Hereford proposal makes TDCJ short list

Hereford is still in the hunt for a state prison facility after making the "short list" released Monday by the Texas Department of Criminal Justice.

"The real short list was the one naming those who are no longer in consideration," Hereford Prison Task Force chairman Speedy Nieman said Monday. Of 63 cities submitting proposals, 47 are still in the hunt for a facility. The communities are competing for nine prisons and several substance abuse facilities.

TDCJ chairman Selden Hale said Monday the board may consider breaking the proposed 2,250-bed maximum security units into smaller "pods." Hale said that decision would be left to TDCJ staff.

Nieman said an official of TDCJ notified him by phone Monday morning that Hereford was on the short list.

"I called as many task force members as I could reach and everyone was real elated to hear the news," Nieman said. "The short list isn't very short, but we still feel good about our chances."

Deaf Smith County residents will have an opportunity to support or oppose the prison proposal at a March 30 public hearing. The TDCJ set the date for the hearing since TDCJ staff members will be present to observe local reaction and input.

Public support for a prison will be one of the critical factors considered by the board, according to Hale. Local task force members feel confident about that factor; no vocal opposition has been noted here.

Nieman said the committee also feels good about Deaf Smith County being one of the top agricultural producing counties in the state. "We think the prison system is very interested in producing vegetables for its inmates, and Deaf Smith County is a prime location for that reason."

"Some of the larger cities are offering more dollars and larger tracts of land, but we feel very comfortable with our proposal meeting and surpassing the requirements listed by TDCJ," the task force chairman said.

He said the Hereford proposal is valued at about $3.2 million, including water, sewer and utilities. Mike Hatley, assistant city manager, said he thought some cities were placing land values at over $2,000 an acre, where Hereford used a realistic

The local prison task force will meet at 5 p.m. today at Hereford City Hall to review the proposal and make plans for the public meeting. Time and place will be announced after the task force meets. About 30 volunteers worked on the prison proposal.

According to the site selection process, the public hearing is the only other scheduled contact the community will have with TDCJ officials. The board's site selection committee may visit some of the sites, however.

All of the Panhandle towns are still on the list. In addition to Hereford, area towns still on the list are Amarillo, Dalhart, Borger, Pampa, Childress, Shamrock, Dimmitt, Muleshoe and Plainview. Amarillo and Childress already have prisons and one is under construction at Pampa. Further south, Lubbock, Brownfield, Big Spring, Odessa, Snyder and Abilene are still included.

Area towns cut from the list were Littlefield, Levelland and Lamesa. Lamesa has a prison under construction.

'Short list' isn't with 47 in hunt

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (AP) - The so-called "short list" wasn't very short, but 47 communities remain in the running for new prisons to be built by the Texas Department of Criminal Justice.

The Texas prison board Monday whittled the list of 63 communities offering 67 sites. Four of the 47 still in the hunt have offered two sites each.

The corrections system estimates it will spend nearly $642 million over the next four to five years to build the prisons. Each unit will take between 18 months and two years to complete.

"There are so many on it," Nancy Sullivan, executive director of the Mitchell County Economic Development Board, said after being notified her county made the short list. "But we'll take what they give us. I feel real good about it. I literally know of no one opposed to it in Mitchell County."

Those communities which failed to make Monday's short list were: Aransas Pass, Beeville, Brooks County, Hardin County, Itasca, Lamesa, Levelland, Littlefield, Lockhart, Marlin, Pleasanton, Seymour, Stamford, Trans-Pecos, Woodville and Zapata.

"We thought we had a good proposal," Jim McMorries, president of the Seymour Industrial Foundation, said. "We made the short list two previous times. We were not on this one."

McMorries said prison officials would not tell him why the Seymour bid was rejected, saying only that they failed to qualify.

"There's no way we can fix it. We're just totally out," he said. "There's nothing we can do. We're just going to have to regroup."

Like most of the communities applying, Seymour officials saw the location of a prison unit in their area as an economic windfall and have been offering various financial, educational and social incentives to the corrections system.

A new prison could provide a community with 800 jobs and an annual $16 million payroll for a 2,250-bed unit and a $6 million annual payroll and 317 jobs for a smaller 1,000-bed unit.

The new prisons will include three 2,250-bed maximum-security facilities, six 1,000-bed minimum- or medium-security beds, and an undetermined number of units to house and treat 12,000 substance abusers.

A public hearing in each community still in the running will be held before April 2 to discuss the merits of the prison proposals. Corrections system officials will report on those meetings to a board subcommittee, which will make a recommendation to the full board.

The winners will be announced at a special board meeting April 10.

Prison board Chairman Selden Hale has said he was leaning toward breaking up a maximum-security unit into four separate smaller "pods" to be scattered around the state but would defer to the recommendation of the department staff.

Bush, Clinton aim for wins

DETROIT (AP) - Michigan and Illinois voters today settle presidential contests that seem destined to vault Bill Clinton miles ahead in the Democratic race and sap more strength from Patrick Buchanan's Republican revolt.

Jobs and trade were the dominant issues in the weeklong campaign to win the struggling Rust Belt, although the Democratic race was sidetracked at the end by rough mudslinging between Clinton and Jerry Brown.

Clinton hoped for a Midwestern sweep to add to last week's Super Tuesday blowout. Well ahead in late polls in both states, the Arkansas governor was poised to become the prohibitive favorite for the Democratic nomination.

Buchanan himself established Michigan as perfect proving ground for his "America First" message, but late polls showed he was more likely to have a tough time matching past showings.

Buchanan abandoned his talk of toppling Bush and returned to his battle cry that a vote for him would "send Washington a message to wake up."

Bush, in a stop in Milwaukee, hardly sounded worried on an election eve trip to Wisconsin and Illinois that raised $1 million for his re-election effort at a time even conservative enthusiasm for Buchanan's rebellion appeared to be waning.

"I've been very pleased," Bush said of his unbroken string of 15 victories. But he refused to predict his margins: "Never try to say how high the high bar should be on these primaries."

Among the Democrats, Clinton held healthy leads heading into today's balloting and sought to end the day with a good chunk of the 295 Democratic delegates at stake. He had 766.25 delegates even before the polls opened - one third of what it takes to be nominated.

City wrangles over budgets

By GEORGIA TYLER
Staff Writer

With a decision on pay for city employees for the next fiscal year still up in the air, the Hereford City Commission will try Tuesday evening to bring an end to a lengthy budget workshop process.

The fourth session on the new budget will begin at 6 p.m. Tuesday.

In a two-hour workshop that began at 5:30 p.m. Monday, prior to their regular 7:30 p.m. meeting, commissioners began a department-by-department study of proposed expenditures.

When the bell rang for the regular meeting, they still had several departments to go and had not looked into the issue of pay raises for the next year.

The commission decided to recess the budget session Monday, to reassemble Tuesday with the goal of completing the budget process.

First on the agenda will be to complete the examination of each department's proposed expenditures. Then, a closed-door session relating to department heads will be held.

Early in the Monday workshop, the commission completed the proposed capital expenditure allotment, with a single exception.

The status of a 1981 Suburban used by the fire department was questioned by Mayor Tom LeGate. An estimate on costs of needed repairs, compared with purchase of a new vehicle, was requested.

Excluding purchase of the vehicle, the total capital budget for the fiscal year beginning May 1 is pegged at $267,844, compared with original requests from city departments for some $700,000 in capital expenditures.

Among items commissioners considered Monday was support provided certain agencies that operate in the city.

A budget from Kids, Inc., indicated that without a city contribution for the next year, the organization should show a surplus, Mayor LeGate said. He suggested that the $2,000 earmarked for the youth organization be deleted.

Support for other groups was listed at $10,000 for the YMCA, $5,000 for Rape Crisis Domestic Violence Center and $1,000 for chamber of commerce lights project.

LeGate asked Weldon Knabe, YMCA executive, about programs offered. Knabe reported that a new summer children's program, utilizing city parks, is being planned.

A decision on employee pay must be made before the budget can be adopted.

City workers received a five percent cost of living increase for the current fiscal year.

Anticipated expenditures reviewed Monday were a mixed bag -- some lower than the current year, some higher.

Administrative department was budgeted $149,729 this year. Projected for the new year is $145,386, plus capital of $13,200.

Fire department budget this year is a total of $263,636, with $136,462

City tables bid on golf course

An over-budget bid for irrigation at the John Pitman Golf Course was tabled but a new refuse body for a garbage truck was purchased, at the price previously declined, in action of the Hereford City Commission Monday evening.

Working a varied agenda, the commission also turned down a request for out-of-city water service, agreed to help with a West Hereford paving project, approved a zoning change and consented to sponsorship of a regional Resource Conservation and Development plan.

Cost of the watering system for the golf course was budgeted at $130,000, based on an estimate obtained more than a year ago. The low bid, submitted by Axon, Inc., of Dallas, was $159,655.

City Manager Chester Nolen reported that the consulting engineer had started negotiations with the bidder to determine if costs could be reduced.

Nolen suggested that the bid be tabled until the April 6 regular meeting and the commission voted unanimously to delay further action.

After hearing a report from Nolen that rebuilding the refuse body would cost an estimated $27,000, the commission accepted the bid of $31,370, from Davis Truck and Equipment of Clifton. The firm submitted the same bid earlier but the commission turned it down on Feb. 3. Enco of Plainview, which did not bid previously, submitted a bid of $35,163.

Commissioners refused a request from Terri Sursa of 1007 S. Avenue K for a water line to her mobile home by a unanimous vote. Commissioner Emory Brownlow said the city's policy through the years has been not to provide services to residents outside the city.

City Attorney Terry Langenhennig told the commission that a city "can't pick and choose where services will be available," adding that providing services in one area would open the door for other areas.

"The whole idea is the city services are provided those who pay city taxes," added Mayor Tom LeGate.

Bank excuses may not be classics Congressmen do show creativity in explanations

WASHINGTON (AP) - They don't match the classic simplicity of those famous defenses - "The devil made me do it," "The check is in the mail" and "The dog ate my homework."

But members of Congress, pressed to explain their check-writing proclivities, are coming up with imaginative combinations of explanation, mitigation and contrition. The corridors of power have become alibi alley.

No excuse will do, Rep. Jim Kolbe, R-Ariz., said in a statement he put into the Congressional Record the night the House voted to name overdrafters at the members' bank in the Capitol.

"The feeble defense of this outrage has been that it wasn't a bank, everyone was doing it, or that members were merely borrowing from one another," he said. "That just doesn't cut it."

Cut it or not, feeble or not, those are the explanations.

Rep. William Goodling, R-Pa., who says he wrote one bad check, offered the everyone-does-it defense.

"Most of us did exactly what was supposed to have been done, according to what we were told was the way the cooperative operated," Goodling said.

Other explanations fall into these broad categories:

-It wasn't a bank at all.

"The House bank was actually not a bank, but a disbursing office that also provided check-writing and check-cashing services," said Rep. Matthew F. McHugh, D-N.Y., who headed the investigation and found himself among the miscreants, for one bad check.

"I will not call it a bank, I will call it a cash club," said Rep. Fred Grandy, R-Iowa.

"We call it a bank, but it was not a bank," said Speaker Thomas Foley, D-Wash. "It did not pay interest, it did not provide overdraft coverage. It did not make loans. It was not insured by the FDIC. It was not under the regulation of the Comptroller of the Currency and the Federal Reserve."

-What was done had been done for decades. McHugh: "For at least 40 years, and perhaps for much longer, the bank had a practice of honoring most overdrafts on members' checking accounts."

-The bank was shy about telling members when they were in arrears.

"Too much deference, not enough oversight," said Rep. Porter J. Goss, R-Fla. "Oversight seemed more like overlook than look over."

-The bank was sloppy.

McHugh: "It's recordkeeping was haphazard, its internal accounting controls were lax and its failures to promulgate and distribute formal guidelines and procedures to those who used the bank contributed to the problems."

West Central solar systems

Students of Kim Bigham's fifth grade science classes at West Central Intermediate School recently studied the solar system and built small models of the nine planets and the Sun. The models were displayed last week in the school media center.

A paving project for two blocks of Knight Street and one block of Norton got a boost when the commission agreed to participate, if certain provisions are met by residents of the streets.

Eugene Condarco, speaking for property owners, reported that several residents "live on fixed income and can't pay the full amount" of an assessment for the paving. He said at least 12 are retired persons.

Full participation by property owners and an agreement with the proposed contractor, Applan Corporation, on financing will be required before the city takes action.

Informally, commissioners agreed to contribute $16,000 toward the expense incurred by retirees. Total cost of the project is estimated at $83,000.

A sound of warning came from Brownlow, who observed, "when we do this, we're going to have lots of other requests. There are other places where we've tried in the past to do an assessment program and been unsuccessful.

In response to a question about unpaved streets in the City of Hereford, Nolen said there are 11 miles of city streets not paved.

The city's participation in a Resource Conservation and Development Plan was approved after the commission heard a report on the program from Bob Perry of the Tierra Blanca Soil and Water Conservation District.

Deaf Smith County Commissioners' Court agreed last month to join the RC&D unit.

A recommendation from the zoning board for a change for property at 106 N. 25 Mile Avenue was accepted. The property has been designated residential but will be changed to commercial retail on the request of the owner, Taylor & Sons Enterprises, Inc.

BUDGET

operational and $6,400 capital costs in the next year.

The health department's budget for the current year is $603,768, including operations and capital, and for next year, $439,548 operations and $12,500 capital.

A major increase in the park department, from a total of $165,848 to $164,402 operations and $52,100 capital, is projected.

Costs incurred in operating the municipal golf course are expected to be about even with revenue generated this year. Budgeted in the current year for operations and capital was $306,354. Proposed in the new year are $254,627 and $32,644.

The police department's overall budget is expected to decline some, because of lower capital expenditures. This year, the total is $990,634. Projected for the new year are $925,210 for operations and $63,000 capital.

Animal control department operations are pegged at $37,205, plus $15,000 capital. Total this year is $33,308.

Commissioners will continue their review of departments at the Tuesday meeting, in addition to discussing prospects of pay raises for employees.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Today I attended a birthday party for a 2-year-old boy. I am just a neighbor so I can only watch sadly and remain silent.

This child is the pride and joy of his doing grandparents who still carry him around although he weighs more than 30 pounds. He cannot walk without hanging onto something. His little legs appear to be twisted, causing his feet to point outward.

He cannot drink from a cup, not even one with two handles, because he is unable to grasp it. He still uses a bottle and speaks no words. His family says he's "a little slow" and they are not the least bit concerned. This child spends most of his time with his grandparents who are in their late 60s.

I read the column you printed over a year ago in which you listed some signs of cerebral palsy. I realized that this child has every one of those symptoms. I have been reluctant to approach the child's mother because I'm afraid she will become defensive and tell me to mind my own business.

Meanwhile, this boy is growing older and I'm almost sure without medical treatment he is going to have a very difficult life. Will you please run the symptoms of cerebral palsy again? Maybe these parents will see them and pay attention.--No Name in California

DEAR NO NAME: The Pathways Awareness Foundation in Chicago publishes an early warning signs brochure for parents with babies. This brochure has pictures that show parents how to spot cerebral palsy and other developmental problems. If parents see these signs and talk to their doctor early in a child's life, the condition can be treated. Parents who notice these signs should talk to their pediatrician at once:

- Inability to lift head or push up on arms by 3 months of age.
- Stiff or rigid legs.
- Pushing back or away with head.
- Floppy or limp body posture.
- Stiff, crossed legs at 6 months.
- Using only one side of the body or only the arms to crawl.
- When physical problems appear, the baby may also act differently. Parents should also watch for:
- Extreme irritability or crying.
- Failure to smile by 3 months.

Feeding difficulties. Gagging or choking when fed. After six months of age, tongue pushing soft food out of mouth.

Children with physical challenges can lead more independent, more productive lives, with early help. These children can have high, normal or low intelligence. That's why this brochure and knowing the signs to look for are so important.

For a free copy of the Early Warning Signs brochure, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Pathways Awareness Foundation, 123 N. Wacker Dr., Chicago, Ill. 60606.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Former Gov. George Wallace was reported in satisfactory condition at a hospital after being admitted for tests.

Wallace, 72, was to undergo a week of tests at the pain clinic at University Hospital, said his son, George Jr. He was admitted Monday.

"They're going to re-evaluate his condition regarding the persistent, chronic pain he's had since he was shot 20 years ago," the younger Wallace said.

Wallace has been paralyzed from the waist down since he was shot in a 1972 assassination attempt.

Banner discusses skin care with study club

Rhonda Banner of Perfect Touch Salon presented a program on skin care when members of La Madre Mia Study Club met Thursday in the home of Janet Schroeder. Nicky Walser served as co-hostess.

Banner emphasized that oily skin as well as dry skin needs moisturizer and using night creme is very important for the skin to have a healthy glow. She also stressed that nightly cleansing reduces the aging process.

Also, discussed during the program was permanent makeup that is implanted into the skin. The makeup, which is harmless, is ideal for eyes, brows and lips. Banner, who offers the permanent makeup procedure in her salon, said the cosmetic form has numerous advantages. It is especially ideal for those who have unsteady hands, feel undressed without makeup, are active in sports, have eyes that tear frequently, are not artist or skilled in applying makeup, wear contact lenses or glasses, have a problem seeing objects at close range, are very busy or don't want to take the time to put on eye makeup or pencil on brows or have a physical problem such as arthritis.

Roll call was answered with "Beauty or Beast" of yourself.

During the business meeting which was conducted by President Nancy Paetzold, Carolyn Baxter was named chairman of the scholarship committee. This year $500 will be given to the Opportunity Plan which local students may apply to for financial assistance.

Betty Taylor was named chairman of the club's trip to the home of Ruth and Herschel Black in Ruidoso, N.M. The trip is planned June 4.

Georgia Sparks was the recipient of a $25 gift certificate presented by Rhonda Banner.

A letter of resignation was read from Trudy Phillips who will be moving with her husband to Waxahachie.

Members toured the hostess's home and viewed numerous paintings done by Schroeder and also took note of her large doll collection.

Schroeder and Walser served strawberry and banana sauce over Angel food cake to those attending: Ruth Black, Mary Herring, Betty Lady, Carolyn McDonald, Gladys Merritt, Lavon Nieman, Bettye Owen, Paetzold, Lucy Rogers, Tricia Sims, Sparks, Taylor and Marline Watson.

Girls second, boys third in C of C Relays

By JAY PEDEN

The Hereford girls' and boys' track teams came in second and third respectively in the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce Relays Saturday at Whiteface Field.

Amarillo High took both the boys' and girls' crowns. The Sandies' girls' team collected 118 points to Hereford's 91, and the Sandie boys accumulated 138, easily besting Plainview with 100 and Hereford with 84.

Tascosa was the only other boys' team entered. The Rebels totaled 58 points. Among the six girls' teams, Tascosa was third with 82 points, followed by Estacado with 60, Randall with 36 and Plainview with 25.

The small number of teams at the meet was due mostly to its unusual nature. All the events were relays, even the field events, where the best throws or jumps of each of four team members were added for a team total. The format scared off some teams, but it was at times fun for those who came.

"I thought it was a good meet that was exciting and different," Hereford boys' coach Ron Young said.

"I thought it was exciting," girls' coach Martha Emerson said. "We had kids get medals who hadn't gotten medals before. That's exciting for the kids."

Although the meet had an emphasis on fun, Young said some of his team used the opportunity to improve.

"All the (Hereford) coaches were real pleased that we improved in several events," he said.

For the girls' team, the fun helped them compete by raising the level of enthusiasm.

"I thought we competed well," Emerson said. "We had a little more enthusiasm this week than it seemed like we had last week."

Maybe it was fitting, in keeping with the meet's oddness, that the highlight of the day may have been the boys' weight relay, a 4x100 relay for discus throwers and shot putters.

Depth proved to be the key for the Amarillo High girls. The Sandies gained first-place points in only five of the 14 girls' events—compared to four each for Hereford and Tascosa—but they were second in seven events and third in the remaining two.

Hereford's A team, composed of Stephen Blea, Chris Williams, Ben Celaya and Joel Gaytan, won with a time of 47.92 seconds. Blea got the team off to an excellent start, and Gaytan made up several strides in the anchor leg and passed the front-running Tascosa man yards from the finish line.

It was to be the Hereford boys' team's only win of the day. The girls' team won four events: the discus, shot put, 4x100 hurdles relay and 4x800 relay. The shot and hurdles were close wins, but Hereford dominated the discus and the 4x800.

In the 4x800, Angie Jowell, Minerva Salazar, Mindy Salazar and Jeannie Barrientez teamed to run in 11 minutes, 3.04 seconds. That was more than 30 seconds faster than the second-place Sandies.

In the discus, 10 of the best 11 throws of the day were turned in by the Hereford team. Hereford Shantel Cornelius had the best effort with a 110-foot toss. That was only five inches better than the best throw of her teammate, April Roddy. Whitefaces Tonya Castillo and Roxann Torres added throws of 96-3 and 94-6, respectively—bettered only by the 100-8 throw by Stephanie Jones of Amarillo High. Hereford's total of 410-4 blew away the Sandies' 345-10.

In the shot put, Hereford's total of 123-4 3/4 edged Amarillo High's 122-11 1/4. Roddy's throw of 32-11 1/4 was the second-best of the day to Jones' 35-1. Michelle Brock helped Hereford out with a put of 32-1 1/4. Claudia Ramirez had a 29-8 and Castillo had a 28-6.

The Hereford girls won the hurdles relay by 0.83 seconds over Tascosa. Hereford's team was Barrientez, Erin Dunn, Brandy Dunn and Rachel Alaniz.

The Hereford boys won the weight relay by 0.83 seconds over Tascosa. Hereford's team was Barrientez, Erin Dunn, Brandy Dunn and Rachel Alaniz.

The Amarillo High boys won 10 of the 15 boys' events, leaving only the weight relay for Hereford and the shot put and sprints—4x100, 4x200 and 4x400—for Plainview. The Sandies' worst finish was third in the weight relay.

Tascosa didn't win a boys' event, and the Rebels were as high as second in only four events.

Two meet records were set Saturday. Hereford's Leo Brown had a triple jump of 43-9 1/2 to set one meet record—although that was nearly three feet shorter than his school record.

The other record was a pole vault of 15-6 by Brandon Gray of Amarillo. Gray had an interesting battle going during and after the lunch break with Conklin of Tascosa, who fell out after clearing 14-6.

Following are the complete results for the meet.

Boys' golf team places 6th in strong San Angelo field

The Hereford boys' golf team finished sixth in the San Angelo Golf Classic held Thursday and Friday. The tournament featured a field of 30 5A and 4A schools from all over West Texas.

"When you talk about region (I)--both 4A and 5A--that's pretty much the whole shooting match," Hereford coach Stacey Bixler said.

Hereford two-day total of 645 was beaten by only one 4A team: perennial powerhouse Andrews, which won the tourney with a 618. Andrews was followed by four 5A schools: Lubbock Monterey at 633; Midland High at 634; Amarillo High at 641; and Midland Lee at 644.

Brownwood tied Hereford for sixth. Pampa was seventh at 647, and Odessa Permian at 650 and Big Spring at 653 rounded out the top ten.

All District 1-4A teams except

JAYSON MINES
...fifth at San Angelo

Dumas were in the tournament. Borger was 16th with a 664, Randall was 26th with a 724, and Caprock was 29th at 806.

Hereford was led by Jayson Mines, whose two-day total of 151 was good for fifth. Mines shot 75 Thursday and 76 Friday. He was beaten by Shawn Savage of Plainview (74-73--147); Chad Campbell of Andrews (76-72--148); Chuck Jacoby of Snyder (76-74--150); and Charlie Garcia of Big Spring (76-74--150). Derick Pwley of Big Spring had a 73 and a 78 to tie Mines.

Hereford's Cory Newton shot 82-76--158 and finished in 20th place. The other Hereford golfers were Kevin Kelso, 81-86--167; Mikel Walser, 86-83--169; and David Bone, 89-97--186.

The girls' golf team was off for the week, but both teams will host the Hereford Invitational Golf Tournament Friday and Saturday at Pitman Municipal Golf Course.

2nd in Clovis

Brown makes first-team all-district in basketball

Hereford senior Leo Brown was named to the first team of District 1-4A's all-district basketball team. Brown, a 6-foot-2 forward/post, averaged 16.4 points and 10.5 rebounds per game in district play.

Brown was the only district player to average double figures in rebounds. His district scoring average was third, beaten only by Pampa's Cederick Wilbon (21.0) and Jeff Young (20.9). Those two seniors were named the district's Co-Most Valuable Players.

Wilbon and Young led the Harvesters to a 33-3 record and a trip to the state tournament in Austin. They lost in the state semifinals Thursday--a 65-64 overtime thriller against Georgetown.

The MVPs were separate from the first team, so five more players (besides Brown) were put on the first team: seniors David Johnson and Randy Nichols of Pampa and J.D. Tenorio of Caprock; junior Ryan McNellis of Borger; and sophomore Shane Anderson of Randall.

One more Harvester led the second team: junior Dwight Nickelberry. Seniors Nathan Brown of Borger and Marc Franklin of Randall and juniors Armando Carrasco and Javier Fierro, both of Caprock, rounded out the second team.

Brown led Hereford in many statistical categories in 1991-92, including scoring, rebounding and steals.

"He carried us most of the entire season," said former Herd coach Jimmy Thomas, who resigned after the season. "He was a three-year letterman, and I thought he rightfully deserved being first team."

Four Davids ready for Goliaths

By The Associated Press
Campbell, Robert Morris, Mississippi Valley State and Howard are this year's NCAA meek 16s.

The four 16th-seeded teams in the NCAA tournament's four regionals take their place alongside the other teams that have gone 0-28 against the top seeds since the 64-team format was started in 1985.

Campbell (19-11) probably has the toughest assignment, playing defending national champion Duke, which has been to the Final Four four straight seasons and five of the past six, on Thursday night. The Blue Devils have an opportunity to become the first team to repeat as NCAA champions since UCLA in 1972-73.

The Camels, who went from last to first in the Big South Conference after finishing 9-19 in 1990-91, don't have a player taller than 6-foot-6 and lost to East Carolina by 38 points - a team Duke beat by 28.

"I don't see repeating as being that tough," said Duke's All-America center, Christian Laettner. "... We are a very good team right now and we are confident, but we have to beat Campbell first."

No. 16 in the West and this year's Northeast Conference champ, Robert Morris (also 19-11) faces top-seeded UCLA on Friday. Robert Morris played top-seeded Arizona in 1989 and No. 2 seed Kansas in 1990.

Robert Morris lost to West Virginia, Southern Cal, Long Beach State and Florida State this season.

"I think we've worked hard and we've gone to the tournament three out of the past four years, yet they still kind of downplayed us," guard Wade Timmerman said.

UCLA (25-4) probably won't overlook the Colonials. UCLA was upset in the first round last year by Penn State.

"We haven't forgotten that," UCLA coach Jim Harrick said.

The Mississippi Valley Delta Devils (16-13), seeded 16th in the Southeast Regional, play top-seeded Ohio State (23-5) at Cincinnati on Thursday. The Buckeyes were the only team to repeat as a top seed.

Mississippi Valley's Al Ford, the No. 2 scorer in the nation and the leading scorer in the tournament, is casual about the matchup.

"I'm excited as I'm going to get," said Ford, a junior who averages 27.9 points per game. "It's time now to just get ready and go out and play as hard as we can."

Mississippi Valley coach Lafayette Stribling said he was looking forward to returning to the NCAA tournament for the first time since 1986, when the Delta Devils lost to top-seeded Duke 85-78 at Greensboro, N.C.

Howard (17-13), which faces top-seeded Kansas in the Midwest Regional at Dayton on Friday, is coached by Butch Beard, a former NBA star.

The Bison reached the tournament by winning the Mid-Eastern Athletic Conference tournament final 67-65 over Florida A&M. In its only other NCAA appearance, in 1981, Howard lost 78-43 to Wyoming.

Herd falls to Randall, 13-0

In the Dumas Baseball Tournament, Hereford followed its best game of the year, a nine-inning loss to Dumas Friday, with a dismal 13-0 loss to Randall on Saturday.

The Herd gave up nine runs in the second inning, Coach T.R. Sartor said.

"We gave up quite a few walks," he said. "Everything that could go wrong, did go wrong. They hit us hard, had a couple of walks, two errors, a couple of double play balls where we ended up with nothing."

Ralph Holguin absorbed the damage in the second and pitched the complete game.

Dumas won its tournament with a 10-8 victory over Borger. The Demons improve to 6-3, while the Bulldogs fall to 7-2.

Hereford, now 2-6-1, will meet Canyon at 4:30 p.m. today at Whiteface Field.

Hereford's freshman team split a pair of five-inning games with Dalhart Monday morning. Hereford won the first game 8-2 on the strength of a four-run first inning. Michael Marquez led the team by scoring three runs, and Gregg Kalka pitched the complete game.

Hereford lost the second game 2-1. Dalhart scored one run each in the first and second inning off starter Chris Castro. Marquez relieved in the fourth.

Castro scored the lone run.

Celebrate the green with great dessert

The third week in March means a lot of good food. There's St. Patrick's Day, a wonderful excuse for all things green and St. Joseph's Day, usually observed in cities with large Italian populations with an event that focuses on food.

Either day is a good excuse to shake off the winter doldrums and start thinking about spring. And either day provides an opportunity to get together with friends and family for a relaxed, non-pressured holiday fling!

IRISH COFFEE CHEESECAKE

1 ready to eat chocolate-flavored pie crust
1 egg yolk, beaten
1 package (8 oz.) cream cheese, softened
1 package (3 oz.) cream cheese, softened
1/2 cup packed brown sugar
1 Tbls. all-purpose flour
3 eggs

3 Tbls. Irish whiskey
1 Tbls. coffee liqueur
1/4 tsp. vanilla extract
1 Tbls. instant coffee granules

TOPPING:

1 tsp. instant coffee granules
1 cup whipping cream, divided
3 Tbls. confectioners' sugar
Shaved dark chocolate

Brush egg yolk on crust. Bake at 350 degrees for five minutes. Meanwhile, in a large mixing bowl, beat cream cheese until smooth. Add sugar and flour, blend until smooth. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Combine whiskey, coffee liqueur, vanilla and instant coffee. Add to cheese mixture; beat until well mixed.

Pour into prepared pie crust; bake at 350 degrees for 25-30 minutes or until outer two inches of the cake are set. Cook to room temperature; then refrigerate until well chilled, about four hours. For topping, just before serving, dissolve instant coffee in one tablespoon whipping cream. Add to remaining cream along with confectioners' sugar. Beat until stiff. Spread over chilled cake and refrigerate until serving time. Garnish with shaved dark chocolate, if desired. Serves eight.

Forum planned tonight

Local CPA Donna West will speak at 7 p.m. today at the second session of the Women's Forum sponsored by Deaf Smith County Hospital. The meeting will be held at the Hereford Community Center.

West's presentation at the Women's Forum will focus on steps women who are alone can take for their financial security. She will discuss what professionals the women should rely on, how to plan for income taxes, how to secure business and asset protection and steps to take for estate planning.

Cultural club meets March 13

Perry Keyes and Edna Marnell presented a program entitled "Members Wanted-Not Dead But Alive" when the Cultural Extension Homemakers Club met March 13 at the Hereford Senior Citizens Center.

The speakers gave pointers on recruiting new members and establishing new clubs.

Byrdie Fellers offered a prayer and Naomi Hare led the pledges to the flags. Keyes presented the opening exercise by reading "Contemplate the Words" and roll call was answered with "the reason I joined an E.H. club."

During the business session with Keyes presiding, minutes were read by Fannie Townsend and Fellers gave the treasurer's report. Townsend and Hare reported for the telephone committee.

Members voted to contribute to the Friends of the Library and Jewell Hargrave and Keyes volunteered to attend the Leaders Training March 30. Perry reminded members of the council meeting at 1:30 p.m. March 23 at Deaf Smith County Library. A discussion was held concerning an adopted daughter's birthday and the birthday party for residents of Golden Plains Care Center.

Members present were Hargrave, Keyes, Townsended, Nell Pope, Daisy Steele, Edith Hunter, Fellers, Hare, Jewel Rogers and Marnell.

New club meets with Harder

Beverly Harder, Deaf Smith County extension agent, presented a program on "The Great Pyramid" when members of the newly formed Texas Extension Homemakers Club met March 12 at the Hereford Community Center.

Murlene Streun opened the meeting with a devotional and roll call was answered with "the most healthful food you eat." Betty Rusher led the group in several exercises and Gayle Carter conducted the business meeting. Members voted to name the club the Sunsetters. They also elected officers.

Cindy Nunley served refreshments to those present: Carter, Streun, Rusher, Nunley, Harder and Lynda Brown.

OLD McDONALD HAS A FARM, A COMPUTER AND AN M.B.A.

Today's farmer is a sharp businessperson with an understanding of national and international markets and trends.

As a student of technology and an entrepreneur gambling on an often thin profit margin, a farmer is more advanced these days, but every bit as vital to the life of this nation as farmers have always been.

When you look back over a year's worth of stories, it's a little hard to believe that it was a year of change among our elected officials, with changes from the City Hall to the nation's capitol.
Every year there are dozens of important stories. Some stories are important for a few, some stories are important for all. Some stories are important for the future.
There was evidence of change in Hereford in 1988. It was a year of change among our elected officials, with changes from the City Hall to the nation's capitol.
Local news included Ted Langford on the GOP ticket to face incumbent Sheriff Joe Brown. The group which was formed as an oversight group over Department of Energy activities in the county, agreed to plan which would determine the needs and desires of Hereford and Deaf Smith County and devise a plan to fill the needs and desires of Deaf Smith County as a UWDCS. The 1988 Christmas Stocking Fund set a new record, with total contribution of $10,600 set in the old record of $10,000 set in 1986.
The Hereford boys' varsity basketball team picked up on last year's team with a 66-41 win over the team from the previous year's season, and received a 1988 award from the Texas Education Agency. O'Neal heads All-America picks

By JIM O'CONNELL
AP Basketball Writer

Shaquille O'Neal of LSU wasn't a surprise on The Associated Press All-America team since he was on it last season.

Duke's Christian Laettner, the only unanimous selection, and Ohio State's Jimmy Jackson both made the jump from last year's second team, so there was no shock there.

Alonzo Mourning of Georgetown had been a second-team selection as a sophomore two years ago before an injury set him back last season, so his presence when the team was announced Monday was no upset.

Then there's Harold Miner, the guard from Southern Cal who is known as much for his resemblance to Michael Jordan and his superstitious on-court antics as he is for his remarkable talent.

The 6-foot-5 junior has the highest scoring average among the five first-teamers - 26.7 - and few can claim the number of oohs, aahs and opened mouths Miner can after one of his performances.

"This honor is consistent with his performance all year. He's done so much for this program," Southern Cal coach George Raveling said.

The Trojans have returned to the Top Ten, let alone the rankings, and with Miner giving clinics on slick ball-handling, off-balance jumpers and crowd charisma, they have become a No. 2 seed in the NCAA tournament.

O'Neal, the 43rd player to repeat as an All-American, and Jackson are also juniors, while Laettner and Mourning are seniors.

Maryland guard Walt Williams led the second team and was joined in the backcourt by Missouri's Anthony Peeler. The frontcourt was Byron Houston of Oklahoma State, Don MacLean of UCLA and Adam Keefe of Stanford.

Arkansas teammates Todd Day, a forward, and Lee Mayberry, a guard, highlighted the third team. They were joined by Duke guard Bobby Hurley and forwards Malik Sealy of St. John's and Calbert Cheaney of Indiana. Day was a second-team pick last season and Cheaney was on the third team.

O'Neal averaged 23.6 points, was the nation's second-leading rebounder (14.1) and tied for the top spot in blocked shots with Mourning (5.0). His appearance as a sophomore last season followed the consecutive years of Tigers guard Chris Jackson as a first-team selection. The 7-2 O'Neal was four votes shy of being unanimous.

Laettner has been to the Final Four each of his three seasons and was named tournament MVP when the Blue Devils won the title last season.

The 6-11 Laettner, who was named to the first team on all 63 ballots cast by the nationwide panel of writers and broadcasters which votes for the weekly rankings, averaged 21.9 points and 7.9 rebounds for the Blue Devils, the wire-to-wire No. 1 team this season. His game has been augmented of late with a new weapon - the 3-pointer. Laettner has made 47 of 82 attempts, 57 percent.

Jackson, a 6-6 swingman, averaged 23 points, 6.8 rebounds and 4.1 assists per game while shooting 45 percent from 3-point range.
