Stadium services tonight send Hereford seniors into final week

Approximately 270 Hereford High School seniors go into their final week of high school here with their participation in baccalaureate services tonight and commencement exercises Thursday. Both services will be at 8 p.m. at Whiteface Stadium. Processional music will be provided for both services by the high school stage band.

Baccalaureate services will feature Fr. John Kiesling of St. Anthony's Catholic Church, giving the invocation, followed by the mixed choir's singing of "Let There Be Peace" by Jackson. The sermon will be delivered by the Rev. Fred Howard and the benediction by Dr. Gerald Mann.

Commencement exercises will be at the same time Thursday beginning with the invocation by Donny McDermitt, president of the senior class. The combined band and choir will then sing "Hymn For Our Time," followed by the salutatory by Kevin Young and the valedictory by Sharon Readhimer. Sara Bell, secretary of the senior class will present the class gift and high school principal Jerry Don George will make the presentation of awards. Roy Hartman, superintendent of schools, will present the class and Hilrey Aven, president of the school board, will present the diplomas. Following the presentation of diplomas, the Spiritual Swingers will sing the class song, "We've Only Just Begun." The concert band will then present a selection, "Flag of Stars."

The school song will be sung by the senior class and the benediction will be by Wendall Albracht, vice president of the senior class.

Colors for the graduating class are gold and white, the flower is the Yellow Rose and the song is "We've Only Just Begun." The motto of the graduates is "For Yesterday is but a dream and tomorrow is only a vision. But today well lived will make every yesterday a dream of happiness and each tomorrow a vision of hope." Honor attendants for the senior class are Sally Bayne and Eugene Suttle.

Billye Buck is coordinator for the class.

In the event of rain, on either night, the ceremonies will be moved to the La Plata Junior High gymnasium.

FOOTBALL STAR — Don Maynard, all-pro wide receiver for the New York Jets, tees off on the fourth hole during Friday's Fellowship of Christian Athletes golf tournament. He shot a 101 for the 18-hole round. His partners were Dick Tubb, Walter Bryan and David Bornstein.

FCA golf tourney ends in 4-way tie

Four teams fought blustery winds and sometimes-chilly temperatures Friday to shoot eight-under-par 68, and tie for first place in the 1st Annual Fellowship of Christian Athletes Golf Tournament.

Don Maynard, pass-catching star for the New York Jets, attracted a small gallery for his foursome, which also included Dick Tubb, Walter Bryan and David Bornstein.

Maynard himself shot a 101 and his team finished with a low ball of 66, which put the group in a two-way deadlock for seventh in the 18-team field.

A dinner in the Bull Barn, highlighted by speeches by Maynard, Tech Tech assistant football coach Richard Bell and West Texas State assistant Corky Dawson, ended the day's activities.

Each member of the four first-place teams won $20 in golf merchandise. Two other teams shot 64s and each member of those foursomes won $7.50 gift certificates from the golf shop.

Mack Tubb was the only one of 72 players in the field to break par. He turned in a 69 to help his team to a 64 team total and won a $15 gift certificate from Penney's.

Tubb also was one of four players receiving three golf balls for sharing in the best low net score. He, Wayne Phillips, Cuby Kitchens and Burns Hamilton all came in with five-under-par 66s after handicaps were taken off.

Hamilton had the second best round in the tourney, a 72. Dick Tubb and Joe Tubb, brothers to Mack, shot 73s, as did Kitchens. Dana Rush, Vance Hall and Carroll McDonald shot 74s.

The prize money and merchandise was contributed by various merchants. The $20 entry fee, after green fees were deducted, went to a fund to send local high school athletes to a one-week summer Fellowship of Christian Athletes conference at Estes Park, Colo.

High school athletes caddied for players in the tournament.

Here are the team results:

RAILROAD PETITION — Mrs. Gene Combs prepares to hand Mayor Jim Sears a copy of a petition signed by more than 300 persons protesting the lack of full protection devices on the Progressive Road railroad crossing. She and Mrs. Robert Nichols, center, said the petitions were signed by employes and employes' wives working at 13 companies who have to cross the crossing frequently.

Citizens sign petitions on rail crossing

A petition with more than 300 names was presented to city and county officials and representatives of Santa Fe Railroad Thursday, complaining about the need for cross arms and warning system at the Progressive Road crossing of the railroad tracks at the east edge of Hereford.

Mrs. Robert Nichols, a bookkeeper and wife of the manager at Shupe Brothers Trucking Co., and Mrs. Gene Combs gave copies of the petition to Mayor Jim Sears and County Commissioner Marcus Latham.

Several companies took action independently. They wrote Santa Fe Railroad and told the company they planned to ship nothing more by rail until the crossing was given warning devices.

"We're concerned all those who work out there, and our families, cross at this crossing several times a day. We could be next," said Mrs. Combs, whose husband is a truck driver for Shupe Brothers.

A train-skip accident killed a man at the crossing Monday. Three weeks earlier, a young woman suffered a broken neck in a train-car accident at the crossing.

The petition had a cover page explaining that the signers were employes and employes' wives from 13 companies—Shupe Brothers Trucking, Farr Better Feed, Monsanto Chemical, Moorman Feeds, Allied Liquid Feed, Pittman Grain Company, Pacific Molasses Company, Deck Produce, Robert Wagner Trucking, Burke Inman Trucking, Hereford Wrecking Company, Hacker & Sons Meat Packing Company and Bid Daddy's Restaurant and Truck Stop.

The danger is complicated, the petition said, by the following:

Crossing from the north to south, the road rises sharply, making it hard to see the railroad tracks;

Truck traffic over the crossing is very heavy;

Tracks are used as a switching place for cars, holding up traffic; and Railroad cars are parked too close to the tracks. As a result, a person cannot see around them or hear another train coming.

By ALESIA RAGSDALE

The presentation of the John Philip Sousa Award and the performance of the Hereford Junior and senior high choirs and bands marked the 2nd annual Music Festival Thursday night before a relatively light crowd. Dean Kelley of KFDD-TV in Amarillo emceed the production.

The Sousa Award presentation culminated the evening's activities. It went to David Henslee, graduating senior. Dr. Milton C. Adams presented the award to Henslee, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Henslee, 123 Star.

Stanton's Junior High Choir directed by Douglas Morris began the program, followed by La Plata's Junior High Choir under the direction of Judy McLarty. After each of the junior high choirs sang three selections, their respective bandsmen performed a march, a rock piece, and the major work they had performed at UIL competition. Randy Vaughn directed the Stanton Junior High Band and Jim Priest conducted his La Plata Junior High Band.

GED retesting schedule given

Persons who have taken and failed the General Educational Development tests offered by the high school, will be required to wait six months before taking the tests again, unless they meet specified requirements set down by the state.

Robert Thompson, high school counselor in charge of the testing, said since the tests were begun late last year, people who failed them have been returning after only a few weeks to take them again. This, he said, was in violation of the state Texas Education Agency rules governing the GED testing.

The reply from the TEA said an individual whose scores are not "high enough may take a different form of one or more of the GED tests after he has studied with a qualified instructor, and they present to the testing agent a letter from the instructor stating that they have prepared to retake the test or tests he did not pass."

Police jail two on rape charge

A 28-year-old Negro man and a 41-year-old White man were in Deaf Smith County Jail on $10,000 bond each Saturday, on allegations the White man held his struggling wife while the Negro raped her.

The wife, who is 23, told police her husband came to their apartment about 11 p. m. Thursday with Alvin Black, 125 Virginia St. They had been drinking, and her husband ripped off her robe and told her to have relations with the Negro, she said.

The woman, who has an 18-month-old child and is two months pregnant with a second child, told officers she refused and her husband beat her on the thigh, back and neck, then held her down for the other man.

The husband took his friend home two or three hours later and his wife called police. When policeman Dean Jones and deputy Garry Gillespie arrived, the man talked with them about 30 minutes and agreed to go with them, then hit Gillespie in the face, starting a scuffle, according to the police report. After being taken to jail, he gave the name of the Negro, police said.

The husband has been charged with aggravated assault and rape. Black, who was arrested Friday morning at the Missouri Beef Packers plant at Friona, where he works, was charged

Try outs set for Colt League

The Colt Baseball League, on the brinks of folding in Hereford this season unless more boys show interest in playing, will have a pair of tryout sessions Monday and Tuesday evenings on the grass field north of Northwest Elementary.

School events conflicted with both announced Colt registration sessions last week, and only 20 boys have signed up to play this season. At 15 boys per team, that's just enough for one team. Hereford had three teams and Dimmitt one team last year.

Colt League officials urged 15 and 16 year old boys who have not registered yet to bring their parents with them to the tryout session Monday and do so. The tryout sessions start at 7:30 p.m. and last for an hour.

"If we don't get more response, we'll be without a Colt League," a league spokesman said. "We need at least 50 boys. Boys who played last season need to re-register.

Saturday wreck brings jail to wayward driver

A 30-year-old Hereford man remained in county jail late Saturday, pending a hearing on Monday on charges of driving while intoxicated.

The man, Victor Allen Birkeland, 126 25 Mile Ave., was arrested by city police officers about 8 a. m. Saturday after he was involved in an accident near U. S. 80 and Main Street.

Officer Ricky Powers said the man turned off Sampson Street and was traveling west on U.S. 80 on the wrong side of the highway when his car jumped the center medium and struck a light pole. The man then backed up and headed east on U. S. 80 when he jumped the medium again and struck several small posts near the Santa Fe Railway depot, Powers said.

The officer said after Birkeland hit the posts, he backed up again and headed west. He made a turn onto south Main Street, but it was there his 196 Chevrolet stopped and he was unable to start it.

The Washington Monument is 555 feet high.

Triticale advances to be shown here

Latest advances in the development of the new grain and forage crop, triticale, will be shown June 3 at a national field day near Hereford. Sponsored by FasGro Seeds, Inc., of Amarillo, the event will be held on the Kersten farm, four miles west of Hereford. Tours will begin at 10 a.m. and refreshments will be served.

Visitors will have an opportunity to see basic research and nursery plots exhibiting much of the work of Dr. B. Charles Jenkins, developer of modern triticale. FasGro varieties 131, 203, 204, 208, and 385 will be featured in comparisons with other triticale varieties, and with adapted varieties of wheat, rye, and barley.

The most effective cultural practices for growing triticale will be illustrated in comparison plots on date-of-planting, fertilization and irrigation. Hay produced from Multi-Graze, the FasGro triticale forage variety will also be on display.

Crosses between rye and durum wheat were reported in the late century, but only in the last decade has triticale become practical as a cereal, feed grain and forage crop. After years of recurrent selection and backcrossing to desirable bread wheats, new triticale varieties were recently introduced. They have shown more vigorous early growth, improved disease resistance, better fertility, dependably higher yield performance, and significantly higher and better balance protein. Because it is an unusually rich source of the essential amino acids, triticale holds the promise of providing improved human and animal nutrition.

Notes and quotes from Texas Tech

Ticket sales for the June 26 Coaches All-America game are running about 5,000 ahead of last year's pace, which resulted in a record crowd of 42,150 in the game's first year in Lubbock.

Despite the size of the crowd, All-America game officials are certain the contest will show a profit — Northeast Louisiana's Joe Profit has already signed to play.

Texas Tech plays three of its first four grid games on the road next fall. The Red Raiders meet Tulane in the opener in New Orleans, then return to Lubbock for a tilt with New Mexico University. The next two games find Tech in Austin against Texas in a 4 p. m. game, and in Tucson the next week for another afternoon battle with Arizona.

A $75,000 gift by Tech President Emeritus Clifford B. Jones will increase the capacity of Tech's Jones Stadium to more than 45,000. The seating enlargement will begin after the 1971 season. The stadium has 41,500 permanent seats.

Coach Jim Carlen has lost 14 pounds of a projected 15 pound loss in an off-season diet. The Red Raider's head man will enter his second season at Texas Tech and his sixth as a college head coach. His lifetime record is 37-17-3 in college and 55-19-4 overall after last year's 8-4 season at Tech, the school's best since 1965.

The biggest man on Texas

Tech's team this fall will be of-fensive tackle Jerry Ryan (6-5, 253). He is the only man on the roster weighing 250 or over. The biggest neck belongs to Ryan and John Kleinert, who stands 5-7 and weighs 170.

Folks in Bronte, Tex. have things in common. Texas Tech footballers Doug McCutchen and Davis Corley, both from Bronte, list as their favorite foods steak and strawberry shortcake.

Tank and Bowling Ball are the tags most often placed on James Mosley, Red Raider sophomore fullback. What keeps him going? He says it's fried chicken and red beans.

Miles Langehennig, Texas Tech senior tailback lists as his most memorable experience in college as scoring the first touchdown in the Jim Carlen era at Tech. That came in last year's opener against Tulane.

Russell Ingram, who will be the Red Raider's starting center next fall, has made the Dean's List three out of four semesters since entering Texas Tech. He's a business major.

Horse disease moves closer to United States

COLLEGE STATION—U. S. Department of Agriculture animal health officials and livestockmen are keeping a sharp eye out for symptoms of a foreign virus disease of horses that has recently moved closer to the United States.

The disease, Venezuelan equine encephalomyelitis (VEE), has moved northward from South and Central America into southern Mexico where about 6,000 horses were reported killed by the disease. Besides Mexico, the disease has been reported in 18 other countries in South and Central America.

VEE is an infectious disease of the central nervous system of horses that sometimes causes a mortality rate as high as 90-99 percent, according to officials of the USDA's Agricultural Research Service.

Symptoms include a rapid rise in body temperature up to 106 degrees accompanied by a rapid pulse rate, loss of appetite, and depression. Often the animal will walk in circles until it falls down. Death may occur in six to eight days. Also, a horse may hang its head, press its head against objects, assume a cross-legged stance, show a "drifting" gait or appear drowsy, say animal health officials.

End of this month is busy
By Mrs. Argen Draper
Home Demonstration Agent

The last week of May will be busier than ever with all youth activities. Preparation for the 4-H Round-up will be June 2-3 and 4 on the campus of A&M University. We have four excited 4-H members preparing for this contest. Mickey Ginn and Kay Atchley will give an electric team demonstration; Lynette Clearman and Monica Herring will tell folks from all over Texas rules in personal protection from tornadoes.

Another very fine award has come to Sue Shirley and Mickey Ginn. They received a scholarship from Producers Grain Corporation for the PGC 4-H Talent Club and Tour and the National 4-H Citizenship short course, Washington, D. C., June 10-22.

The scholarship covers part of the expenses and the remainder is paid by the individual. Too, a 4-H member can apply and if accepted, can pay the total amount for the trip.

The good youth organizations and outstanding adult leaders in Hereford make for the good citizens among our young people.

Jane Witkowski and Jan Turentine are working in the chocolate sales. We appreciate these Junior leaders as well as the adult leaders who are making the chocolate sales successful.

I hear some 4-H members are eyeing those prizes and really "going after" them with a vengeance. I like the prize plan in that members don't compete against each other but if they sell a certain number they each get a prize. And there are prizes galore.

Mrs. A. B. Kent, Mrs. Raymond Smith and I continued our Ford H. D. Club meeting at Red Barn Cafe last Monday. The Red Barn is at Ford corner at the G. W. Simmons Elevator. Mrs. Opal Jackson, better known as Granny, operates the cafe with the help of her daughter, Mrs. Willard (Nadine) Parker. They are the mother and sister of Mrs. C. R. Stokesbury.

WTSU awards Hereford girls certificates

Six Hereford girls were among 25 chosen last spring to attend the Concentrated College Training for Business Program (CCTB) at West Texas State University. They are to receive their certificates for high scores this month.

Barbara Hoffman, Linda Kleuskens, Marsha Horton, Kydiane Higgins, Diana Golden and Diane London, all of Hereford, trained on the calculator, printing calculator, adding machine, transcriber, IBM decimal tabulator typewriter, IBM executive typewriter, key punch and in shorthand.

The 32-hour course, 16 hours nine months, trained them in various phases of office work.

formed from liquid table cream to a velvety heavy-bodied cream by the addition of a lactic acid culture. The tangy flavor of the sour cream must be produced precisely the same in each batch.

Following homogenizing and pasteurizing of the cream and the addition of the culture, it is timed and temperature controlled to develop just the right flavor. Chilling immediately after this flavor is reached stops the action of the culture and "fixes" the sourness. It is gently stirred and then packaged ready for the consumer.

See what sour cream does for:

- Applesauce Cake: 1/2 cup heavy sour cream, 1/4 to 1 cup sugar, 1/2 cup unsweetened thick applesauce, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 2 cups sifted flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon soda, 1/2 teaspoon cloves (ground), 1 cup chopped raisins, 1 cup chopped nuts

Mix sour cream, sugar and applesauce. Sift the dry ingredients together and add to the first mixture with the raisins and nuts. Mix well. Pour into a well-greased bread pan and bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees F., for about 1 hour.

GRADUATES—Rebecca Jean Kropff, wife of Stan C. Kropff, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Jackson of Hereford, was among the 46 graduates of Northwest Texas School of Nursing in ceremonies Friday in Amarillo.

Trip to Mexico impressive to Joe Reinauers

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Reinauer and son Art returned last weekend from Corpus Christi where they attended the presentation of the United States Navy Wings of Gold to son, Lt. Jg Bob Reinauer.

LA Reinauer was on leave before reporting to Jacksonville, Fla. as Navy Aviator Jet Pilot. Bob and his wife Brenda accompanied the Reinauers on a two week trip to Mexico while Art returned home to commence high school study.

The Reinauers first toured the glass factory at Nuevo Laredo, Mex. As days passed they toured the industrial city of Monte ey, San Luis Potosi and Mexico City.

While in Mexico City they observed Cinco De Mayo, a national holiday celebration in Mexico with parades by soldiers and citizens.

They went atop the Latin American Tower and watched fireworks over the city as celebrations continued.

At Chapultepec Park they saw the castle where Emperor Maximilian and Empress Carlotta once lived. Tours of the Museum of Anthropology, the University of Mexico and Olympic Stadium followed.

"The stadium holds a capacity of 100,000 and resembles a volcanic crater," said Mrs. Reinauer.

Next they saw ancient cathedrals, the national pawn shop, and government buildings in Constitution Square or "Zocalo. They spent the following night in the City of Flowers where "the fragrance was magnificent." Deep sea fishing was enjoyed at Vera Cruz, and riverboat fishing at Tampico.

Interesting military forts were seen to be at Puebla, Mex.

A highlight of the trip were the Teotihuacan pyramids in the City of Gods. An early history was given in the Pyramids of the Sun and the Moon with a light and sound show.

The Reinauers ended their two weeks in Mexico at Matamoras and crossed the border to Brownfield where they went to Corpus and flew home Saturday.

"It was quite an enjoyable trip," said Mrs. Reinauer.

FISHERY FIND
GREAT YARMOUTH, England—An unusual archeological find in Norfolk is given wide berth by museum officials—because of a fishy smell. Consequently, visitors must walk to an isolated part of the museum to see the 14th century stone carving, dug from the depths of this fishing port. The carving, believed to be a relic of the town's ancient friary, exudes an odor of decayed fish.

and a penny. The letter was mailed to the First Lady in early April, and she received a reply on April 20.

Carla, who graduated from kindergarten Thursday, was not one to take the entire spotlight in her letter to Mrs. Nixon. She thanked the First Lady for all the things she has done and told about her 3-year-old brother, Rex.

The reply, dated April 16 and bearing the official seal of the White House, contained a brief letter thanking Carla for the picture and correspondence, and two pictures, one of the White House and another of the Nixon family.

"She just decided she wanted to do it," said Mrs. Baxter. "She is always coming up with something like this, even with people she has never met." "She told me what she wanted to say and I put it down word for word then she copied it from what I wrote down." "Carla, her mother said, still doesn't realize the actual meaning of the letter, so she isn't too impressed at this time.

By MRS. OWEN ANDREWS
Frio Homemakers Club met Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Owen Andrews. Officers were elected for the new club year, which will begin with the first September meeting. Mrs. Lloyd Shultz was elected president, Mrs. Eugene Baldwin, vice president, and Mrs. Ronnie Andrews, treasurer. Secretary, also, Mrs. Annie Springer was elected marketing chairman and Mrs. Owen Andrews reported.

Dariene Sparkman is here spending a few days with her parents, the T. L. Sparkmans, before returning to Baylor for the summer session.

The Marsh Pitmans came home from school at Baylor, to spend the summer months here.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry George have moved to near Camp Hood, where he is stationed in the Army. She is the former Andrea Axe and has lived with the parents, the Anderson Axes, while Larry was overseas.

Visiting the Floyd Coles, Tuesday night, were relatives Miss Mary Henderson, Oklahoma City, and Mrs. Christine Brown, Alva, Okla.

Mrs. H. M. Mobley and Austin Mobley were in Farmington to visit the Mobley sons, Don and Raymond and their families. They also planned to attend the wedding of Kent Mobley, son of the Raymond Mobleys, at Cortez, Colo., on Saturday night. Kent is home on leave from the Army after several months service in Germany.

Monte Gripp is to be home with his parents, the Glenn Gripps, for a few days then plans to work in Lubbock at Veterinary work during the summer. Monte is an Animal Science major at Tarleton State College.

Mrs. Jackie Doughman is now a patient at Younkers Memorial Rehabilitation Center, 1700 Pleasant St., Des Moines, Iowa — 50308. Olin Parris flew Jackie and Bob there on May 10, from Amarillo. Jackie had been in St. Anthony's since suffering a stroke on Jan. 28 and had greatly improved since therapy was started there. Both Bobs and Jackie's relatives live in Des Moines. They are optimistic about this special treatment, designed especially for persons suffering this type of paralysis.

Word has been received here of the death of Leo Williams Jr. son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Williams.

The Joe Andrews visited her grandparents, the Zerrel Piggrens and Mrs. Hattie Haseloff, and other relatives at Vernon, on Mothers Day. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Haseloff and brother, Robert Haseloff, of Abilene, also came for the day of family gatherings.

The Bill Grimmons, who are fairly new in the community, spent Mothers Day weekend with his father and other relatives at Wellington. The Grimmons live on the Schlabs place.

The Lloyd Shultz home was the scene of a cookout, Friday evening. The occasion was to celebrate birthdays of Mrs. T.L. Sparkman, Jr., Frank Robbins and Shultz. The backyard barbecue was finished off with homemade ice cream and birthday cake. Others there were T. L. Sparkman, Jr., Mrs. Frank Robbins, Genie Robbins, Patti Robbins, Jerry Robbins, Scottie Robbins, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Cole and Beverley Cole, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Stephan, Jill Stephan, Rhonda Stephan, Chad Stephan, Steve Robbins, Camille Langley.

Mrs. Sparkman was surprised by a gathering of relatives at her home Saturday evening, in celebration of their birthday. Those from out of town who came were her sister, Mrs. Charles King and Mr. King and their granddaughter Dariene, all of Amarillo, and an aunt, Mrs. Allie Burris, of Texico.

Adrian woman receives bite from possible rabbiied skunk

By ANN BEAVERS
Last Tuesday morning outside our home as I was putting my 2-year-old son Dewey in our pickup, I was bitten on the right foot by a skunk.

When he bit me, I went ahead and got in the pickup and I know he would have bitten me several times as he was going around in circles, looking for me.

I tried to run over him in the pickup, but he went through the yard fence. Then I got scared, and did a little bit of everything, before I finally came to my sense and knew I would have to go to the doctor and take those awful rabbiie shots.

I had always heard that they were so bad to take and were so hard on you.

I drove to Adrian and my husband, Brub, drove me to Vega and Dr. Wills gave me a tetanus shot and told me I would have to go to the Amarillo Health Center to get the rabbiie vaccine.

They gave me enough vaccine for 14 days, one each day. They told me to take it back to Dr. Wills, but when I got there he had gone to Hereford on a business meeting. So I went to Hereford, where I am getting my shots. I was ready for the mental institution by the time I finally found out the shots weren't so bad after all. The first one hurt for a while and that was all. They do leave red places, that go away when you get through taking your shots.

This drug is made from duck embryo and there are very few side effects.

Later that day my husband killed a skunk, he cut the head off and sent it to Dallas. Friday afternoon we got the report that he was rabbiie. By then I had already had four shots.

The most horrible part of this experience is, if I had only known the shots weren't so bad, I wouldn't have been so scared.

While I am taking my shots, I met a very brave little boy, Robert Moya age 4, who was bitten by a rabbiie skunk in his back yard at his home, across the road from Big Tex Elevator.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Angel Moya.

Moreman to TCU office

Jack A. Moreman, who has been feed yard manager for Alpha-Omega Industries of Hereford since 1960 and also responsible for an extensive backgrounding operations on grass, will join Texas Christian University faculty as assistant director of the Ranch Management Program.

The change will be effective July 1, according to Dr. James Newcomer, vice chancellor for academic affairs.

Directed by John Merrill, TCU's unique nine-month program offers opportunity for study in all phases of ranch management. Its 12 courses combine intensive classroom instruction in basic principles of land, grass, livestock, record and marketing with extensive travel to ranches, farms, feedlots, markets and experiment stations in several states.

A native of Hedley in the Texas Panhandle, Moreman served in the Army Veterinary Corps and was employed by the Texas

Animal Health Commission before joining the Clarendon Junior College faculty in 1962. For eight years he was general manager of Doneguy Ranches at Wellington and Henrietta, Okla., responsible for both registered and commercial cow-calf operations and stocker operations on native and cultivated pastures.

Mr. Moreman's broad experience particularly qualifies him for our work at TCU," said Merrill, "and we are very pleased to have him join us."

Active in youth work as well as cattle industry activities, Moreman is a member of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, Texas Farm Bureau and a trustee of the Texas 4-H Council.

Gladys' Garden

By Gladys Howton Manjeot

The wonderful month of May, Brings many happy days, And all along the pleasant way.

The birds sing sweet, and fly from tree to tree with glee, The pretty flowers lift up their faces to the warm sunshine And beckon you to come into the garden.

If we are to continue to enjoy such pleasant things, and marvel at the sheer beauty of the flowers, and the good eats so richly provided by the soil and man, then all of us must become more CONSERVATIVE MINDED. We Americans are wasteful and unmindful of the many things which come into our lives through the medium of the GOOD EARTH, and NATURE.

These Conservation Commandments, were in one of the issues of The Lone Star Gardener, the Garden Clubs monthly magazine. To me it is worth reading and practicing, so I pass these Commandments on to you.

1. STUDY the land so that each acre may be used wisely according to its capabilities and treated according to its needs. 2. GUARD well the living soil, that it may continue to nurture man: Clothe it lovingly with vegetation.

Hold on to it tenaciously. Restore its fertility and organic content, and IMPROVE it as a legacy for posterity. 3. Reverse water, the lifeblood of civilization; (It hurts me real deep down to see water wantonly wasted) Retard it on the surface. Trap it in the soil, and guard its PURITY zealously. 4. CHERISH forests that they may conserve water, shelter wildlife, provide for our needs, and restore our tranquility. 5. RESPECT all living things as having a role, however humble, in the balance. 6. PROVIDE living museums, samples of primeval America, to be managed by nature alone, so that they may... SERVE as reservoirs of wild species that may be needed tomorrow; provide control areas against which man's efforts at management may be measured. 7. LEARN to live in harmony with nature in an ecological symphony, a mutually beneficial dependency.

MAKE YOUR VOICE TO BE HEARD, BUT MOST OF ALL MAKE ACTIONS COUNT IN THE PRESERVATION OF OUR ENTRUSTMENTS. Conservation does not mean going back to nature, but rather a going forward to establish the right relationship between man and his environment in which all should respect the balance of nature science tells him so much about. DON'T Grow this flowers. (Litterbugusee godroppium trashia). Litterbug. It is a very obnoxious weed, closely related to the beer-can and wine-bottle plants. It is wide ly cultivated in "civilized" countries and has attained world-wide distribution. Its range extends wherever man has passed. Usually, it is found with close association of the slower-growing native plant species, entangled with the dense undercover. It grows well in state and national parks, in national forests on sand dunes, along picturesque rocky shore and over sandy beaches. It is a good bloomer, as it blossoms throughout the year. It is the only flower that could and should be picked every day. Only through public support, education of the youth (and adults) can this very undesirable plant be exterminated. Its existence depends solely on the lack of appreciation for the natural beauty found throughout this great country of ours. The only way this flower can be exterminated, is by each individual taking care of their LITTER, taking pride in their premises, and practicing cleanliness. REMEMBER — To prune and shape the spring flowering shrubs after their blooming is completed. Pyracantha can be so trimmed that it is suitable for a tall narrow area, or an open full space. They have had an abundance of lovely flowers, and therefore there is promise of an abundance of beautiful colorful berries, in the fall. Do not cut unnecessarily long stems when picking the early rose blooms. This will have a tendency to weaken the plant. Remove unsightly stems and old blossoms from the iris. Clean around the base of the plants make plans to divide those which need it. If old rhizomes are on top of the ground, and the clumps are ragged, then something should be done to keep the iris well groomed. The iris lover may find it very interesting to let some of the choice iris make seed, and then do some propagation. Plant some of the seed and note how they compare with the mother plant. Add new things to your garden tools. I have become interested in the Flatline garden hose. This hose is flat when the water is off, and it is very flexible, easy to move and drains itself automatically. Won't kink. I am going to look around in some of the garden places, and see what it is really like.

FATAL CROSSING — Gonzalo Olivarez, an employee of Farr Better Feeds, was killed Monday in a train-pickup collision at the Progressive Road crossing. The accident was the second in less than a month at the same crossing, and the first fatality.

By MELVIN YOUNG A recent copy of Progressive Farmer carried an editorial that we thought was of particular interest to the people of this area. We'll not run the entire thing but give a few of the highlights. For instance, according to a U. S. census report, 44 per cent of all young adults (20 to 24 years of age) moved between March 1968 and March 1969. This does not include students temporarily living away from home at college unless their families moved; neither does it include armed forces personnel living on post without families. It would be safe to figure, they say, that of the 44 per cent who changed residence a majority of them moved from a rural area to an urban area. And what does the loss of these young people to the rural area mean, monetarily speaking? Well, according to the article, on a Southern farm the cost of raising a child to 18 years of age at 1969 prices on a moderate cost level ranges from $29,000 in a five-child family to $37,000 in a two-child family. If costs are at a low level, the total for the 18 years ranges from $19,000 to $26,000 depending on the family size. And like the Progressive Farmer, we wonder if city people, particularly city and chamber of commerce officials, ever give rural areas credit for this huge subsidy of manpower (or brainpower, if you prefer) they receive from their country neighbors. —Something to think about isn't it? —HB— And here's another little item that might interest you. It's an excerpt from a speech made a few months ago by Thomas R. Shepard, Jr., the publisher of Look magazine. Says Mr. Shepard: "Members of the Disaster Lobby look back with fond nostalgia to the 'good old days' when there weren't any nasty factories to pollute the air and kill the animals and drive people to distraction with misleading advertisements. But what was life really like in America 150 years ago? "For one thing, it was very brief. Life expectancy was 38 years for males. And it was a grueling 38 years. The work week was 72 hours. The average pay was $300. Per year, that is. "The women had it worse. Housewives worked 96 hours a week, and there wasn't a dishwasher or vacuum cleaner to be had. The food was monotonous and scarce. The clothes were rags. In the winter you froze and in summer you sweated and when an epidemic came — and they came almost every year — it would probably carry off someone in your family. Chances are that in your entire lifetime you would never hear the sound of an orchestra or own a book or travel more than 20 miles from the place you were born." —HB— Still want to go back to the "good old days?" —HB— Mr. Shepard also says that he is not a "Pollyanna," and is well aware of the problems this nation faces and of the need to find solutions and put them into effect. We feel sure that the thinking American citizen has always been aware of the problems facing this nation and it has been this awareness and their efforts that is responsible for bringing us so far in the past 200 years. It's really a great life — and a great country. We have our ups and downs, but that's just part of living. And certainly we should all continue to work and worry about our problems and make every effort to find the solutions but surely we can do this without joining the "disaster lobby" — as Mr. Shepard calls it. —HB— Now if you really want to panic, just remember that next week school will be out and you'll have all the youngsters home again for the next three months!

Sugar beet production is aided by fertilizer tests

Fertilizer tests on sugar beets have been conducted in the Hereford area by Ronald M. Jones, Texas A&M University, USDA Southwestern Great Plains Research Center, Bushland, in cooperation with Paul Scott, Agronomist for Holly Sugar Corporation. However, good answers to sugar beet fertility needs have been difficult to obtain. Current tests are being conducted in cooperation with Tom Robinson on a farm east of Milo Center. Each test has 27 fertilizer combinations of nitrogen and phosphorus and four replications for a total of 108 plots. One test is established on a soil

Juco transfer rule claims 4 gridders

CANYON—Only one West Texas State University athlete became ineligible scholastically at the end of this semester, but three athletes have been ruled not eligible because of a junior college transfer rule.

The three junior college transfers, brought in to start the spring semester are not eligible because they failed to either graduate from their respective junior college, or maintain high enough grades to transfer prior to two full years.

The jucos transfers are footballers Kenneth Lipkins, Bill Trisciani and Ray Kesey. Mel Shivers, another football player, became scholastically ineligible because of poor grades.

Lipkins ended spring drills as a starting safety man. Trisciani and Kesey were reserve linemen. Shivers was a defensive back last fall, but switched to split receiver this spring. He had no playing time.

The NCAA just made clear a ruling on junior college transfers which had been on the books for some time. That judgement effected athletes and colleges throughout the nation.

'Formula 11' not in public interest

Advertising for Brewster Products "Formula 11" proclaims that one can lose "7 pounds in 48 hours" and "up to 71 pounds in less than 3 months." Supposedly this can be accomplished without exercise, dieting or dangerous drugs.

A paragraph is included which discusses the metabolizing or conversion of calories to energy rather than fat. The capsules being sold by Brewster Products would have no effect upon an individual's metabolic rate and therefore the inclusion of this discussion is totally irrelevant and misleading.

What the pill does contain is a combination of benzocaine and a form of methylcellulose. Cellulose is often used in weight-reducing pills as a filler or bulk agent and is also found in some laxatives. Benzocaine is a local or topical anesthetic which may tend to dull the taste buds.

This formulation has not previously been established by scientific evidence as effective for the advertised purposes. In fact, many similar compounds have been the subject of U. S. Post Office Department fraud orders.

The cellulose may not always serve to provide the feeling of satiety and often has a laxative rather than filling effect. As to benzocaine, it is recognized that the human appetite is based on factors other than immediate taste.

The Council of Better Business Bureaus, in accordance with its customary procedure, requested the firm to provide standard business information on the organization and substantiation of claims made for their product. To date, CBB has not been favored with a reply.

The fact that the product is sold under a guarantee is not a valid alternative to the provision of scientific substantiation for such claims.

Governmental actions, as well as scientific reports confirm that obesity is a complex health problem, especially if the amount of weight loss sought is more than 10 percent of normal weight for the individual. Significant weight loss should not be undertaken without competent medical supervision, since the reasons for overweight may or may not be due to mere overeating.

In view of the foregoing, the Council of Better Business Bureaus considers advertising for having an initially high nitrate nitrogen content while the other site has a medium nitrate content. Nitrogen rates from 0-300 pounds per acre were applied before planting and one-half the plots will receive an additional sidedress application of 75 pounds of nitrogen per acre about June 10. Phosphorus (P2O5) rates of 50 and 100 pounds per acre were applied both with and without nitrogen.

Application was made with a plot-type applicator using ammonium nitrate and triple superphosphate chiseled 4-8 inches deep in the centers of the beds.

Results have been difficult to obtain due to the problem of locating sites low enough in nitrogen and/or phosphorus to give a good response. Another problem is that the necessity of rotation for disease control usually allows only a one-year test whereas a two- or three-year test would give better information.

Generally, on loam and clay loam soils which have been fertilized with 100-200 pounds of nitrogen for more than one year, a high rate of nitrogen is not needed. Too much nitrogen causes a decrease in percent sugar, a small increase in root production, and total sugar production is no greater than when either none or 75-100 pounds of nitrogen is applied. In some tests, sidedressing 75 pounds of nitrogen as late as permitted by plant size (about June 21) was as effective as any other nitrogen rate applied before planting.

Soil testing for nitrate nitrogen is the best means of determining the nitrogen status of a particular soil. Information for obtaining and submitting soil samples for analysis may be obtained from any County Agricultural Agent. (Sampling and testing sugar beet land is also done by Holly Sugar.) Recommendations of fertilizer rates can then be made based on the soil test made by the Extension Service Soil Testing Laboratory in Lubbock and results of fertilizer tests conducted by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station. Soil nitrate analyses at harvest, correlated with sugar percentage, indicate that highest percent sugar can be obtained when soil nitrate is regulated to contain about 10 pounds per acre in the surface 6 inches at harvest.

Holly Sugar recommends these additional practices for higher sugar percentage: avoid vigorously growing plants at harvest, avoid wide spacings or skips in the row and leave a stand of 33,000-35,000 plants per acre, control Cercospora leaf spot, and avoid irrigating beets near harvest which dilutes sugar concentration.

CARD OF THANKS
I want to express my sincere thanks to all the friends who visited me, sent flowers, cards and messages during my recent stay in the hospital. I just won't know what I would do, without my good friends, and may God bless each of you.

SUICIDE PREVENTION
JOHANNESBURG, South Africa—The chairman of the local Suicide Prevention Center expects an increase in the country's suicide rate if there is an economic slump this year. Sam Bloomberg said "if there is a decline in our prosperity, it will lead to a general loss of hope and security — both causes of suicide — and this, coupled with the continuing decline of the stock exchange, will have an effect on the suicidal person and therefore we can expect more suicides."

In 1912 Theodore Roosevelt said "I feel as fit as a bull moose."

SUNDAY, MAY 23, 1971

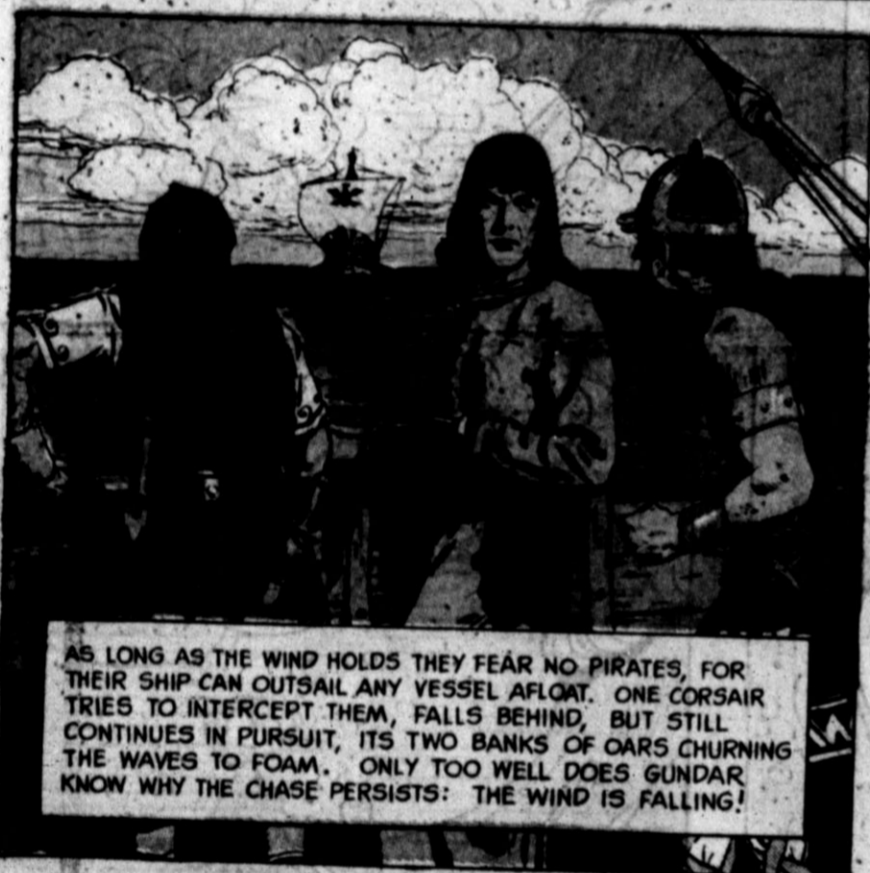

Our Story: EVER EASTWARD RIDE SIR VALIANT, ZIRARA AND YOUNG PRINCE ARN, AND THE DANGERS MULTIPLY WITH EVERY LEAGUE. ONCE ROMAN LEGIONS KEPT ORDER HERE, BUT THEY HAVE LONG SINCE BEEN RECALLED TO DEFEND IMPERILED ROME, AND BARBARIANS OVERRUN THE LAND.

QUEEN ALETA AND HER CHILDREN WATCH AS GUNDAR HARL SAILS HIS SHIP BETWEEN THE PILLARS OF HERCULES. THE PERILS OF THE WILD OCEAN ARE LEFT BEHIND, BUT THE MENACE OF CORSAIRS LIES AHEAD.

NOW GUNDAR FINDS ANCHORAGE IN A COVE AND WHILE THE WATER CASKS ARE BEING FILLED THE SAILORS SET OUT A HUGE NET TO CATCH A SUPPLY OF FRESH FISH.

AS LONG AS THE WIND HOLDS THEY FEAR NO PIRATES, FOR THEIR SHIP CAN OUTSAIL ANY VESSEL AFLOAT. ONE CORSAIR TRIES TO INTERCEPT THEM, FALLS BEHIND, BUT STILL CONTINUES IN PURSUIT, ITS TWO BANKS OF OARS CHURNING THE WAVES TO FOAM. ONLY TOO WELL DOES GUNDAR KNOW WHY THE CHASE PERSISTS: THE WIND IS FALLING!

ALETA KNOWS THE FATE IN STORE FOR WOMEN WHO FALL INTO THE CRUEL HANDS OF PIRATES, YET SHE STANDS CALM AND SERENE AND HER CHILDREN DRAW COURAGE FROM HER.

SUNSET, AND THE WIND FALLS TO A LIGHT BREEZE, AND WITH EVERY STROKE OF THE OARS THE CORSAIR DRAWS NEARER. FAR TO THE WEST A DARK LINE ON THE HORIZON SIGNALS A COMING CHANGE OF WIND. BUT WILL IT ARRIVE IN TIME?

THE FIRST ARROW HITS THE SHIP AND THE CREW CROUCH BELOW THE BULWARK, WEAPONS AT HAND. ALL BUT GUNDAR; HE IS WATCHING THE SHARP RAMS ON THE BOW OF THE PIRATE SHIP AND HAS AN IDEA.

hints from Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:
In the past, when I made punch, I always put a block of ice in to keep it chilled. This worked fine except it would always get too watered down.

Recently, however, I discovered a real unique way to have it chilled, but not weakened.

What I do is freeze water in balloons and then drop the frozen balloons in the punch.

This not only chills the punch but is very decorative.

Mary K.

Imagine, frozen balloons! Doll, you really "rang the bell" when you came up with this.

And wouldn't this be a precious idea for a child's birthday party?

Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:

I've found a perfect candleholder. I buy margarine in the metal tins and when the margarine is all gone, I wash them and put some melted wax in the bottom, then put the candle in.

They make the candle glow more than the regular holders and also will catch any wax that might drip down from the candle.

Sue Moroske

DEAR HELOISE:

I have a way that I fix brown-and-serve rolls that might interest your readers.

First, I heat my oven to the right temperature and put my rolls in a shallow baking pan.

I take the rolls and "plug" them (as you plug a watermelon) with a sharp knife. Put a pat of butter in the hole and then replace the plug.

Your roll is buttered when you take it out of the oven.

Gordon Palmer

DEAR HELOISE:

I almost panicked the other night after a party when I discovered a big burned hole in my white carpeting.

I finally got the idea to try to patch it, and sure enough it worked.

First, I cut away all the black part with my small fingernail scissors. Then I went into the very back part of my closet (which had the same carpeting) and cut a small piece out of the carpet.

I spread glue on the burned hole and placed the patch (cut the size of the hole) on the glue. Weighted it down with a brick and let it stay there until the next day.

Now you can hardly tell that anything happened to the rug.

J. C.

DEAR HELOISE:

Today I had to cover a book for school and I could not find anything sturdy enough to cover it with.

Finally I came up with a very colorful idea: A MAP! Try to get a map of the city where you live and then you can find any place you want to go in just a "jit."

Charles Glass
Age 13

NOW HAIR THIS!

DEAR HELOISE:

If you tint or dye your hair, try using an empty hand-lotion bottle (the kind with the plunger top).

I first scalded my bottle and then poured the solution in it.

It sure makes for a more uniform job and so much easier than pouring the solution on.

A Reader

DEAR HELOISE:

I have an inlaid glass-topped table that was really a pain to clean because it was so difficult to remove the glass.

Now it is a breeze with my handy "plumber's helper." All I do is put the suction cup on the glass and it lifts right up.

This has saved me quite a few broken fingernails. Also I clean the table more often because it is so easy.

A Bachelor

DEAR HELOISE:

I had four birthday gifts to wrap and not having four boxes available, I struck on this idea.

I happened to have on hand several cardboard sheets from the backs of pads of paper, approximately 8 1/2" x 11".

I put each gift between pieces of cardboard and taped the cardboard together.

I then proceeded to wrap as usual. This really saved the day for me.

Eunice Murr

DEAR HELOISE:

Here is a little hint that I use when I wash corduroy jumpers or slacks.

When they are still slightly damp I take a stiff brush and brush them real good.

Just hang and let dry. They come off the line looking like they were pressed.

Sure cuts down on my ironing.

K. W.

DEAR HELOISE:

How about this to remember how to set the table?

Knife and spoon to the right of June, and forks to the left of Nellie. Place them in the order, which the food goes to your belly.

L. P.

DEAR HELOISE:

I keep a pair of pliers, bought at the dime store, in a kitchen drawer to open those screw-on bottle tops.

Much easier than knocking the tops of the bottles with a knife or banging them on a table to loosen.

EGGCELLENT IDEA

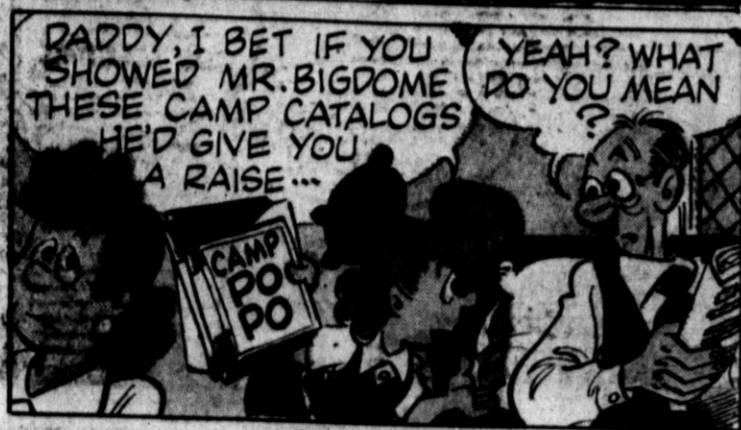

DEAR HELOISE:
When my mother washes bottles with narrow necks, she puts eggshells in the bottles with water and shakes them up.

I didn't believe it, but it works. The bottles come out really clean.

HEREFORD, TEXAS, 79045, SUNDAY, MAY 23, 1971

Miss Kyla Higgins
... will marry in August

Poppy Byrnes
... fiancée of James Earl Head

Miss Jana Cole
... plans July vows

Vows unite Carroll Todd and Karl French

First United Methodist Church was the setting for Saturday evening weddings vows between Miss Barbara Carroll Tood and Karl Donald French. The Rev. Clifford Trotter, pastor, officiated for the double ring ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Todd, 204 Centre, and Mr. and Mrs. Don French, 429 Miles, are parents of the couple.

Given by her father in marriage, the bride wore a formal gown of white silk organza, fashioned with lantern sleeves. The bell skirt fell from an empire waist line accented by a white satin sash.

The bodice and chapel length train were appliqued in Venise lace medallions and her shoulder length veil was attached to a Venise lace caplet.

A cascade of white roses and baby breath centered with a white orchid formed the bridal bouquet.

Miss Debbie Tood served her sister as maid of honor. Miss Carroll Carnes of El Paso, Miss Barbara Rieck of Brownfield, and Miss Jo Ann Riley of Ft. Worth were bridesmaids.

Attendants wore orchid dotted Swiss gowns with short puffed sleeves. Purple satin ribbon was tied at the empire waist and fell in streamers down the back. They carried single stemmed pink rose buds tied with purple satin ribbon streamers.

Gerry French was best man for his brother. Serving as groomsmen were Jim Paulson from Exira, Iowa, Sid Shaw and Tony Malouf. Ushers were Kenney Hagar and Lenney Petree.

Mrs. Tony Calkins, organist, accompanied Miss Kath Min-yard of Sudan as she sang We've Only Just Begun and One Hand-One Heart.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Todd was attired in an ice blue chiffon and lace formal pant dress. Mrs. French wore a champagne candlelight satin formal pant dress. Their corsages were white gardenias.

Mrs. Kenney Hagar registered wedding guests who were received in the church fellowship hall.

The bride's table was laid with white satin and net draped floor-length. A five-branch silver candelabra holding lavender tapers entwined with purple satin ribbon and the bride's bouquets centered the table.

The three-tiered wedding cake decorated in shades of lavender sugar roses and topped with white wedding bells, was served by Mrs. Victor Williams of Pearce, Ariz. and Mrs. Lenny Petree.

Punch was poured by Miss Susan White and Miss Jan Stephenson of Claude. Rice bags were distributed by Misses Suzanne Duvall, Rhenalea and Marsalyn King.

When the couple returns from a short honeymoon trip to Houston, they will reside in Hereford.

The bride is a Texas Tech graduate with a major in elementary education. She is an honor roll student and member of Delta Gamma Sorority. She attended and graduated from Hereford schools.

A junior physical education major at West Texas State University, French also graduated from HHS. He played football here and at Eastern New Mexico University where he studied before his transfer to WT. He is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity.

Out-of-town guests included the bride's grandmothers, Mrs. Grace Glenn of May and Mrs. Beth Todd of Albany; and the bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. Sam Thomas of Claude.

Also Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ferguson and daughter of Big Springs; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Woods and daughter, Stamford; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Rimato, Big Springs; Mrs. Homer Harvey of Weatherford; and Mrs. Ruby Carpenter, Post.

Others were Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Glenn, Wynette Russell and Vickie, and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Thomas, all of Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Todd of Wichita Falls; and Mr. and Mrs. Al Thomas of Claude.

Also Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Hays and Marijo from Dalhart; Mr. and Mrs. Burton McIlroy, also of Dalhart; and Pauline and Peggy Edwards of Greensburg, Kan.

Approximately 35 guests were present in the French home Friday evening for rehearsal dinner.

The bride was hostess for a noon luncheon in honor of her bridesmaids. Her mother and grandmother assisted.

L'ALLEGRA MEMBER OF YEAR NAMED — A corsage, an engraved plaque and a standing ovation were given Mrs. J. H. McCrary at a noon luncheon Thursday in Hereford Country Club when members of L'Allegra Study Club named her as their Member of the Year. Mrs. McCrary was noted for her outstanding service to the club this past year. Making the presentation of corsage and plaque were Mrs. Dennis Hromas, a past president.

NEW MEMBER — Hazen Woods welcomes Steve Hodges, left, as a new member into the Hereford Rotary Club Monday. Hodges is a field representative of the Hereford State Bank.

At the library The 'Little Woman' is underestimated

For a novel concerning the life of America's woman, mother, housewife, wage earner, "little woman," written by one, check the Deaf Smith County Library today.

NEVER UNDERESTIMATE THE LITTLE WOMAN
By Clarissa Start

"God must love the busy American woman worker, housewife, mother, the little woman; He made so many of them."

But defending them against that all-too-familiar query, "What's wrong with American women today?" is a fine art, seldom pursued. Never underestimate the Little Woman is her defense against the mystical grandmother of bread-baking, candle-making, ground-clearing, Indian-fighting, wood-chopping fame.

Clarissa shows her the modern American wife-mother-worker-volunteer is the hardest working, most essential, most creative woman in history.

But Clarissa is not an impassioned, hatchet-wielding defender of modern womanhood. She lives the complex life of today's woman with a twinkle in her heart. Trusting in God and seeking His understanding help, her view of life remains vibrant and fresh.

She cherishes her involvement in living, but like many American women, this warm involvement is often hurried, harried, and unthanked. For these moments Clarissa offers reality-tested advice, understanding insights, praise, and morale-cheering to the little woman.

She reveals her sparkling philosophy of everydayness in short sketches and amusing anecdotes from her personal experiences. She writes of that tedious period when her son persisted in winning one scouting badge after another, each the consistency of plywood, each having to be sewn on by hand.

Her eyes gleam shamelessly as she considers hiring mercenaries to attend some of her duller meetings. Relying on her old standby "Murphy's Law," "If something can go wrong it will," she rationalizes that long, long Sunday afternoon spent making a complicated fruit jelly, only to have the gooseberries grow mold.

In her concluding chapter she offers thoughtful words to all American women to rejoice in every daily happening, no matter how commonplace, for after each fragile moment has passed it can only be recalled through memory.

one suspected that one quiet, preoccupied passenger was an armed and demented hijacker who would order the plane to Cuba.

And no one expected the mild meteorological disturbances in the Caribbean to churn into a hurricane—and move directly into the path of the pirated plane.

Yet the madness of man and nature conspired to destroy the lonely aircraft and the desperate people aboard her. Flight 17 was keeping a rendezvous with danger and death.

In this drama of action and high adventure that sweeps along with sustained narrative thrust, then soars to an almost unbearable climax, Alfred Coppel builds a story of detailed authenticity, compelling human portrayal, and supreme suspense.

From the "iron man" pilot, faced with a seemingly insurmountable challenge, through the handsomely realized passengers and crew, these are individuals of intriguing variety and utmost credibility.

It's time for action

We have always considered Santa Fe to be one of the nation's best-operated and most responsible railway companies, but like many large corporations, they apparently spend more time poring over the ledgers than they do worrying about human lives.

There have been a number of accidents at the Progressive Road crossing just east of the Hereford city limits, and we have heard complaints from local citizens for years concerning the obvious dangers of crossing the tracks at this location. In recent years a number of businesses have located on South Progressive Road, greatly aggravating the problem. Concern has been voiced to officials of Santa Fe numerous times, and their stock reply has been that it is someone else's responsibility to install the signal devices and the protective crossarms. In checking with city and county officials, we get the same answer. They say it's Santa Fe's responsibility.

And while the two argue and pass-the-buck, the frequency of accidents continues, culminating this week with the death of Gonzalo Olivarez. It is tragic that this has been allowed to happen. Only a few weeks ago, a local resident was seriously injured at this spot and her automobile demolished. This should have been ample warning.

We are inclined to believe the local officials — that this is truly the responsibility of Santa Fe. We realize it is impractical, and perhaps financially impossible, for the organization to place lights and crossarms at every crossing along their right-of-way. But we do believe that a crossing as heavily traveled as the one at Progressive Road should surely receive priority treatment and that Santa Fe officials are derelict in their duty to the citizens of the community they serve by their delay in eliminating this hazard.

We believe, too, that city and county officials should use every means at their disposal to bring pressure to bear on the powers that be within the Santa Fe organization to see that this problem is remedied soon.

SST faces bad future

NOW THAT the Senate has killed the U.S. supersonic transport for this year, its proponents, naturally, are assessing any sort of chance for its revival within the next few years.

Prospects are gloomy, indeed. Interest will be renewed in a proposal advanced recently by Edward G. Uhl, president of Fairchild Hiller Corp., with help from several Congressional backers. Offered after the House and Senate voted against Federal funding in retirement guarantees of the kind that are slowly drying up the juices of life and the joy of living.

March, the plan calls for three-way raising of money to continue development of SST prototypes.

The means would be bank loans, sale of stock to the public in an SST corporation and contributions from sub-contracting firms which are in better financial shape than the Boeing Co. The latter now is so discouraged that its top officials actually helped opponents in the Senate to reject the House attempt to keep the program going.

Another chance might come along within a few years if enough members of the Senate permit themselves to be impressed by threats of the Russian and British-French versions of the SST to take over this next great commercial air advance. Both have governmental subsidization.

The U.S. delay could be fatal. If so, the blame will rest primarily on a coalition of Senators concerned about false economy and about phony "pollution issues" which have been deflated by scientific evidence and by simple common sense.

Their short-sightedness surely will not be forgotten. — Lubock Avalanche Journal

THE REAL ANSWER

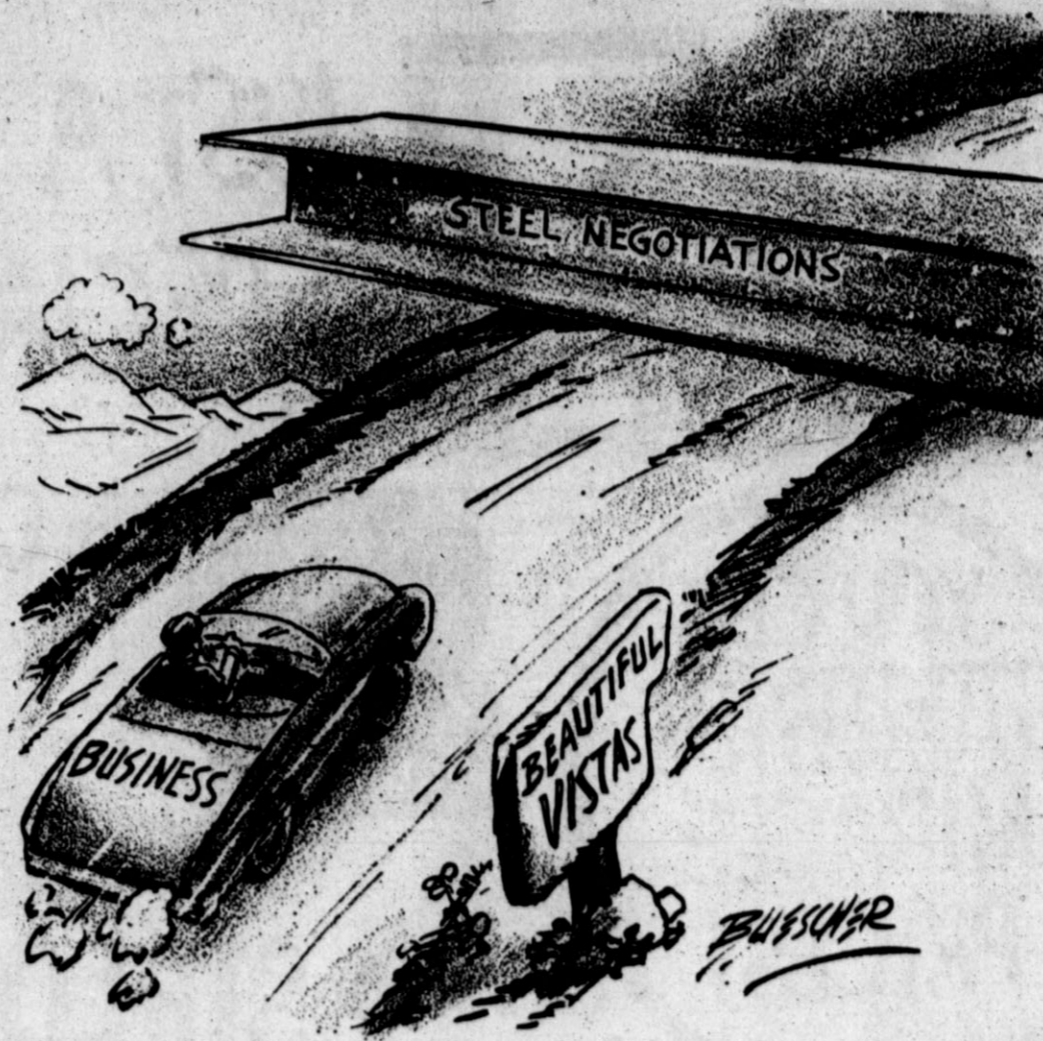

People are beginning to realize that phosphates in detergents are a minor factor in the overall water quality picture. For example, it is more generally understood that phosphates are not a poison but a fertilizer and come from a great many sources — both natural and artificial. Human sewage is one of the most prolific sources of phosphates. People are also beginning to realize that in concentrating on a narrow campaign against such things as laundry detergents they are failing to deal effectively with the larger pollution problem.

The Herald-News of Passaic, New Jersey, quotes an official of a large soap company, who must be considered a prejudiced observer, but may also know what he is talking about. The official says of the phosphate question,

"... The only long-term answer is better sewage disposal systems that will reduce the flow... of all nutrients, including phosphates, from sources other than detergents. We are concerned that the emphasis on reducing phosphates in detergents alone diverts proper attention from the larger issue of better sewage disposal systems, and in this way delays the true long-term answer to better water quality..." Concludes the Herald-News, "Effective sewage treatment would be real progress in pollution control. It should be the focal of antipollution campaigners."

Time after time, the public votes down funds needed for adequate sewage disposal facilities; yet, at the same time, a large part of that public rises in a frenzy to demand that somebody do something about pollution. This is an attitude that makes little sense.

Liberals screaming over protest rights

Washington—Mass arrests of protesters who violate the law is now national policy despite the screams of liberals in and out of Congress who contend the constitutional rights of protesters are violated when they are subjected to indiscriminate arrest.

The liberals cry "repression" and "suspension of constitutional law." A spokesman for a left-center Congressional group, Rep. Bob Eckhardt (D., Tex.), charged Attorney General John Mitchell with directing "a strategy and tactic of martial law" and demanded that Mitchell "restore respect and adherence to due process of law."

A New York Times editorial called the mass arrests at the Capitol "a crass display of arbitrary power" and a "spectacle of lawlessness and repression hardly to be expected in a republic of free men." The arrest of more than 1,000 protesters, the Times said, was an "outrage" and May 5 was "a day of shame for this nation's representative institutions."

On the other hand, Attorney General Mitchell applauded the police tactics and urged law enforcement officers throughout the nation to follow the Washington example. President Nixon left no doubt where he stood. He called Washington police chief Jerry Wilson to the White House to congratulate him and others responsible for preserving order in Washington under extremely difficult conditions.

Protesters Sought Arrest
It should be remembered that most of those involved in the mass arrests, at the Capitol and elsewhere in Washington during the Mayday protest, came to Washington expecting to be arrested and were determined to cause trouble until incarcerated. Some were arrested more than once, were bailed out, and returned to the mob to be arrested again.

The arrests at the Capitol followed two days of mass arrests when the protesters tried and failed to shut down the government by closing the Potomac River bridges and traffic circles. A massive show of strength by the police, supported by troops, frustrated the radicals. Many of the protesters engaged in criminal acts, slashing tires, overturning cars, throwing bricks at police, and otherwise asking to be arrested.

In mob situations, police cannot worry about the niceties of who threw the brick or the garbage can. Their job was to break up the riot, restore order, and allow traffic to flow. They did it, without gunfire, and most Washington area residents have a greater respect for the police as a result. Tear gas was used in some tense situations.

Undoubtedly a few innocent people were apprehended when it became necessary to arrest everybody in sight. But what were they doing in the midst of a mob led by revolutionaries? The protest had been well advertised for weeks, including the specific target areas. Even the innocent were asking for trouble, in most cases.

Speaker Gave the Word
Those who sympathize with the protesters say the affair at the Capitol was non-violent and mass arrests were unnecessary. The sympathizers draw a line between the arrests downtown and those on the hill. But when 2,000 people surround the Capitol, and some of them start to scale the walls to try to break in, the police can be pardoned for calling a halt.

Speaker of the House Carl Albert (D., Okla.) was in his second floor office at the Capitol when two protesters who had scaled the wall to a ledge peered in his window. The speaker decided enough was enough and agreed to a police suggestion that the area be cleared. So the mass arrests began, following a warning. After the Capitol steps were cleared, a small band of protesters not previously apprehended invited arrest by sitting down on the steps. They were obliged by a trip in the paddy wagon.

No shots were fired, nobody was seriously hurt, and more than 1,000 were jailed. Thus ended the Mayday demonstration, with the three key organizers under arrest for inciting to riot.

In Washington, most people breathed a sigh of relief that order had been preserved. The suspicion is that the vast majority of Americans agreed, and shed no tears for the "crazies" who were arrested.

Talk of Texas

By JACK MAGUIRE

HOW IT BEGAN — In 1907, when he was 15 years old, David Guion sat down one day in his home in Ballinger, Runnels County, and composed a song in which he expressed his feelings about living in the ranch country.

He called the number "Home on the Range," and although it was sung by various country music bands, it never became a hit. Then, years later, Guion produced a cowboy show for the old Roxy Theater in New York and "Home on the Range" was introduced to the U. S. in a nation-wide broadcast. Among those who heard it was President Franklin D. Roosevelt, who immediately dubbed it his favorite piece of music and invited the composer to The White House.

Today "Home on the Range" has become an American classic. And Guion, who still composes, now lives in Dallas.

THE PASSING PARADE — The trolley, replaced by buses now in all but five U. S. cities, still turns a tidy profit in El Paso.

The El Paso streetcar line, which operates from the downtown business center 2.1 miles across the international bridge to the heart of Juarez, Mexico, is one of the most profitable transit operations in the U. S. The fare is only a dime (just 1.3 cents on the Mexican side). Between 10,000 and 12,000 passengers ride the little cars daily.

Like San Francisco's cable cars, El Paso's trolley is one of the city's most popular tourist attractions.

JEWELS OF THE MOON — Rock hounds take note: Tekites, those fascinating stones that once were found in such profusion around Bedias, Grimes County, aren't from the moon after all.

For years even scientists thought that tekites (named "jewels of the moon" by East Texas Indians who first found them more than a century ago) had a lunar origin. First they were thought to be pieces of meteorites and later that they were showered on earth from the moon.

Now Dr. Virgil E. Barnes, University of Texas scientist who is a world authority on tekites, says the strange rocks are from outer space, but not from the moon. Apparently they are earth soil that has been "fused" by the terrific impact of objects hitting this planet from space.

COMING EVENTS — Beginning June 24, the musical drama, "Texas," will open for its sixth season in Palo Duro Canyon State Park near Canyon.

More than 300,000 visitors have seen the spectacular pageant since it was first presented in the open air amphitheater at Palo Duro in 1908. The show, which tells the story of the Panhandle of Texas, will be presented nightly except Sunday through August 28. There will be one Sunday performance on July 4.

SENSING THE NEWS

By Anthony Harrigan

EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT

Southern States Industrial Council

The big push to enact new welfare and "family assistance" legislation is under way in Congress. Taxpaying Americans, who will have to pick up the tab for the expansion of giveaway programs, should make themselves heard in Washington.

U. S. Rep. Wilbur Mills (D.-Ark.), chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, has put together a new handout package that will really hurt the taxpayers. The Nixon administration has accepted the principal features of the Mills plan, which would provide a guaranteed annual income of $2,400 for a family of four. The plan also calls for 300,000 "public service" jobs for welfare recipients, a 1971 version of the old New Deal WPA boondoggle.

An even more costly program has been proposed by 30 members of the Liberal-Left coalition in the House, including such radicals as U. S. Reps. Shirley Chisholm (D.-N.Y.) and Ronald V. Dellums (D.-Calif.). This plan, supported by the National Welfare Rights Organization, would guarantee a family of four $6,500 a year. Federal aid payments would continue until the family earned $11,000 a year.

Fortunately, there are members of Congress who are willing to speak out against doubling of people on welfare. U. S. Sen. Russell Long (D.-La.) recently charged the administration's Family Assistance program would increase the welfare population from 10 million to 24 million. Sen. Long also pointed out that the federal government has been hiring "poverty lawyers to bring suits to make the states put on the welfare rolls all those people that neither the Congress nor the states thought ought to be on those rolls."

Sen. Harry F. Byrd Jr. (D.-Va.) is an outspoken Senate leader who is battling expansion of welfareism. "It is utterly fantastic," he said in a recent speech, "to talk about more than doubling the number of people on welfare when they (the federal agencies) cannot even administer the program they now have with 10 million people." He added: "I wish that one of the senators could explain how we would reverse the trend of the welfare state by doubling the number of people on welfare."

Now is the time for the nation's taxpayers to speak up loud and strong against a guaranteed annual wage for reliefers. If this system goes into effect this year, as both Mr. Mills and the administration intend, welfare rights organizations will be back next year demanding that Congress hike the annual "wage" for non-workers. Each year, the demands from the welfare population will become more and more outrageous.

Sen. Long put his finger on the truth when he said: "It will not be long before we have not 50 per cent of the people of the nation on welfare but 75 per cent, and the question will be who is going to work and earn a living when 75 per cent of the people in this country can go on welfare."

The Mills-Nixon proposals are a slap in the face of the working, self-reliant people of the United States. It is terribly important, therefore, that taxpaying citizens let Congress and the White House know the strength of their opposition to welfare legislation that penalizes people who earn their living.

The producers, not the non-producers, are the people whose wishes should have the greatest weight with the Legislative and Executive branches of government.

A CENTURY OF CHALLENGE

Contemporary obsession with safety, security and mass comfort gets a little oppressive at times. Thus, an AP dispatch about a 99-year-old cowboy who still follows the rodeo circuit comes like a fresh breeze off a cool mountain slope. According to the dispatch, the cowboy, Mr. Jack Hart, reports, "I've been a cowboy all my life. I can still handle horses, and I still ride some. . . I went to work on a big ranch in Montana first. I worked as general cowhand in my teens, and I've driven herds on both the Chisholm and Santa Fe trails. . . I guess the biggest trail drive I was ever on had about 3,000 head."

Trailing a herd of cattle across the great plains nearly 100 years ago was neither the safest nor most comfortable business in the world — nor was there the security of a retirement program — government or otherwise — at the end of the trail. Yet, somehow Mr. Hart survived and was the richer for his experience. A great many of those who brag about seeking a challenging job would not know what to do with one if it were tossed at them — unless it was carefully swatched in health care, income and

Concerning veterans

EDITOR'S NOTE: Veterans and their dependents are asking thousands of questions concerning the benefits their Government provides for them through the Veterans Administration. Below are some representative queries. Additional information may be obtained at any VA office.

Q—I was discharged from the Army because of a leg injury, and accepted severance pay in a lump sum. Since I have been awarded disability compensation by the VA, can you tell me why I am not being paid?

A—Disability compensation for your leg injury will be withheld and applied against the amount of severance pay until the full amount is liquidated. After that, VA will start sending compensation checks if your disability is still rated 10 per cent or more by our standards.

Q—If a veteran arranges for his National Service Life Insurance to be paid in a lump sum, may his beneficiary select another method of payment?

A—Yes. The NSLI beneficiary can have all or part of the insurance paid in monthly installments over a period of years, or for life. But the beneficiary cannot select a lump sum payment if the insured designated monthly payments.

Q—My husband has been reported missing in action. I understand that I may now be eligible for educational benefits through the Veterans Administration. Is this true?

A—Yes. Recent legislation (PL81-584) authorizes educational benefits for wives of prisoners of war or veterans missing in action for a total of more than 90 days.

"Proceeds will stay mainly in the local unit," said Mrs. Ott. "We will use it for welfare of local veterans and his family only."

line styled gown was trimmed with white pearls along the sleeves, cuffs and bodice front. A Juliette cap covered with pearls to match, held her cathedral-length veil.

The bridal bouquet was formed by white daisies with an orchid in the center.

Her attendants, Miss Shara Anderson, maid of honor, Miss Lisa Williamson, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Sharon Stone, sister of the bride, wore orchid organza frocks trimmed with white lace.

They carried white daisy nosegays.

Ed Hammett served as the couple's best man with Staten Norville, David Evans, Kim Williamson, brother of the groom, and Phillip Scumbato as groomsmen and ushers.

Laura Downing, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Trent Downing, and Mark Lust, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Lust, were flower girl and ring bearer.

David Lust and Jim Bradford of Dimmitt were candlelighters.

Miss Janet Tipps served cake and Mrs. Billy Joe Wall ladled punch at the reception which followed in the church fellowship hall.

Others assisting were Misses Cherry, Pam and Kathy Forrest of Amarillo and Mrs. Gerald Wilson.

White candles surrounded by the bridesmaid's bouquets centered the serving table.

For a wedding trip to New Mexico the bride wore a navy blue knit pantsuit and orchid corsage. They will be at home on Route 1 later this month.

A 1971 Hereford High School graduate, the bride was employed by Hereford Farm Bureau prior to the wedding date.

Her husband, a Hereford resident for 18 years, attended Hereford and Dimmitt schools.

Out-of-town guests present for the celebration were Mrs. Ethel Farmer of Fontana, Calif.; Mrs. U. E. Ruffe, Sun City, Ariz. grandmother of the groom; and Mr. and Mrs. Ervin K. Williamson and Nancy of Norman, Okla.

DRINKS KILL PESTS
NEW YORK — For those spring gardeners concerned about keeping slugs and snails from dining on their plants add flowers, Time-Life's new Encyclopedia of Gardening offers the following tip:

"Buy 'em a drink." A bowl of beer left on the ground near plants will lure and drown these common garden pests.

Can you spot the big difference between these pick-up truck tires?

Both use the same materials. Both have the same construction. But we believe the one on the left, a Lee tire, performs best of all. In fact, we guarantee it.

Shook's exclusive "No Limit Guarantee" assures you you'll get all the performance you pay for. There's no limit on months. Or miles. Or the roads you travel. Or even the speed you go.

So for the life of the tread, all new Lee pick-up truck tires are guaranteed by Shook against defects in workmanship and materials and normal road hazards.

Lucky for us, Lee builds tires that can take loads of punishment. Somehow, Lee truck tires stubbornly resist wear and injury. And they have deep treads for long mileage.

Frankly, we think Lee truck tires are the best value you'll spot. And we think you'll find Shook is the best way to spot them. In fact, we'll guarantee that, too.

*Except repairable punctures.
