A NEW ROWE TOWNSITE

Land Bought and Company Organized for the Purpose of Moving Town of Rowe.

Fifty-five dollars an acre for Donley county land. How does that sound to the black land wise guy who thought a year ago that $5 and $10 per acre was too much for Panhandle lands. Well that, a fact. That price was paid for the 100-acre improved farm of O. D. King, one mile east of Rowe, and about 15 miles east of Clarendon, the county seat. Land all around Mr. King has been held at from $10 to $20 and $35 per acre for a year or more, but the secret of the high value of his 100 acres is the fact that the tract lies just where the company organized this week at Rowe wants to start a new town. Or rather, they want to move the present town of Rowe one mile east of its present location.

Some of the members of the new company were in town Monday with Mr. King seeing after the details of the trade, and while they had little to say for publication as to the plans and prospects of the townsite, we gathered that all the business people of Rowe were willing that the move should be made and would move their stores as soon as possible. Also we learned that County Surveyor Clark will this week survey and plat out the new townsite.

Mr. King, who sold the land, was the first man to come to Donley county and pay as high as $12 per acre for land. At the time he did so several years ago he was considered by some as well, to say the least, somewhat lavish with his money. Events seem to indicate that Mr. King is the possessor of about as long a head and as keen a business judgment as can be found.

W. H. Patrick reports that the farmers who obtained sugar beet seed from him for trial, (a dozen or more in number) are all getting good results. The plants are growing finely, look thrifty and promise well. If the test shows plenty of sugar an important industry may be the result of the experimental growth.

Prof. Silvey informs us that there is prospects of a good attendance on the Panhandle Summer Normal at Hereford. Some five or six teachers from Clarendon will attend. Prof. Silvey is one of the faculty.

K. P. HALL A GAY PLACE

Knights Entertain Their Ladies With A Banquet Wednesday Night and Score a Grand Success.

At their lodge rooms Wednesday evening the local lodge Knights of Pythias entertained the Rathbone Sisters and a number of friends with an informal banquet. The affair was one of the nicest in the history of Clarendon lodges. The hall was crowded, the ladies outnumbering the gentlemen by a big majority, tending to make the evening all the more enjoyable. Robt. H. Curnutte was master of ceremonies. Several speeches were made by the gentlemen and a number of recitations rendered by ladies. Little Miss Zou Blair, of Rowe, completely captivated the entire gathering by her recitations. It was too funny to hear this little 7-year-old tell about her father joining the K. P.'s. In the center of the lodge room was displayed a beautiful cake with floral design and K. P. emblem, and after the little lady's second effort the Knights unanimously decided to present her with the cake.

W. H. Cooke made the principal address of the evening and covered himself with glory in so doing. Many of "Uncle Bill's" friends learned for the first time that he was an extemporaneous poet, and an after dinner speaker of the Chauncey Depew class.

The refreshments came on about 10:30, and were most excellent as well as ample. The gathering dispersed at a late hour, all voting it a huge success.

Meeting Called.

CANTALOUPE GROWERS, ATTENTION:

A meeting of the Donley County Cantaloupe Raisers Association is hereby called for Saturday, June 23. Meeting will be held at 3 p. m. at the court house. A full attendance is requested as much important business is to be transacted and every member is expected to be present. Please do not fail us.

COUNTY PRIMARIES, OR NO

County Democratic Executive Committee Will Meet Monday and Decide This Question.

A. M. Beville, chairman of the Donley County Democratic Executive Committee, has announced his appointments of precinct chairmen, as follows: Lelia, W. B. Sims; Rowe, E. E. McGee; Whitefish, F. R. McCracken; Jericho, Earnest Reeves; Old Town, N. N. Martin; R. O. Headquarters, Bob Williams; Giles, J. S. Young. These with F. D. Martin from the Clarendon precinct completes the executive committee, which is called to meet at the court house next Monday, June 18. According to law now the committee must meet on that date. The principal business will be to arrange for the holding of a primary election on July 28 for state and district officers, and to settle the question of whether or no a primary will be held on the same date for county officers.

Notices were mailed each precinct chairman this week, and all are most urgently requested to attend this meeting.

DR. WINN TO OLD SOLDIERS.

Speech Delivered at the Ex-Confederate Picnic in Clarendon, May 19, 1906.

The Banner-Stockman has had many requests to print the speech of Dr. H. J. Winn, delivered at the recent old soldiers' picnic in Clarendon, and this week presents the first installment of same, to be concluded next week. It will prove of interest to all ex-confederates, both those who have been reconstructed and those who have not.

FELLOW COMRADES, LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:—

Appreciating the fact that at my time of life when discussing questions and times of the past which appeal strongly to my heart, mind and soul, I am somewhat impassioned and thus speak unadvisedly, I will ask your indulgence for using my manuscript in addressing you.

I propose on this occasion to try to interest you for a short time by recalling to your attention certain conditions and questions existing in the South before and at the beginning of the Civil war which greatly interested and vitally concerned the people of the South. Before entering upon this line, however, I will say to you that I appear before you at the age of seventy an unreconstructed rebel. It may appear to some of you strange that a man born in Alabama and who has lived in Texas the past eleven years and who has lived forty years of the seventy in the South since the civil war, the result of which (war) was to open up the benighted(?) South to the illuminating garish light of Yankee civilization, could be so deluded as to be willing to acknowledge himself still to be one of that much abused and vilified class. Then listen to me while I tell why and how this is so.

First let me tell you that I glory in the word "Rebel," and my heart still thrills with emotions of pleasure and pride to be so called and classed. Whenever I hear that dear old word "Rebel" pronounced, instantly flashes through my brain in panoramic procession a mighty host of heroes marching on to war, "the latchet of whose shoes I am unworthy to unloose"—men who, during civil years of war—real war, displayed a heroism, a courage, a steadfastness in the discharge of duty, to their country under difficulties and disasters, triumphs and defeats, amid carnage and slaughter, to the very last when Johnston and Lee surrendered their armies—altogether presenting a picture unparalleled in the history of war in any age or in any country—these were the men called "Rebels." Men, who in their day glorified humanity and hence became a transfigured host of God in the realms of bliss beyond.

Do you wonder that I glory in being one of this host? The wonder to me is that I dare publicly to proclaim, unworthy as I am, that I was one of them, it matters not what they be called. But the unreconstructed Rebel, what of him? I glory also in still being him, too. Why? I will tell you. During the forty years of my life, living in the South with the light of Yankee civilization pouring in upon her prostrate people since the war ended and the cyclone of Yankee rule passing over them, I have seen no reasons to swerve from the positions announced by that peerless Confederate soldier and representative American, Gen. Robert E. Lee, than whom no age or country ever produced a loftier spirit, or more clear sighted, conscientious christian gentleman, who in referring two days before surrender to the hopelessness of our cause used these immortal words:

"We had, I was satisfied, sacred principles to maintain and rights to defend for which we were in duty bound to do our best, even if we perished in the endeavor." Upon these words I stand and with my last breath will so believe and declare.

The period from 1820 to 1860, particularly the last 20 years of that epoch, affords many things which we of the South may look back upon with pride and pleasurable gratification. For during these years the South reached her greatest power and grandeur, and the beauties, attractions and charms of her civilization shone with greatest splendor. During that time she practically controlled and directed all the policies of the United States. She had maintained the institution of slavery at the very doors of the United States Congress, and made every great acquisition of slave territory she had insisted upon, and maintained a declining tariff tax for revenue only, pursued a wise and strong foreign policy refraining from intermeddling with the affairs of other countries. She was aggressive on one line only—the acquisition of territory, by legitimate means. In her land hunger she was insatiable. This was ever present with her and a fear that slavery would be hedged in and thus destroyed became a craze with her leaders and had much to do with her final overthrow. Even when she swallowed the entire state of Texas, when Texas was annexed as a slave state, I do not believe her hunger was satisfied for more than 24 hours, so great was her powers of assimilation of slave territory.

The policies advocated by the South were on the lines of Jeffersonian Democracy and for 40 years she controlled the government almost absolutely. In fact, it was an absolute necessity that she should do so, and it was only in a very few instances, mainly on questions relating to the extension of slavery into the Territories, that there were any exceptions to the rule of absolute control of the United States Government by the South, during the above stated period. This was the case too, up to the very end when her leaders left the U. S. Congress in 1861, notwithstanding a rapidly growing disproportion favorable to the free states in numerical strength between the east and the south.

Southern leaders early realized that their only hope lay in absolute control of the government. In order to do this it was necessary to furnish leaders who were not merely the equals but the superiors of the northern public men; in a word, they must rule. The South sent men of acknowledged ability only to represent them—men of slow voices, leisurely bearing and great capacity for intimate personal relationships, and of inbred fondness for power and mastery. These leaders at Washington stood for "not slavery alone,—not cotton and rice and sugar cane alone— not agriculture alone, but for the whole civilization then existing in the States they represented." They were committed for the maintenance, in supposedly the most progressive country in the world, of a primitive labor system, and a patriarchal mode of life. They held that their main industry could be successfully prosecuted only with slave labor, and while it was so prosecuted it tended to exclude all other forms of industry. The economic needs were imperative, its political demands were hardly less so, the same way it demanded that the fewest possible restrictions be placed upon the exchange of her two or three staple products for the products of other countries and that she be permitted to extend slavery constantly to fresh territory.

Politically it demanded protection from criticism and from social and humanitarian theoretical reforms and changes. The economic and political demands upon these representatives from the south did not permit them to stand only on the defensive in representing the plantation interests, they must do more; they must not merely resist attack, they must prevent it. They must not merely hold their own with the representatives of other sections; they must take the lead in the nation on all questions, and grandly and well did they come up to the fullest measure of the demands of their people.

It is true they found allies in the north for many years owing to the fact that cotton was the main industry of the south, and hence, the manufacturers of the east found a ready cash market for their goods. Also in the west and north-west a like material interest could be re-

SNYDER, O. T., IS UNLUCKY

Destroyed by Cyclone a Year Ago.
Business District Burned
Last Week.

Last Friday night the principal business block of the town of Snyder, O. T., was destroyed by fire. The loss is stated as being in the neighborhood of $75,000. Among the business houses destroyed were both banks, one of which was owned by O. J. Hellwig, well known in this city, his wife being a sister of Mrs. R. F. Wood.

Just a year ago last month Snyder was entirely wiped off the map by a cyclone, and had just begun really to recover from that catastrophe. The fire is therefore felt more heavily by the unlucky citizens. The losses by fire are given out as follows:

R. L. Edwards, storage room and storage house; Wey hardware company, storage room; Beal & Williams Hardware company, storage room and storehouse; Titus restaurant; Kiowa County bank; J. A. Skeits, barber shop; Duncan-Tompson meat market; Coney Island meat market; J. V. McClintic, mercantile house; Farmers & Merchants bank.

The heaviest loser is J. V. McClintic, whose loss is estimated at $35,000. Cliff Blaine was seriously injured while fighting the fire. A number of women were prostrated. The town is without fire protection and the fire could not be prevented.

How to Break Up a Cold.

It may be a surprise to many to learn that a severe cold can be completely broken up in one or two days' time. The first symptoms of a cold are a dry, loud cough, a profuse watery discharge from the nose, and a thin, white coating on the tongue. When Chamberlain's cough remedy is taken every hour on the first appearance of these symptoms, it counteracts the effect of the cold and restores the system to a healthy condition within a day or two. For sale at Dr. Stocking's drug store.

Carve no memorial, epic or epitaph
Lauding this man who ennobled each trust;
Know that his memory looms like a denotaph
Lasting through ages when granite is dust.

He needs no monument, who, in deserving it,
Blazoned the laws of a state with his name;
Who served a commonwealth well, and, in serving it,
Blended his own with that commonwealth's fame.

Following The Flag.

When our soldiers went to Cuba and the Philippines, health was the most important consideration. Willis T. Morgan, retired Commissary Sergeant U. S. A., of Rural Route 1, Concord, N. H., says: "I was two years in Cuba and two years in the Philippines, and being subject to colds, I took Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, which kept me in perfect health. And now, in New Hampshire, we find it the best medicine in the world for coughs, colds, bronchial troubles and all lung diseases. Guaranteed at J. D. Stocking, druggist. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

Col. P. R. Stephens of Clarendon was on our streets Thursday mixing with his old Armstrong county friends and looking out for any good thing he could find in way of land bargains. Col. Stephens recently sold the Juan ranch near Clarendon, one of the prettiest in the county, and moved to Clarendon. Later he invested in lands near Claude at $10 per acre and is not anxious to sell at $18.—Claude News.

The Editor Who Da'sn't.

A whole lot of people seem to imagine that the editor keeps certain things out of the paper just because he "dassent" publish anything that concerns certain people. Mistake. No editor with backbone, and there are quite a number with much more backbone than people give them credit for, will keep things out of the paper because he "dassent" publish them.

No ties of race, creed, color, kinship or business will prevent the average sensible editor from publishing the news. No club that any church, lodge, clique, or business interest may threaten to swing over him will keep him from publishing legitimate news if he is any man at all. But there are a few things that the average man does not consider when he is figuring out what, or more correctly, what not, to put in the paper. Among those things are the innocent little children of the brutal husband, who mercilessly beats his inoffensive wife, or the faithless wife who openly violates her marriage vows and exposes her shame to the pitiless scorn of the community. The rascal who preaches his honesty, when he is really a liar and thief, won't pay his bills, and otherwise conducts himself in a manner that deserves criticism in the press, is often shielded from exposure because he has an aged, honorable father and Christian mother living in the community who would read the truth should it be told about their son. And why should the newspaper humiliate that young girl or manly young brother by publishing the truth about their disreputable father merely to punish the old man. A thought flashes through a sensible editor's head before he allows anything of the kind to be published in his columns. He seeks to give the news as plainly and truthfully as possible with as little offense as possible. He also shields many a home that the gossips of the town would gladly ruin. He often keeps quiet when the whole world wonders why he does, but never play him as a man who "dassent. If you do he is likely to demonstrate very forcibly that he "dast."—Mason, Iowa, Democrat.

Unknown Friends.

There are many people who have used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy with splendid results, but who are unknown because they have hesitated about giving a testimonial of their experience for publication. These people, however, are none the less friends of this remedy. They have done much toward making it a household word by their personal recommendations to friends and neighbors. It is a good medicine to have in the home and is widely known for its cures of diarrhoea and all forms of bowel trouble. For sale at Dr. Stocking's drug store.

J. H. Pirtle, who moved to Fort Worth several months ago, seems to be meeting with success financially. The Fort Worth Telegram of recent dates says of him: "J. H. Pirtle at once moved his meat market to the Dennis store." The many friends of Mr. Pirtle and family will be glad to learn that they are getting their share of this world's goods. COTTON IS KING IN DONLEY

And Other Crops Fit Company for the King—Something Doing Among Our Farmer Friends.

Bray Briefs.

BRAY, TEXAS, June 12.
EDITOR BANNER-STOCKMAN:

We had a good rain yesterday; crops are doing well and farmers getting along well with their work. Cotton is doing fine, oats fair. Some of our farmers have had some trouble in getting a stand of corn and other feed stuff, which has made these crops rather late.

The alfalfa crop was good, the yield being one ton per acre. Gardens are fine, and snap beans and Irish potatoes plentiful.

There has been some sickness in this neighborhood, but no serious cases. Mesdames W. E. Mullins, W. M. Horn and S. Lamberson have been on the sick list, all now being reported better.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Hardy, on 6th inst., a fine girl.

Mrs. W. T. Youree and children returned last Saturday from an extended visit to Central Texas.

Mr. Mance is in Greer county, O. T. this week on a business trip.

Cattle are in fine shape, though some losses from black leg are reported.

Quite a lot of land has changed hands in our neighborhood lately, but as the trades have all been reported in your paper already we will not go into details.

That was a fine sermon that Bro. Doak preached at our Sunday School convention the first Sunday. Bro. G. A. Oller filled his regular appointment last Saturday and Sunday. Our Sunday School is getting along very nicely.

There is a visible appearance of prosperity and contentment among our people.

Giles Glimmerings.

GILES, TEXAS, June 12.
EDITOR BANNER-STOCKMAN:

More rain and growing weeds is the order around Giles this week.

Mrs. P. C. Johnson left the 9th for a visit of several weeks to her mother in Oklahoma.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Melton are visiting the lady's mother at Childress for a few days.

The box supper given at the school house Saturday night was not well attended on account of stormy weather, but a nice little sum was taken in which goes to the second nine baseball team here.

Several cases of sickness in and around Giles this week but none are serious.

Last Friday witnessed the close of the school at this place. Miss Sadie Akers, the teacher, reports a most successful term.

Misses Sadie and Georgia Akers, Clara Wylie and Dessa Young visited the latter's sister and family, Mrs. Chas. Crowe, Sunday eve.

There must have been some attraction in Giles Sunday as Mr. John Bishop, of Memphis, was here wearing a broad smile.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Shaw visited relatives in Memphis last week.

W. J. Thaxton made a business trip to Clarendon one day this week.

P. C. Johnson was in Clarendon Tuesday.

George Coursey and family visited relatives in Rowe last Monday and Tuesday.

Mrs. T. P. Shelton and Miss Dessa Young visited Mrs. Shelton's mother, Mrs. Jones, at Rowe last week.

Rowe Ramblings.

ROWE, TEXAS, June 13.
EDITOR BANNER-STOCKMAN:

Weather fine for crops; cotton chopping order of the day, farmers busy and farm hands scarce. The oat crops of Joe Kendall, W. A. Kinslow and J. S. Newman are about ready for harvesting and are very good. A rain would not hurt the growing crops.

The report comes from Bray and other neighborhoods of good rains the past week.

The Misses Naylor were guests of Miss Mable Blair Sunday.

The young people had a pleasant time at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hollifield Monday night. Ice cream and cake were served.

Mrs. Ewing, of Newlin, visited her sister, Mrs. J. G. McDougal, the past week.

Ray McGee has returned from Mexico. The cotton crops of G. J. Frame and W. M. Winter are looking extra well. They have a large acreage and are well up with their work. A. J. Acres and R. W. Scales also report their cotton in fine condition.

Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Hollifield, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Guill, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Blair and Bond W. Johnson attended the Knights of Pythias banquet at Clarendon Wednesday night.

Caylor-Alverson.

Miss Ethel Alverson and Dr. Harvey C. Caylor were married Saturday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. O'Neill, Rev. Wilson C. Rogers officiating. Immediately after the ceremony the happy couple took the train for Canadian, which town they will make their future home.

Both of the contracting parties belong to that class of the present generation of young people which win friends by the simple daily contact with associates. Modest, unassuming, intelligent and capable, each is the possessor of a circle of friends which by numbers would indicate a much longer residence in the city than is really the case, and from one and all come expressions of congratulations and good will, in which the Banner-Stockman begs to join. May their life be long and happy, and their future prosperous.

Piano Tuning.

James H. Edwards, of the C. H. Edwards Music Co., of Dallas, will be in Clarendon in a few days tuning and repairing pianos for the public. Any one needing his services will please leave orders at the store of J. M. Clower. It.

Traction Engine Ditched.

Monday afternoon John Clark's traction engine which had just been loaded on the cars for shipment to Quanah, was ditched in the local yards while the train was switching. The flat car on which it was loaded left the rails and the engine took a tumble, turning upside down at the foot of a dump. The damage was considerable.

Mr. Clark was shipping it to Quanah where he has a threshing outfit and was to go to work immediately. He went down on the passenger Monday morning to get things ready, and is considerably chagrined at the mishap, as it would seem that he is knocked completely out of a profitable season's business.

[When the pages containing the first section of Dr. Winn's speech were put to press we did not think the balance of the article would be available for this issue. The "copy" came in, however, and we thought it best to present the speech in its entirety this week.—EDITOR.]

If Mr. Lincoln was not the living embodiment, whilst he lived and acted his part in the tragedy of the civil war, of hostility to and determination to destroy the South, her institutions and her civilization, then his public utterances and public acts and a life of hostility towards everything the South represented, stands for nothing and white is black and the earth is square and Nero was a saint.

From such a friend as Mr. Lincoln had given many and unmistakable evidences of being to the South during his life, the South did pray to be delivered and every breath of every Southern man, woman and child should now and ever be an earnest prayer to God that the south may never have another such a friend.

However this may be, with such leaders as we had at the time of Mr. Lincoln's election, with the experience and intimate knowledge which forty years of association with the men representing the East and West, it is a reasonable and safe calculation to admit that the course the South followed was the one, and the only one, offering any hope for the preservation of the honor, civilization or property of the Southern people. The misfortune and mistake of the whole matter was committed when in 1776 we entered into a union against the mother country with a people who were so foreign in every way to our people in manners, civilization, ideas and sentiments on all questions necessary to render a union with them either safe, pleasant desirable. Although the results only left to the South her honor unscathed, we should have no regrets. That is enough to fill the hearts of every man, woman and child of the South with everlasting glory and exultation, for we made a noble effort to maintain "sacred principles and rights which it was our duty to do even though we perished in the attempt."

The lordly and masterful way in which the South had beaten down opposition and controlled the country for forty years before our downfall no doubt enraged and inflamed the people of the free states and finally their resentment and envy became uncontrollable, and they resolved either to drive us out or go out themselves. A union, governed and directed by the combined fanaticism of the free states filled with intense hatred of the South, her people, her leaders, her institutions and her high civilization, and last though not least, her lordly manners, masterful ways and her great industrial prosperity, had few charms to the South. Hence, we made the fight and lost after four years of terrific and heroic fighting and slaughter, and all was lost save honor.

The power which ruled the Union for forty years and then tore it asunder was based on history, it was rooted in human nature, it was buttressed by ancient law and usage.

It caught hold of our new continent and made headway against our new ideas because it found certain material conditions peculiarly fitted to sustain it. No American nowadays needs to be told how dangerous to the American experiment that old Southern civilization was, yet he is but half an American who cannot see the charm in it. If it had no other charm to recommend it, the men and women it bred, and how strong and pure and great and true they were, is enough.

Still the best test of them came at the end, when they fought a losing fight as well as they ever fought a winning one. When they put into the field the very best army their race ever marshalled in any cause, on any continent. When the mother state—old Virginia—from her marvelous county of Westmoreland, brought forth and set at the head yet another captain, greater than any Marlborough or Wellington of them all.

If our enemies content themselves with calling that army a

Prices to Close

TO CLOSE OUT the remnant of our stock of Ladies' Muslin Underwear we offer a special discount of 20 per cent during the month of June. These garments are cheaper than the actual cost of the material. STRAY PUPS PUT TO SLEEP

Eighteen Unfortunate Canines Pass Into the Valley This Week and More Will Follow.

Eighteen unfortunate pups passed the great divide Monday and Tuesday and are now presumably enjoying all the delights of the haven of rest for canines. Whether this is all the pups of the town that have not purchased a dollar's worth of life preserver from City Marshal White we have not learned, but if you have not been called on to pay for the privilege of keeping a double action body guard around your premises you had better hunt up the powers that be and squander a little of your surplus kail seed in a brass tag and a nuisance receipt. If you do not old Towser may wake up some bright morning with his pink toes partly immersed in the cold, murky waters of the river that is supposed to separate the living from those that have the appearance of things that are ghostly. We hope that you are wise to your own interest, and hereafter will have Towser's cold, wet nose shoved into your warm fore foot when you meander homeward at eventide.

Democratic Committee Call.

As previously announced and as directed by law the democratic executive committee of Donley county is hereby called to meet in the court house in Clarendon on Monday June 18, at 2 p. m., to make the arrangements necessary for the democratic primary election on July, 28, as required by the new Terrell election law. As to whether there will be a primary for county officers or not is a matter for the executive committee to settle when assembled. Candidates and prospective candidates will take notice and be governed by the law.

A. M. BEVILLE, Chairman.
JOHN E. COOKE, Secretary.

Corruption In Politics.

Corruption in politics, the liquor traffic, horse racing and pool selling, the love of money getting, the tendency of church members to forsake the church and walk with the world—are some of the destructive machines of Satan to grind to pieces immortal souls, to crush human hearts and bring everlasting misery to those who do such things.

The Gospel of Jesus Christ is the only power ordained of God to persuade men from all such evils, and "God chose by the foolishness of preaching to save all that believe His gospel." This Gospel will be preached Sunday morning and evening at the Baptist church at the hours of 11 a. m. and 8 p. m. Everybody is cordially invited to come and hear it.

lied on. The western farmer found in the south the same ready cash market for his bacon, beef and bread stuffs. Still after all to the leaders of the south backed by a homogeneous people who knew what they wanted, we must look to understand how and why they were so successful for so long a time against the economic and moral forces they had to fight with, against the whole tendency of American thought outside of the South, against the whole trend of American progress and against too, the spirit of their declaration of independence in revolutionary days.

The public men of the South, more particularly of the Gulf states, were nearly always trained politicians of a school far different from that in which the merely clever and industrious machine politicians of this day are trained. They came from the law and from the plantation. If from the law, they were usually self made men, with the self-reliance, hardihood and independence of that class, and were apt to have acquired, as Andrew Jackson, J. C. Calhoun and McDuffie for example, did acquire that distinction of manner common to the large plantation class. If from the plantation, they were men who had successfully withstood the allurements and temptation of power and wealth and leisure of plantation life; and such men were the only class in America corresponding in character to the hereditary ruling class of the other countries.

The debates during the many years of Southern leadership in the U. S. Congress on the great permanent questions which were so often had, questions of revenue and taxation, internal improvements and public finance, and foreign affairs, together with the power and influence our great southern leaders exercised for all those years, gives us a record of which we and all our descendants may for all time be proud and point to whenever our enemies dare decry or reflect upon the intelligence and high excellence in brain power which the civilization of the south produced.

These giants in intellect, character and statesmanship demonstrated their power for forty years by holding the rampant protection tariff fiends of the east from the realization of their fond dreams of "peace, perfect peace" in the enactment of their wholesale plundering protection tariff laws, up to the day when they retired from Congress and the Union in 1861, and this was done despite the magnificent and persistent efforts of such men as Clay, Webster and Sumner. The same thing was done on the question of internal improvements, so that the east was defeated on all points on such questions until the cotton states withdrew from the Union, it was only their withdrawal and the subsequent military conquest of the South, with the attending overthrow of their industrial system, made it possible for other interests so to control Congress and the courts, that today a river and harbor bill carrying tens of millions of dollars appropriation, encounters its chief obstacle in the desire of the individual congressman to increase the totals, with provision for benefit of their particular district and states.

Save when a president died in office, the White House at Washington was generally occupied by a southerner, or their own hand or a northern man of their choice.

The important committees in both houses of Congress were commonly headed by their representatives. In Cabinet after Cabinet, the leading places were given southern men or their friends.

The Supreme Court, under Taney, was as little likely to thwart them as Congress or the President, for a majority were at that time guided by Jefferson's ideas of the Government instead of Marshall's. So we see that the control of the cotton states was complete in all departments of the Government.

Why, it may be asked, was it that being so fully entrenched in the control of the Government, did these wise, astute leaders so promptly withdraw and the south secede, when one might suppose that being so entrenched as they were, they might have successfully contested with the hosts of the enemies, with Mr. Lincoln at their head which the revolution of sentiment in the north so suddenly showered upon them in 1860? Simply that the Southern leaders and the entire South were a unit in believing that the success of the Black Republican party, with Mr. Lincoln at their head as president upon the platform of principles upon which the election of Mr. Lincoln was conducted, was virtually a declaration of war upon the South, her institutions and civilization.

Mr. Lincoln and his followers were committed to a policy of government hostile and destructive in every line, to everything dear to the south, and to have quietly submitted to such defiant declarations of hostility, abuse and defamation, and resolved determination to destroy would have been such dastardly and cowardly infamy as no brave people could or should be guilty of. Nor did the South hesitate. In less than a hundred days from the day of Mr. Lincoln's election the southern leaders and public men of influence, were assembled in Montgomery, Ala., organizing the Confederate Government and otherwise preparing for an independent government of her own, most if not all of the Gulf states having by that time seceded from the union.

Of the platforms of the republican party of 1856 and 1860 Senator C. C. Clay of Alabama, said in a speech delivered in the United States Senate when he resigned his seat in the senate after Alabama had seceded, "The platform of the Republican party 1856-60 we regard as a libel upon the character and a declaration of war against the lives and property of the southern people. No bitterer or more offensive calumny could be uttered against them than is expressed in denouncing their system of slavery as one of the twin relics of barbarism with polygamy. No sentiment could be more insulting or more hostile to our domestic tranquility, to our social order and to our social existence than is contained in the declaration that our negroes are entitled to liberty and equality with the white man. It is in spirit as strong an incitement and invitation to murder, to arson and other crime as is to be found in abolition literature".

Mr. Lincoln endorsed the platform and accepted the nomination and was in full sympathy with all of its venomous malignity and falsehood. And to the fact of this verity and bitterness of his sympathy and belief in the declarations of the platform was it due that he was made the choice of the convention and elected. Then to tell us of the South that this man, cut off so suddenly by the hand of an assassin, was so full of gentleness and love for the South that it was a great calamity to her that he should have been taken when he was, before he could have an opportunity to play the part of "Rachel mourning for her children."

Truly the man who originated this idea must have been a man of supreme powers of imagination, a very genius in practical joking. I shall pass him on to his own people and let them judge him and immortalize him if they will, but let us of the south not deceive ourselves nor our children.

Ain't Changed Yit.

There are worlds an' worlds o' people
Sort o' like the Dixie tune,
Like it like the brass band blares it,
Like it simmered to a croon
Like our mothers used to sing it;
But some people have a fit
O'er its wordin' an' 'ud change it;
But it ain't changed yit!

Many long-haired folks have tussled
With the wordin' of th' thing,
An' have fitted it with wordin'
That was smooth an' that would sing,
An' have had it set an' published;
But it didn't seem ter fit,
For the people wouldn't sing it;
So it ain't changed yit!

When they change the words o' Dixie
Hope 'at I'll be layin' low
Underneath the grass an' daisies
With the friends I useter know,
And my soul'll be hobnobbin'
With the fellers that I fit:
I'll bet Dixie's sung in heaven,
An' it ain't changed yit!

When You Buy a Buggy

YOU want the best to be had for the money. I have just received a full car load of the famous FULLER BUGGIES, manufactured at Jackson, Mich. These are the best vehicles made for this climate for the simple reason that the best timber is to be had in Michigan for the making of buggies for a climate like ours. All these vehicles are made from fully seasoned hickory wood. That the Fuller buggies are the best is proven by the fact that I rarely ever have a call to set a tire on buggies of this make, while my shop is at all times busy setting tires on buggies of other factories. Call and see my line now. I can suit you, both in price and quality. Vehicles from $40 to $175. And remember my shop is the best place in town for all your repair work of whatsoever kind.

THE STATE OF TEXAS,
In the District Court, July term, A. D. 1906.

To the sheriff or any constable of Donley county, Greeting:

You are hereby commanded, that by making publication of this citation in some newspaper published in the county of Donley, if there be a newspaper published in said county (but if not, then in the nearest county where a newspaper is published) for four weeks previous to the return day hereof, you summon Inge McCormick, whose residence is unknown, to be and appear before the district court, to be holden in and for the county of Clarendon, at the court house thereof, in Clarendon, on the first Monday in July, the same being the 2nd day of July, 1906, file number being 379, then and there to answer the petition of Margaret Elizabeth McCormick, filed in said court on the 28th day of May, A. D. 1906, against the said Inge McCormick, and alleging in substance as follows, to-wit: That the defendant and plaintiff were married in the county of Denton, state of Texas, in October, 1895; that in July, 1905, the defendant abandoned this plaintiff; that for eight years prior to the date last above mentioned the defendant had been a continual and habitual drunkard; that since 1897 the defendant never contributed aught to the support of this plaintiff; that his said drunkenness and debauchery was of such a degree and character as to render the defendant incompetent and unfit for business of any character; that at least five times this plaintiff through her friends and relations procured a place and employment for the defendant; that each and every time the defendant, after a few weeks, would leave the said employment or business, drunk and in disgrace, and indulge in a spree and debauchery, abandoning this plaintiff, and alleging the same to constitute cruel and gross treatment of plaintiff to such an extent as to render further living with defendant by plaintiff to be insupportable, and praying for a divorce.

Herein fail not, but have you then and there before said court this writ, with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Witness, C. A. BURTON, clerk of the district court of Donley county.

GIVEN under my hand and seal of said court in Clarendon, Texas, this 31st day of May, A. D. 1906.

C. A. BURTON,
Clerk District Court, Donley Co., Texas.

We Have Moved!

WE are now ready for business in our new location next door to the old stand. We retain the entire rear of the old house, as well as the large cellar underneath same, and in addition have the new store building, 25x80 feet. We now have nearly twice the floor space formerly occupied. The moving has not interfered with our business, and we are handling the orders as promptly as ever, and at our usual standard of low prices. MONEY TALKS, and there is no denying that the cash grocery saves you money. If you are not yet on our list of regular patrons try us this month and note the saving on your grocery bill.

Our New Line.

On or about July 1st our new stock of Men's Furnishing Goods will arrive, and same will be placed and ready for your inspection between the 15th of July and the 1st of August. We are old hands in this business and promise the people a well selected stock, bought right and for sale for CASH. Like our grocery business the Furnishing Goods line will be sold on close margins. No bookkeeping, no bad accounts, no extra expense to be charged to this line and added to the prices. We want a share of your business in the new line and when we get a chance at you we are going to do business with you. See if we don't.
