Gasohol-Putting Home Brew in the Family Car

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — The backwoods science of moonshining is coming back, this time in a grassroots, legal effort to beat the rising costs of common gasoline.

Farmers throughout the country are using or trying to use corn, wheat, potatoes, sugar beets, barley, oats and even watermelons to brew alcohol.

The modern moonshiners say that with little modification, any gasoline engine can run on alcohol. And they're not talking about the much-touted gasohol, which is usually a mixture of 90 percent gasoline and 10 percent high-proof alcohol.

They're talking about ethyl alcohol, as low as 150 proof, or about 25 percent water.

The Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms, which used to chase moonshiners through southern hills and swamps, is now apologizing for the red tape necessary to set up private stills.

Federal regulations permit backyard distillers who post a $100 bond to make up to 2,500 gallons a year, but they cannot sell or give away the alcohol and must add other liquid gases to it to render it undrinkable. Any brew that leaves the still in drinkable form is taxed at

ATF spokesman Howard Criswell said no fuel distillers have been arrested so far for failing to denature their brew: "People who are getting permits for stills are sérious about producing fuel."

By the end of February, the government had issued 2,200 special permits to distill fuel, nearly all of them to individual farmers.

A national alcohol fuels hotline in Colorado reports it is taking 300 calls a day with requests for information. Each caller gets a book called "Fuel From Farms."

Several companies are selling stills or equipment to

A North Carolina-based national magazine, Mother Earth News, says its alcohol fuel seminars in the Midwest and South have attracted up to 1,000 people per session. The magazine has sold thousands of alcohol fuel kits at $45 each, including a "motor fuels cookbook," chemicals and plans for a wood-burning still.

Richard Freudenberger, associate editor of the 850,000-circulation magazine, said one of alcohol's prime benefits is its lack of pollution, with hydrocarbon emissions 87 percent lower and carbon monoxide 95 percent lower than in gasoline.

Jerry Wilkerson of Provo, Utah, a 44-year-old former moonshiner turned non-drinking Mormon, has logged 33,000 miles in eight months in his mostly alcoholpowered pickup lecturing Americans on the advantages of brewing their own fuel.

Talent Abounds In Easter Opry T

By MAURI MONTGOMERY

Brand Staff Writer The band members arrived from almost every segment of the community. The two ranchers, a car salesman, accountant, engineer, pharmacist, just to name a portion, all showed up to do a little pickin' and strumming, and they were all talented musicians in their own right.

With few exceptions they had all played in the professional ranks -- a couple had even cut a few of those discs. But most of all, the Hereford-based Easter Opry Road Show had one purpose in mind and that was to give a musical jam that the whole family would enjoy while earning benefit money for some worthy cause in the community. That was during a recent community benefit.

And, when the opry jams in its next performance of the year -- at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in the Hereford High School Auditorium -- all the proceeds will be donated to the Hereford and Vicinity YMCA building fund.

"We've raised almost $5,400 in the previous four shows that we've given within the last 10 months and we hope that this show in Hereford will be as successful as those in the past have been," said Jerry Hodges, performer and coordinator of "Some of the other projects we've benefitted, through the opry were the Bill Lookingbill benefit, the Hereford Satellite Center benefit which is a work training center for retarded children, the Johnny T. Clark benefit which raised money for his medical expenses after he suffered a heart attack, and the Matt Howell benefit in Dimmitt after he severed an arm in an accident," he said. The country, bluegrass and gospel band first orginated after Ed Gallagher, Bill Lytal and Hodges started a group known as the Frio Trio. Years later it gradually kept adding on acts and performers until it reached its present twenty member status. "I guess you could say Ed Gallagher, Lytal and I formed the opry -- at least the original group: the Frio Trio -- because we used to play together in high school. Well, we went our separate ways, but we got together again, and as time went on we kept adding groups to our show," Hodges said.

"The reaction from people on what we're doing seems to be very favorable. I've even had people come up at the end of the performance and say they really hadn't expected to see such a professionally put on show. And I feel like about 99 percent of our audiences feel the same way," he said.

Jim Tucker, salesman for KPAN Radio and Master of Ceremonies for the Easter Opry said, "Basically, what we attempt to do and what we stand for is 'people helping people,' and I think we've been successful so far in that

Ford Hinting More Strongly

WASHINGTON (AP) — As four active candidates for the Republican presidential nomination ready for tonight's GOP debate in Chicago, the "phantom candidate," Gerald Ford, is carrying the party's attack on President Carter and talking like he wants to run.

The former president, who delivered a biting attack on Carter's policies Wednesday night, accepted an invitation to meet today with the president at the White House.

"I don't know what he wants to discuss," Ford told reporters. "He asked me to come over, and I assume we'll talk about what he wants to talk about."

The former president received a rousing reception when he told a GOP congressional fund-raising dinner that "this country is in deep, deep trouble," and that he is determined to drive Carter, the man who defeated him in 1976, from office.

"Carter must go," he said. "My soul, single purpose, politically or otherwise, is to get President Carter out of the White House and to replace him with a Republican president.

"The nation is in peril," he said. "The Carter policies are the villain. His economic program has been a disaster. His energy policies have been misguided and ineffective. His foreign policies have been contradictory, erratic and dangerous."

Ford earlier Wednesday conferred privately with his closest political advisers and said he will decide after next Tuesday's Illinois primary whether to challenge frontrunner Ronald Reagan for the nomination.

The four GOP contenders in tonight's debate are expected to have something to say about a potential Ford candidacy. They are Reagan, George Bush, John B. Anderson and Philip Crane. Carter's chief Democratic rival, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, was also in Illinois today campaigning in Peoria and Chicago. Ford told reporters he felt he had the best chance of beating Carter in November. But he said the need to defeat Carter was so great that he would back any Republican nominee, including Reagan. Just last week Ford, who has held a grudge against Reagan since their bitter primary battles in 1976, said he thought the former California governor was too conservative to beat

Local Man Killed in Crash

A 23-year-old Hereford man was pronounced dead on arrival at Deaf Smith General Hospital after his car struck an embankment at the intersection of Bradley and Kingwood west of the city limits Wednesday night.

80th Year, No. 180

Cruz Munoz Ramirez Jr. of 118 Moreman apparently died of chest injuries after his 1977 Chevrolet, traveling west on Bradley, crossed the intersection at Kingwood and plowed into an embankment.

"He never made the turn. I don't know if he saw the intersection or not. There , was no sign of skid marks or any attempt to make the turn," Department of Public Safety Trooper Ken Britten reported.

McCathern Fund-Raiser Slated Friday

A fund-raising pancake and sausage supper for state senatorial candidate Gerald McCathern of Hereford is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Friday in the Community Center.

Tickets are available for $10 from Jerome Friemel, Harlan Vander Zee, Shy Gamez and Marvin Coffey. They also will be sold at the door.

Proceeds from the event, which is open to the public, will go toward McCathern's campaign for the Democratic nomination. The Hereford farmer is seeking to unseat Senator Bob Price, R-Pampa, in the 31st Senatorial District.

The Country Four, comprised of Jerry Hodges, Billy Lytal, Ed Gallagher and Kristi Lytal will sing, along with Section Five, a South Plains College (Levelland) country and bluegrass group.

McCathern will speak and answer questions from the audience during the supper.

Record-Setting Blood Drive

Hereford High School juniors and seniors -- 138 in all -- gave a pint of blood each to the Coffee Memorial Blood Bank in a special Student Council drive Wednesday. The 138 pints set a record for the high school, according to Student Council Sponsor Ronnie Wood. The previous record, set last year, was 108 pints. Of the total, 103 pints were donated to the Allen Cumpton blood fund. Mr. Cumpton, who died Wednesday, is the father of HHS athletic director Don Cumpton. Wood said, he was "impressed" with the response of students and the cooperation of teachers during the one-day drive. [Brand photo by Paul Sims]

Subscription Rates Going Up

Effective April 1, 1980, subscription rates for The Hereford Brand for either home delivery or mailed copies will be $3.35 per month or $34 per year.

This will mark the first increase in subscription rates since the newspaper converted to daily publication July 4, 1976. Large increases in newsprint and other publishing costs, as well as postal rates, make the increase necessary. The change will also provide an increased payment to Brand carriers.

But, The Brand will offer its readers a chance to beat the price increase and get up to another full year's delivery at the old price. Non-subscribers can sign up for a year, or current subscribers can extend their subscription for a year by mailing in a renewal prior to April 1.

Current rates are $2.90 a month for home delivery, or $30 per year. Mail rates are $3 per month or $24 per year in Deaf Smith and adjoining counties. All other mail zones are $30 per year.

The news-stand prices will change this Saturday with single copies selling for 20 cents Tuesday through Friday and Sunday issues will be 30 cents.

A special renewal, or

Suspect Charged

A Hart man has been arrested by Castro County sheriff's officers in connection with the shooting death of a 24 year old Hereford man early Sunday morning.

Cruz Quintero of Hart was arrested Tuesday morning and charged with voluntary manslaughter in connection with the death of Ramon Q. Lopez of Hereford.

Quintero has subsequently been released on $3,000 bond.

Castro County Sheriff Granville Martin declined to disclose details of the incident when contacted earlier this week. According to word received

House To Vote On Windfall Tax

WASHINGTON (AP) - With the House ready for a final vote. Republicans are leading a last-ditch attempt to make President Carter's proposed "windfall" tax more acceptable to the oil industry.

Rep. Bill Archer, R-Texas, seeks to send the bill back to a Senate-House conference committee to exempt from the tax the first 1,000 barrels of oil pumped each day by an independent producer. Backers of the bill say such a move, if successful, probably would kill the tax.

"This would be the one positive factor in what is basically a negative bill for increasing energy supply," Archer said. The compromise measure already provides for lower tax rates for independents, which drill most of the nation's exploratory oil and gas wells.

The bill survived an earlier GOP-led assault Wednesday by a 232-180 margin. The House defeated a parliamentary maneuver aimed at allowing a vote on an amendment to let an oil producer escape most of the new tax by re-investing profits in energy exploration or production.

CHICAGO (AP) - The clerk read the roll of the dead - the names of 22 youths and numbers for 11 others. 'Guilty," was the verdict each time.

"Guilty . . . guilty . . . guilty . . ."
When the clerk finished, John W. Gacy Jr. stood convicted of more murders than anyone in the nation's history. All but one of his victims were strangled. The first was stabbed.

Today, the jurors who convicted Gacy on 33 counts of murder were to eturn to the court for a hearing on whether the death penalty would be imposed as punishment for the sex

"None of us will be satisfied until he is put to death," said Kenneth Piest, brother of Gacy's last victim.

"I'll go down and pull the switch if I have to," added Harold Piest, the boy's father.

Relatives of the young men and boys whose bodies were found under Gacy's home and in area rivers wept when the verdict was read. The jury deliberated less than two hours Wednesday before rejecting defense arguments that Gacy was innocent by reason of insanity.

Physicists Inspect TMI Nuclear Reactor

MIDDLETOWN, Pa. (AP) - Two health physicists entered the Three Mile Island reactor building airlock today to make sure it was safe for two engineers to follow - becoming the first persons to enter the area since it was sealed a year ago after the nation's worse commercial nuclear accident.

After three days of atmospheric venting at the crippled nuclear power plant, the health physicists donned protective gear and carried monitoring devices into the 9-by-12 foot airlock at 9:30 a.m.

"They will survey the airlock to make sure it is safe for the engineers," said plant spokesman Sandy Polon. He said it takes about 10 minutes for the health workers to take radiation samples.

"The engineers will then begin a series of tests that could take a couple of days. They will leak test the seals and the doors, take surface contamination slides and make readings of the door," said Polon.

LOS ANGELES (AP) - The National PTA has praised "Little House on the Prairie" as the best show on television in its fifth TV Program Review Guide.

In presenting awards to 10 television producers Wednesday for shows of positive values broadcast during the family viewing hours, the group also said "the over-all ratings for shows are higher than previously experienced."

The national organization, which began monitoring shows in 1977, said it was optimistic that television programming has improved during the current season.

Other programs cited by the PTA were "60 Minutes," "Prime Time Saturday," "The Waltons," "Quincy," "The White Shadow," "Eight Is Enough," "Twenty-Twenty," "Salvage-1," and CBS Specials.

The PTA said these shows portrayed positive values and had no offensive content, according to spokeswoman Betty Lindsey.

The group also rated the following shows as poor in value: "A Man Called Sloan," "Best of Saturday Night Live," "Soap," "Detective School," "The Ropers," "Charlie's Angels," "The Misadventures of Sheriff Lobo," "Vegas," "Three's Company" and "The Associates."

Waldheim and the U.S. government hoped that in return for listening to the Iranian regime's recital of evidence of the shah's alleged crimes, the commission would at least be allowed to see all the hostages and that the publication of the panel's report would be followed speedily by the release of the captives.

These hopes were torpedoed on Monday by Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, the leader of the Iranian revolution, who endorsed the refusal of the young militants to permit the meeting except on terms rejected by the U.N. commission. The commission left Tehran and with Waldheim said it would issue no report until it was allowed to return and see the captives. Meanwhile, Khomeini had said the new Iranian parliament being elected Friday and on April 4 would decide the fate of the hostages, and President Abolhassan Bani-Sadr and other leading officials said the legislators would not be organized to take up the matter before mid-May.

NBC-TV on Wednesday night showed excerpts of a film shot by the militants which showed an Iranian Red Cross doctor taking the blood pressure and putting a stethoscope to the chests of 11 of the hostages several days before the panel left.

The Carter administration, saying what is right for athletes is right for business, wants to add American products from soft drinks to souvenirs to the Olympic boycott list.

The Commerce Department asked U.S. companies Wednesday to voluntarily embargo the export of an estimated $20 million in Olympic-related goods to protest the Soviet military occupation of Afghanistan and said it is considering making the ban mandatory.

In Britain, the government announced a series of moves designed to make life as difficult as possible for athletes ignoring Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher's call for an Olympic

U.S. Border Procedures Bogging Down Traffic

EL PASO, Texas (AP) -Businessmen from Juarez, Mexico and El Paso are meeting here today with immigration officials to try to get around new U.S. procedures that are bogging northbound border traffic.

The U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service, in an effort to save money, has cut back the number of officers who work the border bridges on overtime days, Sundays and holidays.

The holdback measure has caused long lines of motorists to wait more than 30 minutes get into the United States, according to Gaston de Bayona, director of international relations for the Juarez mayor.

A new rule went into effect this week slowing the process of border crossing permits, according to Pete Reyes, assistant INS director here.

It used to take 45 days to process passes allowing Mexican citizens to visit the United States for 72 hours. The old plan allowed a temporary pass during the processing time. "It used to take Mexican citizens half a day to get temporary permission to visit the United States," says de Bayona, "Now, it will take a month and a half."

The new rule forbids the temporary permit, says Reyes, and the applicant must wait until the document is approved in Washington, D.C., and a permit is printed at an Arlington, Texas plant.

Shoppers and tourists from both sides of the border might decide to stay home rather than fight the traffic jams, says de Bayona.

Mike Dipp Jr., of El Paso's Downtown Development Association, says he and Juarez businessmen will meet with Reves and a representaive of Texas Gov. Bill Clements to attempt to solve the problems.

Reyes said local INS officers have asked immigration authorities in Dallas and Washington, D.C., to reinstitute the temporary pass program.
"Hopefully," Reyes says,

"we'll be able to tell the people...that temporary permits are still in order.

Allen Says He'll Quit Mustangs

DALLAS (AP) — Southern Methodist University sophomore guard Billy Allen, whose father resigned as Mustangs basketball coach two weeks ago, says he also will leave the Southwest Conference school at the end of the year.

Allen, a key playmaker with the Mustang round-ballers, told KDFW-TV he has been contacted by "a number of schools" and is considering "two or three!" of them.

Allen's father, Sonny Allen, resigned two weeks ago as Mustang coach after a disappointing and pressure-filled season. One year after SMU Athletic Director Russ Potts told Allen he wanted a winning season, the Mustangs finished sixth in the SWC with a 7-9 season.

The station said the elder Allen is being seriously considered for the coaching job at Nevada-Reno and that his son might follow him there.

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)

— Is Alabama State really the team to beat in the 43rd annual NAIA basketball tourament?

As far as some observers are concerned, you might as well ask whether the ball is round.

Don Dyer, whose unseeded Central Arkansas team meets the Hornets tonight in a quarterfinal game, has no doubt about the quality of his opponent.

"They've got their and a lot of other people's share of good athletes," says Dyer.

Then there's Larry Wall, his South Carolina-Aiken squad the victim of a 103-78 mauling by Alabama State Wednesday in a second-round contest.

"Alabama State is a fine team. They were better than we were," said Wall. "They had more depth than we did and more talent as well...they are deserving of their No. 1 ranking."

While upsets have steadily thinned the ranks of seeded teams in this year's tournament, Coach James Oliver's top-ranked team from Montgomery has exploded for 103 points in each of its first two games.

The biggest gun has been 6-foot-6 forward Kevin Loder, who's hit for 34 and 29

Sports Festival Enters Second Week in Hereford

The Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce Sports Festival continued in its second week of sports filled activities Thursday as the first round (junior varsity) of the Deaf Smith High School Invitational Golf Tournament got under way.

The sports festival, which is sponsored by the C of C annually, began last weekend with a junior high track meet and will feature a golf tournament, high school track meet, and high school baseball tournament this week.

Following the junior varsity portion of the golf tourney Thursday; nine division 3-A and 4-A golf squads will hit the Hereford Municipal Golf Course Friday along with an eight team Division 2-A field. After the first round of the tourney Friday, the team finalists are scheduled to tee off at 9 a.m. Saturday as the tournament concludes.

Slated action for the baseball tournament includes a double header between Pampa - Dumas and Hereford - Borger Thursday.

The Palo Duro Dons are slated to play the winner of the Hereford - Borger contest Friday while the two losing teams in the first round will pair off at 1 p.m. Friday. The winner of the Pampa - Dumas contest will seceive a bye into the finals Saturday.

Preliminaries for the track meet will take place Friday beginning at 2:30 p.m. and are slated to proceed through 6:30 p.m. The finals of the meet will start at 11 a.m. Săturday (for the field events) and are expected to conclude at 5:35.

All workers for the track meet are asked to be at the high school field house at 6 p.m. Thursday in order to arrange times and places to be worked.

victory over the Houston

BY HOWARD ULMAN Sports Writer

BOSTON (AP) - It might t have seemed like it at the ime, but when Nate Archibald was injured and Gerald Henderson made a couple of critical mistakes in a loss to Washington, the Boston Celtics may have taken a step toward playoff success.

Boston frittered away a lead Sunday and lost in overtime to the Bullets 133-128. Near the end, Archibald took an elbow in the eye from Elvin Hayes. Afterward. Coach Bill Fitch apparently had some bruising words for Henderson.

The win kept Boston one game ahead of Philadelphia On Wednesday, with in the battle for the Atlantic Archibald sidelined, the rookie started and played a Division title. Houston maintained its one-game lead over Washington in their fight for the final Eastern Conference playoff spot.

"For a guy who started only his second game he did very well," Fitch said of Henderson, who had 14 points and 10 assists. "Maybe if that rookie hadn't made those errors he wouldn't be as tough as he is now playing for Archibald."

"I wanted to correct my turnovers," said Henderson. "I had five last night (in a loss at Indiana) and four in the first quarter tonight." He had none the rest of the way.

The other first-string guard, Chris Ford, also missed the game with the flu and was replaced by M.L. Carr, who scored 18 points.

"Whenever you lose your starting two guards it's got to throw your timing off," said Celtics' center Rick Robey. "When we get them back it'll make us stronger. Maybe it's a blessing in disguise. It'll make us that much tougher in the playoffs. M.L.'s getting experience in the backcourt."

Houston Coach Del Harris said, "You can hardly feel sorry for a team that starts Henderson, who I think was their best defensive player, and Carr."

Boston appeared headed for an easy victory, leading 64-49 at halftime and 90-66 with 2:45 left in the third quarter. Houston closed to 104-96 on five consecutive points by Robert Reid but came no closer. "We've got to start doing things as soon as we step on the court," said Reid, who led Houston with 26 points on 12-for-13 shooting from the field. "You can keep saying we'll do it the next game but this kind of attitude is killing us in the standings." Harris still has optimism about the Rockets' playoff chances. "As long as we can mathematically win 40 we're in the race. Our road games are all winable," he said.

Boston was led by Larry Bird with 29 points, 13 rebounds and 8 assists. Robey added 22 points, while Houston got 23 from Moses Friday night's thirdrounders are lowa vs. Syracuse and Maryland vs. Georgetown in the East at Philadelphia and Louisville vs. Texas A&M and Missouri vs. Louisiana State in the Midwest at Houston.

Which is why Tubbs and Lamar aren't exactly nationally known, even after victories over 17th-ranked Weber State and fifth-ranked Oregon State earlier in this tournament. But when you come right down to it, that doesn't seem to bother the 45-year-old coach of the Cardinals. "Isn't that the great thing about college basketball?"

Tubbs muses. "You can have yourself a grand season. Jacksonville can make it to the Final Four, or Charlotte can make it, or Nevada-Las Vegas - though now I consider them a powerhouse. You just don't get that in football. In our game, everybody's got some "People keep asking me if I'm surprised," Tubbs says when the talk turns to Lamar's position as a giantkiller in the tourney. "And I keep saying, 'Ain't this what you're supposed to plan for? Don't everybody want to go to the prom?""

Giant-killers are what the Cardinals 22-10 will have to be if they hope to get past Clemson, 22-8. Lamar's tallest player is 6-foot-8 B.B. Davis while Clemson starts three at 6-10 - Larry Nance, John Campbell and Horace Wyatt.

But Tubbs said that will be an incentive. "We play a little better against the big teams. We figure if we're outmanned, that's no excuse to lose."

Like the Cardinals, UCLA's unranked Bruins, 19-9, hope to stage another upset. They take on Ohio 10th-ranked State's Buckeyes, 21-7, after having beaten top-ranked DePaul.

In the Mideast, the attention will center on Purdue's Joe Barry Carroll and Duke's Mike Gminski if the 20th-ranked Boilermakers and 14th-ranked Blue Devils reach the regional final, since the two centers were named to The Associated Press first and second All-America

But for that to happen two more upsets are needed. Indiana is ranked seventh and favored to beat Purdue while Kentucky is ranked fourth and expected to defeat

"This is the Final Four, really." Gene Banks, Duke's junior forward, says of the Mideast's exceptional field. "You couldn't get better matchups."

"As a fan, I think this would be a doubleheader dream," says Purdue Coach Lee Rose. And Kentucky Coach Joe Hall adds: "These are teams that are natural rivals for us and that makes it special. These four teams are as exciting as any you could have."

Carner Favored To Win LPGA Tournament

RANCHO BERNARDO. Calif. (AP) - Nancy's a noshow and Jan's a question mark. But it matters not to old pro JoAnne Carner, who is on one of the hottest streaks of her career.

Carner, three weeks away from her 41st birthday, goes after her fourth victory in six outings when the $150,000 Ladies Professional Golf Association tournament opens today at Rancho Bernardo Country Club. The soggy condition of the course only reinforces Carner's chances, according to Pam Higgins.

"You have to go with Joanne. The course is gong to favor somebody who hits the ball a long way, because it isn't going to roll very much," she said.

The tour's leading money winner this year, Carner won't have to contend with Nancy Lopez-Melton, who playing. Stephenson, currently ninthin money winnings this year, showed up to practice this week, then disappeared.

Carner, with $50,386 in earnings in 1980, has already won half the total she collected last year and just may be threatening Lopez-Melton's two-year reign as the tour's top money winner.

Yawkey, Klein Named To Baseball's HOF

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) - Tom Yawkey was a forerunner of today's blank-check owners. He spent millions trying - in vain - to buy the Boston Red championship. And Charles "Chuck" Klein was an outfielder who, in today's free-agent market, might have become a recipient of some of those millions.

Yawkey and Klein were named posthumously Wednesday to baseball's Hall of Fame by an 18-man Veteran's Committee.

The two, along with Duke Snider and Al Kaline, will be inducted into the shrine at Cooperstown, N.Y., on Aug. Snider and Kaline were chosen earlier by the Baseball Writers Association f America.

The Veterans Committee is, in effect, a second chance for players passed up by the writers and for other personalities. One of those players, four-time National League home run champion Johnny Mize, again failed to make the grade with the veterans, along with Charley Grimm, Jimmy Dykes, Glenn Wright and Walter Alston. Only the top two vote-getters enter the Hall. Mize was Yawkey, who died in Boston on July 9, 1976, at the age of 73, became a millionaire in the family's lumber and mining business. In February 1933, four days after his 30th birthday, he spent $1 million to buy the Red Sox, a l'ast-place team in the American League for nine successive seasons. tency has made it one of the most popular hybrids on the High Plains. In 77 comparisons over the last four years against competitive hybrids, 3184 has shown an average yield of 183.7 bu./A. with a yield advantage of 14.3 bu./A. over competitives. Bred with outstanding drouth tolerance, 3184 can adjust ear size and kernel depth to match growing conditions. And strong stalks keep 3184 standing straight for speedy harvest. It's just what High Plains farmers need in a dependable, high-yielding corn hybrid. And its maturity makes it a good companion for 3183.

Push this one for highest yields! In 43 comparisons on the High Plains in 1979, this hybrid averaged 192.1 bu./A. A sampling of yields from 1979 includes 216 bu./A. for Sheldon Rapp at Hooker, Oklahoma 210.4 bu./A. for Larry Kemp of Muleshoe . . . and 196.7 bu./A. for Doyle Underwood at Dimmitt, Texas. 3183 has demonstrated very good standability and ear retention in this area. Excellent drouth tolerance helps 3183 maintain outstanding consistency year after year. And it has been especially impressive on gray soils. Plant 3183 along with 3184. Spread genetic risks and get top performance, too.

NBC, San Francisco Fans Will Profit by Move

By FRED ROTHENBERG AP Sports Writer

From strictly a television standpoint, NBC and the fans of the San Francisco Bay Area will profit by the hearing every other week.

potential move of the National Football League Raiders from Oakland to Los Angeles. Using the same TV yardstick, the losers from such a trip down the California coast would be CBS and the fans in Los Angeles.

Since the NFL merger took effect with the conference alignment in 1970, NBC has been showing the AFC games and CBS has been the network of the NFC. NBC has gotten the better teams, with Pittsburgh and Miami dominant in the '70s, but CBS has the better cities. Bigger markets mean more viewers, higher ratings and more advertising bucks.

Oakland, an AFC team, is very popular in the Bay Area. Al Davis' boys, clad in black and silver, have been CBS, Other Fans Lose on NBC almost more often than Johnny Carson. The fans in the Bay Area have been watching. Only there are less of them - and less TV sets - than in Los-

The San Francisco-Oakland market is the fifth largest in the nation; Los Angeles is second. Although NBC would probably prefer switching its Buffalo market to Los Angeles, it won't be unhappy about giving up No.5 and getting No.2.

Especially when you consider that CBS has a much better piece of the major cities. The networks share No.1, New York, but the NFC Giants are more popular in the area than the Jets. Until a Raider move to Los Angeles - and the NFL schedule will have the Raiders in Oakland unless a court rules otherwise - CBS

Philadelphia, No.4. A Raider move would give CBS the Bay Area solo, a TV bonus for the region's fans who would then get to see more NFL games on Sunday. That sounds crazy, but it's would have No.2 alone, as it does Chicago, the third biggest TV area, and true. Current restrictions prevent double-team cities, like New York, from getting three Sunday games when one of the local teams is

This is how it works. Every NFL week, either NBC or CBS gets a doubleheader game - normally a major contest aired on the full network. But if the Jets are home, New York fans get to see one NFC game on CBS and one AFC game on NBC (probably the Jets if they're sold out). The New York fans won't get the doubleheader game. The same situation exists if the Giants are home.

The fans will get the Jets on NBC and one NFC game (almost definitely the Giants).

In a one-team city, the viewer gets an AFC game on NBC, an NFC game on CBS and a third game from whichever network has the doubleheader that week. Last season, Los Angeles — a one-team town - had nine 3game Sundays. New York had just two, when the Jets and Giants were both on the road, or one of them was playing on Monday night.

Although the Bay Area fan might long for the departed Raiders, there is some consolation in that more NFL games will be on the tube. The opposite situation would then exist in two-team Los Angeles, where about 20 percent fewer NFL games would be televised to the area's armchair quarterbacks.

Plaques Donated To Nursing Home

Owl door plaques for each room of Prairie Acres Nursing Home in Friona were donated by members of Cultural Extension Homemakers Club recently as one of their service projects for

The owls were made from carpet scraps donated to the club by Simmons Carpets and C&W Carpets. Note pads mounted on the plaques were courtesy of Lithographics and writing pens were given by Hereford State Bank and First National Bank.

A total of 32 plaques were taken to the nursing home by a delegation of nine club members, who were guided on a tour of the facility by Madie Schmidt. Coffee and lemonade were served by the nursing home personnel. Cookies were provided by a club member, Bertha Dettmann, whose husband is a resident of Prairie Acres.

Those who made the trip to the nursing home were Vernis Parsons, Elizabeth Figer, Mildred Lewis, Mrs. Dettmann, Jewel Rogers, Edith Hunter, Tillie Scott, Ruth Gandy and Jewell Hargrave.

Mrs. Hollabaugh Named As Meeting Delegate

Ada Hollabaugh was elected by Hereford Rebekah Lodge #228 as representative to the Panhandle Association of Odd Fellows and Rebekahs who will meet in Amarillo. The local lodge convened in regular session Tuesday evening in IOOF Temple with Noble Grand Martha Bridges presiding.

Helen Sowell was chosen by the lodge as their alternate delegate to the area meeting. A funeral team will also compete at the association meeting again this year.

Final plans for attending the Grand Lodge and Rebekah Assembly at San Antonio March 14-18 were made by Helen Sowell, Ursalee Jacobsen, Susie Curtsinger all of whom are all Rebekahs, and Gene Bishop, Odd Fellow representative. Wilma Wise of Friona Rebekah Lodge #308 will also join them for the trip.

Sick and bereaved members and friends were reported with five cards being prepared for mailing.

Following adjournment, a covered dish supper was served to Nellie Beauford. Faye Brownlow, Mary Flowers, Verna Sowell, Frances Parker, Merl Bridges, Gene Bishop, Bessie Saulcy, Helen Sowell, Sadie Shaw, Edna Mathes, Guy Lawrence, Bessie Lawrence, Leona Sowell, Peggy Lemons, Ada Hollabaugh, Anna Conklin, Ursalee Jacobsen, Lydia Hopson, Martha Bridges and Susie Curtsinger.

At Wits End By ERMA BOMBECK

Every time I see a little box in a paper or magazine headlined "CORRECTIONS," I get a knot in my stomach.

I know that somewhere some poor sucker has followed directions to a "T" and ended up with the biggest mess he's Sometimes I even try to imagine the human casualties caused by these screwed-up directions. For exam this story.

CORRECTION "In the diagrams for "A Fold-Up Desk You Can Build in a Day," the dimensions given for the top, the table and the flap piece were unfortunatly reversed. "The flap should have been shown 30 inches HIGH and 231/2 inches WIDE. The table dimensions should have been 221/4 inches wide and 301/4 inches deep, and the top wall piece 24 inches wide and 311/2 inches high. "The 30-inch piano hinges specified to join the folding pieces therefore should be cut to fit. We suggest about 23 to 231/2 inch widths.' Oh, sure, those little three paragraphs get the publishers off the hook, but what about poor Larry Buzzsaw, who married a nice girl, Doris, 27 years ago and would be married today had it not been for that stupid little desk he built that was 231/2, inches off the floor?

Doris: "What do they call this thing?" Larry: "Don't start in, Doris. The instructions are bad enough to follow. It's called a Fold-Up Desk You Can Build in a Day.' Doris: "How long have you been in here? You need a shave. When are you going to unfold the desk so we can see what it looks like?"

Larry: "It is unfolded. As soon as I can get this hinge to fit, all I have to do is sand it, paint it, and it's ready to use." Doris: "By whom? A family of trolls?"

Larry: "Look, Doris. I needed that remark like Ronald Reagan needs another birthday. Why don't you go out in the kitchen and burn something?"

You get an idea of how it goes. Just out of curiosity I'd like to know how many couples named the Fold-Up Desk You can Build in a Day in their divorce suit..or for that matter, the Rice Divine casserole recipe that called for two pounds of rice instead of two cups. But I especially wondered what happened to the couple who followed directions I saw recently for a rockgarden that instructed, "Blow up an area in your back yard six by nine feet" instead of "Plow up."

The fission of one pound of Uranium-235 releases approximately the same amount of energy as the burning of 10,000 tons of coal.

Mount Whitney (14,494 feet), the highest mountain in the 48 conterminous states, is located in Sequoia National Park, Calif.

I wish to express heartfelt gratitude to Bill's and my friends who extended so many kind gestures during his illness and passing. The gifts of food and flowers and the concern shown to me were a comfort during a difficult time. Your expressions of sympathy and friendship will always be remembered.

Students Watch Film To Complement Studies

Eighth graders saw "The Diary of Anne Frank" during the first three periods yesterday. The English classes have been studying the book by the same title.

Freshmen met this morning with the high school counselors to discuss next year's schedules. This is always a time of mixed emotions for freshmen. They are the "seniors" here at Stanton and next year they will be "on the bottom" again. But with the talent and enthusiasm this class of freshmen possesses, high school should be better because of them.

The cast has been selected for the all-school play, which will be under the direction of Carole Marrs. Those who will be performing in the play are: Allyson Jones, JoAnn Brown, Dan Trevino, Jennifer Eggen. Becky Ruland. Margie Morales, Pam Nixon, Annette Dawson, Tiffi Dirks, Chris Crowley, Melanie Ivey. Elma Turrubiates, Crystal Finley. Trina Wilkerson. The title of the play is "The Stuck Pot" and will be presented in early April.

The Stanton musical production will be presented Thursday, March 20, at 1:10. Parents are especially welcome to attend this performance. The musical is under the direction of Doug Morris. The girls' and boys' track teams will be in Plainview for meet tomorrow and Saturday.

Runner Advises On Nutrition

Some athletes advocate eating steak and eggs to build muscles, taking vitamins by the handsful to nourish their body, and avoiding milk in the mistaken belief that it slows them

But special diets or diet supplements are potentially harmful for athletes according to Sharon Vitousek, M.D., and a marathon runner. Eating a lot of certain foods in hopes of bettering athletic performance is for the most part unadvisable, according to her recent article in "Nutrition Today" on sports nutrition.

"Basic nutrition needs of athletes during training do not vary for different sports, nor do they vary from the basic nutrition needs of sedentary individuals, except inquality." Vitousek wrote.

Very high amounts of ANY one nutrient (protein, carbohydrate or fat) to the point of nutritional imbalance can cause metabolic problems, she says. High protein meals for instance are slow to digest and are often in the stomach even after the game or practice activity is over. Too much protein right before strenuous exercise can cause cramps, or upset stomach.

Another sports physician, Dr. Daniel Hanley, U.S. Olympic team physician for nearly 20 years, agrees:

"While you are sitting, reading this article, you are expending as much protein for energy as you would if you were running around a track. Protein is used as a fuel to power muscles only in starvation." It is primarily a "build and repair" nutrient, he said.

A high fat diet is not recommended since too much fat is difficult to digest and can decrease endurance. Instead, extra carbohydrate foods supply the extra calories some athletes need. Carbohydrates mean bread, rice, noodles, pancakes, tortillas of the bread-cereal group; and sweets and sugars of the high-fat-highcalorie group. Foods in other groups can also provide energy. One cup of skim milk provides almost as much carbohydrate as one bread

"Since nature does not usually package food according to the categories of fat, carbohydrate or protein content, it's best to translate dietary guidelines into certain portions per day from each of the food groups: (1) milk-cheese, (2) meat-eggs, (3) fruits-vegetables, and (4) breads-cereals," says Dr. Vitousek's article. A 2500-3000 calorie diet balanced among these groups will more than provide needed nutrients for the average

If athletes must add something to their diet, it's extra water. Limiting water intake can place stress on the kidneys, especially with a high protein or high sugar diet. Salt tablets are discouraged unless an athlete works off more than a pound of liquid per hour. A little extra sprinkling of salt on your food will suffice for even strenous athletic workouts, says Dr. Hanley. Vitamin supplements should not be necessary except in special cases. Dr. Hailey writes that the megavitamin philosophy has application in sports.

"If one gets a normal American diet, one gets all the vitamins needed to be a healthy adult. Taking more (vitamins) is not only a waste of money, but may, in the case of the fat soluble vitamins A, D, K, and E, be injurious to health."

We were completely stunned and heartsick. Over the holidays we were thrown together a lot because of family parties. They act like everything is hunky-dory, but the affection we had for them has turned stone cold.

Harvey and I feel like hypocrites when we are in their company, but there is no way we can avoid them because his family is very close. We looked in "The Ann Landers Encyclopedia" under "Double-Cross" and "False Friends" but couldn't find anything. What do you

York, Pa. DEAR YORK: A bore is a person with three mouths and no ears. He (or she) monopolizes the conversation, which is invariably a long-winded, detailed account of something the listener has no interest in. Usually it's about "my children" or "our new home" or "our trip" -- with lots of bragging and never a question about YOU. I seriously doubt that you are a bore because bores are the last ones to suspect it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Can you tell me anything about the number of patients who have survived heart transplants at Stanford University School of Medicine? I read an article about the extraordinary work of the heart surgeon, Dr. Norman Shumway, and would appreciate some figures if you can obtain them. -- Easterner

Looking West DEAR EASTERNER: As of Nov. 1, 1979, 178 patients had received heart transplants at Stanford since January 1968. Of the 178, 71 are still living. The longest survivor celebrated his 10th anniversary on Jan. 3, 1980.

At present, approximately 70 percent of the Stanford patients survive one year. The five-year survival rate is about 50 percent. These statistics were supplied by Rita Hooper, administrative assistant for Norman Shumway, M.D.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Your column has done a lot for my vocabulary. After reading a column of yours that appeared in the Oregon Journal I looked up the word "necrophilia". I then realized that most of the women with whom I had been having sex fell into that category -but I never knew there was a name for it. Thanks a bunch. -- Jack M.

DEAR JACK: Your letter tells more about you than it does about them. Don't let the word get around, Buster.

Real Estate Tips by Tommy Bowling

Do you believe there are still promising investment opportunities in real estate? Yes. There are always opportunities, but their availability is dependent upon the economy. Bargains are harder to find, but they still exist. You might be willing to buy rental property as an investment, even though it currently has no cash flow, because you can make use of mortgage interest and depreciation as tax deductions against other income. Perhaps you might find a building that isn't being kept-up or managed to its fullest potential. Of course, you shouldn't just buy porperty and then sit back and hope that it will appeciate. The idea is to renovate and improve the property . . . do a better job of marketing and managing its space, thereby causing your investment to bring you a reasonable return.

A promise never kept

30 seconds or less.

COLUMBIA, S.C. (NEA) - Every presidential election produces two varieties of promises virtually guaranteed to go unfulfilled — one from the politicians and the other from executives of the nation's television networks.

The candidates claim that their installation in the White House certainly will produce peace, prosperity and general good feeling around the world. The reliability of those campaigns pledges already has been widely discussed.

Considerably less attention has been paid to the rhetoric offered by the news divisions of the commercial networks:

We've learned from the errors and omissions of the last campaign and we're committed to covering this year's race in a comprehensive, honest and intelligent manner.'

But just as surely as the politicians never seem to be able to produce abundant energy or lower inflation, the broadcasters never manage to report on the campaign in a manner befit-ting the importance of electing the country's chief executive

A case in point: On four occasions during the past two months, contenders for the Republican presidential nomination have agreed to face-to-face meetings to discuss and debate campaign issues.

And for the fourth time in two months, the networks have rebuffed the debate sponsors' offers to make the event available, at no cost, for live broadcast to a nationwide television

Jurors Handed Ford Co. Fate

WINAMAC, Ind. (AP) -Jurors in Ford Motor Co.'s reckless homicide trial worked past midnight Wednesday after the judge told them it was "eminently desirable" that they reach a verdict.

The Pulaski Circuit Court jury had deliberated for more than 20 hours since Monday, and returned to court shortly after 11 p.m. to hear another instruction from Judge Harold R. Staffeldt.

Staffeldt had asked them to resume deliberating after dinner although they had asked to leave after their afternoon meeting.

In the late night session, the judge asked foreman Arthur Selmer if the jury was close to reaching a verdict in the case. He replied, "No, your honor."

Staffeldt then asked whether he believed it would be impossible to reach a verdict. Again Selmer replied, "No, your honor."

"It is eminently desirable that, if you reasonably can, you agree upon a verdict," the judge said. "Another trial would be a heavy burden for both sides. There is no reason to believe the case could be tried any more exhaustively than it already has. There is no reason to believe it would ever be submitted to a jury more competent, intelligent and reasonable than you."

The judge's action apparently was triggered by concern from both the defense and prosecution that jurors might read or hear a statement the judge made to a reporter, a Ford spokesman

Heart Specialist To Examine Shah

HOUSTON (AP) - Noted heart surgeon Dr. Michael DeBakey will operate on the ailing shah of Iran if an examination shows the deposed monarch requires surgery, a Baylor College of Medicine spokesman says.

Baylor spokesman Frank Weaver said he talked to DeBakey Wednesday night and that the surgeon "is definitely going to Panama to examine the shah."

"No one is committed to surgery," said Weaver, "they first will have to examine the shah."

However, a New York spokesman for the exiled ruler said Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi's spleen is inflamed, enlarged and probably associated with a tumor. He said the shah will undergo an operation soon to have it removed.

Weaver said if surgery is required DeBakey would bring his team from Baylor and Methodist Hospital in Houston to Panama to perform the operation. The Baylor spokesman said he did not know who asked DeBakey to examine the shah.

Sources in Panama City, Panama, said doctors and officials there worked under tight security Wednesday to prepare a hospital ward for the shah's expected shah's personal physician, refused to disclose the date of the operation for security reasons, the New York spokesman said. But sources in Panama said it probably would be sometime within the next week or so.

Dr. Benjamin Kean, the

Weaver said travel plans were incomplete and he could not say when DeBakey would examine the shah. The former monarch now

Clements Blasts White

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) -Gov. Bill Clements says he thinks its a mistake for the oil drilling company he founded should not seek to recover lamages from Mexican firms perating the runaway oil well in the Bay of Campeche.

SEDCO, who rented the frilling rig the Mexican national oil company, Pemex, nas asked a federal judge for permission to sue that company and Pemargo, the trilling contractor on the xtoc I well.

"I think that is a mistake," Clements said Wednesday. 'SEDCO should not have sued them - any more than Attorney General Mark White should have sued."

Clements' office issued a news release after the governor, who is due to meet Friday with Mexican President Lopez Portillo in Monterrey, Mexico, read about the motion in a newspaper.

U.S. District Judge Robert O'Conor has taken no action on the SEDCO motion filed March 3.

The Ixtoc I well blew out June 3. Oil washed ashore along about 140 miles of Texas beaches last summer. However, Pemex says it has cut the flow from the well and reduced the chances that the Texas coastcould receive a new coating of oil this summer.

At the time of the blowout, a SEDCO drilling rig was being used under lease by Pemargo, the drilling subsidiary of Pemex. The Dallas firm is asking permission to seek to recover damages from Pemex and determined to be liable for Ixtoc I's damages. SEDCO initiated the matter in O'Conor's court in

Pemargo should SEDCO be

July by asking that it be released of any liability or that liability be limited to $300,000, the estimated value of the drilling rig.

O'Conor then set an Oct. 20 deadline for the filing of lawsuits in the matter. By that deadline, damage claims against SEDCO, Pemex, and Pemargo exceeded $300 million. Claims were filed by the State of Texas and by South Texas tax jurisdictions, fishermen, and business firms and groups.

White filed the Texas action Oct. 19.

DOE Proposal May Limit Weekend Boating

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) - A proposal to restrict the use of recreational watercraft on weekends comes under fire today during a Department of Energy's hearing on a proposed standby federal emergency energy conservation plan.

The measure is contained in a nine-point package that would become effective during a severe fuel shor-

Although several states, such as Texas and California, have used an odd-even rationing program to ease the fuel crunch, the president would have the authority to override any state measure in favor of the stricter federal

In addition to the boating restriction, the government is proposing lower speed limits, a mininum fuel purchase requirement, an odd-even gasoline rationing plan, an employer program to reduce commuter use of private vehicles and a vehicle sticker program to prohibit use of vehicles one or more days a week.

Included in the proposal are a compressed work week, a public information program and temperature restrictions in non-residential buildings.

However, the proposal to restrict boating on weekends has drawn the strongest opposition.

If approved, all owned, chartered or rented vessels which use fuel as a source of propulsion would be prohibited from operating on Sunday and possibly all weekend during a fuel crisis.

Boating organizations estimate the measure would affect more than 535,000 registered boat owners in Texas and more than 900 retailers who contribute about $169,000 million to the state economy.

Several boating organizations have launched a media blitz, including newspaper advertisements, radio and television spots, have encouraged boat owners and retailers to attend the two-day hearing here and express their opposition.

"The DOE has based its proposals on findings that are wrong," said Frank Pillsbury, a representative of the Boat Trade Association of Pillsbury's statement were made in response to a DOE official following a hearing in Atlanta earlier this month.

Henry G. Bartholomew, DOE director for energy, conservation and solar energy, said preliminary data used by the federal agency indicated boats consumed between 2 percent to 3 percent of all fuel when the watercraft a actually use only about .05 percent.

The potential saving from curtailing boating is minimal since most Americans own a 16-foot boat and not a yacht, Bartholomew said.

The proposal "strikes at the very heart of middle America" while forcing a particular segment of business to carry a brunt of the effort to constrain energy

Bartholomew also noted other low cost fuel consumers, such as snowmobiles and 4-wheel drives, were exempted from the measure.

If the actual figure falls anywhere between the two extremes, the chances of such a proposal passing were "slim to zero."

In addition to Atlanta, hearing on the energy conservation package have been held in New York and Chicago. Testimony will be taken at similar hearings in San Francisco and Washington before testimony is evaluated and recommendations made.

An estimated 2.3 million tons of newspapers in 1978 were recycled; 360,000 tons were exported, and 120,000 tons were treated for reuse as building insulation.

Unfinished business

It's a familiar enough story by now. Congress, with some reluctance, has agreed to prop up shaky foreign government with an emergency package.

The pricetag is $75 million and the recipient is Nicaragua, the Central American country that has still not found the answer to the question of what is to follow the Somoza dictatorship overthrown last year - a reasonable facsimile of democracy or radical chaos. At a time when a figure of $400 million is being discussed as a possible beginning of aid to a Pakistan that may or may not be threatened by the Soviet advance into Afghanistan, $75 million is not exactly high stakes. Particularly not for a country virtually next door, rather than half a world away, and in an area in which the United States has long been deeply interested and intimately involved.

Why, then, the dragging of congressional feet? The decision was especially close in the House, a five-vote margin. There were and are, however, strong reservations as to the intentions of the new Nicaraguan regime. With reason. The revolutionary junta is a mixed bag of Marxists and moderate elements. Communist influence is a 😘 potent fact of the new Nicaragua, manifested most visibly by Cuban presence of more than a thousand teachers.

Nicaragua could become another Cuba. But it has not gone

Should it eventually do so, Washington will have to write off the $75 million as a bad investment, as it has had to do over the years with much larger sums.

But if the aid, designed primarily for recovery of private business and to restore public facilities destroyed in the civil war, encourages development of a democratic new Nicara-gua, it could prove one of the most profitable U.S. investments of recent years.

Lost: $469 million surplus

By Robert J. Wagman

WASHINGTON (NEA) - There is some good news and some bad news from the U.S. Postal Service. First, the good news: The USPS showed its first "profit" in 32 years and actually managed to close its books with a $469 million surplus. Now the bad news: The USPS "surplus" is much less than meets the Postal sources, in fact, tell us things are so bad that the cost of mailing a first-class letter will have to be raised in 1981 to 18 cents from the current 15 cents.

Why? Because, our sources say, the postal surplus is little more than an accounting trick. Here is how the whole thing was pulled off (pay close attention, please; as with zip codes, this starts getting confusing after the third digit):
In order to arrive at what is called a "positive funds balance," the postal service received $2.6 billion from taxpayers last year; the federal government shelled out $811 million for actual postal services performed for it, and forked over another $1.8 billion as an outright subsidy. (The USPS also managed to rake in $15.4 billion from the public for services rendered; its budget for the year was $17.5 billion.)

Now for the accounting trick, which has to do with worker overtime. The USPS is being sued by unions representing postal employees. The suit contends that the service should have paid overtime to many workers who, instead, received unwanted compensatory time. At stake: $500 million — or, just a little over the amount of the "surplus." If the USPS loses the suit (a fairly good bet), the "surplus" instantly will become a deficit because the service did not budget for this loss and has set aside no reserve. For the current year, the service says it can just about it break even without any postage increase, but only if it gets another $2.5 billion or so from the taxpayers and it increases its borrowing by about a billion or so.

The USPS's biggest expense is people; the salaries it pays are the highest in government.

In his new budget message, President Carter has requested that federal workers be limited to a 6.2 percent pay raise this year. Needless to say, with inflation running at over 13 percent, the prospects of only a 6 percent raise has not gone over well with most of the federal workforce.

Postal workers do not share this ill will, however. Last year, in order to avoid a strike, the postal people agreed to a new three-year pact that guaranteed two increases a year: the normal wage hike given to all federal workers and a cost-of-living adjustment. Therefore, unlike their colleagues in most other federal departments (who will have to make do with meager 6 percent raises), postal workers likely will get in excess of 10 percent. year, in order to avoid a strike, the postal people agreed to a

This means that, even if mail volume (and, hence, income) increases, as is projected, and the USPS borrows even more than last year, it still will finish 1980 with another large deficit. (The USPS budget for 1980 is estimated at $19 billion.)

Which is why, within a few weeks, you can expect this announcement: Effective Jan. 1, 1981, first-class mail will go announcement: Effective Jan. 1, 1981, first-class mail will go up to 18 cents for the first ounce. (Total budget for 1981, incidentally, is projected at $21.3 billion.)

Says one postal source, "The increase should go into effect immediately. Inflation, energy prices and wage increases are going to kill us this year. Politically, though, it is better to announce that we are going to hold the line this year — but, this will only be done by borrowing more.

"I just wonder if we are going to be able to get by with an 18-cent rate. Twenty cents may be more like what we really

Judge John Ovard granted the defense motion Wedafter hearing nesday testimony from a police officer who admitted he used threats and a falsified lab report to get Tammy Lynn Harrison to confess to killing her mother.

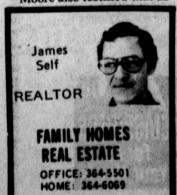

"We need to sit down and go over the evidence again to see if we have anything else tying her to the murder," said District Attorney Henry Wade. "If we don't, we'll dismiss it." Miss Harrison is charged in the stabbing death of her mother, Phyllis Pearl Tucker, who was found Sept. 29 in the bedroom of their Duncanville home. She had been stabbed nine times with a large butcher knife. "It (the ruling) definitely hurt my case," Assistant District Attorney Norm Keene said after the ruling. "The trial is set for May 19, and before then we will have to evaluate the facts and determine whether we will be trying it at all."

Duncanville Lt. Bob Moore testified Tuesday he told Miss Harrison she could go to the electric chair for the death of her mother, even though the girl insisted at that time she was innocent.

Texas no longer utilizes the electric chair in death penalty cases, and the maximum sentence for the crime Miss Harrison is charge with is life in prison. Moore also testified that as HARLINGEN, Texas (AP) - A Dallas man has been charged in a hit-and-run pedestrian accident that killed an 89-year-old vacationer from Iowa Tuesday night.

John Lee Hammer, 38 turned himself in to police several hours after the accident, and was charged with failing to stop and render aid, said Justice of the Peace Tommy Thompson. Bond was set at $2,500 dollars.

Jesse Lee Thomas of Burlington, Iowa, was killed as he walked from the Valley Baptist Medical Center, where he had been visiting his wife.

FARMERS BRANCH, Texas (AP) - A 10-foot ditch caved in on a construction worker and killed him Tuesday, police said.

The victim was Willie B. Kelly Jr., 28, of Dallas, who was installing underground pipe at a construction site. Police said he was not completely covered, but apparently was crushed by the weight of earth and other

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - A proposal to prohibit motor carriers from charging for overweight portions of loads received mix reaction Wednesday at a Railroad Commission hearing.

Several industry representatives testified the proposed rule would penalize carriers, but not shippers who often are responsible for loading trucks.

Any rule "must be made unattractive to shippers a well as carriers," said John Cirillo, traffic manager for Schill Steel of Houston.

Wayne King of the American Automobile Association in Houston called the proposed change "reasonable and needed." He said a 1976 study suggested some trucking firms take fines as a 'scost of doing business."

EL PASO, Texas (AP) - A Dallas couple escaped serious injuries Wednesday when their twin-engine plane crashed in the desert east of Arlington Helbing Jr. and Helen Helbing received facial cuts and were listed in stable condition at Sierra Medical Center.

Authorities said the Helbings' flight originated early Wednesday at Dallas.

Before ditching into a sand hill. Helbing, thought about landing the aircraft on a city street, according to police radio reports.

Raul Soria, 31, a construction worker who saw the crash, said, "It was coming down real slow, and you couldn't hear the motor." Soria, the first person at the crash scene, said, "suddenly all that dirt came puffing out of the desert."

He said he unbuckled the victims' seat belts and waited for an Army helicopter to transport them to the hospital. Federal Aviation Administration officers were investigating to determine the cause of the crash. DALLAS (AP) - Sheriff's deputy Laurence Hill was accused of choking an inmate and suspended for five days, Sheriff Carl Thomas announced Tuesday. Hill was accused of using "unnecessary force" against inmate Charles Dean Smith on Feb. 12 when the prisoner refused to hand over his comb to the deputy, investigators said.

Smith, 32, was not injured.

AUSTIN, Texas. (AP) -Attorney General Mark White urged Gov. Bill Clements Wednesday to reconsider his action in reducing funding state aid to rural prosecutors.

"Your action, in my opinion, will have a devastating effect on law enforcement in rural Texas where the projects was focused," White said in an official statement.

Clements said last week he reduced funding of the rural prosecutors assistance project to 70 percent on unanimous recommendation of the Criminal Justice Advisory Council. He said White's attorneys assigned to the project used only 30 to 70 percent of their time on helping rural prosecutors. He also said the project would be phased out and taken over by the Texas Prosecutors' Coordinating Council.

"Frankly, I believe there has been a conflict of interest involving two of the evaluators of this project," White said. "Records of the clearly reflect that both the Texas District and County Attorneys Association ... and Texas Prosecutors Coordinatong Council ... are heavily funded through your Criminal Justice Division.

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (AP) - The first woman to serve as a warden in the Texas prison system is dead. Velda Quinn Dobbs, 66, died Tuesday night after a long illness. She had retired in 1973 after serving as warden of the Goree unit for women prisoners since 1952. Upon her retirement, a new building at Goree was named the Velda O. Dobbs Educational Building. Survivors include the husband, a retired director of photography for the Texas Department of Corrections, and two sons.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - An attorney for the Texas Building and Construction Trades Council wants the FBI to take the "lab" out of Brilab.

Tom Upchurch says the council, which represents 200,000 pipefitters. boilermakers and other union members, considers Brilab a slur against labor.

Brilab is the FBI's code name f for an investigation of labor officials alleged involvement in the bribery of elected officials.

"It's rather like a racial slur. It's the same as 'BriMex' or 'BriJew.' It imputes dishonor to all labor people, and unjustifably maligns and labels thousands of honest people," Upchurch

He said a suit will be filed against the U.S. Justice Department and FBI.

Upchurch said Houston Criminal Justice Division lawyer Richard "Racehorse" Haynes has been asked to handle the case. Haynes has said he will take the case if the council can meet his fee.

HEALTH

Keloid causes worry

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB - Some years ago doctors removed a years ago doctors removed a small cyst by surgery from the skin in the center of my chest. It healed slowly and apparently had some infection. But after healing a very nasty keloid formed about the area. This tissue is ugly, itchy and always slightly sore and inflamed

A dermatologist treated it with cortisone injections. After two years of monthly injections, the keloid is still the same. It seems strange to me that in this age of advanced medicine that such a seemingly simple malady cannot be relieved. Can you give me any information on this keloid condition? I am a blond Caucasian. Therefore, I should not have a condition related to people of dark skin if this is truly a trait found among them.

DEAR READER - It's true that keloids are more apt to form in people with dark skin than those who are fair. But anyone can have keloids or overgrown scar tissue. For the benefit of other readers, a keloid is a scar that continues to grow and often produces a mass or tumor-like formation. The exact cause of them is not

Your unsatisfactory results from cortisone injections points up the value of doctors not promising too much for any treatment of keloids. You cannot always tell whether they will return or whether they will regress under treatment. Many doctors still believe the best approach is surgery in selected cases. The entire overgrown scar area is removed. Then the skin in the surrounding area is freed up so it can be pulled together without producing any tension on the incision. If you're lucky, the end result will be a small scar rather than the overgrown scar tissue that

In addition to surgery, some doctors believe in injecting a localized area or treating it otherwise with steroids. Then if there's any indication of regrowth of excessive scar tissue, doctors may recom-mend using radiation treatment locally to that area. Why don't you ask your dermatolo-gist if it would be useful in your case to try surgery?

DEAR DR. LAMB — What does iron do for a woman while she's menstruating? Is it necessary?

DEAR READER - The iron isn't just to be taken dur-ing menstruation. We often say that a woman has increased iron requirements during her childbearing years because of her menstrual periods. The point is that she loses blood each time her menstrual period occurs and with the blood loss, she loses some iron. This, in turn, will increase there iron requires increase her iron require-ments since the lost iron must be replaced to avoid iron deficiency with resulting iron deficiency anemia. Readers who want more information on this problem can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed enve-lope for The Health Letter number 4-4, Iron and Anemia. Address your request to Dr. Lamb, in care of this newspa-per, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB - My doctor told me to gain 14 more pounds at a rate of two pounds a week. I'd like you to send me a good, balanced diet to gain weight. I'm 18 years old and 5 feet 4 and I'm not sure how many calories a day I need to gain weight and how many I need to maintain my weight.

I'm not sure which food groups I should especially increase. I've been eating lots of fattening desserts such as ice cream, pie, cookies and cakes but I doubt these have many nutrients. Should I be eating lots of bread and meat?

I lost 30 pounds in eight months and I still am losing large amounts of hair. I know this is from the poor diet. So is there any special thing I can eat to help replace my hair? Also, are sugar and fat bad for

DEAR READER - I can means but I presume that your weight loss was because of a bad diet and that you overdid dieting. People who are on a substandard diet, particularly one that's low in protein, are apt to lose large amounts of their hair. This is temporary and it will come back in time, but it may take several months for all of your

Skillet comes clean-

DEAR POLLY — My black iron skillet has food burned on the outside that I am unable to remove. Can you tell me what to do to get this off? — MRS.W.E. DEAR MRS. W.E. — You might try putting the skillet inside a large pan that contains water and washing soda. Let it boil for a bit and then leave in the hot water for a while. That should leave the humand on food and the state of the humand and the state of the humand and the state of the sta for a while. That should loosen the burned on food so that it can be scrubbed off with a stiff brush and hot suds or a cleanser. Rinse and then dry thoroughly. Cast iron must be complely dry or it will get rust spots. —

DEAR POLLY — If there is only one helping of dessert but two children want it, let one divide it and let the other have the first choice. It will be equally divided and both are happy.

hair follicles to become nor-

You didn't tell me how much you weigh but if you need to gain 14 pounds you must be pretty light. A normal 18-year-old female who is 5 feet 4 will need at least 2000 calories a day for normal nutrition. If you were to gain two pounds of fat a week, you'd need an additional 1000 calories a day. Now, there are not as many calories in a pound of muscle by a great deal so it depends a lot on what the two pounds are that you gain. I hope some of it will be restoration of your normal muscle mass. People who have been on star-vation diets often lose a lot of protein from the body and a great deal of that comes from their body muscles. So it's possible that you may need as much as 3000 calories a day, and that's quite a bit of food. We usually tell people to avoid sweets and fat because most people have trouble withbeing overweight, not being underweight. The biggest problem caused by sweets and fat is providing too many

Many of the sweets and fats don't contain anything but calories. They're limited in the amount of minerals and vitamins that they supply for the body. So there's a bigger emphasis on cereals and fresh fruits and vegetables and lean meats and low-fat milk because these are the sources of important vitamins and minerals that your body needs, as well as good quality protein (which is found in the dairy products and the meat group).

I am sending you The. Health Letter number 4-6, Balanced Diet, Recommended Daily Dietary Allowances (RDA). It will give you a skeleton basis for a balanced diet and you can add to it the foods that have lots of caloice cream, pie, cookie and cake all contain plenty of calories. So if you get your basic minerals and proteins from the basic diet that I am sending you and add these foods to your diet, you'll be getting all the things you need, plus increasing your calories.
