AG investigating beer prices

AUSTIN (AP)--Texas Attorney General Dan Morales says an investigation by his office into allegation of price-fixing in the beer industry is still in the early stages.

"At this point all I can tell is that we are relatively early in the investigatory stages, and we are not yet to a point where a decision has been or needs to be made relative to whether any action is going to be taken," Morales said.

Morales has ordered volumes of records dating to January 1987, according to documents received by the Associated Press.

Records being sought pertain to the relationship between different distributors and the ties between distributors and retailers, which sell beer to consumers, according to the notice received by one Texas beer distributor.

According to the documents, probe. Morales wants details on how beer to retailers were discussed.

Investigators are requesting a mountain of documents, including sales records, telephone logs, salesmen's call reports, travel reimbursement vouchers and beer

In addition, documents on competition, supplies, product demand and market conditions have been ordered. Morales described the prove as a "routine investigation," but said the order for such detailed records was necessary.

"We are obligated to be as comprehensive and as exhaustive as is necessary in order to make a sound legal judgment on whether any action is going to be warranted," he said in an interview.

Morales declined to say how many distributors were being questioned, or provide any further details of the

His notice warns distributors that the penalty for trying to withhold or alter information is a misdemeanor, subject to a maximum penalty of one year in jail and a $5,000 fine. All the data must be submitted under a sworn certificate that states the information is accurate. In recent months, Morales has filed antitrust lawsuits against two makers of baby formula and nine dairies with school milk contracts. In both cases, defendants were accused of price-fixing.

In the school milk case, which has drawn the attention of federal investigators in 16 states, including Texas, seven of the Texas dairies agreed in July to pay $14.9 million to settle the lawsuit without admitting Morales requested the beer Squibb Co., which makes Enfamil. He accused the two companies of "shameful and disgusting" behavior in trying to monopolize the market and charge Texans too much for their babies' nourishment. Both companies have denied Morales' allegations.

Of the beer investigation, Assistant Attorney General James Mullenix of the antitrust division said, "I'm not going to talk about any particular investigation that we may or may not be conducting.'

Mullenix, according to the documents, is to receive all the records being sought.

Morales' spokesman Gray McBride also declined to discuss the probe. "A fair percentage of the investigations are culminated without enforcement. They are just that: investigations to determine whether or not there is reason to seek charges," McBride said.

Hill and another accuser, Angela Wright, another former EEOC employee, waited their turn to testify during Thomas' appearance. "As excruciatingly difficult as the last two weeks have been, I welcome the opportunity to clear my name today," Thomas told the committee.

Biden opened the session by defending his panel against charges that it took the charges too lightly and failed to properly investigate. he said the committee had been hindered by Hill's reluctance to make public her charges of sexual harassment.

"I am deeply sorry that our actions in this respect have been seen by many across this country as a sign that this committee does not take the charge of sexual harassment seriously," Biden said. "We emphatically do."

Sen. Strom Thurmond, the ranking Republican on the committee, warned in advance that the hearings would be "an exceedingly uncomfortable process for us all. But our duty is clear," he said. "We must find the truth."

There was no doubt that the hearing would make or break Thomas' nomination.

Wright, the new witness, came forward Thursday with allegations of unwelcome advances against Thomas, and Republicans immediately sought to discredit her. She, like Hill, worked with Thomas at the EEOC.

Wright, assistant metro editor at the Charlotte Observer in North Carolina, told the newspaper that Thomas pressured her for dates, asked her breast size and showed up at her apartment uninvited.

Her subpoenaed testimony, hastily scheduled by the committee's Democrats on Thursday, could provide an additional blow to Thomas' confirmation prospects, already damaged by allegations of sexual harassment by Hill, a former assistant at the Department of Education and then the EEOC.

Bush vetoes unemployment bill

By TOM RAUM Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Bush today vetoed a $6.4 billion bill that would have provided up to 20 additional weeks of unemployment benefits, calling it a "poorly designed, unnecessarily expensive program." He said in a letter to the Senate that the bill "violates essential elements" of the budget agreement that lawmakers and the White House agreed to last year because it does not include offsetting cutbacks to make up for the $6.4 billion pricetag. "I would gladly sign into law responsible legislation that does not threaten the economic recovery and its associated job creation," Bush said, repeating his call for an alternative, less costly unemployment package.

The administration has contended that the bill passed by Congress is unnecessary because the recession is over, even though Bush in recent days has expressed new concerns about the pace of the recovery.

vetoed, "would effectively destroy the integrity of the bipartisan budget agreement and put into place a poorly designed, unnecessarily expensive program that would significantly increase the federal deficit."

Bush vetoed the bill in the presence of Senate Republican Leader Bob Dole of Kansas, House Republican Leader Bob Michel of Illinois and Labor Secretary Lynn Martin.

Spokesman Marlin Fitzwater said Bush invited the congressional leaders to the White House to discuss prospects of getting a less-expensive measure through Congress.

The administration has claimed the measure would break a 1990 budget agreement between Congress and the White House because it doesn't offset the $6.4 billion price-tag by proposing new revenues, as the agreement requires.

Dole's scaled-down 10-week extension proposes paying for the added benefits by tightening collections on government loans and by auctioning off broadcast frequencies that are not currently in use.

Bush said at a news conference last week that, even though he still believed the economy to be recovering, "let me be the first to say all is not well.

Junior Coffey was a phenomenal athlete and a phenomenal person at a phenomenal time.

Junior Coffey was a Jackie Robinson of sorts in these parts. Heck, he was the Jackie Robinson of the UIL State Basketball Tournament, where he was the first (1960) and second (1961) black to play in the state tournament.

I never saw Junior Coffey play in person, and that's my loss. I have seen him run on time-worn films that have probably been through a projector a thousand times. I remember rummaging through some stuff at the old fieldhouse in Dimmitt about 20 years ago when I found a film from the 1960 football season.

I had heard about Junior Coffey. Shoot, every kid in Dimmitt from my generation had heard the stories about his prowess. Some were apocryphal, some weren't. There was one story about him carrying 12 Tulia Hornets across the goal line. That one wasn't apocryphal; Tulia had one man too many on the field. He didn't literally carry them, but rather dragged them behind him as they frantically tried to tackle him. Junior scored on the Actually, Coffey wasn't the only black on the Dimmitt team, but you get the point. Junior, like most other black athletes in Texas, had to go somewhere else to play college ball. He went to Washington, where he had a great college career. He was drafted by the Green Bay Packers and played a year before the man from Dimmitt was replaced by a man from Stinnett named Donny Anderson. Coffey was good, but not quite that good; he was picked up in the expansion draft by Atlanta, and played for a couple of years there.

He had decided to retire from football and go back to Washington. On his way across country, he stopped for a little session in Dimmitt. I was 12 years old and, well, in awe. I asked Junior to autograph my baseball glove. I still have the a small vending company which sells Clubs in Texas said a yearlong battle with the Wal-Mart Stores Inc. division has climaxed with an order to remove the carts.

Scarlett Rabalais of Houston, founder of Hot Diggity Dogs, said Thursday that the order to shut and remove her carts from stores had left 92 elderly or disabled people jobless.

"It's pretty tacky the way they went about this," Mrs. Rabalais said. "I think corporate greed's why this whole thing's happening right now. They don't care about people. I guess they just care about making money."

Hot Diggity Dogs employee George Moore said Thursday that Sam's officials had confiscated his equipment. "They said that if we return, they'll have us arrested for trespassing," Moore said.

Mrs. Rabalais' company operated in front of 24 Sam's stores in 11 Texas cities. Sam's collected 10 percent of the gross sales and Mrs. Rabalais bought the food she prepared from Sam's. The carts sell hot dogs, pickles, lemonade and tea to Sam's customers.

In other states, the discount chain has comparable carts of its own in front of its stores and she said Sam's officials at the local stores said the plan was to put such carts at its Texas stores as well.

Sam's officials at the company's neadquarters in Bentonville, Ark., declined to answer questions about the Mrs. Rabalais said were ordered at hot dogs outside Sam's Wholesale 11:30 p.m. Wednesday, well after the stores had closed.

We believe the public realizes that the culture- and philosophy of the company have always kept the best interest of our members, associates (employees) and shareholders in mind," Brenda Lockhart, a company spokeswoman, said in a prepared statement. "Our actions will continue to be based on these beliefs."

Mrs. Rabalais has said she invested nearly a half-million dollars in the project, which began four years ago. She won designation from the President's Committee on Employment of People with Disabilities as Texas' Small Employer of the Year.

The dispute began a year ago when Sam's tried to oust Hot Diggity Dogs from its Texas stores but reached an agreement to continue their joint operation. In June, however, Mrs. rabalais filed suit accusing Sam's of breach of contract.

"My battle to save jobs is obviously history," she said Thursday. "Now I'll spend probably two to seven years fighting in the court system."

Mrs. Rabalais said she had no regrets for pursuing her fight aggressively but said she worried about her employees.

"I hurt they just won't have a aycheck week to week," she said. "As far as standing up and fighting Wal-Mart for hat I believe in, no I don't regret. They're wrong."

TEA overhaul to improve system?

By PEGGY FIKAC Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) -- Education Commissioner Lionel "Skip" Meno says that by reorganizing the Texas Education Agency, he hopes to ensure it provides the services school districts need, leading to improved student achievement.

State Board of Education members, meeting as a committee, on Thursday approved a reorganization plan that includes the transfer of millions of dollars and dozens of jobs to education centers around the state.

A final vote is scheduled for Saturday.

"We're doing it (the reorganization) to get better student results," Meno said to a packed hearing room. The crowd overflowed into two nearby rooms equipped with sound systems.

But because the plan will not be in place until January, Meno said he didn't expect to see those results until about the spring of 1994.

Carolyn Crawford of Beaumont, head of the board, called the reorganization plan "historic."

"It is the first time that the Texas Education Agency has truly been reorganized since its inception" in 1949, she said.

The plan would immediately reduce the agency work force by 87 positions, including six executive jobs, to 1,179. But no one has been fired because a hiring freeze has been in place and several people have resigned, Meno

The plan includes a new Office of Field Services to give school districts a direct connection to the education commissioner.

As part of that office, it calls for 60 positions to be transferred to the state's 20 regional education service centers.

people hired for the jobs will act as "ombudspeople" for local districts, Meno said.

An additional 20 service center jobs would be to help schools with reform

A total of 20 other positions would be transferred in 1992 and 1993. And, if federal approval is granted, 30 positions from the Child nutrition Program would move from the agency to the regional offices. In addition, $5.86 million would be transferred from the agency to the service centers. That includes dedicated fees, federal funds, and $4.2 million - or 17.5 percent, of the agency's state general revenue.

The reorganization is part of Meno's drive to give school districts flexibility, then hold them accountable for preparing students to succeed in the real world.

Officials have said that the need for improvement can be seen in test scores. For example, Texas students' math and verbal scores on the Scholastic Aptitude Test still lagged behind the national average in 1990-91. And black and Hispanic students have lower scores than white students.

Among other changes, the reorganization plan laso would consolidate the offices of curriculum and assessment; set up a professional development office; and create a special office to focus on improving student achievement and school instructional practice.

Gov. Ann Richards, who appointed Meno, praised the reorganization in a

"You are doing nothing less than making the TEA accountable for improving student achievement, rather than just monitoring processes and compliance with rules," Richards said.

Oats may be healthy, but not for farmers caught on with the cholesterol-conscious, but farmers aren't cashing in on the health craze.

"Everything seems to be out of whack," says Rep. Timothy J. Penny, D-Minn., a member of the House Agriculture Committee from one of the nation's top oat-producing states.

Despite the increasing consumer demand for oatmeal and oat bran, U.S. farmers are growing less oats as prices tumble below the cost of production and growers compete with rising imports.

While the decline in U.S. oat production may not be felt at the supermarket, farmers are angry at the amount of heavily subsidized imports.

And agribusinesses that store, transport or process oats say they're missing opportunities to handle the increased consumer demand.

'What we have in the United States is a very serious situation for oats," said Pat Henderson, executive director of the American Oat Association in Minneapolis. She said some industry already has moved offshore to be closer to its foreign sources as U.S. farmers scale back oat production and turn to more lucrative feed grains such as corn. "We're losing this ability to grow

Larry Mitchell remembers when more than a dozen pickup trucks would ring his Dallas-area farm at harvest time, waiting to fill up on oats directly from the combine. But the trucks and the cars and the

"I almost had to quit raising them entirely because of the imported Swedish oats - they can ship and sellthem cheaper than we can raise them," Stelzer said. "I have some in the bin from last year but I haven't sold a grain."

Stelzer is angry that while his oats fetch less than a $1.50 a bushel (32 pounds), consumers spend that much for just one pound of packaged rolled oats or oat bran in the grocery store.

"The imports have come in and just destroyed our prices," says David Senter, national director of the American Agriculture Movement.

Herd JV shuts out Harvesters

Hereford's junior varsity football had three big hits in the secondary. team beat Pampa in Pampa 19-0 Thursday, while the sophomore team fell 30-15 to Amarillo High, the freshman White "A" team lost 30-26 to Canyon and the "B" team played Canyon to a scoreless tie.

The JV scored all of its 19 points in the second quarter, with 12 of them in the final two minutes of the first half. The JV's record is now 4-1-1.

Ronnie Gomez ran for 1-yard TDs twice, the second time as the half ended. Shama Hernandez kicked the extra point after the first score.

Hereford's second touchdown was a 6-yard pass from Chad Carlile to Azael Valdez.

"Offensively, we played really well," coach Craig Yenzer said. "Shama Hernandez ran real well, and the offensive line did another good job.

"The thing that was really pleasing to me was our execution right before the half. We executed the passing game well. During that time we had several receivers that caught the ball, made plays for us."

The defense played well in earning the shutout, Yenzer said, gaining "maybe four first downs." Richard Wilbanks and Leonard Martinez each had an interception, and Jake Head Hereford's scores were in the third and fourth quarters, while the Sandies scored 21 in the first half. Coaches Oscar Rendon and Joe Cabezuela added that Brandon Holcombe intercepted a Sandie pass to save a touchdown, and Jimmy Ruiz recovered a fumble.

The Freshman "A" game was a wild one, as Canyon overcame a 20-14 deficit in the fourth quarter to lead 30-20, then covered Hereford's onside kick in the final minute to pull out the win.

O.J. Rodriguez scored all four of Hereford's TDs on pass receptions--a 40-yarder from Michael Brown and passes of 15, 20 and 40 from Chris Castro. Brown threw a two-point conversion to John Paul Villareal after the first touchdown.

Coach Robert Gamboa fooled the Canyon defenders several times with the old hook and lateral play. He said the team played well, especially in the passing game, but they "just ran out of time at the end." In the "B" game, Canyon threatened in the end, but was stranded on the Hereford 2-yard line as the game ended.

Somehow, Hereford's O.J. Rodriguez made this catch while wearing a Canyon defender. Rodriguez had a great day Thursday, with four touchdown receptions, but his team, the freshman White "A," lost 30-26.

On Sept. 28, all five of those teams won their divisions in the Borger Tournament. All five went back to Borger Thursday, and, in each team's first action since the tournament, won matches against Borger teams.

The eighth grade White team and the seventh grade Maroon team both had close matches which went to three games.

The 8th White won 15-4, 14-16, 15-11. Paige Robbins served up 14 of Hereford's points, including 8 in a row in the third game and the final 6 points of game one.

The 7th Maroon dropped the first game of its match 13-15, but came back to win the next two 15-11, 17-15. Cassie Abney sparked Hereford with nine service points in the second game, including the final seven. Kari Barrett led the team with 11 points.

The other three teams each needed only two games to win, but they weren't blowouts. The 7th White won 15-8, 16-14, getting eight service points from Annie Hoffman and six each from J.J. Hill and Marie Crox.

The 8th Maroon prevailed 15-13, 15-8, with Brittney Binder serving eight points and Tarabeth Holmes ading four.

The freshman team had it easier than the others, winning 15-8, 15-5. Clarissa Ramirez led the team with eight points, and Mindy Salazar also had a good match, coach Brett Steagall said.

"Mindy Salazar came in and served four straight points when we really needed it," Steagall said, adding that she also had some important kills in the match.

All five teams play their next matches Monday when they host Pampa teams. The junior high games start at 5:30 p.m. in the junior high gyms, and the freshmen play at 6 p.m. across the hall in Whiteface Gym.

Jackson fails Raider physical

EL SEGUNDO, CA.(AP)--Something Bo Jackson couldn't do-pass his physical--has probably finished him as a football player. Jackson failed his physical with the Los Angeles Raiders and will not play football this season, maybe never.

The dual-sport star, who played the final month for the American League's Chicago White Sox while recovering from a hip injury, failed the examination Monday, the Raiders said Thursday.

"It's really unfortunate," said Raider tailback Marcus Allen, who is on injured reserve due to an ankle injury. "He's had a great football career. He was a great asset to the team and a good friend."

. The 28-year-old running back was examined by Raiders orthopedic surgeon Robert T. Rosenfeld. Jackson's injury has been diagnosed a fracture-dislocation with cartilage damage in his right hip joint.

In his examination earlier this week, Rosenfeld confirmed reports of this spring that Jackson had developed avascular necrosis, a condition in which blood circulation is cut off to the area of injury, causing cartilage to deteriorate.

Jackson's personal physician James Andrews said he would reserve comment until he examined Jackson in Birmingham, Ala., Andrews' spokesman said.

"Our doctors are not optimistic," Raiders executive assistant Al LoCasale said. "His doctor has not closed the door on 1992; our doctors are less optimistic."

Jackson sustained the injury in a playoff game last Jan. 13 against Cincinnati. He is in the final year of a five-year, $7.4 million football contract.

Spikers top poll

The Texas Girls Coaches Association released its coaches' poll of the top volleyball teams in Texas for the first time this season, and Hereford is on top of the 4A list.

The poll is a little old--Hereford coach Brenda Reeh said she sent back her selections in mid-September--but Hereford at 18-3 hasn't done anything since then to show they don't deserve the honor. Unless one of the other teams on the list has gone undefeated, Hereford might still be on top today. "It's flattering, but we'd like to be number 1 at the end of the season, Reeh said.

Three-time state champion Dumas is sixth in the poll. The Demonettes beat Borger 15-12, 15-1 Thursday to move to 4-0 in District 1-4A and 23-2

Hereford is 3-1 after losing the district opener to Dumas. The Lady Whitefaces get another shot at the Demonettes Tuesday in Whiteface Gym, but first have to play a tough Randall squad (2-2, 15-6) Saturday in Canyon. On both days, the junior varsity teams play first, starting at 2

"You have to throw the ball challenge, the Sooners had more effectively to win these days," Gundy said. "Everybody knows that. Now, if a team takes away the run, we can hit them with the pass. We take what the defense gives. That's how you win national championships."

Gundy was critical of Oklahoma's strategy in a 14-13 loss to Texas last year. "To win a national champion-ship, you have to throw the ball down

Making Gundy effective is a sophomore split end, Corey Warren, who caught touchdown passes of 37 and 31 yards against Iowa State. "Warren has a knack for getting open, and I feel like we can go against a man-for-man defense anytime," Gundy said.

Oklahoma is still 14th in the nation in rushing offense, but a new weapon has been added to the arsenal. Gardere, a junior, returns again, but Texas is worried about its top running back, Butch Hadnot.

PITTSBURGH(AP)--Steve Avery is too young to know the Braves aren't supposed to win in October.

The 21-year-old again pitched with poise and Atlanta bounced back Thursday night to beat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 1-0--with a chop, naturally-to send the NL playoffs south tied at one game each.

Mark Lemke's two-hopper eluded sure-handed third baseman Steve Buechele for an RBI double in the sixth inning, and that was enough, barely. Avery and Atlanta stopped the Braves' 10-game postseason losing streak, one short of the Philadelphia record skid.

HOW THE BIBLE NAMED A DOG!

THE FIRST SCHOOL FOR TRAINING DOGS TO GUIDE THOSE WHO ARE BLIND WAS FOUNDED IN 1929 BY ITS FIRST PRESIDENT, DOROTHY HARRISON EUSTICE, AND MORRIS FRANK WHO HAD BEEN BLIND SINCE AGE 16.

THE PHRASE WHICH GAVE THE SCHOOL, AND THE DOGS, ITS NAME WAS TAKEN FROM THE BIBLE "... THE SEEING EYE THE LORD HATH MADE" (PROVERBS 20:12)

FOR MORE THAN HALF A INTELLIGENT SEEING EYE DOGS HAVE GIVEN GREATER FREEDOM TO BLIND PEOPLE IN EVERY STATE AND MANY COUNTRIES! MR. FRANK CALLS THE DOGS

NEXT WEEK: LEGEND OF THE DOGWOOD TREE!

Halloween Junkpile DANBURY, N.H. (AP) - A village here has long had an unusual way of celebrating Halloween. Junk - old cars, bathtubs, broken bicycles, lumber, barrels and trash - mysteriously appears in the center of the village common during the night, and no one seems to have had a hand in

Although such littering - even by supernatural beings - is illegal, the town constable doesn't bother to interfere. In fact, the one time a lawman did try to investigate and stop proceedings, he was burned in effigy, according to an oral history, gathered by a graduate student whose name is now long forgotten, included in "The Folklore of American Holidays." Most of the residents figure that no one gets hurt, property isn't damaged, and the stuff is cleared away the next day, so why not?

There are those who feel the whole thing is childish and lowers the town's image. But the tradition seems as well established as trick-or-treating, and will undoubted-ly continue as long as spirits do mischief at All Hallows.
