Football contest
underway

A prize of up to $500 is available to entrants each week in the Hereford Brand Football Contest, which begins today in the Brand. Each week, contestants will pick from 25 high school, college and NFL games plus picking the score in the tie-breaker contest (usually the Hereford game). Three prizes will be awarded each week: $25 in Hereford Bucks for first place; $15 in Hereford Bucks for second place; and $10 in Hereford Bucks for third place. A $500 cash prize will be awarded to anyone picking the winner in all 26 contest games in a week. Persons who finish first, second or third in the weekly contest will be eligible for the grand prize, which will be contested in the 13th week of the contest. Contest games, entry forms and contest rules are on Page 6 and 7 of today's Brand. Entries must be dropped off at the Brand office, 313 N. Lee, or postmarked before 5 p.m. Friday.

Bush says schools
'in trouble'

LEWISTON, Maine (AP) - President Bush, declaring that "our schools are in trouble," today challenged parents and students to take more responsibility for improving the quality of education in America. "If our schools fail us, we can't blame Washington or Augusta," Bush said, speaking in Maine's capital city. "We must blame ourselves for betraying our children." Ending his summer vacation, Bush stopped here en route back to Washington to press his crusade to bring new vigor to America's classrooms. The focus on education is a major part of Bush's effort to deflect Democratic criticism that he lacks a domestic agenda. Addressing an audience of students, parents and educators at Lewiston High School, Bush said that "every day brings new evidence of crisis" in classrooms. He noted that scores on verbal Scholastic Aptitude Tests have fallen to their lowest level. "These numbers tell us: our schools are in trouble," Bush said. "But before we point fingers, how many of us demand more of our children, ourselves, our schools? Survey after survey suggests too many parents and students remain unconcerned, unconvinced that the state of their own schools should worry them." He said, "Some of us don't want to ask tough questions and risk angering teachers and administrators. We seem to believe that while everything else in the world changes, our schools shouldn't - that what was good enough for us should be good enough for our kids. "The truth is, all our children are at risk," he said. He said parents expect too much of teachers, asking them to act as social workers, psychologists and family counselors. "And at the same time, we ask too little of our students. We shy away from demanding excellence and accountability." The president told parents, "Don't be a stranger in your child's school. Visit the classroom. Talk to the principal. Make it your business to find out whether your child's school is drug free. Talk to your school board about school choice, about curriculum, about ways to put your schools to use year round."

Yeltsin: USSR was 'practically blind'

MOSCOW (AP) - Russian Federation President Boris Yeltsin harshly criticized Mikhail S. Gorbachev today for failing to foresee last month's coup, and he urged independence for the republics that want it. In a speech to the Congress of People's Deputies that is weighing a sweeping plan to restructure the Soviet Union, Yeltsin also sought to allay fears that his huge Russian republic would try to bully other republics. "The Russian state, which has chosen democracy and freedom, will never be an empire or big or little brother," Yeltsin declared in a 10-minute address, drawing applause. "It will be an equal among equals." As the Soviet president watched from the podium, Yeltsin stood at the central lectern and accused the Kremlin leadership of having acted "practically blindly," adding: "It had no clear political course."

He blamed Gorbachev for refusing to listen to reformers and allowing the coup plotters to hold high office in the government and Communist Party. The coup, he said, "was not accidental." Of Gorbachev, Yeltsin said: "His inconsistency in implementing reforms, indecisiveness, sometimes capitulation to the aggressive onslaught of the party elite - all this created a favorable soil for a revanche of the totalitarian system." He said Gorbachev had to know the political leanings of the hard-liners who engineered the Aug. 18-21 coup, such as KGB chief Vladimir Kryuchkov, Defense Minister Dmitri Yazov and Vice President Gennady Yanayev. "Let's remember last January when the whole country felt with concern President Gorbachev's course sharply swerving to the right," Yeltsin said.

He said Gorbachev allowed the KGB to strengthen its repressive role, let the army participate in political decisions and stifled the media. But Yeltsin also said his opinion of Gorbachev has changed radically since the coup, saying the Soviet president "found strength in himself to re-evaluate a lot of things." "I have more confidence in Mikhail Sergeyevich Gorbachev now than I did three weeks ago, before the putsch," he said. Yeltsin underscored the need for the "creation of a union as a free commonwealth of sovereign states based on coexistence of various forms of interstate relations." He said, however, that this would have to go beyond the previous Union Treaty drafted earlier this summer by Gorbachev and leaders of republics to keep the nation from splintering apart.

"Indeed there may be independent republics which insist on a confederation, and on a federation and on an associated membership and on an economic union," Yeltsin said. "And yet, they must all be within some sort of one, new single system." Yeltsin's speech highlighted the second day of the meeting of the Congress, which is debating a sweeping plan to reorganize the structure of the Soviet Union. The plan calls for establishing a new legislative body, state council and economic coordinating committee that would govern during an interim period as the Soviet Union moves toward a loose confederation. The central government would be stripped of most functions beyond defense and foreign affairs. The plan also apparently would grant independence to the five republics that oppose remaining in the union - the three Baltic states, Moldavia and Georgia.

The president of Turkmenia, Saparmurad Niyazov, today praised the proposal and its provisions to create stable pricing policies and "common economic space." As the lawmakers spoke from the lectern, the three leaders in firm control of the Congress - Gorbachev, Yeltsin and Kazakhstan President Nursultan Nazarbayev - sat behind them and scribbled notes to each other. Attention today also shifted to the three Baltic republics when an Estonian legislator pleaded for independence. Mikhail Bronstein said the Kremlin must recognize independence now, because "without recognition, we cannot end World War II. The sooner we do this, the sooner we will fulfill our humanitarian duties." President Bush on Monday formally recognized Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia as independent.

Parties, protests mark Labor Day

By The Associated Press Teacher advocates and homeless activists demonstrated their causes Labor Day weekend in Dallas and Houston, while Texans in other parts of the state flocked to resort areas, malls and athletic events. Hundreds of homeless people and their advocates marched through the streets of downtown Houston Monday before rallying at City Hall and picnicking at a nearby park. "It's not fun trying to live on the street's, trying to get yourself up off the street," said one marching woman who declined to give her name. "We want to get off the streets and do something for ourselves today," said another homeless marcher.

Sam Williams, chairman of HEADS UP and organizer of the march, said it was important for the homeless people to be seen. "Ten thousand people are sleeping on the city's streets. What are we going to do about it?" Williams queried. "Houston does not have a housing shortage. We have an access to housing shortage," said Ray Hill, another HEADS UP participant and a gay rights advocate. HEADS UP stands for Housing, Employment And Development Strategies for Underutilized People. In Dallas, teachers, students and their parents used their day off to protest budget cuts that resulted in the planned layoffs of up to 325 teachers.

"We're all concerned about the same thing, and that's restoring our teachers," said Pat Jacobs, a teacher in the district. "That's our main thrust, and this is one time our parents, students, teachers are all coming together to do this. Cuts are being done in this district without any rhyme or reason." In Galveston, Lt. Bill Dagg said the steady crowds provided "no big problems at all" on Monday. Dagg said stepped up enforcement of an alcohol ban on the sea wall since the July Fourth holiday has paid off by bringing more families back to the area. "It's helped a whole lot," he said. Since July Fourth, about two dozen people have been arrested for having alcohol, each being fined between $100 and $500, officers said. Tejano music and barbecue drew hundreds to a Labor Day celebration at Guadalupe Plaza in Houston. The annual AFL-CIO breakfast also attracted several thousand people Monday morning in Houston. The group honored U.S. Rep. Craig Washington, who challenged union members not to take their membership for granted and to rally for issues before Congress. There are 110 unions operating in Harris County. In Nueces County, Corpus Christi and Port Aransas beaches had modest crowds with scattered showers during the weekend.

Raisa:
3 days
'horrible'

MOSCOW (AP) - President Mikhail S. Gorbachev and his family frequently walked from the dacha where they were detained during the coup to a nearby beach so people could see he was "alive and well," his wife Raisa says. In an interview with the labor newspaper Trud, published today, Mrs. Gorbachev also described the "bitterness of betrayal" that tormented her during three days of house arrest. "I never thought that such an attempt would be made," she was quoted as saying in her first detailed description of their experience. "Those three days were horrible." Mrs. Gorbachev suffered a "bad bout" - apparently of nerves - following the family's return to Moscow. She has not been seen in public since returning from their dacha in the Crimean seaside resort of Foros. Mrs. Gorbachev told Trud she first realized something was happening on the afternoon of Aug. 18, when her husband came to her with bad news. She described him as being "agitated." "He said, 'Something serious has happened, maybe frightening,'" she recalled. "(Former guard chief) Medvedev announced that a group from Moscow has arrived. They're already on the dacha grounds demanding a meeting," Mrs. Gorbachev quoted her husband as saying. "All the telephones have been cut off, even the red one" linking Gorbachev to his military commanders. Several top aides, including Chief of Staff Valery Boldin, arrived that afternoon demanding Gorbachev sign over his powers to Vice President Gennady Yanayev. Gorbachev refused. "Quietly, Mikhail Sergeyevich told me 'I will make no deals with any adventurists. ... But we may have to pay dearly for this. Everything, our whole family. We have to be ready for everything....'" She said the family - daughter Irina, son-in-law Anatoly and grandchildren - gathered and told Gorbachev: "We'll be with you." This was a very serious decision. We know our history," she said, apparently referring to the Bolsheviks' execution of the family of the last Czar Nicholas II. She said, "The feeling of growing danger compelled us to action." From Monday night to Tuesday, Gorbachev made his widely reported video message to prove his health was good. Loyal guards helped them fashion an antenna that allowed them to hear Western radio broadcasts on an old shortwave radio.

News Digest

World/National

MOSCOW - Stiffing opposition with old-style power politics, Mikhail S. Gorbachev and Boris N. Yeltsin push through the highest Soviet lawmaking body a plan to strip central authorities of most of their power and move toward a loose confederation.

KENNEBUNKPORT, Maine - President Bush secretly notified Mikhail Gorbachev a week ago that the United States was preparing to recognize the independence of the Baltic states, hoping to prod the Soviet Union to grant their freedom first.

WASHINGTON - The best treatment for women suffering from PMS may be as close as their refrigerator. A recent Agriculture Department study supports earlier findings that calcium appears to help women deal with the stress and anxiety that can be symptoms of premenstrual syndrome.

Texas

HOUSTON - The trial of Wanda Webb Holloway, accused of trying to hire a hitman to kidnap or kill an acquaintance to further her daughter's cheerleading career, is winding to a close. Closing arguments were scheduled today in the kidnap and murder-for-hire case.

CROSS THE STATE - Protests of teacher layoffs and treatment of the homeless marked Labor Day weekend in Dallas and Houston, while Texans in other parts of the state flocked to resort areas, malls and athletic events.

HOUSTON - Organized labor in Texas has its roots in a group of Galveston printers in the 1850s. While unions always have had a precarious status in Texas, they still represent 450,000 employees or about 5 percent of the state's workforce. Workers in the oil and petrochemical industries, communications, teaching, textile and canning factories, and in the government sector make up the bulk of Texans represented by unions.

HOUSTON - Recent studies questioning dioxin's link to cancer could alter warnings about Texas seafood captured in the Houston Ship Channel and upper Galveston Bay. The Texas Water Commission has been the target of a lawsuit demanding that the standards for the chemical be changed.

Patients of 'healer' decry conviction

Cancer victims relied on his treatments

McALLEN, Texas (AP) - A self-proclaimed healer's conviction on federal fraud charges may mean death for the cancer victims who relied on his treatments, his former patients said.

James Gordon Keller, who had operated an unorthodox cancer clinic, was found guilty Monday of 11 counts of using interstate communications to defraud cancer patients.

The prosecution claimed Keller used the promise of amazing cures to lure patients to Mexico, where they spent thousands of dollars on worthless treatments.

The jury deliberated for about three hours before handing down its decision. Keller faces up to 55 years in prison when he is sentenced Oct. 9 by U.S. District Judge Filemon Vela.

The verdict enraged Keller's former patients, who had crowded into the courtroom throughout the two-week trial.

"The jury sentenced a lot of people to death," said Deborah Jones, a Marina Del Rey, Calif. woman who said she was helped by Keller.

She said the patients who relied on Keller's treatments and who had been given up for dead by the medical community now would have nowhere to turn.

"What are we going to do?" added Libby Hodges, another of Keller's former patients. "What do we do if our cancer returns? I'm not going to go to a doctor, no way."

"The crime that was committed during this trial was saying Jim Keller was guilty."

Ms. Hodges, who testified for the defense, said she went to Keller in 1985 for treatment of a brain tumor although she was never diagnosed by a doctor as having cancer.

The Newport Beach, Calif. woman said that although the tumor disappeared, she still needed to continue the treatments to ensure the cancer did not return.

Olga Quijano of Torrance, Calif. said alternative treatments, especially Keller's, were her last hope in her ongoing battle with breast cancer.

"I'm sick and I need Jimmy," said Ms. Quijano, who refuses to return to a conventional doctor. "He's the only one who's been able to help."

"I was doing very well. I don't know what I am going to do without him. He was like my security blanket."

Ms. Quijano was one of about a thousand patients Keller purportedly treated at his now-defunct clinic in Tijuana, Mexico. The charges against him, however, stemmed from a similar clinic he operated previously in Matamoros, across the border from Brownsville, Texas.

That clinic was shut down in 1984 at the time of an FBI-led investigation into Keller's practice.

It was not Keller's first brush with the law. His clinic in Baton Rouge, La. was shut down in 1983 by a state district judge's injunction prohibiting him from practicing medicine without a license.

After Keller was accused of fraud in a 1984 federal indictment, he moved his practice to Tijuana. That practice came to a halt when Keller was arrested March 18 at the Mexico-California border.

During the trial, the prosecution presented several people who said their relatives had been treated and pronounced cured by Keller, only to die later of the disease.

Keller, meanwhile, said he believed the treatments worked, but that he never claimed to be able to cure cancer.

Keller treated cancer patients with a substance called "Tumorex," which purportedly cured cancer, and a device called a "digitron."

The digitron was a diagnostic instrument also used for adjusting the patient's energies, according to evidence presented in the trial.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Mervyn Mosbacher said the jury had not been deceived by Keller's claims and the defense's strategies.

Hints from Heloise

Q. When the Persian Gulf war broke out and victory came, I kept the newspaper headlines. I wanted to preserve them for my two young daughters. Later they may remember history being made and I thought it would be a thrill for them to have the clippings to go with their memories.

A. There are several things you can try.

An easy way is to cover the newspapers with clear self-sticking plastic; however, they will still turn yellow. Making a photocopy is a good backup.

You could try spraying the paper with hair spray. Spray lightly three or four times, waiting about a minute between each application, then lay flat to dry.

The last way is to "bleach" them — but not with chlorine bleach, rather with milk of magnesia. This will counteract the acid in the newspaper that causes it to turn yellow and should keep them from yellowing for about 50 years.

Place 2 tablespoons of milk of magnesia in 1 quart of club soda and mix well. Put in the refrigerator and let sit for at least eight hours, then pour into a large, shallow pan.

Lay the clipping in the pan (only do one at a time) and let soak for an hour. Remove, place between two paper towels and blot out as much of the moisture as possible.

To dry, lay the clipping on a flat surface.

LAUNDRY DETERGENT

Dear Heloise: Here in southwest Florida where humidity is high and I have an outside laundry room, I've found that powdered detergent that is kept there cakes.

Granted, liquid detergents would be the logical solution to the problem but I think the store-brand powders are more economical and just as effective.

I buy the economy-size powdered detergent and pour it into a plastic milk carton. It never cakes and is easier to handle. — Lee Higgins, Fort Myers, Fla.

Spikers win Amarillo Invitational

The Lady Whitefaces have gotten an early start this season on continuing their volleyball rivalry with Dumas, and so far they have had the upper hand.

Hereford beat the Demonettes 9-15, 15-12, 16-14 in Saturday's finals of the Amarillo Invitational Tournament. It was the Lady Whitefaces' second consecutive victory over the Demonettes after beating them in the semifinals of the Lubbock Invitational Aug. 24.

Hereford coach Brenda Reeh said Dumas played better Saturday than it had during the first meeting. In fact, after the teams split the first two games, the Demonettes were winning the third game 12-5 at one point.

The Lady Whitefaces turned around, Reeh said, behind the serving of Brek Binder and Teresa Baker and a pair of kills by Jennifer Hicks.

"Brek and Baker started serving the ball really strong, and the girls on the net made sure we scored," Reeh said.

It was not the Lady Whitefaces best match of the year, Reeh said, as they committed quite a few errors. She attributed this to the nerves of playing in a finals and the aura of three-time state champion Dumas.

Fortunately, the Lady Whitefaces had what Reeh called their best match in the semifinals against Abilene High. They won 15-12, 15-13 despite letting the Lady Eagles score the first five points of the match.

Hereford also was down 13-10 in the second game, but Angie Jowell served three points, then, moments later, Binder ended the match with a kill.

"It's good to come back, but we don't want to put ourselves in that position all the time," Reeh said.

In their first game Saturday in the winners' bracket, they beat Caprock 15-7, 15-1.

"They're a lot stronger than they were last year," Reeh said.

After playing Caprock, Reeh has gotten a look at most of the teams in District 1-4A.

"I'm terribly impressed with everyone in our district," Reeh said. "There's not going to be an easy week (during district play)."

Reeh said the tournament victory was truly a team effort.

"At some point in this tournament, every one of these kids stepped up and took on some responsibility," she said.

Second Flight Winners

Andy Lee, Ron Banks
Third Flight Winners

Jimmy Ross of Dimmitt and son-in-law Tobin Touchstone of Mansfield held off a charge by two teams Monday to capture the 14th annual Hereford Country Club Member-Guest Golf Tournament by one shot.

Ross and Touchstone carded a low-ball 67 on Saturday then followed with scramble scores of 65 and 66 for a 198 total. Frank Brorman and Larry Richardson of Vega opened with a low-ball 71 and followed with a 63 and 65 to score a 199 for second place.

Charles Skinner and Tommy Weaver closed with scramble scores of 66 and 65 to take third place after opening with 70. The team of John Stagner and Gary Stagner was tied for the lead after two rounds (67-65) but took a 71 on Monday to finish fourth.

Leland Shelton and son Jeff of Wichita Falls closed with a 64 and a 207 total to win the second flight by one shot over Shorty Roark and Bill Davis. Pat McGinty and Leroy Williams of Graham shot a 64 on Monday to move into third place at 209.

Ron Banks and partner Andy Lee of Prague, Ok., closed with a 68 and 215 total to win the third flight by three shots over Speedy Nieman and Rocky Lee. Rodney Barrett and Clint Savoini of Amarillo closed with a 69 to take third place at 222.

In a special "Freeze Out Derby" Sunday afternoon, Bill Davis teamed with Colby Gilbreath of Dimmitt to win on the sixth hole. The top 10 scorers the first day were paired with the bottom 10 scorers, and the 10 teams started on the first hole. The players hit alternate shots with one or two teams being eliminated on each hole.

The team of Tobin Touchstone and M.D. Franks finished second, and third place went to Gene Coulter and Max Moss.

There were 22 teams in this year's field. The three-day toumey included several parties at the country club and prizes each day for long drives, closest to the pin, longest putts, shortest drives, and most balls lost. Most of the prizes were $25 golf merchandise certificates donated by local businesses. Colby Gilbreath won a watch, presented by Cowan

Jewelers, for being nearest the pin on No. 3 for the three days.

The toumey committee included John Stagner, John Sherrod, Dave Workman and Scott Keeling.

Tri-State rodeo season opens

The Tri-State High School Rodeo Association opened its fall season at Canadian Saturday, and Cloudy Meason was the only member of the Hereford team to place.

Meason and his partner, Justin Morris of Lazbuddie, claimed seventh place in team roping. Their time was 10.700 seconds.

Chasity Rickman, who lives in Hereford but now competes for the Adrian team, won the pole pending competition with a time of 21.731 seconds. She also was seventh in goat tying at 13.626.

The TSHSRA will be at Pampa Saturday with the first performance at 10 a.m., team roping at 1 p.m. and the second performance at 3 p.m.

In the 1978 Super Bowl against Denver, the Dallas Cowboys were penalized a record 12 times.

Connors' fantasy streak continues

NEW YORK (AP) - In the end, tennis' rebel with a cause simply would not go off quietly into the night. Jimmy Connors has seized the U.S. Open by the lapels and he won't stop shaking it.

Energized by the National Tennis Center crowd and a couple of close calls that went against him, Connors summoned energy from the depths of his 39-year-old body on Monday to reach the quarterfinals with a victory that defied logic.

Behind almost throughout and angered by two rulings by the chair umpire, Connors somehow outlasted 24-year-old Aaron Krickstein 3-6, 7-6 (10-8), 1-6, 6-3, 7-6 (7-4), as the energy and emotion of a sellout crowd carried him past still another plateau on his dizzying trip through this tournament.

He double-faulted seven times, committed an astounding 106 unforced errors, and failed to convert 19 of 24 break points.

And still he won. It was as if the crowd would not let him lose. When he was in trouble, they seemed to will Connors' shots inbounds and Krickstein's wide of the lines.

"When I beat Patrick McEnroe (in the first round), that was 7,000-8,000 making the noise of 20,000," Connors said. "This was 20,000 making the noise of 60,000."

"That's some crowd to play in front of. To get that reception and feeling, I can't describe it. I can't explain it. It's awful satisfying for someone who shouldn't be playing any more. How can you not be satisfied?"

When it was over, after 4 hours, 41 minutes of gut-wrenching tennis, the crowd serenaded Connors, singing Happy Birthday to him.

Happy Birthday, indeed. Jimbo has had few better ones. He made shots he had no business making against a player 15 years younger. When a close call cost him a vital point in the second-set tiebreaker, Connors heaped abuse on chair umpire David Littlefield and then won the next three points and the set, gesturing each time at the official.

It happened again in the fifth set when Connors recovered from a 2-5 hole. Again, the debate seemed to fire him up, help him recover from an early service break and force the tiebreaker.

"At an important point like that, I've got to go nuts," he said. "I've got to stick up for my rights."

The monumental Connors-Krickstein match overshadowed the other action. Earlier, the women's quarterfinal bracket was completed with four-time champion Martina Navratilova, seeded No. 6, leading the advance. The 34-year-old reached the quarters for the 13th time in 15 years and settled a year-old score with a 7-6 (7-5), 1-6, 6-2 victory over 10th-seeded Manuela Maleeva-Fragniere, who eliminated her from this event a year ago.

Next for Navratilova is fourth-seeded Arantxa Sanchez Vicario, who eliminated Natalia Zvereva 6-3, 7-6 (7-4).

In the other women's quarter, No. 8 Conchita Martinez meets No. 1 Steffi Graf. Martinez advanced with a 6-4, 6-4 victory over No. 12 Zina Garrison and Graf ousted Judith Wiesner 7-5, 6-4.

On the men's side, defending champion Pete Sampras, seeded No. 6, finished No. 11 David Wheaton 3-6, 6-2, 6-2, 6-4. He will meet No. 4 Jim Courier, who advanced with a 6-4, 6-4, 6-3, victory over No. 14 Emilio Sanchez.

Also advancing was Paul Haarhuis, who finished off Carl-Uwe Steeb 6-2, 6-3, 6-4. That put Haarhuis, who eliminated top-seeded Boris Becker, into the quarters against Connors, the people's choice. Jimbo promises not to fold his tents, not after coming this far.

A Real Live Wire
HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) - Racecaller Tom Durkin has a reputation as a livewire at the mike. But he didn't expect it to be taken seriously when broadcasting the Oaklawn Handicap at Oaklawn Park in April. Tom was standing in a small puddle of water during a lightning storm.

"All of a sudden there was a loud boom," he said. "The next thing I knew the metal microphone flew out of my hand. I didn't realize it right away, but my hat went flying also." Outside of a shocking surprise, Durkin was not injured.

Bo's return good; Hernandez' debut better

By BEN WALKER
AP Baseball Writer
The fans came to see Bo. Instead, they almost saw another Robo.

Bo Jackson got the biggest cheers Monday night as the Comiskey Park crowd of 37,187 celebrated his return to the major leagues. In a game that many thought he would never play, Jackson went 0-for-3 with a sacrifice fly.

"I'm not 100 percent, but I am back," he said after the White Sox won 5-1 over the Royals, the team that released him in spring training because of a hip hurt in the NFL playoffs.

Roberto Hernandez did not get any ovations. At least, not at first. But Hernandez, making his major league debut, quickly drew a lot of attention. He held Kansas City hitless for six innings, and allowed only one hit in seven innings.

Bobo Holloman is the only pitcher since 1900 to pitch a no-hitter in his first big-league start.

Hernandez, like Jackson, once was told he would never play baseball again. Hernandez was diagnosed as having blood clots in his pitching arm earlier this season, and underwent surgery to transfer veins from his inner thigh to his right forearm.

"I have a strong will to compete," Hernandez said. "I've been through a lot, so I take nothing for granted."

In other games, Detroit downed Seattle 12-5, Toronto topped Baltimore 5-4 in 12 innings, Minnesota beat Cleveland 9-3, Texas trounced New York 7-2 and California beat Milwaukee 7-6.

Batting sixth as Chicago's designated hitter, Jackson hit the ball squarely all four times and ran hard without any apparent problems.

"I'm satisfied with the things as they are now, but they will get better," he said. "I've laid the foundation."

Hernandez, given an early lead, breezed until Bill Pecota led off the seventh with a double. Pecota later scored on a groundout and Hernandez left after the inning, having struck out four and walked two.

Scott Radinsky finished for his sixth save as Chicago won its third straight. The White Sox tied idle Oakland for second place, 8 1/2 games behind Minnesota.

Tigers 12, Mariners 5
Cecil Fielder hit his 37th home run, leading Bill Gullickson and Detroit at the Kingdome.

Lou Whitaker hit his 21st home run and Tony Phillips got his 16th for the Tigers. Ken Griffey Jr. hit his 19th for Seattle and Tino Martinez had his second.

Twins 9, Indians 3
Scott Erickson, showing his early-season form, pitched seven shutout innings before Minnesota broke it open at the Metrodome.

Kirby Puckett's RBI double in the bottom of the seventh broke a scoreless tie and keyed a four-run inning. Shane Mack's second grand slam of the season capped a five-run eighth.

Erickson (17-6) gave up six hits and struck out seven. Rick Aguilera closed for his 37th save.

Eric King (5-9) shut out the Twins on one hit until the big seventh. Mack hit his 17th home run and second career slam the next inning.

Blue Jays 5, Orioles 4
Joe Carter began the bottom of the 12th inning with a triple off right fielder Chito Martinez's glove and Cory Snyder followed with a game-winning single.

Mike Timlin (10-6) pitched one inning for the victory. Gregg Olson (3-5) stranded a runner at third base with one out in the 10th, but gave up the two hits in the 12th.

Rangers 7, Yankees 2
Oil Can Boyd finally won for the Rangers, helping Texas beat New York for the 14th straight time at home.

Boyd (1-4) pitched five shutout innings.

Ruben Sierra hit his 19th home run off Tim Leary (4-10), who took over in the second inning after rain forced starter Wade Taylor to leave.

Angels 7, Brewers 6
Junior Felix drove in a career-high five runs with two doubles and two singles and Jim Abbott won his sixth straight decision as California stopped its seven-game road losing streak.

Abbott (15-8) gave up three runs on 10 hits in 5 1-3 innings. Bryan Harvey pitched the ninth and got his 34th save. Don August (9-7) took the loss.

Braves, Dodgers still tied after losses

By The Associated Press
The Braves don't think there's any cause for concern just yet.

Atlanta lost its third straight game Monday as Andres Galarraga hit a two-run homer and Bill Sampen pitched six strong innings for Montreal to beat the Braves and Tom Glavine 4-3.

The Braves had to wait several hours to see if they would lose first place in the NL West. But the Dodgers obliged by losing to the Cardinals 7-4 in 11 innings on the West Coast, so Atlanta and Los Angeles remained tied for first.

Sampen (7-4), pitching because Dennis Martinez has a lower back strain, gave up four hits in only his fifth start of the year and his first since April 28. Mel Rojas pitched two innings and Barry Jones struggled to get the last three outs.

The Braves rallied in the top of the ninth against Jones as Otis Nixon hit a two-run triple and Jeff Treadway singled him home. But Terry Pendleton hit into a double play to end the game.

"We've been through streaks like this before and we've come out of them," Pendleton said. "I don't think it's a question of us getting into September and starting to tighten up. The important thing is to stay loose and have fun and that's what we're doing."

Glavine, (17-9), the NL leader in wins, gave up five hits and struck out 10 for his ninth complete game.

Cardinals 7, Dodgers 4
Relief ace Lee Smith blew a lead in the ninth before the Cardinals came back to win as Rich Gedman doubled home the go-ahead run in a three-run 11th.

Reliever Jay Howell (5-5) walked Jose Oquendo to start the 11th and gave up Gedman's RBI double. Todd Zeile and Rod Brewer added run-scoring singles.

Willie Fraser (3-0) pitched two innings for the victory.

The Dodgers tied it at 4-4 with two out in the bottom of the ninth on Lenny Harris' run-scoring single off Smith. The NL leader with 37 saves, blew an opportunity for only the sixth time this season.

The Cardinals had gone ahead 4-3 in the top of the inning on Ray Lankford's sixth homer of the year.

Pirates 9, Giants 8
Lloyd McClendon's run-scoring pinch single off Dave Righetti with two out in the ninth inning lifted Pittsburgh over San Francisco at Candlestick Park.

Jay Bell, Andy Van Slyke and Orlando Merced each had three hits and an RBI, and Barry Bonds had two hits and an RBI for the first-place Pirates, who won for the sixth time in seven games.

Stan Belinda (4-4) pitched 2 1-3 innings to earn the victory. Rosario Rodriguez retired Will Clark, who had four hits, for the final out to earn his second save.

Phillies 8, Reds 5
Dale Murphy went 4-for-4, including a two-run homer, as Philadelphia beat visiting Cincinnati and Tom Browning for its third straight victory.

Terry Mulholland (13-11) was the winner despite allowing five runs on eight hits in 5 2-3 innings. Joe Boever pitched 2 1-3 innings and Mitch Williams finished for his 25th save.

Astros 3, Mets 0
Rookies Ryan Bowen, Rob Mallicoat and Al Osuna combined on a six-hitter to lead visiting Houston past New York.

Bowen (4-2) allowed five singles and four walks in 6 1-3 innings before Mallicoat came on to stop a rally in the seventh. Osuna got his 10th save with two innings of one-hit relief as the Astros snapped the Mets' three-game winning streak.

Frank Viola fell to 12-13 and third baseman Howard Johnson made two costly errors, giving him 29 for the season.

Cubs 10, Padres 8
Ryne Sandberg hit his second career grand slam to cap a six-run eighth inning as Chicago won in San Diego.

With the Cubs leading 6-5, Mark Grace issued an intentional walk and Sandberg greeted reliever Jim Lewis with his 22nd homer.

Winner Chuck McLeroy (6-2) pitched 1 1-3 before leaving in the eighth with a leg injury. Jose Melendez (6-5) took the loss.

Giants beat 49'ers

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) - If there were any questions about Ray Handley's decision to make Jeff Hostetler the Giants' starting quarterback, they may have been answered in New York's season-opener.

Hostetler engineered a 13-play, 60-yard drive in the final 4:40 Monday night and Matt Bahr kicked a 35-yard field goal with 5 seconds remaining to give New York a 16-14 victory over the 49ers.

The win not only made Handley's regular-season debut as Giants coach a success, it also ended the 49ers' 19-game regular-season road winning streak, the longest in NFL history.

The win was especially sweet for Hostetler. After leading the Giants to a Super Bowl victory in January, he spent training camp locked in a fierce quarterback competition with longtime starter Phil Simms, whose injury gave him the chance to play last season.

Even when Handley gave him the job, there were those who disagreed. "I've had a long camp and worked hard for this job," Hostetler said. "I won the job and all the doubters came out again. ... Under the conditions I felt real good about it, especially to open the season with a big win against the 49ers."

The win was very similar to the Giants' 15-13 victory at San Francisco in last season's NFC title game. In that game, Hostetler, playing in place of the injured Simms, drove New York 33 yards in seven plays for Bahr's game-winning 42-yard field goal at the final gun.

"On the last drive, we were just trying to force them to kick a long field goal," 49ers linebacker Charles Haley said. "But unfortunately it was just like the playoffs."

Hostetler made two big plays on the final drive, hitting Stephen Baker for 14 yards on the first play and then finding Mark Ingram for 11 yards on third-and-10 from the San Francisco 37 with 1:33 to play.

After two running plays got the ball to the 18, Bahr split the uprights for his third field goal of the game.

This battle between the two teams that have won four of the last five Super Bowls wasn't easy for either team. The biggest lead for either team was six points in a game again dominated by the two defenses.

New York gained just 331 yards, while San Francisco got 254 with Steve Young at quarterback in place of the injured Joe Montana.

After Bahr staked New York to a 3-0 lead with his first field goal, Young connected with Jerry Rice on a 73-yard TD pass play against six defensive backs.

Hostetler, who completed 17 of 31 passes for 228 yards, got New York back in front with a 25-yard scramble that set up a 1-yard touchdown run by Otis Anderson. A 47-yard pass to Baker and a 10-run scramble by Hostetler set up Bahr's 28-yarder before the half.

The Giants' offense bogged down in the third quarter and San Francisco took advantage, taking over at the Giants' 42 following a short punt by Sean Landeta.

Seven plays later, Young rolled left and ran into the end zone, helped in part guard Guy McIntyre's takedown of Lawrence Taylor.

However, Hostetler was able to rally the Giants in the closing minutes.

"The last drive, we needed to put some points on the board," Hostetler said. "We executed well and it was a good come from behind victory."

In the 1984 Super Bowl between the Raiders and the Redskins, the ball was punted a record 15 times.

THE BUCK STARTS HERE.

Newspaper is usually the first place people go when considering a purchase. It's their primary source of advertising information.

Newspaper helps spark the local economy by putting dollars into circulation. And that's good for everyone, not just the retailer.

Because a strong local economy means lower property taxes, more job tax support for community services and a better place to live.

Newspaper is more than just a smart place to advertise. It's an integral part of our lives.

Newspaper. It delivers.

A would-be thief was electrocuted as he attempted to strip the copper wire from an isolated electric utility substation.

A man was electrocuted when he crawled up into a service platform in an attempt to rob the transformers of approximately four pounds of copper.

The hard-hit economy has prompted numerous people to take chances like these in hopes of making some easy money.

Consider the risks. Stealing could be dangerous to your health!

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My late husband and I were members of our local country club for 25 years. After his death, my membership remained intact. I maintained that membership for 12 years.

I then married a man who was, and still is, a member of this same club. We divorced after six years of marriage. Soon after I received a notice that I was no longer a member, but could reapply. This meant sending six letters of recommendation, a photograph and $12,000 to their all-male board. (There has never been a female board member.)

My former husband, however, is now free to bring his new wife who automatically becomes a member, with no regard for her moral standards or reputation.

I appealed to the board and asked that they permit me to retain my club membership but was informed that the bylaws made it impossible. The response was, "As of this date your membership has been terminated."

A member of my family was a charter member of this well-known country club, and I'm sure he would turn over in his grave if he knew how I am being treated. This is a prime example of discriminatory injustice toward women and I'd like to know what you think about it.—Victimized in Atlantic Beach, N.C.

DEAR A.B.: Since you feel strongly about what seems to be a clear case of discrimination against women, go ahead and file suit. But be aware that the legal fees could be costly. And if you won, how would you feel about belonging to a club you had to sue to get into?

P.S. I suggest that you keep quiet about your ex-husband's choice of a new wife. Such talk wouldn't improve your image.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I work at a well-known deep dish pizza restaurant in Chicago. The other day I served a young couple. They ate a lot of pizza and drank a lot of beer. When it came time to pay the bill, the young man put the check and the money in my hand and said, "I'm sorry I can't leave a tip, we're college students and you know how that goes."

Sorry, pal, I DON'T know how that goes. When you eat in a restaurant, the tip is part of the bill. You should count on paying it before you walk in the door. If you don't have enough money, skip the cocktails and appetizers. If you can't afford to tip, go to a fast food place.

Ann, the government taxes me on a percentage of my total sales. If I sell $400 worth of food that day, the tax me on 10 percent of the figure, which equals $40. If I don't get a tip, I end up losing money.

How can I respond to people who tell me they can't afford to tip without seeming totally rude or losing my job? Maybe show them this column?—Trying to Make a Living in Chicago.

DEAR TRYING: I doubt that you will want to show them this column when you read my response.

A tip is NOT part of the bill. A tip is what you get for giving good service. If you are completely fair you will admit that most people tip more than 10 percent. Under no circumstance should a waitress complain when the tip is too small.

I agree, however, that if money is tight, a couple would do well to hold back the extras and cocktails so they can leave a tip. Very few waitresses can make it on their salaries alone.

Feeling pressured to have sex? How well-informed are you? Write for Ann Landers' booklet "Sex and the Teen-ager." Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $3.65 (this includes postage and handling) to: Teens, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562. (In Canada, send $4.45.)

Protection tips against burglars

If you worry about burglars - and most of us do - there is much you can do to prevent illegal entry. Here is some information that can reduce your chances of being burglarized and provide you with greater peace of mind.

- If you spot persons in your neighborhood behaving suspiciously, notify the police. For example, burglars often cruise in pairs. Upon seeing an empty garage or a car pulling out of a driveway, they ring the doorbell. If someone answers, they ask an innocent question and leave. If there is no response, they try to enter the home.

- Speak to your local police to find out which entry methods they favor in your area. Then, examine your home for weak points.

- Burglars commonly enter through an unlocked door, break in through a cellar window, break simple locks on doors or use force until the screws burst out of the wood or the frame gives way. Replace a hollow wooden door or flimsy door frame with a solid wooden (or even a steel) door mounted in a sturdy frame. Then equip the door with a deadbolt lock. A good bolt is 1 inch thick and has a 1-inch throw.

- Overgrown shrubbery and high hedges provide as much privacy for burglars as they do for you. Keep hedges trimmed, prune tree branches and remove trellises - especially if they provide access to second-floor windows. Keep basement windows - a favorite entry point for burglars - locked and free of foliage.

- If you live on the first or second floor of an apartment building, keep all windows locked. Lock windows or doors that lead to balconies, rooftops or fire escapes. (Caution: Be sure fire escape doors are easy to unlock in case of an emergency.)

- Burglaries in occupied homes are not as rare as you might expect. Keep your doors locked even when you're home.

- Before moving into a new house or apartment, have the cylinders of each door lock in your new home changed.

- If you have a telephone answering machine, don't let the greeting message reveal your whereabouts. Say simply that you can't come to the phone right now, but you will return the call as soon as possible.

- Don't put your name on your mailbox. Burglars will phone to learn if anyone is at home.

- If you're planning an evening out or going on vacation, set an automatic timer to create the illusion that someone is at home. Use it to activate lamps, television sets and radios that will make the house seem occupied.

- Before leaving for an extended period, arrange to have your home appear occupied. Ask someone to park a car in the driveway and move it periodically. Arrange to have the snow shoveled or the grass mowed. Have mail and newspaper deliveries halted until you return.

- Avoid attracting unwanted attention to your valuables. For example, if a new stereo arrives, don't put the labeled carton in the trash without flattening it inside out.

- Neighborhood watch programs work well. Post signs warning strangers that they are being observed.

- Finally, a family dog is one of the best burglar alarms you can have. The sound of loud, frantic barking is often all that's needed to discourage a would-be intruder and alert family members and neighbors.

Here are some ways you can minimize the extent of loss if your house is burglarized:

- Don't keep cash around - traveler's checks are safer.

- Leave some money and less-expensive valuables in the open and hope a burglar will overlook the gem collection in the bottom of the goldfish tank. (If you hide valuables, it's a good idea to keep a map of their locations in a safe-deposit box or with your attorney.)

- Make your valuables harder for thieves to sell and easier for police to identify by engraving your Social Security number on them. You can borrow an engraving tool from the local police department.

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: With everyone being so weight conscious these days, I've been trying to lose 10 to 15 pounds. For some reason I can't lose them.

I have been on the Weight Watchers program and lost 7 pounds. I put it back on and haven't been able to lose it since. I exercise every day for about 45 minutes. Is it possible that my metabolism has something to do with not losing weight?

Sometimes I feel like it's a mind-over-matter situation. I'm becoming obsessed with losing those 10 pounds and am worried that will become a serious problem. I can't get it off my mind.

Can there be a way of losing along with the Weight Watchers program? Am I lacking some sort of vitamins or something? Please help me. I don't want this to control my life. I'm 5 feet 7 inches and weigh 140 pounds. I have three kids and it has been hard to lose since my third baby. DEAR READER: What makes you think you need to lose weight? Mother nature may not think so. You may be perfectly normal and healthy the way you are. Your weight is within the normal range for women of your height. There is lots of evidence that you inherit a genetic pattern that determines what you should weigh at different phases of your life, such as when a girl develops fat deposits for the feminine form when she enters puberty.

While I don't know the details of your program that enabled you to lose 7 pounds, it is true that sudden weight loss is seldom permanent weight loss. The initial loss of fluid and emptying the colon is temporary. When you regain your normal body fluid and fill your digestive tract, you will regain the weight. The weight loss was not fat in the first place.

I am sending you a free copy of Special Report 91, Making Weight Control Work, in the hopes that after reading it you will not let your body weight become an obsession. Follow the recommendation, be patient and you will weigh what mother nature intended for you to weigh. Others who want this report can send $3 with a long, stamped (52 cents), self-addressed envelope for it to THE HEALTH LETTER/91, P.O. Box 5537, Riverton, NJ 08077.

No, neither vitamins nor amino acids will cause you to lose weight. In fact, there are no vitamin deficiencies or amino acid deficiencies that cause people to gain body fat.

Dr. Lamb welcomes letters from readers with health questions. You can write to him at P.O. Box 5537, Riverton, NJ 08077. Although Dr. Lamb cannot reply to all letters personally, he will respond to selected questions in future columns.

Don't leave home without first making sure your mail is taken care of.

Fashion circles embrace French berets for fall

NEW YORK (AP) - It's a frequent crossword puzzle clue: Five letters meaning "Frenchman's hat."

But it may soon become a "gotcha" word, because women, not only in France but in fashionable circles elsewhere, are embracing the beret for fall.

It comes in an array of luxury fabrics such as velvet or is given a glamour accent such as a glittery pin.

Can it overtake the popularity of its casual companion, the cap - in all of its incarnations?

Time will tell, but either a cap or a beret is a good bet for anyone not yet ready to own a "real" hat, according to Lola Erlich.

Erlich, a milliner in New York's East Village, was referring to the jeans and anorak crowd, hardly the clientele for someone who makes her hats by hand and charges accordingly.

But she'll probably snare them eventually.

For one thing, hats - with or without a brim - are on a roll, and those who wear them only for warmth will soon feel comfortable with them for fashion. For another, Erlich has designed a fall collection for The Vera Companies. (Vera's the one who for years signed everything from place mats to neck scarves with that little lady bug. Remember?)

Prices for that line of 36, available at better department and specialty stores, will run from about $45 to more than $200.

That puts her in some very good company, whether she's designing for the uptown crowd that prefers the classic colors or the downtown group that goes for more vivid hues.

The Millinery Information Bureau, which promotes the hat business, says that in addition to color, plush materials and dramatic shapes are creating interest. They can be found in all price ranges, from as little as $15 for a casual style to upwards of $400 for a confection from a top designer such as Patricia Underwood.

One of Underwood's luxury materials is leather - fine woven strips that from a distance look like straw braid. These strips are worked into jaunty berets in tones of red, grape, tobacco or forest green - the Paris and Italian couture colors.

Kokin (no first name) makes berets in faux Persian and faux patent and real velvet, all in black with eye-catching trim - a self-flower, a plaid band, a side loop bow. His prices range from $100 to $260.

Whithall & Shon works with velvet, too, scattering brilliants over a standard-size black velvet beret. Prices start at $60. Michelle Jaffe ($80 to $300), no stranger to crushable chapeaux, creates in floral print velvet, mixing violet, purple, olive and fuchsia.

But fall hat collections are more than just casual headgear.

Deborah Rhodes for Mocha ($40 to $225), for example, makes a black felt boater with brightly colored felt flowers scattered over the crown. Or she mixes plaids or checks with plain colors. One is a fuchsia felt pork pie banded in a houndstooth check.

Michelle Jaffe spirals a tall crown in a zigurat (terraced pyramid) shape from a deep cuff brim. Eric Javits ($60 to $350) turns the classic basket shape into a square-crowned white felt. He then puts black edging on a down-turned brim and adds a jeweled hat pin across the front.

Joining Deborah Rhodes in the use of flowers for fall is B Michael ($100 to $250). He cuts and shapes flowers from the hat felt itself, mixing the petals with black patent accents.

Louise Green, a California designer, ($100 to $350) uses antique trims to accent her romantic toppers, bowlers and riding hats in delicate shades of mauve, mint or brandy velour.

For those who find color more important than form or fabric, make it fuchsia. Jaffe's zigurat style mixes a fuchsia crown with two tones of purple for the deep brim. Sarah Gavaghan ($100 to $350) mixes turquoise and brown or fuchsia with tobacco. B Michael uses fuchsia as an accent for lime.

No matter the color, no matter the style, a hat, says Lola Erlich, is the ultimate accessory.

And it's fun because it isn't a necessity.

"You wear a hat today when you feel like wearing a hat," she says. "You can check it with your coat in a restaurant or keep it on. Since there was a lapse in hat-wearing over the past 20 years, the rules of etiquette haven't evolved."

"Women can make their own rules."

Comfort sells shoemakers discover

Shoemakers are finding that comfort sells, and new lines are being specifically marketed with emphases on construction and fit.

While women have had the worst of foot discomfort from narrow, stilted shoes, men have had to contend with stiff classic shoes with hard soles, points out Dexter, a company which makes dress shoes with innards it says rivals those of sneakers. The shoes are made with soft, ventilated flexible insoles and anatomical heel cups over shock-absorbing footbeds bonded with an insulating sheet. Styles include wingtips, kiltie tassel slip-ons and cap toe shoes in soft leather.

Hand-making their classic bucs and nubuc Oxfords is what makes them comfortable, according to the Geo. E. Keith Company, manufacturers of Walk-Overs. The company now has a line of dress shoes - wingtips, kiltie loafers and captoes - along with its buckskins, with uppers hand-welted onto the inner soles and left on the last for five days for stretching and shape retention.

Athletic-style liners also appear in dress shoes for women. Easy Spirit was one of the first companies to market these, and Naturalizer is offering its NaturalSport walking pumps with similar construction.

Walk-Overs and Rockport comfort lines are available for both men and women, and Johnston & Murphy have a similar line for men.

DIYERSVILLE, Iowa (AP) - Reggie Jackson and Joe Pepitone each hit three-run homers, but their team of former major leaguers lost to a group of actors on the "Field of Dreams."

The Labor Day charity event drew about 1,000 fans who paid $50 apiece to watch a game on the diamond carved out of a cornfield for the 1988 movie starring Kevin Costner.

Costner didn't make it, but lots of actors did, including D.B. Sweeney, who played the Chicago White Sox star Shoeless Joe Jackson in the movie "Eight Men Out," and Larry Drake, the retarded mail clerk on "L.A. Law."

Also taking part were Kelsey Grammer of "Cheers" and Richard Dean Anderson of "MacGyver."

The celebrities won 9-4, thanks to loose scoring and slapstick rules, including an arm wrestling match on third base.

Watching it all in amazement was Don Lansing, the farmer who owns most of the land.

"I couldn't believe all of these people would come to a small little place like this," he said. "There are a lot of famous people out here."

OFFER GOOD THROUGH SEPTEMBER 30, 1991

Now through September 30th, Sonic has a special offer that's "two good." It's the "Brown Bag Special." Two full size burgers, two orders of crisp golden fries, and two medium Coca-Cola Classics for only $4.49!

No Place Hops Like Sonic

For over 30 years, Sonic has been serving up all your fast, famous, fifties favorites. We're talking hot delicious burgers, homemade onion rings, and fresh limeades delivered to your car by a friendly, smiling carhop. Drive into a Sonic and you're usually on your way in less than five minutes. And by the way, we'll be happy to custom make your order any way you like it.
