. Spiced tea and cookies were served at a table appointed in blue and white, colors chosen for Miss Robbins' wedding.

The same colors were used in decorations for the Saturday shower at Frio Baptist Church parlor. The centerpiece of flowers and candles was a gift to the honoree from the hostesses. Miss Robbins dressed in white wool knit, had a corsage of white carnations tied in blue as did her mother, Mrs. Frank S. Robbins, and her fiance's mother, Mrs. M. G. Duvall.

Miss Sparkman and Miss Sharon Garrison, who is also to be a bridesmaid, served punch and cake. Miss Robbins' honor attendant will be her sister, Miss Genie Robbins.

Gift packages were opened at the party, after Mrs. Jack Rogers had read a poem and Mrs. Earl Harkins directed a game in which all the guests joined.

They were hostesses, with Mmes. Charles Self, Andy Axe, Clark Andrews, Donald Adams, Shirley Garrison, T. L. Sparkman Jr., Earl Cole and Floyd Cole.

Art Guild Picks '68-69 Officers

Headed by Mrs. Mark Schaffner as president, officers for the 1968-69 season were elected in Hereford Art Guild Tuesday evening. Mrs. Ben Childers was named vice president, Mrs. O. H. Culpepper secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Joe Wade publicity chairman.

They will be installed in May, at the close of the current season. Mrs. Schaffner will succeed Mrs. Hilrey Aven as president.

Mrs. O. Wertenberger presented the program Tuesday, basing her talk on selections from the Metropolitan Museum of Art Seminar. She chose three paintings to illustrate her talk, Oils Violin, by Harnett; Yellow Violin, by the modern artist Dufy, and the Baroque painting, Musical Forms.

She traced periods of painting from realism to abstract, with attention to expressionism, dramatic realism and mystic realism. Through all periods, she stressed, the artist has a story to tell through three means of expression: seeing, feeling and thinking.

Exhibiting artists for the evening were Mrs. Earl Holt and Mrs. Anna Kovacs; other members discussed paintings they displayed. Hostesses were Mmes. Ray Cowser, Victor Elliston and S. O. Wilson.

A citation received by Mrs. A. E. Guinn, the Guild vice president, from the John F. Kennedy Library was shown. It noted the recent painting of a portrait of the late president by Mrs. Guinn.

Mrs. C. P. Grimes was a guest. Other members attending were Mmes. Bess Werner, Jim Lipscomb, Ray Conaway, E. W. Young, N. D. Bartlett, Childers, Luther Norvell and Miss Lucille Park.

You may want to add a little almond extract to a confectioners sugar frosting that is going to cover an angelfood cake.

Celery seeds and dry mustard are excellent additions for an oil-and-vinegar dressing that is to be served with fruit salad.

Many torte recipes call for grated nuts. To prepare the nuts use a small rotary hand-operated nut grater.

Count on a pound of potatoes serving three or four persons.

Small Talk

By SUE COLEMAN
About the time we decide we'll never have another of those old-fashioned winter rains, here comes a genuine three-day damp spell, like that one over the weekend. I don't know anything that looks better to West Texans, no matter how dreary it is considered by people from other sections.
IT BRINGS OUT broad smiles, along with rusty raincoats and cobwebbed rubber shoes which haven't been used in quite a while. Some people do have smart-looking rainwear, but most of us figure we'll never get our money's worth from it so we get by with an inexpensive (well, downright cheap) plastic coat and headcover.

A gold paisley-printed raincoat and umbrella to match splashed up Main Street ahead of me Monday, but I couldn't overtake the owner to see who was so attractively dressed for the rain. Most umbrellas were of a more plain-and-practical cast, like the black ones held by a couple of nuns who walked purposefully across the street.

Sunday afternoon I saw a raincoat with four eels — at least that was how it looked until it was close enough to see details. Apparently a small girl was walking behind the taller one who wore the coat, covered entirely with the garment and keeping step with her host.

SOME DOWNSTATE relatives who live in a college town tell me that umbrellas are quite in style now, after years in which a fashionable person would just go ahead and drown rather than carry one.

Not just gay-patterned ones for women, but English-style black umbrellas for men pop out over the campuses and nearby streets whenever it rains now, they say.
TWO-IN-A-ROW banquets, each for about 700 diners, gave facilities at the County Bull Barn a workout last week and proved again its adaptability. Reporters covering the banquets weren't the only people who worked on both of them.
A lot of the people who not only attended, but did some of the work of preparing for the Chamber of Commerce banquet Thursday were back at the Bull Barn Friday when Camp Fire Girls entertained their fathers at a dinner. A good many of their mothers were in the background, seeing that it ran smoothly.

"We're professional volunteers", explained Nicki Dameron and I think she had found herself an apt phrase.
An indication that there may have been a bit of strain involved, came when I heard Mary Thomas after the Thursday banquet asking a group if someone had a round cardboard box that might be used to make an Indian drum for the Friday program.
She cheerfully admitted that

4-H News
Merry Maidens 4-H Club had a lesson on courtesy in a talk by Rita Huckert, assistant county agent, at a recent meeting in Community Center. Dorothy Marnell gave a demonstration on Money Management.
Jane Witkowski presided and it was a last-minute way of getting her assignment done, while Wilma Baugous murmured something about having thought she was the only one who operated like that. I can tell her that not even the two of them are the only ones.

Time Changed By Optimist Club
In a board meeting Jan. 15, The Optimist Club voted to change their regularly scheduled noon luncheon to a breakfast club. The club will meet every Thursday morning from 6:30 to 7:30 a. m. beginning Feb. 1.
It has also been recently announced by the club that it will hold its annual Boy's Oratorical Contest some time in late March or early April. Schools to be entered in this contest include La Plata, Stanton, and St. Anthony's Catholic.
Anita Warren served as hostess. Also present were Cindy Fuller, Christine Marnell, Mary Kay Wagner and the leaders, Mrs. Leo Witkowski and Mrs. F. A. Marnell.

Skis were used in 1200 A. D. by Norwegian troops at the Battle of Oslo.
