revenue sharing money received by the City of Hereford was earmarked Monday by the city commission to go toward reapairing and improving city streets ravaged by recent bad

The city commissioners set five "priority"items for expenditure of the 1972 revenue sharing money. These items were paving, major street improvements, construction of a city barn, installation of storm sewers and purchase of additional large-size trash containers for residential areas. The city received two checks from the federal government, totaling just under $158,000. The estimated cost of the projects approved by the commission was set at about $161,000.

The bad weather that plagued the area for several weeks caused considerable damage to city streets and this was one of the items that most concerned the commission. They said the

Banquet, Meeting Are Near

Sugar beet growers from throughout the area will converge on Hereford Friday for a business meeting at the Community Center then will gather again on Saturday for the annual Texas-New Mexico Sugar Beet Growers Association banquet Saturday night at the Bull Barn.

The business meeting is scheduled for 2 p.m. Friday at the Community Center.

The banquet, which will feature well-known humorist John Wolfe, is planned for 7 p.m. Saturday at the Bull Barn. Wolfe, of Houston, is well known throughout the speaking circuit as a great humorist who has addressed many association meetings throughout the country.

His style of humor and speaking is evident in his articles that have appeared in various magazines, including Reader's Digest.

Several visitors from other sugar beet associations are expected to be on hand for the meeting and banquet. Scheduled to appear are Hoxie Y. Smith of Brawley, Calif., and Dave Carter of

Washington, D.C., with the U.S.

Beet Sugar, Association. Also, numerous officials of Holly Sugar Corporation in Colorado Springs and representatives from various beet seed companies, are expected to attend.

Entry fees have been set at the rate of $4 per calf and $2 per hog or lamb.

General superintendents for this year's show are Layton Sawyer and Don Howard. Divison superintendents are Tommy Sparkman, Jack Andrews and George Muse, steers; Jimmy Christie, Joe West and Bill Cheek, barrows; and Robert Higgins, Jim Bob Perrin and Ronnie Andrews, Steers entered in the show must weigh 850 pounds and over to be eligible to compete, hogs must weigh 190 pounds and not over 240 and lambs must weigh 80 pounds and not over 120 pounds.

Exhibitors must be enrolled in elementary or secondary

The number of animals sold will be selected on a percentage basis from each class. Deaf Smith County exhibitors will be allowed to sell no more than two animals in each division, if eligible. The third eligible animal will not sell unless substituted for one of the first two within one hour from

He also forecasted that a total of more than five million cattle will have been fed in the area for 1972, when totals are available. This compares to a 1971 figure of 3,902,000. Thomas said that the cattle feeding industry in the high plains with all aspects considered, , would eventually contribute over $four billion per year to the area's economy. 'Where do we go from here?"

he asked, and stressed the possibilities of expanding the packing industry here, where present facilities process only a fraction of the total cattle fed for beef.

The next great opportunity in this country is going to be the swine business, though," he said, and gave examples and statistics on successful swine businesses in other areas.

acupuncture," he daid. "The theory is that the needle in some way stimulates very tiny skin nerves, and the impulses from this stimulation overburden the area in the brain that picks up pain signals-it could be likened overloading a switchboardif the circuits are all flooded with minor calls, no other call, no matter how important, can get through. "As I said before, though," he added, "this is only a theory, and no one really knows how it works. Some doctors believe that patients who have been witnessed during the acupuncture procedure are simply able to go into a state of selfhypnosis, and not feel the pain."

Such a doctor is Dr. Gerald G. Payne, who agrees that more research is needed before a definite statement can be made about the process.

"Probably it must work, because of the reports of American doctors who have been to China and witnessed the operations," he said.

'However," he added, "There is still no scientific explanation for it, and personally think it's a form of self hypnosis. I can't come up with an explanation as to how a needle could interrupt a nerve pathway and have this effect. Until more research is done, I just don't think it will be used

Chiropractor John H. Channer, like the other doctors, said that the practice is still too much of a mystery to be a widely-accepted practice in the

"I think it's something that's ing to require quite a lot of study," he said. "It's a very complex thing, and should not be used promiscuously until a lot more is known about it."

Dr. Channer said that he had taken a short course on the acupuncture procedure, out of curiousity, but repeated that it would be necessarry to do more research before allowing the procedure to become an accepted method.

'I have witnessed it done, although I've had no personal experience with the procedure, and I do think it has possibilities for future use here," he added

Dr. McBrayer, who had done some extensive reading on the subject, described acupuncture in the United States at the present time, as simply a 'scientific oddity", saying that though the process has been used since about 3000 B.C. in Asia, only in the last three-tofive years, has any serious effort been made by modern science to find out anything about it.

"Until more is known as to why, and how it works, it will just have to remain an oddity."

Dr. McBrayer added that there are about 2,000 practicing acupuncturists outside China itself, the original home of the procedure, and Japan, another acupuncture center.

"There are about 800 in France," he said, "And there are societies of them in Switzerland, West Germany, the Soviet Union, and Latin America. There are very few in the United States."

He added that though there would probably be no prohibition against any licensed physician using the process in the United States, the needles for the procedure, which must be imported, are classified as experimental medicine, and their use is closely restricted by the Food and Drug Administration, making it very difficult for doctors here to get them. A doctor here may only obtain the needles for experimental use, and with the permission of the FDA.

The ancient Chinese theory behind acupuncture is very complex, according to Dr.

According to reports, ancient Chinese physicians believed the process dealt with "yen" and "yang", the two opposing forces which, in Chinese legend make up all of nature.

The Chinese physician would make a detailed examination of the different pulses in the patient's extremities, (conidered indicators for certain organs), and once he'd made a diagnosis of the area where the ailment originated, he decided how "yen" and "yang" were out of balance in the patient's

The physician then deter-mined which meridian of the body should be stimulated to alleviate the unbalance, and then needles are applied to stimulate this area.

As a scientific explanation, the "yen" and "yang" theory obviously will not hold water, and until one is found that does, the practice of acupuncture, (already receiving publicity as a 'miracle healer' for ailments from bursitis to heart disorders) will have to remain a mere curiousity to American medicine.

From several sources, I've adopt practices above the eard suggestions lately about small-town category.

ombining a new library At least this is an idea to think heard suggestions lately about combining a new library building, which appears in the offing now and goodness knows is something much needed, with space for other cultural activities of the community.

Last year a move was started for a fine arts building that could serve for concerts, the creation and display of paintings and sculpture, dance and music recitals and play

It's logical to combine these things with that other fine art, literature, which is the province of the library. A building which could accommodate them all would certainly be an asset to the city, now and in the future.

Of course not many cities the size of Hereford have such a building, but then Hereford hasn't hesitated in the past to about, and the Community Players have a committee at work to spread it to other interested organizations and take it finally to the city and county officials who will make the decision.

The committee would likely welcome anybody's suggestions about the scope and form of the proposed facility.

It's almost unbelievable, isn't it, that just a week ago the sun shone for the first time in six freezing marks?

It was a happy circumstance the warmup began just as schools had a weekend holiday, letting dozens of students off for nice long ski trips.

Small Talk

These slopes in New Mexico, with their fresh supply of snow, must have been pretty crowded and I was pleased when my right-hand man, Tracy-Hopson, got back with no broken bones just bruises, she admitted. It was her first time on skis; she wants to go back.

> It wasn't skiing, it was business that took the Arthur Clarks to Colorado last week, Charlotte said. They left at midweek, and she remarked, "We went up there to get away from the cold!" True enough, it was warmer to the north at that time, but when they got back week the warmth had preceded

Water Decline Maps Readied The High Plains Underground

Water Conservation District No. 1 has released the 1972 cost-in-water-depletion, income-tax-allowance guideline maps from the Lubbock offices.

The guideline maps, used by landowners and their accountants to determine the water depletion allowance on their 1972 income tax, depict the decline of the water table beneath each of the 15 counties comprising the Water District.

The district's board of directors vote in their December meeting to retain the same price of $7.50 per copy.

CONVENTION, M.D. by Frank G. Slaughter

The annual gathering of the Central Medical Association got under way with a fanfare of publicity that matched nothing so much as the opening of a national political convention.

And in a way that's just what it was, for at the end of five days the members would choose, a new president in an election that had become the focus of a bitter struggle between old guard physicians and the new breed of young doctors who. wanted to make their profession more responsive to the needs of people.

But as the campaign got under way in earnest, a grim accident that took the life of a prominent guest speaker made it all too clear that someone in the convention hall was in-

Party To Honor Long-Wed Couple

Wedding anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. George S. Parker will celebrate the 70th anniversary of their marriage Sunday, with open house from 3 to 5 p.m. in their home, 109 Ave. J.

Friends of the couple are invited to call during those hours, when children and grandchildren will be hosts. The family requests that no gifts be made.

George Parker and Dora Gum were married Jan. 25, 1903, in a home ceremony at Alva, Okla., and lived there a number of years.

Living in the Hereford area since 1933, the couple moved to their present address about 18 years ago. Parker farmed during early years of their residence here, then bought the Dawn grocery store and service station which he operated until

Well Measurements Started In Deaf Smith

Underground Water Conservation District No. 1, assisted by several Texas Water Development Board (TWDB) staff members, have begun the annual measurement of depths to water in the more than 800 observation wells in the 15 counties comprising the District.

The coordinated and systematic measurement of the lepths to water in the observation wells constitutes the only method of determining changes in the volume of water stored in the Ogallala aquifer beneath the land surface. The water level records obtained through the observation wells within Deaf Smith County constitute the foundation for the District's cost-in-water depletion, income-tax allowance program. An observation well is a well that has been selected for inclusion in the annual waterlevel measuring program. All wells are privately owned—the wells-and are measured with the permission of the well owners.

District personnel will be measuring in Bailey, Castro, Cochran, Deaf Smith, Floyd, Parmer, Potter and Randall Counties. Wells located in Armstrong, Crosby, Hale, Hockley, Lamb, Lubbock and Lynn Counties will be measured by the TWDB staff.

William Penn was an early conservationist

In 1682, William Penn became the forerunner of our present-day conservationists when he made a move to conserve woodlands.

· Penn ruled that those who took title to portions of his grant had to leave one acre in trees for every five they cleared, but the ruling appears to have been ignored.

Governmental reform proposals backed by Daniel will be among the first bills to get House hearing. The House, with a minimum amount of op-compel compliance with its own position, promptly adopted the thick set of procedural rules the new speaker urged.

Smith in his swansong to the Legislature, advised that lawmakers move immediately to establish the constitutional revision commission directed by voters last November. He submitted as an emergency matter appropriation of funds to pay the commission's expenses.

The outgoing Governor further advised legislators ought to consider tackling the tough school finance system overhaul in a special session.

APPOINTMENTS-Governor Smith named former Gov. Allan Shivers of Austin, former Ambassador Ed Clark of Austin and Dr. James Bauerle of San Antonio as University of Texas System regents. A.G. McNeese of Houstom was named chairman.

Other Smith appointments included: Mrs. Wilmer Smith of Wilson, Richard A. Goodson of Dallas and Clyde H. Wells (reappointment) of Granbury to the Texas A & M University board of directors; Edwin R. VanZandt of Beaumont as chairman of the Texas Board of Mental Health and Mental Retardation; Dorssey B. Hardeman, formerly of San Angelo, as chairman of the Texas Water Rights Commission; Robert S. years? Some answers to these questions may be gleaned from the reports of the National Center for Health Statistics, the analytic arm of the U.S. Public Health Service.

Through weekly samplings of families across the land, it keeps constant watch on the physical condition of the population.

It gauges the general health of a community by the extent to which its people are able to pursue their normal daily activities without interruptions necessitated by illness or in-
