WASHINGTON (AP) - Inflation continued at a rapid pace in May as the cost of food, housing and transportation drove consumer prices up 0.9 percent, the Labor Department said today.

The increase matched the 0.9 percent rise in April, which had been the largest jump in more than a year. In the past three months, consumer prices have gone up at a rate that would average 11.3 percent if spread out over the entire year.

Food and beverages rose 1.5 percent in May, after climbing 1.8 percent in April and about 1.2 percent in each of the three previous months.

In a companion report, the Labor Department said the average worker's purchasing power declined 1.3 percent in May, the first drop since January. Employees increased their hourly earnings by 0.4 percent, but that was less than half of the 0.9 percent increase in prices.

More than one-third of the May food increase was attributed to a 6.3 percent rise in the price of fresh fruits and a 7.5 percent jump in the cost of fresh vegetables. Beef prices, which have moved up steadily since late August, increased 2.5 percent, well below the 6.6 percent gain in April.

Consumers spent 1 percent more in May on housing costs, about the same increase as in the previous two months.

Charges for electricity rose 1.9 percent and natural-gas costs were up 1.5 percent.

The combined costs of homeowner taxes, financing and insurance rose 1.8 percent, slightly more than in previous months. The average tenant paid 0.7 percent more in rent.

Transportation costs climbed 0.7 percent after going up only 0.2 percent in each of the two previous months.

The Labor Department said the price of new automobiles went up 1.2 percent, the biggest rise this year. Many dealers increased their prices as the decline of the dollar made imported vehicles more expensive.

The cost of clothing rose 0.6 percent, a smaller increase than the 1 percent gains in March and April.

Medical care costs went up 0.6 percent in May, comparable to increases in other months. Entertainment costs rose 0.2 percent, an improvement over the 0.6 percent rise in April.

The back-to-back 0.9 percent increases were the largest since a 1 percent increase in February 1977 during severe winter weather. The inflation rate improved quickly later in 1977 but has continued at a high level into the summer this year.

In the past three months, food prices

50 School Districts May Lose Money

DALLAS (AP) - The Texas Education Agency is unhappy about the federal government's decision to withhold federal money from 50 Texas school districts for "non-compliance" with regulations on bilingual education, desegregation and hiring practices.

"They have continually delayed or not gotten back to us on our proposals. Now they turn around and say we are not in compliance," said William C. Bednar Jr., legal counsel for the education agency.

He said TEA officials had been negotiating for two years with the Office of Civil Rights concerning Texas' bilingual program, but got little cooperation.

He said Texas submitted a bilingual plan last October and was told the plan would be fine, with some minor modifications.

In March, the revised plan was ruled deficient.

The U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare announced Thursday that the 50 Texas schools had fallen short of federal requirements and that money earmarked for them under the Emergency School Aid Act will be placed in legal hold until the schools meet the regulation.

Dick Evell, a spokesman for the U.S.

Department of Health, Education and Welfare, said the districts' share of $3.3 million in funds under the Emergency Hereford Independent School District does not receive—and has never applied for—federal funds under the Emergency School Aid Act. That is the reason HISD is not included in the list of schools which have had money earmarked for them under the act withheld, according to Superintendent Harrell Holder.

HISD has submitted a plan to HEW in an attempt to comply with federal standards concerning language response. Holder said that no decision has been made on whether the district has complied.

"It hasn't been accepted yet, but I talked to them enough that I have reason to believe it's going to be accepted," Holder said.

Holder submitted the plan to HEW's regional office in Dallas two weeks ago.

School Aid Act will be placed in legal hold until the schools meet the regulations.

Texas had been scheduled to receive $16.9 million in funds under the Emergency School Aid Act, but Ewell said only $3.296 million in available. A

Qualify To Use Newly-Learned Skills

Gilliland, Walls Pass EMT Course

By PAUL SIMS
Managing Editor

AMARILLO — Funeral director John Gilliland and teacher Jerry Walls, both of Hereford, were certified as intravenous specialists in their first step to becoming paramedics during a graduation banquet sponsored by Panhandle Emergency Medical Services Thursday night at Sutphen's Restaurant.

Gilliland and Walls were among 25 emergency medical technicians from throughout the Panhandle to receive "EMT Special Skills IV" designations from PEMS Virginia Scott, RN, director of nursing in the emergency room at the Amarillo Receiving Center, announced the names of the graduates, who were awarded certificates by their respective accompanying doctors or other officials from their cities.

Dr. Duffy McBrayer, Deaf Smith County health officer, presented certificates to Gilliland and Walls.

Completion of the intravenous course, which lasted 88 hours, is the first of four steps toward paramedic certification. EMTs will next go through airway management (breathing), cardiovascular and trauma phases of the PEMS program—completing a total of 300 classroom and 300 clinical (in hospital) hours of training.

"These paramedics are delegates of extensions of their physician sponsors," Mrs. Scott told those at the banquet. "They will complete three more segments by next May to be certified as advanced EMTs or paramedics who have advanced technical skills in emergency situations."

Gilliland said he and Walls will carry IV

Gas Company Seeks Increase

AMARILLO — Pioneer Natural Gas Company today notified city officials that the utility will apply for an increase in its base rate for gas service within the cities on its West Texas distribution system.

In a letter to the cities, Pioneer president K.B. Watson said, "As you are probably aware, Pioneer's last base rate increase became effective during the year 1970, based on recommendations of the Company and a committee of city representatives."

"Since that time, in spite of the increased cost of gas to the consumer, the Company's rate of return has decreased substantially due to many factors and an increase in the base rate is now essential."

Watson said the increase in the customer's cost of gas over the past several years has come about by the "cost-of-gas adjustment, an adjustment that is designed to pass the increased cost of gas in the field directly through to the consumer."

"Pioneer does not retain any of the increased cost of gas and does, in fact, fail to recover much of the increase because of several cost items not recovered in the cost-of-gas adjustment."

Brand Deadlines At Noon Saturday

Classified and display advertising deadlines for The Brand's Fourth of July issue will be 12 noon Saturday, publisher O.G. Nieman has announced.

The Brand will be closed on Tuesday, July 4. Carriers will deliver newspapers Monday evening.

solutions in their vehicle and will communicate with Deaf Smith General Hospital by radio in situations requiring IV applications. The hospital, in turn, will communicate by telephone with a physician, who will relay information through the hospital to the EMTs.

"We hope later on to be in direct radio contact with the physician. Direct communications will be so important," Gilliland said. "Right now, the doctor won't have a radio."

Gilliland called Thursday's certification as "a step up for Deaf Smith County in emergency care. It's a step up toward a type of care where there is less danger of people dying. It should lower the death rate due to heart attacks and serious injury because the amount of time from injury until they receive care will be shortened."

Master of ceremonies at the banquet was Dr. Louis Finney, Amarillo neurosurgeon.

Dr. Mordechai A. Levine of the Ben Gurion Health Science Center of Israel, who was scheduled to speak at the banquet, could not attend because of other obligations.

Americans Asked To Drive Slowly

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

Slow down America! That's the message authorities are spreading on the eve of the July Fourth weekend, a four-day holiday during which an estimated 650 to 750 people will die in traffic accidents.

The plea is combined with a stepped up campaign to enforce the 55-mph speed limit. The efforts are heightened by the fact that the highway death toll for the three-day Memorial Day weekend—528—was the worst since the lower speed limit took effect in April 1974.

An Associated Press spot check showed special enforcement programs across the country, some geared to holiday periods, others in effect all year round. The AP survey also showed that average speeds are lower than they were before the nationwide 55-mph limit was imposed, but are creeping back up in a few states.

The most widespread special enforcement plan is CARE—Combined Accident Reduction Effort—to set uniform enforcement standards in participating states and put extra troopers on designated major roads during the Memorial Day, July Fourth and Labor Day weekends.

"By creating this presence we are creating an awareness among the drivers that the speed limit is 55," said Col. Richard M. Dawson, commander of the Tennessee Highway Patrol.

"We had no fatalities on any of the CARE highways in the state on Memorial Day and hope to obtain the same level on the 4th of July," said Lt. Patrick Monaghan of the Idaho State Police.

Sgt. Jay D. Kennedy said Michigan state police will have 400 extra patrol cars on duty over the upcoming holiday weekend with one car every 10 miles on interstate roads. A similar program over the Memorial Day weekend resulted in more citations and fewer fatalities than during the same period of 1977.

Wayne Gregory of the National Safety Council, which is predicting the 650-to-750 death toll for July Fourth, said it is hard to compare year-to-year totals because of the steadily increasing population, the weather and the varying lengths of each holiday. The council has been unable to provide a firm explanation for the high Memorial Day death toll.

Gregory said the death toll during the last four-day July Fourth holiday—in 1974—was 549, just under the council's maximum prediction of 550.

Why is this year's estimate so much higher? "People are just on the road more," he said, adding that

Fireworks Display Set for Tuesday

The annual July 4 fireworks celebration is scheduled for approximately 9:30 p.m. Tuesday in Veteran's Park.

The City of Hereford will sponsor the show, which last year attracted one of the largest crowds in city history, according to Fire Marshal Jay Spain.

"We expect to have another big crowd this year. Because of that, we don't want anybody shooting fireworks in the park while they're watching it. We had a couple of people hurt last year and some vinyl tops on cars burned."

The Hereford Volunteer Fire Department will shoot the fireworks. Spain said the road to Veteran's Park from the south will be closed in order to allow firetrucks out of the park should a fire occur in the city.

The show will last approximately 30 minutes.

Mondale Visits Israel To Urge Concessions

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) - Vice President Walter F. Mondale arrived here for a four-day visit today to demonstrate the Carter administration's commitment to the Jewish state and to urge concessions to get peace negotiations with Egypt going again.

Security here was tight following a bomb explosion in a Jerusalem market Thursday that killed two persons and wounded 47. Mayor Teddy Kolek said he believed the bombing, which the Palestine Liberation Organization said it was responsible for, was linked to the vice president's visit.

U.S. pressure on Prime Minister Menachem Begin to make concessions to Egyptian President Anwar Sadat and Begin's refusal to make any significant retreat have brought official American-Israeli relations to a low point. Mondale was sent out to assure the Israelis and at the same time appease the American Jewish community.

Begin's trip to the United States in March resulted only in tough talks with President Carter, and their meeting was considered a failure.

In May, Israel was unhappy when Carter pushed through Congress an arms package that included the sale of warplanes to Egypt and Saudi Arabia as well as to Israel.

Jury Condemns Man To Die for Murder

TYLER, Tex. (AP) - Kerry Max Cook, "a living portrait of human tragedy," has been condemned to die by legal injection for the June 1977 stabbing mutilation death of a Tyler secretary.

An eight-man, four-woman jury deliberated about one hour Thursday and answers "on three issues submitted them by State District Judge Glenn S. Phillips, thus choosing death for Cook rather than life in prison.

A six-day jury trial ended Wednesday with the jury deliberating four hours and returning a guilty verdict against the Jacksonville, Texas man on Capitol murder charges.

The indictment against Cook said he broke into the south Tyler apartment of Linda Jo Edwards about midnight a year ago while her roommate was gone. The state said Cook raped Miss Edwards and sexually mutilated her brutally.

Testimony in the trial disclosed that Cook's fingerprints were found on the victim's apartment door.

It took two weeks to select a jury in the trial.

Ford Says Russians Want All of Africa

HOUSTON (AP) - Former President Gerald Ford, speaking to a business seminar of American and South African industrial leaders, has warned that the Soviet Union "wants all of Africa. It is their principal target and they will take over every nation if given the opportunity."

Ford later appeared at a joint news conference with Dallas oilman Bill Clements, the Republican nominee for governor in this traditionally Democratic state.

The South Africans and American businessmen conduct a closed-door meeting at The Woodlands resort area about 30 miles from Houston. The public relations firm sponsoring the seminar demanded that all newsmen be banned from the meetings and that no notes or tape recordings be made of Ford's luncheon speech.

Ford, his comments applauded half a dozen times, said the African problem "will grow larger and larger in the years ahead and it is time we face the fact.

"I don't think the thousands of Cubans and the Soviet aides in Africa indicate no interest in that continent. It appears our president and our secretary of state are trying to play both sides and that is not the way."

Geneva Commission To Be Enlarged

UNITED NATIONS (AP) - The U.N. General Assembly's special session approved a proposal to enlarge the Geneva disarmament commission and eliminate the joint Soviet-American chairmanship in a bid to bring France and China into the 19-year-old arms talks.

The assembly's working committee of the whole approved a final document for the session without a vote early today, assuring its adoption. The assembly, which began the special session on disarmament on May 23, hoped to adjourn before midnight.

The document will increase the 31-nation Geneva committee to 37 or 40 members. The chairmanship will rotate each month among all committee members on an alphabetical basis. A permanent secretary will be appointed by U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim to organize the committee's business and timetables and take care of other administrative details handled in the past by the co-chairmen.

The United States and the Soviet Union both agreed to give up the co-chairmanship they reorganized the committee in 1961. France refused to participate because of the superpower domination, and China's Communist government after its admission to the United States also refused to participate for the same reason.

Weekend

Americans drove an estimated 15 billion miles during the 1974 holiday and are expected to drive 18.4 billion miles this year.

Enforcement policies for the 55-mph limit vary from state to state and even from trooper to trooper.

"We have told our troopers to enforce it just like they enforced the old 70 mph limit," said Al Newport, assistant chief of the Oklahoma Highway Patrol. "Each trooper decides when to issue a ticket and we told them if they strictly enforced the 70 limit, then they should strictly enforce the 55 limit. If they allowed a 5-mile violation under the old law, then they should allow the same under the new one." He said few tickets are issued to motorists driving between 55 and 60 miles an hour, "but again, that is up to the individual trooper."

"Sometime pulling the speeder over is more of a hazard than the speeder himself," said Sgt. Henry Sullivan of the highway patrol in Massachusetts, where speeds on good roads average just over 60 mph. "It's not worth it to stop a guy going 60 or 55 if it's going to cause an accident."

Massachusetts has special "55 Teams," one member operates a radar unit, five other stop speeders. Sullivan said that in 1975, the year the teams were started, there were 884 highway fatalities, compared to 760 last year.

The number of violations has climbed sharply in most states. In Iowa, highway patrolmen issued 140,000 citations in 1977, almost four times the number issued in 1973. "It's been a helluva' task," said Col. Edward Dickinson. "What we want is voluntary compliance," he added. "We don't want to have to issue these citations."

Bob Faas of the California Highway

Patrol said troopers wrote 600,000 speeding tickets a year in 1973; today, they issue 1.1 to 1.2 million a year. He said 85 percent of the drivers go 62 mph or less. "People are violating the 55 mile limit, but most are not going as fast as they were when the limits was 65 or 70," Faas said.

The speed limit in Georgia, meanwhile, is creeping up; it was an average of 60 mph for the first six months of 1978, compared to 57.8 mph during the same period last year.

The authorities are unanimous in praise of the 55 mph limit. "You can see it on holiday weekends," said Capt. John Gilmartin of the Ohio Highway Patrol, adding that 18 persons died on state roads during the 1978 Memorial Day weekend, down from 32 in 1973.

"There's no question about it," Gilmartin said. "55 miles an hour has saved lives."

large amount of the federal money was earmarked for use in training teachers and developing language testing programs

Of the 50 districts, 37 were declared un-fundable because of the HEW's view their bilingual education programs are inadequate. Six districts were told they have an unacceptable desegregation plan or racially identifiable schools, and seven districts were told they discriminate in their hiring, promotion or education programs.

School districts declared un-fundable because of failure to comply with bilingual education regulations are Aldene, Alice, Amarillo, Austin, Beaumont, Cotulla, Donna, Eagle Pass, Edcouch-Elsa, Edgewood, Edinburg, Fort Worth, Galena, Galveston, Harlingen, Houston, Lamar, Lock, Lubbock, Lyford, McAllen, Mercedes, Midland, Mission, North Forest, Pharr San Juan-Alamo, Port Arthur, Rio Grande City, Rio Hondo, Robstown, San Antonio, Southside in Bexar County, Taylor, Waxahachie, Weslaco, West Oso and Zapata County.

School districts excluded for discrimination in hiring or promotional practices were Alto, Berkeville, Corsicana, Elysian Fields, Mesa and Honey Grove. The HEW said Waco schools exclude minorities from special education classes. Districts excluded because of racially identifiable schools or no desegregation plan are Denison, Dallas, El Paso, La Joya, Corpus Christi and Southpark.

Bednar called Thursday's announcement "an arm-twisting game. They want school districts to admit they have discriminated and get better position in the suit against the state, which is scheduled in November."

The Mexican-American Legal Defense and Education Fund filed a suit in 1975 against the State of Texas, alleging that thousands of students are being deprived of bilingual opportunity.

have gone up at an annual rate of 19.8 percent, while housing costs have climbed by 12 percent and transportation expenses have climbed by 4 percent.

Despite the big increases in the first five months, consumer prices are still only about 7 percent higher than they were in May 1977, the department said.

The Carter administration predicts that the Consumer Price Index for June will show improvement and that inflation for the year will be between 6.5 percent and 7 percent.

The index for May was 193.3, meaning that it cost $193.30 to buy the same consumer products and services that $100 bought in the base year of 1967. On Thursday, the Agriculture Department released new figures showing that retail food prices will rise at least 8 percent to 10 percent this year.

The department said a typical three-person, wage-earning urban family that spent $53.21 a week on food last year will spend $58.46 a week this year.

A similarly bleak forecast was made Thursday by economists at the Brookings Institution, a non-profit research organization.

"The outlook is very bleak. We have a serious risk of recession," said Arthur Okun, a Brookings economist.

Okun blamed Federal Reserve Board Chairman G. William Miller and his agency for risking a recession by making credit scarce in an attempt to fight inflation.

The consequences could show up in a recession late this year or early next year, he said.

"I would say it was 55 percent on the recession side at this point. That is as the Federal Reserve and the administration," Okun said of the chances of recession.

Actor Bob Crane Murdered

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP) - Police said today they have not determined a motive in the murder of Bob Crane, the star of the television series "Hogan's Heroes" who was beaten to death in his sleep and then tied with an electrical cord.

The body of the 49-year-old Crane, clad in shorts and undershirt, was discovered Thursday afternoon curled beneath a sheet in the bedroom of an apartment he was using while appearing in the play "Beginner's Luck" at the Windmill Dinner Theater. Officials said he had been dead for several hours.

"It just looks like somebody walked in on him while he was in bed and smacked him in the head a couple of times," said Eloy Ysasi, investigator for the Maricopa County medical examiner's office. "He was covered up in a sheet, as though you would retire, with his knees drawn up in the position like people sleep."

A piece of electrical cord has been tied around Crane's neck, but "it didn't strangle him. . . . Ysasi said. "It was put on after he was dead, but was put on tight."

"So far no motive has been determined," said Lt. Ron Dean, who is heading the police investigation. "Nothing seems to be missing. There was no forced entry."

Crane had been appearing in the play here since June 6. He was killed in an apartment the theater leases for its headline performers.

The Abundant Life

LIVE AS WE GO

BY BOB WEAR

DAILY UPLIFT
LEARNING TO LIVE so that living is a desirable experience is not the easiest accomplishment, but it is not impossible. It may be that none of us ever learn all there is to learn, but we can do very well; when we honestly try. One fact is certain, it is possible to make living a truly worthwhile endeavor. This involves many things, but one of the most essential requirements is in our provision for "daily uplift."

A CERTAIN LEVEL of enthusiasm, hopefulness and general good cheer is essential to effective living. It may not be easy to find or maintain this level, but it can be done, and is being done every day. We can bolster up ourselves with externals, and there is a proper place for these; however, we must also have a high degree of inner strength. It is not being assumed that this inner strength is easy to develop and maintain, but it can be done. The "daily uplift" will be a very important part of this success.

WE CAN MANAGE what we call the commonplace experiences of living. From the studies made in human behavior, we have learned that this is not too much to expect of ourselves. In fact, we have learned that if we don't control the commonplace experiences they will control us and cause life to become dreary, dull and deadening. This is one reason the "daily uplift" is so essential to our well-being. It not only strengthens us for the commonplace responsibilities and happenings; it also fosters the attitude which prevents most or all of the boredom and weariness oftentimes associated with daily life.

THE UNEXPECTED including an occasional crisis, can be handled successfully; when we use the full benefits of the "daily uplift". Of course, we have a choice. Unfortunately, too many of us seem to think that this is something over which we have little or no control. With many people, there seems to be the view that an unhappy existence in their predestined lot; but there is no justification for this view.

Things over which we have no control may happen to us; but we do have the privilege of choosing how we respond to what happens. Let us remember that a wise response cannot come from the low, downcast or overburdened life conditions. We can and we must avoid these.

A HIGHER PLANE of living, and greater strength for living require the "daily uplift". This is accomplished by uniting our genuine gratitude for blessings; a clear knowledge of our purpose for being; useful work to do; associations with friends; some time for reading inspirational writings; and perhaps a daily devotional. These will help.

A "DAILY UPLIFT" is more than a superficial high which is artificially induced. It is a substantial life quality produced by bringing together the best permanent life elements.

Mrs. Riggin Feted At Bridal Shower

Mrs. Ricky Riggin, nee Staci Robinson, was honored Tuesday evening at a post-nuptial shower in the Frio Baptist Church Fellowship Hall.

The bride-elect received guests with her mother, Mrs. John C. Robinson, 226 Juniper, and her mother-in-law, Mrs. Charlie Riggin of Dalhart, formerly of Hereford. Special guests in attendance were the honoree's grandmothers, Mrs. Lee Dennis of Slaton and Mrs. D.F. Yandell of Hereford, plus her husband's grandmother, Mrs. Harold Thornhill of Pampa.

Pam Vinson and Tonya Tompkins served refreshments to approximately 35 guests, who were registered by Diane Evrage, cousin of the honoree. The serving table was trimmed in the bride's chosen colors of pastel blue and green.

Hostesses at the recent courtesy were Mes. Marguerite Cole, Ruby Sparkman, Vada Axe, Ruth Robbins, Carleta Harkins, Helen Barber, Sue Andrews, Loleta Vinson, Lisa Clark, Charlotte Clark, Dovie Cherry, Rose Brownlow, Joan Culp, Randy Griffin, Rose Wright, Ruth McDowell, Nan Gauthreaux, Norene Stallings, Marn Tyler, and Annie Lee Dobbins.

Post-Nuptial Party

Mrs. Ricky Riggin, center, was given a wedding shower this week at Frio Baptist Church Hall. She is shown here with her mother, Mrs. John C. Robinson and her mother-in-law, Mrs. Charlie Riggin of Dalhart, formerly of Hereford. The newlywed couple is at home in Hereford.

Lingerie Shower Held

Miss Renee Payne, bride-elect of Cameron Hill, was the guest of honor Tuesday evening during a bridal shower in the home of Tamara Lawson, 100 Liveoak St.

Cohostesses at the informal party were Miss Terry Hetzel and Miss Kiska Hodges.

Among the guests were Miss Payne's high school and college friends, who played parlor games and reminisced after the opening of gifts.

Miss Payne, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Gerald Payne, will marry Hill tonight in First Presbyterian Church.

Miss Payne was also feted at a kitchen shower and brunch Wednesday in the Jack Wilcox home, 205 Ranger.

Guests served themselves from a buffet table appointed with crystal and silver and proceeded to the tree-shaded patio where they enjoyed refreshments and conversation.

Mrs. Wilcox's daughter, Merideth, assisted with the party. Special guest was Dana McClain, chosen to be the bride-elect's honor attendant in her wedding.

From 600 to 1,000 tornadoes hit the United States each year, according to National Geographic.

Most tornadoes in the United States occur in a broad belt called "tornado alley" that stretches from Texas to Michigan.

A tornado that hit the Birmingham, Ala., area April 4, 1977, killed 22 persons and caused $15 million in damage.

Ann Landers Be Grateful

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm 13 years old. A few months ago I was in the hospital because I have cancer. I was upset because my doctor told me I couldn't play in the sun anymore. Then my mother handed me this poem. I hope you will put this in your column so people will be grateful for the things they have. T. of Chicago

LORD, FORGIVE ME WHEN I WHINE!

Today, upon a bus, I saw a lovely girl with golden hair, I envied her -- she seemed so gay. When she rose to leave, I saw her hobble down the aisle. She had one leg, and used a crutch. But as she passed, she smiled. Oh, God, forgive me when I whine. I have two legs. The world is mine!

I stopped to buy some candy. The lad who sold it had such charm. I talked with him. He seemed so glad. And as I left he said to me, "Thank you. You have been so kind. It's nice to talk with folks like you. Oh, see," he said, "I'm blind." Oh, God, forgive me when I whine. I have two eyes. The world is mine!

Later, while walking down the street, I saw a child with eyes of blue. He stood and watched the others play. I stopped a moment, then I said, "Why don't you join the others, dear?" He looked ahead without a word, and then I knew he couldn't hear. Oh, God, forgive me when I whine. I have two ears. The world is mine!

With feet to take me where I want to go, with eyes to see the sunset's glow, with ears to hear what I would know... Oh, God, forgive me when I whine. I'm blessed indeed. The world is mine.

DEAR T.: You've given millions of people something to think about today, and I thank you.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was interested in the letter from "Love Thy What?" concerning the 12-year-old who left his bicycle in the neighbor's driveway and the neighbor ran over it. I experienced the same thing but from the other side.

Festivities Planned In Adrian

A traditional fireworks display will cap off an evening of special 4th of July festivities at Adrian Tuesday. The celebration of our nation's birthday is sponsored by the Adrian Community Improvement Committee, and will begin at 8 p.m. at the Adrian city park. Game booths will be set up with activities for all ages planned. A concession stand will also be open.

I am a police officer and was on duty when I had to relieve myself. Since my home was nearby, I drove the cruiser to my house and parked in the driveway. Within minutes a call of assistance went over the air. As I backed out, I heard a scraping noise and thought that I had run over a trash can. It was a bicycle that a little girl had parked directly behind my car. I moved the bike and responded to the call.

I returned home to find two irate parents complaining that I did not have the right to go home while on duty. I showed the parents where the bicycle had been parked and told them their daughter should know better than to leave anything behind a car. They became angry and foul-mouthed. Had it not been for the fact that I was personally involved, I would have arrested the father for disorderly conduct.

After consulting with my attorney, I was advised that I was responsible for the bicycle. My insurance company refused to pay because a city vehicle was involved. I did not ask the city to pay for the bicycle, since I could be subject to internal discipline for not making sure that the rear of the vehicle was clear before backing. To make a long story short, I went to the neighbor's house. They said how sorry they were, but they weren't sorry when I wrote the check for 100 dollars. Sign me Out A Hundred, But A Hundred Percent Wiser

DEAR WISER: Your letter is a fine example of how a person can be morally right and legally wrong. Thanks for the short course.

State-Line News

MRS. C. L. HUTCHINS

Harvest for winter wheat is in full swing! One of the busiest seasons of the year for farmers and ranchers. Combines and trucks have arrived from various northern states with their crews to help farmers harvest their crop. Most fields of wheat have a growth of weeds which has caused difficulty in cutting the short wheat. Wheat yield for this season is below average yielding from 3-10 bushels on the average.

Mrs. Jackie Vernon, daughter Jamie of Huntsville, Ala. and her sister Peggy Burnett and daughter Melissa of Marietta, Ala., arrived June 22 to visit two weeks in the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Hughes and son Lynn.

Herman Rierson of Clovis, N.M., a former resident, visited recently in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Pulliam.

Rierson is helping Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Fryar with their wheat harvest this week.

Mrs. William Krivanek and grandchildren Rulyan, and twin boys Darrel and Jerald Krivanek of House, N.M., were Thursday and Friday guests in the home of her daughter's family Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Fury and children Dennis, Debbie and Michael.

Ruger and Ricky, Riley, children of Mr. and Mrs. Winfred Riley of Los Lunas, N.M. spent Monday and Tuesday visiting in the home of their uncle and aunt and cousins Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Riley and children Lori, Eddie and Carrie.

Mr. and Mrs. Claud Taylor of McPherson, Kans.; former residents, visited in the community last weekend. They were guests in the homes of Nellie Mullinar, Letha Bailey and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Coffman.

Bessie Colwell and her sister Billie Brown, both of Hereford, were out in the area last Monday watching their families cut wheat on their farms. They visited briefly with Lula Cross in Belvoir.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Decker and their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Glover of Clovis, attended memorial services held at Gilliland-Watson Funeral Home for Mrs. Grace (O.B.) Robinson, 79, last week.

Mrs. Robinson, who had visited in this community for years, was killed in a two-car accident south of Hereford.

Sympathy is extended to members of her family from friends of this area.

Ruth Ridley and a friend Opal Potts have returned from attending the Southern Baptist National Convention held in Atlanta, Ga., recently.

The State-line community wishes to express their sympathy to Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Burnett and Mr. and Mrs. Elton Green on the death last week of their brother-in-law, Clark Boggs, 72 of Carosinia.

Boggs was also the uncle of Mrs. Kay Schell and Coke Cates Jr., also of this area. He died suddenly from an apparent heart attack. The above relatives have returned after attending memorial services held in Carosinia on Monday.

Robbie Seals has returned to her home after spending the winter in Carlsbad, N.M., with her daughter and family Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Trower and children Larry and Shawna.

Mrs. Trower and daughter Shawna are visiting this week in the home of her mother. Her husband, Jimmy, will arrive over the weekend and will put a new roof on the Seal's residence, which was damaged during a hail storm in the spring.

Larry Trower, who graduated in the spring from Carlsbad High School and was awarded a scholarship in athletics, is now attending summer school in Boulder, Colo.

Faith proclaimed our Liberty throughout the land!

Throughout the course of history, Although they seldom dared to try, All men had dreamed of being free—Until that fourth day of July; For then, two hundred years ago, With help from God a tiny band Of men proclaimed the thing we know As Liberty throughout the land. Because of them, we speak our mind; In government we have a voice. And then we may, when we're inclined, Attend the Church that is our choice. So, climb aboard the Freedom Train This special Independence Day; And pray that freedom will remain Forever, in the U.S.A.!

Brass Knucks Title on Line

Mr. Pogo, Japanese martial arts expert, will defend his brass knucks title at the Bull Barn Saturday night against Super Destroyer. Pogo, 265 pounds, is managed by Sir Oliver Humperdink, a balloon-like gentleman of limited ethical fiber and enormous greed. Pogo recently won the brass knucks title from Terry Funk. In this main event title match, Karate and taped fists will both be allowed. The match may be won by a pin or a ten-count knockdown.

Dennis Stamp, former all American from Concordia College, will meet newcomer Noah Jones. The burly Jones is a brother to popular Rufus R. Jones, one of the great black wrestlers. Jones is said to be as hard-headed as his famous brother, and is surprisingly agile for such a big man.

Ricky Romero, veteran Mexican speedster, will face a north-of-the-border import, Terry Garvin. The Canadian is a tough customer who will do anything to win.

The opener will see Rip Hawk, now of Albuquerque, facing off against Don Diamond of Dallas. Diamond is newly turned pro, but is a powerfully built man with an amateur background.

In last week's action, Dory Funk won by disqualification against Roger Kirby when Adrian Adonis interfered in the match. Adonis defended his $5000 "Golden Challenge" against Super Destroyer in a bruising ten minute battle. His challenge stipulates that his opponent must pin him for a three-count under National Wrestling Alliance rules within ten minutes. Super Destroyer had to settle for a draw, but he came very close to winning the $5000 as he hung in like a pit bulldog trying for the pin.

Larry Lane defeated Tom Chitwood with a suplex, calling on his experience in Greco-Roman wrestling. Hawk defeated big Dave Patterson with a reverse neckbreaker.

Lions Club officials said that the controversial Adonis would return in the near future with his golden challenge.

Gun Club Sets Jackpot Shoot

Members of the Hereford Gun Club are making preparations for a big jackpot trap shoot at the group's trap facility east of the Hereford Airport July 8.

The shoot will be held under the lights in the cooler conditions of the evening, and trap shooting enthusiasts from Hereford, Dimmitt and other area communities are expected to be on hand for the competition, according to HGC President Nancee McClendon.

According to Mrs. McClendon, events will get underway at 7 p.m. with practice rounds, and competition will begin at 8 p.m. Events, fees and paybacks will include:

--50 round jackpot from the 16-yard line. Entry fee $7. Payback 50 percent.

--25 round jackpot from the 27-yard line. Entry fee $4. Payback 50 percent to winner.

--Annie Oakley elimination event from the 27-yard line. Entry fee $2 with a buy back. 70 percent payback.

--Protection, with a 10 team minimum. Entry fee $5 per man. Winning team receives 50 percent payback.

Legion Limelight

Ronald Plummer gets a head start on the rest of his teammates when the local American Legion Redbirds hit the field. Plummer, 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Plummer of 122 Ave. B, is the leadoff hitter for the squad.

"Ronald has a great attitude," legion coach Joe Don Cummings said. "He has a very high percentage of getting on base from the number one spot in the order, and he is a good bunter."

Plummer, who roams right field for the "Birds, played for the HHS junior varsity team last spring, and has an extensive background in Kids, Inc. play. He also plays basketball at HHS.

When not on the diamond or court, he also serves as president of the HHS Key Club chapter.

Plummer plans to major in either math, science, or engineering when he is graduated from high school. But, right now, he is looking forward to two more years of baseball and roundball competition with the Herd.

Stones, Three Others Suspended By AAU

By TOM CANAVAN
AP Sports Writer

Fomer high jump record holder Dwight Stones, Kate Schmidt, Francie Larriue and Jane Frederick may never compete again as amateurs.

Schmidt, a javelin thrower; Larriue, a middle distance runner; Frederick, a pentathlon competitor, and Stones were suspended indefinitely from amateur competition for accepting prize money, the Amateur Athletic Union announced Thursday.

In making the announcement, the Southern Pacific Association of the AAU said the four violated the national AAU code of contracts in accepting a total of $58,000 in prize money for their participation in the ABC television Superstars show. Seven members of the association's nine-men registration committee voted June 23 to suspend the four athletes.

"We sent the athletes and TWI contracts prior to the competition," said Ken Worthen, chairman of the SPA's Registration Committee. "However, TWI and the athletes altered the contracts by adding an amendment which said they maintained the power to give the money they won to the organization of their choice."

Worthen said the athletes then signed the contracts but failed to return them to the AAU for approval of the added amendment. The registration committee said $33,400 of the prize money went to Stones' Desert Oasis Track Club, an

Boston-Buffalo Swapping Deal Appears Imminent

By JOHN NADEL
AP Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) - All that apparently stands between the Buffalo Braves moving to San Diego and the Boston Celtics beginning an attempt to return to past glories is a vote of the National Basketball Association's Board of Governors - and that endorsement appears imminent.

"I've talked with individual members of the Board of Governors who think this is an excellent move," said Irving Levin, who agreed Thursday to swap his Celtics for the Braves and plans to shift the Buffalo franchise to San Diego.

John Y. Brown, managing partner of the Braves who agreed to trade the team for the Celtics, said, "As far as I'm concerned, we have a final deal subject to a Board of Governors' approval."

The NBA group is expected to vote on the trade, an outright swap with no cash involved, at a meeting in Chicago next Saturday.

If the vote goes as expected, the shift of the Braves to San Diego, marking the NBA's return to that city. The Houston Rockets played in San Diego for four seasons before moving to Houston in 1971.

Both Levin and Brown seemed extremely pleased with the swap.

"We've made a very fair agreement with the Sports Arena in San Diego," said Levin, whose partner is Harold Lipton. "That city is growing by leaps and bounds and the enthusiasm is just tremendous."

Brown has said he wants to become the first owner to win championships in two basketball leagues. He and his former wife, Ellie, ran the American Basketball Association champion Kentucky Colonels.

"I think it's an exciting prospect, certainly a challenge."

Y Tennis Class Set

The Hereford and Vicinity YMCA will conduct a tennis class for youth at the high school courts July 10-14 according to program director Weldon Knabe, who will act as instructor for the classes.

The classes will last one hour, 9-10 a.m. daily, and is limited to 20 participants Knabe said. Cost of the class is $5 for YMCA members and $10 for non-members.

Persons wishing more information on the class may contact the YMCA at Sugarland Mall or by calling them at 364-6990.

The starting lineup of the Original Celtics was a basketball United Nations. It had a German, a Pole, a Jew, an Irishman and a Holland Dutchman.

Banquet Tickets Available at Door

Players who have not yet had a chance to acquire tickets to the Deaf Smith County Kids, Incorporated banquet, which will be held at the Bull Barn beginning at 7 p.m. tonight, may obtain tickets for the affair at the door according to banquet organizers.

Failure to print up enough tickets due to an addition of 12 teams into the program this season was cited for the delay of getting the ducats to some of the teams by Bronco League president Buddy Peeler.

Twisters Open League Slate

The Hereford Twisters open the quest for the Northwest Soccer League championship at 2 p.m. Sunday in Clovis against the Clovis Vikings. These two clubs are just part of the nine area soccer teams or clubs which recently met to form the league. In other opening-day league tilts the Alamo Soccer Club of Amarillo hosts the Amarillo Vietnamese Soccer Club, the Amarillo Soccer Club hosts Canon Air Force Base of Clovis, and the Chile Dumas Soccer Club hosts the Friona Cats.

The Twisters warmed up for their initial league contest last Sunday with a 7-1 victory over Canon Air Force Base. Juan Rodriguez led the way for the winners with three goals, while Emilio Romero, Jr. added a pair of goals, and Marco Romero tallied his first goal since joining the team.

The league will have four games each Sunday afternoon through August 27. The loop champion will be decided on a point basis, with teams awarded two points for a win, one point for a tie, and zero points for a loss in amassing point-totals toward the league title.

AL West Tightens; Texas Has Slim Edge

By BARRY WILNER
AP Sports Writer

While the Boston Red Sox are making a shambles of the American League East pennant race, the Western Division is getting tighter each night.

The Red Sox extended their AL East lead over idle Milwaukee to nine games with a come-from-behind victory over the Baltimore Orioles Thursday. It was Baltimore's eighth loss in a row, dropping them 12 1/2 games behind the rampaging Bostonians, who have won 16 of their last 19 games.

In the West, six teams are closer to the top than the second-place Brewers are in the East, with Texas holding a one-game lead over Kansas City and California. The Rangers remained in first place despite an 8-7, 10-inning defeat at Oakland, while the Angels stopped the Royals 3-1 to move within .001 of second-place Kansas City.

chance to move closer in the Wild West when Bob Stinson's grand slam homer in the eighth inning boosted Seattle past the White Sox 9-7. Idle Minnesota, although 11 games below .500 at 30-41, is just eight games back.

In the only AL game with no divisional race significance, Cleveland defeated Detroit 6-3.

Red Sox 4, Orioles 3
Dennis Martinez breezed into the ninth inning with a three-hitter and a 3-1 lead before Fred Lynn singled, George Scott tied the game with a two-run homer down the right field line and Dwight Evans followed with a game-winning homer.

A's 8, Rangers 7, 10 Innings
Oakland, at 37-38, moved within three games of Texas when Mitchell Page's sacrifice fly scored the decisive run in the 10th inning. The victory was the second straight in extra innings over Texas for the A's, who rallied from a 6-3 deficit for the triumph.

Joe Wallis got most of the big hits for Oakland with a homer, double and two singles.

Angels 3, Royals 1
Ron Fairly singled off first baseman Pete LaCock's glove for two runs to lead the Angels past Kansas City.

"Whichever team gets healthy first will win the division," said California Manager Jim Fregosi. "If we will all the rest of our games, we'll win it."

Mariners 9, White Sox 7
Stinson's grand slam offset Chicago homers by Jorge Orta, Bill Nahorodny and Lamar Johnson. Bill Stein also homered for Seattle.

Indians 6, Tigers 3
Gary Alexander hit his third three-run homer of the week against Detroit.

A success story.

Once upon a time there was a merchant. You probably know him. Because he is very successful and always seems to have lot of business, even when things seem slow everywhere else.

There are a lot of reasons why he is successful. But one of the biggest is that he advertises regularly, even when things seem slow everywhere. You see, he realizes that he is open every week of the year and wants customers every day. He realizes that advertising is designed to build business and it works best when repeated regularly. Consistent advertising builds dividends. He realizes that people buy all year around. Many stores sell blankets and furs in the summer and air conditioners and grass cutters in the winter.

Think you know who this success story is about? Well, to tell you the truth, it's about many of the merchants in Hereford. They all have one thing in common, though. They advertise regularly in the Hereford Brand. Isn't it about time you became a successful merchant?

Rain Dampens Orderly Wimby

By WINSOR DOBBIN
Associated Press Writer
WIMBLEDON, England (AP) Wimbledon, the world's premier tennis tournament, usually runs like well-oiled machinery.

The tournament is famed for its disciplined operation and any deviation from the normal run of things is most unusual.

But not even the All-England Lawn Tennis Club can do anything about the English weather.

On Monday, only 19 matches were completed when 64 had been scheduled. And although things were back to normal Tuesday and Wednesday, no play was possible Thursday.

That meant a great number of players were one or two days behind schedule. Defending champion Bjorn Borg, originally scheduled to play Wednesday evening but forced to wait because of a long-lasting women's match, will have waited three days to play - that is, if it doesn't rain again today.

So the players will have shorter rests between matches - and fewer rest days during the last week of the tournament.

"It will put more strain on the players from now on," tournament referee Fred Hoyle said. "Some of the free days the singles players would have had will be gone, but that is the way we have to catch up."

The backlog of matches might also mean a deviation from the usual starting time of 2 p.m.

"If we don't get a good day tomorrow," Hoyle said Thursday, "we shall have to think seriously of starting at 12 instead of 2. Occasionally in the past we have brought the start forward to 1, but one extra hour doesn't make enough difference. Two extra hours would have a substantial effect."

For the players, the waiting around was annoying. All day Thursday, before a decision was made, players waited around with nothing to do - and that can be damaging to concentration.

But even worse is that they face an overcrowded program. Players, for instance in the men's singles, would have had a rest day Monday before the quarter-finals.

Now they have to forego that. Among the players who waited fruitlessly Thursday at the All-England club were Borg, third seed Vitas Gerulaitis and fourth seed Guillermo Vilas.

Borg is to play Australian Peter McNamara. Vilas could have a tough clash with the experienced Dutchman, Tom Okker, while Gerulaitis plays fellow American Sherwood Stewart.

Several top women also spent an idle Thursday. Defending champion Virginia Wade should get to play Lesley Bowrey of Australia and Martina Navratilova is to meet Pam Whytcross of Australia.

Sutton Aiming At 'All' Dodger Records

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer
Don Sutton certainly doesn't have modest goals.

"I want to hold all the Dodger pitching records," says the Los Angeles right-hander. He's getting there.

Starting the season, Sutton already had more victories (190) and more shutouts (47) than any Dodger pitcher in Los Angeles history. And Thursday night, he set a Los Angeles career strikeout record while pitching the Dodgers to a 7-3 triumph over the Atlanta Braves.

"Until last Saturday," said Sutton, "the strikeout record was just another step to where I wanted to go - that is, break all the Dodger records. But last Saturday against the Reds, when I tried the record, the fans in Los Angeles gave me a standing ovation.

"Then it became very important for me to get the record."

He got it in the first inning Thursday night when he struck out Gary Matthews for his 2,284th career strikeout, surpassing Don Drysdale's previous record for the Dodgers since they moved to Los Angeles in 1958. Sutton finished with four more strikeouts to put his career mark at 2,288.

The victory, incidentally, was the 198th of his career, just two from another milestone and a stone's throw from Drysdale's all-time Dodger record of 209 victories, which were fashioned in Brooklyn and Los Angeles.

Elsewhere in the National League, the Philadelphia Phillies beat the Chicago Cubs 9-3; the Houston Astros blanked the Cincinnati Reds 5-0 and the Pittsburgh Pirates defeated the New York Mets 4-3.

Phillies 9, Cubs 3
Jose Cardenal's three-run double in the eighth and Greg Luzinski's three-run homer in the ninth led Philadelphia over Chicago. Jim Kaat pitched six innings to boost his record to 5-1 and gain the 258th victory of his career. Dave Roberts, 3-3, took the loss.

Astros 5, Reds 0
Floyd Bannister fired a four-hitter and Jose Cruz and Jesus Alou each drove in two runs as Houston notched its second straight shutout over Cincinnati. Bannister, 3-3, surrendered first-inning doubles to Pete Rose and Ken Griffey, but allowed only two hits over the final eight innings in gaining his second shutout of the year.

"I can't remember the last time we were shut out twice in one week, let alone back-to-back," said Cincinnati's Joe Morgan. "I think the last two games have been a combination of good pitching and untimely hitting."

Pirates 4, Mets 3
Pinch-hitter Rennie Stennett drove in the winning run with a bloop triple in the eighth inning to lead Pittsburgh over New York. With the score tied 3-3 going into the Pirate eighth, Phil Garner singled off loser Skip Lockwood, 7-6, and was sacrificed to second by Mario Mendoza. The victory went to reliever Grant Jackson, 3-3.

CINCINNATI (AP) - River Downs has been given clearance by the Ohio State Racing Commission to open its second thoroughbred meeting, which will run from July 1 to September 4, track officials said.

John Battaglia, track general manager, said he was notified of the permit by Pet Fleming, executive secretary of the commission.

River Downs was the site of a fire last month that killed 23 thoroughbreds and three ponies. Approval for the second race meeting was given after the commission expected the track this week.

Harry Greb, a middleweight, was the only man ever to defeat former heavyweight champion Gene Tunney.

Aeros Stubbornly Hang On

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ
AP Sports Writer
HOUSTON (AP) - The World Hockey Association Houston Aeros have been cliff-dwellers since the close of the 1978 season, hanging onto life by their finger tips.

The financially strapped franchise likely would have been a bleach-boned carcass at the bottom of the canyon by now had it not been for the tireless efforts of Kenneth Schnitzer, the majority owner.

The death knell was forecast once again Thursday when Schnitzer called a news conference one day after the WHA and NHL broke off merger talks and a move by Schnitzer to bring the NHL Colorado Rockies here had failed.

Since all efforts to enter the NHL had apparently failed and Schnitzer had said many times he would not be a part of the WHA next season, speculation was high that the two-time WHA champions would fold.

Instead, Schnitzer announced the Aeros had applied to enter the NHL as an expansion team and if that failed, there still was a remote chance of getting the Rockies here and if that failed, they might even play in the WHA next season.

The Aeros offered the NHL $2.5 million plus an indemnity against any possible litigation from the WHA to let them operate in the NHL next season. The NHL Board of Governors had not acted on the application, Schnitzer said.

Although the Rockies reportedly have been sold to a New Jersey group, Schnitzer feels there still is a chance the Rockies could come to Houston. The NHL Board of Governors must approve any sale of the Rockies.

The Rockies apparently were headed for Houston on Monday when Schnitzer called a news conference and then suddenly canceled it.

"We obviously thought we had a deal, but it never got to the point of signatures on the dotted line," Schnitzer said. Schnitzer said the Arena

Operating Company, which operates the Summit, had made the Rockies "an outstandingly attractive offer for a lease in the Summit, as well as an option to obtain an interest in the Arena Operating Company."

All Aero home games are played in the city-owned Summit.

Schnitzer said he had also tried to find a buyer for the Aeros to continue as a WHA franchise next season and that has failed. Schnitzer hinted Thursday he may consider playing in the WHA next season.

"As you know, the WHA announced... it intends to be in operation next season," Schnitzer said. "We will make a

Minors, Pee Wees Playoff Pairings Set

The Braves, only unbeaten team in the boys Bronco Minor League (9-0), and the Giants (8-1) won the National and American Division titles respectively this year. The Braves cruised through a 9-0 year to win the National Division over the Astros, who wound up with a 7-2 mark.

The Giants posted a two-game edge likewise over the Cardinals (6-3) in the American Division.

In the Pee Wee League the Dodgers won the National crown with a 7-1 record, the same mark posted by the American winners, the White Sox. Runnersup included the Mets (6 1/2-2 1/2) in the National Division and the Rangers (7-2) in the National.

All-Stars for the Minor League will be named at the Kids, Inc. banquet tonight at the Bull Barn. No all-star team will be named for the Pee Wee League. Both leagues will have divisional playoffs next weekend at the sports complex at 15th and Whittier. Pairings will have the number one teams in each division facing off, with the number two clubs playing each other, and so on down the line.

The schedule for the playoffs is as follows:

Minor League

Redbirds Play At Amarillo

The Hereford American Legion Redbirds baseball team will play Amarillo High at 4 p.m. Saturday at Bones Hook Field in Amarillo in a South Zone of District 18 showdown.

The 'Birds have a 5-6 record heading into the battle tomorrow, having dropped their last five games in succession. Amarillo High coasted to an 18-0 win in Hereford June 18, and the Redbirds lost four games to Hooker, Oklahoma during a swing through the Oklahoma Panhandle last weekend.

Hereford owns a 5-2 district record with a 6-1 decision to Canyon also in the loss column and wins registered over Dumas (1-0), Caprock (4-1), River Road (8-4), and Vega (15- and 18-0).

Butler Course Suddenly Easy

By FRED GOODALL
AP Sports Writer

OAK BROOK, Ill. (AP) - Many of the big names on the professional golf tour regularly pass the Western Open because of the tough Butler National golf course.

But the way some of the lesser-known members of the tour handled the 7,083-yard, par-72 links in the first round of the Western on Thursday may prompt some of the game's big money winners to give playing the tournament extra consideration in the future.

In all, 28 golfers, led by Cesar Sanudo's 5-under 67, broke par on the course while 18 others were at even-par after 36 holes.

"There's no doubt the course isn't playing as difficult," said Allen Miller, who recorded a 4-under 68 to finish one stroke behind Sanudo. "I discovered it in practice and it gave me a little more confidence starting out."

Bob Gilder, whose only victory on the tour was in the 1976 Phoenix Open, joined Miller with a 68 while Rod Curl, John Schroeder and Craig Stadler were all two shots behind with 3-under 69s.

"I haven't been here in a few years because the course has just been too tough," said Curl, a 10-year veteran of the tour. "But the way it's set up now, it's a much more enjoyable course. Nobody wants to come to a tournament and see the golfers bogey every hole. They want to see birdies."

Sanudo, who is playing the tour regularly for the first time since 1975, was 1-over for the first five holes but went on to birdie six of the next 10 to go 5-under. He bogied the par-4 17th after landing in a bunker and finished with a birdie on the 18th where he used an eight-iron out of the rough to drop to within a foot of the hole.

"I was just looking for par on the 18th, but I hit the eight-iron just right and there I was," said Sanudo, who played in only eight four tournaments in 1976 and four in 1977.

The 34-year-old native of Mexico said his failure to find a sponsor kept him off the tour for a prolonged time. He launched his comeback as a regular by paying his way to his first eight tournaments this year before finding a group of sponsors in San Diego.

So far, he has finished in the money in only two of his 13 tour appearances, winning just $189.38 for his 33rd-place tie in the Magnolia Classic and earned $320 for a 39th-place tie in the Tallahassee Open.

Seven golfers, among them Andy Bean, winner of the Kemper Open and Memphis Classic, finished with 2-under 70s. Bean was 6-under after 10 holes but bogied the next four.

"I played the first 10 holes about as well as they can be played," said Bean. "I made some mistakes on 11, 12 and 13 and I paid for them. That was enough to take me back to the field."

"But I can't be dissatisfied. If I get four 70s, I'd say I stand a good chance to win the tournament."

Tied with Bean were Bill Rogers, Tom Purtzer, Dan January, Jim Jamieson, Phil Hancock, Marty Fleckman, Lon Nielsen and John Adams.

Defending champion Tom Watson shot a 71 and U.S. Open champion Andy North was well back at 76.

Mike Hargrove of the Texas Rangers has batted in every position in the batting order.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) - Bob and Eda Moore were all set to drive from Mobile to Birmingham to their new home: But where was the cat?
 After Moore and some of his friends tromped through woods around their old house for about an hour earlier this week searching in vain for the cat, a neighbor's child said the cat frequented a storm sewer.
 They tried calling the cat - that failed. They tried luring it out with food - that failed. They tried being patient and wait for the cat to come out - that failed.
 Then, Mrs. Moore thought, the cat always came running when he heard an electric can opener in operation.
 But, the family was moving, and the can opener was stowed away in the moving van.
 So, as good neighbors will do, one loaned them a can opener. Another came up with a 50-foot extension cord. And another said they could use an outlet for his house.
 There they were, on the street, with dozens of freinds watching, Moore plugged in the can opener, turned on the switch and the cat came bounding out, two hours after the Moores had planned to be on the road.
 "I have never felt so foolish in my life," he said Wednesday. "A man's just not supposed to stand in the street, with freinds and neighbors laughing at him, and operate a can opener."
 "Especially without a can to open."

ASPEN, Colo. (AP) - George Ochs, who tried to protect county workers and visitors from dental cavities found himself in a real hole after announcing that he was going to remove a soda pop machine from the Pitkin County Courthouse.
 The county manager received a petition from soft drink fans who wanted the machine to stay.
 Signers of the petition included a district judge, a county judge, six sheriff's deputies, the building inspector, the court clerk, a county commissioner, a deputy district attorney, the acting district attorney, county attorney, the city attorney, the county housing director - who freely admitted addiction to soft drinks - and 84 others.
 "We respect your right to choose not to consume sugar in the form of soft drinks yourself, but we wish that you'll respect our right to make that decision for ourselves," the petition read in part.
 "Unlike smoking, we are affecting only the well-being of ourselves."

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

'Skipped' beat is common

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.
DEAR DR. LAMB - I read your column about the heart that beats too fast. What about a heart that skips a beat regularly? How serious is that? Can anything be done for it? Is it common? Is this something that gets progressively worse, skipping more beats more frequently? I am 55 and have this problem and would really appreciate some information about it.
DEAR READER - Yes, it's common and it often occurs in individuals who do not have any significant heart disease. In fact, the heart doesn't usually skip a beat. Actually, one beat occurs too soon or prematurely. That's where the term premature beats comes from. Since it beats early and the next beat occurs nearly on time there is a long pause between the two beats. This pause is what gives people the sensation that their heart skipped a beat.
 We all probably have a skipped or premature beat now and then and are not even aware of it. If you took a record of the heart beat continuously for several days you would see this. I have done this on a number of healthy people, such as astronaut candidates and pilots, and have observed premature beats in almost all of them. Some individuals do have symptoms with these, particularly if they are more frequent and the pauses are longer. These symptoms may be the awareness that the irregularity occurs or sometimes a person may feel a twinge in the chest. If they're frequent the person may actually complain of faintness and other symptoms.
 In individuals without heart disease they can be triggered by nervousness, excess use of coffee because of its caffeine content, cigarettes and various digestive disturbances. Individuals who have these frequently and have symptoms from them are commonly advised by their physician to stop smoking and decrease or entirely eliminate coffee, tea, colas and beverages which contain caffeine.

 Many people who don't get much exercise and are otherwise in pretty good health will improve and stop having so many premature beats if they improve their level of physical fitness. This of course should be done gradually and consistently over a long period of time. It's not a crash project.
 Not all premature beats are innocuous. They can occur for the first time in the presence of a heart attack and if they're frequent may be the preliminary signs of a serious irregularity of the heart. Because the premature beats are a finding and not a diagnosis it's important that people who have symptoms from them or notice them have an evaluation by their doctor. He can more accurately tell them whether they are of real significance or not in their case.
 But I do want to reassure you that most healthy people have these once in a while and even people who have symptoms from them often have no heart disease at all.
 I am sending you The Health Letter number 6-12, Heart Irregularities, Skipped Beats, Tachycardias to give you more information about these problems. Others who want this information can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

POLLY'S POINTERS
 Polly Cramer

Spiders everywhere

By Polly Cramer
POLLY'S PROBLEM
DEAR POLLY - I live in an old house that is loaded with spiders. They are everywhere and with the warm weather they have become real pests. Is there an old remedy that can rid me of them? I detest saturating my house with those poisonous sprays.
 My Pet Peeve concerns shoes. I get so discouraged when I have to buy a new pair. Not enough manufacturers make them in sizes over 10 and I have to go to specialty stores or order them from a catalogue.
DEAR DEBORAH - Spiders feed on other insects so you must try to rid the house of them. Of course, the most desirable and easiest way is to call in an exterminator. Fasten a cloth around a broom and go through the house (basement included) and remove all the webs. Pay particular attention to the corners. If any spider cocoons fall be sure to mash them. Such a treatment must be followed by a thorough treatment with a household insecticide spray, even though you dislike such sprays. It is either the spiders or a bit of work and discomfort. - POLLY

DEAR POLLY - I am answering the reader who has had brass turn black. I have an 80-year-old dresser with brass knobs and pulls that turned black. I used a mixture of lemon juice and salt and extra-fine steel wool and cleaned them up to look like new. Rinse well, dry thoroughly and leave under the light or sun for an hour before coating with tung oil. Then let dry. - ALICE
DEAR ALICE - Others have written that they used the sunlight treatment after cleaning and then sprayed the brass with a lacquer made for metals. - POLLY
DEAR POLLY - I am a widow and use the master bathroom in our house. My sons use the second bath. Whenever I need a bar of soap or tube of toothpaste I take it from their bathroom and replace it with the new supply. They do not have the time or patience to get the most from such items and I am satisfied to finish them and know there was no waste. - LILLIAN
DEAR POLLY - I keep a theme card on the hangers that hold my party or evening dresses and each time I wear one I note the date, place and people we went with on the card. This helps me in deciding what to wear and when. I use a needle threader to draw a pulled thread in a knit garment to the underside. The large opening makes it easy to catch the pulled thread no matter how short it is. - FRANCES
DEAR POLLY - I had back surgery a couple of years ago and now try to limit bending over when possible. I have found that I can easily dust the baseboards by putting on a pair of old slipper socks and running my toes along the dusty edges. Works better than the vacuum. - CINDY
 Polly will send you one of her signed thank-you newspaper coupon clippers if she sees your favorite Pointer, Peeve or Problem in her column. Write POLLY'S POINTERS in care of this newspaper.

Operation of Lobbyists Complicated Matter

EDITOR'S NOTE - How does a lobbyist operate? Does modern lobbying fit the stereotype of the bloated gladhander passing out big bills outside legislative chambers? Which lobbies carry the most clout in Austin? This is the first of a two-part series examining those questions.

By LEE JONES
 Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - "If I could get everyone of 'em out on the golf course, I would do it," railroad lobbyist Walter Caven says of the 181-member Texas Legislature.
 Caven, a lobbyist for 19 years, exemplifies the old pro who uses a generous expense account and an easygoing manner to make friends with legislators.
 Golf games, lunches and drinks at the Headliners Club are part of Caven's repertoire. He's affable but also canny, with a sense of timing like a switching yard dispatcher.
 "We hit the bill early - on introduction almost. If we get a commitment early, it goes a long way. Most members don't have any interest in 95 percent of the bills. They'll do what you ask if you get to them early," Caven said.
 But lobbying today is more than charm and the one-on-one persuasiveness of pros like Caven who wait outside House and Senate chambers at lunch time.
 It involves big bucks and volunteers for political campaigns, big crowds to pack galleries and hearing rooms, mobilization of legislators' home folks and offering nuggets of compelling information at strategic moments.
 Some say it also involves red herrings and intimidation.
 Over 3,000 persons registered as lobbyists during the 1977 session, says Terry Goodman, chief of the secretary of state's enforcement division.
 "That's the most in the nation. And the No. 2 state had only 400," said Ms. Goodman.
 Your kid's teacher or your barber might be in Ms. Goodman's file. Texas' rather weird Lobby Control Act says they're lobbyists if somebody else - such as a professional association - paid their expenses to come to Austin and buttonhole legislators.
 Until they cancel their registrations, they must file regular reports on spending to contact lawmakers.
 Those reports - only the tip of the lobby iceberg - show entertainment is the biggest expenditure. A Harte-Hanks newspaper chain reporter read all the reports last year and found lobbyists spent $400,000 dining and dining legislators last session.
 Caven's $4,810 was piddling by comparison with the $15,407 spent by Phil Gauss of the Texas Trial Lawyers Association, which offered a daily lunch spread at its headquarters across from the Capitol.
 Lawyers and doctors were locked in combat over medical malpractice at the time. The doctors' lobbyist, Ace Pickens, spent $1,031.
 Texas State Teachers Association lobbyist Callie Smith and Jim Hooser spent only $895. Highway lobbyist Eugene Robbins, who scored with over $500 million in new road appropriations, spent a modest $2,532. Harry Hubbard and Sherman Fricks of the Texas AFL-CIO spent $7,737.
 Real estate lobbyist Gerhardt Schulle said his $6,883 in entertainment tabs were worth every penny.
 "It makes it easier for you to communicate, not because you're buddy-buddy but because you understand the person," he said.
 But the new breed of young, issue-oriented legislator is not always eager to socialize with lobbyists.
 "I appreciate people who come to the point rather than talking business over a two-or-three-hour lunch or an evening at the Caucus Club," says Rep. Chase Untermyer, R-Houston.
 Entertainment costs are gnats alongside the silver eagles of the lobby's campaign largesse, distributed through political action committees PACs.
 The Texas National PAC spent $536,642 in 1977 and 1978 on legislative, congressional, state and national politics. The trial lawyers' Lawyers Involved For Texas LIFT spent $188,676; realtors TREPAC $262,877; highway builders a surprisingly low $3,373; nursing home administrators NA-PACT $60,453; undertakers Mort-PAC $14,500; teachers TEPAC $11,950, and the AFL-CIO, $19,887.
 Mort-PAC gave $500 to Meier, who chairs the commission that will recommend whether the Legislature should phase out the undertakers' captive State Board of Morticians.
 Is the campaign contribution that valuable as a lobbying tool?
 "To say yes would be to say a guy did something because of that contribution. I don't think that is true," said medical lobbyist Pickens.
 But Caven says, "They listen to a $1,000 contribution more than a $100 contribution. I don't know how much the trial lawyers give, but they give too damn much. There are some senators that do anything they want."

 Rep. Wayne Peveto, D-Orange, claims the Texas Real Estate Association, which helped kill his property tax "reform" bill last year, controls several Senate votes through contributions.
 "Senate members are more inclined to go with the big contributors because it takes so much to run a Senate race. In the House...you can run a campaign on shoe leather," he said.
 Realtors did make the big contributions - such as $10,000 to Lombardino.
 Schulle said his organization sought to "elect people who share your basic philosophy. They obviously when legislation comes up that is important to your industry, they are going to be more understanding because their philosophy is more in tune with yours."
 When there's not much money, campaign volunteers are almost as good - some say better - at winning legislative friends.
 "I think the candidates know who's a teacher," says the TSTA's Smith.
 Some lobbyists and legislators say a lobbyist's success hinges on even less tangible things.
 "The truly most effective method of lobbying is friendship. 'Can I do this to it?' Joe Smith, he's my good buddy?" said Rep. John Wilson, D-LaGrange.
 Rep. John Bryant, D-Dallas, says effective lobbyists are at it year-around - like Harry Whitworth of the Texas Chemical Council and his annual dove hunts.
 And anybody who thinks lobbying begins and ends with the pros is naive at best.
 Lobbyists speak for business, labor, professional and other special interest organizations with members scattered throughout the 181 House and Senate districts.
 The savvy lobbyist knows how and when to mobilize these people into formidable armies of letter writers, phone callers and button-holders - even down to mass appearances in the Capitol.
 Schulle said while he sells the realtors' viewpoint in Austin, "We also tell our members to contact their representatives. They collaborate our story."
 Mass appearances are part of the game, too, like the time the TSTA half-filled Memorial Stadium with 35,000 teachers wanting more money.
 Rep. Wilhelmina Delco, D-Austin, credits a letter-writing campaign with House passage of a bill which died in the Senate exempting church-related child care centers from state regulation.
 "On House Bill 900, legislators voted for it I characterize as clearly philosophically opposed to them the letter writers....It was a way for them to get brownie points," she said.
 But grassroots tactics can backfire.
 "There is a circus atmosphere," gripes Untermyer.
 "When the horse racing people came in, the uniform of the day was a white cowboy hat....The people running it conveyed the idea that this is what you have to do to catch the attention of the typical dumb legislator."
 Caven prefers a rifle to a shotgun - such as a letter from an influential and well-informed person in a district.
 "For example, the tie plant at Somerville is the basis for the whole election in Somerville, so the manager would be listened to," he said.
 Then there are tactics that alienate, lose votes.
 All legislators interviewed said lobbyists caught in a lie don't get a second chance. Bryant said he is turned off "when they suggest that your position is going to ruin your chance for re-election or higher office, when they presume your motives are just as base as theirs."
 Caven said lobbyists have everything to lose if they employ unscrupulous methods.
 "A lobbyist would lose the best job he ever had in his life...I am proud of my profession," he said.
 Next: Who's the No. 1 lobby?

Hiring Couples Shunned

NEW YORK (AP)—Husbands and wives working for the same company are producing legal and marital headaches that may force some concerns to renege on their commitments to equal employment opportunities.

Some companies already have decided to avoid hiring spouses because of patterns of dual absenteeism, scheduling conflicts, and damage to morale, said Professor Eugene Jennings, who has studied the phenomenon.

But, he says, the biggest current deterrent to hiring spouses, wives especially, is the web of legal tangles that only now are appearing, less than a decade after companies began affirmative action programs.

Companies often are accused of nepotism when they employ spouses, said Jennings, and accused when they don't of discrimination. It's a no-win situation fraught with unseen, perverse consequences, he said.

The professor's acquaintance with the problem is an offshoot of his role as confidential adviser to corporation chairmen and presidents, who increasingly find their concerns threatened by legal action.

"Many companies are pulling back," he said, "not formally, but quietly. They don't want a backlash against women, but they don't know how to avoid ethical and legal problems."

Jennings, management professor at Michigan State University and author of many volumes on personnel activities, cites these situations as helping to produce a negative attitude toward dual employment.

1. The wife, administrative assistant to a corporation president, convinces him to look favorably on her husband's candidacy for plant manager. The husband gets the job over more qualified applicants.

One of these applicants claims favoritism, quits and sues. Alarmed, the president removes the husband. The wife becomes angry, accuses the president of sexual advances, and quits.

The mess was settled out of court, but among other things, the company lost a qualified plant manager and an administrative assistant.

2. The wife manages a branch bank; her husband is loan officer at the central office. She turns down an applicant for a loan. He sues, claiming she could not argue effectively with her husband for the loan.

The company is advised by its lawyers to settle out of court, and to separate the couple in a business sense. When she is replaced by a male subordinate she sues, claiming discrimination. Publicity causes two other loan applicants to sue. All cases were settled out of court.

"Some companies would rather back off from hiring spouses, especially wives, but they can't do that officially," says Jennings.

In discussing the situations with company presidents, Jennings says he too is caught in a no-win situation. Whatever advice is given, he says, may have perverse consequences. "I try to minimize the damage."

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Friday, June 30, the 181st day of 1978. There are 184 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1950, President Harry Truman announced that he had ordered U.S. troops stationed in Japan to help the Republic of Korea repel North Korean invaders.

On this date: In 1777, British forces in the Revolutionary War evacuated New Jersey, crossing to Staten Island, N.Y.

In 1834, the Indian Territory was created by an Act of Congress.

In 1859, 5,000 people watched as the French acrobat, Emile Blondin, crossed Niagara Falls on a tightrope.

In 1934, Adolf Hitler began a purge in Germany, getting rid of hundreds of political and military leaders.

In 1936, Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia pleaded before the League of Nations in Geneva for help against Italian invaders.

In 1946, the third atomic bomb was dropped—in a U.S. test over ships anchored at Bikini in the Marshall Islands.

Ten years ago: President Charles de Gaulle's government in France won an overwhelming election victory over leftist and Communist opponents.

Five years ago: One of the longest eclipses of the sun in modern times cast a shadow across the entire width of South Africa.

One year ago: President Carter said he was opposed to production of the B-1 strategic bomber.

Today's birthdays: Former President Juan Bosch of the Dominican Republic is 69 years old. Former President Francisco de Costa Gomez of Portugal is 64.

Thought for today: Old friends are best. King James used to call for his old shoes. They were easiest for his feet—John Selden, English Jurist and statesman, 1584-1654.

Officials Liable In Some Cases

WASHINGTON (AP)—Federal officials may be sued for damages in civil cases if they deliberately and knowingly violate the Constitution, the Supreme Court ruled Thursday.

In a 5-4 decision, the court said, "We see no substantial basis for holding ... that executive officers generally may with impunity discharge their duties in a way that is known to them to violate the United States Constitution."

The precedent-setting decision limits immunity for federal officials in a way that parallels immunity granted to state officials.

The majority opinion by Justice Bryon R. White said, however: "Federal officials will not be liable for mere mistakes in judgment, whether the mistake is one of fact or one of law."

The court rejected the Justice

Department's argument that officials should be absolutely immune from civil suits for damages. Attorney General Griffin B. Bell has contended that the threat of civil suits is an unfair burden for federal officials in the exercise of their official responsibilities.

Thursday's ruling came in a case involving the Arthur N. Economou commodity futures trading company, which sued former Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz and officials in the Department of Agriculture and Commodity Exchange Authority for $32 million.

The suit charged the individuals with wrongful and malicious enforcement of commodity exchange laws.

The Supreme Court sent the case back to lower courts to set the ground rules for the trial of the claims against Butz and the others.

CFTC Boss's Gift Probed by President

WASHINGTON (AP)—It's almost like a summer rerun. An embarrassed White House, a Senate that may have given too much consent with too little advice, and an embattled government official vowing to keep his job.

While the elements are similar, the troubles of David G. Gartner are not quite like those that befell Bert Lance a summer ago.

For Gartner, already at work as a member of the Commodity Futures Trading Commission, is being challenged by the president who appointed him over a gift he received and disclosed before he was nominated and confirmed by the Senate.

Lance's banking practices stirred controversy after he became director of the Office of Management and Budget, and a tardy Senate inquiry eventually led him to quit.

Gartner says he will not resign. Lance said that, too, almost until the day he quit. But there is a difference there, as well. Lance held his job at the pleasure of the president. Nobody can force Gartner to resign from the commission.

And Gartner argues, unassailably, that no new information about his financial affairs led to the pressure against him but that, in fact, it was all on the record before he got his appointment.

At issue is a gift of about $72,000 worth of stock from Dwayne Andreas, put into trust for the education of Gartner's four children. The gifts were given between 1975 and 1977, while Gartner was an aide to the late Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota. Gartner said the stock was sold after his confirmation to the $50,000-a-year spot on the commission that regulates dealings in commodity futures.

Andreas heads a company that deals in the commodities business the commission regulates.

But as Gartner said Wednesday, he hasn't done anything wrong. He hasn't concealed anything, either. "If I resigned, it would look to the public as an admission of wrongdoing," he told the Senate Agriculture Committee.

In a sense, Gartner is a victim of a system that didn't work. Perhaps he did make a mistake in not seeing that this was one appointment he shouldn't accept.

But the more serious errors were not Gartner's.

Carter's staff knew of the Andreas gift, but did not warn the president.

So the White House went ahead with the nomination and it breezed through the Senate Agriculture Committee after Gartner had told the panel about the gift. The full Senate confirmed Gartner the same day, May 17.

That's the same Senate that resounded with promises of slower scrutiny in nomination proceedings after the Lance affair and came up with a proposal for an independent office to make sure appointments get more than rubber stamp treatment.

It was introduced, filed and forgotten.

Justice Powell—Deciding Figure

WASHINGTON (AP)—Justice Lewis F. Powell, a gentle Virginian who never much wanted to be a judge, emerged as the controlling figure in the very lonely middle ground as the Supreme Court decided the Bakke case.

As Powell saw it, a simple yes or no vote was somehow inadequate to settle one of the toughest civil rights cases ever presented to the nation's highest court. So he voted "yes" to admit Allan Bakke to the University of California medical school at Davis. Yes, he said, Bakke was denied admission because he is white and that is illegal.

And then Powell voted "no" to the proposition that all preferences based on race are illegal. In some circumstances, he said, universities may consider race in choosing among the applicants for admission.

So Powell became the man in the middle, threading his way through the sharp divisions of his brother on the bench. They had lined up four to four. There was Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and Justice William H. Rehnquist, asserting that the law was meant to be colorblind and that race cannot influence admissions decisions. A predictable position for the court's strongest conservatives.

There were Justices William J. Brennan and Thurgood Marshall, arguing that race must be considered if the nation is ever to compensate black people for the wrongs done them over three centuries in America. A predictable position for the court's most reliable liberals.

Then there were Justices Byron R. White, Potter Stewart, Harry A. Blackmun and John Paul Stevens. Those four, with Powell, form the court's most flexible center. And they split evenly. White and Blackmun lining up with the liberals, Stewart and Stevens with the conservatives.

Miss Ripe Tomato Pageant Very Big Day for Conroe

CONROE, Tex. (AP)—Darlene Knappenberger pushed her rhinestone studded sunglasses onto the bridge of her nose and tucked a sweat-soaked strand of gray-white hair under her straw sunhat.

Mrs. Knappenberger, 72, didn't usually make the short automobile trip from Conroe out to her garden plot in Friendship Gardens while the blistering Texas sun was at its peak.

But this was a special day.

Mrs. Knappenberger had a chance of being named Miss Ripe Tomato of 1978. She walked over to a wooden table, carefully rearranged her tomatoes, stepped back and tugged at the jacket of her beige knit pantsuit.

The blasting of an automobile horn and a trail of dust along the dirt road leading into the gardens announced the arrival of Ruby Ray, Miss Ripe Tomato 1976.

"Here comes Ruby," Reva Gilmer, coordinator for the Montgomery County Committee on Aging, said. "She's always late and she always makes a grand entrance."

However rank had no privilege, and the former title holder was told she must back down the road and park along the highway just like everyone else. Ms. Ray complied, but nearly backed over contest judge Geoffrey Wakefield in the process.

With all previous royalty assembled, Wakefield took his place at the judging table.

"I'll be judging the tomatoes on ripeness, size, appearance, shape and quality," Wakefield said with a heavy British accent. He is a landscape design architect who emigrated from the United Kingdom several years ago. His wife "volunteered" him to judge the event, he said.

"However there is one question I would like to ask Mr. Colsten," Wakefield said, scanning the crowd for Alden Colsten, the spry 79-year-old who started Friendship Gardens. "Do I get to kiss Miss Ripe Tomato?"

"It all depends on who wins!" Colsten said.

Wakefield picked up a paper plate which held three tomatoes.

"These are full-grown and ready to eat, but they were ripened in a window sill," he said and slapped down the plate.

He picked up another plate.

"This one has a blemish on it," he said, pointing to a small spot on the tomato's skin.

Wakefield picked up the next plate.

"Now these are absolutely fresh picked," he said. "I'd have to say these are the winners." He turned the paper plate over and revealed the winner's name.

"Darlene Knappenberger!"

Mrs. Knappenberger squealed, took off her sunhat and walked up to the judging table.

Edna Swanson, Miss Ripe Tomato 1977, picked up the red and white cardboard crown and placed it on Mrs. Knappenberger's head.

"Miss Ripe Tomato, I select you as my queen for a year," she said.

Wakefield claimed his kiss, Mrs. Knappenberger blushed and everyone headed over to the back end of a pickup for refreshments. No one waited for the queen to be served first.

"Here, have one of these," Colsten said, handing a bystander a sandwich. "It's peanut butter and my very own wild mustard grape jelly. You know, I have to make the jelly to boost the sale of my homemade bread. They all love my jelly, but they've got to have something to put it on!"

Colsten came up with the idea of the gardens about seven years ago. Conroe's Friendship Center, a social club for persons who have reached their "maturity" as Colsten likes to say, received a $9,300 grant from Montgomery County Commissioners' Court and Conroe City Council. Approximately $2,000 of this grant was accepted by the Montgomery County Committee on Aging for use on the gardens.

While many senior citizens suffer from malnutrition, Friendship Gardens participants are not only well-fed, but also raise enough surplus for cash crops of beans in the summer and turnip greens in the fall. Except for the cash crops, participants keep everything they grow.

Friendship Gardens has 32-1,000 square foot plots. The plots are in such demand there is always a waiting list.

"We provide the plants, seed, fertilizer and water all for free," Colsten said. "Then I provide the chit chat. It's free too!"

However the gardens are not without their problems, Colsten said.

"We have rats that eat tomatoes, rabbits that eat beans, deer that eat peas and people that eat anything and everything," Colsten said testily.

Virgie Sweet, the 1976 queen's sister, interrupted to say she had found a way to solve one of her gardening problems.

"If you'll just put some onions in your fig tree it'll keep the birds away," she advised.

"Why, I'd of never thought of that," Colsten said.

Meanwhile Miss Ripe Tomato posed for photographers amidst cries of "A little cheesecake, please!" and "Show your teeth so people'll know you've got some!"

Miss Ripe Tomato pulled the collar of her jacket open to reveal a brown tank top and flashed a smile that would make any denture cleanser company proud.

Plains Religion Recovering

By GEORGE W. CORNELL AP Religion Writer

When the world peered into the tiny town of Plains, Ga., its close, intertwined but strained fabric frayed and broke. "A wall went up," says the Rev. Fred Collins. "Plains was fragmented."

That breach in the little, southern hometown of President Carter, populated 680, seems gradually to be starting to mend, ministers they say, but only slowly and marks of the division remain.

"It takes time for the wounds to heal, but something like that is beginning to happen," says the Rev. Don Wilson, pastor of the Plains Baptist Church, to which Carter's family had belonged and which split because of antagonisms brought to a head over racial policies.

"It takes a long time to get over it completely," Wilson adds. "But things are moving along pretty good. Some of the folks left and founded another church. We're plugging along, too."

Those who left in late 1976 formed the Maranatha Baptist Church, and after meeting for more than a year in a Lutheran church four miles away, it this week began constructing its own building in Plains.

The structure, to be finished in four or five months, will be of brick, colonial-style architecture.

"Some progress has been made in respect to the differences, but it's a deep thing," says Collins, the new church's pastor for the last year. "Some hurt feelings and bitterness remain, but it's getting better as time goes by. Compared to a year ago, you wouldn't believe how deep the hurt was then."

What caused that ruptures in church and community? Both pastors in telephone interviews maintained that the question of admitting blacks was not the fundamental cause, but only a surface catalyst that triggered other long-time frictions and jealousies.

"It was like a dead stick of dynamite just waiting for a cap to detonate it," Collins said, with the race issue being the firing cap. "It was not the big thing that divided the church. It only provided the tangible thing over which to take sides."

Wilson saw it similarly. He took the vacant Plains Church pulpit only six months ago, replacing the Rev. Bruce Edwards who had left for a pastorate in Hawaii. "I hate even to try to explain it," Wilson said. "Race wasn't the primary thing." He generalized that "personality clashes" over a long period were behind it.

Neither church has yet admitted a black to membership, and both say none has applied since the break, which came after a black minister, Clennon King, who lives 40 miles away in Albany, Ga., was refused admission to the Plains Church in the fall of 1976.

It now has a "watch care" committee to determine eligibility for membership. Would being black be an obstacle? "I'd hope not," Wilson said. "It's something the church hasn't had to face."

Super Sport: Franklin Jacobs

Up, Up and Away! There goes Franklin Jacobs. Not long ago, little Franklin set the world high-jump record with a leap of over 7 1/2 feet.

That record has since been broken.

But Franklin's leap is still unusual. Most high jumpers are tall. Franklin is only 5 feet, 8 inches.

Franklin goes to college in New Jersey. He also coaches kids' basketball and track teams in his spare time.

He grew up with 14 brothers and sisters.

Deviled Eggs

- You'll need:
- 6 hard-boiled eggs, shelled
  - 2 tablespoons mayonnaise
  - 2 teaspoon prepared mustard
  - Salt and pepper to taste

What to do:

1. Cut eggs in half. Take out yolks.
  2. Mash the yolks.
  3. Add other ingredients and mix until smooth.
  4. Fill the whites with yolk mixture and chill.
- Makes 6 servings.

Potato Salad

You'll need:

- 7 medium potatoes, skins on (washed)
- 1 tablespoon salt
- 2 tablespoons chopped onion
- 2 hard-boiled eggs, chopped
- 1 cup chopped celery
- 3/4 cup mayonnaise
- Salt and pepper

1. Put potatoes in big pot. Cover with water. Add one tablespoon of salt. Boil gently 30 minutes or until done.
  2. Drain potatoes and let cool. Peel and cut into cubes.
  3. Put cubes in bowl. Add rest of ingredients. Mix well and chill.
- Makes 8 servings.

Peanut Butter Sandwiches

Why not mix peanut butter with raisins and/or honey?

Fourth of July Cupcakes

Prepare cupcakes according to directions on cake mix box. Add frosting. Decorate with miniature American flags on toothpicks.

Use a two to learn about the first Fourth

The signing of the Declaration of independence as shown on the back of a $2-bill.

Thomas Jefferson is on the front of a $2-bill.

Take a look at the next $2-bill you see.

It will give you a picture of what July the Fourth is all about.

On the front you will see a picture of Thomas Jefferson. He did most of the work in writing the Declaration. He later became vice president and then president of our country.

On the back you will see a picture of the signing of the Declaration of Independence. The Declaration was adopted (passed) on July 4, 1776. The real signing that you see above did not take place until August 2.

The government started printing $2-bills again two years ago. They hoped people would use them instead of the $1-bill.

The bill is not getting into the hands of shoppers as quickly as the government would like.

You might have to go to a bank and get one.

If you don't have a $2-bill, look at a nickel.

"Heads" shows Thomas Jefferson.

"Tails" shows his famous home, Monticello.

Look at the picture and find:

- Washington
- 1776
- book
- "In God We Trust"
- quill
- papers

Compare a real $2-bill with the picture above.

Meet the two Melissas from "Little House on the Prairie"

Melissa Gilbert

Melissa Gilbert, age 14, plays Laura Ingalls. Her father is a comedian. Her mother used to be an actress.

Melissa began acting when she was only 3 years old.

She was in a TV commercial for baby clothing.

Then she "retired" to go on the road with her comedian father, Paul Gilbert.

At the age of 7, she went back to making commercials. She made 15 in a row.

She also has had tiny parts on "Emergency" and other TV shows.

Melissa Sue Anderson

Melissa Sue Anderson, age 16, plays Mary Ingalls.

In real life, she is much like the part she plays. She reads a lot and makes good grades.

She has many interests . . . from cooking to collecting bells.

Her dancing teacher discovered how talented she was and urged her parents to find an agent for her.

She soon began doing commercials and has been on several other TV shows.

Safety with a Bang!

Fireworks can be pretty — dangerous! Here are some very important safety tips. (Many local governments prohibit firecrackers. Check this with your parents.)

- If the fuse burns down and stops burning, never try to relight it.
- Read instructions carefully. Some boxes are marked: DANGER, NOT TO BE FIRED BY CHILDREN 14 AND UNDER.
- Fireworks should always be lit out-of-doors.
- Sparklers can be dangerous. They can get as hot as 1,200 degrees F. Do not touch them while they are burning. Do not get them near clothes or furniture.
- Firecrackers that shoot flames or discharge objects should be treated cautiously and never pointed in anyone's direction.
- Adults should always supervise kids. They should have a blanket handy to smother any fires that could happen.
