

Tax Committee Looks For Laws With More 'Teeth'

A legislative tax committee, established to make an in-depth study of the entire process of property taxation in Texas, has come up with a number of recommendations for the next legislative session that will "put some teeth" into existing tax laws.

Orpah Click, Hereford Independent School District tax assessor-collector, was named to advisory groups of the committee and has attended several meetings in the past few weeks where recommendations for changes have been discussed.

The committee was organized during the last session of the state legislature for the sole purpose of investigating all aspects of the present system of ad valorem taxation, making recommendations for changes, and then presenting those recommendations to the next session of the legislature.

Many of the taxation laws are out-dated and of no use to taxing agencies and the committee was designed to "remedy injustice in property taxation and to facilitate the assessment and collection of ad valorem taxes in Texas."

"We are trying to get some laws changed to give us some tools with which to assess and get property on the taxrolls and get fair market values," Click said. "We have worked for years on changing some of the laws because it is not fair for one person to pay and another not to pay."

"If we could get everything on the tax rolls at actual market value, we probably would be able to lower our tax rate and still raise the same amount of money for the operation of the school district," he said.

Present laws under the scrutiny of the investigation committee include those dealing with taxation of intangible property, compulsory rendition by businesses and penalty and interest rates set on delinquent taxes.

"We have a law that says all intangible property is taxable, but we must get the law to either give us room to work on this or exempt it," Click said. Under the intangible property law, all monies drawing in or out of the state, all public stock and securities and monies in personal estates, are all taxable. However, tax assessors are unable to find out exactly how much money a person has because banking institutions have other laws that counter act those of taxation.

"We go to a bank, ask for the number of depositors they have and how much money is in the bank, but they have a law to protect them from giving this information," the tax assessor explained.

The law also says that all property must be rendered, but again there is no penalty if a person or business fails to meet the obligations of the law.

Household furniture also is taxable, but few systems make an attempt at trying to collect taxes on those items.

"The first $250 value of household items is exempt," Click said, "but that doesn't do much these days. A lot of us feel at the time this law was passed, $250 probably would have exempted all of a person's furnishings. That isn't true today, though." Another area being considered for change is in the collecting of taxes. Where the penalty for delinquent taxes now is 8 per cent, the committee has suggested that figure be changed to 10 per cent and to change the interest rate from 6 per cent to 12 per cent per year.

"I think this would make people pay their taxes that they have been letting ride," he said. The new recommendation would raise the maximum payment on delinquent accounts from 14 per cent per year to 22 per cent per year. "It amounts to this," Click said. "Our tax laws are outdated. Most were made up years ago and like any other laws, they don't fit any more."

"If we would get everything on our tax rolls at actual market value, we probably would be able to lower our tax rate and still raise the same amount of money for the operation of the school district."

"It would help a lot of people but it could hurt a lot of people, too. But it would put everyone on an equal basis."

While none of us is perfect, each is fairly well satisfied with his own imperfections.

Most of us must admit that things turn out better than we have a right to expect -- considering our forgetfulness, blundering, and obstinacy.

What with the busing controversy and the court decisions on school finances, it seems now that the major theme of the '70s is equality of education opportunity.

It also seems as clear as vote totals can make it that in Florida the issue was busing, and the message sent to Washington was that the people want busing stopped. And, indications are that the people in Washington got the message.

President Nixon has now urged Congress to stop the busing system as a means of achieving racial balance, but he stressed the need to continue to seek equality of educational opportunity. And that problem, it seems, is directly linked to the recent decisions of courts that school financing systems are unconstitutional.

It is likely that these court rulings will lead to some of the most significant changes in public education and taxing policies that Texas or the United States has ever seen. The courts -- in California and Texas -- have held simply that no child can be discriminated against in the quality of education received because a school district is poor. Equality of spending was not required by the court; equality of opportunity to spend was.

A practical way of designing a new system is not so simple. The most popular proposal now making the rounds calls for a statewide property tax along with a tightly controlled property tax "add-on" which would allow local districts to be above the statewide tax.

One thing appears certain. Whatever the solution is, it will be very costly for taxpayers.

It is difficult for a news reporter to be factual all the time, even with good intentions. We have learned, from experience, to check controversial matter before printing it. There are usually two sides to a story.

A case in point is the much-circulated story about Dolph Briscoe, which was first issued by H. M. Baggaly of The Tulla Herald and picked up by United Press. The story pictures Briscoe as the villain, using his millions to intimidate a small and poor school district.

Last week another story on the issue appeared in The Canyon News after editor Troy Martin interviewed Briscoe. Martin called school representatives at Eagle Pass and was told that Briscoe didn't block the school, that he helped them by talking some 60 disgruntled landowners into paying taxes on almost a million acres of land. The attorney who represented the school district says Briscoe's move made it possible for the school to open for the new term.

Booster Club Will Elect New Officers

The Whiteface Booster Club will meet at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Community Center to elect officers for the coming year to hear a report on athletic activities this spring.

Also scheduled is a discussion of the All-Sports Banquet which is set for 7:30 p.m. April 24 in the Bull Barn.

Outgoing officers are Ted Higgins, president; James Higgins, vice president; Don Clark, secretary; and Bud Sparks, treasurer.

Jury Finds County Was Not Negligent

A jury of five women and seven men deliberated an hour and 40 minutes Friday and returned with a verdict of no negligence on the part of the county in the $332,000 suit filed in connection with the Sept. 22, 1971 drowning death of Joe Adam Benavidez.

The jury heard testimony for a day and a half before it went into deliberation at 11:50 a.m. Friday and emerged at 1:30 p.m. with its decision.

The wife of the dead man was seeking $332,000 on the grounds the county was negligent in not putting up warning signs at the creek crossing where her husband and his pickup were swept off into the then-flooded Tierra Blanca Creek.

The $332,000 figure was arrived at on the grounds the drowned man would have earned $5,000 per year with a life expectancy of 46.3 years for a total of $230,000. Also, an additional $100,000 was being sought for the wife's loss of companionship "and other economic benefits as would have accrued to her" had her husband lived.

The defense attorney, John Broadfoot of Amarillo, also was seeking $2,000 for funeral expenses of the drowned man.

The defense, represented by Oscar Fields of Amarillo and Ed Line of Hereford, contended the county was not indebted for any sum of money on the grounds the crossing where the accident occurred was designed to permit normal flow of water and Benavidez "could have seen the flooded condition and could have exercised caution."

Fields, in presenting the defense to the jury, said Benavidez "voluntarily assumed the risk of his life by going across the bridge under those conditions."

The small low-water crossing on Dairy Road, was flooded during the night of Sept. 21 and early morning of Sept. 22 because of unusually heavy rains.

Benavidez, who reportedly left for work at 5:30 a.m. Sept. 22, was reported missing about noon. After waters subsided later that day the top of Benavidez' pickup was seen just a few yards down the creek from the crossing.

The body was discovered about 9:30 a.m. the following day.

Board Acts On Truancy

The Deaf Smith County Juvenile Board, in response to the school system's announcement that it is losing large sums of money through student absences, Friday took a hard stand against student truancy.

In a letter to the County Judge, the District Attorney and the school system's board of trustees, H. A. Cavness, chairman of the juvenile board, said "we (the juvenile board) intend to exert remedy available under the law to enforce the law so that truancy is not only discouraged, but absolutely stopped."

The school system already has lost close to $20,000 for the year because of unusual absences during the past three months.

Cavness said the juvenile board investigated the problem and even received recommendations from Dumas on how that city handles its truancy problems.

"The policy that they have set down is the policy that we intend to pursue, which is as follows," Cavness said. "We have requested that one warning be given to the parent or to that person standing in a parental relation to the child, and if the child is absent from school again without adequate excuse, then we have instructed that a complaint be filed with the Juvenile Court as it is done in Dumas, and the County Judge as Juvenile Judge has given us his assurance that he will handle all of these complaints, and we have requested the prosecutor to file all complaints in the Juvenile Court in that it is far more satisfactory for one court to deal with all juveniles and have full knowledge of all problems pending, and we are sending the prosecutor a copy of this letter expressly directing that he file all such complaints in the County Court."

Under Article 4.25 of the Education Code, the parent may be fined not less than $5 nor more than $25 for the first offense, but for the second offense he may be fined not less than $10 nor more than $50. For all subsequent offenses, he may be fined not less than $25 nor more than $100.

"By vigorously using this statute, the Dumas Board has virtually ended truancy in Dumas, and we intend to do so in this county," Cavness said.

"To permit this problem to continue is not only extremely injurious to the children who are not in school, but it also is costing our school district substantial sums by their absence."

C of C Plans Annual Drive

The annual Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce Membership Drive will kick off with a breakfast at 7 a.m. Monday in the Civic Club Center as team captains prepare to increase the annual membership dues gained by $5,000. The drive will culminate at noon Friday at the general membership meeting at the Civic Club Center.

Individual workers will be competing for $100 in cash prize money as they solicit memberships throughout the city. The individuals will be placed on one of four teams captained by Flake Barber, Charlie Riggins, John David Bryant and Jeff Carlile. These four persons will have 10 persons on their team.

School Winners Named For Bee

The number of contestants in the annual Spelling Bee elimination rounds dwindled considerably last week when winners were named in each of the local elementary schools.

Winners in the elementary schools will advance to the Junior Spelling Bee scheduled Thursday, and if they win there, to the County Spelling Bee on Friday.

Both the Junior Bee and County Bee are scheduled for 1:30 p.m. at La Plata Junior High. Winners in the County or Senior Bee will advance to regional competition in Amarillo later in March. Junior Bee winners will also go to Amarillo, but will only attend a luncheon and will not compete, unless they win the County Bee.

At Tierra Blanca Elementary, Polly Robinson won first place, and Sherrill Kline was the runner-up, while David Granadoz took first and Nicki Stipe runner-up honors at Shirley Elementary.

Northwest Elementary School will be represented by first place finisher, Steve Fortenberry, and second place Judy Birdwell. From Blue Bonnet Elementary, Betty Stewart, first place, and Mark Bezen, second, will enter the Junior Bee, while Jon Fraiser, first, and Josephine Tijerina, second, will compete from Central Elementary.

St. Anthony's Elementary will send David LeFluer, first, and Ernest Rodriguez, second, to the bee, and Aikman Elementary will not have its bee until Tuesday.

In the Senior, or County Bee, Roy Albract, first and Dennis Ortho will enter from St. Anthony's Junior High, and Pam Lee, first, and Amy Cox, second, will compete from Stanton Junior High School. La Plata is holding its bee Monday.

The high-point membership seller will receive $50 cash, followed by $30 to the second high-point person and $20 to the third high-point person.

The Chamber of Commerce has set a goal of $5,000 increase in membership over the current roll. Each member of a team has been given a list of prospective members and will call on each person of firm on his list during the drive.

Dues are $72 per year for businesses and $36 per year for individuals.

Roy Faubion, director for the drive, said the annual effort by the Chamber of Commerce will benefit both the member and the chamber.

Entrants, Sponsors Needed For Pageant

Entrants and their sponsors for the Miss Hereford pageant of April 29, when a contestant will be chosen to represent this city in the Miss Texas pageant this summer, are being sought by a committee from the Women's Division, Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce.

In cooperation with the chamber, the Women's Division will stage the pageant for the first time in the city's history. Miss Hereford and Miss Teenage Hereford, with runners-up for both titles, Miss Congeniality and Miss Teenage Congeniality will be chosen by judges from other cities.

A $250 cash scholarship will be given Miss Hereford, who will also be provided costumes for her appearance in the state pageant. Miss Teenage will receive a $100 scholarship, both runners-up $50 scholarships and the Misses Congeniality each a $25 scholarship.

Girls interested in entering the contest, or their parents or friends, are invited to call a member of the entries committee, Misses Earl R. Green, Joe Frank Clark and G. D. Caison, who can answer inquiries about requirements.

Briefly, these are that Miss Hereford entrants be between 18 and 28 years of age, Miss Teenage between 15 and 17 years; they must be girls of good character, and have never been married or had a marriage annulled. They must live in Deaf Smith County or that part of the Hereford school district which lies outside the county so they attend Hereford schools.

Each entrant must be sponsored by a business firm, but sponsors will be enlisted and assigned so the girls are not required to find their own sponsors.

Entry deadline is April 8.

Businesses wishing to sponsor a pageant entry are invited to contact the committee which is making the sponsor list: Misses Palmer Norton, Virgil Marsh, Earl R. Green and Clark. The two committees are working together to match girls and sponsors according to preference, so far as possible.

Tuberculin Skin Tests Are Free On April 29

A tuberculin skin testing program has been set for all Deaf Smith County residents on April 29, at several locations in Hereford, including the Public Health Clinic, Sugarland Mall, and the Community Action building at the Labor Camp. Tests will be administered free of charge from 2 to 8 p.m. for county residents from three months old and up. The Top of Texas TB and Respiratory Disease Association is sponsoring the testing program, and urges all local persons to take advantage of the opportunity to pro-

Sprinkler System For Field Okayed

GOING UP -- Construction continues at the Deaf Smith REC building on East Highway 60 as the building is enlarged and remodeled. The work

The Hereford school board last week approved the installation of a new $5,160 sprinkler system for the Hereford High School football field.

The new sprinkler system was one of several projects planned by the school system in helping to improve the athletic department. Other areas being considered are the reshaping of the football field to allow proper water drainage and surfacing the parking lots to prevent sloppy parking conditions during bad weather.

Other projects in the athletic department are being considered, but have been postponed as a result of the court's decision on distribution of school taxes. The future of bond proposals, under which these improvements would have come, is uncertain, and school officials have delayed any action in that area.

HIS Athletic Director and head football coach Larry Dippel said Friday that the new system will be fully automatic, with pop-up sprinklers and an automatic time control.

Dippel said that the controls for the underground system probably will be located in the adjoining field house. The new sprinklers will enable school personnel to set the time for the sprinklers to begin operating, and then go home. The sprinklers will begin sprinkling at the pre-set time and shut off automatically.

The coach expects the new system to help the football field, which stayed in poor condition last year because of bad, rainy weather in three of the Whiteface's five home games.

"Last season the field froze out in the middle before play even began, and then heavy rainstorms before and during the team's first two games on the field really tore it up," Dippel said. "We feel that this system is the best ever devised for a football field, it enables the field to be watered at hours when everyone else is not watering and the pressure is still good, plus it offers even distribution of water without the use of all those pipes. It takes about seven or eight hours just to lay out the old system of pipes," Dippel said.

Installation of the new system is scheduled to begin sometime around the first of the end of April. The new system takes only about one week to be installed.

now being redone is the first renovation of the building since it was built some 22 years ago.

Wesley Church Slates Revival

The Rev. Norman W. Grigsby, pastor of Means Memorial Church in Andrews, will conduct the revival that will be held today through Thursday in Wesley United Methodist Church, 410 Irving. The Rev. Don McWhorter, pastor of the church, will assist.

Rev. Grigsby has formerly preached at Westway Community Church, his first appointment, and at Follett, Kingswood Church in Amarillo and Gruver. He grew up in McLean, is a graduate of West Texas State University and Perkins School of Theology at Southern Methodist University.

Services will be conducted at 10 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. with prayer groups at 7 p.m. Monday through Thursday. Special music will be presented each evening including the Ladies Bell Choir from First United Methodist church one night of the revival. Mrs. Raymond Higginbotham will be song leader. A special youth night will be held Tuesday evening. The public is invited to attend the services.

Two Arrested On Burglary Charge

A 21-year-old Friona man and a 19-year-old Amarillo man were arrested by sheriff's deputies early Saturday morning in a barn on the Don Middleton farm and charged with burglary.

Deputy sheriff Leon Gorrell said the two men, Joe Lucero of Amarillo and Manuel Herrera of Friona, admitted to attempted burglary of the Middleton barn and also the actual theft of a saddle and tools from the Leroy Lamb farm.

Middleton saw the two go by in a pickup and stayed up and watched them. He followed them out to his barn and a passer-by called sheriff's officers who went to the barn and found the two men inside.

second, and the sprint relay foursome came in third.

Only two meet records fell in the varsity division, as a slight wind kicked up during the afternoon to hamper runners. Elroy Williams of Palo Duro broke his own record in the high jump, moving it to 6-5 after posting a 6-0 mark last year. Smith of Coronado set the other new mark in the 880 with a time of 2:00.4. The old record was set by Bibbs of Dunbar at 2:01.4 in 1969.

Two records were broken and one tied in Division II. Self of Silverton hurled the discus 166-7 3/4, and Cresop of Vega etched a new mile mark at 4:45.8. Patton of Morton tied the 100-yard dash record at 9.9.

Hereford's Henson breezed to an easy victory in the mile run with a time of 4:47, while Nieman won the quarter with a clocking of 51.5. Sierra lofted the shot 49-8 to win first.

Second places for Hereford went to Hector Rodriguez in the 100, Ralph Waits in the 220, Wesley High in the high hurdles, Keith Kitchens in the 330 hurdles, Luther Mays in the 880. Taking third were James Harris in the high hurdles and Coleman in the high jump.

The Whiteface mile relay team was leading the final event of the day until a mishap occurred. Nieman was near the handoff on the third leg when a Coronado runner tried to pass too close and knocked the baton from Nieman's hand. Nieman retrieved the stick and got it to Rodriguez in second place, but the lead was too great for the Herd anchorman to overcome.

Terry Champ turned in the best leg on the mile relay team with a 51.5, after Bruce Barrett opened with a 51.9 out of the blocks.

Randy Alexander, Charles High and Alfred Sanders paced the Whiteface JV to its high finish in Division II. Alexander anchored the winning mile relay team. High was third and fourth in the hurdle events, and Sanders was second in the 100 and third in the 220.

fect themselves from tuberculosis.

Dr. Clyde Rush, local director of the Christmas Seal organization with co-directors Lorenzo Granado and Mrs. Jewel Smith, said the test will not show whether a person is ill with active TB, but will show whether one has been infected so that the person's doctor may be alert to potential danger from TB, and can give preventative medication to his patients suffering the greatest danger of TB.

Health Department figures show that Texas TB rate ranks seventh highest in the United States, Hawaii had the highest incidence rate, followed closely by Alaska.

BY ANN BEAVERS

On St. Patrick's Day, members of the Future Homemakers of America Chapter from Adrian High School wore green in the form of "Shamrocks for Dystrophy" tags as Adrian joined the rest of America in a nationwide one-day fund-raising crusade to benefit the Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America.

who performed many miraculous cures as well as chasing the snakes out of Ireland, young women handed out green Shamrocks for Dystrophy tags. In return, they asked for some of your green to help MDA research scientists perform a modern miracle by finding cures for muscular dystrophy and related neuromuscular diseases.

Miss Carolyn Burp, sponsor of FHA, urged local residents to help put "St. Patrick into St. Patrick's Day and, in the spirit of his kind of charity, bestow upon the victims of muscular dystrophy and the precious gift of hope and perhaps life itself."

"Let's give some green and watch it grow!" she said.

The theme chosen for this year's National FHA Week is "Profiles of Youth" to focus attention on what over half-a-million young men and women are doing to improve personal, family and community living.

Jan Cavin, Adrian FHA Secretary points out that several million young people have been challenged by the unlimited opportunities offered through membership in Future Homemakers of America over the 20 years since its establishment as a national organization for home economics students in the secondary schools.

"They have an opportunity to grow as an individual," she stated, "to contribute to home and family living, develop leadership and cooperation, open doors of service to others, prepare for a vocation or profession, make new friends, find new experiences, gain an understanding of others, make creative and constructive use of leisure time and most importantly, be a part of a national organization of teenagers concerned with people, families and communities."

The 19 members of the Adrian FHA Chapter have scheduled a number of activities for this week. Plans outlined by advisor Carolyn Burp, included group church attendance and picnic at the Canadian River, teachers appreciation brunch, kid day, Easter egg hunt, eighth grade skit day presentation to FHA, painting trash cans, Adrian clean up and many more activities.

SCHOOL WINNER - Douglas Reinart of St. Anthony's school won the American History essay contest for the seventh grades of Hereford. The award was presented by Sister Wendelina as part of Los Ciboleras Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution's recent contest.

BALL-HAWK

By Terry Neill

This column is written as a direct warning to regular golfers on the Hereford golf course. Beware -- somewhere on those greens, but usually in the rough, may lie danger in the form of one Ball Hawk swing.

After taking up golf last week, Ball Hawk has decided that one more week of practice won't hurt before entering the Desert Classic or some such tourney. Lee Trevino, Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer will soon have some real competition.

On my first day nothing went right, and on my second and last day at the course nothing went right again, which would teach anyone but old hardhead here a lesson.

Golf Pro Cal Garrett was very understanding, however, and said that he wouldn't make my pay for the damage done to the course if I would rent a bulldozer to fill up the holes, dug with my trusty six iron.

I only made par on one hole, and ended up losing six golf balls in the process. Of course, even the pros lose a ball now and then, but I even almost lost my golf club.

That was on number one hole, on my second shot, I came down in an artistically practice swing and the iron flew out of my hands, sailed about 60 feet into the air, and narrowly missed the creek on its downward flight. Some shot, huh?

After that the play really became frustrating, as I let go with a tee shot on number two and couldn't even see where the dumb ball fell. Some passing golfers said the darned thing had flown into the rough, but after a 15-minute inspection failed to turn up the ball I went to the bag for another.

This time I fudged just a little bit and dropped the ball on the edge of the rough. The next shot cleared the rough, fairway and green, and ended up in another fairway. Not everyone can shoot like that on their second nine-holes.

Teeling off on hole number three I lost two balls, both because I couldn't follow the path of the ball. Once again I fudged, and tossed the ball across the creek and onto the fairway -- well, so I cheat just a little bit.

My next shot only rolled about 20 feet and at that point died. To the grinning scrutiny of some passing golfers, I once again stung the ball -- onto the wrong fairway. Well -- no one is perfect!

On number four I hit a beautiful tee shot, much prettier than the other golfers had hit on the hole, because it rolled to a stop about 60 feet from the hole and directly in the center of the fairway. Confidently I grabbed my clubs and trotted down to the ball, but four strokes later I still hadn't been able to get the ball in. Oh well, better late than never.

And on down the course I did go, losing three more balls and only making one more decent shot. I did get across the creek on hole six, but lost the ball in some trees. I may be Ball Hawk, but I'm certainly not hawk-eyed!

For those of us who appreciate a stern challenge golf is great, that's why I decided to give it up when my last ball fell into a sprinkler.

But the next morning I was back at the office, trying to get finished early so I could go out and lose some more balls. Some people just never learn!

Monterey Wins Again; Boosts 4-AAAA Lead In Hereford Friday

Lubbock Monterey burned the John Pitman Municipal Golf Course in Hereford for a 294 Friday and won its third of three District 4-AAAA golf tournaments this season.

Hereford High School struggled in with a 319, but Brent Combs shot a 72 and James Jorde registered a 73, in his bid for runner-up medalist honors.

John Martin and an 86, Bill Carrothers got an 88, and Tom Coneway scored an 89. John Jorde made a 90 and Joe Priddy tallied a 95 to finish the Hereford team's scoring.

Monterey's fine showing moved them a full 47 strokes ahead of Plainview, who shot a 314 and took second Friday. Monterey has a district total of 880, while Plainview had a 927; Lubbock High, 947; Lubbock Coronado, 948; and HHS, 975.

Coach Jim Holmes had little to say about his team's play on Friday, but was pleased with the play of Jorde and Combs. The tourney began at 8:30 a.m. Friday and concluded about 1:30 p.m. The weather also operated, as little wind and warm temperatures prevailed.

The HHS team will travel to Lubbock next Friday to resume loop play.

Shipley Makes Bowler Of The Week In M.L.

Bowler of the week in the Major League last week was Roger Shipley, 680, while Ink Spot had the high three game team score, 3101, and the high single game team score, 1078.

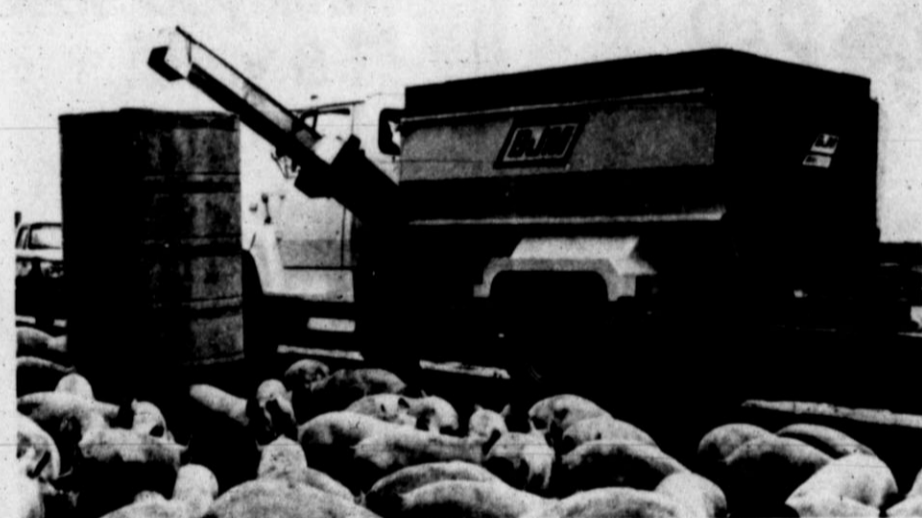

Perry Ray, 244, had the high single game scratch, while Roger Shipley, with a 590, recorded the high three game scratch.

In last week's play, Dickie's Restaurant won four and lost none, while Ink Spot, Worley's Garage and Wilson Beef & Lamb each won three and lost none and Sulley's Vending claimed two wins and two losses.

K-Bob's and Sunset Lanes currently lead the league with 11-5 records, followed by Watts Texaco Dickie's and Wilson Beef & Lamb, all at 10-6; Worley's Garage, 7-9; Ink Spot and Sulley's Vending, 6-10; Orval Watson Ford, 5-11; and Arrowhead Mills, 4-12.

NEW HOLLAND grinder-mixers offer fastest unloading, longest reach 757 trailer mounted Mixer-Feeders are ideal for dairymen, hog raisers, and cattlemen. Tractor mounted hydraulic controls give you easy operation from your tractor seat.

BJM Scale Systems for truck or trailer mounted 757 Mixer-Feeders give accurate weights and measures when loading and unloading feed. You can even pre-set the desired amount to be delivered to bunk or self-feeder.

Fill self-feeders with the auger extension by hydraulically lifting the auger up to 12 feet from the ground. When not in use, the extension folds back between the cab and the mixer and is immediately ready to fill feed bunks.

The 757 can be bought in two steps. It can be acquired as a feeder without the two top agitators. The agitators can be added later to make a mixer.

Use the 757 to fill grain drills and planters, as a bank-out wagon, or second truck for hauling grain at harvest. Hauling capacity with 10-inch extension sides is 240 bushels or 300 cubic feet.

Cab mounted discharge, mixing, and spout controls. Discharge rate indicator visible from the truck cab or tractor platform.

Capacity in a grinder-mixer means producing a batch of feed as fast as possible. That's why more and more farmers are turning to New Holland grinder-mixers for top-notch grinding and mixing performance combined with unequalled unloading capacity and reach.

Hereford And Dumas Win Tourney Games

Hereford and Dumas took opening wins Friday in the four-game Hereford baseball tournament, and played Saturday at 3 p.m. for the championship.

third, fourth and sixth innings, and left runners on base almost every inning. The Whitefaces also managed six hits, and made two errors, while the visitors made three mistakes.

Hereford sneaked past Tucumcari 3-0 and Dumas clawed powerful Canyon 8-2 in the first game Friday.

Dumas and Canyon were deadlocked 1-1 in the third inning, when Dumas came alive and sent five runs across to take the win.

Ricky Locke, Whiteface hurler, allowed only six hits and fanned 10 opposing hitters, while Terry Scott led the Herd hitting attack with two hits in three trips to the plate.

Winners played at 3 p.m. Saturday and the losers from the first day's play battled at 1 p.m.

FCA Meeting Set Thursday Morning

Letter to the editor

Dear Sir:
We all have our axe to grind, I suppose. With me, the axe is tuberculosis. I paid a very high price for failing to protect myself from this infectious disease, and in many ways I am still paying. I hope the people in Hereford and the other towns of Deaf Smith County will take advantage of the tuberculin testing program being offered on April 29, so that the sacrifices I made, and the sacrifices made by so many thousands of TB victims each year, can be avoided by them.

I owe my life to the fact that my symptoms finally became so bad that I could not disregard them any longer, and walked into a doctor's office and demanded a chest x-ray. I was already very sick by that time. That is the worst way to find out you have been infected with TB. By that time, I undoubtedly had infected others -- some of whom to this day may not know they are carrying TB germs which I gave to them.

You have no way of knowing how much I wish I had had a TB test in time to keep this from happening. While in the hospital and during later visits to my chest doctor, I met people with whom I had been in contact before I found out I was ill. They had come for treatment of their TB. We all wondered if we had infected each other, and who gave it to whom. There wasn't any real way to know, and maybe that was best.

When April 29 comes, I think every employer should insist that his employees get this test. Every child above the age of 3 months should get it. Every parent and grandparent should get it too, for adults spread their disease to children. And I certainly recommend that anyone in contact with the public receive the test, including civil servants, members of the police and sheriff's department, clerks and waitresses.

I hope the people of Deaf Smith will do two things. I hope that when Christmas Seal time comes around next fall, they will donate to the campaign so that this important work can continue throughout the Texas Panhandle. And I hope that Deaf Smith people will do what I failed to do, and protect their friends and the families they love.

Sincerely,
Charles E. McIntosh

Bell Telephone Plans Expansion

Southwestern Bell has announced a record $484 million expansion program in Texas during 1972 to stay ahead of the growing demands for telephone services.

Despite a generally dull economy last year, the expansion is $39 million more than the amount spent for new plants and equipment during 1971, according to H. D. Schodde, the company's vice president for Texas.

Schodde pointed out that the company's Texas operations in 1971 showed "very good" growth over the same period during 1970.

He said that the company added nearly 265,000 phones to its network in Texas during 1971, bringing the total Southwestern Bell phones in service in the state to more than 5.3 million. He said that another 304,000 are expected to be added during 1972.

Schodde also noted that along with the increase in telephones, customers in Texas used their phones more in 1971 than ever as an example he pointed out that the number of completed long distance calls on the average business day increased by more than 57,000 to a total of more 907,000 throughout the state.

The company remained one of the largest employers in the state with a work force of just under 34,000. Payroll for Southwestern Bell employees jumped nearly $22 million to more than $294 million annually.

"In view of the general economic conditions that prevailed in Texas and nationwide during 1971, we feel our growth during the year was very good," Schodde said.

Schodde said that with demands for communications service growing, the company's huge construction expenditures are more important than ever to provide service to new customers, to introduce new services

Deaf Smith Electric Getting 'Face Lifting'

Driving on East Highway 60 in Hereford may frequent a glance at familiar landmarks, buildings, or railroad activity, but in recent days something has changed. The general offices of Deaf Smith Electric Cooperative at East Highway 60 and Whittier are in the process of receiving a "New Look". The activity in and around the office building as the employees of the firm will be the first The activity in and around the

SHORT CHANGED

Most people have many good qualities, but lack the one necessary to make use of them.

office building has progressed at an almost hectic pace as the employees of the firm will be the first to tell you. One might go to his desk with four walls around him and suddenly find at day's end he is being refreshed with vast amounts of outside air as a wall in his office has completely disappeared. One employee exclaimed as he appeared early one morning for his starter cup of coffee, "Heck, things are changing so fast around here I can't even find the coffee pot."

According to James Hull, general manager, the Board of Directors accepted the low bid of Wiley Hicks, Jr., Amarillo Texas, for $90,000. Separate bid lettings went to local bidders, Brown Sheet Metal for heating and air conditioning, and Owen Electric for wiring. The facility, in addition to a complete face lifting inside, is receiving an additional 2,284 square feet, most of which is incorporated into a community room. The new meeting room will be used to handle the many requests for meeting room space the cooperative has from organizations throughout the service area.

The construction is the first major change of the building since it was erected 22 years ago. An explosion partly demolished a portion of the building in September, 1958, but relatively little change was made when restoring the structure.

Hull, in announcing the "new look" construction, explained that the one major factor influencing this decision was the tremendous growth of the cooperative in the last seven years. The company simply did not have enough office space to adequately accommodate the personnel it now has employed.

This cooperative started in 1937 with six employees and now has 41 which has doubled since 1965.

The construction should be completed by May 1st, Hull said. We think when it is finished our member-owners will be proud of it as well as the community."

Walker, Watts Complete Basic

Two Hereford men recently completed eight weeks of basic training at the U.S. Army training center at Ft. Polk, La.

They were William J. Walker Jr., 18, son of Mrs. Lillie M. Walker and Robert D. Watts, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse G. Watts, 308 Star.

Walker, a graduate of Hereford High School with the class of '71, served with Company C, 1st Battalion of the 5th Basic Training Brigade.

Walker, who attended Dimmitt High School, also served with the same company.

The two received instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, combat tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first aid and army history and traditions.

Young Farmers To Meet March 21 At Community Center

Contestants in this year's Hereford Young Farmers Junior Stock Show, and those who plan to enter next year's show, are asked to attend a meeting at 8 p.m. on Tuesday, in the Hereford Community Center.

The meeting has been called by the Hereford Young Farmers to discuss the last show and how improvements in it can be made. Also, a questionnaire mailed to show participants has been returned, and results of it will be determined.

Along the Frio

Mrs. Owen Andrews Ted Bush recently returned from a three week trip into Mexico, coming back by way of Yuma, Ariz. to visit friends. He accompanied his nephew on the trip.

Mrs. Christine Shirley was able to return to her home at Frio on Tuesday, after an eight day stay in Deaf Smith General Hospital. She underwent major surgery. Her parents, the H. E. Lindleys have been going to the hospital and to Frio to see about her.

Mr. and Mrs. Elza Warrick went to Waco Thursday to see an uncle who was to undergo surgery on Friday in Baylor hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Benson attended funeral services for her aunt, Mrs. Minora Oswalt, at Mobeette Baptist Church on Wednesday. She had lived several years in a Pampa Convalescence Home, but was a native of Mobeette.

Weldon Stephan is music director in a revival at Halfway Baptist Church this week. Mrs. Stephan and children have attended part of the services.

Take heed: A reckless driver and his life are soon parted. Experience is one commodity that always sells above par, but the future is a reflection of today's acts and accomplishments.

Mrs. Gulley To Be Concert Guest

A Hereford soloist, Mrs. Wesley Gulley, has been invited to appear in one of the Sunday Afternoon Concert series at the Federated Woman's Club building in Amarillo, at 3 p.m. March 26.

Mrs. Gulley will be accompanied by Mrs. Wayne Jones in vocal selections on the program she will share with Phoebe Stephenson, Amarillo pianist. This concert series, now in its 12th season, is open to the public with no admission charge.

Solos to be sung by the Hereford soprano include an aria from Menotti's opera, The Consul, titled To This We've Come. She will also present a group of art songs by Gluck, Durante, Lala and Richard Strauss.

Mrs. Gulley, who has taught vocal music in Hereford schools and was high school choral director last year, is at present a voice student of Mrs. D. W. Palmer. Mrs. Jones is on the school music faculty.

Those who attend the concert are invited to a reception afterward honoring the program artists. This will be the fifth concert in the 1971-72 series.

DAR Elects State Meeting Delegate

Mrs. Joe Reinauer Sr. was elected delegate to attend the State Daughters of America Revolution conference March 27-29 in Houston, at a Thursday afternoon meeting in the home of Mrs. Stan Knox. Mrs. Alfred Smith was co-hostess.

Mrs. Reinauer, local bi-centennial chairman, listed rules for a contest of commemorative medals, a national society project underway preceding the 1976 200th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

Mrs. J. J. Durham, assisted by Mrs. T. J. Carter, presented a series of slides with narration on Water -- Its Power, Challenge and Beauty. Beginning in the Hawaiian Islands, an example of the simplest form of water source, the slides depicted man's efforts to meet water challenges.

A few of these efforts are canyon bridges; reclaimed deserts and dams and using water to drive machines and transport good. "It is when you are really in touch with the power of the waters that you can feel the vastness of it all," they quoted.

Mrs. Carter read the DAR president-general's message concerning a proposed project of underwriting the cost of furnishing the Governor's Council Chamber and the Assembly Committee Room in Independence Hall in Philadelphia.

Mrs. L. W. Norvell, national defense chairman, reported on the United Nations and U. S. defense. Mrs. V. O. Hennon, DAR schools chairman, read notes of appreciation from Crossdoor and Berry College for assistance given them by the chapter. Mrs. Jess Robinson, regent, read an appreciative note from Tamiasse School.

Welcomed as new member was Mrs. C. F. Newsom. Thirteen members and Mrs. Norvell, membership chairman, extended her the official chapter welcome. Opening ritual was led by Mrs. Reinauer, chaplain.

Canyon Alumni Hear Mrs. Dones

Guest speaker to Chi Omega Alumni at Canyon, Mrs. Herb Dones attended a meeting Thursday in the home of Mrs. J. D. Byrd of that city and was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. H. E. Miller, who was also a guest.

Mrs. Dones, who lived at two different times in Libya while her husband was stationed at an American air base in that North African country, told of her family's life there, of the American base closing after communists gained control of the government, and of contrasts in ways of living for Libyan natives under former and present governments.

NATIONAL FHA WEEK -- Future Homemakers of America in Hereford schools will observe March 19-25, with girls over the nation, as FHA Week. Each chapter has planned varied activities. In Hereford High School one event is planting a rose, the FHA flower, on the campus. Sue Shirley and Sandy Fry dig into this project, upper left photo. Both these girls, with the group at right, received State Homemaker Degrees at the Area I FHA convention in Amarillo Saturday. Standing from left, are Donita McDermitt, Patricia Brownlow and Melissa Johnson; seated are Sally Bayne and Shalyn Sisson. In LaPlata Junior High, ninth grade FHA members will entertain all eighth grade girls Thursday at a party with the theme, Spring Is Bursting Out. At lower left Twanaha Kendrick, Barbara Richards and Jayne Martin of the decorating committee are making oversized spring flowers. Stanton Junior High members, lower right, make tags for the annual tag day Monday, opening the week. Terri Greenwood and Nancy Baker, seated, get some help from Gloria Mays and Leesa Sledge.

National FHA Week In Hereford Schools Opens

Special activities in Hereford High and Junior high schools, beginning today will observe National Future Homemakers of America Week. Local FHA members attended an area convention in Amarillo on the weekend.

Today is designated as church and family day, with each girl encouraged to attend church with her own family.

Young Homemakers of Texas, an organization composed of former FHA members, will be hostesses at a Coke party Wednesday for all the members. A salad supper for the junior high chapters and mothers of members is scheduled Tuesday evening at LaPlata cafeteria.

High school students have arranged exhibits to call attention to the week, and will plant a rose bush on the campus; the rose is the national FHA flower.

At Stanton Junior High, Monday will be tag day, Tuesday senior citizens day, Thursday teacher appreciation day and also the time for members to wear their colors, red and white. Final event of the week will be a Coke party Friday when "secret sisters" of the week will be revealed.

A display in Sugarland Mall will be arranged Monday by LaPlata. FHA members in the ninth grade will entertain all eighth grade girls Thursday, and Friday will be slave day, with Shyla Thomas as chairman.

A contest will be held in LaPlata Monday and Stanton Wednesday, with members attempting to avoid conversation with

Ticket Sale Plans Made In Sorority

Peter and Sheila Fox of the ALT were present to explain the plan in which members of the sorority here will sell tickets to the Wednesday performance of The Girls in the Freudian Slip, with movie star Don Ameche as guest actor.

Plans were made also for the closing ritual ceremony which Hereford chapters will present at the state BSP convention in June. Speakers are to be selected and costumes planned for that program.

Church Invites Public To Visit

The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints will host an open house at 7:30 p.m. March 21 and 22 at their chapel, 500 Country Club Drive, which the public is cordially invited to attend.

The film, The Three Witnesses, will be shown and presentations will be made by the church organizations and auxiliaries concerning each particular program.

Foods Film-Show Is Club Study

A film on A Cook's Tour of Scandinavia, giving recipes and methods for classic smorgasbord and Danish pastries, was the program presented to members of Bay View Study Club Thursday afternoon in the Flame Room.

Hostesses for the day were Mmes. R. B. Miller and W. S. Kerr.

Members in attendance included Mmes. J. R. Allison, H. L. Benefield, Colby Conkright, R. W. Eades, Herman Ford, Homer Garrison, Howard Gault, W. J. Gilliland, Justin McBride, Ansel McDowell, Tom Sawyer, Jack Wilcox, Keith Simmer, D. N. Garner and Bob Josseland.

Set-Aside Regulations Relaxed For Farmers

GSPA Executive Director Elbert Harp was notified this week by U.S.D.A. officials that the set-aside regulations have been relaxed for farmers who produce both wheat and summer row-crops.

Under the new regulation, a farmer who has wheat set-aside will be asked to designate his intended set-aside for cotton and grain sorghum at the time of wheat certification. However, if for any reason he wishes to change his set-aside later, he may do so by notifying the county ASCS office at the time of certifying his grain sorghum and cotton.

Prior to this adjustment, a change could have been made only with the approval of the county ASCS office, which unduly complicated the farming operation at the time of starting crops in the spring. The Grain Sorghum Producers Association and the Plains Cotton Growers Association have been working on this problem with the U.S.D.A. for over a month.

Member Honored Leaving Office

Presentation of a jewel to Mrs. Leonard Davis at the close of her term as district Rebekah Lodge deputy, featured the meeting of the Hereford lodge this week. Mrs. Francis Parker presided for the program.

The charter was draped in memory of Florence Groat of Winnipeg, Canada, a past president of the International Association of Rebekahs.

Refreshments were served to 21 members by Mrs. Gail Hamby.

Parmers Visit Hereford

David Parmer and his wife Kathy, both former Hereford residents, are visiting in Hereford this week, while Parmer is on a 30-day leave from the Marine Air Corp Base at El Toro, California.

Definition Of TB Program Is Given

Mrs. Jewel Smith, DeafSmith County welfare director, spoke to members of Bud To Blossom Garden Club Friday morning concerning the April 29 tuberculin skin testing program sponsored by the Top of Texas TB and Respiratory Disease Association.

Clinics will be set up at the Community Action Center, Public Health Clinic and Sugarland Mall. Mrs. Sam Long, vice president, presided over business in the absence of president, Mrs. R. N. Yarbro.

Hostess in her home, was Mrs. John Chavarria. A landscape design program featuring the selection and uses of trees for specific purposes and locations was presented in three parts by Mmes. Gaylon Bryan, Roy Bell and Raymond Zamarripa.

Mrs. Bryan spoke on Modern Trees For Small Gardens; Mrs. Bell's topic was entitled Trees For Problem Locations; and Mrs. Zamarripa told of A Place In The Shade.

Mrs. Art Manjeot will give a program entitled A Continuous Parade of Color at the April 7 meeting.

Others present were Mmes. Bruce Brown, Steve Conaway, W. H. Gentry, Jim Pavleck, Billy Wayne Sisson, Jess Robinson and Homer Powell.

LOOKING FOR A $50,000 JOB

There are not too many jobs paying $50,000 but there are lots of businesses that do.

One of them is ours, and we are a four year old national company, offering patented, unique products and services (Closed Circuit TV, A-V and Film Production) in a 20-billion dollar plus, growth industry.

DO NOT APPLY UNLESS:

1. You desire and believe $50,000 a year and up can be made.
2. You have $5,985.50 to $19,803.00 to invest now, in your own, local one to five county wide, factory established communications network.
3. You want a business that does not require salesmen or any other employees besides yourself.
4. You are willing to participate in a two week Factory Training Program to be conducted at the Home Office and in your own territory, which will qualify you to take over and operate your own Factory Established Local Business.

FOR SPECIFIC DETAILS:
 Write to COMMUNICATION INDUSTRIES OF AMERICA, INC., P.O. Box 10708, Tampa, Fla 33609, giving full details of your financial capacity and income requirements.

Historic Site In County Holds Personal Memories

BY SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

ESCARBADA HEADQUARTERS of the famous old XIT Ranch is a site of historic importance not only in far western Deaf Smith County, where it is located on Tierra Blanca Draw, but for all of West Texas.

To Mrs. N. A. Brown, pioneer ranch woman of that neighborhood, its meaning is less historic than personal. She played as a child on the shady porch and in rooms of the rock headquarters building which has since fallen into ruin.

Now living on a ranch which her sons operate west of the Bootleg community, Mrs. Brown came as a two-year-old child from Kentucky with her parents, early settlers in the Hollene community of New Mexico, just over the Texas line. She recalls visits to the family which lived on the Escarbada, and playing with their children.

LATER, WHEN the place was no longer occupied, community picnics were held there and the Brown boys tell of wiener roasts enjoyed by groups down in a large water storage tank by the windmill, a tank large enough to have been used as a swimming pool although the Browns do not know that it actually was.

Now the old headquarters buildings are in an area closed to the public. The land, owned by the Reinauer family, is operated as a working ranch, so permission is necessary for visitors.

Not only have visitors in the past interfered with ranch operations and left gates open, but have contributed to damage to the buildings. Present owners wish to preserve what is left of the structures.

PERMISSION was given by Mr. and Mrs. Joe Reinauer Sr. for a recent trip, with Mrs. Ergan and her son, Ernest, as guides.

John Hoffman, son-in-law of the Ernest Browns, was also in the party and served as the handy man to open -- and close -- the numerous gates. Sue Coleman and Atha McIver of The Brand completed the group.

Location of the headquarters of the upper reaches of Tierra Blanca Draw, where it meanders through a wide valley with steep canyon walls set back on either side, gives the headquarters its name, Escarbada.

A variation of the Spanish word escarpada, meaning steeply sloping ground, it is related to the English word escarpment. The name was applied to a division of the XIT spread, largest ranch in the world when it was formed from West Texas land ceded by the state government to a syndicate in payment for the Texas capitol building.

When the syndicate sold the land for smaller ranches, holdings in Deaf Smith County were brought by various owners and the headquarters area has changed hands several times. The next ranch up the draw is owned now by Mrs. Brown's brother, Roy Potts.

IN THE RECENT photographs on this page, the house with plaster peeling from its thick walls, the long front porch partly falling away, is shown at upper left. On the slope behind it, the square building, concrete lined, held water pumped by a windmill for use in the house. A terraced yard in front of the house is held by a rock retaining wall.

From a front window in the kitchen, another windmill below the terrace is shown. Near it is the large storage tank which may have been a swimming pool.

"This is the porch where we played," Mrs. Brown tells her son as they stand below remains of the roof, second photo from top. A tree has grown up at the edge of the old porch.

Two stories high at front and sides, the house has a back entrance from the second floor, just a step to the sloping ground there. High above the roof, slanting toward the chimney, is the trail of a jet plane, a modern touch in the third photo from the top.

Above the fireplace in her room at the east end, which Mrs. Brown says was the office and children were not allowed, are scrawled names such as appear on all inside walls of the building, leftovers from picnics of past years. (Photo bottom left).

Patterns of light and shade dapple stalls in the old barn, about a block from the house, where Mrs. McIver picks her way across the floor, lower center. The rocky bluff formed part of its walls.

The last gate is closed by John Hoffman, lower right, on the road winding down the draw, here with stiles less steeply sloped.

Linda Ruth Jacobsen Wed In Evening Ceremony

Miss Linda Ruth Jacobsen, daughter of Mrs. John Jacobsen Jr., 209 E. Sixth, and the late Mr. Jacobsen, became the bride of Earl Edward Bradley Saturday evening in First United Methodist Church. The Dr. W. A. Appling, pastor, read vows. Bradley is son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl C. Bradley of Abilene.

Given in marriage by her brother, Marcus E. Jacobsen, the bride wore a peau de soie gown featuring lace appliques on bodice front, full cuffed sleeves, and cathedral-length train.

Seed pearls were scattered over the lace design accented over the lace design and accented the lace headpiece holding a waist-length tiered veil. She carried white pompon chrysanthemums and babybreath.

In her heirlooms were the bridegroom's paternal grandmother's wedding ring and his maternal grandmother's handkerchief.

Altar decorations included a candlelight gladiola centerpiece. Wedding music was presented by Mrs. Tony Calkins, organist, and Susan White, vocalist. Selections included The Wedding Prayer and Wither Thou Goest.

Attending the bride were Cynthia Meador of Abilene, maid of honor; Mrs. Ronald Houston, matron of honor; Mrs. Marcus Jacobsen of Canyon and Mrs. Gary Holcomb of Goldthwaite, as bridesmaids.

The groom's father served as his best man with Jon Bradley of Abilene, William Adaska of Duncanville and Gary Holcomb as groomsmen and ushers.

Bridal attendants wore blue peau de soie gowns featuring ruffled collars, and carried votive candles surrounded by jonquils and blue streamers.

Mrs. William Adaska invited guests to register at a reception immediately following the ceremony in the fellowship hall. Cake was served by Mrs. Kenneth Hagar and Miss Becky Elliott while Miss Jan Jacobsen, cousin of the bride, poured punch.

The serving table was covered with white satin and white lace overlay, centered with the attendant's lights and flowers. For their honeymoon trip to Georgia, the bride wore a beige dress and coat ensemble with matching accessories. They will make their home in Abilene in July when Bradley's military service is completed at Ft. Gordon in Augusta, Ga.

The bride, a graduate of Hereford High School, attended the University of Texas at Arlington where she received her B.S. in Math. She was active in Phi Mu Sorority and the A Capella Choir.

Her husband attended Cooper High and UTA, where he majored in electrical engineering. He pledged Delta Upsilon fraternity.

Among out-of-town wedding guests were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bradley, Mr. and Mrs. Randal Meador, Abilene; Mr. and Mrs. Morgan Martin and Miss Peggy Martin, Houston.

Small talk

BY SUE COLEMAN
Women's Editor

DON'T GET MIXED up on the names, member of the Chamber of Commerce Women's Division who are working on Miss Hereford Pageant committees have been warned. It's sheer coincidence, but the pageant director and an associate director are both named Green. No relations.

Both are relative newcomers in Hereford; both have had previous experience in staging such pageants, both at Duncan, Okla., where they lived at the same time.

If you've followed this far, you may now become thoroughly confused. The director is named Mrs. Pat Green and the associate Mrs. Earl Green. But Mrs. Earl Green's first name is Pat, while Mrs. Pat Green's first name is Carolyn. At least they don't look alike, but both are attractive young matrons, as enthusiastic about finding a winning Miss Hereford as they were about Miss Duncan a few years back.

PASSING the time of day in a supermarket aside the other day, Mabel Wilson told me the women at Kings Manor who have been compiling a cookbook now have the books ready for sale, and very handsome books they are.

Mrs. Wilson has for a long time worked with Manor residents in a crafts club, and the cookbooks grew out of that work. It's not a bad idea, turning to crafts with a market value instead of just making decorative gadgets.

Of course a number of women at the Manor have produced saleable handwork for years, mostly various types of needlecrafts, but cookbooks are something different.

HONOR LISTS from the various colleges that make up Texas Tech continue to bring names of Hereford students to this desk. On the dean's list for the fall semester in the college of engineering are two.

Willis Alexander and Thomas Betzen, both majoring in mechanical engineering, were honor students.

A MEMBER of the 36-voice touring choir from The University of the South at Seawee, Tenn., Pamela Miller of Hereford is with the group on a nine-day trip through the Great Lakes region during the spring recess.

The choir presents religious and classical musical and has concerts scheduled in seven churches. Miss Miller is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Miller, Harrison Highway.

Engaged Girl Is Honoree

Miss Mozelle Fillingam, speech therapist at Bluebonnet and Northwest Elementary Schools, was honored Tuesday afternoon by faculty members of both school with a party at the Flame Room of Pioneer Natural Gas Company.

Miss Fillingam, March 25 bride-elect of Glenn Thomas, greeted approximately 40 guests who presented her a money tree as gift.

The bride-to-be's chosen colors were brought out in decorations. The serving table was covered with a white, lace-edged cloth and centered with an arrangement of yellow and gold daisies flanked by yellow tapers.

The couple will be married in Wheeler.

Piano Recital Is Slated Today

Students of Mrs. Allen Evers will be presented in piano recital at 3 p.m. today in the fellowship hall of First Christian Church. A variety of music including popular and classical solos, will be heard.

Pupils are Annette Diller, Donna, Karen and Barbara Schlabs, Diana and David York, Joey Mazurek, Karen Lowrie, Sandy Evers, Theresa Schilling, Joanne Wanger, Pam Cosper, Christi and Geni Welty, Brenda and Lindy Walterscheid and Yvonne Vera.

The public is invited to attend.

Austin Speaks To Hereford Realtors

The Hereford Board of Realtors held its regular monthly meeting Tuesday in Dickie's Restaurant where Bill Austin, Alcohol Beverage Commission representative, was the guest speaker.

Austin discussed the pros and cons of gun registration and control.

Nina Merriott received the second Realtor of the Month award for her work at publicity chairman of the organization. Also, Margaret Schroeter was awarded the $10 password prize for mentioning the word "escrow."

Mrs. Otto Massie Is Gift Victor

A comic guessing game conducted by Mrs. Roger Williams at a Thursday afternoon North Hereford Home Demonstration Club meeting, netted a kitchen token for Mrs. Otto Massie, winner.

Mrs. Tony Hoffman was hostess in her home where Argen Draper, County Home Demonstration Agent, presented a demonstration on sewing darts in a young boy's suit of polyester knit fabric.

Samples of various types of polyester fabrics were distributed and pros and cons of those present were discussed.

Guests welcomed were Mmes. Bill West and Carl Luke and Miss Augustine Gregory. Answering roll call were Mmes. T. E. Brisendine, Gaylon Bryan, J. A. Crofford, Velma Salvino, Paul Hoff, Kenneth Haggard, A. E. Hodges, O. L. Williams and Miss Roberta Campbell.

A discussion on color prejudices followed.

Phillip Cain And Bride Will Live In Galveston

Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Thomas Cain are on a honeymoon trip to New Mexico and across the border to Ruidosa, Mexico, after their mid-afternoon marriage in the chapel of First Presbyterian Church at Midland Saturday.

Mrs. Cain was Miss Susan Frances Harris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Harris of Midland. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Cain, 104 Elm Street.

He is a junior in the University of Texas Medical Branch at Galveston and after March 28 the couple will be at home at 912 Church Street, No. 4, in that city.

The wedding service was read by the Rev. Forrest K. Whitworth, pastor of the church, before paired altar arrangements of white gladiolas, pink carnations, bridal roses and ranunculus. White tapers burned in spiral candelabra twined with jade foliage on either side.

Mrs. Charles Harris of Midland, sister-in-law of the bride, was her matron of honor and Frank Cain attended his brother as best man. Ushers were Bob Gentry of Lubbock, Byron Gosstee of Dumas and Charles Harris.

Preceding the ceremony, Alice Helms sang O Perfect Love with organ accompaniment by Robert Poer, who played other selections and the marches.

Fashioned by her mother, the bride's gown was of candlelight organza over bridal satin, carpet length. Alencon lace circled the high neckline and cuffed the bishop sleeves; lace motifs embroidered with seed pearls clusters were sprinkled over the sleeves and skirt front.

Her circular illusion mantilla was edged with lace scallops and mounted over a coil of pearl-encrusted lace. Her colonial bouquet of pink bride's roses, stephanotis and gypsophylla was tied with white satin streamers. She wore a diamond ring that belonged to her paternal great-grandmother.

The matron of honor was dressed in candy pink crepe, with gypsy sleeves gathered at the wrists and a square neckline edged in white ribbon embroidered with roses in two shades of pink. Around the empire waistline was a sash of the embroidered ribbon.

She carried a bouquet similar to the brides, of variegated pink miniature carnations and gypsophylla.

After the wedding reception was held in the church parlor, where Miss Diane Grimland served the three-tiered cake, decorated with pink sugar roses and lily-of-the-valley sprays, while Mrs. Rike Tipton, of Odessa poured punch.

Four-branched silver can-

Mrs. Phillip T. Cain . . . married at Midland

delabras and an arrangement of pink blossoms centered the bride's table. Kristi and Charlie Harris distributed rice bags, and Mrs. Larry Mast of Austin registered guests.

For the wedding trip, Mrs. Cain wore a sleeveless A-line dress of petal pink knit with matching jacket accented with gold buttons.

She received a bachelor of arts degree from Texas Christian University, where she was a member of Phi Sigma Iota, and has been employed by a Houston bank.

Before he entered medical school Cain earned his bachelor of science degree at TCU. He was a 1967 graduate of Hereford High School.

In addition to his family and friends from Hereford, out-of-city wedding guests included Mr. and Mrs. Alvie Burdine of Irving, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Holmes of Lubbock, Dr. and Mrs. Tom Holmes of Fort Worth, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Cain of Oklahoma City.

Simms Lions Plan Turkey Shoot Today

The Simms Lions Club will hold a "Turkey Shoot" beginning at 1 p.m. today at the Simms Community Center.

Entry fee is $2. Twelve-gauge shells will be available, according to club officials, but no other type. Persons who have other than a gauge gun must bring their own shells.

Are You Hung Up On Cereals?

Do you get hung up at the cereal counter of the supermarket? Do you stand there in hopeless confusion, unable to choose among the competing brands and varieties?

The Federal Trade Commission fears that you may have this problem. And they have a solution for it, too. Break up the major cereal producers. Snap! Crack! Pop!

How's that again... it's wrong to give the consumer a choice? Evidently. The four leading producers make too many brands, the FTC suggests; the consumer is confused by the quantity and by advertising that mainly stresses "artificial" differences.

Ok, too many brands. So the solution must be fewer cereal producers, and therefore fewer brands, right? No, wrong again. We need more cereal producers, the FTC says. And it wants to the present producers to foot the bill for establishing their new competitors.

Now, let's be fair to the FTC. Let's not ask how more producers will solve the problem of too many brands. Let's not even speculate about the amount of intelligence the FTC gives the average consumer credit for.

Why So Many Brands?

Instead, let's examine this question of "too many" brands. If the cereal producers are in business to make a profit (and the FTC says their profits are too high) then they cannot afford to make products no one will buy, right? So it is a reasonable assumption that someone is buying all, or nearly all, of those brands on the shelves. That means that someone wants all, or nearly all of those brands. So the "crime" of the cereal producers seems to be in providing what the consumer wants.

Ah, but suppose the producers, by their very size, can "force" consumers to buy new brands. Well, that should be easy to answer. Do all new brands sell? No. Over half of the brands introduced in the 1960s failed. And the three most popular cereals were introduced over 30 years ago. Evidently the consumer can't be forced to buy something he doesn't want. Which is the way it should be, whether a cereal producer or a government agency is trying to do the forcing.

But the FTC also feels the success of these four companies in the breakfast cereal business results in unnecessarily high prices. How? Because the four firms are conspiring to "fix" prices? No, the FTC doesn't accuse them of that. Well then, is it because the four producers can't sell enough, individually, to lower costs through high-volume production? No, that can't be the answer, or the FTC wouldn't propose still more producers in the industry.

In fact, it is difficult to see what grounds the FTC has for this action. At a time when the cost of almost everything has been rising steeply, consumer spending for cereals has remained remarkably stable. Out of every $20 spent on food by the average shopper in 1960, 22 cents went for cereal. Ten years later, that figure had risen only one penny, to 23 cents.

The Real Problem

The real problem here is not what the cereal industry is doing to the consumer, but rather, what the FTC would do to both the cereal industry and to the consumer. There are bureaucrats in Washington who believe their judgement to be superior to that of the marketplace. What that comes down to is that they believe their judgement is superior to yours, as a consumer. So they want to "protect" you by insuring that the only choices open to you are those meeting with their approval. They are really a warmhearted bunch. Just a little conceited, that's all.

Will it stop with the cereal industry? Probably not. The FTC is known to have at least four other industries under investigation... for now.

The FTC has a valuable role to perform in protecting the consumer from false advertising and hazardous or misrepresented products. Responsible businessmen support this function, because they, too suffer from corner-cutting competition. But protecting the consumer from having "too much" choice is not a proper regulatory function.

A Unifying Thread

The Florida primary provides two topics for comment, the Wallace-busing vote and the Muskie collapse. Yet it seems to us a unifying thread, and an insight into the problem of the Democratic Party, can be found by returning to the theme that cosmopolitan Americans do not understand America.

Governor Wallace finished with 42% of the Florida Democratic vote, while 74% of the voters said they favored a constitutional amendment to prohibit busing. A standard cosmopolitan explanation, in fact offered by Senator Muskie in his election-night speech, is that outcome expressed the worst instincts of the voters, who of course would be perfectible in the right hands. As the explanation gets elaborated we will doubtless hear about increasing racism, movement toward two societies, and so on.

There ought to be intriguing explanations of the other race-related referendum question, in which an even larger number—79%—of voters declared themselves in favor of equal educational opportunity and opposed to a return to the dual school system. This vote against segregation, to the extent it is noticed at all, will be met with the explanation that everyone knows the voters mean what they vote on one question and don't mean what they vote on the next one, and similar mind-reading exercises.

It will be much like the ancient astronomers trying to patch up the equations for an earth-centered universe in order to refute Copernicus. For in fact, these results can be explained in the most simple and straight-forward fashion:

People are growing less racist, and therefore oppose segregated schools even in the South. They see busing as a boondoggle that makes little practical or moral sense, so they vote against it. Even we understand, in black precincts. There are enough racists left to give Governor Wallace a solid core of support, and he has been able to build on this by adding many voters who resent having suspect social prescriptions imposed on them by the cosmopolitan elite. Everyone understands this except the elite.

Cosmopolitan Americans tend to be motivated by what they call principle and others might call ideology. In the Democratic Party, of course, the ideology is a liberal one. The cosmopolitan Americans are also those with the money, leisure and interest to invest heavily in politics rather than merely vote on election day. Thus they have far more influence between elections than during them.

Senator Muskie has paid dearly for this simple lesson. For some months now he has been listening to ideological voices far more than he had seemed to before. He denounced the President's peace plan even before the North Vietnamese did, for example, and generally worked himself into a Vietnam position we can only describe as irresponsible. In his positions as well as in the well-publicized crying incident, he has sacrificed the centrist, stable image that put him in the race in the first place.

Nothing Happening This Weekend? How About A $125 Trip To Europe?

By Bert Mills

Washington, D. C. -- Traveling to Europe for the weekend has been made easy and thousands of Americans are joining the international jet set by flying the Atlantic for brief and inexpensive vacations.

Charter flights with several hundred passengers are making the round trip to London and other European cities in as little as five days, for such sensationally low prices as $125. This is about one-half what regularly scheduled airlines must charge for similar flights.

This writer has just made such a trip, to London and back to Washington, for $125, leaving Washington on a Thursday night and returning the following Monday night. There were 180 people on this trip, most of them members of the Order of the Eastern Star but including a delegation of 50 from the National Press Club.

A travel agency put together the package, overcoming a major problem because of the coal strike in Britain which caused the government to curtail use of electric power. While the strike has been settled the most of the cuts restored before takeoff, scare stories in the U. S. press caused 70 cancellations and left that many empty seats on the 250-passenger DC-8 used for the trip.

Another problem was the London weather, often unreliable particularly in winter. We were supposed to make a non-stop flight to London in seven and one-half hours. Instead we landed in less than six hours in Shannon, Ireland, because all London airports were fogged in.

Ireland has its charms but few of them are evident when confined to an airport at dawn. We arrived at 5:50 a.m. local time but it did not take the Irish long to react to the surprise visitors. Very shortly the bar was opened and served Irish coffee.

The famed Duty Free Shops at Shannon did not open until 7 a.m., and shortly thereafter a couple more flights came in and the once-empty terminal was filled. At 10:00 a.m. our entire group was served a free breakfast, supplementing the earlier one received on board just before reaching Shannon.

Finally the weather in London cleared up and we were able to leave Ireland about 11:00 a.m. An hour later we landed at our destination, Gatwick Airport, London, almost six hours late. A 38-minute train ride brought us to Victoria Station in downtown London.

London has a wonderful transportation system, including trains, subways, buses, and taxis. All are cheap, reliable, and there are signs, maps and guides everywhere. There is no excuse for getting lost in London despite its irregular streets, alleys and circles. This three-time visitor managed to get lost once, but while on foot in a residential area.

When a visitor is lost, Londoners are anxious to help, even to point of solving the complexities of the British telephone system. Alexander Graham Bell was an American and the British adaptation of his invention is far below the American standard. You must have your 2 pence coin ready at the appropriate moment, and know which slot to put it in, or your call will not be completed.

In contrast to the delayed outbound trip, the return flight was almost perfect. Everybody made it to the plane in time, there were no weather problems, and takeoff came right on schedule. We left Gatwick at 6 p.m., for an eight and one-half hour homeward flight. We made it back to Washington on schedule.

Time changes are a problem for international travelers. London time is five hours ahead of Washington time. That means you lose five hours flying to London, and gain it back on the return flight. For a day or two thereafter, a jet setter is mixed up. Ideally, one should allow a day after a trans-ocean trip to get back on schedule. Even veteran international travelers never get used to that turnaround in time.

Almost everybody belongs to some group eligible to book a charter flight to the other side of the big pond. As the ads say, "see your travel agent" and you too can join the jet set.

THE BOOTLEG —Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his Johnson Grass farm gets off into a deep subject this week and you can decide whether he makes it to shore.

Dear editor:

I've always contended that economists, like weather forecasters, are much better at telling you what's going to happen tomorrow, than what's going to happen yesterday. I doubt what's going to happen tomorrow, but now I'm beginning to doubt even that.

Or me and Benjamin Franklin are too far behind our times. For example, I read in a newspaper last night which a March wind had blown against my front screen door and I pulled off because the fly season hasn't started yet anyway, that economists reported that the American public has demonstrated a grave lack of confidence in the economy by saving more money in 1971 than it has in any year in the last 25.

That's right. Economists, I understand, figure the more money a person saves the less confidence he has in continued prosperity. The more he saves, the less he spends, the fewer the goods bought, resulting in a slow-down in the economy.

Last year, the economists said, Americans saved 8.2 per cent of their money, the worst, that is to say the highest, rate in 25 years. Any time they save more than 6 per cent the economy's in danger, according to the experts' theory.

As I understand this, when Benjamin Franklin said a penny saved is a penny earned, what he was actually saying is that a penny saved is an attack on prosperity. When he said "neither a borrower nor a lender be," he was undermining the national economy.

Ole Ben may have been ahead of his time in discovering electricity but he was way off the beam when it comes to a balanced budget. How could he have missed discovering that a budget, although 30 billion dollars in the red, is balanced if all the money you planned on coming in had come in?

Come on, Ben, everybody knows a penny saved is a monkey wrench thrown.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Talk of Texas

BY JACK MAGUIRE

FOOTNOTE TO HISTORY -- Fort Worth got an early-day nickname, Pantherville, because a disgruntled resident decided to leave and seek his fortune in Dallas.

In the 1870's, Robert F. Cowart, a young lawyer, moved from Fort Worth to Dallas. He told a newspaper that a panthers had taken to coming into town and sleeping at night on the main thoroughfare.

This struck B. B. Paddock, editor of the Fort Worth Gazette, as a bit of high humor. He declared editorially that the town "where the West begins" would be known henceforth as "Pantherville." Even the Fort Worth baseball team in the Texas League was named the "Panthers" when it was organized in 1887. Later the name was shortened to "Cats" for the benefit of sports writers.

Pantherville continued as the nickname until the growth of Fort Worth as a cattle center changed the monicker to "Cowtown."

HELP WANTED -- Ashton Villa, the first brick house in Galveston (built in 1859) is being restored and history buffs are being asked to help.

Those who would like to contribute to the $250,000 cost can get additional information by writing the Ashton Villa Restoration Committee, P. O. Box 302, Galveston 77550.

THE UNCHANGING TIMES -- Texas has the world's only 20th century cave man, and he's doing it all for science.

Last December, a French scientist named Michel Siffre entered Midnight Cave near Del Rio. He will stay there six months alone and without a timepiece, a radio, a television set or a newspaper. On the rock-strewn hill above, his wife and a team of scientists will keep watch on him through dozens of special electronic devices.

Siffre's goal: To prove that a man can change his life rhythm from its current 24-hour cycle to a 48-hour cycle in which he can work 36 hours and sleep for 12. The experiment could prove invaluable to astronauts, jet pilots, nuclear submarine crews and others whose working lives span several time zones.

The all-French expedition chose the Texas cave for their experiments after checking out more than 40 caverns. Midnight Cave... which is 70 feet long, 50 feet wide and 15 feet high... was selected as the best.

HAVE YOU EVER WONDERED -- Where Texas Indians got the dyes used in their colorful clothing?

Much of it came from various plants. But there also were certain spots in the state (such as some of the terrain in Montague County) where the soil produced pigments favored by the tribes. These places became regular stopovers for the Indians as they migrated from one camp to another.

THE RADICAL ECONOMIST

NASHVILLE, TENN. -- Businessmen whose taxes support colleges and universities are understandably shocked to discover that many leading institutions of higher education have hired professors who condemn capitalism.

Recently, the WALL STREET JOURNAL published a lengthy rundown on the penetration of university economics faculties by radical economists. "Almost every university has at least one left-wing economics professor," the Journal said. "Harvard has five, Columbia has seven, American University has eight on its 16-member economics faculty."

This new radical breed is numerous. More than 1,200 economists, most of them professors and graduate students in economics, belong to the Union for Radical Political Economics. Eight members of the Union delivered papers at the American Economics Association's annual meeting in New Orleans in December. The influence of the radical economists is growing. North Carolina businessmen recently learned that a basic economics text assigned at North Carolina State University begins with the words "capitalism stinks."

One of the most outrageous aspects of the situation is that the radicals are getting federal funds provided by the taxpayers. The WALL STREET JOURNAL reported Feb. 11 that three radical economists "currently have a $130,000 Labor Department grant to study personality traits fostered in school and on the job."

The breakthrough for the radical economists didn't just happen. It was planned and programmed. For seven years Widener has been writing in BARRON'S FINANCIAL WEEKLY about the ideas and organizational plans of something called the Socialist Scholars Conference. Unfortunately, few people paid attention to this organization and similar academic groups.

"The united front known as the Socialist Scholars Conference was founded in this country in December 1964," Mrs. Widener wrote in BARRON'S. "The original on-scene founders were six Marxist historians: John M. Cammett, Lloyd Gardner, Eugene D. Genovese and Warren I. Sussman of Rutgers University in New Jersey, and Helmut Gruber and Louis Menashe of Brooklyn Polytechnic, New York." The first conference was held at Columbia University, with Dr. Herbert Aptheker of the Communist Party - USA - now at Bryn Mawr College - as the major speaker. He said that the aim of the organization was to promote the radicalization of America.

"From then on," Mrs. Widener wrote, "the Socialist Scholars set up a united front intellectual communications network to promote such radicalization. The network extended from Ivy League universities to underground guerilla warfare training centers, from millionaires' penthouses to hippies' and yuppies' pads." The presence of radical economists on college and university faculties has to be seen in the context of this drive for radicalization.

The hour is late but not too late for responsible citizens to insist that colleges and universities get rid of the Marxist and neo-Marxist professors of economics and other subjects. The cry of "academic freedom" will be raised, and the responsible public should be prepared. The radical professors aren't deservng of academic freedom, for they aren't engaged in authentic academic work. Their outlook is that of Prof. Herbert Marcuse of the University of California at San Diego who said several years ago that the Marxist idea of socialism is not radical enough, declaring: "We must develop the moral-sexual rebellion of the youth."

Couple Married

Miss Lisa Coleman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Coleman of Route 4, and Pfc Michael Bean, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bean of Odessa, were recently married in First Baptist Church by Dr. Gerald Mann, pastor.

The bride wore a white knit, street-length dress with daisy trim. A crown of pearls held her shoulder-length veil and she carried a daisy bouquet.

Attending the couple were Bentley Coleman, the bride's brother, as best man, and M'Lee Coleman, her sister, as maid of honor.

Her attendant wore a pink princess-style dress with silver braid trim on puffed sleeves and she carried a nosegay of daisies.

At a reception following in the home of the bride's parents, guests were served white wedding cake decorated with pink hearts.

The couple will make their home at El Toro Marine Base in California in May when the bride graduates from Hereford High School.

Bean is a graduate of Permian High School at Odessa.

Climbing the Family Tree was the topic of discussion presented by Mrs. C. F. Newsom at Wyche Home Demonstration Club meeting Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Norman Hodges was hostess for the meet. Mrs. Newsom suggested that in preparing to make a family tree, one should start with oneself and work back.

Mrs. G. W. Duncan directed games for opening exercises and roll call was answered by telling something about a family tree.

Others attending were Mmes. Cecil Hart, Ira Ott, E. C. Hewitt, Jr., W. P. Axe, Harley Ward, Jack Harrell and Leroy Bodkin.

By the Garden Gate with Glad

By Mrs. Art Manjeot

Here in the Hi-Plains of Texas we never know what to expect from this month of the lion and the lamb. I know when we have some warm sunny days we really get a fever to get outside, be busy about the gardening chores, and continue making plans for the coming growing season. The success of any garden or garden project takes wise and thoughtful planning.

Really this has been a red-letter week for Glad. Have wandered down many beautiful garden paths. The week was started off with a most enjoyable day spent with my friend Beanie Hill, and to make it a real highlight, she and I visited in other gardens.

One that we especially enjoyed was the garden of the Dick Barnards. We entered by the alley entrance and the first thing noticed was the garden walkway, outlined with irises, then the rose garden was taking on a new look. Dick has been busy getting it in shape for the beauty that comes in late May or early June.

A new fence has been added since our last visit, also a house to store garden needs. Thy hyacinths, crocus and daffodils were in bloom, also a forsythia which was a beautiful picture in the afternoon sunlight against the brick background.

Elizabeth is doing some espallering on the west wall, plant used is English Ivy. This is a nice project and will be most satisfying when it really takes form and the lincness against wall will be most attractive.

Also noted a new idea for mulching. Dick is using rice hulls in the rose garden and other flower beds. Had also planted a ground cover to be turned under as the season advances. An especially beautiful garden picture was the full blown plum tree etched against the blue sky.

Monday it was a delight to walk with Belle Hromas through her garden. The fruit trees were in full bloom -- and the blending of the white plum blossoms with the pink of the peaches made a never to be forgotten picture. Tulips were massed in various areas -- and full-fat buds were almost to the bursting time. Most of the tulips are red and will be a gorgeous sight when in full bloom.

Also spent time at the landscaped areas at the Hereford State Bank. Jeff Dull and I cultivated the plants, watered and counted the percentage of bulbs which had come through the rich brown soil.

Must report that the percentage was excellent, and I predict this will be a beauty spot when they start flowering. Remember this percentage bit when making plans for bulb purchases next summer.

Neighbors gathered at the Faubon garden fence, for visiting and exchange of gardening ideas. Spring flowering bulbs are adding color and beauty at the Dull home, and Roy was busy planning and working on a lawn project. Jeff and I fed the lawns at the Manjeots, then gave everything a thorough watering. (Shower helped the project the following morning.)

Wednesday Mrs. Ralph (Anne) McCullough and I were guests of the Dimmitt Garden club and did some visiting in gardens there. On Lee Street the yards and gardens were a blaze of color created by the golden daffodils and forsythia.

The tea table was extra attractive with a centerpiece of flowering tree branches, which harmonized beautifully with the room decor. It was in a soft blend of pink and lavender. The fragile almond branches added that certain something which makes beauty also the crabapple branches in their lovely blends made points of accent.

Much time has been spent, in searching out beauty spots created by spring flowering bulbs. Every spring we are more and more impressed with the surprising beauty, of the many bulbs that bloom in Hereford gardens. Most bulbs require so little attention they almost make the average gardener feel unnecessary.

The hardy early bulbs, corns and tubers make the main show -- daffodils, hyacinths, both the grape and large hyacinths, species irises, anemones, crocuses, snowdrops, scillas, puschkinia Libanotica, Chionodoxa Lucillae and many others add liveliness wherever grown.

The latter named bulbs, are worth trying. I planted these last year, and it is a real joy to note the quick appearance of Chionodoxa Lucillae, a tiny lovely blue flowering plant. The bloom comes first and as it peeks through the ground then grows upward blooming as it rises, makes it interesting as well as rewarding. The color is a delightful blend of blue, and the flower is daisy like.

Make a notation in your garden notebook to try some of these next spring. Also keep in mind that Pioneer Study Club will continue to sell spring flowering bulbs. Make a list now of what you will want and need another year.

Another addition to one's garden is flowering phlox; it is a creeping type plant and has a selection of nice colors which blend beautifully. While visiting in the Steve Hodges' gardens I noted that there were phlox plants growing; they needed a drink then they will be adding color to his yard. Really gives me a thrill and much satisfaction to talk with, and help, men gardeners. They always have knowledge and interesting ideas to share. The more men that become interested in gardening, the prettier, cleaner and more attractive our town will become.

Activity has been much in evidence at Hereford Garden Center on Park Ave. The paths have been bordered and filled with wood chips and the test planting of tulips shows promise of well developed blooms; we hope to be able to recommend to the Holland bulb company that these can be successfully grown in our area.

Approximately five gardeners have planted these test bulbs, and most of them have responded satisfactorily. I have a blaze of beautiful red tulips from these in my testing plots. Anne McCullough also is having success with most of the ones she has planted. Perhaps by next season we can recommend and sell some of these new varieties.

The deadline for summer flowering bulbs, corns and tubers is fast approaching. One more order will be sent by the Hereford Garden Club. If interested in purchasing Holland gladioli bulbs, cannas, dahlias and tuberous begonias call in your order to Glad, or other members of the Hereford Garden Club. All proceeds will be used to complete landscaping of the Garden Center. PLANTING DATES FOR MARCH: At the request of several of my friends and readers I am giving these dates; they are moon planting dates. For above-ground fruiting, light of the Moon, March 22 and 23 (other dates are past). For dark of the Moon, to promote growth under ground, such as carrots, beets, potatoes etc. the dates are 29, 30 and 31. The early dates are past. I will try to give these dates as the months change.

In the past few days I have had conferences with two nurserymen. A new nursery is being built on Park Avenue; the bedding plants will soon be arriving. Each of these businesses is an asset to our town and a help to local gardeners. For landscaping help, suggestions and usable advice, contact one or both of these business men.

No matter where you live, one point is certain -- there is some form of plant material that will work for you and double the enjoyment of your garden. Gardening is great therapy... try it.

Remember, Glad will be glad to assist in any way, or advise in your gardening, is always good to visit with friends and if can lend a helping hand it makes me really GLAD.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED -- Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Bezner, Dimmitt Highway, announce the engagement of their daughter, Janie, to Ron Matthews, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Matthews, 111 Avenue I. Miss Bezner graduated from Hereford High School in 1969, attended Amarillo College and is a candidate for graduation in May from Northwest Texas Hospital School of Nursing in Amarillo. Matthews, a 1970 HHS graduate, attended West Texas State University and is now employed at Missouri Beef Packers. The couple plans an April 8 evening ceremony in St. Anthony's Catholic Church.

Mrs. Dale Furr Discusses Book

Mrs. Dale Furr, hostess at a L'Allegre Study Club meeting Thursday, reviewed a book, The Quality of Life by James A. Michener as program for the day. Michener, listing the four main strengths of America as the constitution, education, religion and economic abundance, gave his opinions of the problems of America and possible solutions.

Mrs. Burns Hamilton was welcomed as a new member and the resignation of Mrs. David Hamblen accepted in business conducted by Mrs. Danny Martin, president. The Hamblens are moving to Muleshoe.

Other business discussed was use of earnings for the We Care fund of the Public Health Clinic, obtained in the Mary Ellen Vincent musical review.

But people continue to walk in and ask to see a Shook tire, thinking it's a brand name.

The truth is, we're a tire dealer, not a tire. In fact, we're the largest tire dealer in Texas. We've got 14 stores in 13 cities in west Texas. From Pampa, to Odessa, you'll find Shook.

But you won't find a Shook tire. Instead, you'll find what we know to be one of the best lines of tires ever made. Lee tires. Made by Lee of Conshohocken, a respected name in the tire business for more than 59 years.

Your choice in passenger tires includes the Lee XL-200, with either nylon or polyester cord. The Lee GS-300 Extra-Mileage* tire. The Lee GT-300 SPT wide-tread. And the sensational Lee GT Belted 78 RM with polyester cord and fiberglass belts. To give you over 75% more mileage!

We also sell quality Lee truck tires and farm tires. So you can find all the tires you'll ever need right here at Shook.

But remember. Shook is the name of our stores. Lee is the name of our tires!

And you can buy all the ones you want to.

WTSU Military Program Topic At Legion Dinner

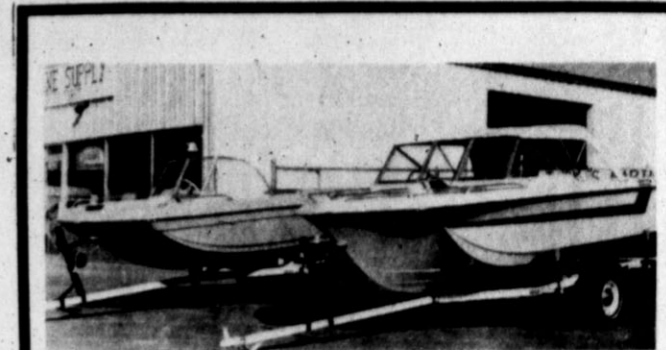

In observance of the 53rd anniversary of the American Legion, a covered dish supper and talk by Lieut. Col. John O. Childs, professor of military science at West Texas State University, will be the program for the Hereford Legion and Auxiliary at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Legion Hall.

Childs' topic of discussion will be the ROTC program at WTSU. He was appointed to his position in August of 1970 after returning to the states from tours of duty in Vietnam, then serving in Washington, D. C. He attended Texas A&M and George Washington University and received his commission through the ROTC program. He was stationed in Germany as an infantry unit commander and had two tours of duty in Vietnam as a battalion advisor.

Childs' awards and decorations include the Distinguished Flying Cross, Legion of Merit, Bronze Star Medal for Valor, Air Medal, Army Commendation Medal, Republic of Vietnam Cross of Gallantry, Combat Infantryman's badge and the parachute badge.

STUDIES IN REVELATION beginning 6:00 p.m. Sunday, March 19, 1972 CENTRAL CHURCH OF CHRIST Sunset & Plains

Prince Valiant
IN THE DAYS OF KING ARTHUR
BY HAL FOSTER

Our Story: SILAS HALTS HIS REBELS ON THE BANKS OF THE GALUM RIVER TO GIVE THE WEARY A GOOD NIGHT'S REST, FOR ON THE MORROW THEY MUST BUILD BARRICADES AND EARTHWORKS FOR THE COMING BATTLE. AT DAWN HE AWAKES BEWILDERED.

FAR TO THE EAST THE WHOLE HORIZON SEEMS TO BE MOVING, UNDULATING. THEN THE BLINDING SUN COMES UP AND SPARKLES ON SPEARPOINTS AND HELMETS. HE SIGNALS HIS TRUMPETER TO SOUND THE CALL TO ARMS AND HASTILY DONS HIS ARMOR.

KING GIAN STRIDES STEADILY ON DOWN THE SLOPE. THOUGH HIS FOLLOWERS HAVE MARCHED ALL NIGHT, HE DARE NOT REST THEM LEST THEIR TIRED MUSCLES STIFFEN AND THEIR CRUSADING SPIRIT DIMINISH.

PRINCE ARN ADDRESSES HIS HUNDRED MEN: "OUR STRATEGY IS TO CREATE PANIC BY CUTTING OFF SMALL GROUPS AND SENDING THEM RETREATING IN FEAR. DO NOT WASTE TIME SLAUGHTERING FLEEING ENEMIES!"

KING GIAN FIGHTS HIS WAY ACROSS THE KNEE-DEEP RIVER AND UP THE OPPOSITE BANK WHERE THE DEFENSE STIFFENS AND THE WRECKAGE OF WAR PILES UP.

SILAS FIGHTS AS ONE WHOSE CAUSE IS JUST, FREEDOM! HIS EXAMPLE GIVES COURAGE TO HIS FOLLOWERS.

AND NOW, TWO HOURS LATE, THE ARMY OF DONDARIS, EXPELLED BY THE REBELS FROM THEIR HOMELAND, ARRIVES TIRED AND DUSTY FROM AN ALL-NIGHT MARCH.

BLONDIE, I'VE DECIDED TO GIVE DAGWOOD A PROMOTION AND A NICE RAISE

I DIDN'T TELL THE DEAR BOY, BECAUSE I THOUGHT YOU'D LIKE TO BREAK THE GOOD NEWS YOURSELF

YOU'RE A DOLL, MR. DITHERS

THERE'S THE BOSS COMING OUT OF MY HOUSE... HE PROBABLY LOADED ME UP WITH WORK FOR THE WEEK END!

WE CAN'T DO THAT TO ME - I'VE HAD IT UP TO HERE WITH HIS NONSENSE

WAIT JUST ONE MOMENT, WOULD BE DICTATOR... MISTER LITTLE NAPOLEON!

I JUST WANT TO TELL YOU I'M FED UP WITH YOUR SLAVE-DRIVING TACTICS

I'M THRU JUMPING WHEN YOU CRACK THE WHIP... THE WORM HAS TURNED... SEE?

AND YOU DON'T HAVE TO FIRE ME... I QUIT, SEE? QUIT!

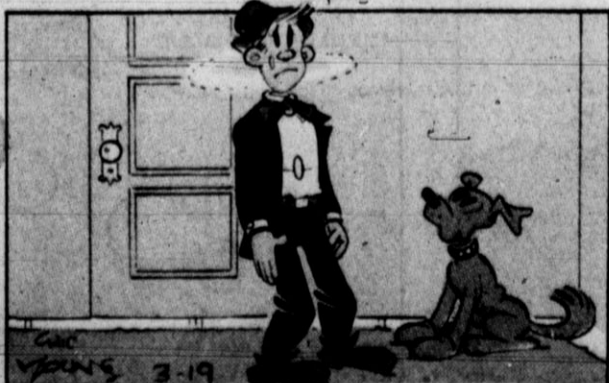

CHEE!

I GUESS THAT'S TELLING HIM

GOOD NEWS, DEAR... MR. DITHERS DROPPED BY TO SAY THAT HE WAS GIVING YOU A RAISE AND A PROMOTION

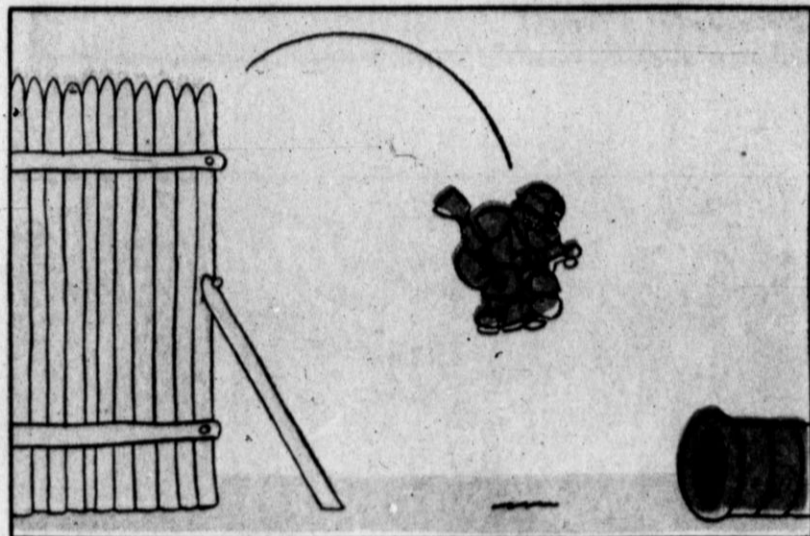

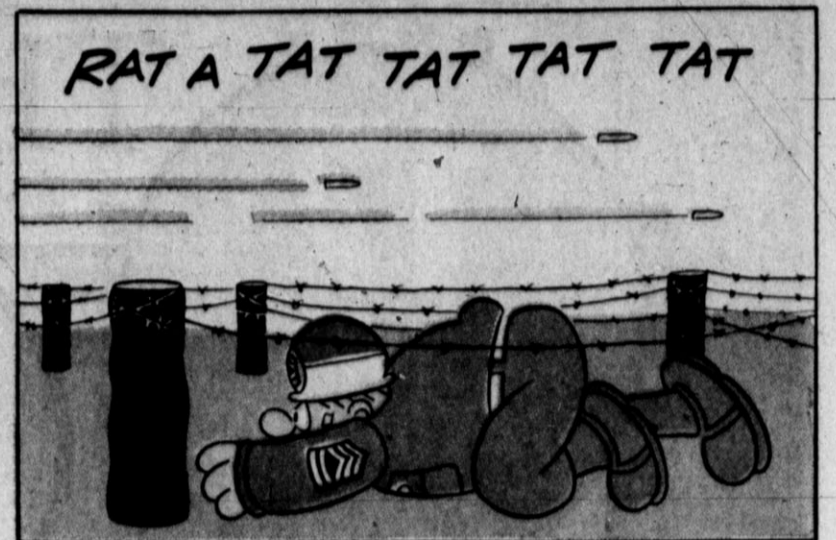

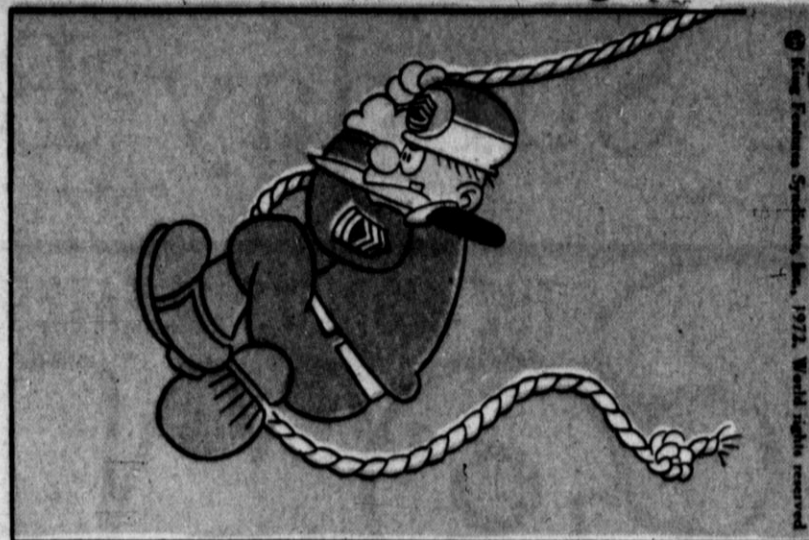

101

OF COURSE, MR. DITHERS. YOU KNEW THAT I WAS JUST FOOLING THIS AFTERNOON... DIDN'T YOU?

hints from Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:
A senior citizen group in Canada makes charming flowerpot covers for greeting cards they receive. They are easy to make, colorful and fun to do.

First: fold the greeting card lengthwise and place a ruler on the fold, making a dot at the 3-inch and 5-inch mark.

Turn the card sideways (with open end of card at the bottom) measure and mark 1-inch at the bottom from the fold and place a mark 2-inches opposite the 3-inch mark on the fold.

Second: draw a line from the 1-inch at the bottom of the card to the 2-inch at the middle up to the 5-inch mark.

Cut along the pencil line either with straight or pinky shears. The basic design reminds you of a kite.

Third: open the fold (with fold towards the center) and staple each design at the base and at the middle point.

For a 4-inch flower pot you will need about 15 to 16 cards or designs.

Of course, the measurements can be changed to meet an individual's need.

Doris Langley

What a wonderful way to keep aged or young hands busy. And, for all those good friends of ours, why not do rate your greeting cards to an institution that could put them to good use?

Thank you and God bless you for your inspiration.

WHO'S STUFFED?
DEAR HELOISE:
When I bake stuffed peppers (sometimes using left-over meat loaf or chicken stuffing or both) I put each pepper into a foil-lined muffin tin cup. They are easy to remove and do not need to be crowded together to keep them from tipping over.

Cleaning the pan is easier, too.

A word of caution, however: Don't forget to put water in the cups that are not being used. This will prevent the tin from burning and will also produce a little steam which will help with the cooking.

Esther C.

GOBS OF LOVE!
DEAR HELOISE:
After my boy friend left for the Navy, I started writing letters more often.

HELP FOR HOMEMAKERS

I decided to think of something that would make the letters more pleasant.

I took a stack of old magazines and using a regular envelope as a pattern, cut out some of the beautiful pictures and made envelopes from them. With a bit of glue this was easy to do.

In order to write the address on them I cut strips of notebook paper to glue on the front of the envelope (you could use regular address labels). Anyway, they are very pretty and so different.

Carolyn Dayton

THE GOOD WORD
DEAR HELOISE:
Some of the bulletins printed each Sunday for church have lovely pictures on the cover. I have always regretted having only an hour or so to enjoy them before discarding them.

Now I take mine and cut out the picture and put it on my bulletin board. They are usually very inspirational and I am able to enjoy it all week long.

GUARD YOUR HOSE
Are you at a loss to know where to store your garden hose?
I've found that a bushel basket serves the purpose very well.

Just curl the hose round and round in the basket and there it is before you know it, all neat and nice and out of the way.

Lisa Crawford

A SLANTED VIEW
DEAR HELOISE:
My hobby is cross-stitching tablecloths, and my problem has been keeping the first stitch slanting in the right direction.

Now when I start a tablecloth, I spread it on the floor or table top and lightly mark the slanting lines in one direction for the first stitch with a lead pencil. (Of course, the pencil has washable lead in it.)

I mark plenty of lines so they are easy to find. This is a real time-saver.

WATCH YOUR TEETH!
DEAR HELOISE:
If your apples are cold before dipping them in caramel, they will set up much faster. Then put on wax paper on a cookie sheet and return to refrigerator.

Perfect caramel apples!
Mrs. Kenneth J.

HANDY FIRST AID
DEAR HELOISE:
Take a large-sized matchbox and cover it with white construction paper. Then cut out a red cross and glue it on the top.

In this box put two aspirins, two band-aids, two matches, one threaded needle, a small cotton ball and a small bar of soap.

This makes a dandy first-aid kit.

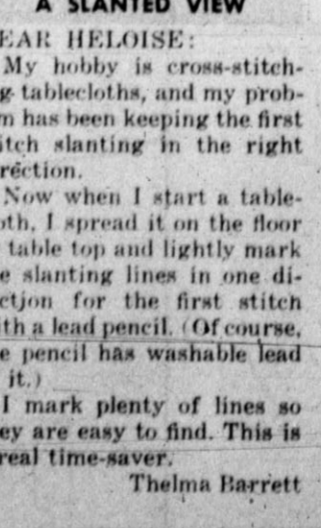

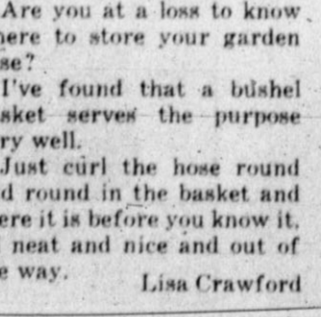

Debra Ringgold

NO SLIP-UPS
DEAR HELOISE:
To keep less expensive scatter rugs and runners in place on bare floors, I place a worn rug underneath them.

This makes the top rug seem more "cushy" and two thinner rugs are easier on the washing machine than one heavier one.

Hope I didn't get this hint from your column in the first place!

Mrs. W. H.

LETTER OF THOUGHT
DEAR HELOISE:
It's tough to make a mistake, but it's tougher still to find out you're so unimportant that nobody noticed it!

Ed

HERE, KITTY, KITTY!
DEAR HELOISE:
I have learned how to make the cutest little cat you have ever seen.

Just take an empty soda pop bottle, partially cover it with different-colored felt, use a plastic foam ball for a head, and make eyes, nose and ears out of felt scraps.

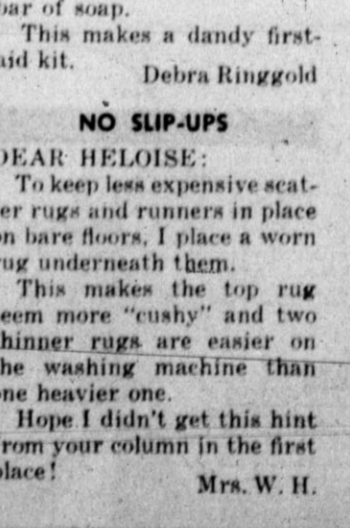

Then add six pipe cleaners for whiskers, a ruffle around the neck, made of nylon net, and fill with bath salts or bath powder.

They make the cutest little gifts-and-prizes.

Pearl C. Phillips

Well, if that isn't the cat's meow...
