Prison 'short list' coming Monday

Criminal Justice will announce its "short list" of candidate sites for new prisons and substance abuse centers.

we would not be allowed any input. If it wasn't going to help, there was no use in our going.

The prisons will include three 2,250-bed maximum-security facilities, six 1,000-bcd minimum- or medium-security beds, and an undetermined number of units to house and treat 12,000 substance abusers.

The new prisons are expected to provide selected communities with jobs for 800 employees and an annual $16 million payroll for a 2,250-bed prison, or 317 jobs and a $6 million annual payroll for a 1000-bed unit.

The prison system estimates it will spend nearly $80 million to build the prisons, which will take between 18 months and two years to construct.

Among the factors considered in the selection are operational costs, logistics, regional needs, staff recruitment and retention, site suitability, inmate catchment area, community resources and public support, according to TDCJ officials.

The biggest competition among communities is incentives offered to the state for locating a prison. Hereford is offering two different options on farmland (the TDCJ would get its pick of the two options), special breaks on utilities and construction and other enticements to site a prison here. Some area cities are offering up to $1 million and thousands of acres of land to get the TDCJ to pick their site.

Students, teachers perceive difference in Hereford schools

By JOHN BROOKS Managing Editor Hereford school teachers see several areas of strength in our schools. Parents of local students see no areas of concern. Students perceive no strengths. Those perceptions were gleaned from a survey conducted recently by Hereford school administrators. They were discussed Thursday at a leadership team meeting at the Stanton Special Programs Center. The team used the survey results and other tools to help form a mission statement and set goals for the next 5 to 10 years for local school campuses. The survey used a form from Dr. Bill Rauhauser of Lewisville. It sampled 309 professional staff, 187 parents, and 365 students in grades 7 through 12. The survey differed for each group, but all sampled the school mission, environment, instructional leadership, expectations, monitoring of student progress, opportunity to learn and home/school relations.

ARTIST Schaffner's work accepted for big show in Montana

Professional staff had 100 questions; parents and students answered 30 questions.

In areas of strength, teachers said:

-The schools understand the school mission with a commitment to goals.

--Goals focus on improving student performance.

-- The HISD is a safe and orderly place to work and learn. --A written code of conduct specifies acceptable student behavior, discipline procedures and consequences.

Teachers praise all students, not just those who accomplish the most.

-- Extra learning time is provided to students who need it or want it.

Parents feel:

-- The school is a safe place.

--Students are learning what they need for the future.

--Teachers keep parents informed of their child's progress and performance. In weaknesses, teachers indicated:

--Staff, morale is low.

--Parents don't provide support to the school for discipline.

Students identified several weaknesses, including:

-- Teachers don't tell them what must be done to get the grade they want.

--Students don't treat each other with respect.

--Administrators aren't in the classroom often.

--Parents and principals don't know each other well enough.

-- Teachers don't take a real interest in the student's future.

--Students don't obey school rules.

-- The school doesn't help students be enthusiastic about learning.

--Administrators don't listen to students and their concerns.

HISD Superintendent Charles Greenawalt said the administrators intend to survey all junior high and high school students to get a better understanding of student perceptions and try to address more of the students needs.

admitted to 671 bad checks over the 39 months that ended last Oct. 3.

'All we can do is go around and tell it to people and be as open as we can," he said during rounds of his district.

His wife Susan said she wrote many of the checks, but Sikorski said he must "take all the blame and not make excuses. The account was in my name."

Rep. Charles Hatcher, D-Ga., waited for voter anger over the 780 bad checks he admitted to writing in the 39 months. He got some.

"I don't like it at all," said Wendell Griffin, one of Hatcher's constituents in Albany, Ga. "If I did something like that, I'd be in jail. ... They're no better than I am. I think we need a whole new bunch up there."

Other problems came from political opponents.

In Oregon, Harry Lonsdale, seeking the Democratic nomination to a Senate seat, tried to score political points over the seven overdrafts, totaling $491.15, admitted to by Rep. Les AuCoin, his opponent in the state's primary.

"I can't believe the stupidity of the lawmakers on Capitol Hill," Lonsdale said. "Don't they know how angry something like this makes voters?

"I plead guilty to not being very careful in balancing my checkbook,' said Rep. Vin Weber, R-Minn., who confessed to 125 overdrafts totaling more than $47,000.

'This obviously is a political hit, there's no question about that,' Weber said. "I'm ready to take my medicine. I'm a big boy, I can handle that.'

Rep. John Spratt, D-S.C., a bank president and millionaire who said he has written about 40 bad checks, told The Item of Sumter that he only realized last November that the red stamp in the corner of a returned check meant it was not covered.

Spratt said a contributing factor to his overdrafts might have been that three people were writing checks on the account - he, his wife and an executive assistant.

A granite obelisk 7 feet tall, a monument to the men and women of Desert Storm, stands in front of the nursing home in Whitehouse, Texas, where the residents can gaze upon it with pride, as they should. They built it.

Scores of similar monuments have sprung up in towns and cities across the land in the year since the war ended. War memorials traditionally are somber edifices, tributes to the fallen. Desert Storm monuments are different.

It seems that Americans, their chests swelled, were of a mind to celebrate the swift victory in the Persian Gulf and honor the warriors who brought it about, the living and the dead - memorialize them right now, without the entanglements of red tape or official authorizations or tedious committee reports.

So they held bake sales and car washes and church suppers and raised money the grass-roots American way. The results were, shall we say, monumental.

Desert Storm monuments went up in Waycross and Valdosta, Ga.; Middlesboro, Ky.; Williamsfield, Aledo and Gaylesburg, Ill.; Ardmore, Okla.; Florence and Myrtle Beach, .C.; New Castle, Muncie, and Anderson, Ind.; Greenville, Stanton, and Lowell, Mich.; Taunton, Somerset and Swansea, Mass; and many others, maybe as many as 100, that not even the Monument Builders of North America know about.

Most were spontaneous enterprises such as the one in Whitehouse, a northeast Texas town of about 2,100.

The residents of the Oakbrook Health Care Center there were old enough to remember the civilian efforts during the last "good" war, knows just how many new monuments four houses down, Marine Lance Cpl Daniel Patrick Walker, was the first Texan.

This time the old home-front veterans strung beads.

'We had people out there who hardly ever came out of their rooms," said their activity director, Ragena McFaul. "But there they were, with their little arthritic shoulders and some who couldn't see at all stringing these beads."

They strung the beads into red, white and blue bracelets with the name of someone overseas and sold them for $1 apiece. The idea caught on and they took orders. They made more than 6,000 bracelets and shipped them as far as Hawaii and Germany.

We got a letter of thanks from the president of the United States and I had telephone calls from activity directors of nursing homes from all over the country," McFaul says.

She says she had to call all over Texas for enough beads, a craft store item

'When some of the retailers found out what we were doing, they contributed, too. They sold me $11 worth of beads for $4. It was a community, even a statewide effort," she says.

They raised enough for a batch of care packages and, of course, their monument. Etched on it is the name and likeness of Lance Cpl. Walker and the names of 24 others from the Whitehouse area who served in the Gulf.

In other towns similar local groups, acting on their own, took up the cause although the VFW and American Legion were involved in some, as well as the military. Some also dedicated their Gulf-inspired monuments to all veterans, previously overlooked.

There is no central source who

Some of them, Dianis says, had a Mideastern flavor, featuring perhaps a minaret on the top. One, put up by the NCO Wives Club in Fort Stewart, Ga., features a map of Iraq pierced by a sword and words of Gen. Norman Schwartzkopf: "I have seen in your eyes a fire of determination to get this job done quickly so that we may all return to the shores of our great nation. My confidence in you is total. Our cause is just! Now you must be the thunder and the lightning of Desert Storm."

In most cases the monument builders did the jobs at cost, Dianis says. Some monuments were paid for by support groups called Mothers Against Saddam Hussein (MASH), others by local TV stations. A car salesman in Lowell. Mich., donated $50 for every car he sold.

the Bailey Monument Company in Waycross, Ga., has so far built two monuments. "Everyone just jumped on the bandwagon," he says.

Bill Brown, president of Brown Memorials in Florence, S.C., also has put up two, one in Florence and one in Myrtle Beach. "I haven't seen anything like this kind of spirit since World War II," Brown says.

A TV chain headquartered in Portland, Maine, gave each of its five affiliates $10,000 to honor the Persian Gulf vets. One used the money for a welcome-home parade and fireworks, another for relief of families, the other three for monuments.

Monument builders say their business began to boom after the national monument to the Vietnam Vets in Washington, D.C., was dedicated in 1981. After that, communities began erecting their own, honoring veterans of both Vietnam and Korea. But, according to Brown, these reflected none of the immediacy of what he calls the "Gulf Peak."

Filing ends Randy Booker, vice president of Wednesday for city, HISD

Wednesday is the deadline for filing for places on the Hereford City Commission and Hereford school board.

Only incumbents had filed for seats on either board through Friday afternoon. The election will be held May 2.

City incumbents Roger Eades and Emory Brownlow, both holding atlarge seats; Irene Cantu, Place 2; and Wayne Winget, Place 4, filed soon after the Feb. 17 opening date. City Secretary Terri Johnson said Friday that several other residents had picked up packets, but none had returned applications by Friday afternoon.

Steve Wright, in Place 5, and Mike Veazey, in Place 4, have filed for reelection to the school board. Since school offices are closed this week, prospective candidates may contact Carolyn Hiltbrunner at home this week.

12 Texans among check- bouncers

WASHINGTON (AP) - Two more congressmen Friday said they incurred overdrafts at the House bank, the 11th and 12th Texans to admit involvement in the rubber check scandal dominating Capitol Hill.

"There is really no one to blame except myself for not keeping closer track of my House bank account," Rep. Kika de la Garza said Friday. "This is very embarrassing for me and my family. I apologize to my constituents and thank God that no tax payer funds were ever involved."

Rep. John Bryant also confirmed his name will be among the 355 current and former members who wrote bad checks at the now-defunct House bank.

The House voted 426-0 early Friday to make public the names of those who took advantage of free overdrafts at the bank. A list of 24 labeled "abusers" - 19 current House members and five former members - will be officially released within 10 days. The remainder will be released 10 days later.

"I'm sure that I'm going to have some overdrafts scored against me, but I don't know how many," said Bryant, D-Dallas.

While 14 other Texas members said they expected to be in the clear, some expressed fear that once all

Despite the flap in Anderson, many Vietnam veterans, who had waited decades for monuments and recognition, were active in getting the Desert Storm monuments built.

John Wilterink, vice president of Lowell Monument Company in Lowell, Mich., and a Vietnam vet himself, says the VFW came to him immediately to ask about a relief fund and later a Desert Storm monument. Eventually, they were to order five as Desert Storm spinoffs - for World War II, Vietnam, Korea and other police actions, and possibly one for Vietnam vets missing in action.

"The most gratifying thing was to see what the Desert Storm tributes did in spawning recognition for all vets, not just Desert Storm," Wilterink says. "We came home and we saw and we felt how we were treated after what we had to do over there. The Vietnam vets did not want that to happen to their children.

A SOFT MARKET When there are more houses for sale than buyers who want them, it is known as a "soft market." Which has happened in many areas, it becomes more important than ever to get expert help, when selling your home and property. What's the difference when a professional takes on the job? Everything, starting with setting the asking price. We are familiar with the local housing market. We know what comparable homes have sold for recently and how much one home's, fourth bedroom is worth, verses the remodeled kitchen of another. When you work with a real estate broker, you get ads that draw "live" prospects, and help in sifting through the responses for those who really want a home like yours and can afford it. Your home is shown by an experienced agent who knows how to highlight its good points and minimize its flaws. You also get a third party expert on your side to negotiate price and other considerations.

Have you heard about the workaholic? He was charged with resisting a rest.

Local school property taxes for 1991-92 will total $7.5 billion, according to preliminary data from the Texas Research League. That would be a $1 billion(15%) increase over the 1990-91 levies. "True" tax rates increased statewide by 17.6 percent, but taxes applied to residential homesteads went up only 2.9 percent. The new homestead exemptions helped hold residential property down. Generally, business property owners and renters are the ones really feeling the increase.

Statewide, the nominal tax rate(CED plus local districts)averaged $1.2181 per $100 of assessed value, compared to $1.088 for 1990. The local CED rate is $1.109--80.9 for the CED and 30 cents for Hereford Independent School District.

To the extent that the legislative intent was to reduce reliance on the local property tax, the new school finance plan was a failure as the local share went up from 53 to 55 prcent. There was a massive redistribution of state school aid in the 1991 reform bill, just as there had been in almost every previous school finance package designed to help improve school funding equity. The reforms appear to have more nearly equalized local property tax burdens, but at a substantially higher level.

Replacing lost state aid, while attempting to maintain the same per-student spending level, is the primary reason that local property taxes increased. Despite widespread reports of "program cuts," school districts in only 15 CEDs will have less property tax revenue. The other 173 CEDs report total increases. Hikes ranged from 10 to 50 precent in 100 of the CEDs.

The 188 new County Education Districts(CED) levied $4.7 billion; the 1,045 local school districts added $2.8 billion. Schools in seven CEDs will have a 50 percent or more increase, and one CED(No. 21) reported an increase of 107.7 percent.

The Brand doesn't publish a horoscope column and occasionally a reader asks why we don't have one. Frankly, we've never been much of a believer in this stuff. Many larger newspapers do publish horoscope columns and apparently they are popular with many readers. We look at one occasionally, just to see what the predictions are for Scorpios.

Ed White must not have been much of a believer either, since he came up with some tongue-in-cheek readings of his own several years ago in the White Sands(N.M.) newspaper. We hope readers will get a chuckle from them, and we ask the avid horoscope readers to remember this is just in fun:

Aquarius(Jan. 20-Feb. 18). You have an inventive mind and are inclined to be progressive. You lie a great deal. On the other hand, you are inclined to be careless and impractical, causing you to make the same mistakes over and over again. People think you are stupid.

Pisces(Feb. 19-March 20). You have a vivid imagination and often think you are being followed by the CIA or FBI. You have minor influence over your associates and people resent you for your flaunting of your power. You lack confidence and are generally a coward.

Aries(March 21-April 19). You are the pioneer type and hold most people in contempt. You are quick tempered, impatient and scornful of advice. You are not very nice.

Taurus(April 20-May 20). You are practical and persistent. You have a dogged determination and work like hell. Most people think you are stubborn and bullheaded. Taurus people have BO and bad breath. Gemini(May 21-June 20). You are a quick and intelligent thinker. Page 4A--The Hereford Brand, Sunday, March 15, 1992

Do early Demo primaries work?

By WALTER R. MEARS AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP) - After 20 years of reforms, deals, tinkering and tuning, the Democratic system for selecting presidential nominees is hurtling toward the early decision party strategists sought - on a candidate the voters don't yet know very well.

Gov. Bill Clinton acknowledged the problem.

"We all have just burst upon the

The real culprits?

When you go the polls Tuesday, you'll not find the real culprits on the ballot.

Despite all the presidential rhetoric to the contrary, most of the causes of today's recession can be traced directly to the doors of Congress--a Congress controlled since Moses' time by Democrats.

And the two chief architects of the tax changes that brought about downsizing and downscaling of American corporations and the resulting layoffs and loss of jobs are Sen. Lloyd Bentsen of Texas and Rep. Dan Rostenkowski of Illinois.

And these two are not on your ballot Tuesday.

As chairmen of the tax writing committees of the Senate and House, they presided over 1986 changes in taxes that drastically affected businesses operating in the United States--and the loss of jobs has been the net result.

Add in $40 billion a year in new costs in coping with ever more stringent environmental and workplace rules and regulations, and it is easy to see why USA firms are pulling up stakes and shifting emphasis to overseas operations.

Two simple moves would cure this recession and get the country moving again--and no matter who is president, the action has to come from the two tax writing committees of Congress.

And the two necessary ingredients are investment tax credit and accelerated depreciation. Both were taken away by federal tax changes, and the economy has gone downhill ever since.

Investment tax credit gave the buyer of capital goods an immediate 10 percent expense deduction. An oil well servicing company could buy a new rig for $500,000 and get to deduct 10 percent of the cost the first year. It spurred businesses to expand, to buy needed equipment, and to create more jobs.

Accelerated depreciation meant that a business could buy computers, equipment, tools, vehicles, other items and expense them over five or seven years. An investor could purchase a new office building, an apartment, or other real estate and expense the cost over a 10 or 12-year period.

We've got the Resolution Trust Corporation holding billions of dollars of real estate taken from savings and loan associations or banks, and the property won't sell or move because current depreciation rules set the time period of depreciation at 27 years.

Factor in the fact that the capital gains tax on the sale of a farm, business, an investment property or on stock, is 27 or 33 percent and it's easy to understand why business is in the doldrums in the USA.

And no new jobs are created in the private sector when business is on the defensive...and our Democrat-controlled Congress, under the misnomer of "Soak the Rich," has bashed business into headlong retreat.

It's a shame that the real culprits of the present situation are not on the ballot Tuesday -- scratchin' would be a delight.

Then came the personal Not that Clinton is a newcomer; controversies, first over a woman's he's served for 11 years as governor claim of an illicit affair, published in a supermarket scandal tabloid; then of Arkansas and remarked the other day that in that time he has known over the draft status that kept him out about 150 people who have been state of the Vietnam War. Now Clinton's governors. But that didn't put him on campaign has arranged a lawyer's review of a controversy involving his His debut there as a presidential personal finances, seeking to quash that one.

> Clinton claims to have dispelled those problems with his eight-state victory on Super Tuesday, saying Southern voters heard the worst about him but voted for him on the issues.

But that hasn't calmed concerns among elected Democrats, who worry that there may be more.

"I'm the most investigated, examined, gone-over person running for president," Clinton said.

Struggling to catch up and keep going, the second-place Democratic campaigner, Paul Tsongas, is trying to use the character issue while professing innocence.

"Whatever vulnerabilities I have are on the issues," he says. 'They're not vulnerabilities of character and judgment."

... I'm not carrying baggage," he said in a PBS television interview. "Bill Clinton is just one story after another. You don't think the Republicans are doing all the research into all those things?

Tsongas claimed he hasn't gone after Clinton on character but said Republicans wouldn't be so genteel.

That's the sort of savage gentility the Democrats had hoped their hurry-up nominating system would avoid this time. Ronald H. Brown, the party chairman, had said the Democrats would avoid the litmus test battles over political philosophy that have hampered their tickets before. But an in-party argument over the character of the man most likely to be nominated may prove more damaging.

early nominee, and it seems to me that we still have a chance of achieving that goal," Brown said after Super Tuesday. Clinton is the only one of the three candidates who can win early; a Tsongas comeback or a Jerry Brown upset would take until summer.

But the contest may be settled before the questions are. The nominating process for the 1972 campaign in a reform movement that stripped power from state party leaders and kingmakers and gave it to voters. That made the primaries, not the political clubrooms, the forum in which earlier candidates auditioned and won support for the nomination.

That's been the system since, with revisions including a guarantee that primary election losers usually share in a state's delegates, and with state and regional efforts to strengthen their influence by altering their schedules.

It is the process that produced the current, front-loaded schedule, with more than half the pledged delegates to be chosen by the end of this month, and more than 70 percent before May. There also are 772 superdelegates, officeholders who are not bound to any candidate, a theoretical swing vote which in practice is likely to line up with the primary election winner.

Twenty-five Democratic primaries and caucuses were bunched into the two weeks that ended Tuesday; two giant tests are just ahead. While the Democratic rivals have detailed, written programs on economic and other issues. they've been campaigning in shorthand and in often hostile television advertisements on a pace too intense for close attention to specific concerns.

According to a network-sponsored poll of Super Tuesday voters in five states, 40 percent of the Democrats who cast ballots weren't satisfied with their options and would like to see somebody else in the race.

Clinton says that is because "none of the candidates are all that well known yet," which makes running on issues all the more important.

He's described it as "buyer's remorse," saying it won't persist.

As a springtime symptom, that's manageable. The Democrats' risk is in the possibility of a recurrence later, when their ticket is set.

DSGH plans training for ACLS program

A team from Methodist Hospital in Lubbock will come to Hereford next Friday and Saturday(March 20-21) to teach ACLS(Advanced Cardiac Life Support) protocols to Deaf Smith General Hospital staff.

More than 30 staff members have registered for the course, according to Ron Rives, administrator. The course is also open to the public for a small fee, he said.

"If we had contracted with an outside source to teach this course, we would have spent more than two thousand dollars," Rives said. "Our affiliation with Methodist helps us fulfill our commitment to training our staff in a more economical manner."

Rives noted that for many of the staff, the training is a re-certification of previously learned skills.

ACLS protocols, developed by the American Heart Association, add to a basic training CPR (cardiopulmonary resusitation). The ACLScertified health care professional can administer certain medications, following set guidelines, in case of a cardiac emergency.

For more information, those interested in the course can call 364-3805.

NEW YORK (AP) - Singer Axl Rose blames the frequent late starts of Guns n' Roses concerts on his ongoing therapy.

"I mean, if a heavy emotional issue surfaces and you've got a show in four hours, you have to figure out how to get that sorted out really quick before you get onstage, so you're not in the middle of 'Jungle' and have a breakdown," Rose said, referring to the heavy metal group's hit song, 'Welcome to the Jungle."

McDaniel speaks to association recently

Lewis McDaniel, district manager of Southwestern Public Service, recently spoke to the Hereford Retired School Employees Association. He gave an update on the varied activities the past year of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce.

McDaniel emphasized that the chamber strives to be responsible to the needs of the community. Other projects held have included the July 4 celebration, the Town and Country Jubilee, Miss Hereford Pageant and appearances at 18 ribbon cutting ceremonies for new Hereford businesses.

The chamber was also active in helping form the proposal for the prison site that was submitted to state. McDaniel is optimistic that Hereford will be included on the short list that may be announced next week. He also stated that the economic development is ongoing and noted the expansions in the past year of Holly Sugar, Poarch Brothers, and Hereford Bi-Products.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am begging you to help me and thousands of other women who are worried sick. I am one of many who had breast implants years ago and am now reading some terrifying stuff in the papers. Mine was inserted in 1978 by a fine doctor who assured me they were safe.

My husband was very pleased with the results and so was I. My clothes looked better on me and I felt wonderful about my figure. Yesterday I heard on the radio there will be no more such surgeries until additional studies are done. Meanwhile, what is a person like me supposed to do?

I phoned my doctor and asked about having the implants removed. He asked me if I was having any problems. When I said, "No," he replied, "There is no reason for you to have them removed. Stop worrying."

Now, whenever I have a little ache or pain I get scared to death that it's the beginning of cancer or some other horrible thing caused by my implants.

Can you say something to calm my fears?--Terrified in Louisville

DEAR TERRIFIED: I have spent hours on the phone talking to experts in every part of the country and read page after page of testimony. This is what I have learned:

The U.S. Food and Drug Administration's advisory panel has determined that there is no compelling scientific evidence that the implants cause disease but made it clear that more studies are needed.

The panel has recommended that all women who need breast reconstruction after mastectomy be allowed to have it, as well as a limited number of women who want the procedure for cosmetic reasons, in order to supply data for a controlled study./

The FDA is advising women who have not experienced any problems to leave their implants in.

I spoke with Dr. Mitchell Karlan, 0562.

past president of the Los Angeles County Medical Society (12,000 members), and this is what Dr. Karlan said:

"The manner in which this controversy was handled by the FDA was political, not scientific. It did not serve the women of this country well. In 32 years as a surgical oncologist, having followed my patients after mastectomy for as long as 25 years, I have never seen one case of autoimmune disease or cancer that resulted from silicone gel breast implants.

"Approximately 2 million women have had breast implants since 1972. While no surgical procedure is guaranteed to be 100 percent successful for every patient, about 95 percent of the women who have had breast implants are extremely pleased with the results and have had no problems."

And now a final word from Kirk Johnson, general counsel for the American Medical Association:

"The FDA is trying to deal responsibly with a situation that has gotten out of hand in large part because malpractice lawyers have too much control over public health decisions. Whatever the merits of the implant controversy which we are reviewing, we know that malpractice lawyers are taking away from physicians and patients the ability to obtain the best health care."

Anyone who has questions can call the FDA Breast Implant Information toll-free hotline. The number is 1-800-532-4440 (TDD for the hearing impaired: 1-800-688-6167).

What causes double vision? There are any number of reasons. If double vision comes on suddenly, it may mean simply that bifocals are misaligned. It's a simple matter to readjust the glasses, or place the reading segment differently. On the other hand, double vision may be the sign of a developing health problem. If it is advisable, your optometrist will refer you to a specialist. In children, though, double vision more often indicates poor eye muscle coordination that can result in crossed eyes. To compensate for the problem, the child's brain may block out the image from one eye, which interferes with normal binocular vision and depth perception. This lack may limit normal school and play activities. Your optometrist can help. After a professional examination, the condition can usually be helped by glasses and/ or vision training .

WASHINGTON (AP) - Bob Weir of the Grateful Dead is lobbying against a bill he says would leave millions of acres of Montana wilderness open to logging and mining.

Weir, who was in town for two sold-out concerts in Landover, Md., isited congressmen and conservation leaders on Monday.

He said there isn't enough forest left to allow development to continue.

"I've been there. I've walked the land. I've seen what's going on. There just comes a time when you can't sit back and let the big dogs eat," he said.

Montana's senators introduced the measure as a compromise in a decade-old fight over more than 6 million acres of wilderness stretching from Yellowstone National Park to the Canadian border.

The Law Of Increasing Return

e live in a land of laws. Laws form the foundation of our democracy. Laws protect us from others and sometimes from ourselves. Men and women created most of these "rules for living together." However, not all laws that affect our lives are manmade. Some laws are natural laws.

The law of gravity is one example of a natural law. If I stand behind you and throw a bucket of water up in the air right over your head, you will get wet. It doesn't matter if you know about the law of gravity or if you understand how gravity works; you still get wet.

The law of "Increasing Returns" is another natural law. You gravity, it still exists. This interesting natural law manifests itself in many areas of human endeavor.

Napoleon Hill wrote about this law in his book "Law of Success." He wrote, "Render more service than that for which you are paid and you will soon be paid for more than you render. The law of 'Increasing Returns' takes care of this."

I've seen this law manifest in business, in the work force and in my own life. I know it's true.

The Truth Hurts

Sometimes we do not wish to hear the truth. For example, a few weeks ago Japanese officials suggested that American workers were a little on the lazy side. Labor unions, industrial workers and many others rose up in protest. Not true, not true, they shouted. However, there is some truth in what the Japanese said.

When I worked in the corporate world, I had the opportunity to tour and work in some of the nation's largest industrial plants. I watched workers in steel mills, canneries and automotive foundries. I observed thousands of American workers and few of them do more work than that for which they are paid.

Maybe the reason they don't work more productively is they don't understand the law of increasing returns. How often have you heard someone say, "That's not my job" or "I don't get paid to do that." It is obvious to me that those people don't understand how the law works.

Understanding the Law

I grew up on a farm and know that most farmers understand the may never have heard of the law of increasing returns, but like law of increasing returns. They till the soil, plant the seed, cultivate the crop, pray for rain - not that much rain - and harvest in the fall. Before they get any return, they work hard and invest heavily.

If they plant 100 acres, they can harvest no more than 100 acres. Sometimes the harvest is dismal, but the farmers plant again. They know that they have to plant if they ever expect to harvest. They understand that the more acres they plant the greater their potential harvest.

The parallel with business is interesting. We must prepare the business field, cultivate our customers and provide valuable services. Only then can we harvest our profits.

Individual workers, often find this process hard to understand. Most employees react to short-term incentives. The weekly or monthly paycheck is the most common. The harvest comes even if they loafed during the week. Actually the law is still in force though everyone appears to receive the same reward.

When hard times come, management releases the least productive and least efficient workers. Therefore, if you are worth more than you paid, you have additional job security.

In good times, the law of increasing returns improves your chances for raises, promotions and additional benefits. Perhaps not in the short run, but always in the long haul. Those businesses and individuals who render more service than that for which they get paid, will soon get paid for more than they render. It's the law.

Question-Answer

Q. - We had to trim the bottom of our hollow-core door so that it would clear new carpeting we had installed. We tried not to damage the veneer on the door as we first scored the cut line with a sharp utility knife guided by a straightedge. In spite of this we did break away some of the surface. What's the best way to fix this?

A.' - To fix the splintered area of the veneer, you'll need to first lift the broken wood away from the door with a putty knife, and then apply glue to resecure the veneer. Use a small tube of white cargenter's glue, or buy a glue injector with a needle applicator at a wallcovering store. The needle applicator will let you

IT'S ALMOST HERE!! The Friends of the Library Open House (formerly called the Annual Meeting) will be Monday, 7:00 pm, in the Heritage Room of the library. I'm really excited about this year's program! Jena Rawley-Whitaker has recently completed work on illustrations for a new children's book Fairy Tea, and she will be sharing her experiences as an artist and illustrator. We've heard from lots of writers, and a smattering of other folks connected with books in some way, but I don't believe we've ever heard the illustrator's side before. Jena will be displaying some of her work as she tells us about dealing with writers, editors and publishers. She is a lot of fun to be around, so come hear her presentation ... and be ready to ask her all those questions you've wanted to know about art!

Speaking of Fairy Tea...well, I wish we could speak more about it, but until the publisher is ready to release it, everything is hush-hush. We do know that local people and places have been the models for the illustrations, and that it has something to do with a tea party. (Brilliant, huh?) I'm eager to see the finished product.

I promised that I'd tell you about the "Friends" this week so here goes...The Friends of the Deaf Smith County Library is an organization devoted to promoting awareness of the benefits and facilities of the library, and to improving library programs and services. The Friends sponsor two main annual events. One is the Open House (Annual Meeting) which features informative and entertaining guest speakers, and the other is the October book Sale where almost every book is a dime or a quarter. Monthly, the Friends provide the Family Film, officio member of the organization. and publish and mail the library calendar. Other "special" programs are offered throughout the year. The organization was responsible for obtaining our first microfilm viewer, our VCR and monitor, and our original collection of books on tape. Steps are now being taken to begin a video collection.

The Friends of the Library is worthy, non-time-consuming, and inexpensive. An individual membership is only three dollars a year and family dues and six dollars. (You can't go to a movie for that!) Businesses and organizations pay ten dollars annually, and if you would rather not be bothered by an annual dun...a hundred dollars and you're a member for life!

On a technical point ... I use "we" in an editorial sense, I guess. Officially (or maybe I should say "ex-officially") I, as Assistant librarian, am an ex-

PITTSBURGH (AP) - Danny DeVito said his work as director of the movie "Hoffa" changed his opinion of the Teamsters boss.

"When I grew up, I was under the impression that Hoffa was some kind of hood," DeVito said Monday.

But after researching the movie, DeVito said, he decided Jimmy Hoffa "has done more for the labor movement and put more bread on the table than any man alive."

'Yes, he is a hero to me," DeVito said. Hoffa, who was alleged to have

ABC's 'The Mall' offers low-key realism

Acting, honesty ease rough spots

By Steven Alan McGaw Since ABC Afterschool Specials first premiered in 1972, the series has consistently offered commendable programming for children and adolescents.

Some works have been designed primarily for entertainment, like the animated Cyrano (featuring the voice of Jose Ferrer) or the whimsical Alexander, starring Red Buttons. Other broadcasts have featured original dramas, focusing attention on issues of particular concern to young people, like The Late, Great Me, about teen alcoholism, or 1989's Just a Regular Kid: An AIDS Story. In its issue-related programs, the Afterschool Specials series has braved periodic controversy, striving for informative, engaging presentations that never underestimate the intelligence of the audience.

ABC marks the 20th anniversary of Afterschool Specials with its first miniseries, Summer Stories: The Mall, apprehensions about college, trail beginning Thursday, March 19. (Parts two and three of The Mall air at two-week intervals, on April 2 and 16.) Although each episode's script has a different author or set of authors, Degrassi High's Yan Moore served as story editor for the entire project, which was directed by Tony Awardwinning actor John Rubinstein (Crazy and appropriate, hitting a quiet, Like a Fox).

The premise of The Mall is suitably simple, allowing fluid movement among several intertwining stories in each episode. The first installment begins at high-school graduation, the air heavy with a mixture of relief, anticipation and uncertainty. Sarah Charney (Mara Hobel) faces her last summer at home before leaving for college. Spinner (Sandy Gaberman), Sarah's best friend, is a singer in a rock band. He plans to attend college locally, but has far greater interest in finding a girlfriend. Samaria Graham plays Marla, content to delay her education for a time in order to help her widowed mother and younger sister. Each of the friends has a summer job at a local mall.

As the stories develop, other characters move in and out of focus. In part one (titled "First Impressions"), Sarah, an adopted child, must decide if she wishes to meet her biological mother, played by Tony winner Kelly Bishop. Part two ("Second Chances") examines Marla's mixed emotions over her mother's (S. Epatha Merkerson) decision to remarry. The third episode, "Temptations," is the most dramatic, centering on Marla's co-worker Diane (Jorjan Fox) and her efforts to remain drug-free and obtain her high school equivalency diploma.

Lesser story lines, like Spinner's unfulfilling love life and Sarah's through each episode, providing a unifying context. Humor in The Mall is supplied by the lovelorn Spinner and Sarah's co-worker Teresa, whose youthful engagement is stormy, to say the least.

The writing in The Mall is focused realistic tone that should be accessible and comforting to its intended audience. There are, however; occasional lapses, like the inane scene of Sarah, Marla and Teresa dancing around a boutique, MTV style. The performances are uniformly good, and Hobel and Gaberman's warm, vulnerable portrayals give the series much of its charm. 10 TV Listing Inc

Sunday on CBS, Patricia Wettig (center) portrays a rape victim turned victims' rights advocate in Taking Back My Life, the dramatization of a true story. Ellen Burstyn and Stephen Lang co-star.

'Taking Back My Life' provides example for others

Rape victim becomes advocate for victims' rights

By Dan Rice The relationship of rape victims with the media is an issue both controversial and timely. On the one hand, the press' exploitation is often a process of secondary victimization, but some courageous women do brave the prying questions and leering accusations to come forward in the name of justice and to serve as inspiration for other victims.

The latter scenario describes the true story of Nancy Ziegenmeyer, whose ordeal and triumphs are dramatized in the TV movie Taking Back My Life, airing Sunday, March 15, on CBS.

Patricia Wettig (thirtysomething) stars as Ziegenmeyer, an Iowa woman whose life is changed forever by her rape. Inspired by a sensitive editorial by the Des Moines Register's Geneva Overholser (Joanna Cassidy), Ziegenmeyer reveals the assault in detail to the newspaper, whose five-part account of the crime won a Public Service Pulitzer Prize that year. With this start, Ziegenmeyer transformed herself from victim to victims' rights advocate, struggling all the while to become whole again and find balance within her family.

Taking Back My Life co-stars Stephen Lang (Babe Ruth) as Nancy's anguished husband, Eileen Brennan as her tough boss, Ellen Burstyn as her skeptical mother-in-law, Gina Hecht as a rape counselor and Shelley Hack as the dynamic prosecutor.

The real Nancy Ziegenmeyer, who acted as a consultant for the movie, does not regret her gutsy actions.

"The reason I went public was to take control of my life back, and in doing so I completely lost it again, but in a good sort of way, I think. The advocacy work that I do is good work. It's important work. Let the women that want to speak out, speak out. And that gives the women that are scared courage from that to get to that point. Someday, rape will be treated just like any other crime. But it's not going to be tomorrow."

Stage veteran Slattery finds television home

By Suzanne Gill John Slattery was added to the cast of ABC's Homefront last October to help stir things up in the town of River Run, Ohio. The plan worked so well that the Boston native was asked to stay on for the rest of the season.

Slattery's character, Al Kahn, is a union organizer whose Jewish heritage and creeping middle age are far more alarming to the mother (Wendy Phillips) of Linda Metcalf (Jessica Steen), his Catholic paramour, than his politics or profession. Leave it to factory owner Mike Sloan to be upset over Kahn's plans to alter employment practices in town. For better or worse, Kahn is a catalyst: His interference provoked gunfire in the show's muchpublicized March 4 episode.

"It's sort of on (Kahn's) shoulders, as far as bringing all this (controversy) to town," he says.

But Slattery is more pleased than worried by the issue-based story line, and though tempers have cooled (this week, Kahn is working out romantic troubles with Linda), he hopes the serialized drama will return for a second season.

Slattery's other television credits include two John Sacret Young series, China Beach and Under Cover. Before heading west, he worked on the New York stage.

"With me, it's really where the work is," he says. "If it's good work, I would go any place." O TV Listing Inc

Turner left 'GH' for more 'Exposure'

By Candace Havens Dear Candace: Janine Turner of Northern Exposure was once on General Hospital. Do you know when and what role she played? -Lonoine Gerich, Royal Oak, Mich.

Dear Reader: Turner portrayed the very sexy blonde Laura Templeton from 1982-83. Laura was the sister of Jackie Templeton, portrayed by Demi Moore. Ironically, the two look like they really could be sisters now, with their short dark hair.

Dear Candace: I'm writing you to say Jessica Tuck (who played Megan on One Life to Live) is a great actress. Her last scene where she died in Jake's arms' was so convincing it had me in tears. Would it be possible to get her address so I can write to her? Maybe you could give some information on Tuck. No one else could have been better as Megan. -Camille Martinez, Tucumcari, N.M.

Dear Reader: You are not alone in your praise of Tuck's performance. I have received a good deal of mail indicating viewers were going to stop watching OLTL because Tuck left the show. Many felt ABC should have done whatever it took to keep her.

The network did make several lucrative offers to Tuck, but she chose to leave. She felt that she had done all she could do with the character. She is looking forward to finding work in prime time and feature films. It will be interesting to see if she does indeed find work, or heads back to daytime with her tail between her legs.

Tuck has several theater credits to her name, and she made her television debut on OLTL in August 1988. A native New Yorker, she attended boarding school in New England, and

St. Patrick's Dav for rovers on cable TV By Dan Rice

Rather than embark on a Tuesday night pub-crawl, spend this St. Patrick's Day on a globe-trot with cable television. The March 17 journey begins on A&E with One Irish Rover, the versatile composer and performer Van Morrison. Starting off in his native Belfast, Ireland, in a gig with the Chieftains, Van the Man racks up frequent-flyer miles by joining Bob Dylan for duets in Athens, Greece, singing the blues with John Lee Hooker in a Louisiana bayou and rocking in London with Georgie Fame and the Blue Flames. Fans of Morrison will appreciate this geographic deconstruction of his eclectic style.

If you'd prefer to stay in the States, The Disney Channel offers a tour of the Scenic Wonders of America: American West. Celebrating 500 years of the American experience, this presentation of The American Legacy is the first in a series of six natural history documentaries about America's most majestic sights.

Also on Tuesday, the screen version of Irish playwright Hugh Leonard's autobiographical play Da makes its world TV premiere on The Disney Channel. Barnard Hughes reprises his Tony-winning stage role as the recently deceased foster father of Charlie (Martin Sheen), a playwright whose return to Ireland for Da's funeral provokes a deluge of memories from his past. ESPN offers Sunday sports roundtable

By Steve Paschal For many fans sports are a diversion, Walter Mitty escapism mixed with a liberal dose of machismo. But to others, the sports scene is a microcosm of America where the best and worst of society is exemplified both on and off the playing field.

Box scores and highlight clips are not enough for these amateur sports sociologists. Whether the subject is steroids or salary arbitration, they can get the bottom line on ESPN's Sundaymorning roundtable, The Sports Reporters.

Each week a gathering of nationally syndicated sports writers and authors, led by ESPN's Dick Schaap, explores the implications behind the biggest stories in sports.

For a half-hour each week, this sports think tank dissects the week's headlines and examines their ramifications. For example, following Mike Tyson's rape conviction, the discussion ranged from the decision's impact on boxing to whether a black man can receive a fair trail in America.

NBC adds 'Magic' to sports team

You can't keep a great player away from the game. Earvin "Magic" John-soh, whose surprise retirement from the Los Angeles Lakers last November came with the announcement that he had contracted the HIV virus, has joined the NBC team of announcers for NBA regular-season, play-off and finals games. One of basketball's most prolific scorers, Johnson earned glowing reviews for his stint as a guest analyst for NBC's coverage of the match between the Bulls and the Lakers last month.

"When NBC asked me if I would be interested in being a commentator," Johnson said, "I thought I would give it a try for one game, just to see if I liked it and to see how I would do. Well, I loved it! I'm happy that NBC thought I did well enough to have me back." Johnson is scheduled to share the booth with Marv Albert and Mike Fratello for the April 5 Bulls-Celtics game.

Also in front of the lens is a made-for-CBS drama based on the true story of Alta View Hospital's ordeal when gunman Richard Worthington held the maternity ward hostage for 18 hours. The movie, which is now being filmed in Salt Lake City with the working title Siege at Alta View, stars Harry Hamlin as the man intent on killing the doctor who performed a tubal ligation on his wife, thus depriving him of the chance to meet his ninth chld. Teri Garr co-stars as the head nurse, and Terry O'Quinn plays the police sergeant called in to negotiate.

Ever recruiting, NBC has signed Jodie Foster to direct the pilot for a series based on her film Little Man Tate. Despite the film's disappointing box-office returns, network execs think the story of a gifted child's struggle for a normal life will do well in prime time (opposite Doogie Howser, perhaps?). The pilot is currently in production.

C-SPAN a tool in the classroom

By Chris Carpenter When the Cable-Satellite Public Affairs Network (C-SPAN) began broadcasting live sessions of the U.S. House of Representatives in 1979, good things started happening. Legislators draped themselves in snappier suits, and interested constituents were suddenly able to see before their very eyes what their local politico was or was not doing to earn their vote.

A non-profit cooperative of the cable industry, C-SPAN has expanded its coverage of government to include call-in shows, open forums and even a weekly session of Parliament.

If C-SPAN's programming schedule reads like the syllabus of a high school government class, it should. Schools are more than encouraged to sign up for C-SPAN in the Classroom, a project offered free of charge to any educator with the hutzpah to wheel a television and VCR into class. Not only are there no copyright hurdles, C-SPAN will gladly provide teachers with instruction ideas, brochures and a toll-free hotline for daily schedules.

There is also a 10-minute weekly program, Short Subject, for succinct instruction. This week's offering, Powers and Duties of the President, airs Tuesday, March 17, at 1 a.m. Eastern time.

C-SPAN in the Classroom is a fine way to introduce young minds to the three-dimensional political issues that seem so flat on the printed page.
