

Independence For Africa Nears With Agreement

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) - An agreement is near to form an interim multiracial government to prepare South-West Africa for independence by next June 30, sources at a constitutional conference in Windhoek report.

South Africa rules the territory, also called Namibia, under a League of Nations mandate rejected by the United Nations. The U.N. Security Council has ordered South Africa to submit plans for U.N.-supervised free elections by Aug. 31 or face economic sanctions.

Thirty-five delegates representing whites, blacks and coloreds mixed races have been meeting since September in Windhoek, the territory's major city, to draft a constitution.

Members of the committee said on Monday that plans for the interim government will be announced on Aug. 24.

"We have the go-ahead for a multiracial government from the South African Department of Foreign Affairs," a colored delegate said. "You can take it that consultations are taking place with Western powers in a bid to prevent precipitate action when the Security Council deadline expires."

A key issue still unresolved is whether the South-West African People's Organization, or SWAPO, will oppose or participate in the new government. SWAPO guerrillas based in southern Angola and Zambia are fighting South African troops and police along the northern border of South-West Africa, and the South African government barred the nationalist organization from the constitutional negotiations.

Some black and colored delegates have raised the possibility of SWAPO leaders being in the interim government or joining a coalition government after independence. SWAPO leaders have said they will not take part until the South African government frees all political prisoners, recognizes the territorial integrity of South-West Africa and withdraws its troops and police.

Meanwhile, police reported isolated stone throwing at the black Mohlakeng township west of Johannesburg, but Soweto and the other black ghettos around Johannesburg were reported calm.

Police gunfire killed at least two blacks Monday in the Alexandra township when student demonstrations and riots that began last Wednesday resumed.

The students have been demanding the release of leaders imprisoned after the black upheaval six weeks ago in which 176 persons were killed. Interior and Information Minister, Connie Mulder said he believed the black unrest would continue to keep "the pot on the boil" until the Security Council meets to discuss South-West Africa.

Scorching Weather Hits State

By The Associated Press

Texas weather stayed dry and scorching hot today.

A few thundershowers teased the northwest part of the Panhandle during the night, but none delivered appreciable moisture.

Skies were monotonously clear except for a few scattered clouds over the coastal plains and the West Texas-New Mexico border, and mostly south breezes fanned the state at less than 10 miles per hour.

Early morning temperatures ranged from 81 degrees at Wichita Falls down to 65 at Dalhart and Texarkana.

Monday's top marks included Austin College Station, Cotulla and Wink 100, Dallas and Fort Worth 102, Alice and Mineral Wells 103, Waco 104, Wichita Falls 107 and Presidio 110.

The statewide forecast was tersely familiar: Sunny and hot. Widely scattered thundershowers were predicted in extreme West Texas by late in the day.

Crime Is Way Of Life

SEATTLE (AP) - Crime has been a way of life for a Seattle family with seven boys, accounting for 192 arrests in the past nine years, according to police count.

"I hope to God we've turned the corner, because I'll tell you mister, I can't take much more," the mother of the boys who range in age from 11 to 20, told Police Det. Stephen Heard, assigned full-time to the family. Under juvenile offender laws, the family cannot be identified.

There have been 39 arrests for burglary, 23 for larceny, 16 for property damage, 12 for robbery, 5 for assault, 4 for auto theft, 3 for narcotics, 2 for carrying a concealed weapon and miscellaneous ones ranging from shoplifting to trespassing to disturbing the peace to refusing to pay cab fare.

Police say it's the worst case of a repeating crime pattern under one roof in the city.

One son, a 27-year-old dope addict, was killed by a shotgun blast in a Los Angeles apartment, and another died at the age of 23 when he "ran into a knife," the mother said.

But the oldest, she says, has not been in trouble since being released from a Louisiana prison about a year ago.

She says her three daughters haven't been in serious trouble, either, but all three grandchildren who live with her - a 12-year-old girl and boys 8 and 9 years old - have been arrested for burglary.

The mother, 48, has been married three times. She says her first husband was shot to death in New Orleans, her second husband got a divorce, and her third husband died three years ago of cancer.

She lives on welfare, a veteran's widow's pension and Social Security, a total of about $1,000 a month. She has no car and has to ride a bus whenever she must go to bail out her sons or accompany them to court.

The family moved here from Louisiana in 1967.

Ford Considers Reagan As VP

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) - President Ford's campaign strategists, trying to counter a move to require advance announcement of his vice presidential choice, are holding out the longshot possibility that Ronald Reagan might wind up as his running mate.

That couldn't happen if the choice had to be disclosed before the presidential nomination is settled - so the Ford men say some Reagan delegates may wind up voting against the rule proposed by the challenger's campaign manager.

They're ready to fight all week - and they may have to - against the vice presidential rule proposed by John P. Sears, who wants the Republican National Convention to require that candidates name their running mate at least a half-day in advance of the roll call on the White House nomination.

With that maneuver, and with pressure in the platform committee, the Reagan camp is testing Ford's clout in convening preliminaries, hoping to gain strength for the main event.

The process continued today, as a

Panhandle. The humidity downstate is tough on us High Plains folks. I don't care what anyone says, our weather is better year around than anywhere else!

A visit to the historical town square in Granbury was a highlight of the West Texas Press Convention we attended. Granbury, located 33 miles southwest of Fort Worth, has made every effort to maintain the old look of the early 1900's on the square. It is the only entire square-site in Texas to be honored with a Texas Historical Commission marker, and it is listed on the National Register of Historic Places in Washington, D.C.

A number of merchants around the square stayed open for our evening tour, then the press group attended a performance at the Grandbury Opera House. Built in 1886, the Opera House presented many forms of entertainment until it was closed in 1911. For the next 64 years, the beautiful old building wasted away to little more than a roofless shell of four Hood County stone walls.

Members of the Granbury Opera Association, joined by community supporters, decided to restore the building and the $250,000 project was

AS THE MORNING SESSION drew a close County Judge Sam Morgan presented to the commissioners a fire list that had been submitted to him by the Hereford Fire Department. The list showed that the HFD had worked 14 fires in the city, seven fires within the county outside the city, and three blazes outside the county during the month of July.

In the afternoon session the commissioners approved the request by Huard after meeting with him at the Little Bull Barn, and also approved of a petition submitted by H.A. Cavness which called for an election to let voters decide whether they would elect County Hospital Board members in the future, or whether those board members would continue to be appointed by the commissioners.

By accepting the petition the commissioners now must schedule a special election within 90 days to decide the question.

'Unusually Quiet' Weekend Is Reported

Hereford police reported that they experienced an "unusually quiet" weekend here with only two incidents reported.

A BREAK-IN WAS reported at the home of Mrs. Merle Ellison at 204 East 6th Saturday between the hours of 9:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. A pipe was used to break a window on the door and the door was then unlocked to gain entry.

The only thing found missing in the home was approximately 43 cents in pennies.

A long summer's work at fruit raising was lost by Mrs. C.M. Doak of 219 Ave. E Saturday afternoon when someone entered her back yard and stole a quantity of pears and peaches from her fruit trees in the back yard.

AN INCIDENT OF vandalism was reported at the Richard Bass home at 212 Ave. B Monday. The glass in the back door at the residence was broken.

Mary Gonzales of Catalpa Street reported that her purse was stolen from her car Monday while she was shopping at Furr's at Sugarland Mall. The purse contained some pills, a driver's license and insurance cards.

Bell Executives Charged

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) - An assistant vice president of Southern Bell Telephone Co. was arrested Monday and charged with falsifying company records. Seven other Southern Bell executives and one former executive were arrested on the same charge Saturday.

Charles Duffy Penuel, 54, of Charlotte was taken to the Mecklenburg County jail for processing. The eight arrested Saturday, executives with as much as 38 years service to the company, were also processed at the jail before being released on bond.

Warrants against the nine said they were charged under state statute with falsifying employ travel and miscellaneous expense statements "with the intent to injure, defraud and deceive officers of Southern Bell."

No amounts of money were mentioned in the warrants. Warrants charging two others with falsifying records had not been served early Monday. Mecklenburg County Dist. Atty. Peter Gilchrist, citing a court order prohibiting comment on the case, would not name those charged on the two unserved warrants.

Bridal attendants, who witness the marriage of Kima Marsh and James Light Saturday evening, were honored guests at a luncheon Saturday in the home of Mrs. W.E. Sparks, 506 Westhaven.

Couple To Celebrate Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Roy F. Calvert, of Ingleside, former Hereford residents, will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary at a reception Sunday, August 15.

N.M., Cathy Thompson of Lubbock and Sara Bell. Other special guests were the couple's mothers, Mrs. Ed Light of El Paso and Mrs. Virgil Marsh.

The refreshment table, covered with a coral cloth, was centered with a large arrangement of green spider mums, coral gladioli and babybreath and four card tables were centered with an identical smaller arrangement.

Also, depicting the bride's chosen colors, the fireplace mantel of the home was decorated with an arrangement of the flowers.

Guests present were served chicken salad, relish plate, vegetables, fruit salad, hot rolls and chocolate layer cake.

REUNION SLATED
The descendants of the late Mr. and Mrs. J.C. Fortenberry of Lockney, the Cedar Hill community, will hold their 25th annual reunion this year.

Friends of the family are invited to bring a covered dish to the reunion which is scheduled to begin at 10:30 a.m. Saturday at the Bull Barn.

Time is money for home labor

By Polly Cramer

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY—Can anyone tell me how to go about putting prices on handmade items like crocheted shawls and so on that one makes for someone else? —ETHEL.
DEAR ETHEL—That is a good question, but hard to answer. When making an item for someone specifically, do come to an agreement on price before the work is started. Often a warm friendship can cool off when the price is quoted afterwards. Some seem to figure one's time is worth little. Look around in shops selling handmade items and at bazaars and see what they charge. One's time is money. Though the charges could not be made according to ALL the hours spent on the job and at a going hourly rate, there certainly should be fair compensation for it. —POLLY.

DEAR POLLY—My Pet Peeve is with the way supermarkets package ground meat. It is almost impossible to find a one pound package of hamburger meat or ground pork as invariably it will be several ounces over and you have to ring a bell and wait to have a one pound package made up special. This seems to me to be a ruse to get us to buy more meat. —HELEN.

DEAR POLLY—I am answering the reader whose plastic curtains were torn in the washer. I have had good luck washing mine in the bathtub. I use warm water and mild soap, let the curtains soak a while and then work them around with my hands. After draining out the soapy water, put in clean warm water and rinse twice. Hang on the shower curtain pole to drip dry and the water drips into the tub. Mine looks like new after washing this way. —MRS. R.L.

DEAR POLLY—We thought we had tried everything to get rid of fleas in our carpet, until we finally bought several boxes of flea powder, sprinkled it generously on all carpeted areas and left the house for a few hours. Later we vacuumed thoroughly. While this was a lot of work, it was cheaper than having an exterminator and really did the job. —ELEEN.

DEAR POLLY—I dye my own hair and have a terrific way to get at those faded out roots and the dye job comes out very evenly. I use a regular toothbrush with even bristles. Pour some of the already mixed dye in the palm of your hand and dip the toothbrush into this mixture. Then proceed to put on your dry hair, starting at the worst spots first. Then even if your hair ends do not need it you have the roots covered nicely. Also good for those hard-to-cover hairs on the temples. —FLO.

DEAR POLLY—If your car reeks of cigarette smoke, leave an apple in the closed car overnight. It will counteract the smoke-odors. —CORA.

DEAR POLLY—Sew a small magnet inside one thickness of the nylon net in your pretty nylon scrubber. It will really stay on the top corner of the bathtub. —MARGARET.

Ann Landers Cutie-Pie Not Welcome

DEAR ANN: Please help me settle an argument with my husband. We have agreed to abide by your decision.

Henry and I are planning a lovely dinner party in our new home. One of his married business associates has a cutie-pie on the side. I say we should invite Mr. Business Associate and his WIFE, not the girlfriend. My husband says Mr. B.A. should be able to bring whoever he chooses -- and he has already said he wants to bring the cutie-pie.

According to my husband, what this man does with his personal life is none of our business. I agree with my husband but it would offend me to have a married man bring his mistress into our home. We will be issuing the invitations by phone soon, so hurry your answer. Who is right? -- Battle Royal in The Bahamas

DEAR ROYAL BATTLEERS:
You are -- and don't let the so-and-so grind you down.

What Mr. B.A. does IS none of your business, but to offer hospitality to a married man and his cutie-pie cuts you in on the monkeyshines and gives your unspoken approval to the affair. Steer clear.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You slay me. Your upper-middle-class upbringing pops up in your column so often it's a hoot. Like again today -- when you advised the woman whose husband takes his 28 1/2 inches of their standard 57-inch bed out of the middle. (They used to sleep cuddled up but now he accuses her of "leaning" on him.)

"Get twin beds," you advised. "But after 20 years the transition should be engineered with imagination and tact." Excellent counsel. But then you come up with the suggestion that the wife buy her husband a whistle to place on his bedside table and have it engraved with the message, "If you want me, just whistle."

What percentage of your readers can afford to engrave messages on ANYTHING these days? Do you know how much engraving costs per letter. It's time YOU woke up and smelled the coffee. -- Daily Reader in Yuma

DEAR DAILY: Mea Culpa, lovey. Right your are. For those who can't afford engraving, write the message on a piece of paper and tape it to the whistle. It doesn't have to come from Tiffany.

DEAR ANN: I am a female, 29 years old, but I really look 19. I'm single, never been married, come from a wonderful family, and was brought up in a very loving atmosphere, with kind and understanding parents and five wonderful brothers and sisters.

Last October, I met the first person in my life who made me feel really alive. We started with the usual conversation. When he asked my age, I lopped off eight years and said "21" because I figured he was about 24.

We began going out a lot. After three weeks he confessed he was only 19. I couldn't believe it. When he said, "Age means nothing," I confessed I was 29.

We continued dating and I assumed everything was fine because he never mentioned my age again. Eight months have passed and I really love this guy. I'm sure he feels the same about me. Last night I asked him when he wanted to get married. He said he could never marry me because of the age difference. I was stunned. What should I do? -- Plus Ten

DEAR PLUS: Tell him goodbye. If he really loves you he'll be back. If he doesn't, better to find out now.

Do you feel awkward, self-conscious -- lonely? Welcome to the club. There's help for you in Ann Landers' booklet, "The Key to Popularity." Send 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

Time is really money--you can tell by the way it slips by.

CATHY EVANS
...To Reign At Rodeo

Junior Rodeo Set For This Weekend

Hereford Junior Rider's Club Queen Cathy Evans will reign over festivities when The Hereford Junior Rodeo gets underway this Friday and continues through Saturday at the Rider's Club Arena.

Some 30 local businessmen and individuals have donated buckles which will be awarded to the first and second place finisher in each event, and to the All-Around contestant in each age group.

The rodeo will begin at 7:30 each night, and will cater to three age groups: seven years and under, ages 8-11, and ages 12-14.

In the seven and under bracket boys will compete in poles, barrels, goat tailing, and calf riding, while the girls will compete in poles, barrels, goat tailing, and dobbing.

Boys in the 8-11 bracket will compete in steer riding, pony broncs, barrels, and poles, while the girls in that age group will compete in barrels, poles, goat tailing, and steer riding.

In the 12-14 bracket boys will compete in bareback riding, team roping, ribbon roping, and tie down, while the girls will compete in barrels, poles, goat tailing, and steer riding.

Entry books will close two hours before the performance each night. Area youngsters wanting more information about the rodeo may contact either Frankie Evans at 364-4243 or Nelda Smith at 364-1338.

Landry Unhappy; Players To Pay

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP)- Dallas Cowboys Coach Tom Landry wasn't very happy with what he saw Saturday night against the Los Angeles Rams, and the last week of Cowboys training camp here won't be a picnic as a consequence.

Landry has set up a harsh week of workouts to correct what he considers to be the team's problems.

Dallas will break camp at the end of the week and return home for Saturday's pre-season game against the Denver Broncos in Dallas.

End sweep defense is high on Landry's priority list this week after the Rams ran extensively around the corners in downing the Cowboys 26-14 last Saturday.

"The Rams looked awfully good for this time of year," Landry said. "They were doing most everything well, which made us look pretty bad."

Landry said the only bright spot he saw against Los Angeles was the Cowboy's punting. Punter-quarterback Danny White and rookie Bill Farris each punted four times. White for a 47.5 average and Farris for a 36.5.

Fullback Robert Newhouse was the only serious casualty from the Rams' contest. He reinjured a groin muscle and is expected to miss the home opener against Denver.

All-pro offensive tackle Rayfield Wright signed a multiyear contract to provide at least one other bright spot in the Cowboys' week.

RENO, Nev. (AP)- The Pittsburgh Steelers and Los Angeles Rams are the favorites quoted by the Reno Turf Club in season odds to win their divisions in the American and National Football conferences.

The Steelers were quoted as 9 to 5 choices in their conference with the Rams 2 to 1 in theirs. Second choices were the Oakland Raiders in the American Conference and the Dallas Cowboys in the National, each as 13 to 5 choices.

'Candy Man' Treats Fans To No-Hitter Over LA

By RON YAKE
AP Sports Writer
PITTSBURGH (AP)- It was "Candy Night" at Three Rivers Stadium and Pittsburgh Pirate left-hander John Candelaria gave everyone a treat.

The first 10,000 fans entering the stadium Monday night received a free candy bar in honor of the occasion and Candelaria followed that up by pitching a 2-0, no-hitter over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

"I've been dreaming about this since I was five years old," said the 22-year-old pitcher known as "The Candy Man" to Pirate fans. "I don't know if I'll come down. It's going to take a while to realize what's happened."

Only in his second major league season, Candelaria,

11-4, became the first Pirate pitcher to throw a no-hitter in Pittsburgh since Nick Maddox accomplished the feat at old Exposition Park in 1907.

He extended Los Angeles' losing streak to six games as he walked one batter and struck out seven. With the exception of the third inning, Candelaria retired the Dodgers in order.

A walk to Steve Yeager and two Pirate errors loaded the bases before Candelaria got Bill Russell to ground out to end the inning.

In the first inning, Al Oliver made a running grab of Davy Lopes' fly ball and Dave Parker made a shoestring catch of Ted Sizemore's sinking liner to snuff out possible hits.

Frank Taveras caught a line drive off Sizemore's bat in the sixth and Oliver ranged far to his left to make a running catch of Ron Cey's fly ball an inning later.

Hall Of Fame Honors Roberts, Five Others

COOPERTOWN, N.Y. (AP)- Eddie Sawyer, the former college professor who managed the 1950 Philadelphia Phillies to the National League pennant, came here to see one of his Wiz Whiz Kids inducted into the Baseball Hall of Fame.

"Late in '48 I knew he'd make it big," said Sawyer following the induction of Robin Roberts and five others into the Hall of Fame Monday. "We brought him up from Wilmington Del. of the old Interstate League. One of our coaches, Cy Perkins, who knew pitchings, watched him pitch two games and said, 'This kid can't miss.'"

Sawyer added, "He had ability and desire. He wanted to pitch every day. If we had 20 players like him there would have been no stopping us. He made my job easy."

The former Ithaca College professor said he was the one who started counting pitches thrown by his pitchers. "Robbie was smooth and fast with great control. He was remarkable. Many times he threw only 70 to 75 pitches a game.

"He was a good athlete," Sawyer said. "That's what it takes to be a good pitcher." Of the present day players, he compared Roberts with Jim Kaat of the old Phillies, a hard worker who doesn't throw many pitches.

Roberts won 20 and lost 11 in 1950, his second full season in the majors. He went on to post 20 wins or more the next five years despite playing or poor clubs.

Steelers Slosh By Eagles

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
AP Sports Writer
PHILADELPHIA (AP)- It was the kind of night a guy wouldn't even send his mother-in-law out in: torrential rain and wind gusts up to 41 miles per hour from Hurricane Belle.

But the elements didn't stop 66,823 fans from watching the action at Veterans Stadium Monday night as the Pittsburgh Steelers sloshed their way to a 14-7 victory over the Philadelphia Eagles.

The National Football League preseason game proved nothing, since both coach Dick Vermeil of the Eagles and Chuck Noll of the Steelers were unable to evaluate the young talent striving to make both teams.

Deloplane carried the ball 14 times over the slippery surface for 83 yards, including a 20-yard run for the winning TD. Reamon gained 29 yards on six carries.

As a matter of fact, in the Steelers' 72-yard winning drive, Deloplane carried four times for 44 yards, and Reamon five times for 28.

The Steelers went with starting quarterback Terry Bradshaw in the first half, which ended 7-7. Bradshaw completed six of 13 for 46 yards, and directed a first period nine-play, 61-yard TD drive. Bleier scored from the one in the march, which included only one short pass completion.

Terry Hanratty ran the Steelers in the second half, completing none of his three pass attempts, but leading the winning 72-yard offensive that started late in the third quarter and wound up 1:01 into the final period.

Weekend Campout

Members of Boy Scout Troop 151, sponsored by the First Christian Church, traveled with Scout Master Buryl Fish and Assistant Scout Master Gary Hicks on a campout to the Ute Lake area last weekend.

The campers, left Hereford Friday morning and returned Saturday evening after two days of swimming, water skiing, and camping.

Scouts attending the campout were Dan Rickett, Jim Fish, Tommy and Bruce Clarke, Matthew and Joel Wilbanks, and Shannon Wilburn.

The artificial surface was soaked, puddles dotting the field. Winds and sheets of rain swept through the stadium.

"I thought the winner tonight was Hurricane Belle," said a disgusted Noll after his team drove 72 yards on nine running plays for the winning touchdown scored early in the fourth quarter.

"It was a very difficult game because the circumstances to look at people were less than favorable," said Noll. "You really didn't even get a chance to work on a rainy day offense, because usually it rains only a little bit. The ball got heavier and heavier as the game went on, and it certainly was difficult to evaluate anybody."

Noll's view must have been a disappointment to rookie running backs Jack Deloplane, a sixth-round draft choice from Salem W. Va. College, and Tommy Reamons from Missouri.

BUSINESS & INDUSTRY REVIEW

Carl McCaslin
 Lumber Co.,
 Supplying Growth for 37 Years

Since its beginning back in 1939, the Carl McCaslin Lumber Co. has continued to grow right along with the growth of Hereford and the building needs of the people of the city.

Carl McCaslin, founder of the company began his well-established firm 37 years ago with only three employes and himself. Presently the firm sports a staff of over 20. Each with a desire to help the people of the Hereford area with their individual needs. Since the store is well stocked with everything for the do-it-yourselfer as well as large construction companies it is an ideal place for that one-stop place for your paint, lumber, electrical and plumbing supplies.

Nearly all the civic organizations of Hereford have a representative from McCaslin's so chances are that when you enter the store to purchase an item, you will find yourself being served by another member of your own organizations.

Building and remodeling materials is not the only service McCaslin's has to offer. They have a modern, well-trained and equipped department to custom design your new home or business to your individual needs and specifications.

Both Mr. McCaslin and his company manager Mr. Ben Childers foresee a great future growth for the City of Hereford. They expect the city's growth to match or even exceed the growth of the city during the past five years. They attribute this expected growth to the fact that Hereford is ideally located between such large cities as Amarillo, Clovis and Lubbock, with each of these great cities supplying Hereford with their commercial and residential overflow.

Good Financing Could Halt Federal Oil, Gas Regulation

AUSTIN (AP)—A well-financed oil and gas division of the Texas Railroad Commission is one way to help keep federal regulation out of oil production, division chief Arthur Barbeck said Monday.

Federal regulation would mean higher gasoline prices at the pump, Barbeck added.

He testified at a hearing before legislative and gubernatorial budget examiners on the commission's money request for 1978 and 1979. The commission seeks a 70 per cent increase in its spending, to $1.68 million the first year and $17.8 million the second year.

None of the three commission members attended the hearing.

By doing a good job and advising other states' oil and gas regulatory agencies, the commission can hold off the temptation of federal agencies to get into the act, Barbeck said.

Energy, he said, "is the most popular field now, and the feds go in where it's popular."

Federal red tape "just increases the cost of operation, which increases the cost to the consumer. It's those kind of things that increase the cost of gasoline," he said.

Even though Texas reserves are declining, Barbeck said there will be a need for regulation for years to come, particularly to prevent waste of oil and gas and to encourage measures to boost production through artificially increased well pressures.

"Price is a wonderful thing to add conservation. You can't beat it. But at the same time, the greed is there to 'get mine.' There is a tendency to waste one hydrocarbon as opposed to another," he said.

And the commission's goal, he said, is like that of a big nationwide meat packing firm that said it wanted to get even "the squeal out of the hog."

VIENNA'S SENIORS GET HOUSEHOLD AID

VIENNA (AP)—Under a new program inaugurated here by the Vienna Volkshilfe (Vienna Citizens Self-Help Committee) the city's elderly will get assistance in tasks they are unable to undertake alone, such as taking down curtains for laundering, hanging paintings or weatherstripping windows.

Investigators Seek Cause Of Derailment

STEPHENVILLE, Tex. (AP)—Investigators sought to determine on Monday the cause of an apparent explosion that derailed 17 cars of a Santa Fe Freight train near here Sunday and injured one of the train's crewmen.

Freightman A.B. Green of Brownwood was treated and released at a Stephenville hospital for injuries received when he jumped from the train's caboose.

Five tank cars continued to burn more than five hours after the derailment two miles west of here.

Police rerouted traffic on nearby U.S. 377 for more than an hour after the accident.

Flames from the burning tank cars shot 100 feet into the air and a column of smoke could be seen more than 15 miles away.

Investigators said one of the tank cars apparently exploded before the cars left the tracks.

The 60-car train was en route from Brownwood to Fort Worth.

J.W. Tihen of Fort Worth, superintendent of the railroad's northern Texas district, estimated damage at $100,000.

Repair crews were expected to have the track reopened late Monday.

Long Range Construction Plan Adopted For Roads

AUSTIN, (AP)—A 20-year plan Monday to close the gap between declining revenue and construction needs has been adopted unanimously by the Highway and Public Transportation Commission.

The commission adopted the plan Monday afternoon after a two-hour slide presentation by officers of McKinsey & Co. of Dallas. The firm devised the plan after a 15-month study that cost $600,000. Highway engineers in each district participated in the study.

The ultimate solution to highway construction problems rests with the Gov. Dolph Briscoe and the legislature, the officials said, particularly in the possible use of a substantial portion of the state surplus on highway projects.

Planned construction projects total $11.8 billion. But anticipated revenue over the next two decades is $1.9 billion.

The increase in fuel costs has reduced the amount of fuel that would have been used and this cut fuel tax revenue. The federal government is requiring greater fuel efficiency in new cards, which will further cut into that revenue. And total consumption of fuel is expected to rise slightly over the next two years and then begin declining, partly because of increased engine efficiency.

Today only 15 per cent of the cars weigh less than 3,500 pounds. By the year 2,000 that is expected to grow to 50 per cent. That would reduce revenue from vehicle registration fees, so one of McKinsey's proposals is to base the registration fees on the value of a vehicle rather than its weight.

Highway construction "costs" have jumped an astounding 19 per cent each year between 1971 and 1975.

That forces the state to abandon its old project-by-project approach to highway construction, the study says, and replace it with an integrated and computerized system in which priorities are assigned on the basis of which projects are most needed to benefit the highway system as a whole.

The plan calls for modification of "rigid standards" that "forced elaborate, highest cost projects."

And reducing six-lane projects, for example, to four lanes is another way to save money.

Concentrating on "hot spots," where traffic congestion is heaviest, is a better utilization of highway dollars, McKinsey says.

It recommends a moratorium on right-of-way purchases. The department already has a large right-of-way inventory which it cannot use for several years.

Portions of the plan already have been implemented, including the reduction in department personnel from 20,000 in 1969 to 14,852 by the end of this year.

The plan calls for eliminating expenditure of highway funds on the highway patrol Briscoe has proposed limiting the highway patrol to a flat $20 million a year from the highway fund.

It also proposes transferring the sales tax on motor vehicles and vehicle parts from the state general revenue fund to the highway fund.

Hill Rules On RRC Hearings

AUSTIN (AP)—The Railroad Commission must post notice of hearings at which it issues rulings interpreting commission rules, Atty. Gen. John Hill said Monday.

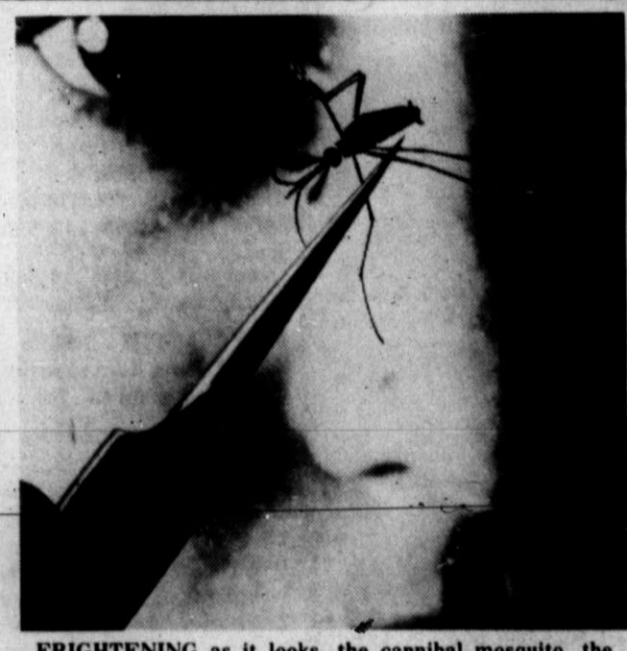

Commission chairman Ben Ramsey requested Hill's opinion.

The commission has the power to adopt a tariff rule permitting computation of mileage on longer routes when the shortest route is "not practicable."

Where the shortest route has a bridge that cannot safely support more than 21,000 pounds, the commission said, that qualifies as "not practicable."

Hill said the ruling containing that interpretation must be issued at a meeting for which notice has been posted.

Worry won't solve a problem — it only prevents a solution.

Consumer Group Claims Raise On Gas Based On False Reasons

WASHINGTON (AP) - Consumer groups told a Senate subcommittee Monday the Federal Power Commission FPC order increasing natural gas price ceilings was based on false assumptions and faulty reasoning.

Instead of raising the price of regulated interstate gas to the level charged by producers of unregulated intrastate gas, the government should regulate intrastate prices downward, the groups said.

The testimony came as the Senate Commerce subcommittee on oil and natural gas production and distribution held hearings on the two-week-old power commission order.

The effective date of the order has been delayed while it is challenged in court. It would affect the ceiling price on natural gas sold by producers to interstate pipelines. The current ceiling is 52 cents per 1,000 cubic feet. The order would raise that to $1.01 for gas already in interstate commerce and to $1.42 for natural gas from new fields.

The FPC has estimated the order would increase the average yearly gas bill 4 to 8 percent over the next year, giving examples of $5-20 in Florida to $23.14 in Ohio.

James F. Flug, director of the Energy Action Committee, said the natural gas shortage which the FPC order is aimed at alleviating was an artificial one created by the industry itself.

He said investigators from the House of Representatives had found the industry engaged in extensive under-reporting of natural gas reserves and that it failed or refused to produce substantial amounts of available gas.

Lee White of the Energy Policy Task Force of the Consumer Federation of America said the FPC reasoning that the higher price would encourage new production was faulty. "If the basic goal is to encourage greater investment in exploration and the discovery of new gas reserves and the dedication of those reserves to the interstate market, why should the producers who find gas make permanent dedications at that rate if there is reasonable expectation that the rate will increase again," he said.

FPC action was the National Council of Farmer Cooperatives. It said the FPC order would encourage conservation by residential users and low priority industrial users while encouraging additional exploration and development of natural gas supplies.

Harris Convicted Of Kidnap

LOS ANGELES (AP) - William and Emily Harris, vowed revolutionaries who shared Patricia Hearst's underground life, stand convicted of kidnapping and robbery in a trial which is not yet over.

In a verdict with grave implications for Miss Hearst, the Harris were acquitted Monday of six counts of assault but were convicted the two kidnappings, one robbery and two car thefts - all involving Miss Hearst.

The jury apparently believed the Harris' contention that Miss Hearst, a codefendant, willingly took part in the shooting that led to the assault charges.

The jury delivered its verdict unaware of a controversy about possible bias against the Harris. Without dismissing the jury and ending the trial, the judge scheduled an unusual hearing today to investigate whether the verdict was tainted by prejudice.

In a surprise move, the jurors asked and were permitted to remain sequestered at a guarded hotel overnight to prevent contact with publicity they were ordered to avoid.

The sources of possible jury bias included reports of the construction of two mock hangman's nooses by potential jurors, the smuggling of an inflammatory newspaper article into a jury room and an allegedly biased remark by a juror who took part in the verdict.

The verdict by the seven-woman, five-man jury was angrily challenged by the defense.

"I don't think this verdict will stand in any court," said chief defense attorney Leonard Weinglass. "It was the most tainted of verdicts."

Unless the verdict is set aside, Weinglass said he would appeal on numerous grounds. Chief prosecutor Sam Mayer-son said if prejudice were shown at the jury hearing he would join in a motion to set aside the verdict and seek a new trial.

"There were some unusual events in the trial, but I don't think they indicate the jury was tainted at all," he said.

Immediately after the verdict was announced, Dist. Atty. John Van De Kamp announced he would pursue the prosecution of Miss Hearst.

Although a codefendant with the Harris, Miss Hearst's trial has been delayed until Jan. 10 while she undergoes psychiatric testing prior to sentencing on a federal bank robbery conviction in San Francisco.

Miss Hearst has admitted her role in the May 16, 1974, crime spree which led to charges against all three, but she said she was an unwilling captive of the Harris and the Symbionese Liberation Army.

She has said she sprayed a Los Angeles sporting goods store with machine-gun fire to free William Harris after he was stopped for shoplifting. The prosecution said the trio then commanded a van and car to escape, the basis for the other charges.

Although the Harris face the possibility of a maximum sentence of life on one count of robbery, the jury reduction of other charges and the assault acquittals were seen as a partial victory for the defense.

The panel reduced the most serious charge-kidnaping to the purpose of robbery-to simple kidnaping, sparing the Harris a mandatory life sentence.

Ambold Takes ROTC Training

Cadet John A. Ambold, son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Ambold, 438 Ave. G, of Hereford, recently completed six weeks of training in fundamental military skills at the Army Reserve Officers Training Corps basic camp at Ft. Knox, Ky.

The basic camp is designed to give junior college graduates and college sophomores who have not taken ROTC courses the chance to enter the program. The camp also qualified high school graduates for the ROTC program at any one of the nation's six military junior colleges.

During the encampment, cadets received training in basic rifle marksmanship, military drill and ceremonies, communications and individual and small unit tactics.

Cadet Ambold, a student at West Texas State University in Canyon, is one of more than 48,000 cadets from colleges and universities across the nation, enrolled in Army ROTC training.

The cadet is a 1971 graduate of Hereford High School.

B1 Production Sought

WASHINGTON (AP) - House and Senate negotiators will take the next step toward a final decision on whether to begin production of the controversial B1 bomber.

The Senate gave 82 to 6 approval Monday to a $104-billion defense-spending bill that would prohibit the outlay of $1 billion for the B1 until after next Feb. 1.

But the vote on the B1 put the Senate bill in conflict with a defense bill passed by the House. On June 17 the House voted down an amendment that would have delayed orders for the first three B1 bombers until after the next presidential inauguration. That leaves it up to a House and Senate conference committee to negotiate the differences.

The conference is to begin after Congress returns Aug. 23 from a week's recess for the Republican National Convention.

Supporters of the B1 delay said they wanted to give the president taking office next Jan. 20 a chance to decide whether a proposed fleet of 244 supersonic B1s is worth the estimated $22-billion price tag.

The Ford administration proposes to place initial orders for the first three planes in November. The Democratic party and its presidential nominee, Jimmy Carter, want to review of latest prototype flight test data early next year.

Sen. John Culver, D-Iowa, a leading Senate critic of the B1, said the absence of a challenge on the Senate floor to the B1 postponement, recommended by the Senate Appropriations Committee, showed a solid Senate majority favors a delay in spending.

The $104-billion total in the Senate bill is $3.9 billion under Ford administration budget requests and $1.4 billion less than the total voted by the House. But the Senate total is $11.6 billion more than defense appropriations were for the 12 months that ended June 30.

The Senate turned down amendments to the bill that would have deleted $350 million in advance funding for a nuclear powered supercarrier and $75 million for 360 Lance surface-to-surface missiles armed with non-nuclear warheads.

Authorities Nab Drug Dealer

MEXICO CITY (AP) - Mexican authorities said Monday they captured the country's most important drug dealer, a man they say has been one of the major suppliers of heroin and cocaine to the United States.

The arrest of Jorge Favla Escobosa, 59, occurred Friday but announcement was delayed until five of the man's lieutenants could be arrested in other parts of Mexico, the federal attorney general's office said.

Alejandro Gerts Manero, chief of the drug control section of the attorney general's office, said Favla was closing a deal worth $1.6 million when he was arrested in a Mexico City suburb. The drugs he was selling, 35 pounds of heroin, were confiscated when the band's delivery man was arrested in Tijuana, Gertz said.

The federal official said Favla was wanted in several American states. Most of his drug shipments were directed to Chicago, Gertz said.

Registration Bill Pushed Through

WASHINGTON (AP) - The House rushed through a postcard voter registration bill at Jimmy Carter's request Monday but knocked out a provision for mailing the postcards to every American household.

The bill was passed on a 239-147 vote.

The bill's floor manager, House administration chairman

Frank Thompson Jr., D-N.J., said deletion of the provision for mailing postcards to some 150 million voting-age Americans would "destroy the legislation."

But backers of the move said it would save $25 million in mailing costs. Distribution of the postcards for registering to vote will be left up to the states.
