Based On Estimates

Wheat Crop Here Could Total 5 Million Bushels

By JIM STEERT
Brand Farm Writer

With the wheat harvest completed and local elevators bulging with golden grain, an analysis of the harvest reveals that the 1975 wheat crop will go down as one of Deaf Smith County's best,—both in quantity and quality.

According to Juston McBride, county agent, average yield on the county's 75,000 acres of dryland wheat is estimated at approximately 23 bushels per acre.

THE COUNTY'S 100,000 acres of irrigated wheat yielded an estimated average of approximately 40 bushels per acre.

This year's wheat crop for the county could be in the neighborhood of five million bushels, according to the figures, and local elevator spokesmen indicated agreement with the approximate totals.

Harry McCauley of Pitman Grain told The Brand that this year's wheat crop exceeded the 1973 crop in both quality and amount of production.

Crop yields in 1973 were good throughout the Panhandle, with many areas harvesting exceptionally good crops.

THIS YEAR'S wheat crop is as good as any we've had in a long time, especially from the dryland standpoint," said McCauley.

Although the huge production here this year can be attributed partially to good yields, expanded wheat acreage played a key role in this year's massive output, particularly on dryland farms.

Overall wheat production here this year might have been even larger but Mother Nature took her toll, with a shortage of moisture in some areas hurting the dryland crop and late frosts damaging some of the irrigated wheat.

Hailstorms also damaged some of the county's wheat in late June.

LOCAL FARMERS are now watching the market carefully, and although some are selling their wheat, many are holding it in hopes of a better price.

Wheat prices climbed last week after rumors of a large grain sale to Russia began to make the rounds. Wheat futures also shot upwards.

At presstime, the local wheat market had stabilized in the $3.50 per bushel range, still short of the $4 which many farmers feel they must have to break even on this year's crop.

A spokesman for Pitman Grain indicated that only a few local farmers have "turned loose" of their wheat so far.

"I feel like most of the local farmers will be holding their wheat for a while, waiting for it to reach at least $4," she said.

Probation Officers Approved

County Considers Property Appraisal

By BOBBY TEMPLETON
Brand News Editor

A possible reappraisal of all land in the county was considered, and a new adult probation supervision system was approved by the Deaf Smith County Commissioners Court in a regular meeting Monday.

Also during the all-day session, the commissioners took under consideration a request from Hospital Administrator Ron Welty for funds to continue the Public Health Clinic, granted a request from the county 4-H Horse Club for a piece of land on which to build an arena, considered solutions to leaking water in the basement of the county library, gave final approval to the joint tennis complex with the city and school district, and discussed the use of county owned vehicles by county employees.

TAX CONSULTANT Jim McMorries and Vance Crume of the county tax office conferred with the court considering the outdated county tax schedules which are termed widely inequitable between rural and city property assessments. Based on a set of recent tabulations by McMorries, property assessments within the city limits varied between about 41 and 132 per cent of the assessed value.

Presently the county is contemplating raising the percentage of valuation from 26 to 30 per cent of the fair market value. The county board of equalization (the Commissioners Court) is meeting at 10 a.m. Friday at the courthouse in conjunction with the school district and city equalization boards to consider a joint reappraisal of all county property. If agreed upon, the cost would be split three ways.

"The property schedules are way off from one piece of property to another. It would be alright if there were only a variance of about 10 per cent one way or the other," McMorries said.

THE DIFFERENCE in the schedules which have not been reappraised since 1960 comes from definite inflation of property and structural values as well as a better quality of construction today, he said.

"I don't intend to make any specific proposals, but we need to start toward more equitable assessments," he said.

Generally, the property in the downtown area of Hereford is too high while the rural farm land is valued at inequitable low rates. Also McMorries said the building cost schedule on city residences is too low.

Crume noted that any mass appraisals are never perfect and not exactly equal from one piece of property to another. But the percentages on the present schedules were still too wide spread, he agreed.

Another point of discussion was the proposed constitutional revision to be voted on in November. Both Crume and McMorries strongly voiced opposition to its passage.

"It includes an income approach to taxation, which would make it harder to assess property," said McMorries. "We would have to update our schedules each year."

THE STATE LEGISLATURE tried passing a bill earlier in the year to implement an income basis for land evaluations. However, it was changed after McMorries and other local representatives made repeated trips to Austin and finally got the language of the bill changed.

This only accomplished part of the problem as it delayed the income taxation method, which is now part of the proposed constitution.

"It simply is an income tax put on the farmers and ranchers," McMorries noted. If passed the constitution would automatically compute taxes based on the average net income of each acre of land according to the grade of the land.

If a farmer had a bad crop year, the property taxes would be lowered and a good crop year would accordingly raise the taxes, the tax experts explained. Crume also noted that the constitution contains numerous sections which can be changed by the will of the legislature.

"I bet there are less than a dozen places in constitution where the people are required to vote before a change can be made," McMorries said.

Mike Metcalf, 69th judicial district judge, told the commissioners that the present probation case load being carried by Harold Wheeler, district court adult probation officer, is far above what is recommended by the law. About 75 cases per probation officer are recommended by state statutes. He supervises from 255 to 310 cases at a time per month.

"I am meeting with all county commissioners in the district to find out what the wishes of the various courts are concerning probation," Metcalf said. "Probation saves money in the long run (as opposed to jail terms) but it does not work unless properly supervised. I'm here to find out what you want."

Wheeler and the judge recommended that one probation officer be hired to handle felony cases in the northern four-county area of the district including cities of Dalhart and Dumas and that another probation officer be hired to handle misdemeanor cases in Deaf Smith and Oldham counties. Along with the northern district officer a secretary would be hired to handle paper work.

The misdemeanor probation officer would be assigned to handle cases of the Oldham county judge and those of County Judge Sam Morgan, each presently acting as his own probation officer. "It puts Judge Morgan in an awkward position when he has to rule on case probations and then supervise them," Metcalf said.

THE COST of the new personnel would be funded through $10 a month probation fees collected from probationers. About $33,000 is collected annually in district court, which is expected to cover the total cost. County court probation fees, presently deposited in a fund, could cover the county court probation officer.

Any costs above the probation fees would be split between the participating county commissioners courts.

Looking Up

"What lurks in the upper reaches of this tree?" This question seems to be passing through Rae Lee's mind as she peers into the mysterious hidden regions of the hollow tree located near the parking area of the municipal golf course. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Lee of 112 Minnie.

Hospital Tax Rate Remains Same

By JOE LACKEY
Brand Staff Writer

The Board of Directors of Deaf Smith General Hospital decided in their monthly meeting Tuesday to leave the tax rate for the district unchanged, to approve a salary increase for staff members for fiscal 1976, and to write off accounts deemed uncollectible by the hospital administrator.

These actions had been recommended to the Board by the Finance Committee of the hospital district.

THE TAX RATE for the district will be left at 25 cents per $100 valuation. The salary increase for staff members will amount to six per cent.

Members of the hospital board expect County Commissioners to increase valuation for the district from 26 per cent to 30 per cent. This would generate about $33,000 more per year in taxes, even with the tax rate remaining the same.

Board members indicated the extra money may be used as part of a recruitment program designed to attract more physicians to Hereford. Dr. A.T. Mims, Medical Staff representative, said "There is a real need for additional medical people to practice here; there is a need for more physicians in Hereford."

The vote to accept the recommendations of the finance committee, including leaving the tax rate unchanged, was unanimous, although the finance committee report indicated that Wanda Hoover, board member, had voted against leaving the tax rate unchanged in committee.

Mrs. Hoover said at the board meeting that she would have liked to have seen a tax reduction, but that she had voted to accept the finance committee's recommendations because of the other points in the recommendations.

THE MOTION to accept the committee recommendations was made by Tommy Carnahan, board member. After the action, Carnahan said he had long been an opponent of increased taxes, and an advocate of tax reductions, but that he did not believe a tax reduction was feasible for the district, because the county had not yet acted to increase valuation, and because any extra money would be needed.

Also at the meeting, Dr. Mims said he hoped that the Deaf Smith County Public Health Clinic continues to operate. Funding for the clinic ends in November.

Ron Welty, hospital administrator, said he had talked to the County Commissioner's Court, and had requested using revenue-sharing money to help operate the clinic in the future, if such money is available. The Commissioner's Court will consider the request. The City Commission may also be approached relating to the clinic.

Welty said after the meeting that he is not officially connected to the clinic, and does not speak for the clinic, but is concerned with the future of the public health clinic.

In this monthly medical staff report, Dr. Mims said that Ed Hankard, the new hospital physiotherapist is "doing an extremely good job, both with in-patients and out-patients."

DR. MIMS ALSO MENTIONED the possibility of establishing a new child-birth program, in which husbands receive a considerable amount of information about the child-birth process. He said similar programs have demonstrated good results elsewhere, and that the main objective of the program is to bring husband and wife closer together in the child-birth process.

Dr. Mims said, the hospital staff has been busy, and that things are "running along well."

Welty, in his monthly financial report, said that June was an average month for the hospital.

Net revenues for the hospital for the month were $129,000, and the operating expense for the month was $127,959, he said. This left a small margin, but indigent care and interest expense resulted in a deficit of $3,031.

The interest expense involved a bond payment on a 1963 interest and sinking fund. The payment amounted to $70,000, reducing the bond indebtedness of the district from $755,000 to $685,000.

Two more bond payments will be made in August.

"We seem to be close to what we expected financially," Welty said. "We've been very busy since the first of July, which is interesting."

All board members were present at the meeting.

Request Made for XIT Building Information

A special request has been made by the Texas Tech Ranch Headquarters museum of the Escarbada division headquarters building of the famous XIT Ranch.

The headquarters building, donated to the museum complex by Mr. and Mrs. Joe Reinauer, was located on their ranch about three miles from the Texas-New Mexico state line. It was used heavily during the ranch's operation toward the last of the 1800's.

Janet Neugebauer, research assistant with the museum, said anyone having lived at that time and knowing anything about the building's interior would be of great help in restructuring its original design. Presently the building is being reconstructed on the Texas Tech site and plans are now underway to refurbish the interior.

She said numerous cowboys of the early ranch settled in Hereford after it broke up and that some of them or their relatives might still be around who remember what the building looked like. "A lot of the cowboys went in and out of the building," she said.

Anyone wanting to help may call the university or write to the following: address: Texas Tech Ranch Headquarters Museum, Box 4499, Lubbock, Texas, 79409.

Wetting It Down

Hereford volunteer firemen direct a stream of water into the bedroom window of a home at 413 Irvin after fire broke out in the structure Tuesday evening. The bedroom of the home, owned by Mark Mathews, received heavy damage. Firemen were called out again early Wednesday morning when a fire occurred at the Texsun Feed Yards.

Survey Shows Progress of '74 Grads

A total of 122 Hereford High graduates from the class of 1974 were enrolled in college, university, or vocational schools during the past year, with the majority attending vocational schools, West Texas State University, or Texas Tech University, according to a study of the class recently submitted to the school board by Mrs. Wilma Braddy, high school counselor here.

A total of 275 students graduated in the class of 1974.

Among the students furthering their education this past year, 77.66 per cent of the graduates made were C or higher. The report states that the 16 students who made all grades below the academic minimum made most of the grades below C.

The percentage of grades above C has stayed about the same since 1969.

More students are now attending the University of Texas at Austin and in previous years, with fewer students from the 1974 class attending WTSU than in past years.

Only nine students from the class enrolled in vocational school, a lower number than at any time since 1969.

Among the college students, 37.74 per cent were making grades at least as good, or better, than their high school grades, with the rest making lower grades.

There were 16 transcripts with grades below the minimum academic requirements of the college or university involved. Hereford High grads, according to the study, make grades comparable to average grades at WTSU and Texas Tech, and those who attend other universities make better grades than those who attend WTSU or Tech.

Most of the seniors who did not go to college this past year found employment in Hereford.

They study was designed to "present information that can be helpful in making needed changes in the high school college preparatory course and the high school vocational department."

Many students enrolled in English courses on the college level this past year, with psychology, American History, biology, chemistry, mathematics courses, and architecture also being popular among the 1974 grads.

About 40 1974 grads enrolled in WTSU, and another 30 in Texas Tech. The remainder of the students attending colleges went to 25 schools in Texas, Oklahoma, Missouri, Arkansas, and Colorado.

The students attending vocational school attended schools in Dallas and Amarillo.

Hereford Man Killed In Wreck

A Hereford man was killed Sunday when a car in which he was a passenger struck a tree.

Juan Perez Gonzales, 33, was dead on arrival at Palo Duro Hospital in Canyon.

The accident occurred about 2:15 Sunday afternoon on Interstate 27 about a mile north of Canyon.

According to investigating officers, the car was southbound at the time of the accident.

Raymond Alvarado Martinez, 30, of Hereford; driver of the vehicle, was treated at the Canyon hospital and later released.

Officers reported that Martinez apparently lost control of the car and ran off the right side of the highway, hitting the tree.

Funeral services for Gonzales were held Wednesday in St. Joseph's Catholic Church with Father Joe Gilligan, pastor, officiating.

Burial was in St. Joseph's Cemetery under the direction of Gilliland-Watson Funeral Home.

Gonzales is survived by his wife, Esperanza; three sons, Steve, Ricky and Tony, all of Hereford; a daughter, Becky, of Hereford; his father, Juan Gonzales of Hereford; two brothers, Santos of Hereford and Cornelio of Chicago; and five sisters, Mrs. Alicia Reyes of Lubbock, Mrs. Elida Garcia of Tulla, Lucy Gonzales of Lubbock, Mrs. Esperanza Martinez of Hereford and Mrs. Leonarda Gonzales of Cotulla.

Bullock Forecasts Low Treasury After Two Years of Spending

AUSTIN—Comptroller Bob Bullock said this week in an updated revenue forecast that the state will be left with peanuts in the treasury after paying its bills for the next two years.

And there wouldn't even be peanuts left if it hadn't been for the governor's vetoes, additional tax officers given the Comptroller and cuts in welfare budgets, Bullock said.

Bullock's revenue forecast taking into account the governor's vetoes and the Legislature's spending bills said the state can expect to have a $27 million balance after spending $12.1 billion during the upcoming two-year budget period.

"That $27 million," Bullock said, "just happens to equal the total of spending items vetoed by the governor and is 1,000 times more than the small change left on the table when the Legislature got through passing its spending plans."

"The Legislature spent every dollar we said would be available," Bullock said. "When they got through there was $27,463 left—or about half the cost of operating the Legislature for a day."

"In other words, if they had stayed in session one more day they would have had to adjourn by noon because they would have been out of money," he said.

Bullock said he was able to certify all the Legislature's spending bills to the governor only because the Legislature cut $117 million in welfare requests and because he counted as revenue $100 million he promised he could raise in new tax money if given adequate people and budget to do the job.

In a letter accompanying the new revenue forecast Bullock thanked the Legislature for authorizing the new tax auditors and compliance officers, saying that they will "bring both efficiency and equity to tax administration in Texas."

Most of the $100 million he promised to produce in new money shows up as increased sales tax revenue in the forecast, Bullock said.

Appraisal-- from Page 1

directors, Welty said that the HEW migrant grant for the public health clinic, located at the hospital, would run out around Dec. 1 and that federal revenue sharing funds from the county would help continue the program. The hospital would help fund about $20,000 of the program through administrative supervision.

The present operating budget of the clinic is $80,000. Welty said the clinic staff did not reapply for funds because they were told they could not qualify again.

The hospital's portion would come in part from additional funds raised through increased tax collections if the county increases tax assessment percentage. Functions of the clinic include immunizations, TB detection, surgery, internist programs, and nurse practitioners who offer advice such as proper nutrition.

The commissioners told Welty to seek funds from the city and took his request under consideration.

Dean Stallings of the Deaf Smith County 4-H Horse Club asked for land in the 30-acre tract recently purchased by the county for Kids Inc. baseball diamonds. He was told of a tract near the Hereford Riders Club Arena that could suit the club's wishes for a 100 foot long practice arena to be built with pipe railings. The court agreed to the use of the tract.

A WATER LEAK in the basement of the county museum was explained to the commissioners who decided to seek further advice before arriving at a solution. A humidifier was also requested by Ruby Kendrick Sears, museum director, for the protection of the historic displays. This request also was taken under advisement.

The commissioners had verbally agreed to the joint tennis complex between the city and schools, but decided to take an affirmative vote for the court minutes. The schools will let the bid with each of the three government bodies splitting the $46,000 cost.

Judge Morgan has received complaints about use of county vehicles for personal purposes by county employees. He didn't know of a precise policy although the vehicles are supposed to be for county business only.

Commissioner Bruce Coleman said, "We need to know if the vehicles are being used for personal reasons although legitimate reasons do exist. But, there are legitimate abuses."

All commissioners were present.

Crop-Bearing House Plants?

Green-thumb apartment dwellers may soon be able to eat their ornamental plants and enjoy them.

A new cherry-type tomato that can be hung like a vine from a flower basket has been developed by horticulturists at South Dakota's Agricultural Experiment station after eight years' research.

Plant developers say the new variety can provide apartment dwellers with fresh tomatoes almost every month of the year. While the new plant is not yet on the market, it is expected to be tested in homes this year.

So far, it has only been grown in greenhouses although horticulturists say it is not a true greenhouse tomato. Unlike greenhouse varieties, it doesn't need stimulation or vibration to pollinate.

It also has a shallow root system which makes it suitable for pot-growing. And sunlight from a nearby window will be enough to keep the plant healthy.

Mrs. Morell

Red Cross Develops Safety Techniques

Many new procedures and techniques in water safety and lifesaving have recently been developed by the Red Cross, including a new advanced lifesaving course.

The new procedures and techniques have been explained recently to area lifeguards and others interested in lifesaving by Jim Welch, a Red Cross water safety specialist from Ft. Worth.

Welch said that many of the new techniques are applicable for lakes and oceans, but that others are applicable to swimming in pools.

The advanced lifesaving course, Welch explained, is a replacement and an improvement over the old senior lifesaving course; the new course runs about 24 or 25 hours in length.

In place of the old junior lifesaving course, the Red Cross is adding two new courses (1) basic water safety, and (2) basic rescue and water safety.

The basic water safety course runs about four hours. It is designed for any age group, and there is no requirement involving swimming ability. The course deals with non-swimming, elementary rescues, which even a five-year-old child could bring off, according to Welch.

One example of such an elementary rescue would involve throwing a buoyant plastic water bottle into the water to help rescue a growing swimmer.

The basic rescue course requires more swimming ability, has a minimum age of 11, and goes into advanced techniques of rescue.

The advanced lifesaving course has a minimum age of 15. Included is a chapter dealing with preventive lifeguarding, with the general skills and knowledge which a lifeguard should have.

"Lifesaving is not lifeguarding, and the two are not the same," Welch explained, "but lifesavers are expected to be good lifeguards." The advanced course deals with techniques which would help lifeguards in rescue situations. A chapter on first aid has been added to the course, in addition.

One new technique involves the use of a rescue tube by a lifesaver, which is fastened around a victim in a rescue situation. The victim is then towed to shore. Approaches to victims have been modified and improved, and lifesavers are now being taught a "dive to the rear approach" to victims, for use in swimming pools.

In addition, "leveling off and carrying" procedures have been updated and improved. Additional skills have been added to "defense and release" methods.

One of the most important innovations, Welch said, involves the proper handling of an injured diver. Improper handling frequently causes further damage to neck or back injuries in those situations, Welch said. And the use of a backboard has been added in the handling of injured divers.

VA Questions, Answers

EDITOR'S NOTE: Veterans and their families are asking thousands of questions concerning the benefits their Government provides for them

Q—My education allowance check for last month has not arrived from the Veterans Administration. What should I do?

A—Check with the "vep rep" if there's one on your college campus. If not, write to the VA regional office which has your file. Be sure to provide your name, claim number and address.

Q—I'm a World War I veteran drawing compensation from the Veterans Administration for a service connected disability. Am I eligible for a $3,300 automobile allowance?

A—No, sorry. The law restricts this benefit to eligible veterans of World War II, Korean Conflict, Post-Korean period, Vietnam Era and military service personnel currently on active duty.

Q—How many spinal cord injury treatment centers and prosthetic treatment centers does the Veterans Administration have?

A—As of June 1975, VA had 17 spinal cord injury centers and 20 prosthetic treatment centers for amputees, geographically dispersed around the country.

64th Session Passes Laws Affecting P&W Department

When Texas Legislators left the State Capitol June 2, they had passed for the Governor's signature some 85 pieces of legislation which affected the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Much of the legislation has statewide impact.

At the urging of Texas bowhunters who felt they "were not paying their way," solons passed legislation which requires archers to have a $3.25 archery hunting stamp in addition to a valid hunting license to hunt deer, turkey or javelinas during any open archery season in which only longbows and arrows may be used.

Money collected from the $3.25 archery stamp will go into the P&W's Game and Fish Fund Nine which is earmarked by the department for only fish and wildlife projects and law enforcement.

Wildlife officials at the P&W say that the funds collected from the archery stamp will cover the administration of special archery seasons during the fall and time spent by game wardens in enforcement work.

Under the provisions of another bill, both archers and gun hunters must make every reasonable effort to retrieve any game animal or bird and to keep edible portions of their kill in edible condition.

These provisions also apply to all fish with the exception of "rough" species such as carp, gar and drum. Legislators banned, effective immediately, the sale of striped bass, walleye, northern pike, muskellunge, smallmouth bass, freshwater trout and flathead catfish. These species are added to a list already including fish such as largemouth bass and crappie which are prohibited from sale.

Parks and Wildlife Department Fisheries Division Director Bob Kemp said that the flathead catfish in particular was put on the list because the species is being overfished in Texas.

"Flatheads have to be at least six or seven years old before they spawn," said Kemp. "They cannot stand commercial fishing pressure and still reproduce themselves in adequate numbers." At the same time, Texas Legislators set bag and possession limits on many species of introduced fish effective in those counties subject to general law. The new limits conform to those set by Parks and Wildlife Commissioners for counties under the P&W regulatory authority.

Game wardens have the authority to issue citations to boaters for failure to stop and render aid at the scene of a boating accident in which any person is involved. The House bill which amends the "Texas Water Safety Act" provides new penalties of from $1,000 to $2,000 for the violation.

A similar bill requires a certificate of title for transfer or original registration of motorboats in excess of 14 feet long and outboard motors in excess of 12 horsepower. The fee is $2 until Sept. 1, 1977, and $1.50 thereafter.

Effective date of the bill is Jan. 1, 1976.

According to law enforcement officials at the Parks and Wildlife Department, the certificate will give boosters additional proof of ownership and assist in recovering stolen property.

Since American alligator populations in Texas are on the road to recovery, general laws protecting 'gators were repealed. The species is still protected under the state and federal endangered species acts.

Hunting and taking of alligators is still prohibited. The department is developing plans to transplant alligators from areas of high concentration to localities with few of the big reptiles.

Staff members of the P&W plan to approach the commission during either the August or September meetings with proposed regulations for the issuance of antlerless deer permits. New legislation allows the P&W Commission to establish the rules governing the issuance of such permits.

With the exception of Zavala County, antlerless deer permits will be issued by the department this year instead of antlerless deer tags. Zavala County Commissioners voted to continue the 1974 antlerless deer tag system. Under the old tag system used in some counties, the landowner could request as many tags as he desired and had complete control over the antlerless deer harvest.

After approval by the P&W Commission, wildlife biologists will be able to issue permits based on biological surveys of deer living in the particular areas.

The Texas Senate also expanded a previous statute dealing with the $3 white-winged dove stamp sold by the Parks and Wildlife Department.

With commission approval the department now has authority to use one-half of the stamp revenue for either the purchase, lease or development of white-winged dove habitat.

Previous laws specified that 50 per cent of the funds be used for the purchase of such habitat. The remainder is dedicated to research and management on the dove.

These rivers must be in a free-flowing natural condition. The quality of the water and the amount of flow are also considered. One of the most important aspects is the state of development along the river, although some evidence of man's activities may be allowed.

The three classifications of waterways in Texas includes wild rivers, scenic rivers, and recreational rivers.

To determine which river or waterway should be put in one of the three categories, the P&W sent questionnaires to knowledgeable water recreationalists asking for a list of their favorite streams and reasons for possible inclusion into the Texas waterways system.

Members of the trail and waterway branch actually floated many of the suggested waterways to check the streams potential.

Studies were made of published reports on Texas waterways for additional information and discussions with waterways experts and enthusiasts were recorded.

From all of this information came the publication "Texas Waterways-an Analysis."

A few copies of this analysis are available by sending a written request to Texas Parks & Wildlife Department, Ron Josselot, Trail and waterway, John H. Reagan Bldg., Austin, Texas 78701.

Supreme Court delays death penalty ruling.

View From The Plains

BY J.D. PEER

TEXAS PARKS AND WILDLIFE DEPT.

The Texas Parks & Wildlife Department's trail and waterway section has completed an analysis of Texas waterways for the primary purpose of enhancing the recreational usage of selected rivers and streams in Texas.

The "analysis" provides an in-depth look into such aspects as which waterways are floatable, the best times of year to float them, water conditions and flow, general descriptions of the waterways, points of public access, outstanding land marks and unique features and areas which have potential for danger.

"Some of our waterways are being subjected to adverse impacts which diminish free flowing and natural qualities of the streams and some means of securing and protecting these waterways are essential," Ron Josselot, head of trail and waterway planning, said.

"We have become urbanized and escape to these sanctuaries is necessary for our well being," said Josselot. "The increased usage of some of the more popular waterways indicates that a waterways system should be completed."

The passage of the National Wild and Scenic Rivers Act of 1968 lay the basic groundwork for a system of waterways classification across America.

The only Texas waterway now being considered for inclusion into the National network is the Rio Grande river from Alamito creek near Presidio to the backwaters of Amistad reservoir.

Texas has followed these same guidelines and a waterway must meet certain criteria for inclusion into the state system.

Energy Shortage Is a Crisis, Not A Crunch, Mills Tells Rotary

"We're definitely in an energy crisis now, not just an energy crunch," said Bob Mills, Pioneer Natural Gas public relations director, to members of the Hereford Rotary Club at a weekly luncheon Monday.

"At first, when the energy shortage first hit, I thought Energy Crunch was a better term, but we are now in a crisis and solutions must be found," he said. "Pioneer is in a good situation as opposed to other companies who are not accepting any new customers."

"Some companies are accepting domestic customers but no industrial customers. But Pioneer is taking on industries, especially the larger employers."

At the first of the luncheon, Johnie Price, president, presented Buddy Peeler, past president, with his past president's name tag. Peeler, general manager of KPAN Radio, also began a new meeting procedure of a reading the latest news as he gets off the radio wire service printout.

Price said the club's district governor would make his annual visit here Sept. 7 and 8. Preparations will be made Aug 4 when an advance representative is here.

Mills, noted for his "pet project" of pushing for an ice hockey team in Amarillo, was asked to talk on the total energy situation.

He commended the West Texas people for their knowledge of the energy business, which he explained was better than the rest of the nation. The remark was based on an independent survey of "Attitudes and Opinions of the Energy Situation in West Texas" conducted by West Texas State University Hereford was part of the study with 97 responses.

"The West Texas People prefer a higher price for their gas rather than not having any at all," he said. "Pioneer has been passing the higher cost of gas reserves to customers through a mix of the old contract expense and the higher expense of new contracts. This means that the customer's price is actually lower than the current price paid by Pioneer for its gas contracts."

"The industry is being slowed down with 'tar'-Taxes and regulation," Mills said. "We're being deluged with finicky little regulations out of Washington D.C."

What is needed, Mills explained, is a nationwide program of a positive nature. President Ford had presented one and Congress voted it down and even now the major Congressional leaders are attacking the legislative body for inaction.

The recent attempt to change the priority of irrigation gas use from priority two to three was an example of having to check from hour to hour on the energy situation in relation to government intervention, Mills said. The Priority, however, has been retained for another year.

Mills said that one of the administrators in Washington asked why farmers had to use so much gas to heat their water before using it on crops. "It's guys like this that are writing the regulations that affect you and I," he added.

"This nation must become self-sufficient and we can in about 15 years if all the resources of the major companies are pooled together. We must first reallocate use of all fuels and start developing new fuels."

This would have to be accomplished by keeping the "Feds" out of it, Mills indicated. The government interest was shown when some 2,300 bills on energy were introduced in the recent federal legislative sessions.

"It's scary gentlemen when you continually hear all the negative news coming out of Washington," he said.

Concerning the Pioneer fuel supply, Mills said, "We will be able to supply your needs. The only curtailment, which is just a cutback and not a shutoff of gas, occurs when there is an unprecedented amount used at one time in irrigation farming."

Even had the priority been changed, Pioneer would still have been able to supply gas to most of its customers since it involved only 700 of the company's 3,400 wells.

FEA Is Discouraging Promotion Of Gas Lamps

Natural gas companies are being urged by the Federal Energy Administration to voluntarily stop promotion of the energy-wasting gas lamps used to decorate lawns across the nation.

gas every little bit of saving is important," Fowler said.

It is estimated there are four million decorative gas lamps in the United States.

"A decorative gas lamp burns 18,000 cubic feet of natural gas a year, or as much energy as is needed to provide an average family with hot water for six months," notes Delbert M. Fowler of Dallas, FEA regional administrator.

Fowler said generating and delivering electricity for a 60-watt electric bulb for 24 hours requires less than 17,000 BTU's of fuel energy. The equivalent gas light uses three times that much.

Two other factors pointed out by Fowler are that the electric light can easily be switched off when not needed, while most gas lamps burn 24 hours per day. Thus, if a light is used five hours an evening, the net energy saving is almost 14 to 1 in favor of the bulb.

Replacing gas lamps with electric bulbs could save an estimated 32,000 barrels of oil daily, enough to heat 600,000 homes for a year.

"This doesn't seem like a tremendous amount of saving, but with the shortage of natural

INSUR-MATION

What is "Whole Life" Insurance?

Whole life is permanent insurance which accumulates cash value and paid-up values. This will last as long as you do. Usually the premiums are level. The increase of the above benefits, which are called Non-Forfeiture Values, becomes greater the longer the policy is in force. You have the option to continue the premiums for the rest of your life but are not required to do so. To illustrate, using an example company, a $10,000 policy purchased at age 35, the insured could at the end of 20 years cease paying premiums and be insured for nearly $6,000.

Seminar To Include La Plata Principal

The Institute for Development of Educational Activities, Inc. (I/D/E/A), the educational affiliate of the Charles F. Kettering Foundation announced today that Mr. Robert P. Hughes, Principal of La Plata Junior High School in Hereford, has been chosen as one of five hundred outstanding American educators to participate in a national seminar this summer. The I/D/E/A/ Fellows Institutes are designed to give participants a thorough grounding in some of the new and emerging problems and practices affecting secondary education.

The theme for the 1975 Fellows Institute is EDUCATING FOR RESPONSIBILITY. The selection of this highly significant topic is based upon recent studies of school reform which concluded that schools cannot be reformed substantially unless individual rights, which students have gained over the past few years, are balanced with individual responsibilities to the school and society.

An analysis will be made of the need for a new and more vigorous emphasis on moral and citizenship education, the responsibilities youth have to school and society, and the need for students to assume greater responsibility for their own learning.

Sixteen outstanding educational and political leaders making presentations will include such noted individuals as: Dr. Leon Lessinger, University of South Carolina; Dr. Edwin Fenton, Harvard University; and Senator Julian Bond, Georgia.

The I/D/E/A/ Fellows Institutes are the oldest, continuing in-service program for school administrators in the nation. Over 3,500 elementary and secondary educators from North America and overseas have participated in this program.

Hauling It Out

A wrecker hoists a vehicle out of the ditch on Highway 385 three miles north of Hereford following an accident Tuesday. Leesa Ballentine of 301 West 15th in Friona was southbound on 385 when she apparently lost control of her car and ran off the side of the road, into the ditch, narrowly missing the tree at the side of the road. Miss Ballentine was admitted to Deaf Smith General Hospital with bruises and possible rib injuries following the accident.

Lower Attic Temperatures Help In Cooling Homes

As much as 10 per cent of the cooling provided by your home air-conditioning unit may be going to waste due to high attic temperatures.

Attic heat can put an extra burden on your air-conditioning system if your home has only four inches of attic insulation," says Dr. Bill Stewart, an agricultural engineer with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "So you should either add extra insulation or reduce attic temperatures to reduce air-conditioning costs."

Stewart notes that attic temperatures can reach as high as 150 to 160 degrees F. on a hot, still day. And he cites research at the University of Illinois which shows that these high temperatures can be reduced with attic ventilation that has an air flow rate of two cubic feet per minute per square foot of attic floor space.

"Power ventilators or gravity ventilation can help reduce attic temperatures," points out the Texas A&M University System engineer. Gravity ventilation requires soffit vents around the edges of the roof and high outlet vents along the ridge of the house.

The most effective vent system, according to Stewart, is one that combines a continuous ridge vent with a continuous soffit vent. For this system to be effective, about three square inches of soffit vent and three square inches of ridge vent should be provided for each square foot of the attic area.

Musicians, Twirlers Attend Tech Camp

A record number of 1,400 high school and junior high school band musicians and twirlers Monday (July 14) began two weeks of intensive study, training and rehearsals at the 40th annual Texas Tech University Band Camp. Registration and auditions for the 12 concert bands were conducted Sunday in preparation for the band camp which will conclude with final concerts and other public performances July 25, according to Dean Killian, camp director and director of bands at Texas Tech. The final performances are open to the public.

Guest conductors, consultants and directors are Dr. Francis McBeth of Quachita Baptist University and Claude T. Smith of Chillicothe, Mo. Other band directors on the faculty are James Sudduth of Southwest Texas State University, Lee Boyd Montgomery of Austin Westlake, Mrs. Barbara Prentice of Seymour, Phil Anthony of Lubbock Coronado, Chief Warrant Officer Claude Hedgcock Sr. of the U.S. Army band, Doyle Gammill of Lubbock Monterey, Robert Mayes of Texas Tech, Dick Whitten of Lubbock Mackenzie, Keith Bearden of Lubbock Monterey,

Bill Bradley of Big Spring, and Leon Long of Lubbock Cooper. Stage band directors are Don Turner and Mayes of Texas Tech, Bill Snodgrass of South Plains College, Jerry Gowler of Denton, and Ron Koen and Mike Burt of Arlington Bowie and Arlington Lamar. Twirling instructors are Mrs. Chris Jones, Mrs. Diana Mayes and Miss Sheila Watkins of Lubbock and Texas Tech majorettes. Drum majoring instructors are Marlin Lindsay of Levelland, Vic Kyler of Spearman and Richard Kincaid of Lubbock. The camp is offering a band directors' workshop with university credit for visiting directors. Instructors for the workshop are McBeth, Smith and Joel Leach. Out-of-town band campers are housed in Wall, Gates, Hulen and Clement residence halls. Planned recreational activities for the high school band musicians are scheduled for each night and they are free to students living in the residence halls. Those living off campus are invited to participate at the camp's reduced rates. Chartered bus service is supplied to and from the campus.

Baptists Stress Sunday School Plan

"Action," a new plan for building Sunday School enrollment in Southern Baptist churches, was one of several major new emphases for upcoming years introduced during the Sunday School Leadership Conference at Glorieta Baptist Conference Center. Church leaders were acquainted with Action through the testimony of Andy Anderson, pastor of Riverside Baptist Church, Fort Myers, Fla., who developed the plan in his church over the last two years.

Using the plan, Riverside Church's Sunday School enrollment grew in two years from 1,094 to 4,000, while the average attendance increased by the same percentage. It was reported that 200 churches of varying sizes have tried the plan and experienced similar results.

Response to the plan has been "extremely favorable" according to Donald F. Trotter, manager of the Sunday School department at the Southern Baptist Sunday School Board. Trotter reported that an Action manual, published by Convention Press, would be available to church leaders before the end of the summer.

Anderson also reported that other programs in the church had increased in varying proportions along with Bible study attendance.

On Monday morning of Sunday School week Anderson met with 215 pastors, ministers of education and Sunday School leaders to share the details of Action.

"When you see someone succeed, you are encouraged," stated George Syer, pastor of Lazy Brook Baptist Church, Houston, Tex. "I think it (Action) will be widely accepted to meet the needs of the decline we have experienced in Sunday School enrollment in past years."

James Todd, pastor of Lackland Baptist Church, San Antonio, Tex., said Action will give church leaders "new motivation." He continued to say that "there is an interest and a need; the next step is to be sure we move in the direction of implementing the plan."

Harold Evans, director of associational missions in Blue River Association, Kansas City, Mo., was impressed with the plan, but pointed out that churches need to be certain the "quality" of Bible study be high for the large number of new members drawn in by the new plan.

United Parcel Service Gets Authority

For the first time in its 68-year history, United Parcel Service has been granted authority to provide coast-to-coast delivery service.

package pickup and delivery in all 48 contiguous states, subject to certain preexisting and relatively minor restrictions.

The new service will commence on about July 16, said a company spokesman, when all of the regulatory steps are completed.

Although a large number of package delivery firms provide such service throughout sections of the nation, United Parcel Service has become the primary alternative to the government's parcel post delivery system.

"This ICC decision," said the company spokesman, "fills in the last two major gaps in the United Parcel Service delivery area.

"It adds five full states to the authorized service area, and also opens service between the Pacific Coast states and the northeastern states running from Maine to Virginia."

The five full states added to the UPS service area are: Arizona, Idaho, Montana, Nevada and Utah.

"As a consequence," said the UPS spokesman, "the first truly national alternative to the government's parcel post system will be available."

No Magic Key

By BOB WEAR

Facts and truth are not always easy to accept, but it is a mistake, sometimes a tragic mistake, to ignore them. Of course, there are wise and unwise ways; right ways and wrong ways to accept and face up to things as they are.

One of the first things to do, in all situations, is to realize that there is "no magic key" we can turn and thus change that which is real; or bring about everything we desire.

things are happening to them. In fact, all kinds of claims are made; but the claims are completely contrary to and out of harmony with "facts and truth". These people think they have found the magic key, but there is "no magic key".

Wishing is often used to replace effort and work. Some people spend a whole lifetime wishing they could have things and do things which can be obtained or realized only by diligent work and patient endurance. Many of these people are convinced that, by some magical happening, their wishes will be realized; but there is "no magic key".

"Wishes are the source of idle and vain dreams, and of air castles which have no solid foundation. The idle wish sends one on a vain journey from which he gains nothing but mental emptiness and discontent with his lot in life, and it may be, some rebukes of conscience, if it is sharp enough to see his folly." — Anon.

There are successful ways to cope with "facts and truth"; but there is "no magic key" that we can use to make things the way we think we want them to be.

TAKES OWN LIFE

SANTA MONICA, CALIF. — Dan Dalley III, who shot himself to death in front of a hospital recently, was the third offspring of a famous Hollywood parent to commit suicide within the past two months. James Arness' daughter took an overdose of sleeping pills, and Gregory Peck's son shot himself to death.

THE WORLD OF FANTASY is appealing to many folk, and they are able to make their fantasies serve them momentarily. This includes daydreaming which is admitted to be useful, if it is not prolonged to the extent that it becomes confused with reality.

Daydreaming is "a pleasant reverie of wish fulfillment", but there is no real fulfillment; "no magic key" we can turn to make these dreams come true. If there is too much of this daydreaming, we become disoriented and incapable of functioning well in the world of reality.

Hallucinating has become a widespread practice, and this is obviously the futile attempt of many persons to find a "magic key" which they can use to change the real world of "facts and truth". There are different ways to produce hallucinations, varying from overworking the imagination to the use of harmful drugs. There is, however, "no magic" in any of this; and a little of it is too much.

DIFFERENT TYPES OF RELIGION are used by many people as the "magic key". Some of these people let their children die by refusing them medical assistance; others die from the bites of poisonous snakes; others pretend that special

Miss Brink Honored As TCU Scholar

Nancy Brink of Hereford has been recognized at Texas Christian University as a TCU Scholar for the 1975 spring semester.

The award, given for the second semester, cites those students who achieve a 4.0 grade-point average, or straight "A," for a minimum of 12 semester hours.

"While 'A' grades are not the only indication of educational accomplishment, they do mark the attainment of our professors' highest challenge," said Dr. Thomas B. Brewer, vice chancellor and dean of the University. "Those students who have achieved excellence in their academic progress worked hard for this honor."

Nancy, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Eugene K. Brink of Hereford, is a graduate of Hereford High School.

Carlsbad Park Draws Visitors

In the four years since Living Desert State Park opened its plant and animal displays to the public, over 175,000 persons have visited the unique attraction.

There are over 5,000 varieties of cacti and succulent plants in the park, along with most of the mammals, birds and reptiles found in both arid and mountainous regions of the Southwest.

The bird exhibit contains 13 cages with walk-through areas allowing visitors to stroll among the birds. Desert landscaping softens the already gentle lines of Spanish architecture used in construction.

The reptile exhibit has 11 dioramas, filled with creatures that give most people goosebumps. Rattlesnakes are the most prominent, with diamondback, prairie, Gadsden and rock rattlers on hand. There also are iguanas, coachwhip snakes, Gila monsters, garter snakes and salamanders on display.

At the eastern end of the park, at the edge of a bluff overlooking Carlsbad and the Pecos River Valley, the hooved animals are housed. They include American bison, or buffalo, kudu, elk, and javalina, a wild pig native to the Southwest.

The park provides an excellent frame for two world-famed collections of cacti. The Charlie Mieg collection, long housed in Phoenix and valued at over $150,000, now belongs to the park, as does the smaller John Blea collection from Roswell, N.M.

Among the 5,000 varieties are several boogum trees from Mexico's Baja California peninsula. The odd plants seem to be one of Mother Nature's goods, because they look more like a long tap root growing up from the ground than they do a tree.

Fragile organ pipe cactus, Joshua trees, century plants and giant saguaro stand like sentries along the park's many trails. They sand dollars, bishop's caps, living rocks and other small plants hug the earth, in contrast to their tall, upright cousins.

The bear grotto is a favorite with the kids. Two female black bears make their home there.

The nocturnal exhibit, a maze which tunnels under the park's surface, features special lighted exhibits of the burrows of small Southwestern animals.

Included in the exhibit are a kit fox, raccoons, ring-tailed cats, badgers, porcupines and squirrels. Outside the exhibit, the animals can enter an exercise and fresh air pit straight from their dens. Visitors can see them from either location.

The otter pond is a favorite attraction at the park. These sleek aquatic clowns perform their antics to the delight of youngsters. The otters can be seen from three different levels: a window looking into their sleeping quarters, a window below water level and one above the water line.

Another popular sight is the prairie dog town. The shrill whistle of the burrowing animals attracts visitors to their domain, where the little animals play hide-and-seek, popping up and down in their burrows.

The park is owned by the State of New Mexico, but is managed for the state by the City of Carlsbad under a special contract.

It is located on a high hill just northwest of Carlsbad on U.S. 285. The park is open seven days a week and is lighted for night viewing.

Nazareth Schedules Festival

The third annual Nazareth German Festival will be held July 20 at Nazareth.

Activities will include a baseball game, an arts and craft show, square-dancing, a Wurst Supper, and polka dancing.

The baseball game will begin at 1:30 p.m. July 20. The arts and crafts show is a new attraction, and will be held at the High School. Anyone living in Castro County is eligible for entering the show. Judging will be done by popular vote. The show will last from 2 p.m. until 8 p.m. July 20.

Beginning at 2 p.m. there will be pick-up foods available at the Community Hall. Square-dancing will begin in the school cafeteria at 3 p.m., with Bill Campbell and Les Grumpy from Amarillo doing the calling. There will be a $1 admission charge.

The Wurst Supper will be served at 4 p.m. with the menu consisting of a variety of German food. The price per plate will be $2.25.

The Haviak Polka Band from Rowena, Texas will play for the dance from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m. Admission is $2 per person.

PRPC Sets Up Medical Service

A regionwide Emergency Medical Services System for the Panhandle of Texas is to be initiated immediately according to E.L. (Eddie) Melin, Director of the Panhandle Regional Health Council.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare has just announced the awarding of $318,478 to the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission for implementation of the EMS grant application submitted last fall by the Health Council.

$106,150 matching funds have been allocated by participating counties and cities to purchase a regionwide communication system, ambulances, emergency medical technician training and vehicle and hospital emergency equipment.

The "EMS" Plan will enable the Panhandle to upgrade their emergency medical services to deliver the trauma or heart attack victim to the right place at the right time with the proper treatment by trained and qualified professionals resulting in the reduction of needless deaths and disabling injuries.

Broad objectives of the program include:

1. Provision for an emergency medical communications network as the backbone of the EMS system.

2. Provision for the adequate selection of health personnel, highly skilled and experienced, meeting the needs of the emergency patient and the expectations of the community.

3. Provision for appropriate training and continuing education programs for all medical and allied personnel.

4. Provision for a regional transportation service system available at all times and designed and equipped to provide life supporting measures.

5. Provision for an adequate number of easily accessible emergency medical facilities which are collectively capable of providing services on a continuous basis with appropriate standards relating to capability, location, personnel and equipment.

6. Provision for programs in public education and information on the EMS system for the Panhandle resident as well as the visitor.

According to Betty O'Rourke, Coordinator for EMS, the EMS Regional Plan including all standards, objectives and implementation methods will be printed and distributed to all county and city officials as well as medical facilities.

In early July an EMS meeting will be conducted to fully inform all participants in the EMS system.

THE SCIENTISTS TELL ME...

By Robert L. Haney, Science Writer
The Texas Agricultural Experiment Station

Future Safaris In Texas Can Promote Big Game

Exotic game herds in Texas have grown from a few odd animals kept as a curiosity to dozens of herds involving thousands of animals.

At a time when world population pressures and the demand for protein has resulted in thinning of many wild herds, Texas has begun a serious expansion of big game numbers.

Some of the big ranches of Texas, working with the Department of Wildlife and Fisheries Sciences of the Agricultural Experiment Station and some of the big zoos in the state, have imported and multiplied more than two dozen kinds of big game animals.

At present, the eight most important (together with their estimated numbers) are: axis deer, 6,450 on 69 ranches; 4,125 blackbuck antelope on 56 ranches; 1,300 aoudad sheep on 40 ranches; 10,000 mouflon sheep on 121 ranches; 10,000 European wild boar on over 100 ranches; 4,000 nilgai antelope on 7 ranches; 875 sika deer on 22 ranches; and 445 fallow deer on 43 ranches. Dr. James Teer, head of the Department of Wildlife and Fisheries Sciences for the Experiment Station, is project leader of the Caesar Kleberg Research Program in Wildlife Ecology. This privately-funded program has assisted in the rapid expansion of this important new source of income to many Texas ranches.

More and more ranchers are realizing that wildlife can be an income producer that rivals their domestic livestock. In many places in North America, wildlife resources on private lands are being recognized as an economic asset that needs to be encouraged, guarded and harvested.

Present trends in many of the 50 states where there is little public land suggest that we are adopting the traditional European system of producing and harvesting game animals. This not only involves the big game species but smaller mammals, upland game birds and migratory birds.

Commercialization of hunting takes many forms, but the basic point is that money is paid for hunting recreation. "The displeasure that many Americans feel toward commercialization of hunting and fishing is well known to sociologists and wildlife ecologists," Teer says. "Our society feels that hunting and fishing is an expression of their heritage and that to pay for something that has been their right takes the purity and pleasure from the sport."

"However, the ethics and morality of rewarding those who produce is also deeply ingrained into American culture. Therefore, it seems appropriate that those who own and manage the land should be rewarded for their protection and management of wildlife in whatever form it occurs."

"This need not imply that production of wildlife should be directed toward economic gain alone, but for those who do allocate resources of range forage and the like, some reward system is merited.

"Such an allocation of resources is a basic decision in any land use program, and wildlife production must compete economically with other uses of the land."

"One especially interesting development from the sale of season leases has been the development of family-oriented weekend and holiday recreation centers. Landowners are beginning to attract more of the recreation market by improving facilities and offering additional activities for all members of the family."

"Fishing in streams and stockpond, horseback riding, hiking, camping and photographing wildlife and nature are other facets of leasing programs that are becoming important."

"Income from all these sources is encouraging landowners to help increase both native game and the imported big game animals," Teer concluded.

American Legion Convention Opens

The 57th Annual Convention of The American Legion, Department of Texas, to be held in Fort Worth July 17-20, promises to be one of the most colorful and entertaining in history, according to Joe L. Matthews, the general convention chairman.

Department Commander James W. White of Houston will preside over the Legion conclave with all general sessions being held in the Sheraton-Fort Worth Hotel.

Heading the American Legion Auxiliary will be Mrs. Mack (Wanda) Potter of Fort Worth. Congressman Ray Roberts of McKinney, Chairman, House Committee on Veterans Affairs, is scheduled to deliver the keynote address on Friday afternoon at the opening joint session of the Legion and Auxiliary. Fort Worth mayor, the Honorable Cliff Overcash, will welcome the delegates to Fort Worth.

According to Chairman Matthews, The American Legion will have some 3,000 delegates and alternates in attendance and the Auxiliary anticipates approximately 1,000. Advance reservations indicate an overflow crowd. In addition to the official delegation, Legionnaires and Auxiliary members from all over Texas will attend, many bringing their families to vacation in Fort Worth following the convention.

the convention with hundreds of volunteers from the Posts and their Auxiliaries assisting in completing arrangements for a successful convention.

Aside from the color and entertainment the Legion and Auxiliary have mapped out a full four-day program of serious business pertaining to vast Texas programs to the Legion and Auxiliary. The Executive Committee, Board of Trustees and key standing committees will be busy throughout the convention.

The Memorial Service, under the direction of Edwin L. Johnson of Fort Worth, Dept. Chaplain, is scheduled for 9 a.m., Sunday. The election of Dept. Officers for the ensuing year will conclude the convention.

Miss Francie Bacon, Dept. National Oratorical Contest champion, will address the delegates Saturday morning. Jack W. Flynt of Dimmitt, National Vice Commander, will address the convention Saturday afternoon at 2 p.m.

Smallmouth Bass Promising In State

Smallmouth bass recently stocked in Canyon Lake by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department show early promise of rapid growth.

Canyon received some 100,000 of the bass as part of 295,000 smallmouths stocked in Texas waters this spring.

Harmon Henderson, P&WD biologist in charge of smallmouth work, said that bass stocked in the Central Texas lake as three-quarter-to-one-inch fingerlings May 21 were found to have doubled in size by June 5. Some of the fish seized from a cove on the lake were up to two inches long after 16 days of growth.

According to Henderson, all but 40,000 of the smallmouths came from the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service's Mammoth Springs Hatchery in Arkansas. "We have only 70 to 75 brood fish for our smallmouth program," said Henderson. "All of the fish are at the San Marcos State Hatchery."

Henderson said that he hopes to have 150 to 200 brood fish for next year's production. This is only the second year of substantial production and stocking of smallmouth bass in Texas.

Smallmouth bass, according to inland fisheries biologists at the P&WD, supplement largemouth and spotted bass rather than compete with them. The aim of the program is to increase the overall number of black bass—largemouth, smallmouth and spotted—available to Texas fishermen.

Scott Casey of Dallas joins Terry Funk of Umbarger to meet Amarillo's Alex Perez, and Killer Brooks, another former Dallas man who has been sharpening his street fighting skills in Detroit for a number of years.

Terry Funk, the new International Heavyweight Wrestling Champion, has had a bloody feud going with Brooks ever since the wild man made his first appearance in the Panhandle. Brooks' partner, Alex Perez, is a former boxing great. Once a Potter County Deputy Sheriff, Perez is not always a respecter of law and order in the ring.

Funk's partner, Scott Casey, was a weight lifter and body builder of note, and an all-around fine athlete. In the semi-final event, Rapid Ricky Romero meets the Alaskan. Noted for his speed, Romero faces a 6'4" giant, tipping the scales at 270 pounds, and toughened by years of timber work and logging camp brawls.

The Alaskan first left Alaska before it became a state, and besides his wrestling career was known to West Coast papers for his escapades with a notorious motorcycle gang. On his mantlepiece at home is an eighteen inch cube of metal that weighs four hundred pounds—souvenir of a motor bike that the police compacted for him when he was unable to produce legal papers for it.

In the opener, Bobby Jagers continues his vendetta against the Romero family as he takes the measure of Mario Romero, younger brother to Ricky. Jagers, like the Alaskan, is an ex-logger. He comes from Vancouver, Washington, and weighs 258 as opposed to his youthful opponent's 220.

Action at the Bull Barn starts at 9:00 p.m.

Conditions Good For Ducks

After a visit to the Canadian prairies of Saskatchewan and Alberta, waterfowl project leader C.D. Stutzenbaker of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department is optimistic for good duck production this summer.

"Usually dry and tillable lowlands are now potholes," said Stutzenbaker. "Most of the potholes are filled with early nesters such as canvasbacks, mallards and pintails and their broods are just beginning to show."

"Late nesters such as gadwalls and scaup should start to produce later in the summer."

Stutzenbaker said that water was everywhere, with many country roads flooded and Canadian wheat farmers having a difficult time of it.

Nevertheless these conditions could be a boon to waterfowl this year.

Suspense Unfolds In Mystery Novels

Death threats and international security are utilized by authors John Creasey and Anthony Price in two fiction novels being promoted this week at Deaf Smith County Library.

"A Herald Of Doom," by Creasey (as Gordon Ashe) interrupts the peaceful lives of a British couple who are crusading with the International Crime Haters. "You are going to die," is the ominous message received by Patrick and Felicity Dawlish as the plot spirals into an international incident.

Murder and intrigue catapult "Other Paths To Glory" by Anthony Price into the past as a young historian seeks dangerous knowledge concerning a battle of World War I. Paul Mitchell and his colleagues are being systematically ambushed as they get closer to a deadly secret.

Deaf Smith County Library is open free to the public from 9 a.m.-9 p.m. Monday and Thursday; from 9 a.m.-6 p.m. weekdays and until noon Saturday.

A HERALD OF DOOM

by John Creasey as Gordon Ashe

Felicity Dawlish, wife of Patrick Dawlish, the Deputy Assistant Commissioner for Crime of the Metropolitan Police Force in London, was one of the world's happy people—until a mysterious and beautiful young woman appeared in answer to Felicity's ad for a housekeeper.

Soon after Lois Kenning begins working for the Dawlishes, Felicity receives an anonymous note in the mail that reads "You are going to die." A day later in Zurich, Patrick Dawlish, attending a convention of the International Crime Hater, the organization he had helped found, receives the same dire warning.

Dawlish returns to London only to find that despite a continuing worldwide increase in crime, the home office has inexplicably cut off British financial support of the Crime Haters and that his very job is in jeopardy. When Felicity is nearly fatally poisoned by a box of chocolates, Dawlish perceives a pattern of threats not only to himself and his wife, but to the Crime Haters and, by extension, to the peace and safety of the entire world.

How the mystery of the international conspiracy to discredit the Crime Haters is unraveled comprises the latest exploits of that redoubtable English policeman, Patrick Dawlish.

OTHER PATHS TO GLORY

by Anthony Price

What can a First World War battleground in France have in common with a deadly top secret of the 1970's?

Nothing, so it seemed to Paul Mitchell, an ambitious young military historian whose pursuit of academic glory in peaceful libraries could hardly have been in greater contrast to the bloody affairs he was researching.

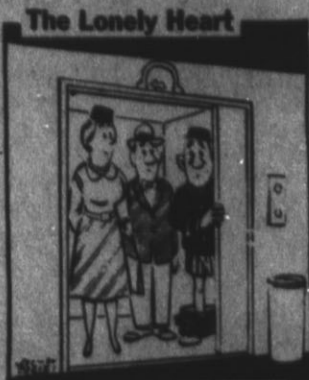

Yet Professor Emerson, his associate, had stumbled on something which he had recognized as the key to a mystery which had puzzled scholars for half a century. And now Emerson was dead and both British and French security agencies were grappling with the same mystery: What really happened during the British attack on Bouillet Wood and the Prussian redoubt in 1916—and why are those who can help solve it being systematically eliminated?

In the end, it is Mitchell himself who leads the new assault on Bouillet Wood, conscripted by the devious Dr. Audley and the irascible Colonel Butler but driven on by both self-preservation and an inner compulsion he cannot fully understand.

And lying in ambush for him on the old battlefield are not only the answers to the two mysteries, ancient and modern, but also the truth about himself.

SCHOOL & VIOLENCE
Students and teachers told a Senate subcommittee recently that high schools throughout the country are riddled with violence and drugs and learning is second to survival.

VFW Auxiliary Discusses Law

Public strike legislation was considered by members of the VFW Auxiliary Monday evening when they met in the VFW Clubhouse in Veteran's Park.

Mrs. Johnny Rogers presided over the discussion, which was prompted by a questionnaire from James L. Martin, executive vice president of an organization opposing unionism of public employees. The local women voted to give a donation to this faction, known as "Americans Against Union Control of Government."

Also during the business meeting, Mrs. Rogers completed her first act as Auxiliary president by appointing standing committee members.

Plans were made for the monthly family night, which will be a covered dish supper after the regular meeting at 8 p.m. July 23

Members in attendance included Mrs. Jim Loving, P.B. Sowell, Leonard Davis, Doris Coffin, Rogers and Ada Hollabaugh.

The key to happiness lies in unselfishness.

Child Needs Time To Learn Behavior

It takes time and experience for a child to learn what kinds of behavior are acceptable to others, Mrs. Ilene Miller, family life education specialist, reminded this week.

"While he is learning, a child will make many mistakes through trial and error.

"When a child misbehaves there are two factors parents must deal with: his actions and his feelings. That makes it important for parents to stop before taking action and try to understand why the child acted as he did.

"In most cases the child is not being bad on purpose—only human," the specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, said.

Parents help by being accepting of a child's feelings, even when his behavior is unacceptable. Children are not always able to express their feelings adequately with words, but their behavior may be a guide to their emotions.

"A child may be telling that he is tired, frightened or jealous through his actions. Think about why he might feel as he does before reacting to what he has done," she suggested.

Curiosity may be mistaken for misbehavior. A child needs adult help to know what he may do and what he can touch. Positive instructions help him learn more acceptable behavior.

"Another frequent cause of misbehavior is boredom. Children have short attention spans and lose interest easily. Parents can be sensitive to the child's feelings and suggest acceptable alternative activities when interest fades.

"Children may misbehave because they are trying to show their independence or to get attention. Careful examination of the situation can help parents determine what their children are able to do and why they are responding in a certain manner," the specialist noted.

Nectarine Popularity Increases

Nectarines developed from little more than a curiosity to an increasingly popular favorite fruit, Mrs. Gwendolyn Ciyatt, consumer marketing information specialist, said this week.

"Glossy-skinned and juicy, the nectarine is good eaten out of the hand with peeling left on, or they can be substituted for peaches in most recipes," the specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, said.

In buying nectarines, indications of quality are general plumpness firmness, good color and fresh appearance.

The fruit ranges from red to a golden color. Most are clingstones, but there are some freestone varieties, too. Flesh varies from a light whitish amber to an amber yellow, often coloring to a deep red near the stone.

Ripe, mature, ready-to-eat fruit should be covered and stored in the refrigerator.

Scribbles and Scratches

By Karrie Womble
Women's Editor

"IT WAS WHAT I expected—only much more," said Miss Hereford Monica Herring on her return from Fort Worth where she was a participant in the annual Miss Texas Pageant.

"The best part was meeting the girls," the slender blonde commented. "They did away with the Miss Congeniality award because it was almost impossible to select just one girl—they were all just great!"

"I especially want to say thank you to all those Hereford folks who sent flowers, telegrams and gifts to wish me good luck. It was also good to know that there were some familiar faces in the audience every night."

Attending the pageant with the native girl were Miss Teen Donna Kendall; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Albright; her parents, the Dean Harrings with brothers Kent and Reed; her sister-in-law, Mrs. Cliff Herring; her cousins, Mrs. Sid Shaw, Mrs. Raymond White and Miss Sherry White; Mrs. Herschel Black and Tonja; Mr. and Mrs. W.E. Sparks.

The good luck bags, containing products of Deaf Smith County, were a big hit with the pageant entrants and Monica was interviewed for a 15-minute television broadcast. An amusing sidelight of these tokens was related by the local beauty:

"When one of the girls was examining the contents (of the good luck bags), she pulled out the bag of Bi-con Fertilizer and exclaimed 'My boyfriend will love this.'"

"I asked her why it would appeal to her boyfriend and she explained that he smoked a pipe."

Somewhat confused, Monica asked the girl what she thought the plastic bag contained and the bewildered beauty replied "Tobacco?"

Pasta Helps

Perk Up Meals

Historians report that pasta is one of the oldest and most revered foods—eaten as early as 5,000 B.C.

Just as popular today, pasta adds interest, variety and economy to meals, Marilyn Haggard, foods and nutrition specialist, said this week.

"The term 'pasta' includes macaroni, spaghetti and noodles in a wide variety of shapes, sizes and even color," the specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, said.

Pasta is made from semolina, farina or wheat flour and water. Noodles are made with the addition of eggs. More than 150 shapes are characteristic of pasta, and some are colored green by adding spinach, she said.

"Many popular convenience foods contain pasta combined with sauce mixes or canned sauces. Most pasta products are enriched with thiamine, riboflavin, niacin and iron."

The specialist noted that well-cooked pasta is tender, but firm and not sticky.

"To cook, add pasta to rapidly boiling salted water and cook until just tender."

"Cooking time should be shortened slightly if pasta is to be used in a combination dish that needs further cooking."

"If pasta is to be cooked ahead of time, sticking will be reduced if the pasta is kept in a strainer over hot water," she explained.

Flattery often conceals jealousy.

Silence is an underplayed virtue.

Demonstrating Eye Test

Pictured are Mrs. Ronald Rayburn (sitting), Mrs. Connie Urbanczyk, and Rick Alley, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Alley. They are demonstrating the type of eye-screening which will be done by the Hereford chapter of Young Homemakers from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, July 19, at the Hereford Community Center.

Homemakers To Sponsor Eye Tests

The Hereford chapter of Young Homemakers of America will sponsor a public eye-screening from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturday, July 19 at the Hereford Community Center.

The screening will be for pre-schoolers, ages 4-6, and there will be no charge.

The young homemakers have been especially trained by a representative of the Texas Society for the Prevention of Blindness to detect amblyopia, commonly known as "lazy eye," and other eye defects.

If a child is found to have any type of eye defect, he will be referred to a doctor.

Getting the child to a doctor will be the responsibility of the parents involved.

The Young Homemakers

have previously screened two kindergartens in Hereford with excellent results and would like to urge each person with a pre-school child to take advantage of the eye-screening, if their child has not been previously screened. Medical experts have proven that if amblyopia goes undetected before the age of six, the problem is very difficult to correct.

New Act Regulates Pesticides

Texas' first agricultural pesticide control act, passed and signed into law last month, will provide farmers and ranchers the opportunity to increase their safety and that of their cattle," says Texas Safety Association Vice President, Joe L. Smetana.

The act regulates the use of pesticides, with the Texas Department of Agriculture designated as the regulating agency, and provides for voluntary education and certification for farmers and ranchers.

The Texas Pesticide Control Act brings the State into compliance with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's edict that all states enact such legislation by October, 1976. A list of the restricted pesticides will soon be released by the Environmental Protection Agency.

The private farmer and rancher may secure a license, but is not required to, explains TSA, as most compliance enforcement will be aimed at the commercial or non-commercial applicator and the dealer. Licensing will be required of anyone who sells restricted pesticides or applies them for hire, as will be the keeping of records.

Licensing will be through the Texas Department of Agriculture, and a license will be granted following successful examination of the applicant's knowledge of and ability to apply pesticides.

The Texas Safety Association urges all farmers, ranchers, and other pesticide users to participate in the licensing program. "It can help them understand the chemicals they are using, the correct procedures, and what the ill effects of incorrect usage or handling can be," reminds TSA's Smetana.

Deep Watering, High Mowing Aid Lawns

Drouth, leaf spot diseases, chinch bugs and white grubs present major turf problems for home lawns in Texas for the next several months.

"High temperatures, high winds and limited rainfall create drouth problems for all turfgrass species," points out Dr. Richard Duble, turfgrass specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Raising the mowing height one-half inch will increase the depth of the turfgrass cover and provide more insulation against extremes in high soil temperature. This practice also encourages more extensive rooting of turfgrasses so they can more effectively use soil moisture."

Along with higher mowing, the Texas A&M University System specialist suggests watering to moisten the soil to a depth of four to six inches after each application. Light, frequent irrigation produces shallow-rooted turf that is more susceptible to drouth stress.

The specialist advises against using soluble nitrogen fertilizers to stimulate grass growth during mid-summer stress periods since they increase the water requirements of turf.

"Leaf spot diseases are generally a problem when lawns are under stress and increase with high temperatures, drouth, heavy shade and close mowing," Points out Duble. "Proper mowing and watering will reduce these problems, but fungicides may be required to prevent serious damage. Those containing PCNB, Maneb, Dyrene or Daconil are effective for control of leaf spot diseases."

Chinch bugs and white grubs feed heavily on lawns during mid-summer and their damage resembles drouth injury, notes the specialist. If the turf does not respond to applications of water, insects should be suspected. Both insects damage St. Augustinegrass, but only the white grub damages bermudagrass lawns.

Chinch bugs can be effectively controlled with applications of Aspon, diazinon, trithion or Ethion. Water the lawn thoroughly prior to applying the insecticide for chinch bug control. A light watering after the insecticide application also increases its effectiveness.

White grubs can be controlled with chlordane or diazinon. Duble advises drenching the lawn after the insecticide is applied since the grubs feed on grass roots. White grubs have developed resistance to chlordane in some areas of the state.

Duble suggests sprigging Floratam St. Augustinegrass into damaged areas as an alternative control for chinch bugs. Floratam is resistant to chinch bugs and will fill in where common St. Augustine has been damaged.

Texas Taxes

By BOB BULLOCK, State Comptroller

AUSTIN—Texans who recall the pleasures during their youth of thumbing through a big, thick mail order catalog may be surprised to learn of the problems the mail order business creates for tax collectors.

The problem is a simple one: it's extremely difficult if not impossible to assess and collect sales taxes on goods bought and shipped into Texas from out of state.

The result is that Texas, and probably every other state, loses millions of dollars a year in sales tax revenue.

Texans who must pay state sales taxes on merchandise they purchase here in the state ultimately bear the burden of this situation. Although the sales tax is a tax levied on the consumer, we rely on the retail merchant to collect the tax for us. The plain fact is that the majority of these mail order houses in other states just do not bother to collect the tax and pass it along to us.

From a practical standpoint, it's easy to see, it's just plain impossible to make a guy pay the sales tax on a suit of clothes he bought from a Chicago mail order house.

Federal legislation granting the 50 states the authority to tax sales moving in interstate commerce would be one solution. It could make life much simpler for businesses who deal in interstate commerce and at the same time help the revenue picture for all states who try to collect the taxes on these goods.

This federal legislation would probably be more practical than giving states permission to require out of state retail mail order firms to collect the tax and then send it to the state where the buyer lives.

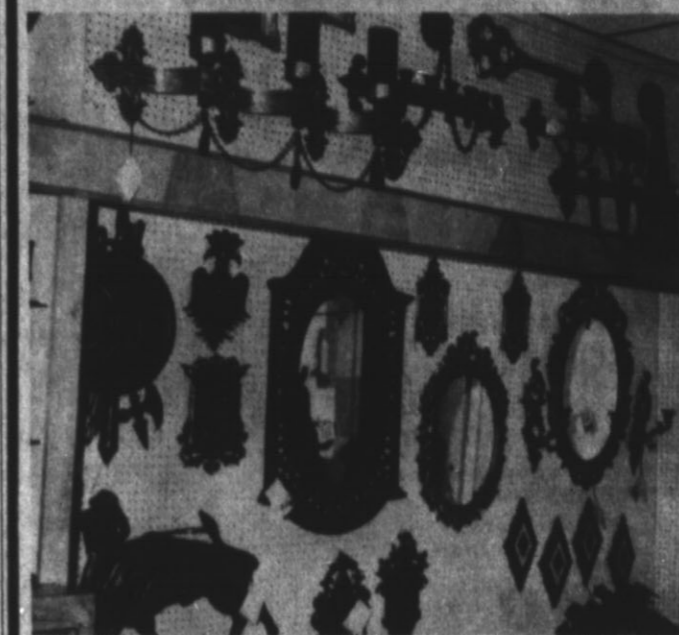

I have requested the Legislature to authorize 40 more auditors who will audit the books of no one but businesses outside Texas.

This will increase the scope and efficiency of the out of state audit program and the obvious result will be a great deal more revenue recovered. I can promise you that.

I believe this avenue of approach is the most sensible one and it will enable us to reach those mail order business houses which sell goods in substantial volume to Texans but escape paying Texas its proper taxes.

Beef Demand

Influencing Price

Demand for beef, particularly for quick-cooking cuts, is influencing the price, one consumer marketing information specialist said this week.

"For real economy, select the less tender cuts such as chuck roasts, chuck and round steaks. Other good choices are ground beef and liver, pricewise," Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, said.

Another economical possibility is fresh fish and shellfish. Many varieties will be available in the coming weeks, adding to good supplies of fresh frozen seafoods. This means attractive buying opportunities at prices substantially below a year ago, the specialist reported.

"Increasing supplies of peaches, nectarines, plums and grapes have resulted in slightly lower prices.

Fresh vegetables soon to be arriving on the market in canning-size quantities are purplehull peas, soft shell squash, carrots, corn, cucumbers, cashaw, green onions and radishes."

Prices are slightly higher on fryer chickens.

Eggs are in good supply at reasonable prices. Compare large and medium sizes for the best value for egg money.

"I WANT TO BE Free"

This is the constant cry of today's youth. By this they usually mean that they want to be free from responsibility, to be unfettered from emotional ties.

There is another kind of freedom, however, freedom in Christ. When you know Christ, you feel a joyful release, a surge of new vitality, a feeling that all things are possible.

The Bible says, "Where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is freedom." II Cor. 3:17. This is the true meaning of freedom.

Marble Elected Foundation President

The Board of Trustees of the High Plains Research Foundation, at Halfway, elected Don Marble, prominent farmer from South Plains, president of the foundation and its executive committee, at a recent annual meeting held at the headquarters at Halfway, 14 miles west of Plainview. Marble is a past president of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., and has been very active in many farm and crop organizations for the past several years. In accepting this position, Marble said, "We have a responsibility to the economy of West Texas, to do the best job of agricultural research possible, and the High Plains Research Foundation can be very instrumental in helping achieve these goals, especially since the recent affiliation with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station. We will be working closely with Texas Tech University and West Texas State University in an attempt to accelerate the total agricultural research program in West Texas".

Other Officers elected at the meeting included J.B. Wheeler, Plainview, chairman, Ray Joe Riley, Hart, vice-chairman, J.D. Smith, Sudan, vice-president, Sam Thomas, Amarillo, secretary-treasurer, and Jack Cloude, Plainview, executive director.

Trustees named to the executive committee, in addition to those mentioned were Don Anderson, Lubbock, Elbert Harp, Lubbock, Virgil Patterson, Amarillo, C.I. Wall, Amarillo, W.B. Tilson, Plainview, Graddy Tunnell, Plainview, Ralph Wheeler, Edmondson, and Leo Witkowski, Hereford.

Trustees are elected to three-year terms, and the following persons were named to serve: Harry Igo, Merwyn Igo, Donald Johnson, Delwin L. Jones, Pete Laney, Jack Little, Jim Lindsey, Aubrey Lockett, Barry Love, Macky McCarty, Ken McEachern, Gene McLaughlin, Edd McLeRoy, Troy McNeill, John McQuien, Ralph Mabry, James Man, Don Marble, Wayne Martin, Fred

Dr. Jarvis Miller, director of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, in explaining the future plans for the Lubbock-Halfway location, stated that funds will not be immediately available to do the amount of research which had been hoped, unless other sources of funds can be developed. However, Dr. Miller was very optimistic that within a short period of time, more personnel and advanced programs can be expected.

Dr. George McBee summarized the research being carried on at the Halfway location. A large sunflower project is underway, some potato research has been started this year, a total water-use efficiency research program is being expanded, fertilizer and herbicide research has been increased, and the new greenbug resistant varieties of grain sorghum are being tested. Dr. McBee said, "The experiment station belongs to the people, and the Lubbock-Halfway station will be operated as one unit".

Graddy Tunnell, Plainview attorney, said that it was entirely conceivable that the Lubbock-Halfway station could become the leading off-campus agricultural research station in the State of Texas.

Yeager Promoted By Holly Sugar

Glen W. Yeager has been promoted to senior vice president-agriculture of Holly Sugar Corporation, President John B. Bunker has announced. Yeager had been vice president-agriculture for the past 10 years. Yeager has spent his lifetime in sugarbeets, growing up on a sugarbeet farm near Longmont, Colorado, where his father was a grower for Great Western Sugar Company.

He is a graduate of Colorado State University with a degree in agricultural economics and joined International Harvester Company's Cheyenne sales office following graduation in 1939.

A year later he was named county agricultural agent with headquarters in Grand Junction, Colo., and later worked four and one-half years as general agent and agriculturist for the Denver and Rio Grande Railroad in Grand Junction.

Yeager joined Holly in January 1947 as a farm agent at the Hardin, Montana factory, being promoted to chief agriculturist there in 1949. A year later he was named chief agriculturist for Holly's Worland plant and six years later held the same position at Swink, Colorado.

In 1959, he was named assistant eastern agricultural manager with offices in Colorado Springs and two years later was promoted to eastern agricultural manager with responsibilities for the states of Colorado, Montana and Wyoming. In January 1965, he was promoted to general agriculturist and was elected vice president-agriculture June 30, 1965.

GLEN YEAGER

Yeager and his wife, Dorothy, have four children: Bill, news director of Channel 13 in Colorado Springs; Jack and Mark, both candidates for doctoral degrees at the University of Wisconsin, Madison, and Yale University, respectively, and Maris Ann, a junior high school student in Colorado Springs.

Yeager is vice president of the American Society of Sugar Beet Technologists and automatically will become president at the society's 1976 biennial meeting in Phoenix.

He has served as a director and president of both the West Coast Beet Seed Company, Salem, Ore., and Western Seed Production Corporation, Phoenix.

Since June 1967, Yeager has been a member of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's National Defense Executive Reserve. He also lectures on agriculture at the Beet Sugar Institute, Colorado State University, Fort Collins.

Present Sugar Situation Hazardous For Industry, Consumers, Says Bunker

The United States presently has no clear program at all to assure consumers an adequate supply of sugar at reasonable prices, a spokesman for the U.S. Beet Sugar Association told the House Agriculture Committee in Washington.

The present situation is hazardous for American consumers and the domestic industry, according to President John B. Bunker of Holly Sugar Corporation.

Bunker said that the beet sugar processing industry testified Tuesday at week-long oversight hearings on sugar.

The committee is trying to determine whether present legislation provides sufficient safeguards for sugar consumers and the domestic sugar industry or whether further federal legislation is needed.

The Sugar Act, the nation's formal sugar policy for more than 40 years, expired December 31, 1974.

Current prospects indicate that returns to domestic producers for sugar crops currently being grown will likely be below production costs, according to Bunker.

In that event, farmers may decide to cut back next year, with subsequent impact on prices to consumers, Bunker said.

Bunker outlined some minimum requirements for a national sugar policy. Among these are assured supplies at reasonable and stable prices for consumers, the capability for handling both shortage and surplus situations, provisions for a significant portion of the supply from domestic sources as a matter of national security, and simplicity in approach and ease in administration.

The beet sugar industry supplies about 30 per cent of this country's annual sugar requirements. In addition, it is an important factor in local and state economies.

Sugar is one of the few foods the nation does not produce in sufficient quantity to meet its own needs. The U.S. presently imports about half its requirements, Bunker pointed out.

In the absence of a domestic industry, American consumers would be totally vulnerable to prices set by foreign cartels or embargoes established by such combinations, Bunker said.

According to Bunker, the nation's balance of payments deficit is significantly affected by the importation of sugar, citing Department of Commerce data showing 11.5 billion pounds of raw sugar was imported in 1974 at a cost of $2.25 billion.

In contrast, the domestic industry invigorates the economy. In 1974 beet sugar processing plants purchased 2.1 million tons of sugarbeets valued by the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Crop Reporting Board at $971 million, Bunker pointed out.

Industry payrolls and purchases of other raw materials by the nation's beet processing plants amounted to more than $200 million annually.

In addition, the industry spent $16 million during the last 10 years for new capital expenditures, Bunker pointed out.

Rowland M. Cannon, President of the Utah-Idaho Sugar Company, Salt Lake City, testified in Washington on behalf of the domestic beet sugar processing industry.

Magazine Features Locos

Santa Fe Railway's historic 2-10-4 steam locomotives will be the subject for the entire feature content of the August issue of Trains Magazine.

The special issue will include a 20,000-word article by Lloyd Stagner of Newton, Kans., a Santa Fe relief agent; photographs and drawings of the giant steamers; a four color cover featuring locomotive 5021 preserved at Belen, N.M.; and a letter from Santa Fe President John S. Reed reflecting on the merits of these engines.

The unique issue should be on newsstands beginning the week of July 21.

Relieves the stress in your system.

You're looking at Lindsay's patented Uni-Knuckle. It works on the same principle as a universal joint. Allows overhead pipe in a Lindsay Zimmatic center pivot to move up, down, back or forward with no stress on the system. Inside the Uni-Knuckle is a split sleeve coupler and rubber boot. This keeps the joint water-tight, even when the system is running over extremely rough ground. The boot is a special compound, selected for long life.

Of course, as time goes by, you may have to replace a boot or two. That happens with any coupler. But with a Zimmatic you don't need 10 men and a boy to do the job. There's no internal joint to worry about. No need to prop up and disconnect the line. The Uni-Knuckle stays in place, supporting the line. You just reach in, remove the split metal coupler and old boot. Slip in a new one, put the coupler back in place... you're in business again. When it comes to making repairs, the Uni-Knuckle relieves the stress on your system, too.

In case you're wondering how the Uni-Knuckle handles twisting action in the line caused when one tower is going downhill and the next is going uphill—it doesn't. Lindsay takes care of that with a separate flex feature. It's patented, too. We'll be glad to show you how it works, tell you about all the other features that make Lindsay Zimmatic the new leader in center pivot irrigation systems.

TAES Publishes Annual Report

Some of the major highlights and accomplishments in food, fiber and natural resources conservation research are featured in the just-published annual report of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, the state's agricultural research agency.

"Food, and its future availability, has become uppermost in the minds of many people," said Dr. Jarvis E. Miller, director of the Experiment Station, a part of the Texas A&M University System.

"Producers, hit by inflation while receiving decreasing prices; processors and distributors, with rapidly increasing costs; and consumers, who exchange their income for agricultural goods and services—all are concerned about the future supply of food.

"Thus," Miller said, "the Experiment Station faces the mandate of continuing to accelerate and intensify its research activities to insure an adequate, dependable supply of wholesome food and fiber to feed the people of this country and the world."

Both Texas and U.S. agriculture face new challenges, however, Miller emphasized.

Under the Agricultural Act of 1973, most of our reserve land that can be brought back into production was placed in production in 1974. Water and energy resources are limited, and costs on inputs (capital, labor, equipment, fertilizer, pesticides) have soared. Prices of some farm products, fiber and livestock, in particular, are depressed. All of these problems point to the need for a greatly intensified research program. The current and prospective world food supply situation imposes an additional sense of urgency, Miller said.

The Experiment Station, which exists to serve the people of Texas, has been amazingly productive in the past 86 years contributing to improved efficiency and the quality of life. Included have been development of hybrid sorghums, short-statured wheat and rice, stormproof cottons, improved livestock, farm mechanization systems, and many other projects. For a copy of the annual report, write to the Department of Agricultural Communications, Texas A&M University, College Station, Texas 77843.

Sugar Price Drops; Cane Grower Wary

AUSTIN—Declining prices have sugar producers in the Lower Rio Grande Valley scratching their heads over this winter's crop prospects.

"Even people who've been in the business for years and years can't agree on what the price will be," said a spokesman for the W.R. Cowley Sugar House, a cooperative near Santa Rosa.

For growers to make a profit, raw sugar must sell at 18-20 cents a pound wholesale. It recently dipped to 17 cents, a sharp decline from last year when a soaring worldwide market sent wholesale prices as high as 64 cents a pound.

Since February, shortly after the Sugar Act expired, prices have declined sharply.

New Regulations Cover Tractors

Roll-over protective structures for farm tractors are on the way, and will introduce a new set of regulations in October, 1976.

Joe L. Smetana, Texas Safety Association Vice President for Farm & Ranch Safety, reminds Texas farmers and ranchers, however, that some safety provisions became effective June 1, 1975.

Current safety rules cover nine employee operating instructions:

1. Securely fasten your seat belt if the tractor does have a roll-over protection structure.
2. Where possible, avoid operating tractor near ditches, embankments and holes.
3. Reduce speed when turning, crossing slopes, and on rough, slick, or muddy surfaces.
4. Stay off slopes too steep for safe operations.

5. Watch where you are going; especially at row ends, on roads, and around trees.

6. Do not permit others to ride.

7. Hitch only to the drawbar and hitch points recommended by tractor manufacturers.

8. Operate the tractor smoothly, with no jerky turns, starts, or stops.

9. When the tractor is stopped, set brakes securely and use park lock if available.

Accidents involving tractors were among the leading cause of fatalities on Texas farms and ranches. In 1973, tractors, were involved in 26 deaths. However, in 1974, tractor accidents resulted in 34 of the 285 Texas farm and ranch fatalities, according to Smetana and the Texas Safety Association.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe, in declaring July 25-31, 1975, as Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Week, encouraged "individual responsibility for alertness and safety precautions" by Texas farm and ranch residents.

Agriculture Commissioner John C. White says, "Never spray insecticides on a windy day or overspray to the point that insecticide film filters out needed sunlight."

The Animal Health Commission has stepped up its campaign to eradicate brucellosis, which causes abortions, birth of weak calves and general debilitation. The disease is highly contagious among cattle.

Identification of market animals for tracing, investigation of infected herds and vaccination of replacement calves in high-risk areas are features of the current program.

Also participating in the brucellosis eradication program are the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA), Texas Department of Agriculture, Texas Farm Bureau and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Farm, Ranch Safety Week Is Proclaimed

Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Week has been set by Governor Dolph Briscoe beginning July 25.

The week-long emphasis will highlight farm and ranch accident prevention, through programs conducted by the Texas Safety Association, Texas Farm Bureau, State Agricultural Extension Service, Future Farmers and Future Homemakers, and the Young Farmers of Texas.

Records show that 285 Texas farm and ranch residents died in 1974, an increase over the 214 fatal accidents which occurred in 1973. Accidents involving traffic, tractors and drownings were the leading causes of fatalities in 1974.

"Farmers and ranchers have become increasingly concerned with the various agricultural safety regulations issued by the Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) and the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA)," according to Joe L.

Smetana, Texas Safety Association Vice President for Farm and Ranch Safety.

"Of particular concern due to recent regulations are the certification or licensing of farmers and ranchers to use restricted pesticides, and the roll over protective structures for farm tractors," explained Smetana, who is Safety Director for the Texas Farm Bureau.

In his proclamation of the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Week, Gov. Briscoe urged "all who live and work on Texas farms and ranches to put safety first, to plan for accident prevention and to work diligently to remove hazards in agricultural environments."

Canned foods store best in a cool, dry place.

The Texas week coincides with National Farm Safety Week, as declared by President Ford.

According to Agriculture Commissioner John C. White, the Sugar Act assigned annual quotas to assure consumers of adequate supplies at reasonable prices. It also promoted the domestic industry.

Sunflower Field Day Set Today

A sunflower field day at the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at Halfway 14 miles west of Plainview has been set for today (Thursday).

Announcement of the event was made by Dr. George McBee, resident director of TAES at Lubbock, with co-chairmen Dr. Raymond Brigham, associate professor, oilseed crops at Lubbock, and Dr. Douglas Owen, research scientist at Halfway.

New developments in sunflower research will be spotlighted. Until now, little has been known about disease and insect problems associated with sunflower production on the High Plains, said Brigham. Scientists also have had few answers for farmers wanting to know about planting rates, irrigation, and fertilization of the new crop.

Sunflowers were grown on 5,000 acres in this area last year. This season the acreage is estimated at 300,000.

Activities for the afternoon event are from 2:00 until 5:00. A series of tours plus a farm machinery display are featured attractions. Brigham said the tours of research plots will include stops at test sites ranging from hybrid trials, fertilization and irrigation studies to insect and weed control tests.

Lubbock-based TAES scientists will join the Halfway research staff in interpreting the studies for guests.

Dr. Douglas Owen will explain crop rotation programs at Halfway, and Jim Schrib, weed control scientist, will talk about herbicide studies.

Of the Lubbock staff, Dr. Art Onken who heads up soil chemistry research will discuss fertilization of sunflowers. Dr. George Teetes, entomologist, is slated to report the results of planting date tests associated with insect control.

Brigham will be explaining data on hybrid trials, and Dr. Charles Wendt, soil physicist, is to discuss irrigation studies.

Anyone interested in sunflower production is encouraged to attend, said Brigham. The Halfway station is on Highway 70, 14 miles west of Plainview.

Bushland Sets Sunflower Tour

People interested in sunflower production are invited to tour research plots at the USDA Southwestern Great Plains Research Center at Bushland tomorrow (Friday). Dr. Paul Unger, Acting Center Director, states that the tour will start promptly at 1:30 p.m. and is sponsored by the Agricultural Research Service, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, and Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

At the start of the tour, Dalton Gandy, Production Specialist, National Cotton Seed Products Association, Inc., from Memphis, Tennessee, will discuss the future and prospects for sunflowers.

Visitors will then be shown a plant population and planting date study on dryland, irrigated plots treated with manure or commercial fertilizer, irrigated planting date study, thirteen varieties or hybrids, and irrigation timing experiment. During the tour, there will be short discussions about weed control, insect control, and harvesting procedures and principles. A sunflower harvester mounted on a combine will be displayed. "Harvesting sunflowers requires different techniques and equipment than sorghum or wheat. Perhaps we can save people a little trouble by discussing some possible problems", Dr. Unger stated.

In addition to viewing 1975 research, written reports of 1974 experiments will be available.

Vega Sets Horse Show

The Oldham County All Youth Quarterhorse Show will be held Saturday in the J.H.A. Arena at Vega.

Judging will start at 10:00 a.m. with Jack Stren of Summerfield as the official judge; according to Jimmie Walker, County Extension Agent of Oldham County.

This show is sponsored by the Kiwanis Club and approved by the American Quarterhorse Association and the Golden Spread Association.

UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, ANIMAL AND PLANT HEALTH INSPECTION SERVICE, OFFICE OF THE ADMINISTRATOR. Notice is hereby given that because of the existence of the contagion of hog cholera in Deaf Smith and Castro Counties in Texas, and the nature and extent of such contagion, portions of the aforesaid counties are quarantined under an amendment of the regulations in 9 CFR Part 76, as amended, effective July 10, 1975. The restrictions pertaining to the interstate movement of swine and swine products from or through quarantined areas contained in said 9 CFR Part 76 apply to the area quarantined.

The amendment is published in the Federal Register. Detailed information concerning the regulations and the amendment may also be obtained from E.S. Cox, Area Veterinarian in Charge, 702 Colorado, Street, Room 301 Austin, Texas 78701.

Done at Washington, D.C., this 10th day of July, 1975.

RAIDS CONTINUE Comptroller Bob Bullock led more raids against sales tax-delinquent firms in the Dallas area which, he said, owe more than $200,000 to the state and city.

The Comptroller's agents locked a restaurant, closed a concrete manufacturer, took inventories and equipment from a photo shop, appliance shop, air conditioning firm and microfilm service company.

Property seized will be sold at public auction to satisfy tax claims unless owners pay up, Bullock said.

He scheduled an auction July 21 in San Antonio for nearly 15,000 cases of whiskey, wine and beer taken from three discount liquor houses whose owner owed $405,000 in delinquent sales taxes.

HIGHWAYS IN TROUBLE Texas Highways and Public Transportation Department cancelled August contract lettings because of inflated costs and declining gasoline taxes.

Both T.H.P.T.D. Engineer-Director B.L. DeBerry and Gov. Dolph Briscoe, meanwhile, expressed concern over President Ford's federal highway program.

DeBerry said reducing the federal highway trust fund would impose a heavier tax load on the states and further reduce construction.

AUSTIN — The House of Representatives may be returning to Austin before September 1 to consider the first impeachment proceedings in more than 40 years.

A select House committee already has directed its staff to draft several articles of impeachment against 229th District Judge O.P. Carrillo of Duval County.

Committee members rounded out their examination of the record in their inquiry into allegations against Carrillo last week in closed-door session.

They will vote in open session on the proposed articles.

If a majority of the 11-member panel vote to press any of the articles, the House must be called into session to consider them on the third Monday following the committee report.

The constitution further provides that the Senate must try impeachment charges brought by the House against certain state officials, including district judges.

A two-thirds vote in the Senate is required to convict.

Fewer than a dozen serious impeachment proceedings have been brought in a century. Only one of these—the 1917 case against then Gov. James E. Ferguson—actually resulted in a removal from office.

AG OPINIONS A city commissioner's continued interest in an old contract to buy water from the municipality for resale to rural customers would be a civil law violation, Atty. Gen. John Hill held.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded: A county jail commissary must collect the state and ing in permanent disability and 30,000 in death. While much of the Commission's work centers around eliminating product hazards, it also provides information to help consumers decide which products may be safer, works to develop product safety standards; and promotes research into causes and prevention of product-related deaths, illnesses, and injuries.

The Commission also can issue and enforce safety standards on design, construction, contents, performance, packaging, and labeling of more than 10,000 consumer products ranging from architectural glass, stairs, and power tools, to stoves, ladders, and lawnmowers.

A Texas consumer who has a complaint about an unsafe product or who has been injured by a product, should call the agency's Dallas office at 214-353-8260.

Once the agency gets a consumer complaint about product safety, it begins to test and evaluate the product. If a safety problem is confirmed, the agency informs the manufacturer who may be expected to notify all purchasers, to repair or replace the product, to refund the purchase price, or even to remove it from sale. Almost all manufacturers are cooperative, but if not, the agency can take legal steps when a hazardous product is involved.

Any consumer can petition the Commission to start proceedings on issuing, amending, or revoking a consumer product safety rule, and the petition need not be a formal document. The agency says "even if the petition is handwritten on flowered stationery" it will look into the merits of the request.

Briscoe said the administration's offer to return one cent of the gasoline tax to the states "covers up an attempt to move two cents into the federal treasury and away from needs of the states."

COURTS SPEAK The Supreme Court upheld an injunction against a $45 million Southwestern Bell Telephone Company long distance rate increase in Texas, pending outcome of a state legal challenge.

The High Court also denied Coastal States Gas Producing Company's proposal to move a suit over San Antonio gas rates and supplies from the city.

In other recent cases, the Supreme Court held: The State Board of Pharmacy should not be allowed to shut down 59 Walgreen drug stores during an appeal of a case involving a law against advertising prescription drug prices.

Conservation and reclamation districts can use maintenance funds to compensate persons damaged due to negligent use of motorized equipment.

Exxon Corp. is entitled to reversal of $227,000 judgment arising from a job death case because company attorneys were not permitted to show proof the widow had remarried.

County funds must pay cost of publishing divorce case citations for the poor.

Third Court of Civil Appeals held the state sales tax constitutional.

SHORT SHORTS Governor and Mrs. Briscoe and their two daughters are on an 18-day European vacation. State government will have a $27 million balance after spending $12.1 billion during the next two years, according to Comptroller Bullock's latest calculations.

Texas labor's new legislative goals will be drafted at the AFL-CIO's state convention in Dallas July 23-26. An agency shop or right to contract bill is expected to be among them.

A court hearing on the State Insurance Board's medical malpractice insurance rate freeze was postponed until July 17.

Texas' economy will soon "ascend more prosperous heights," according to a University of Texas Bureau of Business Research writer's prediction.

"Give or Take" "I shall have to give you ten days or $20," said the judge.

"I'll take the $20, Judge," said the prisoner.

Guiding Light starts 24th

"The Guiding Light," daytime drama series presented Monday through Friday (1:00-1:30 p.m.), on the CBS Television Network, begins its 24th year on the network in July.

The series made its television debut on June 30, 1952, after 15 years as a radio favorite. One of the first radio daytime dramas to make the transition to television, it now celebrates more than 28 years in broadcasting.

Created by the late Ira Phillips, who also authored the popular "As the World Turns" on the network, "The Guiding Light" deals with the fictional Bauer and Morris families and their friends in Springfield, U.S.A. Charla Bauer, who plays Bertha (Berl) Bauer, joined the cast of the serial in 1950 when it was a radio feature, continued her role when the show began in television, and is with the cast today.
