Thomas, Hicks Are Top Students

David Thomas was revealed as the valedictorian and David Hicks as the salutatorian of the 1972 graduating class at Hereford High School during Friday's annual Awards Assembly where the top students were honored. The announcement of the No. 1 and No. 2 students came at the end of the lengthy assembly.

Ranking first in his class in scholarship and academic achievement, Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Thomas, has been named valedictorian of the graduating class of 1972. David reacted to his selection as Valedictorian of the class of 72, saying "When my name was announced I felt surprised, honored, and gratified to all those who had helped me to achieve this honor.

Thomas has served for the past year as president of the National Honor Society, and captain of the "Learn and Live" TV team. He has been active in student council during three years of high school, and has served as vice president of that organization. He has served as historian of the forensics club, has had major roles in three school plays, and in the Boy Scouts organization he has reached the rank of Life Scout. David lists "the encouragement of my parents and the friendship and support of my classmates along with instruction and guidance of my teachers" as factors which were most valuable to him throughout his high school career.

Thomas' accomplishments include selection as "Outstanding West Texas Scholar", Who's Who Among American High School Students, and he has worked for two summers as a disc jockey for KPAN radio. David says he plans to attend the University Texas at Austin in the fall. His major will be finance.

Hicks, son of Dr. and Mrs. C.E. Hicks, sums up his selection as Salutatorian of Hereford High School's class of '72, as "a very worthwhile conclusion to twelve years of hard work."

Hicks says that the "understanding and help from teachers, and especially from my parents and friends" have been instrumental in his successes through the years. He cites his selection as second ranking student in a class of over 250 as "a great honor."

He said he plans to attend either Texas Tech University or South Plains College in the fall, where he will begin his studies in Pre-med. He has been an active member of the National Honor Society for three years, in addition to being active in the Fellowship of Christian Athletes and the student council. He has been a valuable player on the HHS basketball team for three years, and lists basketball as one of his major interests.

Hicks was named "Out-

A hundred men may make an encampment, but it takes a woman to make a home. — Chinese proverb.

If you didn't hear the scheduled tornado siren system Friday morning, don't be alarmed. Officials debated about cancelling the test because of clouds, then sounded them later. Only part of the sirens were hooked up, however, and you still might have missed the sounding.

A salute this week to the realtors of Hereford on the occasion of National Realtors Week, May 21-27. Hereford has a top-notch realtor organization — the best we've seen in any size town. We commend them for their contribution to the community.

Texas' John Connally has been in the headlines recently, with many political observers trying to second-guess his actions. Personally, we think he'd be a good Presidential candidate this year, but most indications point to 1976 — if he chooses to seek the nomination then. The Democrats don't have anyone in the running who could beat Nixon — unless it's George Wallace, and he probably will wind up as the third-party man again.

As the former Supreme Court Justice Robert H. Jackson observed: "It is not the function of the government to keep-citizens from falling into error; it is the function of the citizens to keep the government from falling into error."

Next Thursday's BRAND will carry the annual salute to Hereford High School graduates, and it will be an issue which many readers will want to save. The special pages will be made possible by local businessmen, firms and institutions — many of whom offer fine gifts for the grad!

A child educated only at school is an uneducated child. — Santayana.

With graduation time upon us, high school seniors will be receiving a lot of advice on how to succeed in life. We still remember a story that was told this writer on graduation from high school.

The young man asked his father: "What shall I do to have success?" The father answered, "Follow me," and he waded into a stream. The water grew deeper and deeper, but the father led the boy on until the water reached his chin.

As he turned to go back, the father seized him by the hair of his head and held him at arm's length under the water. The lad struggled and fought with all his strength, and finally, with a mighty effort he broke away and made his way to shore.

After the young man had ceased gasping, the father said to him: "Son, what did you want most while you were held under water?" "Air, air!" the boy replied. Then the father said, "When you desire success as much, and are willing to fight for it as hard, as you fought for air, nothing can keep you from getting it." Behind the success of every man or woman is the same story — the story of a life of struggle, fed by the unquenchable desire to attain the goal.

For Pioneer Of Year

Nominations Are Lagging

Nominations for the "Pioneer of the Year" award, to be presented Saturday at the annual Mid-Plains Pioneer Day celebration, are lagging far behind, according to Roy Faubion of Radio Station

KPAN, who presents the award. Through Friday only five nominations had been submitted to the radio station and the deadline is 5 p.m. Monday. Nominations should be in the form of a short resume of the person nominated. "I would say I can never recall entries dragging like this," Faubion said. "We have always had a large number of entries and I am very concerned about it."

According to Faubion, last year there were some 30 persons nominated, many several times by different persons.

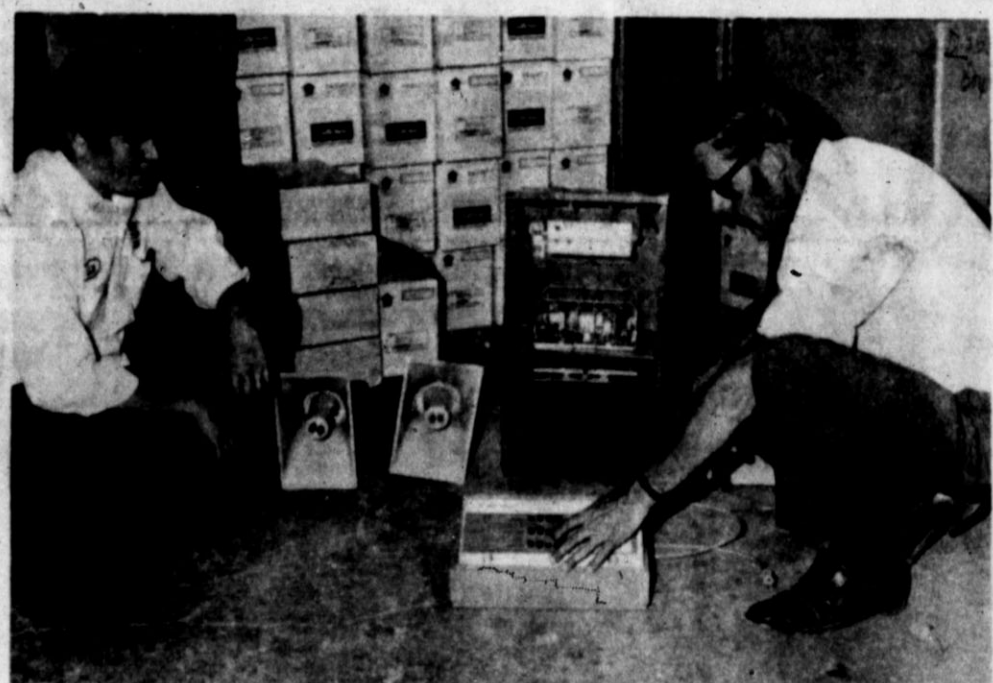

The "Pioneer of the Year" is the highlight of the all-day celebration in Hereford that brings pioneers and friends together for a day of festivities each May.

The award, a handsome engraved plaque, is presented to the person judged the top pioneer by a committee of the Mid-Plains Pioneer Association.

Past winners of the award have been Ezra Norton, 1967; S.H. Oberthier, 1968; Bess Werner, 1969; Edgar Ireland, 1970; and Ira Ricketts, 1971.

Awards also are presented to those at the celebration who have traveled the farthest to attend and to the oldest and youngest in attendance.

WARNING SYSTEM — Grady Swindell, right, and his assistant check over one of the 26 siren warning devices that will be installed over the city. Swindell is shown tinkering with the control panel that activates the sirens.

Warning System Expected To Be Completed Today

A preliminary test of the new tornado warning system was conducted Friday without much success, but city officials say the remainder of the system should be installed by today or tomorrow and the city well blanketed in case of an emergency.

Grady Swindell of Mobil Communications, through which the Motorola system is being installed, said his firm installed 10 of the sirens across the city Wednesday and Thursday and the remaining 16 will be finished as soon as possible.

A warning blast was issued Friday about 11 a.m. after several hours delay because of overcast skies. City officials received numerous calls from persons who said they could not hear the siren or could hear it only faintly.

The new sirens are mounted on 30-foot poles at 26 locations throughout the city. Each unit has a self-sustaining battery and four speakers pointed in different directions.

The units have a 1,600 foot radius each which, with the number of units and their locations, are expected to overlap.

The control boards for the system will be installed at the fire station and the police department. The control boards activate the sirens on a frequency which Swindell says is very unlikely to be triggered accidentally.

Locations for the units will be in the alley between 19th and 20th streets; in the alley between U.S. 385 and Cherokee Streets south of 16th Street; in the alley between Stanton Street and Avenue G, north of 15th Street; in the alley between Blevins and Avenue K, north of 15th Street; northwest of La Plata Junior High and Ranger Street; in the alley between

At Annual Banquet

Fireman Honor Employees

An elite group of Hereford businessmen were honored Thursday night when the Hereford Volunteer Fire Department held its annual Employers' Banquet at the Caison House. David Clabough, a fire chief and postmaster from Carthage, was guest speaker for the occasion—commending employers for a vital community service and challenging the firemen to "make sure you deserve the plaudits handed out by citizens."

Fire Chief Max Stipe was master of ceremonies for the event. He asked each fireman to introduce his employer, or guest, and also made a special presentation to the speaker. Clabough was presented with a "Hereford Bull," along with another humorous trophy.

Two volunteer firemen—George Bullard and Arthur Tiefert—were recognized as "firemen of the month" during the dinner meeting.

In his talk, Clabough pointed out that volunteer firemen effect a great saving to taxpayers.

"I am proud to be a fireman. A man once said that volunteer firemen are the only group outside the church to help people without thought of reward or recognition," he added.

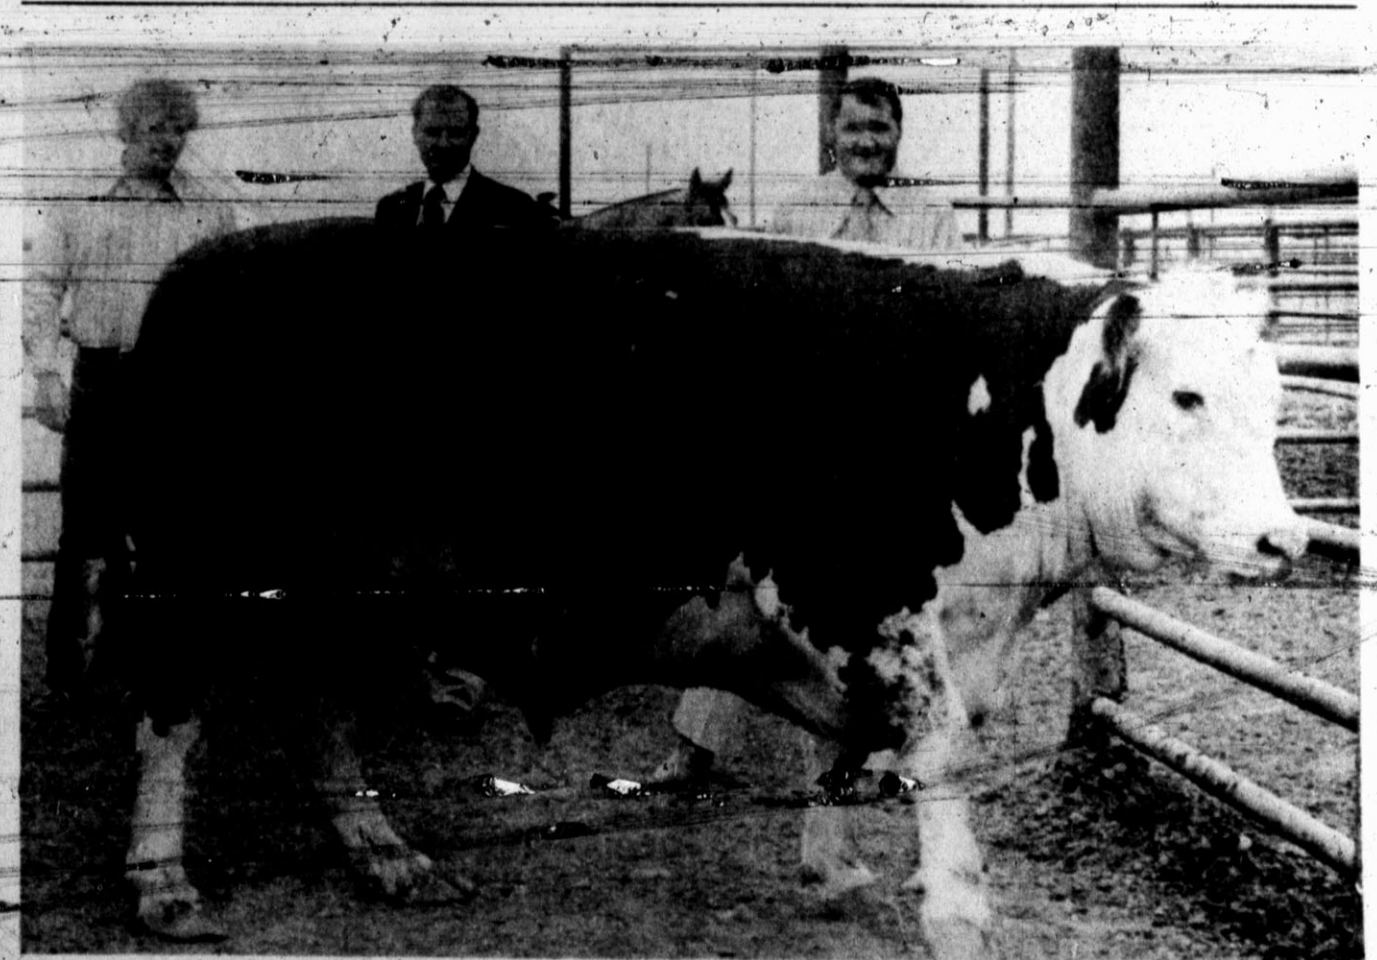

Clabough also commended the friendly people of Hereford and West Texas.

"You are more progressive than we are in East Texas," he stated, adding that "you accept a man for his worth and contribution—not how long he has lived in the community."

Guests at the banquet included a number of city and county officials.

In Freshman Scrimmage Maroons Defeat Whites

The Maroons scored a 20-8 victory over the Whites as the Hereford freshmen closed out spring training Friday on the La Plata practice field.

The varsity Maroon and White teams clashed Saturday evening, but results of the contest were not available before press time.

Big Marvin Harris barged over tackle from two yards out on a fourth-down effort in the second quarter to stake the Maroon team to a 6-0 lead.

The Maroons upped the lead to 12-0 in the third period when Mike Munnerlyn connected with Ronnie Ohlig on a 23-yard touchdown pass. Again in the third period, Jay Williams romped 27 yards on a reverse for six more points. Munnerlyn passed to Ohlig for two points and a 20-0 Maroon advantage.

The Whites came to life on the first play of the final quarter when Doug Charest broke on a 65-yard run that carried all the way to the Maroon 4. Terry Yerby carried it over from the 4, then David Artho ran for two points.

Observe National Week

The Hereford Board of Realtors, headed by president Mike Waldrip, will join other realtors across the country in the observance of National Realtor Week, today through Saturday.

"The complexities of modern day living have increased the need for the realtor whose services and expertise have expanded far beyond those associated merely with home buying and selling," Waldrip said on the eve of the observance.

"Realtors — members of the Hereford Board of Realtors, the Texas Association of Realtors and the National Association of Real Estate Boards — continually upgrade their service to the public in these special fields through participation in educational courses and seminars offered by the nine affiliates of NAREB."

The other officers of the local board are Gene Campbell, chairman of Multiple Listing Service; Lee Umsted, secretary-treasurer of the board; Mary French, vice president; and Jeanne Coker and Wayne Carthel, directors.

A SNAIL MENACE
 WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — The march of the Giant African Snail is among 100 exhibits on display at the new Delaware Museum of Natural History at nearby Greenville.

Museum scientists say that a youngster first brought three of the snails to North Miami from Hawaii in 1966. In two years, tens of thousands of them were ruining gardens, clogging air conditioners and marring the walls of houses.

Although the Department of Agriculture succeeded in ridding the area of the snails at a cost of $100,000, officials still maintain surveillance to make sure the voracious creatures don't return. Travelers must have a permit to bring live snails into the United States or face a fine of $500 or six months imprisonment.

Celebration Sounds Good

By Argen Draper

Home Demonstrations Agent

THIS WEEK WE heard from Mrs. Roy Buechler who moved with her family to Boyd, Montana. While living here Mrs. Buechler told us many times of the Festival of Nations which the community of Red Lodge celebrates annually. This year's theme: A moment of unity.

The celebration has nine nights of entertainment at Red Lodge Civic Center. Shows begin at 7:30 and end at 9 p.m. One of the most popular of the daily activities is the international cooking pavilion.

A committee each day will prepare food of the native country. Too, restaurants serve foods from different countries. Samples are given of the food; exhibits of native country's art and crafts, clothing, flowers, dolls and other displays help preserve the heritage of the families in the area.

Events of the week are: German Day — August 14
Italian Day — August 15
Finnish Day — August 16
Montana Day — August 17
Yugoslavian Day — August 18
Scandinavian Day — August 19

English — Irish Day — August 20
Scottish Day — August 21
All Nations Day — August 22

IT IS WORTH reflecting on the importance of Americans retaining a sense of history, a sense of heritage and the dignity of the culture of foreign homelands.

It is hoped to make people feel closer to their past as well as closer to persons of varied race and nationality.

Wouldn't you like to see the authentic costumes as authentic food was being served? As each nation has a different day, it would give time to study and concentrate on that nation.

PLANS ARE GOING great for 4-H Round-Up. Teams are practicing and we will be proud of the record made by our 4-H members.

CORN-CHEESE BAKE

3 cups uncooked corn cut from the cob or frozen commercially
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon pepper
1 cup shredded Swiss cheese
6 tablespoons butter
1/2 cup evaporated milk, undiluted

Dot the bottom of a two-quart casserole with 3 tablespoons of the butter. Combine corn, onion, salt, pepper and half the shredded cheese and pour into casserole.

Sprinkle top with remaining cheese and dot with 3 more tablespoons of butter. Add milk and bake uncovered about 30 minutes. Check to see if corn is tender and cheese has melted before removing from the oven. Serve piping hot.

Don't be concerned about leftover cooked corn. You can use it to add special flavor to omelets, fritters or muffins. Corn waffles and pancakes are delicious early-morning fare. Cooked corn adds taste to tossed salads and can be used as the basis for cream-of-fresh-corn soup.

CHICKEN SUPREME

3 slices bacon
3 medium-size chicken breasts, boned
1/2 of 10 1/2 oz can condensed cream of mushroom soup
1/2 cup dairy sour cream
Fry bacon to remove some of fat but do not brown. Drain. Wrap a slice of bacon around each piece of chicken, then fasten with a toothpick. Place chicken in casserole. Stir soup into sour cream to blend, then pour over chicken.
Bake at 300 degrees F. until chicken is tender, about 2 to 2 1/2 hours. Remove toothpicks before serving.

BAKED HAM-POTATO CASSEROLE

1 cup mashed potato
two-thirds cup cooked, chopped smoked ham
1/4 cup shredded cheese
2 teaspoons finely chopped onion
2 teaspoons butter
Mix potato and ham. Cook onion in the fat until onion is clear but not brown. Add onion to potato mixture. Place the mixture in a small casserole and top with cheese.
Bake at 375 degrees F. until top begins to brown and cheese is melted, about 25 minutes. Makes two servings of about 1 cup each.

Hoing a garden in mid-summer heat is probably what is meant by "growing pains."

COUNTY TOUR STOPS — Rain failed to dampen the interest of Hereford women who made the tour of eastern Deaf Smith County recently, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce Women's Division. Highlight of the day was the stop at the H.D. Fowler place on Palo Duro Creek, where a former Indian campground shaded by thick trees, top photo, still yields arrowheads and other artifacts. Mr. and Mrs. Fowler, right acted as guides. Tourists board the bus after the stop at a cattle feeding operation, lower photo. Mrs. Jack McKinster, tour chairman, is in foreground; Albert Pena, right, drove the bus and A.J. Schroeter, whose face is just visible far left, was narrator at historic spots on the trip.

Class Of '42 Schedules Its Reunion

The 30th anniversary reunion for Hereford High School's Class of 1942 has been set for June 10, with a full day of activities scheduled for members and friends. Bill Davis is chairman of the reunion planning committee.

Invitations have been sent to all the 1942 graduates, and others who would like to attend any of the day's events are invited, Davis announces. An informal get-together at Community Center, for visiting and reminiscing, will begin the reunion at 3 p.m. A Dutch treat dinner at the Caison House will follow at 7:30 p.m., then a dance in the Civic Club Center, the former Hotel Jim Hill ballroom.

Necessity knows no law and it's the same with extravagance.

Orchestras Appear In Concert

Promise that a Hereford High School Orchestra may within a few years complement the award-winning Whiteface Band was seen in a concert Thursday evening by members in training at junior and elementary schools.

Directed by Linda Huff and Charles Jones, youngsters from the fourth grade into high school made up the strings section of orchestral groups backed by reed, brass and percussion players from the beginners' bands of La Plata and Stanton Junior High Schools.

In its fourth year, the schools' program to develop orchestra material shows progress each term.

The combined groups filled the high school auditorium stage for the final number as every string player in Hereford schools joined to play the selection, I'd Like to Teach the World to Sing.

Beginners from fourth grades opened the program for an audience that half filled the auditorium. Fifth and sixth graders next played Strauss' Emperor Waltz and a lively medley of cowboy songs. A member of this group, Sonja Hacker, presented a violin solo with piano accompaniment by her mother, Mrs. Joe Hacker. The instructors presented first chair certificates to each group. Recipients in the fourth grade were determined in recent tryouts; in the other groups, the citations went to the performers who had been in first chairs oftenest during the year.

For the beginners, first violin winner was Lynn Garrett; second violin, Karen Woods and Lana Porter in a tie; viola, Steve Veigel; cello, Robbie Fish; string bass, Robert Graves.

In the fifth-sixth grade group, first chair place was awarded Sonja Hacker in first violin; Charles Berryman, second violin; Bette Stewart, viola;

Scott Formby, cello; Richard Olson, bass.

In the Stanton orchestra the places went to Delfine Ubarri, first violin; Rhonda Whitener and Mary Ann Lovelace, tie, second violin; Robert Rodriguez, viola; Dwayne Waters, cello; Gilbert Carrasco, bass.

Those at La Plata were Becky Friemel, first violin, Frankie Wells, second violin; Hilda Garza, viola; Blake Allen and Sam Finley, tie, cello; and Tim Cox, bass.

Grandson Of Two Hereford Women Wins High Honor

Donald Durham, senior in Sam Rayburn High School at Pasadena and a grandson of Mrs. Bill Knox, 244 W. Fourth, and Mrs. Byron Durham, 504 Schley, has been cited as one of the outstanding students of English in high schools of the nation. He has been chosen a 1971 national winner in the National Council of Teachers of English annual competition.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Ron Durham of Pasadena, Don and others in his family will visit relatives here immediately after his graduation May 25. He plans to attend Abilene Christian College or Texas Tech as a pre-med student next year.

Nominated by English teachers in his school, he was required to submit his best writing including an autobiographical sketch and a one-hour impromptu essay.

St. Anthony Pupils Are Given Awards

Student awards at St. Anthony's Parochial School were presented to highlight a Parent-Teacher Organization meeting in the auditorium this week, when new officers assumed duties for next year.

Frank Mancillas was recognized as Student of the Year, selected by the Student Council, and Douglas Reinart received the special Principal's Award as an outstanding pupil in courtesy, good conduct and cooperation as well as an honor student.

Tony Albracht and Dennis Artho had special awards as winners of the county spelling bee; Tony competed in the district bee.

Sister Windelina, principal of the school, made the presentations. She announced that members of the Texas Education Agency for Accreditation visited St. Anthony's May 16 and praised its facilities.

New officers of the P-T-O are Allan Brockman, succeeding Werner Koelzer as president; Larry Walterscheid, vice president; Mrs. Jim Marnell, secretary, and Mrs. Joe Soliz, treasurer.

On program at the meeting, Suzette Dziuk directed a tonette recital by fifth and sixth grade pupils and square dances by seventh and eighth graders.

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (AP)—Ben Martin, heading for his 15th season as Air Force football coach, greeted 26 lettermen when spring practice began.

SWEETHEART PRESENTED—Mona Gale Gibson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Gibson, was presented as pledge class sweetheart of Sigma Nu Fraternity at West Texas State University this spring. Her escort is Mike Emerson, son of Martha Emerson of Hereford.

Sweet and Fancy Concludes Year

For the concluding meeting of the year, Sweet and Fancy Decorating Club met at Community Center Friday morning to elect new officers.

Elected were: Mrs. Joel Lytal, president; Mrs. Dale Henson, vice-president; Mrs. J.A. Crofford, treasurer; Mrs. Carlton Richardson, secretary; Kings Manor Committee, Mrs. Lynn Pittard.

Officers will assume their duties in September.

We wish to thank all who were so kind and considerate during my stay in the hospital recently. For flowers, cards, and especially Dr. McCrary and all the nurses who were so kind to me. For all who remembered me in their prayers.

Supper Closes Club Year

Among special club parties last week to mark the close of a season was Hereford Study Club's salad supper Thursday evening in the home of the president, Mrs. Shirley Garrison.

Officers for the 1972-73 year were installed as the club recessed until September.

Mrs. Don Robinson took office as president, Mrs. Art Stoy vice president, Mrs. Joe Story secretary-reporter; Mrs. Merlin Kaul correspondent; Mrs. Richard Winget treasurer; Mrs. O.Z. Golden historian and Mrs. Garrison parliamentarian.

Mrs. Maurice Tannahill conducted the installation program after the supper. Brief attention to final business of the year included a report of the Arbor Day tree planting at Tierra Blanca school; Hereford Study Club contributed to purchase of trees for the Bartlett, T.E. Braddy, R.N. Yarbrow, Bob Poston, J.W. Witherspoon, Sam Long, Bob Miss Gladys Setliff, Mmes. N.D. Word and Cawthon Bryant.

Annual Sale of Poppies Set By Legion Auxiliary

Poppy Day, May 24, will see the sale of memorial flowers by American Legion Auxiliary members, an annual custom to raise funds for rehabilitation and child welfare work of the organization, Mrs. Elbert Vance, president, announces.

Sales headquarters will be the lobby of Civic Club Center, and workers will go from there to all business sections of the city to sell the poppies which are made by disabled war veterans in the VA Hospital at Temple.

Originated as a memorial to the dead of World War I, annual sales of veteran-made poppies have supplied funds for aid to veterans and their families over the nation.

More than 12,000 disabled patients in VA hospitals are enabled to earn some money, often their only earnings, as they are compensated by the Legion Auxiliary for their work. Hospitals consider the program a psychological aid also, as the job is a relief to many patients from long hours in a ward.

The Hereford Auxiliary uses a part of the poppy sales fund for its work in the Amarillo VA Hospital, where members make monthly visits, host bingo games, serve refreshments and supply comfort items for the patients.

New In Parsonage

Young Pastor's Wife Hopes To Help Serve

BY LINDA HALLOWS Staff Writer
"WE MET AT A CHURCH SERVICE. He was visiting and led the music, I played the piano. We talked together afterward at a fellowship and that was it."

So goes the story of Mrs. Norm MacDonald, wife of the new pastor of Avenue Baptist Church. They make their home in the parsonage at 146 Northwest Drive.

After marriage, the couple moved to Spokane, Wash., for a three month job. MacDonald served as youth director there last summer after their marriage in June.

THE MACDONALDS have lived in Hereford since January. Between September and January, MacDonald served as interim pastor until January when he became the full-time preacher.

After living in Spokane, they moved to Plainview where her husband could finish his schooling at Wayland Baptist College. He is working for his Bachelor of Arts in Religion.

What's it like to be married to a preacher? "It's okay," replies Paula. "Being a newlywed, it's kind of hard to adjust to the fact that he is on call 24 hours a day. "People need his help and I understand. He's gone a lot, but I am also very active. I won't sit at home, I go with him."

FORMERLY PAULA CONN of Abernathy, she considers herself a one-time "tomboy." "When you live 15 miles in the country, go to a country school, neighbors are few and far between and you have one brother, he seems to overrule you and you naturally give in and play those rough sports."

That's her main reason for being such a sports enthusiast. She likes all kinds of sports and she enjoys watching football the most. The two like to go water skiing during the summer and are glad to see the season almost here.

MUSIC is an interesting talent Paula possesses. Meeting her husband by displaying her piano talents, she continues to play for the church when they need her and misses her piano that she had to leave at home.

While attending school in Abernathy she was a member of the band and played the drums. She also plays the guitar. Stepping into Mrs. MacDonald's immaculate yet relaxing home, she says of keeping house, "I like it. It's kind of fun. It's better than when we had to keep the house at home."

"But I think the reason I like it" is that all this furniture, everything is all mine. I take pride in what I have and I want to make my home always look nice."

TRYING TO KEEP UP with her studies and getting ready for graduation now, Mrs. MacDonald is a senior at Hereford High School. She has no definite plans for this coming fall, but feels she could help others by taking some nursing schooling.

Small Talk

BY SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

ONE OF THREE honor graduates of Northwest Texas Hospital School of Nursing at Amarillo Friday night was Rose Ann Smith of Hereford. She received the Outstanding Licensed Vocational Nurse-Advanced Standing Student award.

Mrs. Smith has completed her training while she was employed by Deaf Smith General Hospital and was on full-time duty as a homemaker for husband Bill and three children. When you know somebody who accomplished all that, it makes you feel sort of little about those "I don't have time" complaints.

MRS. IRA OTT and Mrs. J.M. Dawson returned this week from Greenfield, Calif., after attending the funeral of their brother-in-law, M.M. Dunson. His wife, sister of the Hereford women, died in January; burial for both was in the Greenfield, Calif., cemetery.

The Dunsons formerly lived in the Summerfield community and are remembered by many residents of this area. They had planned to celebrate their Golden Wedding anniversary this year.

ANOTHER RECENT death of a former resident was that of Ray Martin, who was news editor of The Brand several years ago. His death, of an apparent heart attack, occurred at his home in Abilene and burial was at Ardmore, Okla.

His wife, Fern, and a daughter who survives live in Abilene.

RECENT VISITORS with Mrs. Ross Stark and her mother, Katie McGehee, were the Orlen Starks of Quitaque. Orlen Stark is a brother of the late Ross Stark.

who lived in the path of last year's tornado for being jittery about storms this spring, and our recent hailstorm brought unpleasant recollections to many of them.

Those who were awake to hear the approaching hail say its noise was quite like that of the destructive wind. The J.G. Gandys, whose house on Star Street was shaken by the tornado, had that experience.

"Something had waked me before the hail began, Ruth Gandy says, "and when I could hear it coming I woke my husband. We didn't waste any time; he jumped out of bed on one side and I on the other! It sounded just like a noisy freight train, or a tornado, coming toward us."

BIBLES FOR RUSSIA
TULSA, Okla. (AP) — If anyone is planning a trip to the Soviet Union, an agency here called "Russian Bible" will send him free — on request — a Russian translation of the Bible to take with him, and give to someone there.

The agency made that offer in noting that the Soviet Council of Religious Affairs has stated that each tourist is allowed to bring one Bible into the country, where there is a shortage of Bibles.

MEMORIAL FLOWERS IN BLOOM — Growing poppies in bloom at the American Legion Hall are living symbols of the replica flowers which members of the Legion Auxiliary will sell Wednesday in an annual program to benefit disabled war veterans and their families. Ira Ott, longtime active Legionnaire who planted and tended the poppies, shows off the blooms to Mrs. Elbert Vance, Auxiliary president, in the bed which is now a blaze of color on the grounds of the Legion building at Veterans Park.

Lunch Follows Tour Of Gardens

A tour of three Hereford gardens Friday morning was the final program of this season for Bud to Blossom Garden Club, and was followed by a lunch at the country club with arrangements made by Mrs. Sam Long and Mrs. W.H. Gentry, hostesses.

Meeting in Mrs. Gentry's home, the tour party went to view plantings in the yard of Mrs. Art Manjeot, honorary member of the club; then to the rose garden at First Baptist Church where blooms are at their showiest now; and to the home of another member, Mrs. Steve Coneway, who with her husband occupies the place which was the residence of his grandparents, the Ray Coneways, for many years and has long-established plantings.

Officers of this club will serve another year of a two-year term, but resignation of Mrs. R.N. Yarbro as president left a vacancy which Mrs. Gentry was chosen to fill.

Present for the tour, in addition to those named, were Mmes. Billy W. Sisson, Raymond Zamarripa and Pete Caviness.

Red Cross Volunteer Class Being Planned

An orientation class for Red Cross Volunteers is planned for early summer, it was announced at the uniformed volunteers' May lunch Thursday at K-Bob's Restaurant, and women of the area who wish to take the training are invited to enroll.

Those interested may receive information about the class from the Red Cross office here, or from Mrs. Henry Neely, orientation chairman.

Reports on various activities, with a total of 77 hours' service by members present, were heard at the lunch. Some of the service was in the recent tuberculin test clinic held in Hereford.

Volunteers here learned that they are responsible for making 50 "ditty bags", not to be filled but to be sent to hospitals in Viet Nam for American military personnel. Toilet articles will be put in these for the patients, who often reach a hospital without any personal belongings.

It was announced that this county's quota for the Christmas ditty bags, which are filled with small gifts for servicemen, has not been committed; clubs and individuals who have tentatively agreed to make these bags are asked to make definite reports soon to the Red Cross office.

A single lightning stroke may have 100 million watts.

Project committee presented the suggestion and the club voted on to contribute $25 to Satellite Center and $25 to Meals on Wheels program.

To conclude the program, Sherry White, accompanied by Susan White, sang several songs to go along with the theme of installation.

All members were present at the meeting.

What's Happening Where

DIMITT—Dimmitt Public Schools' protest over the cutting of the popular "Follow Through" pilot program here spurred action this week when agents of the General Accounting Office started an investigation of the local program.

The investigation was requested by Congressman Bob Price, who said the reasons given by the U.S. Office of Education for cancelling the program funds "didn't add up." The GAO agents are to report their findings to Price, who hopes to challenge the Office of Education action and get the program reinstated here. —The Castro County News

LITTLEFIELD—Littlefield now offers an extension of courses from South Plains College, and area residents may choose subjects from a proposed schedule of nine courses which will be offered. Other courses will be offered if the demand is great enough, according to Don Yarbrough of the SPC staff. At least 15 students per class must enroll before a class will be taught by SPC faculty members who will come to Littlefield. —The Lamb County Leader-News

STRATFORD—Four sighted tornadoes, high winds and lashing hail kept Stratford and area residents in a state of anxiety until near midnight last Wednesday.

A small twister struck the Conlen community, 12 miles southwest of Stratford, shortly after 8 p.m. in the first of two large weather systems that rolled across the area. —The Stratford Star CANYON—An injunction through the district court was mentioned as a possible solution to the Randall County farmers dispute with the Texas Animal Health Commission's rule on cattle dipping for scabies at a joint meeting of the Farm Bureau and Farmers Union Thursday night.

Cristler Crain of the Farm Bureau said he had talked with D.A. George Dowlen and "Dowlen said he didn't see why we couldn't get an injunction—at least a temporary one—until we can get this mess straightened out." —The Canyon Sunday News

BROWNFIELD—Brownfield General Hospital is suffering growing pains and practically bursting at the seams for more space, according to Pat McMillan, hospital administrator. He said the needs were brought about by the hospital being accepted so well, occupancy increases of 30 percent, admission hikes of 35 percent, and surgery increases of 35 to 40 percent. —The Brownfield News

Area Supervisor Of Witnesses To Spend Week Here

Hereford congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses will be host this week to I.J. Machalk, circuit supervisor, according to David Nafzger, local spokesman.

"Machalk will lead in all activity of the congregation this week," Nafzger said. "Efforts are being made to contact residents of every home in Hereford."

"Jehovah's Witnesses are interested not only in inviting persons to Kingdom Hall, but to see all study the Bible and understand its contents."

Machalk will conduct meetings this week at Kingdom Hall, 319 Avenue I. High point of his visit will be Sunday at 10 a.m., when the topic is A Close Look at The Churches. He will show 80 slides representing the condition of churches in 23 lands throughout the world.

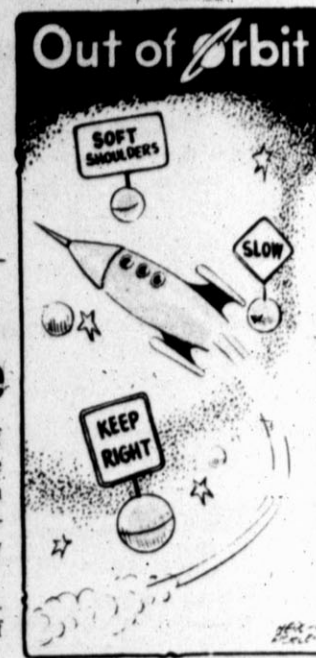

All meetings at Kingdom Hall are free and the public is invited, Nafzger said.

McCasin To Be Awarded Degree

Jerry Don McCasin of Hereford will be among those receiving degrees at Southern Methodist University at commencement exercises Sunday afternoon.

McCasin, who lives at 409 E. Fifth, will receive his master of business administration degree.

More than 2,400 degrees will be conferred, which is the most in SMU history.

A titanic lightning bolt can be three miles long and streak the sky at 100 miles an hour.

Officers Elected In Club

Elected president of Wyche Home Demonstration Club for next year, Mrs. J.H. Holden was also selected as the club's nominee for county delegate to the Texas H.D. Association convention which will be held in Dallas next September. Mrs. Charles Packard was club hostess in her home, and Mrs. Ira Ott gave the program on Pansies in the Home Landscape. She said this popular perennial will grow anywhere in the United States and can be cultivated for year-round bloom in partial shade.

Officers elected with Mrs. Holden, to be installed June 1 at the last meeting of this club year, were Mrs. Jack Harrell, vice-president and Mrs. Wayne Jones, secretary-treasurer. Also named were Mrs. E.C. Hewitt Jr., delegate, and Mrs. C.F. Newsom, assistant delegate to the County H.D. Council; Mrs. Harley Ward, reporter, and Mrs. Elwood Skypala, assistant.

Mrs. Courtney Brooks' home will be the meeting place June 1.

CLASSIFIED

THE INFORMED CONSUMER

BY CRAWFORD C. MARTIN
Attorney General of Texas

At this time of the year many high school seniors are considering their futures and the part that additional education may play therein. Many, of course, will elect to go on to a college or university of their choice. But many will elect to attend a vocational or trade school.

Both are excellent choices provided the students carefully select the school which they plan to attend.

To those seniors deciding to continue their education in a trade school or vocational school, and to other persons deciding to go back to school, my Consumer Protection Division offers these words of advice:

Most vocational and trade schools conducted in Texas are reputable honest establishments. While this has been true for some time, an Act known as the Proprietary School Act passed by the Texas Legislature at its last session and administered by the Texas Education Agency has greatly improved the situation. This Act provides for licensing, bonding, and regulation of trade schools, but prospective students should not rely solely on state regulation of such institutions. They should make a thorough investigation before they decide on a school.

We have reports where some of these schools have closed their doors after receiving tuition payments from prospective students. They have either gone broke or moved from the State and there is no way the student can recover the money.

We have received complaints of substandard instruction offered by some schools.

One of the prime rules for interested persons to follow when thinking of enrolling in a school is to avoid high pressure tactics requiring immediate enrollment. Some salesmen will state that failure to enroll immediately will result in the inability of the prospective student ever to enter their school. Remember - legitimate schools always allow sufficient time for investigation of their facilities, training programs, and the quality of their instruction.

Prospective students should carefully check the terms of the enrollment contract prior to signing. These terms should be thoroughly understood. What provisions are made for cancellation by the student? Is he able to receive his tuition back and if so, what amount and under what conditions?

You should remember that the written provisions of the contract control over the oral representations made by the salesman. If there is ambiguity in the contract or doubt on the part of the student as to the meaning of the language of the contract, this should be resolved in writing prior to signing the contract.

In some instances we have found that unscrupulous salesmen make exaggerated promises concerning job opportunities either while attending school or after graduation. Prospective students should be aware of the fact that a placement service does not guarantee them a job.

Finally, the trade schools' general reputation is of utmost importance.

opportunities either while attending school or after graduation. Prospective students should be aware of the fact that a placement service does not guarantee them a job.

Finally, the trade schools' general reputation is of utmost importance.

Club Trip To Girlstown Spurs Quest For Gifts

Personal acquaintance with residents of Girlstown impressed a group of Hereford Newcomers Club members with the girls' needs and the possibilities of meeting those needs, when a visit was paid Saturday to the residence home near Whiteface.

The club had heard of Girlstown from Viola Williams, a board member who lives in Hereford, as she spoke on a program last year. Contributions have been sent, but members had not met the girls until the trip, when they toured the home and had lunch with residents. Mrs. Marshall Cooper, wife of the Girlstown director, showed them the facilities including a recently-completed gymnasium. They learned how individuals or clubs may "adopt" a girl and act as her sponsor with gifts or cash allowance, letters and visits.

They were told that cash for general use is always a welcome gift at Girlstown, and that a specific need just now is for steam irons and sewing machines; although many of the girls learn to sew in homemaking classes at school, there is only one machine available for their use in the home.

The club visitors decided to start a campaign to meet these needs, and ask that any Hereford area resident who may have a used iron or machine she is willing to give to Girlstown, notify Mrs. Gary Jones or Mrs. Gaylon Bryan, who will take the articles to the home. Gifts of money to a fund for purchase of a new machine will also be accepted.

By the Garden Gate

With Glad

By Mrs. Art Manjoot

Since the last visit at Glad's Garden Gate, I have entered a number of garden gates, into world famous gardens. One was the Botanical Gardens-by-the-Sea in the port city of Norfolk, Va.

Norfolk was the first of Virginia's cities to devise both conducted and self-guiding tours. 1972 marks the 19th year they have had the famed gardens, which serve as the focal point of both the International Azalea Festival and city tours of historical significance.

It has grown to become one of the finest springtime attractions of the Old Dominion. It was established as an honor to the Atlantic Treaty Organization, and has very strong appeal to visitors from many states and other countries. NATO headquarters are located in Norfolk, adding a drawing interest to tourists.

The gardens have a great appeal in that various types of gardens are within the large garden. Some of these are colonial style gardens, with boxwood featured as well as many of the old-fashioned flowers and flowering trees, also azaleas and dogwoods.

I was much interested in the fragrance garden, with its flowering plants all of which had sweet fragrances. There were many herbs which added interest in form, texture and flavor to the garden. This garden was especially planned for the blind and handicapped.

Was a real pleasure to stroll leisurely through the Japanese gardens. One can either see these gardens via boat, trackless, noiseless train (with lecturer) or the sightseer can take his own time, stroll through the gardens and climb to the top of the Japanese lookout building, and see great vistas of beauty from the hilltops.

We did both as we wanted to hear the lecture then to see for ourselves by quietly and leisurely looking.

Many of the paths and gardens reminded me of Holland as the paths were outlined by beautiful Red Emperor tulips in full bloom, and intermingled with the tulips were forget-me-nots.

One attraction was the tulip garden, which contained approximately 3000 flowering tulips in red, yellow, white, ivory and bi-color (red and yellow). I could name practically every variety, as the Pioneer Study Club has sold them for years.

The Matador predominated, and the Gudesienk was nearby. White seemed to be a great favorite.

The point of interest to me in this planting was that it was done by high school students of Norfolk as one of their beautification projects. Was beautifully done.

Another point of interest was the walk which was bordered by statutory. Many points of interest and beauty were created by using appropriate and beautiful statues.

There were secluded spots where one could pause for rest and to study the created beauty. Such always feeds one's soul, and tends to bring one in a closer relation with the Master Gardener.

Lloyd Jr., took special interest in the area which was marked Treasure Island. He was especially thrilled to see the fascinating pirate ship.

I can never find words to properly describe the intricate beauty of azaleas; they were ablaze with loveliness, in selected colors. It was always thrilling to see the masses of flowers, and to study the various types.

The garden was so planted that there will be a continuous bloom. Soon roses will be at their height, as well as annuals and other flowering shrubs.

A famous river plantation on the James River near Richmond, Brandon was originally a vast land grant to John Martin, companion of Capt. John Smith on his first voyage to America. It is one of the most magnificent of the James River estates, with superb garden extending to the river.

The garden is reached from the beautiful colonial house across an ample lawn approximately 300 feet in width, and is bounded on the north and west by double rows of English boxwood and magnificent poplars.

The boxwood is beautiful and one can readily note the strength of the plant by the twisted and gnarled trunks. It has been preserved through tender and proper care throughout the years. Really to me it was as beautiful as the plantings of boxwood at Williamsburg on the Palace grounds.

Another thing which was thrilling to me was the massive wisteria vine which was growing near the door, which one went through to approach the garden walk to the river edge. The wisteria has grown to such proportions (age not known) that it hangs from the tops of ancient trees.

Crape myrtle has also grown to extraordinary heights. I stood for sometime looking at these ancient plantings. The span around the trunk of the wisteria was the largest I have ever seen, denoting its age and great strength.

Nearby there is an ancient and gnarled mulberry tree, which is noted as a relic of the silk industry which was to have been established at Jamestown when it was first established.

Two other trees which were of much interest were the two cucumber trees which were as sentinels on either side of the approach to the garden.

The walks through the ample lawn and the garden paths were well sodded. On either side of the main path leading to the river edge area numerous gardens. One that interested me especially was called the green garden. It was centered with a fountain and practically the only colors were in greens. A special nook had been established for rest, study and relaxation as well as seclusion. Another item of much interest was the fact that the primary color of the gardens was blue, accented with white. Paths were bordered with forget-me-nots or pansies; main plantings of the flower beds were white iris and tulips. These were huge and luxuriant.

Long will I remember the loveliness of this plantation home and gardens. They are so restful and really meet one of the needs of the day.

The home and gardens are surrounded with farm land on which is grown corn, oats (waist high and heading out, also the barley) soybeans, wheat, alfalfa, rye, and pasture land. Meadows were verdant, with fine registered Guerneys grazing in them. I was especially interested in the minute yellow buttercups which were growing en masse.

The wooded land is well preserved and the marshes and woods protect large herds of Virginia deer, which can be seen grazing in the fields at dusk, where thousands of Canada geese spend the winter and fall.

I really felt that I had been privileged to catch a glance into the rich past of the plantation-landowners, as well as the present beauty and progress of today.

CONGRATULATIONS ON ARBOR DAY ACTIVITIES. So pleased with reports. Who knows, one of the trees planted

He will represent SOMA in Washington, D.C. this summer and travel extensively throughout the U.S. representing SOMA in health meetings and conventions. SOMA has appeared before the Congress of the U.S. and is a student affiliate of the American Osteopathic Association and also a member of the International Federation of Medical Student Associations.

Six students received special recognition at the meeting. Franklin Higgins and Denise Strange were named as May students of the month at Hereford High, and Joe Sheffy and Carolyn Langley received the awards for April. The Super Rich

Now, it is true that some corporations occasionally pay no federal income tax? It probably is. The reason is not hard to figure out. Corporations are taxed on their profits. When profits are low, or nonexistent, they pay little or no tax. We have just been through a business slump, during which corporate profits hit record lows, so it's not surprising that some firms would have no income tax liability for this period.

Profit is what a business has left after it meets expenses. It is this "extra" money that finances business growth and expansion, which in turn creates new jobs. Thus, a society that taxes profit too heavily risks business stagnation, or even collapse. And if business provides fewer

How do you promise people more and more costly federal programs without admitting that their taxes will have to go up to pay the bills? This is a problem that has obviously been bothering many of the presidential candidates.

For most of them, the solution has been to suggest that there are huge, untapped sources of revenue among the "super rich" and the "giant corporations."

It just isn't so, but the facts seldom bother a political candidate in ardent pursuit of votes. Actually, confiscating all the income of those who make more than $100,000 a year would produce only about $8.5 billion more revenue. That's not much for a government that spends more than $245 billion a year.

What about the corporations? Well, first let's see if they have gotten a better tax break than individuals.

The Tax Reform Act of 1969 increased the tax liability of corporations and decreased the tax liability of individuals. The Revenue Act of 1971 reduced both corporate and individual tax burdens. What's the net result of the two changes? Over the fiscal years 1970 through 1973, individuals will be paying $22.2 billion less in federal income taxes, while corporations will be paying $2.2 billion less. Clearly, the corporations did not do better than the individual taxpayer.

jobs, then the government gets less from the tax on individual income. Therefore, a soak-the-corporations tax policy is ultimately self-defeating.

Conversely, when business is doing well, and profits are high, the government automatically gets more revenue from the corporate income tax. That can reduce the need for an increase in the individual income tax. It's something to keep in mind the next time you hear someone calling for a "limit" on profits.

Finally, there is the question of whether the present corporate tax burden is already higher than should be.

Americans are awakening to the fact that foreign trade has become vital to the maintenance of our high standard of living. But, our industries seem to be having an increasingly difficult time competing with foreign producers. Why? Well, we certainly don't have a labor cost advantage over other countries—our wages and benefits are the highest in the world. So it is our technological superiority and our high capital investment in plant and equipment that have given us our competitive edge in the past. However, both research and development and the acquisition of new capital facilities require a lot of money. If the money that might be used to finance these things is siphoned off by government, then our industries will be left with no competitive advantage at all in international markets. We have just run our first balance of trade deficit since 1893.

The fact is, total income taxes on corporations are already higher for the U.S. than for any of our major overseas industrial competitors. They are over twice as high here as the average for the European Common Market countries.

In short, if the government continues spending at the present rate, it's the great American middle class that will have to pay for it, as usual. There just isn't any other segment of our society that has enough money to make a dent in the deficit. The politicians know this. But they are hoping you won't find out until it's too late.

Wallace Phenomenon

George Wallace has been disabled by the bullets of a would-be assassin but his political strength has hardly suffered, as any reading of the Michigan and Maryland primary results will attest.

As everyone knows by now, the Alabama governor scored impressive victories in both states, taking nearly half the votes cast for Democrats in Michigan and nearly 40 percent in Maryland.

It is unlikely that any politician now remains unimpressed by the Wallace phenomenon. But there are many politicians who may not fully understand why so many voters have listened so raptly to what the little Alabamian has said and they checked his name in the voting booths.

Mr. Wallace, before his brush with disaster, was inviting his listeners to give "them" a message and a good many have responded. In other words, he has invited a protest vote and gotten it. The "them" he refers to are the mainstream politicians in government and Congress.

Regardless of how one feels about Mr. Wallace, and certainly we have our own doubts about his political background and style, the support he has attracted now must be regarded as one of the main political currents in this election year. The protest can no longer be written off entirely as a fringe phenomenon. It deserves more careful examination.

One popular explanation of the Wallace strength holds it to be mainly racist in nature, connected as it is with the issue of school busing to achieve racial balance. Some politicians also think they see a rebirth of old-fashioned populism, perhaps arising out of a nostalgia for simpler times.

There are no doubt both racist and populist elements in the Wallace vote but these are not really adequate explanations of the Wallace political strength. Such explanations do not do adequate justice to the powers of discernment of the electorate or to the validity of the democratic process. It would be extremely depressing to have to assume that so many people are being guided in their vote by sheer bigotry or illusions.

That isn't necessary, however, because such interpretations most likely miss the point of why the Wallace campaign is proving to be so effective. What Wallace has been saying is that government, particularly at the federal level, is not responding to the real needs and wishes of that majority of people who work hard, pay their taxes and try to lead responsible lives. The fact that he is getting cheers and votes of assent to this message suggests that a lot of people think he is right.

When the busing issue, for example, is interpreted in this light, rather than purely in racial terms, it has a different appearance. The simple fact is that most people, white and black, don't want their small children made pawns in social experiments. When government insists on doing it anyway, they assume, with some justification, that government is not responding to their wishes and to their own concepts of what is socially possible and desirable.

Moreover, they know, by simply looking at the tax bite that comes out of their paychecks, that they are paying ever increasing sums for such a government.

Significantly, it was with thrusts at Washington bureaucrats "with nothing in their briefcases but peanut butter sandwiches," that Mr. Wallace was drawing some of his biggest cheers. And his principal opponents in the Democratic race, all of whom have been sitting in a Congress that has had a big role in expanding the federal bureaucracy, could easily be identified with this target.

This public concern about government itself—its size, its cost and its often clumsy management of social programs that affect the lives of millions of citizens directly and indirectly—should not be ignored by any candidate. To mistake it for bigotry or some other unworthy sentiment could be a serious mistake. And to ignore it could be of some considerable danger to us all, because there is a serious threat posed to a democratic system when the government no longer responds adequately to the wishes and concerns of the electorate.

MAIN STREET, U. S. A.

McGovern Has Come Long Way Down Road

By Bert Mills
Washington, D. C. — George McGovern may never be President but the Senator from South Dakota has succeeded in making himself a national figure with his surprising showing in the early Democratic primaries.

When Senator McGovern declared his candidacy back in January, 1971, he was rated a longshot at best. Most voters had never heard of him and of those who had, few regarded him as Presidential material. Some skeptics thought his real goal might be the Democratic nomination for Vice President. In 1971, it will be recalled, Senator Edmund Muskie of Maine was the favorite for the Democratic nomination. It seemed possible at the time that he might want an extreme liberal from the middle West as his running mate. In the 1968 election a liberal middle Westerner, Senator Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota, had balanced the ticket by picking Muskie to run for V. P.

Sixteen months after McGovern threw his hat in the ring and after 14 primaries, not all of which McGovern entered, he has emerged as the Democratic front-runner. Muskie has been forced to withdraw as an active candidate and McGovern is now leading the Democratic race.

A recent tabulation of pledged delegates showed McGovern leading with 332½, Humphrey with 239, and Governor George Wallace of Alabama with 206. The magic number necessary for nomination at the Democratic convention is 1,509. McGovern has a distance to travel to reach his goal, but look at how far down the road he has moved.

McGovern is Ex-Professor

Like Hubert Humphrey, George McGovern is a former college professor. A native of Avon, South Dakota, McGovern took his B. A. degree from unfamed Dakota Wesleyan University. After time-out as a bomber pilot in World War II, McGovern earned his Ph.D. at Northwestern University.

The future Senator returned to his Alma Mater to become a Professor of History and Government at Dakota Wesleyan. At age 34, he began to practice what he preached. He ran for the U. S. House of Representatives and was elected, serving two terms from 1957 to 1961.

When John F. Kennedy became President in 1961, he named McGovern a Special Assistant, and later put him in charge of the Food for Peace program. In 1962, McGovern ran for the U. S. Senate and was elected. He was reelected to the Senate in 1968, for a term that does not end until 1974.

With less than a decade in the Senate, McGovern has not attained the seniority that might bring him a leadership position. He has been a vocal exponent of his liberal views and has not been afraid to take an advanced position on such controversial issues as the Vietnam War, abortion, tax reform, and amnesty for draft dodgers and war protestors.

Senator McGovern will be 50 years old on July 19.

Kennedy Supports McGovern

For a long time, Senator McGovern was commonly regarded as a stalking horse for Senator Edward Kennedy. While Kennedy has not formally endorsed any candidate for the Democratic nomination, he has made it plain he favors the South Dakotan. One of the daughters of the late Senator Robert Kennedy campaigned with McGovern in Pennsylvania recently.

Labor leaders usually have a lot to do with selection of Democratic candidates for President. Up to now, most union chieftains are backing Humphrey, a tried and true supporter of most A.F.L.-C.I.O. positions. McGovern once cast a right-to-work vote that offended union leaders. However, it is safe to assume that if it comes to a race between Senator McGovern and President Nixon, labor will be on the Democratic side as usual.

Opposition to the Vietnam war has been the key issue of the McGovern campaign, and recent events in the war have given his candidacy a boost. But the convention isn't until July and the election until November, by which time the war situation may have changed.

Talk Of Texas

By Jack Maguire

NOW HISTORY REPEATS — Student unrest is not exactly a recent phenomenon at Texas colleges, as this story of an incident at Baylor University at Waco proves.

In the early 1900's, Baylor had as its president a former Yale professor named O. H. Cooper who liked to conduct the daily chapel services himself. One morning during chapes (held on the third floor of the administration building), some students smuggled a howling dog into the service. Infuriated at the interruption, Dr. Cooper seized the animal and hurled it through a window on the ground below.

The embarrassed president apologized the next day for his regrettable lack of control, but one of the students wouldn't let the matter lie. He notified the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals and the trustees of Baylor demanding retribution for Dr. Cooper's deed. Then he organized a revolt of the students that finally forced the resignation of the Baylor president.

The leader of the revolt was J. Frank Norris. Later, as pastor of the First Baptist Church, he became one of the most controversial figures in the history of religion in America.

THE PASSING PARADE — Houston's famous "weather eye," the huge ball which once perched atop a downtown bank and flashed forecasts from 200 feet above the sidewalk, has disappeared.

The ball, which could be seen for 25 miles, rotated twice a minute. Illuminated by 4.5 million candlepower lights, different colors informed the populace what weather to expect. A red light meant warmer weather, a white light cooler and a green light signified no change. A blinking red light forecast rain.

The ball was placed atop the bank building in 1955 and was removed after adjoining skyscrapers made it invisible to many parts of the city.

Operating each Sunday between 10:30 a.m. and 5 p.m. on the tracks of the Georgetown Railroad in Williamson County, the diesel-powered train of two 1920 vintage coaches takes passengers on a 40-minute trip. The ride takes passengers through a large quarry and runs through some rough hill country area where wild game abound.

Brown-Bryant Wedding Held In WTSU Chapel

The marriage of Miss Beverly Sue Brown of Canyon and John David Bryant was solemnized at mid-afternoon Saturday in Joseph A. Hill Chapel on the campus of West Texas State University, where both have been students.

After a trip to interesting points in Colorado, New Mexico and Texas, the couple will be at home June 1 at 112 Kingwood. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D.A. Brown of Canyon and Bryant's parents are Mr. and Mrs. David Cawthon Bryant of 312 Star.

Officiating for the wedding service was the Rev. Strauss Atkinson of Plainview, former pastor of First Baptist Church at Canyon and now district missionary.

Spring blossoms in an assortment of varieties and colors were arranged with three candelabra across the front of the chapel. The aisle was lined with candles twined with greenery.

Miss Jody Beaver of Clovis attended Miss Brown as maid of honor and Bob Veigel was best man. Bridesmaids were Miss Jan Wilkerson of Tulia and Mrs. Steve Butler of Canyon; groomsmen, Jim Dawson of Canyon and Paul Willis.

Serving as ushers were Lynn Brisendine, Jim McDowell, Dick Gerles and Charles Wagner.

Preceding the ceremony, Miss Molly Malone read from The Prophet a selection titled Love, and Buddy Roland sang solos with Ann Dowdy as organist. Selections included the love theme from the motion picture The Godfather, The Lord's Prayer and This Is My Beloved.

In empire style, the bride's gown had a portrait neckline gathered to narrow bias finishing and long puffed sleeves finished with wrist ruffles of the sheer fabric. Fullness of the bell skirt was held in soft front gathers at the high waistline, and the back was a series of wide ruffles from waist to carpet length.

She wore a picture hat of Chantilly lace on horsehair braid, and carried a bouquet of the mixed spring flowers. Her only jewel was a diamond drop, the gift of her mother, and as an heirloom piece she wore her mother's wedding ring.

Attendants' dotted Swiss frocks were in a quaint style of past years, with sashed waist and ruffled sleeves. Their wide-brimmed horsehair braid hats were in the mode of the bride's and they carried flowers in deep white baskets.

At the wedding reception in the Episcopal Center at WTSU, Miss Leigh Ann Weatherbee of Floydada, cousin of the bride, invited guests to register.

Misses Beth Watson of Pampa and Janna Johnson of Canyon served cake while Misses Patty Klaus of Odessa and Donna Ruthart of Canyon poured punch.

On the bride's table, covered with an ivory paisley brocade cloth, the three-tiered white cake was topped with assorted flowers. More of the blooms surrounded the chocolate cake on the groom's table.

For travel, Mrs. Bryant changed to a yellow knit sleeveless dress with white accessories.

She is a senior at WTSU majoring in math education, a member of Chi Omega and Alpha Chi honor fraternity. Bryant, on the staff of First National Bank, holds BBA and MBA degrees from WTSU, where he was a Kappa Alpha and a member of the varsity football team. He served as captain in the U.S. Army Reserves.

Campbell-Robinson Vows Are Spoken In Church

In a Saturday evening ceremony Miss Pamela June Campbell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Campbell, and Otis Charles Robinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Robinson, were married at Temple Baptist Church with Don Akin of Arlington, brother-in-law of the bride, officiating.

The couple exchanged vows at an altar backed by branched and spiral candelabra flanked with baskets of white gladiolas and snapdragons.

The bride's father gave her in marriage as her cousin Miss Bonnie Hudson of Amarillo accompanied Mrs. Jim Campbell of Raton as she sang, We've Only Just Begun and Wedding Prayer.

The bride's gown was of peau de soie and Venice lace with a high neckline, empire waist and long fitted sleeves. A detachable Watteau train of peau de soie and lace complimented the gown. Inserts of Venice lace trimmed the neckline, bodice, waist and sleeves of the gown. Her veil of illusion fell from a coil of appliqued lace and seed pearls.

She carried a cascade of white carnations and pink roses. A white linen handkerchief belonging to her paternal grandmother was an heirloom carried by the bride.

Mrs. Rick Ward attended the bride as matron of honor and Lee Robinson served his brother as best man. Mrs. John Spivey, Amarillo, Miss Susan Montgomery, Garden City, Kan. and Miss Melissa Stewart, San Antonio, were bridesmaids.

Alan Dunning, Mike Brumley and Pat Betzen attended as groomsmen with ushers Monty Campbell and Terry Campbell, brothers of the bride, Jess Robinson, brother of the bridegroom and Jeff Davenport.

Flower girl was Kamille Wilson and ring bearer Kevin Wilson, both cousins of the bridegroom. Denise Cotten and Ira Robinson lit the candles previous to the ceremony.

Miss Campbell's attendants wore mint green dacron gowns flocked in pink and white, with empire waistline and long sheer sleeves with wide cuffs. They carried wicker baskets containing shades of pink carnations and white baby breath.

At a reception following the ceremony, Miss Annette Cotten invited guests to register as Miss Lynne Immon served a three-tiered cake decorated with green icing and pink roses. A miniature chapel was displayed under the top tier.

Misses Joyce Ann and Nancy Schneider poured punch and assisted at the table.

For a wedding trip to San Antonio, Mrs. Robinson wore a pink voile dress with white lace bodice. Her pink rose and carnation corsage was lifted out of the bride's bouquet. The couple will be at home after

May 28 at 620 Irving, Apartment 34.

The bride is a graduate of Hereford High School and is now attending Texas Tech, majoring in medical technology.

Robinson, also a graduate of HHS, attends Texas Tech and is majoring in animal science.

Prince Valiant
IN THE DAYS OF KING ARTHUR
by Hal Foster

Our Story: PRINCE VALIANT TETHERS THE TWO HORSES AND FINDS A LOOKOUT POINT. KLEPT IS NOW ON FOOT, HIDDEN BY THE FOREST, BUT SOONER OR LATER MUST CROSS OPEN GROUND.

KLEPT'S PROGRESS IS STOPPED BY A STEEP GORGE. BUT NO ONE EVER CATCHES THE CLEVER KLEPT! HE MUST CROSS OPEN GROUND TO REACH HIS OBJECTIVE, BUT THERE IS PLENTY OF TIME.

HE BEGINS TO FELL THE TREE THAT WILL BRIDGE THE TORRENT. OH, HOW THE KEEN EDGE OF THE 'SINGING SWORD' MAKES THE 'WHITE CHIPS' FLY!

AT THE SOUND OF SPLINTERING WOOD, KLEPT LOOKS UP, AND TO HIS HORROR THE TREE IS FALLING THE WRONG WAY AND THE SWORD BLADE IS CAUGHT AS IN A VISE. AS HE STRAINS IN A VAIN ATTEMPT TO FREE IT, HE SEES VAL APPROACHING!

BUT NO ONE CATCHES KLEPT. NIMBLE AS A SQUIRREL HE CLIMBS A NEARBY SAPLING THAT OVERHANGS THE GORGE. IT SWAYS OUTWARD, ITS TOPMOST BRANCHES REACHING THE OTHER SIDE.

BUT THEY BEND UNDER HIS WEIGHT AND HE DANGLES A TERRIFYING SIX FEET FROM SAFETY.

AS VAL CALMLY FREES THE 'SINGING SWORD' FROM ITS PRISON HE HEARS THE CRACKLING OF BRANCHES, A SCREAM, AND A VERY SATISFACTORY THUD.

VAL RIDES AWAY THE GREAT 'SINGING SWORD' ONCE MORE AT HIS SIDE. SO HAPPY IS HE, THAT HE TAKES THE WRONG ROAD.

hints from Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:
At our wedding a number of years ago, my husband and I were showered with beautiful tinted rice. My mother (who is one of your most devoted fans) got the idea from one of your columns.

It was such a tremendous idea that I wondered if maybe you wouldn't repeat it again for the sake of all the new brides-to-be. Grateful

Yes, indeed, I'll be only too happy to do this and I also, have a little something extra to add to the original hint. This does make wonderful rice to shower the bride and groom, but can also be used at the bridal showers. This tinted rice may be wrapped in nylon net to match your color scheme.

I suggest buying at least three boxes of REGULAR rice (NOT pre-cooked). If you don't use it all, you can always cook it and use it later.

Pour a half cup of cold water in a bowl and add a few drops or so of food coloring (until desired shade is attained), then pour two cups of the uncooked rice into this mixture and immediately stir, stir, and stir with a spoon. (If the rice is too dark, add MORE rice at once and stir some more.)

Now pour the rice on folded newspapers (this will absorb the moisture) and spread it out with your spoon. Every 30 minutes or so, stir the rice again (takes about three or four times) until it is completely dry. (You can use your hair dryer.)

Make more than one shade and color in separate batches. Try pink, blue, yellow and a mixture of colors.

After these three or four mounds of rice are dry (each will be a different shade), mix them all together and add lots of white rice to those delicate little seeds of good wishes. They are absolutely beautiful.

In addition to using this in rice bags, recently a friend of mine took this tinted rice and made favors for guests at a bridal shower and also made a corsage for the bride-to-be. She took the tinted rice and made little roses. All that is needed is florist tape, florist wire, nylon net and the tinted rice.

Cut a small square of nylon net and fill with about a teaspoon of the tinted rice. Pinch the net up together as if making a rice bag and secure with the florist wire (cut each piece of wire to the desired length). This will form the base for the stem. Then take another long strip of nylon net (when double, about two inches wide) and wrap around the little rice bag. This will form the petals for your flower.

Now wrap the bottom of the flower base and stem with floral tape. You'll have the cutest, perkier rose imaginable. Each guest was given one of these to wear and the bride-to-be had an entire corsage made in this way. Just delightful!

SPOONFUL OF LOVE

DEAR HELOISE:
My mom is teaching me to cook. Sometimes when I stir I splatter all over me.

So Mom taught me to hold the spoon backwards and stir. Now the splatters are away from me and I don't get burned.

GRAM'S COOKBOOK

DEAR HELOISE:
This is not a time or money saver hint, but I thought some of your sentimental readers might like a memory saver.

I bought a beautiful cookbook in 1940 when I was first married, and in 1941 my first child arrived. I had three more fairly close together, and needless to say was very busy.

I was not always able to keep an eye on them every minute and this resulted in quite a few of their scribbles in my cookbook when I was baking.

I was upset about it at first, but one day it occurred to me that it would be a safe place to keep their childish drawings to look back on someday when I would be older.

When each one started to school and could print his or her own name, I'd let them draw on the back of one of the picture pages and let them print their names.

Then I would write in the date. Now 25 years later I prize this cookbook more than anything else I own, except for my photo albums.

These children are married and grandchildren are arriving. When they start to school they too will write in Gram's cookbook.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE:
I'm a brunette (bottle-speaker) and when I dye my hair I always use a black towel.

You see, this way I don't ruin my other towels and, besides that, no telltale stains show, and no one knows for sure!
Just Smart

EAT LIKE A BIRD!

DEAR HELOISE:
I have a wooden hanging basket that I don't use for plants any longer, but I have found another use for it.

I knocked off the small slats on one side of the basket, fitted a plywood roof on the top. Presto, a bird feeder.
A Reader

IT'S SO VERY CLEAR

DEAR HELOISE:
Like many seamstresses, I buy several yards of different material when I find them on sale. Storing these materials, patterns and "findings" were a problem. But no more.

During the year, I manage to save all the boxes I receive with "see-through" lids. I use a box for each set of material, thread, zippers. These boxes have saved me so much time, because now when I want to start an outfit, I can see that all the necessary items are in one place.

Mrs. Mary Dan

HANG YOUR HAT!

DEAR HELOISE:
My family had long outgrown the need for an adjustable baby gate, but I didn't want to discard it.

We needed a large coat rack. With three children there is an abundance of heavy coats, light jackets, sweaters, hats and mittens.

These items take up a lot of drawer and closet space, so I made a large rack out of this adjustable gate.

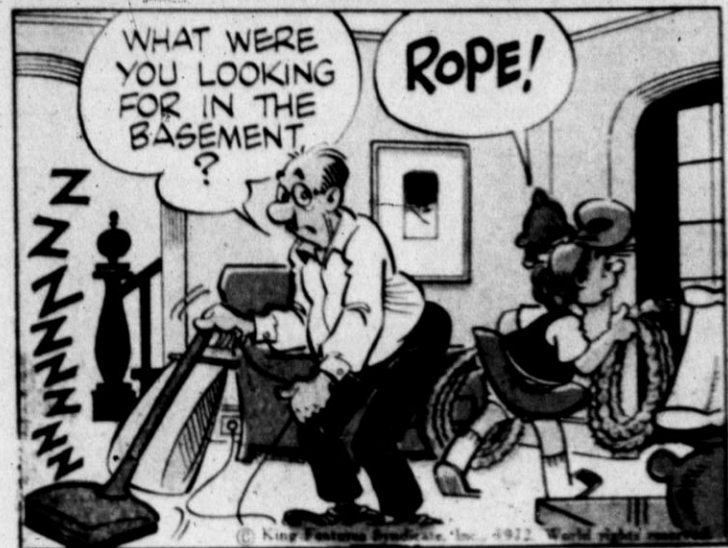

We put nails on the outside slats, and in this way the gate can be expanded or closed to suit the space.

I hung the rack from the top board around the walls (we have a block house) just behind the bedroom door.

It's out of the way and I put 26 nails in it so we certainly have room for all items.

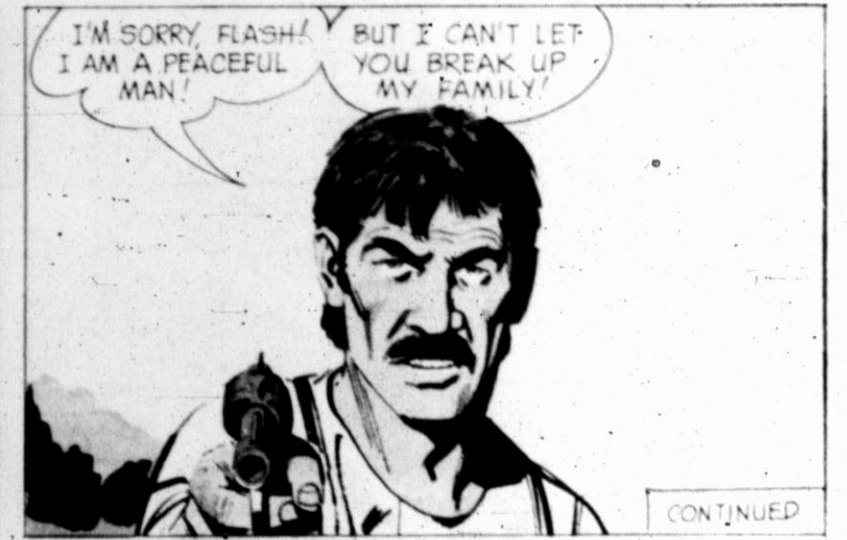

Also, I put elastic loops on the coats and such to make them easier to hang.

BULLETIN BOARD

• To become President of the U.S. one must be at least 35, born a citizen, must have lived in the U.S. for at least 14 years, and meet what other requirement?

• Try this: Raise both arms straight out from your sides. See if you can remain in this position two minutes without dropping your arms.

• Join a horizontal line at its center with a vertical line drawn downward; add two small circles at right. What word have you drawn?

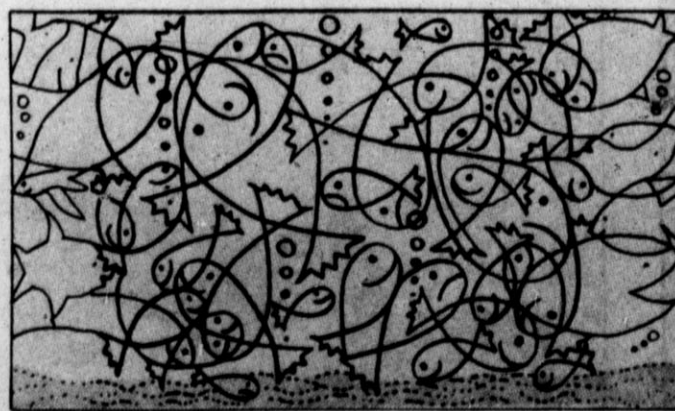

• Grandma's garden contains HAPNISC, EBANS, and ARCORTS. Quickly, unscramble the vegetables.

HERE is a stunt that looks easy, but it is not. Ask a friend to hold out his hand and then have him bend his thumb over into his palm. Tell him to then release it (return it to its original position), which he does without difficulty.

Next, have him place the back of his hand (the same hand) against his side, up under the arm, as shown above, and again challenge him to bend his thumb over into the palm of his hand.

Not all can do it. Can you?

It is equally difficult with either hand.

FISH CENSUS! How many fish do you think are pictured here? Take a guess. Note: A fish must have a head and tail to count.

OUT ON A LIMB! For a surprise picture above, add these colors: 1-Red. 2-Blue. 3-Yellow. 4-Brown. 5-Flesh tones. 6-Lt. green. 7-Purple. 8-Dk. Green. 9-Pink. 10-Black.
