Minority Count Puts Pressure on Census Bureau

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Census Bureau — poised for its largest population tally ever — wants to make sure it counts every last American man, woman and child in 1980.

And to make certain that task is done, towns and special interest groups have put the bureau under intense scrutiny. At stake are millions of federal and state dollars for such projects as housing, job training, poverty relief and urban aid.

The dollars are distributed according to formulas based on census data. The Census Bureau says it counted 97.5 percent of all Americans in 1970.

But the undercount was much greater among blacks and Hispanics than among whites, which reduced aid to many communities and led to pressure to adjust the figures and adopt better counting methods.

A decade ago, minority leaders ignored the Census, but they have since developed a keen understanding of the multi-billion dollar stakes and are working with the bureau to encourage cooperation among people long distrustful of government.

"Demographic statistics represent a way of allocating public benefits at once scientifically and politically painlessly," said Bryant Robey, editor of American Demographics magazine.

The political spotlight is now glaring on those who collect the statistics, rather than the politicians who use them, Robey said.

The federal revenue sharing program launched in the early 1970s brought census figures into sharp focus for communities, since the money they receive is based on their population.

For fast-growing communities, even special censuses and updated bureau estimates have not always been sufficient to boost their shares of the federal pie sufficiently.

Fairfax County, Va., for example, is conducting its own survey to try to prove the census estimate of its population is too low.

Meanwhile, minority groups are struggling to get a more accurate count for their members. Because the 1980 count will provide new population figures, it presents the possibility of large redistribution of programs and funds.

Bureau officials have been cautious about discussing adjustments, stressing the difficulty of determining how many people are missed and who and where they are.

On Tuesday, the bureau announced it has been unable to figure out how many Hispanics it missed the last time around. It said a major problem was how to determine just who is Hispanic, based on language, surname or parentage.

The estimated undercount of whites in 1970 was 1.9 percent, of blacks 7.7 percent. The bureau said the Hispanic undercount was probably somewhere in between

In his confirmation hearings, Census Director Vincent Barabba promised the bureau would "face squarely the issue of whether and how adjustment for undercount should be made, and we are going to ... explore every facet of the issue carefully and openly."

For members of Congress, who face constituent pressure, the undercount and adjusting the figures are major considerations.

"We need the best information we can get. If we have to admit there is an undercount through error or bias, we

Propositions 2,3 Earn County Nod

Deaf Smith County voters turned out in small 'numbers to favor Proposition 3, pertaining to the purchase of farmland, in Tuesday's election over proposed constitutional amendments, but failed to go along with the statewide trend on Propositions 1 and 2.

Proposition 1, which would appoint notaries public statewide instead of county-by-county, received nearly 65 percent of the statewide vote in late returns, but was rejected by a three-to-two margin in Deaf Smith County.

The proposition was opposed by 323 voters locally and favored by 222. Only two precincts--Nos. 3 and 5--favored the proposition.

Proposition 2 was defeated, 52 percent to 47, statewide, but was favored by a 281-258 margin in Deaf Smith County. The proposition, had it passed statewide, would have granted the Legislature the veto power.

Proposition 3, which set up a $10 million state bond program to assist young people in starting farms, passed in the state election with 54 percent of the vote in favor. County voters also supported the proposition--by a 329-217 margin.

Tuesday's small local turnout came as a surprise to no one, especially since six persons had voted absentee prior to the election. The most active precincts Tuesday were No. 11, where 158 persons turned out, and No. 1, which had 122 voters.

Texas voters soundly expressed their independence at the polls during Tuesday's off-year elections, hiring and firing local officials and approving or rejecting bond issues without setting any clear trends.

Voters approved two amendments to the constitution, but rejected a third. One incumbent mayor was ousted, one mayor pro-tem lost in a recall vote, and Houston's mayor was thrown into a bitter runoff.

Voters in Tarrant County showed what they thought of the treasurer's job—they eliminated it. But in Dallas County seven controversial bond proposals blasted by activists as benefitting only the wealthy sailed to approval with surprising ease.

Texas were the three proposed constitutional amendments. Voters defeated the one that would have granted the Legislature the power to veto state agency rules and regulations.

counties reporting, 240 complete, the results were Proposition 1 — 283,266 for, 149,654 against; Proposition 2 — 202,699 for, 221,760 against; Proposition 3 — 233,552 for, 196,928 against.

The state constitution has now been amended 232 times since it was adopted in 1876.

Incumbent Jim McConn was the frontrunner for re-election in the Houston race for mayor, but failed to receive a majority and was forced into a Nov. 20 runoff with his bitter political opponent, Councilman Louis Macey.

The Houston City Council, increased in size from eight to 14 members, gained its first Hispanic in State Rep. Ben Reyes, a Democrat. Three blacks also won council seats, as did five of seven incumbents. Another incumbent was leading, and the other was headed for a runoff.

Tarrant County voters appproved by a three-to-one margin a measure that would abolish the county treasurer's office. The vote was 23,20 to 7,260. But a Tarrant County tax limitation proposal failed by a vote of 16,193 to 10,085.

In Dallas, all seven issues in a $54.6 million bond package were passed. The biggest vote against the tax-supported bonds for a variety of arts facilities, the Dallas Convention Center, roads, storm drains and downtown improvements, came in East Dallas, but voter turnout was only about 15 percent. The favorable vote came in North Dallas, where turnout was as high as 30 percent.

Carter Urges Hostages' Freedom

By The Associated Press

Former Attorney General Ramsey Clark and a Senate aide flew to Iran today carrying a letter from President Carter to Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini and other Moslem leaders asking them to free 60 Americans held hostage at the U.S. Embassy in Tehran under threat of death by pro-Khomeini demonstrators.

The letter, in addition to discussing the hostages, asks the Iranian authorities for a general review of American-Iranian releations, the Department said.

Clark and Miller were traveling aboard an Air Force jet and were scheduled to arrive in Tehran at 6:30 p.m. EST afterswitching to a commercial jet, probably in Athens, Greece.

NBC television reported that the letter also asks assurances that the hostages be allowed to leave Iran, makes clear that the deposed shah was allowed to enter the United States strictly for medical treatment and that the United States will not give arms to Kurdish insurgents in rthwestern Iran.

The Iranian demonstrators seized the hostages at the U.S. Embassy Sunday in a bid to get the United States to extradite the shah, now hospitalized in New York.

Meanwhile, Iran's ruling Revolutionary Council warned its supporters today against attacks on foreigners but gave no indication of ending the captivity of the hostages.

The Carter administration has ruled out military action to free the hostages and rejected the students' demand that it haul the deposed shah out of his hospital bed and deliver him to Iran for trial before a revolutionary court.

Information Compiled on Cattle Losses

By JIM STEIERT

Brand Farm Editor

Deaf Smith County agricultural officials met Tuesday afternoon to compile information and launch an effort to have the county declared a disaster area in the wake of crop and cattle losses brought on by a howling snowstorm which hit the area early last week.

Following the session, officials today submitted a recommendation for a disaster declaration for the county to the state offices of the Farmers Home Administration in Temple, according to Melvin Hoover, local FmHA administrator.

Officials huddling for a discussion of weather related losses yesterday included John Fuston, Deaf Smith County ASCS executive director, Howard Easley of the local ASCS office, Tom Cunningham of the county Soil Conservation Service office, Juston McBride, county Extension agent, Mike Solomon of the FmHA and Hoover.

Figures concerning livestock losses in the recent storm were obtained from County Judge Glenn Nelson, who requested last week that area producers report their livestock losses to him as first attempts were made to compile the magnitude of livestock deaths here.

"We've estimated that about 3,000 head of cattle have been lost here in the county, and submitted that figure in our recommendation," stated Hoover.

"Although we didn't include any loss estimate in our report, we discussed it yesterday and came up with a loss figure of about $1,200,000 on livestock, he continued.

According to Hoover, agriculture officials here contacted Hereford Bi-Products yesterday for an estimate on death losses and a spokesman for that rendering firm reported that it had already picked up some 2,000 cattle carcasses with another 500 to go today.

"We reported a natural disaster and asked that the county be designated for emergency loans. It's normally a week to ten days before we hear back on such a request," Hoover stated.

In addition to the cattle losses, agriculture officials also took into account weather-related losses to grain and cotton crops still awaiting harvest in the fields.

"We estimated a 10 percent production loss in cotton and grain sorghum. Part of the sorghum has fallen and there will be no way to pick it back up. In addition, some of the cotton suffered hail damage the night before the snowstorm," commented the local FmHA official.

According to Hoover, estimates place the number of farmers and ranchers here affected by storm damage or livestock losses at approximately 200.

Losses here stemmed from wet snowfall and driving winds which hit the county Oct. 30, causing drifting in northwestern and western portions of the county, as well as in neighboring Oldham

PLO Delegation

Negotiates Release

-WASHINGTON (AP) - The United States, its drive to free some 60 American hostages in Iran stalled, is keeping a close eye on a move by the Palestine Liberation Organization to intercede with the Khomeini regime.

American discussions with Iranian officials-aimed at securing their intervention with the students holding the hostages in the U.S. embassy - have been at a standstill for nearly two days, both here and in Tehran.

With the fall of Prime Minister Mehdi Bazargan's government, the United States had only low-level officials left in Iran to deal with directly.

But reports reached the State Department late Tuesday that a new civil government may be formed shortly, possibly under Bazargan.

"This could start things moving again," said a department official, who asked not to be identified.

The announcement by the PLO. meanwhile, that its delegation is going to Tehran "to secure the lives" of the Americans held prisoner clearly intrigued U.S. officials.

Iran Oil Company

Denies Shutdown

NEW YORK (AP) - Spot market oil prices jumped sharply when it was reported deliveries at Iran's main Persian Gulf port had been halted, but the Iranian oil company today denied there had been any shutdown.

An official at the Tehran office of the National Iranian Oil Co. said in a television interview: "Both the refinery in Abadan and the oil-loading terminal at Kharg Island are functioning. There is no strike; everything is normal.

"Iran appears to be shut off," one oil company executive, who asked not to be quoted by name, said Tuesday.

Administration and congressional sources said Tuesday the Central Intelligence Agency had determined U.S. tankers have been barred. A State Department official said the Kharg Island port has been closed to all customers by what may be a strike.

But a White House aide said the reports had been received but "not confirmed." Reports of a shutdown also were received in Japan, said officials

Efforts to quell the blaze aboard the tanker Burmah Agate have consisted mainly of spraying her decks with water from a distance. But Tuesday, a Dutch-based team of professional firemen got close enough to pour fire-retardant foam on the blaze. However, they were pushed back three separate times when explosions rocked

"They continued despite the explosions, and apparently had made substantial progress in putting out the fire," said Coast Guard spokesman Richard Griggs.

"But their supply of the foam ran out and they were forced to return to port to get more," he said. "About the same time, the fire reflashed, becoming as bad as it ever was."

One report from Carter administration sources said loading of U.S. tankers had been halted at Kharg Island, Iran's main export terminal. But a State Department official said other reports indicated loading of all tankers had stopped Japanese energy officials in Tokyo said this was virtually confirmed by reports from Iran to Japanese trading companies and oil companies.

Khomeini's Revolutionary Council, the holder of ultimate power in Iran, warned its supporters against being incited to attack foreign nationals by "counterrevolutionaries" trying to "drag down into chaos genuine revolutionary steps," Radio Tehran said in a broadcast

"We call on the youth to use revolutionary vigilance and to give no pretext to the enemy....Refrain from any blunder or step which might give the fault-finders a pretext," the broadcast statement said.

The statement appeared to supply a measure of reassurance to some 500 other Americans in Iran. But the occupation of the American Embassy Sunday by several hundred students had the full support of Khomeini, the leader of the Iranian revolution, who charged that it was a center of espionage and plotting against his regime.

may have to consider an adjustment." said Mike Farrell of the House census subcommittee.

Widespread distrust of government exists among many minority groups. The bureau's Larry Lucas said the problem of confidentiality is most widely discussed in the Hispanic community, which has many illegal aliens.

Lucas said even simple questions about housing make people hesitant. For example, he said, if 10 people are living in an apartment and the local housing code limits the apartment to five, the residents will be reluctant to tell a government agency.

In its effort to reach minorities, the Census Bureau has set up special programs aimed at blacks, Hispanics, Asians, Indians and other groups.

Al Perez of the Mexican-American Legal Defense and Education Fund said his group is working to change opinions with efforts ranging from advertising to church meetings to disc jockey announcements, but he was not confident about getting people to cooperate.

"People have to be convinced that the information is legally confidential. I don't think we'll make much progress on that," Perez said.

Althea T.L. Simmons of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People said the NAACP is trying to encourage people to cooperate with the Census, working through church groups, community organizations and even in taverns.

"We think when people realize how much it means to them, they will cooperate," she said.

What has happened, Hjort said, is that, in 1977 and 1978, farmers enjoyed excellent growing conditions as a whole and prices for many items held stable. As a result, per-acre yields were high and per-unit costs rose modestly, if at all.

"All that is over. In fact, it ended with

He gave no indication whether the administration is now ready to go along with long-standing attempts by farmstate members of Congress to replace the formula. A bill is pending in the House to raise 1979 and 1980 targets by 7 percent above the formula.

Opera Stars to Assist Local Opportunity Plan

Two guest artists for opera companies in New York will present a combined concert Saturday Nov. 10, at 8 p.m. in the Amarillo High School Auditorium.

Cynthia Prichard, a mezzo soprano from Amarillo, and Arden Hopkin, baritone, have combined their talents for a benefit performance for the Opportunity Plan. Inc. (OPI).

The Panhandle's only student assistance corporation, the Plan has helped over 5,000 worthy students through school since its establishment in 1953. An OPI division exists in Hereford.

The corporation was created by Milton "Buff" Morris, who has built its assets to almost $1 million which is lent to hardworking students who might not go to school otherwise.

Miss Prichard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reg Prichard of 3505 S. Austin, Amarillo, was contributed to her studies at the Eastman School of Music in Rochester, NY

Miss Prichard was a Metropolitan Opera Regional Finalist in 1976, and a regional finalist in the San Fracisco Opera auditions that same year. She has performed with the

Dallas Civic Opera, the Utah

Symphony, the Rochester Chamber Orchestra, the Brooklyn Opera Society and most recently with the Grand Teton Music Festival in Jackson Hole, Wyoming.

Hopkin has had leading roles with the Goldovsky Opera Company, Chautaugua Opera Company, and the Eastman Opera Theater. His musical comedy experience includes "1776" and "Fiddler on the Roof' for the Casa Manana theatre in Ft. Worth.

Miss Prichard and Hopkin's program on Nov. 10 will include songs by Bernstein, Copland, one of the OPI students. It Brahms, Ravel and Faure.

Tickets will be $7.50 for adults and $5 for students, and will be available at the door or call Carolyn Baxter after 4 at 364-4546.

Proceeds from the concert will be used by OPI to support worthy students in college.

OPI students are selected for their good character, morals and willingness to work. The OPI money is given to them as a loan. Morris stated that OPI has a "very good" pay back from its students.

The Hereford Division of the Opportunity Plan is a community effort, combining contributions from individuals, businesses, and organizations to assist its own students. There is another Division of the Opportunity Plan established in memory of Jim Hill. Ticket proceeds can be designated to be added to either of these divisions.

really wonderful fellow for quite a while. We have not had sexual relations as yet, but I don't see how we can hold off much longer. I have a year of high school left before I could even consider getting married. (My parents wouldn't hear of it.) I am trying to be realistic. My problem is that I don't want my boyfriend to know I am a virgin. Please don't tell me that every man wants to be the first with the woman he marries. Mine doesn't. So, I made up a little story to make him feel comfortable.

I have heard of a simple procedure that can be performed in a doctor's office. It is called cutting the hymen. Is it expensive? Is it painful? Will it be kept confidential from my parents?

GOP seeks strategic seats

WASHINGTON (NEA) - Although the presidential campaign will be the stellar attraction in the center ring of next year's political circus, the struggle for control of many state legislatures will provide a fascinating sideshow.

The duel between Republicans and Democrats will be a crucial one because the legislators elected next year will be entrusted with the politically sensitive task of reshaping congressional districts for the next decade on the basis of the 1980 census of population.

Although blatant gerrymandering — the construction of geographically distended districts for partisan benefit — has been prohibited by court rulings, the party in control of a legislature still can exercise considerable control over that state's reapportionment process.

The Democrats currently enjoy majorities in both houses of the legislature in 30 states, compared with only 11 states for the Republicans. Nebraska has a non-partisan unicameral legislature, and control is divided between the two parties in the remaining eight states.

The Republicans have targeted more than two dozen legis-latures where a shift of relatively few seats might give the GOP the control it seeks — and the party is seeking to raise millions of dollars to finance that effort.

Republican strategists have identified the lower houses of the legislature in Delaware. Illinois and Washington as well as New Hampshire's senate as chambers where they need a switch of only one seat to gain a majority.

Other targeted states include Ohio, Maine, Oregon, Alaska, Montana, New Mexico, Nevada, California, Tennessee, Wisconsin, Pennsylvania, Missouri and Connecticut.

Although the Democrats lack the money and manpower to mount a similar effort, some observers believe that Republican strength in many legislatures may have peaked last year. In addition, the GOP could lose the slim margin of control it now holds in some legislatures.

Carter admits inaccurate info

President Carter has quietly but candidly admitted that he played fast and loose with the facts about military manpower during a 1975 campaign speech before the Communication Workers of America national convention.

To illustrate his criticism of a top-heavy defense establishment. Carter claimed four years ago that the Navy had more admirals than ships and the Air Force had more colonels than

When he appeared before the CWA convention this year. Carter was asked by a union member from Los Angeles if the situation had improved. The president said he didn't have current figures but promised a personal reply later.

Carter followed up with a handwritten note, explaining that there actually are two ships for every admiral in the Navy and 1.8 planes for every colonel in the Air Force.

Although those figures reflect some manpower reductions 'I'd push my mother down in recent years, the president said he was wrong in 1975. "The Pentagon states that my (earlier) information was not accurate." he admitted

New and revived racism

The Justice Department's Community Relations Service has some dismaying news about revived racism: In the fiscal year ended Sept. 30, the CRS handled 44 cases involving Ku Klux Klan activities compared with only eight such cases in the previous year.

Although Klan-related cases occurred throughout the nation, they were concentrated in the Southeast and generally took the form of cross burnings, armed rallies, fire-bombings, open challenges to police and harassment of blacks and other

The CRS has more bad news - about an unprecedented form of racial strife. In the just-concluded fiscal year, the agency handled five cases involving disputes between Vietnamese refugees and whites or members of minority groups There were no such cases in the prior fiscal year.

White Files Lawsuit To Stop Prison Radicals

Texas Attorney General Mark White has filed suit to prevent state prisoners from forming "radical groups" such as the Ku Klux Klan while they are serving time.

White's class action suit was filed Monday in state district court on behalf of the Texas Board of Corrections.

The board adopted a rule Oct. 7 prohibiting prisoners from forming certain organizations and subjecting inmates to disciplinary action if they violate the rule.

An assistant attorney genera' said White filed the suit in hopes of having the board's rule validated by a court.

The suit claims Frank X. Leahy, who is confined in the Ramsey Unit at Rosharon. "recently has undertaken activ-ganization and establishment of a Ku Klux Klan or Klan-related organization within TDC (Texas Department of Corrections), and he already has threatened (the board) and TDC officials with a lawsuit ... if (it) adopted the rule at issue - as it now

White's suit says the rule "was intended to permit TDC to prohibit activities by inmates as part of or behalf of racially divisive organizations such as the Ku Klux Klan and organizations having no reasonable relation to the rehabilitation of TDC inmates, but which instead tend to encourage disruptive and illegal behavior within TDC or extortionate and illegal activities outside of TDC through connections with other present or former TDC in-

Asked for further comment, White issued a statement through information director Mary Hardesty which said the suit "is a basic effort to regulate the internal operations of the prison system and to prevent the organization of the Ku Klux Klan and other radical groups which might challenge the safety of the inmates."

White said he wanted "to maintain peace and order in the internal operation of the system and to prevent an organization whose only intention would be to abuse the rights of the in-

Cougars Will Be Ready For Longhorns in SWC Clash

Bill Yeoman isn't particularly you'll ever see. fond of what pro scouts whisper in his ear about the University of Texas defense.

But it's really no secret.

"We've had a lot of people tell us in the pro ranks that their beating Texas Christian 21-10 to their game film, I'm not going to take exception with that at

Yeoman praised Texas' secondary, headed by safety Johnnie Johnson, as he ended his weeklong ban on discussions of the Longhorns and Saturday's long-awaited Southwest Conference showdown in the Astrodome.

Yeoman figures the Cougar defense will also hold up its end of the fight in a game that could move the Cougars closer to their third Cotton Bowl trip in four

"I think our defense is going to be okay too," Yeoman said. "Our own secondary is much improved this year. Elvis Bradley is having another good year. He's playing like he did his freshman year.'

Yeoman doesn't know who the Longhorns will use at quarterback but it doesn't really matter.

"We can't go planning to play against just one of them," Yeoman said. "We'll just go play. You can't adjust to playing one guy."

Texas Coach Fred Akers benched starter Donnie Little last week against Texas Tech and went with Herkie Walls and Rick McIvor to register a 14-6

Little will be return to the starting assignment Saturday but Yeoman says each quarterback presents a particular problem.

McIvor, called "The Rifleman" because of his strong arm, is the better passer but Little and Walls, Yeoman said

Strong Candidate For Outland

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - To help morale - as well as to reward excellence - Texas coaches occasionally pick someone other than tackle Steve "Bam Bam" McMichael as the team's top defensive player.

McMichael, however, would be a good choice virtually every Saturday, in a typical doubledigit performance, McMichael made 18 tackles as the Texas defense held Texas Tech to two field goals in a 14-6 victory.

Possibly the key play in the game came when McMichael, 6foot-2 and 255 pounds, stripped the ball from James Hadnot at the Tech 47-yard-line. Texas recovered the fumble and drove for its clinching touchdown. For his performance, Mc-Michael was selected as the outstanding defensive playerof-the-week in Southwest Conference football by the Associated Press.

'He had a great game," said Coach Fred Akers, "but he does week after week."

Akers and defensive line coach Mike Parker have promoted McMichael, a senior three-year starter, for the Outland Award, which is presented each year to the top interior collegiate lineman.

"I can't imagine anybody being higher on the list for the Outland Award than Steve," Akers said recently.

"I think he's the strongest candidate (for the Outland) in the country. "He's very, very quick. And he has that great strength and is

As a 235-pound sophomore, McMichael tied for fifth on the Longhorn squad in tackles with 78, trailing only Outland winner. Brad Shearer, also a tackle, and three linebackers.

Last year, after a weight lifting program had raised his weight 15 pounds and his bench-press strength from 275 pounds to 430 pounds, Mc-Michael led the team in tackles with 142 and made one All-American team.

Since then he has benchpressed about 475 pounds, which is a record for Longhorn football players.

On schedule this year, McMichael leads the team with 90 tackles, including 21 against Arkansas.

Crimson Tide Widens Its Lead Over Cornhuskers In AP Poll

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON AP Sports Writer

Alabama widened its lead over runnerup Nebraska today in The Associated Press college football poll while Ohio State jumped past Southern Cal and Houston into third place and Baylor, Clemson and South Carolina cracked the Top Twenty for the first time this season.

The Crimson Tide of Alabama, winners of eight in a row this season and 17 straight overall after defeating Mississippi State 24-7, received 46 of 66 first-place votes and 1,290 of a possible 1,320 points from a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Nebraska, which edged Missouri 23-20 on a field goal in the final 31/2 minutes, received four first-place votes and 1,190 points. Last week. Alabama led the Cornhuskers 46-7 in firstplace ballots and 1,235-1,176 in points with 63 voters participat-

Ohio State, fifth a week ago, surged into third place by trouncing Illinois 44-7. The Buckeyes, who have outscored their last four opponents 192-13, received eight first-place votes and 1,154 points. That was enough to push them past Southern Cal, which dropped from third to fourth with seven first-place votes and 1,151 points despite a 34-7 triumph over Arizona.

Houston, a 21-10 winner over Texas Christian, nevertheless slipped from fourth to fifth. The Cougars received the other firstplace vote and 1,093 points., Oklahoma moved up from Our Alabama correspondent, Jack Mobile, assures us the Crimson Tide is ready to roll and - kaff-kaff - will sink the Tigers, 28-15.

The Georgia Bulldogs, also in the running for the SEC title, should have little trouble disposing of punchless Flori-da, 36-7. Auburn figures to take Mississippi State, 22-14. And Kentucky will squeeze past Vanderbilt, 10-7.

In the five previous meetings of these two clubs, the record reads 2-2-1. Which heh-heh - almost tempts your correspondent to pick a tie, to make the record three deuces. However, we see Texas triumphing in somewhat of a mild surprise — but not by much. Make it: Texas 28, Houston 24.

Some others in the Pac 10 will find Stanford trimming Oregon, 32-18; Arizona State's Sun Devils, now playing up to their pre-season potenial, will dump UCLA, 22-18; and Californa will knock off Washington State in a high-scoring

In the ACC, two good games are on tap. Watch for Wake Forest, the real surprise team of 1979, to vanquish the Duke Blue Devils, 42-14, and the North Carolina Tar Heels to score a close win over tough Clemson, 24-18.

On the independent front, there are these crowd pleasers: Florida State will top the excellent South Carolina Gamecocks, 21-19; Brigham Young will score at will in a 40-20 win over Long Beach State: and Notre Dame will win (another close one) against Tennessee, 24-17.

Also among the independents look for Penn State to beat North Carolina State, 24-14: Navy to defeat Syracuse, 27-21, and Virginia to win a real barn-burner from intrastate rival Virginia Tech. 17-

DALLAS (AP) - Southern Methodist basketball coach Sonny Allen, buoyed by a spirited display from his own team, predicted that the United States will beat Russia in the 1980 Olympics in Moscow.

The Russian national team wore the Mustangs down 97-84 Tuesday night, but had to overcome a 12-point lead to do it.

"I believe we'll beat them in Moscow because I just feel the U.S. players are better," said "Of course, the home court is

Allen said, "They are not a great ball-handling team and if they have a weakness it is against the press.".

Brad Branson scored 16 points in the first half, but fouled out early in the second half to dim the Mustang's chances. Guard Billy Allen also Russian coach Alexandr Gomelski praised SMU, saying, "That No. 50 (Branson) is a very 15 (Billy Allen) is a tremendous player. They had a very good zone defense."

Gomelski added, "I would not be surprised to see both Branson and Allen playing for the United States' team in Moscow. They are very good, but Branson should be playing forward. At 6-foot-10, he is not tall enough to stay with Tkachenko.' Asked who he thought would win the gold medal in the Olympics, Gomelski said, "In the finals it will be Russia and America, but I will win."

He added, "This is not my best team. We do not have the best forwards. We have a young team with only Belov as our veteran player."

The Russians play their next game at Colorado and have now defeated San Francisco, Texas-El Paso and SMU.

Gomelski said his team was somewhat weary.

"The time change has affected us most ... we have had trouble adjusting to that, and of course, also to the temperature change."

He said he felt Russia was fast closing the gap in basketball with the United States.

"In your country, your kids start playing basketball at a young age, but in my country, they don't start until they are about 15 years old. In my country, basketball is beoming very popular but it is still the No. 3 sport beind ice hockey and soc-

Zorn Having His Ups And Downs

fourth season as a National Football League quarterback, Jim Zorn is discovering the ups and downs of his sport.

The Seattle Seahawks' lefthander may have had his hot and cold days in his first three professional seasons, but this has really been a roller coaster year for him.

In the Seahawks' regular season opener against San Diego, he was intercepted three times and he lost a pair of fumbles. Seattle lost 33-16.

In Seattle's third game, a 27-10 victory over Oakland, he completed 13 of 22 passes for touchdowns. Three weeks ago, in a 34-14 triumph over Houston, he set a Seahawk club record by completing 78 percent of his passes - 18 of 23 passes for 252 yards recent railroad strikes and shortages of sorely needed railcars to move bumper grain

Members of the resolutions and platform committees, including Jerome Friemel of Hereford pointed to expansion of foreign and domestic markets as "vital to agriculture and the national well-being."

Committeemen further stated that "Imports should increase only when American producers can't meet domestic demand. Imported agricultural products should be inspected using the same regulations governing U.S. products."

Proposals from four of the eight committees submitting reports included calls for gasohol production.

Members of the legislative committee called for the state to back gasohol production to increase consumption of agricultural products and participants also agreed to encourage production of the ethyl alcohol-unleaded gasoline mixture popularly known as

A resolutions committee report stated, "Foreign land owners should be subject to all taxes and denied exemptions allowed by Congress and state legislatures to U.S. citizens."

Parity, a controversial subject on the farm front in recent years, also came into line for consideration during Saturday's gathering here.

One resolution concering the subject called for the adoption of a food and fiber policy. equitable to producers and consumers, that would assure parity prices for farm goods in the marketplace.

The adoption of an import policy to allow agricultural products to enter the marketplace at parity levels was also introduced.

The organizations committee report proposed that farm groups be allowed to testify before the convention to the party committees and that farm groups should be more active in generating the rural vote.

Support of anti-trust laws, soil conservation, the Texas Agricultural Research and Extension Service and the Capper-Volstead Act were also expressed.

Proposals concerning credit revitalization, particularly for ng farmers, revision of state inheritance and gift tax laws, came away from the session extension of commodity disaster payments until 1981, state bonding of elevator operators and proposals concerning fuel conservation and the construction of a pipeline from Mexico were also approved.

TFU Says Administration Nixes Cotton Set-Aside

group of knowledgeable cotton leaders from the South Plains and Gulf Coast regions of Texas say there is strong sentiment held by some USDA officials that a set-aside should be implemented for the 1980 cotton crop but that Administration budget officials appear to be opposed.

Returning from a trip to the nation's capital, around a dozen members of the Texas Farmers Union said they found Department of Agriculture authorities well aware that the accumulated carryover of cotton stocks will increase to around 6.1 million bales for 1979's crop, a prediction which has reflected an impact already in deflated

TFU is asking for a minimum 10 percent set-aside when the 1980 cropprogram is announced December 15. The farm organization is also asking for an increase in the target price that reflects inflationary production costs and a change in the law as regards the loan rate to allow the Secretary to use the loan as a tool for orderly marketing and price support. "There are considerations beyond the obvious price suppressing impact of an increased surplus," said TFU Vice President Joe Rankin. creased consumption of energy, water and other scarce resources used to produce a crop in surplus is unwise at best, if not foolish. The USDA recognizes this, but there are certain Administration advisers who persist in fighting food and fiber inflation by encouraging surpluses to cap producer prices,"Rankin n noted

If a set-aside were in place cotton farmers would be required to stay within a base acreage prescribed by law as well as reduce plantings by the announced percentage in order to qualify for farm program benefits. A set-aside would have further impact in that cotton farmers who raise other crops would be required to keep within their base acreage for all commodities.

"There are huge companies operating farms in the West using federally subsidized water that don't want a set-aside," pointed out Bob Gibson, a cotton farmer from Meadow.

"They can make money with cheap cotton prices because they don't pay what we do for water," Gibson said. "Plus, they would be limited as to the amount of acres they would receive water for."

Gibson was referring to a part of federal law that prohibits delivery of subsidized water to aware that there is a direct newly irrigated acres that are part of an expanded reclamation project whenever a crop is determined to be in surplus by and Minnick. Minnick, Wilburn's nephew, is being tried with Burkhalter. Both Wilburn and Minnick were patients of Burkhalter, the doctor's nurse and receptionist have testified.

In late 1978, Wilburn was on parole from a heroin prison term. His parole officer, Ray Parra, testified Burkhalter wrote him and asked that Wilburn be excused from the requirement to be employed while on parole due to medical problems. Parra said the doctor suggested Wilburn be allowed to relax and travel.

The letter was dated. Dec. 19. 1978, two months before the shooting.

After receiving the doctor's letter, Parra subsequently granted Wilburn a travel permit to leave Harris County and presumably go to Corpus Christi to fish.

Obstinance May Worsen Economy

NEW YORK (AP) - Because of your failure to cooperate, the recession has been delayed. But it will come, and with a vengeance. Your penalty for obstinancy is a deeper downturn than was originally expected.

That sums up the attitude of many economists who are a bit chagrined at having forecast a recession for right now. Some even went further, saying the recession had come, and now they cannot erase the verdict.

What actually has happened to the economy this year is a mixed bag of advance and retreat, expansion and contraction. Consistency has been the absent factor in the economy and, you might say, in forecasts

In a report to top corporate customers two months ago, the Chase Manhattan Economics Group commented: "It is now clear that the U.S. economy finally turned down some time in the first half of 1979."

Leif Olsen, chief Citibank economist, went on record in May with the opinion he wouldn't be surprised if a recession hadn't already begun. Albert Cox. president of Merrill Lynch Economics, said in August that "a recession began to unfold right after last Christ-

'Most embarassed of all is the Carter administration, which in July forecast both double-digit inflation and a recession for the year and then, in August, revised and deepened its recession outlook.

Those who have made such forecasts aren't defenseless. Notice is hereby given that Just what is a recession isn't

In fact, if there is such a thing as a one-quarter recession their correctness might be conceded. because total output of goods and services shrank by eighttenth a percent in the second

Whatever, those forecasts or estimates were made suspect by figures showing a decided economic expansion during the third quarter.

In September alone the index of leading economic indicators rose almost a full point.

Shortly after the third-quarter numbers were announced, the National Bureau of Economic Research, arbiter of when a downturn is or is not a recession, cancelled a Nov. meeting with the media.

"We feel that the meeting would be more useful for you and for us if it were held after additional data on the state of the economy became available." said Donna Zerwitz, the bureau's press officer.

Since the National Bureau is the Emily Post of such matters. there seems to be no "official" recession so far this year, no matter what the forecasters. including the administration. have said.

Regardless, everyone seems to agree that they and their neighbors and business and the federal, state and local governments are in a sort of economic bind that for lack of another word they call a recess-

It might not accurately describe economic conditions, but it most certainly does suggest their economic concerns. Recession means worry, and people are worrying their heads

Jury Considers Cullen Davis' Fate

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) - The state's murder-for-hire case against millionaire Cullen Davis was in the hands of a jury today for the second time in a year after 12 weeks of testimony and two days of fiery final arguments.

The panel, reduced to 11 members because one juror broke her leg and had to drop out, got the case Tuesday night DATED this 30th day of but decided to sleep on it and not start deliberations until

> They must decide if Davis is innocent or guilty of either of two charges: solicitation of capital murder or conspiracy to commit capital murder.

Both charges carry penalties of five to 99 years or life in

A Houston jury deadlocked 8-4 for conviction last January in Davis's first murder conspiracy trial. More than 130 persons crammed into the courtroom and halls Tuesday to hear summations from defense attorney Richard "Racehorse" Haynes and prosecutor Jack Strickland. portrait of key prosecution witness David McCrory. "The man is a salesman. He sold the FBI." Haynes spat, referring to McCrory as "scurrilous ... a man totally lacking in character ... a manipulator" who lied to his son and to his mother. "Did he sell Cullen Davis?" Haynes asked:

In the summer of 1978, McCrory turned informant on one-time pool-shootingpal, telling FBI agents Davis had ordered him to hire the murders of 15 persons, including Judge Joe Eidson.

FBI agents faked "proof" of Eidson's death, wired McCrory with hidden taping equipment and recorded two crucial meetings between the informant and Moments before his Aug. 20 arrest. Davis gave McCrory $25,000. McCrory said the money was to pay a "hit man" but Davis said McCrory won the cash gambling and he had been keeping it for him.

Strickland dismissed Haynes' contentions, conceding that McCrory's going to the FBI was out-of-character, but insisting it was legitimate in light of the circumstances.

Do you really believe the FBI. the Texas Rangers and the U.S. Attorney's office were McCrory's puppets?" he asked. "Do you believe (prosecutor John) Bankston and I are puppets, with David McCrory off somewhere pulling the strings?

'I'm convinced if it were not for David McCrory, that man would not be alive today." he said, pointing to Eidson, who sat quietly in the front row. "He (McCrory) stands head and shoulders above Cullen Davis by virtue of that single, solitary

Haynes chided prosecutors for mentioning Davis' wealth. Havnes painted a scathing "referring to his client as the victim of a prosecution which would have been different if not for his wealth."

"It is possible to develop as much prejudice against a man or a woman because of great wealth as for any other reason." he said.

"Of course his wealth is a factor." Strickland countered. "If he weren't a wealthy man. where would he get $25,000? Poor people don't have $25,000 to kill a judge."

Strickland termed the defense theory "complicated ... bizarre ... confusing ... tortured" and dubbed Haynes "the master of illusion."

Loss of appetite

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB - For the last year I have not had a proper appetite which makes it rather difficult to be interested in cooking proper meals for myself. I've been alone for eight years and some think this causes a loss of appetite. My mother was this way in later years and I knew it must be miserable and now I really know it is. I'm 65 and do not have to watch my weight. Is it normal for people as they grow older to lose their appetite? Sometimes, especially in the evenings. I hate the thought of eating.

DEAR READER - I don't like to use the term normal but it certainly is frequent. Many people who live alone get depressed and, as a result. they lose their appetite and may lose weight. Actually loss of appetite is a symptom To find out what it means, a person should have a medical examination. The social factors of eating are important which is another reason people who live alone may neglect their nutrition.

See your physician. If you have a medical problem, he may be able to help you. If you have a depression, you might need some professional help which could improve your total enjoyment of life in addition to just enjoying food.

The only other suggestion I would make is to eliminate cigarettes if you use them and to improve your physical activity. Regular walks might stimulate your appetite a little more Meanwhile I'm sending you The Health Letter number 10-10. Depression The Ups And Downs Of Life so you'll have a better idea how such problems can affect your appetite. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this per. P.O. Radio City Station. New York NY 10019.

DEAR DR LAMB - I would like to see something about bags under the eyes. I've asked my doctor about this and all I get is it can be caused by a number of things. He said it could be from an anemia but he didn't think that was my problem or it could be from fatigue. I've heard for years that strong glasses, dissipation or kidney trouble causes you to get pronounced bags under the eyes.

DEAR READER - You could fill a book on the number of things that people have claimed will happen to you if you dissipate Dissipation usually includes any activity that the person talking about it doesn't approve of. You can get swelling around the eyes from an accumulation of fluid Fluid tends to accumulate wherever the skin and tissues are loose as they are around the eyes. In this case. fluid is apt to accumulate during the night and be particularly prominent in the morning. There are a list of medical conditions that can contribute to the accumulation of fluid. This includes kidney disease and heart disease and any allergic problem that tends to block the normal drainage of fluids through the nose, sinus and eye area.

A more common cause of bags underneath the eye is the enlargment of the normal fat pad underneath the lower evelid. We all have one and like all other fat pads, they can be large or small. Finally, the skin stretches as one gets older and may sag This is a fairly common problem. The surgical removal of excess skin and fat pads is relatively simple in the hands of a trained cosmetic surgeon.

DEAR DR. LAMB - I have some questions, that I'm sure are of interest to every married couple, about birth and birth control. How many days of the month can a woman get pregnant? Does this occur only at ovulation? One source says the egg lives only one day. Others-say you can get pregnant over six days. And how long does the sperm last? What causes the egg to form and what size is it? If I understand the rhythm method, and I think I do. if a woman has a 28-day cycle, she can get pregnant about the 15th day counting from the first day of her period. Is the fetus when it's first formed always a girl or is it the egg that's a girl DEAR READER - You can't be certain about the rhythm method because it's not all that regular. There's always some variation. The onset of menstruation is usually 14 days after ovulation has occurred. It follows that once you've menstruated you know when you last ovulated but it's particularly unreliable to try to count forward from the first day of menstruation even if a woman is regular. The ovum is only alive about six hours. The ovum is released from the ovary under the stimulus of hormones from the pituitary gland which is the master hormone gland just under the brain A woman's cycle is markedly influenced by rhythms established within the brain itself. The ovum enters the tube which you might think of as the horn of the uterus. If there's live sperm cell in the tube and one of these joins with the ovum, it becomes fertilized and a pregnancy has started. The sperm cell may survive at least two days and sometimes a longer period of time. It follows that if you've had sex two or three days before ovulation and live sperm cells are still available whenever ovulation occurs, it's possible to get pregnant. That's why there's a period of several days, usually about mid-cycle, when a woman is most apt to get pregnant. Sex is determined by chromosones (genes). Females have two X chromosones in all the cells of the body and males have an X and a Y chromosone. The ovum always has one X chromosone There are two kinds of sperm cells. Those that carry an X chromosone only; these are called the female sperm cells, and those that carry only one Y chromosone and these are called the male sperm cells.

If a female X-chromosone sperm cell unites with the ovum, then the first cell union will have a pair of X chromosones. This will be a female. All the other cells that are tilized ovum multiplies will also have two X chromosones.

If the sperm cell that fertilizes the egg carries one Y chromosone, the union results in a single fertilized ovum which has an XY chromosone. All the cells that are formed in the subsequent growth and generation process will likewise carry an XY pair of chromosones and this will be a male

Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019 As The Health Letter I'm sending you suggests, it would also be useful for you to exercise. There really isn't such a thing as spot reducing but if you do sit-ups and leg lifts, it will help to tighten your abdominal muscles while you're losing fat.

A regular walking program will help to use calories and prepare you for more strenuous exercise. Once you're able to walk an hour a day without difficulty, then you might want to increase your exercise to include jogging and other forms of physical activity. If you have a spare tire around your middle, as you described, the probabilities are that you also have fat inside the abdomen. There's no way that you can tighten up the abdomen enough to have a good figure if you have a lot of fat inside the abdom: nal cavity. That, too, will disappear with a proper diet and sensible exercise program. DEAR DR. LAMB - I read about the woman who felt her sex life had become nonexis tent because she had had a hysterectomy. This woman is misinformed. She didn't have her sex organ removed but her reproductive organs removed. Her sex organ, the vagina, is still intact and the main point of sexual arousal and enjoyment, her clitoris, is still there. Sex is freer and more enjoyable without the problems of a menstrual per od or pregnancy It gets better than ever. I know. I've been there and four years after a complete hysterectomy and age 60, it's better than ever DEAR READER - Hear Hear! Your letter suggests to me the old truism that an individual's sexual response is strongly related to his or her mental state. As some have been known to say, the most important sex organ is the brain. Of course, you're right We know anatomically that the nerve fibers leading directly to the vagina and the clitoral area are the ones that are stimulated during sex and provide the pleasurable feel ing. The uterus really has no role in sex other than the emotional aspect that it holds for some women The uterus. after all, is a baby carriage
