

Romero Handed 7-Year Sentence for Manslaughter

By PAUL SIMS
Managing Editor

Nick John Romero was found guilty of voluntary manslaughter and aggravated assault and sentenced to seven years in prison and an additional 10 years probation by a nine-man, two-woman jury Wednesday in 222nd District Court.

The jury, minus one male member who suffered a heart attack last week, deliberated for three hours and 15 minutes before finding Romero guilty of voluntary manslaughter in connection with the Feb. 17 stabbing of Pedro Demas of Friona.

The jury also found Romero guilty of an aggravated assault of Juan Ramon Trevino, also of Friona, who was stabbed in the same incident at 701 Stanton.

Jurors deliberated three hours on the punishment before sentencing Romero to seven years in prison for voluntary manslaughter and recommended probation on the aggravated assault conviction.

Judge George W. Miller of Floydada did not say, after the punishment was read, how both sentences would be carried out, but ordered Romero to report to the district probation officer today.

Romero showed no emotion as he stood, facing the jury during the reading of each verdict. Romero's wife, Rosa, sat next to the defendant and also showed no emotion.

After the reading of the guilty verdicts, Romero took the stand on his own behalf during the punishment phase of the trial. He testified, under questioning by defense attorney Jimmy Craig, that he had never been convicted of a felony, is the only means of support of his wife and young son and felt he should be granted probation.

Craig, in arguments of the jury during the punishment phase, said that Romero had worked as a feed yard cowboy since his graduation from high school, had never been in serious trouble before and should be granted probation.

Assistant District Atty. Jerry Smith asked for a prison term "in each of these cases." Smith said the jury "by its verdict will put people on notice that if there is this type of conduct, there is this type of consequence."

"The defendant says he is asking you for a second chance, but he's really asking for a third chance because you found him guilty of not one felony, but two."

The jury, during deliberations on Romero's guilt or innocence, rejected the self-defense issue. Romero had contended that Demas pulled a pocketknife prior to the stabbings in the front yard at 701 Stanton.

The jury also rejected the prosecution's attempt to convict Romero of murder, instead finding him guilty of the lesser offense of voluntary manslaughter.

According to testimony in the trial, Romero stabbed Demas and Trevino during a confrontation over Romero's wife. Romero had accused his wife of being with Trevino, whom she claimed was the father of her son, according to Trevino's testimony Monday.

Craig, during final arguments Wednesday morning, claimed Romero was defending himself from the two men "who had threatened him in the past and had even tried to break into his house."

Craig reminded the jury that a pocketknife was found in Demas' pants

Blizzard Kills Cattle, Halts Power

BY JIM STEIERT
Brand Farm Editor

Although moisture from a winter storm which hit the area Tuesday morning was welcomed by area wheat farmers, residents in rural areas of Deaf Smith and neighboring Oldham County are still in the process of digging out from near-blizzard conditions which accompanied the storm.

The task is grim indeed for stockmen in an area ranging from roughly Wacott north to Adrian and east to Vega, where cattle followed their instincts to move away from the biting snow-laden winds.

Livestock piled up in fence corners where snow drifts covered and suffocated large numbers of cattle, while others were trampled by cattle piling up in fence corners seeking escape from the weather.

With snow drifts reaching depths of up to eight feet in the Adrian vicinity, many cattle simply walked over fences and stockmen began the task of gathering up strays Wednesday, a chore which would continue for days with the livestock scattered.

Power was off to rural areas and the communities of Adrian, Vega and Willadoro Tuesday, although crews worked through the night Tuesday and all day Wednesday restoring service to areas where it had been interrupted.

Mrs. Jim Perrin reported that "a good eight inches" of snow covered the ground at the Perrin farm northwest of Hereford near Adrian.

"There are some severe cattle losses here. Cattle are out everywhere, and we lost our power at noon on Tuesday. It will be a while before we find all of the lost cattle. We found one pile with 12 dead ones in it, and you can look out across the pasture and see dead ones everywhere. They laid down and got drifted up and smothered," she reported.

"If you have a four-wheel drive you can get around. Otherwise it's a problem. The men have been haying the cattle and hoping they can find them all," she added.

John A. Smith reported heavy snowfall in the region of his farm north and west of Farmer's Corner in Deaf Smith County, near the Ford community.

Cattle also drifted over fences in that vicinity, according to Smith, and numbers of cattle suffocated under snow drifts, although head counts on the death loss won't be available until some of the snow clears.

Smith reported snow drifts up to five feet in depth in that area, due to winds that gusted as high as 50-55 miles per hour on occasion Tuesday, although the snowfall rapidly tapered off to the south toward the Milo Center area.

At the Mark Hicks farm and ranch operation west of the Ford community, preliminary counts Wednesday showed that cattle losses were at least 120 head, and could go higher on that one farm alone.

Riders were out in that area again this morning searching for strayed cattle and hoping they will find no more drifts covering the carcasses of livestock.

Severe cattle losses were also feared in an area ranging eastward from the Ford community.

Drifting snow also created problems in the county's west and northwest sections, where the white powder began falling early in the day Tuesday and continued into the night.

Mrs. Clint Homfeld reported drifts had virtually "trapped us in the house" Wednesday at the Homfeld farm 47 miles northwest of Hereford.

Homfeld was out on a four wheel drive tractor equipped with a blade Wednesday afternoon attempting to clear roads at his spread and make his way to his cattle, and Mrs. Homfeld reported that one individual and his son were trapped in their pickup in a snow drift Tuesday night, with work underway Wednesday

Homecoming Festivities Centered Around Hereford-Lubbock Tilt

A parade through downtown Hereford, the day-long ringing of the victory bell and the crowning of a senior queen will highlight Friday's Hereford High School Homecoming activities, all of which are centered around the HHS-Lubbock High-football game in Whiteface Stadium.

Activities actually began today, as first-period classes decorated rooms. The halls and high school cafeteria also were to be decorated today in preparation for Homecoming Friday.

A panel from the community will judge classroom decorations Friday. Tonight is the last night students will have an opportunity to prepare their floats for Friday's Homecoming parade, which will start at 3 p.m. at HHS then proceed down Main St. Floats will be judged on the basis of originality and effort spent in preparing them for the parade.

Students and other interested persons will attend a pep rally honoring the Whiteface football team at 2:15 p.m. Friday. Players, coaches and Homecoming queen candidates and attendants will be introduced at the pep rally.

Senior queen candidates are Karla Driskill, Kim Freeman and Patti Marquez, Junior and sophomore attendants, respectively, are Louise Mays and Amanda Tijerina. The queen will be announced at halftime, Friday night.

The annual sophomore-class pancake supper will be from 5-7 p.m. Friday in the high school cafeteria. Tickets will be sold at the door.

The main event of the day will be the Hereford-Lubbock District 4-AAAA football clash beginning at 7:30 p.m. Friday. Several Hereford "exes" are expected to be on hand, and school district officials are expecting a capacity crowd on the home side of the field.

Baker Joins Race For Nomination

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr. declared his candidacy for president today, coupling a warning that "America has lost its margin for error" with a new appeal for defeat of the SALT II treaty.

Departing from the traditional generalities of presidential announcement speeches, Baker devoted a major section of his brief statement to the proposed arms treaty between the United States and the Soviet Union.

"Approval of this treaty with its acceptance of Soviet strategic superiority could guarantee to the Soviet Union the margin for error that used to be ours," said Baker, who as Republican leader of the Senate has emerged as a key opponent of the pact.

Referring to President Carter and the president's rival for the Democratic presidential nomination, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, Baker said Carter negotiated SALT and Kennedy supports it.

"They may be on the right political side," he said. "But they are short-sighted and they are wrong."

Baker said the nation needs a president who will "face up to the realities of a Soviet foreign policy that probes every weakness and fills every vacuum, a president to insist on defenses strong enough through the next generation to give us the confidence to stand tall again. "I am ready to be that president," he declared.

He also said he could bring "unity and action" to deal with the nation's domestic problems and described himself as "articulate enough...tough enough...honest enough...compassionate enough...young enough...experienced enough" to provide the leadership the nation needs.

In an appeal to fellow Republicans, Baker said he can win votes "in the South and in the North, on the farms and in the cities, with the whites and with the blacks, with the old and with the young."

Baker, who describes himself as a "center of gravity" politician, declared his candidacy in the Senate Caucus Room, a traditional forum for launching

Wrong Runway Blamed On Mexico City Crash

MEXICO CITY (AP) — A landing on the wrong runway was blamed for the crash of a Western Airlines DC-10 at the Mexico City airport in which 74 persons were reported killed.

"It was definitely not structural; there's no question about that," said FAA spokesman Dennis Feldman in Washington.

The airport was shrouded in fog when the plane from Los Angeles landed before dawn Wednesday on a runway that was closed for repairs, hit a truck and crashed into two buildings. Officials said 71 of the 88 persons aboard the jetliner and three on the ground were killed.

Seventeen others aboard Flight 605 survived. Three were in intensive care, nine were reported in satisfactory condition, and five were released after first-aid treatment.

The pilot, Capt. Charles Gilbert, 53, of Rolling Hills, Calif., was among those killed.

Mexican officials said the runway on which the plane landed had been closed for two weeks for repairs and was dark, while the adjacent, parallel runway that was open was well lighted.

Tail marks on the runway indicated that the pilot tried to take off, officials said, but the plane's landing gear hit a truck, killing the driver. The impact sent the airliner sliding across to the other runway and it crashed through a mobile lounge and slammed into an Eastern Airlines building, killing two people in the building.

"Everybody didn't die right away," said Pandora Drickerson Scott, 19, of Chico, Calif., a passenger who survived the crash. "Some were trying to get out. Some of them...they were crying 'Help, Help!' then they were either calm or something must have happened to them."

In Washington, the FAA officials said

Fuel, New Cars Push Up Wholesale Costs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Higher prices for energy products and 1980-model cars helped push wholesale prices up 1 percent in October, the government said today.

The overall increase, following a 1.4 percent surge in September, occurred despite a 0.1 percent dip in wholesale food prices.

Although food-price decline was a hopeful sign for inflation-weary consumers, few other figures in the Labor Department's Producer Price Index signaled an end to the persistent price spiral.

John Early, a Labor Department economist, said "November and December could be pretty much a repeat" of the October performance.

Prices at the producer level — one step short of retail grocery, drug and department store shelves — have accelerated at an annual rate of 12.3 percent in the first 10 months this year, Early said.

That could make 1979 the worst since 1974, when producer prices went up 18.3 percent, he said.

Changes in the Producer Price Index are watched carefully because they often show up after a month or two lag at retail stores.

Retail prices in September, the most recent month available, were 12 percent higher than in September 1978. And they have been rising at the fastest rate since 1946, when the government lifted World War II price controls.

Most of the October increase was blamed on rising energy costs, which pushed the prices of non-food items up 1.4 percent, the largest jump for one month this year.

Gasoline prices were up 5.1 percent for the month and home heating oil rose 4.7 percent, the report said.

Early noted that "this is less than the 6.2 percent (for gasoline) and 7.9 percent (for heating oil) of September, but not by much."

Energy prices, in fact, were 60.5 percent higher in October than they were in the same month last year. This reflects, in good part, the crude oil increases imposed by the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries since the start of 1979.

Prices for 1980 passenger cars, reflected in the index for the first time, rose 0.6 percent last month after declining for several months during the nationwide car sales slump.

Food prices came down in large part because of drops in the wholesale cost of meat.

The Producer Price Index in October stood at 223.7. That means that goods that cost $100 at wholesale in 1967 cost $223.70 last month. The figure was 12.1 percent higher than in October 1978.

However, a report released Wednesday by the Agriculture Department indicated there could be some relief from rapidly rising food prices in future months. Agriculture officials said the prices farmers get for raw products declined 2 percent from September to October.

Prices at the farm level were lower for

Farmers Receive Less for October Goods

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sharply lower prices for hogs and cattle contributed to a 2 percent drop in the government's index of prices that farmers received last month.

The Agriculture Department said Wednesday lower prices for calves, soybeans, corn and broiler chickens also were reported. Higher prices for milk, oranges, grapefruit and wheat helped dampen the price declines for other commodities, however.

Despite the decline, the overall farm price index was 8 percent above a year ago, the department's Crop Reporting Board said.

According to the preliminary October figures, the index of prices at the farm for meat animals dropped 4 percent from September.

Compared with a year earlier, prices of meat animals were up 8 percent in October.

Prices paid by farmers to meet expenses, including living costs, rose 0.8 percent in October and averaged 14 percent more than a year ago.

Fruit prices overall rose 5 percent in October after plummeting 22 percent in September. The October fruit price index was still 7 percent below a year ago, however.

Dairy prices rose 1.5 percent from September, averaging 12 percent higher than a year ago, according to the preliminary October figures.

The index of prices for poultry and eggs declined 6 percent from September because of lower egg and broiler prices. Turkey prices at the farm, however, gained during the month. Overall, the index was down 15 percent from a year ago.

Retail food prices overall are expected average around 11 percent higher than in 1978 when they gained 10 percent, according to department economists. Although most of the increase occurred earlier this year, moderate increases still are expected in remainder of 1979.

The department is expected to announce its official food price predictions for 1980 next week.

Meanwhile, department economists have said informally that food prices next year may increase 7 percent to 12 percent, but probably less than the 11 percent gain previously estimated for 1979.

Economists do not consider farm prices in a single month to be reliable indicators of future retail food prices.

For example, this year the index has increased in five months, dropped in four and remained unchanged in one.

The October parity ratio for farm commodities was 68 percent, compared to 70 percent in September and 71 a year ago, the report said.

At 100 percent, the indicator would mean, theoretically, that farmers have the same buying power they had in 1910-14.

For example, the average actual farm price of wheat in October was $3.90 a bushel.

Snakes, Floods Force Floridans to Safety

OKEECHOBEE, Fla. (AP) - Hundreds of central Florida residents jammed into motel rooms today, their vacation trailers and retirement homes surrounded by hordes of venomous snakes and flood waters from a crumpled reservoir.

Civil defense officials said 500 to 1,700 persons were evacuated and homes sustained at least $1.3 million in damages when a wall of the Lake Okeechobee reservoir gave way. However, officials predicted the damage figure would escalate as reports came in on devastated crops, cattle, roads and camps.

And officials said 300 or more mobile homes and houses around the lake were struck Wednesday by floodwaters up to 8 feet in depth.

"I can't even think of what our loss will be. It's everything we've got in the world," said an exhausted Ralph Knapp, whose two large mobile homes, a recreation building, a new swimming pool and sea wall were inundated.

There were no reported injuries or deaths, perhaps, officials said, because a surprised train company crew warned authorities of the rushing water when their 21-car train was washed off the tracks.

Mamie Eisenhower

Dies in Hospital

WASHINGTON (AP) - Former first lady Mamie Eisenhower died peacefully in her sleep early today at Walter Reed Army Medical Center, officials said.

Mrs. Eisenhower, widow of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, was 82.

hospital spokesman Pete Esker said. He noted that her 83rd birthday was two weeks away.

Doctors attributed Mrs. Eisenhower's death at 1:35 a.m. to heart failure, Esker said.

Mrs. Eisenhower, in delicate health and bedridden for months, suffered a stroke Sept. 25, 1979, and was brought to the hospital here by ambulance from her farm at Gettysburg, Pa.

The stroke paralyzed her right arm and impaired the use of her right leg. She began physical therapy almost immediately.

Just as the world knew America's 34th president by the homely childhood nickname of "Ike," so was his wife recognized simply as "Mamie." Her demerit from youth through old age, no matter what the fashion - was the way she wore her hair in bangs across her forehead.

Mrs. Eisenhower had lived alone and lonely on the farm, at the edge of the Civil War battlefield, ever since her beloved Ike died in 1969. Their marriage, begun when he was a young lieutenant in the Army, had lasted nearly 53 years.

Loan Guarantees

Sought for Chrysler

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Carter administration, sharply increasing its proposed aid package for the struggling Chrysler Corp., is about to announce it will seek $1.5 billion in loan guarantees to keep the No. 3 automaker afloat, sources say.

The package, which must be approved by Congress, is about double what the administration previously has indicated it would recommend to keep Chrysler from bankruptcy.

The sources, who requested anonymity, said they expected Treasury Secretary G. William Miller to detail the loan guarantee plan - the largest in U.S. history - today or tomorrow, after the administration takes its case to congressional leaders.

The White House has been under increasing pressure from some members of Congress to put its proposal on the table before Chrysler's financial troubles become insurmountable.

The automaker's third quarter losses, announced Tuesday, were a staggering $460.6 million, the largest deficit ever for any American corporation. It brought the firm's losses for the first nine months year to $721 million. Losses for all of 1978 are projected at about $1 billion.

Tanker, Freighter

Collide; 3 Dead

GALVESTON, Texas (AP) - A tanker carrying 400,000 barrels of crude oil collided with a freighter, burst into flame and sank in the Gulf of Mexico today, Coast Guard officers said. At least three crewmen from the tanker were killed and more than a dozen injured.

Possibly 30 or more men were unaccounted for.

The freighter, ablaze with its engines running, was stuck on right full rudder and making a wide circle in an area dotted with oil drilling platforms.

Coast Guard officers in New Orleans said plans were made to get tugs behind the freighter in an attempt to either ground it or get it away from the drilling rigs. Waters in the area are only about 40 feet deep.

Four-foot seas rolled gently under clear skies around the collision site.

"Trouble is, of course, that it (the freighter) is burning," Pearson said.

The Coast Guard said the ships involved were the Liberian tanker Burma Agate and the Greek-registered freighter Mimosa, sailing out of Cyprus.

The tanker carried a crew of 39, of which six were accounted for, the Coast Guard said. The Mimosa carried 28, with 21 accounted for.

Snow Rescue Underway

Rescuers banged their way through drifts as deep as 10 feet Wednesday, looking for motorists stranded by a freak pre-winter blizzard that blanketed much of the Oklahoma Panhandle.

A spokesman for the Oklahoma Highway Patrol said conditions were still so bad from the Tuesday blizzard that communications were virtually nonexistent. He said there was no accurate estimate on just how many people might be stranded.

But authorities reported that the passengers aboard a Continental Trailways bus that had stalled in deep snow just two miles north of the Oklahoma border in Colorado had been rescued after a 20-hour ordeal.

Two people were found dead in a car in the same area, but about 40 other persons were plucked from their stranded vehicles, officers said.

The bus had left Boise City in the Panhandle about 11 a.m. Tuesday headed for Springfield, Colo. It bogged down on U.S. 287 just south of Campo, Colo.

OHP officials said they had no reports of any deaths in Oklahoma.

The front that roared out of the Rockies, touching off the snow and 90 mph winds, also spawned a tornado that ripped through a rural area near Ardmore in southern Oklahoma, killing two people and injuring three others.

Heavy rains soaked other areas of Oklahoma Tuesday and high winds were reported in many areas, including Oklahoma City.

It was the Panhandle, though, that suffered the worst of the onslaught. Much of the area was without power until Wednesday afternoon, when service was restored to all but a few isolated sections.

Larry Fuller, a regional manager for Southwest Public Service Co. in Amarillo, Texas, estimated that 7,900 power customers in the three Panhandle counties were without power for a time in near-freezing temperatures.

The blackout extended to Elkhart, Kan., and into the Texas Panhandle, Fuller said.

A General Telephone Co. spokesman said telephone service was still disrupted in some areas of the Panhandle on Wednesday, but that service had been restored to most areas through emergency backup systems.

Many travelers deserted their vehicles throughout the Panhandle and took refuge in homes and offices. The sheriff's office at Boise City reported that 19 people spent the night in the courtroom.

Some area residents fled their dark, cold homes and took refuge in temporary shelters set up at a number of churches, community centers and schools.

Skies over the Panhandle cleared Wednesday, but travelers advisories remained in effect there. The Highway Patrol reported three to five inches of snow and ice on the ground, and a freeze warning was issued for Wednesday night.

The victims of the tornado were Jimmy Lee Bob, 41, and Teresa Carroll, 59. Mrs. Carroll was killed when her mobile home was smashed by the twister, and Bob died when the debris from the trailer hit him as he stepped from his truck to deliver a load of cement.

Trial Witness Lauded

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) - Prosecutors say their latest rebuttal witness has destroyed the defense theory in the murder solicitation trial of millionaire Cullen Davis.

The witness, Gale Helms, 52, was asked to remain on the stand today for cross-examination by defense attorney Richard "Racehorse" Haynes.

Helms testified Wednesday he was with informant David McCrory, the state's key witness, from 5:30 p.m. until dark on Aug. 11, 1978.

That is when Davis said he was with McCrory at a meeting which forms the cornerstone of the entire defense theory, Davis testified he met with McCrory that evening to record a staged conversation designed to head off a plot against his life.

He said that encounter formed the basis of another meeting a week later during which the two discussed mass murder.

In court Oct. 12, prosecutor Jack Strickland hammered home that point, asking Davis on cross-examination:

"So, the events of Aug. 18, all be explained on the basis of this tape recording session that you had with David McCrory on Aug. 11 of 1978 at Coco's parking lot; is that right?"

"Yes, sir," Davis replied.

Davis later backed away from that position slightly, saying the taping was not the "sole basis" for the later meetings.

But Helms told the court he met McCrory at least 30 minutes before the meeting Davis recounted, and said they were constantly together until 8:30 or 9 p.m.

Helms said he could be sure of the time and date because of his recent return from a vacation and the special nature of the meeting. He and McCrory were testing some new engines for radio-controlled model airplanes, Helms said.

"If you don't believe David McCrory was making phony tapes on Aug. 11," Strickland told newsmen Wednesday night, "then none of that (expletive) Cullen threw out at the jury holds water."

"If the jury believes Gale Helms instead of the defendant, Thomas Cullen Davis will go to prison."

In addition to that testimony, Helms and another witness contradicted Davis' story concerning a previous meeting with McCrory.

Davis had said he saw McCrory at 6 p.m. on June 9, when McCrory reportedly said Davis' ex-wife Priscilla had issued a contract for Davis' death.

Helms and David Harter, though, testified McCrory was in Oklahoma City on that day, for a model airplane show. Helms testified he, McCrory and McCrory's wife left for the show about 5:30 p.m.

Helms' testimony obviously caught the defense team by surprise, as all five Davis attorneys busily scribbled notes throughout his remarks.

Davis is charged with trying to hire the murders of several people during the summer of 1978. The state contends Davis tried to use McCrory as the agent to arrange the deaths, but McCrory said he went to the FBI with the story.

Federal agents made audio and video tape recordings of meetings between the two men as part of their investigation and local police arrested Davis on Aug. 20, 1978.

Earlier Wednesday, police criminalist Max-Courtney testified a defense exhibit had been offered significantly. He said

McCrory's summer, 1978, job application with a Davis company had been changed so that the position, for which McCrory was to be hired read "representative" instead of "manager."

The defense dismissed the testimony as "no big deal."

Prosecutors, though, said it raised questions about Davis' motives for hiring McCrory at Jet Air Corp. The state argues Davis agreed to hire McCrory as "sales manager," at Jet Air, as cover for other activities - particularly arranging the contract killings.

Davis maintained he simply gave McCrory a salesman's job to do him a favor.

The defense said it could show the company's personnel director made the change in the routine course of business. McCrory, though, testified the document had been altered since he testified at an earlier Davis trial in Houston, which ended in a hung jury last January.

Asked if the state was trying to imply the alteration in fact took place since the Houston trial, state attorney John Bankston said:

"I don't know that I could say that ... we're relying on what McCrory said."

Convictions Killed

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals threw out murder convictions Wednesday against a Dallas woman found guilty of killing her husband and a waitress.

The appeals court said the trial court should have told jurors to consider voluntary manslaughter convictions against Nicola Medlock.

Mrs. Medlock was given two life sentences in the deaths of Lee Arthur Medlock and Yvett Harris. The two were shot to death in a Dallas night club.

Mrs. Medlock testified her husband threatened several times to kill her.

On Feb. 6, 1975, Medlock came into the night club and told his wife, "I'm going to get you," the defendant testified.

The appeals court said there was sufficient evidence to raise the issue that Mrs. Medlock may have acted under the immediate influence of sudden passion.

The case, including both deaths, was sent back to Dallas for possible retrial.

Slow Night Reported

In spite of Halloween activities, Hereford police experienced a fairly slow Tuesday night, investigating a break-in, egg-throwing incident and a report of two juveniles who cursed a man because he told them they were too old to be trick-or-treating.

The incident involving the two youths, both said to be about 14, occurred in the 400 block of Star, according to police. The youths could not be located.

Someone broke into Munchie's Snack Bar, Union and Ave. F, and stole approximately $10 worth of candy, gum and chips Wednesday night or early today.

A car was egged at 910 Union. Two juveniles reportedly threw several snowballs at a car in the 206 block of Union Wednesday afternoon. Police could not find the youths.

A suspicious person was reported at the Little Charro Tost Restaurant Wednesday night. Officers said the man, who had refused to order while sitting inside the restaurant, left before they arrived.

Police investigated three minor traffic accidents Wednesday. One involved a car striking a youngster in the crosswalk at Northwest Elementary School, but the youth was not injured.

Sometime Tuesday night or early Wednesday morning, someone stole a tire and wheel from a pickup at Pratt Chevrolet, N. 25 Mile Ave., and a bill-changing machine at Edwards Laundry, 1009 E. Park, was broken into and $75 was taken.

Officers issued five traffic citations Wednesday.

afternoon to free the vehicle.

Considerable drifts of snow were also reported from the Walcott school in the western portion of the county, where weather proved so inclement as to force teachers to spend the night at the school Tuesday.

Supt. Eddie Derr of Walcott reported snow drifts as high as 5-6 feet in the vicinity of the school building.

Power to the Walcott school went off at noon Tuesday, and an auxiliary power unit was utilized to provide power for a number of stranded individuals who holed up at the school.

Cattle losses were also severe at the Gene Bradley farm two miles west and north of Bootleg Corner.

Mrs. Bradley reported that numbers of cattle were wandering in that area Wednesday afternoon and dead cattle "are piled in stacks."

According to Mrs. Bradley, cattle drifted into the fence corners and were suffocated by snow in that area too.

Trial

pocket.

"You put yourself in Nick Romero's place on that evening. Two people come up to you and you're standing there with your wife and your baby, then they start to push on you," Craig said.

Craig said that testimony in the trial and a statement given by Romero to police following his arrest proved that he was cut on the left hand before even pulling his knife.

Smith, in final arguments, said that

Four to five inches of snow fell in that area but the drifting which accompanied howling winds accounted for fence high drifts of snow that took their toll on the cattle.

Troy Waddell of the southwestern Public Service Co. Hereford office reported that crews from the electric company should have power restored to most areas today after keeping up a hectic schedule of repair which began amidst the howling snow Tuesday and has continued since. Crews from Deaf Smith Rural Electric Co-Op were also out repairing lines, and expect to have all interrupted power restored today.

"A combination of ice on the lines and the wind caused poles and conductors to break off," said Waddell, explaining the cause of loss of electrical power to Vega, Adrian, Wildorado and certain areas of Deaf Smith County.

"Our main feeder lines into the area were the ones that got hit the worst by the weather, and they cut everything off.

self defense was not an issue in the case.

Smith argued that since there was no blood found on Demas' pocketknife and since the blood-type found on Romero's larger knife did not match either victim's blood-type, the defendant may have "either cut himself accidentally" or "could it be that he took this knife and cut himself?"

Smith continued: "Nick Romero field-dresses one man and cuts another Smaller distribution lines also gave way under the weight of ice. The worse damage to lines seems to be in the rural areas south of Wildorado," Waddell explained.

"In a way, we were fortunate that the temperatures didn't get any lower than they did, yet the temperature and the weather conditions were just right for moisture to hit the poles and lines and freeze on them," he continued.

September came from orders placed by the Department of Defense for military goods, Commerce analysts said. "This increase coincides with the end of the government fiscal year," the report said.

The value of manufacturers' inventories rose 0.8 percent in September to $220.8 billion. It was "the smallest monthly increase in the book value of their inventories this year," the report said.

The worst aviation disaster in U.S. history occurred May 25 at Chicago's O'Hare Airport when an engine on an American Airlines' DC-10 fell off a wing during takeoff and 273 persons were killed. For 37 days afterward the FAA grounded the DC-10s, made by McDonnell Douglas, to check for structural faults.

And he agrees with people who call former Gov. John B. Connally of Texas an impressive figure.

"Very impressive," says Baker of Connally. "But I don't think he has very impressive support and I don't think he's going to be the nominee. Of course, I don't think Reagan's going to be the nominee or (George) Bush either."

presidential campaigns. Baker, 54, becomes the eighth declared candidate for the GOP nomination to the surprise of no one. He has been running hard for months and referred to today's formal announcement as "a celebration after the fact."

Baker played a crucial role in helping the administration win the votes needed for approval of the Panama Canal treaties, but is a leader of the opposition to SALT II. He contends the arms control agreement with the Soviet Union cannot win approval without substantial changes.

On economic issues, Baker supports proposals to require that deficit spending be approved only by a two-thirds majority in Congress, rather than the simple majority now required.

Like his rivals in the race, Baker calls the remaining known undeclared candidate, former Gov. Ronald Reagan of California, the front-runner. Reagan is expected to announce his candidacy later this month.

Neighbors Unite to Combat Vandals, Burglars

MONTMORENCI, Ind. (AP) — Two years ago, the Vorst family moved about 10 miles from Lafayette, Ind., population 43,000, to this corn-growing hamlet of 200 — searching for a place where they could leave their doors unlocked.

They felt they had replaced urban fear with country security.

But last October when JoAnne Vorst walked up to her elegant, $100,000 home, the frantic barking of her dog told her something was wrong.

The house was a shambles.

Tire-tread scars on the lawn still show where vandals pulled their van up to the back door. Walls and doors were smashed. A bureau was in pieces. Jewelry and guns were missing. Eggs had been tossed against the walls. The odor of wine hung in the air.

"Were we bad, Mommy? Is God punishing us?" her young son asked as Mrs. Vorst surveyed $10,000 in damage.

Mrs. Vorst called a neighbor, Jacky Kerker, and together they decided it was time Montmorenci did something about the burglars and vandals who had preyed on their town for more than five years.

Somehow, the system that was supposed to prevent crime and punish wrongdoers simply wasn't working in Tippecanoe County, Ind.

The Kerker home had been broken into six times. Down the road a bit, Bob and Paula Kerkhove had lost a portable TV, several high-powered rifles and a valued collection of old silver dollars to thieves. It seemed that almost everyone in town had similar stories.

But it took the case of Jim and JoAnne Vorst to stir Montmorenci. Their ordeal had a profound impact on the town.

Some of the houses now have the hefty deadbolt locks favored by city dwellers.

After the break-in, the Vorsts installed a $2,000 alarm system with a siren that can be heard a mile away. If the alarm is tripped, phone calls automatically go out to the state police, the sheriff and a nearby neighbor.

A month ago, the Kerkers bought a menacing Doberman named Zeke, so fierce it allows no one but the family near the house.

Townpeople are now religiously jotting down license plate numbers of any cars or trucks they don't recognize.

The change hasn't been easy for people who never used to give crime a second thought.

Kerkhove says he finds locking and unlocking his front door "mighty unhandy" and he still refuses to put a lock on his gas pump, although neighbors have had gasoline stolen.

The community turned to a strategy to fight crime much like that being used by many urban neighborhoods — organize to defend itself.

The first step was a meeting of about 40 people in Mrs. Vorst's living room. She calls that first gathering the "vigilante meeting" because some of her more incensed neighbors urged people to buy guns and take matters into their own hands.

More meetings were held. At one gathering last June, more than 100 people from neighboring towns attended, as well as Tippecanoe County Prosecutor John Meyers and state police Detective Jim Kesterson.

Meyers now admits, "I wasn't aware that they were that concerned."

The meetings revealed that people thought the state police cared too little about their crime problems and dealt with them too slowly. Townpeople complained to the county prosecutor that, as Mrs. Kerkhove puts it, "laws protect the criminal more than the victim."

In turn, Kesterson told the people of Montmorenci what they could do to prevent crime: buy locks, note strange persons or vehicles, buy dogs, list all possessions and stop mail deliveries when on vacation.

One major accomplishment of those meetings was that neighbors got to know newcomers to Montmorenci, drawn by jobs in nearby light industry or, like the Vorsts, moving out of cities looking for a more peaceful life.

It dawned on Mrs. Kerker that "we don't know all our neighbors," and that knowing one another had always been rural America's first line of defense against crime.

Some of Montmorenci's problems are more difficult. Kesterson says the kids he arrests for vandalism or break-ins are often drunk or high on drugs. He says the problems that trouble city kids are just as common among country kids now, with the big consolidated county schools serving as breeding grounds for mischief, crime and drugs.

It's too soon to tell if Montmorenci's community crime prevention program will actually lower the crime rate, says Meyers. But there are some results already:

—Other towns in the county, like Tecumseh and Hanna Park, are considering forming similar community anti-crime groups.

—County judges are getting the message, and Meyers is demanding stiffer sentences. He says there hasn't been a single suspended sentence for serious crime this year in Tippecanoe County.

—Neighbors now call each other day or night if they spot unfamiliar people or cars.

—Finally, the two men —

both county residents — who vandalized the Vorst home were caught with the help of a neighbor who recalled their license plate. One man was sentenced to six years in prison. The second pleaded guilty and is awaiting sentence next month.

Still, says Mrs. Vorst, the vandalization of her home scared her and her family.

"I never thought it would happen to us. We always felt it was a lot safer in the country. We don't feel that way now."

Witch Big Hit in Small Town

PHILLIPSBURG, Kan. (AP) — As Halloween darkness shrouds this small Kansas town, an old crane roars through the streets atop a fire engine, cackling "come to me, come to the witch."

By the hundreds, wide-eyed children pour out of their houses and run to the courthouse square to see the Witch of the West. Parents follow to partake of the special home brew and participate in a festival that began as a neighborhood spoof and turned into a yearly institution for the whole town.

For the 15th year, the bright red chariot of Reva O'Neill, alias "The Witch," will be escorted tonight by town leaders to the square, an annual mecca for 2,000 local youngsters.

There, the Good Fairy, grocer Don Lumpkin, will be waiting in his ballet tutu, red tights and combat boots to assist the witch in doling out shiny new apples and pennies sprinkled with gold dust.

"It's quite a sight," said Mrs. O'Neill, an ash-blond grandmother who is co-owner of Phillipsburg's only disco supper club. "Kids are scared to death but entranced too. Some are bawling, some wet their pants. But all of them want to see the witch and get their penny. It's the greatest kick in the world for me."

Mrs. O'Neill conceived her Halloween role in 1965, and in the years since her costume has grown from a simple black sheet into an elaborate outfit accented by pointy-toed black boots, a high peaked hat and dozens of rings and necklaces that jingle as she cavorts through her portrayal of a good witch who is slightly bonkers.

"I asked the witch to come to Phillipsburg because these children were so sweet and innocent," she said in a recent interview. "It had become a jaded event, a knock on the door, an apathetic 'Trick or Treat,' a handful of candy and they were gone. I asked one kid to do a trick before he got his treat and he thought I was crazy. I decided to put a little pizzazz back into the occasion."

Mrs. O'Neill, who says she's a "perpetual 39 years old," foots the bill for the town party. Her husband, Don, a rancher, played the Good Fairy until 1970, when he died of cancer. That same year she, too, was stricken with the disease but recovered following surgery and with the help of her six children, now aged 18 to 27, the witch made her annual visit that October.

The first year Mrs. O'Neill played the witch, her husband pressed a shiny new penny into the fist of little Jackie Hunziker, telling her "Here, honey, make a wish and this will bring you a boyfriend." Ten years later Jackie carried that penny in her shoe when she married the O'Neills' son Tom.

"Being the Witch of the West is a lot more to me than just dressing up once a year and having a good time," says Mrs. O'Neill. "I love to have fun, I've taken belly dancing lessons, I can disco, I decorate the town at Christmas time. But being the witch gives a special meaning to my life. It's my way of saying thank you to the people of this town for being so good to me. It helps me belong."

Tuition Increase May Be Likely

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A tuition increase might be in the offing for students at tax-supported universities and junior colleges.

The Texas College Coordinating Board "probably will consider" a tuition increase recommendation at its January meeting, said Dr. Kenneth Ashworth, state higher education commissioner.

"There is a lot of talk among board members that this is something they should look at," Ashworth told reporters Wednesday.

Only the Legislature can change tuition rates, but a recommendation from the board would carry considerable weight. College costs are rising at a time when lawmakers have cut state taxes and are under pressure from Gov. Bill Clements to make further reductions.

The next regular legislative session is in January 1981, but Clements plans to call a special session next year.

"Ashworth and Beryl Milburn, coordinating board chairwoman, were interviewed after a meeting of the Special Committee on Higher Education Financing, headed by Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby."

"I believe the senior colleges would feel that an economic differential in costs to students for tuition would encourage more students to attend junior colleges and thereby depress the senior college enrollments even further," he said.

He presented figures showing college enrollments are growing more slowly than in recent years and are likely to increase at only about 1.4 percent annually between now and 1987.

Ashworth told the committee average tuition and fees at Texas state universities and junior colleges rank 46th in the nation and would rise to only 39th — between Louisiana and Tennessee — if tuition were doubled.

Tuition is $4 per semester hour, with a minimum of $50 per semester. Fees vary among the universities and junior colleges.

Ashworth took no position for or against a tuition increase but said if one is passed, the additional money should not be used to construct new buildings.

Senior colleges and universities would insist that junior college tuition be increased by the same amount as that of the senior institutions, he predicted.

"I believe the senior colleges would feel that an economic differential in costs to students for tuition would encourage more students to attend junior colleges and thereby depress the senior college enrollments even further," he said.

He presented figures showing college enrollments are growing more slowly than in recent years and are likely to increase at only about 1.4 percent annually between now and 1987.

Troops Surround Bolivian Palace

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP) — Some 100 army troops with rifles and about a half-dozen armored cars surrounded the presidential palace today in an apparent coup attempt by elements of the Bolivian armed forces. Other soldiers were believed inside the palace.

The whereabouts of President Walter Guevara, who took office little less than three months ago, was not immediately known.

A La Paz radio station, Cruz Del Sur, said that the Foreign Ministry also was surrounded by troops.

The station appealed for calm, and said that a Col. Alberto Natush apparently was heading the coup attempt.

Guevara, elected by the Congress after a stalemate election, took office from Gen. David Padilla on Aug. 8.

Padilla took power Nov. 24 and one of his first decrees was to call for presidential elections.

Guevara, in an interview Wednesday night with The Associated Press, was asked if he still had the support of Padilla.

"Yes, but it is a big armed force," he replied.

Asked if the country was near another military coup, he said, "When people are on the brink of a crevasse they hope they don't fall in."

The coup was believed to have been precipitated by Guevara's plans to shake up the Cabinet and include at least one member of the Nationalist Democratic Action Party of Gen.

Hugo Banzer. Banzer was president from 1971 to 1978. He had taken power in a military coup, one of about 200 in Bolivia's 154 years as a republic.

Army elements were known to be in opposition to Guevara's plans to include Banzer's party in the government. Padilla was one of the officers who helped Gen. Juan Pereda overthrow Banzer in 1978. A few months later Padilla forced Pereda to resign in another coup.

The latest attempt came with dozens of delegates to Organization of American States' general assembly here still in town. The Assembly, which ended Wednesday night, had made strong appeals for Latin America's military dictatorships to turn to democracy.

A coup in Bolivia would be the third in Latin America in three months. President Anastasio Somoza of Nicaragua was toppled in late July, and President Carlos Humberto Romero El Salvador was ousted Oct. 15.

Court Will Test 'Busing'

By now you have heard that the next Supreme Court test of crosstown school busing will likely originate in Chicago.

After all those years when the North condemned the South for its opposition to integration—now it's Chicago which discovers that busing denies everybody's right.

Chicago's school population is 17 percent white—yet HEW has ordered Chicago schools to "balance" the classroom population so that no student body is less than 35 percent white. There is no way.

HEW demands that Chicago's school system bus 114,000 grade school children out of their home neighborhoods. Compute the cost of the vehicles, the fuel, the drivers and other personnel—and it amounts to $100 million a year. Some estimates are as high as $200-million.

Imagine what could be done with that much money if it were spent instead on improving school facilities, hiring more teachers, reducing the number of students per classroom, updating textbooks.

Chicago is not the first city to challenge the busing concept. Hundreds of cities, have—from Kalamazoo to Los Angeles and including Boston, Louisville, Milwaukee, Columbus, Cleveland.

In each case so far the courts have ordered "Keep busing!" But Chicago, bigger, North-ern—and with both races on its school board fed up with this fruitless experiment—Chicago may be able to present a more convincing case.

Also, Chicago has a feisty lady mayor who considers busing unreasonable and unworkable. Instead, she endorses the school board's proposed "Access to Excellence" program.

This program would allow any student total freedom to attend the school of his or her choice. How can any court deny the fairness of that?

A court fight will be long, tedious and, itself, expensive. Yet, President Carter says that the issue should be court-tested and that Chicago is the place and now is the time. The President actually advised the Chicago school board chairman, Joseph Hannon, to "fight it out."

I do not know that this indicates any presidential opposition to busing, but it sounds like it does. In any event, with the issue in litigation next year President Carter conveniently, will be able to duck direct questions on the subject.

One thing more: The objective of the original court order was to improve education for black students by intermingling them with white students. That premise is an insult to blacks and it is now proved false.

Two of the highest-achieving schools in Chicago, academically, are Beasley and Pershing—and both are entirely black.

Crab Fisherman Said To Have Threatened

SEGUIN, Texas (AP) — A Seardrift crab fisherman slain in a summer "crab war" with Vietnamese refugees had angrily threatened Vietnamese crabbers several times before his death, once vowing to cut their throats, according to testimony in a murder trial here.

Nguyen Van Sau, 21, and Nguyen Van Chinh, 20, two Vietnamese refugee brothers who became crabbers in Seardrift, are on trial for murder in the Aug. 3 shooting death of Billy Joe Aplin, 35.

They face maximum 99-year prison sentences if convicted by a jury of 12 whites, including two retired Air Force officers who served in the Vietnam War.

The trial was moved 90 miles inland to Seguin because of the still-simmering tensions and the threat of violence in the tiny coastal fishing town of 1,400.

Defense attorney Pat Maloney contends that the 5-foot-5, 110-pound Sau shot the much-larger Aplin in self-defense, only after repeated threats and only after Aplin had beaten and slashed Sau with a knife, Chinh, he claims, tried only to calm his brother.

The defense maintains that the shooting, which touched off violent reprisals against Seardrift's Vietnamese community, took place in an atmosphere of hostility, fostered primarily by Aplin.

Prosecution witness Nguyen Duc Bang, 20, a friend of the brothers and a former Seardrift crabber, testified Wednesday that he and four other Vietnamese got into an angry confrontation with Aplin while crabbing in the same area about four weeks before the shooting.

The dispute over territorial crabbing rights occurred while the Vietnamese and Aplin were trying to harvest crabs in the lush crabbing grounds at the mouth of the Guadalupe River.

Under questioning by District Attorney William Day, Bang said Aplin took Vietnamese traps aboard his boat and jumped on them.

"He (Aplin) just cussed us and had his knife out. He said he was going to cut everybody's throat off," Bang testified in halting, heavily-accented English, drawing his finger across his throat in imitation of Aplin's alleged threat.

"He tried to run over our boats, but his wife and children stopped him. I saw them crying. He said this water belonged to him. He said this was his country?" added Bang.

Aplin's widow, Judy, testified that the Vietnamese had cursed her husband and bumped the Aplin boat while circling it with their own boats. Her husband waved a knife, she said, only after Bang brandished the knife he had clinched in his teeth.

Asked if her husband ever vowed to cut the refugees' throats, she replied, "Not that I know of. I was trying to quieten two younger children at the time."

Four prosecution witnesses testified Tuesday that Sau, a former South Vietnamese Marine, deliberately shot Aplin a short time after being beaten by the 6-1, 195-pound American. They said Aplin approached Sau because he was upset about the confrontation on the water.

All said they didn't see slash wounds on Sau, but Bang and a defense witness testified Wednesday that shortly after the incident, Sau had blood on his chest from what appeared to be cuts.

Day called Bang as a witness to show the jury that Sau and Chinh had gone to Bang's house after an early-evening, dockside argument with Aplin to obtain a pistol and rifle to use on Aplin.

But Day's questioning led Bang into testimony about Aplin's alleged threats with a knife and an incident in late July in which Aplin slashed tires on Sau's auto.

As Day intensely questioned Bang on each detail of his story, Maloney at one point objected that Day was trying to impeach his own witness.

During defense cross-examination, Maloney asked Bang if it appeared to him that Calhoun County Sheriff's Department investigators and the grand jury were trying to obtain only the information they wanted to hear, not the whole story.

"Right," replied Bang.

Leader Claims Baptists 'Weak'

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — An apathetic generation of churchmen has been "woefully weak" in bringing the gospel to a growing population in Texas, says the president of the Baptist General Convention of Texas.

About 6,000 persons are attending the 94th annual meeting of the Baptist General Convention. Delegates here from 4,400 churches and missions plan to study ways to work toward the Southern Baptist goal of reaching every person on earth with the gospel by the year 2,000.

However, Dr. Milton Cunningham chastised the Baptists for not keeping church growth in line with vast increases in the general population.

"Our penetration with the gospel has been woefully weak," he said in opening remarks Tuesday.

The Houston minister said American Christians have sent missionaries abroad and contributed to such missions. But he said there now are unique opportunities to administer to the needs of those from other nations coming to the United States.

The delegates, who will vote today to select a successor to Cunningham, also will consider a proposed $34 million Cooperative Program budget for Texas Baptists' share of the worldwide mission efforts of 13 million Southern Baptists.

The executive director of the Baptist General Convention of Texas, during his opening remarks Tuesday, criticized those he terms "moderate churchmen."

Dr. James H. Landes of Dallas said a moderate churchman is one "who is not against the church; he is for it in every way that will not inconvenience him or cost him very much."

Dr. Marvin Watson, the president of Dallas Baptist College, announced that the college is bankrupt, but that vigorous fund-raising plans are in the works to save the institution.

Watson's comments, which were made before the meeting of Baptist Men Monday, was distributed to the news media Tuesday.

"I have not the slightest idea how God intends to save Dallas Baptist College. But I do know it is going to cost you," Watson told the Baptist Men.

He said the beleaguered college would seek more financial aid from Texas Baptists and other sources.

Watson also announced plans to institute a dress code and to beef-up the college's curriculum by doubling requirements for Bible study.

Hereford Plays Lubbock High For 1979 Homecoming

Even though the weather may look like something only the Minnesota Vikings could play in at times over the last couple days it is doubtful that the weather will be able to dampen anyone's spirit as Hereford takes on Lubbock High tomorrow night in the 1979 Homecoming game at the Stadium.

Lubbock High is 2-6 for the year and 0-2 in district play. For all practical purposes Lubbock is out of contention for the district title, but that doesn't mean they are going to roll over and die. Whiteface Head Coach Don Cumpton commented that "they always play us good." They are real sound on defense, they have a pretty balanced attack.

Both teams are coming off losses. Lubbock a thrashing at the hands of Monterey, 26-0 and Hereford was trimmed by Plainview 27-21.

The loss to the Bulldogs last Friday night was by far the most heart-breaking for the year. After trailing at the halftime 20-7, the Whitefaces came roaring back in the third period and scored two touch-downs to take a 21-20 lead, a score that held to the last play of the game.

Or the last play of the game Plainview scored on a 49 yard halfback to quarterback pass to win. Despite the loss Coach Cumpton thinks it was their best effort to date. "We did the things we have to do to beat the big teams," he commented. Last week's game should have let everyone know that the Whitefaces mean to play football and that they can definitely play with the big boys. Cumpton said, "I think it helped our program."

Hereford is 4-3 overall for the year and 0-1 in district play. The game will not be the only activity to take place during the homecoming festivities.

The pep rally will be at the school tomorrow at 2:15 p.m. and the parade will begin at 2:45.

The parade will run from the east lot of the high school down Union to Avenue F to Park. It will go along Park till it reaches Avenue B and will then proceed down Main Street to Second Street.

The game will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Football Draft

DALLAS (AP) — The National Football League Wednesday set April 29-30 as the dates for its 1980 draft of collegiate players.

The representatives of the 28 NFL teams deferred picking the site for the 1981 Pro Bowl. The 1980 Pro Bowl will be in Hawaii. The NFL drafted in May this year.

Not Worried About Bowl Games, Just TCU

HOUSTON (AP) — Bill Yeoman has spent the season teaching his fourth ranked Cougars the one-step-taking each game one step at a time and after seven weeks he doesn't intend to let them stumble over Texas Christian.

When told Tuesday that one UH official already was considering bowl possibilities, Yeoman replied "Tell him that's fine but don't tell me anything about it. The only game I'm concerned with right now is TCU."

The Horned Frogs, 2-5 going into their homecoming game, are much improved, Yeoman said.

"We've looked at the film and unless I'm mistaken, they haven't given up many touch-downs in the last two games," Yeoman said. "They have restricted their offense to the point that they are doing a few things very well."

Yeoman said he wasn't concerned about his team being ready to play the Frogs, 2-5.

"People keep worrying about our frame of mind," Yeoman said. "I think our frame of mind will be fine this week. I think maybe it's the media's frame of mind I should be worried about."

The Cougar defense has done a lot to keep Yeoman from worrying this season. It has permitted only two second half touch-downs all season and four SWC foes have netted a total of three points in the third quarter and none in the fourth period.

"I don't think we've ever been that stingy in the second half before," Yeoman said. "It's a credit to our kids and coaches that they've been able to adjust for the second half." Yeoman said quarterback Delrick Brown, who played the entire game for the first time this season, had an outstanding performance against the Hogs. "Delrick got his confidence back," Yeoman said. "He really zipped his passes. He overthrew a few but when you start to really throw it that's when you begin to learn. He has a chance now to go on and become a really outstanding quarterback."

Linebacker David Hodge, who left early in the second quarter of the Arkansas game with an ankle injury, may not play against TCU, Yeoman said.

Spurs Hold On To Beat Clippers

SAN DIEGO (AP) — For a few minutes there, George Gervin, high-scoring star of the San Antonio Spurs, experienced Deja Vu — a flashback taking him back to last spring.

Leading the San Diego Clippers by 19 points, the Spurs' offense suddenly went into a seizure.

"We just slack up and lose our concentration," said Gervin, after San Antonio held on for a 130-123 National Basketball Association victory.

"That is what has kept us from getting into the championship. We have to learn who to go to in crucial situations like that," said Gervin, who had 33 points, 18 in the last quarter.

Last spring, the Spurs were on the verge of making the NBA finals after building a 3-1 game lead against the Washington Bullets.

Then the Bullets shot down the Spurs' balloon, winning three straight games to oust San Antonio from the playoffs for the second straight season.

With 1:15 left, San Diego closed the gap to 123-121, but Gervin hit a basket and Larry Kenon — who had 31 points — added a stuff with 51 seconds to go.

Spurs' coach Doug Moe, too, watched with dismay Wednesday night as the lead crumbled.

"The first half we were very aggressive defensively, but the second half we were late covering people. We just weren't quite as active moving around," he said.

"Our biggest problem offensively has been when we get a big lead we tend to stand around. We caused turnovers at key times. It was our defense which won it for us."

The Clippers got a 35-point effort from Lloyd Free, including 28 in the second half, but committed 27 turnovers.

"We didn't worry about Free," said the Spurs' James Silas. "He's going to get his points. We wanted to contain the other players and that's what we did."

Clippers' coach Gene Shue said, "We're finding different ways to lose. This time we shot a poor free throw percentage (17 of 28) to do it."

"They double-teamed us a lot and forced us to the corners and out side. To beat that you have to pass and we weren't passing well," said Shue.

San Antonio, the league's highest-scoring team, shot a blistering 60.4 percent from the floor to the Clippers' 54.3.

Free, coming off a season-low performance Sunday night against Kansas City, managed just seven points in the first half before catching fire, hitting 11 of 15 second-half shots.

San Diego controlled the boards with a 53-43 rebounding advantage as Swen Nater hauled in a game-high 19.

Bucs, Celtics, Win In NBA Action

By The Associated Press

It was a night the players enjoyed playing, the fans enjoyed watching and the Milwaukee Bucks really enjoyed winning.

"This is what the NBA should be about every night," said the Bucks' Marques Johnson, who scored 25 points to help Milwaukee beat Los Angeles 110-106 and record its ninth consecutive National Basketball Association triumph.

"These were two of the best teams in the league, playing with all-out intensity," Johnson continued, "and it's just enjoyable to play in a game like that. It would have been enjoyable even if we lost, because both teams played so hard and so well."

Milwaukee got the little extra it needed when Dave Meyers and Kent Benson scored four points each in the final 2 1/2 minutes to help snap the Lakers' five-game winning streak.

Los Angeles rallied from an 11-point, third-quarter deficit to tie it 96-96 with 2:50 remaining before Meyers and Benson went to work.

"This meant a lot to us because tonight I think we proved to everybody that we can play," Johnson said. "The Midwest Division has been kind of laughed off as being mediocre. Maybe from second place down it is, but the Milwaukee Bucks showed they can play with the Lakers, who are a collection of all-stars."

Los Angeles got 24 points from guard Norm Nixon and 23 from center Kareem Abdul-Jabbar while Ervin Johnson was held to 10 points.

In other NBA games, it was Atlanta 102, Philadelphia 97; Boston 116, New Jersey 79; Washington 114, Cleveland 105; Indiana 133, Houston 129 in overtime; Kansas City 125.

25 Golfers To Become Eligible for PGA Tour

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (AP) — Bruce Douglass of Stoughton, Md., and Tom Jones of Tulsa, Okla., fired 1-under-par 70s to lead a 120-man field at the PGA Tour Qualifying School at Waterwood National Country Club Wednesday.

The competition continues through Saturday, and the players who record the 25 best scores will become eligible to join the $3 million professional golf tour.

One shot back of the leaders was a group of three golfers: Skeeter Heath of Hampton, Va.; Mike Peck of Prairie Village, Kan., and Harry Taylor of Nashville, Tenn. Heath and Peck were tour members previously but lost their cards and must qualify again.

Stacked at 72 were John Adams of Midland; John Chaffee of Austin; Jaime Gonzalez of Tulsa, Okla.; British Open runner-up Scott Hoch of Raleigh, N.C.; Jeff Marsh of Bellevue, Wash., and Mitch Mooney of Albuquerque, N.M.

The 1978 U.S. Amateur champion, John Cook of Columbus, Ohio, fired a 3-over-par 74.

The field will be cut to the low 90 scorers after Thursday's second round.

Spurs 130, Clippers 123

Utah 108, Golden State 111, Portland 105, Seattle 97, Denver 89, San Antonio 130, San Diego 123.

Hawks 102, 76ers 97
 John Drew collected 23 points and Eddie Johnson scored four of his 18 points in the final 42 seconds to power past Philadelphia.

Julius Erving had 26 points and Doug Collins 23 for the 76ers.

With Philadelphia leading 3-2, the game was delayed 31 minutes by a wet floor at the Omni in Atlanta. Moisture from the hockey ice underneath seeped up through the basketball boards and players were slipping and falling.

The floor was mopped during every timeout.

Celtics 416, Nets 79

Cedric Maxwell scored 25 points and Larry Bird added 18 as Boston pulled to leads of 16-2 and 28-7 and went on to blast New Jersey.

The Nets lost forward Tim Bassett after a second-quarter collision that left him with a chip fracture plus stretched ligaments in his left elbow. He is expected to be sidelined 3-4 weeks.

Bullets 114, Cavaliers 105

Washington got 31 points from Bob Dandridge to beat Cleveland and keep the Cavaliers winless in five road games this season. Dandridge made 14 of 21 shots in the contest and scored 25 points in the second half.

Pacers 133, Rockets 129

Joe Hassett scored 21 points, including three three-point field goals, to help Indiana hand Houston its sixth consecutive road loss.

Indiana, unbeaten in five games at home, rushed back from a 15-point first-half deficit with help from Hassett and Clemon Johnson. They tied the game at 119 with 47 seconds left in regulation, then scored the first six points of the overtime.

Mickey Johnson had 27 points for the Pacers while Moses Malone had 26 for Houston.

Kings 125, Jazz 108

Onis Birdsong amassed 31 points, 18 of them in the second half, to pace Kansas City's victory over Utah. Adrian Dantley had a game-high 32 points for the Jazz, which played without Pete Maravich.

Maravich suffered spasms in his back and neck earlier Wednesday and flew back to Salt Lake City.

Warriors 111, Trail Blazers 105

Pugis Short erupted for a career-high 37 points, including 17 in the final six minutes, in leading Golden State past Portland. The Trail Blazers, who suffered their second consecutive loss after nine victories, got 20 points from Maurice Lucas.

SuperSonics 97, Nuggets 89
 Fred Brown came off the bench, scored 10 of his 19 points in the fourth quarter, and helped Seattle capitalize on a Denver shooting drought to help the SuperSonics beat the Nuggets.

Denver, led by David Thompson's 19 points, made just four of its 19 field goal attempts in the final period.

Spurs 130, Clippers 123

San Antonio was powered by George Gervin, who collected 33 points, in its victory over San Diego. The Clippers, who trailed by 19 points in the first half, rallied to within 123-121 with 1:15 left before Gervin made a field goal and Larry Kenon — who had a season-high 31 points — added a dunk shot to open a six-point San Antonio lead.

Colts To Stay At Baltimore In 1980

DALLAS (AP) — The Baltimore Colts will be in Memorial Stadium in 1980 and Owner Robert Irsay is optimistic they will be there for a long time to come.

Irsay told the other 27 National Football League owners Wednesday that he plans to stay in Baltimore if the refurbishing of Memorial Stadium, home of the Colts and the Baltimore Orioles of the American League, can be worked out with the city and the state of Maryland.

Rockets Lose To Indiana In Overtime 133-129

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The 3-point play came to the National Basketball Association this season and Indiana's Joe Hassett has become a valuable part of the Pacer offense as a result.

Hassett, a 6-foot-5 guard Indiana acquired off the waiver list after the current season began, hit three of the long range shots in helping the Pacers rally Wednesday for a 133-129 overtime triumph over Houston.

The three-pointers, an old weapon of Indiana during the days of the American Basketball Association, helped Hassett score a career-high 21 points as Coach Bobby Leonard's club rallied from a 15-point first half deficit.

Joey uses his head. He's pretty good on the three-pointers," Leonard said about the three-year pro who is now seven-for-14 on three-pointers this season. "He's got a good feel on the right time to take the shot."

"I've always been a good outside shooter," said Hassett, who was one of seven Pacers to finish in double figures. "Leonard hasn't told me when to take the shot and when not to take it. Tonight I felt like I couldn't miss. I was real loose and I just wanted the ball."

Hassett, who was 9-for-12 from the field, including the 3-pointers, hit his last "home run" shot to cut Houston's lead to 114-112 Houston with four minutes left in regulation.

"I could have driven the lane. We were on a fast break, but I find the outside shot is easier for me than the driving layup, so I just pulled up and shot," he said.

"We knew Hassett was capable of hitting the three-pointers and we had Tom Henderson on him, but he hit those long range shots when it counted," said Houston Coach Del Harris, who saw his club miss four 3-point attempts in the final minute of the overtime period.

"If we had made any one of those four, we could have been back in the game," said Harris, who saw his team remain winless on the road after six games.

Mickey Johnson led all scorers with 27 points in helping Indiana remain unbeaten at home after five starts this season. Johnson also shared rebounding honors for Indiana with 10 and had a game-high nine assists before fouling out with 1:01 left in regulation play.

Moses Malone, who had 44 points and 29 rebounds in an earlier meeting between the two teams this season, paced Houston with 26 points and 13 rebounds.

Writing a best seller is easy!

1. Identify what you're selling. Abbreviations may be clear to you, but maybe not to a prospective buyer. Keep in mind that brand names have pulling power.
2. Describe the item with enough basic information to get the reader interested. Feature appealing details.
3. Don't exaggerate the item's condition or features. Make your pitch attractive, but believable. People shun claims that sound too good to be true.
4. Include price. Research shows that advertising the price draws greater response because people are interested in what they can afford. If the price is negotiable, say so.
5. Be home when your ad is running or specify the hours you can be reached. People may not call back if they can't reach you the first time. Don't risk missing a sale — be there when the phone rings!

We can help you write your own best seller. Call us today!

Is 25% of a family's income still the standard amount to allow for housing outlay?

No, although up until a few years ago it was thought poor financial management for a family to spend more than 25% of their income on housing. The 1970's have drastically changed investment psychology. Inflation has made housing investments one of the best ways to preserve dollar-purchase power and a better hedge than savings accounts, securities or government bonds. As early as 1976, 31% had become an acceptable average for house payment and property tax expenditures. Recognizing this trend, many lenders have expanded their guidelines by which people may qualify for home loans. Today, housing is considered far more than just a shelter. It has become a savings plan, a chance to build equity and security and one of the last remaining tax shelters available to the average family.

Secretary Backs Maligned Commerce Department

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a town that ranks almost everything, Juanita Kreps has been regarded as a first-rate administrator of a second-rate department.

But Mrs. Kreps, who leaves the capital at the end of this week after 33 months as secretary of Commerce, takes exception to the characterization of her agency.

"Anyone who says that has not very good touch with reality," she said in an interview, "especially in their understanding of what is going on in the world, where commercial matters are so central."

It is a defense she has been making since she was sworn in as the first woman and first professional economist to head the $3 billion agency on Jan. 23, 1977.

Now, she says, she hopes her successor — expected to be named by President Carter this week — will keep the momentum, make use of the excitement and enthusiasm she senses at the agency.

Mrs. Kreps, 58, has acknowledged to friends that her resignation was due in good part to concern about her husband, Clifton Kreps Jr., who attempted suicide earlier this year.

She says she is eager to "have more time with him" at their home in Durham, N.C. After a vacation in Bermuda and holiday gatherings with their three children, she adds, she will select a job "that combines both higher education and the corporate world."

Before joining the Carter administration, Mrs. Kreps was vice president of Duke University in Durham, where she had also taught economics and written a number of books on labor and working women.

She served on numerous corporate boards of directors — among them the New York Stock Exchange, R.J. Reynolds Industries, J.C. Penney Co., Eastman Kodak Co. — often as the first woman in the post.

Close colleagues at Commerce describe her as "a Southern lady" but caution that her soft-spoken demeanor should not be misread.

"She is clearly above average among the Cabinet officials the Carter administration has had — male or female," said Jack Carlson, executive vice president of the National Association of Realtors and a former vice president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce. "It's going to be a hard act to follow."

Critics don't complain about Mrs. Kreps but about a department they believe has outlasted its usefulness.

"The job of secretary of Commerce has never been that much of a heavyweight in the formation of national policy," said a Treasury official who asked for anonymity. "There's almost no excuse for a Department of Commerce — or a Department of Labor — anymore. Business and labor can take care of themselves."

He also said he thought Mrs. Kreps "has been disappointed for a long time because the position doesn't give her enough clout."

Some of the "clout" was removed late in 1977 when W. Michael Blumenthal, then treasury secretary, cut Mrs. Kreps and Labor Secretary Ray Marshall from the interagency Economic Policy Group, which advises the president on domestic priorities.

"Yes, I did feel cut out," she said this week. "But 'the boys' breakfast club' is not the only way one could have some impact on economic policy. So I spent my energies on trade and economic development rather than fretting about not being invited to breakfast."

She lists what she considers her greatest accomplishments with enthusiasm:

— Calling attention to the heavy U.S. trade deficit and the need to expand exports.

— Working for expansion of the Economic Development Administration, which this year will have its funds for business projects more than quadrupled from last year's $628 million.

— Shifting more of the responsibility for day-to-day promotion and policing of trade from State and Treasury to Commerce.

— Improving communication among what she called "a loose conglomeration of agencies" with responsibilities ranging from control of shipping to business loans and weather forecasting.

Mrs. Kreps also could have cited the half-dozen successful overseas missions she conducted for Carter. The most recent, in May, saw her initial an agreement with China that has become the basis for re-establishing trade relations after a 30-year lapse.

She has described Commerce as being like Noah's ark, but with only one of everything.

Her staff apparently wanted her to remember the variety: gifts at her farewell party last Friday included a lobster pot, complete with live lobsters, from the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration; signal flags for the letters "J" and "K" from the Maritime Administration; and hard hats from several development groups.

"And we all chipped in and bought her Cabinet chair for her," said an aide. "It was a hard goodbye."

It's A Different Type of Voter

CHICAGO (AP) — More than half of voting-age Americans have grown up since the Great Depression. That, says Professor Michael Boskin, can make all the economic difference in the world — and probably will.

Boskin, in his early 30s, one of the new breed of economists who have far less faith than their predecessors in the ability of government to manipulate the economy, explains:

Much of American political and economic thinking was influenced by the experience of the 1930s, especially that of unemployment. Voters saw government as their savior, and trusted it to pump the economy.

Votes were cast with that dismal experience in mind, and elected officials never forgot it. Government spent heavily and it ran up deficits. The top priority was the reduction of unemployment.

Then came the post-depression voters. Their experience has been different; it includes inflation, taxes, regulations and, more recently, stagnation. They have been hurt by continued deficits.

Their economic view is different, as different as that of some of the young economists who grew up in the past three decades," said Boskin, of Stanford University.

"I see that bloc of voters changing how we view economic policy," he said in an interview following his address to the U.S. League of Savings Associations — the home mortgage lenders — meeting this week.

Boskin threw a barrage of unpleasant statistics at his audience of 7,000 people, most of whom were associated in some way with savings associations, which hold more home mortgages than any other group.

For example: Disposable income per person rose 2.4 percent a year from 1947 to 1973, but in the next four years it only half that. And more: In 1947-1967 U.S. inflation averaged only 1.6 percent a year, but in the next 10 years it averaged 7 percent. The latest U.S. rate is 13.7 percent but in Germany last year it was only 3.

The impact of inflation, economic stagnation and double taxation on savings (when earned and again when interest is received) has cut sharply into the ability to save," said Boskin.

Again the statistics document it. Last year the savings rate was 5.8 percent of personal income, but in the third quarter of this year it was only 4.1.

Contrast those figures with a 1973-1977 personal saving rate in Japan of 24.9 percent, France 15.2 percent and West Germany 17.7 percent, and you understand something of the dollar's decline.

Boskin explained that private saving serves two crucial purposes:

"It is the major source of finance for new investment, and hence expansion of jobs, productivity and standards of living.

"And it is the vehicle by which citizens transfer resources from one stage of their lifetime to another, such as from peak earning years to retirement."

Gunman Holds Banker, Leaves Scene after Taking $200,000

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — Banker Richard Poynter had a feeling something was wrong when he arrived at Danny Smith's home at 7 a.m. to pick him up for a business trip.

"I honked, but Danny did not come out. He stood in the doorway and motioned me inside. I didn't know what was up," said Poynter, who shrugged, turned off the ignition and entered Smith's house.

"Just as I went through the entryway, Danny said, 'Don't get excited. We have someone else here, a visitor,'" Poynter said.

The visitor had held Smith, president of the Arlington Bank of Commerce, his wife and their two children hostage at gunpoint all night. After Poynter arrived and was also taken hostage, the gunman forced Smith to raid his own bank's vault and later escaped with more than $200,000 Wednesday.

The hostages were released unharmed. "A manhunt was launched for the robber, but law officers admitted by the time they had set up roadblocks the extortionist had probably already fled the area.

"We had a perfect roadblock system set up, but we were just too late," said Deputy Police Chief Marion Rettig.

Officers said Smith, his wife Linda, and their 8-year-old son and 5-year-old daughter, were confronted by the masked gunman in their home Tuesday night after the intruder apparently broke in through an unlocked door about 8:30 p.m.

Poynter said the gunman ordered Smith, 31, to get $250,000 after telling the bank president if he alerted police or did not return with the cash within 35 minutes he would shoot his wife, Smith complied.

Police Capt. Mike Johnston said, "After the money was delivered the suspect then took Mr. Smith hostage in his automobile and they drove around for a short period" of time in Fort Worth. Mr. Smith was put in the trunk of the vehicle, and the suspect left the car and Mr. Smith somehow got out of the vehicle and notified us."

Johnston quoted family members as saying the man was at times hostile and at other times reassuring and that they did not feel they were in any real danger.

Smith answered "shaky" when asked how he felt after the ordeal was over, but otherwise declined to talk to reporters. He had managed to free himself from the trunk, which was shut but not locked, about 10 a.m. He walked to the nearby Texas Bank of Commerce and notified Arlington police.

Poynter, forced to lie face down on the floor of Smith's bedroom with the other hostages until Smith returned with the money, said before the gunman left the house with Smith he told Mrs. Smith, "Danny depends on you. You owe your life to Danny; so no calls for an hour. Is that understood?"

"He said to me, 'Do you understand that?' I said yes. Then he and Danny left, and I called police."

The exact amount of money taken in the scheme was not determined, but Fort Worth FBI Agent in Charge David Raridy said it was more than $200,000.

'60 Minutes' Top Show In TV Ratings Race

NEW YORK (AP) — CBS' "60 Minutes," which has spent a decade on the air, enjoyed its best season during the 1978-79 television year: But less than two months into the new season, the news magazine is doing better than ever.

"60 Minutes" won the networks' ratings race for the week ending Oct. 28, according to figures from the A.C. Nielsen Co., and the strong showing helped boost CBS into the No. 1 spot for the first time since new programming began last month.

It was only the second No. 1 finish for "60 Minutes" in the program's history. The first came Nov. 26, 1978.

CBS, in fact, listed seven programs in the week's Top 10, and the network's rating for the week was 19.3, with ABC second at 18.4 and NBC third at 17.8.

The networks say that means in an average prime-time minute during the week, 19.3 percent of the homes in the country with TV were tuned to CBS.

The rating for "60 Minutes" was 30.9. Nielsen says that means of all the homes across the country with television, 30.9

percent saw at least part of the Sunday evening news magazine.

CBS spent most of the first month of the new season in third place while a surprising start by NBC caught most of the attention. NBC's third-place finish this week was its second in a row, though the network did continue to score ratings points with its series, both "Quincy, M.E." and "Little House on the Prairie," made the Top 20.

As "60 Minutes" gave CBS programmers reason for joy, NBC's "Prime Time Sunday" was cause for concern at that network. "Prime Time Sunday," begun in June, was 66th of 66 programs rated.

New series, meanwhile, continued to struggle in the ratings, with only three among the first 30 programs listed — ABC's "Hart to Hart" 15th, "Trapper John, M.D." on CBS No. 24, and NBC's "The Misadventures of Sheriff Lobo" 29th.

In addition to "Prime Time Sunday," the bottom five in the ratings included a CBS movie, "Mind over Murder," 62nd, followed by ABC's "Detective School," "California Fever" on CBS and a movie, "The Bible ..

In the Beginning," on ABC.

"The week's Top 10 shows: "60 Minutes," with a rating of 30.9 representing 23.6 million homes, "One Day at a Time," 30.6 or 23.3 million, and "Alice," 30.2 and 23 million, all CBS; "Three's Company," 29.3 or 22.4 million, ABC; "The Jeffersons," 27.5 or 21 million, and "Dallas," 26.3 or 20.1 million, both CBS; "Taxi," 26.2 or 20 million, ABC; "M-A-S-H," 25.4 or 19.4 million, CBS; "Mork and Mindy," 25.2 or 19.2 million, ABC; and "Archie Bunker's Place," 25 or 19.1 million, CBS.

The next 10 shows: Movie, "And Baby Makes Six," NBC, and "Dukes of Hazard," CBS, tie; "Eight is Enough," ABC; "Quincy, M.E.," NBC, and "Hart to Hart," ABC, tie; "Little House on the Prairie," NBC; "Happy Days" and "Charlie's Angels," both ABC; and "Fat Albert's Halloween Special," CBS, and "Angie," ABC, tie.

YEAR OF THE CHILD
WASHINGTON (AP) — To mark the International Year of the Child, the Smithsonian's Hirshhorn Museum and Sculpture Garden is presenting a group of 32 works focusing on images of children by artists of the late 19th and of the 20th centuries.

Among the 12 paintings, 9 sculptures and 11 works on paper on view through Nov. 4 are two paintings and a watercolor by Winslow Homer, a study by Thomas Eakins, small family-theme sculptures by Henry Moore and by modern Eskimo artists, and contemporary paintings by Carroll Cloar and Ben Kamihira.

The press prepares

By Don Graff

In last year's celebrated confrontation between The New York Times and a New Jersey court demanding surrender of a reporter's notes pertaining to a murder case, the Times paid a total of $285,000 in civil and criminal contempt fines alone.

Attorney fees and other legal costs raised to much more the total bill for the case, which ended when the contempt citation was suspended with the defendant's acquittal.

The Times, however, gave every indication of being prepared in what was widely regarded as a critical test of First Amendment press rights to contest the issue — and go on paying — indefinitely. And there is no question that as one of the most well-heeled media operations, it could afford to do so for some time at least.

But questions were raised at the time as to the consequences for a smaller newspaper finding itself in a similar situation. Incapable of sustaining such a financial penalty, its alternatives would be to forego principle and comply with a questionable constitutional court request or go under itself.

The press, or precisely the American Newspaper Publishers Association, is now moving to answer that question. It is establishing an insurance program to assist individual newspapers in meeting the legal costs of First Amendment cases.

Under the projected plan, coverage would be provided up to a maximum of $1 million per case, a significant assistance to many publications with limited resources that otherwise might count the cost of standing up for press freedoms too great. It would, in the words of Jack C. Landau, director of the Reporters Committee for Freedom of the Press, "guarantee that smaller papers won't have to hock their presses to their law firms."

What it comes down to is putting government as represented by the judicial branch somewhat in the category of earthquakes, hurricanes and other natural disasters as an insured risk.

And when you stop to consider, that may not be entirely inappropriate.

More like war games

Insurance of another kind is being taken out for the upcoming Winter Olympics.

The organizers of the 1980 events at Lake Placid, N.Y., have asked for and are getting $80 million worth of assistance from the U.S. military to guard against anything resembling the Palestinian guerrilla assault on the 1972 Munich Olympics in which 11 Israeli athletes were murdered.

Equipment and services to be provided include ground radar, seismic sensors and night vision devices to protect the Olympic Village, a medical support group complete with ambulances and evacuation helicopters and — just in the worst possible case — 300 body bags.

The Army declined a request for a 1,500-man counter-terrorist strike force, but it is throwing in an armored personnel carrier.

And they call them games.

Thieves' harbor

If Jimmy Carter had been aware of the situation before his paddle-wheeler cruise on the Mississippi, he might have hesitated focusing so much attention on water transportation.

Boat theft, statistics reveal, have taken a sharp rise. From 1973 to 1978, reported thefts processed by the FBI's National Crime Information Center jumped from 5,000 annually to 14,500.

And that, according to a report in The Journal of Insurance, may be only the tip of the iceberg. Conservative industry estimates are that actual but largely unreported annual losses are running to 90,000 boats valued in the multi-millions.

Owners are advised to take several elementary precautionary measures, such as not leaving keys aboard, reinforcing mooring lines and having ample identifying markings.

It's a situation in which the fuel shortage could turn out to have an advantage. If it gets much worse, merely keeping the oars locked up might provide the most effective security.

VA home loan is a buy

If you're one of the nation's 30 million veterans one of the best business deals you can make today is to buy a home. Here's why:

— The interest rate on a Veterans Administration housing loan is lower than conventional rates. The VA interest rate now is 10.5 percent; conventional loan rates are 12 percent or higher.

— You won't have to make as large a down payment. In fact, 70 percent of the 376,000 VA loans made in 1978 were made with no down payment.

— The length of your loan is likely to be longer than that for a conventional loan.

— Note that what you get from VA is a loan. That is, VA guarantees you'll repay; if you don't, the VA is stuck with your debt.

— There's still a VA direct-loan program on the books for rural areas and small towns where credit is not available. But only about 1,500 loans a year are made under this program, because credit is available almost everywhere.

Two other important things to know:

— Since Jan. 1, 1977, an ex-serviceman, has been able to qualify for a second or even a third VA housing loan guarantee if his first VA loan has been paid off in full. It used to be that the VA loan was a one-time shot; you used it up and that was that. But Congress in late 1974 amended the law. Last year nearly 38,000 veterans took advantage of the change to buy their second VA-guaranteed homes.

— Since 1976, peacetime veterans, as well as wartime, have been eligible for VA housing loan guarantees. The law's change "bridged" the peacetime period between the end of World War II and the Korean War's start. Wartime vets must have served 90 days, peacetime vets 180 days.

How do you get a VA housing loan guarantee?

The lender can be a mortgage company, a savings and loan association, a bank. The lender has forms you must fill out. If you don't have a VA certificate of eligibility (for a VA loan) the lender often will get it for you from the nearest regional VA office at the same time your application is being processed.

About 15 percent of lenders can process your application under what VA calls an "automatic" system — that is, without sending it to a regional VA office. In all cases your credit must be checked, your proposed home purchase must be appraised, your employment verified.

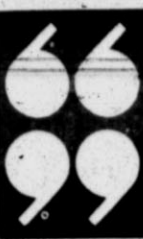

Lenders not covered by VA's "automatic" system send your application to one of 50 VA offices handling housing loan guarantees (the 50 offices are in 47 states; the St. Paul, Minn., office handles North and South Dakota; the Denver office handles Wyoming).

In one to three weeks your lender should let you know if your loan guarantee has been approved.

Many World War II vets have had tremendous appreciation in the value of homes purchased 15 to 20 years ago, or more. They can take a huge, tax-free profit, reinvest it for income and buy a second home with little or no down-payment.

For more help, look in your phone book under Veterans Administration (often listed under U.S. Government, too). You'll find a phone number for "benefits information" starting with "800." That's a toll-free number. Call it; the person at the other end of the line can steer you to the best deal you may ever make.

Teen pregnancy epidemic

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Where adolescents and sex are concerned, ignorance is not bliss. It is instead an invitation to a disaster that is reaching epidemic proportions in this country — teen-age pregnancy.

Somewhat that message seems uncommonly difficult to convey to countless frightened and insecure adults who have been swept up in "moral" crusades against sex education in the schools and elsewhere.

In community after community, as educators and public officials are only too well aware, conservative groups with and without religious affiliations are launching all-out assaults on even the most elementary and cautious sex-education programs. These same groups frequently campaign as well against family-planning programs and abortion.

What has upset these people, of course, is the rather striking increase in adolescent sexual activity that has occurred over the past decade. Studies indicate more than half of today's 21 million teen-agers ages 15 to 19 have had intercourse at least once compared with just 30 percent who had done so in 1970.

This is a behavioral revolution of some magnitude but it wasn't caused by classroom discussion of sex and reproduction and it won't be halted by eliminating sex education.

Indeed, what most teen-agers desperately need is not less but more information about sex and contraception if they are to avoid the inevitable consequence of their conduct — pregnancy.

The need, furthermore, is urgent. For despite a dramatic decline in overall fertility rates in the United States over the past decade, the rates are actually rising among teen-agers under 17.

More and more children each year are being born to mothers who are themselves still children. In 1950, 20 percent of all first children were born to mothers under age 20; by 1975, the proportion had risen to 35 percent.

An appalling 1 million teen-agers a year become pregnant, some 400,000 of them obtain abortions, but the other 600,000 have their babies — two-thirds of whom are born out of wedlock.

The consequences are little short of catastrophic for all concerned. Pregnant adolescents face greater physical risks in childbirth than more mature women, including a maternal death rate 60 percent higher than that of women 20 to 24 years old. A baby born to a teen-ager is two to three times more likely to die in its first year than the child of an older mother. The offspring of adolescent mothers are much more likely to suffer mental or physical birth defects.

Teen-age mothers suffer a lifelong loss of schooling that all too often condemns them to poorly paid dead-end jobs or to welfare dependency. Perhaps because their career opportunities are so limited, they also have more children than women who start their families later — an average of five kids apiece for mothers who first give birth at age 17 or younger. This, in turn, exacerbates family poverty.

Early pregnancies not only ruin the lives of young mothers and their children, they also drain the public treasury — to the tune of some $8.3 billion a year in welfare and related outlays.

For all the hand wringing by parents and preachers, sex education and readily available birth control remain the only practical weapons for reducing the incidence of teen-age pregnancy. Withholding them from adolescents won't prevent the youngsters from having sex; it will simply "punish" more of them with unwanted pregnancies — an outcome nobody could possibly call "moral."

For if teen-age promiscuity is deplorable, teen-age pregnancy is downright disastrous — for the young mothers, for their children and for society as a whole.

Public Invited To Visit Center

The new cafeteria facilities at Hereford Senior Citizens Center, 406 W. 4th St., will be on display Friday afternoon during an Open House. The public is invited to visit the Senior Citizens Center from 2-5 p.m.

Ribbon-cutting ceremonies are to be conducted in the Center's cafeteria by the Chamber of Commerce during the noon hour Friday. Special guests representing County and City offices will be present.

Now that the cafeteria has been completed, the Senior Citizens Center is offering hot lunches each weekday to senior citizens over the age of 60. Payment for a meal is by voluntary donation.

Margie Daniels, director of the Senior Citizens Center, expressed appreciation to those individuals and organization who have supported the lunch program. She cited the efforts of Hereford Independent School District, the Superintendent and Board of Trustees, County Judge Glen Nelson and the County Commissioners, Mayor Bartley Dowell and the City Commission, The Hereford Brand, KPAN Radio and Hereford Cablevision.

Currently serving as president of Hereford Senior Citizens Association is Debs Knox. All senior citizens over the age of 55 are welcome to join the association.

Kiwanis Breakfast Club Art Show Begins Friday

Whiteface Kiwanis Breakfast Club has scheduled their Annual Arts and Crafts Show and Sale for Friday and Saturday in Sugarland Mall with more than 40 exhibitors participating.

Proceeds from the event will go to various civic projects.

A number of artists from Texas and New Mexico have already rented space in the upcoming show, which is being organized by Mal Manchee and Cecil Boyer, co-chairmen.

Local artists and craftsmen are invited to participate in the two-day event. A $30 fee will reserve a 9' by 12' area for each exhibitor. Rental fees will go to the Kiwanis Club; no commission charge will be placed on merchandise sold during the show.

The Whiteface Kiwanians suggest that local residents might want to do some early Christmas shopping at the arts and crafts extravaganza.

Persons interested in renting space in the show are requested to call Manchee, 364-4370, or Boyer, 364-1841.

The Hall of Fame for Great Americans was founded in 1900 by Dr. Henry Mitchell MacCracken, chancellor of New York University. It honors persons whose outstanding achievements have influenced the culture and course of the nation.

The first National Assembly representing both North and South Vietnam met on June 24, 1976. The country was officially reunited July 2, 1976. The former North Vietnamese capital, flag, anthem, emblem and currency were applied to the new state.

"Turkey Walk" Sponsored By American Heart Assn.

The American Heart Association is sponsoring a "Turkey Walk" Saturday, Nov. 10, beginning at 9 a.m. The track will be at Northwest Elementary School.

Anyone bringing in $50 will receive a turkey (10-12 lbs.) Sponsors should be obtained prior to Nov. 10 and money will be turned in Nov. 14, between 3:30-5:30 p.m. at Charlie Bell's office, 110 East 3rd Street. Entry forms can be picked up at Charlie Bell's office or from Judy Detten, 147 N. Texas.

The "Turkey Walk" will be at individual pace; it is not a race. For further information, one can call Judy Detten, 364-2700.

Asked if he had anything to declare at customs, Oscar Wilde, docking in New York City on his first visit to America in 1882, shocked the customs inspector by replying, "Nothing but my genius."

At Wits End

BY ERMA BOMBECK

People are so crabby lately and I've been trying to put my finger on it.

Is it unemployment? SALT II? Nuclear controversy? Fuel shortages? Inflation?

That may be part of it, but I think I'm on to something that really makes sense. Listen to this.

There are 217 million people in this country. There are 138 million people who own a total of 143 million cars. There are 28 THOUSAND legal parking places.

Do you have any idea what that can do to a nation? I see it every day. Sweet little old-ladies driving around in circles in shopping centers spending their final days on earth writing obscene messages in the dust on the trunks of small cars.

Civilized men turned informers about a car in a tow-away zone. When it is removed, they pull into the spot.

I had my license only a few months when my small son broke his leg on a swing set. I scooped him up, put him in the car and came to a screeching halt in front of the emergency door of the hospital. "Hey lady," yelled a policeman, "You can't park there."

"I've got a 53 pound boy with a broken leg," I shouted. "Visitor parking is in Section C...just beyond Handicapped."

The problem continues to get worse. No wonder graduates of universities are older now. They spend an extra three years, trying to find a place to park.

Consider the frustration of a student in an Eastern school who was parked illegally and left the following note on his windshield.

"Have mercy. Attention police officer. I know my car is parked illegally. Could you please give me a break. My starter is dead and won't start on a cold day."

"I have done nothing this semester but worry about this car, park it, pay tickets, and pick it up after being towed. I'm doing the best I can. It will be moved tomorrow...somehow."

"I have no more funds for tickets or towing. My friends are tired of pushing this thing around."

"Please don't tow it. If you do, at least tow it to Gordie's University Texaco Station. I will commit suicide if you do otherwise. I cannot handle the situation."

I rest my case.

Ann Landers

Crude Son-in-law

DEAR ANN LANDERS: How much respect does a big fat slob owe his mother-in-law? I will leave it up to you to decide.

I was invited to my daughter's for dinner last week. She is a lovely, refined girl and has fine children. Why she married such an animal I will never know.

When my son-in-law came home from work he took off his clothes and put on a pair of bathing trunks. He looked like a woman who was pregnant with triplets. I asked him if he thought he had such a great physique that he could go around like that. His reply was, "This is MY house."

When my daughter started to put supper on the table, the animal made no move to put on a robe or anything else. I went into the kitchen and asked my daughter if her husband was going to sit at the table like that. She said, "It's up to him. I don't want to start anything." When he headed for the supper table, hairy chest and all that blubber, I said, "My appetite is gone," and I left.

I'd like your comments on this incident.--A.W.

DEAR A.W.: I can certainly understand how a fat belly and a hairy chest might kill your appetite, but you were a guest in their home. Even though you son-in-law is a crude jerk, you should have stayed and made the best of it, for your daughter's sake.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have been meaning to write to you ever since I read that letter from the mother whose child was very small for his age. The woman said her most effective response was, "Better small and smart than big and dumb."

While I sympathize with the child who is small for his age, I wish to speak from my own experience about my "big and dumb" sons.

All my boys were large at birth--over 10 pounds. As they were growing up they were, of course, larger than most children the same age.

Although my sons were of average intelligence and not particularly gifted in sports or academics, I found that almost everyone--including relatives who knew exactly how old they were--expected them to act their SIZE.

My sons were labeled "immature" and "undisciplined" when they said and did things considered "cute" and "amusing" coming from their smaller cousins. I noticed, too, smaller children always received more affection and approval--even from teachers.

I would like to remind your readers that before judging a child as "immature" it might be wise to find out his age first. He may simply be acting it.--Big Mamma From Bellingham, Wash.

DEAR MAMA: I don't think I have ever received a letter until now in defense of children who are large for their age. Thank you for those fresh insights.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: As we approach Christmas, a time of loneliness and sadness for many, please suggest to your readers that they invite others who might also be alone--in fact, the more the merrier.

With food so expensive, it's OK to ask guests to bring a salad, a vegetable, the dessert or whatever. It will make them feel like contributors.

Remember there's always room for one more. Make it a Happy Chanukah or a Merry Christmas for the loners.--Natchez.

DEAR NATCH: Wonderful suggestion--and early enough so that many readers can put it to use! Bless you!

NEW YORK (AP) -- Convenience foods are popular with the nation's teen-age girls, who prepare an average of 13 meals each week for themselves and their families, a survey by Seventeen magazine shows.

Eight out of 10 of the young cooks polled use frozen foods in preparing the meals; 82 percent include canned soups on their menu, while cold cuts and pizza are popular with about three-fourths of the respondents.

Potatoes Popular with Basques

AP Wine and Food Writer— I recently learned that Idaho, home of those big baking potatoes, is also the home of many Basque people who migrated from Europe at the turn of the century.

Apparently most of the Basques who came to this country had planned to stay only long enough to make sufficient money herding sheep to go back to their provinces in Spain and France and live out their days in comfort.

But many of them stayed, and today Idaho has the largest concentration of Basques in the United States.

For centuries, the Basques have been without a homeland. Living in border provinces of Spain and France, they have had to adapt to their surroundings, which included the local cuisine.

In Idaho, this meant basing the diet in part on those large oval potatoes with russet skin for which the state is famous and which are good in many other forms besides baked.

Actually, potatoes were nothing new to the Basques. One of their mainstays in Europe is garbure, a heavy cabbage and potato soup flavored with preserved goose. I'm told that potatoes are almost as essential to garbure as the cabbage and goose fat.

Since settling in Idaho the Basque colony has come up with some ideas of its own on the potato. One specialty is Basque potato casserole, a side dish that combines green peppers, onion, garlic, olives and tomatoes with a mashed-potato topping sprinkled with Parmesan cheese.

An Irish friend who has spent some time in Idaho tells me the Basques have also acquired a fondness for colcannon, an Irish-inspired combination of mashed potatoes and cabbage. All of which proves that the potato, perhaps more than any other vegetable, has a universal appeal.

Here is a recipe for Basque Potato Casserole using instant Idaho mashed potatoes.

- 2 1/2 cups prepared instant Idaho mashed potatoes
- 2 tablespoons olive oil
- 1 green pepper, seeded and sliced
- 1/2 cup sliced onion
- 1 clove garlic minced
- 1/2 cup coarsely chopped pitted ripe olives
- 1 can (8 ounces) whole

- tomatoes
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon dried leaf basil
- 1/4 teaspoon dried leaf oregano
- 2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese

Prepare mashed potatoes according to package direction for 2 1/2 cups, and keep warm. Heat olive oil in skillet. Add green pepper, onion and garlic; cook till tender. Add olives, tomatoes with liquid, salt, basil and oregano. Simmer uncovered for 5 minutes. Turn into 1 1/2 quart casserole. Spoon potatoes over vegetables. Sprinkle with Parmesan cheese. Place under broiler 2 to 5 minutes till lightly browned. Serves 6. Good with a dry, white wine, well chilled.

During Mark Twain's days as a newspaperman, he was editor of a small Missouri paper. One day he received a letter from a subscriber, stating that he had found a spider in his paper, and asked if this was an omen of good or bad luck. Twain replied: "Finding a spider in your paper is neither good nor bad luck. The spider was merely looking over our paper to see which merchant was not advertising so that he could go to that store, spin his web across the door, and lead a life of undisturbed peace ever afterward."

QUIZ: A Diamond Is: (a) Card Suit; (b) Baseball Field; (c) Precious Gem

NEW YORK (AP) — In the first century, Pliny the Elder, Roman historian and philosopher, noted that diamonds were hard, rare and valuable, and only royalty wore them.

But the situation has changed, says the Jewelry Industry Council, which reports that 75 percent of first-time U.S. brides are given a diamond engagement ring and that the gem has achieved universal popularity.

For those who know little more about diamonds than that the most popular cut is the round shape, that the ideal stone is clear as a raindrop and that "fancy" refers to diamonds with a pronounced and attractive body color, the Council offers this quiz to rate your Diamond IQ.

1. The word diamond comes from: (a) "dia monte," the Latin word for heavenly fire; (b) the Old French "deumonde," meaning two worlds — ancient Gauls believed diamonds were the spiritual link between this world and the next; (c) the ancient Greek "adamas," meaning unconquerable; (d) "di monte," early Italian meaning a mountain of flame.

2. "Carat," the measure of diamond weight, is derived from: (a) the ancient Bessarabian weight scale; (b) the caratjen, a Spanish coin worth roughly two gold doubloons; (c) the Greek "keration," the name for the uniform-in-weight carat seed.

3. The diamond given by actor Richard Burton to his former wife, Elizabeth Taylor, weighs approximately 69 1/2 carats, equivalent to the size of: (a) a pea; (b) a grape; (c) a walnut.

4. Television star Arlene Francis' favorite piece of jewelry—a gift from her husband, which she always wears, is a: (a) diamond and sapphire pin; (b) diamond bracelet with her initials in diamonds; (c) diamond heart pendant; (d) diamond tiara.

5. One heavyweight boxing champion had his winning belt studded with 397 diamonds. This was: (a) Muhammad Ali; (b) John L. Sullivan; (c) Joe Louis; (d) Jack Dempsey.

6. This famous actress with a penchant for diamonds would turn over her receipts after each performance to her jeweler to pay for diamond jewelry: (a) Elizabeth Taylor; (b) the Divine Sarah Bernhardt; (c) Katherine Cornell; (d) Maria Ouspenskaya.

7. Diamond Jim Brady, whose diamond-studded accessories caused quite a stir, showered lady-friend Lillian Russell with extravagant gifts, among which was a: (a) diamond-studded bicycle; (b) diamond bracelet with her name in red diamonds; (c) diamond G-string; (d) pair of dancing slippers encrusted with diamonds.

8. The man who discovered how best to release the diamond's fiery brilliance from the unprepossessing rough gem was: (a) Vincent Peruzzi, a Venetian lapidary who lived in the 17th century; (b) Louis XIV, who designed a prototypical brilliant cut to enhance his own glittering presence; (c) an Egyptian lapidary whose brilliant cuts were hidden for nearly 2,000 years in a pharaoh's tomb; (d) Cecil Rhodes, diamond-mine owner.

9. Lorelei Lee's famed comment, "Diamonds are a girl's best friend," is a classic but "It is better to have old second-hand diamonds than none at all" was said by: (a) Scarlett O'Hara in "Gone With the Wind"; (b) Anthony Leeson, curator of fine gems at the Parke-Bernet Galleries; (c) Mark Twain in "Puddin' Head Wilson's Calendar"; (d) Sir John Farthingill of the Bank of England.

10. The Hope diamond is a rare and famous example of a diamond with a deep body color. It is: (a) canary yellow; (b) deep blue; (c) blue-red; (d) lime-green.

11. In Arkansas, in the "Crafter of Diamonds," a number of the gems have been mined. One, a little over six carats, was named for a famous television comedian. The diamond is: (a) the Garry Moore; (b) the Milton Berle; (c) the Red Skelton; (d) the Redd Foxx.

12. At first, only men of royalty or importance wore diamonds at court. The first woman to wear diamonds was: (a) Countess Irina of Danzig, at the Imperial Court of Russia; (b) Agnes Sorel, mistress of King Charles VII; (c) Catherine the Great of Russia; (d) Empress Su Ming of the Second Dynasty in China.

ANSWERS: 1.c; 2.c; 3.b; 4.c; 5.b; 6.b; 7.a; 8.a; 9.c; 10.b; 11.a; 12.b.

Stanton Dogie Roundup

The second edition of the Dogie Newspaper was sold Tuesday. There will be an issue sold each month as well as at least two special editions. The income from the newspaper sales supplements the yearbook fund.

Yearbook sponsor, Carolyn Waters, left for Dallas last night for a convention for members of Texas Association of Journalism Directors. Highlights of the convention include a newspaper and yearbook swap shop, a "Curriculum Carnival" for teachers to share curricula and teaching aids, and a unique series of "mini-seminars" organized to provide short, but in-depth looks at various aspects of publication production. The convention site is at the Dallas Northpark Inn.

Work on the Homecoming Float each night has progressed well. Students and teachers have attended the work sessions each night that work was scheduled and several classes have devoted some of their class time to making paper flowers for the float.

The Art Club members will be selling refreshments at the concession stand during the Stanton-LaPlata games. Proceeds have not been designated as yet.

Yearbooks sales are over as far as the homeroom sales campaign. Those students who, for some reason or another, have yet to reserve a yearbook can visit with Mrs. Waters, in Room 29, and sign a waiting list. Conditions for being on this list will be explained to the students when they visit with the yearbook sponsor.

Teen Dance Scheduled Tomorrow

Local teenagers are invited to attend the Homecoming dance Friday evening at the Community Center from 9 p.m.-1 a.m. The disco music of Shotgun Kelly will be provided.

Admission will cost $3 per single and $5 per couple.

Bazaar Begins Friday

St. Thomas Episcopal Church Christmas bazaar will begin Friday and continue Saturday at the church. Tickets will be available for $1.50 each for door prizes to be given away. Above, Linda Gilbert admires the sequined Christmas tree skirt to be sold at the bazaar. The doors will open at 1 p.m. Friday and will open again at 9 a.m. Saturday. [Brand photo by Denise Smith]

Hereford Church Women United have extended an invitation for the public to attend World Community Day services at 9:30 a.m. Friday at King's Manor Methodist Home.

Theme of this year's observance will be "Causeway: This Community, USA"

Free baby-sitting will be available at First Baptist Church beginning at 9 a.m. for anyone interested in attending the event.

Mrs. Mike Betzen, the guest speaker, attended the CWU Convention this past July in Lubbock and will share ideas on how to make the venture to being a part of the community, and how the community can be a part of the state.

To complement Mrs. Betzen's message, the first and fifth

Square Dance Slated Tonight

Members of Merry Mixers Square Dance Club are reminded that they are to convene for a regular business session at 7 p.m. tonight at the Community Center, where their regular dance will begin at 8 o'clock. All members are asked to attend and guests are welcome.

The club agreed to meet this evening in lieu of their traditional Friday dance so as to not conflict with Homecoming activities.

grade students from St. Anthony's School will give interpretative body language, song & dance numbers. The worship service will follow the program.

The first World Community Day, celebrated in 1943 in the midst of a world war, was a call for a just and durable peace. Every World Community Day celebration since then has been dedicated to a search for corporate action for justice and peace. The celebration this year focuses that search on the issues raised by the Church Women United National Urban Causeway.

In the spring of 1978, 65 women from Church Women United traveled in three teams, visiting 16 major metropolitan areas in the United States. Their aim was to experience, as far as it was possible, the life of urban dwellers in those cities by studying six issue areas: education, employment, health/medical care, housing, transportation and welfare.

These women, together with the teams of women in the Receiving Cities, formed the CWU National Urban Causeway, which, in the tradition of previous CWU Causeways, sought to bridge the gaps of experience and understanding between people.

As the participants in World Community Day examine the impact of the six Causeway issues of this community and look for a just corporate response to those issues, they will follow the biblical injunction to "seek the welfare of the city...for in its welfare you will find your welfare."

The offering from World Community Day supports the Intercontinental Mission programs of Church Women United.

The American Shetland Pony Club has over 6,000 members in all 50 of the United States and in Canada. Harness and racing contests are held as well as pulling contests. Ponies can pull as much as 200 percent of their weight while the best draught or work horses cannot pull more than their own weight.

The ancient Greeks played with a toy they called the "diskos," and a painting on a vase from about 500 B.C. shows a youth spinning what we today call the yo-yo.

FISH CHOWDER

It's the slightly thickened variety.
4 thin slices bacon
2 large onions (3/4 pound), cut in thin strips
2 medium-large potatoes (1/2 pound), pared and diced (1 1/4-inch)
1 pound fish fillets (thawed if frozen), cut crosswise into 1-inch pieces
1 quart milk
2 tablespoons flour blended with 2 tablespoons water
Salt and pepper to taste
In a saucepot cook bacon until crisp; remove, crumble and reserve. In bacon fat lightly cook onion. Add potatoes and 1 1/2 cups water; boil gently until potatoes are almost tender - 15 minutes. Add fish and let bubble gently just until potatoes and fish are cooked through - 5 minutes or so. Scald-milk; add flour mixture; stir constantly until thickened; add to saucepot with reserved bacon, salt and pepper. Reheat, stirring gently so as not to break up fish. Makes 6 servings as a main dish.

PARTY SUPPER

Ham Roll Potato Puffs
Bean Relish Biscuits
Chocolate Cake Coffee
PINEAPPLE THREE-BEAN RELISH-SALAD
Our latest version of a popular dish.
1 1/2-cup can unsweetened pineapple chunks, drained
8-ounce can cut green beans, drained
8-ounce can cut wax beans, drained
10 1/2-ounce can red kidney beans, drained and rinsed
1 small onion, cut in short and very thin strips
1 medium green pepper, cut in short and very thin strips
1/4 cup honey
1/4 cup cider vinegar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/4 cup minced fresh parsley
Cut each pineapple chunk lengthwise into about 3 slices. Mix with all the remaining ingredients except the parsley. Chill. Just before serving, sprinkle with parsley. Offer with a slotted spoon or serve on lettuce. Makes about 1 quart.

DEARBORN, Mich. (AP) - Sylvanus F. Bowser of Fort Wayne, Ind., delivered the first American-made gasoline pump to Jake Gumper in 1885, but the American motorist soon learned to mistrust the device. The pump, which had marble valves and wooden plungers, was not known for delivering exact measure to motorists.
It was 30 years later that the first "visible-delivery" gasoline station, now in the transportation collection of the Henry Ford Museum here, actually let the customer see the gallon of gas flow from the pump, assuring him he was getting his money's worth.

Richard Henry Lee and Francis Lightfoot Lee were the only brothers to sign the Declaration of Independence.

POLLY'S POINTERS

How much juice in a lemon?

DEAR POLLY - It is jam and jelly time, and some recipes call for the juice of one lemon. How many teaspoons or tablespoons of juice are there in one lemon?
- W.W.

DEAR W.W. - That depends on the size of the lemon. When a recipe has such indefinite measurements, I use an average-size lemon, but there is even a difference in the amount of juice different people can get out of similar lemons. The softer the lemon, the more juice one seems to get. - POLLY

DEAR POLLY - P.W.'s Pet Peeve was that prizes are always at the bottom of cereal boxes and children want to get them first thing. There is a good solution to that: Peeve. One can require children to eat all the cereal in a box BEFORE they get the prize. If the children know this when the cereal is bought, P.W. will find she has much less trouble. - NANCY

DEAR POLLY - I used to have a lot of trouble finding the right lids for the various pans and pots in my kitchen. Now I have saved time and frustration by numbering each pan and its matching lid. Nail polish works great, since marking-pen ink washes or rubs off. - ETTA

DEAR POLLY - Another way to keep thread from tangling when doing hand sewing is to use a double strand but knot each strand separately, not together with one knot.

When lining a baking pan, place the aluminum foil on the outside, mold it to the shape of the pan, then place inside. The chance of tearing is lessened.

After painting a room, put some paint in a clean, empty nail polish bottle. Use the paint later for touching up stubborn marks on the wall. - IRENE T.

DEAR POLLY - I would like to tell L.M. that I used cat litter on a mattress and it removed an odor. I believe it would do the same for her musty books if they were packed in layers of the litter. - AN IOWAN

DEAR POLLY - I was disappointed in your reply concerning wearing hair rollers in public. I have five children and aged in-laws, teach school five days a week and go to Sunday school and church, so my time is totally occupied. I feel I do the right thing getting up early on Saturday morning to wash and set my hair so that it dries naturally and saves time, energy and money. Many times I have had to make an unscheduled trip on a Saturday morning in my hair curlers because someone needed something. - JOYCE

Lifestyle changes help

DEAR DR. LAMB - I recently graduated from college. I'm 22 years old and the past few months I've been bothered by irregularity of my heart, including what the doctors call tachycardia and bigeminy pulse, along with persistent muscle spasms and twitches and indigestion. My doctor listened to my heart, performed an electrocardiogram and did a number of blood tests, including a test of my thyroid and potassium and chemical profile. But everything was all right.

He has prescribed Librium and Norpace and chalks it all up to anxiety and stress. I'm still concerned. Should I be?

DEAR READER - Let me tell you something. Anyone who notices an irregularity of his heart, particularly if it disturbs him or occurs with rapid heart action, is concerned. It can be downright uncomfortable whether it's caused by anxiety and stress or whether it's caused by some disease of the heart.

Many people do have such findings and do not have any underlying heart disease at all. In many instances we don't know what causes these episodes. It sounds like you have had a very thorough and competent medical examination which should give you a lot of comfort in knowing that you don't have any serious illness, regardless of how uncomfortable the attacks may be.

Bigeminy really means that every second beat is premature so that you have two beats, a pause, two beats and a pause. All of these fall into the same category of what people call their heart skipping a beat except yours occurs every other beat. A tachycardia, of course, refers to rapid heart rate. Some people have these as attacks with a sudden rapid beating of the heart which may persist for a period of time and then just stops as suddenly as it began.

I'm sending you The Health Letter number 6-12, Heart Irregularities, Skipped Beats, Tachycardias, to give you more information on these disorders. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

As The Health Letter I'm sending you explains, individuals with your problem can often do things with their lifestyle that are helpful. This includes eliminating coffee, tea, colas and all drinks that contain caffeine. Caffeine is a drug. It stimulates the heart and stimulates the release of adrenaline. It can cause an increase in such irregularities of the heart regardless of whether the irregularities are associated with anxiety or with underlying heart disease.

We also know that cigarette smoking contributes to the problem as do digestive disorders.

Individuals who do not have any underlying heart disease and have occasional irregular beats often do better if they improve their level of physical fitness, particularly if they're relatively unfit to begin with. I would suggest stopping all of the caffeine containing drinks, eliminating cigarettes, improve your diet, gradually improve your level of physical fitness and see if that won't help.

DEAR DR. LAMB - I'm a 78-year-old lady and have been in good health until two years ago. I had a lot of backaches. My doctor tells me I have osteoporosis. I'm taking calcium with vitamin D. I weigh 130 pounds. I get along real well until I do some heavy work like shoveling snow or working in the yard. My present problem is that I'm losing hair. Every time I comb my hair I comb out quite a bunch and it doesn't seem to be growing back. I'm afraid I'm going to lose all my hair. I've been going to a dermatologist for a year and it doesn't help. He says there's no cure.

DEAR READER - First, about your osteoporosis which is softening of the bones and occurs rather commonly as people get older. It's particularly apt to occur in small women.

Calcium and vitamin D have both been used in its treatment and are helpful in some cases. It's certainly true that women on calcium deficient diets are five times as likely to develop osteoporosis as those who have plenty of calcium in the diet. I am sending you The Health Letter number 6-10, Osteoporosis: Bone Softening. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

The large number of older women with the dowager's hump, or sometimes called the buffalo hump, are people who also have osteoporosis. This disease is also responsible for the major increase in fractures in people past middle age. That includes the hip fracture that may occur with a minor fall.

Now, as many of my readers know, I often recommend exercise. But it's like everything else, it has to be used properly. People with osteoporosis have weakened skeletal systems. That means they should avoid lifting, such as shoveling snow and hard work which might actually cause a spontaneous fracture of a vertebra or breaking of other bones. That doesn't mean you shouldn't exercise but it should be a different type of exercise to help strengthen the body and gradually strengthen the bony structure.

To achieve this, I recommend the advice of a physical therapist who can design a program of activity suitable for the individual.

I wish there was something I could do about your losing hair. We all tend to lose more hair as we get older and in some people it's more of a problem than in others. That possibly has something to do with inherited characteristics.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 12-6, Hair Care. You can learn from it a lot about the hair and the different factors that affect losing it.

About the best I can advise are the things I'm sure your dermatologist has already told you - to avoid heat of any form on the hair, don't pull or comb it vigorously. In fact, you'd be better off to use a very wide tooth comb and not to comb too frequently.

Anyone who does have an excessive loss of hair for no apparent reason should see a dermatologist as you have done to find out the cause. There are a host of things which can contribute to the problem.

DEAR POLLY - I wonder if you or your readers have any good ideas for removing wallpaper. I have tried nearly everything I can find in the stores, and nothing works very well. Thanks for any help. - D.P.

DEAR POLLY - I have always had good luck just using warm water and a scrub brush. Wet the paper thoroughly from the top down and go over it a couple of times to be sure every spot is wet. When the water has penetrated through the paper (do not wait too long or it will dry again) start lifting it off with a putty knife. After a good start it will often start to come off in big pieces. When most of the paper is off and just tiny bits cling to the wall, go over it with more water and the brush so the surface is smooth. If there are several layers of wallpaper a little white vinegar could be added to the water to speed things up. - POLLY

DEAR POLLY - It seems to me the 15 cent stamps want to tear everywhere except where one wants them to. To alleviate this condition, just after buying a book of stamps I split them down the center perforations with the scissors and then it is much easier to tear one off. - KENNETH

DEAR POLLY - My Pointer is for Winifred who wanted to know how to wash her drapes, she has a wringer-type washing machine. She can wash the drapes in her machine and lift them into a large pan and then carry them outside to hang on her clothesline. If she has a wringer type machine I am willing to bet she hangs her clothes outside. After they are on the line she can rinse them with the garden hose and then let them line dry.

I have fiber-glass foam-backed drapes that I wash in my basement tub and then I proceed as above. I hang them back at the windows when they are still damp, arrange the pleats with the curtains open and leave them until dry. Often I fasten a couple of old towels around the pleats that I have creased in place. - ANNE R.

DEAR POLLY - I have a dandy cleaning tip. When you are scrubbing the toilet bowl pour a bucket of water in the bowl. This will cause the water to flush out, but the bowl will not fill up again and you can scrub away on the empty bowl. - JORN

DEAR POLLY - We save all our wax milk cartons and stuff them with shredded newspaper, leaving some strips hanging out the open end. These make excellent starters for our fireplace or charcoal grill. (Another gas saver.) - MRSS.C.S.
