County Delays Road in Fight over Land

By PAUL SIMS
Managing Editor

Deaf Smith County Commissioners Court, acting on the advice of its attorney, restarted proceedings Monday to obtain the right-of-way for a proposed county road from an unwilling landowner.

A jury of view, appointed last month by commissioners, stated that quarter-mile-long 30-foot strip on the property of Glen Hamilton, a Farmer County farmer who owns land east of Hereford, could be bought by the county for $2,000.

The proposed road will serve as a school bus route for families who live just east of the airport.

Hamilton's attorney, Doyle Elliott of Friona, told commissioners Monday that proceeding leading up to the jury's findings were not done in accordance with the law. He also said that $2,000 would not be enough to cover damages for Hamilton.

Elliott said that the road would not be in the interest of the general public—"just a few private individuals"—and therefore should not be constructed.

Commissioner Alfred Smith told Elliott the road would service nine schoolchildren which makes construction a public necessity.

"Those families out there don't think about the road until it rains," Smith said. "Then they wonder how they're gonna get out. Then they wonder how they're gonna get out. Then they hop on a commissioner."

Elliott said that the route of the road was not adequately described in the landowners' petition.

"From a legal standpoint, there is no beginning and ending of the road in either that petition or the commissioner court's order," Elliott said.

"The notice of a jury of view must be served on each landowner. Notices must be posted by affidavit in two public places in the vicinity of the road, plus in the courthouse," he said, adding that since the two outside notices were placed on telephone poles on private property they were invalid.

Concerning the amount of damages determined by the jury, Elliott said: "Mr.

Hamilton feels that this road damages his whole half section," prompting him to dispute the $2,000 restitution and instead seek $10,074.

The commission asked District Attorney Roland Saul, who represents the county, to investigate Elliott's charges.

Saul, after the court recessed for lunch, recommended that proceedings be restarted to ensure their legality, and the commission agreed.

In other business during the regular semi-monthly meeting of the commission, it reappointed Commissioner James Voyles to the county juvenile probation and child welfare board, approved two budget amendments, accepted the lower of two bids for a road maintainer, tabled action on the purchase of microfilm equipment for the sheriff's office, set the 1979 holiday schedule for county employees, agreed to continue a grant for the district attorney's office and discussed the formulation of policies on new block and lot developments in the county.

County Judge Sam Morgan told the commission that on several occasions persons have developed lots in the county without the court's approval.

Morgan said that he had sought advice on the matter from Randall County Judge Woody Pond, whom according to Morgan has had a similar problem in his county. Morgan gave commissioners a copy of Randall County's written road policies to study in case formulation of similar rules governing roads in relation to subdivisions became necessary.

Saul asked the commission to resolve it would continue a state grant to pay the salaries of an assistant district attorney, investigator and office manager. Saul said that to continue the grant, the county must pay 20 percent of the salaries.

The commission approved the request and instructed County Auditor Alex Schroeter to amend the budget to include a 6.05 percent pay increase for the three employees. The increase was approved recently on an across-the-board basis for county employees.

Morgan said the state had agreed (See COUNTY, Page 2)

Railroads May Seek New Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) - The financially depressed railroad industry says inflation will eat up much of its newest freight rate increase and it will seek another price hike in the future.

A 7 percent increase approved by the interstate Commerce Commission Monday "will improve our situation in the coming four-to-five months," said Richard Briggs, chief economist for the nation's rail industry.

"By that time inflation will have eaten up most of it."

Briggs, refusing to forecast more specifically when a new increase might be necessary, said railroads have suffered an 11 percent inflation rate in recent years.

"We can't survive for an extended period without a future rate increase," he said.

The ICC told the railroads they could raise the rail shipping price for thousands of products by 7 percent effective Friday.

Briggs said the impact on most consumer items would be negligible. The electric power industry has said a higher price for coal shipments could increase electric bills, with the amount varying across the country.

A spokesman for President Carter's Council on Wage and Price Stability called the 7 percent increase a victory for Carter's anti-inflation program because it falls within the voluntary price guidelines.

But those same guidelines could be violated if the railroads received another increase from the ICC within the next 12 months.

Hereford Man Dies in Collision At Unlighted Railroad Crossing

A 22-year-old Hereford man was dead on arrival at Deaf Smith General Hospital Monday night after his car struck a train locomotive just inside the east edge of the city on Progressive Road.

Raul Carrio Villalreal Jr., 218 Raymond, was northbound on Progressive Road when he reached the unlighted railroad crossing in front of Moorman Manufacturing Co. and struck the front of a westbound locomotive.

Texas Department of Public Safety officers and the Hereford Police Department investigated the collision, which resulted in extensive damage to Villalreal's car, a 1977 Monte Carlo. The locomotive was not damaged, according to police.

Bobby James Milton, of Amarillo, was engineer of the locomotive. Villalreal was a 1976 graduate of Hereford High School and was employed by Ralston Purina Co.

Services are pending with Smith & Co. Funeral Home. Rosary will be held nightly at 8 p.m. at 218 Raymond, where the body will lie in state.

He was born Oct. 28 in 1956 in Hereford. He married Angelita Garcia ten days ago in St. Joseph's Catholic Church where he was a member.

He is survived by the widow, his father, Raul Villarreal Sr.; a brother, Tim Villarreal of Hereford; three sisters, Felicitia Hernandez, Crisela Mendez and Rosa Villarreal, all of Hereford and Mr. and Mrs. Juan Ledezma of Casa Grande, Ariz.; and his parents-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jose Garcia of Hereford.

Texas Town Asks for Government Help over Natural Gas Supply

MENARD, Texas (AP) - Residents of Menard have appealed for state and federal help for a severe natural gas shortage that has hit the west-central Texas community of 3,000 persons.

Gas service is sporadic. Mayor Macy Haygood said it has been reduced to almost nothing at peak times, such as early morning and after 5 p.m. The Menard county hospital and nursing home was without gas for about five hours Friday. The gas went out again at 3 a.m. Saturday and didn't come back on until 11:30 a.m. Saturday.

The natural gas well which provides the city's gas is almost depleted, and it will take about $100,000 - money the town doesn't have - to build a pipeline to a second well.

Haygood said he called officials with the Texas Railroad Commission and also the offices of U.S. Rep. Krueger, U.S. Sen. John Tower and Congressman-elect Tom Loeffler for help.

"We need emergency money from the federal government - we don't need money next year, we need it now," Haygood said. "This is the first really cold spell. As the weather gets worse, we'll just be in worse shape."

Residents have gone to electric heaters, butane tanks and extra blankets to fight the temperatures that have dropped as low as 13 degrees in the past week.

Blimp-like silver butane tanks stand beside many of the houses in Menard. City councilman Dan Feathe said some of the hook-ups were done as temporary measures, and he and Haygood both said they fear faulty hook-ups may cause an explosion.

Switching to butane would be difficult for the hospital, since the facility is located in a fire zone and the boiler is in the basement - rather than above ground level as butane fuel boilers are required to be.

Extortionist's Voice Admitted in Trial

HOUSTON (AP) - Jurors were expected today to hear the voice of the mysterious "DMR," an otherwise unidentified extortionist who threatened to kill millionaire Cullen Davis.

Prosecutors said they would play two tape-recorded telephone calls from "DMR" to the suburban Fort Worth residence Davis shared with his girl friend Karen Master.

They maintain it is not the voice of FBI informant David McCrory, 40, who a defense witness said was willing to pay $20,000 to have Davis killed.

Grijalva Murder Testimony Begins

FORT WORTH (AP) - Prosecutors will try to paint a grisly picture of blood and brutality in testimony scheduled to begin his afternoon in the capital murder trial of David Grijalva.

Attorneys finally agreed on a jury Monday, ending the parade of 101 prospective panelists examined during an exhaustive, month-long selection process.

Grijalva, 26, could face death by lethal injection if convicted of the gruesome slaying of Jeanette Powers during a robbery last year at the Amarillo pizza restaurant she managed.

Prosecutors allege Grijalva herded restaurant customers and employees into a side room and was looting the cash register when surprised by Ms. Powers.

They will attempt to prove Grijalva slashed her throat, beat her on the head with a 15-pound rolling pin and then stuffed her head in a pasta mixer.

A key prosecution witness may be Grijalva's ex-wife, who allegedly accompanied him.

Extortionist's Voice Admitted in Trial

The calls were made last December and followed a typewritten letter in which the author demanded $10,000 to cancel a contract he said had been issued on Davis' life.

No money exchanged hands and Davis, 45, was not harmed.

The Fort Worth industrialist is on trial here accused of ordering McCrory last August to murder Davis' divorce judge and others.

Jurors have listened several times to tape-recorded conversations between Davis and McCrory in which the judge's death was discussed.

One of two FBI agents involved in the extortion probe, testified Monday that Davis heard the telephone tapes and "said he did not recognize the voice."

Special Agents Bobby Oakley and James Acree both disputed defense claims that Davis supplied them last December with "McCrory's name as a suspect."

"He said he had no idea who it was," Oakley said.

Government Set-Aside Checks Total $6 Million

WASHINGTON (AP) - Wheat and barley farmers who cooperated in this year's acreage set-aside programs are getting checks totaling about $600 million in time to help with their Christmas shopping.

The wheat payments total $531.5 million and barley checks add up to $68.8 million, the Agriculture Department said Monday.

Ray Fitzgerald, administrator of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, said $56,226 checks are being mailed.

The checks represent about 85 percent of about $703 million that will be paid to eligible farmers for taking part in the 1978 programs covering wheat and barley.

Officials expect the 1978 wheat payments to total about $620 million and barley payments about $83 million when completed. About 95 percent of the payments are expected to be made by mid-January.

In a related announcement, Fitzgerald said almost 1.2 billion bushels of wheat and feed grain have been stored by farmers under a program to keep the grain off the market for up to three years so prices increase.

The stored grain as of field reports Dec. 8 included about 630.9 million bushels of corn, 407.5 million bushels of wheat, 36.6 million bushels of barley, 40.1 million bushels of oats and 75.1 million bushels of sorghum.

The deadline for farmers signing up to store grain was Nov. 30, but figures showing how much they have in the program continue to be updated by the agency.

Payments for 1978 producers of corn and sorghum will not be made before next April because the department will not know for some time if the payments are to be made and, if so, what the rate will be.

The Branding Iron 'Supe' Subs To Stay in Touch with HISD Students

By PAUL SIMS
Managing Editor

Students don't seem to feel uneasy when Harrell Holder teaches them, even if he is the superintendent of the Hereford Independent School District.

Holder, in fact, says he's like any other substitute—it's just a matter of the students getting used to a new face in the classroom.

"I think after the first hour, after they get used to me, they see me as any other teacher," says Holder. "In elementary schools, they don't envision me as an authoritative person."

Well, some pupils do. A Tierra Blanca fourth grader wrote Holder a letter after he spoke at a career orientation period.

"The main reason I like you is because you are the only one who can boss Mr.

Shook (Tierra Blanca principal Phil Shook) around," the students wrote.

What's an authoritative person like Holder doing in a place like the classroom anyway?

"I do it only to keep in touch with students," said Holder, who taught before he got into school administration. "I plan to try to substitute in every one of the schools between now and the end of the year. It was my goal last year." He only had time to sub five times, though.

"I try to put in a full day. I enjoy doing it. I've enjoyed the varied experiences I've had substituting."

Holder feels he might relate better to older students than those in the elementary grades.

"My favorite kids to work with down through the years have generally been older kids. But my favorite day last year substitute teaching was with a group of fourth graders. I felt it was a situation where we broke down barriers pretty fast and got down to the business of teaching and learning," said the HISD superintendent.

Holder's main responsibility in the school district is administering the nine HISD campuses according to the policies established by the locally-elected board of trustees. Holder was named superintendent of the Hereford district in September, 1976, while chief administrator of the Bishop ISD.

Holder was superintendent at Bishop for six years. Prior to that he was superintendent at Maple (Three Way

Meir Buried Today On Jerusalem Hilltop

JERUSALEM (AP) - Golda Meir, the iron-willed grandmother who led Israel in peace and war, was buried in a plain pine coffin on a Jerusalem hilltop today among other pioneer leaders of the Jewish state. An army chaplain prayed for peace as the grave was filled.

Pouring rain deepened the gloom Israelis felt as they watched the televised state funeral.

The former prime minister, who died Friday at the age of 80, was interred on Mount Herzl, before a pine tree, in a section of the national cemetery called The Plot of the Nation's Great. The grave was next to that of the prime minister she succeeded in 1969, Levi Eshkol.

President Yitzhak Navon and Prime Minister Menachem Begin headed 1,000 Israeli officials, foreign representatives, relatives and friends invited to the graveside service.

Ten army chaplains chanted prayers as the coffin was carried into the burial ground by six army generals and two police inspectors. An honor guard of 60 cadets stood at attention, soaked by the rain, and the mourners huddled under umbrellas.

Mrs. Meir's son, Menachem, chanted Kaddish, the Jewish prayer for the dead, as the Israeli flag was removed from the coffin and it was lowered into the ground.

"Remember her, oh Lord, with mercy," "Remember her, oh Lord, with mercy," the army's chief rabbi, Maj. Gen. Gad Navon, prayed.

Army Hits Iran Streets After Riots

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) - The army returned to Iran's main streets after two days of huge nationwide demonstrations against Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi in which five persons were reported killed in Isfahan and property was damaged in other cities.

The tanks and columns of troops rolled back through Tehran Monday evening, restoring the 9 p.m. - 5 a.m. curfew and back through Tehran Monday evening, restoring the 9 p.m. - 5 a.m. curfew and the ban on public demonstrations after hundreds of thousands of fist-waving Iranians streamed through the streets chanting "Down With The Shah!"

The Tehran demonstrations were peaceful, but official sources said at least five persons were killed and many others wounded in the main square of Isfahan when troops opened fire on thousands of rioters after tear gas failed to disperse them.

The sources said the crowd turned violent during a protest march, damaged banks and public buildings, including the headquarters of the secret police, SAVAK, and tore down statues of the shah and his father, Reza Shah, who founded the Pahlavi dynasty in 1925.

Marchers in the cities of Yazd, southeast of Isfahan, and the holy city of Mashhad, in northeastern Iran, also attacked banks and public buildings and tore down statues of the shah. On Sunday the rioters stormed the Hyatt Hotel in Mashhad, wrecked the ground floor and tried but failed to set the hotel's nightclub afire, sources said.

Police Chiefs' Death Under Investigation

TYLER, Tex. (AP) - The head of detectives said the Tyler Police Department should complete its investigation "by the end of this week" into the Sunday night fatal shooting of Police Chief Ronnie Malloch.

Capt. Bob Bond said the results of the probe will be turned over to District Attorney Hunter Brush for consideration by the Smith County grand jury.

Malloch's wife, Carolyn, has been charged with murder. She was released from Smith County Jail late Sunday after her father posted the $5,000 bond set by Justice of the Peace H.M. Shelton.

Malloch, 41, was found shot to death about 7:30 p.m. Sunday on the kitchen floor of his home in south Tyler.

An autopsy Monday showed he was shot four times - in the groin, back, chest and hand - with a .38-caliber pistol. Police recovered a fifth, spent bullet in the kitchen ceiling.

Investigators confiscated a .38-caliber revolver that belonged to the police chief.

Willie Hardy, named acting chief Sunday, will serve for several weeks until a successor to Malloch can be named. City Manager Ed Wagoner said applications are being accepted, but said it probably will be two to four weeks before the decision is made.

Hardy has been with the Tyler Police Department for 11 years. He joined the force in October 1967 after serving two years with the Air Force.

LBJ's Brother Dies Monday of Cancer

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) - Sam Houston Johnson, only brother of President Lyndon B. Johnson, will be buried Thursday in the family plot on the LBJ Ranch at Stonewall.

Johnson, 64, died early Monday after a long battle with lung cancer.

The former president, five years older, died of 1973 after a fatal heart attack. He is buried in the family cemetery along with his father, mother and other family members.

Funeral services for Sam Houston Johnson will be at 11 a.m. Thursday at the Community Church in Austin with burial following at Stonewall, 65 miles west of Austin.

The Johnson family said memorial contributions may be made to the Rebekah Johnson Bobbitt Cancer Research Fund.

The last member of the Johnson family to visit Sam Houston Johnson before his death was a niece, Luci Johnson Nugent, and her four children on Sunday afternoon. Lady Bird Johnson, the president's widow, visited him last Thursday.

With him at the time of death was a close friend, Alfred Stahley of Austin, who had been called by Johnson early Monday morning.

Sam Houston received a law degree from Cumberland University in Tennessee but never practiced law. He served on his brother's congressional staff during LBJ's early career in national politics.

FBI Installs Scene Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) - FBI Director William H. Webster said Monday his agency would "freeze the scene" and take full control of the investigation of any future assassination of a president or other elected U.S. leader.

He said one purpose of the FBI investigation would be to lay to rest untrue "conspiratorial" questions that have a way of rising and avoid the sort of mistakes that followed the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

"I'm reasonably sure the Secret Service would take steps to freeze the scene" immediately after an assassination, Webster told the House assassinations committee. "We would freeze the scene as soon as we arrived there." The Secret Service provides security to the president and vice president and their families.

Webster said the FBI would implement a "major-case operations plan," which is getting its first test in the investigation of the assassination of Rep. Leo J. Ryan, D-Calif., by Peoples Temple members in Guyana.

The FBI chief also suggested that the Kennedy family did not have control over the evidence of the late president's body. He said federal law clearly indicates the government "may assert exclusive jurisdiction over the body of an assassinated president."

The House committee's chief counsel, G. Robert Blakey, said at public hearings in October that then-Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy apparently destroyed as evidence the late president's brain, for fear it would be exploited.

The law which Webster cited was passed in response to Kennedy's assassination. It makes such murders a federal crime and puts the FBI in charge of the investigation.

Webster said that under the new assassination plan, the FBI would:

-Immediately set up command posts in Washington and at the scene and "would consider pending an assistant director or other ranking official to the scene to assume overall command."

-The Armed Forces Institute of Pathology would send medical experts to the scene to obtain information and design-nate a staff of pathologists to conduct the autopsy.

-The FBI would try to obtain all news and private photographs and recordings for the investigation, under court order if necessary to seize them from news offices.

Webster said this step is "not permitted except with my approval and then only in extraordinary circumstances, as presumably would be the case if a president were assassinated."

In the case of Ryan's death at Jonestown, Guyana, Webster said FBI command posts were established at FBI headquarters and in Guyana; Dover, Del., where the bodies of suicide victims were returned; Charleston, S.C., where survivors were expected to return, and San Francisco, the Peoples Temple headquarters.

Iran—Top Customer

WASHINGTON (AP) - A report published Monday by the Agriculture Department says Iran is the top cash customer in the Middle East for American farmers.

The report, published by the department's Foreign Agricultural Service, avoided any reference to Iran's strikes, violence and political turmoil which have a major bearing on it continuing as a buyer of American farm products.

Traditionally, the agency's weekly publication, Foreign Agriculture, avoids such sensitive issues in articles relating to U.S. agricultural trade.

During the Vietnam war, for instance, the agency continued to report agricultural and trade developments in Southeast Asia with few references to the military situation or even that a war was going on.

The report, however, does help put into perspective the recent value of Iran in the rapidly growing Middle East market for U.S. farm products, thus implying indirectly how much could be lost if Iran is unable to recover.

Aubrey C. Robinson, who wrote the report for his agency, acknowledged that it did not include mention of Iran's civil strife or raise questions about the effects on future U.S. trade with the country.

"We can't say that," Robinson told a reporter, but added in response to questioning that the report did imply American farmers have a lot at stake in how Iran copes with its internal problems.

The report said U.S. farm exports to Iran this year are expected to total more than $500 million, up from $423 million in 1977.

The sales record is $534 million which was set in 1974, when Iran "actually over-bought, purchasing products at rather high prices" at a time when a grain scarcity prevailed in the world, the report said.

In 1972, prior to soaring prices of oil and food commodities, and the takeoff in overseas spending by the richer Middle East countries, Iran's purchases of U.S. farm products was only $72 million.

The report was based largely on observations by Paul J. Ferree, who until recently was the U.S. agricultural attaché in Tehran, Iran's capital. Ferree currently is in a similar post in Bangkok, Thailand.

Large trade surpluses resulting from petroleum exports, rising per capita incomes and "sharp population shifts from rural to urban areas" have led to an increase in demand for consumer items, the report said.

"This is taking place during a slide backwards in Iran's quest to regain the agricultural self-sufficiency that prevailed prior to the economic boom of the early 1970s," it said.

Iran is about 75 percent self-sufficient in crop and livestock production, and the government's goal is 80 percent.

"But the trend is actually going in the opposite direction as food demand outstrips gains in agricultural productivity," the report said.

This year the United States accounted for about one-fourth of Iran's agricultural imports and is the largest outside provider of wheat, rice, feed grains, tallow, vegetable oils, protein meal and dairy cattle.

Holder taught at both Grady and Stanton before entering administration for the first time as elementary school principal at Knott, Texas, in 1958. He was there for a year then accepted the position of high school counselor at Denver City, where he remained five years.

Born at Scranton, Texas, Holder "moved around all my life. During World War II, I think I attended 12 schools."

He was graduated from Stanton High School in 1949, then attended Howard County Junior College at Big Spring for two years. A pre-law student, Holder was graduated from Texas Tech in 1953 with a bachelor of arts degree in government.

Holder received his master's degree in 1959 at Tech and picked up 63 hours toward his doctorate of education. He received it in 1976 at Nova University in Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

School work wasn't his first choice. "When I graduated from college in 1953," Holder said, "I intended to go to law school. I also had a commitment with the United States Army forthcoming."

County

Schroeter asked the court for permission to transfer $5,800 from the U.S. Highway 60 bond fund to the general fund, because the highway debt had been paid. Schroeter said. Commissioners approved the request.

He taught and, like he told the principal, served in the Army from 1953, '55.

"After I got out, I was admitted to the University of Texas law school. Before I ever went to the first class, I just pitched my things in the car and went to Texas Tech and enrolled in graduate school to pick up my teaching credentials. I just remembered how much I enjoyed it."

Holder says he has students in mind whenever he recommends policy and changes or hires teachers.

"One of the major things I hope to accomplish is to improve achievement in language arts areas. Just last week I asked our two junior high principals to visit Dumas where they operate a two-bell system—a seven-period schedule for seventh and eighth grade students and six periods of freshmen. Like at Dumas, it would allow us to have additional language arts classes for our seventh and eighth graders.

"I feel there is room for improving our students' reading achievement and written communicative skills. They are both so important. They are why we go to school."

Another change Holder hopes to see is the elimination of one junior high which could happen if ninth graders were added to Hereford High School.

"We could operate more cost effective and save tax dollars by doing it," Holder said.

Only the best teachers are hired in the school district, Holder stated.

"I feel our teachers are definitely top choice people. If we are in competition with other school districts in the area, even with those that pay better, the best teachers seem to consistently choose Hereford."

Landers Honored

Ann Landers has been selected the "most influential woman in America" in the World Almanac's fourth annual selection of America's 25 most influential women. It was announced last week. Lander's advice column appears daily in The Brand.

The nationally syndicated columnist topped the balloting in the World Almanac's poll of those women "who either behind the scenes or in the public eye, influence thoughts and events in America."

Landers was honored along with a prestigious group of women that included financial expert Sylvia Porter and humorist Erma Bombeck.

Landers was also honored by the American Medical Association on December 3, when they awarded her their citation for distinguished service, in recognition of "her dedication to accurate medical reporting and candid writing on health subjects."

Anybody who comes to our country wanting to stay should be willing to learn our language.

To come to the United States, accept its hospitality and its privileges but continue to speak some other language is like a man keeping his first wife's picture in his second wife's bedroom.

Do you know that we have a lot of public schoolteachers in Chicago who cannot speak English?

So-called "bilingual education" in our schools has become a $400-million exercise in cultural chauvinism.

Instead of helping minorities learn English, it is helping minorities remain minorities—unabsorbed, unable to speak the language of their adopted country.

There are second- and third-generation Mexicans in the United States who are still strangers in a strange land; they remain latin in their customs and their speech, thus disadvantaging themselves.

No wonder many can't get good jobs and frequently remain permanently on welfare.

Senator S.I. Hayakawa (R-Calif.) believes that using our schools to preserve a minority language "results in an almost deliberate neglect of the first duty of any immigrant—to learn the language of his chosen country."

Chicago public schools have 22,000 students learning 16 other languages!

And the Chicago School Board just accepted another $2.4 million of your federal tax money to perpetuate the program. And the board is under a federal government mandate to expand the program.

Earlier generations of immigrant-Americans—many of them poverty-stricken Europeans—undistracted by bilingual programs, promptly learned to speak and write English. They assimilated themselves and melted into the melting pot, enhancing it with their cultural gifts and strengthening it with their undivided allegiance.

Whereas the new generation of immigrants, tending to resist homogenization, tend to remain hyphenated-Americans.

However well-intentioned bilingual teaching may be it tends to inhibit a command of English; it retards full citizenship and restricts opportunities.

For our government to support this retardation is unconscionable.

This is not to say that anybody's ethnicity should be neutered. It is cross-pollination which has enriched us all.

But a friend of mine, a man of accomplishment and means, remembers that, "If I were still back in Poland I would still be living in half a house, with livestock in the other half, without even an outhouse. I am so grateful for the limitless chance to better myself and my family, I just cannot imagine any immigrant not wanting to be 'all-American.'" wife schemed with McCrory and karate instructor Pat Burleson and framed Davis on the murder-for-hire charge.

His legal team would like the jury to believe that the FBI failure to snare the extortionist contributed to the defendant's distrust of law enforcement agencies.

Such distrust, the lawyers reason, might explain why Davis would take matters into his own hands in an attempt to expose McCrory and others linked to the alleged frameup.

The bottom line of the defense theory would be a partial explanation why Davis was engaging McCrory in the incriminating conversations.

Much of Monday's testimony dealt with plots or threats to kill the dark-haired defendant.

The DMR letter read:

"I have a contract to see that you don't live to see Christmas. If you don't want this contract filled, get 10,000 dollars in twenty dollar bills together, run an ad in the Star Telegram in the personal section reading DMR call home and a phone No. Do this right, no cops, and I will see that you live and also tell you who put out the contract on you."

Davis inserted the "DMR Call Home" message and his phone number in the Fort Worth Star-Telegram but never talked with the caller.

Earlier Monday, ex-convict Gene Lucas, 38, testified that McCrory offered him $10,000 to kill Davis last summer and when he refused, McCrory doubled the offer.

"You're crazy," he said he told McCrory.

"We're going to get him, one way or the other," Lucas quoted McCrory as replying.

"I've never known you to have $20,000, or $20," Lucas remembered saying.

"The money's there," he said McCrory insisted.

Prosecutors labeled the testimony a sham.

At Wits End

BY ERMA BOMBECK

I was browsing through a bookstore this week where I noted there were at least 187 titles on "How to be a Winner."

There wasn't one book on "How To Lose." Yet, most of us do that 50 times as much as we win.

Losing is the only art form where the more you do it, the less proficient you become at it.

As a child, no one talked to me about losing. It was so offensive that they didn't even talk about it in the gutter where they discussed sex. If it happened (God forbid!) you dealt with it in your own way.

I didn't want my kids to hear about "losing" from strangers, so I set up the following guidelines.

1. Don't believe that old line that in ten years you won't remember losing. When I was in the eighth grade, I lost the citizenship award (a paper certificate) to Marjorie Stewart. I wore a white and brown polka dot dress and when her name was announced I thought my throat would burst open from hurting. Right after the assembly, I poked a hole in my dress so I would have to go home and change. You'll remember.

2. There is no such thing as a "dumb old ballgame," an "overrated Noble Prize," a "Minnie Mouse Senate race" or a "silly ole Pillsbury bake-off." (I lost a spelling bee in the ninth grade because I failed to spell "MINUTE" meaning infinitesimal.) At the time, it's important.

3. Don't be too sure that in the years to come you'll "laugh yourself to death" when you think of this moment. We practically had to write a check to a guy to take me to the junior prom and the dress was ugly and my hair curled weird. Anyone who laughs at that should be put in a home.

Someone once asked me what was one of my proudest moments as a mother and I have to go back to a tennis match involving my 17-year-old daughter who, in a draw to eliminate the "hamburgers," got matched with the No. 1 seeded girl in the tournament.

The night before, she made her up mind to "default" by not showing up. The next day she figured out if she didn't play she's never know how bad her opponent was or how good she was. She gave her a run for her money.

Losing is not your No. 1 fault. Being hit by a car is. Some say there is little difference.

Losing a tennis match or a marriage... it all depends on how much of your integrity is still intact. It takes practice.

Guyana lies on the north coast of South America and is about the size of Idaho. Its neighbors are Venezuela to the west, Brazil to the south, and Surinam to the east. Dense tropical forests cover much of the land, although a flat coastal area up to 40 miles wide — where 90 percent of the population lives — provides rich alluvial soil for agriculture.

News From The Lodge

The Hereford Camp Fire Girls Board meeting met in regular monthly session with 16 members present.

Ronnie Wood, teacher, was welcomed as a new member.

Mrs. Lewis Lea, Executive Director, reported that Camp Fire Girls received the balance for the year of 1978 of $6,042 from United Way.

Mrs. Lee Drake, Program Services Chairman, announced that the Annual meeting of the Hereford Council of Camp Fire Girls will be held February 12, 1979.

Mrs. Lea called to the attention of the board members, the poor condition of the board members, the poor condition of the office equipment. Mrs. Lea was authorized to investigate available equipment and to acquire the equipment needed.

Sid Killough, camping committee chairman, announced that the Winter Camp and Ski trip is scheduled Jan. 12, 13 and 14 at Camp Sunner Life with skiing at Sipapu, N.M. Killough announced that Camp Fire families will be permitted to go including both boys and girls. The fee will be $40 per person. All counselor's fees will be half price. Deadline for registration is Jan. 3, 1979.

John Bob Drake, buildings and grounds chairman, announced that Helen Higgins donated two display cases to the lodge. There being no further business, W.L. McCullar moved adjournment of the meeting.

In spite of the snow and cold, Camp Fire Girls Leaders met Thursday evening at 7 p.m. for a covered dish dinner, with 30 leaders and assistants present.

Claudette Mitchell, assistant County Extension agent, gave a program on craft and gift ideas to make.

Leaders were presented a calendar of events coming up for the balance of the year. On January 5th, there will be a Special Mini Venture for 4th through 12th grades of Camp Fire members to attend the Kwahadi Indian Winter Ceremonials in Amarillo. Registration for this must be in the Camp Fire office by December 18.

In February, Camp Fire Girls will participate in a project called "No Greater Love." This is a salute to hospitalized veterans on February 14, 1979.

Camp Fire received high praise for members and leaders from the Veterans Administration and patients after the 1978 program and they look forward to another salute in 1979. Suggestions for what may be done will be given to leaders from the Camp Fire Office.

It was announced at the meeting that there has been a change in the National Art Competition. Instead of having this 1 the Fall, the National Office has decided to change it to a Spring Festival. The theme for this show is "painting" We will have more information for this after the first of the year.

Mrs. Lea and Mrs. Steve Narvell presented each one present with a Santa Claus favor.

The lodge was decorated for Christmas including a decorated tree. After dinner get-acquainted games were played and door prizes consisting of a Christmas decoration and a candy jar were won by Mrs. John Bob Drake and Mrs. Don Johnson.

student at Hereford High School, presented a magic show.

Fifty-two Camp Fire Girls traveled to Amarillo's Discovery Center Saturday morning to see the special Christmas program, "Star of Bethlehem."

The astronomical program was projected on the dome of the Discovery Center to depict an exact reproduction of the sky as it appeared on the night of Christ's birth. "Star of Bethlehem" is a retelling of the Christmas story as recorded in the Bible.

A scientific explanation is offered concerning what the star might have been, such as a nova, comet or a conjunction of planets. The program concluded with the concept that science cannot explain miracles and the decision of the true nature of the star is left to the individual viewer to ponder.

The first recorded coffee houses, in 16th century Turkey, were known as "Mektab-irfan," meaning "schools of the cultured."

4-H'ER BUILDS SOLAR CAR SUNNY SIDE OF ENERGY CRISIS

If the theory of one inventive 4-H member proves to be correct, the car of the future may be powered by the sun. Jeffrey Smith, 16, of Homerville, Georgia, started developing a solar car five years ago when he first became aware of the energy crisis. The 4-H'er built a model that looks like any modern sports car except for the small solar cells on the roof.

When sunlight hits these cells, the car's wheels spin, illustrating his theory. After sundown, the car runs on storage batteries that have been charged during the day by extra solar cells. Now Jeffrey is building the "real thing" — a 6 1/2-foot car based on his model. The car's chassis and mechanics are complete and the electronic system is wired. Still to come are the body, seats, batteries, bracing and three solar cells for power.

The Georgia youth has been assisted by his parents, teachers and power company experts. But he gives most of the credit to the Cooperative Extension Service specialists who conduct the National 4-h automotive program. "4-H has helped me and given me an opportunity to do things and to show others what I've done," he says. Not all young people who participate in the 4-H automotive program, sponsored by the Firestone Tire and Rubber Co., are inventors. But all of them learn-by-doing about the importance of the motor vehicle to the American way of life.

4-H automotive projects and activities teach boys and girls how basic car parts work and how to do routine maintenance. 4-H'ers learn about highway safety, traffic regulations and the economics of car ownership. And they explore vocational opportunities in the automotive field.

Caprock Defeats Fem Cage Team

Unable to score until the second quarter the Hereford girls were defeated by the fems from Caprock 39-25, Monday night in the high school gym.

Trailing 6-0 at the end of the first period the Herd came back to score eight points before the half to bring the tally to 12-8. The four point deficit could not be made up though as the Longhorns kept pace with Whiteface scoring in the third period and then outscored the 18-9 in the final stanza to give the locals their eleventh loss in 13 games.

The scoring for the 'Faces had sophomore Louise Mays with seven, Marie Schilling and Darlene Sanders with five, Penny Whiteside with four and Denese Albracht and Rhonda Foard with two points each.

The girls next action will be against Amarillo High this Friday here in Hereford. This will be the third meeting of the two teams with Amarillo winning the first two.

KIRKLAND, Wash. (AP) - Seattle Seahawks fullback David Sims won't be in the starting lineup for Sunday's game with the Kansas City Chiefs, and kicker Efren Herrera is questionable, the Seahawks say.

Sims, who leads the National Football League in touchdowns with 15, reinjured his knee against the San Diego Chargers in the first half Sunday, and Herrera underwent an appendectomy operation Sunday evening.

Sims' knee, which will not require surgery, was put in a cast, Coach Jack Patera said. Herrera is expected to be released from Swedish Hospital in Seattle on Wednesday, but Patera doesn't know if he'll be able to kick in the Sunday game in the Kingdom.

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) - Duke sophomore Gene Banks, who scored a collegiate career high 32 points in the Blue Devils 66-42 win over La Salle, was named Atlantic Coast Conference Player of the Week.

The 6-foot-7 Banks picked up the pace in the second half for top-ranked Duke with his 25-point contribution. The first half was spent in a stall started by La Salle leaving the halftime score at a mere 12-6 Duke. For the night, Banks hit 12 of 16 shots from the field and was eight of 10 from the foul line. He also grabbed nine rebounds.

Banks becomes the second Duke team member to win player of the week honors. Last week, Mike Gminski claimed the award.

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) - Kuwait has taken the initiative to form an Asian sports writers association.

A meeting is to be held during the ongoing Eighth Asian Games here, to be chaired by Air Chief Marshal Dawee Chullasapaya of Thailand.

With A 5-0 Record

Blue Devils Still No. 1

By The Associated Press Duke's Blue Devils, who breezed past La Salle 66-42 in their only contest last week, remain atop the rankings in The Associated Press poll of college basketball teams.

Duke, 5-0, collected 56 of a possible 60 first-place votes and amassed 1,196 points in nationwide voting by a panel of sports writers and broadcasters. That gave the Blue Devils a 112-point lead over second-ranked Notre Dame.

The 4-0 Fighting Irish up-ended UCLA 81-78 at Pauley Pavilion last week, beating the Bruins for the third time in 10 years. UCLA has lost just four other games at its home arena over the past decade.

The triumph earned Notre Dame three first-place votes and 1,084 points. The 3-1 Bruins got the other first-place vote, but languished fifth with 906 points behind 2-0 Michigan State and 5-1 Louisville.

Michigan State, 92-89 winners over Fullerton State, gained a notch on the leaders, moving from fourth place to third with 991 points. The Spartans, 2-0, face North Carolina this week.

Louisville jumped from seventh to fourth place by receiving 930 points for an 86-84 victory over Michigan and a 101-54 rout of Idaho.

Kentucky, which upset Kansas, made the biggest jump from last week by moving into sixth place with 853 points. The Wildcats, last year's national champions, were 10th last week.

Completing the Top Ten were North Carolina State, 816 points, Kansas, 722, Michigan, 683, and Syracuse 643.

Louisiana State leads the Second Ten, followed by Southern California, North Carolina, Marquette, Nevada-Las Vegas, Georgetown, Texas, Illinois, San Francisco and Indiana State.

Illinois and Indiana State, both 6-0, are in the Top Twenty for the first time this season, replacing Rutgers and Maryland.

One Arm No Handicap

BATESVILLE, Ind. (AP) - At 6-foot-6½ and 205 pounds, Bill Wanstrath might have been destined for greatness.

Like almost every other boy in Indiana, he has been playing basketball as long as he's been able to walk. Except Wanstrath was born without a left arm.

"I've seen a lot of good, talented players," said Roy McKamey, coach of Batesville High School's unbeaten basketball team.

McKamey will never forget Wanstrath's first slam dunk after a fast break steal.

"Everyone just went wild. The kind of elation I felt inside was like in 'Rocky' - you know where Sylvester Stallone stood on top of that building and raised his arms.

"I felt myself standing up and doing that same thing."

Davis Cup Prestige Less Now

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

The United States won back the Davis Cup over the weekend, reasserting after six years its international tennis supremacy. Hip, hip, hooray! Look at all those people dancing in the streets - horns blowing, flags waving, bells ringing, crowds pressing to hoist the conquering heroes onto their shoulders. Well, not exactly.

A better description of the reaction, despite the Herculean performance of 19-year-old John McEnroe, was a manmoth yawn.

The Davis Cup, like the old gray mare, "ain't what she used to be."

The revered silver bowl, which has been shuttled across oceans, guarded like the Queen's jewels and inscribed with the names of the game's greatest, is turning to tarnish. It is the regrettable victim sport's modern day money binge.

The 1978 Davis Cup finals, tennis' version of the Super Bowl and World Series, was not consigned to one of the great capitals of the game, such as England's Wimbledon, Australia's Kooyong, France's Roland Garros or the United States' Forest Hills and Flushing Meadow.

It was awarded to the Mission Hills Country Club in Rancho Mirage, Calif., a pleasant spot hidden away in the ultralush desert area of Palm Springs - not exactly the kind of place to appeal to the masses.

The event was held in virtual semi-privacy before crowds of 4,000 to 5,000 in contrast to the tens of thousands who vie for breathing room at Wimbledon, Flushing Meadow and other

Stockton Wins Tourney

WEST ORANGE, N.J. - Dick Stockton won the singles and shared in the doubles title, earning $25,000 for his efforts in the $75,000 Horizon tennis tournament at the South Mountain Arena.

Stockton, of Dallas, scored a 6-4, 6-2 victory over Tom Gorman in the singles final. Then he teamed with Erik van Dillen for a 7-5, 6-3 triumph over Arthur Ashe and Charlie Pasarell.

well-known court centers.

During the week it competed with Pete Rose's free agent pyrotechnics and the baseball meetings in Florida. Then on Saturday and Sunday it went head-to-head with the National Football League, with its packed stadia and saturation of the major TV networks.

If you fiddled with the dials, you could pick up the tennis boys on the non-commercial educational network.

The Davis Cup, because of its 78 years of colorful history and its significance as the world championship among tennis nations, should be one of the outstanding sports events of the year - as once it was.

The sterling silver bowl, 13 inches high, 18 inches wide and 217 ounces troy weight, has been covered with the names of the immortals - Bill Tilden, Little Bill Johnston, Fred Perry, Bunny Austin and France's Four Musketeers. When there was no space left, a plinth was added and then another stand to care for such names as Don Budge, Jack Kramer, Tony Trabert, Vic Seixas, Rod Laver, Stan Smith and Arthur Ashe.

They played for pride and no thought of monetary gain. They put duty ahead of personal interests. It was an honor to play Davis Cup.

Times changed. Tennis went

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Are gold shots O.K.?

DEAR DR. LAMB - I am concerned about my son's health. He is 44 years old and has arthritis. I do not know what kind. He has had it for 10 years. He doesn't complain but I can tell he is suffering. His hands are stiff and swollen and his ankles are, too. His feet and shoulders hurt.
He lives in a distant town but was visiting with his family recently. I asked if he was still having cortisone shots and he said no. His doctor was giving him gold shots and checking him carefully every week.
He also said, "Mom, I don't know how much longer I can work." He's a mechanic and is out in all kinds of weather. I'd like to know what these gold shots are doing for him and if they are O.K. He is also drinking quite a bit to kill the pain and he told me that he had told his doctor about this. I am really concerned about his drinking with these shots.

If you have any information on his problem, I'd appreciate having it.
DEAR READER - Your son has rheumatoid arthritis. It is the form that tends to occur early in life and is associated with painful inflammatory swellings. Osteoarthritis, sometimes called degenerative arthritis, occurs later in life and is most likely due to wear and tear problems. There may be some factors that predispose one to wear and tear, however, they are still under study.

I am sending you The Health Letter number 4-11, Rheumatoid Arthritis, to give you more information on your son's condition. Other readers who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.
Gold shots are used in some cases of rheumatoid arthritis. Actually, it was an old treatment which fell into disrepute for awhile, then in more recent times it has been revived again. It is not useful in all cases but there are a number of instances in which gold shots have resulted in good remissions of rheumatoid arthritis for relatively long periods of time.
There are new medicines developed from time to time that improve the treatment of rheumatoid arthritis. I

SALT Talks Slated To Resume This Month

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer
CAIRO, Egypt (AP)

Prospects for a Soviet-American treaty limiting nuclear arms brightened today with the announcement that Secretary of State Cyrus Vance will meet later this month with Soviet Foreign minister Andrei Gromyko.
Announcement of the meeting indicated the two governments may be ready to complete the long-elusive SALT II agreement to impose ceilings on American and Soviet long-range bombers and intercontinental ballistic missiles.
After Vance's last meeting with Gromyko in Moscow in October, at least four major issues remained unresolved. U.S. officials said another meeting between the two men would not be arranged until the Soviets signalled that they were prepared to compromise.

In disclosing that Vance and Gromyko would meet again before the end of the year, U.S. spokesman George Sherman refused to provide any details, including the time and place. But Time magazine reported they would meet in Geneva Dec. 20, and that President Carter and Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev might meet during the week of Jan. 15 to sign the SALT agreement, probably in Washington. Time said Vance and the Soviet ambassador to the United States, Anatoly Dobrynin, reached tentative agreement on the treaty in Washington last week.

The two top foreign policy goals of the Carter administration for the end of the year were a U.S.-Soviet arms limitation treaty and a peace treaty between Egypt and Israel. With the year running out a concerted drive is now under way to meet these objectives, but success is far from assured.

Ann Landers

Minorities Remain Minorities

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I have this so-called friend who is 23 years of age and wanted by the authorities in several counties and states for shoplifting, check forgery, credit-card misuse and car theft. This friend has lied and stolen from me, her family and other friends. She dropped out of high school and had a long succession of jobs (which were arranged by her relatives). She never stayed with one job longer than six weeks. This girl has taken advantage of the welfare program and unemployment compensation whenever she could.

When things seem to be getting better, she complains about some injustice and takes it out on society. Her mother has bailed her out a dozen times, given her money, lied to the authorities, etc.
Sounds like she needs psychiatric help? Well, she has had it, along with plenty of counseling at government-funded drug and mental health centers, which means at the taxpayer's expense. Before the therapy can work she's off again into more trouble.

I'm tired of my tax dollars going to support this leech and others like her.
Wouldn't society be better off if those losers were locked up permanently? - No Sig
DEAR NO SIG: Are you under the impression that keeping people in prison "permanently" is cheaper than counseling? If so, I'd like to disabuse you of that foolish notion.
Your friend is sick and needs more therapy. Her mother's efforts to save her from herself only postponed the day of reckoning. I feel very sorry for her AND her mother, and you should, too.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: What does one say to a friend who has had plastic surgery for a harelip or a nose job or a facelift?

I have a feeling that after a person goes to all that trouble, if nobody said anything they might be awfully disappointed. Please guide me on this. -- Touchy Subject
DEAR SUB: A person who has had a harelip operation or a nose job expects comments because he (or she) is aware that the difference will be obvious. (If not -- why have it?) Positive comments on such operations are always welcome. ("Your surgeon did a beautiful job!")
Unless the friend has told you that he (or she) has had a facelift it's better to say, "You look wonderful!" and let it go at that.
DEAR ANN: My wife believes children ought to eat everything. When the platters are passed, if the kids don't take a helping of everything that is offered my wife reaches over and puts in on their plates.

If they don't finish it, she makes them sit at the table, sometimes for as long as an hour. Dimer time at our house is a nightmare. The kids always end up crying and I get indigestion every evening.
My wife says her brother was a fussy eater and she is not going to let our kids grow up to be that way. I need your help, Ann, and quick. -- Dad
DEAR DAD: Your wife's approach couldn't be worse. Forcing food on children is no way to get them to like it. In fact it's a sure way to get them to hate it.

Sniper Kills Man, Boy

IRVING, Texas (AP) - A sniper who killed a man and a 12-year-old boy while firing at random at cars on a busy highway also struck a third vehicle but the occupants escaped injury, police learned Monday.

"We now believe there were numerous shots fired out there," said Police Capt. Joe Lowe. He said the driver of a pickup truck read reports of the sniper and reported to police this morning that his vehicle had been fired at also.

"The pickup had its tires shot out about the same time and about the same location," Lowe said. No one in the truck was hurt.

Lowe said he sent more detectives to the area today to look for spent cartridges.
He said police were theorizing the gunman fired from three different locations. The sniper's gunfire killed Steven Thomas Gaulden, 12, of Plano, Texas, and Raymond Douglas Andrew 43, of Arlington, Texas.

The Gaulden boy was in the back seat of the family car as his mother was being taken to the airport. Andrews and his wife were returning home from a square dance.

Underdog Bengals Nip Playoff-Bound Rams

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Chris Bahr's 42-yard field goal with three minutes left in the game boosted the underdog Cincinnati Bengals to a come-from-behind 20-19 National Football League victory over the playoff-bound Los Angeles Rams Monday night.

Bahr's kick was his second three-pointer in the second half after the Rams led 16-14 at the intermission but could score only one touchdown against the Bengals' tough defense all evening.

Cincinnati's third victory against 12 defeats, sparked by its defense, came in the game watched by a national television audience and 47,471 at the Coliseum.

Prior to his winning boot, the 5-foot-9 kicker, who hails from Penn State, had a field goal attempt blocked by Jack Youngblood.

The Rams, already winners of the National Football Conference West title and 11-3 going into the game, jumped into a 13-0 first-quarter lead against the Bengals. Frank Corral booted field goals of 37 and 23 yards and Terry Nelson scored on a 14-yard end-around play.

The Bengals came back with two touchdowns in the second quarter on a 46-yard pass play from Ken Anderson to Isaac Curtis and a 2-yard run by Pete Johnson.

Corral kicked a 29-yard field goal to give the Rams a 16-14 lead at intermission, and hit a 17-yarder in the third period to increase the Los Angeles lead.

Then the Bengals took command, although they scored only on the two field goals by Bahr. But that was enough to keep the Rams from clinching a home-field advantage if they reach the NFC championship game.

Anderson, who was injured last week, came back to hit 13 of 27 passes for 227 yards. Pat Haden of the Rams, knocked out of action at one point in the game, connected on 16 of 33 for 283 yards.

Each quarterback had one pass intercepted.

The final Bengals' drive, which ended in Bahr's field goal, covered 63 yards in 13 plays. The big play on the drive was a 19-yard pass from Anderson to Curtis, which advanced the ball to the Rams' 31.

It was the Anderson-Curtis combination which had brought the Bengals back into contention when the fleet receiver got behind defender Rod Perry with just 53 seconds gone in the second quarter on the 46-yard scoring play.

Cincinnati's second touchdown drive featured an Anderson pass to Don Bass for 20 yards, a quarterback scramble for 15 and another pass to Bass for 24. The drive covered 55 yards and 10 plays.

The Rams operated with a makeshift backfield. Star halfback Lawrence McCutcheon and fullback John Cappelletti both were out with injuries.

Haden was hurt when 262-pound defensive end Ross Browner belted him late in the third quarter. Haden fumbled the ball. Browner recovered and ran 21 yards to the Rams' 34.

That set up Bahr's first field goal and cut the Rams' lead to two points with 1:44 left in the third quarter.

Vince Ferragamo replaced Haden for a few series, but then the starter returned to action. But the Rams still were unable to generate too much offense.

The final bid by Los Angeles, one-touchdown favorites entering the contest, ended when Dick Jauron intercepted a Haden pass at the Cincinnati 35.

Oilers' Use Of Earl Criticized

BY MICHAEL A. LUTZ
AP Sports Writer

HOUSTON (AP) - It's nothing new for Houston Oilers Coach Bum Phillips to hear criticism of his use of Oiler rookie Earl Campbell, the National Football League's leading rusher.

Phillips has heard it all—he didn't use Campbell enough, he's used him too much and why doesn't Campbell catch passes?

So Phillips was not surprised Monday when told he had been criticized by a commentator for leaving Campbell in for the final seconds of Houston's 17-12 playoff clinching victory over New Orleans.

"We had to keep the football as long as we could and run out as much time as we could and we have a guy there that's going to be rookie of the year and maybe the outstanding player in the NFL and want me to take him out?" Phillips asked. "Well, they can go to hell." So much for broadcasting.

Phillips is just as adamant concerning using his front line players Sunday when the Oilers close out the regular season against the San Diego Chargers in the Astrodome.

Although the Oilers already are assured a trip to the playoffs for the first time since 1969, Houston needs a victory Sunday to clinch the home field advantage for the first round match with the Miami Dolphins.

"We need to win this one bad," Phillips said. "The fans of Houston deserve to have a playoff game at home. So we are going at this game just like it was a playoff game. We are obligated to do that out of respect for our fans, our team and everybody else."

Dallas Getting Better

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer

DALLAS (AP) - Randy White says the best is still yet to come.

"We can still play a lot better," the star Dallas Cowboy defensive tackle said Monday after Sunday's 31-13 National Football League whipping of the Philadelphia Eagles.

It was Dallas' fifth consecutive victory after a 6-4 start and gave the Cowboys the homefield advantage in the NFL playoffs.

"We are attacking teams now," said White. "We are getting the other teams into positions where they have to take chances. We're getting them in second and 15 and third and 20 situations."

"Now, that's where a defensive lineman can take off and disregard the run."

White said it was difficult to compare the current Cowboy team with the squad that won the NFL title last year because of a different schedule and other factors.

But he said "from an attitude point we are pretty close to last year's team. We have a lot of confidence."

White, playing only his second year at tackle, said he felt he was playing better than he did last season.

"I'm better but I can't be satisfied," said White. "I'll make quarterback traps then I think of some running plays I should have stopped."

He added "the lack of experience hurt me early this year."

White has been particularly devastating during the Cowboys' playoff stretch run.

"Harvey Martin came back from his injury and they started double teaming him so that left me free a lot," said White. "He creates a lot of problems for the defense. His knee is almost 100 percent well again."

White and Martin were voted the co-winners of the Most Valuable Player award in the Super Bowl last January at New Orleans.

Martin said recently "Randy is playing just great this year. He should be the Defensive Player of the Year."

Asked about Martin's statement, White grinned. "Oh, Harvey is always boosting me for something."

White was asked how long he thought it would take him to learn Coach Tom Landry's complicated "flex" defense.

"I'm getting it down pretty good but there are only two people who fully understand it - defensive coordinator Ernie Stautner and Tom," said White.

Lopez Ready For Next Year

NEW YORK (AP) - The monumental success Nancy Lopez enjoyed as a rookie of the women's golf tour last year was counterbalanced by the uncompromising demands of publicity and fame.

Though a string of five consecutive tournament titles helped win her Player of the Year honors from the Ladies Professional Golf Association, it also made her a prisoner of the spotlight.

"I lived out of a suitcase," she said Monday after accepting the award. "I took all my meals in my hotel room. I would have to go to the course two hours in advance every day to practice."

"I was so busy I didn't have a chance to think," she said of a season in which she won nine of 25 tournaments, $189,813 in purses and compiled an average of 71.76 per round - best in LPGA history.

"I couldn't get used to people making such a big deal out of me," she recalled. "I felt like two persons."

"I tried to close everything out of my mind and play as well as I could. I just let it happen, and I think that's the secret - don't push to win; just let it happen. And it will."

She'd like it to happen 10 times this year and repeat her five-tournament winning streak. But she won't allow herself to compete in as many events.

"I don't intend to play a tournament unless I am rested and feel I can win it," said the 21-year-old Lopez. "I will refuse to put in an appearance just for appearance's sake - especially if I am very tired."

Lopez has another kind of an engagement. She plans to marry Tim Melton, a television broadcaster from Harrisburg, Pa., on Jan. 6.

Vikings Move South

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) - For the second year in a row, the Minnesota Vikings of the National Football League will take advantage of Tucson's better weather to practice for a National Football League opponent.

The Vikings are due in Tucson Thursday morning, will practice for three days and leave Saturday night for Oakland and a Sunday game with the Raiders.

Last year the Vikings practiced in Tucson in preparation for a playoff game with the Los Angeles Rams.
