April 2 Elections To Proceed With Place Method

Schools Win Voting Rights Suit

BY BOBBY TEMPLETON
Brand News Editor

With a U.S. Justice Department attorney left with his mouth hanging open, U.S. District Judge Halbert O. Woodward Tuesday ruled in favor of the Hereford Independent School District's (HISD) right to conduct its April 2 elections under the place with majority runoff system of voting. The case was heard in Lubbock.

In less than 50 minutes of court time, the Judge agreed with the HISD position that it is not a political subdivision and therefore did not fall under the authority of the 1965 Voting Rights Act. The Justice Department late last year ruled that the district had to use the at-large system of voting rather than the place system by the HISD filed suit Jan. 28, 1977 and won the first round of court battles to keep its present voting method.

THE SUIT HAD BEEN filed against

U.S. Attorney General Griffin Bell and the Justice Department.

Although school attorney Richard Green was unavailable for comment late Tuesday, he said earlier that the precedent setting opinion leaves much room for other districts across the state to file a class action or individual suits to avoid constraints of the Voting Rights Act. Texas and four other states were

President Denounces Apology, Lifts Travel Ban To 4 Nations

BY WALTER R. MEARS
AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Carter today termed inappropriate the apology ventured by a U.S. diplomat for alleged American involvement in the overthrow of a left-wing Chilean government, and at the same time announced the end of the ban on American travel to four Communist nations.

In repudiating the statement on Chile by United Nations envoy Brady Tyson, Carter acknowledged that the United States "has been at fault in some instances" for infringing on human rights accords. But he did not put the 1973 overthrow of Chilean President Salvador Allende in that category.

He said, instead, that the American travel ban was such an instance, and that it will be lifted effective March 18. That will permit U.S. citizens to travel to Cuba, Vietnam, North Korea and Cambodia.

Tyson said in Geneva that he exceeded his instructions but did not act contrary to them in apologizing for what he said was American involvement in the ouster of Allende.

"I think the remarks made by the delegate concerning our past involvement in Chilean internal affairs was inappropriate," he told his third White House news conference. Carter said a Senate committee has not found any proof that the United States was involved in Allende's overthrow but only in financial aid to some political groups in Chile.

"The statement made by our delegate was made on his own and does not represent the view of our government," Carter said.

He linked that episode with the broader question of human rights under the Helsinki agreement, saying that the administration remains concerned about that issue. Carter noted that administration officials will go to Belgrade later this year to join in assessment of the human rights accords.

During the presidential campaign, Carter himself had said the United States was involved in the Allende overthrow. On Oct. 6, in campaign debate, he said the Republican administration "overthrew an elected government and helped establish a military dictatorship."

Carter began the news conference with his announcement about travel to the four Communist nations.

Car Destroyed In Blaze

Hereford firemen move hose forward to knock down flames at the H.E. Hodges home at the site of the old P.O.W. camp near Hereford. Hodges was burning weeds and grass around the homesite yesterday and left the scene, apparently believing the fire was out. However, the garage caught fire and a car inside was destroyed. Firemen were successful in saving the home, although the eaves were burned somewhat. Firemen were also called to the Willie Houston home at 214 Whiteface shortly after 10:30 last night. According to a fire department spokesman, Houston was tiling a bathroom and a blaze flared up when fumes from glue being used ignited. There was extensive damage to a portion of the interior of the home and Houston suffered leg burns and was taken to Deaf Smith General Hospital. (Photo By Jim Steiert)

Prof Denies Conflict Of Christianity

COLLEGE STATION (AP)—An East African anthropologist has denied extreme conflict between Christian theories and the theory of evolution and urged cooperation between factions in Dallas disputing a biology book on man's origin.

"Evolution does not disclaim the existence of a supreme being," Richard F. Leakey said during a speech Tuesday at Texas A&M University.

He said he had talked to many groups of Christians during his world-wide tours who saw no conflict between Christian dogma and Darwin's theory.

Dallas school officials recently invoked some of Leakey's findings which say man's direct ancestors existed millions of years earlier than believed possible.

The controversial book, "Search for Order in Complexity," expounds a literal interpretation of the Genesis version of creation rather than evolution theory.

The Dallas school board voted to use the book, saying it would "balance" Darwin's theory.

Plans for putting the book in classrooms have brought protests from both clergymen and scientists. Some observers have compared recent discussions between the factions to the Scopes trial of the '30s.

Several clergymen have voiced objections to any such mixture of science and religion while scientists allege the purpose of the book is to shoot holes in Darwin's theory.

Others have questioned whether school use of the religious book would violate the constitutional separation of the church and the state.

Leakey heads Kenya's national museums program and is chairman of the Foundation for Research into the Origins of Man.

Chili Supper Set Thursday

The Kiwanis Key Club Chili Supper will take place Thursday evening from 5:30 p.m. in the high school cafeteria.

The event was postponed from last Thursday due to a conflict with a zone Lions meeting.

Tickets purchased prior to the original March 3 date will still be honored Thursday evening. Tickets are still available from any Kiwanis Club member or member of the Key Club.

School Board Accepts Personnel, Deletes Book

The Hereford School Board of Trustees decided to accept all recommendations of re-employment of personnel and deleted a book from its annual textbook adoption list during a regular monthly meeting Tuesday night at the Central School District office.

It was a rather routine session except for the two closed executive periods in which the personnel were considered and approved and the pending Wayne Woodward lawsuit was discussed. The trustees were considering a possible settlement of the suit after reported offers were made by Woodward, a former teacher who won the first step of the case in federal district court.

THE PERSONNEL approved included all teachers recommended by the nine school principals and various district supervisors. The board approved the personnel in one motion after coming back into open session late Tuesday night.

Concerning the textbook, board members voted unanimously to delete, "McNeill The Eucemene," from the textbook adoptions list after objections were raised dealing with content. The book is published by Harper and Row.

The annual textbook adoption committee including the superintendent, teachers and other individuals submitted the title along with numerous other books which were also recommended by the state committee.

After objections raised by Mrs. Leon

Vogler of Hereford, the local committee voted 11-3 for the book. One member abstained.

She had written a letter to school trustees and administration detailing her objections based principally on the book's treatment of the evolution of man. The book is a world history text but some trustees labeled it more of an anthropology book.

SUPERINTENDENT Harrell Holder agreed that the book could be termed offensive and he personally didn't approve it but that the teachers involved would use it only as a reference book and treat the material included in it with "maturity and integrity."

"The book does have some redeeming qualities... and its acceptance would not alter the way history is presently taught in the schools," he said. "Teachers should read the morals of the community."

Both Mrs. Vogler and Holder agreed that parents and citizens should be concerned with textbook content.

Before the board accepted the motion to delete the book, James Gentry, trustee, moved to accept the book only as a reference text for teachers and not use it in the classroom. However, the motion died for lack of a second.

The book was designed for 9th and 10th grade classes.

IN OTHER ACTION, the board: --Set the date of the school board election on April 2 with a runoff scheduled for April 23. The trustees ran into a difference of opinion over the canvassing of the elections and how county school board members are elected. They resolved that it would not directly affect the dates and proceeded with the scheduling.

--Approved the annual school calendar for the 1977-78 academic year. It lists 10 in-service training days and 15 holidays.

--Heard a presentation from the Homemaking Department of Hereford High School. About 500 students (one in two students at HHS) are taught related homemaking subjects by teachers Dorothea Prowell and Martha Layman. Enrollment is about half boys and girls.

They stressed that homemaking is not just sewing and cooking and that it covers a wide range of subjects including consumer protection, home and family living and child care.

--Accepted a $1 million umbrella insurance coverage policy for tort claims and possible accidents on school property.

--Permitted the employment of Margie Lassiter as special education director, Cindy McWhorter as a teacher at La Plata and Vicki Richards as a teacher at West Central.

Resignations heard were those of Karen Abney at La Plata, Cindy Loerwald at West Central, and Beverly Bryant at Shirley.

Sophia Loren Detained

ROME (AP)—Customs police held actress Sophia Loren overnight for questioning about her husband's finances, then let her fly to their home in Paris today.

The 42-year-old star was detained for nine hours at Rome's international airport. Police sources said she was interrogated in connection with an investigation into tax and currency activities of her husband, movie producer Carlo Ponti.

Censored Report Prompts Suit

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A censored report on 20 years of secret, domestic germ-warfare tests has prompted plans for a lawsuit by the family of a man who died in 1950 after Navy ships launched bacteria in San Francisco Bay.

But most officials expressed only surprise at the report, made public Tuesday, which revealed Army tests conducted in highway and subway tunnels, stockyards, on military bases and at sea of numerous populated areas.

"The family is determined to proceed with legal action.

African Policy In Question

WASHINGTON (AP)—Carter administration officials are split over the future direction of U.S. policy toward Africa in what some diplomats see as a test of President Carter's commitment to human rights.

British Prime Minister James Callaghan, arriving here today, is expected to bring up in talks with Carter both Rhodesia, the breakaway British colony, and South Africa. Both are ruled by white minority governments.

Senate To Battle Over Rebate

WASHINGTON (AP)—Fights over plans for a $50-per-person rebate and a new business tax break are likely to continue during Senate action on the House-approved version of President Carter's program to stimulate the economy.

The tax reduction bill, worth $43.1 billion during the next 31 months, was passed Tuesday by the House, 282 to 131, after battles over features giving 200 million Americans up to $50 each this spring and summer and creating a new job-stimulating tax cut.

WTSU Plans Literary Contest

WTSU— West Texas State University will host the annual spring University Interscholastic League Literary Contest April 15-16 for public high schools in districts 3-4A, 1-AAA and 1-AA.

All entries should be mailed by April 1 to Gene Parker, general contest director and WTSU placement director, at Box 728 WT, Canyon, TX 79016.

Competition will be in several divisions including informative speaking, poetry interpretation, journalism, ready writing, number sense, shorthand, persuasive speaking, prose reading, spelling and plain writing, science, slide rule and typewriting.

First and second place medals will be given to the winners with a trophy awarded to the team champion, according to Parker.

Winners will then advance to the regional contest in Lubbock before advancing to the state competition.

Art-Craft Show This Weekend

The annual open invitation Art and Craft Show and Sale, sponsored by Hereford Art Guild, will be held at the Community Center this weekend.

The show will be open to the public from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Saturday, March 12, and from 12 noon to 6 p.m. Sunday, the 13th. There will be no admission fee and the public is urged to attend.

More than 50 artists from three states will be displaying original works, including oils, pastels, watercolors, acrylics, bronzes, metal and wood sculptures, sewing and decoupage. Special attractions will be horseshoe nail sculptures, hand-painted ceramics, hand-made frames, jewelry crafted from rocks, silver and turquoise jewelry, copper etching, tole-painted items and ink drawings.

The renowned Martin Schaffner of Taos, N.M., will be present to draw portraits.

In addition to numerous out-of-town artists, several local residents will be participating in the upcoming show.

Further information can be obtained by contacting Wanda Newman, 364-4881. Mrs. Newman is chairman of this year's art show.

Of the 56 delegates attending the Constitutional Convention in 1787, 16 failed to sign the completed document on Sept. 17 of that year.

Praised For Contributions

Karrol Rettman, a member of the Camp Fire Girls volunteer administrative staff, was named "CFG Leader of the Month" Friday at a meeting of the CFG Leaders Association. She is secretary of the Leaders Association and was recognized because her "endless help and enthusiasm to better Camp Fire shines through the extra duties she carries out." Mrs. Rettman is the leader of 14 members of a local Adventure chapter.

HD Chapter Cites Work Of Members

The St. Patrick's Day theme was carried out in table decorations and refreshments when members of Palo Duro Home Demonstration Club met in the home of Linda Brisendine Monday evening.

Janet Coleman, president, was congratulated by members for receiving second place as HD Woman of the Year. Cindy Norvell was selected as delegate for the District Meeting to be held at Canyon on March 31. Members are invited to the Camp Fire Girls Open House at the camp fire lodge, March 20 and they decided to have a garage sale March 26 in the home of Wanda Champ, 701 Baltimore.

Mrs. Coleman and Mrs. Norvell presented a program on "Sewing Shortcuts." They discussed various hemming techniques, the use of machine attachments, organization of sewing equipment and selecting fabrics and notions.

Others present were Michelle Brisendine, Sheryl Hill, Billie Crawford, Rhonda Bupp, Betty Tomas, Caroline Lively and a special guest, Debbie Wick. The next meeting will be in the home of Cindy Norvell, 738 Avenue G on March 21. They will be making fabric purses.

Five Certified Judges Compose Panel

Five officials from the Miss Texas Pageant board of trustees have volunteered to judge the Miss Hereford Pageant Saturday night in the Hereford High School Auditorium.

The five state judges, who all reside in the Dallas-Fort Worth metropolitan area, agreed to judge the local pageant due to its reputation for "professional high standards." The Miss Hereford-Miss Teen contest is being staged for the fourth year by the Chamber of Commerce Women's Division.

Serving on the judges panel will be Mary McMullin, traveling companion for Miss Texas; Irene Graves, official chaperone for Miss Texas; Ken Nelson, experienced delegate to the Miss America Pageant; Gary Jordan, manager of three Miss Texas winners; and Helen Mashburn, talent coach for four Miss Texas titleholders and one Miss America winner.

Mary McMullin, active in pageant work for nine years, is serving her sixth consecutive year as executive producer of the Miss Haltom-Richland Area Pageant. She has instructed dance and voice students throughout the Southwest for 12 years and is listed in the 1966 edition of Outstanding Young Women of America.

Mrs. McMullin is also included in the 1970 volume of the National Register of Predominant Americans and the 1976 edition of Who's Who in American Women. For three years, Mrs. McMullin has been a member of the Texas delegation at the Miss America Pageant in Atlantic City.

An experienced pageant judge, Mrs. McMullin has judged more than 63 preliminaries throughout the state. She and her husband, Jerald, are in the floral business and have three daughters.

A FASHION MODEL in the Dallas-Fort Worth area, Irene Graves has been actively engaged in various Miss Texas Pageant functions, both on the local and state level. She is a certified pageant judge and is the official chaperone for Miss Texas to Atlantic City.

Mrs. Graves is employed in the grooming department for flight attendants of American Airlines. She is married to Larry Graves, a manufacturer's representative, and they have two children, Lesa and Kirk.

Ken Nelson, another local pageant judge, is serving his seventh consecutive year as a member of the Miss Texas

Pageant production staff. He is also chairman of the state pageant's program book.

Nelson has attended the Miss America Pageant four times as a Texas delegate and has served on numerous preliminary panels throughout the state. A free-lance writer, Nelson is currently collaborating with Shirley Cothran Barrett, Miss America 1975, on the publication of her biography.

A native of Fort Worth, Nelson is a graduate of North Texas State University.

THE FOURTH MEMBER of the Hereford judges panel will be Gary Jordan, who is currently serving his third term as an associate director of the Miss Texas production. He has been manager of three Miss Texas winners, including Shirley Cothran, who went on to earn the national pageant title. Jordan is also a native of Fort Worth and is owner of AAA Draperies.

ROUNDING OUT THE roster of judges is Helen Mashburn, who has been talent coach to four Miss Texas coeds and one Miss America. Specializing in pageant productions, she has taught, accompanied and arranged performances for hundreds of entrants.

Mrs. Mashburn has been an official Miss Texas chaperone for the past seven years. She has judged preliminaries throughout the Lone Star State and has been a member of the Texas delegation to the Miss America Pageant for three years.

She is the wife of Troy Mashburn, an ultrasonic specialist, and they have a son, a daughter and three grandchildren.

Ann Landers Throw Bum Out

DEAR ANN: I married a guy 10 years my senior when I was 19. Bill was handsome, a smooth talker and my first serious love affair. My parents didn't like him because he showed up intoxicated a few times and said some things that weren't true. Of course the more they talked against Bill, the more determined I was to prove them wrong.

When my father came home with a complete report from a private investigator, I learned Bill had been married and had a son. He admitted it, claimed he was afraid to tell me for fear he'd lose me. We eloped the next night.

My life has been plain hell ever since. We have two small children. My mother keeps them while I work. Bill can't hold a job because of his drinking. He denies he has a problem, won't go to AA, refuses to talk to our clergyman.

When Bill gets drunk (which is often), he becomes violent. The children are afraid of him and so am I.

I learned last week he has been bringing women to our home while I'm at work. I'm heart-sick and fed up. My doctor says I will get rid of my colitis when I get rid of my husband.

My clergy man says I should get out of this marriage while I still have a chance to make a life for myself. I'm only 27 and I feel like 90. What should I do?—Messed Up Early

DEAR EARLY: The motion has been made by your doctor and seconded by your clergyman. I'm with them. Throw the bum out.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our neighbors caught their 13-year-old son smoking. They told him, "If you want to smoke we'd rather you do it in front of us than behind our backs." They reasoned if the boy was permitted to smoke he'd overdo it, get sick, and quit forever.

Well, he didn't get sick and he's not quitting. It's revolting to see this young punk puffing away in front of his friends. Now our son (age 14) wants to know why HE can't smoke. We need help... Battle Weary In Wyoming

DEAR BAT: Tell you son he can't smoke because it's bad for him and to drop the subject for at least eight years.

The parents of that 13-year-old have oatmeal where their brains belong. Too bad the boy may have to pay a big price for his parents' stupidity.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The following was received in the mail recently: "Dear Friends: Mom and Dad would like to go to Hawaii for their 25th wedding anniversary and we would like to help them make it possible. We also want to extend the opportunity to you if you would like to make a financial contribution toward their trip. We are not asking you to do so, merely leaving the opportunity open to you. You may use the envelope provided."

These people have plenty of money. Ann, how does one respond to such an "offer"? It was enclosed with an invitation to attend a reception in honor of the anniversary... Confused in California.

DEAR CONFUSED: Attend the reception if you wish—if not, stay home. If you feel like contributing toward a trip to Hawaii for a couple who "has plenty of money," go ahead. Speaking for myself, that's an offer I could easily refuse.

In the U.S. Army, a squad contains 10 men under a staff sergeant.

Merchants, Clubs Support Pageant

Through the sponsorship of individual entrants and wardrobe contributions, local merchants and clubs are playing a major role in Saturday night's Miss Hereford Pageant.

Lucy Rogers, chairman of the pageant steering committee, expressed appreciation to all those business firms who are supporting the impending pageant, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, Women's Division.

Mrs. Rogers commented, "Without the generous contributions and loyal backing of Hereford firms, the local pageant would not have its reputation for consistent high quality. The Women's Division is indebted to those companies which promote the fine group of girls that will be competing Saturday evening."

The Miss Hereford entrants and their sponsors include Alma Gamez, C.R. Anthony's; Diane Banner, Hereford Jaycees; Melinda Masten, Plains Insurance Agency; Sabra Hacker, Arrowhead Mills Inc.; Tina White, Hereford Rotary Club; Patty Johnson, Kester's Jewelry; and Dee Ann Caison, Caison Steak House.

Sponsoring the Miss Teen competitors are Kyla Potec, John Orsborn Buick-Pontiac; Terri Hill, Aladdin Carpets; Stephanie Paetzold, Clover Spraying Service; Cindy Ford, Warner Seed; Staci Robinson, Whiteface Aviation; Mary Lee Simon, Gibson Discount Center; and Lori Hinton, Hereford Noon Lions Club.

Merchants which have contributed to the entrants' wardrobe include Latham's Tree House, Pant's Cage, Penney's, C.R. Anthony's, Harman's, Rutherford's, Little's, The Vogue, Susie Short's, Glenn's Footwear, The Rafters Shop, Merle Norman's Cosmetics, La Boutique, Mode-O-Day TG&Y and Sue Ann's.

Special appreciations were also extended to McDonald's where the entrants will dine free of charge Thursday evening.

Junior Music Festival To Be Staged Friday

The Junior Music Festival of the National Federation of Music Clubs, 1st division, 1st district, will be held at First Baptist Church at 8:50 a.m. Friday.

More than 150 students from Hereford, Friona, Bovina and Dawn are expected to participate. Mrs. Carl Wimberley of Dawn is chairman of this division.

Judges will include Mrs. Robert Goodnow and Ruth Thurman, both of Amarillo, Margaret Harper of Canyon and Mrs. Allen Casler of Hereford.

Arrangements have been made with Dr. Harrell Holder, HISD superintendent, for students to be excused for a reasonable period in order to perform in the festival. Participating students though are to have notes from their parents or teachers.

Festival judges will be honored Friday at a luncheon planned by Mrs. A.J. Schroeter at Caison's Steak House. Teachers, parents and other interested individuals are welcome.

Assisting with the upcoming competition will be Mmes. W.T. Carmichael, Paul Lyons, Lyle Holmes and Alfred Smith, all of Hereford and Mmes. Reese Stewart, J.B. Caraway, Dwane Nelson and R.T. Stewart, all of Dawn.

Aikman Open House Slated Thursday

Aikman Elementary School will hold its open house tomorrow evening, beginning at 7:30 p.m. The Parent Teacher Organization at Aikman will convene at the same time for election of officers for the 1977-78 term.

A special program will be presented by fifth grade students of Mrs. Johnny Latham and fellow teachers. All interested persons are invited.

Specialist Recommends Canned, Frozen Goods

COLLEGE STATION— Canned and frozen vegetables can "rescue" budget-conscious consumers from increased prices on some fresh items, Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing information specialist, suggests.

She advises checking grocery markets for "specials" as the best economy measure.

Mrs. Clyatt is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"Lettuce seems to be the most economical fresh vegetable item—and onions, potatoes (white and sweet), squash, rutabagas and turnips are among the better vegetable values," she said.

In the moderate-price range, quality vegetables include carrots, broccoli, spinach, mustard and collards, she added.

Fresh fruits in greatest abundance at top quality are grapefruit, oranges and winter pears. Bananas and avocados have moderate prices.

"At meat counters, beef is in good supply with consumer-favorable prices. Now is the time to buy beef for generous use in today's meals—and to store in the freezer for future use," Mrs. Clyatt noted.

Most featured beef items are chuck roasts and steaks and ground beef—along with round, sirloin and T-bone steaks.

"In the pork department, features are scattered, but many are priced at budget levels. Consider Boston butt roasts, shoulder roasts, quarter-loin cut into chops, smoked picnics and some brands of bacon," she said.

CONSUMER WATCH-WORDS: To insure bacon quality buy the quantity you will use within a week, refrigerate in original wrapper to retard flavor-fading and moisture loss.

Local Marine Rides With Elite Group

A recent Assoc. Press story concerning the Marine Corps Mounted Color Guard help special interest for a Hereford couple whose son is a member of the elite group.

Sgt. Joe Bradley Roberson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Roberson, 219 Beach St., carries the Official Marine Corps Flag in the Marine Corps Mounted Color Guard at Camp Pendleton, California.

The Marine Corps Mounted Color Guard at Camp Pendleton, Calif., is one of the last traces of "Mounted Marines," a 172-year-old Marine tradition that was once a fighter of Seminole Indians and the protector of Camp Pendleton, Calif. Two hundred years of Marine Corps pride is exemplified in the gold painted hooves, the striking scarlet & gold accessories of each mount, the dress blues worn by each rider and the highly shined silver sabre carried by the flank riders in the Mounted Color Guard.

Today the Mounted Color Guard no longer leads charges into battle but instead lead parades on Washington's Pennsylvania Avenue at Inaugurals, in New Years Day pageants and at many civic functions.

Marines selected for the Mounted Color Guard are volunteers. Selection is based on the individuals' horsemanship, personal military bearing and appearance and "his willingness to spend off duty hours in the performance of duties incident to the color guard. Such off-duty hours are in addition to time spent in the performance of the Marine's normal military duties.

Sgt. Roberson entered the Marine Corps on August 27, 1973 and has been a member of the Color Guard since February 9, 1976. He is currently with the Electronics Maint. Co., 1st Maintenance Battalion, Camp Pendleton.

CPR Training Offered To Auxiliary

It was announced today by Gary Hollinger at Deaf Smith General Hospital that special classes in cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) will be offered to members of the hospital auxiliary.

These classes will be administered free of charge to all interested members of the auxiliary. Members are asked to contact Hollinger at the hospital for further information.

These advertisements sometimes back up real bargains—but she advised consumers to investigate before signing up.

She is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"Generally, bargain photographers offer a decent picture at a reasonable price. However, one of the biggest drawbacks is having little recourse if you are dissatisfied with the photos. If you want a variety of props, different settings and privacy, go to a professional," she said.

Don't be pressured into buying more pictures for friends and relatives. One scheme is for the photographer to print pictures of varying sizes and make them available— just in case you want more than the special offer, she said.

"Be sure to read the fine print. The free photo may be good only with a purchase of $50. When accepting a photo offer, be sure to inquire if there are purchase requirements.

"It will take probably three to five weeks to get the photos. Be sure to ask what form of notification to expect— mail or phone— and try to get the delivery date in writing.

"Often consumers are required to pay for the special offer picture at the time of the sitting, but it's wise to hold off paying for additional pictures until you receive them."

Little Miss Pageant To Begin At 1 p.m.

Officials of the Little Miss Pageant remind the public that the time of the contest has been changed from 2 p.m. Saturday to 1 o'clock that afternoon. The pageant will be staged in the high school auditorium.

The 90-plus entrants will be required to attend a rehearsal at 5:30 p.m. today at the high school. There will be no exceptions, according to Nanah Braly and Donna Warrick, co-directors of the junior pageant.

Four titles will be bestowed Saturday afternoon to a quartette of girls, who will be introduced during the Miss Hereford Pageant that night. The winners will receive trophies and roses from last year's pageant victors.

Tickets will be sold at the door of the auditorium Saturday afternoon for $2 each. This fee will include a pageant program. Sponsor of the Little Miss contest, as well as the Miss Hereford production, is the Women's Division of the Chamber of Commerce.

Kathy Johnson will serve as mistress of ceremonies and entrants will be escorted by Chet Bunch, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Bunch, and Scott Simmons, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Simmons.

Offering special entertainment will be Craig McCuistian and Quenton Renfro. Judges will include Mrs. John Taylor of Friona and Mrs. John Simpson and Mrs. W.C. Reeves, both of Tulia.

Further information concerning the Little Miss competition may be received from Donna Warrick, 364-4764, or Nanah Braly, 364-0831.

Dons' Gaillard Named AP Coach Of Year

BY KEN RAFFOPORT
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) - Bob Gaillard, who led the San Francisco Dons to their best basketball season since the Bill Russell years of the mid-1950s, was named The Associated Press College Coach of the Year today.

Gaillard, a low-key coach who encourages informality, won the award as easily as his team won games this season, more than doubling the score of his nearest competitor.

Balloting from sports writers and broadcasters around the country supplied Gaillard with 120 votes while runner-up Eddie Owens of Arkansas collected 52.

Carl Tacy of Wake Forest was third in the voting with a score of 30, while UCLA's Gene Bartow had 20 and Kentucky's Joe Hall 15 to round out the top five.

Gaillard's team is considered unusual because of the modish young leader's approach to coaching. There is no curfew on any occasion and Gaillard himself brags about the Dons being a "very virile, girl-loving team." He voices no concern if a player keeps later hours.

Explaining his unique philosophy, Gaillard says: "My obligation is to make the guys reach their potential, be competitive and have fun."

Guard Chubby Cox says the lack of curfew "allows us to be our own men. When you're given the opportunity to be your own man, you have more go, more self-price. No one takes advantage of it."

Gaillard likes to contrast himself with coaches on the other end of the spectrum, the kind he calls "marine sergeants."

"I'm as, or more, competitive than any of those guys. I just don't have to prove it. A lot of coaches live their competitiveness through their team. I don't."

"Sophomore Winford Boynes, one of the stars on the Dons' West Coast Athletic Conference champions, said he almost signed with Denny Crum at Louisville. But Gaillard won him over with a simple hand slap, the kind that is popular among players today.

"I couldn't give Coach Crum five," Boynes said. "I could to Coach Gaillard."

Gaillard's easy manner has obviously worked wonders at San Francisco. He became head basketball coach on Dec. 16, 1970, taking over an 0-4 team,

Oilers Place Four Vets On Waivers

HOUSTON (AP) - The Houston Oilers have placed veterans Bubba Smith, Warren McVea and Jim Beirne on waivers.

Smith, a defensive lineman, and receivers McVea and Beirne finished last season on the injured reserve list.

The National Football League team also announced Tuesday it had accepted the retirement of tight end Willie Frazier and signed six players, including four free agents.

Punter Mike Green and quarterback Alvin White were claimed from Miami and New Orleans respectively. The free agents are running backs Lincoln Minor and Bobby Easter, defensive tackle Ted Gordon and defensive back Donnie Walker.

The Oilers also waived second year linebacker Tino Zaragoza, who was hurt in training camp last year and never played.

Meanwhile, the club announced a six game pre-season scheduled which begins Aug. 8 in Oakland against the Super Bowl champion Raiders and includes home games with Baltimore, Chicago, San Francisco and Dallas.

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP) - Louisiana Tech's Mike McConathy finished his final game as a Bulldog with 2,033 points. He is only the second Bulldog to go over the 2,000 mark.

Dietl Accepts Buff AD Post

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) - Drake Sports Information Director Dick Dietl has confirmed that he will accept the athletic director's job at West Texas State.

Dietl, 46, said he will turn in his resignation Thursday to Athletic Director Bob Karnes. He will succeed Gene Mayfield, who resigned on Jan. 8 effective April 1.

"I'm extremely happy," said Dietl. "It's a chance and opportunity not many sports information directors get."

"I have done more than a normal load at Drake tanks to the opportunity Bob Karnes has given me to get my feet wet with athletic administration. And I feel I meet their need in the promotion and fund-raising areas."

Dietl said he will assume his new duties between April 1 and April 10.

West Texas State, with an enrollment of 6,500 students, joined the Missouri Valley Conference in 1972.

Bradley's Phegley Top Valley Player

TULSA (AP) - Bradley's Roger Phegley started the season strong and just kept getting better.

The 6-foot-7 junior from East Peoria, Ill., today was named Valley Conference basketball player of the year.

Phegley finished the season as high scorer in the Valley with an average of 28.1 points per game. He was ranked in the top 10 in all statistical categories and was named player-of-the-week three times.

Phegley hit 57 per cent of his field goal attempts, fourth in the conference; 90 per cent of his free throws and grabbed 6.2 rebounds per game. Only one time in the season was he held to fewer than 20 points in a game.

Playing at both guard and forward, Phegley erased three Bradley records set by Chet Walker. He now holds school records for highest scoring average for a season, 27.4 points; most points by a junior and most in a season, 739.

"There's no phase of the game—shooting, rebounding, ball handling—that he isn't good at," Coach Joe Stowell said. "And he's not a selfish shooter."

"We like to give him the shots because he's such a good scorer. He's accomplished a lot of breaking three of Chet Walker's records and he did so by working hard every day."

Bradley finished the season with a 9-18 record.

Scoring Aces Meet In NIT First Round

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ
AP Sports Writer

HOUSTON (AP) - The "birds" performing in Hofheinz Pavilion tonight when Houston meets Indiana State in a first round match of the National Invitation Tournament NIT will be of no interest to the Audubon Society.

Bird-watching enthusiasts would also have to be basketball fans to enjoy the sights and sounds of Houston's Otis Birdsong and Indiana State's Larry Bird.

Bird, a sophomore from French Lick, Ind., is the nation's No. 3 scorer with a 32.4 average and Birdsong, a senior from Winter Haven, Fla., ranks fourth nationally with a 30.5 average.

The game is one of eight regional contests serving as the first round of the 40th annual NIT, oldest post season basketball tournament in the U.S. First round winners will advance to the quarter-finals in New York's Madison Square Garden March 14-15.

Tournament semifinals are March 17 and the championship game is March 20.

Indiana State comes into the game with a 25-2 record, which ties Nevada-Las Vegas' for the best record in the nation for a major independent.

Bird, who also ranks ninth nationally in rebounding with a 13.4 average, already has caught the eye of scouts—and Cougar coach Guy Lewis.

"They say he's one of the best players in the country," Lewis said. "He not only can shoot but he dribbles well and gets the ball to the open man. And what scares me is they tell me the kid playing next to him is an even better shooter."

Lewis referred to junior Harry Morgan, who is averaging 17 points per game. Indiana State also has 6-11 center DeCarsta

Webster, who averages 16 rebounds per game.

The Cougars hope to counter with a balanced scoring attack that is ranked No. 2 in the nation behind Nevada-Las Vegas. The Cougars, who are 26-7, are averaging 95.2 points per game.

Houston was beaten by Southwest Conference champion Arkansas Saturday in the finals of the SWC tournament here and then was shunned by the National Collegiate Athletic Association-NCAA tournament committee.

"We're just glad to still be paying somewhere," Lewis said. "This team wasn't ready to stop playing basketball. Some years when you finish that last game, everybody's fatigued and ready to quit. But not this team."

The winner of the Cougar-Sycamore game will advance to New York March 14 to play the winner of the Illinois State-Creighton game.

Texas Entries Get NAIA Wins

KANSAS CITY (AP) - Emporia State of Kansas, which had to knock off highly regarded Marymount to get to the NAIA basketball tournament, apparently has found giant-killing to its liking.

The pesky Hornets took advantage of cold shooting and forces a flurry of fouls to upend fourth-seeded Fairmont State W.Va., 76-71, Tuesday night and advance to second-round action in the 40th annual tournament.

"We did exactly what we wanted to -- take it inside and get them to foul," said Emporia State coach Ron Slaymaker, after his squad boosted its record to 24-5. "And as it turned out it was a big factor in the game."

Today's second-round action: Clarion State Pa. vs. Grand Valley State Mich. at 9:30 a.m. Southwestern State Okla. vs. Campbell N.C. at 11:15 a.m. Wisconsin-Parkside vs. Texas Southern at 1 p.m., Newberry S.C. vs. Central Washington at 2:45 p.m., Alabama-Huntsville vs. Alcorn State Miss. at 5:15 p.m.; Hawaii-Hilo vs. Illinois Wesleyan at 7 p.m., East Texas State vs. Emporia State at 8:45 p.m. and Henderson State Ark. vs. Dowling at 1:30 p.m.

In other first-round play Tuesday, Central Washington dumped Keene State N.H., 70-56; Texas Southern buried Central State Ohio, 89-65; East Texas State disposed of Briar, Cliff Iowa, 70-59; Clarion State edged past Augsburg Minn., 88-84, in overtime; Alcorn State thumped Mount Marty S.D., 90-54; Illinois Wesleyan took care of St. Augustine's N.C., 87-67, and Henderson State dismissed Tri-State Ind., 64-54. Emporia State, in recording the fourth upset of the first round but the only one Tuesday took a 31-27 halftime lead after a cold start and pulled away as Fairmont State began losing players to fouls.

Eventually all five Falcon starters went to the bench, and the situation was not helped by 33 per cent shooting by the West Virginia crew.

"We're generally 1 or 2 in our conference with fewest fouls," said Fairmont Coach Joe Relton, whose team ended the year at 21-4.

"But we fouled tonight. The shots wouldn't go in and I think that gave them momentum."

Tennis Clubs Relaxing Rules on All-White Togs

PORT WASHINGTON, Wis. (AP) - The days when all-white clothes were required on tennis courts are gone for now, but perhaps not forever, according to a survey of tennis clubs by a manufacturer of tennis wear.

Of 128 clubs queried by Mondessa Fashions here on their dress code, only one, in Chevy Chase, Md., still insists that players wear all-white clothing. Twelve clubs (9.4 per cent) permit only color trim and another eight (6.3 per cent) rule that players may wear only white or pastel colors.

Twelve clubs believe that a return to an all-white code could happen in some areas.

"White will come back," a Key West, Fla., club manager predicted. And a Fresno, Calif., club thought it might return to an all-white code one day. The strongest plea for all-white came from a club in St. Louis, Mo. "White is beautiful on the courts. Color cheapens it," wrote the club pro.

Other clubs indicated they have recently relaxed their all-white rules although 67 per cent indicated that they enforced some clothing regulations. Some of these codes are rather relaxed - "neatness only" rules a Wrentham, Mass., club and "no swim suits; shoes required" reports a Murrieta Hot Springs, Calif., resort.

Some are stricter. A Sarasota, Fla., club permits only officially approved U.S. Lawn Tennis Association clothing and a New Haven, Conn., club permits "a little color trim on white clothing, but not too much."

A third of the clubs responding to the survey allowed themselves flexibility in interpreting their dress codes by insisting only on "proper tennis attire."

Cutoffs seem to be the bane of 16 per cent of the clubs, which banned them specifically. Other clothing items that clubs disliked are tank tops and T-shirts.

While some club managers and pros yearn for the days of all-white to return, others are ready to accept innovations: "How can one battle the tide of change?" wrote the manager of a Lake Worth, Fla., club.

Still others welcome the disappearance of the all-white custom. "We like colors," said the assistant manager of a club in Bettendorf, Iowa. And a buyer for a St. Louis, Mo., club claimed that "color is more fun."

Manufacturers, once limited to white material and a few basic styles, are now offering a wide variety of court apparel.

"We will continue to offer some all-white styles for the players who want to dress traditionally," says Mondessa Swift, president of the firm that conducted the survey. "But with tennis now appealing to a vast number of new players, most manufacturers will be producing clothes which can double as beach and pool wear, and can even be worn at the supermarkets."

Little Relief For Dry Western States Seen In March Weather

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - In spite of late-February storms that brought new hope to the rain-starved West, March is tip-toeing at its gentlest over an area suffering through one of the driest years in history.

An Associated Press survey of drought-affected Western states shows that an increasingly grim picture has not been brightened by sporadic precipitation breaking through a coastal high pressure system that has held off storms for most of the winter.

Ski resorts from California to Utah, for example, experienced a brief mini-boom in business from only the first or second good snowfall this year. But the snow soon melted.

At a few resorts, it was already too late. Hoping for better times next year, they have shut down lifts, laid off standby employees and boarded up lodges.

In water-rationed Marin

County, across the bay from San Francisco, residents who set out dishpans and buckets to catch rain got only 1 1/2 inches of water after four days of on-and-off rainfall.

East of Colorado, another storm system has settled in, but without bringing rain or snow, just wind to pick up the dusty topsoil.

Scattered along with the soil was an undetermined amount of the unspouted winter wheat seed normally protected by a snow blanket at this time of year.

In Washington, there is a slight chance of a wetter-than-usual spring, but federal officials said that because the first part of the winter was so dry, it would take 285 per cent of normal precipitation before summer to bring conditions back to normal.

In Oregon, long-range snowpack and precipitation forecasts are the worst in 100 years.

In Sacramento, Calif., hydrologists at the National Weather Service's River Forecast Office each week cut their estimates of how much water will run off into California's river and reservoir system.

At the start of February, they predicted only about a third more runoff this summer than in 1924, until now the driest year on record.

But by the beginning of March, chief hydrologist Robert Burnash said the center was predicting -- at best -- just 86 per cent as much water as in 1924, making this the worst drought in California's history.

A report issued Tuesday by California's Department of Water Resources said there was little chance of major rainfall in the immediate future since that off-shore high pressure area has shown no sign of dissipating.

A California economist warned on Tuesday that, under the worst of three possible scenarios, more than 250,000 jobs and $6 billion could be lost in California because of the drought.

Even under the best scenario, Davis Auslam, senior economist with the state Department of Water Resources, told the Governor's Drought Conference in Los Angeles, California will lose about $2.9 billion in income and about 57,000 jobs.

In Washington, D.C., the U.S. Geological Survey said stream flows in February were below normal in 80 per cent of the nation and ground water supplies were being depleted at an alarming rate.

Obituaries

W.O. "BILL" EDELMON
Willis O. "Bill" Edelson, who came here in 1929 from Plainview, died Tuesday night at Westgate Nursing Home at the age of 72.

Policemen Still May Not Testify

AUSTIN (AP) - Texas is the only state in the union that disqualified police officers as witnesses, a Dallas prosecutor has told the House Criminal Jurisprudence Committee.

Asst. Dist. Atty. James Russell Ormsher testified Tuesday for a bill that would permit the introduction of oral confessions at trials.

Sponsored by Rep. G.R. Close R-Perryton, the bill is part of Gov. Dolph Briscoe and House Speaker Bill Clayton's 10-bill anti-crime package. It was referred to a subcommittee.

Under the measure, oral confessions made to and sworn to by at least two police officers would be admissible in court. Under present law, oral admissions a defendant makes while under arrest cannot be admitted unless it leads to corroborating evidence.

For example, an oral confession made by a person who admits he killed someone and threw the gun away could only be admitted if his statement leads to the discovery of the gun.

Oral confessions are also allowable if they are made at the scene of the crime. Written confessions, however, are admissible.

"Under present laws, a whole roomful, a whole stadium full of people could hear a person under arrest confess and it wouldn't be admissible as evidence," said Close.

People who work in fluorescent lighting all the time are heavy users of vitamins and skin oils, reports National Geographic.

W.J. "JOHN" HACKER
Services were conducted this morning for W.J. "John" Hacker, 81, of 442 Roosevelt, in Rose Chapel of Gilliland-Watson Funeral Home by the Rev. Jerry Buckner, associated pastor of First Baptist Church.

Burial was in West Park Cemetery by Gilliland-Watson.

Mr. Hacker died Sunday in Veterans Administration Hospital at Fort Lyon, Colo.

Born at Gainesville in 1896, Mr. Hacker came to this county on 1926 from Oklahoma. He was a building contractor, a veteran of World War I and a member of First Baptist Church.

Survivors include four sons, Morris, Dean and Joe, all of Hereford, Alvin of Stratford; a daughter, Mrs. Mildred Betzen of Oklahoma City; a sister, Mrs. Katie Sikes of Gainesville; 15 grandchildren and a great-grandchild.

Pallbearers were members of the local American Legion Post #192.

 HHS Basketball Seniors Are No. 1 *****

Winning Seniors

These winning Seniors are Larry Ritter, Mike O'Rand, James Mays, Blake Autry, Kenneth

Mercer, and Jim Lawson they were on the District winning team.

Whiteface Staff takes this opportunity to recognize these students who are Senior basketball players at Hereford High School. These students are: Blake Autry, James Mays, Jim Lawson, Kenneth Mercer, Mike O'Rand, and Larry Ritter.

Blake Autry is a transfer student from Amarillo High and played two years of basketball there before coming to H.H.S. this year. His has played basketball for six years. His hobbies are photography and girl watching. He plans to attend college but is not planning to play basketball after graduation. He also hopes to go to Europe or work for the summer.

James Mays started playing basketball several years. "My brothers would make me go outside and play basketball whenever I made him mad at me. So it's been since I have known my brother," commented James.

James Mays plans to go to college and would like to play basketball. His hobbies are playing tennis, swimming, horseback riding, and dating.

James plan to work this summer until he goes to college in the fall. James stated "I'll probably run the 880 in summer track in Dallas.

Jim Lawson got interested in basketball because his father worked a lot with him when he was young. So he's been playing since he can remember.

Jim's favorite hobbies are hunting, swimming, food, bumming around and girl watching. Jim's plans after graduation are to attend college at Texas A&M or Colorado State, but doesn't plan on playing basketball.

Kenneth Mercer started playing basketball by playing street ball with other guys, then began playing in Jr. High. His plans are to attend college and combine playing basketball. His hobby is basketball and after graduation he will work this summer until he goes to school.

Mike O'Rand got interested in basketball because, "I like the sport and it gave me something to do." He's been playing basketball since 5th grade.

Mike plans to go to college but hasn't made up his mind about playing basketball. His hobbies are playing just about any sport and he likes swimming.

Larry Ritter got interested in basketball because of liking the fast action it has and the enjoyment of which he gets out of it. He began playing basketball in the 5th grade.

He plans to go to college but doesn't plan to play any sport. He's hobbies include using a camera and developing his own film and prints. He enlarges some of his prints and hopes to make it his career.

Banquet Held

The annual Employee-Employer Banquet was held last Monday evening 7:30 at the cafeteria. Students from ICT, DE, VOE and CVAE invited their bosses to a banquet and a speech by guest speaker Archie Dwyer, on the Importance of Vocational Education.

The Banquet also helped the employer to get better acquainted with the Vocational Educational program here at Hereford High.

The head of CVAE, Matthews was the Master of Ceremonies. After the meal, various representatives from each organizations gave the highlight of the organization for the past year. Then the guest speaker gave his speech to approximately 260 people at the Banquet.

Barber is the ICT teacher. Mr. Graves is the DE teacher. The teacher of VOE is Mrs. Wartes, and Mr. Robinson is the head of Vocational Education Department were all present at the banquet.

Table decorations and arrangements were made by the students of the various organizations before the banquet started.

Drill Team To Tryout Soon

Hereford's football and basketball halftimes have been accented by the HHS Drill Team. The Highsteppers perform during pep rallies and work hard at making spirit locker tags for the athletic days.

This year the manager for Drill Team has been Brenda Holt. Co-Captains are Lynette Andrews and Laurie Close. Other officers are Cindy Manning, Lieutenant and Kyla Potet, Corporal.

Graduating seniors will be: Candy Trowbridge, Laura Clark, Gayle Yosten, Paula Wiley, Cindy Manning, Micki Merritt, Shelly Scott, Lynette Andrews, Laurie Close, and Patty Johnson. Sponsoring Drill Team is Sue Powell. Mrs. Powell attends all games and practice sessions with the girls.

Officers for 77-78 school year have been chosen. They are: Co-captains; Lori Steinkruger and Kyla Potet, Lieutenant; Donna Paetzold and Corporal will be chosen from the incoming members.

A meeting for the 77-78 school year will be held March 15 at 8:00 in the High School Auditorium. To try out, girls must fit these requirements: Girls must be single, a sophomore or junior, must have a "C" average for all solid subjects, for the second trimester. They can not have an F or U in any subject. All girls must have spent one year as an active member in Pep Squad or Band.

Tryouts consist of a 4 day clinic and one day for try-outs. Cost is about $150.00 for all equipment and suits. Drill Team will perform at all football games and some basketball games.

All members are expected to attend the summer clinic.

Los Mexicanos Preperan Time Is Running Short

Time is running short. Its almost time for graduation. In preparation for graduation celebrations, the Mexican-American students at Hereford High are raising money to have a spanish graduation dance.

Some of the students who are really looking forward to having the dance are Delia Gamez, Beatrice Diaz, and Sylvia Alaniz. They also are working to prepare for the dance.

This dance has been happening for many years. In the past years such bands as the Machismo Band, and Angel Moya have played at the dance. This year the students are trying to get Little Jimmy Edwards to play for them. The students need 1,500 dollars of which they have risen 300 dollars, which was needed to sign the contract.

Several Mexican American students at Hereford High are trying to organize a Spanish Club. Some students have already started part of the club for they have elected officers. The officers are: Pres. Joe Valdez, Vice Pres., Cindy Moreno; Secretary, Alma Gamez; Treasurer, Sylvia Alaniz and Beatrice Diaz; and Sergeant-at-Arms, Arthur Gonzales. This club is working to raise money for the dance.

In order to raise money needed to sponsor the dance, students at Hereford High have held such things as cake walks and bake sells. There will be other things of this sort to help raise the money.

The students are planning to hold a dance to help raise the money, but are not sure if they will have it. A meeting was held on March the 7 to determine if a fund raising dance will be needed.

School Edition To Be Out Soon

Hereford High School Journalism Class is now planning on publishing an "April Fool" edition for the student body. This will be the second paper the Journalism Department will make for their school, with the help of the Printing Trades Department.

Witte who is the Printing Trades Instructor will have classes teamed up to help with the paper.

The reason for putting out school editions is mainly to get the students personally involved.

The paper will come out on April 1, 1977, and will cost 10 cents. The paper will contain a gossip column, and a "Dear Farah".

Also, the students will be able to have personal April Fool messages for 10 cents. The message will appear on the paper.

Competition For Tennis

Hereford High School Tennis Team has begun spring tournament competition. The varsity players this year are: (Boys) Steve Hoover, Ricky Mendiaz, Ralph Vargas, Kevin Lewis, Billy Bayne, Kevin Dowling, Ruben Vargas, Jimmy Ramirez.

Girls are: Karen Grimsley, Shelly Scott, Joni Webb, Kaye Inmon, Polly Robinson, Melinda Tatum, Mindy Mason, Patricia Grimsley. The schedule for this year is as follows:

March 11-12	Hereford Team Tournament	Here
March 15	Monterey at Hereford	Here
March 18-19	Lubbock Tournament	There
March 22	Hereford at Plainview	There
March 25-26	Borger Team Tournament	There
March 28	Dumas at Hereford	Here
April 1-2	Amarillo Relays	There
April 15-16	District Tournament	Lubbock

District Round Robin Matches

Players Hit Diamond

As springtime comes around, so do many spring sports. One of those sports is baseball.

The Hereford High Baseball team will face stiff competition in this year's District 4-AAAA schedule. The Herd is picked to finish in 5th place with Monterey picked to win it all.

"Monterey will be the most competitive of all district teams," comments one Herd Coach. "Last year Monterey missed the state playoffs for the first time in several seasons."

The Herd will go into the season with nine returning lettermen from a 13-16 record last year. They are: Mitch Guinn, Jim Lawson, Kent Herring, Chris Hill, Paul Garcia and Kent Ellis. If there is anything that will hurt the Herd baseball team, is the lack of experience. The Herd varsity will consist mostly of sophomores and juniors with many inexperienced players at starting positions.

"Lack of experience will be offset by the teams eagerness and enthusiasm and also the healthy attitudes about the objectives of baseball," states Herd baseball mentor, Coach Stewart.

The Herd will play 24 regular season and district games and will play in two tournaments (Hereford and Pampa).

When Coach Stewart was asked what he expected of his pitchers, he commented, "We have a fine Jr. pitcher in Chris Hill. We hope he will continue to improve and he will be our workhorse. We also have some Sophomore pitchers who are lacking in experience, but will have plenty of opportunities, they are: Kevin Bunch and Don Weems."

When Coach Stewart was asked how he expected to do this season he said, "We expect to improve as the year moves along because of the lack of experience. I'm hoping the pitching will hold up to give us a chance to improve our hitting." This years varsity coaches are Rick Stewart and David Ashby.

Albracht Reaches Finals In National Merit Test

Hereford High School is once again blessed with a National Merit Scholarship finalist, in Senior Tony Albracht.

It was announced on the 10th of February that Mr. Albracht is in the running for over 3,800 scholarships along with about 14,000 other students that qualified out of over 3,000,000 students that took the test.

The awards that Mr. Albracht could win range from $1,000 scholarships, to four year scholarships offered by colleges and corporations. Over 1,000 national merit $1,000 scholarships will be awarded. 2,800 four year scholarships will also be awarded this spring.

Finalists selected as merit scholarship winners will be publicly announced at different times during the April. On April 6th about 1,300 winners of the corporate sponsored four year will be announced on the 20th of April. 1,000 winners of the National Merit $1,000 Scholarships will be announced and then on April 27th, 1,500 winners of college sponsored four year Merit Scholarships will be announced.

Do You Realize What Student Council Does?

What is Student Council? Student Council is an organization made up entirely of students here at H.H.S. Each Fall, students elect classmates from inside the school to represent them throughout the year in local, district, and state affairs.

Vice Principal Eugene Barkowsky was quoted as saying, "The Student Council has done an outstanding job this year. The students involved in Student Council have worked very hard for the benefit of the school."

This reporter asked Barkowsky if he thought the Student Council was complemented and recognized enough for their efforts and he replied, "No I don't think the students actually realize how hard the President (Horace Gamez) and the Student Council members work for the school. They have accomplished a lot this year without their school would be just pretty dull."

The Whiteface would like to thank the Student Council for bringing us some of assemblies we have had so far this year. We appreciate the tremendous effort and work they have done for the students of H.H.S.

Bill Sent To House On Sales

AUSTIN (AP) - Senators passed on voice vote and sent to the House Tuesday a bill that would exempt Texas newspaper sales from the sales tax, both street and by subscription.

The measure also exempts Texas published magazines from a tax on subscriptions.

Three senators asked to be recorded as voting against the measure, sponsored by Sen. A.M. Aikin, D-Paris. Those opposed were Sens. Bill Moore, D-Bryan; Oscar Mauzy, D-Dallas, and Ike Harris, R-Dallas.

There was no debate on the measure.

A Legislative Budget Board report presented with the Senate bill estimated the measure would result in a general revenue loss of about $5.2 million and a local sales tax loss of $1 million in 1978 and of $5.7 million state and $1.2 million local in 1979.

For over two decades the National Merit Scholarship Program has focused upon one clearly defined sector of the nation's young people, those at the uppermost end of the academic ability scale.

The continuing purposes of the program are to identify and honor academic excellence among U.S. secondary school students, and to award scholarships to a sizable number of highly able students each year. The Merit Program is a privately funded endeavor, the only major scholarship competition that is both independently supported and national in dimension.

The total of Merit Scholarships to be offered in 1977 is more than seven times greater than the number awarded in 1956, the first year of the competition; the value of the awards offered annually has increased from less than $2 million to about $11 million this year.

Tony has to his credit many awards already this year among them are a four-year scholarship to Texas A&M.

Tony is planning a field in probably the Math Field when he is finished with school.

Tony is involved in the C.Y.O. and National Honor Society. Tony is also a member of the H.H.S. Golf team.

Tony's hobbies are golf, reading, and solving crossword puzzles.

Orchestra Concert Features Contest Music

An orchestra concert was presented to the public last Wednesday in the High School auditorium. The concert featured the H.H.S. orchestra and both Junior High orchestras.

All of the orchestras played the music that they will play at UIL competition later in March. The director's usually like to present such concerts in order to give their students a chance to play before an audience in a pressure situation before contest.

The High School orchestra played "Toccata," four movements by Hayden and Rhoymedre. Stanton Junior High's selection included: Allegretto, "Slavonic March" and selected parts of the "Ballet Parisian." The La Plata orchestra featured, "Don Juan," selections from the "Colorado Suite," and "Russian Sailors Dance."

The H.H.S. orchestra is directed by Bill Huff, the Stanton orchestra is under the direction of Royce Cooney and the La Plata orchestra is directed by Ray Jenkins.

Incumbent Re-Elected, Second Defeated At REC Meeting Saturday

One incumbent director was re-elected and another incumbent was defeated during the 30th annual meeting of the Deaf Smith Electrical Cooperative at the Bull Barn Saturday.

A.W. Anthony of Friona was selected for another term as director while Raymond Higginbotham of Hereford was defeated by Jerry Roberts of the Simms Community. Officers of the cooperative will be elected at the next regular board meeting March 17.

Approximately 1,100 people attended the business meeting and enjoyed the meal served by the Catholic Daughters Society of the Holy Family Church at Nazareth.

Bell Earns Hefty Sum In 1976

ST. LOUIS (AP) - Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. has announced earnings of $393 million in 1976, up 17 per cent from the previous year.

The firm said total operating revenues were $3,320,535,000, up 14.4 per cent from 1975, marking the first time in 10 years that revenues increased faster than expenses.

Operating expenses for the year totaled $2,151,690,000, up 14.3 per cent from the year earlier.

The telephone company said it would continue to require external financing of up to $625 million in order to maintain its level of service.

Bell said its construction outlay last year was a record $1,338,047,000. For 1977 the funding for construction is expected to reach $1,608,000,000, the firm said.

Southwestern Bell operates in Missouri, Arkansas, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas.

John Thoreau, father of Henry David Thoreau, was a storekeeper and pencil manufacturer in Concord, Mass.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Wednesday, March 9, the 68th day of 1977. There are 297 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1862, the first battle between ironclad ships was fought in the Civil War encounter between the Monitor and Merrimac at Hampton Roads, Va.

On this date: In 1451, the Italian navigator for whom America is named, Amerigo Vesputici, was born in Florence.

In 1796, Napoleon Bonaparte married Josephine.

In 1860, the first Japanese ambassador to the United States arrived in San Francisco, accompanied by a delegation of 74 men.

In 1916, Mexicans under Pancho Villa attacked Columbus, N.M., killing 15 people.

In 1942, the Japanese completed the conquest of the Dutch island of Java in World War II.

In 1970, the United States declined to recognize the Rhodesia and closed the U.S. consulate in the African country.

Ten years ago: An airliner and a small plane collided near Urbana, Ohio, and both crashed, killing 26 people.

Five years ago: President Richard M. Nixon ordered all airlines to adopt new tighter security measures to prevent hijackings and sabotage.

One year ago: Forty-two skiers were killed when a cable car plunged 200 feet to the ground near the northern Italian city of Trento.

Today's birthdays: Composer Samuel Barber is 67. Conductor Thomas Schippers is 47.

Thought for today: Man learns little from victory but much from defeat. -- a Japanese proverb.

ATTORNEY-GENERAL Griffin Bell, whose own nomination came under strong criticism from liberals in and out of Congress, is now being praised for his selections to fill key posts in the Justice Department. He has named a number of people identified with liberal interests and equal rights groups.

NEW SECRETARY Joseph Califano Jr. has recently proposed the creation of a new federal agency to control the cost of hospital services. Hospital bills represent about 60 per cent of all health care costs, which have been rising much faster than consumer prices in general.

The names of two cities in Africa mean the same thing: Libreville, Gabon Republic, and Freetown, Sierra Leone.

TRC Could Legally Put Cap On Natural Gas Rate Levels

AUSTIN (AP) - A former railroad commissioner says he thinks the agency could find a way to clamp a ceiling on natural gas prices until coal and other energy sources come into play.

William J. Murray testified Tuesday before the House Energy Resources Committee.

"I do believe the commission could find a legal way to put a ceiling on for a few years, then let the free market have its way," Murray said. "The consumer needs a little breathing period to make a transition."

Murray testified at a hearing on a bill by Rep. Tom Uher, D-Bay City, giving the commission power to approve, block or lower gas price changes made under "redetermination clauses."

Redetermination clauses are a standard part of the sales contracts between gas producers and their customers. They allow a producer to jack up a customer's price if he is getting a higher price from another customer, or if the buyer is paying more to another producer.

Uher said his bill would "put a handle on and level out the escalating cost of natural gas."

Walter Richter, representing the Association of Texas Electric Cooperatives, said without such review, "the consuming public has no means of effective input or of insuring a price increase is not excessive."

"It seems to me we have enough regulation and the government getting into everything as it is," said Rep. Jimmy Mankins, D-Kilgore.

Peggy Buchhorn, president of Citizens for Equitable Utilities, said she represented people "who are practically coming to the point of whether they can afford electricity or food."

She suggested rewriting the bill so the utility commission could conduct the review if the legislature gives that agency authority over natural gas companies.

Frank Pitts, representing the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association, urged hands off especially since a federal energy policy has not been formulated.

"How would it the Uher bill hurt the industry next week?" asked Rep. Ed Mays, D-Granbury.

"By playing into the hands of the mortal enemies of the industry and Texas in Washington," replied Pitts.

He mentioned U.S. Sen. Adlai Stevenson III, D-Ill., and U.S. Rep. John Dingell, D-Mich.

"You want the federal to move in and regulate energy in Texas? That is what you are asking for in this bill," he said.

Committee Chairman Joe Hanna, D-Breckenridge, asked Pitts where gas prices were headed.

"In a free market, I think it will hover around the price of a comparable fuel on a BTU basis, and that is $2 to $2.25," Pitts said.

Baptists Condemn Parimutuel Betting

DALLAS (AP) - The race is on between proponents of legalized parimutuel betting and the Texas Baptist General Convention.

Rep. Bill Hall, D-Laredo, started it off Tuesday by introducing a bill that would allow horserace betting on a local option basis.

Hours later, the Baptist Executive Committee said it was "sick and tired of a few legislators trying to convince the entire state government that it should evade its responsibility by allowing local option elections on gambling."

In a prepared statement, the Convention's executive group began marshaling the 2 million Texas Baptists, exhorting them to call and write not only their representatives, but the governor, lieutenant governor and the speaker of the Texas House to lodge their protests.

Making the battle personal as well as political, the Baptist Christian Life Commission was told to make available to churches the positions taken by legislators on the issue "and any action they take which promotes gambling."

"We are fed up with the exaggerated claims of gambling revenues when national studies flatly contradict such claims," the Baptist statement said.

"We are confident that the governor, long pledged to no new taxes, will oppose gambling as a revenue source."

House Speaker Bill Clayton said he would not try to influence the proposed legislation in either direction, but said the measure seems to have a better chance this time around. He said legislators formerly opposed to the betting have said they would support the current bill.

Among the reasons the Baptists oppose gambling, the statement said, are that it leads to corruption of public officials and gives organized crime occasion to increase activity.

Derri Brenner, the sweet virgin turned pill-freak turned successful businesswoman wife of Jay Blackman in NBC's recent Best Seller: Seventh Avenue, has been signed by CBS to star in a pilot, Sheila, based on the Sheila Levine character of book and film... A theatrical landmark in New York, the Circle in the Square theater, will be paid tribute in a two-part program on CBS' Camera Three, March 13 and March 20. Colleen Dewhurst, George C. Scott, Dustin Hoffmann, Vanessa Redgrave, James Earl Jones and Paul Rudd are one-time Circle alumni who will get together for the show.

Among the interesting presenters set for the March 28 Oscars are the team of Sylvester Stallone and Muhammad Ali, and Norman Mailer giving out the writing awards... Jean Marsh is going from "Upstairs, Downstairs" to down home, when she guests in an upcoming segment of "The Waltons"...

The adventures of Louis Leter may be a regular home-screen saga. MGM is putting together a pilot version of their film "Hearts of the West."

"Roots" may still have room to grow. David Welpe who produced the mini-series says there is still one-third of the book left, and additional segments may be filmed... Palm Sunday, April 3, has been set to open the Franco Zeffirelli six-hour epic, "Jesus of Nazareth." Among the international acting luminaries starring in the production are Robert Powell (the father in "Tommy") as Jesus, Anne Bancroft as Mary Magdalene, James Farentino as Peter, Ian McShane as Judas, Laurence Olivier as Nicodemus, Rod Steiger as Pontius Pilate and Michael York as John the Baptist. The special will conclude the following week on Easter Sunday.

Ann-Margret will be a Southern belle for a night

DORRI BRENNER: With Mary Tyler Moore leaving TV land, she may be CBS's bright new career woman.

Missie Pearl are scheduled to guest... Production has been completed on "The Possessed," a 90-minute TV movie which is a pilot for NBC. James Farentino stars in this tale of a supernatural threat to a girls school. Jean Hackett plays the headmistress... Clu Gulager stars as a private eye in the West of the 1970s in "Charlie Cobb," another NBC series pilot. Guests include Ralph Bellamy, Stella Stevens, Persell Roberts and Tricia O'Neil.

And more pilots at NBC -- Tony Roberts and Squire Fridell will play a couple of flamboyant attorneys in a pilot movie entitled "Rosetti and Ryan." John Astin is directing the feature and his wife Patty Duke Astin is featured in the film... Then for some laughs, there's David Huddleston as the head of a family who operate a two-pump gas station in California in "The Kalikaks." Also in the cast are Kathleen Nolan, Bonnie Ebsen, Damon Bradley Raskin and Peter Palmer.

bought under the act in 1975.

School districts may now automatically be free of cost and time factors with the initiative to file suit. The Midland School Board was in a similar situation as some other districts, but it decided not to file suit there by avoiding court costs.

The Justice Department was concerned that the place system of voting could possibly dilute or otherwise adversely affect the minority representation on the Hereford School Board of Trustees.

Justice Department attorney Jeremy Schwartz had sought a 10-day extension in the case so he could file another brief, but Judge Woodward denied it.

DR. HARRELL HOLDER, superintendent, described the attorney as ill prepared to defend the case of the Justice Department and that Woodward slammed the gavel down while the attorney was left standing.

Green, who along with Earnest Langley represented the school, successfully argued that the district did not register voters and therefore was not a political subdivision as defined in the act.

The judge concurred saying, "That's what Congress intended and that's what I hold. The Act defines a political subdivision as one which registers voters."

Holder said, "We apparently won today (Tuesday), but it is not the end of the road."

An appeal is likely although the Justice Department would not comment on that possibility. It now proceeds through the 5th Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans.

Before the judge ruled in favor of the district, he first decided he and not a three-judge panel could hear the case. The Justice Department wished for the panel as specified in the act which would have allowed any appeals to go straight to the U.S. Supreme Court.

The judge was given partial support for his decision in a case decided in February in Beville, Tex., where a federal district judge ruled that the city was not a political subdivision. A class action suit by individual citizens had sought to prevent the city from deciding to amend the city charter to allow councilmen to be elected from five districts rather than at-large.

Originally, the school attorneys planned to bring to the stand a deputy of Deaf Smith Tax Assessor-Collector Nell Miller, School District Tax Assessor-Collector Fred Fox, School Board Secretary James Gentry and possibly Superintendent Harrell Holder and Board President Jim Conkwright. However, the judge apparently decided all he needed was the affidavits submitted from Miller and tax assessor-collectors in Parmer and Castro Counties, in which parts of the district fall.

AFTER HEARING about 15 minutes of arguments from Green and more from Schwartz, Woodward made his decision.

David Hutchins, the only board member not to vote in favor of the suit, said, "I am very pleased with the decision. I more than anyone wanted to win this suit."

He said he voted no originally because he thought the money for legal fees could have been better spent, but that after the board voted to sue, he backed it all the way.

Conkwright also felt "happy" about the suit's outcome. He said it was good to have the first step in the case settled before the new board trustees take office in April.

"I also feel relieved that something was decided before I left office," Conkwright noted since he is not running for re-election. "We're sitting pretty... and it leaves the new board with less pressure." Gentry and school trustee Lynton

Allred also expressed joy over the decision but cautioned that the appeals are yet to come and the case would no doubt be heard again.

Mrs. Sallie Strain and Clark Andrews, both present at the hearing, were relieved too especially since the last school district suit involving former teacher Wayne Woodward was lost.

AN ARGUMENT submitted by Schwartz was that the Act's definition of a political subdivision was not applicable since the whole state was covered by the act. He claimed the history of the act

Carter

He warned that Americans who want to visit those nations should take precautions because the United States has no diplomatic relations there and the establishment of such ties is "a doubtful prospect at this point."

Carter's announcement at a nationally broadcast news conference confirmed reports that had surfaced earlier at the State Department.

Carter also said he is sending Congress a $1.5-billion, youth employment program as part of his economic stimulation plan. He said it will seek the creation of about one million full-time jobs and one million summer jobs to counter extraordinarily high unemployment among young people, particularly minorities in urban areas.

Carter's economic stimulus program had been criticized recently by big city mayors for not doing more to produce summer jobs for young people.

During the news conference, the President also made these points:

- Said his commitment to withdraw ground troops from Korea has not changed. During the campaign, Carter favored a gradual withdrawal of ground troops. Any withdrawal, he said, would be accomplished over a four-to-five-year period and would have to be done in cooperation with the governments of South Korea and Japan.

- Speaking about the Middle East, the President said there may have to be some "minor adjustment" to borders established after the 1967 Israeli-Arab war. "We will know by mid-May the positions of the interested parties," Carter said.

He said he could not discuss details of new borders in the Middle East because he has not yet met with Arab leaders. The issue of new borders, he said, "is obviously one of the most serious problems."

- Asked about reports of a grand jury would support the argument.

The judge was concerned that if the district were not covered by the act, someone's substantive right would be cut off.

Green confirmed that numerous laws existed on which a persons could base a suit if the individual felt discriminated against by the district.

He explained that taxpayers are saved a lot of money if the judge's decision is upheld through the appeals across since every time a submission is made to the federal government for approval, it costs time and funds.

investigation of former CIA Director Richard Helms and whether Carter had asked for CIA documents about the matter, the President said:

"I have not been asked for any documents and the Helms case has not come to my attention. Whether to proceed with the case will be the exclusive right of the Justice Department."

A grand jury reportedly is probing whether Helms lied to a congressional committee.

Gunman Gives Up, Releases Policeman

WARRENSVILLE HEIGHTS, Ohio (AP)—A black gunman released unharmed today the white policeman he had held hostage for 45 hours while complaining of oppression of blacks and demanding that whites leave the planet within seven days, police said.

The release came shortly after President Carter repeated during a nationally televised news conference his earlier promise to speak with gunman Cory Moore after the hostage, Capt. Leo Keglovic, was freed.

Moore gave his two handguns to Keglovic and the police captain then led him out of the city hall room where the siege had taken place and turned him over to police who waited in the corridor, Police Chief Craig Merchant said.

Keglovic, a 49-year-old diabetic, was taken to a nearby hospital, but authorities said he was unharmed.

Moore was allowed to go outside under policy custody to speak with reporters.

Brock Elected To NEA Board By Texas Teachers

Gene Brock, Hereford High School teacher and vocational adjustment coordinator, has won a runoff election for a place on the board of directors of the National Education Association (NEA).

Brock won over his competitor of El Paso by a vote of 41,074 to 34,303 in a statewide run off election among individual Texas State Teacher Association (TSTA) members according to Preston Clark of the TSTA headquarters in Austin.

A runoff was held to determine the winner through the organization's headquarters. A five member committee in Austin canvassed the votes this week.

The NEA director's term will begin Sept. 1 and run for one year. Brock will be one of six Texas educators on the NEA board.

A veteran of 17 years in Texas Schools as a teacher, Brock is currently president of TSTA District 16. He is a member of the Deaf Smith County unit of the TSTA and the Texas Classroom Teachers Association.

He received his bachelor's degree from Hardin-Simmons University in 1956 and a master's degree from West Texas State University in 1968. Before teaching in Hereford, he taught in the Springlake-Earth Independent School District and the McCaulley Independent School District.

A native of Vernon, Brock attended public schools in Chillicothe.

He has served as president and Key Club advisor in the Whiteface Kiwanis Club and was honored as the Kiwanian of the Year.

Brock's wife Cathy works in the Vocational Education For Handicapped Laboratory at La Plata Junior High School. Mr. and Mrs. Brock have two grown children Jerry and Mrs. Brenda Hardesty.

Carter Accused of Neglecting Victims Of Drought In West

WASHINGTON (AP)— Sen. Henry M. Jackson accused the Carter administration Tuesday of neglecting the drought emergency in the West and sending "a pigeon" to testify before his committee in opposition to a bill aimed at redistributing scarce water supplies.

The Washington Democrat said he was dismayed by the administration's decision to oppose a plan under which some farmers would be paid to give up their water to farmers whose crops need it more desperately.

"This is a very poor way to handle a drought," Jackson declared as his Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee heard testimony on a $200-million plan that would, among other things, establish a "water bank" for redistributing water in the West.

Acting Interior Secretary Christopher G. Farrand testified that the administration feels the plan is premature and would deal only with some aspects of the drought. A Bureau of Reclamation official testified last week that the proposal seemed to be a good idea.

Farrand said the administration had not yet decided upon the best way to provide emergency relief for farmers affected by the drought. He added that he could not say when this over-all plan would be ready.

"Well what good are you anyway?" Jackson said. "What are you up here for? I'm just appalled that the new administration would send someone up here and come in with this kind of story when time is of the essence."

Jackson also accused Carter of failing to fill top executive positions in the Interior Department. "The secretary of interior is the only one down there who's sworn in," he declared.

He then told Farrand: "It looks like they've just sent you up as a pigeon."

And he continued his attack on Carter's handling of the water scarcities saying, "you started out with a stupid thing, turning around in the middle of the drought and canceling 19 water projects."

It was a reference to Carter's decision to delete funding for 19 water and dam projects in the budget he submitted to Congress last month.

Under consideration is a bill introduced by Jackson that would provide government subsidies to pay farmers of annual crops to share their water with perennial farmers in the same irrigation system.

Jackson said that while the proposal was introduced with Washington state's drought-stricken Yakima Valley in mind, it also could help numerous other areas in the West, including California's vast Central Valley.

In fact, the plan had been endorsed by E.F. Sullivan, acting Bureau of Reclamation commissioner, in testimony before Jackson's panel last week.

But Farrand said the administration had rejected the plan after reviewing it more closely, deciding that all drought aid recommendations would be placed in one proposal that would be submitted to Congress at a later time.

"I think this is just sheer nonsense," Jackson said. "Is this the announcement today that the administration is not willing to help?"

TAKING ISSUE with President Carter's program for stimulating the economy, Federal Reserve Chairman Arthur Burns opposes the proposed tax rebates and cuts. Their effect, he maintains, would be superficial with little impact on basic causes of economic sluggishness.

TWU Not Allowed To Establish Medical School In Rio Grande

AUSTIN (AP)—The Texas College Coordinating Board rejected a bid Tuesday by Texas Women's University to establish a Rio Grande Valley medical school aimed at alleviating doctor shortages in South Texas.

Only Tony Bonilla of Corpus Christi and Marshall Formby of Plainview dissented in the board's 10-2 vote.

Several board members acknowledged that there is a shortage of physicians in the poverty-stricken regions of South Texas, but said they didn't feel another medical school would keep doctors from migrating to large cities.

TWU's proposal called for the creation of a medical school emphasizing the training of family practice physicians. TWU officials said the school was aimed at providing more doctors for the area.

The board, however, apparently left the door slightly ajar by establishing as their top priority a committee to study ways of keeping doctors in rural areas.

"The answer to that problem doctor shortage is not the creation of another medical school," said board member

Paul Teague of Texas City. "I don't think it's a matter for the coordinating board to handle."

Teague also cited the lack of a "adequate primary teaching hospital" in South Texas, saying, "That means the state will have to build another major teaching hospital... this time in the Valley."

Board member Harold Herndon of San Antonio said attempting to establish a medical school without a teaching hospital would create "a turmoil" in South Texas.

"If I thought creating another medical school would alleviate the problem... I don't care what the cost, I'd vote for it," said board member Newton Gresham of Houston. "But this would not solve the problem."

Formby disagreed. "It seems to me that if you put enough medical schools in the state, you'll have enough doctors."

"The board has applied a double standard on occasion," argued Bonilla. He was referring to the board's action Tuesday that removed the final obstacle to a Texas A&M College of Medicine. The board, in effect, officially changed the A&M school from a "program of medicine" to full college.

Bonilla said the school is needed to provide for more minority and women medical students and to keep Texas students from leaving the country if there aren't enough places in Texas schools.

"We should take care of our own," said Bonilla. "The lives and needs of the people far outweigh the money involved."

The board's program development committee held four and a half hours of hearings on the proposal Monday before voting unanimously to reject it. It came before the full board Tuesday.

Taxes drive N.Y. farmers bankrupt

Flockless 'ministers' fight for farms

By Tom Tiede

HARDENBURGH, N.Y. — (NEA) — Bob Barnhart's family has been farming this area since the birth of the nation. His great, great grandfather cut usable land out of the mountain timber when Thomas Jefferson was president. His great grandfather worked it during the Civil War, and father through World Wars I and II.

Now the family farm is up for sale. After 200 years of ownership the Barnhart family can no longer afford the luxury of earning a living from their land. The reason is sky-high property taxes.

In 1975 the income from the 330-acre dairy farm was $8,000, of which $4,800, or nearly two-thirds, was taken by the government for property tax. Barnhart says last year's income was similarly modest, but the tax bite, due soon, will be even larger. "I can't go on," he says. "If I did my tax would soon be more than my earnings."

citizens are caught in the resulting squeeze.

How has it happened? Barnhart and his neighbors have a ready, angry answer. In Hardenburgh, they say, more than 40 per cent of the land is owned by religious and fraternal organizations that claim property tax exemptions. The county thus makes up for the loss of this revenue by shifting more burden to non-exempt owners.

The exemptions are perfectly legal. Like other states, New York excuses a variety of groups from property taxation. Initially the exemption idea was to foster separation of church and state, more recently it has developed into a benevolent loophole for almost anyone professing charitable, educational or philosophical aims.

The Boy Scouts own a large chunk of untaxable property in Hardenburgh. Zen Buddhists have erected posh buildings on $1.3 million worth of untaxable acreage. Even a private club has found a way to get 3,900 of its acres off the tax rolls; it gave the land to an "educational" subsidiary which the law says qualifies for exemption.

"We also have Tibetan monks who own land here," says an embittered Barnhart. "This means we have people who are not citizens of the country who are excused from taxes. And who pays for them? I do. And my neighbors do. We are going broke paying for them."

Before bankruptcies came about, however, many in Hardenburgh intend to fight fire with fire. With the help of a mail order religious sect called Universal Life Church, nine of 18 adult residents have become instant ministers; they have also declared their land as ministerial, and are filing this year for property tax exemption.

Barnhart is one of them. He has been "ordained" by a local ULC "cardinal" named George McLain. McLain says he has brought more than 25,000 New Yorkers into ULC. He says he never encourages them to seek tax exemption, "only to see the light," but he clearly believes that if the exemptions are requested they should be granted.

Obviously, Barnhart and his neighbors believe this also. At least they hope it. ULC is a shabby, moneymaking aberration operated out of Modesto, California, but for the desperate in Hardenburgh it may truly be a Godsend. "If a Zen Buddhist can be tax exempt," says Barnhart, "then why can't I? That's the question here."

In the short run, at least, the question may be answered in favor of Barnhart and his neighbors. Several area tax assessors say that despite its lack of standing, ULC is probably legally entitled to tax exemption. Thus the Hardenburgh assessor is planning to accept any exemption application this May that is properly filed.

"Why shouldn't he?" asks McLain, who was a plumber before becoming a "cardinal." He says ULC is surely as legitimate as a Transcendental Meditation group, one of which owns land in the region. He points out that New York City once gave tax exempt status to a "philosophical" corporation which on closer examination turned out to be a brothel.

The laws are loose, McLain says. Besides, if it can help people save their homes, ULC is doing more good than most religions.

But tax relief by trickery is not in fact what Barnhart and his friends want. They are decent people, hard working and sensible. They realize every contributing citizen must pay a fair share of taxes. Hence what they seek is equality; they hope the ULC play will convince lawmakers that no one should be exempt from property tax.

If everyone paid, says Bob Barnhart, the Hardenburgh property taxes would be cut almost in half. That way he might keep his farm. That way he might keep his land beyond its Bicentennial.

As it is, the Barnhart family must sell. And since the land is taxed too high to interest another farmer, there seems only one way for it to go. Barnhart says he has two prospective buyers, both of whom would turn the land into still another tax exempt sanctuary.

Consumers Have Voice In Safety Proposal

[NOTE TO EDITORS: This news release is based on information presented to representatives during the 1977 Texas Agricultural Extension Service Press Day.]

COLLEGE STATION—Consumers can have a voice in a proposal to regulate the flammability of all wearing apparel currently under consideration by the Consumer Product Safety Commission, by writing or telephoning the commission directly.

There are several points on which consumers might base opinions or questions concerning flammability regulations, according to Margaret Ann Vanderpoorten, clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

The proposal, if enacted, will specifically regulate both fabrics and garments.

As the proposal is currently worded, regulations will be based on a classification system developed for fabrics and garments—in which they will be classified according to specifications that define the speed with which they ignite or transfer heat, the garment designs and uses, and the degree of flammability-risk that they pose to the wearer.

"Before any flammability standard is enacted, problems must be solved and questions answered by consumers, government agencies and the apparel industry," Miss Vanderpoorten said.

Inquiries and comments may be directed to Irene Melvin, Director, Office of Public Affairs, Consumer Product Safety Commission, Washington, D.C. 20207—or by calling toll free 800-438-2066.

"Clothing-related fires cause an estimated 300-500 deaths and 20,000-30,000 injuries annually," the specialist said.

"Ignition sources for these fires are matches, cigarettes and other unprotected heat sources. Many of these ignition sources are not regulated currently.

To assure greater protection, then, consumers might first ask if strict flame-retardant standards are needed for clothing.

Currently some manufacturers are voluntarily providing some flame-retardant clothing, such as children's day wear, uniforms, slacks, shirts, sweaters and institutional garments.

"However, to meet any flammability standard, additional research laboratories and technicians will be needed in the textile industry to develop new and improved flame-retardant fabrics," she added.

"In order to insure meeting flammability standards, industry may choose to use only fabrics with low heat-transfer rates.

"Also, any changes in industry that increase production costs will influence clothing prices. Are consumers willing—and financially able—to pay for flame-retardant fabrics?"

Research has shown that some finishes may be carcinogenic (cancer-causing) and have, in fact, caused cancer in animals.

Tests are being continued to investigate possible dangers to wearers. The effect of future research on the flame-retardant fabrics effort is yet to be determined," she added.

"Another major point for consumers to consider is caring for flame-retardant fabrics."

"Incorrect care methods will cause some fabrics to lose their flame-retardant properties," the specialist noted. "Will consumers follow special care instructions to retain flame-retardant properties?"

"Still another major point for consumer consideration is characteristics of fabrics with flame-retardant properties," the specialist said.

"Treatment for flame retardancy often causes fabrics to lose strength and wear out sooner.

"Also, consumer complaints about today's flame-retardant garment include dissatisfaction with lower moisture absorption, fabric stiffness, and a harsh uncomfortable feel to the fabric.

"These problems and questions indicate a need for consumers to become aware of implications of the proposed standard. It is increasingly important that consumers become involved in issues that affect their choices in the marketplace," the specialist said.

Adjustment Hard For POW Families

COLLEGE STATION—Wives of returned Vietnam prisoners of war often find adjusting to having their husband home again calls for special care. Debby Johnson, a family life education specialist, says.

She is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Wives may encounter many emotional problems, such as planning for a future with or without a husband, striving for personal growth and independence, struggling with financial, social and legal problems and dealing with family criticism and feelings of guilt.

A recent study of 48 families of returned prisoners of war, by the Naval Health Research Center, provides partial explanation for why some families can overcome the stresses and others experience severe disruption and instability.

For this group of families, couples who had been married longer seemed to adjust better to the separation and reunion. During prolonged periods of separation, wives altered the family life styles by developing greater independence and self-confidence. Couples who were married longer had acquired the interpersonal skills necessary to make the reunion less tense and stressful.

Consistent with the findings from studies done after World War II and the Depression, couples with happy and satisfying relationships prior to the separation experienced fewer stresses during the reunion.

Miss Johnson said research noted that "the establishment of a relationship strong enough to endure the stresses of separation and the trials of reintegrations was accomplished early in marriage."

While some of the wives made the decision to terminate the marriage in advance of their husband's return, the majority in this sample waited to discuss it with their husbands. Families who had left the father role open during the absence, rather than delegating it entirely to other family members or organizations, found the reintegrating process more successful.

Research further indicated that counseling with the families prior to and after the return of the husband helped relieve some of the stress.

Insurance Firms Said Not Seeking Right To Set Their Own Prices

AUSTIN (AP)— Insurance companies are not seeking the right to set their own rates in order to help the public, says State Insurance Board Chairman Joe Christie.

"They are proposing this bill for the benefit of the insurance industry," Christie told the House Insurance Committee Tuesday night.

In the four years he has been chairman, Christie said, the board has saved Texans hundreds of thousands of dollars by keeping rates lower than those requested by the insurance industry.

The savings in car insurance premiums in 1973 amounted to $12 million, in 1974 $61 million, in 1975 $29 million, and last year $73 million, Christie said.

Christie testified against a bill by the committee chairman, Rep. Bob Davis, R-Dallas, that would permit insurance firms to set their own rates on casualty and car insurance, subject to rollback if the board finds the rates are excessive or discriminatory.

The bill has no provision for refund of premiums the board orders reduced.

"The insurance lobbyists are asking you members of the committee to trade a proven system, which has consistently denied the full rate increases sought by the insurance companies, for a system which promises nothing," Christie said.

"You are being asked to swap a system which gives the public a voice in rate making for a system which leaves rate making to the whims of the insurance companies," he said.

The insurance industry may argue that flexible rates will permit greater competition and drive down premiums, Christie said, but all one has to do is look at what has happened with county mutual insurance companies, which by law are allowed to set their rates on car insurance.

Comprehensive coverage runs 107 to 171 per cent higher than the board's rates, he said. Liability coverage averages 6 to 50 per cent higher, and collision coverage averages 21 to 119 per cent higher, he said.

"We believe our record shows public voice in insurance rate making is being heard. That is what the insurance companies mean when they complain that the present system allows 'political pressures' to enter in the rate making process.

"If the companies don't know that 'political pressures' is what makes democracy work, they have a lot to learn about our form of government," Christie said.

Don Cavness, an Austin insurance agent, spoke for the bill. A former legislator who specialized in insurance law, Cavness noted that life insurance, hospitalization insurance, accident and health insurance, accident and health insurance, were not similarly regulated.

"Is fire and car insurance such a dire necessity for Texans that they must be regulated?" Cavness said.

"Then why don't we set the rates on washing machines, or dryers, or houses? Let casualty insurance companies fight it out like everybody else, in the market place."

"The only purpose of insurance companies is to write insurance, fulfill a need and make a bare profit," Cavness said.

Davis said the bill would be referred to a subcommittee.

Tower Opposes Warnke Despite Good Chances Of Nomination

WASHINGTON (AP)— Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., has defended the campaign he and other conservatives have waged against the nomination of Paul Warnke as chief American disarmament negotiator, then conceded there is almost no chance the nomination will be defeated.

Tower said Tuesday the anti-Warnke campaign was justified for the purpose of "sending a signal to the Soviets."

The drive by conservatives drew angry rhetoric on the eve of the Senate vote on the nomination. Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., charged that the Warnke foes were acting "reprehensibly and irresponsibly" in attacking Warnke when they had no chance of getting a Senate majority to reject him.

Calling the conservative group "opponents of arms control," Kennedy said their only goal was to damage Warnke's ability to negotiate a new arms limitation treaty with the Soviets.

Later in the debate, Tower was visibly irritated. "The people who oppose Mr. Warnke are devoted to the idea of beating swords into plowshares, but they insist that the Soviets should participate," Tower said.

He called Warnke's position on arms control "naive in the extreme."

In the later interview, Tower said that there was only a "very outside chance" of defeating Warnke.

There is much concern over the size of a Warnke majority. Any treaty he negotiates will need the approval to two-thirds of the Senate, and Tower hopes to deny Warnke more than one-third of the votes.

Tower's Texas colleague, Democrat Lloyd Bentsen, has yet to announce a position on the Warnke nomination.

War Game

Chess was invented in India in the seventh century A.D. as a war game to illustrate and rehearse proposed army movements for real engagements. Its name comes from the Indian "chaturanga" meaning "consisting of four divisions", the four kinds of troops in the traditional Indian army: infantry, cavalry, chariots and elephants, along with the Supreme Commander (King) and his Minister (changed by Italians to the Queen).
