WASHINGTON (AP) — Libya resumed its attack on U.S. planes flying over the Gulf of Sidra early today by firing at least six more surface-to-air missiles, prompting additional retaliatory strikes by the United States, the Pentagon said.

Robert Sims, the Defense Department's chief spokesman, said U.S. jets had once again attacked radar installations at the Libyan city of Sirte and had also disabled at least two more Libyan patrol boats.

The spokesman said up to 12 SA-6 and SA-2 missiles had been fired at U.S. planes since Monday, when Libyan forces first attacked American planes flying below Col. Moammar Khadafy's "line of death."

When the Pentagon last briefed reporters on Monday night, Defense

Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger said two Libyan patrol boats had been disabled and an SA-6 battery at Sirte knocked out.

The Pentagon then refused further comment on the tense situation in the Mediterranean until 6:15 this morning, when Sims disclosed the hostility had not ceased.

According to the spokesman, a Libyan patrol boat that was preparing to attack the U.S. 6th fleet was "engaged with a surface-to-surface missile" at 6:12 p.m. EST Monday by the cruiser Yorktown. Sims said this confrontation occurred in the Mediterranean outside the Gulf of Sidra and that debris from the patrol boat had later been spotted.

At 6:54 p.m. EST Monday, Sims continued, the United States launched its second attack of the day on a radar site serving missile batteries at Sirte. The spokesman said two A-7 attack jets from the carrier Saratoga fired missiles at "a radar site that was radiating (operating) at the time."

Anti-American demonstration held in Tripoli

By The Associated Press

Thousands of people staged an anti-American demonstration today in the Libyan capital, and Libya's official radio urged that American "spies" serving as consultants in the Arab world be killed in retaliation for two days of U.S. attacks.

In Washington, the Pentagon said Libya resumed its assaults on U.S. planes flying over the disputed Gulf of Sidra early today by firing at least six more surface-to-air missiles, prompting a second day of retaliatory strikes by the United States.

JANA, Libya's official news agency, quoted Libyan leader Col. Moammar Khadafy as saying the "brave confrontation" with the United States would continue. The JANA dispatch was monitored in Rome.

Western European diplomats in Libya said several thousand people demonstrated for 90 minutes outside the Belgian Embassy in Tripoli, which handles U.S. interests in the Libyan capital. There were no incidents, and embassy operations were reported to be proceeding normally, the diplomats said.

The diplomats, who were reached by telephone from Rome, spoke on condition of anonymity.

The CBS Morning News showed footage of the protesters, carrying banners and placards, and chanting "Down with America!" However, a CBS reporter in Tripoli said the demonstrators had only vague knowledge of the U.S.-Libyan fighting.

The official Libyan radio, in a broadcast monitored in Cyprus, reported anti-American demonstrations today "in every city and village" of Libya. It carried what it said was live coverage of the Tripoli demonstration and a protest in Benghazi, a major city on the Gulf of Sidra.

Reagan approves $20 million in aid to Honduras

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan, responding to a large-scale Nicaraguan incursion into Honduras, has approved $20 million in emergency assistance for the Honduran military, U.S. officials said today.

The officials, who asked not to be identified, said Reagan acted in response to a request Monday night from Honduran authorities after Sandinista forces penetrated up to 15 miles inside Honduras in an attempt to destroy Nicaraguan rebel bases.

The Nicaraguan incursion was described as the largest of more than 100 Sandinista border crossings into Honduras since the Contra rebels began using that country as a base of operations more than four years ago.

The officials said Reagan has notified appropriate members of Congress that he intends to exercise his emergency authority under the Foreign Assistance Act to provide Honduras with materiel, training and services.

The military materiel that has been requested includes air defense weapons, conventional ordnance, spare parts and armament for helicopters and essential training, according to the officials.

Word of the aid package came as Reagan and Senate Democrats worked to strike a compromise on his request for $100 million in aid for the Contras.

The officials said Reagan was expected to sign an order authorizing the release of the assistance later today.

In addition, Secretary of Defense Caspar Weinberger has dispatched Gen. John Galvin, commander in chief of the U.S. Southern Command, to Honduras to assess the situation and provide intelligence and advice to the Honduran government.

Galvin has been instructed to undertake every precaution to avoid placing members of the U.S. armed forces stationed in Honduras into situations of potential conflict, the officials said.

Dedication Ceremony

Landscaping of a courthouse lawn plot just south of the jail Monday was dedicated to the people of Deaf Smith County in commemoration of the Texas Sesquicentennial. Ruth Knox of the county Sesquicentennial Committee, which is funding the garden spot, presented County Judge Glen Nelson, right, the formal proclamation during Monday's ceremony. Multi-trunked red oak trees already have been planted and will be joined by a star-shaped flower bed of red, white, and blue blossoms.

County rejects bids on renovation, reconstruction of Bull Barn roof

By SHAWN COCKRUM
Staff Writer

The Deaf Smith County Commission rejected bids on two agenda items Monday because the bids exceeded the amount the commission was willing to spend for the items.

In the regular business meeting, commissioners first rejected the bids on fourth floor courthouse renovation. Bids from McCaslin Lumber and Sam J. Smith Construction exceeded $24,000. Commissioner Austin Rose said that the commission was not in any position to spend that kind of money under the current budget.

That renovation is part of a plan to provide more space to already overcrowded offices by remodeling an area which was used by the Department of Human Resources until that department moved to the courthouse annex. The district attorney's offices would have filled the vacant DHR offices, the county Extension Service offices were to have moved to the DA's office and the district clerk's offices were to have been moved to the Extension's offices.

Commissioners said that they will go back to the district attorney and request alternative specifications which would reduce the renovation price.

Commissioners also rejected bids to replace the Bull Barn roof. During their last meeting the commissioners opened bids from Brownlow Brothers and from Leeway Roofing. Both bids were over $24,000, also. Commissioners decided to repair the existing roof to try to save the county money. Commissioners decided that if each screw was replaced in the metal roof, it would solve the problem.

County Judge Glen Nelson had earlier said that if the roof repair was put off any longer, serious damage could occur.

New bids on repair will be opened on April 14.

In other bidding, Center Gas Inc., the lowest bidder, won the contract for the county's fuel.

In other business the commission: -Heard a presentation from Lee Washington of W & W Electrical. Washington presented a device called Maxi-Volts which he said would conserve electrical power use in the courthouse and jail for a savings of $5,206 in the next five years. Commissioners said next year's budget would have to be studied to determine if the county could afford the $6,640 to install the unit.

-Approved the yearly fire reported that was submitted by the Hereford Fire Marshall.

-Approved a contract with the Texas Department of Public Safety, Division of Nuclear Waste Management. The contract is a formality that allows the county to act as a disbursing agent for government funds concerning nuclear waste studies.

-Signed a resolution asking the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission to submit a grant application on behalf of the county for $50,000 to help in renovation of the Fullwood Building at Third and Lee which the county plans to use as a juvenile detention facility. Total renovation costs are estimated at $115,741.

-Approved a tax refund for the Central Tax Appraisal District.

-Granted permission to Richard Simms to cross a county road in Precinct 2 with a waterline.

-Heard from representatives of the San Jose Catholic Church concerned about the Bull Barn policy which

Homemade rockets fired at embassy

TOKYO (AP) — Homemade rockets were launched today at the U.S. Embassy and the Imperial Palace in central Tokyo in nearly simultaneous attacks, but no injuries or damage were reported. Police said leftists apparently were to blame.

The rockets in both incidents were fired from vacant automobiles, apparently by remote control or with timing devices, police said.

There were no immediate claims of responsibility for the attacks, but police said they thought the rockets were the work of leftist radicals. Leftists in recent weeks have said they will try to disrupt the May 4-7 Tokyo Summit which will bring the leaders of seven industrialized nations, including President Reagan, to Tokyo.

Homemade rockets are a favorite device of Japan's best-known radical group, the leftist Chukaku-ha, or Middle Core Faction, that has claimed responsibility over the years for guerrilla attacks against the New Tokyo International Airport at Narita and other targets.

An embassy spokeswoman, who spoke on condition of anonymity, said U.S. Ambassador Mike Mansfield was in the building today, but refused to say whether he was there at the time of the attack.

Americans George Pendleton, 26, of Washington, D.C., and Tom Edwards, 22, of Los Angeles, said they were walking on the street outside the embassy when the attack occurred.

"At first I thought it was just a car backfiring, but then I heard another bang, and so I looked and saw a white car with the trunk open and a mortar-like tube thing sticking out of the back," Pendleton said.

"He said he saw a 'missile flying out of the car about eight to 10 inches long, and there was fire coming out of the trunk.'"

Within minutes, three rockets also were launched near the Hanzomon Gate of the Imperial Palace, little more than a mile from the embassy, police said.

Supreme Court backs out of prayer meeting decision

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court, citing a procedural flaw in a Pennsylvania case, today backed out of deciding whether public high schools may allow students to meet during school hours for prayer and religious worship.

Four of the justices dissented, saying they would let students conduct such meetings.

Led by Justice John Paul Stevens, the court's 5-4 majority refused to reach the merits of a freedom-of-religion controversy from Williamsport, Pa.

The justices ruled that John C. Youngman Jr., a former member of the local school board, had lacked the legal standing to carry the case to a federal appeals court, and that the case should never have been decided by that court.

Although today's action sets no national precedent in the continuing debate over the role of religion in public schools, it did appear to reinstate a federal trial judge's ruling that allowed the student religious

Legislation would abolish tests

AUSTIN (AP) — To avoid another year of "panic," the Texas Federation of Teachers president says his organization wants to eliminate any possibility that teachers will have to take a test on how well they know their subjects.

John Cole said Monday the federation is proposing legislation to strike from the Texas Education Code a provision to test teachers on "subject areas."

Approximately 200,000 Texas teachers recently were tested on basic skills, such as reading and writing, and Cole said rumors of yet another test is destroying teacher morale.

The Education Code as amended by the Legislature provides for testing teachers in subject areas, but legislators last year decided not to appropriate money to pay for it.

Cole said that was evidence that the Legislature felt that a basic competency test, along with a statewide appraisal system, "was sufficient to weed out" incompetent teachers.

"One of the things we want to take away is the ability to say that this other test is coming, so everybody should be in a panic for another year," Cole said. "We don't want another year of that kind of panic."

Cole also told a press conference that Rep. Bill Haley, chairman of the House Committee on Public Education, had said he is considering a proposal to repeal the second test when the Legislature meets in 1987.

Three sentenced in credit card fraud

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) — Three members of a counterfeiting ring that preyed on consumers' credit card carbon slips have been sentenced to prison terms ranging from one to three years.

The Amarillo residents had pleaded guilty to charges in a nine-count federal indictment that they took carbon copies of credit card sales slips and sent them to Dallas.

There, another person made fake credit cards based on the sales slips that were used as far away as Houston and Little Rock, Ark., said David Freriks, U.S. Secret Service special agent from Lubbock and chief investigator in the case.

U.S. District Judge Mary Lou Robinson on Monday sentenced Joe Douglas Mercer, 35, to three years in prison; Eva Joyce Latham, 31, to two years; and James Leonard Latham Sr., 27, to a year and a day.

All three were ordered to pay restitution to three Amarillo stores. Freriks said they charged more than $8,000 on the counterfeit cards at department stores and restaurants from October 1984 to Feb. 9.

The three were permitted to remain free on $5,000 bail each until April 7, when they must turn themselves in at a federal correctional institution.

The trio faced maximum penalties of five years in prison and a fines of $250,000 each, as well as being ordered to pay restitution for the goods they bought by use of phony credit cards.

Soviets strengthening attack

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union, while continuing to develop more lethal nuclear missiles, has embarked on a massive program to protect its land-based arsenal while attaining parity with the United States in the development of cruise missiles, the Defense Department said today.

The Soviets also have a crude but workable laser weapon capable of blinding low-orbit reconnaissance satellites, and are continuing to pour the equivalent of billions of dollars into further modernization of their conventional weapons, the department said.

Those and other conclusions were outlined today in a new booklet, entitled "Soviet Military Power," released by Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger. The annual study, the fifth prepared by the Pentagon, was described as an unclassified version of Defense Intelligence Agency reports that document what the Reagan administration has described as a relentless Soviet military buildup.

Faster warnings must be given

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hazardous weather alerts for pilots remain slow and inadequate and could cause another plane crash like the one at the Dallas-Fort Worth airport last summer that left 137 people dead, a congressman says.

Rep. Dan Glickman, D-Kan., told a news conference Monday faster warnings must be provided or "we will face another air catastrophe very soon."

Glickman released preliminary findings of a General Accounting Office investigation that federal air controllers are instructed to provide weather information to pilots "to the extent possible" contingent on other duties.

Controllers "feel that they do not have the time, training or expertise to discern, interpret and communicate present hazardous-weather messages," according to the GAO, the investigative arm of Congress. It said broadcasting such messages takes 23 minutes at the Dallas-Fort Worth airport because of numerous frequencies over which the forecast must be repeated.

Bank considering major loan package

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mexico, Argentina and other Latin American nations would be the recipients of hundreds of millions of dollars in new loans in a program under consideration by the World Bank.

A bank spokesman said Monday night that the bank's board of directors would consider the major loan package in the next few weeks.

"They're the first in a series, the first of a new initiative," the spokesman, Peter Riddleberger, said of the loans. "But they haven't been confirmed. They're not absolutely assured."

The loans are part of a $1.5 billion package for Latin America, which officials expect will be approved before April. The New York Times said in today's editions. The package would be the largest commitment ever to Latin America in such a brief period, the newspaper said.

Experiment conducted on cancer cells

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — In a process a bit like making a juvenile delinquent grow up to become a responsible citizen, researchers are experimenting with turning cancerous, immature body cells into non-cancerous adults.

If the approach works, it might be useful in conjunction with surgery and standard chemotherapy, which seeks to kill cancer cells rather than mending their ways, said Dr. Paul Marks, president of the Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center in New York City.

Research has already shown people can tolerate one maturation drug without side effects, and another study is just starting to see if the substance works in people as it has in the laboratory. Marks told a science writers seminar sponsored by the American Cancer Society on Monday.

mentator said: "The Libyan masses proclaim their challenge to the United States fleet and its warplanes. Let the mad president of America know this."

"We are a nation that does not fear death or threats," he said. "Let this crazy and failed actor know that our land produces giant fighters who will transform the waters of the Mediterranean into a sea of blood."

An Italian diplomat, Marco Tornetta, said by telephone that Tripoli was calm and that there had been no threats made against Americans in Libya or any other foreigners.

Tornetta said, however, that the Libyan army has been mobilized.

Libya charged that American planes attacked a Libyan civilian vessel Monday, and that U.S. planes were shadowing civilian flights in an effort to get closer to the Libyan shore.

The official radio urged retaliation against American targets in a broadcast monitored by the British Broadcasting Corp. in London.

"The oil which America exploits and usurps should now be destroyed. The American bases in the Arab homeland should now be stormed," it said.

"American spies who were pushed forward as experts and consultants should now be executed, wherever they might be in the Arab homeland," it said.

A State Department official had no comment on the Libyan threats. The official, speaking on condition of anonymity, said the latest U.S. estimates are that there are as few as 100 Americans remaining in Libya.

Libyan radio reported anti-American demonstrations today "in every city and village" of Libya. It carried live coverage of what it said was a demonstration in Benghazi, Libya's second-largest city located on the Gulf of Sidra.

In a broadcast monitored in Nicosia, Cyprus, a radio commentator said: "The Libyan masses proclaim their challenge to the United States fleet and its warplanes. Let the mad president of America know this."

"We are a nation that does not fear death or threats," he said. "Let this crazy and failed actor know that our land produces giant fighters who will transform the waters of the Mediterranean into a sea of blood."

"To hell with Reagan and his fleet," was one of the chants by demonstrators heard on the radio broadcast from Benghazi.

Sales increased

NEW YORK (AP) — Customer sales charged on stores' own credit cards increased 25 percent from 1974 to 1984, the last year for which statistics are available.

In 1984, an average of 66 percent of sales were handled on department store credit cards, compared with 45 percent a decade earlier, according to a survey funded by Citicorp Retail Services, an issuer of private label credit cards.

Lost-time injury down

BARTLESVILLE, Okla. (AP) — Hardhats, safety glasses, and gloves are three explanations for reaching 9 million employee hours without a lost-time injury, says Dave Tippeco, human resources manager at Phillips Petroleum.

Making safety the No. 1 priority helped Phillips' refining division set the new industry safety record, says Tippeco. He attributes much of the success to strict enforcement of the safety rules.

group to meet during student activity periods at the Williamsport high school.

The Reagan administration had urged the high court to allow student groups to meet for prayer and worship during activity periods.

Government lawyers had said that if the case washed out on procedural grounds, a cloud would be cast over the legitimacy of a 1984 federal law, the Equal Access Act.

In it, Congress made it unlawful for high schools receiving federal money and allowing some student groups to conduct meetings on school property to deny access to any student group based on what it proposed to discuss.

Insulin may help

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — Wasting away of muscle tissue in muscular dystrophy may relate to the ability of muscle to take up muscle-building glucose and amino acids. This ability may depend on the body's sensitivity to insulin.

Dr. Richard Moxley of the University of Rochester Medical Center says he is studying these relationships to learn why muscles deteriorate. Evaluation of amino acid uptake in muscle tissue of volunteers receiving insulin infusions makes it possible for Moxley to determine the degree of their insulin resistance.

"If we can identify decreases in muscle building associated with insulin resistance, we'll be able to design effective treatments," Moxley says.

Women control most spending

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — Women control the checkbook in most American households and wield more influence than men on routine spending decisions, according to a Better Homes and Gardens survey.

Women were the primary keeper of the checkbook in 75 percent of the households contacted in the survey and paid virtually all of the bills. A majority of women write the checks to pay for utilities, telephone, charge cards, mortgage, rent, etc.

Only in paying for investments do men share the duty as check writer, and even then, women still write most of the checks.

Things were going fine until I saw the safety training film.

As guests of the Department of Energy and Battelle Corporation at the Waste Isolation Pilot Plant (WIPP) in Carlsbad, N.M., last week the entourage from Hereford was allowed to descend 2,150 feet into the earth — but only after we had seen the safety film.

It was advised if you had any serious health problems or claustrophobia, then you had better stay above ground.

Yes, I was cool. I could ride for three minutes on a hoist stuffed with nine bodies. Hey, I had to get pictures.

All the suppressed reality in my mind surfaced when the film told about the little brass tag — coordinated with a list of names above ground — that we would wear for identification. Just for precaution.

And just for lighting, each person had to wear a hard hat with a lamp attached. On a holster-like strapping around our waist we would carry a battery pack for the lamp. It was no worse than toting a camera bag, I thought to myself.

Things really got exciting when the narrator told what the other leather pocket on the holster was for — a small kit she said was "not to share with your buddy."

When the mouthpiece was properly fitted and the noseclamps pinched across the nostrils, the clever device changed carbon monoxide to carbon dioxide in case a fire broke out underground or the ventilation system failed.

I started thinking about a will. There will be more of this adventure in future columns.

DR. GOTT Sensible use of sweeteners

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT — Which is safest for children: sugar, NutraSweet or saccharin?

DEAR READER — This is a tough question because it is disarmingly simple.

Many nutritionists believe that Americans eat too much sugar. Although the substance itself is safe for general use, a problem may arise because of quantity.

Some authorities have questioned the safety of heavy reliance on aspartame (NutraSweet or Equal) in children's diets. Again, the question is one of quantity. Aspartame must not be used by people who have the genetic disorder called phenylketonuria (PKU). Similarly, saccharin is probably best limited to small doses.

I believe that moderation is the best approach, although all three substances are probably harmless in the quantities ordinarily consumed. Potential trouble may arise if both natural and synthetic sweeteners are ingested in excessive amounts.

DEAR DR. GOTT — A few years ago, my grandson, 14, was injured in an accident. He suffered a blood clot and had to have surgery on his head which left his left foot and hand in bad shape. Sometimes his hand tightens up, and he also limps on his left foot. Can anything be done to help him?

DEAR READER — Once damage from an accident has developed, it is usually permanent. However, your grandson may be helped by a program of rehabilitation supervised by a physiatrist, an M.D. who specializes in rehab medicine. Many hospitals have a department of rehabilitation medicine; I think this would be an appropriate option for you to explore.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I'm a 69-year-old male and have what my doctor says is peripheral neuropathy in both feet. He has not given me a very understandable explanation of what this ailment really is or how it developed. Can you do so?

DEAR READER — Peripheral neuropathy means that certain nerves to the extremities — in your case, the feet — are malfunctioning. This can be caused by vitamin deficiency (particularly of the B-complex group), toxic minerals (like lead), nerve irritation (such as ruptured discs between the spinal bones), poor circulation, metabolic diseases (especially diabetes), nerve infection (like shingles) and injury, drug effects (from a variety of medicines), or a host of less common diseases.

Most neuropathies are treatable once the precise basis has been identified. Because nerve dysfunction has so many causes, it can be considered a symptom, rather than a disease itself.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I was informed that I have a calcium deposit on my lung and that this is normal for the Ohio farm country in which I live. I'm female, 48. Will I get more? Should it be removed?

DEAR READER — A pulmonary calcification usually means that a person has healed a low-grade lung infection which was active many years before. Calcified nodules can result from a variety of lung ailments, including tuberculosis and certain yeast infections common to farmers. Calcium deposits take a long time to form, but they usually reflect burned-out inflammation. You may develop more as you age and continue to be exposed to whatever caused your present deposit.

The nodule need not be removed unless you show signs of active pulmonary infection and the doctor has to determine an exact diagnosis. If you are otherwise healthy, ask your doctor if you should be examined at regular intervals.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I have a 6-month-old daughter who was born with fluid on the brain. She had a shunt put in at age 3 months. What causes this? How well does the shunt work? I would really appreciate some information on the subject.

DEAR READER — Your daughter may have a form of hydrocephalus, a fluid accumulation around part (or all) of the brain. The type of shunt you mention is usually implanted to relieve pressure caused by fluid buildup. The fluid enters the shunt and is drained off into the general lymph circulation. Ordinarily, such shunts work well, but I am sure your daughter's neurosurgeon will insist on regular checkups to make sure that the shunt remains patent or open.

DEAR DR. GOTT — Could you please discuss over-the-counter diuretic pills? How do they work? Are they harmful?

DEAR READER — As far as I can determine, over-the-counter diuretic pills contain harmless herbs and caffeine. Caffeine is the main ingredient in most, however. In my opinion, these products are not particularly effective, nor are they harmful when taken as directed. The prescription diuretics types are more suitable for treating fluid accumulation.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I feel a crawling in my vagina, pubic hair and anus, but can see nothing except for a white vaginal discharge. The doctor has treated me twice for pinworms, but I still have this feeling. What should I do?

DEAR READER — Get checked for pinworms again. Pinworms can be recurrent and easily spread from one family member to another.

L'Allegra members observe birthday

L'Allegra Study Club members met Thursday morning at the E.B. Black House to celebrate the organization's 40th birthday.

Hostesses, attired in clown costumes, greeted members. They included Ella Marie Veigel, Jody Skiles, Mary Kay McQuigg, Janice Konkright, Kay Lynn Caviness, Kitty Gault, Cherry McWhorter and Brenda Reinauer.

Members were presented with helium balloons before Barbara Kerr called the meeting to order. An update on the club's annual Antique Show and Plant Sale set for April 18-20 was given by McQuigg.

Carmen Flood, historian, read from the scrapbook about the club's founding. A letter of congratulations was read from Margaret London, L'Allegra's first president. Members sang happy birthday and were served refreshments of punch and birthday cake.

Kim Moore presented a program on scherenschnitte or scissor cutting. She gave a history of the art and showed examples of work from early China and Germany as well as some original designs she has done.

Other members present were Janice Carr, Cathy Guseman, Joyce Lomas, Betty Martin, Karen Payne, Hilda Perales, Susan Perrin, Judy Wall, Jan Weishaar, Patricia Weldon and Sylvia Khurri.

Rusher, Trowbridge serve as hostesses to Wyche members

Wyche Extension Homemakers Club met recently in the home of Audrey Rusher with Clara Trowbridge serving as co-hostess.

The T.E.H.A. prayer opened the meeting and Argen Draper introduced Dean Bradley who gave an interesting program on Seminole patchwork.

Bradley said the patchwork was a maze of seam allowances in creative sewing of bright or soft colors. The traditional work was made of highly colored fabrics and only 100 percent preshrunk cotton is recommended for the patchwork designs.

Following the program, the meeting was resumed with Rusher, club president, conducting the business session, and giving the opening exercise.

Roll call was answered with a "fond memory of my childhood." Pennies for friendship and nickles for national were collected to be given to council.

Also, members planning to go to the district meeting April 3 in Amarillo were announced. They include Virgie Duncan, Carol Odom, Louise Packard, Rusher and Trowbridge.

It was voted to join Friends of the Library and the next meeting was planned April 10 in the home of Argen Draper.

Brenda and Brandi Rusher were recognized as guests by those present. They included Esther Thuet, Lorena Ward, Ethel Logan, Pet Ott, Louise Axe, Camelia Jones, Wynema Wheeler and Novella Hewitt.

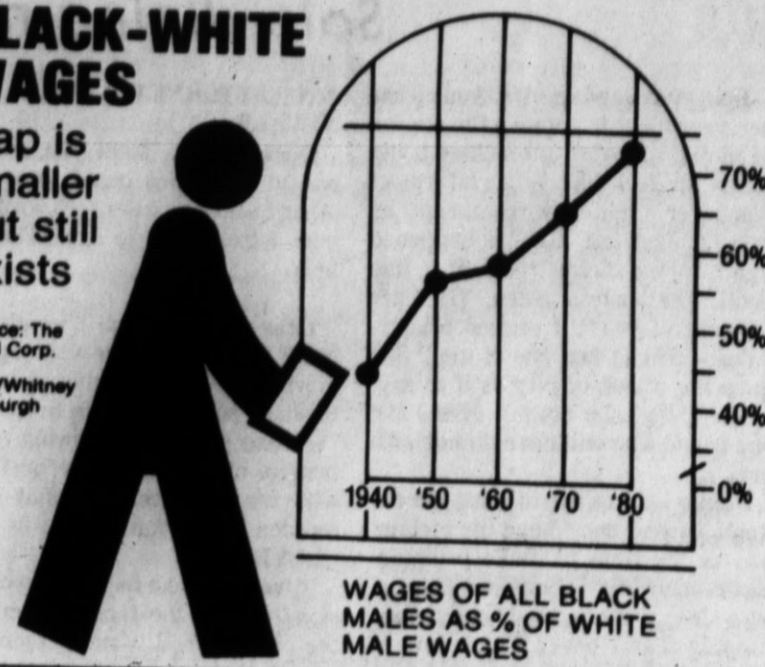

Stephen Sondheim and James Lapine won the 1985 Pulitzer Prize in drama for "Sunday in the Park with George."

POLLY'S POINTERS Sharp axe is cutter's friend

By Polly Fisher

DEAR POLLY — We burn a lot of wood during the winter, so I must always have an axe in good condition for splitting the logs. I wipe a bit of petroleum jelly over the blade after every use (after wiping it clean, of course).

This prevents rust and helps keep the blade in good condition. — PAULA

DEAR POLLY — While getting my garage ready for a sale, I decided to clean up the oil on the floor from the car. I sprinkled regular automatic dishwasher detergent on the spot, wet it down and let it sit for an hour or so.

The spot washed up easily and the floor was clean at a cost of only pennies. — MRS. L.H.

DEAR POLLY — I found that I could remove lint that had accumulated on a dark-colored sofa and chair by using an old, clean, nylon stocking. I just brushed the upholstery and the lint came off. — BOBBIE MAE

DEAR POLLY — Don't throw away those apple peellings when you can apples. Make mock apple butter.

I cook three quarts apple peellings, one quart water and one-half cup sugar for one hour, then put the mixture into the blender to liquify. When smooth, I place the apple mixture back in the pot and put it back on the stove, adding one-half cup sugar, one-eighth teaspoon nutmeg and three sticks cinnamon, then simmer for 30 minutes. This is great on toast. — SUE

DEAR SUE — This is a delicious and economical use for what many people just throw away! You can also use the peellings to make juice for jelly by cooking them, then squeezing them through a jelly bag.

DEAR POLLY — I am looking for a recipe for good cole slaw dressing that tastes a little sweet and like cream. — HELEN

DEAR HELEN — My favorite slaw dressing is simply sour cream thinned with a little vinegar and sweetened with a little sugar. Mix in the vinegar and sugar to taste. This is also good on cucumbers and as a sweet dressing on lettuce. Hope it's the kind of dressing you're looking for. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — Fresh fish will stay fresh-tasting longer when you freeze them in water.

My family likes beef and pork ribs, but dislikes how greasy recipes made with these meats tend to get during cooking. So after cooking, I remove the item from the heat and place one or two lettuce leaves in the pan for a few minutes. The lettuce absorbs the grease as the dish begins to cool.

DEAR POLLY — When your child receives a gift from a distant grandparent or other caring relative who won't see him using it, take a snapshot of the child wearing or playing with the gift. Mail the snap along with your thank-you note. — MARGARET

DEAR POLLY — Use a toothpick holder on the countertop to hold twist-ties. They're always handy.

I use a paper coffee filter to grease baking pans. I keep the filter in the can of shortening until it's too shabby to use. — F.Y.

DEAR POLLY — I save old newspapers for recycling. I use old nylon stockings and pantyhose cut into strips to tie the papers together. They are easy to tie and very strong. — LEONA

Solo dining nice

Dear Ann Landers: Will you please use your clout to remove the stigma of dining alone? I am sick of being made to feel like a social reject whenever I enter a restaurant by myself. Just last night it happened again in the dining room of a fine hotel. The hostess asked, "Is there just one of you?" I replied briskly, "Yes - there is just one of me." She gave me a look of pity as if to say, "Poor thing, she doesn't even have one friend who will have dinner with her."

I enjoy eating out at least once a week. Often I don't have the inclination or the time to make prior arrangements for companionship. I take along a magazine or newspaper clipping that I haven't had time to read and I enjoy myself a great deal more than some couples around me who don't say as much as one word to each other.

A.N., ATTORNEY AT LAW (SUN- NYVALE, CA.)

Dear Sunny: Right you are. The one in the dunce cap is me. Many other California attorneys wrote, but your letter came in first. Thanks a heap.

Dear Ann Landers: I wonder how many teachers realize what a glorious privilege it is to have the opportunity to shape so many young lives.

Please print the following for the benefit of others in my profession who may not realize what a difference they can make. - G.L., CLEVELAND

"I've come to a frightening conclusion that I am the decisive element in the classroom. It's my personal approach that creates the climate. It's my daily mood that makes the weather. As a teacher, I possess a tremendous power to make a child's life miserable or joyous. I can be a tool of torture or an instrument of inspiration. I can humiliate or humor, hurt or heal. In all situations, it is my response that decides whether a crisis will be escalated or deescalated and a child humanized or dehumanized." -HAIM GINOTT

Dear Cleveland: Thanks for that gem. The message is clear and beautifully expressed. I appreciate your sharing it with us.

There is a big difference between cool and cold. Ann Landers shows you how to play it cool without freezing people out in her booklet, "Teen Age Sex - Ten Ways to Cool It." Send 50 cents and a long, self-addressed stamped envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11995, Chicago, Ill., 60611.

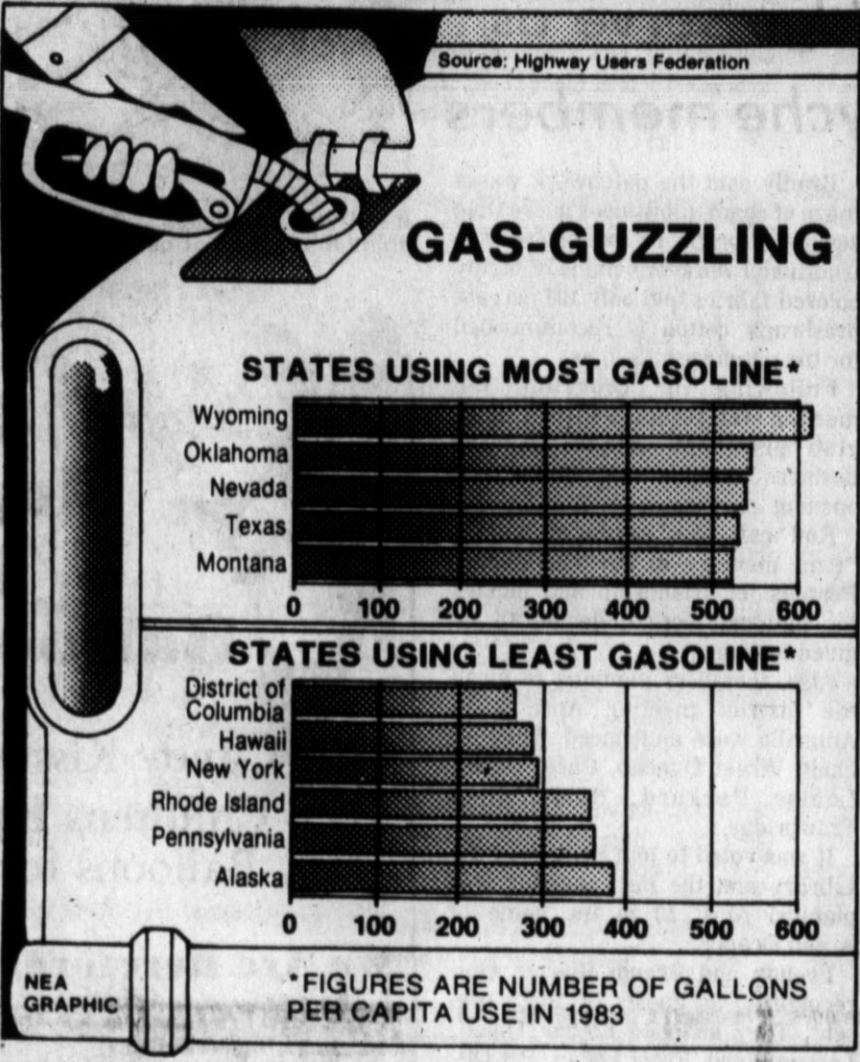

Please, dear Ann, print this. There must be millions of solo diners who will appreciate seeing this letter in print. - JUST ONE OF ME

Dear Just: Here's your letter and my thanks for letting the world know that some solitary diners enjoy it that way - especially folks who are surrounded by people all day. To them silence is truly golden.

Dear Ann Landers: I am writing in response to your advice to "On the Verge in Florida." She was the would-be exhibitionist who had a wild urge to confront the postman, messenger, or meter reader scantily clad or in the nude.

You replied, "As long as you remain in your home, you are out of the reach of the law." This may hold true in Florida, but it won't work in California. Section 314.1 of the California Penal Code says, "Every person who willfully and lewdly exposes his person, or private parts thereof, in any public place, or in any place where there are present other persons to be offended or annoyed thereby is guilty of indecent exposure."

California also has an offense titled Lewd and Disorderly Conduct, which must occur in a public place, while the offense of indecent exposure may occur in less than a public place. Therefore, persons who expose themselves within their homes to persons passing by run the risk of violating this statute. -MICHAEL

Lean beef production systems may expand markets, profits

Market research indications of a growing market for lean beef could offer real opportunities for Texas' biggest agricultural commodity, beef. This demand for lean beef is recognized as an enlarged market for beef, over and above the widely accepted choice product of our producers and feedlots.

The income from beef—over $4,400 million per year—has a strong impact on the State's economy. And all segments of the beef industry are represented, from the cow-calf operator to the packing plant and wholesale merchandizer.

Early and continuing research shows a growing need to develop the ability to produce a palatable lean beef product because of an increasing consumer demand, potential health benefits, lower costs of production, and increased profits.

Expanded beef research by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station will be in four main areas, all aimed at producing and delivering lean beef, consumer-preferred products, and reconstituted meats.

Lean beef production research will concentrate on genetic and breed traits for producing inherently-lean animals. These traits can be related to meat and carcass composition, to identify crossbreeding systems for better end products.

Processing and carcass management will be researched to produce the desirable features and appearance for lean beef. Emphasis will be placed on slaughter-house methods of handling carcasses for consistent lean beef production and providing consumer-acceptable beef.

Tissue analysis, marbling and constituents for cooked product acceptance, assured tenderness, and essential functional properties of beef proteins will be researched.

Grading and market structure research will identify carcass traits, grading systems targeted to lean beef products, cutability, packaging and shipment of primal cuts. Consumer preference studies will be conducted, review of federal grade standards and potential for private grade/product identification will be required.

New products and utilization research will evaluate lower-valued cuts for use in reconstituted higher-value meat products. Protection of quality, shelf life, and sustained consumer demand are anticipated.

Potential to the cattle industry and the State, from lean beef production systems, are sizeable. For example, if the time in the feedlot was reduced by 30 days, the cost of production would be lowered by about $215 million.

In addition, through decrease yields of waste fat and increase carcass yields, net income would be increased by $135 million.

Texas farmers better off

AUSTIN (AP) — Diversity of Texas farm crops plus more stable land prices have put Texas farmers in better financial shape than those in the Midwest, Comptroller Bob Bullock says.

The monthly bulletin "Fiscal Notes," released Monday by the comptroller's office, shows that Texas farmers brought in $10.3 billion in cash receipts in 1984, making Texas third in agricultural cash receipts behind Iowa and California.

"While Texas agriculture shares the Midwest's income problems, it bucks the trend when it comes to farm debt," the comptroller said. In 1985, the Texas farm debt amounted to $13.6 billion, an average of $74,000 per farm.

In Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, Nebraska, North Dakota and South Dakota the average debt ranges from $85,000 to $268,000 per farm.

Texas agriculture directly and indirectly accounts for about 19 percent of the gross state product, 20 percent of the state's business establishments and 21 percent of employment.

Unlike most large agricultural states, Texas agriculture is a uniquely diversified industry producing more than 80 marketable commodities, the report said.

"This agricultural diversity results from the state's diversity," it said.

Mean rainfall ranges from eight inches a year in West Texas to 56 inches in East Texas. Mean temperatures range from 58 degrees in the upper Panhandle to 74 degrees in the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

"Such variety allows Texas farmers to grow cotton, wheat, grain sorghum, onions, carrots, grapefruit, oranges and to raise beef and mohair," the report said. "Texas agriculture also earns income from hunting leases and oil royalties."

Nevertheless, Texas farmers and ranchers have seen their net income fall from $2 billion in 1979 to $1.3 billion in 1985, a decline that stems largely from crop surpluses that collapsed prices left farmers.

High interest rates also have increased operating costs. In 1970, Texas farmers paid seven percent of the producers' cash cost, but in 1984, the interest rate was 16 percent.

Texas also is different because only 40 percent of Texas farmers and ranchers work full-time at the job. The other 60 percent earn the majority of their income off the farm.

"But even the Texas' hard-hit, full-time farmers may be better off than full-time farmers in the Midwest," the report said.

Studies show 24 percent of full-time Texas farmers have a debt-to-assets ratio larger than 40 percent — which means they would have trouble paying their debts.

In North Dakota, 39 percent of the full-time farmers have a debt-to-assets ratio of 40 percent.

One of the big differences between Texas and Midwest farmers is in land prices, the comptroller said.

During the 1970, Midwestern farmers began adding to their land holdings in expectation of rising crop prices. A land boom resulted and prices skyrocketed, along with interest rates.

Then the boom collapsed and Iowa land that sold for $2,147 per acre in 1981 sold for $948 per acre in 1985.

"Texas farmers didn't expand their holdings as extensively and land prices never reached the record levels recording in the Midwest," the report said.

The median price of Texas farm land in 1975 was $461 per acre and only $308 in 1981. In 1984, the median price hit $1,000 per acre for the first time.

Program helps students cope with stress

DALLAS (AP) — Several suburban school districts, concerned about suicides among students, are sponsoring specialized peer-counseling groups for stress-related problems that can lead to drug abuse, depression and suicide.

In the south Dallas county suburb of Duncanville, student Dan Kehoe said the school program High on Life helped him kick a $300-week drug habit and allowed him to do "pretty much the same things that any normal kid does."

The 17-year-old senior said he now works in the program to help other students benefit from his experiences.

"I'm living on borrowed time, and I believe my purpose is to help other people who are suffering from drugs and alcohol," he said.

High on Life, like similar programs at other Dallas county high schools, is designed to help students deal with pressures that could lead to drug abuse, depression or suicide.

At Highland Park High School, students and parents are filling waiting lists for a chance to take a weekend retreat sponsored by Right Turn, a program that deals with drug and alcohol abuse.

In the Plano Independent School District, peer support groups exist even in at the elementary school level, where students watch out for lonely students.

Concern about high school stress echoes increases in teen-age suicide statistics. In 1984, the last year for which statistics are available, 57 people under age 25 committed suicide in Dallas County, a 16 percent increase over the previous year.

Educators and mental health experts, alarmed by the increasing incidences of teen-age suicide, have organized the special task forces to try and reach depressed or drug-dependent adolescents through their peers.

The trend toward creating peer groups to help with high school stress began after 1983 when a string of teen-age suicides in suburban Plano shocked parents and school administrators.

"I've worked in this field for years and I've seen a real change in attitude within the schools," said Judie Smith, an official with the Suicide and Crisis Center of Dallas. "At one time they didn't even want to talk about it."

Ms. Smith said that for every suicide, there are about 100 attempts, a fact she emphasizes when telling school administrators about the need for a prevention program.

In Richardson's L.V. Berkner High School, counselors put an established plan into action when a 16-year-old student committed suicide. They went to the young woman's classes and spoke directly to classmates.

They also spoke to eight of the student's closest friends, said Charlie Thomas, a counselor at Berkner.

"I think it says to those students that we care, we really care about you and we're going to do something to try to help," he said.

Whitefaces win baseball tournament in Borger

The Hereford Whitefaces won their second baseball tournament of the season last week when they defeated Pampa, Dumas and Borger to capture the Borger tournament championship.

Hereford scored a 13-7 victory over Pampa Thursday in a first-round game, defeated Dumas 10-3 on Friday, and edged Borger 3-2 Saturday in the title game.

The three wins give the Whiteface varsity a 7-3-1 season record. The District 3-5A season opens Friday when the Herd hosts Lubbock High at 3:30 p.m.

The Whitefaces go on the road Saturday to play Amarillo High, at 1 p.m.

Three Hereford pitchers recorded complete-game victories in the Borger tournament. Earlier in the season, when the Whitefaces won the Dumas tournament, all four games were complete ones by Herd pitchers.

Donny Rieves hurled the complete game for the Herd in the win over Pampa Thursday. Rieves struck out eight Harvester batters, allowed five hits, and walked four batters.

Keith Anderson struck out 13 Dumas batters in pitching a three-hitter on Friday. He walked only two batters.

In the championship game Saturday, Bobby Medina struck out eight Borger batters. He limited the Bulldogs to five hits and walked just one batter.

On Thursday, Hereford led Pampa 4-3 at the end of the third inning and went on to defeat the Harvesters 13-7.

In the first inning, Philip Webster and Curtis Cotten each hit RBI singles to boost the Herd to a 2-0 lead. Stefan Hacker hit a single to start off the Whitefaces' early scoring effort.

Hereford increased its lead to 4-0 in the top of the third inning before Pampa closed the gap to 4-3 in the bottom of that inning.

Keith Herrera walked, stole second and scored on a single by Hacker for the first of the Herd's third inning runs. Later in the inning, Keith Anderson hit an RBI single.

Cotten made the HHS lead 6-3 in the fifth inning when he slammed a two-run homer over the leftfield fence. Scoring ahead of him was Rodney Torres, who had singled.

In the sixth inning, Paul Maes reached base on an error and Herrera followed with a single. Torres batted in Maes with a single, Webster brought home Herrera with a double, and Cotten added two more RBIs when he hit a double to bat in Torres and Webster.

The Whitefaces then made their lead 13-3 in the top of the seventh inning. David Ankeney hit a double and Maes singled.

Herrera reached base on a fielder's choice, and Ankeney scored in the same play.

Hacker came to bat and hit a line drive toward the Pampa leftfielder who dropped the ball for an error. Maes scored from third on the error and Hacker reached second base.

Hacker then stole third base, and Torres batted Hacker in for a run with a sacrifice fly.

Pampa scored its other four runs in the bottom of the seventh inning.

Hereford jumped out to a 7-0 lead over Dumas in the first two innings of Friday's contest.

In the first inning, Herrera reached base on an error and stole second. Torres hit an RBI single and advanced to second base on a throw to home plate.

Webster then singled to drive home Torres, and Webster went to second base when the Demons attempted to throw out Torres at home plate. Cotten batted in Webster with a single to make Hereford's lead 3-0.

Hereford loaded the bases in the second inning when Doug Watts walked and Robby Collier and Herrera each hit singles. The Dumas pitcher then walked both Maes and Cotten with the bases loaded, and Hereford's lead became 5-0.

Anderson closed out the second inning scoring by driving in two runs with a single.

The next three innings were scoreless for both teams. Dumas scored a pair of runs in the top of the sixth inning, and Hereford came back with three runs in the bottom of the sixth.

Hereford loaded the bases to start off the sixth inning. Torres reached base on an error, Webster doubled, and Cotten was hit by a pitch.

One run was scored with Anderson hit into a fielder's choice out. Bobby Martinez stroked a double to bat in the other two runs in the inning.

Dumas scored its other run of the contest in the top of the seventh inning.

The championship game, won by the Whitefaces 3-2, was a tense-packed contest, including the last inning.

Borger had runners at first base and third base with no outs in the bottom of the seventh. Herd pitcher Medina struck out a Bulldog batter for the first out of the inning.

A stolen base resulted in Borger having runners at second and third. A grounder was hit to Maes at third base, who threw out a baserunner who attempted to score from third base.

Medina got the next Borger batter to ground out to Herrera at second base for the third out, keeping the Herd on top for the tournament championship.

Anderson hit a two-run single in the first inning to give Hereford a 2-0 lead over Borger. The Whitefaces loaded the bases when Herrera doubled and Maes and Cotten both walked.

In the fourth inning, Anderson singled, went to second on a passed ball, and scored on a single by Kyle Streun to make Hereford's lead 3-0.

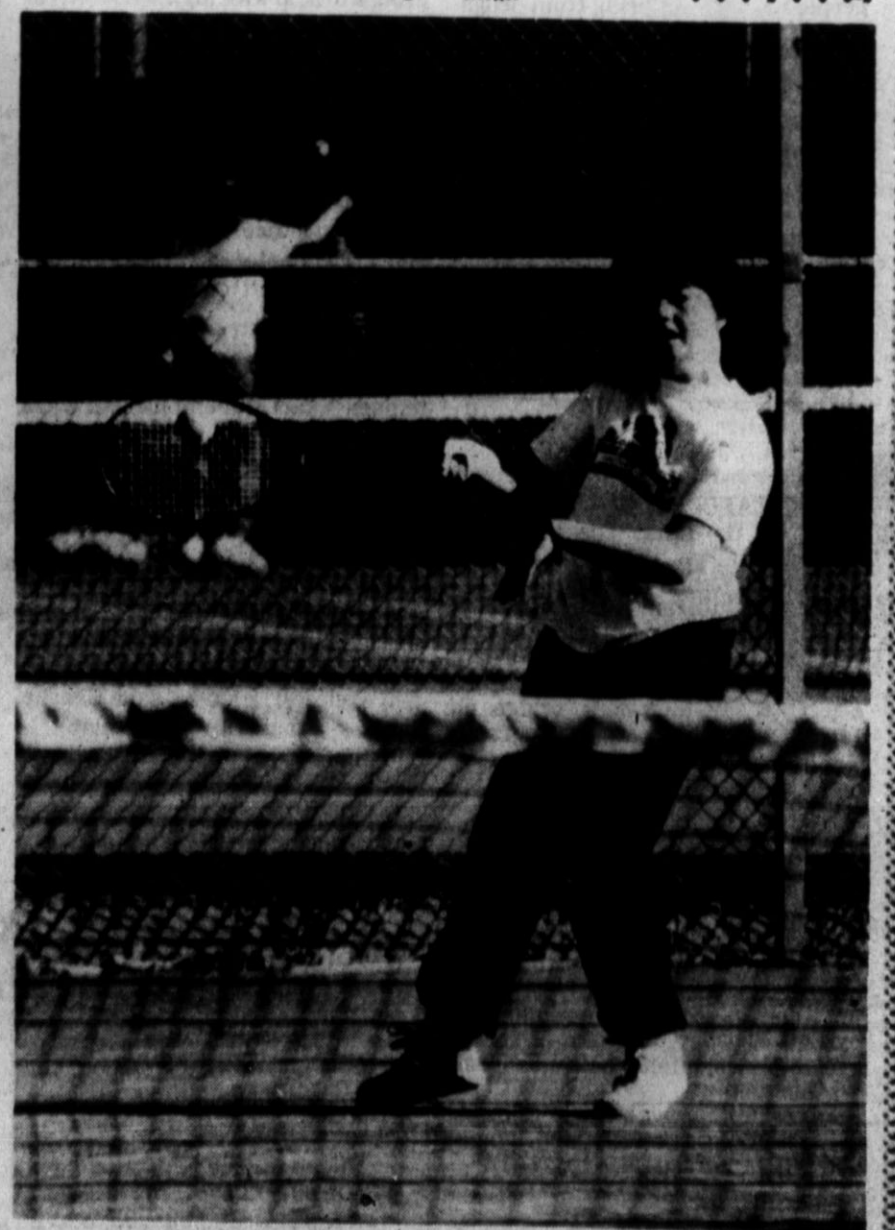

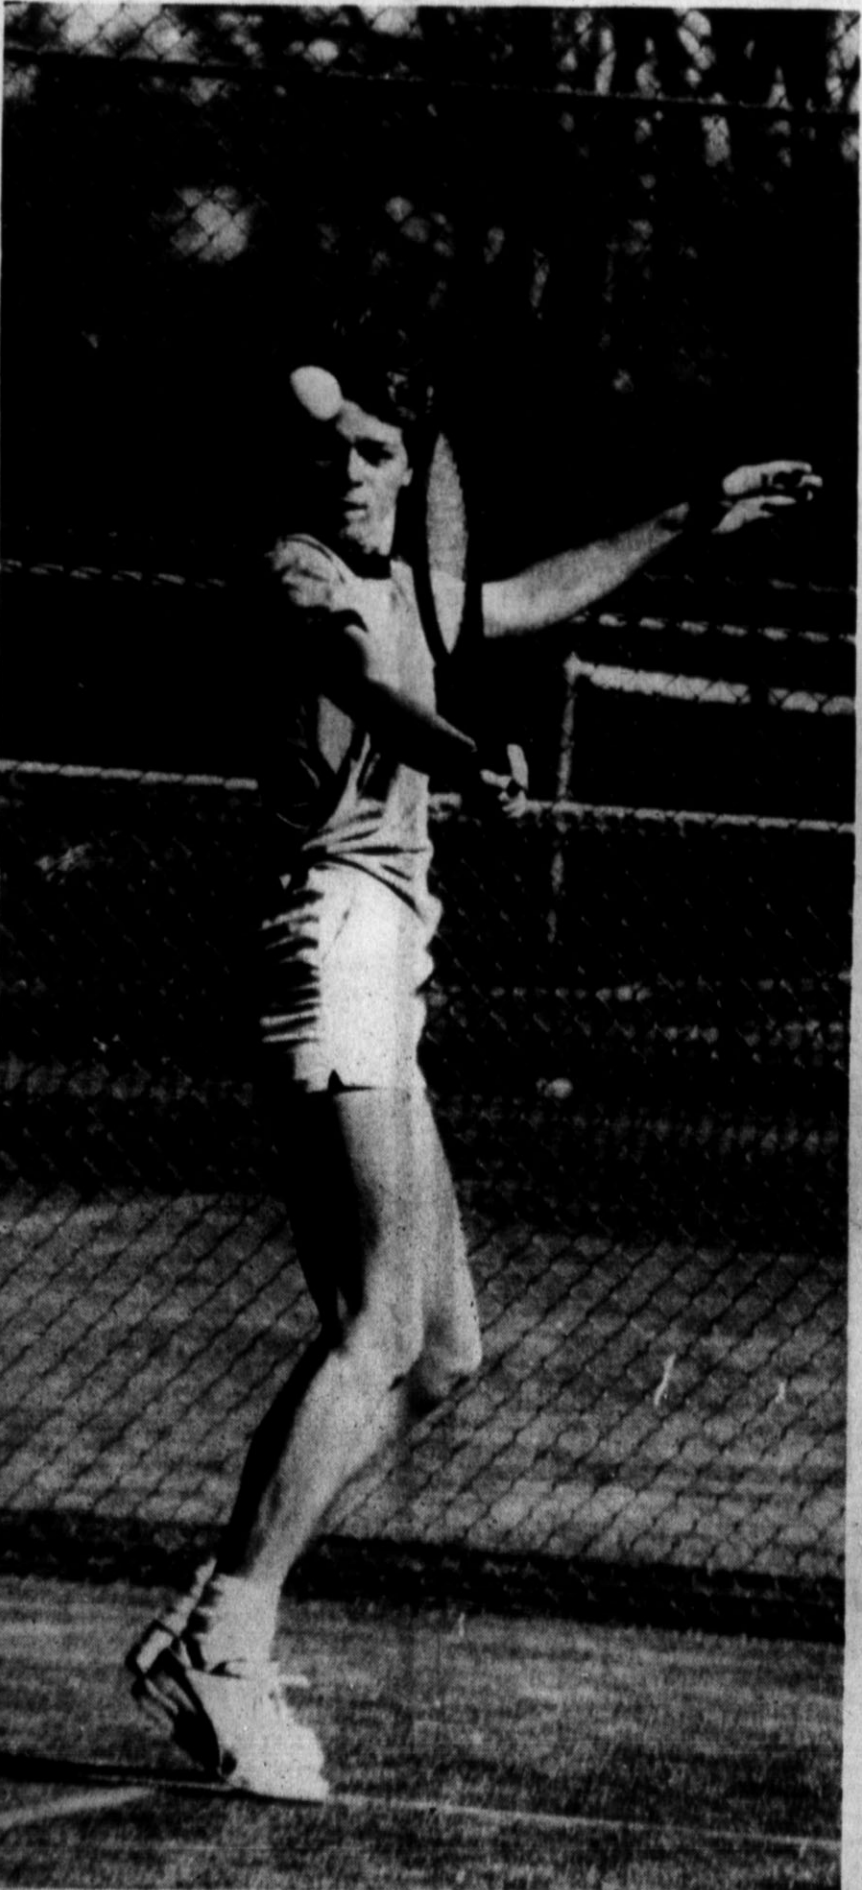

Borger scored both its runs in the bottom of the fourth with a two-run homer.

Planes risk collision in crowded skies

WASHINGTON (NEA) — A pilot for a major airline — who asks that his name not be used because of a company policy against talking with the press — tells the following story:

One day recently, he was taking off from a major airport that had planes landing on an intersecting runway. The air traffic controller gave him clearance to begin his takeoff roll. About a third of the way down the runway, the pilot suddenly saw a plane descending directly across his path.

The pilot says he was barely able to keep his plane on the ground until he rolled under the crossing aircraft.

After he took off, the pilot got into a shouting match with the controller — who, he says, assured him that the other plane had an ample amount of clearance and that he could have made a normal takeoff.

"That's a bunch of crap," says the pilot. "I have absolutely no doubt that if I had rotated up normally, I would have rotated right into the other plane."

The number of reported near-misses in the nation's skies is growing weekly, yet the Federal Aviation Administration claims that the reports aren't out of line. And the FAA says that near-miss reports don't indicate that there's anything wrong with the air traffic control system.

But now the General Accounting Office — Congress's investigative arm — has published a study which concludes that the air traffic control situation is just one step short of a crisis. The GAO found that almost all of the problems that existed in 1981 — and which caused the Professional Air Traffic Controllers Organization to go on its disastrous strike — continue today. And, says the report, today's problems can be traced largely to President Reagan's decision to fire the striking controllers in 1981.

The basic problems, says the GAO, are a shortage of qualified controllers insensitive management and insufficient budgets to upgrade equipment — all at a time of mushrooming air traffic. As a result, controllers are stretched to the limit and forced to work many hours of overtime.

The GAO says the system is growing more and more dependent on controller overtime — 900,000 hours in fiscal 1985, compared with 375,000 hours the year before the strike. The main complaint of the PATCO strikers in 1981 was that they were forced to work more hours than they could handle safely — and today's situation is considerably worse.

GAO investigators say the air traffic system is less able to handle traffic than it was before the Aug. 3, 1981, strike, which led to the firing of 12,000 controllers. The system was rebuilt using supervisors, non-strikers and newly hired recruits. As a result, there are now far fewer fully qualified controllers on the job than there were before the strike.

There is a basic disagreement about numbers. Before the strike, there were 16,200. The FAA has always claimed that was a bloated workforce, and that only about 12,500 controllers — the present total — were needed.

Air traffic control experts agree that 12,500 isn't unreasonable — if all 12,500 are fully qualified controllers. However, the GAO says that, due to lingering strike-caused problems and an unusually high number of retirements, no more than 8,000 of the present controllers are at highest experience level. This leaves the system about 4,500 fully qualified controllers short.

Moreover, this problem will get worse. Job dissatisfaction is almost as high as it was before the strike — which is the reason for the very high rate of retirement. The GAO based its report on a survey of 4,500 controllers, 1,000 supervisors and 74 traffic and terminal managers. The report said that about 2,000 respondents volunteered extra comments, 92 percent of them negative. As a result, the GAO concluded that job dissatisfaction among controllers today, is running almost as high as the period before the strike.

When interviewed by the GAO, 84 percent of controllers and 81 percent of supervisors eligible to retire in the next two years said they would retire the moment they were eligible.

They'll be replaced by less qualified controllers — and today's problems will worsen.

The GAO concluded that unless large numbers of experienced controllers were added (which would only be possible by rehiring strikers — something Reagan has forbidden), air traffic should be limited "before conditions worsen" and the system loses its "proper margin of safety."

The FAA admits that the system has problems but disagrees with many of the GAO's findings and with the conclusion that traffic should be cut back.

KIDFACTS

DINOSAUR DATA

Dinosaurs roamed the Earth millions of years ago. Then they disappeared. But even though they vanished long before humans arrived on the scene, scientists know a lot about them. These are some noteworthy dinosaurs:

Largest	Brachiosaurus	100,000 pounds; 45 feet tall; 80 feet long
Smallest	Compsognathus	12 inches long
Longest	Diplodocus	90 feet long
Fiercest	Tyrannosaurus Rex
Fastest	Hypsilophodon
Largest flying	Pteranodon	25-foot wingspan

Property owners to be informed of rights

AUSTIN - A statewide effort is underway to inform Texas property owners of their rights, remedies and responsibilities as taxpayers, according to Ron Patterson, executive director of the State Property Tax Board (SPTB).
Patterson says SPTB is working with appraisal districts and local newspapers to help make taxpayers aware of property tax filing deadlines and methods to obtain exemptions or other forms of tax relief.
"The first priority for property owners is to file renditions by March 31 and apply for tax relief by April 30 this year," Patterson said. Taxpayers should file all exemption applications and property rendition forms with the central appraisal district office.

A rendition is a report a property owner makes listing taxable property owned or managed on January 1, 1986. A rendition also gives a taxpayer the opportunity to record an opinion of the property's value. "By rendering a value for property, the owner makes the appraisal district responsible for sending a notice if the district places a higher value on the property," Patterson pointed out.
Certain property owners must render their property. "Anyone who owns or manages income-producing personal property on January 1 is required by state law to file a rendition statement with the appropriate appraisal district," Patterson said.
There are special rendition procedures for property when an exemption applies on January 1 but ends during the tax year. In such a case, the person who owns or acquires the property when the exemption ends must render the property for taxation within 30 days.

The chief appraiser may also require rendition of other taxable property upon notice to the property owner or manager. Rendition forms are available from appraisal district offices. Property owners must file renditions before April 1.
For homeowners, tax relief is usually in the form of exemptions. "An exemption lowers tax payments by deducting part of a property's value from taxation," Patterson explained. Homestead exemptions are available for all qualified homeowners, and additional exemptions are available for disabled people and for those aged 65 or over. Elderly homeowners who apply for the over-65 homestead exemption also get a cap, or ceiling on taxes they pay to the school district. All taxing units offer exemptions to disabled veterans, survivors of deceased disabled veterans and survivors of those who died on active duty. "Likewise," Patterson continued, "farmers and ranchers who qualify may have their land taxexempt its productive value instead of its market value, which also results in a lower tax bill." Productivity valuation comes in two forms, often referred to by the section of the Texas Constitution that provides them: open-space or "1-d-1" valuation and agricultural or "1-d" valuation.
Property owners who last year received homestead exemptions, disabled veterans' exemptions and open-space land (1-d-1) valuation need not apply in 1986, unless the chief appraiser requests a new application to confirm the owner's current qualification.
Applications must be filed in 1986, Patterson said, by property owners who have not previously received tax relief on their present homesteads or land.
Farmers and ranchers who receive agricultural use (1-d) valuation must apply for it each year.
Patterson noted that people whose property is in more than one county appraisal district have an additional responsibility. These property owners may have to file for exemptions and productivity valuation in each appraisal district in which their property is located.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 26, 7:00 A.M.

SAVE 'N' GAIN WILL THROW OPEN ITS DOORS TOMORROW AT 7 AM FOR THE BIGGEST, FRESHEST SALE YOU'VE EVER SEEN!!! YOU'VE HEARD OF SPRING FEVER? NOW THERE'S FRESHNESS FEVER AND IT'S SWEEPING THROUGH SAVE 'N' GAIN LIKE A PRAIRIE FIRE.

FRESHNESS BY THE TRUCKLOADS!

Right now, while you're reading this ad, a convoy of 18-wheelers is on its way to Hereford. It's loaded with fruits and vegetables that were in the fields just hours ago. Farm-fresh milk, eggs and butter are on the road coming this way, too. Fresh, tender beef, succulent pork and savory lamb are in refrigerated trailers bound for the Freshness Fever Sale at Save 'n' Gain!

WE'LL BE WORKING ALL NIGHT!

When we prop open the doors tomorrow morning, some of us will have been here all night getting ready for our fabulous Freshness Fever Sale. When you walk into The Freshness Giant tomorrow, you won't believe your eyes! Sale prices in every department! Fresh fruits and vegetables trucked up from the Valley and brought in from Arizona within the last 24 hours! Steaks and chops and roasts freshly cut and trimmed by our butchers! Dairy products so fresh from the farm you can still hear the rooster crowing! It's all right here and it's all for you!

ONLY AT SAVE 'N' GAIN!

Only Save 'n' Gain, The Freshness Giant, could bring you such a sale! The supermarkets can't do it because their food is stored in warehouses hundreds of miles away in regional distribution centers. The convenience stores can't do it because they limit their freshness departments to a couple of heads of lettuce and a pound or two of bananas. Only Save 'n' Gain has the resources, the manpower, the transportation system and the desire to put on such a sale!

GIGANTIC SAVINGS IN EVERY DEPARTMENT! Our Freshness Fever Sale is contagious! You'll find fantastic savings in every department during our sale. Our prices are red hot. Our selection is incredible. Our freshness is beyond compare. So come on out tomorrow and catch a case of Freshness Fever!
