State comptroller nixes GOP offer to change parties

AUSTIN (AP) - State Comptroller

John Sharp has declined an offer to join the Republican Party, saying his ideas to make government work better and cheaper are more in line with the Democrats' philosophy.

Sharp, a longtime Democrat who was the Texas chairman for Michael Dukakis' unsuccessful presidential bid against Republican George Bush, was asked Monday by a Republican group to join the GOP.

"The public already thinks John Sharp is a Republican. We just want him to make it official," said James Leonard, chairman of the Associated Republicans of Texas.

Sharp's assistant, Greg Hartman, said there was no way that would happen.

In fact on Saturday, Sharp blistered some Republicans, saying they have offered only "years of bull" about streamlining government.

Sharp's $4 billion plan of fee increases, cuts, and agency mergers has become the focal point of the special legislative session as lawmakers tackle the task of writing a state budget with a projected $4.8 billion revenue shortfall.

The proposal was the result of a four-month study of state government that produced audits called the Texas Performance Review.

Leonard said the blueprint shows Sharp's "heart and mind are in the Republican Party."

In his letter to Sharp, Leonard said, "You have shown courage with the Texas Performance Review audits. Now, the Associated Republicans of Texas ask you to show your courage once more and join the ranks of the Grand Old Party."

But Hartman said Sharp's plan reflects the Democratic philosophy. "This is Democrats doing what they do best, that is taking on the establishment and kicking it in the butt," he said.

Hartman said the Republican cuts were shortsighted. "There is a big difference with Republicans. We don't hate government. We think it is important and can do a lot for people."

Hartman said Sharp appreciates the broad-based support of the plan, but added, "All we've done is tapped into something the public has known for a long time: We can do services better, less expensively."

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Thank you for saving my life. Last year, May 6 was a Sunday. Sundays are busy for me, but thank God I wasn't too busy to read your column. On that day you published the warning signs of cancer.

One of the seven signs was hoarseness. I had quit smoking only a week before and my throat still bothered me. I went to our family doctor on Tuesday. He immediately sent me to a throat specialist. Four days later, I had a malignant tumor removed from my larynx.

After 35 radiation treatments, I was declared "cured" and in excellent health. I am alive today because I read your column. No way would I have connected hoarseness with cancer if it hadn't been for you. Please publish the seven danger signs again. There must be others who need to be alerted.

May God bless you for the wonderful work you do. I send my sincere thanks and my love. -- B.F., Midway City, Calif.

DEAR B.F.: It was generous of you to want to help others as you have been helped. Here again are the seven warning signals that could mean cancer:

1. A change in bowel habits
2. A sore that does not heal.
3. Unusual bleeding or discharge.
4. A thickening or lump in the breast or elsewhere. (Men should check testicles every month.)
5. Persistent indigestion or difficulty in swallowing.
6. An obvious change in a wart or mole.
7. A nagging cough or hoarseness.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: That doctor from Rancho Palos Verdes, Calif., sounds like a jerk when he says most women will marry any male who is legally alive, but I must admit he has a point. The women I know who make it to 28 unmarried do seem to be terrified of facing life single.

It's sad that so many females are not secure enough to be happy alone.

Unfortunately, they are obsessed with storybook fantasies of their wedding day and give no thought to what a lifetime commitment means.

The fact is that we DO have choices. Could our mothers have bought homes by themselves as recently as the 1960s? Could they have had careers after having children? Would they have married at 21 had there been no social stigma attached to waiting until 28 or 30? The divorce rate skyrocketed in the '70s because they had the courage to escape from lousy marriages.

Marriage is still a beautiful thing, but now women have the opportunity to make that choice later in life when they have a clearer notion of who they are and where they want to be.

I wish my female friends would relax. Most of them will marry someday. I just don't happen to think it should be the main reason for getting up in the morning. -- Sue from Portland, Ore.

DEAR SUE: I think that the social pressure to marry is not as intense today as it was years ago -- and that's good. But the divorce rate tells us that perhaps the selection process still leaves something to be desired -- and that's bad.

Gem of the Day (Credit Burt Reynolds): Retirement can be a wonderful thing. You can suck in your stomach just so long.

Do you have questions about sex, but no one to talk to? Ann Landers' booklet, "Sex and the Teen-ager," is frank and to the point. Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $3.65 (this includes postage and handling) to: Teens, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562. (In Canada, send $4.45.)

Hints from Heloise

Dear Readers: Sunglasses aren't just summertime accessories or fashion statements anymore. They protect eyes from dangerous sun rays.

In 1989 the U.S. Food and Drug Administration and the Sunglass Association of American developed a labeling program to tell consumers how much protection (UV rating) each pair of sunglasses provides.

The American Optometric Association recommends sunglasses that screen out 75 to 90 percent of sunlight and provide maximum protection from radiation. If in doubt, ask your optometrist for advice.

Here are a few guidelines to follow when choosing your new sunglasses.

• Check the fit before purchasing. They shouldn't be too tight or fall off when you lean over.

• Be cautious when buying different colored lenses, especially yellow and blue. These colors should not be worn while driving because they could mask the color of traffic signals.

• Check for scratches because they can limit the visibility.

• If your eyes can be seen through a lens, usually the lens is not adequate for sunglasses. The lens color or darkness does not alter the UV protection.

• Although some sunglasses have a hefty price, they may not offer UV protection.

Take your time choosing. It could save you time and money later. — Heloise

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ON TAX INCREASE

The Deaf Smith County Hospital District will hold a public hearing on a proposal to increase total tax revenues from properties on the tax roll in 1991 by 66.7 percent. Your individual taxes may increase at a greater or lesser rate, or even decrease, depending on the change in the taxable value of your property in relation to the change in taxable value of all other property.

The public hearing will be held on Tuesday July 30, 1991 at 7:30 p.m. in the Board Room of Deaf Smith General Hospital

FOR the proposal: Raymond Schroeder, Boyd Foster, Craig Smith, Stan Fry, Jr., Randal Vinther, and Mal Manchee
AGAINST the proposal: None
PRESENT and not voting: None
ABSENT: John Perrin

The statement above shows the percentage increase the proposed rate represents over the effective tax rate that the unit published on June 26, 1991

The following table compares taxes on an average home in this taxing unit last year to taxes proposed on the average home this year. Again, your individual taxes may be higher or lower, depending on the taxable value of your property.

	Last Year	This Year
Average home value	50,000	50,000
General exemptions available (amount available on the average home, not including senior citizen's or disabled person's exemptions)	-0-	-0-
Average taxable value	50,000	50,000
Tax rate	.13200	.22000 (proposed)
Tax	66.00	110.00 (proposed)

Under this proposal taxes on the average home would increase by $ 44.00 or 66.7 percent compared with last year's taxes.

Comparing tax rates without adjusting for changes in property value, the tax rate would increase by $ 8.8 cents per $100 of taxable value or 66.7 percent compared to last year's tax rate. These tax rate figures are not adjusted for changes in the taxable value of property.

Salinas claims 10th city title

By JAY PEDEEN
Sports Editor

James Salinas converted a weekend of frustration on the golf course into his tenth city championship.

Salinas shot a one-over-par 72 in Sunday's conclusion of the 36-hole Men's City Golf Championship at Pitman Municipal Golf Course. He edged Paul Hubbard, who shot 73 Sunday after the two went into the final round tied at 76.

The two were even after the twelfth hole Sunday, but Salinas made a six-foot birdie putt on No. 13 to pull ahead by a stroke. Then on No. 15 and again on No. 16, Hubbard had his problems, needing three shots to get on each green, but Salinas missed his chances and three-putted both holes.

"I didn't put him away when I should have," Salinas said. Salinas seemed upset most of Sunday afternoon—a characteristic which some spectators said was not like him.

"I was a little frustrated with me,"

Salinas said. "I didn't play very well ...either day."

He played well enough, though.

He still held the one-stroke lead over Hubbard when they teed off at No. 17. After Salinas parred the hole, Hubbard erased the lead with a 35-40-foot birdie putt.

Hubbard, however got off to a bad start on No. 18 when his tee shot brushed against the trees to the left and just in front of the tee box. Hubbard ended up bogeying the hole, and Salinas putted for an easy par and the title.

Salinas said that a 148 was the highest winning score for a city championship in a long while—and he should know. He was the champion first in 1979, then from 1981-83, then again from 1985-89.

Finishing just behind the top two, Ron Weishaar and 1990 champion Grant Cettie each shot 77-73-150, with Cettie coming out ahead in a scorecard tiebreaker.

Prize money was given to the three low gross scores and the three low net

(after handicap) scores in each flight. A player could not win in both categories, but was awarded whichever was highest.

In the championship flight, Salinas took home the top prize money of $90. Hubbard, an eight-handicapper (Salinas' handicap is two), took the prize for low net score (133).

That meant Cettie got second prize for his gross and Weishaar got third. Second and third net prizes went to Blair Rogers with a 137 net and Terry Russell with a 139.

Stacey Bixler won the first flight and $75 with a 77-77-154, seven strokes ahead of Jerry Stevens at 83-78-161. Don Leverett had the third lowest score at 85-79-164, but took the low net prize at 142. Max Goforth took third in gross at 85-82-167. Robert Jones was second in net at 143 and Lewis McDaniel was third at 144.

Craig Rogers blew away the rest of the second flight field with a 74 Saturday and a 77 Sunday for a total of 151. The closest to him was George Ochs at 80-81-161, but Ochs took the prize for lowest net score at 135. That left Mike Butler second in gross at 168, and Steve Sanders was third at 172, while Steve Stevens took second in net at 136 and N.D. Kelso was third at 143.

In the third flight, Ken Cole put together a pair of 83s for a winning 166. Mike Purcell was second with a 169, but took the top net prize with a 129, so Don Cumpton's 171 captured the second gross prize. Bill Brown was third in gross at 182, while Max Moss was second in net at 145 and Larry Watts was third at 153.

Finally, prizes for each day's longest drive went to Keith Kelso Saturday and Ken Cole Sunday. George Ochs was the closest-to-the-pin Saturday, while Arthur Valdez won it on Sunday.

Harbaugh re-signs

By The Associated Press

Jim Harbaugh finally showed up for practice, a week late and $2.5 million richer. Ray Donaldson arrived four days late and $6,000 poorer, while Jarvis Williams came 10 days late and $15,000 lighter.

Then there's Frank Warren, a year late reporting to the New Orleans Saints. The defensive end was forced to sit out the 1990 season under suspension for drug abuse.

"We're not going to practice Sunday, but he'll come to the meeting and practice on Monday," coach Jim Mora said of Warren, who has been working out in New Orleans to prepare for his return.

Warren, a nine-year veteran, was suspended on April 30, 1990 after a third positive drug test. At the time of the suspension, the NFL said that Warren could apply for readmission to the league after one year. On July 12, the NFL allowed him to return, making him the fifth player to be reinstated.

Harbaugh had been holding out while waiting for a new contract. He got that Monday, when he put his signature to a pact calling for $1.15 million this year and $1.35 million next season. Harbaugh was paid $320,000 last season when he won 10 of his 14 starts before a shoulder injury that kept him out of the playoffs.

"The Bears were very fair to me and now it's my job to go out and play," Harbaugh said. "I'm happy to be back in camp."

Donaldson, the Indianapolis Colts' center, signed a four-year extension on Monday, and said his absence had nothing to do with his contract.

"It wasn't a holdout, I just had some personal things to take care of," Donaldson said.

Donaldson has been fined $1,500 per day since he failed to report to training camp with the other Colts veterans last Thursday.

Williams reported quietly to Miami's camp on Monday, ending a 10-day walkout without getting the new contract he had been seeking. He wanted $500,000 this season, but his contract calls for $240,000. He won't even get that, however, because $15,000 is going back to the Dolphins in the form of a fine for being late.

While two-a-days continue for the 26 other NFL teams, the Buffalo Bills and Philadelphia Eagles are preparing for next Sunday's exhibition game at London's Wembley Stadium.

One guy who definitely won't be there is Bills defensive end Bruce Smith, who on Monday night underwent arthroscopic surgery to have cartilage chips removed from his left knee. General manager Bill Polian proclaimed the operation a success and said the expectation is that Smith "will not miss any appreciable time during the regular season."

Cincinnati Bengals fullback Ickey Woods will need surgery to repair damage to the cartilage in his right knee, sustained in Monday's first full-pad drill, and will miss at least four weeks.

Washington agreed to contract terms with starting cornerback Martin Mayhew. The Redskins have only one holdout, but it's a big one—starting quarterback Mark Rypien.

The Hereford All-Stars gave up five runs on seven errors in the first inning and couldn't recover, losing 5-2 to Odessa's all-stars Monday in the West Texas State Tournament.

Loss number two eliminated Hereford. They had previously fallen 9-3 to Brownfield.

Odessa's Adam Hamilton led off the bottom of the first inning with the first of his game-high four hits. After that, Odessa batters must have thought it was Christmas in July, as Hereford fielders committed seven errors in nine chances—and the two cleanly handled chances were by catcher Ruben Ramos on pitcher Ray Hastings' two strikeouts.

Hereford crept back into the game, getting single runs in the third and sixth, but they mostly were stymied by pitcher Miguel Bustos, who struck out 13 Hereford batters in just 5 1/3 innings.

Hathaway's HR highlights losses

Tab Hathaway hit a home run—and his team's first of the season—but Hereford's doubleheader at Frerenship in the West Texas Summer Baseball League went downhill from there.

Hereford lost the first game 11-1, with Hathaway's second-inning blast the only run, then lost the second game 8-3.

"Our bats were cold," Coach Bill Watts said, adding that Hereford was 3-for-25 in the first game.

Richard Rodriguez pitched the second game and only gave up three hits, Watts said, but had to endure six unearned runs in the first inning. Andy Kalka gave up seven hits in pitching the first game.

Hereford was to play Monterey in Lubbock at 6 p.m. today.

All-Stars falter in 1st

Bustos achieved the rare feat of striking out four batters in the second inning. Josh Tice struck out but reached on the catcher's error. Stacey Sanders, Israel Martinez and Gregg Kalka followed with strikeouts of their own.

Coach Jim Hastings made wholesale changes in the defense to start the bottom of the second, and Hereford shut Odessa out the rest of the way. Ray Hastings pitched nearly as well as Bustos, allowing only six hits, striking out six batters and walking only one.

Ruben Ramos scored in the third, starting off the inning with a single to right field. He went to second on a wild pitch and continued to third when the Odessa catcher's throw sailed into center field.

Ray Hastings walked and stole second, and Ramos scored when the catcher again threw the ball into center. Following a walk to J.J. Rico, Tice singled to center, but Hastings was gunned down trying to score. It was the first non-strikeout out Odessa got.

Hereford crept a little closer with a run in the sixth. With one out, Chris Vallejo walked and stole second. That was all for Bustos, who, despite being virtually unhittable, had thrown a lot of pitches.

Odessa sent Pat Mahaffey to the mound, and he needed a few pitches to find the plate. One of his first pitches hit O.J. Rodriguez, then another bounced past home plate, sending Vallejo to third and Rodriguez to second. Vallejo scored when a pickoff throw from the catcher went into left field, but with two outs, Ramos grounded to shortstop and the throw barely beat him to first.

Hereford went three-up-three-down in the top of the seventh.

Flu-ridden Guzman shuts down Red Sox

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) - A pitcher coming down with the flu and a batter whose wife was feeling the first twinges of labor pain combined to prolong Boston's misery.

Roger Clemens pitched well enough to shake Boston out of a four-game losing streak, but the Red Sox could get only five hits off ailing Jose Guzman (5-4) and two Texas relievers in the Rangers 2-1 victory on Monday night.

"It's hard to believe we can't muster up a little better offense than we have the last few nights," Boston manager Joe Morgan said.

"I made some good pitches and moved the ball around," said Clemens, who lost despite throwing a seven-hitter with four walks and four strikeouts. "I had fun, that's the bottom line. We're not playing well right now, but you can't let it get to you."

In the only other American League game, Chicago beat Milwaukee 5-4. Steve Lyons' second-inning home run, his third, was all Boston could manage against Guzman.

Though he showed the symptoms of a flu bug that hit four teammates, Guzman went 7 2/3 innings, allowing five hits and four walks and striking out eight. Kenny Rogers retired Mike Greenwell with two runners on in the eighth, and Jeff Russell pitched a perfect ninth for his 20th save, extending Texas' winning streak to three.

"Guzzie pitched just great," Texas manager Bobby Valentine said. "His off-speed stuff was awesome. They were way out in front of it all night."

"I got sick after the second inning," Guzman said. "But it was a close game, and I wanted to stay in. I hope I get sick every five days."

The flu bug kept Rafael Palmeiro and Dean Palmer out of the lineup, benched Ruben Sierra after six innings and infected Jeff Huson and Guzman, Valentine said.

Rangers third baseman Steve Buechele was healthy but had one ear cocked for a call from wife Nancy, who was on the verge of going to the hospital to deliver the couple's second child.

When the call didn't come, Buechele scored a run in the first inning on Julio Franco's single and broke a 1-1 tie in the fifth with his team-high 15th homer.

"I hung a curve," Clemens (11-7) said of the homer. "The ball snowed in my hand."

Catcher Ivan Rodriguez helped out by picking Greenwell off first, one batter before Lyons' home run, and catching Luis Rivera stealing.

Clemens threw 153 pitches in 9 1/2-degree heat.

"No one deserved to lose that one," Valentine said. "Clemens threw one inside pitch, and Boo put it in the seats. The at-bats we had early in the game, stringing out the count, were the reason Boo hit that home run. In the middle innings, Clemens was a little more tired than he usually is."

White Sox 5, Brewers 4

Chicago pulled within five games of AL West-leading Minnesota, rallying for two runs in the sixth inning.

Dan Pasqua hit the first pitch in the sixth for his 11th home run, tying the score at 4-4, and Ozzie Guillen later hit the second of his RBI singles.

Greg Hibbard (7-8) pitched six-plus innings and Bobby Thigpen worked the ninth for his 20th save.

Braves ready to challenge

PITTSBURGH (AP) - The Atlanta Braves were last in the National League West in 1990, 1989, 1988 and 1986. They were surprise division leaders early this season, then slipped 9 1/2 games behind at the All-Star break.

Same old Braves. But just two weeks after apparently having nowhere to go but down, the Braves are on the rise, in second place, just 2 1/2 games behind division-leading Los Angeles.

These are definitely not the same old Braves.

Involved in their first pennant race since 1984, the Braves took another step toward establishing themselves as legitimate contenders with a 7-3 victory Monday night over East Division-leading Pittsburgh.

"There's no reason, no reason at all, why we can't catch the team in front of us," winning pitcher John Smoltz said.

Smoltz allowed six hits and three runs in seven innings.

The Braves scored all of their runs in the fourth inning.

The Pirates acted as if they were competing against themselves in the fourth, committing two important errors as Zane Smith (10-7) fell to 0-2 this season against his former team.

Shortstop Jay Bell's throwing error on Otis Nixon's routine grounder started the inning, and second baseman Jose Lind dropped a relay throw to account for another run.

Greg Olson had a tie-breaking two-run double and Jeff Blauser, Ron Gant, Smoltz and Nixon also had run-scoring hits in the biggest inning against Pittsburgh since May 10, 1990, when Cincinnati scored eight times.

Cardinals 9, Astros 1

Jose DeLeon pitched his first complete game since Aug. 15, 1989, giving up seven hits.

Ryan Bowen, making his major league debut, held the Cardinals hitless for five innings, but still was behind 2-1. Milt Thompson led off the sixth with an infield hit and St. Louis went on to score seven times, capped by Thompson's three-run double off Mike Capel.

DeLeon (4-8) struck out two and walked three. He won for the first time in six starts and just the fifth time in 38 starts since last season.

High school teammates hope to face each other

By JULIO LUJAN
El Paso Times

EL PASO, Texas (AP) - It was June 2, 1987, and El Paso Eastwood High School pitchers Frank Castillo and Butch Henry were waiting for the major league baseball draft.

Earlier that year as seniors, Henry and Castillo had led Eastwood to a No. 4 ranking in Texas, winning bi-district before losing to eventual state champion Abilene Cooper.

Arguably, they were two of the best high school pitchers in Texas.

"Certainly you can coach all your life and never have an opportunity to coach two guys like them," said Eastwood Coach Ray Saenz.

Pro and college scouts followed them closely.

Castillo ended the regular season with a 10-1 record, 1.12 ERA and 110 strikeouts in 76 innings pitched.

Henry's numbers were even better. He sported a 9-1-1 regular season record with an 0.82 ERA and had 125 strikeouts in 68 innings pitched. He also batted a city-best .573 with 11 home runs and 43 RBI.

Henry, not Castillo, was named the City's Most Valuable Player.

But it was Castillo, not Henry, who was the sixth-round selection of the Chicago Cubs in the 1987 free agent draft.

A day after being drafted, Castillo balked at about his future, describing the thought of playing in Wrigley Field as "frightening. But it's a good feeling to know that I may get a chance."

While Castillo was dreaming of playing for the Cubs, Henry was thinking of college. He had been snubbed in the draft, and made plans to attend the University of Texas on a baseball scholarship. But he later changed his mind and signed with the Cincinnati Reds organization. Last year, he was traded to the Houston Astros organization.

Castillo got his chance in the big leagues last month, when the Cubs called him from their Iowa farm club.

And it may not be too long before Henry joins Castillo in the majors.

The call up probably won't come this year, though. Officials with the Astros have indicated they would like Henry to stay in Tucson with the AAA team all year.

But that's assuming the Astros staff stays healthy.

"Things change on a day-to-day basis," Henry said in a telephone interview from Tucson. "You never know when someone might get injured and they call someone up."

"But I'm right where I want to be," Henry said. "I'm in an organization that's going through a youth movement right now. And it's going to be just a matter of time before I get to pitch at the big league level. I'm not in any rush."

Right now, he's enjoying success at the AAA level.

Henry's record is 9-3 in 18 starts, with a 4.25 ERA. He has 58 strike-outs, 48 walks, 48 earned runs, 125 hits, 55 runs, given up 4 home runs and hit one batter in 101.2 innings. His numbers are near the top in the Pacific Coast League.

And he's doing it without the pitch that made him untouchable in high school.

"Now, I'm not a fastball pitcher," Henry said. "I throw 83-to-85 (mph) and can run the (radar) gun up to 87, but I gave up velocity for location."

Henry has nothing but praise for his former teammate, Castillo, who is 3-0 since being called up by the Cubs June 26. Castillo beat the Astros 4-2 Sunday night in his second complete game of the season.

"He's throwing the ball outstanding. I'm tickled to death for him," Henry said. "But there's no competition between us. When the Astros feel I'm ready to be in the big leagues, I'm sure I'll be there."

And what about facing Castillo? "That'd be outstanding."

NBA leads minority hiring

By The Associated Press

When it comes to minority hiring, the NBA gets an A, the NFL gets a C+ and baseball gets a C.

Northeastern University's Center for the Study of Sport in Society gave the sports these grades in a report. When it comes to improvement, the NBA gets another A, the NFL gets a C+ and baseball gets another C.

"It is very disheartening to see how little progress has been made in major league baseball," said Richard Lapchick, the center's director. "There are very few blacks holding those positions."

Rich Levin, a spokesman for commissioner Fay Vincent, said the study was flawed.

"We have minorities in a variety of positions, from the National League president to secretaries to marketing and public relations people," Levin said.

This is the second year the center issued its "Racial Report Card."

Last year, when the center issued its first Racial Report Card, it found opportunities were increasing for minorities with the major sports leagues.

"The 1991 version is less optimistic due to either stagnation or decline in key indicators aside from on-the-field play," the report said.

The NBA led in nearly all categories: 72 percent of its players are black, down from 75 percent last year. The league had six black head coaches in 1990-91, in Cleveland, Seattle, Houston, New York, Charlotte and Washington.

Baseball has two black managers, in Kansas City and Toronto. Frank Robinson started the season as Baltimore's manager but was fired and became the Orioles' assistant general manager. Football has one black head coach, in Los Angeles.

Black NFL players increased to 61 percent from 60 percent the previous year. Baseball reversed a 10-year decline in black players with a 1 percent increase, to 18 percent. In the early 1980s, 24 percent of major league players were black.

The NBA led in black front-office hiring, with black general managers in Los Angeles, Cleveland, New Jersey, Minneapolis and Denver - a 40 percent increase from 1989-90. Blacks also held top management positions with Washington and Golden State. In addition, the Bullets hired Susan O'Malley as club president, the first woman to hold the job in any sport.

Baseball has had one black GM - Bill Lucas of the Braves, who died in 1979 - and the NFL has never had one.

Cowboys trade draft picks for Casillas

AUSTIN (AP) - The Dallas Cowboys welcomed Tony Casillas to training camp Monday with the news that he will be stationed at left tackle where No. 1 draft pick Russell Maryland also plays.

"We'll put Tony at left tackle where he and Russ can compete," said defensive line coach Butch Davis. "It will be good for the team. We can put a fresh hoss in there all the time. It might even prolong both of their careers."

Dallas gave the Atlanta Falcons two 1992 draft picks, including a second-rounder, for the former Oklahoma All-American who was a first-round pick five years ago.

Casillas flew into Austin Monday and took a physical but did not practice.

"Everything works out," Casillas said. "I was in a situation with the Falcons where I felt I got shafted and now I'm with an upcoming program."

"When I announced my retirement I didn't mean the NFL. I meant the Falcons. I achieved my goal. I got out of Atlanta."

The Cowboys gave Casillas a two-year extension on his contract through 1993.

"I know I'll be going against Russell but I think both of us can help the team," Casillas said. "This is not an individual deal. This is to get people who can do it. I've got something to prove to myself and Atlanta. They made a mistake."

Under new coach Jerry Glanville, Casillas lost his starting position last year.

"The first day I got off on a bad foot by holding out and he (Glanville) made an example of me," Casillas said.

Davis said Casillas will help the Cowboys be much better on run defense.

"Don't forget we are in the division where they play 'smash ball,'" Davis said. "In our league the (New York) Giants, the (Washington) Redskins and the (Phoenix) Cardinals all play keep away football."

Davis said the competition between Casillas and Maryland might "give them a chance of playing a high level of intensity at all times."

Defensive coordinator Dave

Wannstedt said the Cowboys had to have up-front help "because of the way our run defense looked last year. We had to shore it up. Tony is a hard worker and an intense player."

"It's a brutal position to play, a tough spot. We have more wear and tear from our left tackles than any spot on defense. You never have enough good ones. We'll be able to rotate the guys."

Dallas coach Jimmy Johnson said: "Casillas is one of the better defensive players in the NFL. We will be solid on the inside because of the division (NFC East) we are in. We can substitute a lot and keep everybody fresh."

Johnson also said that he had switched Jim Jeffcoat from starting right defensive end to left end. Jimmie Jones has replaced Jeffcoat on the right. Jeffcoat will battle Tony Tolbert for the starting job.

Maryland wasn't worried about it. "The only way I look at it brings another experienced veteran to camp," Maryland said. "The benefit to me is to learn from him. I don't look at it like we are competing."

"He's been in the league a couple of years and he has that much on me."

Oilers hope to conserve energy

SAN ANTONIO (AP) - The Houston Oilers want to be sure they don't leave any playoff energy in training camp.

The Oilers lost in the first round of the playoffs last season and some players went into the offseason feeling grueling workouts had left them fatigued for the playoffs.

"There are certain players who felt they were pretty tired at the end of the season and we want to make sure that doesn't happen again," quarterback Warren Moon said. "Camp is where it's going to be at for us this year."

"We want to come out of camp fresh, not leave it all on the football field here in San Antonio."

Coach Jack Pardee said losing contributes to a tiring feeling. "Everybody gets tired after so many games," Pardee said. "The teams that are winning and having a good time, they don't get nearly as tired as the teams that are struggling."

Wide receiver Drew Hill said there is a feeling among players that less will be better in preparing for the 1991 season.

"One thing is trying to keep the practices down and not leaving it out there on the field," Hill said. "This is Jack's second year and hopefully he'll take that into consideration. I think if we're fresher, we'll be ready at the end of the season."

The mental work of learning the system is behind them now, Moon said, hopefully leading to less time on the field.

"We know the offense and we had the mini-camp to put in the wrinkles that we wanted so coming in now, you know everything," Moon said. "You just got to get your timing down. It's not a matter of knowing this will work or that will work."

Pardee doesn't seem moved by the complaints.

"There's no easy way around training camp," Pardee said. "That's one of the hardest work times. Thank goodness it's shorter than it used to be. It used to be three months. Now it's two weeks."

Asked if the workouts would be shortened, Pardee said:

"I think they want to have a good team. There's a lot of competition for jobs and I think that's the foremost thing in their minds, to have a good team and to make the team."

Pardee has early-bird workouts beginning at 6:30 a.m. They are designed to avoid temperatures that approach 100 degrees by late afternoon. During two-a-days, they return in the late afternoon.

"We want to give everyone a chance to make the team and our workouts are designed on plays, not time," Pardee said. "We want every player to get five or six reps to show what he can do."

Moon still hopes for some mercy when the roster is trimmed.

"These are guys that work hard day in and day out," Moon said. "They felt going out there day in and day out and giving their all over the course of the season in practice, it took a lot out and they didn't have it to give at the end."

Can Moon see any signs of Pardee slacking off?

"Well, he gave us Saturday night off, that something we've never had," Moon said.

Stoudt hopes to back Aikman

AUSTIN (AP) - Cliff Stoudt hopes to become Jimmy Johnson's 1991 insurance policy.

When Troy Aikman was driven into the turf by Philadelphia's Clyde Simmons in the 15th game last season, the Dallas Cowboys' playoff chances also went south.

The Eagles beat the Cowboys that day, and with Babe Laufenberg at the helm, the Atlanta Falcons destroyed Dallas in the season finale.

Although Laufenberg is in camp, Johnson is running him at the fourth position. Stoudt, picked up as a free agent, was on the bench for the Atlanta game.

Johnson shook the NFL bushes for help and found Stoudt, who has been around for 11 years and spent some of his career backing up the NFL's greatest quarterbacks. Stoudt last threw a pass in the NFL in 1988 at Phoenix.

"He's a pro, a poised guy," Johnson said. "He's been in NFL battles and he's smart. He's also healthy. It's like buying a car that's been in the garage a long time. There aren't many scratches on it, and the mileage is good."

"He throws well, and he's a cool customer. I'm impressed."

Stoudt is relatively unmarked in his NFL career.

As he puts it, "I'm 36, but I'm built like I'm 18."

The Miami Dolphins cut Stoudt last year.

"I was very disappointed, because I didn't get a chance to compete. I'm happy here because it's a great organization. It's made me feel younger being around these guys," Stoudt said.

Stoudt has played behind star quarterbacks like Terry Bradshaw at Pittsburgh and Dan Marino at Miami.

"It was good and bad playing behind Terry, because I never got a chance to get into a game," he said. "Of course, it was great to get two championship rings and watch the rivalry between Bradshaw and Roger Staubach. There hasn't been one like it since."

Stoudt has played for Pittsburgh, the Birmingham Stallions of the United States Football League, the St. Louis and Phoenix Cardinals, and Miami, where he never threw a pass.

His career passing totals are 478 of 810 for 6,479 yards and 60 touchdowns. He's had 26 interceptions and a 59 percent completion percentage.

Stoudt said he doesn't worry when he hears Johnson say that he might only keep two quarterbacks. Aikman is the starter unless he gets hurt, and the Cowboys drafted Bill Musgrave of Oregon, who has been impressive. Laufenberg, the nine-year veteran, also figures into the mix but as a 1,000-to-1 shot.

"I've always been a competitor, and I feel great about my chances," Stoudt said. "I think my size (6-4, 220) helps."

Stoudt hit 7 of 10 passes for 43 yards in the Cowboys' first intrasquad scrimmage.

He said he believes Johnson is going to need to keep some physical specimens around now that the NFL has relaxed its in-the-grasp rule on quarterbacks.

"It's a little bit more risky this year with the rule changes," Stoudt said. "We're (quarterbacks) football players again this year because the tacklers are allowed to hit us now. I think more teams will be keeping three quarterbacks."

The youthful ambition of star jockey Chris McCarron was to be a professional hockey player.

VFW president wins awards

Betty Dykes of Plainview, past District 13 president of Texas Veterans of Foreign Wars, was honored as the Outstanding District President in Group 1 at the recent Department of Texas Veterans of Foreign Wars Convention in Dallas.

She was one of only five women in the 30 districts in the state to be awarded this honor. She received a red jacket.

Mrs. Dykes also accepted 153 awards from the 10 auxiliaries in District 13, which is made up of Tulia, Childress, Hereford, Littlefield, Plainview, Canyon, Wellington, Paducah, Clarendon and Dimmitt. NEW YORK (AP) - Former New York Met Rusty Staub says bad economic times forced him to close a restaurant he opened 15 years ago on the Upper East Side.

"I am far from alone in my loss," the former baseball player said after announcing the closing Sunday of Rusty's Restaurant.

His other New York restaurant, Rusty Staub's on 5th, remains open.

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: If a senior citizen walks inside on a carpeted floor, mostly halls, a distance of 14 yards sometimes 150 times and sometimes 200 times at a brisk pace several times a week, is it really beneficial? I feel it is, but wondered if it is just my imagination. I swing my arms as I walk back and forth.

DEAR READER: Of course it is. That would be about a mile to a mile and a half each time. That may not be enough exercise to really give you the strength and stamina you might be able to develop for your overall body, but it is helpful.

Many older people neglect maintaining any exercise program, and that leads to their loss of physical independence as their muscles get weaker and weaker. Even in that state, a gradually developed exercise program can help them regain strength.

Depending on your health and strength, you might either engage in, or build up to, using music to dance by in a small area in your living quarters. That need not be overly vigorous, but used to make your exercise more enjoyable.

Then add some other light exercises. Gradually building up the strength in those arms will help you take care of yourself in years to come.

ATLANTA (AP) - New York Yankees owner George Steinbrenner has been named to the Atlanta Committee for the Olympic Games.

U.S. Olympic Committee President Robert Helmick on Monday announced the appointment to the 31-member board, which is planning the 1996 games in Atlanta.

Steinbrenner, 61, was stripped of direct control of the Yankees last year because of his payments to a gambler. He has been a USOC vice president since 1985. He was suspended from that position in August but reinstated in January.
