

Clements Election Opens Doors for Republicans

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - Bill Clements' election as Texas' first Republican governor in a century sent shock waves in at least three directions.

-There's a new look coming in state government circles.

-There will be shifts of power in both the Texas Republican and Democratic parties.

-There's a new voice speaking for Texas on the national level.

The first tremors of Clements' new regime were felt within hours of the election returns. Telephone lines throughout Austin and elsewhere buzzed as Texas' 76,330 state employees tried to find out where they stood.

During his campaign Clements promised to cut state government costs including a cut of 25,000 state employees through attrition.

Only about one-third hold merit system civil service-type jobs with guaranteed employment. The remainder are in "exempt" positions - they serve at the pleasure of their department directors, who can be influenced by the governor.

There are 282 employees in the governor's office alone and another 250 work for the Texas Department of Community Affairs, whose director is appointed by the governor.

Another large group of employees works for the secretary of state, who is appointed by the governor.

Most of the commissions and boards that run the 200 state agencies are appointed by the governor, usually for six-year terms with one-third being filled each two years. This means that during Clements' first four-year term he will be able to appoint two-thirds of the members of most state commissions and boards.

The Republican governor also expects to be a new legislative leader for the 25 GOP state senators and representatives, and probably Democrats as well.

It is traditional in Texas for the governor to be titular head of his state party as well, and past Democratic governors have pretty much moved the party the way they wanted it to go. This means Clements becomes the Texas GOP leader above State GOP Chairman Ray Barnhart, and to some extent above Sen. John Tower, who until now was the highest elected GOP official in Texas.

Some observers are wondering if the election of Clements, a Dallasite, will revive the long time feud between Dallas and Houston for control of the Texas Republican Party. Barnhart, a backer of Ronald Reagan, gained the state chairmanship last year after a close battle with Ray Hutchison of Dallas.

As Democratic nominee for governor, John Hill had already taken over the state party and installed his personal choice, Billy Goldberg of Houston, as state chairman. With Hill's defeat, the party leadership chair is vacant, with leadership duties probably to be taken over by Lt. Gov. Billy Hobby, Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, and maybe others.

Hobby has said he expects there to be a meeting of Texas Democratic leaders, after the early December mid-term national convention in Memphis, to examine "the altered posture of the party."

Clements has already served notice he expects to be an active spokesman at the national level for Texas, particularly on energy matters. He will inherit the Texas state office in Washington which has been operated as a direct extension of the Austin office.

Clements' leadership on the national level may climax in 1980 when President Carter is expected to be seeking re-election and John Connally may be one of those seeking the GOP nomination. As state party leader, Clements could lead the big Texas delegation to the national GOP convention and then play a big part in the campaign following.

Bentsen likely will refrain from taking much of a hand in the Carter campaign if the Democratic president's reputation with Texas voters is not good. Carter's top political friends in Texas may turn out to be national Democratic chairman John White and House Majority Leader Jim Wright.

Steiert Wins National Award For Column

Hereford Brand Farm Editor Jim Steiert has received a first-place award in the 1978 National Newspaper Association Better Newspaper Contest for his weekly farm column "On The Turnrow." It was announced last week.

Steiert's entry was the winner in the "best columns, serious subjects" category, and beat out some 4,700 nationwide entries for the division open to newspapers with 5,000 circulation and less.

The NNA award is the second garnered by The Brand, the first coming several years ago for a column written by former Brand publisher Jimmie Gillentine.

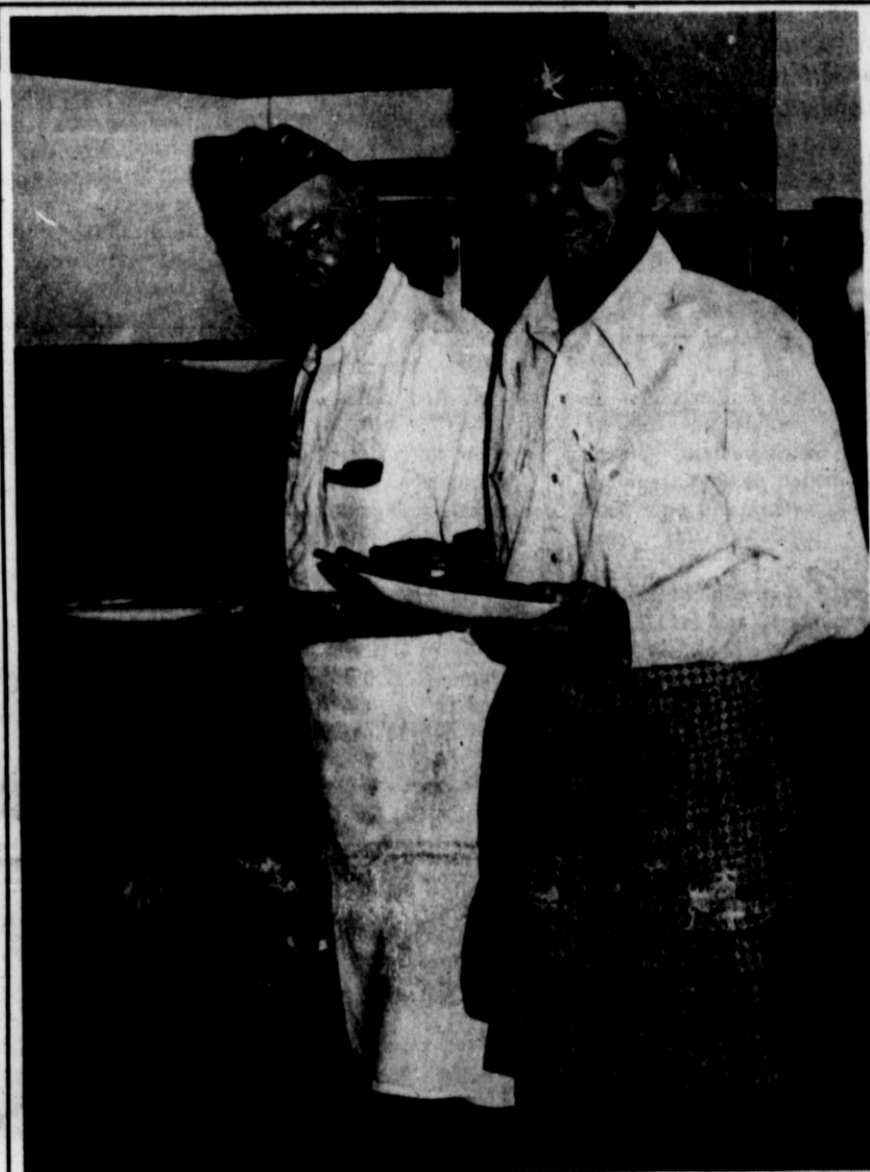

Steiert's winning entry was a column about his late grandmother, Francis Davis Steiert, the bread she baked, and the traditions she and farm women like her have fostered within their families over the years.

The NNA award was the second honor received by Steiert this year for his farm column.

In April, he was awarded a second place prize in the Panhandle Press Association newspaper contest.

In addition to the two farm awards, Steiert received a second place award for his outdoors column "Whistling Wings" from the Associated Press Managing Editors Association of Texas this year, and along with Brand staff member Bob Nigh, received an honorable mention in the community service category of the

American Legion Post Honors Hereford Vets

Hereford American Legion Post No. 192 observed the 60th anniversary of the signing of the armistice which ended World War II Saturday, which was Veterans Day throughout the nation.

The national holiday was celebrated on Nov. 11 for the first time in seven years. Adverse nationwide public reaction prompted the changing of the holiday from the fourth Monday in October to Nov. 11, the original date for Veteran's Day.

The local Legion post sponsored a pancake breakfast Saturday for Hereford veterans and their families and worked with the local high school

Key Club in placing flags in front of designated businesses.

Local Commander Lawrence Carlson had urged "the display of the flag at each home and business not just in recognition of the veterans of the community but as a reaffirmation of pride in America and as our community's contribution to a coast-to-coast expression of national unity."

By its participation in the patriotic holiday, Post No. 192 joined with nearly 16,000 American Legion posts throughout the country and in several overseas territories and free-world nations in honoring veterans.

This year's Legion theme was "We Dare to Care."

City Hall Construction Awarded for $754,000

Construction of a new city hall will cost $754,000 and may begin before the first of the year, it was learned last week when commissioners met to accept the lowest of five bids on the proposed building.

The contract to build the city hall was tentatively awarded to C.B. Thompson of Lubbock. Commissioners considered three bids from Lubbock construction firms and two from Amarillo before accepting the lowest figure.

The commission will meet Nov. 20 in regular session to officially award the contract to Thompson. Once the contract is awarded, the construction firm has 420 calendar days to complete construction of the city hall.

"I'd hate to say exactly when he's going to start. Hopefully, it will be within 30 days after the commission awards the bid," City Manager Dudley Bayne said Friday.

The city hall, which will replace the 51-year-old structure now in use by city employees, will cover approximately 18,000 square feet between Miles and Lee streets and 2nd and 3rd streets. It will include 5,800 square feet to be used by the Hereford Police Department.

Certificates of obligation will be issued by the city to pay Thompson and various subcontractors. The city will pay off the certificates as it receives revenue-sharing money through 1980.

Issue of Palestinians Dims Hopes for Mideast Peace

WASHINGTON (AP) - An air of crisis hung over the Middle East peace talks Saturday as Israel and Egypt remained deeply divided over how to deal with the Palestinian issue in the treaty they are negotiating.

Fresh demands by Egypt on the sensitive issue of eventual Palestinian authority in the West Bank and the Gaza Strip sent Israel's top negotiators to Toronto Friday where Prime Minister Menachem Begin was on an official visit.

There were expressions of concern from the Israeli, Egyptian and American camps as the month-old talks appeared to have reached a critical stage.

President Anwar Sadat, meeting with reporters in the Egyptian town of Al Qantara, said he would "not be astounded" if the treaty negotiations break off.

In Canada, Begin spoke of "new problems" in the talks as he summoned Foreign Minister Moshe Dayan and Defense Minister Ezer Weizman from Washington for emergency consultations.

Asked about reports that Sadat believes the talks may break down, Dayan said before leaving Washington, "If he tries hard he can achieve that." Dayan and Weizman returned to Washington Friday evening, but did not disclose details of their meeting with Begin.

At the White House, officials are said to believe the collapse of the talks is no longer out of the question.

One official, asking not to be quoted by name, said, "I think for the first time there has begun to become a sort of gnawing concern about this thing. For the first time, that little dark cloud on the horizon - it's there."

But he emphasized that President Carter remains generally optimistic about the talks and believes Israel and Egypt will sign a treaty.

Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance plans to meet with Begin today when the Israeli leader makes a brief stopover in New York en route home.

Only a week ago, Vance was saying that almost all of the major issues in the negotiations had been settled. The situation began to deteriorate Thursday night when Boutros Ghali, the acting

Curtain To Go Up on 'Follies'!

The curtain will raise Monday night on the "Strictly Bull" follies, a musical variety show being sponsored by Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce, with performances continuing Tuesday and Wednesday.

The sparkling revue, professionally staged by the Cargill Producing Organization of New York City, is a "fun project," according to general chairman Charlie Bell. "The entire cast is composed of your friends and neighbors, and the professional guidance and costuming is going to make it an exciting event."

Tickets for the show are being sold by cast members, the Hereford Hustlers, and are also available at the C of C office. Prices are $3 for general admission, $4 and $5 for reserved seats. Tickets should be purchased for the night you prefer and will be sold at the door. Proceeds will be used for chamber projects.

Speedy Nieman, chamber president, said Saturday that "a great number of people have committed many hours of time on this project to promote C of C activities, and we believe citizens will be treated to a fine evening of entertainment if they see the show."

Bell noted that the cast is composed of about 70 people, "but we could have used more." A number of the cast members are participating in many segments of the revue. "Since this was the first time for such a show, we think we had good response from those who wanted to participate. We think the cast will have more fun than the audience!"

A "cover page" on the second section of today's paper highlights the program for the show. The steering committee for the project included Bell as general chairman; Susie McGee and Jan Waiser, talent; Margaret Formby, program book; Bill Johnson and the Hustlers, ticket sales; Jim Tucker, publicity; Jane Fawell, costumes; Daleine Springer, make-up; Tim Ruland and Jeff Smith, sound and lighting; Gerald Sledge, Olivia Denning and Phyllis Gerdson, props and scenery.

United Way Hits '77 Goal, Halfway Home

If it were last year, Deaf Smith County United Way volunteers could sit back, prop up their feet and claim a victory.

You see, the United Way goal was $98,400 last year. Volunteers this year have raised $101,000. Last year, they raised $69,000.

The new total was announced at Friday's United Way report meeting in the Hereford Community Center. It represents 51 percent of the goal of $199,815.

"We've raised more than we ever have and more than what a lot of people ever believed we could, but we've still got a lot of work to do," UW president Paul Sims told the approximately 30 workers and United Way officials at the report meeting.

Sims said that more than 600 businesses have either not been contacted or their contributions have not been reported.

"We've said all along that the money's out there," Sims said to the workers. "There's just no reason why we can't make our goal."

For awhile Friday, it appeared that cash and pledges would not exceed the $100,000 mark which had been predicted by United Way officials prior to the meeting.

When the figure had reached $99,000, campaign committee co-chairman Lynton Allred jokingly asked the group at the meeting, "Does anybody out there want to give $1,000?"

Arthur Gonzales, head of a local

Briscoe Announces

Politics Not Over

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Gov. Dolph Briscoe says he isn't ending his political career and might even attempt a come-back in 1982.

"I'm certainly not closing the door on running again. I intend to remain politically active, so we'll see what the future brings," he said following a speech to the Texas Research League on Friday.

He said he never campaigned for Attorney General John Hill, who defeated him in the Democratic primary only to fall to Bill Clements in the general election, because Hill never asked him to.

"I campaigned for those who asked my help," he said.

Briscoe's wife, Janey, said she doubted the election's outcome was influenced by the fact that the Briscoe children campaigned for Clements and that she said publicly Clements would make a better governor than Hill.

The governor said he is interested in helping the Democratic Party pick up the pieces after Tuesday's loss of the governor's race and a U.S. Senate seat to the Republicans.

"I don't see a fight over Democratic leadership. The problem is, what is there to lead," he said.

"No one is really in charge of county administration and, as a result, many things are left undone. That's one of the factors which has brought about more controls and mandates from the state and national level," claims the judge.

Building Permits Down Again

Building starts in Hereford during October were under $300,000 for the second consecutive month as the city fell further behind last year's construction pace.

City building permits dipped to a low this year in October when 16 permits were issued with a total value of $239,750. In September, 14 permits were valued at $262,400.

The yearly new construction total now stands at $4,553,330. For the city to beat the 1977 building total of nearly $5.8 million, it would have to average more than $600,000 in each of the final two months of the year.

Hereford had its second most productive building year in 1977.

-Ceilings on funds for planned acquisition of land were increased for these parks:

Buffalo National River, Ark., from $30 million to $39.9 million.

-Boundaries would be adjusted for these projects with additional funds authorized, if necessary, for purchase of land. In some cases, a portion of the funds may be applied to development of the additional land:

White Sands National Monument, N.M., add 320 acres, delete 760 acres.

-Wilderness zones would be created within the boundaries of these national parks:

Buffalo National River, Ark., 10,529 acres; Carlsbad Caverns National Park, N.M., 33,125 acres; Guadalupe Mountains National Park, Texas, 46,850 acres.

USDA Losing Battle

With Screwworms

WASHINGTON (AP) - It has been "a bad year for stamping out screwworms" in the southwestern United States, the Agriculture Department says.

Things started out well in 1978 but something went wrong with the department's battle against screwworms, larvae of screwworm flies which hatch from eggs laid in wounds of animals.

By this fall, New Mexico had 1,382 screwworm cases, compared with only 22 all of last year; Arizona 4,012 against 398; Texas 1,140 against 39; and California 154, compared to 9.

For years, USDA has been dropping sterile male screwworm flies from airplanes so that they mate with natural females. Those then lay eggs that don't hatch and, theoretically, reduce the population of the pests.

The department, in a report this week about the screwworm situation, says the weather was a problem this year.

For San Jose

A citizens participation meeting will be held at the San Jose community Wednesday at 7 p.m., according to Rafael C. Quinones of the Texas Department of Health Resources office in Canyon.

The session is to be held at the meeting room of the San Jose church.

Quinones explained that the meeting is being held for discussion on the present water situation at San Jose, and to explain the status of a water system grant currently pending with the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Community members will also begin consideration of an application for a sewer system for the community.

Tentative approval for a water system grant for the community, including a new well and storage, distribution and metering equipment came earlier this year, and final approval of the grant is still pending with HUD.

The Agriculture Department has scheduled Dec. 21 to issue a report on wheat production. It will show how many acres of winter wheat farmers planted this fall for the 1979 harvest and will include a preliminary estimate of next year's crop.

On Aug. 15, Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland announced that wheat farmers will again have to abide by a 20 percent acreage set-aside rule to get federal price supports on their 1979 crop.

That means for every five acres of wheat they plant for 1979 harvest farmers must idle one acre of cropland. The same formula applied to the 1978 wheat crop. That formula contributed to a 12 percent reduction in the crop this year.

Since winter wheat accounts for about three-fourths of the total U.S. wheat production, the Dec. 21 report will provide farmers and government planners with a good indication of how the 1979 harvest may stack up.

Although most winter wheat is produced in the Great Plains, it is grown in nearly all states.

Judge Testifies about Davis Scheme

By MIKE COCHRAN
Associated Press Writer

HOUSTON (AP) - The target of an alleged murder-for-hire scheme told Friday how he modeled for murder in an FBI scenario designed to dupe millionaire defendant Cullen Davis.

Fort Worth Judge Joe Eidson testified that he posed for FBI photographs depicting his blood-spattered body crumpled in the trunk of his own car.

The judge said he agreed to assist the FBI after listening to a tape recording in which Davis allegedly discussed the slaying of Eidson and others.

"Frankly, I was pretty shaken up by the situation," he volunteered over defense objections.

He also said he did not recognize the voices on the tape.

The state alleges that FBI informant David McCrory used the fake photo to convince Davis of Eidson's death and subsequently hand over $25,000 for a phantom "hit man."

Eidson presided over Davis' stormy divorce proceedings until excusing himself from the case after Davis' arrest last Aug. 20.

The FBI photographer who snapped the picture was expected to be the week's final witness in the solicitation of capital murder trial of the Fort Worth industrialist. Testimony in the trial began Monday.

On cross-examination of Eidson, 60, defense lawyer Phil Burleson succeeded in showing that many of Eidson's rulings in the divorce case favored Davis over his estranged wife, Priscilla.

Burleson tried to convince the jury Davis had no reason to want the judge killed.

However, prosecutors brought out that Davis' attorneys tried unsuccessfully to get the divorce case moved from Eidson's court after he testified for the state in Davis' murder trial last year.

Eidson referred to that trial several times, saying once of Davis:

"I saw him on a television newscast in Amarillo the day after his acquittal on the murder charge."

"What did he say?" a prosecutor asked.

"He was asked what he thought of the Amarillo judge and he said, 'I like him,' or 'He was fine. I didn't like the Fort Worth judges.'"

The Amarillo jury acquitted him on a charge of murdering his 12-year-old stepdaughter, one of two slain in a summertime 1976 shooting spree at the $6 million Davis mansion in Fort Worth.

BE SILLY!
I was reading an article the other day written by a 90+ year old woman. She was thinking back over her life and stating what she wished had been different.

She said she was too cautious, too organized, and too prepared. She had taken life much too seriously and was known as quite dignified.
She advocated silliness!

I've taken her advice. I've discovered being silly can be a terrific tonic. Laughing at myself and with someone can develop new friendships.
Being silly can disintegrate a wall I sometimes build around myself.
Keep all this in mind. When you see someone else "being silly", let loose and try it yourself!

WHAT'S THE RUSH?

Now it is instant home movies. Shoot the picture. Pop it in a projector and see it in minutes. What next? We already have instant foods, which taste like it.

Microwave ovens which cook in seconds. Puddings which are "pudded" instantly. Soups which are soupy as soon as you add water. Coffee which at least simulates the real thing with just hot water. Now the water is even "hotted" in the microwave.

Some wag said, "The crematories are now selling their ashes to cannibals...instant people!"

What is the rush? Half the fun of taking pictures is waiting for the things to come back and then discovering you forgot to remove the lens cap.

Food can be fast or it can be good. Nothing takes the place of waiting for the stuff to get done while your stomach growls.

I remember when it all started. Presto invented a pressure cooker when I was just a boy. My mother would buy anything that cooked fast. If they had invented T.C. dinners back then I would never have learned how to eat from a plate. So, dear old Mom bought one of those pressure things. She would throw in a roast, some potatoes and carrots and produce a simulated pot roast in jig time. The roast came out looking old and gray with the taste and texture of leather. The potatoes were a dark brown crusty hunk. The carrots were so mushy you could eat them through a straw. But at least it was fast.

I kept wondering what the hurry was. We weren't going anywhere. It was Sunday afternoon and there was no T.V. football in those days. But we hurried anyhow. Now we don't just hurry, we run!

No one knows where we are running to—probably we are in a hurry to have a heart attack and get it over with.

There was a day when a cowboy rode into town to catch the stage. If he missed it, he did not worry, there was another one coming in three weeks.

Now we are upset if we miss one section of a revolving door.

I take my pictures the old way, man. The last ones I sent off have been done for three days. Today I called the store to complain about the delay.

Warm fuzzies,
Doug Manning

Energy Advice

Advocates of so-called "soft" energy policies are peddling a dangerous brand of snake oil to naive Americans yearning for cheap and simplistic answers to the energy problem when there are none.

Typical of the breed is Amory Lovins, described as an energy scientist and economist and consultant to the Carter administration. In Oklahoma for a series of speeches and to help organize a state solar coalition, Lovins advised us to forget oil, gas, coal and nuclear power in future planning and bank instead on wind and solar power.

It makes for glowing fantasizing — boundless supplies of energy from renewable sources with no damage to the environment. But it is just that, sheer fantasy that nibbles at the edge of our national energy predicament while avoiding harsh realities.

The argument by Lovins that the soft approach to meeting our energy needs is economically and technologically feasible is simply not shared by the overwhelming majority of expert opinion, either in this country or abroad.

In particular, the idea of concentrating on solar, wind, hydro-electric and biomass methods of producing energy — all of which are desirable and merit continued development — won't do the job over the next quarter-century.

Lovins, for example, believes the soft approach could provide "at least 35 percent of the nation's energy supplies by the turn of the century." The consensus of most government and private studies is about 10 percent.

Authorities not given to impractical dreaming know the link between energy supplies and our Gross National Product. They know that by the year 2000, the United States alone will have about 23 percent more people and need more than twice the amount of energy we now produce to support our economy and maintain our standard of living.

One quad (for quadrillion British Thermal Units) is the energy equivalent of 180 million barrels of oil or 46 tons of coal. We now use about 75 quads a year but will need about 175 quads in the year 2000.

Without intensive development or more energy from oil, gas, coal and nuclear sources, we will face an energy gap equivalent to five times more oil than we are currently importing, according to government and private estimates. The best answer to the gratuitous advice from visitors like Lovins, who called a pending nuclear plant in Oklahoma "A turkey," was expressed two years ago by W.D. Dance, vice chairman of General Electric Co.

"Short-term, at least until the 21st century," he warned, "we must stop dreaming about windmills and magic tricks and rely on the two most abundant energy resources — coal and nuclear power."

Demagoguing the Tax-Reduction Bill

WASHINGTON — In a fit of end-of-session grumbling, Senator Edward Kennedy described the recently passed tax cut as "the worst tax legislation approved by Congress since the days of Calvin Coolidge and Andrew Mellon."

His complaints were two: The tax cuts were not generous enough to the middle income wage earner, and they were too generous to those in upper brackets.

Regular readers will know I share this belief that the tax relief was not as large as it should have been. And I think my expressed concern for the plight of the middle income American considerably antedates the Senator's. Senator Kennedy is, after all, a charter member of the liberal clique that has swelled the federal budget (and the federal deficit) with dozens of ill-considered social-welfare schemes, which is why middle income Americans are now having trouble paying the bills. He's still at it, too, trying to launch a massive government health care program—another of those something-for-nothing goodies we are supposed to have faith in, like the tooth fairy and the Easter bunny.

But where I really part company with the distinguished senior Senator from Massachusetts is over his attempts to picture reductions in the capital gains tax as an irresponsible tax break for the rich. That's the most damaging kind of demagoguery.

Capital gains tax reductions are obviously going to benefit directly those with the most capital, who are likely to be wealthy. For that reason, it takes a great deal of political courage for a member of Congress to vote for them.

The relevant question, though, is will such tax reductions be good for the economy and thus for everybody, rich and poor alike?

It takes about $40,000 to create one industrial job now. Likewise, it takes large amounts of money to develop a new product, a new drug, or a new oil well.

Where will that money come from? People will contribute their savings, if they are confident the potential return is worth the risk. But if the return is taxed away, if inflation is destroying the value of a savings account, if it's easier to quit and apply for unemployment compensation, then where is the incentive to save?

And if a society is taxing away its seed corn to support the unproductive, where do we look for tomorrow's crops.

Mellon's drastic tax cuts, as Secretary of the Treasury to Coolidge, that made them roar. The comparisons to the present are fascinating: From 1923-29, the Coolidge years, annual unemployment averaged 3.3 percent. It is 6 percent now. Manufacturing output per manhour — a measure of productivity — increase 4.9 percent a year. It is 2.3 percent now. Annual increase in the Gross National Product averaged 3.2 percent, the only key figure that is slightly below present performance 3.8 percent.

And inflation? From 1923 to 1929, the average level of prices rose but 0.2 percent. That's a yearly rate of increase of 0.000 percent. Today, inflation is running an annual rate of 8.2 percent.

Yet the Honorable Senator says we have just had the "worst" tax cut since then. I'd say we could use a few more like that.

Bootleg Philosopher Saving Our Buck

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his Deaf Smith County grass farm comes up with a suggestion for the foreign leaders of the world.

Dear Editor:

I don't know about the rest of you, although I have an idea, but when the experts start reporting on how the dollar has fallen on the world markets, I don't now what they're talking about.

Around here, I don't know whether a dollar buys less because it's worth less or because a tractor bolt is just priced higher.

Anyway, it seems to be a fact that the dollar is considered now at its cheapest in world history, far below the Japanese yen, German mark, British pound, Russian ruble and, for all I know, South Sea conch shells and Navaho beads.

Based on that I have hit on a brilliant idea foreign leaders have somehow completely overlooked.

Now is the perfect time for them to pay off those staggering war debts they owe us. Why don't they out-smart us, buy up a wad of those cheap dollars, and pay us off in one fell swoop?

I don't know how much they owe us for World War I and II loans but it's in the billions and billions of dollars, and here's their chance to wipe the slate clean. Get out of debt at half price.

I'm sure the foreign leaders just haven't thought of this slick financial move and the minute it occurs to them they'll swing into action.

Because I have no idea how much circulation The Brand has in the foreign capitals of the world, I suggest you send some sample copies of your paper with this idea in it to all the foreign countries that owe us money. You could get a list from Washington.

On second thought, that won't be necessary. Just send copies everywhere. They, all owe us money.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

Guilty Until Proven Innocent

A former president of Abbott Laboratories, George Cain, once startled a stockholders' meeting by describing all the problems the company was having in a country he identified as "X".

After he had recited the long list of arbitrary, dictatorial rules, regulations and restraints — the frightful unnecessary cost of trying to operate in a country where the ruling bureaucracy was frequently in conflict with itself — stockholders were indignant.

Why didn't the company give up, get out, stop even trying to do business in a country where it was not appreciated?

After his stockholders were thus unanimously aroused, President Cain revealed that "Country X" was the United States.

You could have heard a pin drop.

Cyclamate, a chemical sweetener was used for years as a substitute for sugar in soft drinks, candy and other foods. Diabetics became particularly dependent on cyclamate as a sweetener.

Then in 1970 the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) banned the use of cyclamate, saying that laboratory tests indicated it might cause cancer in animals.

In the years since we have learned a great deal about such lab tests. For one thing, that, if administered in massive doses, almost anything will kill a mouse.

In late 1973 Abbott submitted to the FDA the results of two new studies which indicated that cyclamate was entirely safe for human consumption. For three years the FDA reconsidered the evidence; then, in 1976, decided it would not allow cyclamate to be returned to the market.

Cyclamate is a minuscule fraction of the Abbott company's many products, but by now the company had decided to determine the "why" of this government policy if only to anticipate similar edicts banning other products.

Feds Fight Freeze

DENVER (NEA) — Lauding the work of public employees is a very chancy business these days because the federal government currently is held in ill repute matched by few other institutions in this land.

But at a time when the electorate is in a budget-cutting mood that occasionally has verged on recklessness, it's important to note that taxpayers do indeed get more for their money than just stumbling bureaucrats and corrupt congressmen.

The inspiration for that plea for moderation is a research project being conducted at a federal laboratory in Boulder, a suburb north of this city, by the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) a component of the Commerce Department.

If successful, the federally funded research could save the nation's farmers — and the supermarket consumers of the food they grow — uncounted millions of dollars annually now lost when crops are destroyed by an untimely frost.

present to serve as the core for the formation of frost, water can actually be "supercooled" well below the conventional freezing point without turning into ice.

Having identified the problem, Schnell set out to locate the agents that might effectively, inexpensively and safely kill or at least thwart the ice-forming powers of plantborne bacteria.

Much of that second-phase work has been conducted by Dr. Chris Upper, a member of the faculty at the University of Wisconsin at Madison, who is working under the aegis of another federal agency, the Department of Agriculture.

Since bacteria were the target, the scientists turned initially to streptomycin and other bactericides while conducting field experiments on more than 20 crops in Wisconsin, California, Florida and other states.

In one dramatic case, a frost that developed when the temperature dropped to -2 Celsius or 28 Fahrenheit destroyed about 75 percent of an untreated corn crop, while an adjacent field sprayed before the freeze sustained less than half of that damage.

Citrus growers now must spend about $18 an hour to heat an acre of orchard during freezing temperatures. A daylong frost can cost $300 to $500 per acre, while a single streptomycin application can provide the same protection at a price of $45 per acre.

The federal researchers have experimented with a variety of other, even cheaper ice-retarding agents, including other forms of bacteria, but they still haven't found an agent that fully satisfies their requirements.

Most laymen believe that frost or ice automatically forms when moisture is exposed to temperatures below the freezing point of water — 32 degrees Fahrenheit or 0 degrees Celsius.

But more than five years of research have convinced Schnell and other scientists that certain species of bacteria act as exceptionally efficient ice nuclei. It is those microscopic solids, they have determined, around which water freezes into ice crystals.

If those tiny particles are not

Although the technique probably won't be ready for commercial application for another three-to-five years, a number of private firms already have displayed considerable interest in the concept.

Moreover, the development has global potential because it can readily be applied to potatoes in the Andes, grapes in the Mediterranean, oranges in Israel and other crops throughout the world.

But if this federal ban is upheld — if any product must "prove itself harmless" — I don't know of any that can

GOP Wants Revokable Posts

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - A governor's appointments to state boards and commissions should be revokable at any time, a Republican legislator proposed Friday.

Most of the executive branch of state government, including regulation of business and operation of such programs as welfare, is run by boards and commissions selected by the governor.

"I know it sounds like a strange coincidence," Rep. Bill Ceverha of Dallas said three days after Texans elected Bill Clements as the first Republican governor since Reconstruction.

"But we get these people on boards and agencies and we can't seem to find a way to get them out," he added.

Ceverha's Democratic counterparts on the Texas Sunset Advisory Commission disagreed with his suggestion.

"That's an awful big gun," said Sen. Pete Snelson, D-Midland.

"I think it's no coincidence," Rep. Bennie Bock, D-New Braunfels said of the post-election suggestion.

Discussion of whether to continue the Battleship Texas Commission sparked the exchange. Ceverha suggested that the governor have power to remove commission members at any time, instead of making the appointments for six-year terms.

Ceverha's proposal for the Battleship Commission failed.

Key Club president Ronald Plummer and faculty advisor Gene Brock show Mayor Bartley Dowell where to sign to officially proclaim Nov. 12-18 International Key Club Week in Hereford. The local Key Clubbers will present the Thursday program at the Noon Kiwanis Club meeting.

Key Clubbers Observe International Week

International Key Club Week will be observed beginning today by local Key Clubbers who will attend the division council meeting in Dimmitt.

The meeting is scheduled for 2 p.m. today at Dimmitt High School. Key Clubs will attend the meeting from Amarillo, High, Amarillo Caprock, Tulia, Hereford and Dimmitt.

During their regular Tuesday morning meeting, Hereford Key Clubbers will emphasize the observance of International Key Club Week. The HHS Key Club will bring Thursday's Noon Kiwanis Club program.

Saturday, the local club will sponsor its annual cleanup of King's Manor Nursing Home. Mayor Bartley Dowell Friday proclaimed Nov. 12-18 International Key Club Week in Hereford.

Dowell, in his mayor's proclamation, stated that the local Key Club has been a part of the international organization since 1956.

Dowell said that since that time, the Key Club has been responsible for the marquee in front of Hereford High School, the "Big H" at the base of the Whiteface Stadium flag pole, the electric score boards at the baseball field and the HHS gymnasium, the new sound system at Whiteface Stadium and other gift contributions to further the spirit and tradition of Hereford High School.

Dowell's proclamation also stated that the local Key Club "has encouraged, participated in, and contributed to good citizenship in the City of Hereford by promotion of patriotism and observance of respect for our national flag, work days in beautification projects for the city, aid to senior citizens, assistance to children with learning disabilities, working with the Hereford Satellite Work Training Center, support of Camp Wigwam and the Special Olympics, aiding our youth in the annual elementary track meet, as well as other assistance to youth-sponsored activities within the City of Hereford."

Gene Brock is the Key Club faculty advisor. Ronald Plummer is club president.

After 10-7 Upset Of Texas

Cougars Thinking of Tall Cotton Now

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - The daring quarterbacking of dashing Danny Davis and Kenny Hatfield's bull's-eye pressure field goal catapulted eighth-ranked Houston to a 10-7 Southwest Conference victory over the sixth-ranked Texas Longhorns Saturday, all but clinching a Cotton Bowl appearance for the Cougars.

The game played under dreary skies with occasional light rain drew a crowd of 83,053 in Memorial Stadium - the largest crowd ever to see a football game in the Southwest. Houston is now 6-0 in SWC play with only Rice and Texas Tech still on the schedule. It would take an incredible collapse for the Cougars not to earn at least a share of the SWC title and its second visit in two years to the New Year's Day classic as the host team.) Defending champion Texas is 4-1 in league play while the other conference teams have at least two losses.

The Cougars, featuring nearly the same cast that won the Cotton Bowl in 1976, scored 10 points in the third quarter and made them stand to down the younger but battling Horns.

Davis, the classy senior from Dallas, took Houston 57 yards in eight plays for a touchdown after a scoreless first half.

Davis ripped off a 29-yard keeper, his longest run of the year, then flipped a 25-yard pass to tight end Garrett Jurgajitis to set up Emmett King's two-yard touchdown run.

On the touchdown play, Davis kept the ball to the last instant then made a perfect pitch to King, who scored unopposed.

Hatfield recovered a Texas fumble to set up his own field goal that carried 33 yards just at the end of the third quarter.

Hatfield's field goal proved to be the winning points after Texas drove 72 yards in 11 plays with Johnny "Jam" Jones scoring from a yard out. The freshmen act of quarterback Donnie Little's 29-yard pass to tight end Lawrence Sampleton put Texas on the Cougar one. The previous largest crowd for a game in the Southwest was 81,700 for Arkansas at Texas in 1972.

The largest crowd a professional team has ever drawn was 80,200 in the Cotton Bowl to see Dallas and Cleveland play. There were only two threats in the scoreless first half.

Texas, now 6-2 for the year, drove from its own 49-yard line to the Houston 27 where a fourth down Randy McEachern pass fell incomplete. Texas passed up what would have been a 44-yard field goal attempt into a 10 mile-an-hour wind.

Houston, 8-1 for the year with only an opening loss to Memphis State marring the Cougars' record, appeared in trouble after Texas drove the ball 72 yards for its touchdown.

But Davis rallied the shaky Cougar offense for a long, time-consuming drive that ended when Texas' Ricky Churchman intercepted a Davis pass in the Longhorn end zone. A big play on the long drive was a fourth-and-two call by Houston Coach Bill Yeoman at the Texas 40. Randy Love picked up three yards for a first down and the Cougars didn't turn the ball back over to Texas until there was less than three minutes to play.

A desperation fourth down Texas pass was incomplete and the Cougars ran out the clock. Memorial Stadium is becoming a comfortable setting for the Cougars who shocked Texas 30-0 here in 1976. The Cougars were four-point underdogs going into this game.

But Houston showed its confidence from the start by winning the opening toss and taking the wind. Houston kicked off then held the Longhorns which they did most of the day behind raging defensive tackle Josea Taylor.

Tech Pins 27-17 Loss on TCU

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) - Quarterback Ron Reeves hit split end Brian Nelson with two touchdown passes, and fullback James Hadnot romped for 164 yards and another score as Texas Tech pinned a 27-17 Southwest Conference loss on Texas Christian Saturday.

Hadnot's 23-yard burst early in the fourth quarter gave the Red Raiders their second touchdown in 16 seconds and broke open a close contest.

Nelson took a 25-yard touchdown pass from Reeves in the first quarter that gave Tech a 7-0 lead.

After TCU's Greg Porter kicked a 23-yard field goal and Tech's Blade Adams booted a three-pointer from 22 and 19 yards, Horned Frog running back Jimmy Allen plunged over from one yard out to close Tech's lead to 13-10 in the third quarter. Then, in a 16-second stand in the fourth quarter, Reeves hit Nelson with a four-yard touchdown pass and Hadnot exploded for 23 yards after TCU's Russell Bates fumbled the ensuing kickoff.

TCU quarterback Steve Stamp came off the bench to relieve Steve Bayuk and hit Micheal Milton on a nine-yard touchdown pass in the fourth quarter to end the scoring.

Hadnot's performance gave him 1,025 yards for the season and left him only 41 yards off the Tech record, with three games remaining to play.

The victory raised Tech's record to 5-3 for the season and 3-2 in SWC play, while TCU fell to 2-7 and 0-6.

Reeves added 79 yards to the Tech rushing attack and completed eight of 12 passes for 108 yards. Two of his aerials went to Hadnot, who picked up 27 yards on them.

Bayuk came into the game with 1,006 yards passing for the season but hit only two-of-nine for nine yards before leaving in favor of Stamp. Stamp hit four straight and ended with five-of-eight for 87 yards and the one touchdown.

TCU quarterbacks were sacked four times for 36 yards in losses with Tech linebacker Don Kelly credited with three of them.

Linebacker Jim Bayuk led the TCU defense with 20 tackles. Hadnot had only 66 yards at the half but gained 29 yards on a draw play early in the third quarter and went over the century mark late in the third quarter as the Raiders marched for what proved to be the winning touchdown.

He took a screen pass from Reeves and went 11 yards for a first down on the Horned Frog's 30 on a crucial third and seven play. He scraped for 12 more to give the Raiders a first down inside the 20. Four plays later, from the four yard line, Reeves dropped back, rolled to his left, then looked back to the right and found Nelson all alone in the end zone for the touchdown.

Porkers Ruin Bear Homecoming

WACO, Tex. (AP) - Three fumble recoveries by Dan Hampton and Mike Massey and a pass interception by Jim Howard paced No. 16 Arkansas to a 27-14 Southwest Conference victory over Baylor Saturday.

A Baylor homecoming crowd of 45,000 and a half dozen bowl scouts watched Arkansas raise its season record to 6-2, while Baylor fell to 2-7.

Jerry Eckwood capped a 67-yard second-quarter drive by scampering for a touchdown from the Baylor four-yard line and Eckwood and quarterback Ron Calcaigi scored two third-quarter touchdowns after Baylor bobbled near its goal line. Hampton, a 242-pound tackle, set up Arkansas' second touchdown by jumping on quarterback Steve Smith's wild pitchout at the Baylor 11. Calcaigi scored two plays later on a nine-yard run.

Massey, a linebacker, caught downs in less than a minute late in the fourth quarter. The first came on a 46-yard pass from Smith to Robert Holt Fisher. Baylor then recovered an onside kick, and Smith threw nine yards to Ronnie Lee for another score.

After its second touchdown, Baylor again tried an on-side kick, but it misfired when the ball went to an Arkansas lineman in the air. Baylor linebacker Jerry Harrison recovered two Arkansas fumbles in the third quarter, but Baylor could not take advantage of them. The fumbles by Eckwood and Ben Cowins were the first this year by an Arkansas running back.

Cowins, a 186-pound senior, finished with 109 yards on 26 carries. It was the 15th game for Cowins to top 100 yards rushing.

Eckwood had 68 yards on 14 carries.

Arkansas' other scores came on field goals of 29 yards and 33 yards by Ismael Ordonez. The 29-yarder with 11:01 remaining in the first quarter, also was set up by a Baylor fumble, which nose guard Stan Freeman recovered at the Baylor 40 on the third play of the game. It was the fifth consecutive game in which Arkansas had scored on its first possession.

Arkansas moved to the Baylor five late in the game, but Roland Sales fumbled and Baylor's Russell Slicker recovered to keep Arkansas out of the end zone.

A costly penalty ruined a chance for a Baylor score in the first half. Punter Luke Prestridge threw an 18-yard, fourth down pass to Raymond Cockrell at the Arkansas 26. Baylor was penalized 15 yards, however, for having an ineligible receiver down-field and Baylor was forced to punt.

Lyle Traded To Rangers

NEW YORK (AP) - Sparky Lyle got his wish and the New York Yankees got theirs in a 10-player trade completed with the Texas Rangers Friday.

Lyle, the American League Cy Young Award winner in 1977, had fallen into disuse when the Yankee bullpen added free agent Rich Gossage last season. The situation angered him and he wanted to be sent somewhere else, where he'd get a chance at being the late-inning stopper again.

The Yankees obliged him by trading him to the Rangers along with catcher Mike Heath, infielder Domingo Ramos and minor league pitchers Larry McCall and Dave Rajsich. In exchange, New York received outfielders Juan Beniquez and Greg Jemison and pitchers Paul Mirabella, Dave Righetti and Mike Griffin.

Yankee President Al Rosen said the key player for New York is Righetti, a left-hander who won't turn 20 until the end of this month.

"We're all in love with Righetti," said Rosen. "We've got great reports on him. He's a left-hander power pitcher and scout Jerry Walker thinks we've got ourselves another Ron Guidry. I don't think that's possible, but it's nice to think in those terms."

Righetti was 5-5 with a 3.16 earned run average at Tulsa of the Texas League last season. What caught the eyes of the Yankees were his 127 strikeouts in just 91 innings.

To get him, the Yankees had to assemble a handsome package that included an undisclosed amount of money thought to be in the area of the $400,000 limit set by Commissioner Bowie Kuhn.

Lyle is the deal's biggest name. He is one of baseball's alltime top relievers with 210 career saves, tops for any active pitcher. He has appeared in 680 games, all in relief, since coming to the majors with Boston in 1967. His best years with the Yankees were 1972 when he won nine games, saved 35 and had an ERA of 1.92, and 1974, when he was 9-3 with 15 saves and a 1.66 ERA. He won the Cy Young Award in 1977 with a 13-5, 26 save, 2.17 ERA season, but became the forgotten man in the bullpen this year when Gossage took over.

Lyle appeared in 59 games for the Yankees last season, but often was used in middle-inning role. He won nine games but was less effective than he had been in previous seasons and recorded only nine saves. In the World Series, he was the only Yankee player who did not get into any of the six games against Los Angeles.

Buff Comeback Falls Short

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) - Sophomore Rick Casco, making his first start for Drake at quarterback, ran 19 yards for a touchdown and set up another score with his passing as the Bulldogs beat West Texas State, 24-21, in Missouri Valley Conference football Saturday.

Casco opened the scoring midway through the first quarter, capping a 62-yard drive for Drake. Tailback Dwaine Ball ran 1 yard for a touchdown to end a 71-yard drive early in the second period. Ball took a screen pass from Casco 48 yards to the West Texas State 1 to open the second half and Wardell Wright carried in for the touchdown.

Kicker Mark Mendenhall added a 26-yard field goal in the fourth quarter for Drake, 4-6 for the season and 2-3 in the Valley. The Buffaloes' first touchdown came on an 81-yard fumble return by tackle Elvin Keller on the first play of the second quarter.

Rickey Wright kicked field goals of 37 and 35 yards for West Texas State, and reserve tailback Kenny Davis ran 1 yard for a touchdown as the Buffaloes pulled to within three points with just over a minute to play.

But Drake was able to run out the clock to preserve the victory as West Texas State dropped to 3-7 overall and 1-4 in the conference.

WT Will Host Grid Squad Night

CANYON - Invitations have been sent to almost 100 area high schools to participate in West Texas State's first annual "Panhandle Squad Night". WT athletic director Dick Dietl has announced.

Squads from throughout the area have been invited to be guests of the University for the WT-New Mexico State game on Wednesday, Nov. 22. Applications have been mailed to the head coaches to purchase tickets for the team members at the special rate of only 50 cents per individual. All teams in attendance will be recognized at the game.

"We want the young athletes of the area to feel a part of our program," stated Dietl. "Thus, we felt this was a good way we could honor them. In addition, it should be a great football game and could have a bearing on the Missouri Valley Conference championship."

Dietl said coaches and athletic directors are requested to send their orders to the WT Ticket Office, Box 235, WT Station, Canyon TX 79016 as quickly as possible. Under state regulations, tickets cannot be mailed until payment is received. Those requesting more information regarding the "Squad Night" festivities can contact Dietl or promotions director Jim Garner at the WT athletic department.

SMU Downs Fins 94-93

DALLAS (AP) - Southern Methodist's basketball team decided Texas hospitality did not include losing, so the Mustangs eked out a 94-93 win Friday over the touring Finland National Team.

Brad Branson's 5-foot jump shot with 41 seconds remaining did the trick. Branson tossed in a total 20 points and led his team in rebounds with nine for the game.

"We played well tonight, well enough to win," said Finnish Coach Robert Peterson. "It seemed that every time we got close we could never pull away."

SMU Coach Sonny Allen was surprised by the Finnish talent. "Those guys can really shoot the ball," he said.

Cornhuskers Shell Fumbling Sooners

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) - Fourth-ranked Nebraska ended six years of frustration Saturday at the hands of Oklahoma, defeating the top-rated and previously unbeaten Sooners 17-14 on short touchdown runs by Rick Berns and I.M. Hipp, and Billy Todd's tie-breaking

24-yard field goal with 11:51 to play. The victory, Nebraska's ninth in a row following an opening-game loss to Alabama, thrust the Cornhuskers into the driver's seat for an Orange Bowl bid. They clinched at least a tie for the Big Eight title, taking a one-game lead over Oklahoma with one game left. Todd's field goal marked the first time Nebraska had scored against Oklahoma in the fourth quarter since the Cornhuskers' classic 35-31 triumph in 1971 en route to a second consecutive national championship.

Fumble-plagued Oklahoma, which bobbled the ball away six times, blew two scoring opportunities in the final 8½ minutes. Billy Sims, the nation's leading rusher, fumbled at the Nebraska 20 and again at the 3-yard line, the latter with 3:27 remaining. Nebraska then ran out the clock. Sims, who was averaging 155.2 yards per game, carried 25 times for 153 yards and scored Oklahoma's touchdowns on runs of 44 yards in the first period and 30 yards in the third quarter. But he saw his national record-tying streak of three consecutive 200-yard games ended by a gang-tackling, hard-hitting Nebraska defense. Sims' fumble at the Nebraska 20 with 8:10 remaining negated what would have been one of the most controversial calls in college football history. Following Todd's go-ahead field goal, Oklahoma freshman

Kelly Phelps was clobbered on a kickoff return by John Ruud and the ball squirted loose. Nebraska's John Lindstrom recovering near the Oklahoma 10. The officials, however, ruled no fumble and gave the ball to Oklahoma at its 19 although television replays clearly showed that Phelps had fumbled before he hit the ground. Nebraska's touchdown came on a 5-yard run by Berns at 4:54 of the second period and an 8-yard dash by Hipp at 5:35 of the third quarter. Both tallies followed lost Oklahoma fumbles, the Cornhuskers driving 57 and 50 yards for their scores.

SMU Ponies Lambast Rice Owls 58-0

HOUSTON (AP) - Southern Methodist's Darold Turner rushed for four touchdowns and quarterback Mike Ford and Emanuel Tolbert continued to etch their names in the Southwest Conference record book Saturday en route to a 58-0 victory over Rice. SMU, which ended a three-game losing streak, capitalized on three Rice turnovers in the first half and hapless defense by the Owls to spurt to a 38-0 halftime lead.

A fumble by Rice freshman Weldon Meeks set up a 26-yard field goal by SMU's Ed Garcia and an interception by SMU's D.K. Perry led to a 34-yard touchdown pass from Ford to tight end Elton Garrett after only six minutes of the game. Turner then took over the scoring avalanche with runs of six, one, one and one yards to stake SMU to its healthy third quarter for the receiver's 10th TD catch of the year. Tolbert now is tied with former Texas Christian receiver Mike Renfro for most TD catches in one season with 10 apiece.

Garcia added field goals of 37 and 28 yards in the second half to equal the school record for most field goals in one game. Backup quarterback Jim Bob Taylor hit Clement Fox for a 31-yard touchdown pass with 2:53 left in the game.

SMU evened its SWC record at 3-3 and now is 4-4-1 for the year, while Rice dipped to 1-9 and Hixson with 3,103. Tolbert caught seven passes for 178 yards while Garrett finished with 67 yards on four catches. Turner finished with 81 yards on 26 carries.

Holmes Wants All Takers

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) - Larry Holmes is ready for any opponent, but his next one is not expected to be Muhammad Ali. "I'll fight Norton or Young or anyone else the WBC tells me to," said Holmes after beating up Alfredo Evangelista before knocking him out in the seventh round of Holmes' first World Boxing Council heavyweight championship defense Friday night.

Richie Giachetti, Holmes manager, said that Jimmy Young would be a logical choice as Holmes' next challenger. Then if all goes well, Holmes would probably fight the winner of a Ken Norton - Earnie Shavers fight set for Feb. 18, probably in Las Vegas. Norton knocked out Randy Stephens in the third round of a preliminary to the Holmes - Evangelista fight at Caesars Palace.

As for Ali, recognized as champion by the World Boxing Association, Holmes said he talked to the 36-year-old Ali Thursday and "he said he would not fight me. I said 'quit.' He said he would when he's ready." There have been indications that Ali is ready.

Evangelista, the 23-year-old European champion from Spain, went 15 rounds in a losing title bid with an out-of-shape Ali May 16, 1976.

Against the 29-year-old Holmes, Evangelista never had a chance. It was a "mugging." "It wasn't an easy fight," said Holmes.

That was a kind thing to say. Evangelista, his face a swollen mask of pain, blood streaming from a cut beneath his left eye, was moving forward when Holmes launched a sweeping right hand.

The punch caught Evangelista on the side of the jaw and dropped him on his face. He struggled to his knees, then pitched on his face again and was counted out at 2:13 of the round by referee Richard Green.

It was the first knockout, or knockdown, in heavyweight championship fighting in 97 rounds. The last knockout before Friday night was by Muhammad Ali over Richard Dunn in May, 1976. Since then the Ali-Evangelista, Ali-Norton, Ali-Shavers, the two Ali-Spinks fights and Holmes-Norton passed without a knockdown.

While it was a right that knocked out Evangelista, it was really the left jab that shattered any dreams he had of winning. "I used my left jab a lot," said Holmes. "I thought I might be able to stop him."

The jab was quick and accurate, and it was punishing. Time after time it found its mark, snapping Evangelista's head back, keeping him on the defensive.

And mixed in with the jab were an assortment of left hooks and right hand leads, counters and uppercuts. It was no contest.

Pack Hosts Dallas

MILWAUKEE (AP) - The Green Bay Packers have a history of playing well against the Dallas Cowboys, and sorely need the trend to continue at Milwaukee County Stadium today (3 p.m. CST).

Then again, the nationally televised showdown is equally important to the defending Super Bowl champion but currently struggling Cowboys. The Packers beat Dallas in 1966 and 1967 for National Football League championships, upset the Cowboys in 1972 as a springboard toward a surprise division title and upset them again for their first regular season victory under Coach Bart Starr in the fourth game of the 1975 season.

Dallas 6-4 is a six point favorite this time, and the Packers need another upset to protect their one lead over Minnesota in the National Conference Central Division. The Vikings, who have won three games in a row, are eight point favorites to beat Chicago Sunday.

The Packers 7-3 have lost two of their last three games, including 10-3 in Philadelphia last Sunday when they beat the Eagles in almost every respect but on the scoreboard. The Packers, previously the NFL's most opportunistic team at forcing opponents' turnovers, committed five themselves against the Eagles.

The Cowboys have lost their last two games and trail Washington by a game in the NFC East. Much of their trouble has been traced to turnovers, for they have committed 13 more than they have forced by opponents.

Packer Coach Bart Starr said he didn't think his team played poorly against Philadelphia because it felt pressure of striving for a playoff berth. Moreover, he doesn't think such pressure will be a factor Sunday.

"What we really have to be concerned about is rebounding and getting ready to play the Super Bowl champions," Starr said. "You know Dallas is going to rebound because they cannot afford another loss at this point if they hope to repeat."

"The big problem with the Cowboys' flex defense is it's like a gap-8, designed to stop the run," Packer offensive tackle Tim Stokes said. "They put eight bodies on the line, and each one has gap responsibilities. It puts you in a negative situation where you have to throw on second or third down."

Stokes will line up against Dallas defensive end Harvey Martin, who led the NFL with 23 quarterback sacks last season. Martin played at what the Cowboys described as about 70 percent of his normal efficiency in Dallas' 23-16 defeat by Miami last Sunday after having missed two games with a leg injury.

Cowboy linebacker Tom Henderson has played below par most of the season because of injuries, and cornerback Benny Barnes is listed as questionable because of a foot injury.

The Packers, who had been relatively free of injuries most of the season, list middle linebacker Mike Hunt as doubtful because of a sprained ankle. Defensive end Mike Butler and linebacker Gary Weaver are listed as questionable because of shoulder and groin injuries, respectively.

SYLVANIA, O. (AP) - Fred Farris was standing on the 16th fairway of the Highland Meadows Golf course when a tee shot by Dick Crandall, driving from the sixth tee, hit him in the head.

Four days later, the same Mr. Farris was standing on the sixth fairway and a ball hit him on the left arm. The ball had been driven by the same Mr. Crandall, this time from the 16th tee.

"From now on," the slightly bruised Farris noted, "I will check on his whereabouts anytime I play this golf course."

Pats Confident About Playoffs

FOXBORO, Mass. (AP) - Some members of the New England Patriots are tempted to look beyond today's National Football League collision with the defense-minded Houston Oilers.

"You can't help thinking about the playoffs but we have to be careful it doesn't control us," says quarterback Steve Grogan. "It's in our hands. We just have to be sure nobody sneaks up on us."

The Patriots are 8-2 and have won seven straight games.

Veteran punter Jerrel Wilson says the Patriots "have as much talent as any team I've ever played on, including the 1969 Kansas City Chiefs."

"We have too many good players and too many hardworking coaches to lose," says linebacker and defensive captain Steve Nelson.

Contest

Switched

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - The Texas-Texas A&M Southwest Conference football game has been switched to Friday night Dec. 1 from Saturday Dec. 2 so it can be nationally televised, it was announced Tuesday.

The game will be televised at 8 p.m. CST over ABC-TV.

The original kickoff for the game was 2 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 2.

New England has a tenuous one-game lead over the Miami Dolphins in the AFC East and Houston Coach Bum Phillips isn't expecting the Patriots to let down.

"This is a game they've got to have to stay ahead," he says. "If they were way ahead, they might let up, but not with Miami right behind."

"Houston's defense may be the best we've faced all year," says Patriots Coach Chuck Fairbanks.

The Oilers, 6-4, don't figure to catch Pittsburgh in the AFC Central Division, but Houston is eyeing a playoff wild card spot. The Oilers have won three of their last four games.

Their four losses have been by a total of 29 points.

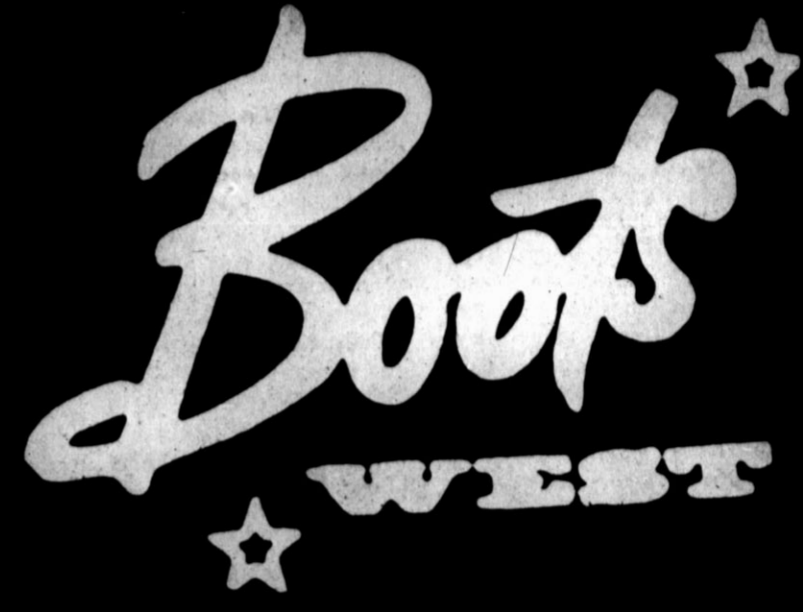

On the other hand, their six victories have been by a total of 25. Houston seems to specialize in winning or losing by a touchdown or less.

Both opposing quarterbacks are enjoying good seasons. Houston's Dan Pastorini, despite a complaint that the Oiler offense is too conservative, has been an accurate passer and Patriot Steve Grogan's statistics are solid.

Pastorini has a 56.7 pass completion percentage with only eight interceptions. Grogan is only 218 yards shy of his best passing season - 2,162 last year - and 26 yards short of his best seasonal rushing mark.

Grogan's 371 yards nearly put him among the NFL rushing leaders.

Steelers, Broncos, Dallas Among Picks

By HAL BOCK
AP Sports Writer

Okay, folks. Gather 'round while the Pro Picker lets you in on a little secret. He has located the key to this crazy-quilt National Football League season. To win, you simply have to play at home.

Careful studies of computer printouts and the weekly scores reveal that through 10 weeks,

Martin Schneider, M.D. announces the opening of his practice for ear, nose, throat and related facial plastic surgery. Hours by Appointment 806/359-0341 Suite 1055 1901 Medi Park Place Amarillo NFL home teams hold an 83-57 edge over visitors. That's a .593 percentage compared to a .407 for clubs playing on the road.

Armed with this vital piece of data, the Pro Picker steps forth boldly and picks the home and road teams to split down the middle this week. Last week's 9-5 made the season's mark 81-58, for .583, which is better than road teams but not quite as good as those playing at home.

The Picks:
Pittsburgh 27, Los Angeles 20

The Rams want to fool around? Okay, try fooling with the Steelers on prime time, network TV.

Denver 17, Cleveland 14

The Browns gained 28 yards rushing last week against Houston. That's all for the Browns. And Denver's defense had some making up to do for that debacle against the New York Jets.

Dallas 23, Green Bay 14

The Browns gained 28 yards. The Cowboys simply can't afford anymore setbacks. And the Packers are starting to hear Viking footsteps over their shoulders.

New England 27, Houston 17

The Pats love that Foxboro feeling. They're on a seven-game tear and won't let the wild card hopeful Oilers interfere.

Miami 31, Buffalo 7

The Dolphins have it rolling now and can't afford to stop because New England keeps right on winning.

Washington 24, N.Y. Giants 10

The Redskins reward for dragging their weary, old players out for a Monday night game is a Sunday picnic against the Giants' weary, young players.

Minnesota 17, Chicago 7

That's playoff-land up ahead and the tough, wise, old Vikings see it. Look out.

Seattle 34, Baltimore 13

The Colts made Washington's

Billy Kilmer look silly Monday night but Seattle's Jim Zorn doesn't throw those lazy pop flies.

San Diego 23, Kansas City 17

The Chargers have won two straight for new Coach Don Coryell and are threatening to salvage what one seemed a lost season.

New Orleans 16, Atlanta 13

The Battle of the South belongs to the Saints, mostly because of reborn Archie Manning, who leads the NFC in passing.

N.Y. Jets 20, Philadelphia 17

Upset special. The Jets believe they can do anything after wiping out a three-TD deficit against Denver last week. Maybe they can.

Detroit 14, Tampa Bay 10

If the Bucs weren't so banged up... but then again, the Lions beat them early, when they were healthy.

St. Louis 19, San Francisco 7

Look who's on a winning streak. Bud Wilkinson knew his Cards wouldn't lose 'em all.

Oakland 29, Cincinnati 10

The Raiders are 10-1-1 on Monday nights and that carries more weight than the Bengals' home field edge.

No. 2 Garland Wins

By The Associated Press

North Mesquite reached for glory, only to watch it slip from their grasp in an 8-7 loss to second-ranked Garland Friday.

Matt Marion's 52-yard gallop put North Mesquite on the board first, but the Stallions fumbled at the doorway to victory. Garland recovered one on their own five and another on their four yard line.

With just minutes to play, Herkie Walls struggled into the end zone for a two-point conversion to cap a crucial 71-yard scoring drive and a face-saving victory.

Top-ranked Temple blasted Copperas Cove 41-7 to guard its wooly perch.

Craig James lofted one scoring strike and ran for 238 yards and five other touchdowns as Houston Stratford, No. 2 in The Associated Press Schoolboy Football Poll, trampled Houston Northbrook 54-12.

Arlington Lamar completed its first undefeated season Friday, rolling to a 21-0 win over Arlington Houston.

Galveston Ball upset Angleton, No. 9, 35-12. Tenth-ranked Midland Lee lost for the second week in a row, this time to Abilene, 23-14.

San Antonio Churchill, No. 4, downed Seguin, 12-0; sixth-ranked Odessa Permian clobbered San Angelo Central, 63-13; Tyler, No. 7, crushed Longview, 39-12; and Plano, No. 8, blanked Berkner, 27-0.

Coach Ray Akins' 10th-ranked class 3A Gregory-Portland squad beat Rockport-Fulton 35-12 to earn its 10th straight trip to the playoffs.

Only Highland Park, from 1941-50, and Crawford, from 1956-65, had previously won or tied for the district Championship 10 years in a row. Highland Park was the only other team to go to the playoffs 10 consecutive years.

Every ranked class 3A team won Friday and top-ranked Brownwood led the charge with a 35-0 shelling of Stephenville.

Beaumont Hebert, No. 2, shutout Little Cypress, 16-0; third-ranked Fort Stockton trimmed Andrews, 21-14; Bay City, No. 4, bombed Sweeney, 47-0; New Braunfels, No. 5, ripped crosstown rival New Braunfels Canyon, 41-0; Carthage, No. 6, routed Chapel Hill, 23-0; Gonzales, No. 7, nudged Cuero, 14-12; Gainesville, No. 8, outmanned Bonham, 34-14; and Belton, No. 9, trounced Taylor, 55-0.

Travis Sanders rambled for 347 yards and four touchdowns to spark Port Isabel, No. 3, to a 51-37 victory over La Feria.

Newton, No. 1 in class 2A, downed Warren, 21-8; second-ranked Cameron edged Hearne 17-14; fifth-ranked Sealy strolled to a 29-0 win over Waller; Childress, No. 6, blanked Electra, 28-0; East Bernard, No. 7, crushed Palacios, 35-0; Mount Vernon, No. 9, drubbed Prairiland, 40-0; and 10th-ranked Hondo defeated Devine, 28-6. Fourth-ranked Breckenridge and West, No. 8, were idle.

San Saba bushwacked DeLeon Friday, handing the top-ranked class A team its only loss of the season, 13-0. Second-ranked Lexington had its hands full with Flatonia, winning 19-14.

Iraan, No. 3, clobbered Grandfalls, 50-7; Lovelady, No. 4, routed Montgomery, 20-0; fifth-ranked Franklin crushed Mart, 40-0; and sixth-ranked China Spring pummeled Lorena, 75-0. Celina, No. 7, beat Pottsboro, 9-0; Charlotte, No. 8, lost its third, 42-17 to Pettus; ninth-ranked Farmersville blasted Little Elm, 48-6.

The League of Nations condemned Japan's aggression in China in 1937.

Shuval Sues DA McInnis

EDINBURG, Tex. (AP) - Indicted Hidalgo County District Attorney Oscar McInnis was named Friday in an 11-count disbarment suit filed by the State of Texas on behalf of the state's bar association. McInnis, disqualified from office pending a separate removal suit, has been named in state indictments alleging he plotted to have a friend's ex-husband kidnapped and killed. The disbarment suit was filed by Andy Shuval, director of the Texas Prosecutor's Coordinating Council which also has filed a removal suit against McInnis. The suit charges McInnis with 11 counts of professional misconduct, charging his actions "constitute fraudulent and dishonorable conduct of such nature as would warrant his discipline by a judgment of this court." The criminal charges allege that McInnis plotted to have Patricia Parada's ex-husband, Noe Villanueva, kidnapped and killed. The suit claims McInnis violated professional responsibility by representing Mrs. Parada in a civil suit regarding custody of her child while also prosecuting Villanueva on criminal charges. The action filed today alleges McInnis had marijuana charges filed against Villanueva "when it was obvious that such action would serve merely to harass and maliciously injure Noe Villanueva."

Iran Oil Production Stymied by Strikes

HOUSTON (AP) - Oil production disruptions caused by internal strife are nothing new to Iran. The world's fourth ranked crude oil producing nation is second only to Saudi Arabia as the largest exporter. It is not known as yet just how extensively oil output and exporting have been affected by the bloody strikes and demonstrations that led to establishment of a military government. The Oil & Gas Journal reported Iran's oil industry had been crippled but said there were conflicting reports on the size of the cutbacks on exports that had been averaging about 5 million barrels a day. Western Europe is Iran's largest crude oil customer, followed by Japan, Great Britain, and the United States.

At 700,000 barrels a day, Iran was the Middle East's largest producer in 1951 when its petroleum industry was nationalized after the premier, Mohammed Mossadegh, evicted the British from the billion dollar Anglo-Iranian Oil Co. When the Mossadegh regime fell in 1953, Iran was in financial chaos and the nation was in danger of falling under the cold war influence of Russia. Its oil production was averaging only 19,500 barrels a day. And neighboring Kuwait and Saudi Arabia were about ready to push their crude production levels above the million barrels a day mark. An agreement between National Iranian Oil Co. and a consortium of 14 foreign oil companies became effective

Oct. 29, 1954, and Iran's petroleum industry began making a rapid comeback. By the end of 1954, crude production was averaging 187,000 barrels a day. By 1957 its output more than matched the 700,000 barrels a day level attained before the Mossadegh nationalization. Iran cracked the million barrels a day mark in 1960, posting a 1,046,000 average. By then, however, Kuwait was the Middle East Leader at 1,622,000 barrels a day, with Saudi Arabia following at 1,383,000. Saudi Arabia overtook Kuwait in 1966 with a daily average of 2,395,000 barrels. Kuwait, at 2,275,000, remained ahead of Iran's 2,110,000. Iran regained the Middle East leadership in 1968, its 2,850,000 barrels a day average shading Saudi Arabia's by only 20,000 barrels. But Iran's return to the Middle East's No. 1 ranking lasted only four years, despite steady growth. Iran's 1972 output averaged 5,050,000 barrels a day but Saudi Arabia had moved to 5,735,000 a day.

Saudi Arabia continued on to a record 9,235,000 barrels a day in 1977, a level exceeded only by Russia's 11,045,000-barrel average. Iran meanwhile peaked at 6,060,000 barrels a day in 1974. Its 1977 output averaged 5,705,000 barrels daily. Iran had moved its daily refining capacity from 376,000 barrels a day in 1960.

Follies Premier Monday

Getting into the swing of the Charleston, circa the Roaring Twenties, is a challenge for folks in 1978, but the Strictly Bull cast leaps in wholeheartedly as latter-day flappers. The show, which incorporates strictly local talent, will be performed Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday night in the high school auditorium.

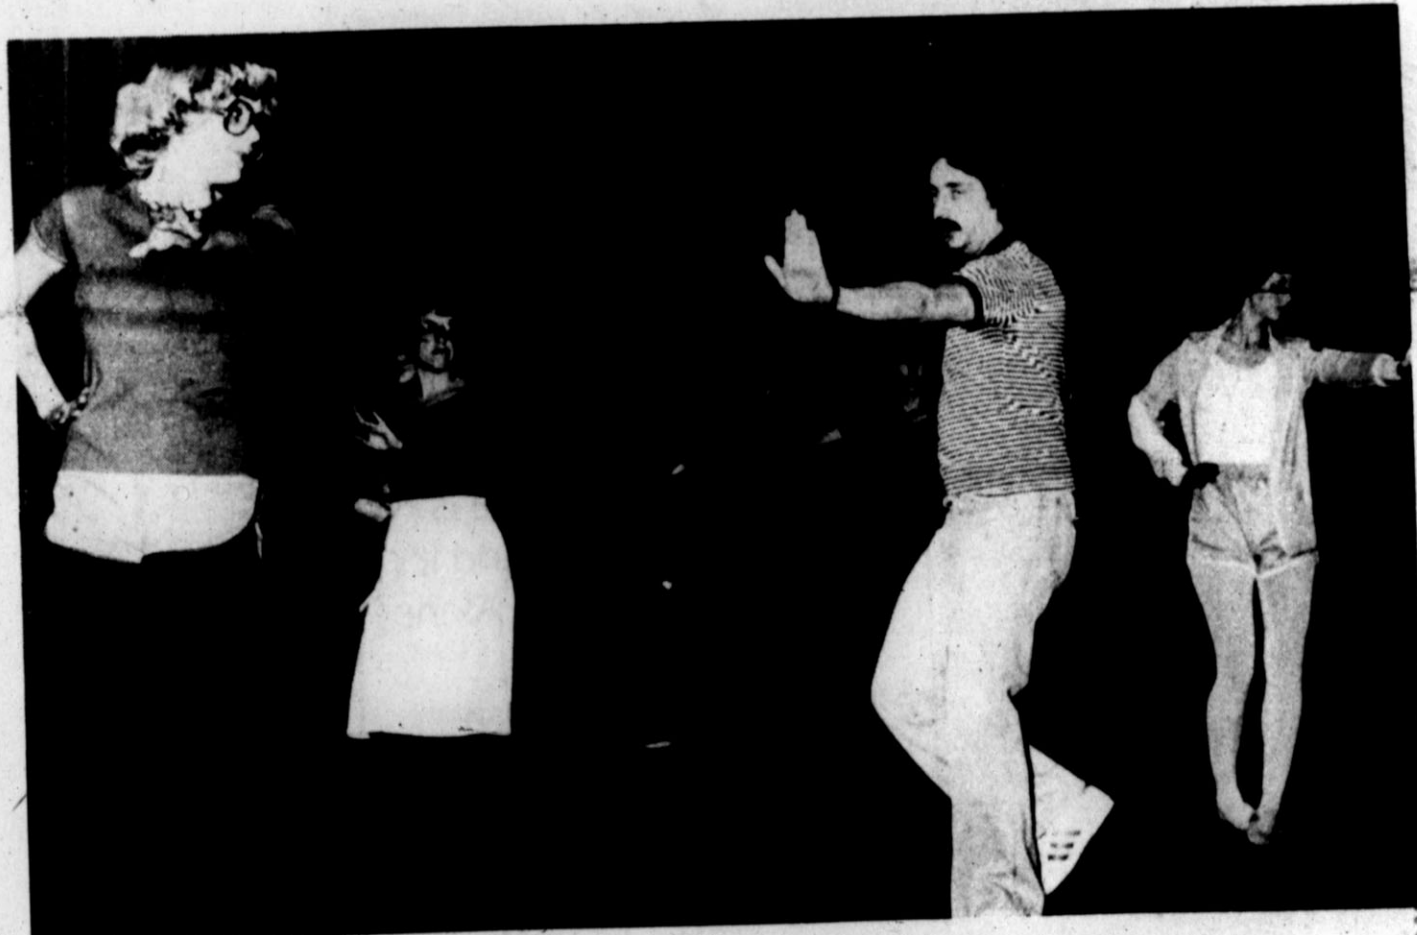

The Strictly Bull helpers, er...hoofers had a little trouble getting their act together in the first days of rehearsing the kick lines, but from all reports, they're footing the bill nicely now, in time for tomorrow's night's premier show. Admission to the Follies, which are sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, will be $4 and $5 for reserved seating and $3 general admission.

"Shake, rattle and roll" are the director's instructions for this jazzy number, which is a tribute to the 1950's. Members of this "Grease"-like production number reportedly told John Travolta and Olivia Newton John to "Move over, the Follies are coming!"

The Hereford Brand
Sunday, November 12, 1978

Although one might think from looking at this picture that Follies director Gary Bruch is saying, "Stop, I can't take any more of this!" he is actually just demonstrating a dance step. Bruch has directed 54 [soon to be 55] community musicals for the Jerome Cargill Producing Organization of New York.

The Dance of the Seven Veils is demonstrated for these vagabond Egyptians by director Gary Bruch (foreground, right) during rehearsals. Other dances to be included in the Follies will be in a Wild West Saloon, aboard a Showboat, on the beach, during the Roaring Twenties and in Dixie Land.

From Vaudeville through rock and roll, songs representing many eras will be performed during the Follies by singers such as these, who are seen in rehearsal. In addition to group songs, solos are to be vocalized by Susie McGee, Jan Waiser, Keith Ann Gearn, Bill Devers and Tim Scott.

Founders Climax Fund-Raising Drive

A total of $22,163 was donated to King's Manor Methodist Home this year by the Founder's Association, it was announced Thursday evening during the Association's 13th annual dinner at the Community Center. Approximately 300 people attended.

Bill Walden, association president, called the meeting to order and extended greetings to those present. He explained that the dinner climaxed this year's fund-raising drive, which will support the financial obligations of the home and the residents.

The 1978 slate of officers was elected to serve another term during the Association's business meeting. Assisting Walden will be Virgil Walker, vice president; and Norma Walden, secretary-treasurer.

King's Manor administrator Joyce Lyons addressed the Founders Association concerning the complexities of her industry, which she described as the most regulated one in the world. "In recent years, this industry has become a political football," Ms. Lyons told the group. She reported that the Special Committee on Aging had found that non-profit, church-related homes (such as King's Manor) have proven to be superior facilities. "It seems nothing can surpass a strong Christian commitment," she said, quoting the Senate committee.

Mrs. Lyons reported that King's Manor is now serving 140 residents on three levels of care.

Also discussing matters of interest to the association was Dr. Carl Page, associate clinical professor in the Geriatric Department of Family Practice at Texas Tech University. He spoke about the physical changes of the aging.

Special awards were presented Thursday night to donors who have contributed $1,000 or more to King's Manor through the Founder's Association. Special recognition was given to Dorothy Lee Renfro, a $10,000 donor.

Recipients of life membership in the association are the following $1,000 donors: Mr. and Mrs. C.E. Bairfield, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Carr, Mrs. Orion W. Carter, Mr. and Mrs. C.W. Foote, Mr. and Mrs. E.E. Foster, Mr. and Mrs. George F. Kinyon, Trinity Methodist Church, Mr. and Mrs. Winfred H. Tucker, Mr. and Mrs. W.V. Swainburn and the Jim B. Waterfield Foundation. Several others have given gifts of $1,000 or more anonymously.

Serving as directors this year for the Founder's Association have been Donald Hicks of Hereford, Warlick Carr of Lubbock, Mrs. Newell Reed of Brownfield, Russell Moran of Dimmitt, Bill McLaughlin of Lubbock, the Rev. Gene Wisdom of Vega, Dr. Bill Forbus or Dumas, Mrs. Jack Renfro of Hereford and R.D. Swanson of Hereford.

The Rev. Wallace Kirby, chaplain of King's Manor, gave the invocation at the recent banquet.

Providing entertainment was a singing hillbilly trio, Psycho-Ceramics of Amarillo.

The meal was catered by K-Bob's Steak House.

PsychoCeramics, a hillbilly singing trio from Amarillo, entertained the Founder's Association of King's Manor Methodist Home Thursday night during the association's annual dinner. Although they may appear to be a bit on the seedy side, in real life, these three singers are two school principals and an engineer for Pantex. (Brand photo by Denise Smith)

Mrs. Chuck Gallimore, instructor of a retailing merchandise class at Amarillo College, helps student Bonita Ballea of Memphis as she tries on this tailored suit for an upcoming style show. A number of merchants are participating in the Nov. 19th show, including Gaston's of Hereford. The public is invited to attend.

Amarillo College To Give Style Show

Production personnel, performers, and participating merchants, including Gaston's of Hereford, have been selected for the Amarillo College fashion show, a presentation slated Nov. 19 by retailing and merchandising students. Proceeds from the new-style extravaganza—$1.50 for students, $2 for adults—will help finance a trip to the spring fashion market at Dallas for students in instructor Lorrie Gallimore's retailing class in Fashion Show Procedures. The event will open at 2 p.m. Nov. 19 in the AC Concert Hall-Theatre, and refreshments will be served after the show. Tickets may be purchased at the Student Services office or at the door.

Three scenes will be presented: "After Dark," the show's general theme, will include "Sportsweat on the Go," "Disco Fever," and "Dashing, Exciting & Inviting," the latter being a presentation of new trends in evening wear. Door prizes and gift suggestions will be on stage between fashion scenes. A spotlight dance by Jo Ann White and Joe Navezrez, and a special dance routine by the Lone Star Ballet Company, to the music of the Beatles, Elvis Presley, and Grease, will be presented.

Commentators will be Kevin Rarden, Bonita Ballew, and Karon Tompkins. Models, in addition to Rarden, Ballew, and Tompkins, will include Kelli Chesser, Lisa Poole, Renee Lorenc, Cindy Crawford, Dana Allen, Connie Mitchell, Mary Beth Riley, Kathy Kenyon, Jo Ann White, Joe Navezrez, Billy Miller, Reg Land, Randy Oakley, Matt Davenport, Oscar Ocon, and David Johnson.

There Is A Boot... And It's Selby's Alone

It's luxurious. It's stirring. It's Selby. The straight-back boot you've been waiting for. In polished calfskin. Combine a stacked high heel, instep strap, and zipper for fit, you've got fall finery. It's so splendidly Selby!

Garden Club Zone Meeting Draws Panhandle Women

The Northern Zone, District 1 of Texas Garden Clubs, convened Thursday morning in the Fellowship Hall of First Baptist Church for their area business meeting. Representatives of Bud to Blossom Garden Club and Hereford Garden Club attended, as well as women from Tulla, Amarillo, Phillips, Dumas and Borger.

After registration, Mrs. Robert Betzen, president of Bud to Blossom Garden Club, called the zone meeting to order. The Rev. Doug Manning, pastor of First Baptist Church, gave the invocation.

Greetings were extended by Mrs. D.N. Garner, president of Hereford Garden Club. The response was given by Mrs. Clyde Cox, president of Tulla Garden Club.

Mrs. A.D. Parker, member of Tulla Garden Club and zone chairman, presided during business.

Mrs. Cox conducted roll call, with showed 37 TGC women and three guests in attendance. Eight clubs were represented, including Tulla Garden Club, Paramount Terrace Garden Club in Amarillo, South Amarillo Garden Club, Phillips Garden Club, Dumas Garden Club, Borger Garden Club and First African Violet Society.

Business considered during the meeting included:
* The appointment of the Zone resolution committee, composed by Mrs. John Deason, Amarillo; Mrs. H.K. Grayum, Borger; and Mrs. Wade Gillespie, Phillips.

* Incoming officers were elected with two Hereford women taking top posts. Mrs. Jess Robinson was chosen to serve as zone chairman and Mrs. O.G. Hill Sr. as vice chairman.

* Various reports were heard and TGC members were reminded that Nov. 15 is the deadline for submitting entries for available awards.

* An invitation was extended by Dumas Garden Club, which will host the 1979 zone meeting in their city.

* Mrs. Thomas E. Brown, Amarillo district director, reported the fall district meeting held recently in Lubbock. She announced that Amarillo will host the 1980 fall convention.

After the business session, Mrs. Jess Robinson introduced guest speaker Frank Ford, who presented an informative program concerning natural foods produced by Arrowhead Mills.

Prior to the noon luncheon, Mrs. L.B. Bailey of Borger, gave the invocation.

Another guest speaker, Bill Sarpalius, was introduced after the meal by Mrs. R.L. Ethridge, member of Hereford Garden Club. Sarpalius presented a horticultural study in potted plants and their culture. He discussed the effect of light, temperature, moisture, fertilizer and soil nutrients. He suggested procedures for potting and propagating plants.

At the conclusion of his program, Mrs. Billy Wayne Sisson, chairman of registration, presented the credentials report. Mrs. Joe Deason, Amarillo, then presented a slate of resolutions, which were approved. The meeting was then adjourned.

From Hereford Garden Club were Mmes. D.N. Garner, O.G. Hill Sr., John N. Jacobsen, Alfred Smith, S.S. Williams, G.W. Newsom, R.L. Ethridge, Edgar Lemons, R.L. Wilson and Jack Wilcox.

Members of Hereford Garden Club conducted local business Thursday in conjunction with the zone meeting.

Plans were finalized for the club annual bazaar, to be held Friday, Nov. 17, in Sugarland Mall as a fund-raising project. Also, members voted to make donations to nature conservation and for local Christmas decorations.

Mrs. W.C. Hromas was initiated as an honorary life member of the club by vote of members. National Garden Club calendars were distributed among members.

Club members who attended the club's business session, in addition to those present for the zone meeting, were Mmes. Hromas, Ben Childress, H.R. Cocanougher, Aaron Hutto and P.H. Gilliland.

Visiting Hereford

A number of out-of-town gardeners were in Hereford Thursday for the District 1 Northern Zone meeting of Texas Garden Clubs. Among the Garden Club officials to attend were Mrs. Thomas E. Brown, district director of Texas Garden Clubs, [left] and Mrs. A.D. Parker, chairman of the Northern Zone. Mrs. Brown is a member of Paramount Terrace Garden Club in Amarillo and Mrs. Parker has membership in Tulla Garden Club. [Brand photo by Denise Smith]

Church to Celebrate Silver Anniversary

This is a year of celebration for Wesley United Methodist Church. On December 10 the church will hold a celebration commemorating its Silver Anniversary.

It was in 1952 the need was felt for a second Methodist church in Hereford. In the early part of 1953 a meeting was held in the old sanctuary of the First Methodist Church and 49 names were gathered as prospective charter members for the new church.

At the Methodist Quarterly Conference in April of that year, it was voted that the new church should become a reality. On May 3, 1953 31 persons attended a meeting to discuss the organization of the new church and the construction of a church building.

The first worship service of the East Side Methodist Church, as it was called until its formal naming, was held, May 17 in the District Court Room of the Deaf Smith County Court House. Sixty-eight people attended the Sunday School and Worship services with the Rev. Eugene L. Naugle as pastor.

Newlyweds at Home South of Hereford

Autumn colors were conveyed in floral arrangements of daisy mums and carnations Monday evening for the marriage of Miss Jill Leslie Ross of Dallas and Larry Eugene Wade, Star Route, in Frio Baptist Church. The Rev. Johnny Tims, pastor, conducted the wedding ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Ross of Dallas. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard MuMau, Star Route.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray White of Sunnyside attended the couple as best man and matron of honor.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of antique satin with a rust-colored belt, which gathered the bodice, designed with cameo yoke and cap sleeves. Her silhouette skirt was unadorned. She carried a bouquet of autumn blossoms.

The bride's attendant wore an ivory tailored blouse of patchwork lace and matching slipper-length skirt.

The wedding party and their guests assembled afterwards in the home of the bridegroom's grandparents. Mr. and Mrs. A.A. Bryant, for the wedding reception. Candlesticks dressed with autumn flowers flanked the square, two-tiered wedding cake, which was trimmed with rust-colored roses and crowned with bride and groom figurines.

The newlyweds are at home south of Hereford, where he rapes with his grandfather. The bride has been a student at Texas Tech University, where she is a member of Alpha Chi Omega Sorority. She is a graduate of Lake Highlands High School at Dallas. The bridegroom graduated from Hereford High School.

Among the out-of-town guests attending the recent wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Steve Wade of Amarillo.

ROYAL BRANTLEY

Area Composer Unveiling Original Opera at WTSU

Thirty miles from here lives a composer who has given birth to choral music, oratorios, madrigals, string quartets and now, after more than four years of labor, is releasing an opera. His name is Royal Brantley and his two-act operatic production of "Samuel" is to premier this week at West Texas State University.

Hereford residents are urged to attend "Samuel"—a special event for this area because it is making its debut here—in the WTSU Branding Iron Theatre. It will be presented at 8 p.m. Nov. 16, 17, 18 and in a 2 p.m. matinee Nov. 19.

Reserved seats will be $4. Reservations can be made by calling 656-3248 between 8 a.m. - 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

A resident of Canyon for more than 25 years, Brantley is an associate professor of music at WT. In addition to composing the music and libretto for "Samuel," he is also directing the production, which is composed of a cast of area students. Carol Lorey, a Hereford High School senior, will find a leading role as David in the Biblical opera.

The story line of "Samuel" and its characters were freely developed by Brantley from the Biblical account found in Chapters 15 and 16 of First Samuel. The Canyon composer chose this theme because his grandmother entertained him as a child with Bible stories of David.

"She was a Merlin teacher, a folk singer and a story teller," Brantley recalled. "She told me the stories of David because he was a singer and I was a singer, too. These stories remained in my mind and the way she would tell them influenced my thinking."

The setting of the opera is that of Biblical Palestine as Samuel is reaching old age, approximately 1,000 years before the birth of Jesus Christ. "I have taken the characters and also invented some of my own. I wanted to give these characters a human aspect. I wanted everyone to think of them as people, and not as names," Brantley explained.

Brantley deliberately wrote "Samuel" on a student level, limiting the voice ranges and creating a large number of roles. Now that he has completed his first opera, Brantley hopes to continue this line of endeavor by writing a suite of a set of short works employing a minimal number of singers and instruments.

Having taught at WT for 25 years, Brantley is the senior member of the voice department. He conducts opera workshops and musicals at the university. Also, he has been active as musical director of the "TEXAS" production in Palo Duro Amphitheatre.

Brantley, his wife, Charlotte, and each of their four children had had a role in "TEXAS." Their eldest son, Dr. John Brantley served as sound engineer until he left this area to attend medical school. Their daughter Susan Milligan, who now teaches in Maryville, Mo., played the violin in "TEXAS" and led the five-piece orchestra. Another daughter, Susan Gregg, danced in "TEXAS" for several seasons and worked in the box office. The Brantleys' second son, Royal Rugel Brantley, has sung in the show and filled small roles. He will be appearing as Eliab in "Samuel."

The Corporation of Friends of Fine Arts at WT will be sponsoring a private reception and autograph party honoring Brantley after the performance on the night of Nov. 18. The formal party will be in the Canyon home of Dr. and Mrs. Charles Nester.

A number of Hereford residents are members of the Friends of the Fine Arts with Mr. and Mrs. Allen Cansler serving as chairmen of the supportive group this year. Other local residents who are Friends include Mr. and Mrs. J.R. Allison, Mrs. H.L. Benefield, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hacker, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kleuskens, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd McGee, Mrs. Dolson Palmer, Mr. and Mrs. Carl S. Perrin, Mrs. Ivan Tipps, Mr. and Mrs. Lynton Allred, Dr. and Mrs. Duffy McBrayer and members of Hereford Music Study Club.

Mrs. Conner Discusses Family Relationships

"A family relationship knitted by God" was described last week by Mrs. Joe Conner of Amarillo as she addressed the monthly meeting of Women's Aglow Fellowship here.

Referring to her own experiences in a family of eight children, Mrs. Conner emphasized the importance of respect for parents. She urged members of the audience to mold their children with Christian teachings and to conquer destructive rebellion in youngsters. Basing her testimony on 2

Timothy 1:15, Mrs. Conner added that longstanding traditions can strengthen family ties.

Serving as hostesses during the recent meeting were Kathy Cook, Betty Boggs, Elizabeth DeKoster and Mmes Ted Coleman, Larry Buckley, Steve Meyer and Gary Duggan.

Mrs. Ethel Curry Honored at Dinner

Ethel Curry of West Gate was honored Sunday, Nov. 5 in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Walser of Summerfield. Mrs. Curry was celebrating her 90th birthday.

Mrs. Curry was born Nov. 6, 1888 near McKinney in Collins County. In 1911 she married Lee Curry in Claude. Moving to Summerfield in 1924 with their two daughters, Glenn and Mary Lee, Mrs. Curry resided in the Summerfield Community until the death of her husband in 1960. During her stay in Summerfield, Mrs. Curry was active in many community functions.

Mrs. Curry lived in King's Manor Methodist Home for 13 years. Since Nov. of 1977 she has been living in the Westgate division of the home.

Five generations of Mrs. Curry's family were represented at the recent dinner.

Attending were two daughters, Mrs. Guy Walser, Mrs. Pat Morse, their husbands, and the following relatives: Mr. and Mrs. L.W. Forest of Plainview; Mr. and Mrs. Don Walser and family; Mr. and Mrs. Ken Walser and family; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Morse; Kyle Morse and family of Lubbock; Jimmy and Carrie of Brownfield; Mr. and Mrs. Cleates Hayes and family of Lockney; Dee Baker of Perryton; Mr. and Mrs. Gene Purcell of Lipscomb; Mr. and Mrs. Mac Purcell and family of Briscoe; Mrs. Donnie Purcell and family of Canadian; Wayne Walser of Summerfield; Mrs. R.A. Baker and Mrs. Laura Mundell, both of Amarillo.

Others attending were Mrs. Callie Roberson of Amarillo; Billy Tyroe of Perryton; Rance Smith of Plainview; and Mrs. Helen Parsons of Hereford.

Meet Your Educator

A new teacher at La Plata Junior High School is Lily Goodin. She is teaching ninth grade English. Mrs. Goodin has previously taught in Hereford at Tierra Blanca Elementary School in LCD. She has also taught in the Frenship and Muleshoe School Districts.

After graduating from West Texas State University with a Bachelor of Music Degree, Mrs. Goodin returned to West Texas to get her Masters of English.

Mrs. Goodin is a member of many professional organizations including NEA, TSTA, CTA, National Guild of Piano Teachers, and Federated Music Clubs of Texas. Her hobbies include reading and music.

As a philosophy of education, Mrs. Goodin believes that each student is entitled to the best possible instruction of knowledge. The teacher is entrusted with the minds of every student, and that trust compels the teacher to constantly motivate the students to superior learning. Mrs. Goodin also stated that her family is involved in the teaching profession and she has always considered teaching worthwhile and enjoyable.

OVERSEAS PUPILS
LONDON (AP) — Overseas pupils at British public schools have become such big business an agency is being formed to act as a clearing-house for them.

The agency will place foreign applicants at 1,050 recognized independent schools and will test pupils' knowledge of English.

INSURANCE LOSSES
TORONTO (AP) — Since World War II the Canadian automobile industry has had more loss years than profit years, says the Insurance Bureau of Canada.

The cost of parts, garage labor and hospital services has increased more rapidly than the increase in insurance premiums, the bureau says.

G.E.D. TESTS

Next Test Dates November 13th & 14th, 8:30 a.m., both days at Hereford High School Administration Building.

It takes a day and a half to take the tests.

Ann Landers No Worries Here

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am 29 years old, the mother of two small children. Something happened last night and I need to know whether or not I am crazy to get upset over it. Actually I got more than upset, I was furious.

This is what happened: About 10:30 at night a friend of my husband's came tearing across our front lawn on his motorcycle. We both went out to see what the racket was all about. It sounded like a truck was about to crash into the side of our house.

When my husband saw it was his buddy he asked what was wrong. The nut bellowed, "I have to go so bad I think I'm about to bust a kidney."

I immediately invited him into the house to use the bathroom. Instead of coming in he unzipped his jeans and urinated right under the kitchen window. I couldn't believe my eyes. My husband didn't say one word to him. I lost my temper and yelled, "You've got your nerve! We have a sprinkler system for when we want the lawn watered. If a neighbor saw you do that I'd die of shame!"

The slob muttered something about "That's friends for you ..." and left. My husband then proceeded to chew ME out for being snotty! According to him I hurt the guy's feelings and he wants me to apologize. Was I wrong? I need you on my side. -- Still Boiling

DEAR BOILING: You have me -- all the way. The clod probably had 14 beers and was drunk. He's the one who should apologize.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I read the letter from the woman who had the miscarriage and was disgusted with her friends and relatives because they said dumb things like, "You're lucky. A miscarriage means the baby wasn't normal." Or "It's better to have a miss than to carry for nine months and then give birth to a dead infant."

She said the nurses and doctors knew the RIGHT things to say and were a great comfort to her.

You thanked her for writing and added, "You've helped to educate a lot of people today." Well, she didn't educate me -- or anyone else. Please tell us, WHAT is the right thing to say to a woman who has a miscarriage? What did the nurses and doctors say? -- Still Ignorant

DEAR STILL: The doctors and nurses probably said, "We know this is a big disappointment but it's not uncommon. We'll see you back here, soon and next time you'll be going home with a baby."

Visitors should say very little. Two words are enough: "I'm sorry" -- and then the subject should be changed to something cheerful.

DEAR ANN: I am sick and tired of getting ripped off. In the past year two well-known magazines have stopped coming after six months although we paid for a year's subscription for one and three years for the other.

Writing to complain does no good. I'm fighting with a computer and it's driving me bananas.

My sister moved and notified three publishing companies well in advance of her change of address. So far she has not received a single magazine. What can we do? -- Fed To Teeth

DEAR FED: Write to Magazine Action Line, Publisher's Clearing House, 382 Channel Drive, Port Washington, N.Y. 11050. The service is free and speedy.

ABORTION STATISTICS
JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) -- Nine out of every 10 unmarried college graduates in Missouri who find themselves pregnant choose abortion rather than childbirth, according to recently released state health statistics for 1977.

In contrast, only 25 percent of pregnant women with less than nine years of formal education chose abortion last year.

The statistics suggest that the more years of formal education an unmarried Missouri woman has, the more likely she is to end an unwanted pregnancy through abortion.

Yet once married, women of a varying educational background seek abortions at nearly the same rate.

A record number of abortions, about 14,700, were performed in Missouri in 1977.

placques, brushes and paint.

Red Cross Update

By BETTY HENSON

The Good Neighbor.

LOCAL: The Uniformed Volunteers met for a luncheon Thursday at the E.B. Black house. Audine Dettman reported on the physical therapy program and announced that a meeting would be held November 21, 1 p.m. at King's Manor. All persons interested in the program are requested to attend this meeting.

The volunteers decided to work in the clothing room Wednesday, Nov. 15 starting at 7:30 and all volunteers are urged to attend this workday. The luncheon for December was cancelled and the January luncheon will be held in the home of Zelma Kuykendall.

The volunteers reported a total of 90 hours for those present. Audine and Bertha Dettman served as hostesses. Those present were Ora Morgan, C. Ora Cockrell, Bea Hutson, Isabel Claudio, Alice Gilleland, Zelma Kuykendall, Bertha Dettman, Genevieve Miller, Audine Dettman and Betty Henson.

The Disaster Committee is sponsoring a class for anyone interested in disaster action Wednesday and Thursday, November 15 and 16 starting at 7:30. Please call the office to register for this class.

Clyde Wily will be teaching a Red Cross CPR class Saturday, Nov. 18 at the Community Center. Wily is an instructor from the Greater Amarillo Chapter. The Greater Amarillo Chapter is sponsoring a Modular System self-paced Instructors class for CPR. For further information on this class, call the office.

At Wits End

BY ERMA BOMBECK

Few columns over the past 14 years have gotten the reader response as the one called, "You don't love me!" -- that old chestnut kids lay on you when you say "No."

It struck a chord with millions of parents who take their jobs seriously -- parents who resist the luxury of laying back saying "Yes," when they should have the guts to say "No."

We've all been there. The slammed doors, eyes brimming with tears. The rejection. The threats. The secret phone calls. The hysterics. The nights when sleep would not come. The mornings of despair when you ached for just one sign of understanding.

Why do you do it? I've asked myself the same question. Came up with a few wonderful phrases like self-respect, integrity. But mostly, I guess, it's producing a human being who knows that love is caring.

What prompted this? A letter from Joyce Winchell of Waukesha, Wis., who was cleaning out a drawer recently and came across a parody on "You don't love me," written by her daughter, Susan, a student in St. Cloud, Minn., to her mother. It's a parody we'd all be proud to find.

"I loved you enough to forgive you when you punished me for something I didn't do.

"I loved you enough to go to church each Sunday because I would have disappointed you had I not.

"I loved you enough to respect your opinion.

"I loved you enough to listen to your 'old-fashioned' ideas in hopes of learning something from them.

"I loved you enough to spend too much money, for too short a time, to come home and see you.

"I love you enough to understand that the things you did for me were in my best interest.

"I loved you enough to hold my tongue when I knew the words 'I hate you' might have slipped out.

"But most of all I loved you enough to leave you in an effort to be on my own. That was the hardest part of all."

Someday, I'd like to meet the mythical "everybody else's mother," that illusive, liberal, devil-may-care woman who is the first to sanction every madcap scheme, every party, every overnight prom but who can never be found. Until I meet her, I'll keep handing out my middle-class wisdom: "Rather to die young from a thousand no's...than to live a lifetime with a parent who doesn't care."

A cloud takes 20 seconds to recharge after lightning flashes.

Calliopian Study Club met in the home of Irene Coneway, 104 Rio Vista, Thursday evening. After a short business meeting conducted by president Jane Gulley, the guest speaker was introduced.

Bettie Ann Thornsburg of Amarillo interior designer-consultant, presented a program on interior design. The sister of Calliopian member Nancy Stewart and possessor of a degree in interior design from Texas Tech University, Mrs. Thornsburg spoke to her audience about the differences between an interior designer and an interior decorator.

She pointed out that a designer is able, when necessary, to institute structural changes to make a home or office more usable. She also touched on how a good designer works with her clients to make their home or office fit individual lifestyle and personal tastes. The members enjoyed seeing the sample fabrics and wallcoverings Mrs. Thornsburg brought with her.

Members present were Zella Mac Crump, Audine Dettman, Marye Fraser, Amy Gilliland, Nancy Hays, Virginia Holmes, Fay Holt, Sue James, Wilma Nobles, Kathlee Palmer, Meredith Wilcox, and Mesdames Coneway, Gulley and Stewart. Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the program.

MRS. OWEN ANDREWS

Frio Homemakers Club met Wednesday in Southwestern Public Service Community Service Room for a program given by Dianne Bim, of Amarillo. Demonstrator for SWPS, Mrs. Bim gave a foods demonstration, cooking and serving several tempting foods, and using electrical appliances for fast and efficient mixing and cooking.

The club president, Mrs. D.F. Yandell was in charge of the meeting. She announced the Thanksgiving supper, sponsored by the Club, and an event planned to be community wide. The supper is to be Tuesday night, Nov. 21, at 7:00 p.m. and will be in the fellowship room of Frio Baptist Church.

Hostesses will be Mmes. Weldon Stephan, Earnest Har-er and Owen Andrews. Each family attending is invited to bring a basket supper. Travel pictures are the planned entertainment to follow the supper.

Attending last Wednesdays meeting were Mmes. Billy Wall, Tommy Sparkman, Eugene Baldwin, E.F. Vogler, Miles Caudle, Owen Andrews, Walker Parris, Fred Walton, J.E. Warrick, Ted Caro, Frank Robbins, Edgar Vinson, Earl Harkins, T.L. Sparkman, Billy Warrick, Don Tindal, Johnny Robinson, Annie Lee Dobbins, Jerry Richardson, Ronnie Andrews, Jim Brooks, Kenneth Frye, and Miss Alma Andrews.

Recent visitors of the Ted Caro family were her brother, Mr. and Mrs. Butch Green, and Amy of Lubbock. Also their mother and step father, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Ferrell, of Dallas visited at that time.

Here to visit the Mike Whites are his mother, Mrs. Wallace

White, his brother, Gary White, and his wife, children, and their sister, Rhonda and son all of Biloxi, Miss. They have also visited Mrs. Whites mother, Mrs. E.B. Berryman and sister, Mrs. Clark Andrews and family.

Mrs. B.H. Baldwin accompanied the Eugene Baldwins to Levelland, Sunday, to visit her sister, Viola Keene, and their brother Draper Keene and others of the relatives.

A group of young people, the Puppeteers, of Frio Baptist Church, enacted their plays for the church recently. This is a program they have been practicing for some time. Recently they took the plays to Texico First Baptist Church to perform. Those making up the group were Juanita and Barbara Kendrick, Robbie and Dede Dobbins, Terri Harkins, Gennis and Tory Self, Kim Manion, Debbie Rogers, Kevin Sparkman, Robin Baldwin, Tammie Tims and Shelley Frye. Mrs. Bobby Kendrick is adult supervisor.

Others helping with the group going to Texico were Bobby Kendrick, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Warrick, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sims, and Mrs. Robert Dobbins. Musical backgrounds for the plays was taped by Percy Mayes.

BLEEDERS

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Hemophilia Foundation has started a drive to locate and register all American hemophiliacs, launching the nation's first national hemophilia registry.

The registry is expected to provide for the first time information about how many hemophiliacs there are in the United States and where, what kind of care they are getting and how much it costs.

The foundation describes hemophilia as a congenital blood clotting disorder which results from a hereditary defect in the blood's clotting mechanism.

Look for abundant foods this Thanksgiving.

Which traditional American foods will you serve this Thanksgiving? Poultry, potatoes, sweetpotatoes, cranberries, corn and peanuts are among traditional foods in plentiful supply this November.

How thankful the Pilgrims were for the abundant harvest native Americans shared with them their first winter on the new continent! They were quick to learn how the Indians cultivated these foods. At that time, each family grew enough to meet its own needs. This November, you'll discover an abundant supply of foods produced by a handful of farmers. One farmworker now supplies enough food for 56 people.

Food Marketing Alert, the monthly food supply outlook of USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service, points to record large fall crops of potatoes, sweetpotatoes, onions and dry split peas to supply your November table. Planning to prepare fresh fruit salads? You'll find plentiful supplies of fresh apples, winter pears and cranberries for your caking needs. "Plentiful is USDA's description of supplies that are more than enough to meet the needs. New crop citrus will be on the increase, to provide adequate supplies of oranges, grapefruit and tangerines at local markets. "Adequate" describes supplies that are enough to meet needs. At the meat counter, broiler-fryers will be the most abundant item. Turkey supplies will be light, below year-earlier levels. New-crop production will be up from November 1977, but lower than average cold storage holdings will not offset the strong demand. If you're looking for red meat, supplies of both beef and pork will be adequate. Beef production will be 4-6 percent less than last November, with more higher grade beef on the market. Pork production will climb about 7 percent above the 1975-77 November average.

Here's the food supply outlook for other staple foods:

Eggs will continue to be plentiful with output above normal. As milk production nears its seasonal low, supplies of both milk and dairy products will be adequate, with American cheese production above the 1977 level. Look for smaller supplies of canned peaches, pears, and fruit cocktail, but adequate supplies of applesauce. Canned and frozen grapefruit supplies are adequate but orange juice will remain in light supply until pack from new crop increases. Supplies listed as "light" are not enough for the normal needs. Record-high levels of production for rice, wheat, corn and dry beans are predicted. All will be plentiful.

ON THE ENERGY FRONT...

"If you are paying $100 in utility bills each month now, expect to pay $156 for the same amount of service in 1980." This quote was given at our Extension staff conference in the family resource management workshop during the summer. Like it or not, the above projection will probably come true because we have used our easily accessible energy supply. Future energy will cost more to produce.

What can we do? We can take home precautions to save energy and thus reduce the amount of the family budget spend on utility costs.

Now is the time to consider adding home insulation to increase the "R" value. Energy wise homeowners will also caulk and weatherstrip around doors and windows.

Storm or thermal pane windows will cut energy costs as will lowering the thermostat to 68 degrees during the daytime. Glass fire place doors keep heat from escaping up the chimney.

And check your waterheater. A thermostat set between 140-150 degrees F is sufficient for sanitation. If the exterior of your water heater is warm, it is wasting energy and should be insulated.

These are just a few suggestions to help conserve our nation's supply of energy and help cut down on family's energy costs. Other suggestions are available in bulletins available upon request from the County Extension Office.

TIPS FOR YOU

1. Buy firewood by the cord, which is the standard measure for firewood. A cord contains 128 cubic feet. That's a pile four feet by four feet by eight feet.

To check the amount of wood you buy, mark off a space by the side of the house or fence.

When the wood is delivered it should fill up the measured area.

2. Avoid the holiday rush by planning and coordinating your family activities now.

First, record all important events on a calendar, or in a notebook. Then, for each day, list all the activities you want to accomplish, and arrange them in order of importance.

Allow xdequate time for each activity.

Remember, the key to organization is keeping your plans flexible.

3. For this holiday season, buy only USDA inspected turkeys. The official USDA grade mark in the form of a shield assures the quality Grade "A" turkeys are high quality, meaty, and have a good appearance.

4. Make your own low cost storm window to stop energy waste, and ... here's one easy way, use brick molding to make a frame that fits snugly inside the window.

Roll edges of a 4 milthick plastic over the frame and attach with staple gun or thumb tacks. Seal the area with weather stripping and put in place.

5. With over one hundred different cold-causing viruses, chances are fairly good that you will catch a cold this winter.

If you do, drink plenty of liquids such as juices and soups. The usual dose of aspirin will help relieve some of the general achiness. Blow your nose gently to prevent spreading the infection into your sinuses and ear canals. Check with your doctor if any signs of complications are present.

GOGGLED KITTENS

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Steven Cool's laboratory kittens wear goggles.

Dr. Cool, an associate professor of physiological optics at the University of Houston College of Optometry, is conducting experiments which he hopes will help physicians overcome visual disorders in human infants.

Infants' visual stimuli during their first months of life, Cool says, affect their general intelligence, motor development and binocularity, the brain's ability to receive information from both eyes.

Among many unresolved questions, he says, is how an infant's brain takes what it sees and turns it into meaningful information. Physicians already know that what animals see during their first few months can permanently affect their vision.

When kittens are a month old, Cool equips them with goggles which block out the use of one eye. The kittens stay in goggles for about four months. He has found that even though the patched eye still functions, the animal is blind in that eye after the goggles are removed.

Between The Covers

By MARSHA BURCHINAL
Deaf Smith County Librarian

The Deaf Smith County Library will be celebrating National Children's Book Week this week. November 13-19 has been designated for this nationwide celebration, and it will bring a number of special activities to the library.

On Monday, approximately 80-100 new children's books will be made available for the public to checkout. On Tuesday, the Library will sponsor an after-school magic show. Magic tricks will be performed by John Gilliland.

On Thursday morning there will be a story-hour for pre-school aged children, and that night, the family film will be shown. This month's feature is "Where the Red Fern Grows," a full-length recent motion picture about a young boy's ambition to own and raise a pair of hunting dogs.

The new books for children include materials for all ages. The youngest reader will enjoy the large colorful pictures and captivating tales of such books as: THE NICKLE NACKLE TREE by Lynley Dodd, THE CLOWN OF GOD by Tomie de Paola, or THE MYSTERIOUS TADPOLE by Steven Kellogg. Older readers will find interesting reading in BAGTHORPE'S UNLIMITED by Helen Cresswell, JAMES AND THE GIANT PEACH by Roald Dahl and any of the eight new books from the Alfred Hitchcock mystery series.

Mysteries plus magic are the combination found in a series of books for the older readers. This series covers mysteries such as the Loch Ness monster, the Bermuda Triangle, and the disappearance of Amelia Earhart. Books dealing with magic include: HOUDINI AND OTHER MASTERS OF MAGIC, SECRETS OF GREAT MAGICIANS, AND BLACK CATS AND OTHER SUPERSTITIONS.

Although the emphasis this week is on children's materials, the adults have not been forgotten. New books to add include: ERNEST HEMINGWAY AND HIS WORLD by Anthony Burgess, STOP THIEF!, HOW TO SAFEGUARD AND SECURE YOUR HOME AND BUSINESS by Robert McDermott, BLOOD SECRETS by Craig Jones, THE MYSTERY OF AGATHA CRISTIE by Gwen Robyns, NOW AND THEN POEMS, 1976-1978 by Robert Penn Warren, SUCH A LIFE by Edith La Zebnik, ONE, TWO, THREE: THE STORY OF MATT, A FERAL CHILD by Eleanor Craig, and William Simon's A TIME FOR TRUTH. LIBRARY ACTIVITIES THIS WEEK:

Monday: New books available

TUESDAY: After-school magic show at 4 o'clock

THURSDAY: Story hour at 10 o'clock

Senior Citizens film at 3 o'clock feature: "Georgia O'Keefe"

Family film at 7:30 feature: "Where the Red Fern Grows"

TOO MUCH SALT
WASHINGTON (AP) — Among those substances that may be hazardous to your health is common table salt, says the Health Insurance Institute.

A growing number of medical authorities are advocating drastic curtailment in the amount of salt consumed each day by the average American family.

They contend that practically all of us are eating more salt than we need — so much that it is a contributing factor in high blood pressure.

It has reached the point where homemakers are being urged to count their family's salt intake as rigorously as they do calories, the institute says.

Irrigators Make Major Effort at Water Conservation

By JIM STEIERT
Brand Farm Editor

Deaf Smith County irrigators have been saluted for their "excellent water conservation techniques" in an article in the October issue of the newsletter of the High Plains Underwater Water Conservation District, headquartered in Lubbock.

The article, written by Jack W. Richards, agricultural economist for the district, and Kenneth Carver, chief of the district's agricultural division, cited four areas in which county farmers are particularly efficient in water conservation.

They include utilization of runoff water in playa lakes, use of underground irrigation pipe, use of sprinkler systems, and utilization of tailwater return systems.

According to the article, there are 280 playa lakes in the water district service area in Deaf Smith County.

Of these 280 lakes, rainfall runoff water and irrigation tailwater is being captured in an utilized from 151 of these lakes.

"Assuming an average of 150 acre feet of water salvaged annually from each lake, this conservation effort would amount to an annual water savings of about 22,500 acre feet," the authors stated.

A total of 1,128 miles of underground pipe have also been installed by local irrigators to distribute water on their farms, according to the article.

Richards and Carver also pointed out that a total of 125 center pivot sprinkler irrigation systems are now in operation in the county, and "the utilization of these sprinkler systems also represents a substantial water conservation effort."

The article indicated there are presently 376 irrigation tailwater return systems in use in the county.

"The utilization of these tailwater return systems represents an estimated savings of 32,000 acre feet of water annually," the article reported.

"There are numerous other water conservation measures being employed by irrigators in the county.

However, judging only by these four major efforts, the effectiveness of water conservation being practiced by irrigators in the county is truly impressive," the duo wrote.

"A conservative estimate of water savings by these practices of 100,000 acre feet of water conserved annually represents at least a savings of 20 percent of the total water necessary to irrigate the 380,000 acres of normally irrigated farmland in the county," they added.

According to Richards and Carver, the 20 percent savings "could be viewed as extending the life of the aquifer at least one year for every five that these conservation measures are employed."

Neighbors Still Among Biggest Farm Purchasers

KANSAS CITY (AP) - With the number of farmers decreasing almost every year, somebody must be buying up the rich farmland that makes of the nation's Midwest the world's most bountiful cornucopia.

Is it the Arabs, with their bundles of dollars from oil sales? West Europeans seeking security? Land-hungry, dollar-rich Japanese, intrigued by the huge size and strength of American farms?

To some degree. But those who have a handle on the question say foreign interest, which already has led to restrictive legislation in some states, pales beside that of the seller's neighbor.

"Not only is the fellow next door interested, but also people in the community looking for an investment or a hedge against inflation," said Lee Schuster.

He should know. He farms 2,700 acres in northwest Missouri, and serves also an executive vice president of Oppenheimer Industries.

In the latter capacity, Schuster helps buy and sell farms, raise farm capital, and manage farm and livestock operations. Currently, the company manages one million acres and 80,000 breeder cows.

Changes are occurring, well known to the farmer but perhaps less appreciated by the city dweller. For one thing, 20 percent of the farms account for 80 percent of the production.

"Because of greatly increased efficiency, farmers today can manage much more," explained Schuster, who chose Purdue, a degree in agricultural economics, and the life of a ruralist, to a Princeton education and perhaps the life of a banker or stock broker.

Because of mechanization, the minimum tillable acreage for an efficient family farm is now 640, said Schuster. To handle it, the family needs $200,000 in machinery, in addition to working capital.

For example: A farmer has 160 acres, all tillable, on which he produces 80 bushels of corn, or a total of 12,800 bushels. At $2 a bushel, his gross is $25,600.

Out of this gross must come the cost of fertilizer, seed and herbicides, which amounts to $80 an acre, or a total of $12,800, shrinking the gross to $12,800.

The economics are oppressive and convincing. From what remains, the farmer then must pay the cost of fuel, the price of purchased and rented equipment, his taxes and other costs. His maximum net is $6,400.

When the parcel goes up for sale, the mechanized farmer quite understandably is interested, most importantly because his equipment permits him to farm much more land at little more cost.

At this point, quite likely, the farmer might face the temporary obstacle of money, which brings up another change occurring in the farmbelt: Farmers today don't have to own their land; they lease.

Schuster and his company often are right there with the cash, provided by others in the farm community, by city dwellers anxious to invest in the substantiality of land, and by those foreign investors.

The rewards, he said, go to both farmer and investor.

JAMES GOULD COZZENS
NEW YORK (AP) - James Gould Cozzens wrote 13 novels during his 54-year literary career.

Cozzens, who died Aug. 9 in Stuart, Fla., was born in Chicago in 1903 but grew up in Staten Island. His first novel "Confusion" was published in 1924, when he was 21. Among his other novels were: "S.S. San Pedro," "Men and Brethren," "Guard of Honor," and "By Love Possessed."

He won the Pulitzer Prize for "Guard of Honor" and the Howells Medal for Fiction for "By Love Possessed," granted by the American Academy of Arts and Letters.

YF-YH Banquet To Honor Members

Deaf Smith County's Top Young Farmer and Young Homemaker will be honored Saturday during the annual Hereford Young Farmers-Young Homemakers banquet at 7 p.m. at K-Bob's Steak House.

The awards are presented each year to the outstanding members of the two organizations for their efforts on behalf of YF and YH, as well as the community.

A distinguished service award will also be presented to a member of the local Young Homemakers chapter during Saturday night's banquet.

Deaf Smith Rural Electric Cooperative and Southwestern Public Service Co. sponsor the OYF and OYH awards.

Bill Allen, a member of the local Toastmaster's Club, will be the featured banquet speaker.

Bergland Optimistic Over China Ag Trade

WASHINGTON (AP) - Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland says his meetings with Chinese officials make him optimistic about further agricultural trade between the two countries.

Bergland also said in Peking that an agreement was reached whereby China and the United States would seek further cooperation in the exchange of agricultural information and technology.

"Our agricultural trade has been growing and we are encouraged by the prospects and potential for further growth," Bergland said.

His remarks were at a farewell banquet hosted by Bergland for Chinese and U.S. officials before leaving Peking for Shanghai and other points on his 10-day visit to China.

The department released texts of farewell toasts exchanged at the dinner by Bergland and Minister of Agriculture Yang Li-Kung.

"We have been greatly impressed by your achievements which have enabled you to feed 20 percent of the world's population with 7 percent of the world's arable land," Bergland said in his toast.

Bergland noted that the Chinese were interested in "establishing contacts with American companies and organizations that can provide equipment, products and technology to help you expand your agricultural production."

He added that "we will begin immediately to expedite those contacts."

"We have agreed that there should be exchanges of students, study groups and scientists, and we have identified areas in which our scientists and technicians can exchange information, ideas and experiences - for the mutual benefit of our two nations," Bergland said.

Purina Research announces...

A new era in liquid supplements for cattlemen who want a lot more value and performance for their liquid supplement dollar.

New Sup-R-Lix from Purina Research is unlike anything you've ever seen in a liquid supplement. In comparative feeding tests at the Purina Research Farm, Sup-R-Lix rations:

- Increased average daily gains up to 11.2%
- Improved feed efficiency by as much as 7.2%

Molasses-based Sup-R-Lix is homogenized. It is manufactured by an exclusive process and formulation and contains a better balance of essential nutrients. No agitation is required. Compare tags and you'll see that new Sup-R-Lix contains significantly less water, too!

New Sup-R-Lix is the world's most advanced liquid supplement. We have the complete story on new Sup-R-Lix. Give us a call and we'll give you the facts and figures on why you should order Sup-R-Lix in a hurry.

Agriculture Appropriations Bill Contains Funds To Assist Great Plains 'Bread Basket' Research

LUBBOCK — The Agricultural Appropriations Bill recently passed by Congress contains an $800,000 scientific project designed to assist America's "bread basket," the Great Plains, in continuing to produce high yields in the face of droughts and a declining water table.

The funds, aimed particularly at the southern Great Plains, will be used for research and to initiate program planning for a Soil Moisture Conservation and Plant Stress Laboratory at Texas Tech University.

The appropriation was initiated through the House Appropriations Committee chaired by U.S. Rep. George Mahon of Lubbock. The Agricultural research effort has received strong support in the Senate from Texas Senator Lloyd Bentsen. Both legislators have been working closely with the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) to insure continuing efforts to sustain and bolster the strong agricultural economy of the southern Great Plains.

USDA scientists will man the laboratory, but research funded by the federal government will be done by both USDA agronomists and scientists from other universities throughout the area.

Scientists affiliated with the laboratory are expected to concentrate their studies on efficient water use by non-irrigated crops and grasslands as well as on energy efficiency in crop production.

In the future the USDA could construct a facility consisting of offices and support areas for greenhouses, storage, processing and growth chambers.

In 1959 USDA officials first proposed such a laboratory to the U.S. Senate. Last year the Senate allocated $100,000 for a study of possible locations. The Lubbock site was found "ideal" by a committee of scientists.

Tech's College of Agricultural Sciences and International Center for Arid and Semi-Arid Land Studies (ICASALS) have co-operated over the past three years to focus USDA attention on resources and potential of this region, with Texas Tech suggested as the lab's site. Texas Tech has offered the USDA suitable land on the Lubbock campus for construction of the laboratory, to be operated cooperatively with the College of Agricultural Sciences.

Dr. William F. Bennett, interim dean of agricultural sciences, said the laboratory should serve immediate needs in West Texas, threatened particularly by a declining water table in its underground aquifer. The lab also is expected to help accelerate development of more drought resistant plants and soil moisture conservation technology for other semi-arid western states and similar areas throughout the world.

The significance of the laboratory, he said, can best be seen in statistics. In the Great Plains, about 160 million acres are cropland, primarily in wheat, grain sorghum and corn. About 62 percent of U.S. wheat is produced in Great Plains states, 93 percent of the grain sorghum, 16 percent of the corn, 43 percent of the barley, 31 percent of the cotton, 58 percent of the flax, 37 percent of the sugar beets, 28 percent of the alfalfa and 23 percent of the oats.

In the High Plains of Texas there are about 11 million acres of cropland, half irrigated and half dryland, but the irrigated acreage is expected to decline from 6 million acres in 1985 to 2.25 million in 2015.

In addition, drought in the High Plains has occurred every 20 to 22 years for the past 160 years, and scientists predict that a 3-to-5-year drought on the High Plains could reduce the entire U.S. grain crop by 8 to 10 percent.

Internationally, Bennett said, there are two factors which make the new laboratory significant.

The U.S. balance of trade position is significantly bolstered by the export of grain and other farm commodities, and this balance is important to the value of the U.S. dollar.

Some 630 million of the earth's people live in arid regions. Whatever improvement can be found in plants to encourage production despite the stress from lack of water and whatever technology can be developed for water conservation will serve the world as well as the Great Plains and the United States.

One of the advantages in having the laboratory at Texas Tech, Bennett explained, is that the university's agricultural research centers already are located on each of the three kinds of soils typical of the western half of the Great Plains. These are the sandy, mixed and hardland soils.

Bennett said that ICASALS will assist the new laboratory in dissemination of technical information worldwide. In addition, the center attracts visiting scientists from many other countries with problems similar to those of West Texas, and they will probably wish to work cooperatively with laboratory researchers.

HORSE TROOPER CLEVELAND (AP) — Juanita Black, 32, has become the first woman to be assigned to the Cleveland police mounted unit in its 79-year history. Mrs. Black, a rider since she was a child, said she always wanted to be in the horse troops. She is a mother of two.

Reminder Of The Past

Fields of shocked fodder were once a familiar sight in the Texas Panhandle, but today, they call to mind an era which has, for the most part, faded into the past. A time of teams and bundle wagons, heading knives, rowbinders and threshing machines, and the enormous teams of horses and crews of men necessary to gather in the harvest.

Modern harvesting machinery does in one pass the work it took dozens of men and animals days to accomplish in the bygone era. But the feedshocks such as these north of Hereford, which are still seen on occasion, serve as a poignant reminder that harvest is still a time of plenty. (Brand photo by Jim Steiert)

BJ Manufacturing To Open Office

BJ Manufacturing Co., Inc., headquartered in Dodge City, Kansas is opening a new sales and service outlet in Hereford, Ben Neier, company president has announced.

BJM Sales & Service, Inc., to be located on East Highway 60 in Hereford, will provide a complete parts and service department to serve the needs of the cattle feeding industry. A professional sales department will offer the entire line of popular BJM mixer feeders and BJM manure spreaders. The formal opening of BJM Sales and Service, Inc. is scheduled for late December or January.

"Although we have served the cattle industry in the Texas Panhandle for many years, we viewed the store in Hereford as a definite requirement to fulfill the needs of our always-expanding program in that area," stated Neier. "The Hereford location reflects our company's long standing policy of service after the sale, and that is what our customers will receive."

BJ Manufacturing has grown to almost $5 million in sales since the company was founded in 1961 at Mullinville, Kansas. Growth of the company is a direct result of the introduction of the patented BJM Mixer Feeder into the feeder cattle industry. The past three years has seen the company successfully diversify into other areas of the farming industry, with the inclusion of its Harvest Wagon, Hydra Hitch, Rolling Stalk Chopper, and, more recently, the Chisle Chopper in the BJM equipment line.

Ada Reports 14% Earnings Increase

HOUSTON — Ada Resources, (OTC-ADAR) reported a 14 percent increase in its net earnings for the six months ended September 30, 1978 compared to the same period of 1977.

Net earnings for the first six months period were $1,692,000, or $3.32 per common share, compared to $1,488,000 or $2.88 per common share, for the first half of the prior year. Revenues for the first six months of the current year were $58,268,000 compared with $54,861,000 through September 30, 1977. K.S. Adams, Jr., Chairman, stated that improved earnings in the 1978 period primarily result from increased coal and transportation revenues and noted that the 1977 period included approximately $5.06 of non-recurring earnings. The Company's effective tax rate remained near 20 percent due to investment tax credits on coal equipment additions and statutory coal depletion deductions.

Spencer Murchison, President, stated that the Company's coal division principally accounted for the 28 percent increase in operating earnings in the first half of the year and was primarily responsible for the second quarter earnings increase to $5.25 from the $3.11 earned in the same period last year. Since July 1978 the Company has been producing and shipping approximately 60,000 tons of coal per month from its Kentucky mines. The Company expects to begin shipping 65,000 tons of coal per month from its Illinois mines in December.

In addition to its coal mining operations, Ada Resources, Inc. explores for oil and gas, markets and transports petroleum products, and owns and manages a cattle feedyard.

On The Turnrow

By Jim Stoert

Brand Farm Editor

You don't see it much any more, but there was a time when the neighbors finished gathering their crops, then got together during the first really good cold snap to kill hogs.

I haven't helped with one of these in several years, and the few times we've done it over the past decade have amounted to two or three porkers and a half dozen folks gathered around to help out.

Rather small in comparison to the all ay affairs where everyone from your part of the country used to gather where there was water, a good windmill tower or a well-branched tree to hang the hogs on, and went about the business of preparing the winter's pork.

The heat given off by the ever-present cedar post fire attracted a lot of folks, who huddled around it in the early morning as they waited for the steaming water in the scalding vat to reach just the right temperature.

I suspect a lot of those men who were standing around spitting and chewing and exchanging pleasantries over the task ahead were attracted as much by the pleasing odor of the glowing cedar post coals as they were by the warmth the fire gave off against the north wind.

An accumulation of honing steels and stones better than those found at one of these 'hawn scaldins' probably could't be had.

Everybody who was anybody had a good butcher knife, and was constantly dressing it.

The hogs were all gathered in a central area, and the sun was just cutting the morning chill a little when somebody would feel the heating water, pronounce it just right, and things would get started.

There would be the crack of .22 rifles, and men would move quickly to bleed the animals, lug them to the scalding vat, and roll them onto chains.

Four men would slash a top hog in the steaming water, rolling it over and over, the spills from the vat causing a great hiss against the fire.

In a minute or two, the hog would be rolled out of the vat, and all hands moved swiftly to scrape away bristles from the steaming carcass, the hog hair flying as they worked.

Old singletrees came into play then. They were used to spread the hind legs of the porkers, and were a secure anchor for hoisting the white, hairless carcasses up on the windmill tower.

Skilled butchers would have the carcasses open in short order, and men came running with enamel dishpans and washtubs to "catch" hearts and livers for fresh delicacies to grace supper tables that night.

It was a process that continued throughout the day, each man keeping up with his own livestock and the disposition of the pork as the hog carcasses were taken to the "salting shed."

Despite the hog heads set on a makeshift table of barrels and wooden planks, this was probably the most enticing place in the whole hog killing scenario. The red-painted wooden walls cut the cold of the north wind as you stepped inside a room filled with the wonderful odor of sugar cure.

Men were standing over the homemade tables, generously rubbing the cure into the cut-up pork or grinding sausage spiced with any number of seasonings.

The whole purpose of this community gathering sort of came home to you here as the sweet odor virtually made your mouth water as you thought of chops and hams and sides of bacon from animals grown at home.

Sometime around noon came the dinner break, and the women began pouring from the farmhouse with every imaginable good country-grown thing to eat.

The men scattered to find a place out of the wind, and made short work of what the ladies had spent all morning and part of the previous night preparing.

Ravenous appetites and the fact that all that food disappeared were the highest of compliments that could be paid to the lasses for their hard work.

The fires were stoked up again after dinner, and the men went back to what they had been about before.

By the middle of the afternoon, the hog pens were empty, and the vehicles around the place were filled with sugar cure laced pork wrapped in clean linen, and sausage in natural casings.

Gatherings like this gave you a good feeling that doesn't seem to have an equal now. There was just something satisfying about working together as neighbors on a job of importance to a lot of families looking to have something put up for the winter. And everyone shared in the fruits of a communal labor that was a much a "family reunion" as a work session.

It's a lot easier now just to walk into the grocery store, pick up a package of bacon or chops, or a ham, and be on your way. No feeding corn to the hogs for months, no gathering of men at the scalding vat on a cold morning, no scraping bristles and hoisting porkers up on the windmill tower. No dressing pork with sugar cure or stuffing sausage.

Not too much feeling of neighborliness and accomplishment in picking up a package of bacon or sausage from the meat counter today either.

And, doggone, the ham and bacon just don't seem to taste as sweet either.

Ag Dept. Delays Details On Conservation Program

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Agriculture Department has delayed putting out details on a major conservation program for 1979 but still hopes to have it ready for farmers by Jan. 1.

Officials announced Oct. 16 that the Agricultural Conservation Program, commonly called ACP, will be funded in 1979 at the $190 million level ordered by Congress. Also, details of the program were to be ready by the first of this month.

Ray Fitzgerald, administrator of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, said the program details have been delayed until Nov. 15 and that the public will have 30 days after that to comment on them.

Last month, when the Nov. 1 deadline for publishing the proposed rules was announced, a 60-day comment period after that was scheduled. The final regulations were to be ready about Jan. 1.

Fitzgerald said the comment period was shortened to 30 days so the final rules still can be announced by the end of this year.

A source who asked not to be identified said the delay was due to a logjam in processing the proposed rules and not because of any internal disputes over the program.

Congress specified in appropriating money for ACP that the program aid - which consists of federal funds to farmers for carrying out approved conservation practices - must not be used for projects "that are primarily production oriented or that have little or no conservation or pollution abatement benefits."

In his statement, Fitzgerald said the intent of Congress will be carried out by setting up national criteria and guidelines "for directing assistance toward situations in which practices can be expected to yield significant public soil or water conservation or pollution control benefits."

Also, he said, the program will include procedures that will "facilitate approval of solutions to local soil conservation, water conservation or pollution abatement problems" which are not covered by the national criteria.

Written comments can be mailed or delivered in person to Alan Durick, Conservation and Environmental Protection Division, Room 3096, South Building, ASCS, USDA, Washington, D.C. 20013.

Water Inc. Making Brochure Available

LUBBOCK - The value of the major commodities and livestock produced on the High Plains of West Texas and Eastern New Mexico in 1977 exceeded $3.1 billion, according to information compiled by Water, Inc.

Included in that figure is the market value of cotton, corn, grain sorghum, wheat and fed cattle raised in the 56 Texas and six New Mexico counties on the

FDA Plans Hearing On Drugs in Feed

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Food and Drug Administration plans to hold a hearing before an administrative law judge before taking further action on its proposal to ban the routine use of penicillin and tetracycline in animal feed.

No date has been set, the agency said Thursday, but the hearing was requested by several drug manufacturers and feed companies including Diamond Shamrock, Pfizer Pharmaceutical, Rochelle Laboratories, American Cyanamid, Merck & Co. and Vitamin Premixers of Omaha.

After the administrative law judge hears evidence from all interested parties, he will submit his recommendation to the commissioner, who has the agency's final say on any action to be taken.

High Plains. This information and more is included in the Water, Inc., publication "1977 Agricultural Production," which is available upon request from Water, Inc., P.O. Box 367, Lubbock, Tex., 79408.

Fed cattle was the leading 1977 money maker, accounting for $1.54 billion in sales. Last year the High Plains produced enough fed cattle to feed 19 million Americans for a year.

Among the major crops grown in the region, cotton was the leading commodity in terms of market value as sales surpassed $957 million. Corn was next in line with a value of $311 million, followed by grain sorghum at $167 million and wheat at $155 million.

"Since the productive capacity of the High Plains is directly tied to the availability of water, these figures show the significance of adequate irrigation water," according to Water, Inc., Executive Director Duncan Ellison.

In Texas 66 percent of the state's irrigated acreage is on the High Plains. Without that irrigated production, Ellison noted, Texas could not rank third among the states in agricultural commodity sales as it did in 1977.

"The High Plains, which depends on a depleting groundwater source for its irrigation, must have a supplemental water supply to maintain its proven capacity for producing food and fiber," Ellison concluded.

Egypt Will Purchase U.S. Wheat With Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) - Egypt will buy $214 million worth of U.S. wheat under a new 40-year Food for Peace agreement.

Kelly M. Harrison, the Agriculture Department's general sales manager, said the aid will provide Egypt with about 1.5 million metric tons of wheat - equal to about 55.1 million bushels.

The agreement is a standard Food for Peace arrangement calling for an initial 10-year grace period in which Egypt needs only to pay an annual interest of 2 percent on the loan, and a 30-year repayment period in which the interest will be 3 percent.

American and French troops attacked the British at Yorktown, Va., in 1781.

Farm Families Pay More For Utilities

WASHINGTON (AP) - Annual surveys show that farm families continued to pay more this year for telephone service and electricity.

The Agriculture Department says that the average monthly farm telephone bill for local calls this year was $10.40 a month, up 8 percent from $9.62 in 1977.

For electricity, the average monthly bill this year was $53.20 up 11 percent from the 1977 average of $48.10 a month.

The surveys are made annually during the summer months and usually cover charges for June and July.

When long-distance calls, service charges and extension phones were included, the telephone bills averaged $24.38 this year, a 13 percent increase from $21.58 a year earlier.

The basic charges for local calls averaged lowest at $8.20 a month in Pennsylvania and $8.30 in Kansas, the department said in a monthly price report issued this week. The highest rate was $15 a month in Arizona.

Costs of electricity varied widely in the country, with the highest at $5.70 per kilowatt-hour in New Jersey and the lowest at $1.60 in Washington state.

Texas Big Bass Club Compiles Data On Best Tactics for Landing Lunkers

AUSTIN — Of all the recreational pursuits of modern man, largemouth bass fishing has to be the one most fraught with mysticism, half-baked theories and downright misinformation.

How to trick 'ol Buster Bass into hitting an ingeniously decorated hook has been the subject of enough books, films and club gatherings to stagger the imagination, and the body of "how to" information produced from these efforts would fracture a computer.

However, fisheries biologists of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department have compiled some hard facts about how some of the state's best "big bass" fishermen caught fish during 1976 and 1977.

Thanks to records maintained by the Big Bass of the Month Club, department biologists

Paul Seidensticker has compiled a set of facts about which methods produced best at different times of the year, and which lakes produced the most contest-winning bass.

Seidensticker points out that this set of statistics will not guarantee an improved catch, but it may provide some insight into how some of the state's better fishermen have been successful, particularly in the "trophy" bass category. The trophy concept is subject to interpretation, but in general a bass six pounds and over is considered trophy material.

Here, then, is a list of conclusions gleaned from actual reports by Big Bass of the Month clubbers:

--All bass over nine pounds were taken between October and March.

--Plastic worms produced best during June through September.

--Spinner baits produced best during February through March and September through October.

--Crank baits produced best during January through March.

--Jug and eel produced best during October through January.

--Topwater lures produced best during March through October.

Plastic worms were the best overall lures, taking 35-40 percent of the bass over five pounds.

--Plastic worms, plastic lizards and jig and eel took over 60 percent of all bass over five pounds.

--Crank baits and spinner baits each took about 15 percent of all bass over five pounds.

--Topwater lures took about five percent of bass over five pounds.

--Spoons, grubs and jugs took the remaining five percent of bass over five pounds.

--Poorest months to catch bass over five pounds were April, May, December and January.

--Best months to catch bass over five pounds were February,

March and October.

--Other good months to take trophy bass were June, July and August.

Agencies Cooperate On Boundary Land

AUSTIN — A cooperative effort by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service to provide technical assistance to the International Boundary and Water Commission is expected to reap benefits for fish and wildlife along the Rio Grande.

The department is working with the two federal agencies on a "boundary preservation project" which calls for dredging improvements for the river channel from near Presidio north some 200 miles along the river. The channel work is designed to demark the international boundary in that section of the river.

The channel work is part of the requirements of the boundary treaty signed by the governments of the U.S. and Mexico in 1970. Construction is to begin in early 1979.

Wildlife habitat improvement will include opening of the dense salt cedar stands by clearing to provide a flood passageway. This action will also improve species diversity and create desirable edge.

Mitigation of wildlife losses, normally associated with projects of this size, will include the following: (1) wildlife plantings; (2) maintenance of critical wetland areas; and (3) creation of permanent ponds throughout the 200-mile reach.

The end result of this cooperative effort affords an example of what can be accomplished when "development" and "conservation" agencies cooperate in a spirit of mutual respect and responsiveness.

--In 1976, most bass over five pounds were reported from Toledo Bend (27), Sweetwater (20), Pat Mayse (15), Livingston (12) and Tawakoni (10).

--In 1977, most bass over five pounds were reported from Palestine (31), Toledo Bend (24), Conroe (22), Pat Mayse (14), Livingston (14), Buffalo (10) and Twin Buttes (10).

--In 1976, biggest bass reported weighed 9.0 pounds from Toledo Bend Reservoir.

--In 1977, biggest Bass reported weighed 9.9 pounds from Buffalo Lake.

--In 1976, bass over five pounds were reported from 49 lakes.

--In 1977, bass over five pounds were reported from 58 lakes.

--Bass over five pounds were reported from 70 lakes during 1976 and 1977.

--In 1977, bass over 9.0 pounds were reported from Lakes Amon Carter (9.0), Buffalo (9.9, 9.0), Conroe (9.8, 9.0), Palestine (9.4) and Pat Mayse (9.6, 9.5, 9.1).

--In 1976, one bass weighing 9.1 pounds was reported from a private lake.

Feral Hog Hunts Are Scheduled

AUSTIN — For the second year, the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department will attempt to reduce the number of feral hogs on the Engeling Wildlife Management Area near Palestine by allowing hunters the opportunity to try to bag some of the sporty animals.

Public hunts, each two days in length, will be held Jan. 20-31, Feb. 17-25 and March 17-25, 1979 and a total of 500 permits will be issued. There will be no bag limit. Hunters will be selected at a public drawing in Austin on Dec. 7 and applications must be received in Austin by 5 p.m. Dec. 4 to be eligible.

Public hunts for feral hogs were held in February and March this year on a first-come first-served basis, and personnel at the Engeling Wildlife Management Area reported overwhelming response by hunters. Area biologists point out that the population of domestic hogs gone wild at the area has increased to the point that the animals are destroying wildlife habitat.

A $10 fee will be charged for each of the 500 permits issued to help defray the cost of conducting the hunt. Applicants may apply to hunt as a party of up to four hunters. Hunters must be 12 years of age or older, and a person over age 21 must accompany any hunter between the ages of 12 and 17 and be responsible for his conduct at all times.

Applications may be obtained by writing Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, 4200 Smith School Road, Austin, Texas 78744.

TEXAS PARKS AND WILDLIFE DEPT.

BOBCAT PELTS TO BE TAGGED

LUBBOCK — A system for tagging bobcat taken in Texas has been approved and implemented by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission as authorized by the Texas laws on non-game animals and the Federal Endangered Species Scientific Association.

The ESSA program allows Texas to tag an unlimited number of bobcat pelts during the 1978-79 season which runs from Nov. 15, 1978 through Feb. 15, 1979.

Trappers and hunters who wish to sell bobcat pelts taken in this state are required to bring the pelt/carcass with the unflushed skull to one of the numerous tagging stations across Texas.

These stations in northwest Texas include by county: Cottle, Matador Wildlife Management Area, Paducah; Hemphill, Gene Howe Wildlife Management Area, Canadian; Howard, 302 N.W. 12th St. (TPWD), Big Spring; Lubbock, 5104 Avenue T, Lubbock; Randall, 4111 S. Georgia, Amarillo; Taylor, 279 N. Willis, Abilene; and Wichita, 1001 Fremar Valley, Wichita Falls.

A limited number of bobcat heads will be collected for research purposes and the others marked and returned to the trappers or hunters.

All pelts must be presented for tagging each Tuesday between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. The pelts will be tagged by P&WD personnel and the first tagging date is Nov. 21.

The successful hunter or trapper must present the pelt to be tagged in person and fill out a form indicating such information as his name and address, and the date and county where the bobcat was taken.

Prior to tagging the pelt, the P&WD official will insure the head is from a bobcat, is unflushed, reasonably fresh, and that the lower jaw is also attached. All four canine teeth must be intact. Pelts will be tagged on a first-come-first-served basis each Tuesday.

Several modifications should be noted:

--August 31, 1978: Pelts taken prior to this time cannot be tagged. However, they can be legally sold on the domestic market.

--Sept. 1 through Oct. 10: Bobcat pelts taken during this period may be legally sold with or without a tag.

--Oct. 11 through Nov. 14: Bobcat pelts taken during this period cannot be tagged or sold.

--Nov. 15 through Feb. 15: All bobcat pelts taken for the purpose of sale must be tagged at stations designated by the P&WD prior to sale.

Persons wishing to take bobcat for personal use and net for sale are not placed under the ESSA and P&WD restrictions.

The bobcat restrictions were imposed by ESSA after an undetermined number of bobcat pelts were shipped abroad to lucrative European and Far East markets in 1977. Since most states including Texas had no way of knowing the exact number of pelts taken each winter, ESSA imposed the ban with a resulting reduction in prices paid for Texas bobcat pelts last year.

It is not known how much the tagged bobcat pelts will bring this winter, but estimates indicate the price could go up from 30-to-40 percent over an untagged bobcat pelt. Last year, untagged bobcat pelts were bringing about $80 in northwest Texas.

Bobcat hunters are reminded that Texas hunting license requirements apply for taking bobcat whether for sale or not. Also, failure to tag a bobcat prior to a sale is a P&WD violation.

SOUTH PLAINS WALLEYE GROWING UP
LUBBOCK — A recent netting survey at Buffalo

Springs lake near Lubbock has furnished good news for both area anglers and the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department fishery biologists.

"The netting operations last month found numerous walleye in the 10 1/4-inch class which is about average growth for six-month-old walleye in Texas," said Joe Kraai, project fishery biologist.

"The fish were stocked as small fry last April and the new program of stocking Buffalo Springs lake at a rate of 5,000 per acre is beginning to pay off," Kraai continued.

It is hoped that this saturation stocking of walleye in the South Plains lake will produce a walleye fishery within two years. In the past, Texas lakes stocked with the normal number of walleye took from three-to-five years to produce sufficient catchable-sized fish for the angler.

More walleye will be stocked in Buffalo Springs lake next spring as the project moves into its second year of operation by the P&WD.

The walleye will not only provide an additional species for the angler to catch, but should help control the over-population of shad prevalent in the lake.

ANNUAL PARK PERMIT — A REAL BARGAIN
BUFFALO GAP — The new $2 entrance fee which became effective Nov. 1 has increased the popularity of the $8 "restricted" and the $15 annual entrance permits for Texas state parks.

A park visitor purchasing a "restricted" annual entrance permit may visit a single state park numerous times throughout the year or the purchase of an annual entrance permit will allow the visitor to enjoy all Texas state parks.

During the fiscal year of 1977-78, 15,979,565 visitors came to the 103 state parks across the state. The parks are again expecting a record year and with the new $2 entrance fee, park acquisition and operations should be financially sound.

MUSICAL HUNT

NEW YORK (AP) — A new stage musical worthy of a full-scale New York showcasing is being sought in colleges, drama schools and amateur theatrical groups by the American Academy and Institute of Arts and Letters.

The project has been set up under a $1-million gift made last spring by Composer Richard Rodgers. The rules stipulate that any show which has not had a professional production may be submitted.

After a choice has been made by an Academy-Institute committee, some non-profit institution — such as the New York Shakespeare Festival, Hudson Guild or Manhattan Theater Club — will receive between $50,000 and $70,000 to produce the property. All rights remain with the authors.

Material for the first annual award must be submitted by Dec. 1 to the organization's headquarters, 633 W. 155th St., New York N.Y. 10032. The winner will be announced next May.

England's first public museum, the Ashmolean Museum, opened at Oxford University in 1683.

P&W Commission Names New Director

AUSTIN — Charles Dicky Travis, a longtime Austin resident and member of Gov. Dolph Briscoe's executive staff, will assume duties as executive director of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department on Jan. 1, 1979, Commission Chairman Pearce Johnson has announced.

In his announcement Chairman Johnson said the interim period would allow for an orderly transition and allow Travis time to complete projects now under way in the governor's office.

Travis will replace Henry B. Burkett, a 32-year veteran with the department who has served as executive director since Sept. 1, 1977. Burkett, who is retiring, has agreed to stay on for a short period of time in an advisory role.

On retirement, Burkett plans to return to a small family ranch near the West Texas town of Burkett, which was named for his family.

Chairman Johnson said the commission's choice of Travis as an executive director was ideal because of his wide range of financial and budget experience in state government.

The department's main difficulty right now is financial, Johnson said.

Following graduation from the University of Texas in Austin with a degree in business administration in 1960, he joined the governor's staff as a budget examiner for smaller state agencies. He has served under Governors Price Daniel, John Connally, Preston Smith and Briscoe in financial and budgetary matters. During this time he worked extensively with both houses of the legislature.

At present he is director of the Governor's Budget and Planning Office and has handled all types of budgets and federal aid programs for the state.

He was born in Nacogdoches and was raised in Huntington. He is married to the former Miss Lydia McMullen of Lufkin and they have two children, Ricci and Analisa.

1978 May Mark Beginning of Boll Weevil's End

MEMPHIS -- The end of 1978 may be a special landmark for cotton -- and the beginning of the end for the boll weevil.

Those are views expressed by members of the National Cotton Council's Boll Weevil Action Committee after an inspection of the eradication trial site in Virginia and North Carolina.

Committee Chairman Robert R. Coker, a cotton producer of Hartsville, S.C., said encouraging progress is being seen by growers and scientists in the eradication test.

Chowan County, N.C., which is isolated on the eastern edge of the area. As a research project last year, the entire cotton acreage there was subjected to weevil suppression measures, Coker said.

"In a followup test this year, pheromone traps were used season long, and by late June, only 10 weevils had been found in the county," he stated.

"Starting on June 29, five Dimilin applications were applied under an experimental use permit at rates of one-half to one ounce per acre. Only two to five sprays of insecticides for worm control were required, and these were applied Aug. 4 to Sept. 7," Coker added.

He said as of the first of November, not a single weevil has been found in Chowan County since late June.

These results, according to Coker, confirm the critical importance of getting Dimilin registered in time for next year's use in this and other cotton insect programs.

Dimilin, he explained, is a new insect growth regulator that interferes with weevil egg hatch and reproduction. Its registration for cotton has been under review by EPA since December, 1976, and is expected by the end of the year.

USDA's Dr. James R. Brazzel is overall director of the trial program. He says, "Cotton growers simply can't afford to raise cotton the way they're having to do it now. In the trial area, general insect control has been costing $50 to $60 per acre per year, and control is becoming more expensive and more difficult each year because former secondary pests have not become major problems. If we could eliminate the boll weevil and rely on biological or beneficial insects for worm control to the extent we have during the first summer of the trial, there would really be a number of economic and environmental benefits."

Cotton grower and committee member Marshall Grant of Garysburg, N.C., reported this fall to the Council's board of directors that growers in the 18-county area responded perfectly in paying more than $800,000 into the trial program fund at the rate of $50.50 per acre. The other half of operational costs was borne equally between USDA and the two state departments of agriculture.

Coker and Grant explained that program operations in 1978 utilized mainly pheromone traps and insecticides to reduce weevil populations low enough to facilitate eradication with traps, sterile weevils, and hopefully Dimilin, during the following two years. In addition, chemical treatments were applied for all other cotton insects but growers will be responsible for controlling these other pests next year.

"From the program this year," Grant said, "I think we can already see some of the real benefits of having the weevil out of the picture. With the low populations going into the season we had essentially that this year. This meant no early weevil treatments and the protection of beneficials which kept worms under control until late in the season. The late season worm and diapause treatments virtually assure an extremely light weevil population next spring."

Coker said, "The trial program is truly an outstanding example of cooperation between industry and government. The Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS) of the U.S. Department of Agriculture is in charge of operations. Research and other services are provided by several other USDA agencies, state experiment stations, cooperative extension services, and state departments of agriculture. Cotton producers in the trial are prime participants, of course, and 100 percent of these are paying their 50 percent share of the cost."

He noted that because of recent cold winters and heavy

BOLL WEEVIL, NEMESIS OF THE SOUTH

... Just looking for a home may beat him out of one treatments to control worms, weevil populations have been kept low in most areas. He said this could cause some growers to think they can forget about the weevil.

"However, it can bounce back quickly like it did in south Georgia and other locations this year," Coker asserted, "and we face the horror of losing weevil control chemicals in the future due to insect resistance developing or through regulatory action. In addition, most of the newer worm control chemicals, including the synthetic pyrethroids, are poor weevil killers. "These factors," he said, "are realistic reasons why we cannot relax our efforts against the boll weevil. If we turn our back now or are lulled into complacency, the pest will surely surge back and spread to the point that it could literally destroy U.S. cotton." The Council's Boll Weevil Action Committee is made up of members from various states infested by the insect. Texas is represented by John A. Abbott of Harlingen, L. Don Anderson of Lubbock, and Dan Pustejovsky of Hillsboro.

Suit Pending Over Energy Plan

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Oklahoma and three other energy-producing states are expected to file suit in federal court here early next week challenging the constitutionality of the new energy act signed by President Carter.

Thomas Lay, assistant attorney general, said the final tentative draft of the suit is now in the hands of the attorneys general of Texas, Louisiana and New Mexico for approval.

He said he expected the suit to be filed either Monday or Tuesday.

Under the energy legislation, natural gas prices will be allowed to rise by about 10 percent annually until 1985 when price lids will be removed from most natural gas. At the same time, price controls will be extended for the first time to intrastate natural gas, or gas produced and used in a state.

Lay said Texas and Louisiana are both in the lawsuit while the last indication was that New Mexico would join. Oklahoma officials talked to Kansas leaders and said that state decided not to join the suit.

"The suit will be in the nature of a challenge to the constitutionality of the law," Lay said. He said it would center on the federal attempt to regulate gas prices in the intrastate market and to compel the states to participate in the implementing and regulation of the act.

He said the states would argue that the legislation violates the intrastate commerce clause of the U.S. Constitution and the 10th Amendment, which reserves to the states all powers not specifically granted to the federal government.

In another development, a special committee set up by Gov. David Boren to explore the need for a special session of the Legislature to deal with the impact of the energy bill on Oklahoma will hold its final meeting next Tuesday morning.

PLANT DRUGS

LONDON (AP) — British researchers are investigating certain plants that may become important sources for drugs.

Dr. David Phillipson of London University's school of pharmacy told a recent conference that a Kenyan shrub showed promise as an aid in the fight against leukemia.

OPINION IN THE UNQUALIFIEDS

Churches Nix Hruby Appeal

NEW YORK (AP) - A veteran fighter for victims of religious oppression in communist-ruled Eastern Europe, the Rev. Blahoslav Hruby, has pushed through another punch, despite procedural efforts to deflect it.

"Not in a form suitable for action," a committee of the National Council of Churches demurred in suggesting that Hruby's proposed appeal to shelved.

But Hruby, 67, a Czech-born Presbyterian minister with wide contacts in the Soviet orbit, put the matter before the council's governing board of 250 denominational representatives from across the country.

"It's tragic, the persecutions these brave and gentle fellow Christians have suffered for their faith," he said. "For the sake of God's justice, we must do what we can to help."

With that, the representatives of most major Protestant and Eastern Orthodox churches overrode the committee—and voted to take the steps advocated by Hruby, head of the Research Center for Religion and Human Rights in Closed Societies.

The council sent a letter to President Carter, urging him to extend asylum to the seven Pentecostals who have taken refuge since last June in the U.S. Embassy in Moscow.

Hruby, who also edits the documentary journal Religion in Communist Dominated areas, said those in the embassy are among 200 Soviet Pentecostal families who seek to emigrate to the United States to escape years of harassment and persecution.

Many have served time in labor camps and psychiatric hospitals and have seen their families forcibly separated for "re-education" of their children, he said.

In its letter, the council offered to allocate $2,000 for maintenance of the seven in the embassy, and suggested that two Soviet U.N. employes recently convicted of spying in the United States be exchanged for the seven and for 11 other believers in Soviet prisons or concentration camps.

Those listed include Eastern Orthodox, Jewish and Baptist prisoners, among them the Rev. Georgi Vins and his son, Peter, imprisoned descendants of a long line of dissenting Baptist preachers.

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Information on insulin

DEAR DR. LAMB - I would like to know if you have any information about the drug insulin? What diseases is this drug used for? What are the aftereffects of insulin and what happens if you have an overdose?

DEAR READER - Insulin is not a drug. It is a hormone. It is a protein. The insulin protein is made up of a combination of many different amino acids. It's chemical structure is relatively complex.

The islets of Langerhans in your pancreas form insulin. The insulin is a major factor in controlling the level of your blood glucose (sugar). If you don't produce enough insulin, that is one cause of diabetes, meaning a high blood glucose level. This is the main reason for giving insulin to anybody.

In the past, small amounts have been used in an effort to try to stimulate people's appetites, or larger amounts have been used to induce insulin shock in psychiatric therapy. But, in general, the main purpose of insulin is in individuals who don't produce enough insulin hormones themselves, and that means in the treatment of diabetes.

up the arm of the mower. It was not easy to do and I had to do this several times a day with my right arm.

That summer I noticed that the right side of my chest was larger than the left side. I also noted that the left side went in, especially at the top, under the collar bone to the left of my breast bone. My pediatrician said I have a pigeon chest. Could this have been caused by the excessive development from starting the lawnmower? I am 14 years old, 5-foot-8 and weigh 110 pounds.

DEAR READER - A deformity of the breast bone (sternum) and chest area is not uncommon. This can be with the breast bone bowed forward causing the chest cage to be in the shape of a chicken's breast, which is the source of the term pigeon chest. Or, the breast bone could be depressed inward, called pectus excavatum. Then it is quite common for one side of the body to be a bit larger than the other side.

As long as these are minor variations, they usually cause no disorder in body function. But they can cause a person to be concerned about his physical appearance, usually more concerned than the condition warrants.

If they are simply minor deformities, you are probably better off not to worry about them, or to do anything about them. If there is a major distortion, particularly a depression of the sternum, the deformity can dislocate the normal position of the heart, and perhaps cause changes in the normal dynamics of breathing. These sometimes need surgical correction.

I don't believe your condition was caused by running the lawnmower. The fact that you are able to do that amount of physical exertion suggests to me that the deformity you have does not limit your physical capacity. You will probably always have a disproportion in the size of your chest and some deformity.

'Most Wanted'

Captured by FBI

ATLANTA (AP) - Fugitive pornographer Mike Thevis, one of the FBI's most wanted men, has been captured, the FBI said Thursday.

Thevis was captured in the northeast region of the United States, spokesman Bill McGrath said.

Thevis, 46, escaped in April about two months before he was indicted by a federal grand jury in Atlanta on charges of arson, murder and extortion in the building of his X-rated bookstore and peep-show empire.

He slipped out an unlocked side door of a county jail in New Albany, Ind., where he was in custody while testifying in a civil suit in Louisville, Ky.

DEAR DR. LAMB - I would like to know if you have any information about the drug insulin? What diseases is this drug used for? What are the aftereffects of insulin and what happens if you have an overdose?

DEAR READER - Insulin is not a drug. It is a hormone. It is a protein. The insulin protein is made up of a combination of many different amino acids. It's chemical structure is relatively complex.

The islets of Langerhans in your pancreas form insulin. The insulin is a major factor in controlling the level of your blood glucose (sugar). If you don't produce enough insulin, that is one cause of diabetes, meaning a high blood glucose level. This is the main reason for giving insulin to anybody.

In the past, small amounts have been used in an effort to try to stimulate people's appetites, or larger amounts have been used to induce insulin shock in psychiatric therapy. But, in general, the main purpose of insulin is in individuals who don't produce enough insulin hormones themselves, and that means in the treatment of diabetes.
