

Hereford Captures Two Divisions Of Stock Show

By JIM STEIERT
Brand Farm Editor

Hereford exhibitors walked away with top honors in two of the three divisions of the 11th annual Hereford Young Farmers Junior Livestock Show Thursday and Friday afternoon.

WAYDE BOREN of the Hereford FFA took his heavyweight Duroc barrow through Thursday afternoon's rugged market swine competition and captured breed champion honors before swine judge Bob Robinson selected the big red barrow as champion of both the County and Four County shows.

In an equally tough steer division, Kevin Douglas of the Hereford 4-H won the prestigious steer trophy in the County and Four County shows over a massive field of other entries. His jumbo weight crossbreed steer took champion honors in its class before steer judge Larry Schickendanz gave the animal the slap on the rump signifying its selection as the stock show's Grand Champion steer.

Vic Hart of the Hart FFA exhibited the Grand Champion lamb in another highly competitive area of the show. Lamb judge Charles "Tooter" Smith spent a good deal of time thoroughly working the four classes of lambs as best in this year's show.

Lana Tucker of the Hart FFA exhibited the Reserve Champion barrow in the market swine division, and Pam Cosper of Hereford took her Duroc barrow to Reserve Champion honors in the county show.

THE RESERVE Champion steer, another jumbo crossbreed, was shown by Mark Cluck of the Dimmitt FFA and Britt Hicks of the Hereford 4-H showed the Reserve Champion steer in the county show. His calf was a heavy crossbreed. Kimmie Hollums of Dimmitt exhibited the Reserve Champion lamb. The county's Grand Champion lamb was shown by Tandy Walden and was owned by Jim Bob Walden and the Reserve Champion lamb for the county was shown by Sam Finlee.

Both the market swine and lamb divisions of this year's show featured an increased number of entries over recent years.

At presstime, the livestock auction was scheduled to begin at 1 p.m. with 30 top steers and 60 top market hogs and lambs to go on sale.

SHOWMANSHIP trophies were to be presented by the Hereford CowBelles prior to the auction.

Results on the auction and the presentation of showmanship awards will be featured in the Thursday Brand.

Complete placings in this year's stock show are featured on pages 8-C and 9-C of this issue, along with pictures of other winning livestock.

Every year most of our community events seem to get "bigger and better," and the Junior Livestock Show conducted by the Hereford Young Farmers is no exception. The show ended Saturday with what is believed to be the most entries ever, and all observers are calling it "a great show." Results of the auction and names of showmanship award winners will be in Thursday's issue of The Brand.

There's nothing wrong with Hereford that a four-inch rain (or more) wouldn't cure! It comes as no surprise to most readers to report that 1975 was one of the driest years on record. The official report was about 11 inches of moisture of the year—compared to the average of about 17. The First National Bank reports that its rain gauge recorded only 8 inches for the past year. There were no immediate hopes for moisture this week, although a new, frigid cold front is predicted to arrive about Wednesday. Maybe it'll bring some moisture!

State Rep. Bill Clayton, Speaker of the House

Clayton Announces Again for Re-Election

Rep. Bill Clayton, the Springlake farmer named to the high office of Speaker of the Texas House of Representatives a year ago, has filed for re-election as state representative of the 74th District.

Clayton, in making the announcement for re-election as representative of Bailey, Castro, Cochran, Deaf Smith, Lamb, Oldham and Parmer counties, said it is his desire to continue serving the people of the 74th legislative district.

"They have shown their faith in me during the past years and I have always attempted to be their voice in state government," Clayton said.

As House Speaker, Clayton is presiding officer of the 150-member lawmaking body and is chosen by his peers.

"The added duties as Speaker, I believe, have added immeasurably to my ability to serve the 74th legislative district. As Speaker, the welfare of the entire state must be considered, however, I will continue to maintain a solemn duty to the well being of my district," Clayton said.

The office of speaker, regarded as one of the three most important offices in state government, has gained influence under Clayton's leadership.

During the 1975 legislative session, Clayton distinguished himself as a speaker dedicated to fiscal responsibility. Since the end of the session he has continued his policies of attempting to reduce state spending.

"As Speaker it is my position to crimp the spending spiral which has seen cost of state government increase greatly in past years. We can realize substantial savings with long-range planning," Clayton said.

Clayton's years in state government have gained him the reputation as a strong supporter of water legislation. He has been actively involved in efforts to increase the South Plains water supply. He remains dedicated to seeking adequate water for his district.

Clayton and his wife, Delman, operate a farm near Springlake. Progressive Farmer magazine recently named his Texas Farmer of the Year. In addition to his farming activities he is a businessman in several area communities.

Two More File For Precinct 3 Seats On Commissioners' Court

The political soup got thicker this week in the race for the precinct 1 seat of the Deaf Smith County Commissioners Court as two more persons joined three already committed candidates in filing for the highly sought after post.

With the deadline for filing at 6 p.m. Monday, Leroy Bodkin, 45, and Gerald Gray Parker, 35, became the newest aspirants on the political scene with their filings on Wednesday and Friday respectively. They join Wallace Shelton, Jr. Donald Henslee and Alfred Smith in a tight battle for the nomination in the May 1 Democratic Party Primary.

THE PRECINCT 1 post will be vacated by Earl Holt, a commissioner for 12 years, who decided in December that he would not seek re-election. His reasoning was that no person should hold political office too long and therefore made way for numerous first time office seekers.

The only other commissioner's seat open is that of precinct 3, now held by Bruce Coleman. No one has yet filed against him as of Friday evening. Other announced candidates for county positions include Nell Miller for tax assessor-collector and Travis McPherson for sheriff. Each is an incumbent.

Bodkin, who lives nine miles southeast of Hereford, is a farmer-rancher. He was born and raised in Olton.

He moved here in 1962 and has been in agriculture here ever since buying a farm then. He farmed in Olton from 1949-52, after which he served in the Air Force for four years. He again took up farming from 1957-62 in Olton.

He has served seven years on the local ASC committee, was a director in the Deaf Smith County Gin, and served on the Domes Agriculture Survey for three years. He is a member of Easter Lions Club and served as a deacon and elder in the Presbyterian Church.

PARKER, WHO PRESENTLY farms four miles south of Dawn, has continually been in agriculture related business since graduating from West Texas State University with an agri-business degree. He is a partner with his brother Foster Parker in dryland and irrigated farming

Party Election Filing Deadline On Monday

The deadline for filing for offices to be placed on the May 1 ballot of the Texas Democratic primary election is 6 p.m. Monday.

These are mostly for county offices including precinct 1 and 3 commissioner's posts, sheriff and tax assessor-collector.

Also, party precinct chairmen and county chairmen must file for their names to be placed on the ballot. Clinton Jackson, secretary of the county executive committee of the Democratic Party, said the precinct chairmen most especially need to file with him at the Farmer's Insurance office located at 807 N. Main St.

The chairman of the County Democratic Party is Leo Witkowski and the County Republican Party chairman is Joe Shollenbarger.

In the past, B.F. Cain, county clerk, has handled filing duties, but these were switched over to party officials after encouragement from state levels. This was brought about by the passage of the Federal Voting Rights Act, opposed by state officials.

Auto Stickers Issued Starting Monday

Nell Miller, county tax assessor-collector, reported this week that validation stickers for automobile license plates will be handed out beginning Monday and voter registration application and registration forms will be sent out to area residents beginning Friday.

She said that the voter applications for registration need to be correctly filled out including the information as follows: birth date, social security number, and maiden, first and middle names of married women.

The applications will not be sent to all voters as those on the rolls in the last election who exercised their vote automatically stay on the rolls due to recent rulings by the federal government and state government guidelines. Voters cannot be forced to send them back in but are encouraged by the local tax office.

To be issued a 1976 validation sticker, to be placed in the left hand corner of the plates, an applicant must present the three-part renewal notice sent out by the state or a combination of 1975 registration receipt and the vehicle title.

Mrs. Miller also notes that those qualified for the 65-years-old or older homestead tax exemption need to apply for it. The County Commissioner's Court approved it at a recent meeting for an exemption of up to $3,000.

To be sure, few Texans, if anyone, have ever heard of the Manchester Blue Devils and the Fayette County Tigers, but these two Georgia schools happened to be involved in what has now become THE most fantastic game in the annals of high school basketball.

WOW! WHATTA GAME

After all, how many games have you heard of that lasted TEN overtimes? That's right, Manchester and Fayette County traveled through 10 overtimes—or, 30 extra minutes—before settling their astonishing, two-hour, 20-minute argument in the semi-finals of the sub-regional tournament at Fayetteville, Ga., a few years ago. It was truly amazing in every sense of the word. The score ended: Manchester 105, Fayette County 103. But, those first 32 minutes were immaterial. It's what happened during those throbbing, 20 EXTRA minutes that really counted...after the teams had battled to a 66-66 regulation-time standoff.

PLOTTIN' STRATEGY

What Dalrymple had in mind was for Ward to throw the ball... a la football-style...the length of the floor and, hopefully, Mr. Everything...Williams...would be at the other end. The Fayette County coach couldn't have diagramed it more beautifully. Ward threw the ball the full length of the court and, as it headed straight for the Devils' backboard, Williams, stationed right under the basket, leaped high and tapped the ball in. That tied the count for the umpteenth time (89-89) and insured another "ot."

STAR WAS HURTIN', BUT...

For over a week, Williams had been "hurting" ever since an opponent clipped his feet out from under him and he fell on his hip. He went to a doctor...then a chiropractor. He was all taped up, managing to score "only" 16 points in one game and 21 the next...prior to the sub-regionals. Williams, incidentally, ended up signing with Dalton (Ga.) Junior College after, reportedly, being sought by 45 schools, including the likes of Kansas State, Bradley, Jacksonville and Florida State.

Dogs Win Two

Stanton's ninth graders scored the first eight points and rolled past outmanned Plainview Coronado, 58-27, Thursday night behind the 20-point performance of Jackie Mercer. The victory was the 14th in 17 games for the Dogies, who are a perfect 8-0 in district play. Stanton's eighth graders held off a last-minute Coronado charge to defeat the visitors, 40-37, as Ernie Suarez scored 12 points, while Belan Ramirez

Tech to Host Hogs

LUBBOCK- Arkansas and Texas Tech, a pair of defensive-minded teams who played a wild, double-overtime affair in "The Hills" only four days ago, clash here again Tuesday night. Tip-off at Municipal Coliseum is 7:30.

It's another extremely important Southwest Conference game for Tech, who is still hot on the heels of pace-setting Texas A&M, who regained the lead last week. The Aggies are 7-1 in league play, but only a half-game ahead of the Raiders, who stand 7-2. Both clubs are an impressive 14-4 overall.

Arkansas is 5-5 in SWC play and out of the regular-season title picture, although the talented Razorbacks own home-court double-overtime, victories over both A&M and Tech.

The Porkers captured the first meeting, 92-86, as 6-4 sophomores Ron Brewer (24) and Marvin Delph (20) combined for almost half of their team's points. Delph leads the club with a 16.3 average, while Brewer comes in at 11.9.

Averaging 79.8 ppg., Arkansas also has a third high-scoring threat in 6-8 center Darryl Saulsberry, who is averaging 13.7 ppg. and connecting on 56 percent of his shots from the field.

Senior Charles Terry, who missed several games with a foot injury is back in action and will start at one corner; he's averaging over eight ppg.

Sidney Moncrief is averaging 60 percent from the field and leads the SWC in that department; he's scoring 10 points to boot...and is among the many outstanding freshmen in the conference.

Arkansas has two better-than-average replacements in 6-1 Robert Birden and 6-8 Jack Schulte. Both started a year ago, but gave way to the two newcomers—Brewer, a transfer from Westark (Ark.) Junior College, and Moncrief.

Birden hopped off the bench to score 14 against Arkansas in that first game, while Schulte came in to bucket 20 in the equally-thrilling 93-91 double-overtime victory over the Aggies.

Tech, its defense tarnished a bit at Fayetteville, will counter with its regular line-up of Rick Bullock, Grady Newton, Rudy Liggins, Keith Kitchens and Steve Dunn. Dunn is back in the line-up after suffering a nose injury at Waco a few games ago.

Bullock is averaging 21.6, which ranks right behind Houston's Otis Birdsong's 22.3 figure; he tallied 28 at Fayetteville. Bullock's also fourth in rebounding, averaging 9.5 per contest.

Newton is averaging 11 ppg., while Liggins, who enjoyed a season's high of 20 in the teams' first meeting, is a 7.7 scorer. The guards, Kitchens and Dunn, are contributing 7.0 and 4.3, respectively.

"Sixth-man" Mike Russell is averaging 7.8 points and 5.9 rebounds, while freshman Geoff Huston, who started two games in Dunn's absence, is scoring at a 6.3 clip.

The bench has done an excellent job for Coach Gerald Myers' crew as they try to stay in the thick of things in the conference scramble.

SMU (7-3 & 12-8) is currently in third place and only one game out of the top spot, although they're two down on the loss side. Everyone else has dropped at least four ball games and are pretty much out of the championship running.

WTSU Await North Texas

CANYON- West Texas State, who recently lost undisputed possession of the Missouri Valley Conference lead, takes a break from loop warfare until this weekend when New Mexico State invades Amarillo's Civic Center Coliseum premises for a Saturday night engagement.

However, the Buffaloes, returning home from a damaging road trip to Wichita and Des Moines (Drake), first have a non-conference encounter Thursday night against strong, high-scoring North Texas State, who has lost only two of 18 ball games and are averaging a blistering 94.8 ppg., which ranks No. 3, nationally.

WTSU is currently 14-3 on the season, but will be playing on a court where they have won nine of 10, losing only to Louisville. The Buffs are currently ranked No. 18 on the coaches' poll and tied for No. 19 on the news media's ratings, although might find themselves out of both rankings this week as the result of losing at Wichita Thursday night.

North Texas has reeled off five straight victories since running into a mid-season snag against Bradley at Peoria (108-97). The only other loss for the Eagles was a 105-87 waxing by Utah State in the All-College Tournament at Oklahoma City.

All five starters are averaging in double figures for Coach Bill Blakeley's club, who are off to the best start in the school's history.

The Eagles, of course, are playing in their first season as an Independent after jumping the Valley. Blakeley is also in his first season.

New Mexico State, beaten by the Buffs, 61-59, in overtime at Las Cruces, comes into Amarillo on the bottom of the MVC pack with a 1-5 record. The Aggies of first-year Coach Ken Hayes are a disappointing 8-9 overall.

WTSU, meantime, leads the MVC in defense (61.0), but have lost their top spot in field goal accuracy and scoring margin, which they enjoyed last week; and, the Buffs are dead last in offense (69.6) and free throw percentage (.626). It was poor foul shooting which contributed heavily to their loss at Wichita.

Individually, 6-10 center Dallas Smith ranks No. 6 in Valley rebounding (7.1) and 10th in scoring (13.3), while guard Maurice Checks is hitting .596 from the field, which ranks second in that department. Reggie Ramey (.538), the Buffs' "sixth man", is No. 6.

The Buffs will go with their regular starting line-up of Smith at center, Brad Schreck (11.6) and Eugene Smith (10.0) at forward, with Checks (10.2) and Melvin Jones (10.1) on the backline. Ramey is averaging 8.3.

INSIDE & STRAIGHT: Football superstar and budding film actor JOE NAMATH, reputed for years to be very much a ladies' man, has reportedly gotten to the point where he hates women. Whereas the sensational quarterback of the New York Jets once reveled in the company of beautiful women, sources say he now prefers to forget the agonies of a losing season by carousing with his male cronies. "Joe could be out with a different beautiful girl every night if he wanted to," a source close to the football star told me. "But he just doesn't want to do it. He feels more comfortable with old drinking buddies. When he is out with a gal - especially if he has just met her - Joe feels like he has to put up a front. He can't just be himself. Joe is just a normal kind of guy who gets 'down' sometimes and he doesn't like to pretend that he is on top of the world if he doesn't really feel that way." ... KELLY ANN MARTIN, the jailed daughter of BILLY MARTIN, manager of the New York Yankees baseball team, cried at her 23rd birthday party, where fellow inmates toasted her with soft drinks in paper cups. My contact got the information about the birthday party from a Colombian who went to visit his wife in prison. The nuns who run the Barranquilla women's jail refuse to give out any information about the inmates, citing orders from the Mother Superior who fears publicity may "harm the girls morally." Miss Martin is being tried on charges of trying to smuggle a pound of cocaine to Miami on November 16. She was arrested at Barranquilla International Airport when police found two plastic bags containing cocaine strapped to her legs.

Wrangler Stay Idle

Amarillo's Wranglers, now six points behind Albuquerque in the Southwest Hockey League, will be idle until Friday when those same league-leading Chaparrals come in for an 8 p.m. contest.

Albuquerque is 27-16 on the season and has 54 points; Amarillo, who dropped four of six on a recent road trip, is now 24-15 for 48.

The Chaps will also be in town for a game one week from tonight before the Wranglers hit the road again for five games in as many nights (Feb. 13-18) against Minot (3) and Billings.

The Wranglers have been plagued with injuries in recent games and currently sidelined are Barry Stafford, Glen McIvor and Kirk Fyffe.

Roundup May Improve Control

"Roundup, a new herbicide, has possibilities for controlling many hard to kill perennial weeds previously only controlled by hormone type herbicides that are toxic to cotton". That was the theme of a talk given by Dr. A.F. Wiese, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station researcher, at the Southern Weed Science Society meeting in Dallas recently.

The scientist reporting three years research conducted near the USDA Research Center at Bushland, stated that experiments have been conducted on field bindweed, Texas blueweed and Johnsongrass.

A total of seven experiments were conducted on bindweed on the Roger Morris farm near Vega, Texas. All were evaluated three to six months after application and two re-evaluated again 12 months after treatment. Initial control with Roundup, Banvel, and 2, 4-D was very good and about equal. One year after application, control with Roundup was better than that obtained with an ester formulation of 2, 4-D or Banvel. Maximum control was obtained with three pounds per acre of Roundup. In the most successful test, 1.5, 3 and 4.5 pounds per acre of Roundup gave 62, 90, and 92 per cent bindweed control after one year.

In the same study an ester formulation of 2, 4-D gave 25 and 70 per cent control at 0.5 and 1 pound per acre. In the second study, maximum control was 45, 43, and 30 per cent with Roundup, 2, 4-D and Banvel. The Texas A&M University scientist stated that farmers now have an effective post-emergence herbicide to control bindweed that can be safely used near cotton.

Five experiments were applied to Texas Blueweed in the bud stage. All were observed within 6 months and two were re-evaluated one year after application. Roundup, an ester formulation of 2, 4-D and Banvel gave good top kill in 3 months. One year after application optimum rates of application for Roundup, 2, 4-D and Banvel were 4, 2, and 1 pound per acre, respectively. At these rates all herbicides eliminated 88 per cent or more the blueweed.

In another study, herbicides were applied to blueweed at bud, seed set and 6 weeks after seed set. The best blueweed kill with the three herbicides was obtained at bud stage. Control one year after treatment with optimum rates of application exceeded 88 per cent. "Any farmer would be happy with this kind of control", Wiese continued. When applied at the most mature stage, 2, 4-D and Banvel had little effect on blueweed, but Roundup killed 50 per cent of the plants.

In other experiments, Roundup and MSMA were applied to small Johnsongrass one week prior to planting sorghum in irrigated and dryland fields. "Unfortunately we were not successful on the irrigated field at the Texas Tech University Center at Amarillo," Wiese noted. "We killed the Johnsongrass with both herbicides prior to planting on May 1; but heavy regrowth came back in the crop by June 20". In dryland experiments, conducted in 1972 and 1973, on the Duane Scott Farm near Wellington, Texas, sorghum planting was delayed until the middle of June and the crops were cultivated twice.

Johnsongrass was 18 inches tall before treatment, and top kill was 100 per cent at planting. In 1972, control with 6 pounds per acre of MSMA was 57 per cent at harvest. Control with Roundup was slightly less. In 1973, average control was much better and Roundup at 3 pounds per acre eliminated Johnsongrass for the season. The best control with MSMA was 83 per cent.

"Our research shows that Roundup will be a needed addition to the arsenal of herbicides for controlling perennial weeds", Wiese concluded. "It will be especially useful to cotton farmers who have not been able to use hormone type herbicides".

Delaware Physician Promotes Full Independence of Farmer

Farmers in the early 1800's were urged by a Wilmington, Del. physician to follow the success of the Revolution with yet another type of independence — living entirely off the produce of his own farm.

Dr. James Tilton, who retired to his own 60-acre farm, urged:

"Avoid the luxuries of the day and live upon the produce of your farms."

He explained his lifestyle theory in this way:

"During the Revolution, independence of government or self-government, as it was emphatically styled, was the rage.

"At this time, an equal zeal appears for independence in our clothing.

"And yet strange to tell, few of us think of eating and drinking independently."

Specifically, Dr. Tilton urged farmers to give up the drinking of tea — a commodity that was at the heart of the revolution.

"Your farms furnish much better foods and at a cheaper rate," he explained.

"I appeal to the good sense of my countrymen to abandon the vicious and injurious habits imposed upon us by mercantile intrigue."

Dr. Tilton went so far as to forbid tea cups or saucers in his home. In addition to eliminating tea from his diet, he explained, the practice saved the need for a person to do the washing and piddling which these frivolous trinkets require.

Solitary man with sickle symbolizes independence of early farmer.

The elderly physician pointed to his own state of health as an example.

Previously he drank wine in the afternoon and said he was attacked by the gout and had regular fits for some years. Then, he became a farmer and consumed only home-grown food and drink.

"Although I am now on the wrong side of 60 years of age, my feet have recovered their tone and hardiness. I can walk and ride and do manual labor as well as ever. I trim my orchards and shock wheat and make hay with anybody. Besides, I am chief gardener in two acres."

He further explained he still indulged in a cheering glass of spirit once or twice a day, preferring good rye whiskey or high-proof apple brandy.

"For I scorn to go abroad for anything I can get better at home."

There's no real historical proof that Dr. Tilton's advice was widely followed in such a strict disciplinarian manner as he prescribed.

Competition, Cooperation Highlight Stock Show

Two members of the Young Farmers sort out a barrow and drive it toward a holding pen during Thursday afternoon's market swine judging.

Young Farmers, acting as superintendents in the show ring, help assure that classes of animals are moved efficiently to the show ring and barn.

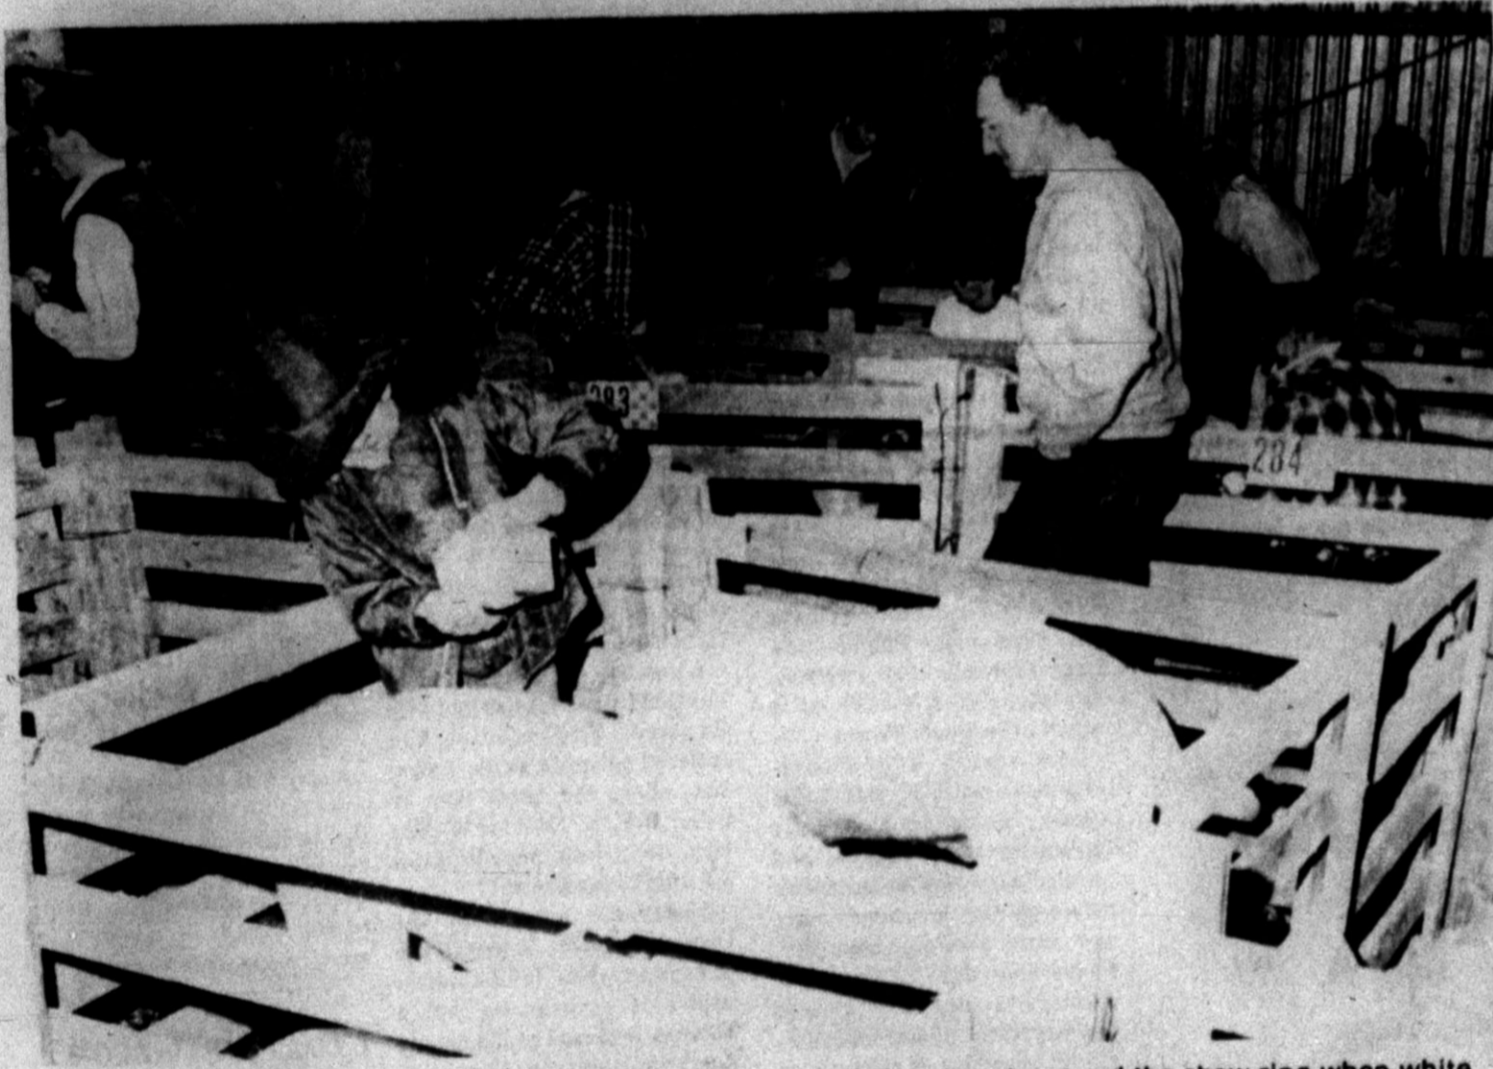

Youngsters give a lamb a washdown as they prepare to show the animal at the 11th annual Hereford Young Farmers Junior Livestock Show held here this weekend. The wash rack was a popular and crowded place late Thursday morning as lamb and calf owners made final preparations for their upcoming appearances in the show ring.

A dash of talc will pretty you up—Local youngster applies talcum powder to Chester White barrow prior to taking the animal into the show ring Thursday afternoon. The talc, used to "dress up" market swine for the show ring, has a way of hanging in the air around the show ring when white breeds of swine are shown, and many times young exhibitors get as much of the white stuff on themselves as they do on their animals.

Members of the Hereford Young Farmers weigh in a steer Thursday morning, making sure that the animal meets weight standards before it is allowed to compete in their 11th annual junior livestock show. Lines of steers were formed at the east end of the Little Bull Barn Friday morning as numerous livestock owners waited to take their calves through the scales.

Clayton Jobe of Hereford gets an enthusiastic response from Mrs. Reece Lawson and Mrs. Jess Robinson as he signs up as a donor to the Deaf Smith County Booster Club prior to the livestock auction held Saturday. Donations to the Booster Club from local individuals and businesses helped provide funds to buy animals belonging to a number of local 4-H and FFA members.

It's tough to pick a winner sometimes, and swine judge Bob Robinson took a long time to study individual animals in each class Thursday afternoon, looking for the animals that best represent the type of swine producers are currently striving for. With massive swine classes in the stock show this year, Robinson spent a long time in the judging arena, beginning his work at 2 p.m. and concluding around 8 p.m.

DAR Announces Essay Winners

In observance of American History Month during February, 5th-8th grade students have been cited in an essay contest sponsored by Daughters of the American Revolution (DAR). Mrs. Arthur B. Clark is chairman of the annual competition, conducted locally by members of Los Ciboleros DAR Chapter. "Declaration of Independence" was the subject analyzed by 199 students from Hereford, Dimmitt and Springlake-Earth School systems.

Local first place winners who received bronze medals are Carla Baxter, 5th grader at Northwest Elementary; Delynn Dickerson, 6th grader at Aikman Elementary; Kenneth Waters, 7th grader at Stanton Junior High; Gina Inman, 8th grader at Stanton Junior High.

Hereford students receiving second place certificates of award were Cynthia Streun, 6th grader at Aikman Elementary; Dale Rahlfs, 5th grader at West Central Elementary; Carmen Aguirre, 8th grader at Stanton Junior High.

Bronze medals were also presented to Laura Downing of Dimmitt and Kara Sue Jones of Springlake-Earth. Certificates were awarded to Cindy Nixon of Dimmitt and Tonda Warren and Gaylon Conner, both of Springlake-Earth.

Themes written by Hereford Bronze medal recipients are printed in this issue of The Brand.

On July nineteenth a copy was ordered and engraved on parchment. This document was submitted to Congress on August second. It was signed on that date, by members that were present and later signed by those who were absent.

The original copy of the Declaration of Independence is displayed in an upright case in the National Archives Building in Washington, D.C. above the United States Constitution and Bill of Rights. These priceless documents are sealed under glass.

The philosophy of rights and government expressed in the Declaration of Independence, had a profound influence on later history, not only in the United States but in foreign nations as well.

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following essays were written by local students who entered the American History Month competition sponsored by the DAR. The four themes below were awarded bronze medals for placing first in the contest.

THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE

By Carla Baxter
Northwest Elementary School

The Declaration of Independence was started by men that wanted to be free, and they didn't think that men across the sea should make any laws or rules for them. For this reason they decided to write a document stating why they wanted to be free.

A few people still wanted to belong to Britain because King George the III had denounced all rebels in American as traitors and the punishment for the treason was hanging.

The author of the Declaration of Independence was Thomas Jefferson. John Hancock was the President of the Congress, and the first of the fifty men to sign it.

All the men that were involved called themselves Congress, "because 'Congress' means coming together."

Patrick Henry did not sign the Declaration of Independence but he spoke out eloquently for the cause of the American Revolution. He made his famous speech against English tyranny Revolution. He made his famous speech against English contained his most remembered words, "Give me liberty or give me death."

This great document has withstood the two hundred years of scrutiny and reliance by the people of this country. It once had to sleep in a barn because our country was at war.

The words in the Declaration of Independence is all about people who wanted to choose their own form of government; and if it becomes a government not of the people, then it can be rectified.

The part I like best is where it says that all men have a right to "Life, Liberty, and the pursuit of happiness."

The Declaration of Independence ends "And for the support of this Declaration, with a firm reliance on the Protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our Lives, our Fortunes, and our Sacred Honor."

Because of the Declaration of Independence we have the right to live in our own country and be free to do things we believe in and to pursue happiness.

THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE

By Delynn Dickerson
Aikman Elementary School

Nearly two hundred years ago on July fourth, in the year seventeen-seventy-six, Congress voted unanimously to adopt one of history's greatest documents, "The Declaration of Independence."

No one was really surprised at the news. War against England had already begun. Battles had been fought at Lexington, Concord, and Breed Hills. Colonial troops had seized Ticonderoga and Crown Point.

On June seventh, Richard Henry Lee moved in the Continental Congress, the united colonies of right ought to be free and independent states. Three days later Congress appointed a special committee to draft a declaration supporting Lee's resolution. The committee was made up of John Adams, Thomas Jefferson, Benjamin Franklin, Roger Sherman and Robert Livingston.

Thomas Jefferson was chosen to prepare the draft. Jefferson put little that was new into the famous document. It had already been much discussed in America.

There were three basic ideas that were involved in the declaration and they are:

- (1) God created all men equal and had given them the rights of Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness.
- (2) The main business of government was to protect these rights.
- (3) If a government tried to withhold these rights the people were free to revolt and to set up a new government.

Jefferson presented a rough draft to Adams and Franklin, who made a few changes. Then the corrected papers were brought to the floor of Congress on June twenty-eight.

On July second Congress approved the resolution. Then two days later on July fourth, seventeen seventy-six, Congress adopted the final draft of the Declaration in Independence Hall in Philadelphia. This draft was mostly Jefferson's work. John Hancock signed the order on behalf of Congress.

The signing of the Declaration did not take place on that day.

Philadelphia, proposed a resolution, that, "These United Colonies are, and of right ought to be, free and independent..."

Following the address there was debate, and on June 10, a committee of five, Thomas Jefferson, John Adams, Benjamin Franklin, Roger Sherman, and Robert K. Livingston were appointed to write the formal declaration. Jefferson was appointed to write the formal draft, although he didn't want to.

"I did not consider it any part of my charge to invent new ideas," Jefferson later said, "but to place before mankind, the common sense of the subject in terms so plain and firm as to command their assent... It was intended to be an expression of the American mind."

The Declaration of Independence was formally signed by the fifty-six members of Congress. They did not formally begin until August 2, 1776, on this occasion Jefferson was supposed to have remarked, "We must all hang together or most assuredly we will all hang separately."

Jefferson wrote the Declaration in less than two weeks. Changes of wording in the Declaration were made by Franklin, Adams, and Jefferson himself. One observer said, "The manuscript was scored and scratched like a schoolboy's exercise." On July 2, The Congress, without any disagreements, adopted the first clause of the Declaration.

The Declaration of Independence showed independence from Great Britain and King George III. Americans wanted to be free from the cruel ways of Britain or at least, most of them did.

People (colonists) who stayed loyal to the king during the Revolution, were called "loyalists". Colonists who favored independence were called "Patriots".

Great Britain had a lot of things on its side, but not the pride and loyalty of the patriots. The patriots came out victorious, and we have our independence now because of these patriots who fought for freedom and those who wrote and signed the declaration and all those who believed in the cause.

They signed for us! Be proud! Do you know the names of those who signed the declaration? Does the Declaration mean anything special to you? It should, because if it were not for the Declaration of Independence, what would this country be today?

We would not be the great country that we are today, if it were not for the men who signed the Declaration. It was almost two hundred years ago that this Declaration was written, adopted and signed; Let's keep it for many, many more years.

THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE

By Kenneth Waters
Stanton Junior High School

Of the many great days of the history of our country, none is more universally celebrated, none is more filled with meaning to true patriots, than July 4, 1776, the birthday of the United States of America.

The events which led up to the adoption of the Declaration of Independence tell the story of the birth of a new nation which was "conceived in liberty and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal."

The story of the Declaration of Independence begins far back in our colonial history-long before there was any trouble between the mother country and the colonies, long before the British parliament began its attempts to tax the colonies. The true seeds of American independence were planted on American soil by the first permanent English settlers, especially the Pilgrims, who came to the New World in search of religious liberty.

The search for liberty-religious, civil, or personal-brought thousands of our early settlers to these shores, and peopled the young America with a race of men to whom liberty was more precious than life. From that day to this, our country has clung to the ideal of liberty planted by her founders. It was because this liberty was threatened, and attempts at conciliation with the mother country had failed, that the colonial leaders took action.

The First Continental Congress, consisting of delegates from all of the colonies except Georgia, had convened at Philadelphia in September, 1774, to protest British colonial policies. It resolved to meet again in May, 1775, if American grievances had not been relieved. In April, 1775, hostilities broke out between England and the American colonies at Lexington and Concord.

When the Second Continental Congress met in May, the delegates attempted to restore harmony with England. At the same time, they provided for the defense of the colonies. Sentiment for a break with England increased as England and American colonies continued to disagree about how the colonies should be governed. On July 4, 1776, the Second Continental Congress issued a Declaration of Independence, in which they renounced their allegiance to the British Crown, and proclaimed to the world the separate existence of the United States of America as a sovereign Power.

The Declaration of Independence was one of the most momentous documents in the history of the world. It not only broke into fragments the British Commonwealth as it had hitherto existed; it not only launched upon history a very great new State of unlimited potentialities; it began a new era of democratic revolution. The new State began its history with a declaration that all men are born equal, and have an inalienable right to liberty.

This was, indeed, only a general statement, with no practical effects. It did not make any difference to the rights or to the laws of the American people, which remained in all essentials the rights and the laws which they had derived from Britain; nor did those among the signers of this document who were slave-owners, as many of them were, even think of applying their principles as many of them were, even think of applying their principles by giving to their slaves the inalienable right of liberty. But it was a new thing in human history that a great State should thus choose as the motto of the first chapter in its history a proclamation of universal human rights as the ideal to be aimed at.

This preamble was followed by eighteen articles of charge against Britain and her King, to justify the renunciation of allegiance. Not one of them would today be accepted, without large qualifications, as a statement of historical fact. But even so, it was a new and great thing in the world's history that a group of communities should claim, as a matter of right, the power of sever ancient ties and cast off their allegiance solely on the grounds of alleged breaches of right and justice. We may feel that in the heat of a great crisis the accusation was unfairly laid, and yet also feel that was a fine thing that it should have been laid at all.

Thomas Jefferson's Declaration did two important things. First, it expressed a bold new idea of the rights of the people. Before this time men had believed that whatever rights they had were granted to them by the government under which they lived. But Jefferson believed that all men are born with certain rights which cannot be taken from them by any government. He expressed this belief in these ringing words:

"We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, among these are Life, Liberty, and the Pursuit of Happiness."

Jefferson went on to say that the purpose of government is "to secure these rights," and governments must have "the consent of the governed," it is the right of the People to alter or to abolish it. Then the people should set up a new government, in such a form as to bring about "their Safety and Happiness."

Secondly, the Declaration of Independence broke all ties with England. The colonies had suffered patiently, wrote Jefferson, under the harsh laws of Great Britain. Now "it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such Government."

Historians' interest in the Declaration today is less in the grievances than in the philosophy of government which Thomas Jefferson so eloquently described in the first two paragraphs. To be sure, the theory of government and the historical causes of the Revolution are closely related. But the grievances really do not make sense until one has properly understood the political principles these men appealed to - principles which were characteristic of the eighteenth century.

Such an understanding gives the Declaration more precise meaning and explains not just the action the members of Congress took, but something, too, of the world of ideas in which they lived.

Philadelphia, proposed a resolution, that, "These United Colonies are, and of right ought to be, free and independent..."

Following the address there was debate, and on June 10, a committee of five, Thomas Jefferson, John Adams, Benjamin Franklin, Roger Sherman, and Robert K. Livingston were appointed to write the formal declaration. Jefferson was appointed to write the formal draft, although he didn't want to.

"I did not consider it any part of my charge to invent new ideas," Jefferson later said, "but to place before mankind, the common sense of the subject in terms so plain and firm as to command their assent... It was intended to be an expression of the American mind."

The Declaration of Independence was formally signed by the fifty-six members of Congress. They did not formally begin until August 2, 1776, on this occasion Jefferson was supposed to have remarked, "We must all hang together or most assuredly we will all hang separately."

Jefferson wrote the Declaration in less than two weeks. Changes of wording in the Declaration were made by Franklin, Adams, and Jefferson himself. Program Given Wednesday For 3-F Members

Devotional reading and gospel music were combined in a program format during a meeting of Fun-Food-Fellowship Club Wednesday in Ward Parlor of First United Methodist Church.

Mrs. Jordan Grooms delivered the invocation and Mrs. T.W. Alderson gave the closing prayer.

Members with birthdays during the month of January were recognized during the meeting, which attracted 24 women. Games were played after the program and lunch.

BIRTH ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. Dickie Renfro of Clovis, N.M., former Hereford residents, are the parents of a son, Jason Scott, born Jan. 15 at Portales, N.M. He weighed 7 lbs. 11 oz.

Mrs. Renfro is the former Dell Sealy and is the daughter of Mrs. Elzie Sealy of Hereford. Renfro is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C.C. Renfro, also of Hereford.

Pass the Gaff Father—"Daughter, isn't that young man rather fast?"

Daughter—"Yes, but I don't think he'll get away."

Well Told

"So Fred has given up smoking?"

"Yes. On the advice of his doctor, at the request of his wife, and by command of his mother-in-law."

Nuptial Mass Unites Miss Koch, Paschel

Miss Ariene Kay Koch of Umberger and Richard James Paschel of Hereford were united in marriage during a nuptial mass Friday afternoon in St. Mary's Catholic Church, Umberger. Conducting the double-ring ceremony was Monsignor Matthew Schaffe, pastor.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Alice Koch of Umberger and Max H. Koch of Monroe, Neb. Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Paschel, who reside near Vega, are parents of the bridegroom.

White puritan chrysanthemum plants trimmed by white and emerald green ribbon flanked the center baskets of white gladiolas and white chrysanthemums for the service.

Miss Sherie Detten of Canhon attended the bride as maid of honor while Arnie Artho of Umberger, the bride's cousin, was best man.

Additional bridesmaids included the bridegroom's sisters, Miss Janet Paschel and Miss Rita Paschel, both of Vega.

Serving as groomsmen were the couple's brothers, including Ralph Paschel of Vega and Floyd Koch of Umberger.

Guests were escorted into the sanctuary by Howard Koch of Dumas, the bride's brother, and Lawrence Brorman, the bridegroom's brother, and Steve, Jimmy and Fred Friemel.

Robert Friemel was lector and assisting as lay minister was R.E. Friemel. Both men are of Umberger.

Mrs. Larry Wagner was soloist during the wedding and sang "Wedding Song," "Twelfth of Never" and "One Hand-One Heart." Musical accompaniment was provided by Mrs. Don Dolle of Canyon.

Clad in a formal gown of candlelight silk organza over bridal taffeta, the bride was escorted to the altar by her brother-in-law, Gerald Doran of Amarillo. Her trousseau was designed with a fitted empire bodice, Victorian neckline and yoke and brief bouffant sleeves. Alencon lace appliques embellished the yoke, neckline and sleeves.

Lace motifs cascaded down the front of the A-line skirt which swept to back fullness, ending in a sheer chapel train, miniature buttons and loops dotted the back of the dress, which was worn by her older sister as a bride.

Completing her ensemble was a waistlength tiered veil of candlelight illusion, clasped by a Juliet coil of Alencon lace embroidered with seed pearls. She carried a bride's cascade of silk blossoms, including white gardenias, white roses and stephanotis, all tied with candlelight and green streamers.

Accenting the bouquet were green starflowers and pearls. She held the prayer book originally carried by her mother as a bride. The ceremony was conducted in the same church where her mother and older sister were each wed.

Floor-length gowns of meadow green lined fabric were worn by bridesmaids, who carried single stems of Indianapolis white chrysanthemums with a cluster of green starflowers and green and white streamers. Each dress was fashioned with empire waistline, bishop sleeves, stand-up collar, lace bib and flounce. They wore floral headpieces of feathered white chrysanthemums and baby-breath.

The three-tiered wedding cake was served to guests during a reception in the church parish hall. Floral arrangements from the sanctuary were placed on the serving table with the bride's great-grandmother's candelsticks and lighted tapers. Offering refreshments were Miss Margaret Paschel and Mrs. Benny Stallings, both the bridegroom's sisters, and misses Juanita Hartman, Shirley Lindeman and Angeline Haskie, all of Umberger.

Numerous out-of-town and local guests were invited to sign the wedding registry by Mrs. Gerald Doran of Amarillo, the bride's sister.

The new Mrs. Paschel wore forest green slacks and matching sweater set for the wedding trip to Arkansas to visit the bridegroom's grandparents, who were unable to attend the ceremony. The couple will be at home east of Hereford where he will be engaged in farming with his father.

A 1975 graduate of Canyon High School, the recent bride was employed at Palo Duro Hospital in Canyon. Her husband, who graduated from Vega High School in 1973, is a member of Knights of Columbus.

Rebekahs Conduct Installation Here

Officers of Hereford Rebekah Lodge 228 were installed by a visiting team from Dimmitt Lodge 54 Tuesday night in 100F Hall.

Mrs. Carl Bolton, district deputy president, directed the ceremony, which inducted these members: Mrs. Merl Bridges, noble grand; Beatrice Cox, vice grand; Mrs. R.E. Curtsinger, recording secretary; Mrs. Jim Loving, financial secretary;

CONFUSION MUST be contagious and I can't blame the Community Concert Association members for being slightly befuddled about today's performance at Canyon. Jorge Morel, classical guitarist, will be presented in concert at 3 p.m. this afternoon in the auditorium of Canyon Junior High School, 600 8th St.

It seems that wires have gotten crossed in promotion of the last two concerts and certainly CCA members will want to take advantage of their season tickets by being at concerts at the right time.

Am looking forward to Paul LaValle's patriotic music show here on Valentine's Day. He will be backed by the flamboyant Band of America. The concert will start at 8 p.m. Feb. 14 in the high school auditorium.

Membership dues for Friends of the Library are now due and each member is urged to pay this fee at the library. Membership costs $1 per person, $5 for an organization and $10 for each business. Anyone is welcome to join.

The Friends organization assists the library in several capacities and recently purchased a Bicentennial flag for the library. Members will also stage a used book sale this spring to raise funds to furnish the library kitchen. Anyone who has books to donate for the sale is urged to contact Mrs. Earl Holt, project chairman.

TO BE THE SHORTEST month of the year, February has more holidays and national observances than any other month. The next 29 days will be garnished with hearts and flowers, presidential birthdays, Leap Year Day, the Chinese new year and even a day set aside for the lowly ground hog tomorrow.

February is designated as Heart Month, National Cherry Month, Boy Scout Month, American History Month, American Music Month and Advertising Recognition Month.

This month will feature National Children's Dental Health Week Feb. 1-7, National Crime Prevention Week Feb. 7-14, National Kraut and Frankfurter Week Feb. 12-21, National Brotherhood Week Feb. 15-22, FFA Week Feb. 21-28 and International Friendship Week Feb. 22-28.

Several historical firsts are commemorated this month: Washington was elected as the first president on Feb. 1, 1789 and the first Supreme Court session convened Feb. 1, 1790; the first U.S. Ballet was performed Feb. 7, 1827; the U.S. Weather Service was organized Feb. 9, 1870; the first public school was established at Boston Feb. 13, 1635.

Other February milestones have included the patent of the Bell & Gray telephone in 1876 on Feb. 14; founding of the American Legion Feb. 16, 1919; the birth of Thomas A. Edison Feb. 11, 1847 and the patent of his phonograph on Feb. 19, 1878; John Glenn became the first American to orbit the earth on Feb. 20, 1962.

Also of significance is that the new Madison Square Gardens were opened Feb. 11, 1968; the First Federal Post Office was established Feb. 20, 1792; F.W. Woolworth opened the first American 5 cent and 10 cent store at Utica, N.Y. on Feb. 22, 1879; the Rotary Club was organized Feb. 23, 1905.

In addition, the Aluminum Industry observes its 95th anniversary on Feb. 23. Congress instituted federal income taxes under the 16th amendment on Feb. 25, 1913 and, saving the best for last, Feb. 29 is Leap Year Day. So, you bachelorettes will be breaking no rules of etiquette by proposing marriage on that day. After all, the chance comes only once every four years.

ROCK TRACKS

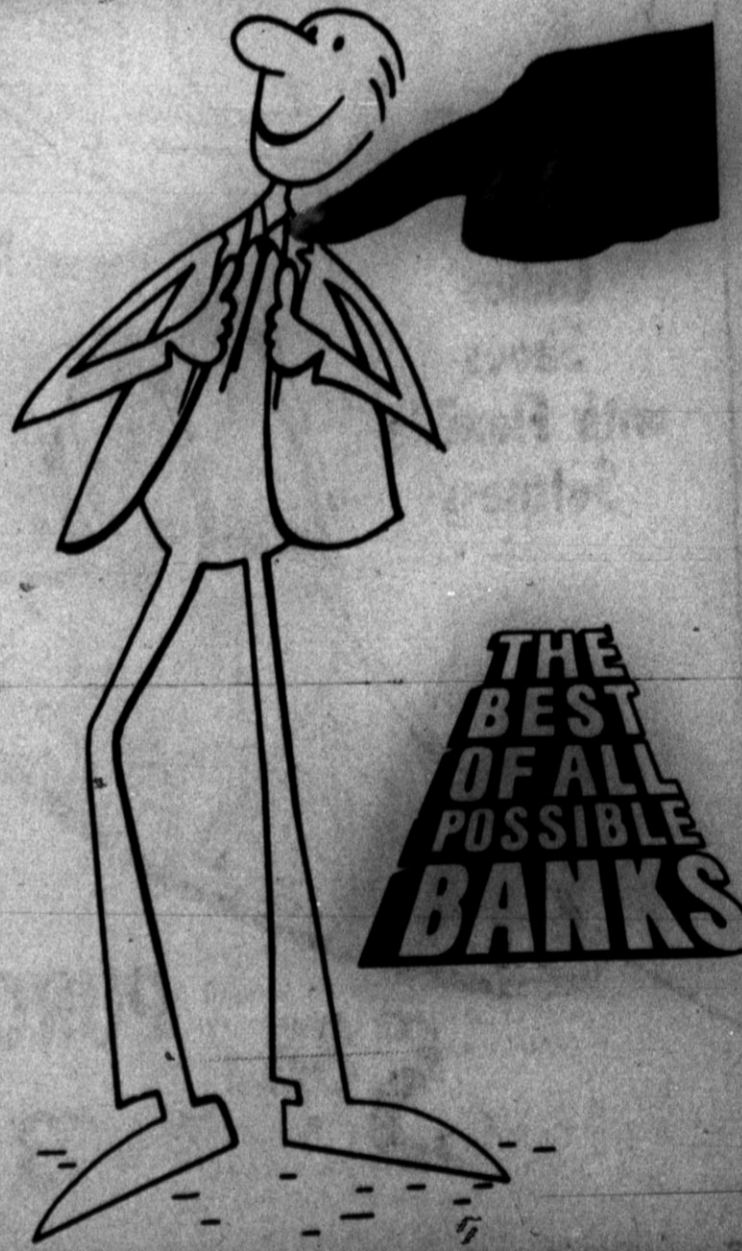

MELANIE's new LP, "Sunset and Other Beginnings," is the finest she's ever done. Never thought we'd be saying this about one of the foremost exponents of cutsie-pie rock, but her stylized soulfulness on "Almost Like Being in Love" ranks right up there alongside the best of PATTI SMITH, BETTE MIDLER and GRACE SLICK... Speaking of new albums, KENNY RANKIN's latest, "Inside," does nothing to disappoint the aficionados who consider KENNY the "most underrated singer ever... Definitely not underrated is KRIS KRISTOFFERSON, whose new LP, "Who's to Bless and Who's to Blame," falls far short of the promise he demonstrated on earlier albums. Maybe it's the natural result of co-starring with people like BARBRA STREISAND on your way to superstardom...

Couple Returns From Spain

By KERRIE WOMBLE
Women's Editor

Frederick D. Greene and his wife, Shirley Annette, have returned to the United States after spending a year and a half in the southern regions of Spain.

The couple, are currently visiting her mother, Mrs. Lorena Curtis, 304 N. 25 Mile Ave., before moving to Houston.

Aviation Machinist Mate Greene, recently retired, served with the Human Resources Management Detachment of the U.S. Navy at Rota Cadiz, Spain, where Spanish military operations are based. The military factions in the city of 12 thousand population is the community's mainstay, in addition to farming and fishing interests.

A native of Daytona Beach, Fla., Greene was appointed counselor for military personnel in the region, which is a stepping stone to mountain ski resorts or tropical coastlines. Prior to this assignment, he held 11 command positions and was flight engineer for The Blue Angels, a precision flight team.

Mrs. Greene, who attended local public schools, was employed as a civil service worker at the post office in Spain. She graduated from Plainview High School and attended Eastern New Mexico University at Portales, N.M. and West Texas State University.

Members of Wa-Ki-Ta Camp Fire group met Monday afternoon at Camp Fire Girl Lodge to make scale drawings of rooms which reflected the personality of each girl.

They also explained their plan to group leaders, Janis Kelley, Pat Rhodes and Barbara Weatherford, to complete the Firemakers rank.

Reports were given from the Camp Fire Father-Daughter Banquet held recently. Receiving citations for candy sales were, Connie Lynn Weatherford, Debra Pool, Laurie O'Rand and Lori Warren.

Members of Young Homemakers of Texas, which sponsor the group, decorated tables at the banquet.

He had served in military capacities in that region from 1963-65 and again from 1969-72. Mrs. Greene vacationed in Spain from 1971-72. Both speak the language fluently.

Although the two Americans easily adjusted to life abroad, they cited some social differences. For instance, they noted, water lines are opened only from 7 a.m.-3 p.m. daily and there are no English-speaking television broadcasts. This latter aspect gave the couple incentive to "gad about" to exotic areas such as Morocco, Africa and other sites on the continent. Their travels, which have spanned the globe, included several of the better-known sites of Europe.

Traffic situations are somewhat different than in the States, Greene stated. "The cars are smaller and are driven as fast as they (Europeans) can get away with." He added, "However, there are strict driving laws."

Married for four years, Mr. and Mrs. Greene lived in Mississippi before their residence in Spain. Greene's naval career is mapped by a succession of military honors, including the National Defense Medal, the Navy and Armed Forces Expeditionary medal, Viet Nam Service Medals, four awards of the Presidential Unit Citation and the Viet Nam Gallantry Medal. He also received four Meritorious Unit Citations and the Viet Nam Civil Action Ribbon with palm leaf.

Mr. and Mrs. Greene are members of European Shrine Club Scottish Rite, the Masonic Lodge and Order of the Eastern Star.

By Gladys Manjeot

Some of the things which I prize the highest and hold of dearest worth are the undecidable beauties created by nature, such as a golden sunset.

Coming home evenings via way of Park Avenue, I am thrilled at the beauty of the sunsets. They are all sparked with tints of red, yellow, gold, lavender and azure blue. And as the sun touches the last lap, it seems all the colors become more intense, and the lighted sky is bidding good-night to the sun and the passers by.

Intermingled in this picture are the evergreens, the shrubs and trees. The latter is made more noticeable by the stark artistry of the nakedness of the boughs.

Yes, it is in winter that the true artistic symmetry of the beautiful trees can really be noted. When the trees have shed all their summer dress, they stand out stark and bare against the beautiful sky, and create a picture which can not be described, by an amateur. An artist would wish for a palette and brushes, while a gardener would want a closer look, and within him would be created a desire to plant and help to grow just such a picture, through planting. This can be done.

Closely akin to the beauty of the flowering shrubs, which we have studied, are the needed evergreens. These add color of rich intensity through the dormant period of other trees, shrubs and plants.

The following are suggested plantings which we have found to do well in our locale. They are:

Colorado spruce (picea oungens) silver spruce, mugo pine (pinus mugo) Pyramidal Arborvitae (Thuja pyramidalis) Spreading Japanese Yew (Taxus cuspidata), and Upright Yew (taxus suscipitata capitata). The yew gives a touch of solidity to any planting. All of these listed, except silver Spruce have beautiful colors of greens, some dark, some of lighter hue, and others, gray-green branches. Most of these can be controlled in size and shaped by trimming and tender loving care.

Pitifer Juniper is a low growing shrub. Can be purchased in either the large or dwarf. They have long irregular gray green branches and are good for foundation plantings. However they will need to be controlled, if space is an important item. I have also found Conifer Evergreen an excellent plant for our climate and soil conditions. They can be controlled in their growth pattern and bear pretty grey berries. Shape is interesting and they are good for either formal or informal plantings.

Some of the non-needed evergreens, which are good materials for our landscaping, are: Noxwood Wintergreen (Buxus koreana) True Boxwood (Buxus sempervirens) Small leaves, slow growing, a soft rounded upright plant.

Both of these varieties do well here, I am a great favorite of the True Boxwood. When I was a member of the National Boxwood Society, this variety was recommended for our area, and I have found it satisfactory.

There are many of the Euonymus, which do well here. They are not fastidious as to soil and gives good results on shallow land. Euonymus japonicus is one of the best known and has proven very satisfactory as an evergreen.

The glossy green leaves, of this and other Euonymus, are their chief attraction. They can be shaped as the gardener desires, and do not demand much attention. Minimum amounts of water, plant food and care will develop them into an attractive shrub.

Euonymus gracilis climbs if planted where it can attach itself to walls or other supports by means of rootlets that grow from the stem. These can be made most attractive by pruning, and trimming into various designs, as can Boxwood. The two-toned Euonymus is very lovely, Gold Spot is a recommended variety.

Darwin Barberry (red) bears attractive red berries, has evergreen spiny leaves, and flowers in early spring, however the fruit and foliage are the chief attributes. Another beautiful evergreen, the American Holly (Ilex) has spiny evergreen leaves. Bears heavily (red berries).

Burford Holly is a recommended plant for our area and is being grown in many gardens and used as accents for the landscape designs. Bears beautiful red berries, and foliage which is dark green and of excellent texture. The piny leaves and branches have to be watched, when maintaining the plants.

Evergreen Privet, is an old favorite in our region. Glossy leaves on dense plants are used for hedges and screening, as well as accent plantings. Full up-right shrub goes 6 to 15 feet.

however, it is easily controlled by shearing.

A shrub which is becoming very popular, especially with Spanish architecture is Yucca (Yucca filamm entosa). Has narrow, pointed leaves from a basal stem, dramatic white flowers. Withstands winter. Also the native Yucca, as found on the prairie, is very popular also, and adds interest and beauty to a landscape design.

There are many other shrubs, etc. which you probably would list as your favorite, if so, please send the names, and I will share them.

FLOWERS FOR WINTER. Now is a good time to start bringing some out of doors into the house for enjoyment.

Flowers in winter? Yes. They can become a reality, by forcing. Some of the best materials are pussywillow, redbud, flowering quince, forsythia, bridal wreath (I have never tried this one). Also the fruit trees are excellent materials for forcing winter flowers. Some of these are apple, plum, cherry, pear, peach, apricot and crab-apple.

Do not neglect the shade trees, the children (in school) will be thrilled to watch oak, birch, maple, honey locust, and birch. The growth pattern will be interesting and will teach children as well as adults facts relative to horticulture.

The best time to take material for forcing is when outdoor temperatures are moderate. Cut the branch flush with the parent stem, then shred or mash the stem and place the cut materials, after they have been washed thoroughly into a bathtub of filled, tepid water.

If the temperature is between 60 degrees and 70 degrees F., the room temperatures maintained in most homes during this energy crisis. Warmer temperatures may speed up the bud development but the blooms will be reduced in size, color and quality.

Most materials respond to forcing within three or four weeks but the closer to the actual blooming date, the shorter will be the time necessary for indoor forcing. Usually the flower buds will show within about two weeks and begin to swell, all plump and enlarged. Soon after, open flowers will greet you with, bright pretty results, of efforts put forth.

After the bathtub bath, remove, and place stems in attractive bottles, or vases. Line arrangements are very attractive when made of the budding forced materials. When they are open, they will keep better if kept in a cool room. If a succession of blooms are wanted, cut branches according and follow same process.

This is an interesting family project and children as well as adults can have fun, and learn interesting facts relative to plant life.

These also make nice gifts to carry to a shut-in or one who is ill. Sharing is part of a gardener...try this, it will please you. Also, make some pictures, lines and form make interesting studies; as well as color harmony.

Reversing a rule in effect for more than 100 years, the Supreme Court told state and local governments they may freely tax imported merchandise.

CAMPFIRE GIRLS

Members of Wa-Ki-Ta Camp Fire group met Monday afternoon at Camp Fire Girl Lodge to make scale drawings of rooms which reflected the personality of each girl.

They also explained their plan to group leaders, Janis Kelley, Pat Rhodes and Barbara Weatherford, to complete the Firemakers rank.

Reports were given from the Camp Fire Father-Daughter Banquet held recently. Receiving citations for candy sales were, Connie Lynn Weatherford, Debra Pool, Laurie O'Rand and Lori Warren.

Members of Young Homemakers of Texas, which sponsor the group, decorated tables at the banquet.

Members present included Becky Guerrero, Lori Warren, Hope Arellano, Tammy Rhodes, Connie Lynn Weatherford, Kellie Howell, Cynthia Streun, Melodi Moore and Debra Pool.

Officers were elected by members of Tonda-Wahonka Camp Fire group Thursday afternoon.

Michelle Osborn will serve as president; Allyson Thomas, vice president; Pam Nixon, secretary; Misty Gordon, reporter; Shellié Richie and Bethany Boyd, song leaders.

Other members present were Cynthia Lady, Cozette Moore, Jan Bruns, Amy Griffin and Brooke Taylor.

Before the close of the meeting, invitations and plans for the Mother-Daughter Tea were made. It was announced that the affair will be held Feb. 12 from 5-6 p.m. at the CFG Lodge.

New TOPS Club Formed

Due to the growth in membership, TOPS Club 576 divided to form two chapters during a regular business session Tuesday in Community Center.

The decision to create another chapter was prompted by the regulation in the club by-laws, which state that no TOPS organization can exceed 50 members.

Remaining officers of Club 576 are Mrs. Don Davison, leader; Mrs. A.C. Hewitt, co-leader; Mrs. Hugh Davis, treasurer; Mrs. Aubry Vagdever, secretary. Mrs. Ronald Rieves was elected reporter.

With a tentative membership total of 16, the new chapter held an election. Chosen for office were Mrs. Owen Andrews, leader; Mrs. John Warren, co-leader; Miss Della Stagner, secretary; Mrs. Paul Taggart, treasurer; Mrs. Arthur Blackburn, reporter.

The new group will convene from 9-10:30 a.m. each Thursday at Community Center. It is expected that a charter will be granted from TOPS, Inc., an international organization headquartered in Milwaukee, Wis.

The new club will act independently of the other two clubs here, TOPS 576 and the evening TOPS 919. A spokesman for the organization stated that TOPS Clubs function strictly on the basis of inspirational group therapy and "no miracles are offered. Simply, those who are seriously determined to lose weight will find friendly fellowship and help from others."

Each member relies on her personal physician for advice on diet and exercise with weekly meetings offering continued support.

Attending an area meeting of TOPS Clubs at Amarillo last week were Mmes. Davison, Joe Gonzales and Gloria Arsoala, all from TOPS 576 here. Mrs. Gonzales was awarded a gift for placing as "second best loser." The quarterly meeting draws members from Amarillo, Canyon and Hereford.

W.J. Usery, Jr., Secretary of Labor designate: "It is a great honor and I promise to do my very best."

Gerald Ford, President: "We are committed to keeping the level of federal spending within responsible, affordable limits."

Edmund S. Muskie, Senator (D-Maine): "The President's budget is designed to keep unemployment over 7 per cent or more for another year."

Did you hear the one about the traveling spouse? It's no joke—today both husbands and wives are enjoying professions that require travel away from home.

But what happens to a family unit when one or both parents travel for pleasure or for their professions? Usually one of two things: the family maintains its close unity and anticipates the next block of time together, or the unit feels threatened about being left alone and saddled with more responsibilities.

The latter family sees separation as painful. Other families fall somewhere in between loving and hating the travel required of some professionals. Most families find they can accept a spouse absence, just so it isn't too long and too often.

Families who accept—and even enjoy traveling family members—find these positive factors.

—usually means more money and a higher standard of living.
—remaining spouse feels capable of managing the house and children.
—enjoys being "boss" when spouse is out of town.

—enjoys less food preparation that places demands on free time—and fewer household chores, and —has more time to fulfill own personal interests and needs such as hobbies and sports.

But families who do not like the traveling required in their spouse's profession indicate these shortcomings when a spouse travels.

—spouse at home likes to have someone to come home to or to be with daily.

—spouse at home wants to be assured of faithfulness of partner.

—enjoy being a "couple" at social events.

—feels deprived of services rendered or shared by the spouse.

—resents total responsibility for home and children.

—some feel that the traveling spouse is missing out of family activities and fun.

—some resent the interesting places their spouses frequent, forgetting the antiseptic environment and loneliness of motel living, and —some fear that harm will come to family and they aren't strong enough to protect the family.

Whether the feelings about travel required by a job are pro or con, men and women will probably continue to travel if they have satisfying professions. Homecomings are usually warm and loving—so families with a traveling lady or traveling man do have something to look forward to.

ture the past" for Bicentennial celebrations find pewter suits their needs—it looks antique but is durable enough for everyday use.

One recent innovation is fine pewter flatware, usually in satin finish with stainless steel knife blades, fork tines and spoon bowls. Also, decorative pewter figurines, often depicting Colonial and American Revolution characters, are popular.

When selecting pewter flatware, look for good quality workmanship. Hold each piece in your hand. It should feel comfortable and well balanced. Some pewter is hollow-handled and feels light. Others with a solid handle are much heavier.

Pewter is an alloy of several metals, mainly tin. Smaller amounts of copper and antimony are used for strength and brilliance. Pewter will not develop worn spots with prolonged use since it is a solid metal. But it is a soft metal and could dent easily without proper care. It has a low melting point and should be kept away from extreme heat, flames and heating elements.

To deal with the heat problems of pewter, manufacturers have developed pewter look-alikes. These non-pewter alloys have the look and feel of antique pewter but are stronger, more durable and safe for freezer-to-oven-to-table use.

When purchasing pewter—especially flatware—it is important to check manufacturer's labels and tags for care information. Coupled with its "new" elegance and variety of designs available, most pewter flatware is dishwasher-safe.

But other pieces should be washed by hand in warm sudsy water. Rinsing in hot water and drying immediately with a soft towel will help prevent waterspitting.

Some manufacturers recommend using a plastic scouring pad on stains and scratches.

It's wise to wash food and beverage service pieces promptly after use. As with silver, certain chemicals and acids present in many foods may cause stains and pitting, if left on pewter long. This includes party dips, eggs, salad dressings, oils, vinegar, salt and fruit juices. Acids, such as those of a lactic variety found in cheese, may also start corrosive action on pewter.

Pewter polish may be used occasionally to restore original sheen. Either pewter or silver polish will renew bright finish pewter. Be sure to read and follow directions.

Some pewter and simulated pewter has a protective finish and shouldn't be polished. Like silver, pewter in frequent use will develop tiny scratches that blend into a patina.

Mrs. Priddy Explains Purpose of Observance

Prayer and self denial was the theme of a meeting held by Wesley United Methodist Women Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Raymond Higginbotham.

Mrs. James Priddy explained the purpose of the observance and how cash donations are utilized in mission work. Following the discussion, Mrs. Jimmy Bell, pianist, accompanied members in singing "Amazing Grace."

Mrs. Harold Wilson read from Jeremiah 31:30-34 and the prayer that Jesus prayed for His Disciples from John 17. Mrs. Higginbotham read from the book "The Great Lion of God" concerning the guarding of the Tomb of Jesus.

Donations were placed at the serving table where communion was received following prayers given by members.

During the business meeting with Mrs. W. Mayfield presiding, the next meeting was scheduled at 2:30 p.m. Feb. 9 in the church.

The Clod Kicker

By Roy Faubion

How did the old Chinese proverb go? (It had to be an old Chinese since all are called "old Chinese proverbs"). "Every journey of a thousand miles begins with but a single step". Ah, 'tis true. But, as some old Indian said, "It ain't the single step that bothers me, but the thousands of others to follow!"

We are taught early to have foresight, and rightfully so. Look ahead. Think it through. Plan for every eventuality and every unexpected event. By that time most of us are too pooped to take the first step, and certainly do not have the heart for thousands of others.

Mostly it seems to be a fear of failure. What happens when we get out there somewhere and things go wrong and we can't work them out? Then what? That's the thing that gets us. The "then what". Boy, that's scary.

But the big victory is reserved only for those who dare the big venture. And, oddly enough, the big victory soon becomes a sweet memory while the excitement rapidly wains.

Remember how, as little fellows, we chased off into the woods, or up a dry river bed not knowing what we would find? But our expectations were great. If the big prize, an arrowhead, came along it was terrific. There was a trophy to share with everyone we could find. But soon the arrowhead found its way into a dresser drawer while we darted off on another trip into the unknown.

Foresight is necessary. But the element of the unknown is the spice that flavors the stew of life. Yes, there are times of failure, and they hurt badly. But, the sweetness of victory is known and savored only by those who dare the journey of a thousand miles where others fear to tread.

Progress would be faster if people could go forward on excuses.

Little lasses who might have a chance at the Miss Hereford title in 1980 need not wait for the opportunity to step onto the pageant stage.

A younger division for girls aged 3-12 has been added to Miss Hereford and Miss Teen Hereford activities, all sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce Women's Division. Entries in the different age categories will be accepted through Friday, Feb. 13.

Mrs. Dan Warrick is chairman of the younger pageant division, which will involve no talent competition. Three winners will be announced during the junior contest, scheduled to begin at 2 p.m. March 6 on the high school stage, where Miss Hereford 1976 will be crowned that night.

The winning trio of girls will be presented during the Miss Hereford proceedings and will be introduced to an expected sell-out crowd. Also, the three will serve as attendants on the pageant float which will appear in a Bicentennial parade here July 4.

The winning trio of girls will be presented during the Miss Hereford proceedings and will be introduced to an expected sell-out crowd. Also, the three will serve as attendants on the pageant float which will appear in a Bicentennial parade here July 4.

Categories open for younger division contestants are Cutest Miss, ages 3-5, Miss Petite Hereford, ages 6-9, and Miss Junior Hereford, ages 10-12. Five judges will select the winners.

John Gilliland will serve as master of ceremonies during the younger division production, which will have an admission cost of $1 per person. No advance tickets will be sold for the afternoon performance.

Entry forms for younger division contestants are now available from Mrs. Warrick or at the Chamber office.

All pageant events are being directed by Mrs. J.W. Robinson and the Women's Division steering committee. Theme for the annual contest in this Bicentennial year will be "Old Glory."

I have taken penicillin several times this past year. One time the directions were to take them "before meals," the other times the directions did not specify. Why the difference? - C.F.

Your doctor may have prescribed penicillin G when he prescribed "before meals." The other times he may have prescribed penicillin V. More penicillin G is destroyed by gastric juice than the V form. There is less gastric juice in your stomach when you have no food in it. Hence, less penicillin G will be destroyed when you take it on an empty stomach. It makes little difference when you take penicillin V.

Should an ointment or cream be applied heavily or sparingly? - O.W.

Generally, you get no better effects by applying the preparations heavily.

This trio of local girls will be gaining valuable stage experience as entrants in the Younger division of the 1976 Miss Hereford Pageant, scheduled March 6. From left are, Candy Sams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Sams Jr., 226 Hickory; Tracy Webb, 8-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Webb, 214 Aspen; Gina Griffin, 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Griffin, 844 West Park Ave. Each of the youngsters was the first to enter her respective pageant category.

Bibliography Lists Rural Development Literature

WASHINGTON—An annotated bibliography on much of the rural development literature

WORLD'S LARGEST

Call: Jerry Shipman 108 Ave. C 364-3161

published during 1969-75 has been issued by the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA).

The bibliography of about 350 citations covers seven subject areas: fire and emergency services, health care delivery systems, sanitary services and sewage systems, manpower training and vocational education, public recreational facilities, and planning, local government structure and taxation, and rural housing.

The bibliography is intended to help community leaders, rural development committees, researchers, and community resource development personnel identify and obtain literature or information for their use, USDA officials said.

Along The Frio

By MRS. OWEN ANDREWS Brand Correspondent

Lance Corporal Eddie Warren, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Warren, recently left after a 30-day furlough here with his parents. He went to Okinawa for a tour of duty.

Eddie took basic training with the Marines at Yuma, Ariz. and had been in the Marines 17 months at the time of the overseas assignment. Point of embarkation was Martin AFB, Calif.

Clothing Workshop Scheduled

The county extension office at Dimmitt will be sponsoring a clothing workshop beginning Tuesday, Feb. 10 in the Assembly Room of Castro County Courthouse.

Scheduled to convene at 9:30 a.m., the workshop activities will be listed at a later date. Day and night sessions will be offered.

Subject matter will include use and care of sewing machines, fitting pants patterns, changing construction details on a garment, new techniques for modern fabrics, quick construction methods and other topics.

For further information, contact Irene Keating, Castro County Extension Agent at 647-3455 or visit the Courthouse basement in Dimmitt.

Mr. and Mrs. E.B. Posey of Canyon, visited the Ronnie Andrews Sunday. Posey, who is Mrs. Andrews uncle, is a native of Hereford and is presently a professor at WTSU.

Frio Homemakers Club met Tuesday in the Reddy Room of SWPS. The program was presented by Joyce Shipp on the subject "Through a Child's Eyes." Printed material, a quiz and thoughts on better relationships between parents and children were part of the program.

Attending the meeting were Mmes. Tony Urbanczyk, Eugene Baldwin, Tommy Sparkman, Frank Robbins, Bill Struve, Billy Warrick, Henry Andrews, H.E. Lindley, Annie Springer, J.E. Warrick, E.F. Vogler, Owen Andrews, Jim Brooks, T.L. Sparkman, Jr., Miss Alma Andrews and a visitor, Susan Montgomery, who came with Mrs. Shipp. Miss Montgomery is Assitant Extension Agent at Dalhart.

Mrs. Urbanczyk was hostess for the meeting.

Mrs. Floyd Cole and daughter Mrs. Herman Vinson and Shelley of Childress, went to visit another Cole daughter, Cheryl D'Amato and her husband Sal, in Oklahoma City Sunday through Tuesday.

Comings And Goings At Kings Manor

BY FAY GAUGGELL

Mrs. Evadne Cox and Mrs. Lucile Naylor spent two days in Clarendon visiting relatives and friends and were guests of the 1926 Book Club and the United Methodist Women.

Mrs. Marth Shirkey recently entertained relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Arle Bottz, from Dighton, Kans. They stopped in Hereford on their way to Arizona where they will spend the rest of the winter.

Mrs. Jessie Boardman recently enjoyed a visit from her grandson, Jim Travland of Baltimore, Maryland.

YEA KEY CLUB BOYS!

Kiwanian, Gene Brock, teacher in Hereford High, sent nine Key Club Boys to help us clean up at the Manor. They ran sweepers, cleaned venetian blinds and helped store things.

Those who worked were so courteous and thorough. We offer sincere thanks to the following: Gene Brock, Chris Hill, Mike Culp, Randy Moore, Greg Hacker, Kent Herring, Karl King, Barry Muller, Flood Thomas, and club sweetheart, Sara Ricketts.

SING SONG SESSION

Mrs. R.A. Higginbotham (We call her Nedra) came out to King's Manor with her auto-harp and several copies of words to some songs. Mrs. Higginbotham taught us the airs to these songs and sang them as she directed and accompanied on her harp.

All songs were religious and most of them were the type done best in parts. Rounds are the simplest type of part singing and we learned some of them.

While Mrs. Higginbotham's music is good, her devout life and her beautiful Christian spirit are the most attractive features of her visits with us. She is always welcomed here.

Mrs. Horace Woodward and Gary Woodward of Littlefield were recent visitors of Mr. & Mrs. Rogers, also Mrs. Louise Vaughan, a cottage resident of King's Manor Complex.

Mrs. Louise Vaughan was a recent visitor at Lubbock, Littlefield and Sudan.

INSIDE TV

TV REPORT--So you think you look beautiful. Your makeup is perfect, your hair is in place and your clothes are immaculate. But there's more to looking your best. A lot more, according to DINAH SHORE, one of the loveliest ladies to grace the TV screen today. You have to feel your best, too. "True beauty," she told me, "is a composite of good physical, mental and spiritual health. Without that the time you spend on applying makeup, having your hair styled and buying the latest fashions is wasted," Dinah explained. "But it takes persistence. I feel fortunate. I recovered from polio when I was just an infant, but I never got over the idea that my neighbors and relatives back in my hometown of Winchester, Tenn., felt sorry for me. I had to work harder at everything I did. I had to be more active than the other girls to prove nothing was wrong with me. As I exercised, I could feel myself becoming stronger. Now it's easier for me to cope with stress when the occasions arise," she concluded.

ON THE AIR--HOWARD COSELL, whose famous mouth is dwarfed only by his ego, announced some

PTSO to Meet Monday Night

Al Des Marteau, director of Hereford Family Services Center, will be a guest speaker during the Parent-Teacher-Student Organization meeting scheduled at 7:30 p.m. Monday in Hereford High School Library. Marteau will explain the services provided by the center and how the staff is utilized by the school and family.

not how it was planned, but that is what happened," she said.

TV TICKER--Two weeks after his second consecutive divorce, comedian JACKIE GLEASON married for the third time. He married dancer MARILYN TAYLOR, a woman he has known more than 20 years.

The one time you expect to see a Zimmatic broken down.

About the only time you expect to see a Zimmatic broken down is when it leaves one of Lindsay's plants. Once assembled in your field, it seldom causes a problem. Those big, sure-footed towers power their way around the field, carrying water to crops.

Hour after hour, day after day. Until you decide to shut down. That kind of performance doesn't just happen. It's the result of constant testing — both in the plant and in the field. Lindsay puts these rigs through the most punishing conditions — loads on more stress in a week, usually, than they're likely to see in a lifetime of normal use.

But we know that no system is 100% perfect all the time. That's why we're ready to help with an extensive parts inventory and factory trained servicemen if you ever have a problem. Before you buy any center pivot irrigation system, be sure to let us tell you about all the advantages of owning a Lindsay Zimmatic.

Sugar Beet Producers Meeting Scheduled For Bull Barn Here

The Texas Agricultural Extension Service and Panhandle Economic Program is sponsoring a sugar beet producers meeting in Hereford, Tues. Feb. 10. The program will be conducted at the Bull Barn. Registration will begin at 8:30 a.m. with the program to begin at 10 a.m.

The program is being conducted to cover total production practices necessary to enable sugar beet producers to cope with problems of the past and will provide the latest recommendations from sugar beet research. Some of the top men of the nation, in the sugar beet production field, will be on the program and we would like to encourage all producers of the Texas-New Mexico Sugar Beet Growers Association area to attend.

"We think it's important for farmers to realize the value of the sugar beet crop to this area. A large part of our grain sales depends upon foreign markets to determine the price we receive, while sugar production in the U.S. is adequate for only one-half of our domestic use," a sugar beet group representative said.

In irrigation result demonstrations this year, corn produced 9,318 lbs. per acre, with a gross value, at $4.50 per hundred, or $419.00 per acre. Sugar beets producing 26.6 tons, with 16.2 per cent at sugar $27.00 per ton-15 per cent sugar, grossed $750.00 per acre.

"We are aware that the average sugar beet production this year was only about 15 tons, but we know that you have the technology to produce a much better crop, under good management, and we think the above examples make it imperative that you consider sugar beet production on your farm," the spokesman said.

The most widely-grown vegetable in Texas gardens is the tomato. However, this popular vegetable is also subject to a number of disease, notes Justin McBride, county agent for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The first disease problem that most homeowners face with tomatoes is damping off. McBride advises planting in warm, well-drained soil and spraying with the fungicide Captan when the disease occurs.

Fusarium wilt is another common disease problem in tomatoes. The only control is the use of wilt resistant varieties. These include Spring Giant, Spring Set, Terrific, Betty Boy, Big Set, Homestead 24, Homestead Elite, Small Fry and Monte Grande.

Root knot nematodes also attach tomatoes, notes McBride.

Among common foliage diseases attacking tomatoes are early blight, late blight, Septoria leaf spot, gray leaf spot and Anthracnose. These can best be controlled by foliar sprays of an acceptable fungicide such as Maneb, Captan or Zineb. Begin applications when the disease first appears and continue at 7-to-10-day intervals for three to four applications, suggests McBride.

Fruit decay may also set in as tomatoes near maturity. The most effective control of this condition is to use a cage or mulch of some type to keep fruit from touching the soil.

Former Assistant Agent Retiring

J. Foster Whaley, former assistant county agent for Deaf Smith County and Gray County Extension agent since 1960 retired Saturday after 27 years with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

He joined the Extension Service in 1949 as assistant agent here and also served as assistant agent in Carson and Gray counties before becoming acting agent in Gray County in 1951.

He was named agent for Armstrong County in 1953 and remained there until 1960, when he returned to Gray County.

A native of Saint Jo in north Texas, 55-year-old Whaley is a veteran of World War II and participated in four major campaigns in the European Theatre. He holds the Bronze Star and Purple Heart. He was graduated in 1949 from Texas A&M University as a distinguished student.

In 1969, Whaley received the highest award given by the National Association of County Agricultural Agents--the Distinguished Service Award.

The association cited Whaley "for his knowledge of beef cattle production and marketing and his ability for developing outstanding education programs which utilize this knowledge and interest, including use of the beef cattle futures market; and for his work with organized groups, program building and community improvement programs."

★ NEXT WEEK'S ★ HOROSCOPE
By Clay R. Pollan

If your birthday occurs this week... you have a powerful personality. There's determination in your nature that helps you get what you want in life. You never let up until you attain your objective. You tear down for the ultimate purpose of rebuilding. There'll be many changes throughout the year, mostly good.

Aries Mar. 21 - Apr. 19 Pluto
The friendship and goodwill that come to you from all sides are a source of pride and gratification. Exchange ideas and favors freely. Participate in worthwhile group activities. Impress elders with your charm and grace. Widen neighborhood contacts. Capitalize on earned goodwill.

Taurus Apr. 20 - May 20 Venus
You're in the driver's seat now, anxious to get moving on new ventures. Keep arrangements flexible to allow for adjustments before definite decisions are made. A male associate does much to bolster your morale. As to money, your instinct will be a better guide than advice received.

Gemini May 21 - June 20 Mercury
Make whatever adjustments are necessary to preserve peace. Don't tread on others' sensitive toes in your eagerness to get action. Sell partners on a progressive program. Personal and business partnerships go the way you want. Make a trip if you think there's a chance of clinching a deal.

Cancer June 21 - July 22 Moon
Speculative ventures, social activities, romantic urges—all are favored this week. Take advantage of the rising momentum. If mixing business with pleasure, do it in great style. People from abroad will be lucky for you. Air or water routes should be favored if planning travel.

Leo July 23 - Aug. 22 Sun
You may feel plagued by indecision and a restlessness you can't define. There's a tendency to anger that flares up suddenly at the wrong time. Don't fly off the handle at the drop of a hat. When in doubt as to what course to follow, put the accent on self-interest. Don't trust a stranger.

Virgo Aug. 23 - Sept. 22 Mercury
Travel, church, club or study groups should be a source of new friendships. Stand up to competition with firmness. Adroit tactics will win the cooperation of skeptical people. Lively companions are needed. Fend off bores and pessimists ruthlessly. Don't shock or upset people.

Libra Sept. 23 - Oct. 22 Venus
It's time to hold fast to the goals you have set for yourself, even if progress toward them is temporarily delayed. Accept no favors from persons who seem reluctant to grant them. Do business with people at the top, and go out of your way to impress them. If stiff competition is met, try harder.

Scorpio Oct. 23 - Nov. 21 Mars
Clear up details that clog your calendar and block your progress. Stall on definite moves if you're uncertain. Make whatever adjustments seem advisable. Pay heed to seasoned advice and don't be discouraged if some of it is critical. Step up participation in club activities.

Sagittarius Nov. 22 - Dec. 21 Jupiter
It's necessary that you strengthen your security base. Check the validity of your personal and home insurance and review again your pension program. Buy only machinery and appliances that carry reliable warranties and will last a long time. Consult your banker about interest rates.

Capricorn Dec. 22 - Jan. 19 Saturn
As to the man in your life, if he's unusually popular, don't show jealousy. Praise him—and don't let others become his only audience. As to the girl of your dreams, her allure is subtler and more potent than ever. Beware of letting relatives or others interfere or poison her mind.

Aquarius Jan. 20 - Feb. 18 Uranus
Your ambitious plans should be successful if you stick to your job or plan. Learn to accept discipline and you proceed to reap rich rewards. Older people and those in authority give you sound advice. Money comes a little easier and goes out just as fast. Learn to put some glue on it.

Pisces Feb. 19 - Mar. 20 Neptune
This isn't the week to jump out of the frying pan and into the fire. Think before you "tell someone off" and don't make any sudden changes in your work or residence. Money might be in short supply but the end result is a happy one. You may get an opportunity to travel. Keep options open.

Amarillo Ad Club
Plans 8-Hour Course

The Advertising Club of Amarillo will offer an eight hour course in advertising at Amarillo College on Saturday, March 20. The course will be conducted from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the Oak Room of the College Union Building at Amarillo College.

This advertising course has been specifically designed to help smaller business owners spend their advertising dollars more effectively. Also, it is designed to aid advertising staff personnel who work with larger businesses spend their advertising dollars better.

This idea provoking session reviews basic advertising principles and utilizes Amarillo advertising talent working under the direction of the Advertising Club of Amarillo. Respected experts in advertising will be lecturers and panelists. Lecturers include Don Clurphey, President, McCormick Advertising; Allen Shifrin, Director of Radio and Television Department, Amarillo College; Wayne Tarter, President, Tarter Art Studio and Bryan Austin, Sales Manager, Southwestern Public Service Company.

Business owners or advertising department personnel who are interested should request applications from any Ad Club member or ask for information by contacting either Joe Russell, SWPS Co., P.O. Box 1261, Amarillo, Texas 79170 (806) 378-2154 or Kent Kiker, Diamond Shamrock, P.O. Box 631, Amarillo, Texas 79173, (806) 376-4451. Only the first 100 applicants can be accepted.

The fee for the course is $49.95 per applicant or $44.95 for additional applicants from the same organization. There is a special fee for a limited number of students who wish to work during the day as well as have the benefit of attending this course.

AUSTIN — The Texas Senate resumed its long-delayed trial of the O. P.

Carrillo impeachment case after taking steps to shorten the proceedings.

In spite of warnings by their counsel... Leon Jaworski, senators voted to accept the entire transcript of a Judicial Qualifications Commission removal hearing on Carrillo for use in the trial.
Attorneys estimated use of the JQC testimony and exhibits may shorten the Senate proceeding from the expected six weeks or more to three.
Meanwhile, the Judicial Qualifications Commission continued to move forward on its own course toward ousting the 229th district judge from office.

Carrillo's attorney, Arthur Mitchell of Austin, made clear he will try to show the impeachment effort was launched as the result of a political break between the Carrillo and George Parr factions in stormy Duval County last year.
Carrillo has been suspended from his court since last August when the House of Representatives voted articles of impeachment, but he continues to draw full pay.

The Hereford Brand, Hereford, Texas, Sunday, February 1, 1976

Nine carriers seek to show present service is inadequate. More than two dozen carriers already operating protest the applications.

Courts Speak

The Texas Supreme Court refused to grant Texaco Inc.'s application for writ of error in a case that could have cost the state $30.8 million in franchise tax revenues. The decision again upheld constitutionality of the state's method of collecting franchise taxes from multi-national corporations.
In another case, the high court affirmed a $134,156 judgement against Texaco, favoring a Sweetwater man hurt when oilfield equipment fell on him in a warehouse.
Court of Criminal Appeals reversed a Hillsboro murder case because a divorce petition filed by the slain woman was read to the jury by a prosecutor.

Appointments

Gov. Dolph Briscoe reappointed William B. Blakemore II of Midland to the Public Safety Commission for a six-year term.
Ray D. Payne will head the new Texas Railroad Commission surface mining and reclamation division.
Gerald P. Coley of Houston was appointed chairman of a special State Bar committee to study the American Bar Association proposal to relax restrictions on lawyer's advertising.
Briscoe appointed Dr. Nathan Hale Pepper of Galveston to the Texas Board of Physical Therapy Examiners.
And he named William W. Fisher of Houston to the Polygraph Examiners Board.
Bill Wright of Austin recently was picked by U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen to head up his 1976 Senate campaign in Texas.

Bentsen Starts

U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen began his re-election campaign with a two-day barnstorming tour which ranged from Houston to the Panhandle and from Dallas/Fort Worth to San Antonio.
Bentsen also campaigned in Austin, Lubbock, Amarillo, Abilene and Laredo.

The Speaker Reports

by Bill Clayton

Government will continue to be a major force in our lives but it is becoming apparent many people believe there are opportunities to cut back and restructure.

I believe we in Texas have been well served by state government, but there are countless areas where savings might be realized without taking the initiative from programs.

I do not advocate a retreat from government action, but before the Legislature convenes in January of 1977, I think the Legislative Budget Board, the Joint Advisory Commission on Government Operations, the comptroller, the commissions, agencies and interim committees can produce innumerable ways we can save dollars and shake up the government to produce better and faster.

We must undertake now to pick and choose those things that are most important for our future. We must understand the limits and value of money. Close observation and better monitoring of spending is a requirement at every level.

Almost everyone opposes greater government spending, but we should remember that governmental action is essential because it is the expression of our collective will. It is the way our society expresses its commitment to all the programs to which we subscribe. This action costs money and to pursue our collective dream these funds must be available. What we have to determine is whether a program is a luxury or whether we actually need everything we're now offering. Could we be just as fulfilled with less or at least with some scaled-down versions?

Many believe it's just a brassy promise that state spending will be contained and that government growth will not only be stopped but trimmed. I feel it can be accomplished.

Our ongoing research projects will give us the information on where and how to use the paring knife. Duplications of services, overstaffing and greater productivity from employees are some areas to be scrutinized.

Realtor Roundup

Presented by Hereford Board of Realtors
Joann Oyster, President

Multiple Listing Service. better known as M.L.S., is a division of the Hereford Board of Realtors, subject to all the boards constitution and by-laws, governed by the officers and directors. The purpose of M.L.S. is to stimulate and facilitate the transaction of business between buyers and sellers through the cooperative exchange of listings by member offices, resulting in a better service to the public by creating a wider and more attractive market for all real estate.

Participating offices pay monthly dues to provide for printing, and supplies, including secretarial services, following the general practices and policies as set forth in the by-laws as to procedure.

All listings of residential property, one, two, three, or more units, and small acreages are submitted to Multiple Listing Service office by the listing Realtor office within 48 hours after being signed by the owner. Each broker office may submit property owned by themselves into Multiple. Farm land may be submitted upon request of the owner. When there are valid reasons for an owner not wishing their property placed in the M.L.S., a property owner may list an exclusive agency listing with the office of their choice. Any changes in listed price or other changes must be in writing, signed by the owner.

When a property is placed into M.L.S., the listing office is guaranteed one-half of the sales fee. The selling office receives one-half of the sales fee. Only one total sales fee is paid by the owner. It is the responsibility of the listing office to place a FOR SALE sign, watch over the property, screen all showings, present all offers of purchase, and complete the sale of same.

A property listed thru M.L.S. immediately placed ten member offices and 30 licensed sales persons with all the information on your property. This assures you full exposure to all prospective buyers in the Hereford area. You, as a property owner will work directly with the Realtor of your choice, yet have all of the Realtors working for you.

The Multiple Listing Service is also for the benefit of a home buyer. It means you, Mr. Buyer, do not necessarily have to go from office to office, wearing yourself out searching. You may conveniently and comfortably be assisted by ONE capable REALTOR of your choice.

Let one of these member offices be your MULTIPLE LISTING REALTOR:

WORST DRESSED
LOS ANGELES--Caroline Kennedy, daughter of the late President, was named the worst dressed woman of the year, by fashion designer Mr. Blackwell, who said she looked like "a shaggy dog in pants."

CLASS CONSCIOUS
CAMBRIDGE, MASS.--Richard P. Coleman, a senior research associate at the Harvard-MIT Joint Center for Urban Studies, says that Americans are class conscious and judge others by their money and the way they spend it.

APPRAISER FINED
CHICAGO--Literary appraiser Ralph G. Newman has been fined $10,000 by a federal judge for involvement in backdating Richard M. Nixon's personal papers, a move that gave the former president a $450,000 illegal income tax deduction.

REAGAN & N.H.
CONCORD, N.H.--Ronald Reagan's proposal to cut $90 billion from the federal budget has made his supporters uneasy in New Hampshire where opponents say it could force the state to adopt its first income tax.

NIXON WELCOME
TOKYO--Chairman Mao Tse-tung meeting recently with David and Julie Nixon Eisenhower told them former President Richard M. Nixon is welcome to visit China again, the official Hsinhua news agency reported.

VA Questions, Answers

EDITOR'S NOTE: Veterans and their families are asking thousands of questions concerning the benefits their Government provides for them through the Veterans Administration. Below are some representative queries. Additional information may be obtained at any VA office.

Q--Does VA make allowances for refresher training in a program for which the veteran was previously qualified through former schooling or experience?
A--Yes. A new program of refresher training for a maximum of six months allows updating former experience or education gained prior to service.
Q--How and to whom may a Presidential Memorial Certificate be issued?
A--Normally a certificate is issued automatically to the veteran's next of kin. Your nearest VA regional office can assist with application procedures.

Q--I wish to review my records maintained by the VA to determine validity of certain documents. Who should I contact?
A--The Privacy Act of 1974 grants individuals the right to access and to seek correction or amendment of records pertaining to the veteran or beneficiary. Submit a written request to the VA regional office that maintains your records.

SMILES
It All Adds Up
Boy—Aw, Pop, I don't want to study arithmetic. It 'tain't no use.
Dad—What! A son of mine grow up and not be able to figure football scores, batting averages and race-track odds!
Howdy
Two guys were sitting on a bench. One turned to the other and said, "I'm aching from neuralgia."
"Howdy!" replied the other, "I'm Slim Jackson from Oakland."
Jackie—we are playing hospitals.
Governess—And what's Molly doing up there?
Jackie—She has gone to a mountain sanatorium.
Could Be True
"How'd you come out in that fight with your wife the other night?"
"Aw, she came crawling to me on her hands and knees."
"What did she say?"
"Come out from under that bed, you coward."

HomeLoan Interest Rate From 9 to 8.75 Per Cent

The maximum interest rate on GI home loans was reduced from 9 to 8.75 per cent effective January 5, 1976. Jack Coker, Veterans Administration Regional Director, announced recently.

An increased supply of mortgage money was attributed to this first reduction in GI loan interest rates since last March, Coker said. The decrease was agreed upon jointly with Department of Housing and Urban Development. The reduced rate also applies to FHA home loans.

The 9 percent interest ceiling rate on multifamily housing mortgage loans does not apply to VA since the agency guarantees only single family home mortgage loans, including condominiums.

The peak interest rate of 9.5 percent during the 31-year history of the VA home loan guaranty program was reached in August 1974. This is the 27th change in GI home loan interest rates since this program began in June 1944.

For a veteran buying a home with a $30,000 GI loan, the quarter percent decrease in the VA interest rate could mean a savings of about $2,000 over the life of a 30-year loan, Coker noted.

VA guarantees loans private lenders make to eligible servicemen, veterans and widows. This year the agency expects to guarantee more than one-third of a million GI home loans, valued in excess of $10 billion.

The Abundant Life

Much of our distress is caused by over-buying, over-spending, over-stimulation, over-extension of self, and over-doing in one way or another. All of this is such unjustified waste of our resources. It is more than the waste of material resources; it is waste of time, energy, ability and of life itself. THE PRODIGAL PERSON surely misses the whole purpose of living. His reckless extravagance of self and substance makes living a frustrating and miserable experience. On the other hand, the miserly person also misses the whole purpose of living; because this mean, grasping, stingy way becomes increasingly empty and forlorn. In between these extremes, we find the wholesome balance of the wisely frugal person.

Economy in the expenditure of resources will always be the most productive and satisfying practice, and is applicable to both material and human resources. This frugality is so much more desirable than waste, because waste is such an uncalled-for curse to mankind. The loss, of abilities, time, energy, money and life by waste is astronomical.

FULL FRUGALITY is the most enriching and the most rewarding way. It is essential to successful stewardship of life and substance. In some areas, it is conservation which requires planned management of resources to prevent exploitation, and destruction, and neglect. It includes diligent upkeep for the purpose of continuing operation and service. In all things, it requires wisdom and industry within the proper value system.

"Frugality may be termed the daughter of prudence, the sister of temperance, and the parent of liberty. He who is extravagant will quickly become poor, and poverty will enforce dependence and invite corruption." Johnson.

Many of the traumatic occurrences in one's life are caused by the waste, and neglect, and misuse of personal and material goods and supplies. Lesser difficulties, such as discouragement and frustration, can be caused by the same waste, neglect and misuse. In the same way, personal well-being and strength can be undermined. We can do better than this.

WE CAN LEARN how to apply 'full frugality' to ourselves in every facet of the living situation. This will be the wise management and use of both self and possessions. Out of this manner of behavior comes the satisfaction and contentment so essential to our stability and meaningful conduct. Both tangible and intangible needs are served best by 'full frugality', because this is the way we cooperate with all basic laws of supply and demand; and cause and effect. Of course, there is more to the total living experience than being frugal, but 'full frugality' helps support and preserve every aspect of a fully satisfactory life style.

LIFE ENERGIES AND RESOURCES are limited; and material energies and resources are limited, too. These can be wasted and misused, or they can be preserved and used wisely. "Full frugality" is the action that makes the difference.

Obituary

ROY BENTON JONES

Services will begin at 2 p.m. today in Rose Chapel of Gilliland-Watson Funeral Home for Roy Benton Jones, 59, who died at Deaf Smith General Hospital Friday afternoon.

The Rev. Prentice Smith, pastor of Greenwood Baptist Church, will officiate and burial will follow in West Park Cemetery.

Employed by Dickies Restaurant, Mr. Jones came here in 1963 from Amarillo. He was born April 6, 1916 at Paris, Texas.

Survivors include a son, Vance Jones of Albuquerque, N.M.; a brother, Clyde Jones of Hereford and a step-brother, Robert Duncan of Memphis, Texas; two sisters, Mrs. Ted Williams of Amarillo and Mrs. Leo Zarecky of Sacramento, Calif.

Mitzi Bogan To Present WT Recital

Mitzi Bogan, graduate student at West Texas State University from Hereford, will be presented in a recital at 3 p.m. Feb. 1 in the WTSU Branding Iron Theatre.

Mrs. Bogan on French horn will perform with Ray Jenkins on Violin and Kay McMenamy on piano.

Selections will include "Concerto No. 1 in D Major" by Haydn; "Suite V" by Bach; "Sonata No. 3 for French Horn and Piano" by Alec Wilde and "Trio in E Flat Major for Piano, Horn and Violin" by Brahms.

Mrs. Bogan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C.H. Stumpf, Jr., is a member of the Amarillo Symphony. She graduated from the University of Texas at Austin in 1972 and has taught at Central Elementary School in Hereford for two-and-one-half years.

Grand Opening

Officials of the Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce and the Hereford Hustlers welcome Clark's Custom Draperies into the Hereford business community at opening ceremonies this week. It is located at Sugarland Mall.

ALL ABOARD, yep, the Freedom Train is something you won't want to miss in this Bicentennial year. The American Legion is leading the way by sponsoring a bus load of school children to visit this wonderful recreation from out of American History. The Freedom Train is loaded with exhibits and displays never before assembled, which appeals to all age groups.

It will really be a highlight of 1976 to visit the Freedom Train at the Midland-Odessa Air Terminal, February 7, 8, and 9. The Legion will be taking 40 to 50 third and fourth grade students and several members of the KEY Club on Sunday, February 8. Any organizations willing to sponsor other groups, please call the office for information and coordinators.

On behalf of the youngsters-a tip of the hat to Hereford's Legionnaires.

-HUSTLE-
MUCH INFORMATION is being published about the 200th birthday of our country. Some of it is in the spirit of pride and thankful appreciation for the greatest nation in the history of the world. But some of the propaganda would have us believe that we Americans should be ashamed of our productivity, of our willingness and ability to progress and grow—that we should scrap the incentive motive which our "freedom of enterprise" system is based upon. They twist the meaning of famous phrases from patriots of the past and would lead us to believe that their cause is just and based on "common sense".

Better Beware! Tain't so! Just check the names associated with those so called revolutionists and I'm sure you'll recognize some rather infamous, left wing rabble rousers and subversives. If my meaning is not clear-stop by the Chamber for a visit.

-HUSTLE-
WE'RE MIGHTY pleased to have the annual meeting of WATER, Inc. here at Hereford on February 14 beginning with registration at the Bull Barn at 8:30 a.m. WATER is the KEY to continued high production on the High Plains and the KEY speaker will be Congressman George Mahon.

We'll be looking for a good turnout to support this all important campaign to insure the future productivity of our area. Come and bring a friend; businessman, farmer, educator, rancher, homemaker—everyone is welcome. Chamber of Commerce Director Andrew Kershen is heading up the committee for the meeting.

-HUSTLE-
IN AN EFFORT to dispel the rumors that are circulating, Inez and I are not planning to leave Hereford. True, that there have been some offers from other places, but we intend to continue to serve the citizens of Hereford and Deaf Smith County and do our best to make this community a "better place to live and earn a living."

We're mighty proud of our folks in Hustlin' Hereford—especially those good people who are Chamber members and support this community through their membership. Let's continue to progress with

The oldest woman's college in the nation was founded in 1837 by a woman who wanted to offer American women a well-rounded education rather than training for domesticity. She managed to persuade neighboring farmers in the community of South Hadley, Mass., to make enough small contributions to be sufficient for the original financial endowment. The college, Mt. Holyoke, became a model for the superior educational institutions for women which developed after the Civil War. The founder, Mary Lyon, has gone down in history as a leading American

REAL ESTATE POINTS

POWER OF LOCAL COMMUNITY TO ZONE MAY BE ERODED

by DR. DEAN A. MANSON
Costa Institute of Real Estate Finance
SMU School of Business Administration

For many years it has been the local prerogative of communities to zone to best fit the given community. But special interest groups have been challenging that right in court and the United States Supreme Court has accepted some challenges as reasonable.

The recent case of interest occurred in New Jersey. The United States Supreme Court clearly stated that the responsibility for meeting regional housing needs is a community responsibility, and it may not be eroded by zoning.

The New Jersey case involves Mt. Laurel township and it is entirely possible that the decision in this case will change suburban land use policies that effectively exclude low and moderate income persons. The New Jersey Court, affirmed by the United States Supreme Court, stated that a growing community's housing and zoning practices must make it realistically possible for low and moderate income persons to obtain housing in that community.

A similar case in Connecticut brings into focus the issue of regional housing needs. The city of Hartford is objecting to the use of Federal grants by several suburban towns for allegedly exclusionary purposes. The exclusion of low and middle income persons from the satellite towns has forced those people into Hartford.

A Federal District Court in Hartford has issued a preliminary injunction to hold up a $4.4 million community development project pending a decision in the case. It appears that proponents of equal housing rights coupled with the diminishing power of zoning boards are not only overturning local zoning ordinances and practices but delaying community development funding as well.

It is clear that local zoning ordinances throughout the nation are in for significant challenge by special interest groups. Local zoning boards should make decisions on reasonable grounds after careful consideration of all alternatives and without excluding any group desiring to live in a given community.

ON JOBLESSNESS

Alan Greenspan, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, said that the number of American jobless should decline steadily for the next few years and President Ford hopes it can get below 5 per cent.

Farmers Face Severe Volunteer Sunflower Problem

LUBBOCK—High Plains farmers who grew oilseed sunflowers in 1975 probably will be faced with potentially severe volunteer sunflower problems this crop season. Dr. James Supak, a Lubbock-based area agronomist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, says that the volunteer seed from last year's 325,000 acres of sunflowers have had little chance to germinate or rot during the rather dry fall and winter months. He believes they'll begin cropping up in March when the soil warms up, and growers will be faced with varying degrees of volunteer problems.

Supak says that virtually the entire 325,000 acres planted to sunflowers have been or will be rotated to other crops. Farmers will need to seriously consider the best weed control methods for their farm situation. "Some of the 1975 sunflower acreage is being double-cropped with wheat," Supak explains. "Invariably, volunteer sunflowers emerged with the wheat seedlings but were destroyed by the first freeze in the fall. The second volunteer crop will probably emerge in March when soil temperatures reach or exceed 50 degrees Fahrenheit. Unlike the fall crop, the volunteer sunflower seedlings that emerge in March will probably be much more tolerant to cold temperatures and will have to be controlled with herbicides."

The agronomist recommends, from 0.5 to 1.0 pounds of 2,4-D applied after the seedlings emerge. This, he says, should not only control sunflowers but will also eliminate other winter weeds such as tansey mustard. Supak says volunteer sunflower control in field crops such as cotton and soybeans poses a more serious problem. In 1975,

Dr. John Abernathy, weed researcher with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station in Lubbock, tested a number of preplant incorporated (PPI), pre-emergence (PE) and post-emergence herbicides to determine their effectiveness in controlling volunteer sunflowers. None of the 25 treatments tested provided satisfactory control. The best treatment (Caparol plus MSMA applied as a post-directed spray) controlled less than 50 per cent of the volunteer seedlings. "With these crops," the Extension Service specialist says, "growers will have to depend largely on mechanical tillage to destroy volunteer plants. Where feasible, it would be advantageous to delay listing until after soils begin to warm up in March. If rainfall occurs before this time, part of the volunteer crop will emerge and can be destroyed by the listing operation. After the soil is stirred during listing, more seed will germinate and emerge after a rain or a preplant irrigation. These can be destroyed with knives or rolling cultivation prior to planting. "Additional seedlings probably will emerge after the soil is stirred during planting," Supak adds. "Cultivation or a post-emergence directed application of Caparol plus MSMA can be used to kill many of these seedlings. Since sunflower seedlings will tend to emerge simultaneously with cotton, the post-directed herbicide treatment may be of limited value except where cotton is planted on the bed." Supak says that in grain sorghum and corn, herbicide treatments were found to be more effective in controlling volunteer sunflowers. According to Abernathy's conclusions, Supak says, Milogard (propazine) incorporated prior to planting with a rolling cultivator at a rate of 2.5 pounds per acre (on clay loam and sandy clay loam soils) provided about 50 per cent control. Similar results were obtained with pre-emergence application of Lorox plus Milogard. The best results, however, were obtained with post-emergence applications of AAtrex (altrazine) plus oil and Banvel. Both of these treatments controlled from 80 to 100 per cent of the volunteer crop. Supak says AAtrex (altrazine) incorporated prior to planting, applied pre-emergence or mixed with oil and applied over the top after emergence of seedlings provided 90 to 100 per cent control of sunflowers in corn. Banvel applied post-emergence provided equal effective control. Bladex applied pre-emergence and Evik plus surfactant applied as a post-directed spray also provided satisfactory sunflower control in corn.

It was of interest to note that after Dr. Abernathy destroyed his test plots in July, no additional volunteer seedlings emerged," Supak says. "This indicates that all the volunteer seed already had either germinated or rotted." He says in view of Abernathy's research findings, he would recommend that sunflower land be rotated to corn or sorghum where Atrax, heavy rates of Bladex, Milogard, Evik, or Banvel may be used to control volunteer sunflowers. Rotation with cotton or soybeans should be avoided, he emphasized.

Bindweed Controlled By Better Toxicity Herbicide

New application methods have improved toxicity of soil applied herbicides to field bindweed over spraying according to D.E. Lavake and Dr. A.F. Wiese, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station Scientists. Lavake reported this research at the Southern Weed Science Society Meeting in Dallas. The scientists from the USDA Research Center at Bushland reported two types to studies. The first compared application methods and the second evaluated several herbicides using subsurface blade application. In the first series of four experiments, conducted on the Roger Morris Farm near Vega, Texas, liquid formulations of Banvel, Fenac, and Trysben 200 at 10 pounds per acre and Tordon at 1 pound per acre were applied as a subsurface layer, injected with modified anhydrous ammonia chisels or sprayed on the soil surface. Subsurface layering was accomplished by mounting spray nozzles under 30-inch sweeps or an 8-foot straight Noble blade. Granular formulations of the herbicides were spread on soil for comparison. Herbicide rates used were 50 per cent of the amount required for surface spray treatment. In the last year, Treflan was included at 2 pounds per acre. The first year after treatment, bindweed control was excellent with all application methods. The second year after treatment, subsurface layering and injection of liquids along with granular treatments controlled bindweed better than surface sprays. "Injection was better than anything else," Lavake continued, "and controlled 72 per cent of the bindweed." Control with surface sprays dropped to 43 per cent. Treflan was different and subsurface layering was the best method of application. In the second set of experiments, conducted for three years on Jo Detton's Farm near Amarillo, Texas, subsurface application of several soil sterilants and dinitroaniline herbicides were compared. Banvel, Benzac 1281, and Pramitol were applied at two pounds per acre along with Tordon at 0.5 pound per acre. These were compared to Treflan at 1.5 pounds per acre and Planavin, Tolban, and Basalin at two pounds per acre. At these rates, Treflan, Tolban, and Basalin gave more bindweed control one year after application than the other herbicides. Control with Treflan was 78 per cent compared to 62 per cent with Tordon. "Our experiments show that we can reduce the amount of soil sterilants required for field bindweed control by chiseling or subsurface layering herbicides into soil," Lavake concluded. "Most importantly, we hope this information will help companies obtain labels from EPA for controlling small patches of bindweed on cropland."

can drop when spraying or is relieved manually with the relief valve. When the valve to a can is opened, spray solution passes through a stainless steel tube from the bottom of the can on out to the boom. After each plot is sprayed compressed air blows spray mix from hoses and boom. When spraying from all ten cans is completed, clean water from the eleventh can is used for an additional rinse. One of the new plot sprayers and two people can apply more plots than six working with hand sprayers. "Two people frequently travel 100 miles, spray up to 200 plots and return home in an 8 hour day", Chenault concluded. Rising postal costs are prompting some of the biggest mail users to desert the Postal Service in favor of other methods of delivery.

Ag Researchers Hit With Inflation

Keeping pace with fast moving times and inflation is not just a problem for farmers but agricultural researchers as well. When minimum wage for part time summer help started moving up about 1970, E.W. Chenault and Dr. A.F. Wiese, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station scientists, decided that mechanization was the only solution to the problem. The construction and use of two new plot sprayers for weed control research was described by Chenault to 1000 members of the Southern Weed Science Society meeting held recently in Dallas. In 1971, the two researchers from the USDA Research Center at Bushland, looked over the best equipment being used by other weed scientists. After incorporating the best ideas from others sprayers and adding several others, Chenault built a sprayer on an International Cub tractor in three months. The cub tractor, sprayer and 206 gallons of water are transported on a 1.5 ton truck with a gross vehicle rating of 10,000 pounds. Dual rear wheels increase stability and safety in case of blow out. Total weight of equipment and water is 9,600 pounds. A smaller truck would be overloaded and subject to a traffic citation. Because this sprayer is used for cotton, 2,4-D is never applied. The next year, Chenault built a second sprayer on a three bar tool carrier that could be attached to any tractor with a 3 point hitch. Most spraying is done with a 40 horsepower Allis Chalmers tractor. The sprayer is versatile because planters or injectors can be attached to 2 of the 3 tool bars. The sprayer, tractor and 375 gallon water tank that fits between tractor wheels are transported on a 2 ton tilt bed truck. All herbicides, including 2,4-D, are used in this sprayer. The scientists incorporated several features in each sprayer that speed up the job and makes spraying more accurate than possible with hand sprayers. Each sprayer has 11 stainless steel spray cans, one for water and 10 for spray mixes. Compressed air from a 2 cylinder compressor is the spray propellant. Air is swirled in the bottom of the cans through a copper tube to agitate spray mixes when cans are being pressurized, when chemical is sprayed or whenever air is bled from the can. "No matter how poorly experimental formulations mix, we can keep them agitated", Chenault said. A blow gun mounted on the air tank is used to clean nozzle tips and screens. Using two by two inch aluminum bar instead of pipe fittings to make multiple connections made construction easier and spray manifolds and valve blocks smaller. These parts were constructed by drilling a 7/16 inch hold longitudinally through a length of bar and drilling holes on two inch centers on any or all sides of the bar. All holes were tapped to fit 0.25 inch pipe fittings. Water in the 11th can is used to set boom pressure and is forced back through the other 10 cans with air pressure to speed rinsing. Rinsing is completed by spraying soapy water into cans with a knapsack sprayer wand from a pressurized five gallon tank. Rinsing is thorough, fast and a minimum amount of water is used. Each can is drained from the bottom into a common line so waste spray can be caught. Each can has a brass inline check valve through which compressed air passes. This prevents pressure loss and fluid back up when pressure in one

Heart Task Force To Present Film

The Heart In Industry Task Force of the local unit of the American Heart Association is sponsoring a showing of the film "I am Joe's Heart," at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the meeting room of the Rural Electric Coop building on Highway 60 East.

A special attraction at the meeting is a talk by Dr. C.E. Rush, a local physician. He will discuss the film and answer any question pertaining to it or heart disease.

The meeting will be conducted by Archie and Jo An Dwyer, presidents of the association here. Free blood pressure checks will be given and refreshments are planned.

The task force, a portion of the public education committee, has been conducting a big campaign in recent weeks to contact area industry with literature and information on heart disease.

Harriett McDonnell is chairperson of the task force. Division workers include: Mrs. Kathy Polan, livestock feeding; Mrs. Dean Jere Stallings, seed, feed and fertilizer; Mrs. Marlene Farley, pending institution, utilities, governmental bodies and building industry; Mrs. Karen Page, retail food, beauty shops and other retail stores; Mrs. McDonnell, produce shipping, sugar beet and irrigation supply industries.

Mrs. Marie Griffin and Neil Cooper are co-chairpersons of the committee.

'74 Texas Farm Prices Available In Publication

AUSTIN—Texas Prices Received and Prices Paid by Farmers has been published recently by Agriculture Commissioner John C. White, he has announced.

The 1974 bulletin is one in a continuing series and updates the 1973 publication.

Unusual Cotton Demonstration Hit Of Exposition

Probably one of the most unusual demonstrations involving a farm product occurred at the Cotton Exposition of 1885 held in Atlanta according to the National Cotton Council.

The Exposition had been organized under leadership of Henry Grady, editor of the Atlanta Constitution, to demonstrate what cotton manufacturing could do to restore the South's prosperity.

Cotton plants from Mexico, India, and Egypt—along with U.S. upland and long staple varieties—were growing on the grounds when the Exposition opened at Oglethorpe Park on Oct. 5. A model cotton factory, 720 feet long by 400 feet wide, had been erected as the main building.

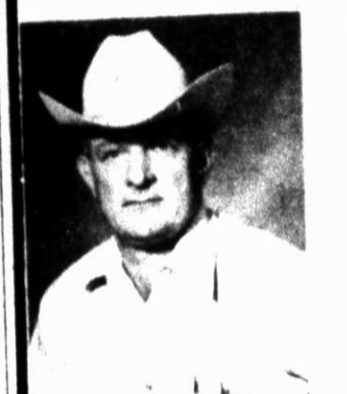

Shortly after sunrise on Oct. 27, which had been designated as "Governors' Day"—sufficient cotton was picked and ginned on the ground for two suits of clothes. The cotton was woven into cloth in the model factory, and by sunset the garments were completed and worn by Georgia Governor Alfred Colquhoun and Connecticut Governor Hubert Bigelow at receptions that evening.

The Exposition was so effective that similar events followed. Largest of all was the great Cotton States & International Exposition in 1885. With 6,000 exhibits, it drew worldwide publicity and is said to have had a major influence on textile development in the South.

Prices received by farmers are shown by months from June to June 1975 for a number of commodities including cattle, eggs, peaches, citrus and wheat.

Prices paid by farmers are listed for a wide variety of commodities used both in production and in family life. A long term series for production expenses and farm income also is listed.

"Texas Prices Received and Prices Paid by Farmers" is available free by writing Commissioner John C. White, Texas Department of Agriculture, P.O. Box 12847, Austin, Texas 78711.

ON INFLATION
Inflation cost American consumers seven cents on the dollar in 1975 and President Ford said it will cost them another 5.9 cents this year. That is an improvement over 1974 and 1973 when inflation clipped 21 cents off the dollar's purchasing power.

'Mackintosh and T.J.' Premieres

LUBBOCK—Roy Rogers is back. After a 20-year absence from movie making, the legendary star returns in "Mackintosh and T.J." which will have its world premiere at the Winchester Theatre in Lubbock February 5. A gala evening is planned for West Texas' first world premiere of any major movie. Roy Rogers will be on hand for the event which will benefit the Ranching Heritage Center at The Museum of Texas Tech University.

The center now is planning its formal opening for July 2-5, 1976. It is an authentic outdoor exhibit depicting the history of ranching in America's West. Those attending the premiere will have a reception at 7 p.m. in the lobby of the Winchester. The film will start at 8 p.m. Those who purchase Golden Row tickets will attend an after-theatre supper party with Roy Rogers. Tickets are $10, $25, and $50. All seats are reserved and may be purchased at The Museum of Texas Tech or by writing, P.O. Box 4612, Texas Tech University. All proceeds are for the development of the Ranching Heritage Center.

"Mackintosh and T.J." is a contemporary western, filmed at the 200,000 acre 6666 Ranch, 92 miles east of Lubbock near Guthrie. None of the sets were constructed. All are set against the backdrop of the famous 6666. Instead of a 10-gallon hat and buckskin, Rogers' costume is usually a straw hat and cotton shirt. Instead of Trigger, Roy's transportation is a broken-down pickup truck.

Rogers' co-star is Clay O'Brien who was born six years after Roy's last picture, "Son of Paleface," was released. O'Brien is no newcomer, however. Now 14 years old, he began his career when he was 9 in "The Cowboys." He followed that with another John Wayne vehicle, "Cahill, U.S. Marshall." Most recently, he added a Huck Finn appeal to Disney's "Apple Dumpling Gang," and he has played opposite Fess Parker and with James Garner in "One Little Indian."

Rogers, the star of 87 feature films before the long dry spell, chose "Mackintosh and T.J."

because of the story. There's action—bronc busting, brawls, a rabies epidemic, and even murder. "But it's the relationship between the tough old cowboy and the fatherless boy that gives the picture its 'heart,'" said Roy. Rogers adds understanding to the part as he himself is the father of nine—four of his children adopted and one foster child.

Director Marvin Chomsky, whose array of film credits includes television's award-winning four-hour special on the Klu Klux Klan, calls Rogers "one of the most unflappable actors I've ever worked with." Larry Mahan, six-time "All American Cowboy" who holds more rodeo records than anyone, plays one of the 6666 hands. After watching Rogers ride, he offered to "be his agent" if the cowboy star ever wanted to join the rodeo circuit.

Music for the film is by Waylon Jennings of Littlefield, Texas.
