

Cowgirls Whoop It Up For All Girl Rodeo

The National Cowgirl Hall of Fame All Girl-Rodeo will cut loose at 1 p.m. Friday at the Hereford Rider's Club Arena with the first contestants going after the guaranteed purse of $7,700 with another $25,000 provided through entry fees and donations.

The annual rodeo features the largest number of girls competing in a rodeo. It is authorized through the Girls Rodeo Association.

Besides the rodeo events, special activities include a western art show at the Hall of Fame, induction of honorees to the Hall of Fame, a parade Saturday, a barbecue Saturday afternoon, game competitions, an auction benefiting the Hall of Fame, and dances both Friday and Saturday night.

All activities are open to the public at designated costs. Refer to the list of activities in this issue. Also other stories appear concerning individual events.

The cowgirls will be competing in bull riding, goat roping, team roping, barrel racing, steer undecorating, tie down calf roping and bronc riding.

Serving as the parade marshal is Clem McSpadden, former Oklahoma congressman and announcer at the World Championship Rodeo in Oklahoma City.

The parade will be going down Main Street and will start at 2 p.m. Saturday.

This is the second year for the rodeo, which exists here through GRA sanctioning. Also the Hall of Fame is currently operating in Hereford in the basement of the county library, but a large modern building is being planned for the near future.

It is highly recognized across the nation as the official home of cowgirls much like the Cowboy Hall of Fame in Oklahoma City.

In this year's rodeo, the top All Around Cowgirl will be presented a $700 saddle from Walco Inc.

The citizens of Hereford have been getting into the spirit of the rodeo by dressing up western style. It is hoped that large numbers will attend the events planned.

Serving as the current GRA president is Sammy Thurman and Bill Albright, executive vice president of the Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce, is organizing the rodeo activities along with Terry Caviness, general rodeo chairman.

Tax Increase, Salary Hike Included County Approves Budget

By BOBBY TEMPLETON
Brand News Editor

A budget totaling $1,982,285 was approved in regular session Monday by the Deaf Smith County Commissioners' Court. It is an increase of about $150,000 over the previous comparable 12-month period.

Included in the budget was a 10 per cent salary increase for all county employees and an overall 9.6 per cent tax increase due to the recent reappraisal of all county land. The value of the county land is up 43 per cent under the reappraisal from previous values.

The commissioners actually were able to lower the tax rate from $1.20 to $1.15 per $100 lot assessed valuation and the ratio of assessment from 30 to 24 per cent due to the higher tax base provided by the reappraisal. However, more tax monies will be collected and therefore an average, tax increase hits county land owners. When the reappraisal is completed and new tax statements are sent out, some land owners, mostly rural, will bear a higher proportion of the taxes and city dwellers may see a slight drop in their taxes or remain at about the same level of taxation.

Every case will be different depending on reappraisal factors. The average landowner, whose assessed valuation last year was $10,000, paid $36 in taxes last year. But the average increase will mean that he will have to pay $39.47 during the approaching tax year since his land would be valued at $14,300 or 43 per cent higher.

The taxpayer, whose value remains the same, will experience a tax drop based on the lower rate and percentage of assessment. This would figure out to be a 23 per cent tax decrease.

County taxpayers will be taxed at a total rate of $1.57 since the hospital district, state and water board taxes are collected by the county. The rates are as follows (per $100 of assessed valuation): hospital district, 25 cents; state, 12 cents; and water board, five cents. All taxing agencies listed are required to tax on the 24 per cent assessment ratio.

The county went to a new fiscal year (Oct. 1, 1976 to Sept. 30, 1977) last year and so a direct comparison to the current tax year is not appropriate since the county went on a temporary nine-month fiscal year to implement the new fiscal year. Previously, the fiscal year went directly by the calendar year (January to December) and the Commissioners' Court decided that a year coinciding with

School Board Reviews Budget

BY O.G. NIEMAN
Editor-Publisher

Hereford School trustees reviewed the current budget during a regular board meeting Tuesday, with the 8-months totals projecting a balance of $106,600 at the close of the school year in August.

The balance is $11,900 less than originally estimated in the budget, but a building fund supplement of $22,500 was required for the tennis court project. Without this added expenditure, the balance would be $10,600 more than projected.

In other business, the board turned down a controversial plan to deduct teacher pay for hospitalization premiums, heard a presentation on the junior high industrial arts program, discussed a possible reduction in the cosmetology program, discussed a request for continuing the Bilingual Education program, heard general reports from various departments, approved the purchase of 75 new band uniforms for next year, approved monthly bills, and held an executive session to discuss personnel matters.

THE ONLY ACTION taken after the executive session was to approve a change in titles for three administrative assistants. Bill Phillips, Larry Wartes

Hereford To Lose 20 Operators

Bell Telephone To Operate Long Distance Calls From Amarillo

Southwestern Bell will begin handling Hereford long distance calls from its Amarillo office starting on December 18, according to Hereford's telephone company manager Mike Patrick.

"Telephone service on long distance calls will definitely not be affected adversely and should improve," Patrick said. "We will have more operators available in Amarillo to handle operator-assisted calls so customers will receive prompt and efficient service."

Patrick emphasized that no "regular" operators will be laid off as a result of the recentering of long distance traffic.

"Of our 20 operators in Hereford, 10 will transfer to Amarillo, four plan to retire, two have voluntarily chosen to take termination pay rather than transfer and four are temporary employees," Patrick said.

Although, some customers may think that no local operators may mean further delays in reaching operators, the move will enable faster service as evidenced by the information service provided from Amarillo for the whole Panhandle.

One of the reasons for relocating the operators from Hereford is that the pattern of calls here is unstable. "It's hard to schedule our workforce from one day to the next because the number of calls varies," he said. "During the vegetable harvest season, we add additional operators since we know the load will be heavier then."

The cutback is a matter of economics. "We have only two choices when our costs go up—to raise rates or cut costs. We can't fight inflation like a merchant who can raise his prices," Patrick said.

"I want to emphasize that we are in no way diminishing our service quality in Hereford," Patrick said. "We invested $300,000 in providing service here last year and we're spending thousands of dollars more this year. In addition, we just paid the city gross receipts tax bill of $13,412 and ad valorem taxes of $10,147."

"And we will have 23 employees remaining in Hereford, providing installation, repair and business office services."

Patrick said the recentering is part of a nationwide plan to centralize operator offices.

County Sets RS Fund Priority, Tackles DA Request

Up It Goes

Looking from the Hereford Golf course, the steady progress of the Hereford Grain elevator is measured against the company's existing facility. This photo represents about six days of work.

The Deaf Smith County Commissioners' Court approved the 1976-77 budget for the county, decided the use for about $140,000 in revenue sharing funds, approved new equipment for the sheriff's department, accepted arrangements for ambulance service and discussed at length the hiring of an investigator for Criminal District Attorney Andy Shuval during a regular meeting at the courthouse Monday.

Also, the commissioners accepted a contract with the highway department for striping county roads, allowed the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company to dig a three foot deep ditch along 15th Street for a cable, reviewed the city-county fire report, set county hired mowers' salaries at $2.65 an hour and received the oath of office as a board of equalization.

The budget is reported in detail in another story in this issue.

THE REVENUE SHARING money was not included in this year's budget so that it could act as a reserve for unexpected capital improvement costs. The court had to file a planned use report with the federal government and so it decided to use the funds for renovating the county jail in 1977 as would be required by federal standards. The county will file an actual use report later and the money could then be allocated for another purpose.

Sheriff Travis McPherson was given approval to buy a modernized fingerprint set which uses no ink in recording prints. The cost is about $400.

Also, the court approved the arrangement with Smith Funeral Home to operate the county-city ambulance service. The county furnishes a fulltime sheriff's deputy to go out on emergency runs and the funeral home provides the vehicle and driver. No subsidy payments are made and the home is allowed to collect fees for service.

Guillard-Watson Funeral Home, which formerly operated the service, discontinued it several weeks ago.

FOR OVER AN HOUR, 69th Judicial District Judge Mike Metcalf of Dumas discussed the need for an investigator in the district Attorney's office. He said the information Shuval presented the court was accurate and that it indicates a strong need for an investigator to coordinate cases for the grand jury and trials.

Shuval has presented the court with two memorandums showing the higher number of cases prosecuted in district court. He told the commissioners Monday that "whether you think I work or not, I need an investigator in our office to dig further into cases."

Metcalf added that sure and swift prosecution was the best sort of justice and "an investigator could help."

Attorneys John Aikin, former district attorney, and Richard Green argued that an investigator was not needed.

"The problem with prosecution here is not an investigator," Aikin said. No other specifics were mentioned except that he didn't like the idea of someone from Dumas telling the commissioners what to do.

Green said it was not appropriate for Shuval to conduct an outside law practice while serving as a representative of the state. "Attorney General John Hill told everyone in his office to stop their private practices," he said referring to the local situation. "It's something I've always been upset about since I've been a lawyer."

It was described as a conflict since cases would be tried before the same judges for both the private practice and the prosecution. He claimed that most of the lawyers in Hereford were against the investigator and that not all of them were making as much money as Shuval is.

Schalan Atkinson, assistant district attorney, said she couldn't speak for Shuval except that she felt it was proper to conduct the private practice. "We would work on prosecuting cases just as much even without it (the practice)," she said. "Anyway, it has nothing to do with our need for an investigator."

Green said a called meeting of the Hereford Bar Association would be held and a recommendation would be presented at the court's next regular meeting. The commissioners tabled any action until then.

REPRESENTATIVES of the highway department and Amarillo College sought and received approval from the court to identify roads in the county which need center striping and associated markings such as railroad crossings and narrow bridges. The state would strip eligible roads (those with 250 cars or more a day) one time but the county would have to restripe them if so needed.

The court unanimously approved the project.

Bell Telephone received an okay for digging a Tex-Mex ditch along 15th Street for a cable the company wants installed.

The fire report listed 13 County fires and nine city fires during the past month.

Paintings Auctioned

An oil painting of a cattle stampede with an estimated value in excess of $50,000 will be presented to the National Cowgirl Hall of Fame in Hereford this weekend.

Leora S. Coffey, internationally known big game hunter, painted the western epic on an eight by twelve foot canvas especially for the Hall. The presentation will be made during the May 14, 15, and 16 Hall of Fame All Girl Rodeo here.

Mrs. Coffey will also donate proceeds from an auction sale of her paintings to the Hall to be held in Hereford during the Rodeo.

The auction will be held at 4 p.m. Saturday in Dameron Park. About 20 original oil paintings by Coffey will be sold to the public.

Mrs. Coffey lives in Cherry Valley, California, where she maintains a museum of her game trophies. Beginning in 1964, Leora Coffey has hunted every type of game on five continents. In addition to hunting and painting, she has authored a book entitled, "Wilds of Alaska, Big Game Hunting."

REPRESENTATIVES of Kids Inc., an organization supporting 49 baseball and softball teams, brought an internal squabble to the commissioners. It involved whether the 30-acres bought by the county for Kids Inc. was to be used equally for softball (mostly girls teams) and baseball fields.

However, the court bought the land and designated Kids Inc. to design an eight diamond park for their teams. Chuck Cosper, president, apologized for bringing the matter to the court and said the problem would be resolved within the organization.

Parents of softball team members claimed they were not equally represented on the Kids Inc. board of directors and therefore they were not going to have an equal number of softball parks in the new complex.

The commissioners expressed the opinion that Kids Inc. should be representing all kids.

All commissioners were present.

A BIG HOSPITABLE hustlin' Hereford welcome goes to the cowgirls coming in for this weekend's Hall of Fame Rodeo!

All of the current world champions are expected to be competing in the second annual Hall of Fame All Girl Rodeo here, and the National Cowgirl Hall of Fame will be inducting six honorees. A Western Art Exhibit opens at the Hall of Fame headquarters today, and the first rodeo performance is set Friday night. The big parade is Saturday at 2 p.m. It should be quite a weekend!

IF YOU LOOK on the classified pages in today's paper, you'll note that Tom Draper has a public notice proclaiming that he accepted a challenge from Harold Wheeler for a "world's championship" match in pitching washers.

For those who've tossed a few washers at the three holes in the dirt, it will be a nostalgic event. And, if you don't know what washer pitching is, you need to be out Saturday at Dameron Park to see the big match. Two veteran washer pitchers--Knocky Tyler and Goose Ramey--will be the officials.

The event will be staged along with other special activities following the Hall of Fame Rodeo Saturday. The contests include cow-chip throwing, cow milking for women, greased-pig chase for women, and stick-horse races for the kids.

The washer pitching is also a women's contest. Draper's team is composed of Marn Tyler and Cornelia Annen of Nazareth, while Wheeler's hopes ride with Shirley Wheeler and Isabel Pena. Draper and Truman Ivey are coaching one team, while Irene McKinster and Argen Draper are tutoring the Wheeler duo on how to toss the washers!

THERE IS A REAL need for additional water safety instructors in Hereford, according to Mary Zinser, water safety chairman for the Red Cross swimming program. People who might have their current life saving certificate are asked to consider becoming an aide or instructor. Classes will be offered this summer. For more information, call the chamber office, 364-3333.

Lyman Dayton, producer of some new refreshing family films, recently was quoted on his aims in movie productions. Since one of his films, "Against a Crooked Sky", is currently showing at the Star Theater, we believe his objectives are commendable and offer a new era in movie production. His statement:

"A family film should be just that—a motion picture about real people and real experiences that an entire family can enjoy together. Too much of our entertainment and recreation has been fragmented, with adults going to their movies and their own activities while the children are left to do their thing."

"A family film should allow them to share each other along with an honest good story. I don't mean a family film should be just for Mom, Dad and the kids. A quality family film should be one which provides entertainment for everyone--be they teenager, single, or senior citizen."

"As a producer and a family man, I want my motion pictures to meet standards. I want to watch every detail from casting to conclusion to know that what goes up on the screen is something you can enjoy, not only with your contemporaries but with your parents and my children, too. That's what family films should be and that is my goal. Bring them to the public."

Elevator Raised to Great Heights

BY BOBBY TEMPLETON
Brand News Editor

Like the great Egyptian pyramids rising from the north African desert, a mammoth cement elevator began towering over the plains around Hereford during the past week. Unlike the pyramids, though, the elevator was round in shape and took a heck of a lot less time to construct.

While the slaves toiled for years to build their tributes to the ancient pharaohs, a group of about 60 men worked continuously for seven days and three hours to complete a 12-silo elevator for Hereford Grain Corporation. The structure is located next to an existing elevator near the intersection of Highway 385 and Highway 60.

DRIVERS GOING by could determine daily progress on the grain storage facility since the workers never stop pouring the cement once they have started at the ground level. Each day, another 18 feet or so was added to the elevator. This is based on a rate of construction of about eight or nine inches an hour.

Don Billmeier, supervisor of the project for Borton's Inc. of Hutchinson, Kan., said the elevator was built by two 30-man crews which switched off every 12 hours. The company was commissioned to construct the facility to provide Hereford Grain with another 513,000 bushels of storage space.

The cost of the elevator is placed at around $300,000 according to city building permits.

It all began in the first week of April when a deep hole was dug for the foundation of the elevator. Underneath the ground, a tunnel had to be built to facilitate the transportation of grain whether it be wheat, milo or corn.

Once the beginning foundation was completed, the workers built a large 42-inch thick construction platform. It was mounted with overhead lights for night work and was floored with wood to provide the men a platform on which to pour the cement into the molding forms on the sides of the elevator.

AS THE CEMENT was put in place, 75 electronic jacks automatically raised the platform higher and higher. Although shocking, it took only eight horse-power to lift the platform as each of the jacks is strategically placed around the sides of the elevator and along two support beams running the length of the platform. Each jack possessed one-twelfth of a horsepower, which provided the power for the jacks to latch onto notches all the way up.

The cement was transported to the top in buckets raised by cables. The men would take the cement in buggy wheelbarrows where it needed to be poured. Since the process never stops, the material dries uniformly until the elevator is finally completed. Each bucket brought up a half yard of cement at a time.

Francis Backus, assistant manager of Hereford Grain, said about 4,000 square feet of cement was used in the facility. The walls of the elevator are seven inches thick. Joe Artho is the manager.

"IT TOOK THE MEN exactly seven days and three hours to go up 141 feet and seven inches," he said. The actual pouring was completed at noon Monday.

The original target date for completing all construction is in September, but Billmeier hopes he can finish by the end of June if not definitely by July 15.

"We build elevators throughout the United States," he said. "We've been fairly busy lately."

He didn't know exactly how many elevators were being erected. Most of the construction workers were hired from the area as the company bought in only about five men.

WORK YET TO BE COMPLETED includes the head house at the top, which will contain a long conveyer belt which transports the grain to specified silos once it is elevated to the top from trucks which bring it in from the fields.

Backus said no accessory legs will be attached to the new elevator since it will be tied directly into the one beside it. If the storage space is needed, then the head house equipment from the other elevator will transport the grain.

Hereford Grain could definitely have used the elevator during last year's record wheat harvest as all silos were full. Although, good milo and corn harvests would be advantageous this year, it is fairly well conceded that wheat will not be as demanding on the elevators this year.

However, other good years will come and the elevator will no doubt be of use. In the meantime, it certainly is adding to what skyline Hereford has.

Budget

the tax year was better. Even though taxes aren't due until Jan. 1 each year, county taxes are received as early as October due to discounts offered for prompt payment. This allows taxes to be collected in the same fiscal year they are to be used.

The budget lists total disbursements of $1,982,285 with receipts of $1,774,053. Of the receipts, taxes will total $992,348.92. Other income is due to fees, fines, rentals, and interest charged through the various county departments and funds.

The county budget includes 12 primary funds, of which the following are taxes as these designated rates: general, 62 cents; road and bridge, 12 cents; jury, one cent; road and bridge operating machinery, six cents; and 1966 road Bond interest and sinking, four cents. These combined with the county special tax for road maintenance (30 cents) equal the total county rate of $1.15 per $100 of assessed valuation.

County Judge Sam Morgan said during the meeting that the road and bridge operating machinery fund required $110,000 for purchasing new road equipment so that no bonds would have to be taken before the people. "We think we will save money for the county this way," he said. The purchase will probably include two maintainers. This fund included no disbursements during 1975.

The other area of large expense was under officer's salary fund which included the 10 per cent salary increase for all county employees. An increase in Texas State recently, and Stanton was just one point behind. Principals Ray Todd and Pat Hughes made brief comments concerning the program.

Due to declining enrollment in cosmetology, the state sent word that Hereford would be cut to a half-unit in that program, Hartman announced. However, the school is appealing the decision on the basis that the past year's declining enrollment was unusual and that facilities will be wasted if the program is not continued.

After explaining that increased enrollment in the band program is anticipated next year and that some uniforms are beyond repair and alteration, Hartman recommended the purchase of 75 new band uniforms next fall. About 50 will be for the increased members and about 25 for replacement purposes. The cost is estimated at more than $11,000. Trustees approved the action.

THE BOARD accepted one teacher resignation from Eulalia Dolan, who explained that a move was necessary due to her husband's job. No new teachers were approved at the meeting.

Tuesday was the deadline for receiving applications for the tax assessor-collector's post in the system. Since it was possible for applications to arrive in the mail under the deadline, no action was taken on the matter. Click will be retiring at the close of the school year.

The board took time during the review of bills to explain the procedure to new trustees Sallie Strain and Alex Schroeter. All trustees were present except Jim Arney.

Hartman reminded trustees that baccalaureate is scheduled May 23 and commencement May 27, both ceremonies to be in Whiteface Stadium. The superintendent asked the board to consider the possibility of combining the two ceremonies into one next year and in the future. This will probably be discussed at the next meeting.

During the budget review, the board also looked at a comparison of utility bills prepared by Phillips. The average cost of gas per mcf jumped from 34.5 cents in 1973-74 to $1.04 in 1975-76. The average cost of electricity per kwh rose from 1.5 cents to 2.5 for the same period. The basic phone bill was up about 10 percent, said Phillips, while only a slight increase was noted for water and sewer.

Enrollment figures presented at the meeting revealed the total was up by 133 over the same time a year ago. Average daily attendance for 25 of the 36 weeks was listed at 94 percent, up slightly over the 93.6 percentage for the same time last year. Enrollment in the first and second grades is higher this year than anticipated.

KNOW YOUR BEEF...

School Board

and Jim Holmes were formally named as "assistant superintendents", without a change in job responsibilities or salaries.

Supt. Roy Hartman said the title changes were primarily for "professional reasons and probably should have been made several years ago." Phillips is in charge of finance and business; Holmes heads up the curriculum, special education, in-service program and others, and Wartes handles maintenance of the plant, custodial, transportation and cafeterias.

Trustees also discussed the percentage of assessment to be used on property value for the new 1976-77 budget, and generally agreed for a 50 percent assessment figure to be used in making a tentative budget.

Orpha Click, tax assessor-collector, reported the actual valuations from the property re-appraisal program should be known by the end of the month. The board will probably adopt the assessment ratio at the next meeting, then the tax rate will be set after the budget is prepared.

Hartman estimated the district's total property valuation will be around $390 million under the re-appraised figures. This compares to about $247 million on the current budget. He recommended the 50 percent assessment rate be used on the new budget, instead of the current 60 percent ratio. He speculated this could lower the local maintenance tax by about 25 cents, also.

Based on a study by the teachers' insurance committee and a poll of the teachers, Hartman recommended the board approve a plan to deduct $120 from all teachers supplemental pay. The current hospitalization program has very high rates, due to lack of participation and the loss-ratio factor.

IN A BALLOT of teachers, the vote was 237 for and 95 against, the plan for the district to contribute the $120 per year from the local supplement. Hartman explained that "for the welfare of all teachers" he recommended approval.

The trustees, however, had mixed emotions concerning the plan. Some felt that no teachers should be penalized (by the pay deduction) if they chose not to take the hospitalization or if their spouse already had a plan. Others felt that the majority opinion should be followed. The vote was 4-2 against adoption.

Dan Dudley, La Plata teacher, presented the curriculum discussion on the industrial arts program. The presentation included slides which illustrated the work of the students in metal and wood working, drafting, power technology and electronics. The program is set up to lead students into the high school program, he explained.

Dudley indicated that more students are planning to enroll in the program next year, and he believes the trimester system will benefit the industrial arts program. He pointed out that La Plata won first in the regional contest at West

NEWS REPORT FROM WASHINGTON

Humphrey's Exit-Jackson's Bow-Udall's Dilemma-Vietnam Hokum

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The truth about Hubert Humphrey's decision against a presidential bid is that he knew there was little chance of success. That reality was concealed for months by those who fear Jimmy Carter.

Many of Humphrey's old friends in the press and television kept alive the Humphrey threat idea, built up his "alleged" support, his potential, a legend that he was the grand old man of the party, etc. But it was largely hopeful or wishful thinking. In the end, Humphrey knew he couldn't possibly gather together enough delegates to beat Jimmy Carter.

Henry Jackson ran out of money but that's not the real reason his campaign was curtailed. Jackson's campaign organization was sadly lacking. He also made a fatal tactical mistake in going so overboard in his effort to win the Jewish vote (and money).

Jackson won the Jewish vote but probably lost more votes among those who feared he had sold his soul to the Israelis and was approaching the Middle East problem with something less than U.S. interests primary.

Mo Udall encountered the dilemma of a leftwinger running at a time when Democrats were trending toward the center. With huge deficits, inflation and worries about defaults on the nation's mind, plus the unfulfilled promises of other Washington politicians, Udall was bucking the political tide.

Jimmy Carter, on the other hand, was riding that tide, and convinced people he was a devout Christian, something the nation was also ready for, and longing for.

Much hokum is being written these days about the fall of South Vietnam. It started when the New York Times printed a series of articles written by the then North Vietnamese army commander, who was surprised at the speed of the 1974 South Vietnamese collapse.

Then former South Vietnamese officials spoke out. They blamed this decision or that for the collapse. The truth is, however, the people and troops of South Vietnam didn't support the Thieu regime. They didn't and wouldn't fight. It's that simple.

Book Reveals Author's Story

"My Life" by Golda Meir and "Saving The Queen" by William F. Buckley are the two books being featured this week at Deaf Smith County Library.

In the book "My Life", Golda Meir's memoirs are as deeply felt, candid and human as her life has been.

The result of "Saving The Queen" is a unique form of entertainment where the excitement stems as much from the author's virtuosity as it does from the drama of the story itself.

Deaf Smith County Library is open free to the public from 9 a.m.-9 p.m. Monday and Thursday; from 9 a.m.-6 p.m. other weekdays and until noon Saturday.

MY LIFE

By Golda Meir

This is Golda Meir's long-awaited personal and moving story of her life. For the first time, we experience through her own words how it happened that this amazing woman, born in Russia and brought up in Milwaukee, became the prime minister of Israel and one of the political giants of our time without ever losing the warmth and informality for which she is justly celebrated.

In this autobiography she tells of the terrors which overshadowed her childhood, of her stormy adolescence, of her marriage and emigration to Palestine in the 1920s, and of the plunge she took--as a dedicated Zionist and socialist--into what she believed would be a unique society.

She herself describes her political career as Israel's labor minister, foreign minister, and finally prime minister, against the background of her conflicting role as a wife and as a mother.

This personal story of her own life inevitably reflects also the story of Israel itself--and of its struggle to survive--culminating in what was for Golda Meir the most desperate period of all, the terrible days of the Yom Kippur War of 1973.

SAVING THE QUEEN

by William F. Buckley

It isn't every day that God and Blackford Oakes save the Queen. And indeed, God seemed to be doing a good enough job all by Himself until circumstances assumed such dire proportions that the CIA and Oakes were called in to lend a hand.

It all began back in 1951 when the United States was on the verge of creating the hydrogen bomb and the Russians were doing their efficient best to find out how. And someone, somewhere, was telling them.

It was Blackford Oakes mission to find out who and where. As he follows the trail into ever more unlikely places, surprise after surprise unfolds to reveal the most astonishing of all his own life is in danger.

What is no surprise is that in this novel, about a young man recruited into the CIA straight off the Yale Campus, William Buckley, Jr., tells it all with the high style that is inimitably his own. The famous wit, the humor, and the bite are here almost on every page, as are the intelligence and obvious inside knowledge of Washington, London, the Court; of how someone is brought into "The Company," how he is trained, how he functions on the job.

ASTRONAUT RETIRES

SPACE CENTER, HOUSTON--Astronaut Ronald E. Evans, command module pilot on the Apollo 17 moon landing, has retired as a captain in the Navy, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said.

Yellow Squash Is Favorite

Delicate yellow squash—high on the list of favorite summer vegetables—is arriving in quantities at produce markets now. This vegetable is usually picked before fully ripe, while skins and seeds are tender. If allowed to ripen, the seeds and skin become hard and the flesh is fibrous. A good source of Vitamin A and B-vitamins, the yellow summer squash contains only 30 calories per cup. To maintain high quality, store in the refrigerator crisper or in plastic bags and use within three to five days.

SQUASH CHIFFON PIE

1 1/4 cups cooked squash
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup milk
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon ginger
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
3 eggs
Put squash in top of double boiler, with sugar, milk, salt, ginger, nutmeg, and cinnamon. Mix well and when hot, add to three egg yolks slightly beaten. Return to double boiler and stir and cook until thick. Measure one-fourth cup cold water, add 1 tablespoon gelatin, and when soft, add to hot squash mixture. Mix thoroughly and cool. When it begins to stiffen, beat three egg whites until stiff, beat in one-fourth cup sugar and fold into squash mixture. Pour into baked pie shell, chill in refrigerator or cold place. Garnish with whipped cream just before serving.

SQUASH CHEESE SOUFFLE

2 cups mashed squash
1/2 cup cream
2 eggs
2 tablespoons butter
1/2 cup grated cheese
seasonings
Mix the mashed squash with the cream, cheese and seasonings. Add the well-beaten egg yolks. Beat the egg whites until stiff but not dry, and fold them carefully into the squash mixture. Pour into a well-oiled baking dish set in a pan of hot water and bake at 350 degrees F. for 40 minutes, or until a knife inserted in the product comes out clean. Serve at once. The amount of cream will need to be varied according to the dryness or moistness of the squash used.

BAKED SQUASH GOULASH

4 slices bacon
1 large onion
1 medium-size summer squash or 1 pound of winter squash
1 green pepper
2 cups tomatoes, fresh or canned salt, pepper and sugar
Cut the bacon in small pieces and fry it. Add the onion and then. Cook the onion until yellow. Add the squash cut in thin cross-wise slices. Add the pepper, cut in small pieces, the tomato, salt and pepper, and sugar. Mix thoroughly and turn the mixture into a casserole. Cover and bake it in a moderate oven for one hour.

SUMMER SQUASH BAKE

1 quart summer squash, sliced
1/2 cup water
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup medium white sauce (recipe following)
1/2 cup breadcrumbs
1/2 cup process cheddar cheese, shredded
2 eggs beaten
Preheat oven to 350 degrees F.

Grease a 1 1/2-quart casserole. Cook squash in boiling, salted water for five minutes. Drain. Mix squash with white sauce and eggs. Place mixture in casserole, sprinkle cheese and crumbs over the top. Bake for 25 minutes. Provides six serving, 1/2 cup each.

MEDIUM WHITE SAUCE

2 tablespoons butter or other fat
1/4 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup milk
Blend flour with fat, then combine with remaining liquid, stirring constantly over low heat until thickened.

Family Film Scheduled

A family film to be held at Deaf Smith County Library today at 4 p.m. and 7 p.m. will be a tribute to the nation's Bicentennial. The film will be free and open to the public. It is a salute to some of the bravest fighting men the country has ever known and is as good as any Walt Disney movie. A special hour-long film will also be held at 4 p.m. Friday for all children during story hour.

Induction Ceremonies Planned May 16

Hall of Fame Honorees Reflect Western Heritage

A cowgirl's dream will be bestowed upon six deserving honorees when they are officially inducted into the National Cowgirl Hall of Fame located in the spacious basement of the county library. The institution which became a realization early last year is designed along the lines of the Cowboy Hall of Fame in Oklahoma City. However, this one features only women who have contributed significantly to western heritage whether in the past or present.

THE SIX HONOREES this year will be inducted at 2 p.m. Sunday at the Hereford Rider's Arena at the beginning of rodeo action that day. It will highlight the second annual Hall of Fame Professional All Girl Rodeo which begins at 1 p.m. Friday.

Plans call for the building of a large $800,000 modern building on 10 acres of land at the Hereford Municipal Airport on Highway 60 East. A fund raising drive is currently under way to build it. A large sign marks the spot where it will be built. Serving on the board of directors of the Hall of Fame are Dale Evans Rogers, Tanya Tucker, a western country singer, and Sammy Thurman, president of the Girls Rodeo Association.

Deaf Smith County Judge Sam Morgan serves as president and Roy Faubion is chairman of the board of directors.

Among this year's honorees are Sacajawea, an Indian girl who helped guide the Lewis and Clark Expedition in 1805, Blanche Altizer Smith of Del Rio, Tex., Fern Sawyer Dunn of Lovington, N.M., Margaret Owens of Ozona, Tex., Kathryn Binford of Wildorado, and Jewel Duncan of Toyah, Tex. All are expected to attend the induction except for Sachgawea and Margaret Owens, who was killed in an auto accident in 1955 near Sierra Blanco, Tex.

The honored individuals follow the first three honorees inducted last year. They are Alice Greenough, Jackie Worthington and the late Sissie Thurman.

MRS. OWENS was born in 1922 and lived most of her life on a ranch near Ozona. She was one of the organizers of the Girls Rodeo Association in 1948.

Among her rodeo feats was the winning of the first All Around Cowgirl title in 1948. Following that, she was numerous other championships and continued to be active in rodeo events.

SACHGAWEA, a 16-year-old Shoshoni girl, acted as a guide for the Lewis and Clark Expedition in 1805 from North Dakota to the Pacific Coast. She was instrumental in a development of a large part of this nation since the expedition was organized to map out and investigate the far stretches of the unknown North American continent.

BLANCHE SMITH, born in 1928 in Del Rio, was raised on a ranch. Among her accomplishments were service as GRA secretary from 1951 to 1958, champion team roper in 1950 and 1955, GRA Champion Calf Roper in 1950, director of GRA for several years, supervisor of different junior rodeos and advisor to the Val Verde County 4-H club.

She lives with her husband Bud Smith on a ranch 68 miles northwest of Del Rio. She maintains a home in Del Rio so her two sons go to school and so they can oversee Mrs. Smith's parents' ranch.

FERN DUNN attended school in Brownfield, Tex., high school in Tatum, N.M., and college at Texas Tech and the University of New Mexico.

She started to ride at the age of three-years-old and her first rodeo participation was in the sponsor contest at Lovington, which she won. Her rodeo involvement has taken her to Madison Square Garden in New York, Fort Worth, Denver, Pecos, Tex., Midland, Stanford, Amarillo, Topeka, and Ada, Okla. She astonished men opponents when she won the cutting horse championship at Fort Worth in 1945.

Other feats have included the cutting horse championship in Denver in 1945 and 1947, second place finishes in cutting horse competition in 1946 and 1948, cutting horse wing in Pecos for three years in a row, and triumphs in Amarillo as All Around Champion Cowgirl in 1947 and Reserve Champion in 1948.

She escaped real serious injuries but she took her share of bumps when she broke an ankle while roping at her 1940 XII Reunion at Dalhart and broke a hand in 1947 while riding a bull in Amarillo.

Mrs. Dunn is presently on the Board of Directors of the Albuquerque, N.M., State Fair, serves on the GRA board of directors and holds the directorship in GRA for sponsored events.

KATHRYN BINFORD, born in 1888 in Prophetstown, Ill., moved with her family to a farm near Vega. There, she met and married Gene Binford, a lawyer from Iowa. They moved to a ranch near Wildorado.

She has been active all her life in ranching and community activities. She and her husband ran the 10,000 acre M-Bar ranch since 1912. She and her husband are credited with bringing the first purebred Hereford cattle to Oldham County from Tulsa. Her interests in ranching have continued to the present day. Her husband died in 1934.

She recalls the roughness of the early days when she first roomed in a two-room trapper's shack and once camped out overnight and unknowingly shared a sleeping bag with a tarantula. She remembers the early killings of Lobo wolves which plagued livestock, the bothersome mesquite shrub, and the service her husband provided the Texas Rangers.

She continues her love for horses, which she said she practically lived on before her children were born. This is characteristic for one being honored with induction into the Cowgirl Hall of Fame.

THE FINAL HONOREE IS JEWEL DUNCAN, who was born in 1911. In her younger days, she was an exhibition and contest roper at rodeos. No trophies adorn her shelves since no womens' roping contests existed in her day.

She and her husband Keezie Duncan followed the traveling rodeos. She contracted with the Milt Hinkle Rodeo Show to do exhibition roping and was the first woman roper in the "West of the Pecos Rodeo" in the early 1930's. She continues to keep an active part in managing the Duncan Ranch near Toyah even though she does not ride or rope anymore.

GRA President Is Entry in Rodeo

Sammy Thurman, of California is one of the top Girls Rodeo Associations most prominent members competing in the Hall of Fame Rodeo here on Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

In addition to being a former World Champion Barrel Racer, Sammy has starred in several movies for Walt Disney Productions, and appeared in the movie in Cold Blood.

While not traveling the rodeo circuit, she holds a number of successful barrel racing and horsemanship clinics throughout the United States, teaching the fundamentals of riding and winning to aspiring young horsewomen.

Vandals Damage Bus, Wreck Windows Here

Vandals went on a rampage locally over the weekend, causing major damage to local businesses and also damaging a school bus.

According to a police spokesman, vandals broke out 13 windows on the Camp Fire Girls school bus while it was parked at a garage on West Highway 60. The spokesman indicated that rocks were thrown through all of the windows, and added that officers have a suspect in the incident.

Damage to the bus was estimated at $400. The incident was reported Monday. Vandals inflicted approximately $200 worth of damage at Big T Pump Co., located on New York Street, when they threw a concrete block through a window at that firm Friday night.

Rock throwing also proved expensive for the Water Industries Inc. office on New York Street Friday night as vandals took their toll on another window. Damages were estimated at $100 at that firm.

Anderson Sales, located at 200 Dairy Road, was also victimized by vandals Friday night. Two windows were broken out with rocks. Damage totaled $50, according to police estimates.

A 19-year-old Hereford man was arrested here for possession of marijuana Saturday night.

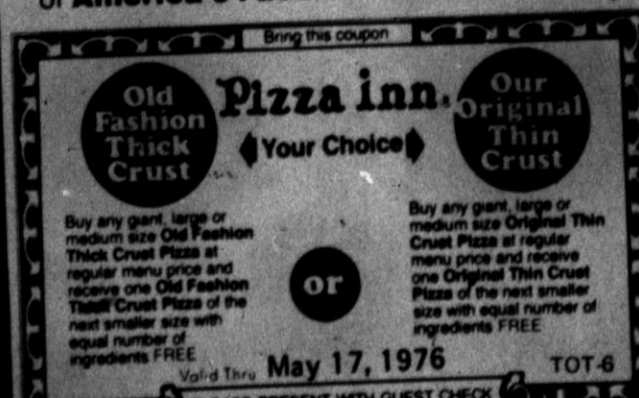

Cruz Ramirez was charged with possession of marijuana and disorderly conduct following his arrest in the 100 block of Ave. G.

A police spokesman indicated that Ramirez was arrested while walking late at night on Ave. G.

Among her rodeo feats was the winning of the first All Around Cowgirl title in 1948. Following that, she was numerous other championships and continued to be active in rodeo events.

SACHGAWEA, a 16-year-old Shoshoni girl, acted as a guide for the Lewis and Clark Expedition in 1805 from North Dakota to the Pacific Coast. She was instrumental in a development of a large part of this nation since the expedition was organized to map out and investigate the far stretches of the unknown North American continent.

BLANCHE SMITH, born in 1928 in Del Rio, was raised on a ranch. Among her accomplishments were service as GRA secretary from 1951 to 1958, champion team roper in 1950 and 1955, GRA Champion Calf Roper in 1950, director of GRA for several years, supervisor of different junior rodeos and advisor to the Val Verde County 4-H club.

She lives with her husband Bud Smith on a ranch 68 miles northwest of Del Rio. She maintains a home in Del Rio so her two sons to go to school and so they can oversee Mrs. Smith's parents' ranch.

FERN DUNN attended school in Brownfield, Tex., high school in Tatum, N.M., and college at Texas Tech and the University of New Mexico.

She started to ride at the age of three-years-old and her first rodeo participation was in the sponsor contest at Lovington, which she won. Her rodeo involvement has taken her to Madison Square Garden in New York, Fort Worth, Denver, Pecos, Tex., Midland, Stanford, Amarillo, Topeka, and Ada, Okla. She astonished men opponents when she won the cutting horse championship at Fort Worth in 1945.

Other feats have included the cutting horse championship in Denver in 1945 and 1947, second place finishes in cutting horse competition in 1946 and 1948, cutting horse wins in Pecos for three years in a row, and triumphs in Amarillo as All Around Champion Cowgirl in 1947 and Reserve Champion in 1948.

She escaped real serious injuries but she took her share of bumps when she broke an ankle while roping at her 1940 XII Reunion at Dalhart and broke a hand in 1947 while riding a bull in Amarillo.

Mrs. Dunn is presently on the Board of Directors of the Albuquerque, N.M., State Fair, serves on the GRA board of directors and holds the directorship in GRA for sponsored events.

KATHRYN BINFORD, born in 1888 in Prophetstown, Ill., moved with her family to a farm near Vega, Tex. There, she met and married Gene Binford, a lawyer from Iowa. They moved to a ranch near Wildorado.

She has been active all her life in ranching and community activities. She and her husband ran the 10,000 acre M-Bar ranch since 1912. She and her husband are credited with bringing the first purebred Hereford cattle to Oldham County from Tullia. Her interests in ranching have continued to the present day. Her husband died in 1934.

She recalls the roughness of the early days when she first roomed in a two-room trapper's shack and once camped out overnight and unknowingly shared a sleeping bag with a tarantula. She remembers the early killings of Lobo wolves which plagued livestock, the bothersome mesquite shrub, and the service her husband provided the Texas Rangers.

She continues her love for horses, which she said she practically lived on before her children were born. This is characteristic for one being honored with induction into the Cowgirl Hall of Fame.

THE FINAL HONOREE IS JEWEL DUNCAN, who was born in 1911. In her younger days, she was an exhibition and contest roper at rodeos. No trophies adorn her shelves since no women's roping contests existed in her day.

She and her husband Keezie Duncan followed the traveling rodeos. She contracted with the Milt Hinkle Rodeo Show to do exhibition roping and was the first woman roper in the "West of the Pecos Rodeo" in the early 1930's. She continues to keep an active part in managing the Duncan Ranch near Toyah even though she does not ride or rope anymore.

Employment Program To Begin Here

The Texas Panhandle Community Action Agency will launch its 1976 Summer Youth Employment Program during the first week of June.

The program will involve about 60 local youth in jobs which range from custodian aide to child care aide.

Other jobs which local youth have been employed in include clerical work, library aide, cafeteria aide and teachers aide.

The dimension of programs offered may be expanded this year by allowing youth to participate in work as it relates to profit-oriented businesses.

Interested youth between the ages of 12 and 21 who meet the Manpower guidelines may contact Linda Roberson at 364-5632 or come by the old Central School at 4th and Ross in order to make necessary applications.

All eligible applicants will be screened and subsequently placed in various work stations throughout the community.

Interested persons should make application as soon as possible, as funds are limited to county allocations.

Another YMCA Donation

Joe Leal, left, president of the American GI Forum chapter here, presents a $200 check to Robert Mayfield for the Hereford and Vicinity YMCA, Inc. fund drive. So far collections are over $14,000 and more is coming each day, Mayfield said. He urged more people and organizations to donate toward the Y program and building fund.

Veterans Benefits For 1975 Totaled By VA Officials

Some 469,213 veterans, dependents and survivors in Texas received $821,433,611 in Veterans Administration benefits during fiscal year 1975, according to Jack Coker, VA Regional Office Director in Waco.

"That's a lot of federal money," Coker said, "but the irony of it is that there may be thousands of older veterans and eligible survivors of veterans who do not realize they are eligible for benefits."

VA benefits include such diversified areas as home loan guarantees, education benefits, life insurance coverage, burial benefits, and monthly payments in the form of compensation or pension, he explained. Some 1,603,000 veterans in Texas are potentially eligible plus some dependents and survivors.

"Education payments made to 177,931 veterans and eligible dependents totaled $284,883,389," Coker said. "An additional $487,102,046 in compensation and pension payments was made to 291,282 Texas veterans and survivors this year."

Disability compensation is paid to veterans who were disabled by injury or disease incurred on active duty and to those who had a medical condition that was aggravated by active military service. Those monthly payments range from $35.00 for a 10 percent degree of disability to $1,628.00 for specific severe disabilities. Spouses and children of veterans who die of these service-connected causes are eligible for Death Indemnity Compensation payments.

Pension is paid to eligible wartime veterans who are totally and permanently disabled for reasons not traceable to military service. Those who are 65 years of age or older are considered permanently and totally disabled for pension eligibility purposes. Dependent survivors of these veterans may receive pension assistance if their income does not exceed certain limits.

"Compensation and pension are often used interchangeably," Coker said. "However, they are vastly different. Compensation is paid -- without regard to income -- when disability or death resulted from military service. Pension is paid on the basis of need when the disability or death was not related to military service. Pension payments vary in amount with the recipient's income from other sources. As income from other sources increases, including Social Security increases, the pension payment decreases."

Basic pension payments range from a high of $196.00 monthly (for a veteran with three dependents and only $300.00 or less annual income from other sources) to $5.00 for a single veteran with a $3,300.00 annual income. The pension cut-off point for married veterans with three dependents is an annual income of $4,500.00.

Also considered in determining pension eligibility is the size of a veteran's estate and unusual medical expenses which are not reimbursed by insurance.

Education benefits are limited to veterans with more than 180 continuous days of honorable military service since 1955.

Complete information on all VA benefits is available from VA offices, veterans county service officers, and from local veterans organizations.

VA Questions

Only veterans who are retired from military service are eligible for medical benefits from military hospitals and clinics overseas, VA said.

Certain education benefits are available overseas to eligible veterans, their spouses and children. The type and availability of these benefits should be ascertained before traveling or moving abroad, VA advised.

While compensation and pension checks will be mailed to most addresses abroad, veterans cannot obtain GI home loans for overseas residences, VA explained.

Full information may be obtained by checking with the nearest VA office, veterans county service officer, or with a representative of one of the national veterans service organizations.

Tough Contestant

Jimmie Gibbs of Valley Mills, Tex., the 1975 World Champion Barrel Racer and GRA all around Cowgirl, will be one of the spirited contestants in the National Cowgirl Hall of Fame

Professional All Girl Rodeo set for May 14-16 in the Hereford Riders' Arena. She is shown with her numerous winnings over the years.

Top GRA Cowgirl To Offer Tough Competition in All Girl Rodeo

One of the top contenders in the National Cowgirl Hall of Fame Professional All Girl Rodeo will be Jimmie Gibbs of Valley Mills, Tex. As the 1975 All Round Champion and 1975 Girls Rodeo Association top barrel racer, she is bound to excite the crowds during the rodeo action scheduled here May 14-16.

Avery, Hardtner, Ks., for the 1974 GRA Rookie of the Year Honors. This title was settled at the National Finals Rodeo, when Jimmie had a bad week, and Colette swept the NFR even though Jimmie came into the NFR in the lead for Rookie. Colette finished as Rookie and winner of the 1974 NFR.

During the last week of May, Jimmie terrorized barrel racing competition in three states. She won Landoover, Md., Strong City, Ks., and was 3rd. at Ft. Smith, Ark., to finish with winnings in excess of $2,600 for one week. She took the lead in barrel racing from Becky Carson, Ft. Collins, Co., who had held it all year, and never let up her drive for the championship.

Jimmie rides an 8-year-old quarter horse gelding Robin's Flit Bar (Billy), and considers the horse the most important part of successful barrel racing. In addition to her championship for 1975 in Barrel Racing, Jimmie is the All Around Cowgirl and GRA Champion Tie Down Calf Roper for 1975, adding another $4,494 to her total winnings for the year. Winning two conveted titles in one year in GRA Competition, and setting a money mark are two new goals for GRA members to shoot for in coming years.

Effects of the Metric System May Change American Life Style

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article is furnished by Jeane Coker, president of the Hereford Board of Realtors for the benefit of our readers. The importance of the metric system is staggering and will affect everyone in daily life. Hopefully the information provided will help clear up some questions.

What do meters, kilograms, seconds, amperes, kelvins, moles and candelas have in common?

They're all base units within the SI Metric System, the system of measurement to which the United States eventually will convert.

The SI Metric System (which is short for "Le System International d'Unites" or, in English, the International System of Units) was officially adopted in 1960 by the General Conference on Weights and Measures as the internationally accepted language of metric measure. It differs in a number of ways from the Centimeter-Gram-Second system which most of us learned in school and which has been in use in Europe.

Whose idea was it to convert to a metric system? Actually, the question of metrication is nearly as old as the United States. George Washington raised the issue in his first message to Congress in 1790, when he called for a uniform system of currency and weights and measures.

James Madison also urged Congressional action on a measurement system and finally, in 1866, Congress passed legislation making it legal to use the metric system in U.S. trade and commerce. However, the legislation neither recommended nor required its use.

In 1875, the United States signed the Treaty of the Meter, one of 17 countries to do so. But, in spite of that, the U.S. retained its old measurement system.

A century later -- in 1975 -- President Gerald R. Ford signed legislation providing for continued voluntary conversion to the metric system. The legislation contained no definite deadline or even a target date, but it established a United States Metric Board to coordinate the voluntary conversion.

Why did Congress and the President take this step toward the metrication of the United States? In fact, the real push for this legislation came not from government, but from the private sector. It came from the people in the business of buying and selling American products here and overseas.

Many areas of industry in the U.S. -- such as pharmaceuticals, cameras and space exploration -- already are largely metric. The automobile industry is converting rapidly, and construction industries are getting ready for conversion. Retailers are finding it good business to deal metrically with their customers.

Today, more than 90 per cent of the world's people use metric measurement in their everyday lives. Since six per cent of the world's population lies in the United States, only four per cent of the rest of the world is not already using the metric system.

The U.S. has held out as long as it can against a system which not only is being used by every other major industrial nation, but which is easier, more logical and more mathematical than the English system currently in use.

Reasons for conversion to the metric system -- as related by the chairperson, for the Real Estate Sector of the American National Metric Council (ANMC) to a recent national meeting of REALTORS -- are these:

--The change will facilitate multinational operations. A universal language of measurement will enhance international communication and technology transfer within a multinational company.

--The change will offer new opportunities for marketing.

--Customers have begun to demand metric products. (Case in point: the steel industry's response to demand from the auto industry.)

--U.S. companies are turning to the metric system because of foreign market restrictions.

Metric conversion will affect every industry, every company and every individual. And, although the long-term benefits of metrication are clear, the short-term confusion and disruption cannot be minimized.

Late registration and schedule changes may be accomplished until June 4 at the registrar's office in the Administration Building.

The majority of graduates trained at Amarillo College are presently a part of the work force in Amarillo as revealed by statistics issued this week from the Office of Student Financial Aid and Job Placement.

The AC 1975 Graduate Follow-up Report highlights figures of 81 per cent of the 1975 responses as being employed in Amarillo.

Larry Patterson, director of the second floor office in the College Union Building, and Joy Gibbins, financial aid assistant, compiled the report, which represents 61 per cent of 544 graduates in 1975.

Of those responding to the questionnaire sent out by the office, 82 per cent are from the College of Arts and Sciences, 53 per cent from the School of Biomedical Arts and Sciences, 62 per cent from the School of Technology and 58 per cent from the School of Vocational Arts.

The report and its 12 pages of charts were assembled from questionnaires issued to all 1975 graduates with certificates or degrees in the four programs.

It shows a total number of graduates in each field, graduates who are now working, graduates who have found jobs in the fields for which they were trained, graduates who are continuing their education, and the monthly average salary range.

AC grads also are making their training pay.

The average monthly salary of the biomedical graduates, based on 11 programs, was between $600 and $699. Of those in technology, average monthly salary was between $800 and $899 based on 11 programs. Of those in vocational, average monthly salary was between $900 and $999 based on five programs.

Graduates of the diesel mechanics and industrial welding programs at the West campus School of Vocational Arts, 6222 W. 9th, reported the top average monthly salaries ranging from $1000 to $1099 and $1100 to $1199, respectively.

Of the total respondents, 63 per cent indicated they worked an average of 37 hours per week to finance their education.

Employed in Amarillo biomedical graduate - 73 per cent, technical - 84 per cent and vocational 85 per cent.

The average movie requires the professional services of about 275 different occupations.

DON'T JUST LEARN FAITH; LIVE BY IT!

When Sunday morning rolls around,
A lot of folks you know
Will find themselves religion-bound,
And off to Church they go,
They rue the error of their ways,
And pray that all might hear,
And when it comes to hymns of praise,
They sing them loud and clear,
But when the services are done,
The lessons they ignore,
Till next the Sabbath has begun,
They leave them at the door,
The only way you'll ever earn
The happiness you seek
Is living by the faith you learn,
All seven days a week!

Foster Homes Needed For County Residents

Foster homes are needed in Oldham and Deaf Smith counties to provide care for aged, blind, or other disabled adults who can no longer continue living in their homes, but are not medically eligible for nursing home care, according to David Brown of Amarillo, adult social services supervisor, Texas State Department of Public Welfare. The foster family home program is one of the adult programs provided by the department as an alternative to institutional care.

"We are seeking warm hearted people who have room in their homes for one to three aged or disabled people who are not related to them," Brown said. "The foster family must be willing to help provide opportunities for social, recreational and religious activities as appropriate. They would not need to provide health related services."

Upon notification, the social worker will interview prospective foster care providers and check to see that the home meets health and safety standards. They will also give ongoing consultation to approved providers on any problems that may arise, he said.

"We would help the persons seeking foster care and those wishing to give it to get acquainted before further arrangements are made," Brown stated. "This is, really, a family-sharing program where all concerned need to be congenial. We expect it to enrich the lives of all concerned."

Cost of the foster care is shared by each receiver and the welfare department, who together pay a total of $220 per person per month to the provider, according to agency regulations.

Brown asked persons interested in learning more about providing this service to contact the local adult social services worker. Residents of Oldham and Deaf Smith counties may write Wendy Tooley, P.O. Box 3700, Amarillo, Texas 79106, or call her at (806) 353-7451.

Western Artist

Pamela Harr of Clarkston, Washington, is shown with a bronze statue she created for display in the National Cowgirl Hall of Fame here. The award winning western artist has donated the statue to the facility. It is of Sacagawea, the Shoshoni Indian girl who guided the Lewis and Clark Expedition in 1805. As a part of the Hall of Fame's portrayal of women who contributed to western development, Sacagawea is included as one of the six honorees being inducted into the hall during the All Girl rodeo here May 14-16. Pam Harr will be here for the rodeo.

SLOW THAW—Do not thaw frozen fish at room temperature or in warm water! These methods make it lose its flavor and moisture. Allow fish to thaw in refrigerator for 18 to 24 hours — or place under cold running water, but that takes several hours.

HAMBURGER HELPER — I hope you've discovered the marvelous fresh pastries you can create from frozen bread dough. To make eight hamburger buns, thaw a loaf but do not let rise.

First Program Extended Five Months

The successful Governor's Job Creation Campaign to make Texas First in economic development has been extended for five months, according to Reagan Brown, special assistant to Governor Dolph Briscoe and chairman of the program.

"In the first year of Texas First we identified more than 38,000 jobs and verified more than 30,000 workers have been hired," Brown said.

Texas First is funded through the U.S. Dept. of Labor with money authorized by the Comprehensive Employment Training Act of 1973. The five-month budget is $135,000.

Original goals of the program were to identify 4,000 jobs for unemployed and underemployed Texans. Brown said the goals was raised, but even that was met in short order.

"We decided not to set any more goals, but work as hard as we could to see just what the potential is in Texas," he said.

More than 175 communities statewide are involved in Texas First, and nearly 700 companies are participating in the economic development effort.

Postal Service Sells Stamp Groupings

A Bicentennial Mint Set containing a collection of 30 mint U.S. postage stamps commemorating the Bicentennial of the United States was placed on sale May 3 by the U.S. Postal Service.

The 32-page, hard-cover limited edition album is being sold at 103 philatelic centers and windows throughout the country and is also available by mail order from the Philatelic Sales Division in Washington. The price is $7.50.

The Mint Set portrays the commemoration of the Bicentennial through text and illustrations related to the Bicentennial Era stamps contained in the set. These include such U.S. issues as the Boston Tea Party block of four stamps, the single stamps commemorating the Battles of Lexington and Concord and Bunker Hill and the more recent Spirit of '76 strip of three stamps.

Color reproductions of the four Bicentennial Souvenir Sheets to be issued May 29 and the Declaration of Independence strip of four stamps to be issued July 4 are included in the Mint Set. An order form is enclosed for those who wish to order these issues later and add them to the Mint Set.

The Mint Set was produced in limited quantities. Accordingly, sales will be limited to five per customer at retail outlets or by mail order.

Mail orders should be addressed to "Bicentennial Mint Set, Philatelic Sales Division, Washington, DC 20265." Remittance should be by check or money order.

Increased Food Stamp Benefits Due

Households receiving rental or mortgage supplements from the department of Housing and Urban development may be entitled to increased food stamp benefits.

The State Department of Public Welfare made this announcement this week in revealing that the housing supplements paid under the provisions of the Housing Act of 1937 will no longer be considered as income for food stamp purposes.

The change is retroactive to October 8, 1975, which means that all households which have been denied food stamp benefits or have been participating at a reduced rate because of prior policy may be entitled to retroactive benefits or refunds.

Further details on the new food stamp regulations may be obtained from any food stamp certification office.

Allison Initiated Into Tech Honor Society

Phi Kappa Phi, all university honor society, initiated approximately 275 Texas Tech University students and five faculty members at its spring banquet recently.

The initiates included Charles R. Allison, son of Mrs. Daisy Allison, 107 Beach, Hereford.

Initiates are among the top 10 per cent of the senior and graduate school classes and the top 2 per cent of the junior class.

Texas Tech's total enrollment is more than 22,500. Scholarship and character are the basis for election to the society.

Rebecca Karr of Houston was named student vice president, the position going to the junior with the highest grade average with the highest number of hours taken at Texas Tech University. She was one of nine juniors with a 4.0 grade average, the highest possible.

Faculty members initiated were: Dr. Samuel E. Curl, associate vice president for academic affairs who recently was named president of Phillips University; Dean Carl H. Stem of the college of business administration; Dean Robert H. Anderson of the college of education; Chairman John L. Kice of the department of chemistry, and Dr. Keith V. Erickson of the department of speech and theater arts.

garry peebles

The Brand received the news this week that Mike Hull has received an offer of a basketball scholarship from Wayland. Hull was 2nd team all-district and took the News Service Award as the Herd's top basketball player this past season.

Also Steve Hoover and Rodriguez will take to the courts Friday in Austin for their 1st round match in the state doubles tourney, good luck fellows.

Am sure the cowgirl rodeo to be held here this weekend doesn't need a plug from me, everybody in town already knows about it but I am looking forward to seeing it because its unique and different and something that belongs to Hereford alone.

If you're a motorcycle enthusiast, there seem to be a lot of them around here, and if you have about six months free plus a few thousand dollars that's burring a hole in your pocket and also a yearning to see someplace different you might be interested in the next few paragraphs of my column. Last week somebody left a copy of Roadrider magazine (for the touring Mortocyclist) on my desk. On page 47 there was a story by a guy who apparently had plenty of all the above about a trip which he called the "Istanbul to Katmandu run."

In case you're wondering where Istanbul is, it's a city in Turkey (I'll leave it to you to go find a map and see where that is) and the beginning of the fellow's journey, at least the part of the journey he wrote about.

Katmandu, as you may also have guessed, is the end of the line, a city in Nepal 6000 miles from where you started.

Everything the guy said can be pretty well summed in his second paragraph which sounds to me like something straight out of a travel folder.

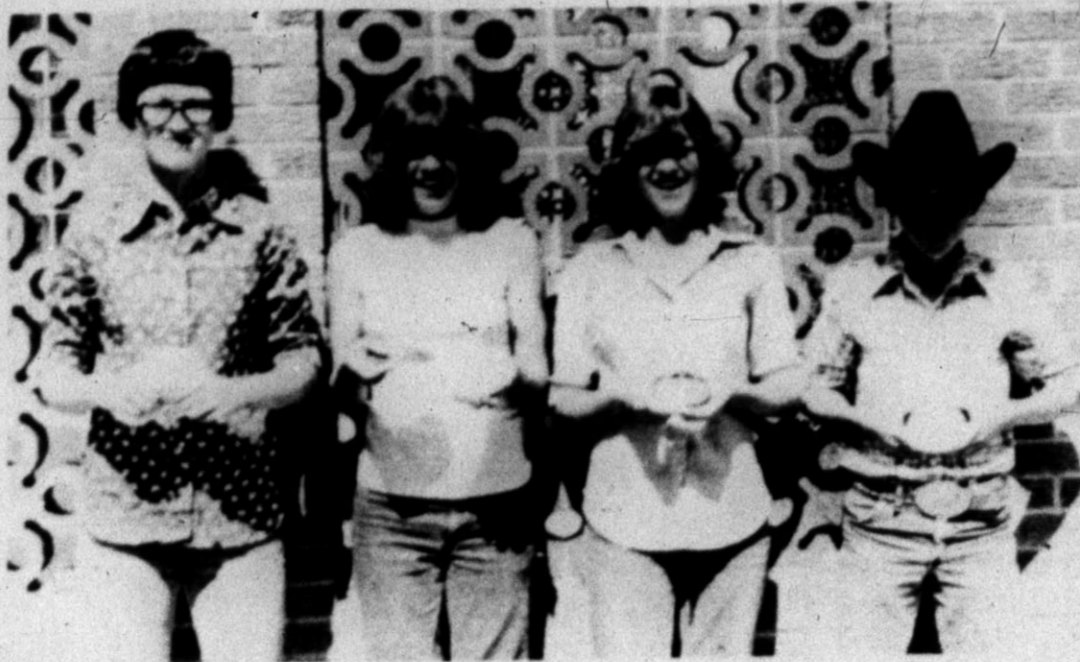

"You'll ride over the Gypsy Pass in Turkey and across the vast Khorasan steppes of Northeast Iran. In Afghanistan the road runs through the wasteland of the Khash Desert. Your exhaust note will echo off the walls of the Khyber Pass in Pakistan. The fertile Ganges River plain in India will give way to the foothills of the Himalayas, and one day you will brake to a stop on a mountain road, and in the distance you will see the peak of Mt. Everest."

He does admit that there are a few risks to the trip such as one area in Eastern Turkey where "the natives are not very friendly." He also says that it's a good policy not to ride at night.

$350 per person per month is his estimate of the expenses for the trip. Of course he didn't say how much it cost to get from here over there to begin with and of course you've got to either buy your motorcycle over there or pay to have one shipped over there, minor details.

Anyway it all sounded great but almost like something out of a fairy tale. I've wondered what it would be like to be able to do something like that ever since I read a book years ago by the name of "Royal Road to Romance" which was the true story of a fellow who spent his time running around the world doing things like climbing the Matterhorn and bathing in the Taj Mahal.

I guess though that even that kind of life has its drawbacks. Until later...

Rodeo Winners

In the above photo, Tania Wilson, Linda Evans, Cathy Evans and Brett Cunningham show the buckles which they won at the Friona Jr. Rodeo last weekend. They will be taking part in the Jr. Rodeo at Vega on May 29-30.

Hereford Kids Take Rodeo Honors

A group of aspiring young rodeo performers from Hereford traveled to Friona last weekend to participate in the Jr. Rodeo and came away with a number of shiny belt buckles as trophies for their efforts.

Boys and girls both took part in the event with each being divided into groups of over 14 and 14 and under.

Bill Blasingame and Curtis Smith represented Hereford in the older boys division and came home with 1st place in the team roping event also Smith took second in bull riding.

boys division and took 2nd in tiedown and calf roping and 1st in calf scramble respectively.

The girls, not to be outdone by their male counterparts also did very well.

Toni Blackwell took 2nd in poles in the older girls group while Tonia Wilson took 2nd in barrels and Linda Evans had a 1st in barrels and 2nd in goat tying for the younger lassies.

Cathy Evans wasn't fortunate enough to place in an event but she did bring home the hard luck buckle which is perhaps a sign of better things to come.

The group's next rodeo will be in Vega on May 29-30.

Rancheros Have 5-1 Mark

The Rancheros, Hereford's local independent baseball team, has combined powerful hitting and stout pitching to put together a 5-1 record so far this season.

Their wins have come against the Dimmitt Aces, 15-0, Edmonson, 15-1, Friona Six Packs, 14-4, Friona Power lines, 14-0 and Plainview, 4-3. The lone loss has come at the hands of the Lubbock Indians, 4-2.

Juan Manuel Velasquez and Lorenzo Anima have been doing most of the mound work for the team.

Friona will be their next home opponent at Whiteface Field May 30.

Several local businesses taken it upon themselves to support the Rancheros, these include, Easter Grain Inc., Easter Fertilizer, Valdez Welding, Economy Package Store, C.R. Anthony's, Poarch Bros. Inc., Whites Auto Store, Alex City Barber Shop, City Tortilla Factory, J&D Plumbing, American G.I. Forum (Hereford chapter), Rameriz Mobil Service, Ramirez Construction, Tri-Frye, V&V Carpenters, Garrison Seed Co., Cactus Package Store and Armour Foods.

LHS Drops Herd Twice

Hereford closed out its 1976 varsity baseball season at Mackenzie Park in Lubbock against the Westerners on a low note Saturday afternoon as Lubbock High took both contests by scores of 4-0 and 3-0.

As usual, Roy Martinez and Chris Hill both went the distance on the mound for the Herd, Hill giving up only 7 hits in the opener and Martinez only 6 in the nightcap but the Whiteface batters themselves managed only 6 hits total, all singles, in both games.

Hill ended the season with a 4-7 mound record while Martinez finished up at 4-8, both hurlers will be back next season.

One-baggers by Chris King and Pete Hale accounted for the Herd's hitting in the 1st contest and two singles by Mike Foster and a single each by Mike Dudding and King made up their offense in the 2nd.

Hereford finished the campaign with a 13-16 mark and a 2-6 record in 2nd half district play.

Monterey took the 2nd half title—outright when Coronado split a twinbill with Plainview Saturday and will meet-1st half winner Lubbock High this week in a playoff game for the loop title.

eight mile river section. Public access to the river is provided on public property immediately below Canyon dam and at several highway crossings.

For maximum enjoyment and more assurance his or her effort will be rewarded, a trout angler should use light tackle.

Trout normally can be found in a variety of habitats, but most can be caught by fishing in the edge of riffles, below large boulders, the upstream margins of deep pools, and along steep banks. A cool water temperature and abundant oxygen are readily available in these streams and lakes such as Rita Blanca near Dalhart in northwest Texas.

Both stream and lake anglers use light line with just enough weight to allow the bait to move downstream or settle near the bottom.

The most popular trout baits vary from spinner and flies to earthworms, salmon eggs and cheese.

The creel limit is five trout per day and possession limit is 10 trout. There is no size limit on trout in Texas.

Texas regulations require the same fishing license for trout fishermen as the bass or other freshwater angler purchases at one of the many license vendors across the state for $4.25.

A trout fishing information pamphlet is available by writing Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, John H. Reagan Bldg, Austin, Texas 78701 or by calling P&WD in Lubbock at (806) 744-6583.

Hearing In Canyon Planned On Public School Financing

Representative Tom C. Massey has scheduled a public hearing of the Special House Committee on Alternatives to Public School Financing, to be held in Canyon, Texas, on May 24. The hearing will begin at 9 a.m., and will be in the Activity Center Ballroom of West Texas State University.

The hearing will be the seventh in a series of meetings throughout the state being conducted by the Special Committee. Others have been held in Houston, Edinburg, Dallas, Nacogdoches, San Angelo; hearings are also planned for Haskell, May 13; San Antonio, June 4; and Austin, June 25.

The Special Committee was appointed by House Speaker Bill Clayton to look into revenue sources other than the tax on real property for funding public schools. The group is seeking recommendations from school personnel, tax assessors-collectors, city and county officials, and the general citizenry on this subject. The committee requests that written copies of testimony be provided if possible.

Rep. Massey is chairman of the Special Committee. Other members are: Rep. Fred Agnich, Dallas; Rep. Wilhelmina Delco, Austin; Rep. Roy Blake, Nacogdoches; Rep. Frank Hartung, Houston; Rep. W.S. (Bill) Healy, Paducah; Rep. Dan Kubiak, Rockdale; Rep. Camm Lary, Jr., Burnet; Rep. Ruben Torres, Brownsville.

"When we started this study, Speaker Clayton told us this inquiry was 'one of the most important in recent legislative history,' and the response brought about by these public hearings indicates, that many people agree with him," Massey said.

"The local share of school funding has been increasing, and the local share is dependent totally on the tax on real property. Education costs are higher, because of inflation, necessary salary increases, and additional programs, so the pressure has really been on local districts to increase their ad valorem levies. This is putting a squeeze on our land owners, home owners, and businesses, who are shouldering the burden of education cost that should be shared by those possessing other forms of wealth," he added.

"We in the Legislature are working hard to hold government spending to reasonable levels. But these hearings are bringing out that the slogan of 'no new taxes' has come to be a sore point with some folks who tell us that while they're not paying more taxes to the State, there's a lot more coming out of their pockets at the local level, to the city and the school district," Massey said.

"We can't close our eyes to the plight of these people. We may very well, at some point, want to look toward increasing the state's share of funding for our public schools.

"But to accomplish any sort of relief for the property owner, we must look to increased revenue from some other source -- and this is the realm of the Special Committee. We have received many suggestions for alternative revenue sources, and there will no doubt be more forthcoming during the rest of these public hearings. It will be our responsibility to look at each in terms of dollars and cents, and make appropriate recommendations to the 65th Legislature, which convenes next January."

"I am pleased that the committee has decided to locate one of its public hearings in the Panhandle, and I hope that all persons interested in this matter will take this opportunity to express their views to the members of the Legislature," Massey said.

EXPENSIVE VISITOR

SIoux FALLS, S. D. — Phil Garrison, manager, reports a guest at the Ramada Inn here ran through four plate glass doors to get out. He explained that a large buck deer charged through the entrance glass doors, took a dip in the pool and made his exit on the other side of the building.

Cortez Enjoys Data Processing

A high school course in data processing led David Cortez, a West Texas State University second-semester junior from Hereford, to computer science.

Cortez had planned to attend a school specializing in computer science, but decided to come to WTSU upon getting a job as a computer operator at the Kilgore Research Center on campus.

"I couldn't figure out why they want an inexperienced person as computer operator at first," Cortez said. "But I'm glad I took the job and am getting four years of on-the-job training."

He plans to continue as a computer operator, but wants to learn all areas of the computer science field.

"I don't want to specialize or go into big business," he explained. "I think it's more fun and you become much more knowledgeable through working in all aspects of computer science."

Cortez is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Julian Cortez, Route 2 of Hereford.

Women naturally like to show off and men provide a good audience and vice versa.

Commission Hearing Scheduled

The Public Utility Commission of Texas will hold a public meeting to adopt substantive rules governing various operational procedures for telephone, electric, water and sewer utilities on Monday, May 17.

The commission will also adopt amendments to its procedural rules at that time. The meeting will begin at 10 a.m. and will take place at the commission offices, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard in Austin.

The meeting follows a thirty-day period in which the commission requested public comment on the proposed rules introduced in April. The rules consist of three main sections: reporting requirements, rates, and service standards.

After their discussion and final adoption, the substantive rules will be published by the commission at a cost of $2.95 per copy. Approximately 100 pages in length, copies may be obtained by enclosing a check or money order made payable to the State Treasurer and addressed to: Accounting Division; Public Utility Commission; 7800 Shoal Creek Blvd.; Austin, Texas 78757.

Students Honored

A candlelight ceremony honoring the classes of 1976-77 will begin at 6:30 p.m. May 16 for 100 Amarillo College associate degree nursing students.

The ceremonies will be conducted in the Concert Hall/Theater of the Fine Arts Complex, 2200 S. Van Buren.

***** National Hospital Week Planned Through Sunday *****

BY SANDY PANKEY
Brand Staff Writer

AND THAT'S the way it was! This week is National Hospital Week and it is interesting to note that looking back over the last 200 years, great strides have been made in the medical profession.

During the 1700's, hospital conditions were very poor considering the advancement which has been made in the last 50 years. Doctors and medical students wore street clothes; patients were drugged with rum and / or opiates; beds were 52 inches wide and could accommodate four to six patients ranging from the convalescent to the dying.

Also, most wards were unheated except for piles of live coals; rooms were unventilated and hospital rules and activities included no cursing, no card playing, no begging and those up and about were expected to help nurses with other patients.

In general, hospitals were thought of as custodial institutions where people went to die rather than to be cured.

ALTHOUGH NURSING care was provided in Hereford as early as 1912, the first public hospital, Deaf Smith County Hospital, wasn't completed until the 1920's.

On Dec. 20, 1923, Hereford citizens voted for $50,000 in bonds for a new county hospital. The contract for the two-story building was awarded to Christy Dolph Construction Co. of Dallas in 1924.

For many years, Amarillo was the nearest hospital available to Hereford and surrounding territory. There was only one train a day and dirt roads, which were often muddy, were the only other way of reaching Amarillo.

In case of an emergency, the patient might die before reaching the hospital there for other facilities had to be provided. For instance, a patient may have to turn his kitchen and dining room into a hospital room-sterilizing room.

The hospital building, completed in 1925, served the county for several years without addition or alteration. During the 1930's, the years of the depression and "dust bowl" days, the hospital had to struggle to keep its doors open.

The administrator of the hospital during many of those years was Chris Renfro who was paid the sum of $50 per month, when it was available. During the war years of early 1940's, Dr. R.R. Willis was the only physician in Hereford.

In 1947, a bond issue in the amount of $150,000 was voted and a contract was let for nine semi-private rooms plus an operating room, emergency room, laboratory and x-ray department.

BY 1956 the demand for facilities had again exceeded the supply and the hospital was particularly deficient in facilities to care for children. The community responded and more than $128,000 was raised and in 1957, a children's wing was completed.

In 1957, the hospital was approved for accreditation by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals. This was the first small county hospital in the 26-county northern Panhandle to receive this honor.

By 1962, the hospital once again became overcrowded and the local residents were asked to approve a bond issue in the amount of $350,000 with which to build 20 private rooms, remodel the original building, install piped oxygen and other modern equipment. This request was approved in 1964.

Building projects at the hospital include adding a 20-bed and medical-surgical addition in 1963; an x-ray addition in 1968; facilities providing an 18-bed addition in 1970; a delivery room addition in 1973; and an operating room renovation is currently underway.

Project Christmas card has been a tremendous success in the last 20 years and proceeds from this project have been used for various hospital equipment.

More than $51,000 has been collected during the history of Project Christmas Card dating from 1956.

FURNITURE FOR THE children's wing was purchased, and drapery for the obstetric floor was bought in 1956-57 and a surgery table for the operating room and an isolette were obtained in 1958.

More than $1,600 was used to improve the hospital kitchen in 1960 and the 1961 campaign provided a delivery table and light. The ensuing two years concentrated on the purchase of a cardiac monitor and defibrillator.

A portable respirator, dental equipment and a hospital intercom system were funded by the Project from 1964-66. In 1967, Medical Auxiliary members collected money to buy a cardiac monitor with defibrillator, plus an infant resuscitator.

Further additions at Deaf Smith General Hospital have included an anesthetic machine for obstetric patients, an emergency radio communication system and a portable transport crib and tent. Improvements in the hospital's recovery room were supported by the project, as was the purchase of delivery room incubators, a fetal monitoring system and a cryostat.

Ron Welty is serving as Deaf Smith General Hospital administrator.

ON PLANETS
WASHINGTON--The orbits of 60 comets indicate they originated from the explosion of a giant planet that once existed between Mars and Jupiter. Dr. Thomas C. Van Flandern of the U. S. Naval Observatory said the long-theorized planet existed up to about six million years ago.

Members of Pioneer Study Club met for a morning coffee Tuesday at Deaf Smith County Historical Museum.

Hostesses for the occasion were Mmes. Juston McBride, Calvin Goodin, Jack Wilcox, George Turrentine and Jack Gilliland.

Covering the refreshment table was an antique quilt belonging to Mrs. McBride. Other table decorations included various antiques, and candelabra holding orange tapers. The centerpiece consisted of fresh cut iris. Individual tables were decorated also with quilts and brass and pewter antiques.

Mrs. George Turrentine recognized the group for having maintained 100 per cent membership in the Friends of the library over the past several years.

Following the coffee the women adjourned to the Deaf Smith County Library for their program. Mrs. William Wimberley presented the invocation and Mrs. Guy Walser gave the historical link for the day.

Mrs. P.B. Sowell conducted a brief business meeting and then introduced Mrs. Ted Panciera who gave the address for the installation, "Take Stock in America". As she installed each officer, she presented them with a large letter and a certificate designating that they had taken stock in the club, thus in America.

Appreciation gifts were exchanged by members of the club and Mrs. Sowell presented Mrs. W.R. Hromas with the president's gavel.

Mrs. Frank Ball, Bicentennial chairman, then presented each member with a copy of the Declaration of Independence and the Bill of Rights.

A tour of the library was enjoyed by all after the installation of officers.

Recognized as special guests were Mrs. Henrietta Hardwick, Mrs. Forrest Randall of Long Beach Calif. Mrs. Curtis Brown of Carson, Calif. and Mrs. Betty Zimrick of Austin.

There were 20 members present.

Stripes Become Fashion

Stripes point to high fashion this season—in horizontals, verticals and diagonals, Mrs. Becky Culp, area clothing specialist, reports.

"From narrow to wide to bold to subtle, the stripe variety is endless. And often stripes combine with other patterns, such as prints or florals, in the same fabric design or as trim or separate companion garments," she noted.

Mrs. Culp is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"Stripes affect the way we look. They can make us appear shorter, heavier, taller or thinner, depending on the garment design, fabric texture and the stripe's color contrast, size, boldness, direction and placement on the body," she said.

She said that when choosing stripe fabric for sewing or when buying a garment ready made, visualize its effect. Ask yourself if it's the look you want.

"Stripes should match visually where seams or separate garment pieces meet. When buying a stripe garment, choose the one best matched if several are available.

"Look for horizontal stripes to match at center front, center back, side, and front armhole seams. Back armhole seams may be impossible to match due to needed ease and the shape of set-in sleeves." Due to their shape, some garment designs are impossible to match at side seams, and these patterns are labeled as unsuitable for horizontal stripes or designs," she noted.

Lengthwise stripes are generally more becoming if the dominant design is centered on the body.

Food Fun Planned For Area Girls

Deaf Smith Electric Cooperative will sponsor a Food Fun for Junior program this summer.

This one-week class is presented to offer junior girls basic instruction in food preparation, table setting, and table etiquette.

Each girl will learn such things as basic cooking terms, safety in the kitchen, how to plan a party, secrets of cake baking, importance of well balanced meals, and being a good hostess, as well as some other pleasant surprises.

Janice Wood, Summer Home Services Advisor for Deaf Smith Electric Cooperative, is the instructor for the Food Fun for Junior's program.

Miss Wood is an outstanding graduate of Adrian High School, and is presently a senior student at Texas Tech University, majoring in home economics Education.

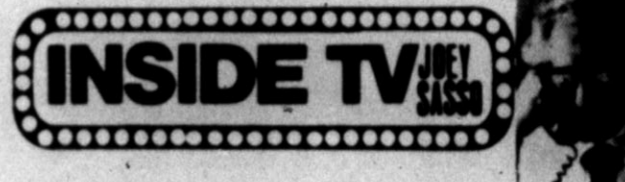

Miss Wood is a member of the American Home Economics Association and the Vocational Homemaking Teachers Association of Texas.

This one week program will be held sometime this summer in the local homemaking department. Any parents interested in enrolling their daughter should contact the homemaking department or David Pruitt at Deaf Smith Electric Cooperative, in Hereford, for information and application forms.

INSIDE TV

TV REPORT -- You may be hearing rumors that SONNY BONO is the real father of Cher's child. My source says such reports would probably be traced to some network press agent, as a way of boosting Cher's sagging ratings. "Don't forget," my source says, "that it was the team of Sonny and Cher who burst so prominently into the public mind four years ago. Their image of the groovy but clean-living couple was new, and appealed to their audience. Solo, they're no different from any other entertainers. If the networks can build the Sonny and Cher image again, and play down Cher's relationship with GREG ALLMAN, their series might be saved." Cher's marriage to Allman left many of Cher's fans feeling betrayed, since Allman's style is not exactly "clean living." But press agents or no, the baby is Allman's and that's a fact! ... RON HOWARD, star of "Happy Days," has been accepted in real life as a graduate student at the University of Southern California. "But on TV, I can't get out of high school," he observes. "It's ironic."

TV SOUNDSTAGE -- Star JAMES GARNER of "The Rockford Files," is fighting the battle of the bulge again: he's at La Costa Spa, trying to shed about 50 pounds. "Just when it is going well, I get so hungry I sneak off to a hamburger joint and ruin all the good work," he laments.

Things Not For Sale

Loving care and understanding, in the usual sense, are not commodities that can be purchased in any market place. Yet, there are times when the need for them is great -- whether one may be rich or poor, or in moderate circumstances. With us, thoughtful service is not rationed. Our staff recognizes that "Things NOT For Sale" are an important part of our responsibility to all families we serve.

Garden Members Dedicate Shrub

A liberty shrub was planted by members of Bud to Blossom Garden Club Friday morning at Westgate Nursing-Home. The planting was a part of the Bicentennial project of the National Council of State Garden Clubs, Inc.

After the seven members had completed the planting, Miss Gladys Setliff made a brief dedicatory speech. She mentioned some of the symbols that surround the planting of these shrubs.

She stated, "During the early colonial times a bride would replant a tree or shrub from her father's garden in the grounds of her new home as a symbol of the continuity of life. I suggest that we dedicate our modest liberty planting both to the past and to the future to the pioneer gardeners of the past from whom we have received such a rich heritage and to the future enjoyment of any who may pass by and gain pleasure from viewing our planting."

Following the plantings, members adjourned to the home of Mrs. A.L. Manjeot where club members participated in a short business session with Mrs. Gaylon Bryan presiding.

Mrs. Edwina Thomas showed some slides of the grounds and gardens of Jefferson's Monticello.

THE HOME GAME BY VIRGINIA TRUAX

BISCUIT QUICKIE --- An interesting tasty biscuit recipe I ran across calls for 2 cups self-rising flour, 1 cup milk and 4 tablespoons mayonnaise. That's right, mayonnaise. This makes a stiff dough that should be dropped into greased muffin tins. Bake 12 to 15 minutes at 400 degrees. Makes about 12 yummy biscuits.

MINTY MAGIC --- A good ant-deterrent is to plant mint in the areas where the little pests enter your home. Mint will serve also as a repellent if you place near your cabbage plants.

WINE CELLAR --- Never throw away your leftover wine! Kept refrigerated and corked, it's ready to be used in cooking or a marinade. You can even store different types in the same bottle.

Is it true or false that food additives can alter a person's behavior? F.K.

It may be true. It is based on a small, limited study using 15 hyperactive children. Some of the children were placed on an additive free diet. Parents and teachers noticed a greater reduction in hyperactive symptoms when the children were on the additive free diet. The study lasted 12 weeks. That's food for thought.

TV REPORT--It was a great day for GREGG ALLMAN, his grandmother and CHER. For the first time, they all sat down, talked, and joked -- even looked at Gregg's baby pictures. And much to Grandma's surprise, she found she liked Cher. Mrs. Myrtle Allman raised Gregg. A simple, God-fearing woman, she doesn't approve of "wild women" or people "who don't wear enough clothes." That was her first assessment of Cher after the singer and her grandson got hitched. From her Nashville home, she told me, "I don't like the way Cher dresses. Maybe I'm old-fashioned, but you know what, I don't like nudity in anybody!" Gregg got the message. And for the first six months of his "on and off" marriage, he kept his wife and his grandmother apart. But then, Cher got pregnant and Grandma Allman got insistent, and so the meeting was arranged. Wisely, Cher dressed warmly for the occasion. As Grandma Allman told me, "Well, she looked great when she came to visit me. She was wearing a jeans outfit with leather boots and a leather parka with a fur collar, sort of like an Eskimo. She was camouflaging everything." That pleased Grandma enormously. "She was so sweet," she said, "I have to admit she's a lovely person."

TV TICKER -- YORK MCGAVIN, the 25-year-old son of TV and movie star DARREN MCGAVIN, was arrested in Los Angeles and charged with possession of narcotics with intent to sell. Police claimed they found $50,000 worth of marijuana and illegal equipment for making hash oil in a truck in which young McGavin was transporting furniture. McGavin, oldest of the actor's four children, told police he was living with his mother. The McGavins were divorced five years ago.

BARBARA WALTERS, co-host of "Today" on NBC-TV, was saluted as Person of the Year by the Television Bureau of Advertising. She was honored as "the personality who contributed most to the long-term growth of television as a show business and advertising medium." The award has been presented for the last two years as a salute to the man or woman who has made significant contributions to television's growth as a communications, marketing and entertainment medium. Past recipients were HOWARD COSELL (in 1973) and MARY TYLER MOORE

Nation's Development Discussed At Meeting

Mrs. Mike Webb, spoke to members of Newcomers Club at a covered dish luncheon Tuesday at Community Center. Mrs. Glenn Gillis and Mrs. Steve Cole served as hostesses.

A graduate student at Texas Tech, Mrs. Webb gave as her address a historical review of the development of the nation with an emphasis on the contrast of peoples and ideas which lead to a unique nationalism.

A discussion followed the program concerning the future of America—and the attitudes people of other nations have toward American and Americans.

Mrs. Webb concluded her talk by stressing that it is vitally essential for all Americans to evaluate what America is and to keep this in mind for future years.

Mrs. Gene Batterman, a native of Germany, also provided interesting remarks during the discussion. She has just completed requirements for her American citizenship.

During the business meeting, tentative plans were made for a party scheduled May 22 and a nominating committee was chosen by the president, Mrs. Freddie Savage.

They included Mmes. Glen Perry, John West, Dick Davis and Gillis. Also, Mrs. Savage reported on the progress of the child care co-op and the bridge group.

The club members will meet in the park for a picnic lunch with their children at the next luncheon. It was also announced that all interested persons who want to play tennis and golf are asked to inform the group in order to get involved with summer activities.

Mrs. Savage won the centerpiece and Mrs. Glen Perry won the travel gift.

Decorations for the luncheon depicted a Bicentennial theme and Mrs. Bob White was hospitality chairman.

New members were recognized. They included Mmes. Raymond Slaton, Burl Rogers, Pat McGinty, Mary Lou Branch and Sherry Wells.

There were 19 members present.

Robert Mayfield, chairman on the board of directors at the Center, announced that the building expansion campaign is underway and invited citizens and organizations of Hereford to participate in the program. The program will provide more services for pre-school children whose mothers are working or enrolled in school. Bettie Roberts is the executive director at the Center.

A DIETER'S MOTTO TO REMEMBER

Dieters and diet experts tend to have two schools of thought when it comes to how they approach the eating or overeating problem. Some say it doesn't matter what you eat as long as you limit the quantities. Others say "unlimited amounts" diets which usually consist of very specific food categories suit them best. Actually, the two approaches should be combined for dieting to be more effective.

Recently, I came upon a little saying for dieters that seems to sum up the basic problem that the majority of scale-watchers have: "One bite is too much and a hundred bites are never enough." Think about that.

It's the first bite that usually does in the otherwise conscientious dieters. Just one bite of a delicious and forbidden food can be the beginning of an eating binge that puts back all the weight you've so carefully lost. A forkful of chocolate cake, for example, only has 20 calories and many dieters think that all they want is just a little taste, just one bite, and then they can go back to their calorie counting. But, can you stop at just one bite? Research studies have shown that people with weight problems seldom can. Usually, they are members of the clean-plate society and feel compelled to eat entire portions of food once they have taken that first disastrous bite. In its extreme, this tendency can make you eat a whole chocolate cake with as little effort or conscience as it took to take the first forkful. For that reason, with certain foods, one bite is always too much because it just doesn't stop there.

Job Hunting Tips Given For Women

Job hunting itself has to be a full time job to provide good results, Mrs. Linda McCormack, a family-resource management specialist, contends.

She pointed out that it's hard work, often means a lot of rejections and a great deal of pavement pounding and can be very discouraging—but stick to it, she added.

Mrs. McCormack is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"Plan a forceful, investigative campaign that will help find a job you like.

"Begin with a notebook to fit with your appointment book. Record all efforts at job hunting in this notebook. No lead or possibility is too small to get an entry."

She suggested including the following information:

- name of the firm
- person you are to contact and his title
- your source
- when you are to make the contact
- what reply you got and when
- indication if you need a follow-up
- name of person who interviews you, his title, interview date and when you should send a note of thanks for the interview

"Leave a space for friends' comments hints or leads about the company, its products and services. You may want to note any of your reactions to the firm based on prior contact you may have had. Keep the notebook up to date.

"Also in the job campaign, make some personal contacts among friends. At first it may be embarrassing—but how will they know to tell you about any good job openings otherwise? You literally have nothing to lose," she reminded.

"Once you have thought of about 10 people to ask about jobs, find out some information about their companies. Write this in the notebook. Then prepare a letter to cover your resume," she said.

A personal letter has a better chance for a positive reply, and you may want to mention the following:

- the name of the friend who suggested you get in touch
- the reason why you are interested in working for the company

State Could See New Industry In Trees

A sleeping giant is beginning to stir in East Texas. The moving force behind this multi-million dollar opportunity is adaptive research conducted by Dwight (Sam) Fate, area forestry specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. In 1970, Fate, headquartered at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research & Extension Center at Overton, began studying the feasibility of growing Christmas trees in East Texas for the tremendous Texas market.

From a meager two-acre plot which was established on the Kilgore College Demonstration Farm near Overton, a tremendous reservoir of information has been obtained. Seven species of potential Christmas trees were planted. Only three, Arizona cypress, Eastern redcedar and Virginia pine, survived. Further study indicated that Virginia pine is probably the most desirable Christmas tree for East Texas production.

Currently, more than 20 producers have plantings of Christmas trees," Fate surmised. "Over 2,000 trees have been marketed with prices ranging from about $3.00 to $10.00 per tree, depending on the size and quality."

This doesn't seem like much until you look at projections for the near future. According to Fate, 40,000 genetically improved Virginia pine seedlings were imported from Alabama this past season. Texans will need approximately 250,000 seedlings next year if all planting intentions are carried out.

"Christmas tree production can be highly profitable but is not without hazards," Fate warned. "Both growing and marketing phases can be critical. The availability of genetically improved seedlings has been some problem. However, we anticipate that both commercial and state nurseries will have sufficient numbers in the near future."

Currently, no returns are realized from Christmas tree production for at least three to four years. During this time, the producer has invested almost $2,000.00 per acre. Using a five foot by five foot spacing, the approximately 1,700 trees per acre require protection from insects, excessive seed growth and must be sheared or shaped periodically. However, the landowner may receive net profits of around $500 per acre per year.

The primary insect enemy of the Virginia pine is the Nantucket pine tip moth. Control of this insect constitutes the highest single cost of production. Fate and Dr. Ken Lewis, Extension area entomologist, are continuing the search for effective and economical chemical and mechanical controls. The pine tip moth attacks both terminal and lateral buds of the tree and causes stunted and ill-shaped growth patterns.

Weed control, insect control and shearing require approximately 50 hours labor per acre per year. Timing of labor is most critical and often cannot be delayed. Shearing must be started during the second or third growing season. The first shearing of the year should be done during the first two weeks of May and the follow-up shearing the last week in June and the first week in July.

After all the hazards of production are overcome, marketing begins the third or fourth year. "Whether the producer sells direct to the consumer or to a wholesaler or retail outlet, he must have a quality product," Fate emphasizes. "Market tests conducted in East Texas show that locally grown trees are acceptable if the quality is there."

Fate believes that East Texas can become a major producer of quality Christmas trees. "Plantings are now growing from Bowie County south to Orange County and west to Bastrop and Van Zandt County," the specialist said. "Christmas tree production is especially adapted to persons with small acreage. Christmas trees require a good growing site and sandy loam soils provide an ideal situation. Access to the site is essential for proper cultural practices and harvesting."

"The biggest marketing problem is letting people know what you have and producing in quantities that will attract wholesalers or retailers," Fate says. "Once people know you have a quality product, they are willing to pay top prices for the trees. Many producers are successfully permitting customers to select and cut their tree at the site."

"This initial work by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service should pave the way for Texans to earn a large portion of the $15 million Christmas tree market in the state," Fate predicts. "We will continue working with producers and attempting to find more economical means of producing high quality Christmas trees -- Grown in Texas for Texans."

Moisture, Fertilizer Offer Good Combination for High Quality Hay

Moisture and fertilizer form a great combination to produce high quality hay. There's moisture in many sections of Texas now, so farmers and ranchers are urged to fertilize properly for an abundance of quality hay.

"Spring is the time to make hay in Texas because that's when the probability of rain is highest," contends Dr. Charles Welch, soil chemist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "This means that adequate fertilizer should also be applied in the spring to produce feed reserves for livestock."

The key to top quality hay production, according to the Texas A&M University System specialist, is adequate amounts of nitrogen. Welch recommends at least 80 to 100 pounds of nitrogen per acre where moisture is adequate. This can more than triple hay yields and can almost double the percentage of crude protein in the hay.

Demonstrations on Coastal bermudagrass in East and Central Texas have produced

3.6 tons of hay per acre with 100 pounds of nitrogen. This hay had a crude protein of 9.4 per cent. This compares to just over a ton of 5 per cent crude protein hay on nonfertilized grass. Boosting the nitrogen rate up to 300 pounds per acre in three applications produced almost 7 tons of hay with a crude protein of 12.8 per cent, notes Welch.

"If high protein hay is needed to meet livestock requirements, then adequate nitrogen must be a major consideration," points out the specialist. "Increasing the amount of nitrogen not only increases hay tonnage but also the per cent and total amount of crude protein."

"Of course, good production methods must also be practiced," emphasizes Welch. "High protein hay requires harvesting at intervals of 30 days or less and then refertilizing to produce new growth."

Phosphorus and potassium are also needed for top quality hay and should be applied according to results of a soil test.

"Since drought conditions most livestock producers low hay supplies, now is time to replenish supplies," advises Welch. "Need to prepare for such periods because we can be that they will come again."

Ag Department Honors Local Men

Two local men were honored as outstanding senior students in the agriculture department at West Texas State University at the department's awards barbecue held in the pavilion of the WTSU Nance Ranch Friday.

Chris Burns, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leland Burns of Adrian was named outstanding senior in the Animal Science department and Larry Roberts, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Roberts of Hereford was named outstanding senior in the Ag-Business department.

Both are former Walcott School students. Burns is a graduate of Adrian High School. He was selected by the faculty of the Department of Animal Science at WTSU for his award. He represented WTSU on the livestock, meats and dairy judging teams, while maintaining a 2.6 grade point average on a 3.0 scale, according to Dr. Charles Smallwood, dean of the WTSU school of agriculture.

Roberts was selected by faculty members on the basis of academic achievement, attitude, and assistance to the school of agriculture.

Smallwood pointed out that Roberts was named as the outstanding freshman in the WTSU agriculture department in 1973, and has maintained a 2.75 grade point average on a 3.0 scale during his four years at WTSU.

Both men will graduate from WTSU later this month.

Commodity Topics

By E. Robert Flores
Registered Commodity Specialist

As the U.S. economy slowly plows its way through the second quarter of 1976, many questions are being raised about whether the present economic expansion will be sustained or not. Market analysts, economists and politicians are searching everywhere for signs that the present economic growth is not just a fluke but a real and lasting recovery.

The traditional sources of economic indicators used by most economic forecasters such as number of unemployed workers, housing starts, auto sales and the like have definitely revealed that the economy is in an expansionary phase. However, there is one major economic factor that is really little understood by the casual observer and most analysts, yet one that tends to be "swept under the rug" as a temporary situation by most politicians. That is, they absorb so much from the private and most productive sector of the economy. This iniquitous position the government has created for itself is called "crowding out".

That is, they absorb so much from the private and most productive sector of the economy. This with the most productive sector being "squeezed out" of existence, how and where will capital or money or be created in the future? The answer is in Washington, D.C. on a printing press. The end result is very little real productive capital, but a lot of inflated dollars available to spend on very few goods or services.

Money or capital like any commodity has a price or cost. Owners of money naturally look for the highest and safest return on their investments. The Federal Government by the virtue of its ability to tax, offers the holders of government securities a guaranteed return for his investment. Government securities are exempt from taxation so in many cases the return from them is better than from those securities held in the private sector which are heavily taxed.

This iniquitous position the government has created for itself is called "crowding out". That is, they absorb so much from the private and most productive sector of the economy. Thus with the most productive sector being "squeezed out" of existence, how and where will capital or money or be created in the future? The answer is in Washington, D.C. on a printing press. The end result is very little real productive capital, but a lot of inflated dollars available to spend on very few goods or services.

Olde Homey Hints

When making lye soap, Colonial homemakers had an easy test to determine when the mixture had been boiled enough to absorb all of the grease used. A spoonful was dropped into a glass of water to determine if any grease rose to the surface.

Thunderstorms May Damage Gardens

Violent spring thunderstorms are beginning to roam over Texas, and that means home-vegetable gardeners can expect some damage to their crops.

"Home vegetable gardens are highly susceptible to high winds, heavy rains and hail that often accompany spring thunderstorms," points out Sam Cotner, horticulturist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Plants that often suffer the most from violent weather are squash, cucumbers and beans, notes the Texas A&M University System specialist.

Where garden space is available, Cotner suggests leaving the less damaged plants and replanting the remainder of the crop.

"Most vegetable seed will germinate rapidly once the soil has warmed, so replanting is often the best alternative. Of course, if transplants can be obtained, you can gain several weeks of valuable growing time."

In many areas of the state, it is too late to replant cool season vegetables such as lettuce, carrots, cabbage and cauliflower. Cotner suggests replanting such crops to warm season vegetables if weather damage occurs.

"Whether damaged plants are left to recuperate or the crops are replanted, the overall delay in production will mean closer attention to care and maintenance of the crops in the months ahead," points horticulturist. "Insects become more active during growing season progressants must be checked closely and control taken as the situation warrants. Also, watering will be more critical as hot approaches."

Adversity such as resulting from weather tests the "true grit" gardeners, believes. Hopefully, though, all gardeners, close to and living things instill in them the will again.

Sheep Outlook Not Baaaaaaad

There are a lot fewer sheep in the U.S. this year, and consequently, higher prices are in the office.

Dr. Ernest Davis, a livestock marketing specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, says the outlook for 1976 slaughter and feeder lamb prices is excellent.

"Prices for choice slaughter lambs should average from $52 to $57 per hundredweight through June and then hit the mid-$40's during the summer before rising a few dollars again during the last quarter of the year. Spring lamb prices have probably peaked and will taper off in the months ahead."

The reason for these lucrative prices is a steady drop in sheep numbers that has been going on since 1960, says the Texas A&M University System specialist. There were 13 million sheep and lambs on hand on January 1, an 8 per cent decrease from last year's inventory.

The number of breeding ewes is 7 per cent below last year's count, and the January number of sheep and lambs on feed for slaughter in the 26 major sheep feeding states was down 9 per cent from last year and 28 per cent below 1974 levels," Davis points out.

The total value of all sheep and lambs in the U.S. is estimated to be $496,500,000, a 12 per cent increase over January 1, 1975 totals. The average sheep is worth about $7 more this year than last.

"The key to balancing higher prices with rising costs in production is in utilizing sound management and marketing practices," adds Davis.

Colonial homemakers continually did battle with rodents. Powdered potash mixed with meal was thrown into rat holes. For mice, a rag saturated with a cayenne pepper solution was stuffed into the hole.

To set colors, the cloth was washed in strong salt or alum water and then rinsed in water in which Irish potatoes had been sliced and boiled.

The one time you expect to see a Zimmatic broken down.

About the only time you expect to see a Zimmatic broken down is when it leaves one of Lindsay's plants. Once assembled in your field, it seldom causes a problem. Those big, sure-footed towers power their way around the field, carrying water to crops.

Hour after hour, day after day. Until you decide to shut down. That kind of performance doesn't just happen. It's the result of constant testing — both in the plant and in the field. Lindsay puts these rigs through the most punishing conditions — loads on more stress in a week, usually, than they're likely to see in a lifetime of normal use.

But we know that no system is 100% perfect all the time. That's why we're ready to help with an extensive parts inventory and factory trained servicemen if you ever have a problem. Before you buy any center pivot irrigation system, be sure to let us tell you about all the advantages of owning a Lindsay Zimmatic.

Was Christ a weather prophet? Did He originate any weather folklore? Eric Sloane, who has written a number of books on weather and who studied the subject, reports that Christ was the source of the old saying about a red sunset and clear weather next day. Christ said: "When it is evening, ye say, 'It will be fair weather for the sky is red.' And in the morning, 'It will be foul weather today for the sky is red and lowering.'" (Matthew 16:2-3.) Christ was probably repeating the weather sayings of the Pharisees in this case and at least the latter half of his guide may have been wrong. A red sunrise doesn't usually mean rain.

Art Works To Be Shown During GRA Rodeo Here

Works by prominent western artists from throughout the country will be on display at the Cowgirl Hall of Fame, located in the basement of the Deaf Smith County Library during the second All Girl Rodeo here Friday through Sunday.

Among the artists to be on hand are Pamela Harr of Clarkston, Washington; S.L. Humphrey of Silver City, N.M.; Gloria Billota of Norco, Calif.; Grace Knox of Carlsbad, N.M.; Penny Onstott of Los Angeles, Calif.; Nila Comstock of Alpine, Calif.; Mollie Graham of Landers, Calif.; Irene Scoggin of Joshua Tree, Calif. and Janene Utter of Bonners Ferry, Idaho.

Each of the artists will have works for sale during the local showing, with works on display daily during the rodeo from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Pamela Harr is a graduate of Oregon State University. Her interest in art has grown in the field of sculpture, and life on a cattle ranch near Enterprise Oregon and Hells Canyon has inspired her to depict many of the events she has witnessed. Her bronze sculptures depict animals and ranch life.

Penny Onstott was brought up in the hill country of Oregon. Although she had painted and sketched the western scene of her generation for 20 years, she had not pursued art as a serious career until her marriage in 1964. Working with her husband on ranches throughout the west and eventually working at a cattle and sheep station in west Australia, she developed background and completed her first art show after returning to the U.S. and working on a large ranch in Texas. She has won numerous awards for her oil paintings, watercolors, and unusual pen and ink sketches.

Irene Scoggin spent her first years as an artist doing commercial work, prior to moving to the desert and beginning to paint full time in 1960. She paints western portraits, animals and western still lifes.

Janene Utter began painting at the age of nine and was selling works professionally at 15.

She depicts exciting western scenes in the lives of cowboys and cowgirls, in addition to wildlife art, and has assisted in sculpting a series in bronze on pioneering women.

Mollie Graham uses the American Indian as her primary subject matter. She began depicting Indian life in paintings just over five years ago after she moved to the high deserts of southern California. She uses a variety of mediums including oils, pastels and charcoal, and her most popular pieces are portraits painted in acrylic on weathered wood found in the desert.

Gloria Billota specializes in horse portraits. Her experience in training and showing horses and teaching horsemanship have made her well qualified to portray authentic ranch scenes and landscapes.

Fruit Is In Ample Supply

consumer care in fresh fruit and vegetable selection is the byword for the next few weeks, as produce supplies may be out of balance due to heavy rains in some growing areas.

Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt advised consumers to make produce selections carefully--from a quality and price standpoint.

The consumer marketing information specialist is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

At vegetable counters carrot prices are up slightly, but they are still the low "cost-per-serving" choice, she said.

Vegetable with lower prices are soft shell squash, especially the yellow variety, and corn from Florida.

"New-crop red potatoes are more plentiful--while other good choices are cabbage, collards, mustard greens, radishes and green onions."

At fruit counters, grapefruit remains moderately plentiful--and strawberries are lower in price as supplies increase.

CONSUMER WATCH-WORDS: Breakfast economy can be tricky, especially with biscuits, hotcakes or waffles.

"From-scratch" biscuits are more economical than ready-to-bake or "mix" varieties.

But hotcake or waffle mixes cost only about two-thirds as much as homemade varieties--and frozen varieties are three times as expensive.

House Paint Problems Solved Using Guides

Success of an exterior paint job on a home depends about 80 per cent on proper surface preparation—and about 20 per cent on proper application, according to Mrs. Patricia Seaman, housing and home furnishings specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The Texas A&M University System.

She cited nine major surface problems homeowners should solve before repainting a home—to achieve a satisfactory paint job.

MILDEW

Mildew thrives on high humidity and high temperature which stimulate fungus growth on paint film. If not removed before painting, it will grow through the new coat of paint.

To destroy mildew, scrub entire surface with a solution of one-third cup powdered detergent and one-half cup household bleach in four quarts of warm water. Next apply a primer coat or undercoat. Then apply a top coat of mildew-resistant paint.

FLAKING AND CHALKING—MASONRY

Inadequate surface preparation causes paint to flake off in "scales" or powders, and to chalk off of masonry.

To prevent the problem from happening again, remove flaking and chalking paint by wire-brushing or sandblasting. Then seal surface cracks with concrete patch or chalk and apply masonry primer. Apply top coat or latex house paint or exterior masonry paint according to label direction.

PEELING GUTTERS

The use of no primer or of improper metal primer on galvanized metal results in paint film with little or no adhesion.

To remedy, remove loose paint with scraper, wire brush or preferably power wire brush. It is very important that all loose paint be removed—otherwise, succeeding coats of paint will peel away, also.

Next, prime with a metal primer appropriate for the paint to be used. Then follow with a top coat of latex where color changes or where substantial bare metal is exposed.

Problems with blistering occur when moisture trapped in siding is drawn from the wood by the sun's heat—and it pushes the paint from the surface.

To solve this problem, locate and eliminate sources of moisture. Seepage or leakage could be from eaves, roofs or plumbing. Or the area affected could be near a bathroom or kitchen.

Consider installing moisture-escape devices, such as attic louvers, exhaust fans, wedges and vents.

To remedy existing blistering, scrape off old paint on any boards showing blistering and exposed wood—or scrape off old paint around blistered area approximately 12 inches from the blister condition.

Next, sand the surface to fresh wood and spot-prime with exterior wood primer.

Seal all seams, holes and cracks with caulking to prevent moisture entry. Then apply a top coat of paint according to label directions.

'CHECKING,' CRACKING AND 'ALLIGATORING'

Various cracks occur when previous paint film is applied in several heavy coats without sufficient drying time between coats, or when the undercoat is not formulated for the finish coat or when too much thinner, or poor grade of paint is used.

To remedy this condition, simply sand the surface smooth.

Then apply one coat of undercoat and one top coat of recommended paint, according to label directions.

SCALING

A poor grade of paint or inadequate mixing causes scaling and some cracking. Heavy, oily paint that is not brushed out also may crack. Once paint cracks because of inelastic surface, moisture enters and loosens the paint film.

To remedy this condition follow same steps as for blistering.

NAILHEAD STAINING

Excessive moisture causes uncoated steel nails to rust and make unsightly stain marks down an otherwise neat paint job. First, locate and eliminate sources of moisture.

To restore paint job, sand or wire-brush stained paint, and remove rust down to the bright metal nailhead. Then countersink the nailhead one-eighth inch below the surface of the siding. Immediately spot-prime countersunk nailhead with recommended primer. Fill primed, countersunk holes with caulk. Apply two top coats of recommended paint according to label directions.

RESIN BLEEDING

Resin bleeds through paint from wood which has not been primed or sealed properly.

To avoid—or remedy—this, seal or prime knots and pitch pockets before painting. In extreme cases, add aluminum powder to wood sealer before brushing it on.

WINCH LINE

by DANNY WINCHELL

The AFL-CIO Executive Council is pushing legislation to revise the nation's copyright laws so that performing artists share in the profits made from commercial exploitation of their creative efforts. News from a German newspaper reveals only high-placed Russian Communists are allowed to look at American films, books and magazines banned to the general public.

A major hotel in Miami Beach had a disastrous season because of cancellations from Frank Sinatra, Sherry Greene and others. In order to salvage what's left of the season, they have hired Ann-Margret for $100,000 a week. Onrushing remarkable advances made by medical science, ever on the alert for cures affecting the growth of midgets, plus many cases on record of sudden, unexpected growth among tiny people, has made the owner of the Ringling Barnum & Bailey Circus take out a $2-million policy on their star attraction, Michu, who is 33 inches. ## Small Business Week

President Gerald R. Ford has issued a Proclamation designating the week beginning May 9, 1976 as Small Business Week, and honoring the men and women who operate the 10 million small businesses in the United States.

The traits of individual initiative, self-reliance and creativity we prize so highly, as exemplified by our small business men and women, have always been the indispensable characteristics of a free and dynamic people.

The Proclamation acknowledges small business in the United States as "the economic cornerstone of American economy. They stand as a symbol of American character and spirit;

A tempting offer on a gas grill.

Right now, we're making you a tempting offer on gas grills with twin burners! Independently controlled twin burners never use more gas than you need. For big meals, use both burners. For smaller meals, save gas and money by using one burner and half the grill. A gas grill adds a new dimension to family meals and entertaining. It eliminates the fuss and bother of cooking outside while it keeps the flavor and the fun. And, because you take cooking heat out of the house and the burden off your air conditioning, you save energy, too.

Buy one of these grills before August 1, 1976, and save.
