

Khomeini Turns Over Army to New Iran President

By The Associated Press

Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini was reported today to have transferred his post as commander in chief of Iran's armed forces to President Abolhassan Bani-Sadr. The move stirred speculation Bani-Sadr might move troops to the U.S. Embassy in Tehran to replace the militants who took some 50 Americans hostage 108 days ago.

The increase in Bani-Sadr's authority was reported by Tehran Radio, which quoted the ailing, 79-year-old ayatollah as saying the appointment was aimed at "consolidating power in Iran at this critical moment." This was an apparent reference to the militants who have rejected the latest plan to ease the hostage crisis.

Bani-Sadr's escalation to the chief of Iran's armed forces gave him the muscle not only to end the embassy crisis, but to put down ethnic unrest in Iran, particularly in northwest Kurdistan, where Kurdish rebels have been battling the central government for more autonomy.

The increase in his authority came as a U.N. commission prepared to fly to Tehran to investigate the regime's charges against Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi, the monarch ousted by Khomeini's Islamic forces 13 months ago. Both sides have agreed to the members of the commission, whose inquiry presumably will speed the release of the Americans.

The Carter administration has been anxious to resolve the crisis, and the Paris-based station Radio Luxembourg reported today that Iranian Foreign Minister Sadegh Ghotbzadeh was believed to have met with Carter's chief of staff, Hamilton Jordan, in Paris on Monday.

Jordan has been reported actively involved in the negotiations to try to free the hostages. However, U.S. Embassy officials in Paris declined to confirm or deny the report. "We have been put under strict instructions not to discuss anything about the negotiations at this delicate stage," one official said.

The Iranian Embassy also would not give any details of Ghotbzadeh's meetings in Paris saying he was on a "private visit" and would return to Tehran tonight. However, French lawyer Edmond Pettiti is one of the members of the U.N. commission, and there was speculation he was among those Ghotbzadeh conferred with.

A well-informed source at the United Nations said members of the commission will arrive in Tehran Wednesday. The source, who declined to be identified, said hopefully freedom would come for the Americans within a week after the five-member commission's arrival.

The source said two of the commission members, Mohammed Bedjaoui, the U.N. ambassador from Algeria, and Andres Aguilera, Venezuela's former ambassador to Washington, were leaving New York aboard a Concorde supersonic jetliner this afternoon to fly to Paris, where they would be met by Pettiti.

The source said the three would fly Wednesday to Geneva, where they would meet with the two other members, Hector Wilfred Jayewardene, one of Sri Lanka's leading lawyers, and Syrian career diplomat Adib Daoudy. The group would board a charter plane to Tehran and arrive there later Wednesday, the source said.

U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim received Iran's acceptance of the commission members by telephone from Tehran Monday. He was still awaiting telexed confirmation from the Iranian capital. When he gets it he is to formally announce the names of commission members and its mandate.

The Washington Post quoted U.N. diplomatic sources as saying Bani-Sadr was believed to have assured Waldheim that Khomeini has approved the commission. The Post also said Khomeini, convalescing in a Tehran hospital from a heart attack, would address his nation later this week, possibly Friday.

The Islamic militants who seized the U.S. Embassy in Tehran Nov. 4 have said repeatedly they would release the Americans only under orders from Khomeini, who has not publicly discussed the hostage crisis for a month.

A spokesman for the militants told the Tehran correspondent of the Japanese newspaper Yomiuri that Khomeini "and the Iranian people are still demanding the extradition of the shah and the return of his assets" before the hostages are released.

He then toughened the position by declaring there was "no need for the U.N. to investigate the crimes of the former shah" because "the United Nations' efforts to break the impasse by appointing a five-member commission to probe Iran's grievances is a U.S. plot being perpetrated through U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim."

Soviets Blast Secretary Visit

By The Associated Press

On the eve of President Carter's deadline for a Soviet withdrawal from Afghanistan, Secretary of State Cyrus Vance sets out for talks with European allies today to discuss further retaliatory measures against the Kremlin. The Soviet news agency Tass blasted the trip, saying it threatened detente.

The foreign ministers of the nine European Economic Community members, meanwhile, were scheduled to meet today in Rome to consider a joint response to the intervention. The Soviets entered Afghanistan in late December and there are now an estimated 90,000 Soviet troops there, according to Western analysts.

Vance's trip, which begins in Bonn and also includes stops in Rome, Paris and London, will sandwich Carter's Wednesday deadline for the Soviet withdrawal. The secretary of state's talks with French officials are considered particularly sensitive, since France last week pulled out of a meeting of Western allies in Bonn, saying the United States was trying to turn it into an anti-Soviet forum.

A Belgian source said the foreign ministers day-long meeting in Rome will examine "the whole question of detente" and seek a tough response to the Soviet move, including a possible boycott of the Moscow Olympics.

The United States and Britain have been urging the Common Market nations to adopt a strong stance against the Kremlin. But diplomatic sources said the EEC ministers were not likely to go far beyond a French-West German statement issued last week, which demanded Soviet withdrawal from Afghanistan.

Carter announced on Jan. 20 that unless the Soviets had left within a month, he would recommend that American athletes boycott the summer games. The International Olympic Committee has refused to do either.

The Soviet news agency Tass said today that Vance's trip is designed to draw the European allies into the American effort to undermine detente.

Tass said the policy of the Carter administration "with regard to the Soviet Union is now backed only by Britain's prime minister, M. Thatcher, whom West European partners regard as the United States' 'Trojan Horse' in Western Europe."

On Monday, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko on Monday called American concern over the Soviet move into Afghanistan "political hysteria."

Beef Voting Begins Today

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—U.S. cattlemen, some saying they want to build a war chest to fight those who would "remove meat from the table of the American consumer," begin voting today on a program to raise an estimated $40 million to promote the virtues of beef.

"We have a delicious, nutritious product to brag about, promote, research and defend," says Bill Amstain, a Clifton, Kan., rancher. "If this program is adopted, the money will be available to do all this and more."

The program initially would permit cattle ranchers to contribute 20 cents per $100 of beef sold, and the U.S. Agriculture Department estimates about $40 million would be raised.

The money would go for beef research, promotion and foreign market development. Advocates say a principle objective is to promote the nutritional virtues of beef and combat "ant-meat propaganda." Since the assessment amounts to only two-tenths of a percent of the cattleman's revenue for beef sales, the direct impact on consumer prices would be minuscule.

However, success in building demand for more red meat could drive up the price of beef even further. Government experts expect prices to rise 10 percent to 12 percent this year.

The Agriculture Department said last week that cattle producers, who trimmed herds severely for four years, have finally begun to rebuild their herds, but it will be several years before beef supplies gain significantly.

Cattlemen in all 50 states voted in a so-called "beferendum" in 1977. Fifty-six percent favored an assessment to fund a promotional program, but that was short of the two-thirds vote required for passage. This year, only a simple majority is needed.

About 287,000 of the nation's nearly two million cattlemen have registered for this week's voting, beginning today and continuing through Friday at Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation offices. Anyone owning one animal in 1979 was eligible to register.

Weather Change

City leaders scooped up snow piled on streets Saturday and deposited it in trucks after Hereford received more than four inches of snowfall. Today saw quite a change, though, as the temperature climbed into the 60s during the morning and was expected to reach 70 by this afternoon. Forecasts called for windy and fair conditions through at least mid-week. [Brand photos by Paul Sims]

Clayton Claims $650,000 Offered

AUSTIN, Texas (AP)—Speaker Bill Clayton's lawyer says federal officials have a tape recording of Clayton being offered as much as $650,000 if he would use his influence in getting an insurance contract.

Austin attorney Charles Burton said Monday night that U.S. Attorney Tony Canales, Houston, told him about the money and tapes of Clayton's conversations.

Canales has refused to talk with reporters about the case.

Burton talked to reporters after the Dallas Times-Herald, in a copyright story, quoted Justice Department sources as saying Clayton was offered $600,000 to distribute to "other sources."

Burton said while he was trying to pin Canales down on what was on the tapes Canales said "something was said about $200,000." He also said he thought it was correct that the man offering Clayton money "had run something by about $600,000 or $650,000. He was really rolling some nigh figures off his tongue."

Canales also told Burton he had not transcribed all the tapes and was not sure what else was on them.

"There's some pretty bad stuff on tape," Burton quoted Canales as telling him.

Burton said if the U.S. attorney did not let Clayton's attorneys listen to the tapes he might ask for a court order forcing Canales to cooperate.

The Times-Herald said Clayton acknowledged the $600,000 figure was mentioned during his Nov. 8 meeting with a Houston labor leader and an FBI agent posing as an insurance company representative.

The speaker said the two men told him, "We can be of help," and suggested they could raise the money should Clayton run for governor.

Clayton, 51, has admitted accepting $5,000 during that

November meeting, but said it was offered as a campaign contribution, not a bribe. Clayton said the packet of money remained in his safe until last week, when he turned it over to federal authorities.

He is scheduled to appear next month before a Houston federal grand jury investigating allegations involving Clayton, union representatives and Houston politicians in an insurance bribery allegation.

FBI agents, posing as representatives of Prudential

Insurance Co., reportedly offered bribes to several political and labor union leaders to entice them to change employee insurance programs.

Clayton allegedly was asked to provide inside information to

Damage in Millions As Flooding Continues

By The Associated Press

Relentless rain drenched Southern California for a seventh straight day, bringing more mudslides and high water that forced thousands of persons from their homes and drove damage estimates into the millions of dollars. Flooding continued in Utah and Arizona.

As the rain continued, tourists were urged to avoid the desert Palm Springs area, where 1,000 persons were advised to leave their homes.

Amtrak rail travel was interrupted between Los Angeles and San Diego because a bridge had been weakened by the storms.

By late Monday, at least 24 persons had died because of the weather, including 18 in California, three in Arizona and three American tourists in Tijuana, Mexico, authorities said. With a fifth storm predicted for waterlogged California today and a sixth expected late tonight or early Wednesday, thousands of persons were evacuated from areas ravaged by floodwaters and cascading mudslides.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. was to tour the rain-devastated areas today and sign disaster proclamations for Los Angeles, Orange and Riverside counties. Further requests for government assistance were expected from Ventura, Santa Barbara and San Luis Obispo counties.

A state of emergency declared by Los Angeles Mayor Tom Bradley over the weekend was still in effect. Police remained on 12-hour shifts after all leaves were canceled.

By early today, 2.49 inches of rain had fallen on the Los Angeles Civic Center from the latest storm, bringing the season total to 19.40 inches—9.9 inches above normal for this time of year.

While the latest storm was expected to cross the coast south of the earlier storms, the National Weather Service still advised Southern Californians to expect increasingly heavy rain and issued a flash flood forecast. The city also will spend $94,480

Gasohol—Theme of AAM Talks

WASHINGTON (AP)—The American Agriculture Movement planned to officially open its first national convention here today, with gasohol a major theme.

But that does not mean the AAM is overlooking other basic issues, namely Carter administration farm policies the organization's leaders have fiercely criticized in earlier Washington appearances.

A year ago, for example, long lines of tractors and thousands of angry farmers tried in vain to convince the administration to boost federal prices supports and change its programs in other ways to help them.

Last week Marvin Meek, national AAM chairman, said this year's visit would be more orderly.

Meek, of Plainview, Texas, said that just because farmers plan to refrain from disruptive demonstrations this year does not mean they are any more satisfied "by the administration's farm policy."

"We'll have farmers up here through the month of February, a few of them, to work on the Hill—probably through March, too," Meek said.

Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland, who refused to budge on making major changes in farm programs a year ago, was asked last week by reporters on the eve of AAM's arrival if he was prepared for the farmers' campaign this time.

"Well, I'm as ready as I'll ever be," Bergland said. "They've been quoted as saying they're going to leave us (the Agriculture Department) alone because I'm a hopeless case."

But AAM might take some interest in Bergland's change of mind about gasohol, the blend of 10 percent alcohol and 90 percent gasoline advocated by the farmers who want grain to be the main feedstock.

A year ago Bergland was adamantly opposed to massive use of corn — the most abundant U.S. grain — for gasohol, mainly because he believed the benefits did not outweigh the costs.

Bergland has shifted his thinking significantly for two basic reasons: crude oil prices have continued to rise sharply, forcing up costs of gasoline and other energy sources. And new technologies have come along so that grain-based alcohol for gasohol is much more economically realistic.

But Bergland still has reservations about the small units that many individual farmers have built themselves or those who would like federal aid to build such plants.

Hereford city commissioners are expected to increase the tax rate by 20 cents and approve a $2,721,480 budget on March 17, they announced during a public hearing Monday night.

Only one citizen attended the public budget hearing, which, for the first time since the city charter was established in 1952, was not followed by commission action on the budget.

The Tax Relief Amendment approved by Texas voters in 1978 requires notices of intent to be published in the newspaper when taxes are to be raised more than three percent.

The new law, according to City Attorney Ernest Langley, also requires a public hearing on the proposed tax increase. That hearing is set for March 3, and the budget and new tax rate will be approved two weeks later.

The proposed 1980-81 budget includes an increase in the tax rate from $1.10 to $1.30. The increase—the first in the city rate since 1961—will generate an additional $164,000 in operating revenue, if commissioners approve it.

Total expenditures in the new budget will be $2,721,480. Of that total, major expenditures will be for salaries (1.1 million) energy ($423,385) and insurance ($159,676).

Salaries for most city employees will increase approximately 10 percent in the new fiscal year, which begins May 1. City Manager Dudley Bayne will receive the smallest pay hike—about 4 percent.

Expenditures in individual department budgets in 1980-81 will be as follows: administrative $186,565; fire, $90,018; health, $242,807; park, $294,750; police, $607,779; street, $354,418; water and sewer, $836,227; and airport, $11,596.

Those projected department expenditures total $2,624,160. The city also will spend $94,480

Baptists Enjoy 'Victory'

First Baptist Church of Hereford observed "Victory Sunday" at the two morning worship services here Sunday, highlighted by the announcement that $971,619 had been subscribed for the "Partners in Progress" building program.

Raymond White, chairman of the special building fund drive, announced the total, which went over the $750,000 goal by a substantial margin.

The church is completely remodeling the auditorium and several other rooms, along with new electrical and heating and cooling equipment. In the campaign, members committed contributions over a three-year period.

The new auditorium is scheduled to be completed in May. The church is now holding two services on Sunday morning in Fellowship Hall.

Kennedy Gaining, According to Camps

GORHAM, N.H. (AP) — With a week to go to the Democratic presidential primary election in New Hampshire, the White House and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy agree on two points — President Carter is ahead, but Kennedy is gaining.

Beyond that, there is little agreement as both sides maneuver in an apparent effort to lower public expectations in hopes of avoiding an embarrassment when the votes are counted.

"We just left New Hampshire and things are coming along," Kennedy said Monday night during a brief foray into his home state. The Massachusetts senator returned late to New Hampshire, where he has more campaigning scheduled today.

"But we've still got a long way to go. We don't want to get overconfident," said Kennedy, who frequently tells his audience that the polls show him lagging behind the president.

Meanwhile, back at the White House, presidential press secretary Jody Powell was giving reporters a slightly different interpretation of the pre-primary picture.

"We probably enjoy a rather narrow margin," he said.

Palestinian Heads Reject U.S. Proposal.

By The Associated Press
Donald McHenry, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, met in Jerusalem today with three moderate Palestinian leaders, but apparently did not convince them to support a U.S.-backed plan for Palestinian self-rule in territories occupied by Israel.

Other moderate Palestinians boycotted the meeting, Israeli State Radio said.

On Monday, McHenry met with Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin and reportedly sounded him out on possible negotiations with Palestinian leaders.

During today's meeting, Bethlehem Mayor Elias Freij said the Palestinians stressed their opposition to the autonomy plan being negotiated by Israel, Egypt and the United States and firmly rejected Jewish settlements in occupied territories.

He also said he told McHenry any negotiations on Palestinian self-rule must include the Palestine Liberation Organization. Israel has steadfastly refused any diplomatic contacts with the PLO.

Mother Sought In Babies' Shootings

PONTE VEDRA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Police were searching for the mother of two young boys whose pajama-clad bodies were found lying face down on a desolate stretch of beach along the Atlantic Ocean.

The youngsters, ages 3 and 5 months, identified as sons of a prominent Jacksonville businessman, had been shot to death late Monday, police said.

"It makes you sick," said St. Johns County Sheriff Capt. R.M. Williams. "Anybody who would do something like this has got to be sick."

Investigators said they were searching for the mother, identified as 32-year-old Nancy Bauer Jackson, who had left a note at the family home in Jacksonville that led authorities to the bodies.

"She left a note. That's how they knew how to look for the bodies. She told them where they were going to be," said

Elizabeth Butler, a communications supervisor with the Duval County Sheriff's Department.

Kelly May Fight Documents Subpoena

ST. PETERSBURG Fla. (AP) — U.S. Rep. Richard Kelly wants to testify before a grand jury in a federal bribery probe but may fight a subpoena for documents in the case, his lawyer says.

Anthony S. Battaglia, Kelly's chief defense lawyer, told the St. Petersburg Times he would attempt today to arrange an appearance for the Central Florida Republican before a grand jury to be empaneled in Washington on Friday.

Meanwhile, the New York Times reported today that the FBI was trying to determine whether an informant in the case used inside information from the so-called Abscam investigation to work private swindles for himself.

Several businessmen have accused the informant, who they identified as Joseph B. Meltzer, of swindling them out of at least $150,000 by portraying himself as the representative of wealthy Arab sheik, Kambir Abdul Rahman, who was willing to lend them money.

"At the time of Meltzer's alleged West Coast activities, he had no association with the FBI," said Homer Boynton, executive assistant director of the FBI in Washington.

Bayne reported to the commission that 9.27 acres of land were annexed by the city in 1979, bringing the city's total acreage to 3,623 acres.

Commissioners voted to annex a small strip of property south of the city Monday night, but Bayne said today that the land cannot legally be annexed until the next commission meeting. He said that a petition filed by the landowner had not been on file with the city for the required 20 days.

The commission appointed

Robbie Seed as judge and Grace Covington as alternate judge for the April 5 city election.

There actually will be two separate elections held—one for two commission places and another on a city bond issue for water and sewer expansion.

Commissioners accepted a $19,555 bid from R.W. Taylor Construction Co. of Canyon for water and sewer lines in the alley between Fir and Greenwood from La Plata to Moreman.

The bid was the second-lowest submitted by four companies.

The commission, acting on the recommendation of Bayne, rejected the lowest bid, which was submitted by Reed Backhoe & Ditching of Canyon.

"He did some work for us three years ago, and it was very sloppy," Bayne said.

The commission authorized bids for seal coating on city streets and the golf course parking lot. Bids will be opened in March, and work will begin in June or July, according to Bayne.

Commissioners approved the purchase of unleaded gasoline for 97.9 cents a gallon from Womble Oil Co. of Hereford. The gasoline—11,000 gallons worth—will be used to fuel police department vehicles for approximately 4½ months.

In other business, the commission: —appointed Joe Reinauer to the Planning and Zoning Commission to replace Jerry Payne, who resigned.

—authorized bidding from persons interested in leasing 622 acres of land for grazing west of the city. The land was recently purchased for future city water use.

Rain

watch through today in mountain, desert and coastal areas.

In Gache County in northern Utah, Flood Control Director Ned Gines said flood damage from Monday's rain would probably total about $2 million.

In Phoenix, Ariz., officials of the Salt River Project, which manages the flow of water in the Salt River and its lakes, said approaching storms are not as severe as anticipated and flooding would not be as bad as expected.

Gov. Bruce Babbitt asked President Carter on Monday night to declare a large portion of central Arizona a disaster area because of flooding Friday and Saturday.

Southern California property damage, officially unestimated in many areas, was in the tens of millions of dollars. In Los Angeles County alone, Supervisor Baxter Ward estimated structural and personal property losses were in excess of $20 million.

Sixty miles northwest of Los Angeles at Point Mugu Naval Air Station, the Navy said 3,000 persons were evacuated after a second wave of floodwaters hit the low-lying missile test center late Sunday and continued through Monday. Another 1,490 persons had either been evacuated or advised to leave their homes throughout Southern California by late Monday.

help obtain an $81 million state employee health insurance plan.

The newspaper quoted sources in California, seat of the four-state undercover operation, nicknamed "Bribe," as saying federal investigators believe evidence gathered during their investigation of Clayton is "the most solid piece of them all." The sources said agents secretly recorded the meeting at which the money changed hands, the Times-Herald said.

Clayton told the newspaper he did nothing wrong, and said he constantly receives offers of contributions.

"We hear crap like that all the time," he said. "You just pass it from your mind because most of them are loony. It happens all the time."

Clayton aide Rusty Kelley testified before the Houston grand jury for four hours Friday, recounting the Nov. 8 meeting involving Clayton, labor official L.G. Moore of Houston and undercover FBI agent Joseph Hauser.

"I think I'm going to come out all right," Clayton told the newspaper, "because I didn't do anything wrong."

Clayton repeated his intention to seek an unprecedented fourth term as house speaker, insisting he will be cleared when "the facts are in."

Illegal Kids Being Taught

HOUSTON (AP) — The endless flow of illegal aliens across the Mexico-Texas border; the thousands of children who come with them, and a state law affecting their education all will be factors in a federal court trial opening in Houston Tuesday.

Lawsuits filed against 17 school districts have challenged the constitutionality of a 1975 law that limits state financial aid to "all children who are citizens of the United States or legally admitted."

U.S. District Judge Woodrow Seals said the trial will focus on the state law and delay legal action against the individual school districts.

If the law is declared unconstitutional, the 17 cases will be heard one at a time. If it is unconstitutional, the matter is settled for all involved.

Some Texas school districts, including populous Houston, admit aliens who pay $162 a month tuition.

Many other districts exclude aliens entirely.

A school district can admit the children of illegal aliens, but they will receive no state financial aid for these pupils.

Susan Dasher, an assistant state attorney general, said recently a study showed 111,284 illegal aliens of school age living in Texas.

She said the state will argue that "the quality of education will be diminished if illegal aliens are admitted tuition-free."

The study, conducted by a Dallas consulting firm, estimated 21,592 illegal alien children now living in Harris County (Houston), 15,745 in Dallas County, 15,860 in seven counties along the Rio Grande border with Mexico, 16,055 in Bexar County (San Antonio) and 9,657 in El Paso County.

Peter Williamson, an attorney representing some Hispanic youths in Houston, said the state estimate is way out line and no more than 5,000 illegal alien children live in Harris County.

To Williams, the issue is a human one.

"As long as they are here, they should be in school," he said.

The Rev. Thomas Sheehy, pastor of Our Lady of Guadalupe Church of Houston, said the tuition requirement is preventing several hundred undocumented children in his neighborhood from attending school.

"So many children are not going to school and they are talented, they have abilities, and they are just hanging around. If they are not educated, it will cost more to support them when they grow up than it will to send them to school."

"The children are not going to go back to Mexico. They are here to stay," he said.

But Tarrant Fendley, president of the Houston Independent School District board, said if the state statute is overturned, "we will be in one heck of a bind."

The major problem, he said, is a booming Hispanic population and the critical shortage of bilingual teachers.

Efforts are being made in some Texas cities to provide an alternate education for the illegal alien children, a vast majority of whom are Hispanic.

In Houston, three schools financed by churches and community contributions are working with the children of illegal aliens.

In nearby Baytown, Peggy Pollak, a psychotherapist, is conducting a school in a Methodist Church. It is financed by the $32-a-month tuition.

Mrs. Pollak said she is aware of the arguments against her school — that she is aiding people who are illegally in the country.

"But these children were sitting at home and not allowed in school because of what their parents had done, not what they did. The problem is not with the children or the school. It's with the immigration laws and whether they are being enforced or should be changed," she said.

Four of the children attending the school are the sons of Mrs. Elvia Mendoza, who filed the lawsuit against the Baytown district.

Other school districts involved are:

Houston, Pasadena, Goose Creek, Spring Creek, Dallas, Midland, Odessa, Port Arthur, Pine Tree, Longview, Chappell Hill, Comco-Pickton and Sulphur Springs. In some districts, more than one lawsuit has been filed, thus bringing the total to 17.

Chicago Firefighters Continue To Strike

CHICAGO (AP) — Negotiations remained frozen and unlikely to thaw as a strike by Chicago firefighters moved into a sixth day, with Mayor Jane Byrne refusing to bargain and saying some defiant firefighters had been arrested.

Meanwhile, the first fire death since the strike began last Thursday was reported.

"I will never again sit down with (Chicago Fire Fighters Union president Frank) Muscare, nor his men. Not again — not ever," the mayor said Monday in a radio interview. "I will never subject anybody in the mayor's office or the staff or the corporation counsel or the commissioner of fire" to negotiations with the union.

Mrs. Byrne said the city would go to court today to have picketing strikers removed from in front of fire stations. Circuit Judge John Hechinger had issued an order Sunday enjoining picketing.

The mayor also said 250 recruits already were in undermanned fire stations and that another 400 were being processed and would undergo a two-week crash training program.

Earlier Monday, she told the newest applicants that they were not being hired only for 90 days but to fill permanent vacancies. Mrs. Byrne had threatened to fire any firefighters who struck.

The mayor said there were three arrests of striking firefighters Monday, including one for threatening to set a fuel truck afire.

Not all the arrests could be confirmed. However, police said one firefighter was charged with resisting arrest and battery when he tried to block a fire station on the city's northwest side.

The mayor also said some non-striking paramedics had been beaten up, and that strikers had heckled and threatened many other non-striking firefighters and their families and caused extensive vandalism.

A 37-year-old mother of four, Diane Williams, died in her basement apartment as fire swept through the frame building on the South Side, police said. Her children and other residents escaped and called the Fire Department. A fully manned fire truck arrived a short time later, but Mrs. Williams perished.

"It wouldn't have been any different if there had been no strike, said one non-striking fireman at the scene.

Officers of the Chicago Federation of Labor announced Monday that the federation is urging its members to observe the picket lines and not participate in any firefighting work.

William Lee, federation president, said the group of labor leaders will appoint a committee in an effort to bring "the parties concerned back to the bargaining table."

Woman Arrested In Main Incident

Police arrested a 22-year-old woman Monday night after she reportedly ran her vehicle into three cars in front of the Star Theatre in the 300 block of N. Main.

According to reports, the woman was charged with driving while intoxicated, disorderly conduct and resisting arrest.

She reportedly struck a car, knocking it onto the sidewalk. Police said she then put her car in reverse and ran into a Cadillac.

A woman in the 800 block of Brevard told police that some junior high school-age boys threw mud at her house while her daughter was alone inside, then one of the youths entered the residence through a window.

Her daughter, according to police, locked herself in the bathroom, and the boy left the residence. Police are still investigating the incident.

Someone knocked out a window at Firestone, W. Highway 60, Sunday night or early Monday morning.

Alfrenso Perez, of Lubbock, reported that all four tires on his car were slashed while it was parked in the 200 block of N. Main early this morning.

Alfrenso Perez, of Lubbock, reported that all four tires on his car were slashed while it was parked in the 200 block of N. Main early this morning.

Eddie O'Rand, 803 Brevard, told police that someone slashed a tire on a Mead's Bakery truck while it was parked in front of his residence.

Officers investigated a domestic fight in the 100 block of Ave. K Monday and issued eight traffic citations.

Heart Volunteers Fighting Deaths

Nearly one million Americans died last year from heart disease and stroke. And 200,000 of them died before retirement age, says Jimmy Rowton, business chairman of this year's Heart Association fund raising campaign.

"This number of deaths is especially significant because it affects men and women between the ages of 35 and 64—the age bracket of industry's most productive work force," Rowton said. The American Heart Association wants to take heart attack and stroke out of the workplace—from offices and retail stores to factories and feedyards.

February has been proclaimed American Heart Month and the Hereford area volunteers join the nationwide fund-raising effort. Area businesses will be asked to make a contribution in support of continuing research, public education and community service programs of the Deaf Smith County Heart Association. These contributions will help in the mission of reducing

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Fire department investigators were attempting today to determine the cause of a fire that caused an estimated $100,000 damage to a Fort Worth apartment complex late Sunday.

The fire was at the Castlewood Apartments on the east side of Fort Worth.

Firemen said it is believed that children playing with matches may have started the fire. The damage estimate included $80,000 to the building and $20,000 to personal property inside.

WACO, Texas (AP) — Funeral services are to be held Wednesday for W.S. (Bill) Foster, founder of the Waco Citizen, who died Sunday at the U.S. Veteran's Administration Hospital at Temple. He was 83.

Foster also was a newspaper columnist, an attorney and former state representative.

After serving in the U.S. Navy in World War I, Foster graduated from Baylor in 1921 where he played football and was editor of the Baylor Lariat newspaper.

His newspaper column, "Observations," was first carried in the Brady Herald and later in the Waco Daily American and then the Waco Citizen.

He also worked on newspapers in Victoria, Stamford, DeLeon, Odessa and Rogers before serving two years as state representative from McLennan County in 1945-46.

Survivors include his wife, Vera A. Foster; two sons, Bill C. Foster and Brady M. Foster, and two daughters, Mrs. Beverly Hannon and Mrs. Barbara Sutter.

'Woman of Year' Selected by Club

Messenger Extension Home-makes Club selected their "Woman of the Year" nominee during their monthly meeting held in the club house with hostess Pam Northcutt.

Chosen as "Woman of the Year" nominee was Shari Bradley.

The meeting was called to order by club president Wanda Page, and Mrs. N.A. Brown read the council report.

During business club members decided to host a shower for Tom Monroe Timberlake whose home burnt recently. This was held today.

Plans were made for a political rally to be held in late April and the club will be making a quilt for a drawing.

A program on "Becoming a Better Leader" was given by Pam Northcutt. The next scheduled meeting will be March 13 in the club house.

Ten members were present.

Lone Star Studies Life of Missionary

The life of missionary Lillian Thrasher was discussed by Mrs. Arthur Dettmann last week when she presented a book review for members of Lone Star Study Club, who met in the home of Mrs. C.B. Womble.

"The Lady on the Donkey" by Beth Prim Howell was the selection reviewed by Mrs. Dettmann, who told the true-life story of Lillian Thrasher, who ministered to the people of Egypt for most of her life. Miss Thrasher was responsible for establishing an orphanage, built in 1950 to house 1,275 children. In the next eight years, the campus grew to 13 buildings. Miss Thrasher has made her home in Egypt since answering God's calling in 1911. It is not known if she is still alive according to Mrs. Dettmann.

Mrs. John N. Jacobsen, club president, called the meeting to order with members reciting the collect in unison. It was announced that the next meeting of Lone Star will be March 11 in Mrs. Jacobsen's home with Mrs. John Stevenson to act as co-hostess. The program will be a musical tribute to Easter.

Refreshments were served from a Valentine motif by Mrs. Womble and her cohostess, Mrs. W.H. Goetsch. Others present were Miss Mildred Elliott, Miss Hilda Havens and Mmes. Jim Bookout, L.N. Cox, Don R. Davidson, Dettmann, V.E. Dodson, J.J. Durham, H.E. Henslee, Jacobson, Frank H. Morgan, F.O. Naylor, John Stevenson, Dale Tinnin, J.C. Williams, S.S. Williams, Jim Higgins and Robert Thompson.

Rehearsals Begin For School Musical

Rehearsals have begun and will continue for the next two weeks for the All-School Musical "Meet Me At The Fair." The musical is scheduled to be performed Feb. 28-29 at 8 p.m. in the HHS auditorium. The public is invited to attend. The two-part musical involves a senior class that is trying to go to the World's Fair in St. Louis, in 1904.

Cast members include Joycelyn Aven, Beth Owen, Deanna Pool, Debbie McCarley, Joe Betzen, Bruce Wright, Mike Hale, Robert Lovelace, Gary Jones, and Sylvia Soliz.

Also performing will be Tonya Savage, Lana Porter, Carla

Greenway, Tracy McCathern, Tammy McCathern, Marta Jorde, Shirle Greenway, Mandy Goodfellow, Tim Ruland, Karen Jones, and Kerry Hagemeier.

Other members of the cast are Edward Crandal, Karen Drake, Cindy Cox, Doug Strange, Richard Spears, and Bruce Edwards.

Tickets are on sell for $2 and can be purchased from any cast member.

This year's sponsors are Bill Devers, director; and John Claypool.

Valentine's Dinner Served to Couples

A variety of Mexican dishes were served buffet-style Thursday evening to members of La Madre Mia Study Club and their husbands during a Valentine party in the community room of Hereford State Bank.

Hearts and flowers decorated the room for the party, which also depicted a Las Vegas theme with special entertainment being brought for the couples. A dance number was performed by the high school cheerleaders, including Janae Pagett, Mary Griego, Laura Martin, China Gonzales, Diane Warden and Alice Vargas. Also performing were Laura Martin and Sylvia Gamez, who sang a duet with Woody Glass offering accompaniment on the guitar.

Hostesses for the evening were Mmes. Gerald Martin, Joe

Henry, Wayne Sims, Roger Williams and Don Tardy. These women are members of the club's social committee.

Mrs. John David Bryant, vice president, conducted a brief, routine business meeting, which was followed by games of "Bunko."

Couples in attendance were Messrs. and Mmes. Lynton Allred, Waldo Baxter, Herschel Black, John David Bryant, James Gentry, Dean Herring, Henry, Wayne Lady, Don Lane, Gerald Martin, G.C. Merritt, Bobby Owen, Stanley Simmons, Craig Smith, W.E. Sparks, Tardy, Don Taylor, Williams and Mrs. Ken Rogers and Mrs. Butch White.

La Madre Mia's next meeting will be Feb. 28 in the Sparks home.

Miss Cherry Feted At Bridal Shower

Miss Kelly Cherry, bride-elect of Greg Albracht, was the guest of honor Saturday evening for a pre-nuptial shower at the E.B. Black Historical House.

The marriage is to be solemnized during an afternoon wedding March 1 at Saint Anthony's Catholic Church.

Receiving guests with Miss Cherry were Mrs. Jim Cherry, mother of the honoree; Mrs. Joe McDade, grandmother of the honoree; Mrs. Duane Albracht, her fiance's mother; and Mrs. Matt Jesko, fiance's grandmother.

Janis Albracht, sister of the future bridegroom, registered the names of guests. During the shower, the honoree opened gifts, which were displayed for approximately sixty guests who attended.

Refreshments were served by Lori and Christie Albracht.

sisters of the future bridegroom, from a table appointed with silver and crystal atop a light blue tablecloth. The bride-elect's chosen colors were used in the centerpiece of fresh daisies and blue carnations. Tea cakes and blue mints were served with coffee and punch.

The shower was given by Mmes. Ralph Detten, Gilbert Yosten, Carl Last, Allan Brockman, Morris Hacker, Al

At Wits End

By ERMA BOMBECK

Women have known for years that they are the financial giants of this country.

They regulate the economy, control the purchasing power, and establish guidelines for spending.

You want to know how we know it? Because someone told us.

If I seem underwhelmed about the distinction, it's because I just broke my own record for cashing the smallest check ever recorded in the Guinness Book of Records...seven cents.

This marvel occurred at one of those self-service gas stations. In trying to force a leaded nozzle into an unleaded gas tank, I inadvertently spilled a little gasoline on my shoe. Realizing my error, I quickly changed to the unleaded nozzle and got exactly what I had cash for...$6.32. When I went to pay the girl behind the glass she said, "You owe seven cents on pump No. 34."

I said, "I didn't put that gas in my car."

She looked up tiredly and asked, "What did you do with it?"

"I poured it on my foot."

"Why would you do that?"

"I meant to pour the unleaded."

"On your foot?"

"In the car."

"That'll be seven cents."

I whipped out my charge card.

"You want to charge seven cents?"

"Of course not," I snapped. "I also want to get a windshield wiper, a whoopee cushion for the front seat, and a traffic light dog that lights up for my rear view window when I hit the brakes."

"We only sell gas. Besides, we don't take credit cards."

"That'll be seven cents cash."

"I have tons of money at home," I said.

She looked at me and I realized I was not exactly dressed for success. Then I'll write you a check," I said.

Seconds later, I ripped it out of the checkbook, gave it to her (with two I.D.s) and she said, "Aren't you going to record it?"

My cheeks burned with humiliation as I jotted it down and said, "Did you know that women control 85 percent of the nation's wealth and that if we ever quit buying, this nation would come to its knees by noon?"

She snapped her gum. "It must be lonely at the top."

SURPRISE-STUFFED MUSHROOMS

- 1 pound large-sized mushrooms (15 to 19)
- 1 can (4-1/2 oz.) deviled ham
- 3/4 cup fresh bread crumbs
- 4 tablespoons finely chopped walnuts, divided
- 1 tablespoon dry sherry
- 1-1/2 teaspoons prepared horseradish

Preheat oven to 400 F. Rinse and pat dry mushrooms; remove stems (use in soups, stews, etc.). In a small bowl combine ham, bread crumbs, 2 tablespoons of the walnuts, sherry and horseradish; set aside. Place mushroom caps cup side down on a lightly greased baking sheet. Bake, uncovered, until mushrooms are partially cooked, about 5 minutes. Remove from oven; invert and fill with reserved ham-mixture. Top with remaining 2 tablespoons walnuts. Bake, uncovered, until mushrooms are tender and filling is hot, about 5 minutes. Serve as an appetizer, hors d'oeuvre or with a salad as a luncheon dish. The mushrooms can be partially baked and stuffed early in the day, refrigerated, and baked until hot just before serving. Yield: 15 to 19 mushroom caps.

Winning Was Easy As Pie
CARTHAGE, Mo. (AP) — Machine shop operator Dan Simmons gobbled down a cherry pie in 70 seconds to win the Carthage Washington's Birthday Pie-Eating Contest.

Earlier, Simmons finished off a pie in 105 seconds during the first round of the contest, but he blamed his poor time on a cherry pit that got in the way. The second pie "seemed to fall down the right way," Simmons said Monday.

"Oh, those pies were good," he said of the 20-ounce, 10-inch pies, adding that the only problem was the cherry juice in his beard.

Another Visit From The Stork At The Storks

BYRON, Minn. (AP) — The stork visited the Storks of Byron — again.

It was the eighth Stork born to the Storks. The eldest of the Stork children is 22. Until Saturday's arrival, the youngest was 8.

A Pig-Out For Porkers

JACKSONVILLE, N.C. (AP) — Mary Lynne Rave thinks so much of the lowly porker that she and her sister have started the Association for the Advancement of National Pig Day.

"Pigs aren't really fat," opines Mrs. Rave. "They're Rubenesque."

The purpose of National Pig Day, March 1, is "to accord to the pig its rightful, though generally unrecognized, place as one of man's most intellectual and domesticated animals."

This year's celebration will be held in Lubbock, Texas, home of Mrs. Rave's sister, Ellen Stanley. The first celebration was held in 1972.

At pig parties, pink pig punch is served, as are other pork delicacies. Pink ribbon pigtails are tied around trees in the pigs' honor.

Mrs. Rave says other commitments may keep her from attending the Lubbock celebration. But never fear: "If we don't go, I'll bake pig cupcakes and pig cookies. We'll both go off our diets and pig out," she said.

Mooching Children

Thoughtfully locate a window greenhouse to give both your home and your plants a lift.

Avoid placing the unit where intense heat and glare will result in an uncomfortable room and "over-cooked" plants, says Dr. Jane Berry, a housing and home furnishings specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Press out any fabric creases or folds before laying out a pattern.

Some folds in tubular knits and permanent-press fabrics are permanent, so avoid them, says Becky Saunders, clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

To prepare children in a general way to accept death, help them understand the naturalness of death and its simplicity, advises Dorothy Taylor, family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

DEAR ANN: For quite some time I have been living with a man I've been seeing for 10 years. He has six grown children ranging from 16 to 28 years of age.

These kids are shameless freeloaders. Of course, he is blind to it and says his children are welcome to move in and out whenever they feel like it. Right now we have three with us, ages 21, 23 and 28. They have all returned to the nest because it's easier to sponge off Dad than to make it on their own.

These kids are putting a serious crimp in our relationship. We get along fine when it comes to everything but the moochers. How much does a parent owe his children? And for how long? When is it okay for a father to say, "Enough is enough," and move into a one-bedroom apartment? Please tell me so I can tell him. —Burned-Out On Kids

DEAR BURNED: Or I should have said, "Dear Out," because that's where you will be if "Dad" is forced to make a choice between you and the children.

For openers, you have no vote because you aren't the man's wife—you're a "live-in friend" (the new term is "the significant other"). Moreover, you don't say whether the moochers have a mother. This is an important factor.

In normal situations I say parents owe their children an education (if they can afford it). Then the kids should be on their own. Obviously, this situation is not normal, and I have a hunch the one who is going to come out on the short end of the stick is you, Babe.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You were a little hard on the dancer who married a tin ear. It's more painful than you know to sit out the great numbers when dancing is your favorite way of expressing yourself. My tin ear has a few other failings. He can't swim (I love it) or ski (great fun) or sing (which gives me much pleasure). What's more, he wants no part of housework or helping with the children. After I got myself a good job it turned out that he doesn't like to work, either.

Do you see a marriage going down the drain? I do. Sign me—Regrets In Milwaukee

DEAR REGRETS: So what did you two enjoy doing together before you married? Don't tell me. Let me guess. Since you didn't ask for advice, I won't offer any. Better luck next time. DEAR ANN LANDERS: You know that before surgery the patient is always asked, "Do you have dentures, bridges or partial plates?" What happens if he or she doesn't tell the truth?

I wonder if doctors realize how many of us ignore lumps, wait for hernias to subside and put off female repair work because we don't want our families to see us looking like 90 before our time.

I know it's ridiculous but I need surgery—and my foolish pride is keeping me from having it. —Pride Goeth Before A Fall

DEAR PRIDE: Discuss this problem with your doctors at once. He will give you several alternatives that will protect your vanity. DO NOT—repeat NOT—try to conceal dentures or partial plates before surgery. You could choke on them while under the anesthetic.

Ann Landers discusses teenage drinking—its myths, its realities. Learn the facts by reading "Booze and You—For Teen-Agers Only," by Ann Landers. Send 50 cents and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

4-H Firsthand

4-H Aquatic Science Project Offers Fishing, Exploring

By AGNES TAYLOR
Assistant County Extension Agent

Through the 4-H Aquatic Science project, new opportunities and exciting challenges await boys and girls interested in fishing and exploring Texas' abundant waterways.

Specialists and county agents of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service along with 4-H volunteers have explored and tested ways of involving 4-H members in learning experiences through this project. The Extension Service is the parent organization of 4-H. Five distinct areas of the project that should interest young people are fish, culture, bait production, sport fishing, fisheries biology and marine fisheries biology.

The fish culture segment features learning experiences related to basic requirements of caring for and rearing both indoors and in ponds. 4-H members will also learn about methods of marketing fish and about fish husbandry as a career option.

Bait production teaches members how to raise worms and crickets for personal use as well as for profit. 4-H'ers also learn how to make and use artificial baits.

Sport fishing involve members in actually learning how to catch fish. Various types of fishing gear and methods are studied, including how to locate and lure fish. Members also learn about fishing laws and how to promote balance in fish populations.

Both fisheries biology and marine fisheries biology involve members in learning about ecological systems and characteristics, species identification, and collection methods and management techniques applied to both fresh water and salt water fish culture.

Agnes Taylor invites boys and girls 9 to 19 years of age to join 4-H and get in on the action that Aquatic Science projects have to offer. Adults with skills or interest are also invited to participate as volunteer leaders. More information on the project is available at the county Extension office.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socio-economic levels, race, color, sex, religion or national origin.

Costa Rica's Kinch-A One Man Team

Skis His Way To Olympics Despite Trouble

By PAT LEISNER
Associated Press Writer
LAKE PLACID, N.Y. (AP) — Alpine racer Arturo Kinch is a one-man team who sold his trumpet, borrowed baggy ski clothes and gained 20 pounds to compete in the Winter Olympics.

Kinch, 23, is from the sunny climes of Costa Rica, where the mercury hovers near 80 degrees year-round and it never snows. He went to college in Denver and took his first downhill lesson three years ago. He showed a flair for the sport and was encouraged to stick with it. He did — all the way to the 1980 Winter Games.

When he got to this mountain village, however, the frustrations didn't end for the lone competitor from San Jose who lacked a staff and a coach in his first international race. But Kinch quickly found compassionate friends. The Austrians waxed his skis. The Americans gave him course tips. The Russians treated him for a head gash after a spill. And the Koreans lugged warm clothes to the finish line for him. Undaunted by the setbacks, Kinch kept practicing. It was the first time Costa Rica was competing and he was entered in three events. He finished next-to-last among a 48-man field in the men's downhill. Then Monday, his leg taped from an injury suffered during practice runs, he tipped a gate in the giant slalom and fell into a snowbank. He didn't finish.

He'll take to the slopes again Friday in the slalom. Admittedly his hopes for a respectable showing are fast evaporating. But he hasn't given up — not after the long struggle just getting to the starting gate. Kinch has always been athletically inclined, since his soccer-playing pre-school days on the streets of Costa Rica. He's among 11 children of Protestant missionary parents who went to the tiny tobacco exporting country of 1 million people 31 years ago.

Kinch left home for Rockmont College in Denver, where three years ago he tried on a pair of skis for the first time. Coach Neil Wolkodoff liked the way Kinch handled himself and it wasn't long before he was recruited for the college team. He said: "Since I was doing so well after nearly two years, I started to think about racing for my country." Funds were short, so his parents sold his trumpet and his older brother's trombone to pay his airfare home so he could get the project started. That was 18 months ago.

To bring Costa Rica into the world of international sports competition, the country had to have a ski association. Kinch formed one. Next, the association had to have members. His parents and friends combed the countryside until they came up with 38 inductees. It wasn't until December that Costa Rica was approved into the International Ski Federation. Kinch thought he was on his way, but there were more stumbling blocks.

"I was only 125 pounds," he said. "I needed weight." So he gained 20 pounds. Then he lost practice time with a shin splint injury. And just six weeks before the Olympics started, he was still waiting for skis he had ordered. "I don't think there's anything that didn't go against me," says the recreation major who finished college this year. "But at least I can say I've given it my best. And next I hope to go to the World Cup races."

TENNIS
RANCHO MIRAGE, Calif. (AP) — Four players shared the first place singles prize money in the $250,000 men's tennis tournament which tournament officials canceled after enumerable delays and rainouts. Butch Buchholz, executive director of the Association of Tennis Professionals, said top-seeded Jimmy Connors, sixth-seeded Gene Mayer, eighth-seeded Peter Fleming, and unseeded Brian Teacher will each receive $11,000.

GOLF
TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Jim Colbert fired a 7-under-par 66 to pad his lead to seven strokes after three rounds of the $300,000 Tucson Open golf tournament. The 15-year PGA veteran who hasn't won a tournament since 1974, went to 19-under-par for the tournament with rounds of 66-68-66 for a 200 through 54 holes. Defending champion Bruce Lietzke, Tom Purtzer, Dan Hallderson and Dave Barr were tied for second at 207.

Upset-Minded Mustangs Clip Razorbacks 62-58

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer
DALLAS (AP) — Southern Methodist Coach Sonny Allen needed Monday night's shocking 62-58 upset over Arkansas almost as much as Texas A&M coach Shelby Metcalf, but for a different reason.

SMU followed Brad Branson's 16 points, eight rebounds and six blocked shots to their first win over Arkansas in 10 tries. Even Arkansas coach Eddie Sutton admitted his team deserved to lose. "We didn't deserve to win because of the way we played in the first half," said Sutton. "Branson may have played his best game of the season."

Sutton didn't concede the regular season championship to the Aggies, but he came close. "Naturally we're disappointed because we feel like we threw away an opportunity to win the conference championship. I told our club if we won tonight it would be awfully difficult for Texas Tech to come into Barnhill Field House and beat us."

The Longhorns were upset by SMU in the Mustangs' last regular season home game, and it knocked Coach Abe Lemons' crew out of an undisputed championship. "You know, it was the same situation Texas encountered last year," said Sutton. "That's why I'm always apprehensive about closing someone's home season. SMU had five seniors and it was an emotional night for them."

SMU has clinched sixth place in the SWC and a home berth in the conference tournament which begins next Monday night. Baylor will be the opposition. Allen said, "We proved we can beat the best. We played a great defensive game. I hope we can keep this up. Baylor will be a new season, and if we lose there's no tomorrow."

There particularly might be "no tomorrow" for Allen if he falls two games short of the magic victory goal set by Athletic Director Russ Potts. The Mustangs outran the Razorbacks and held center Scott Hastings to just 10 points. Sophomore Brad Friess picked up the scoring-load by hitting 9 of 10 field goal tries and two free throws for 20 points.

Reserve forward Gordond Welch connected on two free throws with six seconds to play to ice the game for the Mustangs. In other games tonight, Houston travels across town to play at Rice, and Texas visits Texas Tech.

Charles Jewtraw won the first Winter Olympic gold medal for the United States, taking the 500-meter speed-skating event in 1924.

The loss knocked the Razorbacks out of a share of the Southwest Conference basketball leadership with the Aggies, who play Texas Christian tonight at home. The Aggies are 12-2 in the league with a road game at Houston also on the schedule. The Razorbacks dropped to 12-3 and host Texas Tech Saturday afternoon in a regionally televised game. Allen was told before this season it would take 17 victories for him to keep his job. The Mustangs earned victory number 15 in a most exciting fashion.

Ironically, three Razorbacks were done in because of a similar malady which befell Texas last year. In making the announcement, McClung noted, "Although Bob will no longer be serving in his present capacity as athletic director and men's basketball coach, we have offered him another position in the academic organization of the College. We feel that a complete restructuring of our men's basketball program is necessary at this time, but we will also be proud and grateful for what Bob has done for us."

Clandaniel said that his future plans are still indefinite, but that several options—including the Wayland offer, a coaching position elsewhere, or a private business venture—were available.

Just across the ice, a couple of salchows away, Lisa-Marie Allen hears the thunderous roars and bites her lip. She isn't jealous, she insists. Frustrated perhaps, and disillusioned that the price of a gold medal comes so high. "Maybe I could have won a gold medal if I had been willing to give up that much of my early life," she says, without rancor. "I refused to do it. I am happy to be where I am."

That is No. 2 behind Linda on the U.S. team, given at best an outside chance for the bronze medal.

WBC Coach Resigns

R.L. (Bob) Clindaniel, long-time Plainview basketball coach, has submitted his resignation as head coach and athletic director at Wayland Baptist College, Dr. Roy C. McClung, president of the College, announced today.

The announcement comes just two games short of the end of Clindaniel's 12th full season at Wayland, where he has compiled a 151-222 won-lost record. His final two games as coach will be at home this Saturday night against Panhandle State and at Wichita Falls next Monday, Feb. 18, against Midwestern State.

Clandaniel's resignation will become effective at the end of his current contract, which expires on June 1, however, under terms of that contract, he will remain in charge of Wayland's 23rd annual summer basketball camps in July.

Small Country Makes Bid For Medals

DePaul Forward Tabbed Unstoppable

By HAL BOCK
LAKE PLACID, N.Y. (AP) - The medals race has turned into a two-nation tug of war between East Germany and the Soviet Union, but tiny Liechtenstein, a dot on the world globe, had a chance to write some Winter Olympic history of its own today.

When Andreas Wenzel, leader after the first heat of the men's giant slalom, went after his medal today, it gave Liechtenstein, a Western European country with a population of 20,000, a shot at its second medal of these Games. The first, a silver in the women's downhill, belongs to Andreas' older sister, Hanni.

Never before in Olympic history have a brother and sister both taken Alpine medals home. Barbara Petzold's victory in Monday's only medal event, the women's 10-kilometer cross country ski race, gave East Germany its 12th medal of these Games, one more than the Soviet Union. The Russians lead in gold 6-3. Austria, the United States and Finland are next in the medal standings with four each.

Two of the American Medals are golds, both won by speed skater Eric Heiden. He went after No. 3 of what could develop into a five-medal sweep today in the 1,000-meter race. Heiden and his sister, Beth, were supposed to be the top family act in these Games, but Beth has finished no better than fifth in her three races so far, so the brother-sister spotlight belongs instead to the skiing Wenzels of little Liechtenstein.

Andreas was fastest in the first heat of the giant slalom Monday, timed in 1 minute, 20.17 seconds through the 56 gates of the frigid 1,354-meter Whiteface Mountain course. Second was Hans Enn of Austria, 1:20.31, but Sweden's fabulous Ingemar Stenmark was third at 1:20.49 and clearly in position to reach for the Olympic gold, one of the few Alpine prizes that has escaped the three-time World Cup champion. Wenzel knew Stenmark wasn't finished.

"I think I can be a little faster tomorrow," Wenzel said. "I think I can ski a little better, but it will be hard to win. Stenmark is in a good position to attack on his second run."

Stenmark knew that, too. He rejected interviews after the first race, saying simply, "I will talk with you tomorrow."

Ulrich Wehling of East Germany also expected to be meeting with reporters today. He was in good position to win his third straight Olympic gold medal in the Nordic Combined. No man has ever won three Winter golds. Legendary woman figure skater Sonja Henie of Norway won golds in 1928, 1932 and 1936.

Wehling totaled 227.2 points, but the day belonged to Walter Malmquist of the United States, who finished second with 221.8. The crowd of 20,000 at the Intervale Mountain Ski jump site rooted him on with chants of "Wal-ter, Wal-ter, Wal-ter." West Germany's Hubert Schwarz was third with 219.6.

Despite his high standing, Malmquist didn't figure to win any medals today because he is not as strong in cross country skiing, the second portion of the Nordic combined.

An American forejumper, Mark Johnson, broke three small bones in his back when he took a spectacular spill while testing the 70-meter ski jump run. Johnson was taken to Placid Memorial Hospital where he was reported in good condition after breaking the first, second and third vertebrae at the base of his spine.

Petzold's gold in the women's 10-kilometer cross country was something of a surprise. The 24-year-old medical student was timed in 30:31.54 seconds to beat a pair of Finns, Hilkka Riihivouri and Helena Takalo, who were timed in 30:35.05 and 30:45.25.

In figure skating, East German Jan Hoffmann held the lead over a pair of Americans, Charlie Tickner and David Santee, following the compulsory portion of the men's singles competition. World champion Vladimir Kovalev of the Soviet Union withdrew and Russian team officials said he had the flu.

AP Sports Writer

If anything, LaSalle basketball Coach Lefty Ervin knows his forwards. He's vitally aware of Tom Gola's exploits at LaSalle in the early 1950s. And for four years, he's been coaching a pretty good one in Michael Brooks.

So you have to listen when he talks about DePaul's Mark Aguirre:

"He's simply unstoppable and does things I have never seen any other player do. When Aguirre gets the ball, he is able to use his body to push off and he frees himself to shoot those 15-foot jumpers. And there's no way we or anyone else can stop him."

Ervin made his remarks from first-hand observation Monday night after watching the DePaul forward score 40 points and grab 11 rebounds in the Blue Demons' 92-75 victory over his team.

The superior sophomore helped nation's top-ranked college basketball team pull away with some torrid second-half shooting that included 12 straight points at one stage. The explosive performance built DePaul's lead from one point to 70-57 late in the game.

"The six-point play in the second half when Aguirre got a basket and four free throws, including two technical shots turned the game around," said DePaul Coach Ray Meyer.

Added Meyer: "LaSalle's matchup zone in the first half had us standing around. So in the second half I went back to the man-to-man offense which freed Aguirre. While Aguirre got a lot of shots, LaSalle was trapped on defense because they just couldn't cover our guards."

Aguirre's great performance overshadowed another fine game for Brooks which earned him a special niche in the LaSalle record books. His 24 points helped him establish a new school scoring record with 2,477 career points. That eclipsed the 2,462 of Gola, who led LaSalle to the NCAA championship in 1954.

In other games involving the nation's ranked teams, No. 2 Louisville defeated Virginia Tech 77-72 and 18th-ranked Arizona State defeated UCLA 92-80.

Darrell Griffith scored 23 points, including 15 in the second half, to rally Louisville to its 18th straight victory.

"I don't think we've played any better," said Virginia Tech Coach Charlie Moir of Louisville's 6-foot-5 guard who was playing his last regular season home game at Freedom Hall.

Seven-foot Alton Lister scored 21 points, grabbed 15 rebounds and blocked five shots, while freshman guard Byron Scott hit 21 points to lead Arizona State over UCLA.

Elsewhere, Bradley edged Creighton 76-75; Cincinnati was a 75-70 winner over Loyola of Chicago; Georgia Tech nipped Georgia 40-38; Oral Roberts outscored Tulsa 88-86; Davidson ended a six-game losing streak by beating North Carolina-Charlotte 73-70; Marshall defeated The Citadel 78-74 in overtime;
