Soviets Build Up Military Near Iranian Border

WASHINGTON (AP) -The Russian army has increased the strength and readiness of some of its motorized rifle divisions north of Iran, U.S. intelligence sources said Tuesday.

At the same time, Pentagon officials announced that a combat force of Russian Marines with equipment to support a landing force has arrived in the Indian Ocean.

The intelligence sources, who asked to remain anonymous, said the strengthened Soviet army units in the Transcaucasus region of Russia north of the Iranian border also have stepped up maneuvers and exercises.

But these sources exhibited no serious concern that the Russians might be preparing a strike into Iran similar to their invasion of neighboring Afghanistan late Zbigniew Brzezinski, President Carter's top security adviser, said Monday night there have been "credible reports" that the Soviet Union had moved military forces into the Transcaucasus area, which lies between the Black Sea and Caspian Sea.

Brzezinski recalled that a Soviet military buildup had preceded the Soviet invasion of Afghanistan.

Meanwhile, the unit of at least 400 Soviet marines entered the Indian Ocean from the South China Sea aboard Russia's biggest amphibious assault ship, the 13,000-ton Ivan Rogov.

This is the first time the Soviet command has committed a combat force of marines, which the Russians call Naval Infantry, into the Indian Ocean region.

The arrival of the Soviet marine force, following the recent deployment of an 1,800-man U.S. Marine battalion into the Arabian Sea aboard a Navy task group, represented another escalation in the show of force by both the United States and Russia since the Red Army invaded Afghanistan.

The entrance of the Rogov and two other Soviet warships through the Strait of Malacca on Monday raised to 28 the number of Russian naval vessels operating in the key waters leading to the oil-producing Persian Gulf, the center of U.S. concern.

On the other hand, the U.S. Navy has 26 ships patroling those waters, including two huge carriers bearing a total of about 150 warplanes.

U.S. intelligence has kept a close eye on the Transcaucasus region, which stretches about 150 miles north of the Iranian border, because that is considered by U.S. strategists as the natural corridor for any Soviet attack into Iran.

HISD Changes Grading, Test Policies

That feller on Tierra Blanca Creek says most successful men would never have been that way if it hadn't been for their problems.

Have you ever noticed that other folks' problems aren't nearly as bad as your, but their children are twice as bad?

THE FOLLOW-UP WORK ON THE Census '80 count is supposed to be underway with enumerators calling on homes where the questionnaire has not been returned. We have heard a few people report they did not receive a form and want to be counted, but there are probably others who really

The government is making a big deal out of the fact that political representation is based on the population, and those who are not counted are saying no to Federal tax dollars

We won't be too surprised if Hereford's population is not as large as has been predicted. We simply may not be able to get everyone counted who lives here.

WE NOTICED THAT SEN. JOHN TOWER said the census would cost about $4 for each person the Census Bureau hopes to count. When the tallies are in, the government will have 3.3 billion answers, at least 300,000 pages of statistics and 5,000 miles of microfilm.

Tower says he is in sympathy with the Texan who says how he gets to work in the morning is not the government's business. The real problem is not the questions of the form, says Tower, but the government behind it.

'We are blessed with a government in which the people can say, 'Enough!', and make their representatives in Washington listen. I hope you will make your voice heard," sated Sen. Tower.

IF YOU KEEP TRACK OF THE economic reports from various sources, the general feeling seems to be that interest rates will be turning down--by summer or maybe sooner. But most observers also believe it will be a gradual movement.

One or two reports we've read predict bank prime rates will go down a few points by summer and maybe down to 12 percent by year's end. They also predict home mortgage rates will have a slow decline, with rates dropping to the 12-14 percent range by the end of the year. All of these are predictions, or guesses, but made by knowledgeable men in (See BULL, Page 2)

Hereford Independent School District board of trustees Tuesday limited student exemptions from final examinations and changed the grading period for secondary pupils from six to nine weeks.

In making the policy changes, the school board accepted recommendations of two school-personnel committees.

The new test-exemption policy will require mid-term (nine weeks) examinations in all subjects. Tests will be an hour and 15 minutes in length and a portion must contain essay questions.

"This will eliminate total multiple-choice tests," Superintendent Harrell Holder told the board.

Exemptions at the end of each semester will be based on absences and grades. Students will be exempted if they have four excused absences and an "A" average, three absences and a "B" or two absences and a

All seniors with a "C" average who have not been absent more than four times will be exempt from last-semester examinations, according to the new policy.

Students with unexcused absences will not be exempt from examinations. Those who have received a "U" in ciizenship in a class will not be exempt in the subject area in which the "U" was earned.

The nine-week gradereporting system will also be implemented for the 1980-81

The new system calls for a report on student progress to be sent to parents of failing pupils in the middle of the grading period.

community." Gentry added that the survey proved to taxpayers "that we don't cover up what we do, that we do listen to the community."

Holder said that one area shown as a weakness by the survey was. the school district's communication with taxpayers concerning federal programs.

"We need to do everything we can to better communicate our federal problems. There was misunderstanding about federal programs, on virtually every survey." Holder said.

Another thing; we need to look at the possibility of air conditioning some more of our buildings," he added.

Board president Sallie Strain said that the survey showed her that "people didn't think our teachers were overpaid."

Holder added that it also showed that "people were relatively satisfied with our tax structure."

Trustees approved a policy allowing student transfers from the Walcott Independent School District to be exempted from physical education since they are required to ride school buses home at 2:30 p.m. each day.

Fed Corn Program Expanded

WASHINGTON (AP) - Within a few days, perhaps by the end of this week, the Agriculture Department expects to begin letting corn farmers who did not participate in the 1979 feedgrain program put "a limited quantity" of their grain in the government's reserve program. Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland announced the expanded corn reserve program Tuesday. Along with cash purchases of grain by the department, it is aimed at taking from the market quantities of corn and wheat that were embargoed by President Carter from delivery to the Soviet Union.

The objective is to help boost grain prices, which many farmers believe have been depressed for weeks as a result of Carter's action on Jan. 4 in response to the Soviet Union's military occupation of Afghanistan.

The department also has been buying some corn, including an additional 25.8 million bushels announced earlier Tuesday, and has bought 154.9 million bushels of wheat.

Congress recently approved legislation that permits previously ineligible farmers to take part in the reserve program. It enables them to store grain for as long as three (See CORN, Page 2)

Chase Reduces Prime Lending Rate

NEW YORK (AP) - Chase Manhattan Bank today reduced its prime lending rate from the record 20 percent to 19% percent, becoming the first major bank to lower the rate since December.

In announcing the move, Chase said it reflected a widespread decline in interest rates in recent days, but cautioned the rate still might rise in the future, depending on market conditions.

The reduction was the first by Chase, the nation's third-largest bank, since Nov. 27, when it reduced its rate from 15% percent to 14% percent.

A few banks reduced the rate to 15 percent in December, but after that it rose steadily until it reached 20 percent two weeks ago.

The prime lending rat is the rate banks charge on loans to their most credit-worthy corporate customers. with most other corporate and industrial customers paving more.

Liberals Attack Spending Proposals

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Senate Budget Committee's guns-over-butter spending plan is coming under fire from leading liberals. but it seems unlikely the Senate will roll back proposed increases in defense

In the face of the liberal opposition, Senate Majority Leader Robert C. Byrd called for a review of the 1981 budget by Senate leaders, delaying the start of floor debate from Tuesday until next week.

"I think we need more time to have discussions about it." Byrd said Tuesday of the proposed balanced budget for fiscal 1981, which starts Oct. 1.

The Senate committee plan, like ones recommended by President Carter and the House Budget Committee, would balance the budget for the first time in 12 years. But it differs sharply in its priorities.

The Senate committees $612.9 billion plan recommends $5.2 billion more for defense than the $150.5 billion Carter sought in his $611.5 billion budget.

Iowa Representative May Become Candidate

WASHINGTON (AP) - Many farm-state Democrats disillusioned with President Carter and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy on farm issues may decide to go to the Democratic Nationa Convention supporting favorite-son candidates, says one man considering such a candidacy.

Rep. Tom Harkin, D-lowa, said in an interview Tuesday that he'll probably decide today whether to mount a favorite-son presidential bid.

Harkin, who until recently was one of Carter's strongest political allies in Congress, accused the administration of "benign neglect" of farmers.

He said several other Midwestern Democratic congressmen - whom he wouldn't identify - had expressed interest in what he was trying to do and suggested they might make similar favorite-son moves in their

Cuban Refugees Find New Home

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP) - The first group of 150 Cuban refugees arrived in San Jose today at the start of an airlift of almost 11,000 persons who had swarmed into the grounds of the Peruvian Embassy in Havana to escape from Fidel Castro's communist rule of their homeland. Some of the refugees had tears in their eyes.

Costa Rican authorities refused to give further travel details. It was not determined if the 150, who arrived aboard one of two Costa Rican airliner being used for the airlift, were part of 300 Costa Rica is taking, or will continue on to Peru, which has agreed to give asylum to 1,000 of the refugees.

Bergland said a maximum of about 295 million bushels of corn - 7.5 million metric tons - will be allowed into the reserve "on a first-come, first-served basis" until the limit has been reached, or until May 15, whichever comes first.

But he said farmers who cooperated in the 1979 acreage set-aside program "will continue to be eligible" for the reserve, regardless of how much of the previously ineligible grain is put into it.

Thus, including corn already bought by USDA, some 9 million metric tons of corn - about 354.6 million bushels would be covered by purchases and additions to the reserve. That is the amount of corn suspended from delivery to the Soviet Union.

The corn purchases announced earlier Tuesday raised to about 59.2 million bushels - 1.5 million metric tons - the amount of corn the department has bought.

Officials said the new purchases averaged $2.45 a bushel, making a total of about $63.4 million. Prices varied widely, however, according to locations.

A metric ton is about 2,205 bushels and is equal to 39.4 bushels of corn or 36.7 bushels of wheat.

Wheat purchases totaled about 4.2 million metric tons before they were closed down this week.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: In a recent column you castigated the suspicious husband who rummaged through his wife's purse in search of evidence. In fact, you called his behavior Frock-bottom." I disagree with you. Violently.

Surely you are familiar with the expression, "All is fair in love and war." If one's well-being is threatened by unfaithfulness, I beieve it behooves the aggrieved party to learn the facts by whatever means--fair or foul.

I, personally, have resorted to "amateur detective work." Granted, what I found out was painful, but in the long run it was better to have suffered through it than to have continued in a relationship that had turned

DEAR EYE: Too often we are inclined to latch onto cliches such as "All is fair in love and war"--and accept them as gospel simply because they are familiar.

Well, all is NOT fair in love OR war. For example, mustard gas was considered too devastating by both sides in World War II and not used.

And now to matters involving love: When sweethearts, husbands or wives reach the point where there is no little confidence that either would stoop to snooping and using means "foul or fair" to check on the other, the relationship is a dead duck.

protest and counter-protest are elbowing each other for time in the sun, competing with each other and with the usual seasonal rites: annual meetings, reunions, weddings and graduations.

Angry about federal waste. overspending and taxation. Richard Lesher, National Chamber of Commerce president, recently christened April 15, tax deadline day, as a national day of shame, "even disgrace."

One group, however, disagrees, said Lesher, and that group, made up of Ralph Nader followers, is sponsoring "Big Business Day." during which they hope to emphasize corporate crime, pollution and price-fixing.

Some big-business executives have decided to ignore the event, but others are ready to fight. Calling it "anti-big business day." they hope to counter it by proclaiming the benefits corporations bestow.

The Business Roundtable. for example, has distributed position papers that talk of business as a source of jobs. as a taxpayer, as an agent of social justice, as a source of physical and financial

The Hereford Whiteface varsity golf team is slated to host the final district tournament of the year Friday. Even though the team can hope for little more than a 5th place finish in the district race, it still has hopes of placing as many individuals as possible in the All-District lineup.

HHS Golfers Host Last District Tourney

By MAURI MONTGOMERY Brand Sports Editor

There was a fifty-fifty chance that the Hereford Whiteface arsity golf team would break out of the gates at the start of the 1980 season and win the district 4-4A golf championship

That was at the beginning.

Now? Well, now the odds have been padded to a dimension that even Jimmy the Greek wouldn't touch -- it just wouldn't be smart money -- not even if a lucky cow chip resembling a golf ball fell on his newest Wrangler leisure suit.

But, there's an inside track on the team and the team's trainer Raymond Schroeder that Jimmy probably doesn't know about, as the squad prepares for what could and most likely will be its last outing here Friday in the final slated district showdown of the year.

That inside information says that chances for the team to just roll over and play dead are about as likely as if Slim Whitman of T.V. commercial fame is or could ever be truthfully considered as the top male vocalist and performer on anyone's country.

"About the only thing we've got left to play for now is a little pride and the fact that each additional time we play prepares us just that much more for next year's tourneys." said HHS helmsman Schroeder.

"I don't think we'd fool anybody but ourselves if I said that we had a shot at the top of the race (the Herd presently maintains an unkempt hold on fifth place in the district standings with a team total of 1685 for season play), but we do have the opportunity to squeeze a few of our players into the district's top 10 bracket, and we can do just that if we shoot as well or better than we did last time when we hosted the tourney." he said.

The Hereford squad (led by sophomore standout Alan Wartes, who capped a total of 79 in the last Whiteface tourney as low shooter for the team and second lowest score of the tourney) landed four shots shy of the district's leader Monterey in the affair after driving in a 335 which tied the Herd along side Plainview for second in the contest.

And few on the squad would complain if Wartes could provide the very same feat in this final district bout -- even Wartes himself -- as he holds a current 10th place status in the 4-4A low shooter pack. Providing the HHS clubber can maintain that slight ledger between district recognition and anonimity or even pursue a higher standing, would ensure him of an All-District choice at

"Alan could conceivably move up to as high as 8th place pretty easy if he plays as well as he has lately and plus the fact that it's going to be his own turf he'll be playing on. He's tier right now with Brooks Terrell of Plainview and should they both tie for 10th he'll still be named to the All-District squad," Schroeder said.

'But Alan isn't the only man on this squad that has turned in helpful scores for us. It has been a team effort in whatever success we may or may not get, and I really do feel like we can beat all the teams in the district Friday if we make a team go-of-it. Monterey was the only team to beat us the last time and who knows? We won't be able to make up any ground as far as district is concerned because we're just too far behind, but we could sure end the season on a happy note with a win in our own backvard." he added.

Tee-off time for the Hereford District Tournament - the last slated district affair of the season - is scheduled for 9 a.m. Friday at the Hereford Municipal Golf Course.

LUBBOCK - When it rains, it pours or so the saying goes, and the phrase could have been aptly pegged on the Hereford Whiteface baseball team's change of luck after the squad dropped its second twinbill of the first-half district thoroughfare (in as many weeks) with 8-2 and 9-4 losses to the Lubbock Westerners here

The Whiteface diamond crew had jaunted into the district feud holding a 12-4 mark on the season and quickly surmounted a 2-0 district ledger with routs over the Plainview Bulldogs. But two resounding losses to the Monterey Plainsmen derailed that winning routine as abruptly as seasons change overnight in the Panhandle.

Well, you know, I don't really know what the problem is out there other than the fact we're making alot more mistakes than we were earlier or at the beginning of district play." said head coach David Ashby. "We just left too many potential scorers stranded on base and didn't capitalize on the few mistakes they made. (Lubbock) and those two aspects of the game hurt us the most.

The Whitefaces only accumulated a brief two run scoring spree in the opener of the doubleheader. but left seven men on base in the process. And it doesn't take a wizard in math to figure out that on the average the Herd managed to disrupt a possible score for every inning of play.

The two runs the team did acquire came as centerfielder Edward Dominguez chipped a base hit off Sammy Chavez in the top of the 5th, stole second and ran in for a score as Randy Ellis drilled a line drive over second. And the second and final shortlived HHS blow came yet to win a district contest: Matlack Twirls 5 Hitter To Lead Ranger's In Win

ARLINGTON. Texas (AP) - Left-hander Jon Matlack has 21 bone chips in a jar at his home that he puts on top of his unpaid bills.

These chips were taken out of his elbow last August and served as a reminder just how sudden a major league pitching career can end.

Matlack's almost ended when he picked up a rosin bag spring training in 1979 and struggled to a 5-4 record before Los Angeles Dr. Frank Jobe was called for consultation and an eventual operation.

The Texas Ranger ace has survived surgery to pitch 18 consecutive scoreless innings, his fastest start in a 10-year major league career.

The Cleveland Indians were the victims Tuesday night as Matlack twirled a five-hitter in a 3-0 victory. Matlack had pitched nine innings and allowed only three hits with no decision in the season opener against the New York Yankees. "I'd like to find Dr. Jobe and tell him how good I'm doing, but we haven't been able to make connections." said Matlack. "I've left my number at his Los Angeles

"I feel as though I have fully recovered, but I should just be going seven innings. But I've just felt so good

Matlack wants to talk to Jobe to see if he should be going past seven innings. 'I put my faith and trust in that man back in August and if he tells me I should come out after seven innings, I would even if I had a no-hitter going," he said. Meanwhile, Jobe's failure to return Matlack's calls is Ranger Manager Pat Corrales' gain. The plan was for Matlack to only throw 110 pitches but he threw 119

Tuesday night. "I haven't had any problems and I just want to tell Jobe about it," said Matlack. "I really expected more pain. I expected the arm to blow up like a balloon."

Besides just allowing eight hits, Matlack has only walked one batter in the 18 innings.

Texas catcher Jim Sundberg, who knocked in a run and scored another against the Indians, said of his batterymate: "If he was a seven before on a scale of 10, he is a nine now. He's gone up a couple of grades."

Matlack out-dueled Cleveland left-hander Bob Owchinko, who was touched for eight hits and three runs in six and two-thirds innings.

La Plata Track Teams Take 3rd

The 8th grade La Plata Maverick girls track team gave up no ground, but took none in return after the squad grasped a third place finish in the Borger Girls Track Meet this past weekend with a total team tally of 90 points.

Dumas won the meet with 129 points accumulated at the day's end while Pampa garnered second with 113 points added up in the competition.

Maverick sprinter Paula Mason landed a first place finish in the 440 dash after she clocked a 67.1 in one of the three events which highlighted the La Plata team's efforts for the meet.

Other firsts recorded for the 8th grade harrier squad came as Dana Cabbiness led the pack in the triple jump competition with a leap of 28-10, and Laura Thomas outdistanced her opponents in the shot put segment of the meet as she hurled the ball

Cabbiness also took a second place finish in the long jump with a bound of 13-10 while the highly respected La Plata mile relay team, composed of harriers Lorri Walterscheid, Paige Phillips, Marta Carlile and Cabbiness, garnered the second highest berth in that competition after the team clocked a 4:54.14.

Laura Thomas and Teresa Phibbs clinched the only other respectively high finishes for the squad as Thomas netted third in the discus and Phibbs sunk the third place niche in the triple jump after hopping for a distance of 27-111/4.

And much like their sister team. the 7th grade Mavericks finished third in their division after accumulating 99 team points behind Stanton's second place 126 point finish and Borger's winning sum of 133 in the competition.

Maverick runner Barbara Williams led the 7th grade crew to its first distance win of the day as she packed away a 29.13 in the 200 dash.

Molly Keating followed with a first place finish of her own in the mile run after she clocked a 6:35 in the event and Diana Devers added the final first place thrust for the team as she won the discus throw with a chunk of 81-0.

Devers also made a bid for the second place spot in the

Other high finishes initiated by the team in the meet arrived as the 440 relay team made up of Connie Zinser. Ruth Compazano, Marizelda Soliz and Barbara Williams grasped a second in the race at 57.8. That same crew went on to cap second in the 880 relay competition with a time of 2:05.5.

Elisa Medeles and Elma Cruz -rounded out the thinclad squad's high place tally for the day as Medeles turned in the second best time in the mile run behind her teammate Keating with a 6:46, and Cruz netted third in the 880 dash after racing for a time of 2:53.

Philadelphia and Los Angeles have joined Boston in the conference finals of the National Basketball Association playoffs, which means the teams with the three best records during the regular season have qualified for the round of four.

But for the club with the fourth-best mark, the defending champion Seattle SuperSonics, the outlook is bleak.

The Sonics were beaten by the Milwaukee Bucks 108-97 Tuesday night and now trail in their best-of-seven secondround series 3-2. The Bucks can wrap it up at home Friday night.

Farmers Urged to Send Telegrams to FAA, EPA Concerning FOE Proposal to Curb Pest Spraying

By JIM STEIERT Brand Farm Editor

Opponents of a proposal which would greatly complicate pest control in crops in the local area and also endanger the licenses of many aerial applicators have only until tomorrow to make their feelings known to the Federal Aviation Administration and the Environmental Protection, Agency.

A petition has been presented by Friends of the Earth calling for aerial applicators to obtain written permission to spray within 1,000 feet of a person or another property not within a spray contract.

The FOE proposal also provides for point fines that could result in the loss of agriculture aircraft operator certificates.

Agriculture aviation officials point out that the proposal would require leaving a 1,000 ft. unsprayed buffer zone on all sides of a field that bordered an adjacent farm or house.

Applicators using ground rigs would also have to obtain permission from persons and property owners within 250 feet of the spray boundary.

A point system proposed by FOE would cause an ag pilot to lost his operator's license when he amassed 10 current violation points.

FOE is also pushing for EPA to compel pesticide applicators to obtain written permission before undertaking spray programs.

Agriculture aviation and farm interests in the area are opposing the FOE proosals on the grounds of their impracticality.

During the peak of the summer crop season, ag aviators maintain it is difficult to locate landowners for the purpose of obtaining written permission. They also maintain that pest problems can arise so quickly there is no time to obtain all of the clearance on paper that would be required by the FOE proposal and still have hopes of saving a crop with timely pesticide application.

The proximity of rural farm homes to the fields where aerial applicators work presents another problem, with the buffer zone that would be required leaving the areas of fields that commonly have the highest pest population untreated. In addition, spray aircraft require a large turn radius.

Local aerial application firm spokesmen report that unless a massive and immediate outpouting of farmer and landowner sentiment reaches EPA and FAA, the FOE proposals will probably be put into effect.

"We have word that letters are running nine-to-one in favor of the FOE proposal at this time," commented a spokesman for one local spraying firm.

Due to the short time period left for comments, local farmers are being urged to send telegrams and mail-ograms in order that their comments may reach EPA and FAA by the April 17 deadline.

The FAA docket number should be identified in comments.

Two copies of comments should be sent to: Federal Aviation Administration. Office of the Chief Counsel, Attn: Rules Docket (AGC-24) dependence Ave. S.W., Washington, D.C. 20591.

One copy of the comments should be sent to Environmental Protection Agency, Document Control Officer, Chemical Information Division (TS-793), 10 401 M. Street S.W., Room East Tower, Washington, D.C. 20460.

Outside Factors Force Cattle Prices Downward

COLLEGE STATION -- A lot of outside factors are causing weaker cattle prices just when things were beginning to look rosy for

> Some of these factors are increasing interest rates. shaky world conditions, continued unabated inflation. and further speculation about a business recession. The first reaction was a drop in the stock and commodity futures markets which, in turn, forced cattle priced downward.

"All these factors are enough to put a damper on anything, and that's just what's happened to the cattle market," points out Dr. Ed Uvacek, livstock marketing economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

"The cattle market is extremely volatile right now and is influenced by many such factors, far beyond the normal economics of the industry," says Uvacek. Despite the current gloomy outlook, Uvacek urges cattlemen to look ahead to the long term. "The future of the cattle business still looks quite good. As the build-up phase continues, it will bring higher calf prices. This will be great for cow-calf operators but might create problems for stocker and feedlot operators," contends the economist.

A major reason why the cattle market is in the doldrums right now is that feedlot operators are losing well over $100 a head. Their breakeven costs are much higher than the price for Choice fed steers. For example, the breakevens cost for most cattle coming out of Great Plains feedlots in April was about $74 per hundred pounds while the market price for Choice fed steers during the first week of April was only in the low $60s. "Facing such large losses as well as a 20 percent interest rate on new money to buy feeder cattle is causing many feetlot operators to. back away and reassess the situation. That's causing the demand for feeders to drop and is, in turn, pushing feeder and calf prices down," points out Uvacek. Over the short term, an increase in fed cattle prices will resolve the problem, believes the economist. Once fed cattle prices hit the high $60s or low $70s, cattle feeders will probably again become interested in replacement cattle. That should give a boost to the entire beef industry.

Procor Plans Liquidation Procor, Inc. has announced that a lan of liquidation of Procor was formally adopted by shareholders at a special meeting and that following the meeting substantially all of the operating assets of Procor were sold to AZL Resources, Inc. pursuant to the previously announced exercise of AZL's purchase The consideration paid by AZL for Procor's assets was approximately

$8,480,000 in cash. Concurrently, Procor converted its $10,000,000 principal amount of AZL Convertible Debentures into 2,500,000 shares, or approximately 41 percent of the outstanding AZL common stock. Procor sold its Australian farming and ranching operations in December 1979 for cash consideration proximately $3,250,000. It is contemplated that the AZL common stock acquired by Procor upon conversion of the AZL Debentures will be distributed to Procor's shareholders, together with the cash from the sale of Procor's assets after provision for its liabilities. first liquidating distribution which is expected to consist of the 2,500,000 shares of AZL common stock received upon conversion of is AZL Debentures and approximately $3,375,000 in cash, is scheduled for April 14, 1980 to shareholders of record on April 10, 1980. The time and amount of subsequent liquidating distributions will be determined by Procor's Board of Directors. The total ount to be distributed to shareholders in liquidation will be dependent upon factors which are not now fully determinable.

Procor is a Phoenix-based company and was engaged in custom cattle feeding in Texas and Nebraska, the distribution and manufacture of the Murray and Carver brands of cotton ginning and cotton seed processing equipment from facilities in Texas, Massachusetts. Tennessee and California and in farming and ranching

Information Available On Natl. Corn Contest

Information concerning the 1980 corn yield contest sponsored by the National Corn Growers Association is now available, according to Russell Arndt, LaCrosse, Indiana, President, NCGA. and Roger Kreutz, Giltner, Nebraska. treasurer, NCGA.

There will once again be three contests, one for those who irrigate and two for those who do not irrigate. Contest fields must be at least 25 acres. The Class AA Non-Irrigated Contest comprises the states of Minnesota, Wisconsin, Ohio, Kentucky, Indiana, Illinois, lowa, Missouri, and North Carolina. The Class A Non-Irrigated Contest includes all other 39 states, while the irrigated contest will be conducted in all states. Entrants must be NCGA members and a member of the state association of the state he resides in, if that state if affiliated with NCGA. There have been more than 1300 entries in the NCGA Corn Yield Contest during the past several years.

Jay Boston of Hereford, Texas, planted Asgrow RX100 corn hybrid and got 10,200 lbs/acre! Here's what Mr. Boston has to say about RX100:

"My Asgrow RX100 gave a good yield, stood well, came up very well, and threshed good. I lost 2 or 3 acres in the field due to flooding and standing water. These acres were included in my calculations and I still got 10,220 lbs/acre."

Food Diplomancy Said Threat To Farm Economy Within Texas

COLLEGE STATION -- Use of food as a tool of international diplomacy poses a serious threat to the Texas economy, declares an economist in marketing and policy with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

"The result of continued use of food as a diplomatic tool will result in the loss of our competitive edge in the international market for food grains, feed grains and

Two billion dollars worth of Texas agricultural products moved into export markets in 1978. In addition, more than billion worth of agricultural products moved through Texas ports from out of state, Knutson adds.

"By analyzing the countries that have bought grain from the U.S., it appears that food diplomacy strategies could affect 80 percent of the wheat exports, 76 percent of the cotton," Dr. Ron Knutson rice exports, 58 percent of

Profit Potential Is Seen for Eggs

Although inflation, energy costs and high interest rates paint a gloomy economic picture, some bright spots do exist in the Texas commercial egg industry.

Wayne Taylor of Overton. economist-management for the Texas Agricultural Exension Service, Texas A&M University System, noted some positive aspects of the egg industry during the 25th Annual Texas Commercial Egg Clinic held here recently.

Taylor said Texas has the potential to be a profitable egg-producing state because of favorable climate, energy reserves, ports for shipping, grain production for feed, and the fact that Texas is an egg-deficient state. He said the Lone Star State imports 25 percent of its egg needs each year.

Taylor said the Texas population is growing at a rate of 13 percent a year, and most of the growth can be attributed to people moving in from other states. Texas egg producers are not able to keep abreast of the growing number of Texas consumers.

Population composition could also affect egg marketing possibilities. Statistics show fewer young people and children in Texas and more people over 65. The 30 to 45 age bracket makes up about 57 percent of the state's population, noted the feed grain exports, 23 percent of the soybean exports and 60 percent of the cotton exports," the economist says.

Such adverse effects to Texas, Knutson explains, would result from the U.S. being a less favored grain supply source for importing countries. American agriculture would truly become a market of "last resort" for importing countries. In years of favorable worldwide production, Texas farmers would be left "holding the bag" in terms of surplus stocks, low prices and high storage costs.

Texas grain merchandizing and transportation firms would be adversely affected by lower volume of grain handled, he adds.

Effective use of food as a of international diplomacy will require centralization of export decisions in the government, Knutso believes.

"It has become increasingly apparent that the Russian grain embargo is not effective." Knutson declares.

The embargo was supposed to prevent Russia from obtaining 17. million metric tons of grain from total anticipated Russian imports of 35 million metric tons. Shifts in world trade patterns, combined with second and third party sales of U.S. grain to the Russians, now makes it appear that Russia will get all -- or nearly all -the grain it originally anticipated buying. Even the U.S. Department of Agriculture now admits that Russia will be able to obtain 30.5 million metric tons of the desired 35 million tons, the economist says.

"Centralization of exports in the hands of the U.S. government would destroy the free enterprise system in grain marketing," Knutson declares. Major grain marketing firms would simply become handlers and shippers, he points out, and sales and prices would be determined politically on the basis of government - to government negotiations.

Stop in and see our big-job tractor

Big-power jobs demand something equally important — big-job strength. And strength is the 4640's strong point. Evidence is everywhere.... a 466-cu.-in. engine, long wheelbase, plenty of built-in weight, 4-pinion differential, big final drives, big drive axles. Even the drawbar is bigger and heavier than on the model it replaces. Big-capacity cooling systems are used for engine coolant and transmission/hydraulic oil. Stop by the store for more details on the big-job strength of a 4640.

Bees Fall For Orange Bug

MACON, Ga. (AP) Around Bibb County, it happens about half a dozen times each spring. This time a few thousand bees and their new queen fell for the Rev. James Herring's orange Volkswagen.

"There were enough to cover the whole back of the car, but most of them moved under a rear fender."

Herring said Monday. Afraid of antagonizing the little buzzers, Herring did nothing. A small crowd gathered around the car, and one onlooker suggested the reverend's only recourse was to "put the car in a plastic Fortunately, part-time beekeeper Marion Seckinger was in the neighborhood. Using a portable hive he keeps in his car for just such occasions, Seckinger corraled the queen, and the rest came along peacefully.

"Something like this happens about a half dozen times each spring around Bibb County," Seckinger

"This time of year, bee colonies divide. A new queen is born and the old queen and about half the colony leave and go homesteading. ... When they leave their old home, they'll hitch onto anything that happens to get in their way - a shrub, a tree, a signpost, even a car."

Pain under ribs

DEAR DR. LAMB - 1 am a 64-year-old female and I've had quite a few attacks of pain under the rib cage and in the abdominal area. These pains last from four to six hours. I was opce X-rayed for ulcers and for my gallbladder and everything was all right. I was wondering if this could be a spastic colon. I also am overweight and would like a good diet to lose weight. What would you suggest for a spastic colon - diet or medica-

DEAR READER - You did the right thing to have a predi cal examination. It's impossible to tell what's really causing pains without a thorough examination. Yes, you're right, you can have such pains from a spastic colon. But I caution you that fact doesn't mean that a spastic colon is causing your problem. That diagnosis should only be made if your history of bowel movements and digestive disturbances is consistent with it. Often the way this happens is the colon, which is a long muscular tube, will go into spasm. When it does this, gas will be trapped behind the area of the spasm. The gas distends the colon just like an

The colon is really a horseshoe-shaped tube that runs around the outer edge of the abdominal cavity, so it does come up and bend underneath the right rib margin, then passes across your upper abdomen, bends again under the left rib margin and descends down your left side. where the colon makes a sharp bend under the liver just under the right rib margin and also where it bends again on the left side just underneath the ribs. To give you more informa-tion about the spastic colon so you can have a better idea wnetner that's applicable to you, I am sending you The Health Letter number 2-1, Spastic or Irritable Colon and Constipation. QUOTE/UNQUOTE

What people are saying...

(Rolling Stone)

toms by changing their diet and developing good bowel habits, all of which is discussed in the issue of The Health Letter I'm sending you. The chemical laxative habit is a poor idea for such

As you requested, I'm also sending you The Health Letter number 4-7, Weight Losing Diet. If you decide to lose weight, you're going to have to be careful to include enough foods in your diet that contain bulk. If you don't get enough bulk while dieting, that can contribute to constieation and colon problems. Eat lots of raw, leafy vegetables and be sure that you have enough cereal that has bran in it to help provide some bulk. You can add bran to other foods, including cereals and even fruits. Don't try to take bran dry as it can stick in your esophagus (food tube). Some people have lots of gas when they first add bran to the diet. These people often do better to sneak up on it and first add whole-wheat bread, then cereals and finally more bran if needed. The excess gas will usually stop in about three weeks after your diet is

If that creates too many problems for you, you can use some Metamucil or other bulk former to provide some needed bulk while you're cutting down on your food intake.

DEAR DR. LAMB - I read in your column about the person who had muscle spasms of the esophagus. I've been told that's what I have. It only hurts during the spasm but it's real bad then. I would like to know what causes people to have these spasms and what can you do about them.

DEAR READER - I guess they're a bit like muscle cramps in the legs. You can get one spontaneously for no apparent reason. It's very similar except you're talking about muscles that form the muscular tube of the esophagus (food tube).

There are certain things that will irritate the esophagus and seem to contribute to the occurance of the spasms. One of these is a leak of acid material from the stomach backwards into the lower esophagus. This can occur with a hiatal hernia (hernia of part of the stomach through the diaphragm) or it can occur in people who do not have a hiatal hernia. This can also cause burning pain at the pit of the stomach, just at the tip of the breastbone. In fact, some people can develop ulcers in the lower esophagus hecause of it. People who have frequent problems with spasm of the esophagus should have an examination to see if there is any underlying disease that can be corrected. General measures are usually directed toward decreasing stomach acidity because of the problems that I've mentioned.

Because hiatal hernia and leakage of acid digestive juice from the stomach into the lower esophagus is a common cause (but not the only one), I am sending you The Health Letter number 4-8, Hiatal Hernia, Esophageal Reflux. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. It is possible to decrease the attacks in some people by eliminating cigarettes, coffee, tea, colas and any substance known to cause digestive disturbances. Of course, if a hiatal hernia is present, then following the routine that is listed in The Health Letter

I'm sending you helps to decrease the problem. Some attacks of esophageal spasm are associated with nervous tension. If a person has frequent attacks, some times the doctor prescribes medicine that helps to prevent spasms as well as antacids.

GO ON HOME. YOUR SON IS HEALED!

At the end of the two days' stay He went on into Galilee, for as Jesus used to say, "A prophet is honored everywhere except in his own country!"

But the Galileans welcomed Him with open arms, for they had been in Jerusalem at the Passover celebration and had seen some of His miracles.

In the course of His journey through Galilee He arrived at the town of Cana, where He had turned the water into wine. While He was there, a man in the city of Capernaum, a government official, whose son was very sick, heard that Jesus had come from Judea and was traveling in Galilee. This man went over to Cana, found Jesus, and begged Him to come to Capernaum with him and heal his son, who was now at death's door.

Jesus asked, "Won't any of you believe in Me unless I do more and more miracles?"

The official pled, "Sir, please come now before my child

Then Jesus told him, "Go back home. Your son is healed!" And the man believed Jesus and started home.

While he was on his way, some of his servants met him with the news that all was well — his son had recovered!

He asked them when the lad had begun to feel better, and they replied. "Yesterday afternoon at about one o'clock his fever suddenly disappeared!"

Then the father realized it was the same moment that Jesus had told him. "Your son is healed." And the officer and his entire household believed that Jesus was the Messiah.

This was Jesus' second miracle in Galilee after coming from Judea.

Sears Increases Minimum Payments

CHICAGO — Sears, Roebuck & Co. announced Tuesday it will increase by $2 the minimum monthly payment on all Searscharge credit balances up to and including $500.

Edward R. Telling, chairman and chief executive officer, said, "We have structured these modest increases to comply with the government's new credit rules while imposing no hardship on our customers."

Under the new plan, payments on balances over $500 will increase from one-25th to one-23rd of the balance. The increased payments will go into effect for existing balances only when customers make new purchases after their July billing date.

All Sears credit customers will receive a notice of at least 30 days prior to the change. Telling said Sears will continue to open new credit accounts for those who qualify.

Pamphlet Helps On Property Taxes

Clifford L. Arnold, tax assessor-collector for the City of Hereford, has announced the availability of a new 12-page pamphlet which may help local residents save on their property taxes.

The pamphlet explains how the property tax system in Texas operates and highlights possible tax savings available to citizens.

The publication was developed by the State Property Tax Board in accordance with Senate Bill 621, passed by the Texas Legislature in 1979.

Information in the pamplet is applicable to property taxes collected by all levels of local government, including counties, cities and school districts.

While the city may not offer a general homestead exemption, such as is available from school districts, the City of Hereford does offer locally adopted exemptions for citizens age 65 or older. Disabled veterans are also eligible for exemptions.

Additionally, owners of agricultural land have the option of having such property taxed at its productivity rather than market value.

April 30 is the rendition deadline for the City of Hereford, and Arnold said he urges citizens to render their property and apply for exemptions or productivity values for which they may qualify before that date.

Three million acres of U.S. farmland are still being lost each year to urbanization or flooding by ponds and reservoirs. On productive farmland, 4 billion tons of topsoil are lost yearly to wind and water erosion, from which only half the nation's cropland is adequately protected.
