County Helps Establish Rural Fire Departments

By BOBBY TEMPLETON
Brand News Editor

Fighting the raging grass fires which usually occur in the rural areas of Deaf Smith County during dry spells will no longer be as uncontrolled as in the past with the establishment of two already operating rural fire departments. Another one is in the formative stages and will soon be ready for fire fighting.

The most recent fire department has been organized in the Walcott community in County Commissioner Bruce Coleman's precinct 2, the Dawn community, 13 miles west of Hereford, has had such a department for some time and the Simms community, in the northwest part of the county, is presently trying to raise funds to house a fire truck that is being equipped.

The Simms Community Volunteer Fire Department effort to raise money presently consists of solicitations to raise about $18,000 needed to buy a truck and building so that better fire protection can be established in that part of the county, according to a letter mailed by Jeffy Roberts, fire chief.

Each of the fire departments continue to support themselves after organization through money raising projects such as a citizens band radio drawing being conducted by Walcott.

Previously, the complete county was only protected by the Hereford Volunteer Fire Department (HVFD), which obviously had to travel as many as 30 or 40 miles to douse some fires. Through the cooperation of the HVFD, the county commissioner's court and the citizens of the individual rural hamlets, a network of protection is being established all over the county to strategically fight blazes.

In the beginning, it was totally up to the communities to solicit all the funds and provide all the manpower, but the Commissioners' court voted to fund a

$1,000 to each volunteer fire department for which the serviced citizens would raise the money to house the necessary equipment. In addition, the county pays each department $100 per fire call answered solely by the department itself and $50 per call answered jointly with the Hereford department or another rural department.

Coleman became the first county commissioner to present a $1,000 check. It was given to the Walcott firemen headed by Bill Page, fire chief. The assistant fire chief is Bobby Hammock.

THE WALCOTT FIRE Department, (30 miles northwest of Hereford), operates with a 30-man force and one reconitioned 1962 Chevrolet fire truck, which was once used by the Friona Fire Department. "I was surprised at the support we got from the area residents although I knew it was there," Page said concerning the size of force and $4,000 raised so far.

The truck was originally bought by the Walcott School district, and the community is raising the necessary funds to pay the district for it. The district is providing it's mechanic's garage for housing the truck. This saves the building of a new structure like the Simms Community is going to have to do.

The department's worth has already been established as it was called out recently to help put out a fire at McCathern Feedyards.

"It is to the mutual benefit of the area residents (mostly farmers) to help man the department," page explained. "If its your own field is burning, it's to your interest to have the department."

Generally, the rural fire department will arrive on the fire scene first, but the Hereford fire fighters are usually called in to provide the support for possibly bigger fires. "We're able to handle most grass fires, but someday we might have a

Growers To Receive Latest Information At Irrigation Conference Here Tuesday

By JIM STEIERT
Brand Farm Editor

Producers and agribusinessmen interested in irrigation will gather at the Bull Barn Tuesday for the High Plains Irrigation Conference.

REGISTRATION for the conference will begin at 9:30 a.m. and Don Smith, geologist for the High Plains Underground Water District No. 1 will lead off the day's programs with a presentation on the diminishing water supply and well cave-ins at 9:45.

Wayne Keese, agricultural irrigation engineer at College Station will discuss features of low-cost pumping units at 10:15.

Those in attendance will have an opportunity to hear about good and bad news from a pump test at 11 a.m. Joe Harbin, member services director of the Bailey County Electric Cooperative in Muleshoe will make the presentation.

Charles Schlabs of Hereford will give a grower's viewpoint of his own operation at 11:30 as he speaks on irrigation research at his farm near Hereford. Schlabs is chairman of the Deaf Smith County Water Association.

A NOON LUNCHEON will be provided by the county Water Association, and the afternoon session will get underway at 1 p.m. with a presentation on methods and costs of improving existing pumps. J.K. Childress, district manager of the FMC Corporation of Plainview will be the speaker.

Darrell Watts, extension irrigation engineer at the University of Nebraska at North Platte will speak on efficient row and center pivot irrigation procedures at 1:30.

Concluding the program will be a presentation on soil water holding capacity and availability to plants by Jack Musick, agricultural engineer at the Southwestern Great Plains Research Center at Bushland at 2:30.

Moderator for the morning session of the conference will be Juston McBride.

City, School Races Draw Seven Candidates; Robbins, Kester File

After filing deadlines Wednesday, seven candidates had tossed their hats into the political arena for four open Hereford school Board of Education and Hereford City Commission positions. The final results will be known following voting in elections scheduled for Saturday, April 3, at the Hereford Community Center.

The latest candidates to file were Pat Robbins, 34, and Bill Kester, 37. Both filed for place 5 on the school board challenging Mrs. Sallie Strain, who filed earlier in the week. The only other school position, place 4, will automatically go to Alex Schroeter, a certified public accountant, since no one filed against him.

A write-in candidate could possibly keep Schroeter from assuming office although it is unlikely.

In both school races, incumbents Ron Zimmerman in place 5 and Danny Martin in Place 4 decided not to seek re-election.

Candidates in the city election include Stan Fry, owner of Fry Sheet Metal, and Jim Vines, Grain Handling Corp. office manager, in place 3 on the City Commission. Incumbent Frank Barrett, a vegetable grower and processor, is in place 4.

Robbins, a farmer in Castro County but within the school district boundaries, is running for office because he said he hadn't participated much in community affairs and decided it was time to get involved in civic duties. "I am not running on any specific issue but plan to consider issues as they arise and listen to both sides."

The father of three children, Robbins is a 1959 graduate of Hereford High School and a 1963 graduate of Oklahoma State University, where he received a bachelor of science degree in agriculture economics. His wife's name is Susan and their children are Rand, 3; Courtney, 12; and Casey, 10.

He is a member of the First Baptist Church of Hereford, the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce, and numerous agriculture associations. He is president of the Deaf Smith County Farm Bureau.

Kester, owner of Kester's Jewelry in Downtown Hereford, is seeking office because, "the citizens need to be given a choice and we need broader range of people running for the school board."

Specifically, he said, "There's been a lack of businessmen on the board and there should be retail merchants on it." In the past, he said businessmen might not have run for the school board because business can be lost through various stands taken on this issue or that issue.

Kester was born and raised in Hereford and graduated from HHS in 1958. He received a bachelor's degree from West Texas State in 1971.

After spending three years in the Army, he came back to Hereford and has managed the jewelry store since 1963. He is a member of the Lions Club, the Chamber Singers, the Chamber of Commerce, the Masonic Lodge, and the Downtown Merchants Association.

He and his wife Regina have a four-year-old son, Michael.

Sheriff's Officers Clear Burglaries With Arrests.

Deaf Smith County sheriff's officers have cleared approximately 16 local burglaries with the arrest of four adults and a juvenile on charges of burglary. One of the adults was also charged with possession of narcotics.

LUPE LOPEZ, 23, of Hereford, remained in Deaf Smith County jail in lieu of $10,000 bond at presstime on a charge of possession of narcotics and investigation of theft.

According to Sheriff Travis McPherson, deputies confiscated 40 foil-wrapped packets of heroin valued at $800 at the time they arrested Lopez.

Charged with burglary were David Casias, 17, Demesio Mendoza, 17, and George Ramirez, 19.

Justice of the Peace Glen Nelson set bond at $5,000 in each case.

DEPUTIES recovered a number of CB radios, a television set, a pistol, a sewing machine and cameras, tools and other items from various locations in Hereford.

Friday's arrests culminated an investigation which had spanned several months.

School Board Candidates Meet Monday

The candidates running for the Hereford School Board of Education will meet each other in the first political gathering of the election season when they attend the regular meeting of the local unit of the Classroom Teachers Association at 4 p.m. Monday at Bluebonnet Elementary School.

The candidates have been invited by the group to its "Meet the Candidates" forum where the political aspirants will present their platform and answer questions pertaining to the election according to a CTA release.

Also, the CTA membership will consider action on the State Convention Delegate reports, principal evaluation committee report, and plans for the Retirement Tea to be held in May.

The entire staff of the Hereford Independent School District is invited to attend as well as interested citizens. Refreshments will be served.

Government Bodies To Meet

The only governmental bodies meeting this week include the Deaf Smith County Commissioners' Court and the Hereford Independent School Board of Education.

The school board meets at 4 p.m. Tuesday in the school district administration building.

The county commissioners will meet at 10 a.m. Monday in the commissioners' courtroom on the second floor of the courthouse. They are to act on a request from Bill Albright of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce for use of the Bull Barn, bids on mowers for precinct 4, the monthly fire report, and a joint maintenance construction and use contract on the tennis courts being built at Hereford High School.

Also, the commissioners will consider a request from Ben Moore for an easement across a county road and discuss appointments to the Hospital board.

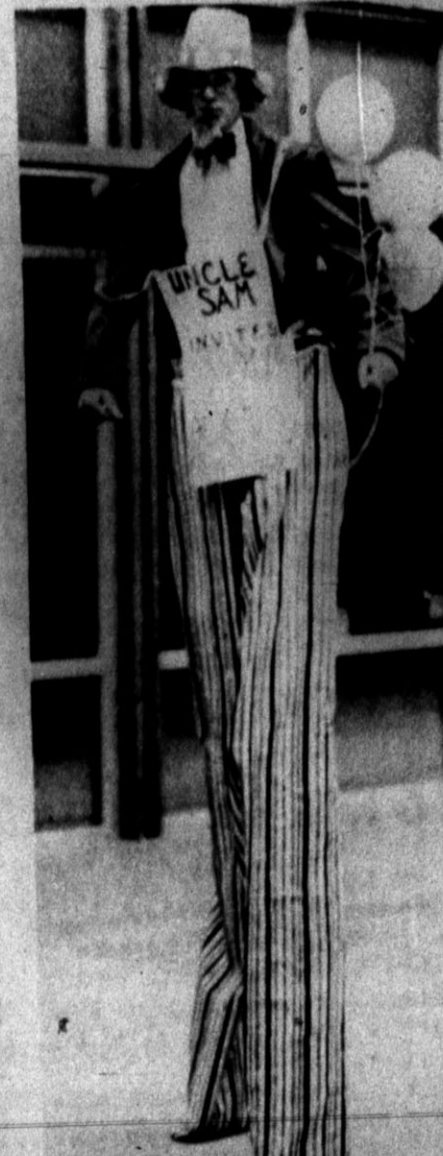

The school board agenda includes a discussion on building insurance, a request from Tommy Carnahan to pave Seminole Street on the west side of Bluebonnet School property, TSTA-TCA reports, date selection for a possible run-off election in the school board races, and a rescheduling of the April board meeting.

Curriculum items are textbook adoptions, a presentation on the elementary counseling program, Title IX update report, and a report on progress of the Coop Drug Education Program.

Seven REC Youth Tour Finalists Named

The names of seven finalists in the Rural Electric Youth Tour contest sponsored by the Deaf Smith Electric Cooperative were announced this week by James Hull, Manager of the Cooperative.

The seven juniors were selected from a group of high school juniors who gave speeches on "Rural Electric Coops - Good for All Americans." The finalists are: Lisa Edlemon, Friona; Margie Wilhelm, Nazareth; Dorothy Gugemos, Nazareth; Carolyn Meeks, Farwell; Rose Valdez, Hereford; Philip Hand, Friona; Dale Acker, Nazareth.

These seven young people will give their speeches on March 9, 1976, to a panel of three judges. From the group of finalists a boy and girl will be selected as winners of an all-expense-paid Rural Electric Youth Tour trip to Washington, D.C. the week of June 10.

Final judging of the contestants is to be based on the following: (1) knowledge of cooperative rural electrification, including a written test-40 percent, (2) speaking ability-30 percent; (3) poise-10 percent; (4) personality-10 percent, and (5) appearance-10 percent.

The youth group will travel to and from Washington, D.C. by bus. Participants will be chaperoned by three adult couples.

During the four day stay in the Nation's capital, these young people will see the United States government in action, visit with their Congressmen and Senators and visit various government agencies and sites of historical significance. Included on the four day agenda will be visits to Smithsonian Institute, White House, Arlington Cemetery, Mount Vernon, and many monuments.

On Wednesday, June 16, the group will meet approximately 1,000 young people from 30 states for a program coordinated by the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association. The morning program will be an informative question and answer session with congressional leaders and high government officials. After a brief lunch, 37 buses transport the young people to the South Lawn of the White House for a special program and tour of the presidential mansion. A fun-filled "shindig" will highlight the day's events.

Heart Course Is Scheduled

The Deaf Smith County Unit of the American Heart Association will conduct a cardio-pulmonary course March 22, 25 and 26 from 7-10 p.m. each evening in the community room of the First National Bank.

John Gilliland of Hereford will serve as instructor for the course.

Bicentennial Featured At Carnival

Homemade bread and pies and handcrafted items will be featured in the Country Store at the annual St. Anthony's Parish Carnival and Bazaar.

Using a Bicentennial theme, the affair is scheduled from noon until 6 p.m. Sunday in St. Anthony's school and auditorium.

Events planned are a cake walk, an auction, milk bottle throw, fish pond, wheel of fortune and movies. A variety of prizes will be given, including a color TV, stereo tape player with speakers and an afghan.

Cash prizes will be given away during a drawing with first place receiving $275; second place $125; third place, $75; and fourth place, $25.

Food will be available through the day and will consist of hamburgers, barbecued beans, French fries, corn dogs, chili, brownies and hot and cold drinks.

GENERAL CHAIRMAN, Johnny Velasquez, and co-chairman John Warren invite the public to attend.

Other chairmen for each grade include kindergarten, clean-up Roy Bell, Erwin Bartels and Joe Don Edelman; first grade, wheel of fortune, penny pitch and cake walk, Brendan Gallagher and Bobby Paetzold.

Also, second grade, bingo, fish pond, bean bag, Bob Schmucker; milk bottle throw, Catholic Youth Organization; third grade, movies and sweepstake drawing, James Hund and Al Sinnacher; fourth grade, balloon darts, a number darts and country store, Allen Evers and Sam Mazurek; post office prize booth, student council.

Others, fifth grade, food and kitchen, Leonard Walterscheid, Gary Kriegshauer and Boyd Foster; sixth grade, money drawing, Mrs. Walter Paetzold, Servia Gomez and Mrs. Raymond Schlabs; publicity, Mrs. Jerome Friemel and Mrs. A.H. Reinart; auction, Larry Walterscheid and Ronny Pagett; booth builder, Israel Vera.

those Congressmen at pass a law, outlawing sandstorms in this area. The law would make as much sense as some of those recently passed by Congress.

A LOCAL READER unhappy with food stamp abuses in this county recently asked why The Brand doesn't publish a list of people receiving welfare. It was his idea that a public airing of the names might get some of the free-loaders off the rolls.

While we felt this would bring undue publicity to some fine people who must have assistance, we checked out the legality of such action, anyway. According to an attorney general's ruling, it is unlawful for anyone to "solicit, disclose, receive, make use of, or to authorize, knowingly permit, participate in, or acquiesce in the use of any lists of names or any information concerning persons applying for or receiving assistance."

THE OLD expression of "he's as odd as a two-dollar bill" may be on its way out, since the government has announced a program to issue the bills again. We thought it was for the convenience of the citizens, replacing the $1 bill with the $2 bill, but the government will apparently further "simplify" the deal by issuing a one-dollar coin.

Authorities say they don't know yet how big to make the new dollar coins or what to make them from. Maybe they should stick with the $1 bill and print it on shrink-proof paper.

MARK YOUR CALENDAR--March 9 for the High Plains Irrigation Conference at the Bull Barn...March 12 and 13 for the senior class play at Hereford High School...also March 12 and 13 for the schoolboy tennis tournament here... March 18-20 for the "super sports weekend" when more than 2,000 boys and girls will compete in track, golf and baseball meets sponsored by the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce and Hereford High School...March 23 for the C of C "Fun Breakfast" with cash awards, fun, games and fellowship.

Wrong Name In News Story

It was erroneously stated in a story in the last issue of the Hereford Brand that "Reinauer and Sons vegetable growers" were participating in a request to lease part of the municipal airport for a hangar. Actually, it is part of the Joe Reinauer family which is requesting use of the airport, not the E.C. Reinauer family Sons business. Other participants in the request are Caviness Meat-Packing and a Pitman Grain Co.

big house fire," the chief said.

The men are professionally trained as 20 of the men have attended fire fighting schools in Lubbock and been closely advised by Jay Spain, Hereford fire marshal, on the proper techniques. Hopefully, some of the men will be able to attend the Texas A&M University fire schools held each year.

Bill White, a Walcott fireman, said 20 men enables 24-hour a day protection by persons who can adequately operate the truck as well as a 4,400 gallon water supply wagon owned by county precinct 3. The truck is equipped to pump directly from the water wagon.

Coleman said the mutual cooperation from the county, the communities and the Hereford Fire Department have made possible better fire protection for the county and saved tax dollars as well as valuable property.

Speaking for all the firemen, Page said, "We are thankful to the advise of the Hereford Fire Department and the help provided by the county."

The progressiveness won't end here as the Simms citizens organize their fire department and other towns such as Ford, in the northeast part of the county, think of organizing departments.

Large Pageant Crowd Expected

A sell-out crowd was expected to fill Hereford High School auditorium to maximum capacity last night for the crowning of a new Miss Hereford and Miss Teen Hereford.

The sparkling presence of Judy Mallett Pureton, Miss Texas-1973 and first runner-up for the Miss America title, was an added drawing card for the annual pageant, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce Women's Division.

Identities of the winning pageant entrants were not known at presstime. Six local beauties were competing for the Miss Hereford scholarship, as well as an equal number vying for the Miss Teen title. Judging was based on swimsuit and formal attire, stage personality and talent events.

Monica Herring, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Herring handed over her crown as Miss Hereford to the young woman who will carry the local banner to state competition at Fort Worth this summer. Likewise, Miss Donna Kendall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Kendall, relinquished the Miss Teen title to here successor, who will also designate a Miss Bicentennial.

The new Miss Hereford walked away with a $500 scholarship, in addition to the traditional pageant regalia. First runner-up received a $300 scholarship and second runner-up was given a $100 grant.

Miss Teen Hereford was awarded a $100 scholarship.

FOLLOWING THE "Old Glory" theme, Susie Hickman Thornberg and Sherry White Talley, both former Miss Herefords, sang patriotic numbers. Also appearing on stage were the three winners of the Younger Division of the pageant, held earlier Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. J.W. Robinson again served as chairman of the pageant's steering committee in the Women's Division, of which Mrs. W.E. Sparks is president. Stage directors included Mrs. Dwight McGee and Mrs. Terry Caviness.

Realtor Board Sets Meeting

The Hereford Board of Realtors will convene at a regular meeting at noon Tuesday at Dickie's Restaurant.

All members are encouraged to attend to hear the main program presented on the Texas Association of Realtors' legislative endeavors. Also, the board will discuss the production of city maps distributed by the Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce. The present supply is now depleted.

Planting Of Vegetables, Beets Beginning Locally

By JIM STEIERT
Brand Farm Editor

Hoping that moisture won't be too long in coming, area farmers are showing their optimistic nature as they begin the process of planting this year's vegetable and beet crops.

LOCAL GROWERS began setting onion plants last week, and planting of the local potato crop is expected to get underway about March 15.

A few farmers have also moved in the fields to plant sugar beets, although the major portion of the planting isn't expected to be done for another week or two.

Bud Snyder of E.C. Reinauer & Sons reported that acreages of potatoes and onions within the county "should remain pretty well the same as last year." Snyder indicated that most of the local potato crop will be planted during mid and late March.

ACREAGE OF potatoes within the county in 1975 was estimated at 8,600 acres, down 25 per cent from the 1974 acreage.

The county's onion crop totaled an estimated acreage of 2,000 acres in 1975, down 10 per cent from the 1974 acreage. Bob Ginn, agricultural manager of Holly Sugar Corporations's Merrill E. Shoup Plant of Hereford reported that approximately 30,000 acres of sugar beets are expected to be planted for the local factory, once planting operations get into full swing.

High winds and blowing sand have caused problems locally during recent days, with the sand injuring young onion sets and the wind drying out soil moisture and remaining top soil in fields to be planted to beets and potatoes.

ACCORDING TO Ginn, many beet growers are currently undecided about whether to wait for a rain before planting, or to go ahead and plant and water the crop up.

Continued high winds and blowing soil could be a headache for growers no matter which procedure they elect to follow.

Deaf Smith County's dryland wheat crop is virtually beyond help due to the prolonged dry conditions encountered through the fall and winter, and many fields have been blowing severely in the high winds of recent days.

Wheat fields under irrigation have shown improved growth with warmer weather, but all local agriculturalists are continuing to search the skies for rain clouds, hoping for a respite from Mother Nature.

Hereford Native Named AAFES Chief Of Staff

COL. LLOYD MANJEOT

Dallas-Hereford, native Colonel Lloyd H. Manjeot has been named chief of staff for the Army and Air Force Exchange Service (AAFES) here.

The 1975 graduate of Hereford High School moves up from director of the Distribution Division at AAFES headquarters, the position he has held since assignment to the organization in 1974.

AAFES is the military service organization that supports approximately six million military members and their families through retail, food, services and concession outlets on Army and Air Force bases worldwide.

A veteran of more than 24 years in the Army Quartermaster Corps, Col. Manjeot came to the Exchange Service from Fort Lee, Va., where he served for four years as director of commissary operations for the Troop Support Agency. His other assignments have included Army command positions in Korea, Germany and Vietnam.

Col. Manjeot's medals and decorations include the Legion of Merit, the Bronze Star with Oak Leaf Clusters, the Meritorious Service Medal with two Oak Leaf Clusters, the Air Medal with four Oak Leaf Clusters, the Army Commendation Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster and the Vietnamese Honor Medal First Class.

The new AAFES chief of staff is a 1951 graduate of Texas A&M University and the University of Alabama, where he earned a master's degree in business administration in 1956.

He is married to the former Rosemarie DeGennaro of Grassmere, New York. The Manjeots have two children, a son 13 and a daughter 19.

George Elected Key Club Division Lt. Governor

Mitchell George, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Don George of 135 Hickory was elected Lieutenant governor of Division 33 of the Texas-Oklahoma District of Key Club International. The honor came at the recent Spring Rally Workshop of the division.

George, whose father is Hereford High School principal, received the most delegate votes, Lieutenant Governor after an impressive and articulate presentation during the campaign according to Gene Brock, Key Club advisor.

The new officer's duties will include overseeing the clubs in division 33 including the Key Club chapters at Canyon, Dimmitt, South Amarillo, Tulia and Friona. He also will attend district board meetings in Dallas three or four times a year.

The sophomore student has served as local board member of the Key Club and held the sophomore flag chairmanship during the current school year. Also, he obtained the required 100 points to attend the district convention in April by actively participating in Key Clubs events. Brock said it was rather unusual for a sophomore student to get the high Key Club post as a junior student receives the honor ordinarily.

School Volunteer Program Successful In 2 Months

The Hereford Independent School District Volunteer Program has experienced early success with persons signing up to help the regular school staff and other personnel with their day to day functions according to its coordinators, volunteers and school officials.

The program began in January under the direction of Mrs. Jo Ellen Jorde, Mrs. Clint Formby and Mrs. Wanda Hoover. The program's purpose is to enlist the aid of volunteers to assist teachers, administrators and other employees in the more routine duties.

"Listening, caring and encouraging students are three ways school volunteers have benefited La Plata Junior High School," said Principal Pat Hughes. "We would like to have more."

Mrs. Bill Allen, a La Plata volunteer, said that she "thoroughly enjoys" being in the program and is anxious to become more involved.

Judy Stoy, La Plata seventh grade reading teacher, said Mrs. Allen's individual attention in a "one-to-one situation" with seventh grade readers has benefited many students.

Howard Birdwell, Shirley Elementary principal, said he has seen the volunteer concept work in other schools and "is eager to have volunteers here."

Birdwell said more volunteers are needed at Shirley to aid in mathematics instructions. "Simple fact math," Birdwell said, "I do not want to scare anyone away from the program."

Birdwell said the areas in which volunteers could be used and are needed seem endless. "Right away we could use more help in our reading programs and with clerical duties," he said.

Gladys Setliff, a retired educator with 48-years teaching experience volunteers two days a week to read and listen to Mrs. Baird's fourth grade class at Shirley. "I love being here," Miss Setliff said, as bright eyed students attentively listen to her reading from a special text.

Currently there are two volunteers assisting first grade reading groups of Northwest Elementary. "We would like to have more so they could help in third and sixth grades with math fundamentals.

"The idea is to help the classroom teacher. When there are 26-28 students there just isn't a hole lot of time to devote to the individual. Students are broken into groups. With a volunteer, the opportunity to read out loud and to listen to students read out loud for 30-minutes or more will help in the long run," Charles Duvall, Northwest principal said. "It's the extra hour of practice that makes for success."

At Stanton Junior High, Principal Ray Todd said he has "had requests for school volunteers from nearly every teacher."

The early success of the program can be seen in one of the students our volunteer has been work with," Todd said. "We can see the result of the one-to-one situation. The student is interested in learning and is making an honest effort."

School District Superintendent Roy Hartman said the positive attitudes of school volunteers proves to him there are additional needs volunteers can fill.

"School volunteers is a positive way for the needs of boys and girls to be met on an individual basis," Hartman said.

"There has been success by the organized volunteer program, although there was also some success prior to the organized effort. The volunteers show tremendous potential, the response to them has been good, the people are constant and qualified."

Needs volunteers can fill include: elementary reading, basic math, media center (reading to students), clerical duties, 1st 3rd, and 6th grade classes chores.

The motto of Volunteer School Program is, "If you give me a fish, I'll have food for one day. But if you teach me to fish, I'll have food for a lifetime."

Lions See Film On 'Uncle Sam'

"Uncle Sam--The Man and the Legend", a movie about the life of Samuel Wilson, from whom the "Uncle Sam" cartoon character originated, was presented as the program for the weekly luncheon meeting of the Hereford Lions Club Wednesday at Civic Club Center.

Neil Cooper, a past president of the club, served as program chairman. The movie was made available by the Hereford Board of Realtors.

Another highlight of the meeting was the installation of seven new members, with past president Bill Gentry serving as installing officer. Inducted into the club were Bill Griffith, Lawrence Kendall, Lester Nixon, Bob McFarland, Bob Hillerby, Jim Anderson, and Bob Gentry.

Gentry paid special tribute to Lion John D. Bryant, who has sponsored 24 new members since becoming a member of the local club.

Club president Weldon Dickson reported that Lions served 1355 plates at the annual Pancake Supper last week. Project chairman David Ruland thanked members for making the event a success.

Fashion Program Brings Delight To Kiwanis Club

What had been billed as "the best program of the year" turned out to just that for the Noon Kiwanis Club at their Thursday meeting.

The group was treated to a fashion show by co-owners of The Vogue, Lous Davis and Berta Ottesen. The show featured fashions from the downtown clothing store and the models were mostly Kiwanian wives.

Mrs. Ottesen provided the comment as the models swept down the aisles, providing the Kiwanis with a firsthand look at what the new spring fashions have to offer. Mrs. Davis coordinated the changing and off-stage directions.

Modeling for the Kiwanians were Linda McDowell (Mrs. Jim McDowell), Jan Perrin (Mrs. Jim Bob Perrin), Kiwanis Sweetheart Melinda Watts (who is an entrant in the Miss Hereford pageant), Carolyn Baxter (Mrs. Waldo Baxter), Betty Owen (Mrs. Bobby Owen), Diane Hoelscher (Mrs. R.C. Hoelscher), Joan McPherson (Mrs. Travis McPherson), Elaine Koch (Mrs. Eldon Koch), and Pat Hill.

One of the highlights of the program came when Kiwanis president Ed Coplen was presented the only fashion item The Vogue has for men and women, a unisex handbag.

Kiwanians inducted a new member, Joe. Ed. Vickery. Vickery is the new general manager at Cowboy Chevrolet-Olds. His sponsor was Bill Craig.

John Poindexter and Robert Rhoton were presented perfect attendance awards by secretary Rodney Gordon. Rhoton was given a 7-year pin, Poindexter a 5-year pin.

Kiwanians viewed some of the first signs of spring Thursday, a fashion show of new things for spring from The Vogue in downtown Hereford. At the left, Kiwanis sweetheart Melinda Watts wears a springy walking short set. On the right, Jan Perrin models a more formal, long evening dress.

"CRIME CAN BE YOUR FAULT" is the theme of a new promotional sponsored by your Chamber and our law enforcement people. The basis of the idea is to involve the public in helping to prevent crime thru simple common sense procedures. Some of these actions are: "LOCK YOUR CAR", "LEAVE THE LIGHTS ON", "Tell a neighbor", "Call the Police", and other similar items.

Its comforting to know that Hereford and Deaf Smith County boast one of the lowest crime rates in the state of Texas and our law enforcement agencies are to be highly commended for this record. Yet we can help to reduce the frequency of crime and improve our over all quality of life with just a little effort on our part.

The prayer phone service, established by First Christian Church in March of 1972, has been started again, a five-months interruption was necessitated in order to get new equipment. The number, which become so familiar to hundreds of prayer phone users, is 364-6000.

The prayers, which are changed daily, are accompanied by a reference to scripture. Ordinarily the prayers are recorded by Eugene Brink, minister of the church, who prepares them.

However, a number of laymen in the church have taken part in the program at various times. There is no denominational reference in this phone service, not even identification of the person who voices the prayer.

Before the service was interrupted some months ago, about 150 calls were being received daily. Heaviest use of the phone came during early morning and late evening hours. Though the number is listed under "Prayer Phone" in the telephone book, the number has usually been passed by word of mouth by members of the congregation.

The people of Hereford and Deaf Smith County are invited to dial the prayer phone. The church would like to receive any suggestions about this service.

There's a time to play, as well as a time to pray, but some people never try either.

Faith and patience are great assets and wonderful aids if you have them when you need them.

4-4A Honors Kitchens, Hull, Mays

Hereford's Kelly Kitchens was selected to the all-District 4-AAAA first team announced today and also named "Sophomore of the Year," while teammates Mike Hull and James Mays, along with Whiteface Coach Barry Arnwine, garnered additional honors.

Kitchens, the lone starting sophomore in a senior-dominated district, averaged 14 ppg. during the entire season and the 5-10 backliner led all scorers in league play with a 17.2 average.

The smooth-operating Kitchens joined a first team that consisted of one player from each of the other four district teams: Monterey center Scott Gardner, Coronado guard Vic Henry and forwards John Daniel of Plainview and Cecil Ross of Lubbock.

Gardner, who averaged 14 points and 7.4 rebounds, was selected "Player of the Year."

Hull was a second-team honoree. The 6-6 senior, who averaged 10.6 points and a district-leading 11.5 rebounds, was on a squad that consisted of Coronado forwards Walter Storrs and Wayne Nash and guards James Poarch of Plainview and Jody Overbeck of Monterey.

Mays, Hereford's second-leading scorer (12.0) and No. 3 rebounder (6.1), heads a six-man Honorable Mention squad that included forward Gary Norris and center Floyd Smith, both of Lubbock; forward Steve Lowery of Monterey, guard Jerry Hearn of Plainview and center Richard Holland of Coronado.

Arnwine, whose club finished only 15-16, but earned a share of the district's first half (although losing to Plainview in the playoffs), was chosen "Co-

Coach of the Year," along with Coronado's Jimmy Fullerton, whose team eventually won District and the Bi-District Playoffs to earn a spot into the Regionals at Abilene over the weekend.

The Whitefaces, who were only 7-22 under Arnwine a year ago and were picked no higher than fourth in the circuit this season, proved to be a contender this season despite starting only two seniors (Hull and Paul Trolinder).

Fullerton, meantime, piloted Coronado to a 25-7 record, going into this weekend's regional play. It was Fullerton's first year at the helm and the Mustang's initial district championship.

Kitchens' selection came as hardly a surprise since the often-spectacular first-year star played an instrumental role in the Herd's emergence as one of the league's top teams. The league's No. 3 overall scorer, Kitchens also handed out an average of nearly five assists per contest.

He scored 20 or more points on no less than five occasions, including a season's high of 26 in a 66-56 victory over Lubbock.

Although most of his shooting came from long range, Kitchens still managed to hit just over 40 percent from the field. And his .711 accuracy from the foul line was second on the club.

Gardner, a 6-4 senior, enjoyed a banner season for Monterey, although the defending champion Plainsmen did not, managing only to break even in 30 ball games.

A consistent scorer all season—he was held under double figures only three times—Gardner had a season's high of 24 in Monterey's 51-49 victory over Hereford on the Herd's hardwood. The versatile Gardner, who also is a standout pitcher on the Monterey baseball team, averaged .448 from the field and .735 from the foul line.

Henry, another celebrated performer, carried a 14.3 ppg. average into this weekend's regional play, which ranked No. 2 in the District. His 15.8 average in district play was the second-leading figure, too.

He scored over 20 points seven times, including a season's high of 30 against Hereford. He connected on 404 from the field and 700 from the charity stripe.

Daniel, a 6-4 senior, came on very strong. Although he averaged only 10.5 overall, his district mark was 13.8 and ranked No. 4 in scoring. His highwater mark also against Hereford, tossing in a 24-point salvo which spurred a 58-48 victory at Plainview.

Ross, who ended up posting the top overall average (14.4), tapered off a bit in district play, scoring only 12.5 ppg. The 6-2 juniors' season's high was a 30-point spree in Lubbock's 73-65 home court victory over Caprock. And, that, of course, matched the individual high during the '75-76 campaign.

He also averaged 11 rebounds per game which ranked No. 2 (behind Hull) in the district.

Poarch is the lone junior on an otherwise all-senior second team, which is comprised of good speed and quickness more so than scoring. Nash and Overbeck, in fact, averaged only 9.3 and 9.1 ppg., respectively.

Hull came on strong the second half of the season after being shelved five ball games with an illness. His top individual outing was a 20-point outburst against Levelland, propelling the Whitefaces' 79-49 romp. Hull led the club in free throw percentage (.712).

Storrs, a 12.2 contributor, and Nash were Coronado's second and fourth-leading scorers. And, they also averaged 8.2 and 7.5 rebounds, respectively. The 6-3½ Storrs also averaged a fine .460 from the floor.

Storrs' seasonal high was a 25-point show in the Mustangs' 61-54 victory over cross-town rival Dunbar, while Nash's best was a 21-point effort in a 69-53 thrashing against Plainview.

Poarch and Overbeck were the playmaking guards of their respective teams, the former averaging 10.3 and finishing just behind Daniel in scoring.

The 5-10 Poarch had a season's high of 17 in a 55-54 loss at Palo Duro, while Overbeck's top outing was 16 against both Wichita Falls and Hereford.

There were three juniors on the Honorable Mention squad, which also included three of the top eight scorers in the league—Norris (13.3), Mays and Smith (10.6).

Norris ranked among the top (overall) scoring leaders most of the campaign, although carried only 11.3 credentials inside district play. He also averaged 8.4 rebounds. His season's high was 21 points in that same victory over Caprock.

Mays hit an impressive .471 from the floor to lead Hereford in that department. He had a pair of 25-point highs against Dumas and Clovis.

Smith was also an effective rebounder, averaging 9.5 in that category. The 6-5 postman's season high was a 24-point explosion against Amarillo.

Lowery enjoyed a fine season with Monterey, although it was, actually, his first year in varsity ball. A transfer from Oklahoma, where he played JV ball at Lawton a year ago, the 6-3½ cornerman averaged 9.5 points and 6.9 rebounds.

Hearn, another playmaker and solid defensive hand, averaged only 5.5 for Plainview, but was an important cog in the Bulldogs' first-half championship. He was among the team leaders in assists.

Holland's presence on the Honorable Mention squad might come as somewhat of a surprise since he 6-6 postman was a mere "sixth man" on the Coronado ball club. However, his credentials are excellent as his 7.2 point and 6.7 rebound per game figures indicate. He also hit an attractive .531 from the field, which led all Mustangs.

A breakdown finds 10 seniors, five juniors and a lone sophomore on the honor squads.

Herd's Basketball Season: Statistics Tell The Story

To be sure, Hereford's Whitefaces had their share of ups 'n downs throughout the zany 1975-76 basketball season and no better evidence is the one I'll cite statistic that shows both the Herd and its 31 opponents, incredibly, scored the exact same number of points—1,848—for identical averages of 59.6.

It was that kind of year. Both Hereford and its 22 non-district foes averaged 61.1 ppg.; inside the league, the Whitefaces averaged 55.8 to the opposition's 55.7.

Finishing the regular season 15-16, Hereford's biggest winning streak was four and its longest losing skein was the same number. The Whitefaces were never more than three games over the .500 mark or over two games under.

Hereford wound up 11-11 in non-district and 4-5 in district, including a loss to Plainview for the first-half title. After finishing in a two-way tie with the Bulldogs for that first-half crown, winning three of its four games, the Whitefaces promptly turned around and dropped three of four the second half to finish in another tie with Plainview—only this time for the No. 4 spot.

As expected, guard Kelly Kitchens pretty much dominated Hereford's final offensive statistics.

Besides leading the squad in both the overall (14.0) and district (17.2) scoring races, Kitchens also led in assists with nearly five per contest. He was also a close second (behind Mike Hull) in free throw percentage, sinking .711.

Hull, although missing five early games, also led the club in two categories: rebounding (11.5) and free throw percentage (.712), the graduating 6-6 senior also finished second to James Mays in field goal accuracy with a fine .429 figure. Mays' team-leading percentage was .471, which included a fancy 50 percent average against the 22 non-district foes.

Scoring-wise, Kitchens was followed by Mays (12.0), Hull (10.6) and Paul Trolinder (10.1).

In rebounding, it was Hull, Trolinder (7.8) and Mays (6.1). Actually, reserve Murry Hazlett, hitting his only field goal attempt for the season, was a 1.000 percent from the field; however, following Mays and Hull, among the regulars, were Trolinder (.404), Kitchens (.404) and Lawson (.378).

For the season, Hereford averaged .414 from the field, while the opposition connected on .418. A further breakdown shows the Whitefaces hit .427 in non-district, but only 38 percent in league play, while the opposition 42 percent outside the league and 41.3 in it.

Following Kitchens in the assist department was Mays, who averaged 2.2, although the majority of those were during non-district play. The Herd averaged a better-than-average 15.4 assists per game.

On the free throw side, the Whitefaces averaged .629 percent to the opposition's .618. The locals averaged .654 in its nine district contests, while the opposition connected on a torrid .620.

Hereford had four of the top 12 scorers in the (overall) scoring race in Kitchens (No. 3), Mays (No. 7), Hull (No. 9) and Trolinder (No. 12); and, the Herd also had four of the top 12 in district in Kitchens (No. 1), Hull (No. 8), Mays (No. 9) and Trolinder (No. 12).

Kitchens was selected to the All-District 4-AAAA first team, which was announced today, while Hull was a second-team honoree and Mays made Honorable Mention. Coach Barry Arnwine, who was also named "Co-Coach of the Year," will lose two starters via graduation (Hull and Trolinder); although Kitchens, the district's "Sophomore of the Year," Mays and guard Jim Lawson will all be back.

The only other graduation losses will be a pair of key reserves—forward Steve Cornelius (3.6) and guard Barry Muller (3.2). Also back for their senior seasons in '76-77 will be Mike O'Rand (4.0), Kenneth Mercer (0.7) and Hazlett (0.2). Arnwine, also, will have some promising prospects up from a 12-18 JV team and possibly the 7-18 Sophomore squad.

View From The Plains

BY J.D. PEER
TEXAS PARKS AND WILDLIFE DEPT.

PIKE SHOWING GOOD GROWTH
Buffalo Springs lake, east of Lubbock, can produce surprises including wet feet and eating size northern pike.

Cliff Hopper, a resident of the 225 acre lake, had just baited his cane pole with a large minnow and laid it down when a 21½ inch northern pike grabbed the bait and headed for open water. Hopper jumped into the lake after the disappearing pole and landed the pike after a good fight.

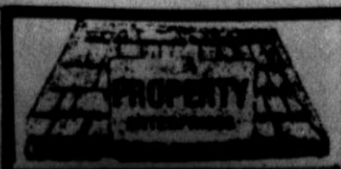

The pike, one of 2700 stocked by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department last May, weighed two and one-half pounds and has shown excellent growth from the original stocking size of four inches in less than one year.

The pike were brought from the Kerrville research center and stocked in Buffalo Springs along with over 6,000 channel catfish last year. These fish should furnish South Plains anglers with plenty of action and good eating too.

Several largemouth bass have turned up on stringers along with some large crappie during the warm spell experienced over the last two weeks.

Leadhead jigs and minnows seem to be the most popular bait as the lake water warms up along the seven and one-half miles of shoreline.

Anglers are asked to notify the lake patrol or the P&WD when a northern pike is caught.

Baseballers: Plenty Of Action

Busy, busy, busy. That'll be the high-flying Hereford Whiteface baseballers who have three big ball games this week, including a home game against Amarillo Thursday. The Herd begins the rugged week on the road Tuesday at Canyon and ends it Friday at Tascosa.

All three contests begin at 4 p.m. Canyon is regarded as the "team to beat" in District 1-AAA and displayed a pretty good offense in dropping an 11-6 verdict to HHS here five days ago; Amarillo and Tascosa, meantime, are rated as two of the top three teams in District 3-AAAA, although the Rebels (0-1 going into this weekend's El Paso Burges Tournament) could be a shade overrated after being butchered by visiting Lubbock, 18-1, in its lifeliner. Hereford has been scoring runs by the bushel in its first four outings and received solid pitching from Roy Martinez and Harvey Torres, both of whom have hurled complete-game victories.

Coach Aaron Bourland has been employing a line-up of Mike Foster at first, Chris Hill at second, Martinez or Torres at short and Richard Moya at third on the infield, with Mike Pittard in left, Chris King in center and Kent Herring in right. Pete Hale has been handling most of the catching, while Paul Garcia and a pair of "Mike's"—Artho and Guinn—have been seeing pinch-hitting duties.

Martinez is the top hitter on the club, hitting well over .500, while Torres, Foster, Garcia and King have also been carrying a big stick during the early going. Foster, Martinez, Pittard and Hale have been the RBI leaders on the club, having already accounted for over 20 among 'em.

Canyon is 3-2 on the campaign and Coach Mike Auld's Eagles' long suit is hitting. There are several returnees from years' club, including all-District center-fielder Matt Madewell, who collected three hits against the Herd here a week ago.

The Eagles, however, have been playing without four starters, all of whom have been injured. Catcher Greg Taylor, a two-year letterman, veterans Ricky and Ken Cooper, and Phil Barnes have all been sidelined.

Shortstop Jay Huey, catcher Kenny Slage and pitcher-first baseman Jonathan Hill have also been hitting the ball real well for the Eagles, whose only previous home game was a 12-6 victory over Palo Duro.

However, Canyon also has a home date against Caprock Monday prior to Hereford's arrival.

The rest of the infield will include Tracy Martin at second and Randy Langen at third, with Joe Luquette, Madewell and Terry Mick in the outfield from left to right.

Hereford just might be seeing Canyon lefthander Ron Hickman (1-0), who picked up that victory over Palo Duro on a five-hitter and struckout 15.

Hull (0-1), the loser of that first Hereford game, is another possibility. The junior righthander has tatted for 11 runs (nine earned) and 12 hits in three-plus innings last week.

The Amarillo Sandies, the pre-season pick to win its district and who took a 1-0 record into that same Burges Tournament over the weekend, could provide Hereford with its toughest test of the season here Thursday.

A 10-5 victor at Plainview in its opener, Amarillo boasts solid hitting, strong pitching and a fine defense.

Amarillo has six starters back from last years' fine 17-6 outfit, including a classy left side of the infield in shortstop Steve Diven, an all-district first-teamer, and third baseman Jim Poole, the Sophomore of the Year. First baseman Jim Wattenburger, who is the Sandies' top hitter during the early season, is another veteran, along with catcher Rick Nelson, outfielder Roger Allen and pitcher-outfielder Chip Biggers, who picked up the opening-game victory over Plainview and just could draw the starting nod against Hereford.

Biggers was touched for all five runs in 5 1/2 innings in the opener, although allowed only four base hits. A good fast-ball pitcher, who averaged well over one in 67 innings a year ago, the strong righthander also notched the lone no-hitter of the season in '75 and is being counted upon heavily again.

If Biggers doesn't get the call, Matt Shirley, another righthander, or possibly southpaw Paul Guyer, will. They both hurled over the weekend.

Tascosa committed 12 errors in its season's-opener against Lubbock, so it's easy to see what the Rebels' early-season problem is.

The only quality pitcher for Coach Ken Brinkley's club is Ricky Baker and he absorbed that loss to Lubbock, allowing 10 runs in four innings. However, Ngil Packard, a righthander, could also throw in the Hereford game Friday.

Tascosa managed only one hit in its first game, but the Rebs do have some capable stickmen in Packard, who plays third when he isn't throwing; his brother, Mark, and second sacker Mike Lorene.

This will be the first of back-to-back hectic weeks for the Whitefaces, who have a return contest against Tascosa March 16 and, then, host six teams (Canyon, Pampa, Borger, Dumas, Levelland and Palo Duro) in the Hereford Tournament (March 18-20).

Comment On Sports

GOLF BY PETE FRITCHIE

WASHINGTON, D. C. -- If Jack Nicklaus is finally shaky this year, will Johnny Miller take up where he left off last spring in the Masters, and win it? Remember 1975?

Nicklaus began with a first round 68, then carded a second-day 67. It looked as if it would be a rout. Miller, on the first two days, carded 75 and 71. He was 11 strokes back when the third round began.

But that day Miller shot a sizzling 65 and Big Jack skied to 73 and the margin was down to three! Nicklaus had to fire a fine subpar 68 to eke out a win; Miller did two strokes better with a 66.

Tom Weiskopf, overdue to win at Augusta, was right in there with Miller all the way. In fact, he was the only one of the top three who never went over par.

And remember come April 8th that Hale Irwin, hot this year, fired a course-record 64 on the last day of the 1975 Masters. He too could start in where he left off.

When someone offers advice, the first test is whether he, or she, has a selfish interest in your reaction.

Going to school or college in the spring may be tough, but not as tough as paying for someone to go.

Herd Beat In Two Games At Pampa

Hereford Varsity baseballers lost both games in the Pampa Baseball Tournament Friday. Even though pitching was relatively good, Dumas conquered Hereford by a score of 2-1 and Pampa, the host team, won 3-1 in the tournament.

In the Dumas game, Hereford batters, slugged for one run on six hits. Getting one single each were Harvey Torres and Chris King while Pete Hale and Roy Martinez each hit two singles.

Chris Hill was the losing pitcher in the game even though he struck out 10 batters and walked three others. Dumas had two runs on six hits and three errors.

Against Pampa, the Herd had one run on one hit by a Torres single. Pampa had one run on five hits and three errors.

The losing pitcher was Roy Martinez, who struck out six batters and walked two. All the runs in that game came in the sixth inning of play.

Coach Aaron Bourland said, "The pitching was outstanding, but you can't win without hitting in runs. We just couldn't score and had too many errors."

In the Dumas game, Mike Pittard had one run batted in (RBI) while Pete Hale had one RBI in the Pampa game.

The losses leave Hereford at 2-2 for the season.

The next game is at Canyon Tuesday with the Herd traveling to Amarillo Friday to play Tascosa High School. Both contests are at 4 p.m.

Home audiences will get to see action at 4 p.m. Thursday when the Herd takes on Amarillo High school here.

Closed Meetings

After the Sharpstown scandals in Texas, we had a lot of "reform legislation" from the legislature and among these were the open meetings laws and the open records laws which sought to open the windows on all levels of government and let some air inside.

The result of the laws has been to make it a criminal offense for officials of public bodies to conduct their meeting in private. Closed meetings of city councils, school boards, commissioner courts and other bodies are clearly illegal in Texas, yet there are those officials who try to close the doors time after time.

Fortunately, we don't have the problem in Hereford as all governmental bodies abide by the open meeting laws. County commissioners, city commissioners, and school trustees welcome visitors to their meetings. The school board has a place on the agenda for citizens who wish to air their views.

This topic came to mind because the Canyon News recently charged that an illegal closed meeting was held by the Canyon City Council. At last report, the matter went to the grand jury and no action was taken. There apparently was some public sentiment against the News, with people stating that the newspaper was trying to stir up something.

We don't know the facts surrounding the incident. If the News really felt the meeting was illegal, people in the Canyon community should be glad the newspaper "stirred it up." Unless newspapers call their hands, public bodies in a number of communities will have more and more closed meetings. After being in office for a while, some politicians get to thinking they don't have to answer to the people and resent reports of their business.

Open meetings may be distasteful to some politicians, but in the long run they create a better climate for local government.

Surprise, Surprise

The mayor of New York City has announced, to the surprise of nobody, that it looks as if his city will be unable to pay on their new debt obligation as promised.

Mayor Beame says that despite every effort to keep down expenses the cost of operating New York has continued to rise and he pointed out that the various unions in the city have not let up a whit in their demand for higher pay.

The city income tax and sales tax and property tax and service fees just doesn't come to enough money to meet the bills, says the mayor.

Thus it appears that New York City will have to have more time and more loans from the federal government in order to survive.

This is what critics of the federal loan program told President Ford last year when the big discussion was going on. It was predicted, and apparently correctly so, that New York City is unable to trim its budget and cut expenses simply because it is in the grasp of a dozen labor unions who won't let it.

Washington, D.C. is on the verge of bankruptcy, too. Yet the District's 6,000 police and firemen have already negotiated an 18 per cent raise for this year, a hike that will cost the city roughly $23 million a year.

The teachers have already said they want a raise equal to that of the police and firemen, coming to $22 million more.

The city is now negotiating with its trash collectors and other city employees.

Even without these increases, the city is trying to cope with a $60 million deficit this year. Already an $88 million deficit is in sight for the year starting July 1.

What has this to do with us out here in Ochiltree county?

Simple. We, as U. S. taxpayers, will be expected to dig up the dough for Washington, D.C. and likely New York City as well.

VA Questions, Answers

EDITOR'S NOTE: Following are representative questions answered daily by VA counselors. Full information is available at any VA office.

Q—What is the Veterans Administration PREP program?

A—The Predischarge Education Program (PREP) is intended for military personnel who have completed more than 180 consecutive days of active duty and are in need of courses necessary for a secondary school diploma or courses necessary for entrance into a post secondary course of study. Complete information and application forms are available from military education offices and VA regional offices.

Q—If I use my GI home loan benefits now, can I use them again in the future?

A—Yes, as long as you relieve the VA from liability in your current VA loan.

Q—I am a veteran and was hospitalized in a private hospital for my service-connected disability for more than 21 days. Am I entitled to an increase in my compensation?

A—Yes, if medical evidence supplied to the VA shows that the condition for which you were hospitalized was for the service-connected disability. You would be entitled to a 100 per cent rating from date of admission to at least the date of discharge from the hospital if you file claim for increase with the VA within one year of date of admission.

Q—I served in the Army for 24 months. How many months of educational eligibility am I entitled to receive?

A—Eligible veterans with at least 18 months of continuous active duty after Jan. 31, 1955, and separated with other than a dishonorable discharge, are entitled to 36 months of educational assistance. Veterans having less active duty than 18 months are eligible for 1½ months of eligibility for each month of active duty.

Wages, Public And Private

Perhaps the No. 1 economic problem of the hour concerns wages and profits. Due to the growth of government, wages of public workers have assumed a new importance and influence on the overall wage structure.

Time was when the public sector lagged behind the private sector. What the public sector lacked in size, it made up for in permanence. A person was willing to work for a little less as a school teacher, post office employee or judge because there was less danger in being laid off due to hard times. Believe it or not, there was a time when such professional men as medical doctors, dentists and lawyers figuratively "starved to death" during the first part of their careers. There was a time when the office of county attorney looked mighty alluring to a young attorney!

For many years public employees complained because their income was not comparable to that received by similar positions in the private sector.

But those days are past. Today wages and salaries paid public employees have out paced private wages and salaries, particularly in the area of fringe benefits and pensions. Earlier we have cited the situation in New York City where public employees retire with pensions nearly 100 per cent of their normal income.

Last week we heard that county employees in Los Angeles, Calif., are enjoying the identical benefits, pensions almost 100 per cent of their salaries.

In Los Angeles persons serving on the Board of Supervisors are now receiving $46,000 a year. The 15 members of the L. A. city council have recently upped their salaries to $33,000 annually and the mayor makes more than $50,000. Before his election to the city council, one member was earning $8,000 annually in the private sector.

In many instances the salaries of these public officials are only the tip of the iceberg. In addition they are provided limousines and sometimes chauffeurs and many other fringe benefits including numerous holidays. The mayor is to be provided a mansion with only the furnishings costing some $150,000. And almost all public employees in California are expecting to retire with little if any loss in income due to overly generous pensions. Some even draw more than one pension from the government. The mayor of Los Angeles, for example, is even now drawing a pension as a retired fireman and when he retires as mayor, a second pension will be added!

Recently the school teachers of Los Angeles demanded a 5-day holiday for Lincoln's birthday, and when this was refused, they openly warned that they intended to take the five days and call it ill!

But perhaps the most ridiculous action of all was the action of the 44 federal judges who last week filed an unprecedented suit claiming the "have a constitutional right to a raise." They claim that Congress and two presidents violated a constitutional duty to raise judicial salaries. They asked for permanent pay increases matching the inflation rate and damages to make up for real income lost because of inflation in the last seven years.

District federal judges receive $42,000. Circuit judges receive $44,625. In 1969 they received raises to $40,000 and $42,000 respectively. Salaries were raised 5 per cent last October when all federal wages were hiked.

They told the Court of Claims their real purchasing power had dropped 34.5 per cent since their last major salary increase in 1969.

There's a major difference between wages paid by the public and private sectors. Generally speaking, in the private sector there is a relationship between profits and wages. If profits won't justify demanded wages, then the business closes its doors—and this has happened in a number of instances. Labor has literally put businesses out of business!

But in the public sector, there is such a temptation to pay wage hikes and merely send the tab to the taxpayer. In most instances, in the public sector both management and labor are feeding at the government trough. In fact, the L. A. city council's excuse for raising their own salaries was that they had given wage boosts to other city employees.

A major reason for current inflation is the action of all levels of government in setting the pace in upping labor costs. The situation has gotten completely out of hand.

Talk of Texas

By Jack Maguire

FOOTNOTE TO HISTORY— New York isn't the first big city to default on its municipal bonds. The same thing happened to Dallas almost 45 years ago.

In 1926, Dallas officials decided to try to stop floods in the Trinity River watershed. They created a Levee Improvement District and, in 1928, issued almost $6 million in bonds to pay for the dams. The bonds were to mature between 1934 and 1958 and offered 5½ per cent annual interest.

By 1931, however, the Great Depression had arrived. The Dallas levee district was hard pressed for cash. When a bond interest payment was due in October, it defaulted. Six years later, Dallas tried to rectify the matter by issuing refunding bonds maturing in 1977.

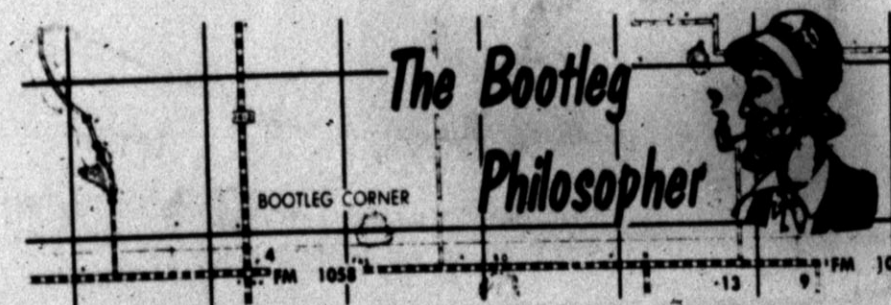

This plan also ran into trouble and it appeared for awhile that investors might be all. However, in 1945, a second refunding issue was proposed. If all goes well, Dallas will finally pay off the bonds in 2005—77 years after they were issued.

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his Deaf Smith grass farm on Bootleg Corner takes a peculiar look at solar energy this week.

Dear editor:

A lot of people are wondering why we haven't made more progress on solar energy, and I think I know the answer.

Here's the situation: It's no doubt true the greatest source of heat in the entire universe is the sun. We talk about oil playing out and it's true—eventually the earth is going to run dry of oil, man is going to pump it all out and the Arab sheiks will have to go back to raising camels. But the sun, it's always there, and if it plays out, that's all she wrote anyway.

Now man has already discovered that you can heat a house, warm your bath water and cool off in summer with solar energy. With a little more investment, say the price-of-one aircraft carrier or two sessions of Congress, solar energy could be perfected and become as commonplace as electricity or gas or running water.

Panhandle Chapter Of TAB Plans Seminar

The Panhandle Chapter of Texas Association of Business (formerly Texas Manufacturers Association) is sponsoring an Industrial Relations seminar March 18, 1976, at Tascosa Country Club in Amarillo.

Dwaine Mires, chairman of the chapter's industrial relations committee, organized the program to cover many of the current needs of Panhandle businessmen.

Burl Springer, president of Southwestern Public Service Company will open the program with "Accentuate the Positive", followed by Henry Davidson, representative of the American Association of Retired People, Dallas, whose subject is "What Are You Doing to Get Ready for Retirement?". This presentation geared to the retirement needs of those attending, and supplies valuable information to be shared with fellow workers.

Don Spies, ERISA consultant with Towers, Perrin, Forster and Crosby, a Dallas-based consulting firm, will discuss the Schulenberg, Fayette County, community where several aspiring journalists had tried to establish a newspaper without success.

"I'm going to start a newspaper; that will stick," he said.

He did and it has. The Schulenberg Sticker is still being published.

IT'S A WOMAN'S WORLD— Elisabeth Ney, the Texas sculptress, would have been a leader in today's women's liberation movement.

Already famous in European art circles when she married Edmund Montgomery, a Scottish medical student, she refused to take his name. In 1870, when the couple moved to Texas, Dr. Montgomery lived at their ranch near Hempstead while Mill Ney preferred to reside at her studio in Austin.

Once in a speech to a Dallas women's club, she sounded the tocsin for female freedom. "Women are fools to be bothered with housework," she said. "I sleep in a hammock, which requires no making up; I break an egg for my breakfast and sip it raw from the shell; I make lemonade in a glass and then rinse the glass—and my housework is done for the day."

SHARP-SHOOTER— Not many could equal frontier Texans in marksmanship.

In June, 1874, when 700 Indians attacked the trading post at Adobe Walls, in what now is Hutchinson County, the 28 men in residence succeeded in defending it. One buffalo hunter named Billy Dixon he ended the attack with a shot that belongs in the record books.

Using a 50-caliber buffalo rifle, Dixon struck an attacker 1,538 yards away. His "mile-long" shot knocked the Indian out of the saddle!

But there's one scientific hitch that's holding the whole program up. Nobody's figured out how to master solar energy.

On the next clear day go outside and look around. See that sunshine splattered all over everything? How are you going to get it to go through a meter? And if you can't get it to go through a meter, how're you going to charge for it?

Like it is, a man might go up on the roof on his house, capture the sun's rays and heat his home scot free. You know the economy is not going to stand for that.

Unless science can figure out a way to run solar heat through a meter, who's going to be interested in perfecting the stuff? Might as well try to charge for the use of gravity.

The only way I can figure out to get solar energy readily available to everybody is to lease the sun to a small group of far-sighted people and let them charge royalty on every sunbeam that reaches the earth, with rates adjusted to see that the company gets fair compensation on cloudy days.

Yours faithfully,

Track Teams On Road

Gals Take 4th At Pampa Meet

Hereford's boys and girls track teams will both be in action Saturday, although the sites will be a little different. Coach Robert Priest's boys, who competed in the Pampa Invitational over the weekend and has been doing a good job of late, treks to Sunray for a big meet over there. Meantime, Roy Shipp's Whiteface gals are at Lubbock, which will be their third meet of the young campaign.

Although neither coach has announced his travel squad at this early date, both teams figure on going with most of the same personnel they used in previous meets. The fellas, who have done a good job in the sprints, boast a top scorer in speedster Dave Charest, who cracked the school record in the 220-yard dash recently with a 22.3 clocking in the Cub Relays at Brownfield.

The 440-yard and mile relay team of Charest, Russell Harkins, Doug Reinart and Steve Jones have done an outstanding job for the Whitefaces. Reinart also runs the 220, while Jones can do the 440.

Barry Acton has been running the 120 high hurdles, while Harkins and Mike Turner are usually called on in the 330 intermediates. In the mile, Dennis Collins and Dennis Artho could get the call. Hereford has lacked depth in the field events.

Jim Foss throws the shot and discus, while Acton and Bob Hardin are the shot put specialists. Abel Trevizo is another discus man. Meantime, Shipp's girls, who opened its at Pampa and Plainview over the weekend, will try to better their times and distances at Lubbock.

It's not known exactly how Shipp will enter his squad, which has a good blend of experience (Debbie Albright, Cynthia Pena, Tami Lawson, Sharon Straffuss, Suzanne Duvall, Cindy Acton, Renee Payne and Micki Merritt) and young sophomores (Judy Birdwell, Joyce Betzen, Stephanie Kelso, Rochelle Ruland and Kay Hall). Albright and Straffuss, the letterwinners of a year ago and both of whom played key roles on the Herd's district championship squad, are once again top point-producers. They both run on the 440 and 880 relay teams, which shapes up as one of the stronger ones in the district. Birdwell and Duvall complete the quartet.

Albright also does the high jump, while Straffuss, real versatile, can do the 220, long jump and triple jump, too. Ruland competes in the 100 and 220 and 660-yard dashes, while Kelso adds the 440 to the 100 and 600. Hall runs the 220 and 880 and also can high jump.

Hereford's girls didn't win a single event but the relay teams made strong showings as the track team finished fourth in the Top 'O Texas Girls Track Meet at Pampa Friday. Hereford's 880-yard relay team of Sharon Straffuss, Debbie Albright, Suzanne Duvall and Judy Birdsong had the best effort with a second-place finish. The same foursome sped to a third-place in the 440-relay. The mile relay team of Duvall, Birdwell, Albright and Joyce Betzen also took a third place in the meet. Hereford tallied 51 1/2 points. Amarillo High took the team title with 179 points, followed by Perryton with 105 and Palo Duro with 87. Trailing Hereford was Pampa with 40 1/2, Borger 36, and Dumas 28. Individual fourth-places were logged by Hereford's Rochelle Ruland in the 220-yard dash and Sharon Straffuss in the long jump. Notching sixth-place finishes were Stephanie Kelso in both the high jump and 440, Ruland in the 60-yard dash, and Tami Lawson in the discus. Hereford's junior varsity team finished a strong second in the seven-team field. Amarillo High also won the junior division, totaling 184 points to 122 for Hereford. Borger was third with 68, followed by Palo Duro 50, Pampa 43, Dumas 23, and Perryton 2.

Golfers Set Lubbock Pace

LUBBOCK Hereford's golfers, getting better by the week, held a five-stroke lead at the halfway point of the 11-team Lubbock Invitational Tournament here over the weekend.

After Friday's 18 holes, Hereford had a total of 306, while Coronado was second at 311. Monterey was third at 317 and followed by Wichita Falls High School and Wichita Falls Hirschi, both of whom stood at 324.

Only the top five teams qualified for Saturday's second round. Consequently, dropping by the wayside after Friday's play were Monterey B (324), Lubbock (324), Wichita Falls Rider (327), Lubbock B (330), Hereford B (332) and Coronado B (334).

Besides the 11 Class AAAA schools, there was a seven-team Class AAA field and Brownfield

(330) held a six-stroke lead over runner-up, Levelland (336); Canyon (346) stood third. Those were the only three schools who qualified for second-day play.

"We're playing real well," said elated Hereford Coach Terry Russell Friday night after the first round of competition.

"We're beginning to have a little consistency that I know we've gotta have.

"We still need to get our fifth man for our starting five. What we're shooting for is to get everyone no higher than 80. Once we've reached that level..."

Hereford had four of its five starters shoot below 80 in the opening session, highlighted by Curtis Stoerner's 75.

There were only three other golfers who toured the 18 in "75" and two of 'em weren't back the second day since their teams didn't crack the "top five." David Jennings of the host Lubbock squad was one of those others shooting a 75.

The tournament format was set up in such a way where each of a team's five golfers were at a different course. Hereford had leaders at two of the five sites—Stoerner at Hillcrest Country Club and Tommy Weaver, who fired a 77, at Pine Hills.

Two other Whitefaces,

George Yocum (76) at Slaton and Billy Word (78) at Reese Air Force Base, were second at their respective locales.

James McDowell ballooned to an 88 at Meadowbrook and was a huge 13 strokes off the pace on that course.

The winning medalist at each course will receive a medal, while the lowest score of all five of those (winning) golfers will also receive a trophy.

Stoerner's 75, incidentally, was three-over-par.

Meantime, comprising the Hereford B squad that finished 10th were Kelly Kitchens, who fired an 80 at Meadowbrook;

Don Shaw, who had an 80 at Reese; Greg Pagett, who carded an 86 at Hillcrest; Jim Lyles, who had an 86 at Slaton, and Mike Hill, who shot a 95 at Pine Hills.

"They missed the cut by only eight shots," pointed out Russell.

He said Kitchens, who had played only 27 holes of golf prior to coming out (after an extended basketball season), "is having trouble with his putting right now; but, he'll be alright."

Hereford's performance here was all the more impressive because it comes on the heels of the initial District Tour which will be held at Lubbock's Meadowbrook Course Friday, with a 9 a.m. tee off.

Monterey is defending district champ, having nipped Plainview by a mere stroke on the last hole a year ago.

Individual Sports Part of Intramurals

"Badminton anyone" is one of the individual sports coming up in the school. Intramurals a school-wide program for students enjoying sports, that are not able to join the school teams.

Recently completed was another individual sport, handball doubles, with Rowan Alexander and Jerry Koenig taking first places; Barry Muller and Vance Hennington second; and Steve Cornelious and Wesley Wilson taking third.

Other sports on schedule are Paddle Ball for girls. Badminton doubles for boys and girls. Table tennis for boys and girls. In team sports, volleyball is next on schedule.

Basketball championships were recently completed with Intergrators overcoming maroon 76ers in boys division and Dirty Diapers outpowering the Super Aces in the girls division.

Also schedule for later in the year is softball for both boys and girls and a track meet in which both sexes will also participate.

In Passin'

SHORT ITEMS: That District 4-AAAA Basketball Team that was announced today was about as balanced as an all-star team could be. All five clubs had a player on the team and Coronado (4), Hereford (3), Monterey (3), Lubbock (3) and Plainview (3) had about equal representation on what amounted to a three-team 16-player squad. It's very interesting to note, too, that of Hereford's three representatives—Kelly Kitchens, Mike Hill and James Mays—two of 'em, Kitchens and Mays, will be back next season. So, indeed, the future does look very bright for co-coach of the Year Barry Arnwine and his capable assistants, Marv Thouvenal and Mike Simpson...

WHITEFACES: LOTSA ACTION

Hereford High's spring sportsters will have a full week of activity, both home and away, as the spring season is in full gear. The baseballers will be at home against Amarillo (Thursday) and on the road at Canyon (Tuesday) and Tascosa (Friday). The golfers open its district tour at Lubbock (Friday), while the tennis teams, who will be the busiest squads of 'em all this week, have district matches here against Lubbock (Tuesday), Coronado (Thursday) and have its own "Team Tournament" here Friday & Saturday. The dual against Coronado, especially, will be attractive, since both the Mustangs' girls and boys teams are defending district champs. And, the Whitefaces track teams will also see action this weekend, although both the boys and girls will be on the road Saturday at Sunray and Lubbock, respectively.

For most of the local teams, this week's action will be the next-to-the-last game, match or meet prior to the upcoming "Super Sports Weekend" March 18-20. While Monterey won district titles a year in baseball, golf and track and, as mentioned, Coronado is defending kingly in tennis, this year's races could be pretty much "up-for-grabs" and especially if the first couple week's action is any indication.

In baseball, the Plainsmen, who have won 15 of its last 16 district titles, are surely "team to beat" again this year, but Lubbock and Hereford appear to be vastly improved. In golf, Plainview, a loser to Monterey in the final hole for the district title a year ago, appears exceptionally strong again with the likes of Greg Weathered, John Horne and Rusty Day all back for another season, while Hereford could be the most improved squad with two experienced players of their own in all-District Curtis Stoerner and Billy Word. In track, Lubbock has a good chance to challenge, while Hereford appears strong in the relays and Coronado in the field events.

In tennis, it looks like Coronado again, but Hereford has experience and the Whitefaces could make a big splash in that aforementioned dual against the undefeated Mustangs here this week. Probably one reason for the spring success of all Hereford High teams during the early going is the fact that most of the squads have a lot of experienced seniors, who have had previous varsity experience, which really helps. In baseball, standout shortstop-pitcher Harvey Torres, RBI leaders Mike Pittard and Mike Foster and good-looking catcher Pete Hale are seniors. Ditto Stoerner and Word in golf.

In tennis, there are numerous senior standouts, including David Rudder (No. 1 man) and Rocky Rodriguez (No. 2) on the boys squad and Susan Grimley (No. 1), Jane Hoffman (No. 2) and Rose Warren (No. 3) on the girls squad. In track, sprinters Dave Charest, Steve Jones and Mike Turner on the boys team and cute Debbie Albright on the girls squad have been strong point-producers.

TURNED OUT TO BE TRUE

Hereford Basketball Coach Barry Arnwine proved to be a prophet when he said, prior to the start of the district race, the scores would be a lot lower once the league race began. He had to go no further than his own club, which averaged a fine 61.1 ppg during its 22-game non-district season, but levelled off to 55.8 once league play began. Meantime, the opposition also averaged 61.1 ppg in non-district play, but only 55.7 once it all began. And, of course, the shooting percentages of Whiteface players—and throughout the district, in fact—dropped considerably once the league race unfolded. James Mays dipped from 50 percent in non-district to 40 percent, Kelly Kitchens slipped from .424 to .371, Paul Trolinger went from .419 to .366, while Jim Lawson went from 39 percent to .356. Actually, only center Mike Hill among the regulars showed an improvement—jumping from .415 to .465. The reasons for the drop-offs were obvious: the defenses were just tighter—and better—once district play began. Don't be surprised if either West Texas State (19-7) or North Texas State (22-4) receive a bid to the NIT; perhaps the teams, themselves, are not expecting bids, but their records are both impressive and, in fact, after the NCAA snatched all the fancy independents and strong second-place finishers, there aren't too many clubs remaining who will have won-loss marks as good as the Buffaloes or Eagles. And, with 12 teams in the field, the NIT is going to have to select somebody. However, it's very unlikely more than one team from the Lone Star State—be it WTSU, NTSU, the Southwest Conference Tournament Runner-up (Texas A&M or Texas Tech), Pan-American or UTEP—would be selected because the NIT prefers local or Eastern area teams, feeling schools West of the Mississippi will not bring many fans with 'em; which is true. Consequently, the NIT has, in the past, preferred selecting a so-so Eastern club with nine or even ten losses than an outstanding team from the West that may have, say, only five or six defeats. But, it's a pretty safe assumption to say there will be a Texas team in New York. The Missouri Valley and Southwest Conferences were, naturally, disappointed because their respective runner-ups were "snubbed" (as they say) by the NCAA; however, realistically, the NCAA had no other choice. Five conferences (the Pacific Eight, Atlantic Coast, Southeastern, Metro Six and Big) have such "frightening" 1-2 teams that, obviously, the runner-up in each circuit had to be selected. And, as irony had it, two powerful Eastern clubs, third-ranked Rutgers (28-0) and 16th-rated St. John's (22-5), were dumped into the Metro Division of the ECAC Tournament (rather than separated), which meant both those clubs had to be given a bid, and, no doubt, cost some conference runner-up—perhaps the MVC and Big Eight or WAC—a berth in the National Tournament. But, admittedly, the Valley was "down" overall this year and the only possible "Runner-up", with a good enough record to go (West Texas State) would have had to play two and perhaps even three games after the initial bids went out early Thursday in order to cement that No. 2 spot and the NCAA simply couldn't and wouldn't wait. Pairings, unfortunately, had to be announced this weekend and the tournament didn't want to wait for a possible MVC playoff next week. The NCAA also probably looked at the schedule and saw West Texas playing Southern Illinois and felt there might be a chance of the Buffaloes losing that game, which would take them out of the second-place running anyway. And, as it turned out, that's precisely what happened. As for the SWC Tournament runner-up? Well, that conference has never received a second slot in the NCAA before anyway, so it's really not surprising even if Texas Tech and Texas A & M were 25-1 at the moment. The conference, although much improved this season, is simply not an ACC, SEC, Pac 8, etc...

NCAA: KNIGHT'S LAST NIGHT?

HOT RUMOR DEPT.: Bobby Knight, head coach of the top-ranked Indiana Hoosiers, will be named new coach of the Los Angeles Lakers at the end of the season...Detroit Pistons Scout Wil Robinson on Texas Tech's Rick Bullock: "Bullock is an excellent pro prospect and will be drafted in the top three rounds—I hope by us"...Incidentally, Tech's Keith Kitchens of Hereford, who connected of seven of 10 shots from the field in the Raiders' 80-69 SWC Tournament victory over Houston, has now hit a sizzling 91 of 172 field goal attempts for a whistling .528 percent, which ranks a close second on the club to Bullock's .534. Kitchens also leads the club in assists (88) and free throw percentage (.800). He's scored 214 points and is averaging 7.9 ppg, which ranks No. 4 on the club. All in all, the 6-1 junior, who has started all 28 Tech games, has had quite a season...Staying in Lubbock a moment, Tech's baseballers are off to a fine 7-1 record, highlighted by a doubleheader sweep over St. Mary's (Tex.), who had taken a pair themselves from defending NCAA champion Texas...West Texas State Coach Ron Ekker after the Buffaloes' 53-46 loss to SIU the other night: "I feel badly for the players; it would have been a great way to end the season with a win." A victory might not have ended the season...It's good to see Athletic Director and Head Football Coach Fred Upshaw take such an active interest in all Whiteface athletic teams. Too many times ya see an Athletic Director and football coach, in particular, take absolutely no interest in basketball and the so-called "minor" sports that comprise a high school's overall athletic program. However, Upshaw never misses a basketball game and is a regular at the baseball games, too...Believe Barry Arnwine went up to Dallas this weekend to catch the Southwest Conference Tournament; might be out there tryin' to "recruit" a big-man, too, since he'll lose second-team all-district center, Mike Hill...

HHS Netters Attempt to Bounce Back

"We'll be playing a lot of tennis," commented Hereford Coach Steve Thomas Friday, looking ahead at this week's upcoming schedule that finds the Whitefaces on an attractive "home stand" against district rivals Lubbock Tuesday and Coronado Thursday, followed by the locals' two-day, eight-team Team Tournament, which begins Friday.

Hereford, who was at Plainview Saturday, dropped both the boys (8-1) and girls (9-0) matches at Coronado Wednesday. That was the first district loss for the fellas in three matches, while the gals were dropping their third straight.

Going into Saturday's action, Coronado's boys and girls were both 3-0, although the Mustang lassies were locked in a two-way tie for the lead with Monterey, who had also won their first three. These were the only squads still unbeaten even at this early stage.

"Our kids did not give their best effort," confided Thomas, looking back at the lopsided losses to Coronado. "I think we were a little intimidated." Both Coronado's boys and girls' teams are defending district champions and appear to be pretty solid again this year, although the former have no returnees from a year ago.

"But, we got a fine effort from Clayton Faubion." Faubion was the Herd's long victor the entire afternoon—male or female—beating Coronado's Steve Farrell, 2-6, 6-3, 7-5, in the No. 3 singles.

"Clayton played a fine match...a real tough match," said the Hereford coach, noting the junior letterman ran his record to 4-0 to remain the only unbeaten player on the squad.

Unfortunately, the rest of the local netters were not so lucky. Hereford's boys dropped the remaining eight matches in straight sets, while the girls were also silenced in consecutive fashion.

Coronado's Robert Davis dumped David Rudder, 6-1, 6-1 in the No. 1 singles match; Dale Anderson handcuffed Rocky Rodriguez, 6-1, 6-0; Steve Wyatt tripped Steve Hoover, 6-2, 6-3; Danny Ellsworth handled Jesse Castanada, 7-6, 6-3 and Dan McMillan whipped Herby Del Toro, 6-1, 6-2.

It marked the first losses of the season in four duals for Rudder and Hoover.

In doubles competition, Farrell — Anderson outscored Hoover — Rodriguez, 7-5, 6-3, as the Hereford's No. 1 duo was dropping their first match in six starts.

Davis & Wyatt edged Faubion & Rudder, 6-4, 6-4, while Jim Schmidt and Rice Horkey topped Castanada and Ricky Mendoza.

Meantime, in girls play, Coronado captured four of the matches without losing a single game.

Leisa Bewley, the Ponies' No.

1 goal, topped Susan Grimsley, 6-3, 6-0; Ruanna Myers breezed past Jane Hoffman, 6-0, 6-1; Lynda Weaver zipped Rose Warren, 6-0, 6-0; Dana Craig vanquished Ellen Jorde, 6-0, 6-0; Melonie Kastman topped Karen Grimsley, 6-1, 6-4; and Linda Malouf blasted Shelly Scott, 6-1, 6-0.

In doubles, defending district champs Bewley & Kastman blanked S. Grimsley & Warren, 6-0, 6-0; Craig & Weaver whipped Scott & K. Grimsley, while Jill Hill and Joan Rigby zeroed Jorde & Julie Cortez, 6-0, 6-0.

Of course, the duals here against both Lubbock and Coronado are return matches. The Herd boys topped Lubbock earlier, 8-1, although the Whiteface gals were losers by the same score.

According to Thomas, Coronado "just resurfaced their courts and they were a little slow. It may be a different story when they come to our place. Here, it's a different surface and they will have to play on a fast court."

In regards to this weekend's tournament here, it will include eight teams: Caprock, Palo Duro, Borger, Pampa, Plainview, Coronado, Lubbock and, of course, Hereford.

The event is scheduled to be held at the new complex, but, according to Thomas, "as of now, the new surface is not on. If they don't have the surface on, we'll have to change the site of the tournament."

"But, all we need is a couple of good days (weather-wise)," he said, optimistically, adding, "most of the tournament will be (played) at the high school. We'll start around 8:30 a.m. Friday and hope we can get three rounds played on Friday and finish up on Saturday."

This will be Hereford's first Team Tournament, although the Whitefaces won a similar event at Plainview during the fall. Each team will consist of six boys and six girls, which will include two double teams and a pair of single teams.

"Plainview has a real strong singles player (Stacy Foster) and he ought to be one of the top-seeded players," continued Thomas, turning his attention to top individuals in the tournament. "We feel we're strong in doubles...and Caprock has a good doubles team."

As for the girls, he tabbed a duo from Lubbock (Holly Hutson & Rosemary Henry) as being outstanding and pegged Coronado as being "fairly strong. Borger has one girl who is fairly strong in singles. I don't know what Caprock has."

"It looks like there will be many good teams and strong players here," he concluded.

Members of Hereford Art Guild will sponsor their second annual Arts and Crafts Extravaganza next weekend at Community Center. Amateur and professional artists will have their works for sell.

The art fair is scheduled from 10 a.m. - 8 p.m. Saturday March 13 and from noon until 6 p.m. Sunday March 14.

Works will include crafts of all varieties ranging from china painting, rock sculpture, tole painting and macrame to hand-made pottery, jewelry and greeting cards.

Also, paintings in watercolor, oils and acrylics will be exhibited as well as bronze, wood and welded sculpture. Plaster crafts, pastel drawings and other media will also be featured.

Among some of the outstanding artists to be spotlighted include Joe Delwaide, a prominent and creative potter who appeared at the art show last year; R. Russell Brown, a watercolorist whose scenes almost photographically capture the Southwest; Pam Trotter who will display her detailed bronze sculptures in western scenes; and Peggy Palimitier of Pampa who works in copper enamel.

These hand-made articles will be sold at wholesale prices. Proceeds from booth rentals will be used to benefit the community.

Scribbles and Scratches

By KERRIE WOMBLE
Women's Editor

CATCH YOUR BREATH, because along with those gusty March winds is coming a flurry of spring activities designed for a motley group, ranging from 4-H members to genealogists.

However, before we jump into the next couple of months, let's not overlook last night's Miss Hereford Pageant on the high school state. At this writing, it is not known who the new title-bearers will be, but each of the entrants is worthy of recognition.

When the Chamber women tackle a project, it is a cinch that a success is in the making. The appearance of Judy Mallett Pureton added the professional polish to a pageant which, year after year, offers an evening of suspense and fine entertainment.

FINE ARTS IS a key phrase this season when talented individuals come out of respective cubbyholes to show what they've been doing all winter.

As shown on the picture page in today's issue, Hereford Art Guild members will be opening an exhibition next weekend at Community Center. A diverse array of wares will be unveiled for sale and the public is urged to attend.

The annual Religious Art Show, which is always scheduled during Holy Week prior to Easter Sunday (April 18) has changed their policy somewhat this year. In addition to local artwork, the display will include, hopefully, inspirational pieces which have been purchased here or in traveling. The exhibit is open to all kinds of media and all shared art pieces will be under close supervisions while on display. Sponsoring this art show will be Church Women United and the Chamber of Commerce cultural committee. Mrs. Bob Josseland is chairman.

Artwork should be brought to the exhibit location before 5 p.m. April 9, it has been tentatively decided. For further information, contact Mrs. Josseland.

April 24-25 will signal the annual Fine Arts Festival, another brainchild of the Chamber Women's Division. To be held this year in Community Center, the festival will include a wide range of art forms, from floral design to book reviews to cake decoration...etc.

Mrs. Herschel Black is coordinator of the Fine Arts project.

FOLLOWING IS A brief calendar summary of events which will be of general interest to you here. It might be to your advantage to clip this column for future reference.

March 13-14--Art Guild Extravaganza at Community Center; March 14--Members of Community Concert Association invited to hear Hal Shane perform at 3 p.m. at Hereford High School; March 16--Chamber Fun Breakfast at 6:45 a.m. in the high school cafeteria.

March 18--Child Abuse Program open to the public at 7:30 p.m. in Community Center; March 22--American Genealogy Seminar at the library, beginning at 10 a.m.; March 23--Mrs. Elmer Patterson to review her book at 10 a.m. in the library.

March 25--Bicentennial Colonial Green and Silver Tea in the J.W. Witherspoon home from 3-6 p.m.; April 1--Arthritis Forum at 7:30 p.m. in Community Center; April 1--Public meeting concerning Opportunity Plan Inc.; April 8--Beef-A-Thon in the Bull Barn.

April 15--Babysitting seminar at the library; April 22--Homemakers Day featuring appliances from local merchants and live demonstrations; April 23--Deaf Smith County 4-H Round-Up at 7 p.m. in Community Center.

April 24--Merry Mixers Square Dance Club to stage the annual Spring Fling in Sugarland Mall; April 24-25--Fine Arts Festival in Community Center.

Dinner Fetes Entrants

Entrants in last night's Miss Hereford Pageant were guests at Dickie's Restaurant Thursday evening. A total of $1,150 in scholarships were awarded to finalists in the annual pageant, sponsored by Women's Division of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce.

G. E. D. TESTS
The next testing session for the GED Tests will be March 29 and 30, at 8:30 A.M., at the School Administration Office. It takes about ten hours to complete the tests.
For details call Robert L. Thompson, 364-0843, after March 22nd.

Birthday Reception Is Today

Mrs. Mabel Wagner, 138 Beach, will celebrate her 80th birthday during a reception from 2-4 p.m. today at American Legion Hall in Veteran's Park. Friends of the longtime resident are invited to attend. The party has been arranged by Mrs. Wagner's 10 children, including Lester Wagner of Hereford.

Newcomers Schedule Luncheon

Members of the Hereford Newcomers Club will meet Tuesday at noon at the Caison Steak House for a Dutch Treat luncheon. Gwen London, librarian at the Deaf Smith County Library will present the program on the local library and the programs which are available there. A tour of the local library will be held following the luncheon. A nursery will be available at the Community Center. All newcomers are invited to attend the luncheon and tour. Individuals with questions about the luncheon or tour may contact Mrs. Freddie Savage at 364-6563 or Mrs. John West at 364-2616.

Spring Fashions Modeled

Club To Alter Community Building

A fiscal report of estimated cost of improvements at Simms community building was heard by members of Simms Study-Craft Club Wednesday when they met at the clubhouse. The building committee, composed of Mmes. Jerry Roberts, Robert Lloyd and Lawrence Jackson, announced their findings on prices for repairs, curtains and other improvements. The report was made during a business session directed by Mrs. Oliver Wann, club president. Also, it was announced that Simms Community Volunteer Fire Department has obtained a firetruck. Club members voted to stage a fund-raising project to help pay expenses of the new truck. Following business, Mrs. Bill Page presented a program on creating art forms with dough. The demonstration was viewed by regular members and a guest, Mrs. Jerry Teal. If you're closing up a vacation home for the winter, turn off the furnace and water heater to save energy and money. But be sure to carefully drain all water systems and water and steam heating systems—or pipes or equipment may be damaged with the coming of freezing weather.

Others present were Mmes. J.V. Perrin, Harvey Bronniman, Willis Duggan, Joe Myers, Leland Burns, Maurine Blankenship, Tommy Blasingame, Grady Hughes and Roy Blevins. The next meeting is scheduled at 1:30 p.m. March 17 in the Simms Community building.

Parading Costumes

Bicentennial Week Held At La Plata

In addition to celebrating Texas Public School Week, March 4-5, students at La Plata Junior High School initiated Bicentennial Week. A variety of activities were conducted under auspices of the student representatives, who are directed by Leona Miller. The students representatives sold Bicentennial, decals and Jana Grimsley was chairman. Also, students were urged to enter competition in a poster contest, poetry contest and story contest. Each classroom featured a bulletin board display depicting the nation's 200th birthday. On Thursday, the Mavericks were invited to wear the costumes from the American Revolution era. Judging was conducted for best participation in this division. Friday at La Plata was Red, White and Blue Day and classrooms and grades competed against each other for honors in best decoration. Winners in the different contests were: POSTER CONTEST, John Slentz chairman-Doug Schroeter, first place; Phyllie Kahlick, second place. POETRY CONTEST, Diane Ward chairman-Mahota Manning, first place; Marta Jorde second place; Marda Stribling, third place. STORY CONTEST, Damon Jones chairman-Starla Tindal and Mahota Manning, tie for first place; Kylene Behrends, second place; Robbie Fish, third place. MYSTERY IDENTITY CONTEST-Terry Lewis, Brent Boyd and Brent Clarke receiving honors. BOOK MARKER CONTEST-Alan Almanza, first place; Shelly Riddle, second place; Leslie Metz, third place.

Percy Mays Cuts Album

Percy Mays, professional musician, who graduated from Hereford Hgh School in 1970, has released his first album,

"Shine Your Love." The eleven songs featured on the record were written and performed by Mays, who is the son of the Rev. and Mrs. L.V. Mays, 432 Barrett. The 33 1/2 rpm album was published by Emmaus Road Music Co. and is available locally at Christian Book Store and Stan Knox TV & Music. Mays, now a resident of Canyon, will be featured Monday morning on Coffee Break, a show broadcast by KPAN Radio at 9 a.m. Men who measure their progress by that of other men usually go short distances.

Conventional Medicine Caps Are Available

"Old fashioned" medicine caps are still available for people who have difficulty opening the new child-proof caps. Mrs. Vivian Blair, a family life education specialist, says, "Safety caps are valuable-but arthritic hands and poor eyesight are two conditions which contribute to difficulty in opening them," she noted. Mrs. Blair, specialist in aging, is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. She explained that exceptions can be made under the Poison Prevention Packaging Act. "If you or your physician direct that a prescription be filled in a package that way. "But prescriptions may be filled this way only when directed by a physician or when requested by the purchaser," she added.

Officers Introduced

Women's Golf Association officers were introduced to members of the organization at a Spring Sports Fashion Show and Luncheon Thursday at Hereford Country Club. From left are Mrs. Larry Waltersceid, parliamentarian; Mrs.

J.W. Robinson, president; Mrs. Marvin Coffey, secretary-treasurer; and Mrs. Tom Carter, reporter. Not pictured is Mrs. Fred Sims, vice president.

Members Of Study Club Elect Officers

New officers were elected by members of La Plata Study Club when the group met recently in the home of Mrs. Jordon Grooms to view her collection of Madonnas. Mrs. Don Taylor presided over the business meeting in which officers were named. Serving as president is Mrs. Jack Brown; vice president, Mrs. Phillip Shook; recording secretary, Mrs. Frank Prowell; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Ansel McDowell; treasurer, Mrs. Marvin Hall; parliamentarian, Mrs. Don Taylor; reporter-historian, Mrs. Charles Kelley.

from all over the world. Mrs. Grooms told of the pleasure she has derived from reading books about the life of Mary, the Mother of Jesus, and the intense interest others have shown toward her collection. The figurines are made of many different materials, ranging in size from very small to large. She gave a brief history of several of the works of art. There were 14 members present.

Miss Marnell Honored With Bridal Shower

A bridal shower honored Miss Chris Marnell, March 12 bride-elect of Alton Hartley, recently in the home of Mrs. Waldo Baxter, 330 Elm. The couple will exchange wedding vows at First United Methodist Church.

Receiving guests with Miss Marnell were the bride's mother and grandmother, Mrs. Edna Marnell and Mrs. Frank Wilhelm, the prospective bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Edgar Hartley, and Mrs. Baxter.

Registering guests was Kathy Kuper and while Sue Shields and July Owens served refreshments from a sterling silver service with silver appointments.

An arrangement of pink and blue spring flowers and small candle sticks with blue tapers centered the table.

Hostesses included Mmes. George Turretine, Juston McBride, Johnny Jesko, Herbert, Vogel, Howard Walker, Bud Paetzold, James Paetzold, J.E. Sorrels, Leo Witkowski.

Also, Mmes. Eldon Fortenberry, Harlan Vanderzee, Mark Grimsley, Jerry Roberts, Tony Hoffman, Oleta Hoffman, Oscar Schwertner, Gerald McCathern, Lester Wagner, Raynold Herr and Erwin Bartels.

In our opinion, enjoying the beauties of life, and living and helping others, bring genuine happiness.

May Ceremony Scheduled

Miss Mary Sue Oakes and Roy Allen Schilling, both of Amarillo, will exchange nuptial vows May 1 in St. Anthony's Catholic Church. It has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard R. Oakes, 423 Ave. J. A member of the Texas National Guard, the future bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Schilling of Gettysburg, S.D. The bride-elect is a 1975 graduate of Hereford High School and is employed by Furr's Inc. at Amarillo. Schilling graduated from Gettysburg (S.D.) High School and is employed by Acco Feeds in Amarillo.

MACARONI MAGIC — Leftover macaroni is a terrific taste treat if you mix it with one or two beaten eggs and fry it in butter. Hearty and delicious with hot rolls and a tossed salad.

CHEESE CHICANERY — Don't be turned off if you see mold on a piece of cheese that's been refrigerated for a period of time. The part underneath is still good, so just trim off the mold and enjoy the rest.

Along The Frio

By MRS. OWEN ANDREWS
Brand Correspondent

Several young people from a B.S.U. of State University, Brookings, S.D., were guest of Frio Baptist Church Sunday evening. They brought films and personal testimony from mission work in their area. Woody Northcutt from this area is missionary preacher of that area and the work is being helped by Frio Church by monthly contributions.

Frio Homemakers Club met last week in the home of Mrs. Tony Urbanczyk for a program on growing houseplants with a guest, Mrs. Marshal Wilson of Melrose Nursery, as speaker. She also answered questions about plant problems after the discussion. Those attending included Mmes. E.F. Vogler, Fred Walton, Billy Warrick, Annie Lee Dobbins, Frank Robbins, Tommy Sparkman, T.L. Sparkman Jr., Annie Springer, J.E. Warrick, Lon Conner, Billy Cotton, Owen Andrews and Miss Alma Andrews.

Mr. and Mrs. T.L. Sparkman Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Richardson went to Clarksdale, Miss. the last of the week to be present for a wedding there on Saturday afternoon. The bride was a former college roommate of Mrs. Richardson. The two couples came back by way of Corsicana and visited the Herbert Bruns who moved there from here last week. Bruns was transferred there in his Soil Conservation work after being here in Hereford for 20 years. Rocky and Kirk Andrews were among those helping the Bruns Move-taking George Zetzche's big truck for the hauling trip.

Here to visit the J.E. Warricks and others are Mrs. Warricks' daughters, Mrs. Darrall Gulp and two sons, of Wilcox, Ariz. and Mrs. Don Weems and two sons of Tucson.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Harder and daughter have been visiting her parents, the Arnolds, in Arkadelphia, Ark.

Sportswear Donned

L'Allegra Invited To Colonial Tea

Members of L'Allegra Study Club were invited to the Bicentennial Colonial Green and Silver Tea, scheduled from 3-6 p.m. March 25 in the J.W. Witherspoon home. The invitation was read during a meeting Thursday morning in the home of Mrs. Bill Warrick, 100 Pecan.

Sponsored by Hereford's Bicentennial Committee, the tea will feature art, music and fashions from yesteryear, according to the announcement made during the business session. Mrs. Gerald Parker presided.

An enrichment program for outstanding students at Bluebonnet Elementary School was detailed during the program, entitled "What About The Gifted Child?" Explaining the innovative program were Tom Templeton, counselor at Bluebonnet, and Miss Carol Sims, school teacher. The pair explained that they conduct enrichment classes under supervision of school principal, Rodney Laubhan. Students in the program range from kindergartners to 6th grade pupils and are selected on the basis of their performance on an intelligence test. Each participating student spends 30 minutes daily in the enrichment program, in addition to regular classes.

Following the program, refreshments were served to L'Allegra women and a guest, Mrs. John Strubling of Dawn. It was announced that the next meeting, March 18, will be a guest day.

Club members in attendance were Mmes. Terry Caviness, Dennis Farley, Cameron Gault, Burns Hamilton, David Jeffers, Dinnis Lomas, Bill Lyles, Rudy Metz and Parker.

Also, Mmes. Gerald Payne, Joe Reinauer Jr., Alex Schroeter, Cliff Skiles and Bobby Veigel. Mrs. Eddie Reinauer Jr. was co-hostess with Mrs. Warrick.

Keep a small thermometer in the living room or another often-used room of the house as a check on your thermostat. Then if they don't agree, you can adjust your thermostat so that the thermometer reads the recommended 68 degrees.

Two Movies Scheduled At Library This Week

Since March has three days saluting Texas, Deaf Smith County Library will be showing a 27-minute color film, "Texas-America's Fun-tier" three times Monday.

The matinees are scheduled free at 10 a.m., 4 p.m. and 8 p.m.

The attraction, designed for children and adults, depicts the numerous recreation areas in the Lone Star State. Gwen London, county librarian, stated that March includes Texas Independence Day, Sam Houston Day and Texas Flag Day.

Another film feature scheduled this week at the library is the family movie about Buffalo Bill. The action film will be shown at 4 p.m. and 7 p.m. Thursday in the Heritage Room.

According to the movie, Buffalo Bill receives orders from President Grant to return to the Indian Creek Territory, where he brought peace years ago through an agreement with the great Chief, Wise-Fox. The armistice has been broken by Yellow Hand, an ambitious, power-hungry young Sioux chieftain. Buffalo Bill is again challenged to restore peace to the US western wilderness.

All films at the library are free to the public, but all small children must be accompanied by an adult. The Friends of the Library sponsors this form of entertainment.

Club Discusses Arranging

"Basic Flower Arranging" was the program presented by Mrs. Jess Robinson to members of Bud to Blossom Garden Club Friday morning in the home of Mrs. W.H. Gentry of 547 Willow Lane.

The speaker discussed and also demonstrated proper selection of containers and other mechanics and Mrs. Sam Long followed with a demonstration of complete arrangements.

During the business meeting, it was announced that at 10 a.m. on March 19 club members plan to present a special program which will be open to the public at Deaf Smith County Library.

Members will be in costume and will describe the respective gardening produce and practices of each of the eight growing regions of the continental U.S.

Guests, Mmes. Jessie Mae Thomas, Jane White and

Virginia Holmes, were welcomed by members present. They included Miss Gladys Setliff, Mmes. A.L. Manjot, Robert Betzen, Sam Long, Ray Polan, Billy Wayne Sisson.

Also, Mmes. L.B. Wortham Garth Thomas and W.H. Gentry.

RINGING REMINDER --- Cutting off your dishwasher and letting the dishes air dry is a substantial money saver on electricity. But unless you're in the kitchen, it's almost impossible to catch it at the right moment. By timing the wash-and-rinse cycle one time, you can now set your stove timer as a reminder when to shut it off and open the door.

Stanton Spellers

First place winners at the Stanton Junior High School spelling bee are Naomi Fuhrmann and Kirk Jones, at left. Second place winners are Eddie Lindeman and Rose Linda Rodriguez. The county spelling bee was held Thursday and Friday at Deaf Smith County Courthouse. The winner will represent the county at regional competition sponsored by Amarillo Daily News Globe.

Mrs. Hewitt Presents HD Club Topic

Mrs. E.C. Hewitt Jr. presented the program to fellow members of Wyche Home Demonstration Club Thursday afternoon when they met in the home of Mrs. Charles Packard.

The speakers discussed the different kind of grasses used for residential lawns. She explained that grasses matted by yellow spots are suffering from an iron deficiency and that this can be remedied by spraying the yellow areas with iron sulfate. Mrs. Hewitt also distributed leaflets which illustrated methods of growing vegetables in pans.

Mrs. G.W. Duncan presided during the business meeting in the absence of Mrs. L.B. Wortham, president. Mrs. Hewitt was called upon to give the HD council report. The opening exercises were conducted by Mrs. Duncan, who read a poem, "Today."

It was announced that the next meeting will be held March 18 in the home of Mrs. H.L. Ward.

In attendance Thursday were Mmes. Ward, Duncan, Hewitt, Paul Jones, Norman Hodges, Leo Hellman and Robert Trowbridge.

Club Approves Nominations

During a meeting in the home of Mrs. Bob. Word Thursday evening, members of Hereford Study Club accepted a new slate of officers who will serve during the 1976-77 term.

Approved nominations were received by Mrs. Roy Hartman, president; Mrs. J.D. Gilbert Jr., vice president; Mrs. B.F. Cain, recording secretary and reporter; Mrs. George DeBoer, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Maurice Tannahill, treasurer; Mrs. Bob Posten, Historian; Mrs. Cawthon Bryant, parliamentarian. Mrs. Joe Story, chairman of the nominating committee, announced the officers.

Mrs. Hartman, who is currently serving as vice president, directed the business session and reported that the club meeting scheduled March 18 will be conducted in the home of Mrs. Melvin Thompson.

Several items of correspondence were read, including an invitation from John Alkin to a public meeting on April 1 concerning the Opportunity Plan Inc. Hereford Study Club members plan to attend the assembly, which will feature Milton Morris as speaker.

Members were asked to nominate a woman for honors at a Bicentennial luncheon slated April 24 at West Texas State University. Also, the women were invited to attend the local Bicentennial Colonial Green and Silver Tea from 3-6 p.m. March 25 in the J.W. Witherspoon home.

"How Old Am I?" was the foundation of the program presented by the hostess. Mrs. Word explained that the purchase of antiques is quite expensive and many people are starting their own collections, hoping that the items will increase in value.

A general criteria for a prospective antique is that it be at least 100 years old. Mrs. Word illustrated her explanation by exhibiting several antique pieces in her home. Among these articles were an authenticated Chinese urn circa 960 AD; and 1860 painting of a Spanish girl; "The Florentine lady." A brass bust which once belonged to a celebrity from the silent movie era; a French clock with matching candelabra; a pair of Oriental plaques.

Mrs. Word also pointed out a large ornate mirror which reportedly hung in the palace of Maximilian and Carlotta. She concluded her presentation with a discussion of cut-glassware. She stressed that sculptured glass from America is the finest quality available, particularly that of the Brilliant period.

Member present for the informative program were Miss Gladys Setliff and Mmes. Labry Ballard, T.E. Braddy, Cain, DeBoer, Garrison, W.H. Gentry, Gilbert, Hartman, Posten, Story, Art Stoy, Tannahill, Ed Wilson, C.R. Winget and R.N. Yarbro.

Apply a coat of salad or mineral oil to a new cutting board. It can then be washed. Re-oil when needed.

Lubbock To Be Hearing Site On Weather Modification Issue

Opponents of area hail suppression activities, who claim that cloud seeding reduces rainfall needed to produce crops, will be called upon to produce valid evidence to substantiate that claim at a hearing to be held in Lubbock March 17.

The hearing will be held at 10 a.m. in the Texas Tech University law school courtroom.

The hearing is being held in connection with applications made to the Texas Water Development Board for four year permits to modify weather over portions of the Panhandle and South Plains by Plains Weather Improvement Association and Atmospherics Inc.

Atmospherics Inc. has applied to modify weather over all or portions of Parmer, Castro, Swisher, Lamb, Hale and Hockley counties. The permit would also authorize flights over portions of Deaf Smith, Randall, Bailey, Cochran and Lubbock Counties.

The Plains Weather Improvement Association Inc. has applied to modify weather over all or portions of Castro, Swisher, Hale, Lubbock and Floyd Counties. Flights over portions of Deaf Smith, Parmer, Lamb, Briscoe, Crosby, Hockley and Randall counties would also be authorized by the permit.

The weather modification issue has been the center of controversy since it was put into practice in the area in 1970.

Proponents of the practice, mostly irrigation farmers, claim that cloud seeding has helped to reduce the incidence of crop-damaging hailstorms. The farmers support the cloud seeding effort on a voluntary basis.

Opponents, made up primarily of dryland farmers, claim that cloud seeding actually causes a reduction in natural rainfall.

Claims and counter-claims concerning the two companies involved will be aired in the hearing in Lubbock, according to Royston S. Lanning, water board general counsel. Testimony is expected to be given under oath at the hearing and witnesses may be cross-examined.

The controversy has become even more heated this year because the state water development board is empowered for the first time to issue permits for up to four years. Previously, permits could be issued only on an annual basis. Sentiment was seemingly against issuance of the permits at public hearings on the proposed programs which were conducted during February in Plainview and Littlefield.

A.L. Black, water development board chairman, reported that public sentiment would be taken into account when the board makes its decision, but also pointed out that the upcoming hearing would have an important bearing upon the decision of the board.

A decision on the upcoming hearings is expected within 60 days of the conclusion of the hearings. Following the announcing of the decision, protesting parties will have 15 days to file a motion for a rehearing, with the board free to turn down the motion.

Booklet Available On Insect Pests

The spring season will soon be here and newcomers and gardeners will again be waging war on a host of insect pests. A publication by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service can help in this battle.

Titled "Insects and Related Pests Attacking Lawns and Ornamental Plants," the publication offers a full description of the different pests that feed on flowers, shrubs, trees and lawns in Texas.

"Each insect is described in detail along with the type of damage it does, points out Dr. John Thomas, entomologist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "The insects are also categorized as either chewing or sucking types so as to identify the damage they inflict to plants."

The publication features color pictures of many of the insect pests that attack lawns and ornamental plants along with pictures showing some of the damage they do.

"Successful control of these insects depends on recognizing them and the type of damage they do and then taking the proper control measures," notes the Texas A&M University System entomologist.

In addition to chemical controls, certain cultural and management practices are also important in avoiding r-reducing insect damage to plants, points out Thomas. These include fertilizing and watering, properly selecting adapted plant varieties that are healthy, vigorous and insect resistant, if available, and avoiding mechanical injury to plants.

The entomologist encourages homeowners and gardeners to obtain a copy of B-1078,

"Insects and Related Pests Attacking Lawns and Ornamental Plants," to get prepared for the spring season ahead. The publication is available for 50 cents a copy from the Department of Agricultural Communications, Texas A&M University, College Station Texas 77843. Payment should be made with the order.

Ag-safety Tip

Dust, chaff, molds, chemicals, silo and manure gases are potential dangers on a farm. When working in confined areas containing such potentially dangerous conditions, take proper precautions and use the prescribed protective equipment, according to Sperry Safety Engineers at Sperry New Holland.

It's an Ag-fact

It's an ag-fact. When we talk about farm exports, we usually refer to the major items, such as wheat, corn or soybeans. Actually, the U.S. exports more than 500 different farm products, including ginseng (medicinal plant) to Hong Kong, licorice extract to Denmark, beef liver and tongue to France and feather meal to Japan.

Annual Bull Sale Is Scheduled At Pantex

More than 60 performance-tested bulls representing seven breeds will cross the auction block Thursday, March 11, at the 25th annual Field Day and Performance Tested Bull Sale at the Texas Tech University Center at Amarillo (Pantex).

Two Texas Tech agricultural sciences professors will speak to field day audiences the morning of the sale. Auctioneer Bert Reyes will get the sale underway at 1:30 p.m., with Duane Jenkins, president of the Pantex Performance Proven Bull Sale Association, presiding.

Bulls from the four pure breeds—Hereford, Angus, Charolais and Santa Gertrudis—and from three cross breeds—Simmental, Limousine and Chianina crosses—will be auctioned at the Texas Tech Center. The center is located 14 miles east of Amarillo on U.S. 60.

The bulls are rated on the 140-day test according to fat measurements, daily weight gain and weight per day of age. The bulls are indexed by divisions within breeds. Results of the 140-day test will be announced prior to the sale.

The bulls are consigned to the Texas Tech University Center at Amarillo by "cooperators" for the 140-day performance test. Not only are weight gains and fat content on the bulls measured, but a semen test is also conducted on each animal. Each animal to be auctioned is evaluated according to the tests and its breeding background.

The field day activities begin at 8 a.m., March 11, with a coffee and inspection of the bulls at the center at Pantex.

Dr. Anson R. Bertrand, dean of the Texas Tech college of agricultural sciences, will welcome the field day and bull sale audience at 10:30 a.m.

Dr. William Mies, director of the Texas Tech Center, at 10:40 a.m. will discuss "Crop Residues for Wintering Cows."

Dr. Robert Long, animal science professor at the Lubbock campus, at 11:05 a.m. will discuss "The Value of a Performance Tested Bull."

A barbecue, at $3 per plate, served by Pampa Shriners will follow at noon.

The bull sale begins at 1:30 p.m.

Although the bull sale is notching its 25th anniversary this year, the actual testing of bulls at the Texas Tech Center at Amarillo began almost 30 years ago, said Dr. A. Max Lennon, chairman of the Texas Tech animal science department and host for the field day morning program.

Carrothers Gives Report On Meet

Discussions at the Winter Meeting of the National Live Stock and Meat Board, Feb. 8-11, in Coronado, Calif., centered on seven key factors expected to influence tomorrow's market for meat, according to Jack Carrothers of Hereford, who participated in the meeting.

Carrothers listed the factors as nutrition awareness, changing lifestyles and shopping patterns, meat quality, consumerism, competition from other protein sources, the national economy and the world food crisis.

Carrothers represents the livestock and meat industry of the state of Texas. He is a member of the Board's Beef Industry Council, Program and Budget Committee and Consumer Education Committee.

Hearing Slated On Hunting Seasons

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department will conduct a public hearing at 10 a.m. March 22 in the Deaf Smith County courthouse for the purpose of gathering information concerning proposed hunting, fishing and trapping regulations for Deaf Smith County.

The Parks and Wildlife Department is responsible for the setting of seasons, bag limits, and means and methods of taking the wildlife resources within the county. All interested persons are urged to attend and comment on the proposed regulations.

Chuck Cosper of Hereford, state game warden, is urging local farmers and sportsmen to make a special effort to attend the hearings to make their opinions known on the local duck and goose seasons.

According to Cosper, the season on geese has closed in recent years just at the time when heavy concentrations of geese arrive in the area. Due to lack of hunting pressure, this often results in serious crop depredation problems.

Normally, the season opens in mid-October and closes in Mid-January. Cosper is encouraging local farmers and sportsmen to seek a switch in the season, with the opening date set at Oct. 30 and the final day of the season set Jan. 30.

Cosper points out that the season change would allow hunters to better utilize the season and would also help to alleviate much of the depredation problem.

"We want to look at this thing from both the hunter's and the landowner's viewpoint, and we feel an extended season would be satisfactory to both factions," Cosper explained.

"We haven't had any response from local landowners and hunters at our hearings in recent years, but we hope that the prospect of improved conditions for both factions will encourage some response at this year's hearings," Cosper added.

ICA Leader Says Butz 'Unconcerned'

T.A. Cunningham, president of the Independent Cattlemen's Association of Texas, said Tuesday following a brief meeting with Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz that Butz continues to show an appalling lack of concern for the American livestock industry.

Cunningham said Butz gave cattlemen "not one ray of hope" that he or the administration support any effort to lower levels of foreign beef imports coming into the U.S.

In response to direct questioning which would lower import levels, Cunningham said.

Cunningham said he tried to make Butz understand that the American Livestock industry is in critical condition because of imports thrown on an already depressed market.

Commodity Topics

By E. Robert Florez
Registered Commodity Representative

Three words can sum up the explosive popularity of the commodity futures market over the past few years: Shortages, Uncertainty and Need. Considering the futures market from these three perspectives and beginning with the first some interesting facts, attitudes and ideas may be revealed.

Really, the notion of world wide commodity shortages did not occur to the people of America until the first of the water, petroleum, ozone or food? A lot of uncertainty was aroused when questions were asked about how these suddenly precious essentials could be replenished or replaced. Even more uncertainty was felt when no answers to these questions were forthcoming. However, the uncertainty is real, it has affected every person, institution and enterprise in the country. Now, for the first time in years, perhaps dating back to World War II, whole industries have been forced to cut back production because of the shortages of essential raw materials, or because the cost increase could not be effectively passed on to those industry's customers. In a peace time economy occurrences such as this cause not only a great deal of uncertainty but also arouse less pleasant emotions such as fear, anger and frustration.

user of the commodity who sells it, does so with expectations of reaping considerable profits when the price of the futures contract appreciates. The opposite situation applies. A hedger that needs to buy a futures contract usually has it sold to him by a speculator anticipating the price of that commodity to decrease in value.

As the number of contracts traded increased the price range usually increase also, and as prices increase in volatility (difference between the low and high prices during trading hours) so do the profits for those speculators who happen to be long if prices increase or short if prices drop. The advantage lies of course only in the fact that today a "hedger" can guarantee the price for the real commodity he has to buy or sell at any given time in the future. And today, with all these shortages and uncertainty, we all need some kind of guarantee.

times 36,000 pounds equals $1440 per contract. That is a lot of money to be earned by someone who might be so lucky as to buy and sell at the right time during the day. Most positions taken by traders in this market are liquidated or covered during the day, with very few open-positions held over night or longer. It is this constant day trading activity (usually more than 5,000 contracts per session) that aids in fueling the extreme daily price fluctuations and helps make this particular commodity so notorious.

Pork belly prices like any commodity are determined by variations in supply and demand. Since the consumer demand for bacon is relatively inelastic (demand remains fairly constant whether supplies are plentiful or small) even small changes in supply can result in substantial price movements. This particular observation can be confirmed by a situation that occurred only last summer when August pork bellies reached a record high of $1.15 per pound. The reasons behind this extraordinary price were a result of two factors. The first was the previous summers drought which pushed up the price of corn (a prime hog feed) thus creating an unprofitable ratio between the cost of corn fed and the price of hogs being paid at the various hog markets nationwide. This caused the second factor to occur, the massive liquidation of hog numbers during the winter and spring of 1974 and 75, which of course created a shortage later during the summer months of pork products especially pork bellies.

Pork bellies usually follow a seasonal price pattern, making seasons lows sometime in the early spring and highs generally towards the end of summer or early fall when the demand for bacon, lettuce and tomato sandwich's reach a peak. This year should prove to be no different than the past for this highly volatile and unpredictable futures market.

Mechanical Marvels Seem Slow Today

Those early-day cotton gins were rightfully considered mechanical marvels in their time. They turned out two or three bales a day—considerably more than the 50 pounds of lint that could be separated by hand in the pre-gin era, but considerably less than the 35 bales that can be produced in an hour at some of today's "super" gins.

Because of the time it took to gin a farmer's cotton, he was given a receipt for the cotton he left to be ginned. These receipts were frequently used as currency, being passed from person to person to settle accounts or pay for new supplies.

Under Mississippi law, ginners were allowed four months to do the work and could keep 10 pounds of cotton for every hundred they ginned as a fee for their services.

Hay Bales Pose Safety Problem

One of the fastest moving trends in farm mechanization is the swing to large round bales for hay handling. Dr. Gary S. Nelson of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service believes that most new ideas bring new challenges for accident prevention, and 1,000-pound hay bales are no exception.

"Some accidents have resulted from operators being drawn into the baling machine while in operation, but the more frequent accidents involve handling the bale after its ejection to the ground," points out Nelson, an agricultural safety engineer.

He cites recent accidents involving three fatalities and one serious injury that exemplify two serious types of handling hazards involving the large round hay bales. "Two of the accidents were overturns while bales were being transported in modified front-end loaders. The other two occurred when bales rolled down the arms of elevated loaders onto the operators on their tractors."

Many overturns of loader-equipped tractors have been blamed on over-loading the bucket. This transfers weight from the rear to the front axle, making it easy for the tractor chassis to rotate sideways if the rear tire hits an object or drops into a hole. To compensate for this problem, Nelson advises operators to ballast the rear of their tractors with enough weight to keep the rear wheels on the ground.

"Operators must recognize that tractor stability changes when a big bale is being lifted as opposed to lifting the same weight of gravel," explains Nelson. "With big bales, the center of gravity of the lift is higher and more forward-like sliding back on a children's teeter-totter. The same weight that has been handled with ease by the conventional loader can now seriously over-balance the tractor."

The engineer recommends that operators transport the large bales with equipment which utilizes the rear attachment points of a tractor. Special low clearance trailers that pick up bales directly from the ground also reduce risk.

"Even with a well-balanced tractor, caution is still needed in handling these heavy, bulky loads," emphasizes the Texas A&M University System engineer. "The tractor must be operated on nearly level ground. On uneven ground, transport the bale in the baler until it can be dropped at a safe location. Never release a bale on a slope where it can roll its way into trouble."

When transporting a bale with a tractor, keep the load close to the ground, cautions Nelson. Avoid the temptation to improve visibility by raising the load high enough to see under the bale. Also recognize that at even less than maximum height, a tractor loader becomes especially susceptible to upset while turning, even on level ground. "So keep the load low and the speed slow."

The engineer also calls for extra caution when more than one person is around the baler. The rear gates can be hydraulically opened or closed by the operator, before a bystander can react to get out of the way. "If you are the bystander, stay clear. If you are the operator, make sure that everyone is clear before activating any controls."

"Any machine designed to gather in bulky material such as hay and compress it to firm density can do the same to unwary human operators. Balers carry warnings to shut off all power before servicing or clearing the machine. This warning is critical," emphasizes Nelson. "Other common sense safety pointers such as leaving guards in place and keeping hands out of moving parts apply just as they do with other machines."

Dallas Settlers Built Wardrobes Around Cotton

Feminine fashions in Dallas in the mid-1800's centered on cotton—home-grown, home-spun, and home-dyed with copper and sumac berries. Favored fabric for the male wardrobe—including coats, vests, and pants—was a fine quality cotton and wool cloth also spun at home and dyed black with walnut bark.

"This constituted the major part of our clothes until after the close of the Civil War," wrote one early settler of the area.

First cotton in Dallas County had been planted and cultivated in what is now Farmer's Branch in 1846 by William M. Cochran, who had moved to Texas from Missouri three years earlier. Cochran's crop yield was said to have elevated the entire settlement and soon nearly every family was raising cotton for domestic use.

Farmer's Branch, which was at one time bigger than the town of Dallas, became the county's most prosperous settlement. Cochran and James A. Smith built the county's first two gins in 1849 and 1850, and this brought about rapid expansion of cotton-growing in the area.

A STANDARD MOTOR PRODUCT PRESENTATION

The one time you expect to see a Zimmatic broken down.

About the only time you expect to see a Zimmatic broken down is when it leaves one of Lindsay's plants. Once assembled in your field, it seldom causes a problem. Those big, sure-footed towers power their way around the field, carrying water to crops.

Hour after hour, day after day. Until you decide to shut down. That kind of performance doesn't just happen. It's the result of constant testing—both in the plant and in the field. Lindsay puts these rigs through the most punishing conditions—loads on more stress in a week, usually, than they're likely to see in a lifetime of normal use.

But we know that no system is 100% perfect all the time. That's why we're ready to help with an extensive parts inventory and factory trained servicemen if you ever have a problem. Before you buy any center pivot irrigation system, be sure to let us tell you about all the advantages of owning a Lindsay Zimmatic.

CAMPFIRE GIRLS

Wa-Ca-Tawasi Camp Fire group met Tuesday afternoon at Temple Baptist Church Fellowship Hall for their regularly scheduled meeting.

Members answered roll call with their Indian names and following a brief business meeting, they worked on the group scrapbook and also began work on ceramic rabbits which will help them earn an honor in science.

Refreshments were served by Dianna Rodriguez to members present. They included Gloria De La Paz, Teresa Carr, Karen Johnson, Rosie Garza, Stacey Yarbrough, Holly McNeese.

Also, Laurie High, Sandra Coronado, Shirley Morrison, Joelda Salazar, Carrie Thompson and Tanya Jones. Adult leaders are Linda Houston and Betty Jones.

Third year adventurer group called Fire Makers, the Wa-Ki-Ta Camp Fire group, met Monday at Camp Fire Girl Lodge.

Adult leader Janis Kelley presented a program concerning the history of the American flag and flag etiquette. Following the program, each girl practiced raising the flag on the flag pole.

This group of sixth grade girls are engaged in forging ahead and looking toward the distant future when they will become women who influence the world in which they live.

Pat Rhodes and Barbara Weatherford are also adult leaders.

Members present included Becky Guerrero, Lori Warren, Kellie Howell, Tammy Rhodes, Laurie O'Rand, Debra Pool, Connie Lynn Weatherford Melodi Moore, Cynthia Streus Shonda Wright and Hop Arellano.

Red Cross Boosts Operations

The American National Red Cross announced an additional $200,000 contribution to the League of Red Cross Societies (LORCS) relief of Central American earthquake victims.

The organization had previously sent $100,000 to the League on Feb. 6, the day after the major quake occurred.

Working with the League, the American Red Cross has sent 3,100 tents and 7,000 blankets to Guatemala and thousands more are being purchased.

Tents and blankets are priority items presently. The League and ARC have also purchased 14 ambulances to assist sick and injured victims.

In addition, the American Red Cross has sent 6,000 plaster bandages, 100 traction splints, 7,000 folding cots, flashing lights and sirens for ambulances, radio equipment and the Los Angeles Chapter has air shipped $2,500 worth of serum albumin from its blood center.

The Cuban refugee community in Miami has donated 7,500 pounds of rice, beans and cooking oil to the Red Cross to be sent to Guatemala.

Industrial donations to the Red Cross have come from Sherwood Medical Industries who gave 24,000 dozen surgical gloves; Johnson and Johnson, surgical dressings; Campbell Soup Co., 1,000 cases of soup; Chlorox Corp., cleaning supplies; Peppertrell Corp., sheets and towels; and United Paper Co., Surgical paper supplies.

Ford Appoints March As Red Cross Month

In a proclamation signed by President Gerald Ford, March has again been officially declared Red Cross Month.

Ford's statement follows: "For nearly half of our Nation's two hundred years, the American Red Cross has reflected the concerns of the American people by dedicating itself to the ease and prevention of human suffering."

"In war and in peace, this Good Neighbor has ministered to the anguish of those who are tragically affected by circumstances beyond their control."

"It has undertaken to prevent distress and has striven to preserve health and safety. The Red Cross always has been a dependable source of assistance to the Federal Government and other organizations and agencies seeking ways to serve our people."

"In this, our Bicentennial Year, we salute the American Red Cross for its history of compassionate concern and its continuing pioneer spirit that brings vigor to the unending quest for better ways in which to meet human needs."

"In 1976, the American Red Cross is at the forefront of voluntary citizen action. The services of over one million volunteers have made possible the changes, innovations and adaptations necessary to improve its effectiveness."

"While many traditional facets of its assistance continue to fulfill a basic requirement, the Red Cross has broadened its efforts beyond direct service to ease suffering. Today, it actively seeks to help eradicate causes of recurrent, but preventable, health, safety and disaster problems.

"March is traditionally Red Cross Month. In that time period, more than 1,600 Red Cross chapters will campaign for funds. Other chapters, in partnership with United Way, will be seeking volunteers for their various programs and services. I know that all Americans will show the Red Cross that they too are Good Neighbors.

"NOW, THEREFORE, I, GERALD R. FORD, President of the United States of America, and Honorary Chairman of the American National Red Cross, do hereby designate March, 1976, as Red Cross Month. I urge all Americans to give their generous support to the work of their local Red Cross chapters."

"IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand this twenty-fifth day of February, in the year of our Lord nineteen hundred seventy-six, and of the Independence of the United States of America the two hundredth."

Goings And Comings At King's Manor

By FAY GAUGGEL

Guests of Mrs. Don Davidson and Fay Gauggel on Wednesday were Robert F. Kennedy and wife Thelma Davidson Kennedy. They were from Due West, S.C., home of Erskine College.

The Executive Committee of King's Manor had lunch at the Manor on Saturday, Feb. 28. The following were present: Leo Southern Jr. of Amarillo, Rev. Bobby McMillan of Friona, C.W. Foote and wife of Perryton, Wayne Williams of Hereford, Rev. Dewitt Seago and Joyce Lyons.

Saturday, Feb. 28. Lucile Naylor attended the Board of Director's meeting for the Clarendon College Reunion. Plans were finalized and the reunion is scheduled for April 30, May 1 and 2. Hereford residents who are Clarendon College ex-students, remember the reunion date and plan to attend.

PROGRAM

The fourth grade of Tierra Blanca School presented a musical program to King's Manor residents Wednesday morning. The boys and girls wore beautiful red, white and blue costumes.

Among the songs performed were "Yankee Doodle," "America the Beautiful" and several others.

Interspersed among the songs were original patriotic ideas and ideals read by the various soloists. The children made very pretty individual flags with magnets on the backs for attaching to surfaces. Largest and most impressive was a huge colonial flag made of colored paper. All these flags were given to us. They represent hours of work.

Thank you pupils for your labors and your concern for us.

THE SCHEDULE ACTIVITIES OF WESTGATE

These activities date from February 26 to March 3.

Thursday morning is Bible Study and this week Paula Eubanks came and gave the study. She presented her study by giving an illustration with fanil graph.

Paula comes to the home each Wednesday and plays the piano in the lobby where the residents enjoy the hour of music and singing.

The widows of World War I made lap spreads and presented them to Westgate Nursing Unit.

These were so nice and residents noticed and are enjoying the new spreads.

Thursday afternoons is fun time and this past week Mrs. Earl Harkins, Mrs. Frank Robbins, Mrs. Owen Andrews and Mrs. Floyd Cole came and played forty-two and dominoes. The residents all had a big afternoon. Thank you ladies for your time and for making plans to do this on fourth Thursday of each month.

Saturday afternoon, the following ladies: Mrs. Helen Patterson, Mrs. Charolett Close, Miss Della Stagner, Mrs. Calla Mount, Mrs. Dorothy Renfro, Mrs. Claudeola Brown, Miss Gladys Setliff and Mrs. R.L. Crawford, brought home made cakes and cookies and served punch from a lace covered tea table. This a monthly event for these ladies and the residents look forward to the last Saturday in each month, so they can enjoy all the home-made goodies.

Monday was the first Monday of the month and a morning that Jim Shaw gives each month to the men of Westgate and the Manor. A hair cut and these men set and wait in line for this much appreciated service. Thank you Jim, for caring and giving of your time and service.

Newspaper reading is another volunteer service that is given by Mrs. H. Miller and Mrs. Ruby Stevens Mondays, Wednesday and Fridays every week. So many of the residents do appreciate having the news read to them. Thank you for this faithful service.

Monday afternoon is a time for the ladies to sew and Mrs. Floyd Cole is most faithful in this service for she has been coming and helping in this project for a number of years, and the ladies can not realize it has been Monday if Mrs. Cole is out of town and does not come.

Tuesday mornings, the ceramics class meets and some of the following ladies, Mmes. Lloyd Kirbeby, L.G. Wallman, Johnie Burkhalter, Larry Perkins and Duane Holly not only donate their time each Tuesday morning but supply some of the extra needs for ceramics. The ladies really enjoy ceramics.

Tuesday afternoon, we have a Chapel service, with Mr. and Mrs. Greenway leading the devotional and singing period, with Mrs. Cecil Boyer giving the residents a period of good listening music. This group comes each week and gives the residents an inspiration hour. Thank you for this special hour.

Wednesday afternoons, twice a month, we have crafts. Mrs. J.G. Gandy is chairman of this group and she selects three or four women to come and help with crafts. This is always a special hour for it is a nice surprise to come and see what the project for the day will be.

We have a Sunshine Cart every Thursday morning. This is a project of the Auxiliary. This gives the residents a chance to shop from a cart of simple needs. The ladies take orders and fill special requests for the residents.

Some of the most recent ladies to serve are as following - Mmes. Millard Nobles, V.O. Hennen, Lloyd Schultz, Mike Betzen, Delbert Kinsey, Milton Adams and Kenneth DeHart.

An active group of Auxiliary members that are on call most anytime is the transportation committee. Miss Della Stagner is chairman of this group with Mmes. Ira Ott, Tandy Legg, Delbert Kinsey, V. O. Hennen, Francis Hill, Cecil Braly, Iva Block, George Olson, and Miss Gladys Setliff and Mrs. Roy Jewell. We appreciate this service.

Friday afternoon of each week Mrs. Wilma Bryan has charge of the Tri-Chem instructions. The ladies enjoy this hour and do paint some lovely things that are on sale in the activity room.

The Library gives us service that is so helpful. Each month several books are brought out either by request or by the ladies at the library making the selection of books.

Mrs. Seago started this service several months ago and Mrs. E. W. Cawthorn is assisting Mrs. Seago in this volunteer service. Thank you ladies for this most appreciated service.

The Ward Circle meets at the Manor each Wednesday and a special day this Wednesday was a covered dish luncheon, several of the ladies from Westgate attend this meeting.

Thursday - we had a nice surprise. The La Plata Junior High assistant principal Dempsey Alexander called and gave the residents complimentary tickets to the all school play. This was so thoughtful and we do appreciate all the nice programs that our public school system offers the residents and even come and present their programs.

A coming event that I would like to offer to you: The Auxiliary will have their Spring luncheon. This will be March 9th at 12 noon in the Lamar Garden Room at the Manor.

Please come and bring a covered dish. If you have not been a volunteer member of the Auxiliary, come out and join and give others some of your time - you will find this a rewarding service.

We do give thanks to all of you that give your service at Westgate. We welcome any group with special programs or just come by and give an individual visit. We do not let our residents lack for something to do for we have a full program each day.

Students Display Art

STATUE OF LIBERTY
...Randy Stribling and Greg Goyno

Students at Tierra Blanca Elementary School had roles in the local Bicentennial observance Tuesday when they unveiled patriotic exhibits. Learning Center D prepared a Bicentennial hall in which they displayed numerous art, craft and writing projects. Among these was a replica of the Statue of Liberty which was fashioned from screen wire, paper mache and linen. Also shown were a miniature White House made from a box, cardboard rolls and paint; a dateline progress chart of "America, A Growing Nation;" a 1776 collage made of magazine pictures; and various posters of flags which showed the development of the present American flag.

One unique project was the 13 colony flag which was constructed from pop bottle caps painted red, white and blue. A mini-museum was constructed in the learning center which displayed antique books, furniture, clothing, small handcarved covered wagons and mules, an electrical mannequin of Uncle Sam. Help is acknowledged from Deaf Smith County Museum, McDowell Drug, Farm Discount, Gaston's at Sugarland Mall, Deaf Smith Electric Co-op and Elaine Rowan.

During open house students presented a music program for parents, friends and relatives. This program was also given recently to the residents of King's Manor Retirement Home.

Instructors at Learning Center D are Alice Wittie, Sawana Shipley, Buddy Fox, Billie Hale and Mrs. Sid Shaw.

A Bicentennial quilt is currently being made by students at Learning Center F. The quilts has been under construction since the first of the year. At that time the two hundred years were placed in a hat and each student drew two dates or more.

Each student was responsible for researching their dates and then designed a picture to depict the information for each year. From a piece of material 8 1/2" x 8 1/2", they cut out their design and placed it on a white square.

An old fashioned "quilting bee" is scheduled for April to complete the quilt. Upon completion, it will be presented to Deaf Smith County Historical Museum.

Instructors are George Ochs, John Dominguez, Jean Hancock, Vicki Stice and Marsha Winget.

Dawn Club Plans Variety Program

Routines for a Bicentennial variety show to be staged at Dawn at 8 p.m. March 26 were rehearsed by members of Dawn Music Club Thursday at Dawn Community Center.

Entitled "Showboat," the benefit show will be a fund-raising project for improvement at the community center there. Included tentatively on the program will be a bluegrass instrumental group, square dancing, acrobatics, ballet, tap dancing, patriotic music and a Spanish singing group.

In conjunction with the show, refreshments will be served at 7 p.m. that evening and a country store with homemade items for sale will be open.

Coordinator of the show is Mrs. Ray Stewart. Mrs. R.E. Curtisinger is president of the Dawn Music Club.

Tickets for the upcoming program will cost $1 for adults and 50 cents for children under 12.

Club members who attended the practice session this week included Mmes. Curtisinger, James Tilley, J.B. Caraway, Walter Lemons, Alfred Smith, Stewart and Carl Wimberley.

Bay View To Serve At Tea

Members of Bay View Study Club discussed their role in the upcoming Bicentennial Colonial Green and Silver Tea during a meeting Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Howard Gault. Mrs. D.N. Garner presided during the business session.

Mrs. W.K. Golden, program chairman, introduced the guest speaker, Dudley Bayne, who is city manager. Bayne summarized the processes of city government and discussed local women's roles in politics.

Members were reminded that the next meeting will be March 18 in the home of Mrs. R.B. Miller.

Mrs. Nancy Hayes was recognized as a guest by these women present: Mmes. H.L. Benefield, S.M. Davis, Herman Ford, Garner, Homer Garrison, W.K. Golden, Robert Josseland, W.S. Kerr, Ansel McDowell, Miller, Keith Simmer and Jack Wilcox.

What is the name of the drug which suppresses drinking? Can it be purchased without a prescription? -- H.F.

No drug will directly suppress the urge for alcohol. If you take a product called antabuse, then take alcohol, you will become violently ill within minutes. One obvious limitation to this form of treatment is that the alcoholic must cooperate and take the medicine. Often they refuse. Antabuse requires a prescription.

Why do I have to take my blood pressure medicine for the rest of my life? -- L.P.

In most people high blood pressure can be controlled, but it cannot be cured. If you discontinue the medicine your blood pressure is likely to rise again.

Summerfiled Women Elect Delegate

Members of Summerfield Study Club voted to send their president, Mrs. Thurman Atchley, as a delegate to the Top of Texas Convention at Dalhart April 2-3. The decision was made following a tasting luncheon Thursday afternoon in Pioneer Natural Gas Flame Room.

Also included in the business session was the announcement that the Summerfield organization will serve as a hostess club at the April 26 luncheon for Deaf Smith County Women's Forum.

Club members were invited to attend the following: a luncheon honoring women to be held on the West Texas State University campus; an Opportunity Plan Inc. dinner at 7 p.m. April 1; the Bicentennial Colonial Green and Silver Tea March 25 at the J.W. Witherspoon home; and the Chamber of Commerce Fine Arts Festival April 24-25 at Community Center.

Foods from pioneer times and recipes were shared at the luncheon. Mrs. L.H. Lookingbill Sr. delivered the invocation and Mrs. Bill Broxson lead the pledge of allegiance to the flag.

"The Feminine Spirit of 1776" was the program topic introduced by Mrs. Earl Lance Sr., chairman. She said, "America's quest for independence has been highlighted by women patriots involved in this country's struggle--women whose actions inspired what we have come to know as the indomitable 'Spirit of '76.'" Mrs. Lance cited the actions of Abigail Adams, Penelope Barker, Sybil Ludington and Molly Pitcher as exemplary of women's contributions during the American Revolution. She summarized the lives of each of these individuals.

Then, Mrs. J.R. Euler reviewed the book "The Honey Comb" by Adela Rogers St. Johns. In the autobiography, Adela St. Johns relates her fifty years as a news reporter. She was the first woman assigned to cover a police beat and to command a seat in a press box. Members in attendance were Mrs. Atchley, Euler, Earl Lance Sr., R.E. Lance Jr., Lookingbill, J.B. Noland, Mack Noland and Broxson.

The Hereford Brand, Hereford, Texas, Sunday, March 7, 1976

recorded leases, liens, foreclosures actions, special assessments, and judgements.

The abstract company will arrange to have the abstract provided. After examining the abstract, you have the choice of having it examined by your attorney. He will give you his written opinion stating that:

- (1) The title to the property is merchantable, or
- (2) The title to the property is not merchantable, and a list of what has to be done to make the title merchantable.

If in your attorney's opinion the title is merchantable, purchase the property and accept the abstract. If in your attorney's opinion the title is not merchantable, you have three choices:

- (1) Buy the property and accept the abstract even though you will not be receiving merchantable title, or
- (2) Require that the seller at his expense have the necessary changes made in the title so that he will be able to deliver to you a merchantable title, or
- (3) If you and the seller agree, accept an owner's policy of Title Insurance in lieu of an abstract of title.

The abstract is to show a history of the recorded documents pertaining to the property from the time it was first issued to within twenty days from the date of closing, which allows time for corrections before closing time, if they are needed. These corrections have to be made by an attorney. Even though you specify in your sales contract a date by which you want the transaction closed and request that the seller is to deliver to you an abstract no later than fifteen days from closing, a later delivery of the abstract to your attorney will not necessarily void your contract.

TITLE TO YOUR PROPERTY

Part I: Abstract of Title

With a deed the seller transfers his interest in the property to you in exchange for the purchase of the property.

What is the seller's interest in the property? What can he give you as a guarantee that he actually owns and has the right to transfer this interest to you?

The typical real estate transaction involves two instruments to guarantee that you will actually receive what you are buying:

(1) A deed by which the seller conveys his interest in the property to you, and

(2) An abstract of title which is evidence that the seller actually owns the property, or an Owners Policy of Title Insurance by which the seller guarantees you through an insurance policy that your title will be protected against any claims to it.

Today we will discuss the Abstract of Title. An Abstract of Title is a history of the recorded documents pertaining to a piece of real estate. Recorded documents refer to documents available to the public through the office of the county clerk, recorded in the county where the property is located. Some of these that may appear in an abstract of title are deeds,

SYMBOLS OF SPRING.

Spring is a kite in a sky of blue.
Spring is a winter world made new

By the sweet fragrance of a lovely hyacinth
Spring is the golden hue of the gorgeous daffodil.

It is the laughter of children at play...chasing their kite.

Yes, to me, spring is the queen of the seasons!
Gardeners really begin to awaken to the chores awaiting and start getting the garden tools in shape, and taking time to try them out. I would warn you not to try to prune the pyracanthas with a dull clipper... (won't work) but with a sharp tool. It is good to do it now. This is one of the chores I worked at, along with watering the beautiful bed of yellow daffodils and watching the neighbor boys fly their kites.

Another delightful project I have been involved in is that of working with the Hereford Garden Club, Committee on youth communication. This involves the poster contest, which is sponsored by the national, state, district and local garden clubs. The theme which was assigned to the participants was "Trees Today for Life Tomorrow."

Five of the elementary schools had entrants. They were Bluebonnet, Aikman, Northwest, West Central and Tierra Blanca. Pupils from the first grade through the sixth entered. A total of 133 posters were received.

It was inspiring and very educational to study and evaluate the entries. There is certainly a large number of promising artists in our schools. All posters showed thought, workmanship and a desire to have a share in preserving and growing trees for our nation. It is indeed vital that we practice ecology.

Perhaps the judges shared the most. I venture to believe that each of the students entering will never forget the importance that trees play in our lives. Each poster was scored by the scale of points submitted by National Council of Garden Clubs. It was: Story told, 60; Originality, 60; Quality of craftsmanship, 10; and neatness of the overall poster, 10.

Mrs. R.L. Layman of Hereford Garden Club promoted the project and we congratulate her on a job well done.

Thanks also to the teachers who encouraged their pupils to enter this timely contest and the judges.

PLANT A TREE.
My recent trip downstate gave me a greater appreciation of trees. The red-buds, plums (both wild and cultured) tulip trees, apricot and the native trees, those used in landscaping, both in homes and civic projects, all were beautiful. The flowers were sweet with fragrance and had lovely colors, and the others were putting on their new dress of foliage.

The tree which you plan to plant should be carefully selected, as to variety, size and purpose. Drive around town and study the trees which are best adapted to climate and those which appeal to you, also those which will be suitable for your plantings.

After the selection, use extreme care in the planting. Do not let it dry out while it is out of the ground. Really, it would be wise to have the place selected, and at least some of the soil prepared.
Size of hole for planting will have to be decided after the tree is selected. Do not expose the roots to the air more than is necessary in the planting. Use care that the roots are not bruised or damaged in other ways. Even if the tree has been balled and bound with hemp or other wrapping, if the soil is not kept damp, there will be damage to the tree roots and therefore hamper the growth of the tree.

It is seldom that a tree is dug without leaving some of the roots behind. To make up for this, shorten the branches of the tree to compensate for it.

In general, if the tree is transplanted bare-root, about one-third of the top should be removed by cutting 1/3 of the branches or shorten all branches the same way, or combine the two methods where it seems best. Do not cut the leader (upward growing main stem).

If the tree is moved with soil ball, etc. it is still good that the branches be shortened. Such pruning after planting or during process of planting, it will pay off in big dividends by helping the tree to become well-established much sooner.

Be sure that the area dug is large enough to care for the size of the root-system when planted. Roots should be spread out (tips trimmed if damaged) and when soil is placed around tree, be sure and tamp it carefully and well. The size and utilitarian purpose will be hampered if tree is not properly planted and then it must be maintained correctly.

Eliminate competition. If tree is to be planted on the lawn, an area 8 to 10 feet in diameter around it, should be kept free of grass and weeds. This is a caution submitted by Dr. Carl E. Whitcomb, University of Oklahoma, Horticulturist.

If tree is planted where they have competition for space, moisture and nutrients, such as grass will give, the growth of tree will be greatly affected, as much as 50 per cent.

If tree is planted in an urban area, it would be advisable to wrap the trunk from the ground up 30 or 36 inches (depending on height) this is which damages the bark of tree.

CAUTION: Check the various plantings of spring flowering bulbs which you have planted. Check moisture carefully, also wind damage to soil and foliage of tender plants. If there is not a good stand of plants, then water slowly until ground is well saturated.

Hundreds and hundreds of bulbs have been planted in Hereford. We should in the near future have beauty spots created in our home town. I am especially interested in the color harmonies and the motifs which have been created, depicting the Bicentennial.

"Do you love Life"? Then do not squander time, for that is the stuff life is made of. And time spent in gardening pays off with large dividends." TRY IT.

Whispered compliments are easily overheard.

It's too late to be careful after the accident occurs.

Charity begins at home —when it begins.

Most denunciations are motivated by ignorance.
