Candidates for the Hereford School Board of Education places four and five were in the classroom again Monday evening not as students, but as the center of attention for teachers who heard their political positions and asked questions on their viewpoints.

It was at the March meeting of the Hereford unit of the Texas Classroom Teachers' Association (TCTA) in the music room of Bluebonnet Elementary School. Before a full room of teachers and administrators, Pat Robbins, Bill Kester and Mrs. Salie Strain in place 5 and Alex Schroeter in Place 4 reviewed their limited platforms and answered rather direct questions concerning their candidacies.

Number six was the lucky position for Delfine Ulibarri and Michelle Moore, who were crowned Miss Hereford and Miss Teen Hereford, respectively, during the annual pageant Saturday evening in Hereford High School auditorium.

In her final act as Miss Hereford 1975, Monica Herring placed a sheath of roses in the arms of Miss Ulibarri, signifying the transfer of the local title. The new queen, who was awarded a $500 scholarship by the Chamber of Commerce Women's Division, will carry the Hereford banner to the Miss Texas Pageant at Fort Worth this summer. She is the 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hilario "Larry" Ulibarri, 401 Ave. E.

Miss Moore, who received the Miss Teen title from Donna Kendall, earned a $100 scholarship and the honor to serve jointly as Miss Bicentennial. A senior at Hereford High School, she was first runner-up for the Teen title at last year's pageant. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. J.J. Moore, Highway 60 West.

A $300 scholarship was bestowed upon Melinda Watts, first runner-up for the Miss Hereford crown. Should the reigning Miss Hereford be unable to complete her term, Miss Watts would be automatic successor. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Watts of 308 Star.

Lisa Lyles, Miss Hereford second runner-up, was awarded a $100 scholarship. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Lyles, 127 Liveoak.

Walcott, County School Board Candidates File

Candidates for the Deaf Smith County School Board and the Walcott School board have officially filed for office.

The county board, which meets quarterly during the year, has two open spots. Filing for county precinct three was Lloyd Brown, incumbent, and Vernon Inmon filed for the at-large position. He was incumbent for the member-at-large spot.

Other members of the county board are L.J. Straffuss, Precinct four; Robert Strain, precinct one; and Grant Hanna, precinct two.

Filing for the Walcott board positions were Layton Sawyer and Bill White. No specific places exist on the board.

Members of the Walcott board are Earnest Brown, Gene Bradley, Bill Page, Willis Duggan, Richard Fortenberry, Sawyer and Elmo Hall. Hall is not seeking re-election and White will be a new board member.

The County school board election will be held April 3 in the County Commissioners' courtroom on the second floor of the courthouse.

The Walcott election is set for 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. April 3 at the Walcott School.

County Okays Tennis Contract, Discusses Senior Citizen Request

The joint tennis court complex at the Hereford high school was finally approved, a mower bid for precinct four was selected and accepted, and action was tabled on fund requests for the county Senior Citizens organization by the Deaf Smith County Commissioners' Court at a regular meeting at the courthouse Monday.

The commissioners also decided to postpone an agenda item for a water way easement near the Wildorado community, reviewed the monthly fire report, tabled appointments to the Deaf Smith County Hospital District board of directors, and approved county bills during the rather routine meeting.

REPRESENTING THE SENIOR CITIZENS was Mrs. J.T. Guinn, president. Although not scheduled on the agenda, she updated the commissioners on the progress to renovate two rooms in old Central School for their use. The Commissioners' Court had set aside about $10,000 in their budget for the organization from revenue sharing money received from the federal government.

Mrs. Guinn said although she figured in more than could be received from the county, "everything was necessary." Included in her request were materials and labor for reconditioning the rooms such as paneling, painting, carpeting, and restructuring the restrooms for men and women as well as interior furnishings such as playing tables, chairs, coffee bar and other furniture.

County Judge Sam Morgan said that the county could only afford about the cost of refurbishing the rooms and probably not the furnishings. The cost figured by Mrs. Guinn for the construction and furniture was about $8,900 from which she said 10 per cent would be subtracted as well as another $200 for lights.

The county already has to pay (from the Revenue Sharing Amount) about $1,000 for the county share of a bill to rewire the old Central School.

Commissioner Bruce Coleman suggested that grants from the Panhandle Regional planning Commission (PRPC) be investigated for possible funding of the project. However, this takes about a year of red tape processing and the commissioners were interested in letting the senior citizens proceed as soon as possible.

After checking specific prices on reconstruction costs, which were not yet available, the court asked Mrs. Guinn to meet with them in two weeks for a final answer.

COMMISSIONER JAMES VOYLES, precinct four, reviewed two bids for a mower and shredder, and recommended that the $3,275 bid from White Implement be accepted, which it was. It is the difference on a trade-in of a tractor and mower for a John Deere mower.

The only other bid submitted was from Davis Implement for $3,978, which did not specifically include a trade-in allowance.

A unanimous vote was taken to approve and sign the joint construction, maintenance and use contract with the

School Board Updates Insurance on Buildings

BY BOBBY TEMPLETON
Brand News Editor

The Hereford School Board of Education agreed to increase its insurance coverage to current valuations of buildings, approved textbook adoptions and accepted all teachers for annual one-year contract extensions after a lengthy executive session at a regular meeting of the board Tuesday night.

Also discussed in closed session were possible alternatives to paving Seminole Street along with realtor Tommy Carnahan, who is building four houses along the deadend street. He had asked the board to join him in a paving project including curb and gutter for both sides since the school district owns the property opposite his. The school district property is adjoining the campus of Bluebonnet Elementary School.

THE BOARD ALSO heard a presentation by counselor Tom Templeton and Mildred Todd on the elementary school counseling programs, heard an update on the Title IX (sex discrimination) committee work, considered a report on the Coop Drug Education Program, set run-off election dates, approved a resolution for paying Bill McMorries for the reappraisal project, discussed the tennis complex construction, and appointed representatives on the Board of Equalization.

Unanimously accepted to the board of equalization were Frank Zinser, Bill Davis and Troys Carmichael. Zinser has served four years and Davis has served three years.

Bud Eades, representing Plains Insurance Agency, told the board it could save about $2,500 a year by accepting a $5,000 deductible policy, but that it should bring insurance coverage on all buildings up to present day appraised values. He appraises the building yearly in accordance with the policy and recommends an adjustment as necessary. The district has an 80 per cent

Three REC Directors Named At Annual Meeting

Elected as directors for Deaf Smith Rural Electric Cooperative Saturday are (L-R), Sloan H. Osborn for Parmer County, Noel Gollehon for Castro County, and Clark Andrews for Deaf Smith County.

BY LAVON NIEMAN
BRAND STAFF WRITER

Capital refunds totalling $217,588.25 were returned to members of the Deaf Smith Rural Electric Cooperative during a gathering of an estimated 1,300 persons attending the organization's 38th annual membership meeting held at the Bull Barn Saturday. The refunds were made to members who purchased electricity during 1963.

Earnest Langley, lawyer for Deaf Smith REC, directed the business meeting for president Sloan Osborn. Following a report by secretary Tom Draper, an election of three directors was held.

Clark Andrews, who farms in the Frio Community south of Hereford, won the position of Deaf Smith County director over veteran Tom Draper, who held the post for the past 25 years and served as secretary-treasurer over 20 of those years.

Sloan H. Osborn, was re-elected as Parmer County director over Floyd Reeve and Noel Gollehon was re-elected for Castro County over Donald Wright.

Various drawings for door prizes were held throughout the meeting which started at 5 p.m. with a free barbecue dinner served by the Catholic Daughters of Nazareth.

Highlight of the drawings was an all-expense-paid trip for two which includes accommodations for six days and five nights in Acapulco. Winner of this trip was Laurence Brorman of Rt. 1, Hereford.

James Hull, manager for the cooperative, reviewed the history of rural electrification by reminding the members that back in 1934 rural America was still dark, with only one farm out of every 10 with electricity. He said that President Roosevelt signed an executive order in 1935 creating the Rural Electrification Administration. Then in 1937, leaders of this area founded Deaf Smith Electric Cooperative.

"Today your cooperative owns some 3,000 miles of electric line, (about 45 percent 3-phase line) and 11 substations, has service to about 7800 electric meters, and employs full time, about 52 people, all specialists in their field," Hull said.

"Our electric plant is an investment of over $14 million, and is predicted by our engineer, by 1986 to have an electric plant worth $60 million."

He answered a question on the future availability of electric power. He said the members that the REC's power is purchased from Southwestern Public Service Co. "At the present time, it is generated 100 percent with gas. Public Service has requested us to limit our growth to 6 1/2 percent per year from now through 1981. As long as the electric growth of this area is orderly and steady, we will continue to serve your electric needs," Hull went on to report.

"On electric rates, we anticipate around an 8 percent increase in our electric base rate between now and Sept. 1. Beginning Sept. 1, our electric rate will be set and controlled by the new Public Utility Commission," Hull said.

"The fuel cost adjustment clause is a fairly new problem to us. It was started in January of 1973, as nothing, and has grown now to about 9 mills or 9/10ths of one cent for every KWH sold. This is simply a pass through of increased gas costs, from the gas companies to SWPS to us, and on to you, the consumer. It is something we do not make any money off nor have any control over. We think the fuel adjustment charge will continue to rise." We have projected it from 9 mills today to 22 mills or 2.2 cents by 1985. South Texas has already reached this level.

Comparing this coop to others in the area, Hull noted, "On our residential or house electric rates, there are 18 cooperatives in Texas with lower rates, but there are 55 with higher residential rates. I believe we are about the lowest in the state on our irrigation rate. Comparing power failure with other cooperatives in the United States, the average is five hours of power failure per year. Our average outage time at Deaf Smith REC during 1975 was 2 hours and 15 minutes."

On capital credit payments Hull explained that Saturday's capital credit checks totalled nearly $218,000. The cooperative has missed only one year paying capital credits since it was started and he assured the crowd that they plan to continue them if at all possible.

Earnest Langley, right makes the announcement at the Deaf Smith REC annual meeting Saturday that Laurence Brorman of Rt. 1, Hereford has won an all-expense-paid trip for two to Acapulco.

situation as last year when eight candidates in three contested races appeared before the TCTA members and touched on some controversial issues.

Schroeter, who is uncontested in his race except for write-in votes, said in his opening statement that the school board should be public relations oriented and felt like he was qualified to work on the school board in financial matters due to his experience as a certified public accountant.

Kester, owner of Kester's Jewelry store, said he was not running against anyone and that it was a risk for any businessman to seek office because business could be lost due to the stands, he or she takes on issues. Also, he feels a wider range of occupations should be on the board.

Mrs. Strain, a former teacher, said she was irritated at the apathy of the electorate and filed for office to end "the wait and see game" being played by the candidates.

"I feel there is place for a woman on the school board because she is more in touch with the school system since she is more in touch with her children," she said.

Robbins, a farmer in Castro County, said he too was not running on any specific issue. "I'll wait until I am in a position to see both sides of a question."

One teacher asked why three candidates were in one position and only one in the other. Mrs. Strain answered first saying that when she finally decided to run, place 5 was the only remaining open spot and "I certainly wasn't going to run against Alex Schroeter."

Robbins, who filed third, said he liked Alex and didn't want to file against him. So he picked the other place because he hadn't known Mrs. Strain.

Kester filed in place 5 because, "I hoped Ron Zimmerman would run again and I told him that if he didn't, I would run in that place. I decided to seek that position earlier and stuck with it."

When asked about their opinions on the key issues of the campaign, Schroeter said, "The tax problem is the single biggest issue."

Mrs. Strain felt the best of the use of the tax dollar was her prime consideration. Kester had said in his opening statement that the school system could improve its financial structure so taxes won't be so high.

ROBBINS AND KESTER again agreed that they didn't know all the issues and facts about them and therefore would have to wait until they were on the board to make decisions on them.

Merit pay for teachers was questioned and all had varying ideas. Mrs. Strain said it was already here with coaches; Kester didn't know who would rate the teachers fairly even though the deserving ones should get it; and Robbins didn't see how it would work in the school system.

Each also was asked about Speaker of the House Bill Clayton's idea to drop the schools down to 11 grades to save money. All didn't think the idea was appropriate as the students would be turned loose too early without the proper educational foundation and maturity.

Robbins said those that wanted to graduate in 11 years anyway could do so.

AN ISSUE FROM LAST YEAR'S campaign was teacher-school board member communication. It was asked what the candidates would do to find out what was going on in the school system besides the knowledge they received from administrators at school board meetings.

Kester said he would communicate with the people in the community, teachers and those he was told knew the facts of a particular situation.

Robbins said he would feel free to talk to teachers.

Schroeter felt a receptive attitude with the rank and file person was important. Mrs. Strain said board members would be informed if they generally had an open awareness to the system activities.

Teachers present agreed the issue was touchy but that specific situations involving the staff or students would be handled through administrative channels. Several thought they would answer questions of school board members directly if asked about school programs or problems.

The next meeting of the candidates is set for March 15 when they will appear before the Parent-Teacher-Student Organization (PTSO).

city and school district for the 8-court tennis complex which has already been completed at the high school. It was delayed because the city and schools reworded a portion of the contract in reference to the use of the courts after school hours and during the summer.

The commissioners have the authority to appoint hospital board members and must fill three positions on it by April. Members of the six-person board whose terms are expiring include Mrs. Wanda Hoover, L.J. Straffuss, president, and Frank Zinser. Respectively they have served 10, four and two years. Terms are for two years.

CONSIDERATION HAS BEEN GIVEN to appointing a broader range of membership including possibly a lawyer or a businessman, but commissioners desired to wait before deciding on the appointments. The matter was tabled until the next regular meeting on Monday, March 22.

Other members now on the board are H.A. (Hap) Cavness, Isaias Gamez, and Tommy Carnahan.

A water way easement had been requested by Ben Moore across a county road for a project by Oldham County, but no representatives were present and so action was postponed.

Bill Albright, executive vice president of the Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce was scheduled to request use of the Bull Barn; but he was not able to be present.

The monthly fire report from the city listed 41 blazes including 25 city fires and 16 county fires. A total of 10 grass fires were recorded and two out-of-county fires.

Commissioner Austin Rose Jr. reported that he and Voyles had received a 1964 ambulance from the Air Force at Wichita Falls and that it was available for use here in the county possibly by the Sheriff's Department. It is an excess military vehicle and was retrieved at no expense to the county provided it is used.

The PRPC arranged for the Dodge power wagon based on its need by the sheriff. Commissioners adjourned from the meeting to inspect the vehicle. No decisions were reached on its use.

All Commissioners except Earl Holt were present.

Dwyer To Perform In Neil Simon Play

Archie Dwyer of Hereford is featured as one of the ex-vaudeville team of "Lewis and Clark" in Neil Simon's "The Sunshine Boys," opening March 12 at Amarillo Little Theatre.

Additional performances are scheduled for March 13, 19, 20, 21, 25, 26, and 27. Curtain time is 8:15 p.m. except for the March 21 matinee at 2:30 p.m. Reservations may be made at the ALT Box Office, 2019 Civic Circle.

Dwyer has been active in community theatre in Hereford where he appeared in "Dial M for Murder" and "Any Wednesday." He is employed with the Hereford Plant of the Armour Company and is President of the Deaf Smith County Heart Association.

He and his wife, Jo Ann, are Youth Co-ordinators for the First United Methodist Church of Hereford. Mrs. Dwyer is executive director of Big Brothers - Big Sisters of Hereford, Inc.

"The Sunshine Boys," one of Neil Simon's funniest and warmest comedies. An ex-vaudeville team, Al Lewis and Willie Clark have a natural dislike for one another, in spite of playing together for over forty years. Willie resents Al's habit of poking a finger in his chest, or perhaps accidentally spitting in his face.

It has been 11 years since they have performed together when along comes CBS-TV with a "History of Comedy" special. This will of course include Willie and Al-The "Lewis and Clark" team back together again.

In the meantime, Willie has been doing spot commercials, while Al is happily retired. The team gets back together again, only to have Al poke his finger in Willie's chest, and accidentally spit in his face.

After reviewing losses covered by insurance over the past five years, the board felt a savings would be beneficial by accepting the deductible provision. It was accepted.

The textbook adoptions were for first grade spelling books and first and second grade math books. The adoption was the routine acceptance of the local textbook adoption committee's recommendation.

Roy Hartman, superintendent said it was the first time that he can remember that not all books requested throughout the state were not approved because the state legislature did not appropriate enough funds.

CONTRACT EXTENSIONS for all teachers were accepted after principals visited with the board in executive session as allowed under the open meetings law. Except for internal teaching assignments of teachers, all personnel were approved.

Carnahan explained that the cost of the paving for about 304 front feet on Seminole, would run $3,027.84 each for the district and himself. This would include curb and gutter and paving.

However, he said the district might want to pave the complete side of the street (cost-about $4,000) they adjoin to prevent cars from driving on the Bluebonnet School playing area. Action was tabled until a suitable arrangement can be decided.

The resolution for paying McMorries was accepted unanimously. It involves signing a $16,884.56 promissory note at seven per cent interest, which accumulated will amount to what the district owes for the reappraisal project for the current year. It is to facilitate McMorries' payment of his workers.

Jim Holmes, administrative assistant, said the Title IX committee met extensively and tentatively suggests that golf and basketball for girls be added or deletion of the program all together. Also recommended was that the current after school athletic program for elementary boys be deleted.

The school system must comply with the Title IX regulations for elementary school by the summer. Elementary School assistant principals presently have an hour program for the boys after school and that adding girls to it would probably not be worth the effort. No action was taken.

THE DATE FOR THE RUN-OFF election was set for April 24 to allow enough time for bilingual ballots to be mailed from Austin. Also the board decided to reschedule the April meeting to 4 p.m. Wednesday April 7.

The elementary counseling program concentrates on eight through 12 year-olds. Templeton said the emphasis of the program is to get kids to interact and create a positive attitude about their self images. A special kit called Toward Effective Development is used to perform exercises designed to get the student's attention and teach him or her to think positively.

Irrigation Farmers Told Efficiency Essential

BY JIM STEIERT
Brand Farm Editor

Hereford area irrigation farmers and agribusinessmen were reminded of the importance of efficient pump unit operation procedures during the High Plains Irrigation Conference held at the Bull Barn Tuesday.

A CROWD of approximately 100 agriculturalists attended the program, which was sponsored by the Deaf Smith County Water Association, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce and the Panhandle Economic Program.

Don Smith, geologist with the High Plains Underground Water District No. 1 in Lubbock, led off the day's program by telling those in attendance that there is "no good news on the availability of groundwater supplies, and those areas with the greatest saturations of groundwater are also those that pump the greatest amount of water. He added that, as a consequence of the overall pumping, "weak water" areas will continue to expand.

There is some water available in the Santa Rosa formation, but it would cost a producer about $60,000 to put a well in. A well would probably produce 400 gallons of water per minute at best, and growers would face a high sodium hazard, with the sodium in the water sealing the soil eventually. Such wells would be 800 feet deep or more," explained Smith.

Smith also spoke on installation of sand screens in wells and pointed out that a properly installed screen should insure that the well operates free of sand, once development is completed.

THE ENGINEER indicated that a pumping test tells the static water level, and helps determine a well's optimum pumping rate. He encouraged growers to strive for a 75 per cent pump efficiency rating.

Charles Schlabs of Hereford, chairman of the Deaf Smith County Water Association, spoke on irrigation research on his own farm.

He told those in attendance that growers should know what their well capacity potential is, and install pumping equipment compatible with sand free water production.

"IT CERTAINLY pays to use a flow meter, so that you can find out what is available from your wells," commented Schlabs.

Darrell Watts, extension irrigation engineer from the University of Nebraska at North Platte spoke on procedures for efficient row and center pivot irrigation.

Using graphs to illustrate his presentation, Watts indicated that farmers in his own state often apply far more irrigation water than is necessary for efficient crop production, and told growers that the same is probably true of the majority of irrigators in the Texas Panhandle.

"During the initial irrigation of the season, we often find that six inches of water or more is applied to the crop, when only three inches is needed," Watts indicated.

HE POINTED OUT that an ideal surface water system involved rapid and uniform water advance through the field, utilization of a tailwater pit to return runoff water, and application of irrigation based on moisture deficit in the crop root zone.

According to the engineer, uneven irrigation in the local area, as well as in Nebraska, is often due to utilization of a furrow stream which is too small.

Watts indicated that farmers could save both fuel and water through better furrow preparation prior to the first irrigation.

SPEAKING ON CENTER pivot irrigation systems, which are becoming increasingly popular in many areas, Watts indicated that the systems often provide a tool for precise water control, but require careful management.

"There is a high cost factor associated with such systems, and if a man converts to such a system, his hair will probably stand on end the first time he receives a bill for the power they require. A grower is dealing with a great deal more water pressure with one of these systems, and costs can be a great deal higher than under flood-type irrigation. It takes a good deal of understanding to know how to properly apply irrigation with center pivot systems, and they are no better than the man operating them," he concluded.

Other speakers included during the day's program were Joe Harbin, member services director of the Bailey County Electric Cooperative in Muleshoe, who spoke on news from a pump test and J.K. Childress, district manager of the FMC Corporation of Plainview, who spoke on methods and procedures of improving existing pumps.

Moderator for the morning session of the program was Justin McBride, Deaf Smith County extension agent. Leon New, agricultural irrigation engineer from Lubbock served as moderator for the afternoon session.

The younger division pageant was held Saturday afternoon at the high school with Mrs. John Richard Sparks of Amarillo acting as mistress of ceremonies.

"Old Glory" was the Bicentennial theme of the gala pageant, which was rounded out by Judy Mallett Cureton, Miss Texas 1973. She introduced visiting beauty queens, who included Miss Wayland College Danetta Williams, and Miss WTSU Cheryl Stricker.

Special entertainment was provided by Susie Hickman Thornberg, Miss Hereford 1974, who sang "I'm A Yankee Doodle Dandee." Also making a return appearance on the local stage was another former Miss Hereford, Sherry Whate Talley of Phillips.

Appreciation was expressed to Mrs. J.W. Robinson for her service as coordinator of the pageant and to Mrs. Terry Caviness and Mrs. Dwight McGee, co-directors of the production.

14 From Deaf Smith Attend Texas Congressional Dinner

Chamber Group Takes Ag Message to Congress

BY SPEEDY NIEMAN
Publisher-Editor

Fourteen members of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce were in Washington, D.C. Monday to attend the annual West Texas C of C Texas Congressional Dinner, but more importantly they had appointments with agricultural officials and Congressmen to discuss the critical cost of production-market price squeeze in which farmers and ranchers find themselves.

Donald Hicks, C of C president, and Bill Albright, executive vice president, headed the local delegation which also included Cecil Oglesby, Earl Holt, Marsh Pitman, Pitts Harrison, G.W. Simmons, Speedy Nieman, Mr. and Mrs. David Hutchins, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Cleavenger of Wildorado, Mrs. Albright, and Raymond Thompson of Vega.

The group carried a list of six recommendations for improving the ag situation and encouraging peak food production, and Albright had prepared information and fact sheets to be personally handed to Congressmen, or their aides, and to other government officials.

The recommendations suggested by Deaf Smith C of C: (1) Establish reasonable target prices for commodities, (2) Eliminate government interference in foreign markets, (3) Encourage a strong program to insure the importation of water to West Texas and eastern New Mexico, (4) Attempt to equalize the cost of natural gas, (5) Continue the current grading and weighing system of food and feed grains, and (6) Actively support the Burleson Bill (HR-1793) in reference to the Federal Estate and Gift Taxes.

The Hereford group found a sympathetic ear in almost every office visited, but officials were frank in saying that there were no easy solutions to the problems. Several administration officials stated they felt there was no immediate relief in sight but they were optimistic about the long-range view.

Albright, on returning to Hereford Wednesday morning, said he felt the trip resulted in "a great exchange of information and helped foster better understanding." He added that Congressmen George Mahon, and others, were "impressed with the size and divergent representation of occupations of the group from Hereford."

Mahon pointed out that Hereford had businessmen and farmers together in the group, "showing progressiveness and understanding among the folks of the community." He added that "we really don't see much of that in Washington."

Hicks, as well as other members of the group from Hereford, commended the work of Albright in arranging appointments in Washington and having the local representatives talk with as many officials as possible. "There was a note of sadness during the day, because of the death of Congressman Wright Patman," noted Hicks, "but we still had a full schedule Monday."

The Texas Congressional Dinner, sponsored by the West Texas C of C, was held Monday night after Mrs. Patman insisted that the event not be cancelled. Mahon said Mrs. Patman expressed a wish that it be held because she knew her husband would have wanted it that way.

The dinner was attended by 19 of the 26 members of the Texas Congressional delegation. J. Fike Godfrey, executive vice president of the WTCC, served as master of ceremonies. The chambers from West Texas presented gifts to wives of the Congressmen, and a special gift from Hereford were the steaks served at the dinner. These were courtesy of Pitman Industries.

The Deaf Smith C of C also presented candles to each of the ladies, courtesy of Sunset Candles, and one Congressman's wife was the lucky winner of a coordinated sportswear outfit from Sue Anna, Inc. of Hereford. A number of other gifts were presented from other West Texas cities.

The dinner was an informal affair with about 120 in attendance—an estimated 70 persons representing the West Texas C of C. Congressman Mahon led a Congressional song-leading team as the group closed the dinner with a sing-song. "Star" performers included Sen. John Tower, Congresswoman Barbara Jordan, and Congressmen Jim Wright and Jake Pickle.

The Hereford group had a busy day Monday, beginning with a West Texas breakfast, where William J. Baroody Jr., assistant to the President for Public Liaison, spoke on "How to be Heard by President Ford." The group then met with Congressman Mahon and saw a brief convening of the House of Representatives, before starting a continuous round of meetings with officials on "The Hill."

All of the Hereford group met with James Plack, State Department Director of Food Policy, and assistant secretary Richard Bell, U.S. Department of Agriculture. The local delegation split into groups of four or five to meet with a number of Congressmen, their aides, or other officials. One group met with Paul Leach, a member of the President's Domestic Council.

Several officials were frank in stating that there was not much backing for farm price supports. While the local group realized this, they countered with a suggestion that the government stop interfering with farm policies. They pointed out that farm commodities seemed to be used as a "diplomatic tool" by the State Department.

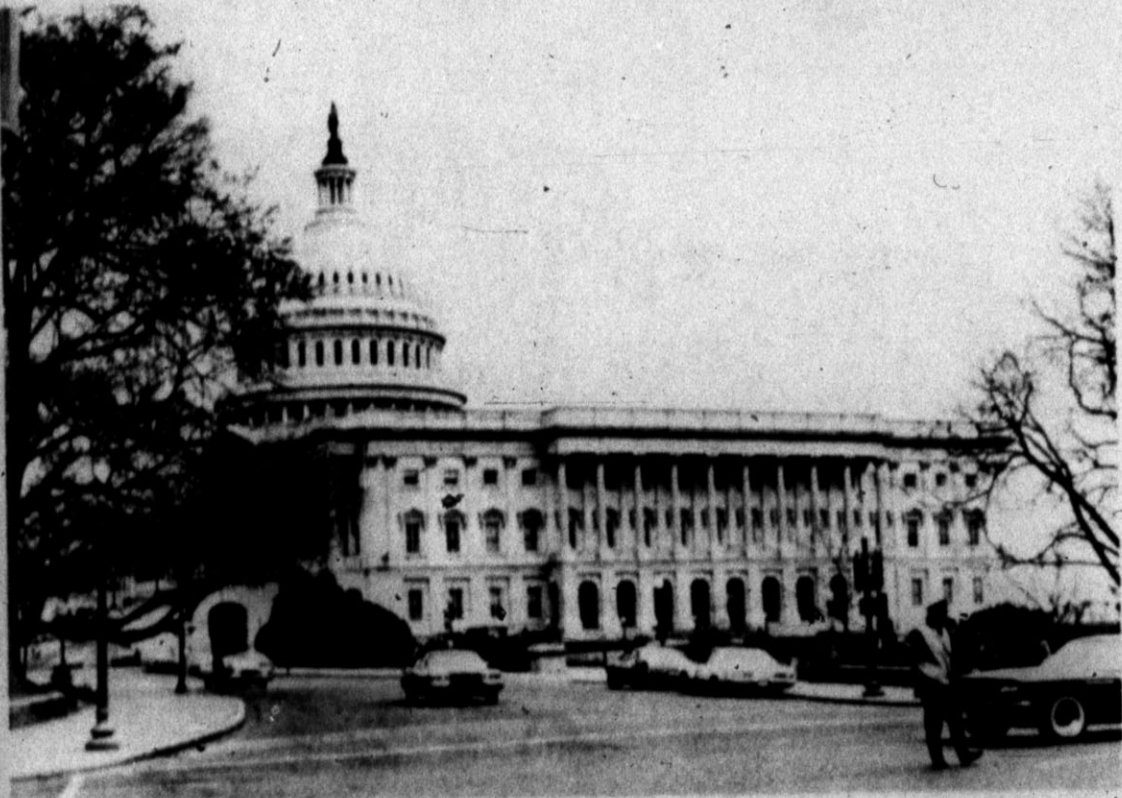

Albright, and others in the group, took the message that a serious financial crisis was taking place in agricultural operations. They pointed to an alarming number of high producing farmers who have not been able to meet their loan obligations at the bank for the first time in many years.

The facts and figures also included the increase in costs of combines and tractors, and the critical situation in this area on the huge increase in cost of natural gas for irrigation. At the same time, they pointed out the price of wheat has fallen from $5 a bushel in 1973 to $3.25 in 1976.

The presentation also included facts on the fed cattle market, where losses of $50 a head were reported in recent months. The Deaf Smith group pointed out the situation "is aided and abetted by such disservice as permitting the import of beef over the trigger point of voluntary restraint levels."

While the visit was short and no specific solutions were forthcoming, the local representatives were in agreement that the trip was worthwhile and that, perhaps, more such contacts with our legislators and government officials are a necessity.

YMCA Receives Charter, Progresses Well Rotarians Told

Leslie Odell Price

W.H. McGregor

The state charter from the state for the "Hereford and Vicinity YMCA Inc. has been received, Bill Johnson, temporary chairman of the YMCA board, said to the Hereford Rotary Club at a noon luncheon Monday at the Civic Club Center.

He reported that between $8,000 and $10,000 was in the bank toward financing a YMCA program here for at least two years. "We have a goal of about $60,000 for a two-year program centered around existing facilities," he said.

"Everytime someone says YMCA, people think of a building. But you need a program first and that's what were trying to get," Johnson explained. The temporary board will become permanent at a noon meeting today at the Hereford Country Club when a permanent board and officers will be decided.

He said the original steering committee visited Dumas several times to get ideas for a program here which might include handball, volleyball, weight lifting, and just about any sport of interest to the membership. As a non-profit organization, the Hereford YMCA is presently accepting donations although a formal fund raising drive may not begin until April 1.

Johnson said a personnel committee has been decided and its task is to survey resumes for a director to coordinate programs once the program gets underway. Other committees include finance and membership.

The Y will hopefully be a self sustaining organization through membership dues of varying categories. The cost now being discussed is around $50 or $75 a family. "The YMCA in Dumas is United Way agency but we would rather not be one here if we can help it," he said. Eventually, it may be possible to acquire a building like Dumas was able to do when it bought a National Guard Armory for $18,000, he added.

Especially emphasized was the fact that the "YMCA" was not just a man's organization but would be inclusive of women and children. "Everyone is always saying that we need something for the kids, but we don't have anything for adults yet," he said. "We need something for everyone, but it is the adults who will have to pay for it since kids aren't always that stable."

The Rotarians were reminded that the club is serving the barbecue at the join clubs meeting on the evening of Thursday, April 1. All Hereford Clubs are skipping their regular weekly meetings that week to attend the joint one.

Proceeds from it will go primarily to the Opportunity Plan at West Texas State University which provides scholarships for students.

Foundation Honors WT Chamber

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce has been named the recipient of The George Washington Honor Medal by Freedom's Foundation of Valley Forge, Pennsylvania. This coveted award was presented in the Community Programs Category for the WTCC educational program. "Profits Create Jobs".

The program was publicized throughout West Texas by radio and television spots, newspaper features stories and editorials, on bill boards and by speeches made by officers of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. Since 1949, Freedom's Foundation has annually recognized individuals, schools and organizations for constructive words and actions supporting American principles, contributing a good citizenship and offering solutions to contemporary problems.

The recipients were selected by an independent National Awards Jury which convened in December, 1975 at the Foundation's Valley Forge headquarters. Chaired by the Hon. Rodney M. Guthrie, Chief Justice of Wyoming, the panel consisted of four other State Supreme Court Justices and 20 leaders of national civic, service clubs and veterans organizations.

REC Youth Tour Winners Named

Two Friona High School youths were named winners of the Rural Electric Youth Tour contest held Tuesday night in the Medallion Room of Deaf Smith Electric Cooperative. The annual contest was sponsored by the REC.

Winners were Phillip Hand and Lisa Edelman. Named alternates by three judges were Rose Valdez of Hereford and Dale Acker of Nazareth.

Each contestant was required to win at their local high school before competing in the finals Tuesday night. Other contestants included Margie Wilhelm and Dorothy Guggemos, both of Nazareth.

Winners of the contest will receive an all-expense-paid Rural Electric Youth Tour trip to Washington, D.C. the week of June 10.

The youth's speeches were entitled, "Rural Electric Coops-Good for All Americans."

Judging was based on knowledge of cooperative rural electrification, including a written test, speaking ability, poise, personality and appearance.

The youth group will travel to and from Washington, D.C. by bus. They will be chaperoned by three adult couples.

During the four day stay in the Nation's capital, these young people will see the United States government in action, visit with their Congressmen and Senators and visit various government agencies and sites of historical significance.

Included on the four day agenda will be visits to Smithsonian Institute, White House, Arlington Cemetery, Mount Vernon and many monuments.

On Wednesday, June 16, the group will meet approximately 1,000 young people from 30 states for a program coordinated by the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association.

Therapeutics Seminar Planned At Hospital

San Antonio, Texas--Recent advances in the treatment of "pseudogout" will be included in "Arthritis Update," the therapeutics seminar for health professionals scheduled for Thursday, March 11, at Deaf Smith General Hospital.

Pseudogout is one of the nearly 100 different forms of arthritis.

The seminar will originate from The University of Texas Health Science Center at San Antonio at 12:30 p.m. CST and will be received locally by means of a live two-way communications hookup with the San Antonio school.

Dr. Daniel McCarty, Jr., the physician who first isolated pseudogout as a separate arthritis type, will be included in the discussion panel.

Additional information will be discussed concerning newer medications for arthritis, new diagnostic techniques and the value of analyzing fluid from an inflamed joint.

Moderator for the discussions will be Dr. Robert Persellin, professor of medicine at the San Antonio center.

Panelists will include Dr. McCarty, professor and chairman of medicine at the University of Wisconsin Medical College; Dr. Charles Singleton, clinical assistant professor of medicine at the UT center and director of rheumatology at Wilford Hall USAF Medical Center; and Dr. James Wild, clinical instructor of medicine at the UT center.

The index compiled by the government to signal the nation's economic future showed its strongest gain in six months during January, the Commerce Department reported.

Promises are easier to make than to fulfill but people continue to make them carelessly.

Contenders To State Views

Candidates who are vying for positions on Hereford School Board of Trustees will be airing their views in the high school library Monday night during a meeting of Parent-Teacher-Students Organization. The monthly session will convene at 7:30 p.m. and the public is encouraged to attend.

School board contenders present will be Alex Schroeter, who has filed for place 4, and Sally Strain, Pat Robbins and Bill Kester, all competing for place 5. After each of the candidates has made a brief statement, current members of the school board will be invited to make remarks concerning individual philosophies of education.

The candidates and school board members will then field questions from the audience.

The Abundant Life

By BOB WEAR

"Fair play" is appreciated by most people. At least, most people like to be on the receiving side of "fair play". We assume that most people try to follow the rule of "fair play", too. We are referring to "a manifestation of good will and common brotherhood."

Great effort is made to emphasize the importance of "fair play" in our athletic games, and rightly so. In fact, we still seem to hold to the theory that the way we play our games is more important than whether we win or lose. Of course, there are instances in which the practice does not harmonize with the theory.

MUCH HAS BEEN DONE, and much is still being done to develop the spirit of "fair play". Participants in athletic contests are occasionally honored because they are "good sports." There is no good reason why competition should ever be permitted to crowd out the spirit of good will and common brotherhood.

We also put forth effort to teach our children the importance of "fair play". We tell them that it is better to lose fairly than to win unfairly, and we will tell them that it is just as important to be a good loser as it is to be a gracious winner. All of us must practice this great and good principle of abundant living.

The spirit of "fair play" must not be limited to games, and to children. It must be given its rightful place in all spheres of living. It must be the rule among adults, too. It is needed in the home; at work; in community life; and throughout the whole structure of human associations.

THE GOLDEN RULE of life, if followed, will certainly help to maintain the spirit of "fair play". "Whatever you would that men do to you, do you even so unto them." This, used as a guideline, will make human thought the action favorable to most people most of the time.

Disposition to be unfair is a very great threat to our well-being, because our unfairness will attract some unfairness from other people. "The measure you give is the measure you get." Generally speaking, others will treat us about the same way we treat them. Of course, there will be some exceptions.

If we are fair, to others, they will usually be fair to us; however, if we are unfair in our dealings with our fellowmen; there will be some unfairness in their behavior toward us.

REGARDLESS OF WHAT OTHERS DO, "fair play" can be and should be one of the over-riding guidelines in all of our associations with the people in our environment.

We can improve our situation, and make substantial contributions to the well-being of the people whose lives we touch, when "fair play" is our rule in the great game of life.

"These are the sorghums I'd plant if I farmed in this area."

Jim Higdon
AGRONOMY SERVICE DIRECTOR

"Drouth, disease, insects, wind storms . . . taking everything into account that can plague a crop in this area, these are the sorghums I'd go with."

It's my job to know which are the best varieties for each locale in the states of Oklahoma, Texas and New Mexico. For the last five years I've had Crop Information Centers, Standard Comparison Tests and Uniform Strip Tests in this immediate area. In these carefully controlled tests, I've evaluated most of the sorghum varieties a farmer might consider planting. I've had the same headaches and frustrations you've had. My plantings have suffered the same weather conditions, epidemics and infestations you have.

Based on these tests, there is no doubt in my mind what I'd plant in 1976 if I farmed hereabouts.

James Matthew Higdon is a professional agronomist with 16 years of intensive experience in growing hybrid corn and sorghum in the South-west. His full time responsibility is to consult with farmers about their grains and storage growing problems.

8311 is a champion producer of high test-weight, yellow endosperm grain. Pioneer introduced this golden bronze hybrid three years ago and it's been setting yield records in this area ever since. One reason is its ability to yield in the face of too wet or too dry weather, insects or disease. Another reason for the high yields is that 8311 tends to adjust its maturity to the growing season in a particular area. Whatever else you plant . . . put in some 8311.

A WORD ABOUT GREENBUGS

Tolerance to both greenbugs and maize dwarf mosaic plus high yield potential give 8311 an economically significant advantage that you'll want to consider for your grain sorghum crop in 1976.

828

One of the highest yielding sorghums you can plant, 828 responds well to good management on good land with plenty of water. This full-season variety has sturdy stalks and semi-compact heads of dark red grain. It holds its quality and threshes well even after an early freeze or snow. 828 is especially popular on the Plains. Its stalks and leaves provide excellent winter forage after harvest.

Performance of seeds or the crop, produced therefrom may be adversely affected by factors beyond our control including environmental conditions, insects and diseases. The limitation of warranty and remedy attached to each bag of Pioneer brand seed is a part of the terms and conditions of the sale thereof.

On Wall Street

By BOB HILL

Inflation, a major worry in 1974 and 1975 has faded due to a strong economic recovery, the election year promises, tax cuts and more consumer spending. But, inflation hasn't gone away. It's still there, just as poisonous and virulent as ever and it looks now as if it will head higher within the next 18 months. A majority of economist are saying that the inflation rate will hold at 6 per cent for the balance of the year. That's a nice improvement from the double-digit figure of 1975, one of the big reasons for the sharp stock market rise since early 1975. The big concern now is not whether the inflation rate will hold here, but rather how much it will climb next year. There are several reasons for this. Declines in the price of food and fuel were responsible for much of the drop in the inflation rate. Those two commodities aren't expected to drop any further in price. In fact, the trend is the other way; Up. Wage rates are rising, along with food and fuel prices and there is a steady upward pressure on raw material prices. Also, the cost of services jumped 13 per cent in January. Labor negotiations this year will have a strong influence on the inflation rate because many contracts are being reopened for the first time in three years. Last year wages rose 13 per cent. The United Rubber Workers have stated a demand for a 25 per cent catch-up wage increase plus a new increase and with a cost of living formula included. A major influence on wage rates are the prices of fuel and food. Last year was a big year for crops with a hefty surplus available for the second half of 1976. This year may be a different matter with a severe drought in the winter wheat states. This is forcing a liquidation of cattle inventories and promises higher grain prices. Fewer cattle on feed means higher beef prices ahead. The cost of fuel is a common explanation for price increases. Business and industry seem to be successful in making price increases stick, only because the consumer, the man with the money, is willing to pay higher prices today. But look out for tomorrow. Another round of inflation could set off another consumer revolt.

THE SPACE AGE REVEALS THE GLORY OF CREATION

Man's conquest of space is just beginning, although it has already achieved many astounding feats of technology that hardly anyone believed possible even a few years ago. And yet, the farther we progress through the intricacies of modern science, the more we are compelled to marvel at the magnitude of God's Creation, that reaches out into an infinity we cannot comprehend; and also, at our God-given ability to engineer and perform these feats. However, you need not go to the moon, but only as far as the Church of your choice; to thank God for this vast universe and for the intelligence granted to man to explore it, and thereby enrich all our lives on earth.

And while with silent, lifting mind I've trod
The high untrespassed sanctity of space,
Put out my hand and touched the face of God.

Comment On Sports

GOLF
By Pete Fritch

WASHINGTON, D. C. -- Last year many thought Johnny Miller was coming on strong and that he and two or three other "new generation" pros would wrest golf's crown from Jack Nicklaus. It didn't turn out that way.

By the end of the tour, Big Jack was the acknowledged leader of the pack and the Young Turks were straggling shadows. But the Golden Bear may help the younger pros take over this year if his January performance in California is any indication of things to come.

Is the nerves bugaboo, that loss of steadiness that gripped Arnold Palmer a few years back, catching up with Nicklaus? He recently blew sky high on the last day of a tournament he had practically won. The nerves, of course, are the first to go. Sam Snead conquered the shakes by inventing a new way to grip his putter. It's not really the usual nervousness; it's the professional ability to stay ice-cold under the greatest pressure.

And when champions begin to blow big leads, that can be a sign of an approaching less steady game.

Meeting Set For Girls Softball

There will be an organizational meeting of the Hereford Girls Softball League on Wed. Mar. 17th, 7:30 p.m. at the Flame Room. All coaches and interested parties are invited to attend.

View From The Plains

BY J.D. PEER

TEXAS PARKS AND WILDLIFE DEPT.

Fritch—One of the most productive netting operations scheduled by fishery biologists is the walleye egg procurement at Lake Meredith and contrary to some reports, this method of egg collection does not hurt the lake's own natural walleye reproduction.

A close watch is maintained throughout February and early March as the days lengthen and sunlight increases. The air temperature does not affect water temperatures as much as would be expected by most anglers.

Trap nets are normally set up near the Sanford dam on Lake Meredith in late March after the water temperature reaches the right degree and the spawning walleye move onto the rocky beds along shore.

"A total of 20 million walleye eggs were collected in 1975 from over 488 female fish," said Joe Kraai, project fishery biologist. "These ripe female walleye that we stripped of eggs and returned unharmed to the lake make up only a small percentage of the lake's total spawning population," continued Kraai.

The fresh eggs are fertilized from mill collected at the same time and mixed with a solution of clay to harden them for transportation and handling. When several million eggs have been bagged, they are transported to one of the P&WD hatcheries.

The fertilized eggs are then placed in hatchery jars and, depending upon water temperature, incubation is completed from 11 to 20 days. These small fry are put in holding tanks or stocked in Texas lakes.

Walleye provide a biological control when stocked in Texas lakes with high populations of rough fish such as shad. This northern import has the three qualities required for a topnotch fish and those include fighting ability, eating quality and rough fish control.

Walleye are presently stocked in over 28 Texas lakes with a daily bag limit of five and a possession limit of 10 fish.

Successful anglers are using everything from dolly jigs to minnows, and worms as bait. Most walleye are caught at night or on cloudy days. These fish are very sensitive to light and can feed in murky water where they prefer shad and other rough fish for dinner.

Stomach contents have been checked by P&WD personnel and the majority of the walleye's preferred food consisted of rough fish not usable or normally caught by the angler.

The eating quality of the walleye is well established and a new state record fish in the 10 pound class is expected from Lake Meredith this spring. One angler is awaiting conformation of his nine pound and 10 ounce fish as the present state record caught in January at Lake Meredith from the bank. His fish beat the old state record by nearly a pound.

More information about walleye fishing and other freshwater species is available in the current 1975-76 Texas hunting and fishing guide.

PHEASANTS UNDER LIGHTS
There are many ways and techniques that the wildlife biologists of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department have devised to catch pheasants for brood stock but the use of long handled dip nets and powerful lights is probably one of the most interesting.

Several ringnecks have already been caught and transported to the department's management and research station at Tyler. These wild birds will be used to obtain eggs which will be hatched and reared to young pheasants of eight to ten weeks old before being released back in the Panhandle.

"We find a higher survival rate among young first generation wild pheasants released in ideal bird cover in the Panhandle," said David Dvorak, project biologist.

The P&WD released over 400 young pheasants in 1975 near Pampa and Panhandle.

Wrestling Death Match At Bull Barn Saturday

Ricky Romero meets the Blond Bomber, Randy Tyler, in a Texas-death match at the Hereford Bull Barn at 8 p.m. Saturday night. Lions Club officials said.

The match was made after last Saturday's events, in which referee Joe Palardy told Romero to break his hold on Tyler, and disqualified the Mexican star. Romero drew blood on both Tyler and the referee, and has asked for a National Wrestling Alliance referee in the death match.

In a death match, falls don't count. There can be one or a hundred. The match may not be stopped for too much blood, and there is no disqualification and no count-out outside the ring. The winner is the last man who can beat a 10 count inside the ring by being on his feet.

In other matches, always dangerous Don Fargo returns to test young Scott Casey of Dallas. Fargo, a Bronx, N.Y. street fighter and former notorious member of the Biker "Chain Gang", is known as "The Body Beautiful." He is an experienced veteran of the ring wars.

Don Slotton, The Lawman, returns to take on Joe Palardy. Slotton is a former Taylor County Deputy Sheriff whose most famous exploit was an arrest of Billy Sol Estes, convicted swindler whose financial peccadillos rocked the southwest.

Slotton, like Palardy, was an amateur boxer of some distinction before becoming a grappler.

El Lobo, masked stylist from Old Mexico, returns against the "Sweet Man" from Louisiana. Sputnik Monroe, Monroe, The Ragin' Cajun, as he styles himself, started his career in a carnival taking on all comers both as boxer and wrestler. His battered face and cauliflower ears testify to a lifetime of battle. El Lobo may expect a stiff contest.

Adrian Cagers Lose to Greenwood

Adrian defeated San Elizario 68-46 in their opening game of the Region 1-B Boys Basketball Tournament last Friday at Texan Dome in Levelland. They weren't so fortunate in their semi-finals game against Greenwood the next day however and were eliminated by the score of 31-30.

Adrian held a 15-11 halftime lead but fell behind 26-23 at the end of the third period. They led 28-27 with 1:16 to go but Greenwood's Danny Pruitt scored at that point to put Adrian behind to stay. Adrian had one last opportunity with two seconds left but were unable to get another shot off.

Adrian's Paul Jacobson led all scorers with 13 points while Glen Cox had 11 for Greenwood. Adrian's final season record is 28-9.

Hereford Vs. Sandle Nine Here

Hereford's baseball game against Canyon Tuesday was postponed because of poor weather conditions. It will be played at a later date.

The Whiteface next diamond action will be against Amarillo High today at 4 p.m. here and at Amarillo Tascosa on Friday.

HAL SHANE

Hal Shane To Appear In Concert

Hal Shane, billed as an "Entertainer Supreme," will be appearing at Hereford High School auditorium at 3 p.m. Sunday as a presentation of Hereford Community Concert Association. Only CCA members will be admitted to the afternoon concert.

With a lyrical baritone voice, Shane is first and foremost a singer, but his talents also include self-accompaniment on the guitar and banjo, solo guitar performance of classical and modern compositions, dancing and composing.

The CCA program to be offered by Shane will encompass this variety and range from early English madrigals and Villa-Lobos' guitar solos to Broadway show tunes, current folk music and his own compositions.

Shane, at the age of 27, has already performed throughout the country in concert, conducted workshops and lecture demonstrations on various college campuses and has acquired an impressive list of theatrical credits. An edition of his songs is scheduled for future publication by Schmidt, Hall & McCuevrey.

Currently appearing in the revival of Jerome Kern's "Very Good Eddy," Shane's theatre credits also include principal roles at the New Foundland Art Center in Pennsylvania and at the Goodspeed Opera House in Connecticut.

He appeared in "Shenandoah" at the Goodspeed opera House and was invited to join the Broadway production that went on to win two Tony awards. However, he was unable to do so because of his concert commitments.

A resident member of the latter company, he has also appeared in their revivals of "Lady Be Good," "DuBarry was A Lady," "Louisiana Purchase," "Very Good Eddy" (now moved to Broadway) and their production of the new musical "Cowboy," based on the life of the western painter and sculptor of the 1800's, Charles M. Russell.

In stock, Shane has filled major roles in "Guys and Dolls," "Little Mary Sunshine," and "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum." He has also performed for several years at the "Spice of Life," a popular showcase in New York City and for a limited engagement at the Garden State Arts Center in New Jersey.

A recent concert performance in Dallas, Texas drew praise from the local reviewer for Shane's "astounding versatility" and the wide range of mood and style offered in his concert. The program, typical of that to be presented here, included songs of Jacques Brel and Rod McKuen, the Trinidadian folk song, "Shame and Scandal on the Family," "Don Quixote" and "If We Only Have Love" from Broadway's "Man of La Mancha" were included in striking contrast to the classical guitar solo "Lagrima" and the contemporary Villa-Lobos "Prelude No. 3."

Shane, a native New Yorker, comes from a performing background. His mother was an actress and his uncle, Melvin Stecher, is a leading concert pianist. He started his musical training at the early age of four on the piano followed by the trumpet.

At the age of twelve, he began lessons on the guitar which he has since developed as his first instrument and later picked up his first banjo. His study of dancing began at an early age and now includes tap, jazz and ballet. A graduate of Hofstra University, Shane participated both in that school's chorus and in its highly renowned theatre group.

Shane's concert career began in the 1971-72 season and has taken him to all corners of the country. Between concert engagements he has been in increasing demand on college campuses for seminars, workshops and artist-in-residence programs. A serious composer, Shane finds time between public appearances to continue his work in this field and also in the lucrative field of television when he composed the music for Alitalia Airlines and Rio Rancho Estates commercials.

Preparing For Art Sale

These members of Hereford Art Guild have spent recent weeks preparing for an Arts & Crafts Extravaganza, to be held from 10 a.m.-8 p.m. Saturday and from 12 noon-6 p.m. Sunday at Community Center. Numerous amateur and professional artisans will display their wares

Newcomers Welcome New Members, Guests

Gwen London, Deaf Smith County Librarian, spoke to members of Hereford Newcomers at a luncheon held Tuesday at Caison Steak House. Mrs. London listed the services available at the library and following a brief business session, members toured the library and were greeted by Jeannie Reed, receptionist at the National Cowgirl Hall of Fame.

During the meeting, members discussed forming a bridge club and a child care cooperative. They also welcomed new members Mmes. Ron Walker, Bob Christie and Gene Hazlett.

Guests, Mmes. Joe Livers, Joe Sohnberg, George Belford, Michael Power and Dennis McKillit, were welcomed by members present. They included Mmes. Bob White, Gene Batterman, Stephen Cole, Charles Brandon, Glen Gillis, John West.

Also, Mmes. Don Lucas, Freddie Savage, Charles Short and Ray Schultz.

Music Club Gives Fine Arts Donation

Members of Hereford Music Study Club approved a donation to the Friends of the Fine Arts at West Texas State University during a meeting Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Ken Walser. Co-hostess was Mrs. Wayne Thomas.

Songs from Texas composers were performed by members during the program portion of the monthly meeting. At the opening, all members combined their voices to sing "Texas, Our Texas."

Mrs. Walser then performed "Campfire," a selection from "Western Suite," composed by Radie Britain, who was born in 1903 in Amarillo. The composer also wrote "Flight to Paris," concerning Charles Lindbergh's historical trip across the Atlantic Ocean, and "Light," a tribute to Thomas A. Edison.

Peery's "Home on the Range" was sung by Mrs. C.J. Mountz with Mrs. Thomas Betzen accompanying. Mrs. Walser again took the spotlight by vocalizing "Negro Lament," by Marie Guion. "The Hills of Home" by Oscar Fox, who is the cousin of Major Schroeter, a local resident, was presented by Mrs. Mountz with accompaniment provided by Mrs. Thomas. Another Fox composition, "O

Bury Me Not," was sung by Mrs. Lyle Holmes and Mrs. Jack Rogers. "Thy Lovely Saints" by Houston Bright was chorused by Mmes. W.T. Carmichael, Paul Lyons, Rogers, Lynton Allred and Holmes with Mrs. Betzen again accompanying. Bright, a native of Midland, graduated from WTSU in 1938 and published 57 musical works. His Symphony in E Minor was first performed in 1959 by Amarillo Symphony.

Those present who have not already been mentioned were Mmes. Bill Bradley, S.F. Clements and Wesley Fisher.

Public Invited To Movie

"Buffalo Bill" will be the film featured at 4 p.m. and 7 p.m. today at Deaf Smith County Library. The public is invited to view the presentation free of charge.

Sponsored by the Friends of the Library, the movie is a tale of the great hero, Buffalo Bill, who returns on the orders of President Grant to the Indian Creek Territory where he had brought peace some years ago through an agreement with the great Chief Wily Fox.

The armistice, it seems, has been broken by Yellow Hand, and ambitious, power-hungry young Sioux Chief. There are lots of fast-paced thrills and action in this out-door adventure drama of the Old West.

Conscience is but the pulse of reason.

4-H Firsthand

BY MELODY KENDRICK
DEAF SMITH COUNTY 4-H

The designs you see in the wallpaper sample book will look smaller on the walls, but the colors will look darker. Paper for small rooms should be plain or have small, inconspicuous designs and soft restful colors.

When curtains, bedspreads or rugs are figured, the walls should be plain. Pictures do not look good on figured walls. If your walls are uneven, figured paper will make uneven places less noticeable.

Soft striped wallpaper can make the ceiling look higher if the stripes are up and down.

Take two or three samples home with you. Pin a strip of one roll on the wall. Look at it two or three days, particularly at night. Does it look well with your furniture, curtains and pictures? Avoid a paper that has the kind of spots or points you count when you are ill. Paper that has scenes, flowers, vines, animals or people is called "buys" or "spotty." Spotty paper is not restful in a bedroom because your eyes will keep following the design.

The ceiling of a papered room should be a very light tint of one of the colors in the paper. Woodwork looks well if it matches the background color in the paper.

CURTAINS:

Make or buy new curtains if you need them. If any part of your room has a pattern, plain curtains will look best. If your walls are plain and has little pattern, use plain curtains or choose a pretty print.

Select a print that has some of your wall colors and some of the other colors in your room. Get a small all-over pattern that does not have to be matched in design.

Cafe curtains make windows attractive. They are half curtains that hang from the top of the lower sash to the window sill. You can use another cafe curtain at the top or a short one that looks like a ruffle. The lower half will make your room look private. The top curtain can be pushed back to let in more light or closed to keep out bright sunlight.

Frozen Turkeys Economical Buy

Frozen turkeys are one meat item currently getting attention on the "economy scene" at Texas grocery stores.

Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, a consumer marketing information specialist, terms their current prices "reasonable." She said large-size birds have more meat in proportion to bone—which usually means a lower price per pound.

Mrs. Clyatt is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The Texas A&M University System.

"While many choices are now available at meat counters, the best values will be found by reading store ads and making 'family favorite' selections," the specialist said.

"In buying meat, focus attention on cost-per-serving rather than price-per-pound."

"Price-per-pound can be misleading, because some cuts include bone and fat."

Council Reviews BSP Spring Plans

City Beta Sigma Phi Council members considered several upcoming activities of importance to BSP Sorority sisters during the monthly meeting Monday night in Hereford State Bank Friendship Room.

Calendar dates circled in red are April 20th, when BSP Rituals will be conducted in Community Center, April 30th, which has been set aside for the BSP Founders Day dinner, and May 10th, for election of council officers.

During the communications report, an invitation from the Hereford Bicentennial Committee was read, welcoming all BSP members to attend the Colonial Green and Silver Tea March 25 in the J.W. Witherspoon home.

The Council women held an election polling their preference for donations from the BSP International Endowment Fund. The local chapter asked that the contributions be directed toward research of arthritis via the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Fund.

Also, the City Council acted, making donations to the BSP Loan Fund, BSP Exemplar Fund and BSP Endowment Fund.

It was announced that the next council meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Ken Walsler on April 12.

Members in attendance Monday were Mmes. Don Childers, Tom Carter, Calvin Jones, Chick Holbert, Eldon Koch, Bud Thomas, Walsler, Jim Aldridge and Warren Hall.

Also, Miss Betty Barrett and Mmes. Tom Bullard, Bobby Jones, R.J. Cramer, Jim Cramer, John Schneider and Max Stipe.

Author Reveals Unusual Facts

"Rose: My Life In Service" by Rosina Harrison and "Doris Day--Her Own Story" by A.E. Hotchner are the two books being featured this week at Deaf Smith County Library.

In this perceptive book, written by Hotchner, the girl-next-door turns out to be an inspiring woman of unique courage and strength. Deaf Smith County Library is open free to the public from 9 a.m.-9 p.m. Monday and Thursday; from 9 a.m.-6 p.m. other weekdays and until noon Saturday.

named Rose Harrison launched a career which soon catapulted her into lifelong intimacy with one of England's most famous families.

where she received VIP treatment at the Waldorf Astoria, cared for a priceless jewelry collection, and cruised the South Atlantic on a private yacht. Her yearly salary: about $300.

Rose was a lady's maid, and this captivating account of her life in service holds a special magic, for one of her "ladies" was a legend. For thirty-five years, she served Nancy, Lady Astor--first female member of Parliament, hostess to the aristocracy and wife of one of England's wealthiest lords. The spirited Lady Astor was a highly demanding employer and Rose's job was not easy. Six or seven changes of clothes--from sporting rough-wear to ballgowns and ermine capes--had to be readied every day in perfect order; trips were organized; domestic details were smoothly managed with the assistance of the other servants, under the supervision of the legendary butler Mr. Lee (several kings and queens took pride in their friendship with him) gigantic formal receptions, tempestuous family squabbles, encounters with the great names of Europe and bombed-out boudoirs (during the London Blitz) all were weathered.

This unusual collaboration in the form of an autobiography brings together a highly skilled professional writer and the film superstar who never enjoyed being thought of as Miss Goody Two-shoes.

she expected to be crippled for life. At sixteen she was earning her living on the road singing with bands. At seventeen, she married a man who turned out to be a psychopathic sadist. She talks of many other things she has never told anyone before and her book is as compelling as it is honest. Hotchner, the author of "Papa Hemingway: A Personal Memoir," has enriched her story with candid interviews with her son Terry Melcher; her mother; her friends, and many of the people she has worked with including Bob Hope, James Garner and Jack Lemmon.

Kendrick Approves Committee

Washington, D. C. — "The creation of a new Agricultural Policy Committee headed by Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz appears finally to restore to agriculture a greater voice in the determination and execution of agricultural policy," stated Ken Kendrick, President of Great Plains Wheat. Kendrick said that President Ford's announcement of the creation of this committee and his reference to "the importance" he attached "to Secretary Butz as my chief agricultural policy adviser and spokesman," indicated the Administration's awareness of the importance of agriculture and the need to respond to farmer concern over the direction of agricultural policy.

"The President's announcements are very much in line with recommendations we made at the White House two weeks ago," stated Kendrick. "We are pleased to see this response."

As President of Great Plains Wheat, Kendrick led a group of representatives from Great Plains Wheat member states to a White House meeting in which they expressed their concern over government export restrictions which they felt were market depressants. Great Plains Wheat also expressed its concern over what appeared to be an erosion of Agriculture's authority over agricultural policy and asked for a stronger farmer voice in the determination of this policy.

"We noted what appeared to be a dangerous trend toward what we feared might be a sacrifice of agriculture in the interests of international diplomatic goals," stated Kendrick. "We were convinced that this would be a serious mistake, and we wanted to be assured that agricultural policy would be determined on the basis of economics and not politics. The President's statement, in which he asserted that he was opposed to the creation of formal national reserves and any international reserves which might be under the control of an international body, is, we feel, constructive."

Kendrick also indicated satisfaction over the President's expression of interest in the continuation of a strong export program for agricultural products. "Our markets are highly dependent on exports," Kendrick stated, "and any interruption of the export flow will obviously weaken our markets and destroy farmers' incentives to produce."

"Production costs have at least doubled within the last couple of years," said Kendrick, "and unless farmers are able to improve their net income through expanded exports U.S. agriculture will suffer, to the detriment of not only farmers but all consumers as well."

"We intend to continue to press for greater farmer input in the determination of U.S. agricultural export policy," he added.

Great Plains Wheat, Inc., is the foreign market development organization representing the wheat producers in Colorado, Kansas, Nebraska, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, South Dakota, Texas and Washington.

Cost of production, grain grading problems, and grain marketing potentials are topics which will highlight the annual membership meeting of Grain Sorghum Producers Association on March 12.

The day-long session will begin with registration at 9 a.m. at the Hilton Inn, 4th St. and Ave. Q, in Lubbock, and will continue through the morning with talks by agricultural representatives. Presiding will be GSPA vice president Mabry Foreman of Felt, Okla.

The afternoon business session will be devoted to discussion and adoption of policies for the coming year. GSPA president A.W. (Dub) Anthony, Jr. of Friona, Tex. will preside. The business session will be followed by an executive committee meeting, which is open only to committee members.

Dr. Burton French of Washington, D.C., chairman of the USDA task force which conducted the nationwide cost of production study, will discuss findings of the survey.

Ross R. Stuard of Fort Worth, Tex., a federal grain inspector, will discuss recent grain grading problems and their possible solutions.

Hubert Dyke of Washington, D.C., vice president of U.S. Feed Grains Council, will discuss the financial responsibility of the producer in overseas market development.

Texas' House Speaker Bill Clayton will address the annual banquet at 6:30 p.m. Mar. 25 in Room 225, Memorial Student Center. Bill J. Waddle, general manager, Texas Water Conservation Association, will preside.

Lead-off speaker on Mar. 26 will be Quentin West, administrator, Economic Research Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, whose subject will be "The World Food and Fiber Situation and U.S. Position."

State Sen. A.R. Schwartz of Galveston will speak on "Impact of Bays and Estuaries on Food Demand in the State and Nation." W.D. Parish of Mercedes, general manager for Hidalgo-Cameron Counties Water Conservation Improvement District, will discuss "Irrigation Agriculture with Environmental Constraints."

A panel discussion on "Competition for Water" will close the program. Joe D. Carter, chairman of the Texas Water Rights Commission, will chair the panel.

Representing the oil and gas industry will be Mack Wallace, railroad commissioner. Bob Huston, Austin consulting engineer, will represent the power industry, while Henry Graesser, director of Water Utilities at Dallas, will represent the municipal segment. Sen. Schwartz will speak on the outlook for bays and estuaries.

"The Water for Texas Conference is an outgrowth of the drought of the 1950s, which stimulated many people to meet and discuss the future of the state's water resources. Through the years, the conference has focused on many important state water problems and issues, and has provided the public with a more informed basis for making decisions about the state's water resources," Runkles said.

It's an Ag-fact

committee meeting, which is open only to committee members.

Dr. Burton French of Washington, D.C., chairman of the USDA task force which conducted the nationwide cost of production study, will discuss findings of the survey.

Ross R. Stuard of Fort Worth, Tex., a federal grain inspector, will discuss recent grain grading problems and their possible solutions.

Hubert Dyke of Washington, D.C., vice president of U.S. Feed Grains Council, will discuss the financial responsibility of the producer in overseas market development.

GSPA directors will elect new officers and the executive committee for the coming year.

Cattlemen's Optimism Cautioned By Economist

Optimism has reared its head again in the cattle industry, says Dr. Ernest E. Davis, livestock marketing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Stronger prices have been received in recent weeks for feeder-stocker cattle and calves, and cull cows and bulls, he adds. "Choice feeder steers weighing 500 to 700 pounds have been bringing $41 to $43 per hundredweight, or about $16 per hundredweight above a year ago. Utility grade slaughter cow prices have moved up to $28 to $29 per hundredweight, or about $10 per hundredweight above this time last year," Davis says.

Many cattlemen believe the cattle crisis is over, and the worst part is over because cattlemen have tightened their belts and culled their cow herds, explains Davis. This has helped rid the industry of an over-supply situation that had depressed cattle prices.

Cattlemen sent to slaughter 11.6 million cows during 1975. This reduced the U.S. cow herd from 56.7 million head on January 1, 1975, to 54.8 million head at the beginning of this year.

"To get cattle prices to near break-even levels, cattlemen must continue to cull cow herds in 1976. We need to slaughter about 10.5 million cows in 1976, to reduce the 1977 level to about $2.5 million cows. At these levels, cattlemen could operate above costs," Davis says.

Some cattlemen are presently taking advantage of the higher slaughter cow prices, he points out. However, others are holding cows and adding more heifers. If such a trend continues into 1977, the cattle industry will be set back to where it was in 1974 and 1975, predicts Davis. Many cattlemen could not survive this price level again, particularly considering increasing production costs.

"Cattlemen should seriously consider orderly marketing of marginal cows this spring, as most economic variables indicate the spring cow prices will be the highest of the year if normal conditions continue," Davis says.

A minimum supply of 3,000 gallons of easily accessible water should be available for emergency fire purposes on all farms.

Water For Texas Conference Is Set

"Water for Food and Fiber Production" is the theme for the Texas A&M University Centennial year Water for Texas Conference, Mar. 25-26.

"This conference should provide valuable information for both urban and rural residents alike, and be of particular interest for people concerned with water's future use for food and fiber production," said Dr. Jack R. Runkles, director of the Texas Water Resources Institute and Texas Agricultural Experiment Station professor.

Among major subjects for discussion, Runkles said, are the role of irrigation agriculture in relation to the U.S. supply of food and fiber, cycles of climate and food production, impact of energy costs, and the U.S. position in the world food and fiber situation.

Sessions will be in A&M's Rudder Conference Center.

Dr. Jarvis E. Miller, director of the Experiment Station, the state's agricultural research agency, will preside at the opening session. Dr. Jack K. Williams, president of the Texas A&M University System, will welcome participants, and Dr. H.O. Kunkel, A&M dean of agriculture and acting director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, will discuss "Food and Fiber Production: Technology and Resource Base."

Dr. E.O. Heady, economics professor at Iowa State University, will speak on the "U.S. Supply Situation for Food and Fiber and the Role of Irrigation Agriculture."

Runkles said afternoon speakers will include Dr. Ray E. Jensen, director of the National Weather Service Environmental Studies Service Center at A&M, who will discuss "Cycles of Climate and Food Production," and Dr. Ronald D. Lacey, Experiment Station associate professor in resource economics, who will describe the impact of energy costs on production.

Other afternoon speakers will be Don Anderson of the Anderson Farms at Crosbyton, who will discuss "Critical Water Issues Facing High Plains Crop Producers," and Emery Castle, vice president, Resources for the Future, Washington, D.C., who will provide a summary and reaction.

Texas' House Speaker Bill Clayton will address the annual banquet at 6:30 p.m. Mar. 25 in Room 225, Memorial Student Center. Bill J. Waddle, general manager, Texas Water Conservation Association, will preside.

Lead-off speaker on Mar. 26 will be Quentin West, administrator, Economic Research Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, whose subject will be "The World Food and Fiber Situation and U.S. Position."

State Sen. A.R. Schwartz of Galveston will speak on "Impact of Bays and Estuaries on Food Demand in the State and Nation." W.D. Parish of Mercedes, general manager for Hidalgo-Cameron Counties Water Conservation Improvement District, will discuss "Irrigation Agriculture with Environmental Constraints."

A panel discussion on "Competition for Water" will close the program. Joe D. Carter, chairman of the Texas Water Rights Commission, will chair the panel.

Representing the oil and gas industry will be Mack Wallace, railroad commissioner. Bob Huston, Austin consulting engineer, will represent the power industry, while Henry Graesser, director of Water Utilities at Dallas, will represent the municipal segment. Sen. Schwartz will speak on the outlook for bays and estuaries.

"The Water for Texas Conference is an outgrowth of the drought of the 1950s, which stimulated many people to meet and discuss the future of the state's water resources. Through the years, the conference has focused on many important state water problems and issues, and has provided the public with a more informed basis for making decisions about the state's water resources," Runkles said.

It's an Ag-fact

It's an ag-fact. For every dollar received from the export of farm products, another 75 cents is generated throughout non-farm areas of the economy. In a year's time, this added economic effect of farm exports now amounts to an extra $15 billion or more injected into the economy.

Food prices going up at a slower pace.

Naman Seeks Action On Farm Labor Act

Jay Naman, President of Texas Farmers Union, has called upon the Texas congressional delegation "to take action to amend the Farm Labor Contractors Registration Act passed by Congress in 1963 to regulate migratory farm labor."

"Recent action of the U.S. Labor Department requiring registration of custom combiners and sheep shearers who work under contract with producers was never intended by Congress when it amended the Labor Registration Act in 1974."

"Naman said that agricultural contractors who employ skilled and specialized agricultural workers should be distinguished from unskilled migratory agricultural workers and their crew leaders.

"The law can be clarified by simply amending the Farm Contractors Registration Act to exempt custom grain harvesting and sheep shearing from the registration requirements of the act."

Senators Bentsen of Texas and Abourezk of South Dakota have announced that they will seek remedial legislative action to amend the act to exempt custom grain harvesting and sheep shearing from registration requirements.

You're doing without a Zimmatic rent pivot. Saving your hard-earned capital for other improvements. Don't want to borrow right now.

But it's costing you money every year you wait. Two ways. First, you're losing the extra crop production you get under irrigation. Second, inflation is at work. Boosting prices, dropping the value of your dollars.

Why not rent a Zimmatic under our new lease plan? Let the system pay for itself and put some extra money in the bank for you at the same time.

Our rates are reasonable. You can include freight, installation, pump...

other "above ground" items in one flexible package, tailored to your needs. Why wait to irrigate? It's just costing you money. Call us today for details on our new lease plan.

Chocolate Was Used First In Medicines

Early doctors in this country concocted most medicines for their patients—and chocolate was one ingredient, Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt says.

"They experimented with sugar and various spices and chocolate to help cover up the unpleasant taste of the medicine.

"Since those early days of medicinal uses for chocolate, the popularity of this product has zoomed, with candymaking one of the biggest uses.

Mrs. Clyatt is a consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

She pointed out that there are many forms of chocolate available and a description of these types may help consumers choose the one most appropriate for their needs.

"Unsweetened chocolate is made from shelled cacao beans that have been roasted and ground. It contains between 50 and 58 per cent fat and is used primarily for cooking.

"Semisweet chocolate, better known as the chocolate chips for cookies, is a combination of the unsweetened chocolate, sugar, cocoa butter (a fat of the cacao bean) and vanilla. The newer chocolate-flavored baking chips used processed cocoa and palm oil, rather than the standard chocolate liquor and cocoa butter.

"Sweet chocolate is made from the same ingredients as semisweet, but different proportions are used. One of its most popular uses in baking is in German Chocolate cakes.

"Milk chocolate contains the ingredients found in sweet chocolate plus the addition of milk solids. Although it's used some in baking, its main use is in the making of candy bars.

"Semi-liquid or pre-melted chocolate is unsweetened chocolate combined with vegetable oil and packaged in foil or plastic envelopes. This product is a convenience to help home-makers keep from burning the squares of unsweetened chocolate when melting them for cooking.

"Cocoa is an unsweetened chocolate powder that has most of the cocoa butter removed. There are two types—American processed and Dutch processed.

The Dutch cocoa has alkali added to produce a darker color and stronger flavor. A cocoa mix is a cocoa powder that usually has dry milk solids and sugar added.

When a recipe calls for chocolate, substitute cocoa by using three level tablespoons of cocoa plus one tablespoon of shortening. This is equal to one ounce of unsweetened chocolate, the specialist explained.

"White chocolate is a term given to a white coating that cannot legally be labeled as "chocolate." It has less fat in it than regular chocolate. When white chocolate is used in a recipe, the recipe will call for more fat than if dark chocolate were used.

"In storing chocolate above 85 degrees F, the cocoa butter in it melts and rises to the top. When the temperature is lowered, this butter hardens again and gives the chocolate a grayish color. The only harm done is to the appearance of the chocolate—the flavor is fine," she noted.

Club Picks New Name

The name "Multiple Miracles" (formerly the Mothers of Twins Club) was officially accepted by members, who met last week at Caison Steak House.

The women also decided to conduct a meeting on the first Thursday of each month at Caison's.

It was announced that the Amarillo chapter of Mothers of Twins will host the state convention next year and local members will participate at the state assembly in 1977.

Al DesMarreau from Hereford Family Services Center, was the guest speaker and explained the hereditary traits common to children. DesMarreau will return next month on April 1 to direct a question and answer session.

Brenda Parks was welcomed as a guest by eight women in attendance.

ROCK TRACKS

JOHN MAYALL's back and you can have him, at least for the price of his latest album, "Notice To Appear." It's a good, bluesie LP, and his "Lil Boogie In The Afternoon" is especially nifty. Another good new one is PAUL BUTTERFIELD's "Put It In Your Ear," a heady mix of rock and country that really works. The big three best-selling singles in America this week are

PAUL SIMON's "50 Ways To Leave Your Lover," C.W. McCALL's "Convoy," and BARRY MANLOW's "I Write The Songs," with NEIL SEDAKA's "Breaking Up Is Hard To Do" coming up fast. The AVERAGE WHITE BAND getting set for its mid-May British tour. The group returns to the U.S. in July for a cross-country trek.

Effort Creates Storage

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of a two-part series on how to create extra storage space in cabinets, closets and drawers.

Wasted space in cabinets and closets throughout most homes can "make way" for many new shelves or racks-and almost anyone can make them. Mrs. Patricia Seaman, a housing and home furnishings specialist, says:

"In kitchen cabinets, most shelves are too far apart, so space usually can be used to better advantage by adding shelves," she said.

Mrs. Seaman is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Following are her instructions-and some ideas-for making your own shelves or racks.

STEP SHELVES FOR CABINETS

A simple and inexpensive way to get more shelf space in the kitchen is to insert step shelves in the cabinet. For the job, you need a saw, hammer, nails, lumber-or wooden boxes.

Cabinet shelves are generally 11-12 inches apart-with 4-6 inches of unused space, since a stack of 10 plates usually needs only 5 inches in height, and glasses need about 7 inches.

If new or used lumber is not available, you can use tomato crates for shelving-these make excellent shelves with minimum work.

First, measure your cabinet space-both height and width. Then on a piece of paper, plan how the shelf space can be used to the greatest advantage. Be sure to consider your needs-when measuring. If you decide on using the tomato crate, you may be able to use it without taking it apart-measure it and cut as shown in fig. 1. You can get two shelves from each crate.

If you decide on using lumber, remember that cabinet shelves are generally 11 1/2 inches deep. Using 1 x 12-inch lumber, if you are going to put a shelf above the plates, cut two pieces of shelving 1 x 12 x 5 inches the desired length.

Nail the top board to the 5-inch pieces as shown in fig. 2.

REMOVABLE SHELVES

Removable shelves are easy to make, and they serve many purposes. They are especially convenient in old cabinets and in the cabinets in rented homes. Determine shelf size by needs and location.

One type of removable shelf is a small one that may be placed on top of a large one-to form a step shelf.

These are convenient when the cabinet shelves are more than 10 inches apart or when small articles are to be stored. Removable step shelves are particularly handy where two shelves of different lengths are needed.

Narrow shelves may be held in place by narrow strips of wood nailed in place-on which the new shelf will rest, or metal brackets or angle irons. Also large screws and hooks, nails-or adjustable metal shelf standards and supports will secure new shelving.

CORNER "CATCHALL" SHELVING
About an hour of workshop time will net you an easy-to-build, corner catchall shelving unit. It requires only a sheet of 3/4-inch plywood that is 4 feet by 4 feet-and finishing nails.

Simply saw the plywood into sections for assembly, as illustrated in fig. 3. Then nail and glue pieces together.

RACKS
Racks on cabinet doors must be shorter than the width of the door to allow for opening and closing the door. It is necessary for the racks to be placed so that they are between the shelves when the doors are closed.

When you design the rack, plan the front high enough to prevent stored articles from falling out when the door is opened. Use a narrow strip of wood or wire for the front of spice racks, so that container labels are visible.

Hold racks in place with screws, small angle irons or screws with hooks.

Many a woman who can't add can certainly distract.
