

Gas Battle Looms Ahead

Sherman Urges Farmers: Prepare Your Case Well

By JIM STEIERT
Brand Farm Editor

State Senator Max Sherman told a gathering of concerned irrigation farmers that, despite their calls on Governor Dolph Briscoe to initiate a special session of the Texas Legislature as soon as possible, such a session would probably not lead to any relief from high gas prices until November, even if favorable legislation were passed.

HE ADDED that it might be better for farmers to prepare themselves well and wait for the regular session of the legislature in January.

Sherman was the featured speaker at a meeting held Thursday night at the exposition center in Dimmitt. The meeting was sponsored by the Plains Irrigation Gas Users Association, which is seeking a special session of the legislature to deal with spiraling natural gas prices for irrigation, brought on by pass-through billing practices.

"We're probably facing one of the biggest problems we've ever encountered in the state, so far as the natural gas price situation is concerned, especially in the area of pass-through billing. I never thought we would see an energy crisis brought on in this state due to price. This is a volatile situation requiring cool heads, and farmers should be well prepared for a special session, should it come, or for the regular legislative session in January.

Sherman's comments prompted a response from PIGUA director Jay Boston of Hereford, who pointed out that irrigation farmers may be out of business if they are forced to wait until January to obtain relief from the pass-through system of billing, which is forcing gas prices up by about three cents per thousand cubic feet per month.

"THE EARLIEST possible date for a special session would be June 15, and it would be more likely that such a session would come in September, October or November, and at the earliest, a bill to aid in this situation probably wouldn't take effect until November," Sherman responded.

"You must prepare for what you're going to do, but you must also be prepared for anything else that might arise out of a special session. You'll have to have all of your guns loaded before you go to a special session," he added. Sherman told the gathering of farmers that he felt their first move should be to contact individuals within the department of agriculture and recruit their help in informing state legislators about the problems faced by irrigators who use natural gas as fuel.

Mike Burkholder of Pecos, a member of the Trans Pecos Cotton Association spoke to the gathering of farmers about the disaster prompted in the Trans-Pecos area of the state when gas prices shot upwards by over 500 per cent.

"THERE ARE primarily four counties involved in irrigation farming in the Trans-Pecos area, including about 100,000 acres and 1100-1200 wells," Burkholder explained. "Our tentative contract for gas in December was $1.85 per mcf. There's no possible way we could farm and pay that price for gas," he added.

Burkholder pointed out that of 450 cotton allotments in Reeves County, only 20 will be planted this year.

"We don't have any solution to our problem, and we couldn't get the

Mike Burkholder, [standing], of Pecos, tells a gathering of irrigation farmers about the events which led to the abandonment of crop irrigation in the Trans-Pecos region. Burkholder spoke at a special meeting held Thursday night at the exposition center in Dimmitt, explaining that extremely high gas prices forced Trans-Pecos farmers to shut down their well. Among other speakers listening to Burkholder's comments are, from left, Jay Boston of Hereford, a director of the Plains Irrigation Gas Users Association, Ray Joe Riley of the Springlake-Earth area, who presented a computer readout prepared by Texas A&M economists, and State Senator Max Sherman.

Hartman, Trustees Honored At Banquet Speaker Attacks Government Spending; Hopes For School Aid

By BOBBY TEMPLETON
Brand News Editor

"You are in an area (education) of increased costs with increasing enrollments and depreciating facilities...and we (state government) are trying to find ways of cutting out wasteful government spending and finding new alternatives for taxing," Bill Clayton, Speaker of the Texas House of Representatives, told about 75 persons gathered Thursday night at the annual School Board of Trustees Banquet in the Hereford High School cafeteria.

The banquet is held annually to recognize the service of all past school board members. The most recent school board members to leave the board are Ron Zimmerman and Danny Martin, each of whom was presented certificates and their school board business books by Jim Conkright, board president and master of ceremonies.

A SURPRISE AWARD was presented to Superintendent Roy Hartman by the past school board for his designation as the Administrator of the Year by the Texas Classroom Teachers Association and service to the school district for more than 20 years. He started out as a classroom teacher, served as Title 1 coordinator, assistant superintendent and seven years as superintendent.

Clayton began his speech with an Aggie joke, but turned quickly to serious matters concerning the condition of government today and the state of education. He congratulated the board members, past and present, for participating in government, which he said has to occur before the problems will be solved.

"The rewards may not come now, but someday someone will look back and say that would not have happened if it had not been for her or him. And they'll be thankful," he said.

"PEOPLE WANT the runaway cost of government to stop," he continued. "Did you know that your share of the national debt is $11,777 per person and that doesn't even cover all the costs," Clayton explained. The wasteful spending, though, was described as existing in state government as well as at the federal level.

A forecast in the state financial picture showed that a $2.6 billion reserve would occur for the current budget and the Speaker said he recommended that at least $1 billion be put into an investment account to protect against the eventual depletion of the profitable oil and gas revenues. Or even better, he suggested returning a part of it to the taxpayers.

However, this is not the case as the surplus available for the legislature last year was spent by the state agencies, "who all had their hands out. The motto today is give me, give me, give me," he noted.

CLAYTON SAID TEXAS is the envy of all others because of its low unemployment rate, fast growth, broad based natural resources, and ability to attract new industry. "But we must not rest on our laurels; we must continue to work."

City Gets Ready For All Girl Rodeo, Western Week Activities

Official beginning of the 1976 second annual Cowgirl Hall of Fame Professional All Girl Rodeo is 1 p.m. Friday when over 450 rough and ready entries are expected to battle it out for an estimated purse of over $30,000. It is the largest girl's rodeo in the nation and the excitement for it is enough to match the billing, as proven by last year's first Hall of Fame rodeo.

The first signs of the rodeo will be the Hereford citizens as they dress the part of westerners for Western Week beginning today. All local residents are encouraged to dress the part with hats and boots so that the visiting girls will note a bit of cowgirl flavor in Hereford. The mayor has proclaimed it so y'all better join in the fun.

The event involving the most citizens is the rodeo parade scheduled for 2 p.m. Saturday. Harold Wheeler, local adult probation officer, is in charge of the parade and expects numerous entries. Another story in this issue details the route.

THE ACTION, LIKE LAST YEAR, runs over three days beginning with a reception for Girls Rodeo Association contestants from 1-6 p.m. Friday. May 14. It will be held at the little Bull Barn. The rodeo events will include bareback bronc riding, bull riding, ribbon roping, tie down calf roping, team roping, steer undecorating, goat roping, and barrel racing. These will be conducted each of the three days from May 14-16.

A special feature of the rodeo event is the formal induction ceremonies of six new honorees into the Cowgirl Hall of Fame, presently located in the basement of the county library across from the courthouse. This year, they will be Blanche Altizer Smith of Del Rio, Tex.; Margaret Montgomery Owens of Ozona, Tex.; Kathryn Binford of Widorado, Tex.; Fern Sawyer of Nogel, N.M.; Jewel Duncan of Toyah, Tex.; and Sachgawea, an Indian who guided portions of the Lewis and Clark Expedition.

Sachgawea and Owens are deceased, but the other four inductees have been invited to attend the ceremonies of induction at 2 p.m. May 16 at the Hereford Rider's Arena near the Bull Barn.

INDUCTIONS INTO THE HALL of fame are open not only to cowgirls and rodeo contestants, but also to any women who contributed significantly to western heritage and the pioneer way of life. These may be individuals from history.

The Hall of Fame was sanctioned in Hereford last year by the GRA. It is the official headquarters for cowgirl history and mementoes. Plans call for an $800,000 building to be constructed on a 10-acre site just south of the Hereford municipal airport on Highway 60 East. A fund drive is underway to collect enough money to build it.

Bill Albright, executive vice president of the Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce and executive director of the Hall of Fame, said a $7,700 guaranteed purse is assured the contestants and that entry fees ought to bring the total prize money to over $30,000 based on the number of entries expected.

"All current champions (of the GRA circuit) are scheduled to compete in the rodeo," Albright said. This includes Jimmie Gibbs, the reigning All Round GRA Champion. Also present for the festivities will be Sammie Thurman, GRA president, and Margaret Clemons, the past president of the GRA.

Western Week Proclaimed

Western Week, May 9-16, is officially designated in Hereford by Mayor Jim Sears, second from left, in connection with the National Cowgirl Hall of Fame All-Girl Rodeo set for May 14-16. Donald Hicks, left, president of the Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce, presents two complimentary tickets to Sears and Sharon Barrett, promotion chairperson for the rodeo, receives the proclamation. Terry Caviness, rodeo chairman, holds one of the publicity posters advertising the rodeo.

ON THIS MOTHER'S DAY, I thank God that my mother kept sunshine in our home. I have come to realize that some sons and daughters go astray, not because there is a lack of prayer or discipline at home, but simply because the home lacked sunshine.

A child needs smiles as much as a flower needs sunshine. If a home is a place where harsh words, fault finding and sour faces are the unusual things, the child may not want to spend much time there.

Happy Mother's Day to all mothers, with the hope that your children remember the sunshine of their home.

HEREFORD RECORDED its second million-dollar month of the year in new building starts in April, and the four-month total for 1976 is over the $4 million mark. Townhouses and apartment complexes have contributed greatly to the healthy figures.

May should be another strong month in building permits, and Hereford State Bank will provide a strong start when it holds groundbreaking Monday morning at 10. The new bank facility, scheduled for completion in about 10 months, should be a great asset to the community.

Bill Clayton, speaker of the Texas House, was in town Thursday night for the annual School Board Banquet. Our state representative says a $2.6 billion surplus is projected for the state in January 1977. Clayton is urging legislators to put $1 billion "back for a rainy day", or return it to the taxpayers in some form. He is also urging citizens let both their state and federal representatives know that they want them to hold the line on governmental spending. We need more government officials thinking this way!

Commissioners To Decide County Budget On Monday

The 1976-77 budget for Deaf Smith County will be considered at the regular meeting of the County Commissioners' Court at 10 a.m. Monday at the courthouse.

The commissioners will be acting to set the tax rate, tentatively figured at $1.57 cents per $100 of assessed valuation based on a 24 per cent assessment ratio, and approve budget expenses for the fiscal year beginning Oct. 1. The county is going back to a 12-month fiscal year since a change last year provided on a nine-months fiscal currently.

Overall, the county would be considering a slight tax increase of just under 10 per cent. Even though the tax rate and ratio are smaller, the recent county-wide reappraisal provides increased revenues sources. The meeting will no doubt last longer than usual due to an 11-item agenda including a discussion with Ron Smith on ambulance service by his funeral home, a purchase of new fingerprint equipment, a policy on use of county vehicles by the extension service offices, a fire report (13 county fires and nine city fires) and a planned use report for revenue sharing.

Other considerations consist of a project to stripe county roads, a discussion with district judge Mike Metcalf on an investigator for District Attorney Andy Shuval, a proposal on social security, the purchase of a maintainer for Precinct-3, the employment of a county road employee, action on Tex-Mex ditching for telephone cable in precinct one, and the swearing-in of the commissioners' court as the board of equalization.

County commissioner include Bruce Coleman, Austin Rose Jr., James Voyles, and Earl Holt. County Judge Sam Morgan presides.

Albright noted that the rodeo is a real highlight in the history of the GRA because it signifies the on going success of the Hall of Fame, which is adding displays and art exhibits weekly from artists across the country. Last week local artist Pam Trotter donated a bronze sculpture of a cowgirl on a horse.

JACKIE WORTHINGTON and Alice Greenough, two of last year's first three honorees into the Hall of Fame, will be back for the rodeo. The other honoree was Sissy Thurman.

The rodeo gets underway at 7:30 p.m. May 14. It continues at 7:30 p.m. May 15 and again at 2 p.m. May 16. Tickets for it cost $2.50 per adult and $1.50 per child for general admission. Tickets may be purchased at the C of C, located at 701 N. Main St.

From 9:30 p.m. that Friday to 1 a.m. that Saturday, a dance will be held at the Little Bull barn for all contestants and rodeo participants. The West Texas Express will be the featured entertainment.

On Saturday, a barbecue will be held at 12 noon in Dameron Park. The parade then begins at 2 p.m. Following the parade, contests will be held in the park for those who want to venture out for some fun.

THE CONTEST will include cow chip throwing, women's cow milking, women's greased pit, competition, and children's stick horse races.

Another dance will be held at 9:30 p.m. on the Saturday of the rodeo event. Again the West Texas Express will perform.

Entrants into the rodeo events, must possess current GRA cards and permits. These obtained through GRS secretary Lydia Moore, 8909 N.E. 25th Street, Spencer, Okla., 73084.

The actual signing up for the rodeo will be conducted from 8 a.m.-5 p.m. on Tuesday, May 11. These are taken by phone at the Chamber office. The number to call is 364-3333.

Officers for this year's rodeo include Terry Caviness, general chairman; Butch White, special activities chairman; Stanley Simmons, advertising Susan Barrett, promotion; and Dave Hopper, arena activities.

The stock for the rodeo is provided by Jim Shoulders (Shoulders Rodeo Company of Henrietta, Okla.). The announcer is renown Clem McSpadden of Chelsea, Okla.

Protection from the wild stock will be up to Freckles Brown, the featured clown of many antics. He also is the champion bull rider of all time.

Taxpayers often wonder if they will ever see the money they pay into the federal Social Security Administration benefit program. While, most think it will be at retirement, which is a long way off, the benefits provided by the agency may come as a welcome financial relief at earlier ages.

That is what Bart West, 17, found out after he was involved in a serious vehicle accident on Oct. 10, 1975 in the Hereford area. It left him seriously injured and doctors predicted it would take more than a year for him to recover adequately enough to return to his agriculture related work.

HE HAD BEEN going to school for half a day and working in the afternoons to provide extra funds for his needs.

Besides the thought of enormous medical bills, Bart and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jim West of Milo Center, were concerned over the costs presented by the fact that Bart was not working. But it was that very work experience that enables him to collect a monthly check from the Social Security Administration during the recovery.

Gerald Millard, field representative, for social security, said that Bart could not have collected any money unless he had some work credits. As it turned out, a monthly check for $103 is due Bart as long as he is unable to work.

This was based on the record of 55 payments from Bart's 1974-75 earnings of $2,004.88, on which he paid taxes at a rate of 5.85 per cent as charged-all workers. The tax on this amount was $117.28. The first check came in April, the effective month since it was the sixth month after the accident.

THE MONTHLY INCOME is raised automatically if the yearly cost of living rate increases by three per cent for more.

Millard explained that someone does not have to wait until retirement age to collect as evidenced by Bart's case. "He was injured and rightfully due the funds," he said.

Workers younger than 24-years-old need at least one and a half years of work experience in order to qualify for disability payments. Those between the ages of 24 and 30-years-old, need work credit for at least half the time between 21-years-old and the age when the disability occurs. Five years of work within the 10-year period ending at the time of disability is required for workers over 31-years-old except the blind.

Benefits are paid in direct proportion to what is paid into social security and the number of years someone has had the opportunity to pay the tax. For the younger worker such as Bart, fewer years are used in figuring the benefits.

MILLARD HAPPILY presented Bart

profitable phone call.

Bart, who is completing his junior year at Hereford High School this year, expressed thanks for the help he has received.

As a native Hereford citizen, he is aware of the hospitality in Hereford. But the friendliness and cooperative help provided by social security were a blessing indeed for the young agriculturalist.

Funnels Spotted Near Here Wednesday

Stolen Vehicle Is Recovered

Hereford police recovered a stolen vehicle here Wednesday afternoon, shortly after its theft.

Officers recovered the 1963 Chevrolet station wagon, owned by Gaylon Bryan of Ave. H, at a location on Highway 385 about two hours after it was taken. No suspects were arrested in the incident.

Felipe Gomez, 22, of Hereford, was charged with possession of marijuana after he was arrested here earlier this week. According to a police department spokesman, officers were summoned to 525 Irving where a fight was reportedly taking place. Upon arrival, they arrested Gomez and found the marijuana on his person.

Officers are currently investigating two break-ins which occurred here last week. Thieves took about $9 in a break-in at Hereford Grain Corp., knocking out a window in the front door to gain entry.

The Odd Fellow Lodge, located in the 200 block of East 6th was also broken into, but apparently nothing was taken.

Regular Meeting Scheduled For School Board Tuesday

The Hereford School Board of Trustees will meet in regular session at 4 p.m. Tuesday at the school district administration building.

The governmental body's agenda includes a budget review on the local maintenance and building fund and the percentage of assessment for 1976-77, a request to use the stadium for a music festival, a recommendation on employer contribution on hospitalization insurance programs, and a review of TASB workshop sessions and the implications his first check this week and said it was a real pleasure to be of service. He encouraged anyone who thinks he or she may qualify for benefits to call him at the Deaf Smith County Courthouse from 9-15 a.m. to noon or from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. each Tuesday except national holidays.

On a chance that Bart may qualify for the benefits, Mrs. West called Millard at this local office. As proved by the first government check, it was a most several sides of Hereford. TORNADOES were reported at the Black community between Summerfield and Friona, near the Tom Carter farm northwest of the city, southeast of Friona and west of Dimmitt.

Apparently none of the funnels touched the ground; but the swirling clouds had local law enforcement and fire department officials on the lookout.

The line of thunderstorms which moved into the Panhandle shortly after noon Wednesday were accompanied by rains and small hail.

KPAN radio logged a total of .21 inches of rainfall during a shower here Wednesday afternoon, and logged an additional .07 inches Thursday.

THE H.L. HERSHEY farm located 12 miles northeast of the city recorded .02 inches of rainfall last Tuesday night and a trace Wednesday.

At the Bruce Coleman farm, located 24 miles west and one mile south of the city, .04 inches of rain fell Wednesday night, and Summerfield Fertilizer also reported .04 inches.

Light hail also fell for a short period just to the east of the city Wednesday afternoon.

Also, the board members will hear a presentation from the Junior High Industrial Arts departments, consider a status report on Bilingual Education, and discuss vocational programs for cosmetology. General reports will be delivered on enrollment, the cafeteria, transportation, the tax office and the building program.

School board members include Lynston Allred, Alex Schroeter, Mrs. Sallie Strain, Jim Conkright, president, Clark Andrews, James Gentry and Jim Arney.

McSpadden To Be Parade Marshal

Clem McSpadden, former congressman from Oklahoma and announcer at the world Championship Rodeo in Oklahoma City will be in Hereford to serve as Parade Marshal for the Cowgirl Rodeo Parade on May 15.

Approximately 40 entries have been received thus far for the parade which will begin at 2 p.m. at the east corner of Sugarland Mall.

From its starting point, the parade will follow Ave B across Park Ave. and down Main St. to 2nd. Turning left on 2nd it will go to Schley and making another left on Schley will go to the swimming pool where it will break up.

There is still time for any wishing to enter a float, riding club, band or anything else of interest in the parade to do so. They should contact the adult probation office at 364-3791 for an entry form. There is no entry fee and no prizes will be given.

County Road Work Contract Is Awarded

Ferro Corporation of Jackson, Miss., Tuesday was awarded a $262,494 contract by the State Highway and Public Transportation Commission for road striping work in the Panhandle that includes U.S. Highway 60 in Randall and Deaf Smith counties, and other highways in Potter, Moore, Carson and Gray counties.

A.L. "Al" McKee, Amarillo District Engineer, said the contract is for thermoplastic edge line striping.

McKee said the melted plastic hot spray will be applied to the edge of both north and southbound lanes of U.S. 60 from the interchange of U.S. 60 and U.S. 87 at Canyon south through Hereford to the Castro County line.

The plastic striping material, which was applied to Interstate 40 in Amarillo, has proven to be more durable and less expensive than paint striping, McKee said.

Painted stripes have to be redone annually while the plastic striping lasts about five years.

Lewis R. "Timer" Loyd, supervising resident engineer in Canyon, will direct the striping project.

Gas Battle

regulation exemption for irrigation gas removed, so farmers have been pulling their pumps and selling their engines.

There's a lot of farm machinery for sale in Reeves County, the cement irrigation ditches are full of sand, and the fields that once grew cotton are unplowed, growing up in weeds," said Burkholder.

He explained that wind erosion would quickly take its toll on those fields removed from cultivation, and mesquite would begin to grow in many fields. The expense of returning the abandoned land to farming would be prohibitive.

BURKHOLDER had harsh words for the Lo Vaca Gathering Co., which was granted special authority by the Texas Railroad Commission to pass on all of its gas costs to customers.

"The Railroad Commission is allowing Lo Vaca Gathering Co., which broke all of its contracts, to pass through all of its costs plus a profit. Lo Vaca has been granted a license to steal by the Railroad Commission. If the Commission would force Lo Vaca to deliver on its contracts, the price of gas in Texas would probably drop by 30 cents the next day," commented Burkholder.

The irony of this entire situation is that gas being taken from beneath the very ground we're farming on in the Pecos area is bringing only 16 cents. That gas is being sold for 65 cents in Arizona, while we have to pay $1.85 to buy back gas that came from our own state in the first place," he added.

BURKHOLDER urged his audience to keep informed on the gas issues, and make every effort to keep the governor and congressmen aware of the situation.

Ray Joe Riley of the Springlake-Earth area presented a computer readout prepared by economists at Texas A&M University which showed that when all costs on percentage of net income were considered on $1.30 mcf gas, costs for the period from 1971-74 would run over 2000 per cent, and when farmers were producing at a loss, the percentage could not even be computed.

Riley also quoted from another A&M report which indicated that the High Plains is approaching a situation similar to that which occurred in the Trans-Pecos.

"If gas prices continue to rise, we will see a decline in the value of our water resource, and ultimately, the end of irrigation," said Riley.

CARL KING of Dimmitt, president of the Texas Corn Growers Association, which helped sponsor the Thursday night meeting, called for a special gas rate for irrigation.

"The Railroad Commission has leaned back on its haunches and let the Lo Vaca Gathering Co. rape the rest of Texas on this pass-through issue. We're going to have to have a special gas rate for irrigation if we are going to continue feeding the rest of America," said King.

John Aikin of Hereford, attorney for the PIGUA, indicated that he felt the answer to the problem lies in regulating that portion of the intra-state gas industry not currently under regulation.

"The system of pass-through billing should be totally abolished. There is no justification for it, it simply encourages higher prices and discourages competition, and the system has been abused considerably," Aikin commented.

Boston also used the meeting to call for new support of the PIGUA, saying "Local farmers are going to have to decide if they want to keep the gas association working for them, and come across with some funds for the organization. It is critical for us to keep our organization functioning at this time, and we need farmers to turn in their dues of $5 per well so that we will have funds to help us fight the upcoming battle."

Request For Investigator Made

Andy Shuval, criminal district attorney for Deaf Smith County has placed a request with the Commissioner's Court that the county hire an investigator for the district attorney's office.

Shuval gives three reasons in behalf of the county hiring the investigator.

First, Peat, Marwick and Mitchell, a company specializing in studies of county government recommended in 1972 that the county hire such a person, the recommendation was made based upon the case load of 1971.

Second, Deaf Smith County has the highest rate of dispositions per attorney of any county in this area. In 1974, the district attorney's office in this county averaged 163 cases disposed per person compared with 124 cases per person in Randall County, 97 cases per person in Potter county and 100 cases per person in Lubbock county. Third, due to the outstanding job which the sheriff's office has been doing in solving area burglaries, the work load of the district attorney's office has been increasing at an even faster rate.

Duplicates Of Social Security Cards Offered

Lost your social security card? You can get a duplicate by notifying any social security office, according to Jim Talbot, social security district manager in Amarillo.

"You can usually get a duplicate card faster if you've kept a record of your social security number and give it to us when you report your loss," Talbot said.

"Your duplicate card will have the same social security number on it," he said. "Your social security number is yours alone and remains the same for life."

A social security card is issued with two parts, perforated so the card itself—the smaller part—can be detached and carried in purse or wallet.

"The card you carry is the part you show to an employer to be sure he correctly copies your name and social security number into his records," Talbot said.

"The remaining larger part should be kept in a safe place as a permanent record of your social security number," he said.

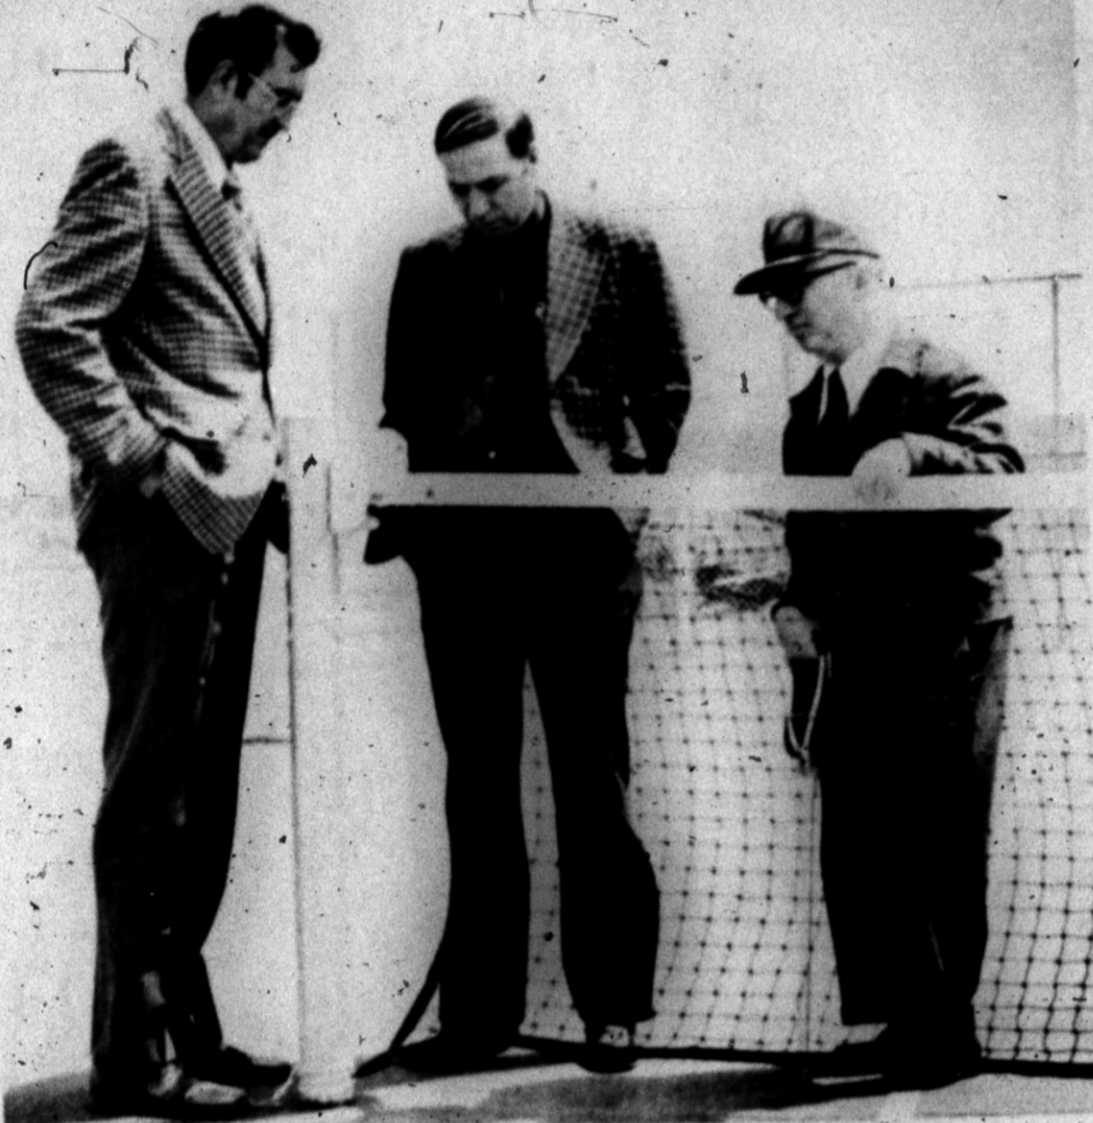

People's earnings from jobs covered by social security are credited to their social security number to build retirement, disability, survivors, and Medicare protection for themselves and their families.

People should apply for a social security card several weeks before they need the number for a job, according to Talbot.

The Social Security Administration is an agency of the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare. The Amarillo social security office is at 317 East Third Street.

Hustle

Hustle

By Bill Albright, Executive VP
Chamber of Commerce

Get ready for the 1976 tourist season! That might sound strange for Hereford, but it may also surprise a lot of people when the total count is taken next fall.

Tourism is the hottest thing going for Texas these days and its important to the both local and state economy. Also important because it's a source of revenue to communities heretofore thought not to be "tourism-oriented." And important because of the unbelievable revenue to these communities. I'm talking about places like Plainview, Sweetwater, Pecos, Fort Stockton, Brownwood and Monahans—but more—I'm talking about Hustlin' Hereford, Texas. It's not a question of what we don't have—it's simply a matter of capitalizing on what we do have. (That's called the positive approach.)

Tourism will do much to increase our economy base and bring additional "new dollars" to town. In 1974, travelers, in and to Texas spent 4.2 billion dollars. This money enriched many small communities as well as the convention centers of Texas. Hotel-motel receipts alone for last year were over $368 million and state tax received was more than $11 million. Of course, the lions share went to the locations with well known tourist attractions but there was a healthy amount that went to smaller towns and cities.

So what do we have, that traveling folks are interested in and willing to stop and see? We have the Grand Canyon of Texas-Palo Duro Canyon and in the summer we have the magnificent musical production—TEXAS! We have tours highlighting the very heart of the nation's cattle feeding industry. We have the most outstanding County Museum in the state—and we have the only one of its kind—the "National Cowgirl Hall of Fame." We have more than most other towns such—we've got lots to offer. Let's do something with it and quit griping.

Juvenile Officer Speaks To Lions

Jim Grimes, juvenile probation officer for Hereford, was guest speaker for the Hereford Lions Club meeting Wednesday at Civic Club Center.

Grimes spoke briefly about the National Youth Project Using Minibikes (NYPUM) program in Hereford, and showed a movie, "Ride for 24," which illustrated a national project sponsored by the YMCA.

Grimes explained that the local NYPUM program plans to hold a "Ride for 24" project here in September. The project is a fund-raising event for the youngsters, where they ride the minibikes for up to 24 hours and sign up sponsors to contribute money for each mile logged by the rider.

The juvenile officer said the NYPUM program had been going about six months here, and 28 minibikes are now in use. The bikes are donated by the Honda Corporation. Grimes thinks the program helps instill "a sense of responsibility in the kids." The Hereford & Vicinity YMCA helps sponsor the program here.

STEEL PRICE PROBE The government has announced it will investigate the pricing policies of the steel and other metal-producing industries following price hikes announced by the major steel companies.

Grimes was introduced by program chairman Lester Rape. David Rudder gave the weekly Leo Club report at the luncheon meeting, and attorney John Aikin reported on the Opportunity Plan project to raise $10,000 locally. The organization, which has been actively supported by the Lions, will receive a $10,000 contribution from the Jim Hill Estate if matching funds are raised.

Several guests and prospective members were recognized at the club meeting.

U.S. PRODUCTIVITY Productivity in the American economy picked up sharply during the first three months of this year after slowing in the final quarter of 1975, the Labor Department said.

La Plata Orchestra

Festival in Amarillo last week. The group was also named the outstanding Jr. High Orchestra at the event. The director is Ray Jenkins.

PRICE HIKE
PITTSBURGH—U.S. Steel Corp., the nation's largest producer, has announced a 6 per cent price increase on its major products that ranges from tools to ice-boxes to automobiles.

ATLANTA—No human rabies deaths were reported in the United States in 1974, the first year since records were kept that none was reported, the national Center for Disease Control said.

Festival Honors LP Orchestra

The La Plata Junior High School Orchestra scored a first for Hereford orchestras last week at the Greater Southwest Music Festival in Amarillo when it was selected as the Outstanding Junior High Orchestra of the festival.

Prior to being selected for the honor, the orchestra scored a Division I rating in concert playing. The group performed "Trepak," written by Prosper Morand and "Farandole," written by Georges Bizet and arranged by David Stone.

The La Plata orchestra includes a total of 54 students. Of these, 32 students perform on string instruments and 22 play woodwind, brass and percussion instruments.

The La Plata strings also entered several solos and ensembles as part of the music festival competition.

The only two 1st-Division ratings given that day for violin solos went to La Plata 9th grader Rebecca Rudd and 8th grader Nancy Ferguson.

Seventh graders Elizabeth Rudd and Holly Hale won Division II ratings in violin solos and Richard Olson and Jaime Garza also received Division II ratings in string bass and cello solo respectively.

A string quintet from La Plata also brought home a Division II rating. Quintet members included Rebecca Rudd and Tammy Fischbacher, violins; Brent Boyd, viola; Robbie Fish, cello; and Richard Olson, string bass.

The La Plata orchestra also made a Division I rating in sight-reading performance at the Regional UIL orchestra contest.

Director of the La Plata Orchestra is Ray Jenkins, a graduate of Eastern New Mexico University, currently in his second year of teaching in Hereford schools.

LAUGH OUT

A son in college was applying pressure for more money from home. "I cannot understand why you call yourself a kind father," he wrote his dad, "when you haven't sent me a check in three weeks. What kind of kindness do you call that?" "That's unremitting kindness," wrote back the father.

The Toast

"My father always proposed a toast before he disciplined me."
"That's funny! What was it?"
"Bottoms up!"

By The Garden Gate With Glad

By Gladys Manjeb

The flower show schools attended at the Amarillo Garden Center were excellent. The more I study garden, and try to do my bit to keep America beautiful, the more I am made to realize that we as gardeners must all be conservationist.

The following is a good motto for those who are interested in conservation: "Help us bravely to save the good earth, the stately trees the dainty wildflowers, the birds and all things that have no voice to protect themselves against destruction and pollution."

The Mighty Fallen—This incident should make us all pause and think about the bountiful gifts we have, the trees are certainly one of them. Yet the largest trees in the world are falling victim to one of the smallest creatures on earth.

Over the last three years several giant sequoia trees in the Sequoia National Park at California, have fallen after standing two or three thousand years.

Ants, burrowing into the trees have been blamed as the cause.

CREATIVE BEAUTY: Located on over four acres downtown, (which at one time was known as part of the slums of this great city) Fort Worth. One of the outstanding beauty spots in the city is the Water Garden. It is fast becoming one of the city's outstanding attractions.

Someone looked upon the grounds in their filth and ugliness, and dreamed a dream of beauty. Others were interested, and through a united effort this place of beauty was created. It is becoming one of the outstanding beauty spots. I urge anyone who is interested in unusual sights and beauty to see these gardens. It would pay to go out of ones way to visit them.

Twenty-inch high stair-stepped retaining walls go from 22 feet above ground level to 38 feet below ground level. 19,000 gallons of water per minute flow into five pools—"an Active Water Pool" providing an unusual cascading effect down a faceted concrete surface; an "Aerated Pool" with water spilling over multi-tiered ledges; a "Wet Wall", over which flows water 'sheet like' into a moat (you almost have to touch the water to realize it is moving) and a "Quiet Water Pool" 16 feet below ground with a 'near-still' surface.

The gardens are planted with more than 500 specimens of coastal like oak, ginkgo, sweet-gum, white wisteria trees, mondo grass, snow azaleas, junipers, blue asters and emerald zoyzia grass.

While we were there attending the Texas G.C. Annual Convention we enjoyed it from the hotel windows, both in the daytime and at night. Also were privileged to stroll through the garden and have a close-up of the beauty created there.

It is beautiful in the sunlight, throughout the day, and is fantastic at night with the lights adding that certain sparkle and beauty to the falling water, and moon-light lighting up the beauty of the flowering plants.

All was done through a UNITED project. In the near future we are hopeful that Hereford may have the opportunity to have a UNITED Project, to create beauty and add an added attraction to our home town.

HINTS FOR GARDENING: Where the soil is hard and dry, mix in thoroughly one cubic yard of manure (well ripened) or compost to every 250 square feet of ground.

If you have not already done so, feed asparagus and rhubarb at once with a high-nitrogen fertilizer to induce vigorous growth. Both of these are best, when forced growth occurs. 1st number on the Bag of Fertilizer is nitrogen.

Plant strawberries, setting crowns just even with surface of the soil. Much around the established plants as soon as the blossoms appear to keep the fruits off the ground, and to aid in retaining moisture. To aid in the germinating of seed, it is advisable to soak them in luke warm water, to which has been added a soluble plant food.

Drain, shake in loose perlite to dry and plant promptly. Okra, beets, parsley, beans, and sweet-corn are some of the seed that should be soaked.

Mrs. Ray Johnson one of the best gardeners I have known, usually soaked her seed, and those she did not soak she poured warm water through the m. (which had been placed in a cheese cloth or strainer). The warmth aids in the germinating of the seed.

BEAUTY SPOTS: The first selections of beauty spots by the Beautification committee were made last week. Be sure and see them... both are beautiful tulips, in red, white and blue. Also the Snow-ball Shrubs are in full flower. Is interesting to note the various ways they have been used in the landscape design, and how much beauty they have added to the grounds. There is a beautiful full flowered Cacti, at 403 Westhaven Drive. A Rainbow of colors, is being created by the lovely iris which are now in full flower. The sheen and form of these are excellent. Many beauty spots are created by the use of the iris.

Lawns are like carpets, the luxurious texture and green is enchanting. Some of the loveliest lawns in town are on Westhaven, and streets which feed into it. It's thrilling to watch the trees bud, blossom, and take on their new spring dress. The willows are especially beautiful, the weeping, upright and corkscrew are all adding spring loveliness to our town. My Russian Olive is now in full bloom, and its silvergreen color is pretty against the clear blue sky in the early morning.

Not only have the national colors been carried out in plantings, one of our homeowners, on the corner of Miles and West 9th, has painted his house, fence and foundation in red, white and blue, and is now busy cultivating the grounds for plantings.

THANKS FROM THE HEREFORD GARDEN CLUB: To all who helped to make the plant sale a success. Results from this will be seen in the development of The Garden Center. Remember if we can be of any help with your gardening, please call upon us.

Greetings Kerrie, we miss you so much. Hurry and get well...GLAD.

Unfinished

A man had been talking for hours about himself and his achievements.

"I'm a self-made man, that's what I am--a self-made man," he said.

"You knocked off work too soon," came a quiet voice from the corner.

Spark.... a new era in agriculture

Your Helena representative has a remarkable new way to help you increase corn yields up to 10%! SPARK growth stimulant... a combination of dinoseb plus surfactant used as an overall post-emergence spray on corn has the university-proven potential of increasing grain yields by 5% to 10%. This exciting new development is a revolutionary concept... one that could parallel such benchmarks in agriculture as hybrid seed corn and the use of an anhydrous ammonia.

A new era of production with increased profit.

Economical, cost less than $1.25 per acre. SPARK sprayed on corn when tassel is 1/2-7 inches long and unemerged can make a big difference in your production.

Spark growth stimulant

The concept of growth stimulants is not new to agriculture and has been used successfully in the fruit and vegetable markets for many years. SPARK is the first dinoseb plus surfactant product that has been developed especially for corn.

Here's how SPARK can help promote 5% to 10% grain yield increases:

- Enhanced corn growth
- Silks emerge about 2 days sooner
- Tassels emerge about 2 days sooner

This means a longer pollination period and a tendency to get away from corn that does not fill all the way out to the end. Enhanced growth, longer pollination, fewer barren stalks, more complete ear-filling... they all add up to big potential increases in overall production.

Running the Schools

[Editor's Note: The following is a portion of remarks made by Jim Conkwright, school board president, at the annual dinner this week honoring all past board members of the Hereford Independent School District.]

In closing, let me say we are making every effort to run a quality school system here at HISD, as economically as possible, just as you past board members have done in your terms. You have left a strong, good foundation on which to build.

We will make mistakes, for that is only human. But I know beyond a shadow of a doubt that every current board member has the good of the students and this system at heart, and this is reflected in the administration the board has employed, in the directives the board asks the administration to complete and in the entire staff that the administration has assembled.

We may not always agree on each and every detail or every vote, but I do believe that this too is in the best interests of all concerned. It builds character and strength, and through compromise, programs are improved and made more useful.

Yes, we have more restraints or directives from the Federal, and sometimes the State, level now. Some are difficult. We need your help in letting your representatives and other elected officials know how you feel regarding education and its systems. We cannot let Federal red tape tear down principles that this community and school system believe in—and have stood for over 75 years.

Helen Keller once said: "It is bad to be blind, but it is far worse to have eyes and not see."

Well, this system is not blind, but more important it does have eyes and it does see. From the needs of an afflicted child to those of an abused child, to those who are slow and now for those who can attain achievement quickly and for all the steps in between—this system is sensitive. It's more than an education in books, we feel. It's giving many students the opportunities, the realness, of life for the very first time.

Water, Waiters & Wine

Dining out is a subject of much interest to most Americans. The good part is that one gets more for his money in America than in any other major western country.

Americans can still get "all you can eat" in many restaurants, at a fixed price. They enjoy luncheon specials which beat anything in western Europe—as a buy.

Most U.S. restaurants still give the hungry traveler a glass of water to begin—which few European restaurants do. (Many foreign restaurants sell bottled water to the unknowing American; thus one should ask for pipe water in countries where it's clean enough to drink.)

American restaurants are occasionally weak in wine knowledge. Some, especially in the South, serve wine in thimble-size glasses and charge for a genuine wine glass just over half full. Some store bottles standing straight up (which dries out the cork and can allow air to sour the wine.)

Waiters are treading the same way the world over. But perhaps the European waiter, in the better restaurants, is a bit more gracious (if slower). One still finds there waiters who approach the table, wait for a pause in the conversation, and then interrupt. (In America more waiters butt right in as they rush up.) Whoever is talking is drowned out, intentionally. The waiter or waitress wants to get on with it, to earn more tips, or is overworked, etc.

Finally, there's the business of tips. America has the best system. In Europe the waiter gets his fixed percentage; added to the bill automatically—by the waiter. If he's slow, slovenly or sour, he or she nevertheless gets a fixed per cent. In this country better service is rewarded with a higher percentage tip; the diner still retains some power to reward or properly assess service. That makes for more pleasant and more efficient service.

Talk of Texas

By Jack Maquire

FOOTNOTE TO HISTORY— Two centuries before the women's liberation movement became popular, a Texas Indian princess had a white husband which she used as a slave.

At least, that's the husband's story of his marriage to Angelique, a Hanina Indian maiden who might be called the "Pochontas of Texas." In 1719, she saved Francois Simars de Belisle, a French explorer, from being executed by her tribe. Then she married him.

They didn't live happily ever after. According to de Belisle's written account, Angelique was hardly the angel he had expected her to be. He was only one of several men she kept in her all-male harem. Not only did she force her husband and the others to perform all sorts of menial tasks, but she kept them in line by beating them regularly.

Angelina, or "Little Angel" as she was known to the Spanish padres who found her, was a devout Christian, however. She helped them to convert the Indians in East Texas, possibly because she seemed to wield unusual power over the tribal chieftains.

She is remembered today largely because she is the only woman in history to have a Texas county named for her.

HEY, DOC— Dr. Manuel Maria Clavijo y Mora was the first licensed physician to practice in Texas.

Not much is known of him. Apparently he came from Spain in 1769 and was assigned to the presidio at San Agustin in what now is Chambers County.

END OF THE LINE— Ray Greene,

editor of the Gilmer Mirror, sent along this unusual bit of Texas history:

In 1911, the Port Bolivar & Iron Ore Railroad was built from Longview, Gregg County, to an iron mine later the site of a community named Iron Ore. Eventually the line was extended to a terminus called Ero (ore spelled backwards) in Marion County.

For awhile, the railroad prospered. By 1919, however, ore operations had ceased and the line was sold to new owners. They continued to operate one train powered by a tiny locomotive. The fuel was pine stocks cut along the right-of-way. But the unique train attracted few riders and little freight.

In 1925, the railroad filed for bankruptcy. It was so short of cash that the engineer hadn't been paid for months, a situation that had not made him exactly fond of the management. He decided to express his feelings in an unusual way.

As he took the train on its last run, he stopped the locomotive after crossing each bridge, carefully took a bucket of coals from the boiler and dumped them on the wooden trestles. By the time he reached Longview, he had effectively and literally burned every bridge behind him.

THE INDIANS AREN'T COMING— If the 16,000 Red Men who live in Dallas aren't taking much part in the U.S. Bicentennial Celebration, there's a reason.

Spokesmen for the Indian tribes say the 200th birthday of the nation has little significance for peoples who ancestors were here long before 1776.

On Wall Street

By BOB HILL

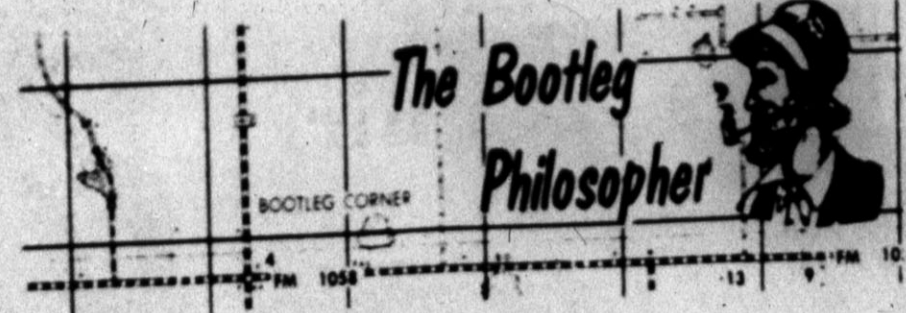

There is a generation that has never known a major recession, never known what it is to be laid off with no chance of being rehired or even getting a job in another city or industry, never known the hopeless feeling or worried concern over where the next grocery check is coming from. That generation grew up in the 1950's and 60's. It was a generation known for rebelliousness, restiveness, and sharply different values than their parents. These workers were reared in a time of rising prosperity and their attitudes were developed in the dramatic social change years of the 60's. Workers who grew up in the depression years were willing to accept the job conditions, the authority of the foreman and the boring routine of the assembly-line, in exchange for a steady paycheck. The younger workers have challenged the authority of the bosses, demanded new freedoms at work and thoroughly confused management and older fellow workers.

But the 1974-75 recession has hit the younger workers the hardest as a group. They lacked seniority and were laid off. They lacked job training and were bumped out of work by the more skilled. They showed a streak of unwelcome independence and were pushed out into the ranks of the unemployed to compete with each new year's crop of high school graduates where an unemployment rate of 20 percent is routine. All of this has caused some change in attitudes.

It doesn't mean that they suddenly come to attention and say "Yes, sir" and "No, sir" and salute, but if they don't like the job, chances are they will

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his Deaf Smith grass farm on Bootleg joins others in talking about that high-priced woman on TV.

Dear editor:

It's none of my business, but if people wrote and talked only about what's their own business there'd be blank pages and great silences all over the land, so I'd like to report on one aspect of the to-do over Barbara Walters' getting a million dollars a year for joining the ABC network as a news announcer.

As I understand it, Miss Walters is to become a co-equal with Harry Reasoner, who-up to now has been handling the anchor job by himself on the evening news report. For this she will get a million dollars a year for the next five years.

Now as I further understand it, Mr. Reasoner is mad about this, because he makes only $400,000 a year.

This got to thinking. This is going to unleash a whole string of reactions.

For instance, you reckon maybe President Ford is going to get mad at Mr. Reasoner because the President makes only $200,000 a year? Supreme Court judges are going to get mad at the President because they make only $60,000 a year. In turn, that makes Congressmen mad because they make only $42,000 a year.

And when you consider what the average man makes, this means that nearly everybody in the country is going to get mad at Congress. What happened to all the talk about equal employment opportunities?

I don't think ABC and Miss Walters realize what a hornet's nest they've broken open, although ABC may notice something buzzing around its head if, after a few months, the novelty of a woman as an "anchor-person" wears off and people go back to watching whichever network they were watching before.

Incidentally, Miss Walters, who was making about $500,000 a year in her old job with NBC, was quoted as saying, after she signed her 5-million-dollar contract, "I've always thought, if I had a million dollars I'd sleep till noon ever day."

That's New York provincialism for you. You don't have to have a million dollars to sleep till noon. I believe I could do it on half that, and some people I'm told, do it on no more than a welfare check.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

Letters TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

I read with some interest the editorial by Bobby Templeton appearing in your April 18, 1976 edition in which he termed as "unreasonable" the lawsuit which I have filed against the Hereford School Board.

I remind you that the school board members are being sued as those who had the responsibility of exercising governmental power fairly and impartially. Had a governmental agency taken away your newspaper instead of my job I imagine that your screams would have been louder than mine on your way to the courthouse to file an "unreasonable" lawsuit.

There are numerous facts which could be cited to demonstrate more accurately who is really being unreasonable in this matter, but it is obvious by your editorial and your previous actions that you

Chateau Inn Listed In Mobil Guide

Chateau Inn Motel has been listed in the 1976 edition of the Mobil Travel Guide, one of the most complete travel books available. This announcement was made this week by Dorell L. Jones, owner.

The motel is located at 500 W. 1st Street (Highway 60 East).

Over 20,000 restaurants, hotels, motels and resorts are listed and rated on a one- to five-star basis in the seven volume Mobil Travel Guide, which has been compared by travel experts to the famed Guide-Michelin.

To be listed in the Mobil Travel Guide, the establishment must be personally inspected by an impartial, trained inspector, who is employed by a completely independent organization. The inspector's findings are reported to an editorial board of the organization.

stay and try to change it rather than head for new horizons.

What are the young workers seeking today? More satisfying jobs, greater participation in decisions affecting their lives (the Army found this true in Vietnam) and a greater independence in their lives. Putting it another way, less authority.

Is the change in attitude permanent? Yes, it is. There may be a softening in attitudes when jobs are hard to find, but the great shift in social values which involved civil rights and the political upheavals of the 60's, the anti-war protests, the environment and women's liberation, won't change.

Candidates begin to feel funds pinch.

Commodity Topics

By E. Robert Florez
Registered Commodity Specialist

Henry Kissinger's effectiveness as America's senior statesman can be debated pro and con according to one's perspective of political events and expectations. However, Dr. Kissinger's role as an economic super-fly can be summarized by revealing his past record and analyzing his latest boondoggle.

It has been rumored that through Dr. Kissinger's efforts, large sales of wheat were made to Russia in 1972 at very low prices and payment terms in exchange for political considerations relating to military activities in South Viet Nam.

This particular transaction was said to be a give away, while domestic wheat prices went as high as $6.00 per bushel that year. However, some good did result as it allowed wheat producers quite a margin of profit, also it gave them quite an incentive to produce more. But this time Secretary of State Kissinger may overstep his position as diplomat, policy maker and statesman as he attempts to help less-developed countries (LDC) expand their production.

At the United Nations Conference of Trade and Development (UNCTAD) this week, the rich and poor nations of the world assemble to find some solution to ensure stable and profitable prices and earnings for such commodities as coffee, cotton, rubber, jute, copper and tin. On May 6th, Secretary of State Kissinger will formally present his plans for the International Resources Bank, to raise $18 billion to finance LDC projects which are primarily for the development of ores and non-ferrous metals.

The initiated capitalization costs of the International Resource Bank will be $1 billion and will be raised by selling bonds. Though no prospectus has been drawn up as yet, it is expected that various central banks from the developed countries and wealthy individuals will purchase them. There is nothing wrong with this method of raising capital. However, the one important question is what kind of return will these investors receive or, will they receive any return at all? Another question...whether these LDC's, so notoriously poor on previous debt repayments, will be able to keep from defaulting on their new payment schedules? It must be considered also; who is going to force these LDC's to make payments and indeed, keep them from nationalizing these projects? Problems such as these may force Dr. Kissinger to alter the planning of the Bank. Another problem is the cost of initiating and maintaining the bank's operations.

The West German Economics Ministry, a powerful member of the European Economic Community, calculates that an integrated commodity program such as the one by Kissinger, could cost as much as $40 billion just to set up. This figure was estimated to be the cost of building up a six-month stock of the most important mineral and agricultural commodities. Annual expenses are calculated by this West German Ministry to run about another $6 billion. Needless to say, they are sceptical about the feasibility of such a program. The particulars of this proposal as it presently stands are to fix the prices that LDC's will receive for their commodities regardless of the present future fundamentals of supply and demand and to invest money in these countries so they can develop more efficient means of production.

The folly of this, of course can be seen if demand drops for a particular commodity because of oversupply. (This just happened recently for copper and tin) yet prices remain fixed at a higher level. Or, if demand for a commodity like coffee becomes so great that not enough can be purchased, yet prices to the producing country remain fixed at a relatively low price.

Students Cop Honors At Fair

A number of students from La Plata Junior High School won honors at the Regional Industrial Arts Fair at West Texas State University recently.

Doyle Beck was a second place winner in the photography test level two and Jeff Smith captured first place in the electricity test, level two. Matt Koenig won second place in that event.

In the Level 1 metals test, Shane Scott finished first. Tony Holcomb and Kirk Minchew took first and second place respectively in the Level 1 power technology test, and Tony Reinart was second in Level 2 of that event.

Third place in on-site mechanical drawing, Level 1 went to Tim Hamlett and Scott Mazurek was a third place winner in Level 1 electricity.

First place in Level 2 electricity went to Jeff Smith.

In recreation, (long bows), La Plata scored a sweep of the top three places in Level 1 with Rodney Miller first, Warren Barber second, and Corey Christie third.

La Plata also scored a sweep in Level 2 of the same category with Donald Bartels first, Doyle Boch second and John Wagner third.

Jeff Smith was second in Level 2 of jewelry and Roland Parten posted a second place finish in Level 1 sheet metal.

In wrought metal, Level 1, Rodney Miller was first, Ricky Gonzales second and Steve Arthro third.

Bryan Diller was first, David Watson second and Sid Lookingbill third in wrought metal 5, Level 1.

Gilbert Salas was second in general shop, wood, Level 2.

Salas was also first in general shop metals, level 2, while Jeff Janssen was second and Jimmy Strickland third.

First place in woods 6, Level 1 went to Bobby White and Greg Bradford was third in woods 5, Level 1.

Jeff Janssen was also first in woods 12, Level 2 and second in woods 6, Level 2.

Second place in woods 7, Level 1 went to Richard Grimsley.

In industrial sequence, Rodney Miller was first, Tim Hamlett second and Adolph Knabe third.

Orchestra Winners

Pioneer Declares 30-Cent Dividend

The Board of Directors of the Pioneer Corporation at their meeting held this week in Amarillo declared a regular quarterly dividend of 30 cents per share, payable June 3, 1976, to stockholders of record on May 20, 1976.

Consolidated net income and earnings for Pioneer amounted to $11,007,947 compared to $6,586,914 during the same period of 1975.

In making the announcement of the income, K.B. Watson, company president said that first quarter income was up notably over the previous year due to several factors. He pointed out that Pioneer Nuclear made a sale of stockpiled uranium concentrate to Philadelphia Electric Company from the company's inventory and generated revenues in excess of $4.6 million. He said that there was a significant increase in the net income of the production companies in the first quarter of 1976, due to marketing of increased production including the increase in the Jennings Townsite Field, in Louisiana.

Watson went on to say, "The acquisition of International Tool and Supply Company, Inc. (ITS) was finalized on April 1, 1976, with an effective date of January 1, 1976. ITS is included in the consolidated figures for the first time."

Watson said, "Sale of gas for pumping irrigation engines was up because of an unusually dry period. Additionally, a change in meter reading and billing dates for a large number of irrigation accounts resulted in accelerating more than a million dollars of gas sales from the second quarter of the year into the first quarter with the related gas purchase costs being already recorded. This will benefit both the customer and Pioneer as volumes will be more closely related to the fiscal month."

The quarterly report for Pioneer Corporation will be mailed to stockholders about the 17th of May.

The movie "Against A Crooked Sky" will be showing at the Star Theatre beginning Wednesday.

Writers Eleanor S. Lamb and Douglas C. Stewart had an idea they wanted to write about love, human love, and the greatest sacrifice anyone can make, to give his life for someone he loves.

That idea became a short story which became another idea in the mind of motion picture producer Lyman Dayton which became a script called "Against a Crooked Sky" which became an eventual motion picture starring Richard Boone, Stewart Petersen and Henry Wilcoxon.

But between the idea and the realization came large quantities of "blood," sweat, tears and talent.

Producer Dayton, who has successfully countered Hollywood's motion picture trends by making such family films as "Where the Red Fern Grows" and "Seven Alone," liked the ingredients of the Lamb-Stewart story.

The teenage star of his previous two films-Stewart Petersen-would be perfect as Sam Sutter, the frontier boy who sought to find his kidnapped sister. For the other two starring roles he would also need special talents.

One role was Russian, the sour and dour frontier trapper who unwillingly helps the young boy in his search. The other was Cut Tongue, the disgraced Indian chief who posed an actor's challenge-that role would have to be played without words, for Cut Tongue had lost his speech through torture.

Dayton set out to find the one actor who could be Russian and found him in veteran motion picture and television star Richard Boone. The role intrigued Boone, who traces his ancestors back to the famed Daniel Boone.

For Cut Tongue, Dayton went again to another veteran actor, this time Henry Wilcoxon whose acting career has spanned famed English repertory theater and Hollywood film epics.

Dayton also wanted the film to be as authentic as possible and so he sent crews out to a number of western settings, looking for the area that would provide the rugged scenery so necessary for "Against a Crooked Sky."

Finally they found castle Valley and Arches National Park and Dead Horse Point near Moab, Utah. There they could use the mountain settings, the raging rivers, the deeply beautiful valleys that were the setting to the story. Moab's facilities could comfortably supply the technicians and actors that would be needed for the film. Some of the city's residents and some of the Indians on a nearby reservation could be used in the film. Moab and the surrounding country were the realization of the original story, Dayton thought.

For director, the producer went to a familiar face-famed motion picture director Earl Bellamy who had previously directed Doty-Dayton's successful "Seven Alone" motion picture. Working with production supervisor Eddie Saeta the technical crew and supporting actors were enlisted, a shooting schedule was developed and plans for sets were worked up.

In Moab some of the settings were pre-fabricated by skilled craftsmen. At Castle Valley the units were put together and a complete farm set was built. In Moab fifteen local persons were enlisted as cowboys, stand-ins and other roles. At Blanding sixty-five Navajo Indians were signed up for roles as warriors and villagers. Out at the Park Avenue section of Arches National Monument a complete, authentic Indian village was built with the cooperation of the National Park Service.

In Burbank, meanwhile, co-star Henry Wilcoxon was researching books on Indian sign language for his demanding non-speaking role. He knew Indian practices and spoke some Sioux, but he had to authenticate the hand and face gestures as well as the sand drawings that he would use for communicating his lines. Soon he would meet with Boone to work out each other's responses so that Boone would know the gestured language as well.

Then it was time for Director Bellamy to call out "quiet on the set. Lights...cameras...action!"

Workouts Going Well

A highly enthusiastic Fred Upshaw termed the attitude and progress of his Whiteface football squad during the first week of spring workouts as "excellent".

He stated that everyone was hustling and going all out and that it was a great group of kids to work with.

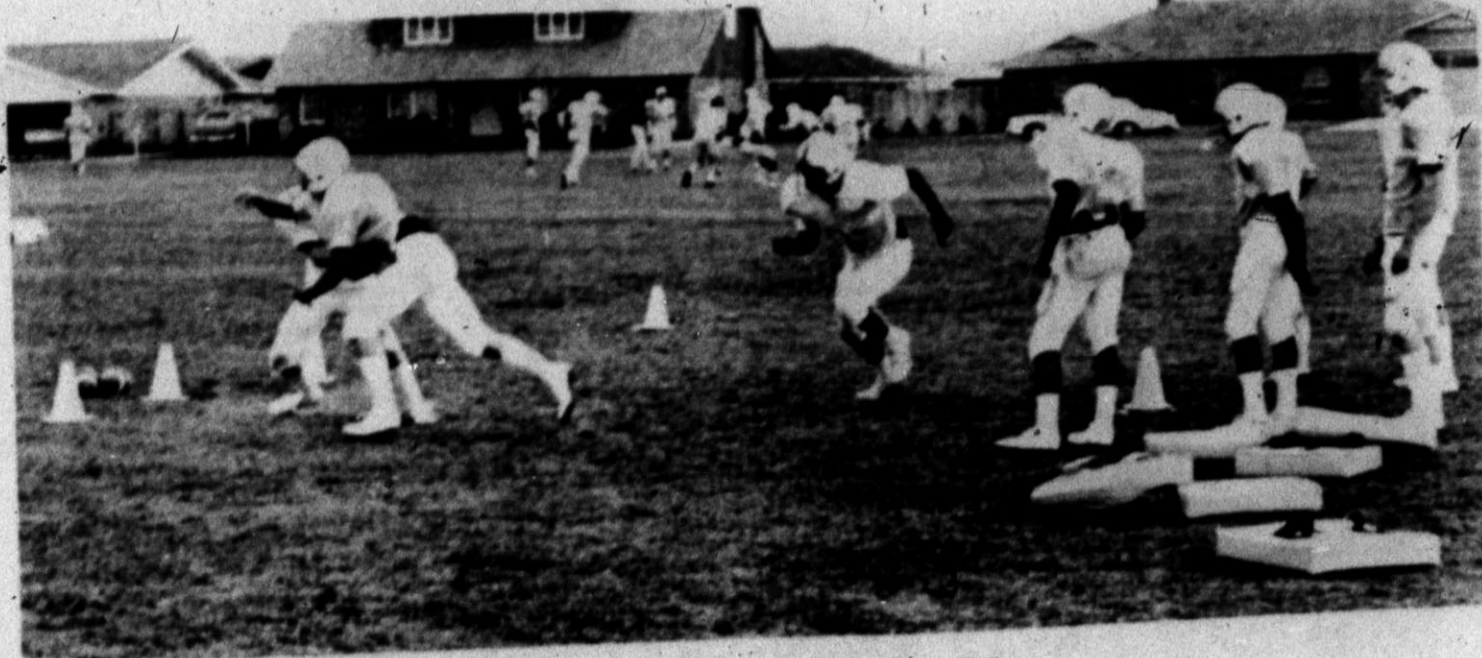

Upshaw picked out the play of Phil Livers, James McDowell, Rowan Alexander and Sammy Davison on defense and Cory Walden on offense as being particularly outstanding thus far.

On the darker side of the ledger, Abel Trevizo and Ricky Taylor have sustained injuries, which will probably keep them on the sidelines for the rest of the spring.

Simple things and simple people are often the great among us.

The strip tease seems to be on the beaches as well as in the movies.

Those who seek to improve their minds will be the leaders of tomorrow.

Whiteface Handoff

Members of the Herd backfield work on their timing during one of the workouts this week. There are two more weeks of Spring practice left. They will conclude with the annual Spring game on Friday, May 21. Coach Upshaw and his staff have been extremely pleased with the players performance thus far.

Herd Ends Season At LHS

Hereford's varsity baseball squad traveled to the hub city Saturday to meet the Lubbock Westerners in a doubleheader which took place after the Brand went to press.

The twinbill brought the season to a close for the Whiteface's. Before the action their season's record was 13-14 and they were 2-4 in 2nd half district play.

The Westerners took the first twinbill played in Hereford by scores of 4-0 and 7-2.

Lubbock High was anxiously awaiting word of the other district twinbill played Saturday. Plainview was meeting Coronado and if the Mustangs defeated the Bulldogs both times, it gave them a tie for the 2nd half title with Monterey which had already completed 2nd half play and had a 6-2 mark. In that case, the Mustangs and Plainsmen would have to meet in a playoff game to determine the 2nd half winner who will meet the Westerners for the loop title. However if Plainview took one of those games, the fight for the district crown would be strictly between Monterey and Lubbock High.

The Westerners who went unbeaten in the 1st half had lost 4 in a row-going into the twinbill with Hereford and stood at 2-4 in 2nd half district action.

Men Land Catfish

Wayne Reinart of Hereford and Mark Banner of Amarillo, a former Hereford resident, caught two nice sized catfish while using goldfish as bait at Lake Eufaula on April 30.

The larger flathead catfish weighed 44 lbs., was 45 in. long and took 15 minutes to bring in. The other weighed 14 lbs. and was 27 in. in length.

Lighting Plans Presented

A detailed description for the proposed plans for lighting the soon to be built Kids Inc. Sports complex and some words of encouragement by County Commissioner Earl Holt were the high points of a regular meeting of the Kids Inc. Board of Directors at the Pioneer Natural Gas, Flame Room, Wednesday night.

Raymond Dement, Southwestern Public Service Foreman, presented the lighting plans which he had drawn up and gave advice concerning ways in which he thought money could be saved. He estimated that the materials for lighting the complex would cost approximately $20,000 and that the labor would cost around another $20,000.

The board hopes to have a request before the Parks and Wildlife Commission in Austin by July 1 for state funds to pay for approximately half of the $225,000 complex.

If everything proceeds as scheduled, it will be ready by next summer.

Holt, who had spearheaded the drive to buy the land for the project, said that he was proud of the board and others concerned for their efforts so far on it and that there was no doubt in his mind that it would be successfully completed. He also stated that it was something which the people of Deaf Smith County would be able to use for many years to come.

In other action taken by the board, Jerry George was elected to fill board of director's vacancy left by a member who had moved and $420 was

Maupin Takes Prix

Pat Maupin of Hereford came home first in the open division of the gran prix motorcycle race at Memphis last Saturday.

The event had a two hour time limit with the rider completing the most laps in that time being declared the winner. It was run over a 7 mile course which began at the court house square and continued over city streets, dirt roads, pastures and other rough ground in the area which was marked off for the riders. Each rider was also required to make two pit stops.

Maupin completed 11 laps to take the top trophy. Besides the open division, appropriated to pay the expenses of Harold Wheeler and two members of the Hereford Boxing Club who are going to the National AAU Boxing Tournament in Las Vegas, Nev. this week.

Also a discussion was held concerning the Kids Inc. Candy sale and approximately $500 was appropriated to buy new equipment for the boys baseball and girls softball programs.

Another topic of concern was the efforts of a group of women to form a Kids Inc. Boosters Club which would serve as a separate arm of Kids Inc. for financial aid. However the board wasn't sure how this would affect Kids Inc.'s standing with The United Way and it was decided to table the idea until more information could be secured.

there were three other classes in the event including the 125, 250 and the over 40.

In the last division, any size motorcycle could be used, the only requirement being that the rider be past 40 years old.

Golfers Qualify May 11

Qualifying rounds for places open on the 1976-77 Hereford High and La Plata and Stanton Jr. High golf squads will take place at the course here in Hereford Tuesday and Wednesday, May 11 and 12. Nine holes will be played each day.

Anyone who is interested in qualifying for the squads should stop by their school office and pick up an entry form or should contact Coach Terry Russell at the High school or at his home by calling 364-1969.

Russell also wanted it emphasized that a person must qualify even if they intend to play a sport other than golf next fall and don't plan to participate on the links until the Spring semester.

Second String

garry peebles

In case you've missed it, Hereford's Kid's Inc. boys baseball and girls softball programs are getting started, the boys last week and the girls this week and even if you don't have anybody playing anymore or even if you never did you really should get out to see some of those kids play. It's a good way to forget your troubles for awhile and how long has it been since you've had a cold snowcone (too long I'll bet), anyway I recommend it.

I guess the "Jaws" craze (or whatever it was) is over with now. Actually I never paid very much attention to it myself. Since I live at least a thousand miles from the nearest ocean, I really can't see the great white shark as one of my big problems and I didn't bother to go see the movie because it didn't have John Wayne in it.

However several months ago I was reading an article in a magazine about some people who seem to have an abnormal interest in the creatures. According to them it's for the sake of science but I think they must have some unconscious desire to die young.

Anyway these scientists have found some caves under water off the coast of Mexico where for some reason or other sharks seem to hibernate. There is apparently something in the water here which make the most vicious types of sharks known as harmless as goldfish.

I guess I believe all this because there were the pictures of the beasts resting on the floor of the cave, teeth and all, and the scientist turned diver beside him with his pencil, paper and clipboard (I'd like to know how he managed that under water) seemingly all in one piece. As a matter of fact, in one photo the guy was so close to the animal he could have stuck his head in its mouth (I hope he didn't).

The theory that these scientists came up with to account for the sharks good behavior in the caves was that the lower salinity (less salt) of the water there, caused the parasites which cling to the shark's bodies to loosen their grip and made it easier for the small fish which feed off the parasites to get at them.

Since these parasites apparently keep the sharks in a great deal of misery, the caves serve as a kind of cleaning station for the animals also as a place to rid themselves of a natural menace. This along with other conditions created by the atmosphere in the caves supposedly puts the sharks in a kind of semi-conscious state.

I know nothing about science (I barely passed biology in high school and college was even worse) but this seemed to make sense, I guess. Anyway I'm right now as close as I ever care to get to a shark, sleeping or otherwise so I'll take their word for it and let it go at that.

Nothing is foolproof, and near the end of the article, the writer admitted that there was one time during the expedition when one of the sharks came to life. However the diver beat him off with his trusty clipboard (that was the part that was really hard to believe) and lived to dive again.

I hope for their sake that whatever these people found out was of some great value to mankind because there's got to be easier ways to make a living.

FCA Tourney Big Success

The Annual Fellowship of Christian Athletes Golf Tourney held here in Hereford Friday was a big success as approximately 60 linksters participated.

First prize to the winning team totaled $150 and went to the squad composed of Lon Conner, Roger Owens and Joe Childress who fired a 63 in the Florida Scramble Tourney.

Four squads finished in a tie for 2nd spot with 64's and since runner-up spot prize money totaled $150 and each team had 12 players, it was divided up 12 ways or $12.50 each.

Runner-up squads included Myron Dees, Bill Allen and Taylor McNeil; Curtis Stoerner, Rocky Lee and Don Clements; Terry Russell, Ken Hager, and Barry Arwine; Marvin Thouvenel, W.J.W. Gilbreath and Virgil Marsh.

The tourney cleared approximately $800 which will be used to send Hereford athletes to FCA summer camps.

FCA sponsor Rick Stewart wanted to thank everyone who had a part in making the tourney the success it was, including the participants, the merchants who advertised it, the athletes themselves who served as caddies, the cheerleaders who worked in the concession stands and others who had a part in the event.

Falconry Not For Faddists Despite Glamorous Appearance

So you saw a picture of jolly King Henry with a majestic-looking falcon perched atop his heavily gloved hand, and you fancy yourself a falconer. Good luck, because to properly care for and train a wild bird of prey (raptor), it takes much patience, a great amount of time, and a hefty financial commitment in equipment, supplies and feed. Ask any of the 57 persons who hold Texas Parks and Wildlife Department beginners' or general falconry permits. Needless to say, falconry is not a sport for the faddist. It takes months; even years to properly handle and train a raptor. Of all sports, falconry is one of the few which uses a trained wild creature to hunt, and there in lies the key to man's fascination with the birds of prey. A falcon or hawk in flight in a ve-inspiring, and many enthusiasts feel a free-flying bird of prey symbolized man's ancient, hidden desire to soar in the sky. Whatever the reason, man's fascination with raptors dates to ancient times, when kings and emperors, in their leisure moments, were portrayed with a hooded raptor. The first falconers were the Mongols of the Middle East, and references to raptors have been found among Chinese documents dating back several hundred years before Christ. Today, it doesn't take royalty to secure a permit from P&WD, but a sizable investment of time, effort and money are prerequisites. Before an individual can apply for a permit to trap a bird, he must meet a host of requirements regarding facilities where the bird will be housed as well as a general knowledge of the history and sport of falconry. The equipment required of a beginner includes gauntlet, jesses (short straps on the raptor's legs), hood, outdoor perch, swivel, leash, scales and bath pan. Experienced falconers say accurate scales are a necessity, since the control of a bird's flying weight forms a vital link between bird and trainer. In addition to the equipment, the individual must exhibit sufficient knowledge about the sport and the bird to realize the extent of time needed to care for the bird in captivity," said Bill Sheffield, P&WD environmental assessment program leader. It is not easy to obtain a beginner's permit; one of the reasons is that not all persons interested in the sport will be able to commit themselves to a degree necessary to adequately care for a raptor. Bird diseases, a raptor's predators, need for exercise and feed are but a few subjects a beginner must master before he can even attempt to trap the bird. All facilities are inspected and approved by a game warden prior to issuance of a beginner's permit, which allows the individual to trap one of three raptor species and use it for hunting during a specific season. The bird's housing should include indoor and outdoor facilities with minimum dimensions of eight feet square. A mews (indoor cage) may be a room within a building where the raptor can remain safe in foul weather. An outdoor cage for sunning should also be provided. Even when tethered outdoors a raptor should be protected from potential predators such as dogs and cats. After his facilities have been inspected and approved, the applicant must pass an examination on raptors and falconry that covers a variety of subjects. Once a beginner's permit is secured, an individual can legally trap, during season, one of three species: Harris, red-tailed or sparrow hawks. The permit, renewable annually, allows a beginner to hold only one bird.

Falconers say a bird six months to a year old is ideal for training. Nest eggs and nestlings may not be taken. There are many varieties of raptors in the state, most on a year-round basis, including hawks such as red-tailed, Harris, sparrow and Cooper's; a variety of falcons; golden and bald eagles, and kites, considered by many the most beautiful of all raptors. There is no doubt of the intriguing nature of training a wild bird, releasing it to hunt, and having it return to its trainer's arm. There is a certain appeal, but the sport should not be taken lightly. It is an involved process that entails constant work with the bird several hours a day, every day.

The Hereford Brand, Hereford, Texas, Sunday, May 9, 1976

As any experienced falconer will note, patience and total involvement in the sport and care for the raptor are of primary importance. It's no fad, as the bird cannot be put down and discarded when interest is lost. Returning a trained bird to the wild without proper conditioning may result in its death. So, if you have had a lifelong ambition to train a bird of prey, be forewarned: it's a tedious, time-consuming job that doesn't end when the season does. Proper care and feeding of a captured bird of prey is a daily, year-round job.

Most people are limited by their inability to appreciate others. Money isn't everything but it's nice to have enough to know that.

Thank You!

Alfred Smith, candidate for County Commissioner of Precinct 1, extends thanks to the voters who supported him in the May 1 Primary election. A special thanks, also, to the Friends and neighbors in Deaf Smith County who actively worked in the campaign.

The June 5th Democratic runoff election will decide who the next Commissioner for Precinct 1 will be. Your support and consideration will be appreciated by...

Winston Pro Rodeo Electronic Scoreboard All Girl Rodeo To Use Winston Electronic Scoreboard May 14-16

A special attraction at the 1976 National Cowgirl Hall of Fame Professional All Girl Rodeo will be the use of one of the electronic rodeo scoreboards distributed by the Winston Pro Rodeo program. Five such scoreboards are taken across the country to keep track of event times.

Bill Albright, executive vice president of the Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce, said the Winston organization, a division R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, is bringing in special banners to display around Hereford for the Rodeo scheduled for May 14-16 at the Hereford Riders' Arena. It was not used in the first rodeo last year and Albright feels especially elated because it will be used this year.

The first electronic rodeo scoreboard was a dream Buck Sutherland worked on and perfected over the last two decades before he died late in 1975 after a history of heart trouble.

Sutherland was an electronics specialist by trade and an ardent rodeo competitor, promoter, and fan at heart. He combined both worlds when he envisioned the totally unique concept of an electronic scoreboard capable of handling rodeo scoring.

That was more than 15 years ago and the first board Sutherland built was a test model he loaded on the family pickup truck in Grand Junction, Colo., and took to Dallas, Tex., to make its national debut at the very first National Finals Rodeo.

In the years that followed that debut, a great deal of enthusiasm for the scoreboard in the rodeo world sprang up and Sutherland went to work improving the scoreboard.

Now there are five traveling rodeo scoreboards sponsored by the Winston Pro Rodeo program, the major sponsor in professional rodeo. These boards are a long way from the first scoreboard Sutherland built which utilized advanced electronic equipment the likes of juice can lids, and weighed nearly a ton.

After years of constant improvements in the boards by Sutherland, today's models weigh half as much and include more than 11 miles of wire and more than 1,000 diodes and transistors.

Along the way, Sutherland got his whole family involved in the business. His widow, Fannie, initially helped operate the scoreboard and now keeps operation. His eldest son, Steve, is a member of the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association and has helped construct and operate the boards since he was old enough to hold a soldering gun.

When Sutherland died, Steve returned from college to take over the reins of the operation. His younger brother, Casey, also helps out when free from college or showing horses.

The rest of the Winston rodeo scoreboard team consists of five scoreboard operators. They are all former or currently competing rodeo cowboys, who will travel to about 150 rodeos this year to install and operate the boards.

Winston cigarettes as the sponsor provides the scoreboards to the leading rodeos each year as a service to the local sponsoring committee as part of an effort to help promote the sport.

Now the scoring in each rodeo event is easy to follow for even the less experienced rodeo fan, thanks to a dream Buck Sutherland realized.

Culpepper 4th At Speedway

Jim Culpepper of Hereford compiled 140 points in the late model racing division at the Southwest Speedway in Amarillo last Saturday to climb into 4th place in the season standings in the event.

He won the first heat and trophy dash and came home 2nd in the 20-lap main event and 4th in the semi to give himself a total of 220 points as the 2nd week of the season was completed.

James Davis of Hereford ranks 13th in the late-model division with 95 points.

The action at Southwest Speedway will resume this Saturday night at 8. Cost of the 18 race program will be $2.50 general admission and $3 reserved with children under 12 admitted free. Southwest Speedway is located at 24th and Folsom Road.

Stanton 4th In Golf Race

La Plata and Stanton's golf squads traded places at the end of the 2nd round of the Jr. High district golf race played Saturday at the Southwest Golf Course in Amarillo.

The Mavericks had started the day in 4th place while Stanton was 5th, however the dogies fired a 352, 22-stroke better than their first round to give them a 730 loop total while La Plata was shooting the same figure as last, 374 for a 768 district mark.

Perryton leads the pack with a 329-691 total while Pampa is at 328-692 and Canyon is at 344-363.

Individual scores for Stanton Friday included Andy Yocum, 83, Keith Pagetti, 89, Barry Crouch, 90, Jeff O'Rand, 90 and Kenny Shore 97.

La Plata's individual marks for the day were Richard Brandon, 86, Miles Goforth, 90, Barbara Scott, 98, Randy Black, 100 and Mike Hacker, 102.

The final round of the loop race will be in Hereford next Friday.

Women At Bowling Congress

The 59th Annual Women's International Bowling Congress held in Denver last week had three representatives from Hereford, Eleanor Hudspeth, Margaret Collins and Bertha Arnold.

The congress was highlighted by a bicentennial parade of flags from each state as well as a number of changes in the rules of the congress.

The Hereford women bowl in several leagues in Amarillo each week and along with Alice Lueb and Pauline McDonald also of Hereford will participate in the Women's International Bowling Congress Tournament also in Denver on May 23-26.

The wonder of motherhood continues in a never-ending cycle from generation to generation. Here, motherhood is commemorated by Kim Edelman; her mother, Mrs. Joe Don Edelman; her mother, Mrs. Herman Paetzold; and her mother, Mrs. Carl Luke.

Kelly Wagner

The poignant moments of motherhood are marked by the close bond that grows between mother and child. Mrs. Roger Owen and infant son Dagon strengthen that bond.

Mother's Day means a pause to remember someone dear. Mrs. Jack Dudding is honored by sons Allen and David.

Motherhood is the sharing of many special moments. Mrs. Billy Wall and daughter Jenene share the joy of spring flowers together.

And though she may
Not understand
Life's winding way,
Lead her in peace divine.

I cannot pay my debt
For all the love that she has given;
But Thou, love's Lord
Wilt not forget
Her due reward,--
Bless her in earth and heaven.

Year Reviewed By Club

Summerfield Study Club concluded the club year when members met Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. George DeLozier with Mrs. Thurman Atchley serving as co-hostess.
 Officers were installed for the coming year by Mrs. L.H. Lookingbill Sr. who used as her theme "The Blossoming Rose Bouquet" with each officer having her place to fill in the arrangement.
 Mrs. Atchley will serve as president; Mrs. Clayton Sanders, vice president; Mrs. Mack Noland, treasurer; Mrs. DeLozier, recording secretary; Mrs. J.R. Euler, corresponding secretary; Mrs. R.E. Lance Jr., parliamentarian; Mrs. Lookingbill, historian.
 Also, Mrs. J.R. Euler and Mrs. Earl Lance Jr. were appointed as co-chairmen for the 1976-77 yearbook.
 Mrs. Earl Lance Sr. gave the meditation and the pledge of allegiance was led by Mrs. Earl Lance Jr. Roll call was answered by "The Most Interesting Program of the Year."
 Mrs. Atchley told of the success of the club's projects for the past year which included sending gifts to Wichita Falls State Hospital and Girlstown, preparing Christmas baskets for the elderly and shut-ins and members who served as hostesses for Westgate birthday parties.
 A report was given by Mrs. L.H. Lookingbill Sr. concerning the Top of Texas meeting in Dalhart where she attended recently as a delegate.
 Mrs. Lookingbill also mentioned that the club was organized June 19, 1926 and was first named the Homemakers Study Club. There were 17 charter members.
 Mrs. Lee Curry and Mrs. Lookingbill are the only two remaining charter members in the club which was federated in 1935.
 The program was presented by Mrs. Curry who spoke on the history of Federated Women's Clubs and Mrs. Lookingbill gave the club history.
 Mrs. Curry has been involved in Federated Women's Clubs since 1913. While living in Armstrong county, she helped organize one of the first county Federated Women's Clubs in the nation.
 Mrs. Guy Walser and Mrs. R.B. Baker were also present, and Mrs. Jack Streun was welcomed as a guest.

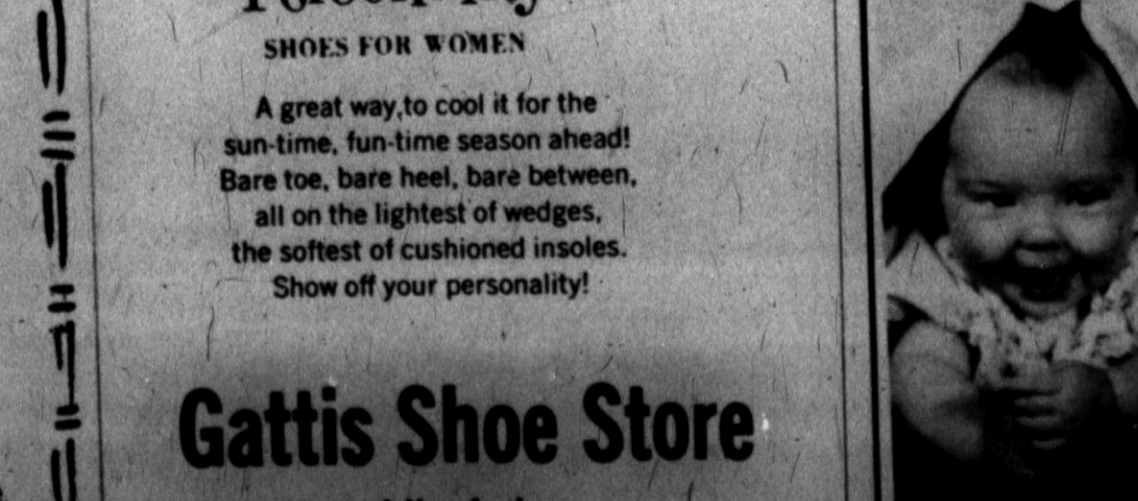

Mrs. Kovacs Speaks To Auxiliary

Mrs. Ludwig Kovacs presented a program entitled, "I Am An American" to members of American Legion Auxiliary Tuesday evening in Legion Hall.
 Mrs. Kovacs gave a history of her life in Yugoslavia before she came to America over 24 years ago.
 During the business meeting, it was announced that girls state is planned June 8-18 and the zone meeting is scheduled Tuesday at Tulia.
 Scholarship awards will be presented during an awards assembly Wednesday at Hereford High School auditorium.
 Also, poppy day was scheduled May 26.
 Following the business meeting with Mrs. J.E. Pavicek and Mrs. Louise Hollenstein serving as hostesses, members of the Legion joined the women for refreshments.
 There were 12 members present.

Club Summarizes Year's Events

Members of Garden Beautiful Club concluded the year's activities at a luncheon Friday at Hereford Country Club.

A brief resume of the club's projects which have been accomplished since 1949 included donating $400 to Deaf Smith General Hospital Fund; using $1800 to beautify the hospital grounds; $350 was spent to beautify King's Manor Retirement Home grounds and $100 was used for Deaf Smith County Historical Museum.

A piano was also donated to Deaf Smith County Bull Barn and other contributions were made to the various civic projects in Hereford.

The club's project this year was planting a white birch and two river birches at the hospital.

Also, during the business meeting with Mrs. Deward Roberson presiding, plans were made for the club's annual tour of homes this fall.

Mrs. N.D. Bartlett announced committees and named committee chairmen for the coming year. They included Mrs. W.P. Aze, yearbook chairman; Mrs. Bruce Burney, home tour chairman; Mrs. A.L. Jordan, membership chairman; Mrs. Ray Cowser, social chairman.

Also, serving as chairmen will be Mrs. Roberson, project chairman; Mrs. W.P. Carmichael, women's forum chairman; Mrs. Charles Hood, telephone chairman; Mrs. V.O. Hennen, historian.

Before the close of the meeting, a gift was presented to Mrs. Roberson to express member's thanks for her year's work.

Other members present were Mmes. Charlie Noland, Earl Springer, Bruce Carter, L.H. Lookingbill Sr., Charles Brockett and Wayne Jones.

Couple At Home After Marriage

MR. AND MRS. STEVE DEGNER
...married recently

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Degner are at home at Conroe after their recent marriage in the Church of Christ in that city. The Rev. Earl William, pastor, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F.D. Bryant of Conroe and is the granddaughter of Mrs. Belton Bryant of Hereford. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Stan Degner of Conroe.

Denise Pringle of Conroe served as maid of honor and David Benson, also of that city, was best man. Escorting guests to their seats were Terry Fick and Mike Franklin.

The bride's sister, Miss Vickie Bryant, was flower girl and Mike Norwood, son of Mr. and Mrs. M.L. Norwood of Conroe, was ring bearer.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of pea de soi trimmed with lace and her veil of imported bridal illusion was trimmed with matching lace.

She carried a bouquet of white carnations and roses and wore a gold locket which belonged to her great-great-grandmother.

The bride's sisters, Misses Debra and Donna Bryant, served cake and punch at the reception held in University Savings building.

The bride graduated from high school in Phoenix and the bridegroom is a graduate of Conroe High School.

PTOMembers Install Officers

Mrs. W.C. Beene will serve as president; Mrs. Allen Parson, first vice president; Mrs. Pat Parker, second vice president; Mrs. Jesus Maldonado, third vice president; Mrs. Duane Wyly, secretary.

Also, Mrs. Murlene Streun, treasurer; Mrs. Peggy Fitzgerald, historian; Mrs. Noel Equeda, reporter.

Mrs. Maldonado introduced the program entitled "America, The Top of the World." The skits were presented and written by Aikman sixth grade students and were directed by Mrs. Johnny Latham.

There were approximately 300 visitors and parents present.

ENERGY EFFICIENT HOME

THIS SIGN... ON A NEW HOUSE MEANS 40% OR MORE SAVINGS ON HEATING & COOLING COSTS

It has been known for some time that methods existed to insure the building of ENERGY EFFICIENT HOMES. But inexpensive energy in the past made it logical to ignore the extra investment such a home would require. Now with energy costs rising, it becomes more and more important to use effectively every bit of energy we consume. The TOTAL ELECTRIC ENERGY EFFICIENT HOME has construction features which result in savings of 40% or more on heating and cooling costs when compared to previously accepted standards for total electric construction. You'll be hearing more about the ENERGY EFFICIENT HOME. If you're considering a newly constructed home, let us work with you and your builder to assure that your new home is designed for maximum comfort and energy savings — THE TOTAL ELECTRIC — ENERGY EFFICIENT HOME.

ELECTRICITY — IT DOES SO MUCH GOOD

The ELECTRIC Company

FOR SO MANY PEOPLE

The Future IS Electric!

FOR GOOD MEASURE — When recipes call for fresh lemon or orange juice, save time and extra dishwashing by remembering that three tablespoons of lemon juice equal the juice from a medium size lemon, while one-half cup orange juice equals the juice from one medium orange.

FIVE-DAY ECONOMY — It's easy to make your own five-day deodorant pads. And economical! Place cotton pads in a glass jar that has a tight-fitting lid and saturate them with a mixture of four parts distilled water to one part aluminum chloride. The latter can be found at your pharmacy and is very important. If you want to gild the lily, add a few drops of your favorite cologne.

Joyce's Journal

BY JOYCE SHIPP
Deaf Smith County Extension Agent

Linen clothing—comfortable in even the hottest weather—makes ideal summer garments. Linen is a remarkably strong durable fabric. It has good absorbency and a natural sheen. Also, since it is lint free and smooth, linen doesn't soil readily.

Natural linen will wrinkle; so many linens now have been treated to be almost permanent press—or just need a little touch up with the iron.

This fabric is available from the very sheerest handkerchief weight to heavy textured nubby weaves.

One of the nicest characteristics of linen is its ability to be laundered easily. In fact, it usually looks better with each washing.

Be sure to read the care labels on your linen items. Always pretreat stains before laundering the garment. Most linens can be dried with regular heat setting, but the permanent press linens should be dried on a permanent press setting.

Besides the traditional white and pastels, linen also comes in many bright colors, which adds to its desirability for summer wear.

CUT LIVING COSTS WHEN JOB HUNTING

Cutting living costs while unemployed may be a necessity for most families—and it can be done even though it may seem impossible at first.

Some ways to economize may help consumers start spending less.

Begin by setting up a net worth statement. This record provides a good overall view of your financial situation and is easy to prepare. A local bank or the county Extension agent can advise what information to include.

Consider economizing on luxuries. Stop and think of what luxuries are really important to the family. Which ones can be reduced. Don't let this discourage you—it may just mean that you will spend more time at home, visiting friends or taking advantage of the city entertainment programs.

Spending less on food takes prior planning. Begin reading articles in magazines, newspapers and cookbooks on budget-stretching ideas. Take advantage of supermarket specials and join a food co-op if one is available. The local county Extension office can provide publications on planning low cost meals.

Residence may be another expense that can be cut without too much strain. If you live alone, consider a roommate. You may not want one forever, so specify that the arrangement is for a certain number of months—hopefully you will have a job by then.

Instead of sending clothing to a dry cleaner, try using a coin-operated cleaning service, and press them at home. The cost of cleaning and laundry can be kept low by wearing professionally-handled clothes only to interviews or other occasions when you must.

But it's important to continue any medical or dental treatment. Be honest with the doctor or dentist about your ability to continue paying. He will usually make some suggestions about how you can continue the treatment. Do not let pride keep you from seeking ways to maintain your health—it's important to you at this time.

TRY THIS RECIPE FOR AN UNUSUALLY DELICIOUS

Try this recipe for an unusually delicious treat:

CHILI CHEESE SQUARES

1 lb. sharp Cheddar cheese, grated
1 can (4 oz.) chopped green chilies (drain and reserve liquid)
6 eggs
Paprika

Grate one half the cheese onto the bottom of a greased 8-inch square baking pan or dish. Sprinkle drained chilies over the cheese. Add remaining half of the grated cheese. Add liquid from chilies to the eggs and beat them well; pour over cheese. Sprinkle with paprika. Bake at 350 degrees for 35 to 45 minutes. Cut in small squares and spear with toothpicks to serve as appetizers. They are best served hot, but are fairly good cold. They may be frozen and re-heated.

Raising Funds

Funds are now being sought to help assist with a building expansion program at Hereford Day Care Center. The program will provide more services for pre-school children whose mothers are working or enrolled in school. Anyone interested in making a contribution or memorial gift to the center may contact a board member. Robert Mayfield is chairman of the board. Al Simnacher shown here with twin sons, Kent and Keith, expressed, "my wife and I have the kids here because they want to be here. There is a basic Christian attitude at the Center which will feel is important to the proper growth of a child."

Members Install Officers

Engagement Announced

Miss Julie Owens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Owens of Route 1, and Jerry Morris, son of Mrs. Bill Crow of Star Route, and Melvin Morris of Ruidoso, N.M. will marry June 18 at Dawn Baptist Church. The bride-elect is a 1974 Hereford High School graduate and is employed at Deaf Smith General Hospital. Her fiance is employed at Big T. Pump Co. and graduated from HHS in 1971.

ON GRAIN PURCHASE
The Soviet Union has bought 3.4 million metric tons of U.S. grain in a new round of purchases. Some 1976 corn and wheat will be delivered in the fall, the Agriculture Department said.

ON TRADE BALANCE
The nation's trade balance fell deeper into deficit in March when increased imports of coffee and cars helped overwhelm the first increase in U.S. exports in four months, the government said.

Donation To Be Made To OP Organization

Members of Bay View Study Club closed their club year with a luncheon Thursday at Hereford Country Club. Serving as hostesses were members of the social committee.

During the business meeting with Mrs. D.N. Garner presiding, members decided to contribute $25 to the local Opportunity Plan and dues from each member to the Deaf Smith County Historical Museum were paid.

Also, members were urged to donate any and all good books to Deaf Smith County Library.

Before the close of the meeting, a letter was read from West Texas State University expressing their thanks for the club members' enthusiasm at the Bicentennial Luncheon held recently.

Tables were centered with arrangements of spring flowers.

Members present included Mmes. J.R. Allison, H.L. Benefield, Bruce Burney, Si Darling, Hazel Davis, R.W. Eades, Herman Ford, Homer Garrison.

Also, Mmes. Howard Gault, John Gilliland, W.K. Golden, Robert Josterand, W.J. Gilliland, Earnest Langley, Justin McBride, Ansel McDowell, Austin Rose, Keith Simmer, Jack Wilcox, Earl Holt and Jimmy Gillentine.

Guest Speaker Welcomed At Club

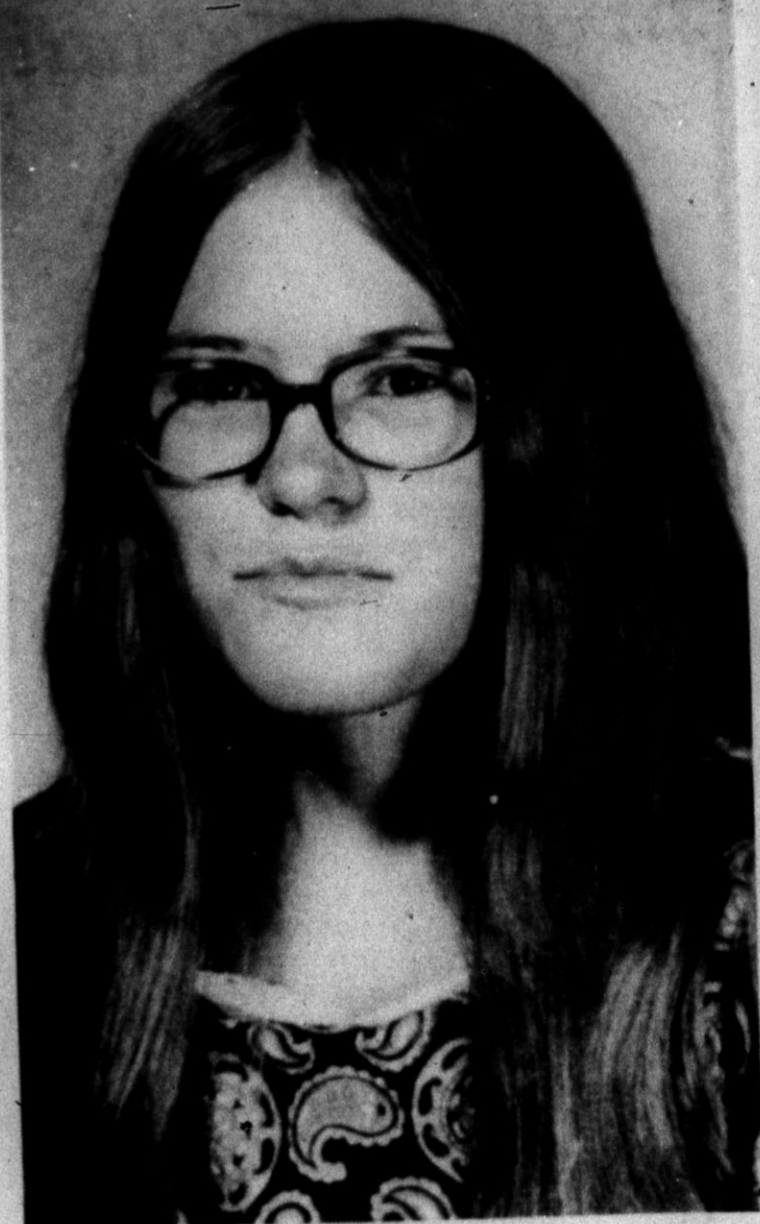

Mrs. Clint Formby presented a book review to members of L'Allegria Study Club Thursday morning in the home of Mrs. Rudy Metz. Mrs. Cliff Skiles served as co-hostess.

"Courage and Candlelight" was the book summarized and excerpts from Paul Harvey's book "Ourselves, Our Fortunes and Our Sacred Honor" were read.

The next meeting was scheduled May 20 when members will meet for a luncheon at Hereford Country Club.

Wedding Planned

Miss Karen Ruth Cook and Carroll Thomas Willard of Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., plan to marry June 19 at Dawn Baptist Church. The bride-elect, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Troy Brooks of Dawn, is a 1974 graduate of Morton High School and is employed at Sue Ann Inc. Her fiance, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ferran of 1621 17th Street, graduated from Hereford High School in 1975 and is in the U.S. Army.

Chairman Needed For Audition

Mrs. Dan Warrick needs interested parties to contact her concerning auditions for Miss Cinderella Contest. The state contest will be held in Waco June 28 July 3 for girls age 3-17. Specifically needed is a chairman and a place to hold an audition for local girls.

There will be a Little Miss Cinderella Contest for girls ages 3-6, and a talent contest included in the competition for girls ages 7-17.

Interested persons are urged to call Mrs. Warrick by Wednesday.

C of C Artist

Audrey Rusher of 134 Ave. B. has been selected as artist of the month at Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce office. Mrs. Rusher, who has been painting for three years, is studying under Eunice Petersen.

Film Is Viewed By Club Members

Members of Hereford Study Club viewed a film entitled, "Uncle Sam-The Man and the Legend" when they met Thursday evening in the home of Mrs. Ed Wilson.

The film depicted how the symbol of Uncle Sam evolved. Sam Wilson was an average American man who passionately loved his homeland.

During the business meeting, standing reports were read and May 20 was scheduled as guest night and installation of officers will be held. The members will meet in the home of Mrs. Cawthon Bryant with Mrs. B.F. Cain and Mrs. Don Robinson serving as co-hostess.

Members present included Mmes. Bob Word, Sam Long, Shirley Garrison, Tommy Brady, Bob Poston, R.N. Yarbro, N.D. Bartlett Jr., George DeBoer, J.D. Gilbert Jr., Don Robinson, Bryant, Ed Wilson, Maurice Tannahill and Miss Gladys Setliff.

Carl Wimberly and Mrs. W.T. Beaver. The Dawn ladies have finished their period of devotional and we do appreciate all of these talented ladies coming in land sharing their talents with us.

received a piano from Mrs. Blanche Moseley. The piano has a beautiful tone and with some refinishing we will have a valuable antique.

Our bingo party was a big event Thursday afternoon. Juanita and Horace Hershey, Stella Parker, and Mrs. Wiseman came out and helped with the calling. Several won bananas as prizes and the prize for the day went to Mrs. Frieda Coneyway.

Scott Clark furnished background music for the afternoon. Dr. and Mrs. Seago, Joyce Lyons, Virginia Harrell, Jerry Barton and Carleta Harkins made up the receiving line.

The Auxiliary ladies had beautiful and tasty homemade cookies and punch that was served at two tables. Our Hereford garden clubs were represented by ladies of the club: Mrs. Wilma Bryan from Bud to Blossom made the beautiful corsages in red, white and blue.

Mrs. Tina Lee Roberson made a red, white and blue for a tailored table. The red, white and blue votive candles were burning in the background and just higher than the flowers in red, white and blue. Mrs. Lillian furnished some flowers that she had grown and the ladies work in the Garden Beautiful Garden Club.

Mrs. Gladys Manjeot made the arrangement for the formal setting of blue net with the red, white and blue flowers. She is a member of the Hereford Garden Clubs.

All of the flowers were beautiful and we do appreciate and did enjoy all of the pretty flowers.

These garden club members have furnished plants through the years for the grounds of King's Manor Methodist Home and your work and talents are enjoyed by all.

A big thanks to all that made Open House at Westgate a special day for the residents.

Management Yields More Fish

Texas boasts an abundance of farm ponds but most are producing fish far below their potential.

That assessment comes from Don Steinback, fisheries specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Texas has about one-half million acres of small farm ponds. Stocked with channel or blue catfish, these ponds can produce up to a thousand pounds of fish per acre annually if managed properly," points out Steinback.

"On the other hand, annual fish production may be only 50 to 75 pounds per acre for unmanaged ponds with such fish species as small sunfish."

As far as proper management of a farm pond is concerned, the Texas A&M University System specialist outlines these steps.

"Aquatic weed control is one of the first steps to a productive farm pond. Once weeds are identified, chemical treatment should be applied during the March through May period.

"When it comes to stocking a pond with fish, channel or blue catfish offer the best potential. Demonstrations have shown that a one-acre pond can produce up to a thousand pounds of this type of fish a year with supplementary feeding.

"For top production, fish must have food, and that comes from a commercial ration or proper use of fertilizer. Apply 100 to 150 pounds per acre in April or May to produce the phytoplankton (microscopic plants) which are vital to the food chain for fish."

On The Turnrow

By Jim Stelert

IT'S RIDICULOUS to sell a commodity which you need within your own state to out-of-state interests at a cheaper price than native Texans are paying, but that is exactly what's happening to our state's natural gas resources.

Out-of-state consumers are buying Texas gas for a little over 50 cents per mcf, while irrigators who need the gas so that they can raise food for the nation are paying anywhere from $1.30 per mcf on up for their state's own gas.

What an exercise in futility! The meeting held at Dimmitt Thursday night, sponsored by the Plains Irrigation Gas Users Association, pointed out one thing quite clearly, and that is the unfairness of the pass-through billing system for irrigation gas, and the utter stupidity of charging native Texans more for their own gas than out-of-state customers.

NOBODY CAME UP with any answers at the Thursday night meeting, but there were a lot of people there looking for one.

Just one year ago in The Brand, we carried a front page story in the Mother's Day edition which told how local farmers were getting ready for regional hearings in Lubbock concerning the priority of natural gas as a farm fuel.

Today, we carry a front page story once again concerning natural gas for irrigation. And again, farmers are trying to prepare themselves for what could well turn into a fight for fuel.

Only this time, it is a fight for a fair price, because if the farmers can't afford to buy the fuel, it doesn't matter how abundant it is or what priority it is placed under.

THERE WERE several comments from the audience during the Thursday night meeting at Dimmitt, but one of our favorites came when the conversation turned to the fact that the days of "cheap energy" are gone.

One farmer in the crowd was quick to reply that cheap energy may not be available to the irrigator, but it's still available to the rest of the populace in the form of the cheap groceries the farmers produce for everyone.

Another farmer in the audience opened that there will always be problems with fuels and other items necessary for agricultural production until the prices of farm commodities rise to an equitable level. He called for farmers to take a fourth or even a third of their land out of production. "Let's do like the gas companies and make things short, then maybe we'll get a decent return for our investment too," he said.

TURN

WE ENJOYED attending the Hereford High School FFA chapter's Parent-Member Banquet Tuesday night.

This event was formerly known as the parent-son banquet, but the ladies have begun to take an active part in FFA, thus prompting the name change.

At any rate, we congratulate the chapter members who were presented awards recognizing their accomplishments, and add congratulations to David Hutchins of Easter, who was named an honorary chapter member.

Hutchins did a lot of work toward obtaining funds for the school farm here through his chairmanship of a grin drive among local Lions Clubs.

Earl Butz, Agriculture Secretary, on trade talks:

"In negotiations of this kind you measure progress in a step at a time, painful step after painful step."

Johnson Wins Top Award For Senior Ag Students

Jerry Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. LeRo, Johnson of Hereford and a senior at Hereford High School has been named as the winner of the DeKalb Agricultural Accomplishment Award for 1976.

The award, which is sponsored by DeKalb Ag Research Inc. is presented to the outstanding senior in vocational agriculture departments around the country.

Johnson was chosen for the award on the basis of scholarship, leadership and a supervised farming program.

He has served as president and vice president of the Hereford High School FFA chapter and possesses the Lone Star Farmer degree, highest degree in the state.

Johnson is currently working toward his American Farmer Degree, the top degree in the nation.

His agricultural program includes 10 head of feeder steers, 10 head of show steers, three commercial steers, two breeding heifers, eight show lamb, five show pigs and 4 acres of milo.

Following graduation from HHS later this month, Johnson plans to attend West Texas State University.

As the 1976 winner of the DeKalb Accomplishment Award, Johnson will have his name inscribed on a special honors plaque provided by DeKalb Ag Research Inc.

15 Counties Gain Brucellosis Status

Fifteen counties improved their status in the national brucellosis program, but 13 other counties slipped back a step during the past month, the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) reports.

Gaining top status as certified brucellosis-free on April 29, were Mason County, Illinois, and Ector, Mason, Terrell and Ward counties, Texas. Ten additional Texas counties moved from non-certified to modified-certified status. These are Calhoun, Culberson, Delta, Duval, Hidalgo, Jim Wells, Tom Green, San Patricio, Upton and Uvalde.

Three counties lost certified free status dropping to modified-certified classification: They are Pope County, Arkansas; Benton County, Idaho, and El Paso County, Texas.

In addition, 10 counties in Texas lost brucellosis status are now non-certified areas. They are Cherokee, Hopkins, Houston, Jefferson, Karnes, Liberty, Lubbock, Nueces, Refugio, Upshur.

Officials of USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS) explain counties lose status in national brucellosis eradication program when herds in county fail to meet required testing schedules. requirements for maintaining status stipulate that:

--An infected herd must be retested within six months.
--If an infected animal is found through the market identification system the or origin must be tested and quarantined within 30 days.
--If an infected animal is found through the market identification system the or origin must be tested and quarantined, the herd must be tested within six months.
--Dairy herds must be tested within 30 days of positive brucellosis milk test has been reported.

Feeding Project To Promote U.S. Grain

LUBBOCK, TEX.--Dr. J.H. Quisenberry, retired chairman of Texas A&M University department of poultry science, will depart May 8 for Moscow where he will initiate plans for the Soviet Union's first U.S. Feed Grains Council demonstration feeding project.

Dr. Quisenberry's visit to the USSR falls exactly two years after the first Soviet agricultural trade team came to the High Plains, where as guests of the Lubbock-based Grain Sorghum Producers Association and Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board, they studied sorghum production and utilization.

The purpose of the project, according to the poultry expert, is to increase the energy levels of poultry diets and to assist in development of feeding formulas and management training.

The demonstration feeding project was proposed to Soviet agricultural officials last fall by Elbert Harp, GSPA executive director and past chairman of the USFGC. Harp's trip to Moscow was at the invitation of Deputy Agriculture Minister Boris Runov who has told the GSPA executive that "my people need to know more about grain sorghum."

Dr. Quisenberry is expected to join Dr. Halvor Kolshus, USFGC European director, in Copenhagen in May for the trip to Moscow. He will return home May 15.

Dr. Quisenberry has been serving as a USFGC consultant to both developed and underdeveloped countries which express interest in increasing their poultry production.

Checking The Seedbox

Farmhand Lacy Armstrong, left, and Dr. Darrell N. Ueckert, Texas Tech University range and wildlife professor, inspect the mixture of alfalfa and Ermelo weeping lovegrass seed in Ueckert's homemade seeder. Ueckert borrowed the seedbox and from an old commercial planter and built the seeder-packer combination are underway at Texas Tech's farm site near Brownfield in Terry County.

Cotton Market Looks Stronger

The Bicentennial year could be a banner one for cotton in Texas and the United States as market prices should remain strong through 1977.

"Good price prospects for cotton are a result of low supplies on one hand and increased domestic and foreign consumption on the other," points out Charles Baker, an economist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "Both domestic and foreign mill consumption should be up more than a million bales each above the 1974-75 marketing year."

How will production shape up for 1976?

"Overall plantings should be up moderately from 1975. Texas farmers intend to plant 4.67 million acres of cotton as of April 1," notes the Texas A&M University System economist. "However, final plantings could exceed 5 million acres if farmers plant all their available acres for cotton and sorghum. With sorghum planting intentions also down, about a million acres of cropland is uncommitted. These acres will probably be split between the two crops."

In the U.S., Baker expects the cotton crop to total about 11.5 million acres. If the crop produced a bale per acre, the 11.5 million bales would still fall short of the expected domestic consumption and exports. This would reduce stocks on hand even further than the lean carryover of 3.6 million bales expected on August 1.

Tech Research Underway On Pasture Improvement

BROWNFIELD.--An inexpensive planter trailed by an inexpensive cylindrical soil packer could be an answer to reclaiming barren rangelands and worn-out farmlands.

Experiments with planting equipment and grass seeding have started on portions of Texas Tech University's 3.5 sections of farm and ranch land in Terry County, with the promise of low cost land improvement to produce good pastures.

With 36 hours of labor and $134 in cash a Texas Tech range and wildlife professor and his father built a grass seeder and soil seeder and packer for testing against three commercial seeders at the Texas Tech farm.

Dr. Darrell N. Ueckert and his father, Henry Ueckert, found most of their material from old machinery on their ranch northwest of Abilene.

"No new material was used," Dr. Ueckert said, "but all of it was obtained easily, including a seed box off an old commercial planter."

The labor, mostly welding, was their own. The Ueckerts have since had good luck with their custom-made planter and packer on the sandy soils in Jones County near Abilene.

Studies on the Brownfield area farmland are intended to find effective and inexpensive ways of developing pastures on sandy land.

"Often if such land cannot be seeded with grasses at relatively low costs, farmers and ranchers give up use of the land," Ueckert said. "And in sandy areas wind erosion takes its toll, as it creates dunes and makes land reclamation even costlier."

"Now it's usually not economically feasible to fertilize these sandy areas with commercial fertilizer," Ueckert continued, "so we're combining alfalfa, a legume to provide nitrogen, with soil-binding, productive Ermelo weeping lovegrass."

Drs. Ueckert, Billie E. Dahl and Russell D. Pettit are the professors in charge of range reseeding studies at the Terry County Farm.

The scientists inoculated the legume seed at planting with bacteria which will produce nodules on the roots of the alfalfa. The bacteria in the nodules take nitrogen from the air--nitrogen that will be used by both the alfalfa and grass.

Studies of this kind and many others will be a permanent part of the Terry County farm scene, said Dr. Anson R. Bertrand, dean of the Texas Tech college of agricultural sciences.

"Beef cattle and dryland crop research projects are planned for the land," Bertrand said.

Large, permanent pastures of grasses and legumes are planned, in addition to the experimental areas now being planted. Subsequently livestock will be placed on the farm, he said.

Twelve experimental plots have been planted thus far. Each treatment is about 600 feet by 15 feet, and the planting techniques were varied with combinations of the three commercial planters and Ueckert's planter.

The packer on Ueckert's planter compacts the soil which has been seeded and brings the soil in close contact with the grass seed. Compacted soil holds moisture longer and allows moisture to move to the seed, Ueckert said.

"We know that rainfall will be below average six out of 10 years in West Texas; therefore, seed bed preparation is crucial to reducing risks of seeding failures," Ueckert said.

"We need more research in mixing legumes with grasses, to find grass-legumes that will grow well in fairly hot, dry areas."

After recent rains on the South Plains, Ueckert expects good lovegrass cover within a month on the test plots near Brownfield. His planter-packer system will be evaluated as soon as grass growth can be compared on the test plots--possibly this fall.

Two and two still make four in spite of years of progress in other fields.

Many a vacation is ruined by the pile of work awaiting you on your return.

A person who never loses his temper is either extraordinarily talented or lacking in drive.

ONION ROLLS

1 pkg. frozen cloverleaf rolls
1/4 cup butter
2 cups finely chopped Texas green onions or white onions
1/2 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. pepper

Thaw rolls. Separate each roll into 3 natural divisions. Roll out round and as thin as possible. In a 10-inch skillet, melt butter; saute onions in butter until wilted but not brown. Add salt and pepper. Allow to cool. Put 1 teaspoon onion mixture on each dough circle; moisten edges and fold over. Press edges together. Let rise until double in bulk. Bake at 375 degrees until brown. Yield: approximately 2 dozen rolls.

For additional onion recipes send a postcard request to Commissioner John C. White, Texas Department of Agriculture, P.O. Box 12847, Austin, Texas 78711.

The one time you expect to see a Zimmatic broken down.

About the only time you expect to see a Zimmatic broken down is when it leaves one of Lindsay's plants. Once assembled in your field, it seldom causes a problem. Those big, sure-footed towers power their way around the field, carrying water to crops.

Hour after hour, day after day. Until you decide to shut down. That kind of performance doesn't just happen. It's the result of constant testing -- both in the plant and in the field. Lindsay puts these rigs through the most punishing conditions -- loads on more stress in a week, usually, than they're likely to see in a lifetime of normal use.

But we know that no system is 100% perfect all the time. That's why we're ready to help with an extensive parts inventory and factory trained servicemen if you ever have a problem. Before you buy any center pivot irrigation system, be sure to let us tell you about all the advantages of owning a Lindsay Zimmatic.

CowBelle Beef Bits

Presented By The Hereford CowBalls

THE HOUSE OF Representatives have given final approval to the Beef Research and Information Act, according to Rep. Jack Hightower, co-sponsor of the bill. The conference report on the bill passed by a margin of 200 to 170, and the measure is expected to clear the Senate without difficulty. "The victory is satisfying and represents the culmination of several months of hard work by individuals, agricultural organizations and a majority of the House Agriculture Committee," said Hightower. The proposed Beef Research and Information Act has been termed "vital to the continued success of the beef industry, as cattlemen know surprisingly little about the fundamental nature of the demand for beef. Such knowledge is basic to designing a sound advertising and market development program."

EAT MORE BEEF

"ONE OF THE beef industry's biggest long-term problems is that people's diets have become too concentrated," says Dr. William Sherman, director of nutrition research for the Meat Board. "Nutritionists and doctors are concerned that we have eliminated three-fourths of the fiber in our diets by eating less potatoes, less whole wheat breads, and less whole fruits. At the same time, beef consumption has increased, so beef is getting blamed for increased heart and colon diseases when more likely it is due to the decreased fiber. Research is urgently needed to clarify the debate."

According to the National Commission on Productivity, there now are more than 2,000 separate federal regulations dealing with food packaging, labeling, handling, grading, sanitation and safety. Many of these are repeated at state and local levels, and many conflict with one another. The cost in tax money for federal regulation of the food industry may be about $1 billion, according to the Senate Agriculture Committee chairman, and the cost of complying may equal or exceed that. In addition, the Productivity Commission noted, many of the regulations hamper productivity.

The idea behind the regulations is more protection for the public, but if the public could evaluate the cost-benefit relationships, they would see that they are paying a high price for small value in many instances. There has been a proliferation of new laws and agencies in recent years. In 15 years, 236 new federal bureaus and agencies have been created, while only 21 have been disbanded. Examples of regulation conflicts among federal agencies:

—A packing house cooler, under regulations, will be cold enough to that water on the floor may freeze. The Occupational Safety and Health Administration says the floor is then slick and dangerous, and the packer should "put salt on the floor." The Environmental Protection Agency says this will cause pollution, and "if you use salt, it's a violation."
—An OSHA inspector may say, "Close up this auger; someone might get caught in it." The man from the Animal & Plant Health Inspection Service says, "I have to see what's going into it; you can't close it."

—The Food and Drug Administration tells a supermarket it must have a smooth floor in the meat department in order to facilitate cleaning. The OSHA inspector comes along and says the floor must be rough so that employees won't slip and fall.

Partly because of Interstate Commerce Commission regulations dealing with backhauls, 40 per cent of the trucks on the highway run without a load. Economic losses brought on by inefficiencies caused by regulations have been estimated at several billion dollars annually.

EAT MORE BEEF

SOME PERSONS advocate changes in the structure and profitability of the entire food system, and they talk about, but do not define, the "middleman." This ANCA report shows that business profits for the "middleman" owners (stockholders) represent a small part of food prices. The most important "middlemen" in terms of effects on food prices are organized labor and government.

Today's basic problem, it appears, is not "administered prices" but is "administered cost increases" which must be reflected in retail prices, if a business is to survive. These cost increases are "administered" primarily by government (through taxes and regulations) and by organized labor (through wages, fringes and "featherbedding" work rules).

The fundamental problem is a lag in productivity, caused in large measure by work rules and government red tape.

Cattlemen support all workers in their quest for higher wages and a better standard of living. After all, it's in cattlemen's own best interest to have incomes rise. For, as shown by USDA studies, dollar expenditures for beef tend to increase along with incomes. However its productivity at a rate closer to increases in wage levels. Without improved productivity, higher wages only mean higher prices and no improvement in buying power.

Olde Homey Hints

Homemade furniture polish included a half-pint of linseed oil, a half-pint of vinegar, and a half-pint of turpentine. It was applied with a flannel rag and then rubbed with a dry flannel.
To remove rust from knives, they were rubbed very hard with a piece of washed leather dipped in powdered charcoal, moistened with spirits of wine. This was rubbed off quickly and the knife washed in hot water.

To dye wood floors, a mixture of the inside bark of the red oak was used. A dark color was set with copperas. After the dye was applied and let dry, the floor was wiped with a weak lye. Finally, the floor was rubbed with a waxed brush.

Cold-Tolerant Cotton Developed For Plains

LUBBOCK— Last September, when cotton on the Texas High Plains was entering its critical boll development stage, two consecutive weekends of cold, wet weather interspersed by several unusually warm days dealt cotton a severe blow. Agriculturists blamed the weather for causing at least a 50 per cent loss in the 1975 cotton crop. Texas Agricultural Experiment Station researchers at Lubbock now say at least two experimental varieties show "good genetic tolerance to cold," offering hope that varieties can be developed that will reduce the heavy economic losses that occurred last September.

Dr. Jack Gipson, Experiment Station cotton physiologist at Lubbock, says that since cotton is a hot weather crop, temperatures in excess of 70 degrees Fahrenheit are required for normal boll development. As temperature drops below this level, the rate of boll development gradually slows, ceasing almost entirely at about 60 degrees F.

In the High Plains area, most of the boll development occurs during August, September, and October, says Gipson. Beginning in September, and occasionally even in August, cold fronts periodically move through the area, resulting in minimums considerably below the optimum for boll maturation. August minimums average in the mid 60's, but in many seasons minimums dip to the mid 50's. September minimums average 58 degrees F with lows of 41 not uncommon, and October minimums average 47 degrees F with occasional dips to the low 30's.

Low temperatures during boll maturation periods adversely affect yields, fiber and seed quality," Gipson explains. "Fiber fineness, one of the most important measurements of fiber quality, is affected by temperature."

"In practice, fineness is usually determined by the micronaire apparatus, and is reported as the weight (in micrograms) per inch of fiber, he adds. "Since weight per inch is closely related to fiber wall thickness, the micronaire value serves as a very useful measure of fiber maturity."

Gipson has been studying the influence of temperature on cotton production and quality in cooperation with Dr. Levon Ray, Experiment Station cotton breeder, also of Lubbock. They found that certain varieties appear to be better adapted or more tolerant to low temperature than others, indicating that cotton does possess a genetic potential for cold tolerance. Based on this premise, they began a program of testing and selection for cold-tolerant cotton in 1972. In their research they are using early maturing experimental types developed at the Lubbock Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center by Dr. Ray for narrow-row production.

These experimental lines are grown out in field growth chambers equipped with air conditioners and gas furnaces so that night temperature can be controlled at the desired levels. Three commercial cotton varieties are also used to provide standards by which progress can be gauged.

Selections are then made under low-temperature (57 degrees F) stress conditions. Selections are made both for earliness, and for cold tolerance.

"With the aid of the low-temperature chambers the process of selection is speeded up considerably over what could be achieved under normal field conditions," Gipson says. "Thus, an earlier and more cold tolerant variety should be developed several years sooner than under ordinary selection programs."

"To date, two experimental lines show very good promise," says Gipson. "They are earlier than the commonly used standard commercial varieties and consistently produce fiber with higher micronaire values than the standard varieties." Gipson says this is especially important in view of the large marketing discounts on low micronaire cotton. Cotton with micronaire values of 3.5-4.9 is not discounted, he said, but at 3.4 and below it is discounted in ranges, that is, 3.3-3.4, 3.0-3.2, 2.7-2.9, and 2.6 or less. Thus even an increase of a 0.3 micronaire unit could result in a shift upward of one to two brackets, thus reducing the discount.

"When one considers that on a long-term average, about 60 per cent of the crop for the 25-county High Plains area falls in the penalty range of 2.4 to 3.4, the importance of shifting to higher micronaire brackets can be realized," Gipson emphasizes.

Assuming a two million-bale crop, some 1,200,000 bales would be penalized to some degree for low micronaire, he says. Based on a common discount of $15 to $20 per bale, the economic loss to the High Plains is staggering.

Gipson's study is being supported by the U.S. Department of Agriculture with funds made available through Cotton Incorporated, of New York and Raleigh, N.C.

Holly Reports Earnings Total Of $21.5 Million

Holly Sugar Corporation today reported earnings of $21.5 million or $13.65 a share on consolidated net sales of $220.9 million for its fiscal year ended March 31, 1976.

This compares with record earnings of $29.9 million or $19.17 a share during fiscal 1975 on record sales of $276.4 million.

Provision for federal and state income taxes was $18.8 million for the year ended March 31, 1976 compared with $31.2 million for the prior fiscal year.

President John B. Bunker said that an aggressive marketing program during the year increased Holly's unit sales volume over the prior fiscal year and helped to offset sharply lower sugar prices. "These earnings are especially gratifying in a year when labor, materials and other operating costs were increasing and unit proceeds from sugar sales were declining," Bunker said.

"As a result, Holly has been able to obtain adequate acreage for the 1976 sugarbeet crop, to increase the quarterly dividend rate to 85 cents a share and to make an extra dividend payment of $1.00 a share to stockholders on March 31, 1976," Bunker is reporting in the corporation's annual report to stockholders which will be mailed in mid-May.

"The previously announced conditional antitrust settlement of $5 million did not affect current year's earnings since that amount, less an estimated deferred income tax reduction of $800,000, has been reflected as a charge to retained earnings for prior years," Bunker commented.

He said that during the fiscal year the price of sugar declined steadily from about $32 hundredweight on April 1, 1975 to the $18 level at March 31, 1976.

"Domestic sugar prices appear to have stabilized at the lower level. However, in the absence of a national supply management policy, domestic prices will continue to follow erratic world sugar market pricing patterns," Bunker concluded.

4-Her's To Travel To Austin In July

Micki Merritt and Rudy Coleman were selected to go on the state 4-H Congress trip by members of 4-H Parent Leaders Association meeting recently at Community Center.

The trip is scheduled July 27-30 at Austin. Also, Sam Finley was selected as an alternate.

During the business meeting with Mrs. Bill West presiding, new associational officers were elected. Mrs. Lynn Jones was elected as president; Mrs. Bob Hughes, vice president; Sally Strain, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Lester Wagner, reporter; Lynn Jones, associational council delegate.

Also, thanks was expressed for persons involved in the 4-H bean supper held recently at the Bull Barn and new policies were read and accepted.

It was announced that the association will meet only during April and September of each year and several appointed committees will be working during the year.

Realtor Roundup

Presented by Hereford Board of Realtors
Jeane Coker, President

Your Realtor Broker receives his sales fee from you, the seller; however he has certain duties and obligations to prospective buyers also. The doctrine of "elementary fair conduct" applies to real estate transactions. By this tradition the buyer is entitled to fair and honest representation of the facts by the seller and the broker. It is not the buyer's duty to ascertain that these representations are true. It is the duty of the seller and broker to present all facts as honestly and fairly as possible.

Some of the Realtor's duties to the buyer are:
He will return your earnest money payment if you withdraw your offer to purchase if you withdraw your offer to purchase before it has been accepted by the seller.

He is duty bound to fulfill any commitments he makes to you as a buyer.

He is not to distort or misrepresent to you any material fact about the property, within his own knowledge, even if it should mean it will reduce your desire for the property.

For example: you like a house because it is two blocks from the school. Your Realtor knows the school will be closed the next year and replaced by a new school in a different neighborhood. He must not overlook telling you this fact.

Your Realtor has a duty to submit to the seller all offers to purchase the property. It may be an oral or written offer and in some cases considered a waste of time. But it nevertheless remains he is duty bound to submit all offers.

Your Realtor will see that you have a copy of your offer to purchase, signed by the seller. He will keep current of closing expenses, loan expenses, appraisals, and fees...Because of the money market some of these items change frequently making it impossible to add them right to the penny. Your Realtor estimate will be approximately within a $100.00 variable total for your purchase expenses. Should there become a definite change, you will be notified before you close giving you ample time to make the correction.

Your Realtor will see you completely through a transaction, from purchase to close and then happily be available to help you, and to keep in touch. Speaking as a Realtor, we feel we have not only found you a home, we have found you a 'home' and added a new friend to the Hereford community.

PUBLIC HEARING NOTICE
Walter J. Paetzold dba Western Feedlot, Route 3, Hereford, Texas 79045, has applied to the Texas Water Quality Board for a permit pertaining to process generated wastewater and/or any amount of rainfall runoff containing wastes from the cattle feedlot (2,000 head) which is located on the northside of U.S. Highway 60, approximately four (4) miles northeast of Hereford, Deaf Smith County, Texas.
The process generated wastewater and/or rainfall runoff containing wastes will be retained and utilized for irrigation. There will be no discharge to the surface waters of the State. A Hearing Commission of the Texas Water Quality Board will hold a public hearing on this application which has been fixed for 10:00 a.m. June 10, 1976 Conference Room C Municipal Building 509 E. 7th Avenue Amarillo, Texas to receive evidence on the conditions, if any, under which the permit may be issued, and to determine whether State Certification in accordance with Section 401 of the Federal Water Pollution Control Act Amendments of 1972 may be issued.
Hearing Authority: Chapter 21, Sections 21.072-21.082, Texas Water Code, and Chapter V., Sections 500 and 510, Rules of Practice and Procedure of the Texas Water Quality Board.
The hearing may be continued from time to time and place to place if necessary, to develop all relevant evidence bearing on the subject of the discharge, if available, may be obtained by writing Patsy Viccinelli, Hearings Division, Texas Water Quality Board, P.O. Box 13246, Capitol Station, Austin, Texas 78711, Telephone (512) 475-7861.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS TO ALL INTERESTED PERSONS:
The City of Hereford, Texas, a municipal corporation, P.O. Box 512, Hereford, Texas, 79045, proposes a lease and let for agricultural purposes certain lands, in accordance with the terms of this notice to bidders. This notice is the official bid form, and all proposals for the lease of this land should be submitted to the City of Hereford at the above address, for the attention of Dudley Bayne, City Manager. Additional copies of this notice and proposal may be obtained from Mr. Bayne by any interested person.
A lease contract will be entered into between the City of Hereford and the successful bidder, incorporating therein the terms of this notice to bidders, the bid proposal appended hereto, and any additional covenants or agreements arrived at between the City of Hereford and the successful bidder.
All bid proposals, submitted in sealed envelopes, must be received at the above address at or before 2:00 p.m. local time, on June 7, 1976, at which time the bids will be opened and considered by the governing body of said City.
The City of Hereford reserves the right to reject all bids, and the right to negotiate minor details and variations with the successful bidder. The successful bidder will be that bidder, who, in the opinion of the governing body of said City, submits the most advantageous proposal to the City of Hereford respecting the proposed lease. All bids must remain open for five days from the date of the bid opening, and the successful bidder will be notified within such period. The successful bidder must then enter into contract with the City of Hereford within ten days from date of notification that he is the successful bidder.
The land to be covered by the lease contract is described as follows:
All of Sections Nos. 2, 3, 18 and 19, and All of Section 17 lying South of the Panhandle and Santa Fe Railway Company right of way, all in Block K-3, Deaf Smith County, Texas, and containing 2900 acres of land, more or less.

On Hillsdale
Little Hillsdale College in Michigan is fighting a battle to keep the federal government out of its affairs. The private college doesn't discriminate against blacks or females. In fact, the college was admitting blacks and females before the Civil War!
The fight is simply on principle. Hillsdale, with about a thousand students, has refused all federal aid, because it doesn't want federal bureaucrats telling the college administration what it can and can't do.
But the ever-usurping Department of Health, Education and Welfare has taken the position that since the federal government gives aid to many Hillsdale students, it has the right to intervene in Hillsdale policies and affairs.
President George Roche 3rd is fighting that HEW ruling. More power to him.

ON HILLSDALE
Little Hillsdale College in Michigan is fighting a battle to keep the federal government out of its affairs. The private college doesn't discriminate against blacks or females. In fact, the college was admitting blacks and females before the Civil War!
The fight is simply on principle. Hillsdale, with about a thousand students, has refused all federal aid, because it doesn't want federal bureaucrats telling the college administration what it can and can't do.
But the ever-usurping Department of Health, Education and Welfare has taken the position that since the federal government gives aid to many Hillsdale students, it has the right to intervene in Hillsdale policies and affairs.
President George Roche 3rd is fighting that HEW ruling. More power to him.
