Barrier, Cole Win Steer Awards

HYF Junior Livestock Show Ends

As contestants were busily grooming their livestock in the Little Bull Barn, determined judges were carefully inspecting entries in the Deaf Smith County Bull Barn during the sometimes confusing but excited activity over the past three days of the annual Hereford Young Farmers Junior Livestock Show.

At points, the pace slowed, but faces perked up as each of the three show grand champions were announced in the lamb, hog and steer divisions.

THE HIGH POINT came when the judge strolled over to the mike and said that Terry Barrier of the Hereford 4-H Club won both the four-county and Deaf Smith County Grand Champion Steer awards. Beverly Cole, also of the local 4-H Club, went home with the Reserve Grand Champion Steer awards for the county and the 4-county competition.

The livestock show was the largest to date as more entries were recorded than any previous year. A total of 124 steers, 185 hogs and 190 lambs were displayed.

The other top winners of the show were Dennis Schilling with the Grand Champion Lamb award in both county and four-county and Tom Schlabs with the County Grand Championship Lamb award.

Schilling and Schlabs are Hereford FFA members and Hart is a Hart FFA member.

IN THE HOG division, Terry Hill of the Hart FFA won the four-county Grand Champion award, Wade Boren of the Hereford FFA won the four-county Reserve Grand Championship and the county Grand Championship, and Lisa Phillips of the Hereford FFA won the county Reserve Championship.

Judging was held for all divisions on Thursday and Friday. The top 30 steers, 60 top lambs and 60 top hogs went on sale at the show auction at 1 p.m. Saturday. The final sale results will be published in the Thursday issue of The Brand.

Special presentations of Showmanship Trophies were given to Sid Sawyer and Ira Robinson by the Hereford CowBelles at the beginning of the auction. Robinson is a local FFA member and Sawyer a local 4-H member.

THE AWARDS were decided on the basis of a personal interview consisting of questions on calf age, feeding procedure, weight gain determination and steer training.

Also Saturday, the annual 4-H and FFA Team Judging was held. Results will be published Thursday.

Contestants in the show were entered from Deaf Smith, Parmer, Oldham and Castro Counties. Each of the 9-20-year-old contestants spent long hours in raising the animals for show hoping not only to learn a bit about the raising and care of livestock but also to walk away a little richer.

A special feature of this year's show was the donation of pens by area businesses including K-Bob's Steak House, Cook Oil Co. of Friona, Alfred Oil Co. and the Deaf Smith and Oldham County Farm Bureaus.

THE FENS will be a permanent part of the show. They are used in the show ring to hold animals while others are judged.

Judges for this year's show were Bob Robinson, assistant County Agent of Potter County, hogs; Ed Garnett, district extension agent from Vernon, lambs; and Larry Schickendanz, head of the agriculture department at Frank Phillips College in Borger, steers.

Commissioners Consider 15-item Agenda Monday

Deaf Smith County Commissioners hold their second regular meeting of the year Monday beginning at 10 a.m. in the courthouse with 15 items listed on the agenda.

A committee from the Hereford Bar Association is scheduled to present a plan for the creation of a new judicial district. The Bar is expected to ask the court's approval of a proposed bill to submit to the Texas Legislature.

Others scheduled to appear before the court, according to County Judge Sam Morgan, are the sheriff and district attorney, insurance agent Marvin Coffey, city manager Dudley Bayne, civil defense director Bill Brady, and a representative of the Women's Division of the Chamber of Commerce.

Commissioner Austin Rose has asked for a discussion on rate charges for using county equipment. Approval of bonds and inventory of equipment is also on the agenda.

Santa Fe Railway Speed Limit Increases to 45 mph Monday

Flashing lights and gates at railroad crossings are designed as warnings to drivers that a train is fast approaching. But neither device is effective if a driver decides to get across ahead of the train and disregards the signals.

As noted by one Hereford City Commissioner at Monday's City Commission meeting, "People in Hereford just don't bother to look before they cross."

Well, starting at 12:01 p.m. Monday, Jan. 27, the need to look both ways at railway crossings will become more of a necessity as the speed limit at three local railroad crossings increases by 15 miles per hour. They include crossings at Lee, Main and Lawton Streets.

The effective time was decided by the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway Company after the City Commission gave approval to a request to raise the limits at the Monday meeting. The speed limit was raised from 30 mph.

The request was approved on a temporary basis so its effectiveness could be judged. Also, the Commission asked prior notice be given to the public before actually starting the 45 mph limit.

J.D. McPherson, Santa Fe trainmaster, told the city fathers that since 1972, only two violations of speed by train engineers had been recorded and that he would work with city policemen to see if the speed limit would work.

Santa Fe wanted the increased speed to make up lost time by westbound transcontinental trains on a grade elevation between Hereford and Summerfield. They claimed lost time, brake shoe damage and wasted diesel fuel resulted from the present speed limit.

Information released by K.C. May, Santa Fe Superintendent, to Jim Sears, mayor, indicates that it takes about 30 seconds for a train to reach the crossings after a signal has been given of a train approaching.

Each of the trains actuates a circuit which triggers the flashers and/or gates.

The South Main crossing, the one drawing the most concern of commissioners, is the only one with gates. An eastbound train actuates a circuit 2,227 feet from the crossing and the gate is down when the train is 1,435 feet from the crossing. The westbound train starts the circuit at 2,201 feet and the gate is down at 1,409 feet.

In either case the time is 30 seconds from the first warning at a speed of 45 mph.

Lee and Lawton Streets just have flashers. The flashers begin when the trains are at the following indicated distances: Lee-eastbound, 2,349 feet and westbound, 2,143 feet; Lawton-eastbound, 1,780 feet and westbound, 2,493 feet.

This allows 32 seconds for the eastbound Lee train, 29 seconds for the westbound Lee train, 23 seconds for the eastbound Lawton train and 34 seconds for the westbound Lawton train. These are all based on the 45 mph limit.

The times vary because of the "difference in track circuits brought about by switches to other tracks leading off the main track," stated the Santa Fe letter to Sears.

School Officials Defend Bilingual Education

Supt. Roy Hartman said Friday he would welcome investigation of the Hereford district's bilingual program after an area daily newspaper reported this week the U.S. Office of Civil Rights suspects some 333 districts of language discrimination.

An article in the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal quoted Peter Holmes, director of the civil rights office, as saying he has "strong indication" that 1.1 million Indian, Mexican-American and Asian American children are illegally being denied bilingual education in 26 states.

AMONG THE TEXAS districts on the "suspect" list are Hereford, Amarillo, Plainview, Lubbock and Odessa. Other area districts include Carlsbad, Clovis and Roswell in New Mexico.

"The only thing we can figure," says Ed McCreary, director of bilingual education for the Hereford district, "is that they're about six months behind with their facts." He pointed out that the state made the bilingual program compulsory at the start of the 1974 school year.

"We feel we not only comply with all requirements of the program, but we go a step further," emphasized McCreary. "We include all students in the bilingual program, not just the predominantly Spanish-speaking pupils."

By coincidence, officials in bilingual education departments from the U.S. Office of Education and the Texas Education Agency were in Hereford Friday to review the program and check to see that Title VII funds were being expended correctly. Their visit was unrelated to the civil rights matter, said McCreary.

The visitors included Virginia Cassel and Terry Sullivan from the U.S. Office of Education and Genevieve Montoya of the TEA. "They were very complimentary of our program and felt we were in complete compliance," McCreary stated.

Lawyers Consider New Judicial District

Another move is again in progress by local attorneys to create another judicial district made up of possibly two or three counties including Deaf Smith as a result of an ever increasing case load in Judge Archie McDonald's 69th Judicial District court.

At the request of both McDonald and most area attorneys, the leadership of the Hereford Bar Association is presently formulating a bill to be submitted to the legislature to request the creation of a new district, which would necessitate the appointment of a new district judge. The bar met last week to discuss the matter, but has not yet approved any form of a bill.

Andy Shuval, criminal district attorney, said at the last Deaf Smith County Commissioner's Court meeting that a notice would soon appear in The Brand notifying the public on a submission of such a bill. The bill is tentatively set to be introduced to the legislature as a local one and law requires a notice appear at least 30 days prior to submission.

USUALLY, SUCH BILLS are passed in a matter of seconds without much debate, Shuval explained.

Mack Tubb, president of the local bar, said a preliminary draft is being worked up to present to bar members for their acceptance or dismissal. No meeting has

Baptist Deacon Dies After Long Illness

Funeral services were conducted at 2 p.m. Saturday in First Baptist Church for W.R. "Dub" Hair, civic leader and accountant here for nearly 30 years. The Rev. Doug Manning, pastor, officiated.

Burial was in West Park Cemetery under direction of Gilliland-Watson Funeral Home.

Mr. Hair, who resided at 209 Star, died Wednesday in Deaf Smith General Hospital after a long illness. He was a deacon of First Baptist and held memberships in Rotary Club, Masonic Lodge, Scottish Rite and Shriners. He served on the Hereford School Board and in other community service capacities.

Born Feb. 27, 1918 in Hale County, Mr. Hair moved to Olton in 1920 and graduated from high school there in 1936. He attended a business college in Plainview and came to Deaf Smith County in 1946 from Olton.

Mr. Hair was owner of Credit Bureau of Hereford, Inc., and was a World War II veteran and member of VFW and the American Legion.

He married Doris Loyd of Olton in 1939.

Survivors include his wife; three daughters, Mrs. Allen Lewis of Houston, Christy of Dallas and Jeanne of Hereford; two sons, Larry M. of Paris and Don Bill of Houston; a sister, Mrs. Willard

Thomas of Clovis, N.M.; four brothers, Luther of Dallas, Olen of Levelland, Luis and Bailey, both of Olton; and three grandchildren.

Pallbearers included Herschel Black, B.F. Cain, Grady Rogers, Ed Line, Doug Bartlett, Neil Cooper, Don Zimmerman, N.D. Bartlett, Lynton Alfred, Clint Formby and Max Dodson.

Blood Donors To Be Needed

Blood donors will be needed Wednesday when Coffee Memorial Blood Center will be set up at Community Center from 2-6 p.m.

Hereford residents have overdrawn their account at Coffee, which is based at Amarillo. This blood supply needs to be replenished so that whole blood will continue to be available to Deaf Smith General Hospital.

The local blood bank committee is trying to formulate a list of possible donors so that a sufficient number of individuals can be contacted each time blood is needed. In order to be included on the master list, contact Hereford State Bank, First National Bank or the Chamber of Commerce.

Coffee sends a mobile unit to Hereford on the fourth Wednesday of each month. This service is provided free of charge.

chiefs, not to each district.

Texas was the second state in the nation to pass a compulsory bilingual program, according to McCreary. He pointed out that Hereford had previously participated in a regional cooperative bilingual program which lasted about two years, prior to the compulsory legislation.

The bilingual program is required in the first grade this year and includes the first three grades in three years. The local district has issued a handbook which explains the program, its goals and objectives, sources of funding, materials and other facts. The handbooks were distributed to participating students to take to their parents.

McCreary, directs federal programs as well as the bilingual program. Mal Manchee is Title VII director. Each elementary school has a bilingual teacher and one or more aides. The teacher is fluent in both English and Spanish.

All first-grade teachers (12) voluntarily attended 100-clock hours of Spanish classes last summer, points out McCreary. This was in addition to a required 30 hours of teaching techniques. Second-grade teachers will be required to take the 30-hours this summer. In addition, approximately 70 elementary teachers will attend Spanish classes offered February through May by the TEA—a total of 100 clock hours.

The primary goal of bilingual education, as outlined in the Hereford handbook, "is the successful achievement by the students in the goals of the educational process using two languages, developing proficiency in both, but acknowledging English as the basic language of instruction and assuring its mastery by all students."

The school's philosophy is to accept the first-grader in his dominant language. About 52 per cent of the total school population in Hereford is Mexican-American, and officials have found that about half of the Mexican-Americans in the first grade

Helps Local Doctors Determine Diagnoses

Pathologists Treks to Hereford Three Days a Week

By BOBBY TEMPLETON
Brand News Editor

Medicine is a complicated business and no one knows like the medical specialist just how hard it is to keep one pace ahead of the ever-advancing medical technology.

And as these bits and pieces of information are incorporated into everyday medicine, the job of the small hospital to offer the new services developed is almost insurmountable. Luckily the situation is not so with the Deaf Smith General Hospital, which is taking every opportunity to provide the most up-to-date services.

A LITTLE OVER a year ago, one of these services was added to the local hospital—the addition of a pathologist. He is Dr. Escudiel Jose Diaz, whose job three days a week is to confer with local doctors to determine diagnoses on the basis of tissue tests he has run.

Pathology is the study of treating diseases, their nature, causes, development and functional changes. The exact diagnosis must be determined by the treating doctor, but the knowledge and findings of Diaz are instrumental in the process.

Diaz, a board certified doctor in clinical and anatomical pathology, resides in Amarillo where he principally operates a central reference laboratory for the whole Panhandle. His staff there receives data from hospitals, tests it and relays the findings back to the treating physician.

"This process takes several days and causes double admissions of patients," Diaz said. "But here I can take tissue samples right from the operating room, run tests and give immediate results to the surgeon." He comes to Hereford every Monday, Wednesday and Friday morning to work with four local technicians in processing case tests.

"USUALLY, the doctors schedule operations while I am here, so a patient will not have to come in twice, once for the tests and for the operation," he said.

Besides Deaf Smith, Diaz commutes to nine other Panhandle hospitals on a monthly basis to offer the same services as he provides here. Other hospitals don't have the volume of patients as here, so the need to come here more often is great. He has about four or five cases a month.

This may not sound like many, but the work involved in each case is time-consuming. He has to excise the particular tissue, freeze it and make slides of it before he can arrive at results.

To get the results, Diaz must use several pieces of expensive and scarce equipment. Presently the hospital has a particle counter used in determining test results, but more is needed.

During the Christmas holidays, Hereford citizens came to the rescue to fill part of the gap by contributing to Project Christmas Card, which provided enough funds to purchase a cryostat for the hospital.

"This will be a permanent facility of the hospital and prevents me from having to use a portable model," Diaz said.

CUBAN BORN, the 41-year-old doctor said he decided to get into pathology as opposed to general practice because it excited him.

"Clinic pathology is a whole new ball game," Diaz emphasized. "There's a new development every three months and we have to add a new piece of equipment about every six months."

One such piece of equipment is a scintillation counter which processes radio immuno assays.

"A whole new part of pathology has been opened up with studies in Gas Chromatography," the doctor noted.

"New developments are discovered so fast that it's one of the more progressive fields in medicine."

He said his lab was the first one of its kind in the Panhandle region. Before, the area hospitals had to send data off to Dallas to get processed and returned.

SO AS MEDICAL technology has progressed so has the better medicine. Techniques come closer to Deaf Smith General Hospital. Ron Welty, hospital administrator, has talked proudly of Diaz's work at the hospital.

"It's not every hospital our size that has a pathologist," he said.

Diaz also helps when a medical autopsy or a determination of a death is needed. "I've helped determine the cause of death in several local drug-related cases," he added.

The trail Diaz followed before coming to the Texas Panhandle was wide-spread. After escaping Castro's Cuba, he went to Spain, where he obtained a medical degree from Madrid University.

He then practiced his pathology training at Milwaukee, Wis., County General Hospital where he performed residency work. While in Amarillo, he practiced at St. Anthony's Hospital and then opened up his laboratory.

With the added advantage of a pathologist, more and more persons are able to remain in Hereford for medical treatment rather than travel to larger facilities. Also, the help to physicians is highly valued, Welty agreed.

Diaz represents some of the forward strides the hospital has taken and as long as he is needed, he expects to return.

Three Juveniles Arrested For Theft

Three juveniles were arrested Thursday and later released to juvenile authorities in a case involving the theft of about $60 in cash.

Four juveniles apparently took the cash from a register at the Fullwood Apartment business office Wednesday afternoon. The manager of those apartments told police that the four usually stop at the office to buy Cokes after school.

Wednesday, two juveniles apparently kept the managers attention while two others robbed the register. When they returned the next afternoon following school, they were apprehended.

Vandalism that supposedly occurred some time in December, but went unnoticed, was reported Thursday. The Deck Produce Company at Progressive Road and Dairy suffered a broken window and the theft of a telephone and wall picture. No cash estimate has been set on the damage.

A car driven by Michael Scott Hull of Box 1944 was in a collision with a car driven by Nicholas B. Melendz of 327 Second at 1:02 p.m. Wednesday. Both were westbound on Plains when Hull apparently attempted to pass the Melendz vehicle and the two collided.

At 7:53 a.m. Wednesday two vehicles that were southbound on Highway 385 collided. A car driven by Royce Ray Coatsney of 730 Avenue G and a car driven by Michael Douglas Bartlett of 407 Battlett collided when the Coatsney car attempted a right turn off the highway.

At 2:49 that afternoon, Ronald Joe Trysler of Friona was involved in an accident while he was stopped at the red light at Highway 385 and West First. A car driven by Loyd Emerson Mannon of 702 Lee collided with the Trysler vehicle.

Fire fighters answered three alarms in the past five days. At 7:46 p.m. Thursday, firemen extinguished a car fire at Plains and Center. The vehicle belonged to Kenneth Dees.

An electrical fire in a heating system was quickly extinguished after an alarm was turned in at 9:19 p.m. Wednesday. The fire was in the Bob Ward residence in the 200 block of Aspen.

Fire fighters were called out Friday evening when a boy on Barret Street noticed heavy smoke coming out of a neighbor's garage.

The alarm was turned in, but when firemen arrived at the scene, it was discovered that two boys had been working on a car. Heavy smoke from carburetor cleaner poured in the engine caused the excitement.

have Spanish as the dominant language. The idea is to permit the pupil to learn in his first language while he is learning to function successfully in English. The Hereford program calls for all students to be a part of the bilingual education. A student will receive one of four possible approaches: Spanish as a dominant language; English as a dominant language; English as a second language, or Spanish as a second language.

When the child's dominant language is Spanish, the parent or guardian will be notified of his child's enrollment in the Spanish education program no later than 10 days after the enrollment. An English dominant student will be placed in the Spanish program as a second language when it is determined by his teacher that he is ready. Parents will be notified as was done in the case of Spanish-speaking children.

The school district has also formed a Bilingual Education Advisory Committee to provide communication between the school and parents. Members of the committee include: Oralia Abalos, Paul Abalos, Ramon Andrade, Vickie Barera, C.M. Castaneda, Grace Contreras, Aurora Dominguez, Ophelia Estrada, Aurora Flores, Margaret Flores, Homer Gerra, Joan Hopper, Augusta McCauley, Ed McCreary, Mal Manchec, Bennie Moore, Angie Pina, Lisa Rodriguez, Philip Shook, Tom Templeton, Hope Torres and Marlene Watson.

Inflation Destroys Local Income Gains

[Special to the Brand] How much more income does the average Deaf Smith County family have to have in these days of high inflation to equal the purchasing power it had five years ago?

To what degree has increased living costs and bigger taxes eaten into the wage gains that local workers secured in the period?

During the first three years of that span — in 1970, 1971 and 1972 — living costs rose at the relatively modest rate of 4.1 per cent a year, on average.

LOCAL FAMILIES were able to compensate for that rise satisfactorily because their incomes were going up faster.

In 1973, however, prices started climbing more rapidly. They jumped 8.8 per cent that year and soared another 12 per cent or so during 1974.

Wage hikes, locally and elsewhere, could no longer match these increases and most families fell behind in purchasing power. In the past year alone the loss was about 5 per cent.

Based upon figures obtained from the Tax Foundation and the Department of Labor, only those families whose incomes went up 34 per cent or so in the last five years ended up even.

APPLIED TO Deaf Smith County, the average local family that had an income of $7,000 in 1969 now needs approximately $9,400 to maintain its normal standard of living.

The family that was earning $9,000 a year previously would have to have no less than $12,400 at present to equal its former buying power.

In families in which the man of the house has been the sole support, the pressure has been eased considerably in recent years because many married women have become wage earners.

In Deaf Smith County, some 35 per cent of the married women are employed, the figures show.

Similarly all across the board. Those who were in the $12,000 bracket now require $16,300 and the ones who had $15,000, $20,700.

The upward surge in the cost of food, transportation, rent and other necessities has created an especially difficult problem for the unemployed and for retired people, whose incomes are fixed, except for occasional increases in Social Security benefits.

yet been scheduled to consider the bill.

A similar move was tried last year but unsuccessfully as not all Hereford attorneys favored the new district. Tubb indicated that all attorneys seem to be in favor of it this go around.

Much of the objection to the new district is politically oriented since a new judge would have to either be appointed by the Governor or selected in a special election.

Another uncertainty is which counties would be included in the new district. The present objective is to include Deaf Smith and Oldham Counties in the district and officials in Oldham are being contacted in reference to their position on being in the district.

Another mentioned possibility is a district composed of Deaf Smith, Oldham and Castro Counties.

THE BASIS for a new district is the increased case load which has risen from 769 cases in 1967 to 982 cases in 1973 according to figures of the Texas Civil Judicial Council. Other reasons for creating a new district are the large size of the district, which stretches up to Dumas, 97 miles from here, and the increased responsibility placed on the district judges to handle juvenile cases.

These factors have hampered McDonald, who presently is recuperating from a mild heart attack suffered recently. Retired Judge Gene Jordan of Amarillo has been filling in for McDonald during last week's district court sessions.

West Texas CofC Reviews Goals for Local Members

The work of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce in providing a voice for business, agriculture and industry in a 132-county area of the state was outlined here Thursday when a membership report meeting was held at Hereford Country Club.

Frank Junell, president-elect from San Angelo, was guest speaker at the luncheon along with J. Fike Godfrey, executive vice president. Thirty-four persons attended the luncheon. Clint Formby, local WTCC director, introduced the visiting leaders, which also included Bud Bell of Abilene, membership director.

FOUNDED IN 1918 the WTCC's goal, said Junell, "has continued to be that of helping create and maintain a healthy and growing economy for all West Texans." In order to accomplish this, he added, the West Texas Chamber of Commerce must have the active and financial support of every segment of the area it serves.

"One of the strong points of the organization lies in the fact that the leadership is made up of volunteers," Junell told the group. The WTCC is the largest regional chamber in the world and has a membership of more than 3,500. The board of directors is composed of some 250 business, professional and civic leaders who determine the policies and practices of the organization.

Junell, who flew here from San Angelo praised the municipal airport terminal as "the finest I've seen anywhere in my travels." He also complimented Hereford on its fine C of C office facilities. Junell, a San Angelo banker and widely-known West Texas civic leader, said he had a number of "ties" to Hereford over the years. He recalled that he was an original bondholder on the Jim Hill Hotel. He served with Clint Formby on the Texas Tech Board of Regents and commended the Hereford radio executive for his role in community and area affairs.

GODFREY OUTLINED the committee work of the WTCC in his brief talk, naming the chairmen of the 10 standing committees and mentioning the area of work of each group. He recognized Homer Garrison of Hereford for his work with the ag committee in past years.

While referring to the national affairs and mineral resources committees, Godfrey said much work would be required in these areas to oppose laws and regulations that would place unreasonable restrictions and tax burdens on the business community.

"We are in danger of seeing a nationalized oil and gas industry, and we must defend our economic input," Godfrey stated. Another freedom in peril comes from proposed land-use legislation, he added. "We also have extremists at work on clean air and water regulations. We can expect more and more regulatory commissions," he concluded.

REMINING THAT water remains one of our big problems, Godfrey called for a long-range plan of water importation. "Meanwhile, we must preach and practice water conservation and the re-use of water." He believes that more water reservoirs should be installed.

"West Texans have confidence and are accustomed to ups and downs. We're not waiting for the federal government or someone to wave a magic wand and solve our problems. . . . We just want them to stay out of our way and give us the opportunity to get the job done ourselves."

Terry Caviness, vice president of Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce, welcomed the WTCC leaders to Hereford. Bud Eades, president, was out of town Thursday. Bill Albright, executive vice president, introduced Formby. The other local WTCC director, Harlan VanderZee, was also out of town.

Briscoe Endorses Water Import Plans

Editor's note: Due to the interest in our local area and the effect water importation could have on Hereford and Deaf Smith County's agriculture and economy, the following article is reprinted for our readers. It appeared originally in the Jan. 9 issue of the Houston Post.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe formally endorsed a plan recently to move water to Texas in dry regions, while a prominent state environmentalist called for the people to be moved to the water. Briscoe announced, in effect, that he will ask Texas lawmakers for power to negotiate water import contracts with other states, a revival of an old proposal to pump water from the Mississippi River or other sources to West Texas.

Briscoe, who has long supported water importation, made the endorsement before his 31-member task force on Water Resource Conservation and Development as he "fully accepted" the group's "short-range action program" on water.

"...it must be done as soon as possible, even though there are those who say it can't be done," Briscoe said, a possible reference to a U.S. Bureau of Reclamation economic report that transporting water to the Texas High Plains would cost about $7 for every $1 of benefit.

Briscoe said he had the support of Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and House Speaker Rep. Bill Clayton.

The High Plains, one of the world's most productive agricultural regions despite a low rainfall rate, now faces a rapidly dwindling underground water supply. The Task Force report emphasized the need to maintain high food production there to combat world shortages.

David L. Davidson of San Antonio, chairman of the Lone Star Chapter of the Sierra Club, a nationwide environmental group, told the task force the West Texas agricultural production and high population cannot be sustained much longer. The underground water will be exhausted before the end of the century, said Davidson's Sierra Club position paper—"Water for Texas: Alternatives for the Future."

Among other recommendations, the paper called for a population commission to be created to study state population growth and "provide suggestions for the redistribu-tion of population from currently overpopulated areas" such as the High Plains and flood-prone land. The commission should also determine "what level of population the state can realistically support," the paper said.

The task force plan endorsed by Briscoe also calls for legislation to:

*Create mast water districts in areas that receive imported water.

*Double the present $400 million bond authority of the Texas Water Development Board to allow the board to be "more aggressive" in developing water projects.

*Direct the board to help develop new water sources and "water conveyance facilities."

The Sierra Club, by contrast, calls for a natural resources commission in addition to the population agency, for land use legislation and for new laws to regulate ground water, wetlands, estuaries and flood plains.

Proving Age Causes Difficulty

By TRAVIS C. BRIGGS
District Manager
Amarillo S.S. Office

Have you ever asked yourself, "How do I prove when I was born?" At some time, each of us will be faced with finding the answer to this question.

Proof of age will be required for the following types of benefits under social security: retirement benefits; wife's benefits at age 62 or older; widow's benefits at age 60 or older, or if applying as a disabled widow, age 50 or older; child's benefits under age 18, student benefits age 18 to 22, or disabled child's benefits; and disability benefits if age 60 or age 55 and blind.

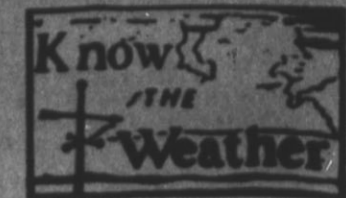

The best proof of age is a birth record or hospital record made during the first five years of your life. The next best record is a church baptismal record made before you were five years old and showing your date of birth and the date recorded. If you were born in the state of Texas prior to 1910, there will not be a recorded record of your birth. Even after this date, some births may not be recorded.

If you do not have a birth or baptismal record, try to obtain a record established early in your life. Records that might be available are: a school record, a family Bible, an insurance policy which shows age or date of birth, a State or Federal census record, a marriage record or a child's birth certificate which shows your age or date of birth, a voting record, an employment record, a military record, a passport, a driver's license or a delayed birth certificate made over 5 years ago. The time to start obtaining proof of your age is now.

If you need help in finding out what records are available in your area, contact your local social security office. In Amarillo, call 806-376-2241 or write Social Security Administration, 317 East Third St., Amarillo, Tex. 79101.

What does a halo around the moon mean? Does it indicate warm weather—as some say? Does it mean it is likely to rain?

A halo can, and often does, give a clue about approaching weather. A halo is formed when high, thin clouds move overhead creating the halo effect. These high clouds are composed of ice crystals which reflect the moon's light.

Because a warm front always moves in overhead before its mass passes over the immediate surface directly before the leading edge, one can often detect its approach, either in daylight or at night.

At night the high clouds producing the halo produce a sign of probable rain. And during most of the year the approach of a warm front will mean noticeably warmer weather ahead. So the halo often does mean that rain and warmer weather are on the way. It is one of the sky signs which can be read by careful observers—though it is not an infallible forecast.

Funds Earmarked For Doctors

Mrs. Jewel Smith, Deaf Smith representative of the American Lung Association, Top of Texas region, revealed that an additional $50,000 has been allocated in Christmas Seal funds to train Texas chest physicians.

Top of Texas Area... The Christmas Seal funds will provide fellowships of $10,000 each to five physicians training in lung disease through Baylor and Texas University centers. A number of other specialists are in training in Texas on fellowships awarded annually, she said.

Citing a critical and dangerous shortage of chest specialists to care for the nation's lung patients, she said that "it's a little late to think of training a chest doctor when the patient is in acute pulmonary failure. We're acting today to save the lung patients of tomorrow."

Mrs. Smith urged local residents to answer Christmas Seal letters, stating that the campaign is lagging behind last year while the number of lung patients is steadily increasing. She said that area Lung Association plans include a multi-phase program on asthma and other lung disease in 1975, to include update training for physicians, nurses and other hospital personnel, as well as a program for parents of asthmatic children.

Mrs. Joyce Seigler, R.N., Mrs. June Rudd, R.N., and Dr. Clyde Rush of Hereford serve with Mrs. Smith as Deaf Smith representatives to the Area Lung Association, formerly known as the TB and Respiratory Disease Association.

USDA To Regulate Stamp Program

The U.S. Department of Agriculture has amended the regulations for its Food Stamp Program so that the purchase requirement for a participating household will generally — but not always — be set at a uniform 30 per cent of the household's adjusted net monthly income.

Responding to the many comments received from interested persons, USDA's Food and Nutrition Service (FNS) made two revisions in the amendment to the regulations that it has proposed last month:

—The maximum amount that a household will be required to pay will be limited to $1 less than the amount of food stamps for which the household qualifies for the month.

—In computing the amount that a household pays for its coupon allotment, any amounts that are less than a whole dollar will be dropped from the purchase requirement.

One other exception is already provided, by law, to the uniformity of the purchase requirement. Food stamps continue to be completely free for all one- and two-person households with a net monthly income of less than $20 a month, and for all other households with income of less than $30 a month.

These final amendments to the Food Stamp Program regulations were published in the Federal Register Wednesday, Jan. 22, and will go into effect March 1.

Some state welfare agencies commented on the administrative complexity of the amendment, and the vulnerability that it afforded for caseworkers to make errors. The two changes in the proposed amendment — to require a bonus of at least $1, and to drop the cents in computing the requirement — were made in response to these comments.

John Deere
Acquaints Farmers
With Product

Approximately 95 John Deere customers and dealers from the Hereford area recently visited the Deere & Company Administrative Center in Moline, Ill., as well as Deere factories in that area and in Iowa.

The purpose of the trip was to acquaint the customers and dealers with new John Deere farm equipment and show them how it is manufactured.

The visitors also met with Company executives and saw slide and film presentations on new Deere products.

The Hereford group was one of many scheduled to visit the Deere headquarters and factories between mid-November and mid-March. Altogether, the Company expects between 12,000 and 15,000 farmer-dealer visitors.

Outlook for unemployment and wages grim.

Veterans Questions

EDITOR'S NOTE: Veterans and their families are asking thousands of questions concerning the benefits their Government provides for them through the Veterans Administration. Below are some representative queries. Additional information may be obtained at any VA office.

Q— Can Veterans reserve space in a national cemetery?
A— Any veteran whose separation from the service was for reasons other than dishonorable is eligible for burial in a national cemetery, but advance reservations are not accepted. Each veteran is entitled to one grave. Next-of-kin must share space with the deceased veteran.

Q— I entered military service before completing high school. I was honorably discharged last month after four years of duty. Am I eligible for GI Bill benefits while finishing high school?
A— Yes. Veterans in your category may receive educational assistance without charge against basic entitlement. That entitlement thus remains available for post-secondary schooling.

Q— I receive 20 per cent VA disability compensation. I am 66 years old and retired. May I waive this compensation and receive pension?

A— You should file a claim for pension benefits. Consideration will be given to medical information, your period of active military duty, and income and net worth information. After considering these factors you will be paid the greater benefit.

Social Security
Questions and Answers

BY TRAVIS C. BRIGGS

[Have you a question about social security? Address it to Travis C. Briggs, District Manager, Social Security Administration, 317 East Third Street, Amarillo, Texas 79101. You will receive an answer in this column or by mail.]

Q. What will happen if I don't keep my appointment for a redetermination or contact the social security office?

A. If you fail to keep your appointment or to get in touch with the social security office, your Supplemental Security Income check may be stopped.

Q. Why can't a social security representative come to my house to see me when a redetermination is due?

A. The Social Security Administration does not have a staff large enough to do that. In addition to the Supplemental Security Income program, we still have responsibility for an expanding social security program. We must rely on those who receive benefits to cooperate with us to establish their continuing entitlement to benefits.

Q. How often will I have a redetermination?

A. Redeterminations ordinarily will be scheduled once each year. Redeterminations would be necessary more than once a year only if some event occurred which would affect your entitlement to benefits before a year had passed.

Q. I receive disability Supplemental Security Income payments. Does this mean that I will have to be examined by a doctor to see if I am still disabled when my redetermination comes up?

A. No. A redetermination of your disability will be done only if evidence is received which indicates that your condition has improved, or if you return to work. The redeterminations being scheduled now are to determine other factors of eligibility.

ASK YOUR TAX MAN

BY SAUL SILBERT

DEAR MR. TAX MAN:
I have a problem concerning the sale of my house which I bought eight years ago. One room in the house was set aside as my office, and I used to claim home office expenses as a deduction on my tax returns. Does this affect the way I report the sale of my house?

TEACHER
DEAR TEACHER:
The sale of any property used for both business and personal reasons is computed as though you had sold two different pieces of property. In your case the office at home is the business property to which you allocate its share of the costs, selling expense, selling price, etc. The remainder of the house is treated like the sale of a personal residence.

Herd Opens District Against Plainview

BY DAN WELTY
Brand Sports Editor

The Hereford Whitefaces will go into district action Tuesday night when they play host to the Plainview Bulldogs in the La Plata Gymnasium. Gametime is set at 7:30.

Coach Barry Arnwine asks all fans to take note of the new starting time of district ball games. Non-conference games began at 8 p.m., but the district games will be moved up thirty minutes. Sophomore games will begin at 4 p.m. and junior varsity tipoff will be at 5:45.

THE HERD will meet the Plainview Bulldogs Tuesday evening following a clash Saturday night with the Clovis Wildcats in a non-conference game. Results of the Hereford-Clovis game were not available at presstime.

Pre-season picks for District 4-AAAA see the Monterey Plainsmen at the top with Plainview in second place. Coronado is third, followed by Hereford and Lubbock High. "Based on the non-conference records, those predictions look about right," said Coach Arnwine Friday.

"But with the fewest number of losses among the teams being 9, it just shows that any can be beat and has been beat. Being picked number four in the district really doesn't mean that much. Last year we were picked fourth and we won a spot in the playoff for the district," said the Herd coach.

Monterey has the most impressive non-conference record with 12 wins and 9 losses. Plainview is only one game behind at Plainview has the most impressive non-conference record with 13 wins and 9 losses. Monterey stands at 12 wins and 9 losses. Coronado is at 11 and 10. Hereford is 8-13 and Lubbock High brings up the rear at 6-16.

ARNWINE SAYS Plainview

will be a tough opponent for the Herd. "Plainview has probably, since the first of this year, gained more momentum than any other team in the district. They've won five of their last six games. The Bulldogs beat Levelland by a large margin after losing to them early in the year. But we haven't seen them yet so we don't know how much they've improved," said Arnwine who was to scout Plainview Friday evening.

"The Bulldogs are a big physical team," said Arnwine. "Their high post is Gil Sadler, a 6'6" senior. Danny Huffines plays one of the wing spots. He's a 6'5" two year starter who earned All-District honors last year. He's also an excellent shooter. The other wing is Steve Green, who's 6 foot."

"The low post is Cling Purdy and he's 6'4". Jerry Wade serves as their guard, he's six feet tall and was an All-District performer last year."

THEY PLAY a deliberate and patient style of basketball," said Arnwine. "There probably will not be much scoring when we play them. They play as good a 2-3 zone as we'll see this season. Their strength, though, is their size which gives them rebounding power and their outside shooting."

"The key to our game will be to do a good job on Huffines and Sadler. Sadler gets most of his points under the boards. Green is also a good outside shooter," said Arnwine.

The Herd will have three new varsity members when they enter district play. Four of the original ten members of the team are no longer playing. Arnwine was forced to tap the skills of the junior varsity to complete his varsity roster.

Archie Crim, a sophomore, was moved up earlier this year. James Mays, Paul Trolinder and Brent Sigle will join forces with the varsity team. Mays is a sophomore, Trolinder and Sigle are juniors.

Herd Cagers To Be Chili Supper Guest

The Herd varsity, junior varsity and sophomore basketball team will be honored guests Monday night at a chili supper sponsored by the Whiteface Booster Club.

President Tom Simons said the supper will begin at 7 p.m. with all booster club members and basketball parents invited to attend. The program will begin at 8 p.m. Admission will be 50 cents per person.

Following the supper held in the high school cafeteria, Coach Barry Arnwine will introduce all members of the high school basketball teams and a film of a varsity game will probably be viewed. Fred Upshaw, new athletic director and head football coach, will introduce two new coaches who have been added to the staff.

Junior Hi Results

Both Hereford junior high schools were at the Canyon Tournament over the weekend, playing games Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Results of all games were not available at press time.

In the second round of play, the La Plata freshmen edged the Plainview Red team 51-50. That set up a meeting of the La Plata ninth graders and the Borger White ninth graders for the consolation championship.

La Plata's eighth graders fell to the Plainview Estacado eighth graders 46-28, and played the Canyon White for third place.

The La Plata seventh graders fell to Plainview Estacado 32-26 in the second round.

In the first round of the tourney Thursday, the Stanton seventh-graders edged Plainview Coronado 36-35. The La Plata seventh-graders bowed to Boys Ranch 30-12.

The Stanton eighth-graders plowed the Borger Reds 47-18 while the La Plata eighth-graders scored a 44-39 win over the Canyon Purples.

The Stanton freshmen whipped the Borger White team

79-56 while the La Plata freshmen absorbed a 61-37 beating at the hands of the canyon Purples.

Tryouts Set For Little Dribblers

Tryouts for Little Dribblers basketball team will be held Saturday Feb. 1 for youngsters 9-12. Steve Carrol, Little Dribblers president has announced.

The tryouts for 9 and 10 year olds will be held at the Hereford High School; tryouts for 11 and 12-year-olds will be conducted at the Stanton gymnasium.

Carrol said that boys who played on the major league last year do not have to try out. All others will be required to try out. Boys are asked to bring their registration forms and money the day of registration.

If further forms or information are needed, contact Steve Carrol at 364-6395. The program is sponsored locally by the Jaycees.

The End Zone

DAN WELTY

DISTRICT 4-AAAA opened basketball conference play Friday night with the Whitefaces open for the first night. Monterey downed Coronado 59-48 to move to a 13-9 record. Coronado is now 11-11.

Plainview, the Herd's opponent Tuesday night, rallied late in the game to beat Lubbock High 61-50. Plainview has the best record in the district with a 14-9. Lubbock High is now 6-17.

MORE THAN ONE MOVIE has used a football game to bring the finish of the movie to a dramatic close. A flick showing here in Hereford starring Burt Reynolds was the latest of these football dramas and there were several familiar faces in the crowd when we went.

Now, old Burt may be great as a foldout, but we'd say his chances of winning an Oscar are somewhat less than slim. But he always seems to play in Class B movies that have a certain appeal.

In this one Burt is a montage of characters that include Alex Darras, Joe Namath, George Blanda and Mean Joe Green (who has a token part in the flick). He's mean, he's arrogant, he's sly, and he's a superstar.

Excuse us, Super Star. Burt's been done wrong by society and ended up in the pen where he releases his frustrations on the 'system by building a football team that whips the guards who represent the 'Establishment.' If you're still with us, hang on because the action at the end of this film is terrific.

With the score 35-30 and Burt's team on the one yard line, the camera goes to slow motion; Burt scrambles around in the backfield looking for a hole and access to the goal line.

It'll keep you on the edge of your seat worse than a James Bond cliff-hanger. Guess maybe it's because we can identify with the inmates who want to trample the guards.

Our only other favorite football-game-ending picture was MASH. And that was also some ballgame. Kind of makes you wish the NFL could come up with some entertainment on the same scale as Hollywood does.

A COUPLE OF MID-SEASON honorable mentions we feel should be made to James Arney and Tommy Loerwald. Arney, we think, deserves a Purple Heart. Or maybe an honorary Golden Gloves membership.

During the Herd's basketball games Arney has spent more time on the floor than he has standing up. He's been gouged, kicked, slugged and pushed. If you want to argue that basketball is not a contact sport, look Arney up. He'll disagree with you.

Another pat-on-the-back, we think, should go to Tommy Loerwald. He's spent so much time on the bench, he's got splinters in his hair. But, he's always there whenever Arnwine gives him the call and he's eager when he hits the floor. Others have come and gone, but Tommy stays on persistent, proud just to be a part of the team.

IF THE WORLD FOOTBALL LEAGUE was smart, they'd get the Arabs to finance them. The Arabs are the only people who have any money anyway, and it was ours to begin with.

How's the Birmingham Arabians sound? Would you believe the Southern California Sand? Maybe the Memphis Camels?

If a shiek can have a harem, why can't he have his own football team?

THE WHITEFACE BOOSTER Club would like to publicly express their appreciation to those business firms who sponsored the big photos of the basketball team. In addition, a special thanks goes out to the Whiteface cheerleaders who sold the booster photos.

SEVERAL PEOPLE in town wandering off to the mountains this weekend for a couple of days of subducing down the slopes. We wish we were there.

One of the best advertising schemes we know of shows a skier busting through the powder at Angel Fire and the announcer says, "To ski is to dance with your soul."

Right on!

IN CASE YOU MISSED the short story here in the paper, the Booster club is sponsoring a chili supper tomorrow night at the high school cafeteria. Chili is only 50 cents, and with the price of beef, you can't hardly afford to pass that one up. A huge attendance of booster club members and basketball parents probably wouldn't hurt Herd morale, either.

By Clay R. Pollan

Note planetary ruler of your birth symbol

FOR WEEK BEGINNING MONDAY, JAN. 27, 1975

Aries Mar. 21 - Apr. 19 Pluto
Your thoughts will be concerned with making purchases for home or office improvement. If you go in for buying a large item, you most probably will end up with a pure lemon. Deal only with established firms. Keep your spending to small and relatively unimportant items. Be safe rather than sorry.

Taurus Apr. 20 - May 20 Venus
A very interesting person may enter your life this week and be a part of your picture from now on. Be sure to treat all new acquaintances friendly and not be aloof. Many changes are forecast. Nothing is apt to remain the same. Status quo will take a pounding. Try to win more friends.

Gemini May 21 - June 20 Mercury
Surprises are the order of the day now, and they can come quick and fast. Changes in personal affairs or at place of business are obvious. Dress things up to please the older and more conventional generation. Present a bold and cheerful face to the world. It will bring dividends.

Cancer June 21 - July 22 Moon
A week to be composed, patient and tolerant. Do not quarrel with anyone, even a person who is belligerent and threatening. Live through this time quietly, although your nerves can be tense. Avoid scattering your efforts. Discuss and define your goals. Some quiet reflecting would help a lot.

Leo July 23 - Aug. 22 Sun
Your stars have a romantic slant now. Show affection for those around you and forget that Leo coolness. Be particularly warm and loving with someone of the opposite sex who deserves love. Be cautious in dealing with Gemini persons. Don't take anything for granted. Look beneath surface indications.

Virgo Aug. 23 - Sept. 22 Mercury
Generosity of spirit must reign in your life. Anything else will not be acceptable. Go out of your way to make friends of people you meet in social life. Avoid making enemies. Keep lines of communication open. Be affable, charming. State desires clearly but do so in a manner that will win friends.

Libra Sept. 23 - Oct. 22 Venus
Your nerves may be difficult to manage this week. You'll be in a quandary at times, and might not get the understanding and sympathy you desire and deserve. Try cheerfulness yourself to dispel the gloom. There's promise that a strenuous chore will be taken off your hands. Keep firm hold on principles.

Scorpio Oct. 23 - Nov. 21 Mars
Financial activity is stimulated now. You can complete transactions profitably, and your prestige rises as being a smart operator. Some slight obstacles may develop, possibly quarrels. Buying needed tools or equipment is money well spent. Terms of a contract will work to your advantage.

Sagittarius Nov. 22 - Dec. 21 Jupiter
Big, dramatic things can happen during this period. It is a good time for romance, a wedding, a journey, or visiting people who count. Go ahead if you think a secret talk or meeting holds advantages. Handle interviews carefully and intelligently and success is yours. Don't write letters while in anger.

Capricorn Dec. 22 - Jan. 19 Saturn
Bright aspects. You may be doing business with a new group and find them much to your liking. If single, you'll begin to feel you're on firmer ground with someone and become quite trustful. If married, your romantic situation can become more exciting. Seek the companionship of "unstuffy" people.

Aquarius Jan. 20 - Feb. 18 Uranus
Don't worry about things that may never happen. Be a little fatalistic. Your destiny may become quite obvious and all will work out well. Accept the new events in your life resignedly and gratefully so. Let your outlook be optimistic. Sudden and surprising gains may come through past foresight.

Pisces Feb. 19 - Mar. 20 Neptune
It is best to make no promises now. Just relax about your hopes. Your great expectations may have to be toned down a bit. Give more attention to your well-being. If you have spare money buy something glamorous for yourself. Be ready to switch arrangements if they are to your advantage.

Right at a time when the U.S. is striving to achieve some degree of energy independence, the electric utility industry is facing one of the most severe cutbacks in the history of this country. Higher fuel costs have forced a 55 per cent average increase in electric power rates in 1974 and this has stiffened consumer resistance to any further rate increases. Meanwhile, tax relief from Washington is slow and will provide only minor relief. Administration officials fear that as many as five or six electric utility companies will have to be taken over by state or city governments during 1975. Electricity will assume more and more of the role in energy dependence over the next ten years. In order to handle the fast-growing demand for electricity, the nation's utilities have embarked on one of the most intensive construction programs in history. Even with the drag on power production caused by fuel conservation and high fuel prices, the electric utility industry must add as much generating capacity over the next ten years as it has in the past, maybe even more.

But, rising fuel costs and lagging rate increases are causing the cancellation or postponement of over 50 per cent of the electric capacity being constructed and on the drawing boards. Several utility companies have halted construction of partially built plants, regardless of the necessity of the additional generating capacity in the next several years. These plants cost a tremendous amount of money and take as long as ten years to construct. Also, years of power shortages could cause economic stagnation by crippling business booms and depress an otherwise healthy economy. Electricity is the best way to distribute energy produced from coal, uranium, solar and geothermal sources. Electricity will take over much of transportation and space heating. The Federal Power Commission predicts more than half of all energy consumed by end users will be in the form of electricity by the year 2001, up from 25 per cent in 1974.

Ada Stock Explained

Ada Resources, Inc., is a Houston-based public company which operates two feedyards at Hereford with a total capacity for 76,000 head of cattle.

The corporation was formed on April 3, 1973 to consolidate a number of related and unrelated resource-oriented enterprises as a single corporate entity. The company began its actual operations a year later, on April 1, 1974, following the successful exchange of Ada common shares for interests in various oil and gas drilling programs and the capital stock and assets of private companies engaged in the marketing and transportation of petroleum products and in feedlot management.

The company's operational philosophy is to utilize the strong cash flow from its successful marketing and feedlot operations to rapidly expand its exploration and production of hydrocarbon fuels.

Ada Resources currently operates in four major areas of activity:

- 1) Oil and Gas Operations — include exploration, development and operation of oil and gas properties.
- 2) Marketing Operations — involve the wholesale and retail distribution of petroleum products and automotive accessories.
- 3) Transportation Operations — concern the transportation of crude oil and other bulk petroleum products throughout the Texas highway system utilizing company-owned tractor-trailers and through the Gulf Intra-coastal Waterway and Mississippi River System by company-owned barges.
- 4) Feedyard Operations — emphasize the management of two feedyards at Hereford, in the Texas Panhandle, with a total capacity for 76,000 head. Ada Resources is not a fully integrated oil and gas company and does not operate its own refineries. Ada is in the business of discovering and producing oil and gas, which is then refined by others. The company transports the refined

Sante Fe Says Revenues Up

Highest revenues and net income in history for Santa Fe Industries were recorded in 1974. John S. Reed, chairman announced recently. Revenues of $1.4 billion exceeded the previous record of $1.2 billion established in 1973. Net income rose 17 per cent to $120.1 million, or $4.67 a share, from $102.8 million, or $4.01 a share, in the previous year. Reed attributed the $17.3 million increase in net income primarily to the substantially increased earnings from petroleum operations. These earnings more than offset decreased profitability in rail, forest products, and real estate operations, which felt the deepening impact of the economic recession during the final months of the year.

Petroleum operations contributed $71.6 million to pre-tax income, more than double that of 1973. These results included amortization and writeoff of leasehold and dry hole costs of $9.2 million compared with $3.5 million in 1973. Rail earnings, which had exceeded the 1973 performance through the first nine months, suffered a decline during the final quarter, which caused pre-tax income to drop $7.8 million for the entire year. Truck and pipeline operations showed a slight improvement. But the results of forest products operations were down $1.8 million due to the drastic slump in the home building and construction industry.

Despite the general business slowdown in the closing months, fourth quarter revenues of $365.2 million were a record for the period, and the fourth quarter net income of $27.5 million, or $1.07 a share, exceeded only by the $33.5 million, or $1.30 a share, earned in the last quarter of 1973. Santa Fe Railway carloadings, reflecting the general business recession, fell 8 per cent in the last quarter. In addition, rail earnings were adversely affected by the coal miners' strike and a cutback in automobile production, while the cost of performing transportation was raised by the inflation of all railroad costs, particularly diesel fuel prices, which added about $10.5 million to fuel costs in the period. Other factors contributing to the unfavorable comparison of Industries' fourth quarter revenues of $365.2 million were a record for the period, and the fourth quarter net income of $27.5 million, or $1.07 a share, is exceeded only by the $33.5 million, or $1.30 a share, earned in the last quarter of 1973. Santa Fe Railway carloadings, reflecting the general business recession, fell 8 per cent in the last quarter. In addition, rail earnings were adversely affected by the coal miners' strike and a cutback in automobile production, while the cost of performing transportation was raised by the inflation of all railroad costs, particularly diesel fuel prices, which added about $10.5 million to fuel costs in the period. Other factors contributing to the unfavorable comparison of Industries' fourth quarter earnings included an increase in petroleum leasehold and dry hole expenses, which reduced earnings by $1.8 million, and the consumption in 1973 of a $5.0 million non-taxable gain on a major land sale. Reed again emphasized the importance of correcting the imbalance between railway earnings and investment in new facilities if railroads are to continue the modernization programs needed to handle the nation's future traffic load. "Timely adjustments of freight rates and improved efficiency of operations will be required to offset the continuing inflation of operating costs. The public seems to be more aware of the fact that railroads are the most efficient form of ground transportation in terms of fuel consumption and that where the energy shortage is concerned, railways are a part of the solution rather than the problem," Reed said.

was a winner in the Amarillo Sunday News-Globe summer snapshot contest, and as such was submitted to the international competition where it competed for $55,000 in cash and travel prizes. KINSA, sponsored annually by Eastern Kodak Company, last year drew more than 308,000 entries.

Billingsley, who has been taking pictures for 10 years, used a wide lens opening "to get a shallow depth of field" in his existing light portrait.

"I think I was trying to get her to pose while sitting on her horse — and she gave me the look you see," says Billingsley of his young subject. "She is getting to be quite a ham and model. She likes to have her picture made."

For two months, Billingsley's picture will be featured at the Kodak Photo Gallery, 1133 Avenue of the Americas (at 43rd Street), along with the black-and-white and color photograph of photo amateurs from throughout the United States, Canada and Mexico. The Gallery is open to the public from noon to 5 p.m. Monday and from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday.

Hightower Will Keynote Annual Water Meeting

U.S. Rep. Jack Hightower will keynote the Eighth Annual Membership Meeting of Water, Inc., Feb. 15 at the Quality Inn, Amarillo. He heads a list of program participants which includes State Senators Max Sherman of Amarillo and Kent Hance of Lubbock.

Theme of the annual get-together will be "A Year of Progress", with emphasis on the new unity at the state level. More than 250 persons from throughout West Texas and Eastern New Mexico are expected to attend.

Two meetings of the Water, Inc., board of directors are slated in connection with the Saturday meeting, the first at 4 p.m., Feb. 14, and the second immediately following the membership meeting. The latter is the board's annual session at which officers and members of the executive committee are elected for the coming year.

Rep. Hightower of Vernon was elected to represent the sprawling 13th Texas Congressional District last November, a district that includes the Texas Panhandle and a swath of North Central Texas extending to Wichita Falls. He was first elected to public office in 1952 as a state representative. After one term he was appointed district attorney, a post in which he served for six years. He was elected to the state senate in 1964, serving in the state's upper chamber until his recent election to Congress. In the state senate, Hightower was known as a prime-mover of water legislation. During the past year he headed up the state senate's four regional water study councils.

D.G. "Bill" Nelson, Amarillo, executive secretary of the Texas Wheat Growers Assn., and director of Water, Inc., is chairman of the annual meeting committee. Also on the committee are K.B. "Tex" Watson, Edward G. Weber, and Jerome Johnson, all of Amarillo.

Kiwanians View Quarter Horse Film

The American quarter horse and its many uses was the subject of a program presented by Don Treadway, a representative of the American Quarter Horse Association in Amarillo at the Noon Kiwanis meeting Thursday.

Treadway told the Kiwanians that although the organization was formed in 1940, it is the largest equine registry in the world. The association passed its million registry mark last November and registered 78,000 horses this past year. Over 70,000 persons are active members of the AQHA.

Although quarter horses were used as cattle horses and race horses in America since the early colonial periods, it was not until 1940 that the quarter horse became a recognized breed.

That year, a group at the Fort Worth Exposition and Fat Stock Show decided to form a group. One thousand horses were registered that first year compared with 78,000 in 1974.

For the first six years, the organization's records were kept in a file cabinet in the bedroom of the president. In 1946, operations moved to Amarillo when the cabinet was loaded in a Dodge pickup and driven to Amarillo. Since that time the organization has grown to include an office building with 60,000 square feet and 220 employees.

Why the current interest in the quarter horse? asked Treadway. The back-to-nature craze by Americans has prompted many to return to nature on horses and the demand for the quarter horses as cow ponies in foreign countries account for the popularity of the animals.

Treadway presented a film to the group which outlined the talents of the quarter horse. The horse got its name in colonial days when horses were used to race short stretches in cleared areas. The quarter horse is capable of tremendous speeds up to a quarter-mile.

In addition the horse's athletic ability and versatility make it popular for barrel racing, reining, steer and calf roping and cutting.

In other matters, Kiwanis president R.C. Hoelscher urged the group to donate blood when the Coffee Donor Bank van is in Hereford next Wednesday.

Lions Greet Hereford High Basketball Players

The introduction of the varsity members of the Whiteface basketball team served as the program Wednesday for the Hereford Lions Club regular weekly luncheon meeting at Civic Club Center.

Coach Barry Arnwine presented a progress report and player profile on each member of the team. He urged Lions and all sports fans to "pack the gym" for the team's opening District 4-AAAA game here Tuesday against Plainview.

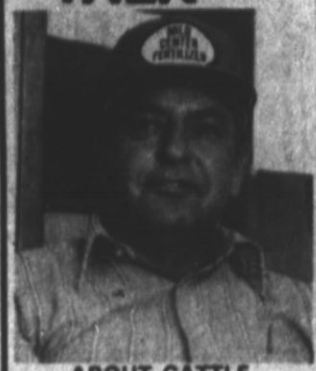

The Whitefaces take on the highly-ranked Clovis Wildcats here Saturday night in a non-conference clash, then go into district play next week. The second district encounter will also be in Hereford next Friday night against Monterey.

Arnwine told Lions the Whitefaces have shown much improvement in recent games. With only one returning letterman — Lynn Tarr — the team was not ranked as a contender in the league race this season, but Arnwine feels the Herd could surprise some people.

In other activity during the club meeting, president Wayne Lady presented several perfect attendance pins and service pins to members. Lions also heard a report from a representative of the Leo Club — a high school organization sponsored by the Lions.

TEXAS TALK

ABOUT CATTLE

KILLING MERIT — is the term used to describe the qualifications of cattle for slaughter. Generally, there are three points considered in determining the grade of a steer for slaughter. They are: conformation, finish and quality.

CONFORMATION — is the build or shape of the steer. In this determination, bone structure is secondary since the contours of an animal are controlled primarily by the size and shape of the muscles. A good conformation is important in grading beef since it usually means a higher dressing percentage, more of the higher priced cuts and a better meat-to-bone cutting percentage.

NEXT WEEK — finish, quality, and what the "perfect" steer looks like.

Bronco League Sets Meet

Hereford's Bronco League will hold a general business meeting Tuesday, Jan. 28, according to Charlie Gresham, Bronco League president.

The meeting, to be held at 7:30 p.m. in the Pioneer Natural Gas Warehouse on East Highway 60, is open to Bronco League managers, coaches, sponsors, and anyone who is interested in helping in one way or another with the summer baseball program.

Gresham said a representative to the Kids, Inc. board would be elected at the meeting and organizational matters would be taken up.

Creeping Inflation Does Not Lower Insurance Protection

SPECIAL TO THE BRAND
The average Deaf Smith County family has been adjusting to current economic conditions by cutting down on its non-essential spending. But it has not reduced its financial protection against the unexpected hazards of daily living.

It has maintained in full force such major safeguards as its health insurance, accident insurance and life insurance.

With respect to life insurance protection, many families are more heavily covered at the present time than ever before.

It is due to the fact that, locally and elsewhere across the country, despite the tight money situation, people have been adding to this form of security.

Nationally, as a result, the capital amount of life insurance in force has now gone above $1.8 trillion, which is nearly six times the annual budget.

Texas State's share of this total amounts to $95,668,000, as compared with $35,824,000, 10 years ago.

The facts and figures on the distribution of insurance throughout the United States are presented, state by state, by the Department of Commerce and by the Life Insurance Institute.

On the basis of their findings, it is estimated that residents of Deaf Smith County are now insured to the tune of $135,756,000.

In most families, the amount of insurance carried is in direct proportion to their income. Throughout the state, the holdings of the average family are equivalent to its income for 25.1 months, after taxes.

Applying this yardstick to Deaf Smith County and to the level of earnings in the area, ownership of life insurance comes to approximately $22,500 per family locally.

This is considerably more than in many sections of the country and is about twice as much as was held 10 years ago.

The average in the West South Central States is $20,750 per family.

The reports show that more people than usual are now buying term insurance, which is the cheapest kind.

Another reflection of the times is the extent to which policy holders are taking out loans on their policies to meet current expenses. More than $4.5 billion was borrowed in that way last year.

Fertilizer Exports Down From Previous Year

U.S. export of fertilizer materials for the year ending on June 30, 1974 amounted to 21,665,000 tons compared to 20,225,000 tons in 1973 and 18,675,000 tons in 1972.

U.S. imports of fertilizer materials for the year ending on June 30, 1974 amounted to 10,475,000 tons, compared to 8,187,000 tons a year ago.

When the imports are subtracted from the exports, the net U.S. exports of fertilizer materials for the year ending June 30, 1974 was 11,190,000 tons, compared to 12,038,000 tons a year ago.

There is a sizable amount of the United States export of fertilizer paid for with U.S. dollars by the Agency For International Development. For the year ending on June 30, 1974, the Agency For International Development paid for 1,392,000 tons compared to 2,066,000 tons a year ago.

These figures revealed the fertilizer exported and paid for by the United States government during the year ending on June 30, 1974 amounted to 6.4 per cent of all fertilizers exported during the year compared to 10.2 per cent the previous year.

USDC Desperate For '74 Census

A plea for farmers to get in their report forms for the 1974 Census of Agriculture are coming from U.S. Department of Commerce.

Farmers and ranchers across the country are beginning to come in a few at a time.

The Department of Commerce publishes a preliminary report every five years with the information sent in by the citizens. This is why the Department is in such great desperation.

Plans for the publishing of the preliminary reports from the census are being made for publication in the late fall. This early publication will be possible only if the vast majority of report forms are returned early.

By The Garden Gate With Glad

January and February are months when we can get caught up on some of the reading we have been wanting to do. I have started a book which I have had for several months, and have been eager to read.

The author has discussed methods and other phases of gardening, also names of some famous gardeners. One of those mentioned is Thomas Jefferson, a very famous politician, and U.S. President.

Mr. Jefferson was an avid gardener. He bolstered and affirmed gardening with statements like, "I have often thought that if heaven had given me my choice of position and calling, it should have been on a rich spot of earth, well watered, and near a good market for the productions of the garden. No occupation is so delightful to me as the culture of the earth, and no culture comparable to that of the garden."

When I toured the grounds of the Jefferson home, Monticello, I was impressed with the gardens, and the complete landscaping of the grounds. Some of the trees he had planted were still gracing the beautiful grounds. The gardens have been plotted like he had them ever since he left this, his favorite home.

Many of the flowers were in full bloom when we were there, and I was glad that we had time to leisurely stroll through the gardens, both the flower and vegetable. I shall never forget the beautiful gardens, and other places in Virginia which have played such a part in our heritage, and have made our nation more beautiful and wonderful.

"Some reckon time by stars, and some by hours; play and other hobbies, And some by the beauties which nature so generously gives to us." T.J. While in Dallas, recently, I read in "The Army Times" where a couple (military) of Ft. Lee were married in the beautiful wooded area, where Lloyd Jr., and I walked, played, took pictures, and did nature studies.

We could visualize the lovers, their attendants, and the guests in the beautiful setting which nature created. I would agree that the place was wisely chosen, as there is nothing that can surpass nature.

It is good to reminisce, but now let us meet some of our new friends, which are being introduced for gardens and landscaping. I have been receiving catalogs and magazines which have listings of the New Introductions for 1975, and selections by the various societies for the American gardening public.

First we will list the rose selections. The three All-American Rose Selections for 1975 were Oregon . . . hybrid tea, bright yellow on strong stems (ideal for cutting). Also Rose Parade, a peachy pink floribunda with beautiful shaped flowers, very fragrant and double flowers on the bushy plant, recommended for landscape effects.

Arizona, a grandiflora rose, is coppery pink, sends up sprays of gorgeous blossoms, which are stylish in form and have productive, vigorous, clean bushes.

Some of the new roses in the selection this spring have great characteristics. It has been predicted that they will all be very popular. Rosarians tell us that the rose world is undergoing changes.

Years ago when I first became interested in roses, usually the top selections were hybrid teas. Today we find a great interest in miniature roses reaching new heights, and a gradual departure in form and types.

Heading the list from Jackson and Perkins is the "rose of the year," Spellbinder. This hybrid tea has an unusual combination of ivory edged red and when in full bloom has an overall pink cast however in its final development the color is rose red.

When bush is properly grown, blooms will reach six inches in full maturity.

Futura, is a coral-orange hybrid tea, with pointed buds that spiral open to a full-centered four inch bloom. Plant has a very vigorous growth.

Reflection has a large, double flower of cherry red, opening from large urn-shaped buds that in spring seem like bicolors because of the distinct lighter tone on petal reverses. It is a descendant from the famous and very popular Tropicana, which is a vigorous plant producing lovely fragrant flowers. It is a wonderful keeper for the flower arranger.

Summerwine is a clear pink hybrid tea that is a descendant of the much-loved rose Tiffany. Its graceful long ovoid buds on long-stems, and a bush which is liked because of its vigorous growth and growth pattern.

J&P also selected a climber named Tempo. It is everblooming, bearing brilliant red flowers, which grow in profusion on this climber rose. Flowers are excellent for cutting. This selected climber rose is an ancestor from Climbing Ena Harkness.

The Star Roses selection which was announced as an exceptional variety, is named Sonia. It is a highly-rated French import from the house of Meilland, and is named for her granddaughter. It is a grandiflora, and bears long-lasting, perfectly formed 4-inch blooms of luminous coral-pink. It opens slowly, and is a classic rose when in full flower. Is recognized especially as a rose which fends off diseases. (This should be remembered, when selecting new roses to plant).

Another selected climber is Red Fountain, which authorities say could be considered as a shrub. Its 10-foot arching canes, which are rugged and hardy could be used for a barrier or would make excellent screening. This rose produces blossoms in profusion through June until frost. Blossoms are fragrant, and are a luscious, iridescent red in color. Blossoms are in large clusters on the sturdy canes.

For an excellent cut flower, Sara Mia, another chosen hybrid has excellent garden quality. It grows upright, is a spreading plant of average height and flowers are of classic quality with beautiful pointed buds in a rich glowing red. Recommended for cutting.

Noted for its fruity fragrance is Ann Factor. A hybrid tea, bearing peach-apricot blossoms, which deepens in color in the autumn. Plants have a spreading growth pattern with dark green foliage of good texture. The bush is large and spreading in form.

Puerto Rico, is a floribunda and a great favorite of the landscapers. Growth pattern is one of a spreading habit, growing larger than most of this type. Color is orange-yellow, opening from long, stately buds to a three inch width. Fragrance is spicy, which adds to its charm.

Another new introduction with a fascinating name is Candy Apple. It is a grandiflora, which is an excellent grower and is becoming one of the most popular of the various types of roses. Color of this grandiflora is apple-red, with candy-like sheen. Plants grow to a medium height and are well branched.

The Mini-rose selection is a very new miniature, and is named Kathy Robinson. Is bushy almost thornless, grows upright approximately 14 inches, is popular because it is disease resistant. A glowing pink buff color, and flowers are definitely of exhibition quality.

A premier is being announced by the Iowa State University, which has received its first patent. The rose they have perfected is "Red Sparkler." Flowers are red, pink and white striped, and it is a hybrid tea. Is being propagated by the Texas Rose Research Foundation and, if not available this year, it will be on the market soon. This really sounds like it would be a good selection, and would create a beauty spot in any garden.

Some of my garden friends have been calling me and talking about roses, comparisons are made and names given of their favorite variety.

New Speaker Clayton Addresses House

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following text was spoken by Rep. Bill Clayton when he officially assumed position as Speaker of the House of Representatives. Clayton represents the 74th District which includes Deaf Smith County.]

"Mr. Secretary, Judge Boone, fellow members of the House, honored guests, ladies and gentlemen: It is with a sense of profound gratitude and deep humility that I stand here before you.

"Being chosen Speaker by my peers in this House is perhaps one of the greatest moments of my life. It has been a long, hard race, and believe me, I'm glad it is over.

"I gained a lot of experience from this venture and have been impressed by the fact that people are concerned about the future of our government.

"One of our great political leaders, Franklin D. Roosevelt, once said, 'The future lies with those wise political leaders who realize that the public is interested more in good government than in just politics.'

"Perhaps as never before in our legislative history, we, as members of this House, have an opportunity and duty to prove ourselves as providers of good government.

"From the smallest local board to the highest national office, we face unprecedented dilemmas — scandals, hints of scandals, charges, countercharges. All have caused the most severe case of apathy among our citizens. As we approach our nation's 200th birthday, many are losing faith in our system.

"At such times it is perhaps wise to draw upon the strength of our founding fathers — the great desire they had to see this country build herself into the greatest of all nations.

"It was Jefferson who offered our infant nation the ideals of faith. Faith in progress. Faith in reason. Faith in education. Faith in the concept of government as the servant rather than the master of the individual. And most of all, the unbounded faith in America's future.

This legislative body, a part of that belief, has a duty to renew that spirit of Jefferson. We must not forget that we are elected by the people — to work for the people. Their cause is our cause. President Lincoln put it another way when he wrote:

"The legitimate object of government is to do for a community of people what they cannot do for themselves."

"However, to do this job, it takes the active involvement of the people. We must encourage their involvement. We need participation from every part of our economy and from every part of our society.

"Within that participation, even within our own body, we must realize we have a common goal for this state. We are all Texans, whether we are poor, rich, black, white, Chicano, man or woman. To function, we must respect varying backgrounds among us.

"It is with this spirit, this faith, that we, the legislators of this 64th Legislative session, must meet the challenges of today head-on. The news media has predicted this session to be 'one of the toughest legislative sessions in history.'

"They list a number of problems that we must face — such as: school finance, property tax reform and energy conservation. We also have a large surplus to zealously guard.

"As we read in the 11th chapter of Proverbs, 'A false balance is an abomination to the Lord, but a just weight is his delight.' I believe this is what Texans want from their state government. With a surplus in the treasury, we will be called upon to exemplify this attitude. We must weigh the priorities and then exercise prudence in handling the taxpayer's dollar.

"I am optimistic we can meet this challenge. However, we cannot fool around till the waning moments of the session to act decisively. It is said man is known by the enemies he makes. Let us then make enemies of waste, duplication, apathy and cynicism in government.

"As your Speaker, I will dedicate all the time and effort needed to do my part of the job. There has been much speculation about the problems Bill Clayton will have in holding this House together.

"Speculation that we'll return to the days when decisions were made behind closed doors in smoke-filled rooms. Speculations that I will be insensitive to the needs of urban areas. Speculation that there will be division amongst our state officials.

"But I stand before you today to say the days of iron-hand rule are gone. The public won't stand for it, the members won't stand for it, and most of all I won't stand for it.

"If our democratic system is to work, it must be achieved through public forum and debate. And I want to stress that my door is open to you, to the media, and to the people. I am hopeful that you will call on me in the days ahead, that we might be able to work together for the betterment of all Texans.

"We can no longer afford to divide ourselves into urban and rural factions. The problems we face affect all Texans. I may be a 'country boy,' but I pledge to you that I will try to do what is best for all Texans, both rural and urban.

"Obviously, I will not turn my back on the district I represent, but neither will I turn a deaf ear to the problems facing Texas.

"I will work with Governor Briscoe and Lieutenant Governor Hobby and other state officials to obtain the best government possible.

"Too often in recent political history, there have been bitterness and division among our top state officials because of personalities or politics. There should be no reason for personal feuding and fighting when the public's business is at hand.

"Perhaps my remarks today are not exactly what you expected from a newly-elected Speaker. I realize I have not put forth any 'platform' nor have I offered any solutions to the many problems ahead.

"But, by expressing myself to the issue of confidence, hopefully I have struck at the very heart of what must be accomplished before other issues can be tackled and solved.

"Recapturing the spirit of our founding fathers will not come easy. It will take work, dedication and long hours. This, jointly, is our responsibility. I repeat those words so often spoken, yet so rarely put into action, 'let us work together.'

"More eloquently put almost 200 years ago by the statesman Edmund Burke, 'It is when a great nation is in great difficulty, that minds must exalt themselves to the occasion.'

"This occasion calls for service, not red tape and bureaucracy; intelligent debate, not meaningless rhetoric; a confidence of the people, not public neglect. The people of this state sent us to do a job, and not to joke about it.

"Let us begin to restore that confidence. Let's be heroes of today, not villains of tomorrow.

"It is a challenge equal to none other. Even greater than that of our forefathers who tamed the frontiers, the problems of our complex society demand our every effort.

"It's a big job ahead of us, but I am confident that working together we can accomplish the task. I think the late President Lyndon Johnson summed it up best when he said:

"Faced with a task of such great dimension, we have no time for melancholy. We have work to do. The greatest work any generation has ever faced. Believing that, let's be on with our labors."

Sights at the Junior Livestock Show

Sights, smells and sounds filled the Bull Barn and Little Bull Barn as the 1975 Hereford Young Farmers Junior Livestock Show was held Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Competition included youngsters 9 to 20 years old enrolled in schools in Deaf Smith, Castro, Farmer and Oldham counties. Steers, barrows and lambs the kids raised competed for the coveted title of Grand Champion of the Show. In the end only three were chosen for that title.

The Brand camera wandered through the show, catching glimpses of competition and happenings. We recreate those glimpses here for our readers.

Westers Complete Once-In-A Lifetime Journey

By KERRIE WOMBLE
Women's Editor

Coffee strong enough to float nails, a bumpy ride on an ostrich and an impala skin necktie were highlights of an unforgettable six-weeks stay in South Africa, according to Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wester.

The Westers, who reside at 311 Ave. J, returned to Hereford Tuesday after traveling more than 20,000 miles. The couple skipped from Dallas to New York City, across the Atlantic Ocean to London, where they boarded a jumbo jet bound for Johannesburg in the northern portion of South Africa.

Most of the Westers' journey was based in Capetown on the tip of the continent. There, they visited a son, Stewart Carroll Jones, his wife Cecilia and their three children. Jones has been stationed in Capetown for nine years as an employee of Mobil Oil Company. He is a 1954 graduate of Hereford High School.

AN EXCURSION to Ootshoorn gave the Westers the opportunity to see an ostrich farm. The Hereford couple compared this site to the cattle industries in the Panhandle.

The farm raises the large birds for slaughter and utilizes every part of the animal except one of the feet. The meat is produced as a food, which the Westers tasted. They said the ostrich meat was like jerky and had a good flavor.

One ostrich egg is equal in volume to two dozen chicken eggs, Mrs. Wester stated. These, plus the feathers and the skin are the major raw materials which are sold.

An adult ostrich averages 300 pounds and is about five feet tall, but Mrs. Wester was game enough to ride one. Her husband also attempted this feat but instead of grabbing the bird's wings, he clutched the animal's neck and was reluctantly unseated. Ostrich racing is a common sport in Africa, Mrs. Wester surmised.

Football is considered a "sissy sport" by the Africans who disdain the padding and helmets typical of the American gridder. Soccer, cricket and rugby are mainly activities for an African athlete.

"THE ONLY ELEPHANTS we saw on the trip were three at Gainesville, Tex.," Mrs. Wester confessed. "The wildlife of South Africa is contained in controlled areas."

"We did see some wildlife while on a safari tour. But most of the wildlife in southern Africa is limited to game reserves and federal land," she commented. "However, when driving to the Cape of Good Hope, we encountered many wild baboons. One of them tried to pull the windshield wiper from our car," she laughed.

Another amusing tale of the trip was told by Wester. His grandchildren proudly presented him with a necktie made of impala fur and he wore it to please his little descendants. Although African fashions are similar to local ones, this was one style Wester was not prepared for.

Wester, who spends a lot of time on the end of a fishing rod, found time to cast a hook into the Indian Ocean, which flanks Africa. However, American bait did not appeal to the finned-prey.

AFRICAN MENUES were not too different from those in North America, but the traditional testime required some adjustment.

"Teatime involved a lavish spread of meats, vegetables, cakes and crackers with creamed fish," Mrs. Wester recalled. "It was like another meal."

"The African tea is much stronger than ours and we always added milk to dilute it," she said.

Her husband interjected,

"The coffee was something else. It was so potent that a nail would float in it."

Ice tea is nothing short of sacrilege to the African culture although other "cool drinks" are available. Some American brands of soft drinks are offered there.

Wester was surprised by the summer uniforms worn by police and highway patrol officers. "They all wear shorts and khaki-colored uniforms," he exclaimed.

"And on a certain day of the year, no matter what the weather is, they all change back to their winter uniforms."

Another difference in the law enforcement agencies was their mode of travel—Volkswagens.

While visiting their relatives, the Westers searched for a foreign exchange student who lived in Hereford during 1963. At the request of the local Lions Club, the Westers tried to locate Heather Gordon but their efforts were futile.

ONE OF THE most spectacular sights of the journey was a cable car ride to the top of Table Mountain. The peak is 3,600 feet above sea level—Capetown is only a few feet above sea level.

The pair also toured the Cango Caves, which are a smaller version of Carlsbad Caverns in New Mexico.

The Westers viewed the mammoth hospital complex where Dr. Christian Bernard successfully performed the first human heart transplant. Silhouettes of tall, man-made structures were contrasted by beautifully-groomed gardens.

Wester commented that he didn't see three larger-model automobiles in Capetown and that almost all the residents drove compact cars. The European influence was apparent in road signs (written in kilometers) and drivers on the left side of thoroughfares.

Gasoline, an imported commodity, costs more than $1 per gallon, Wester said. The tourists said prices in Africa compared well with those here, although manufactured goods were slightly higher.

Wester was delighted to receive a haircut for only nine cents in Capetown. Other bargains included sugar (5 lbs. for 60 cents), bread (a loaf for 12-14 cents) and most dairy products.

BEING ON THE reverse side of the globe, Capetown was in the midst of its summer season and the travelers said the climate was temperate. This section of Africa is cooled by breezes from the two surrounding bodies of water, the Atlantic and Indian Oceans. Summer temperatures rarely surpass 85 degrees.

Winters (during the summer season in Texas) are also mild, yet plagued by almost constant rains. Frosts are almost unheard of in this region and the rain gauges record about 100 inches per year.

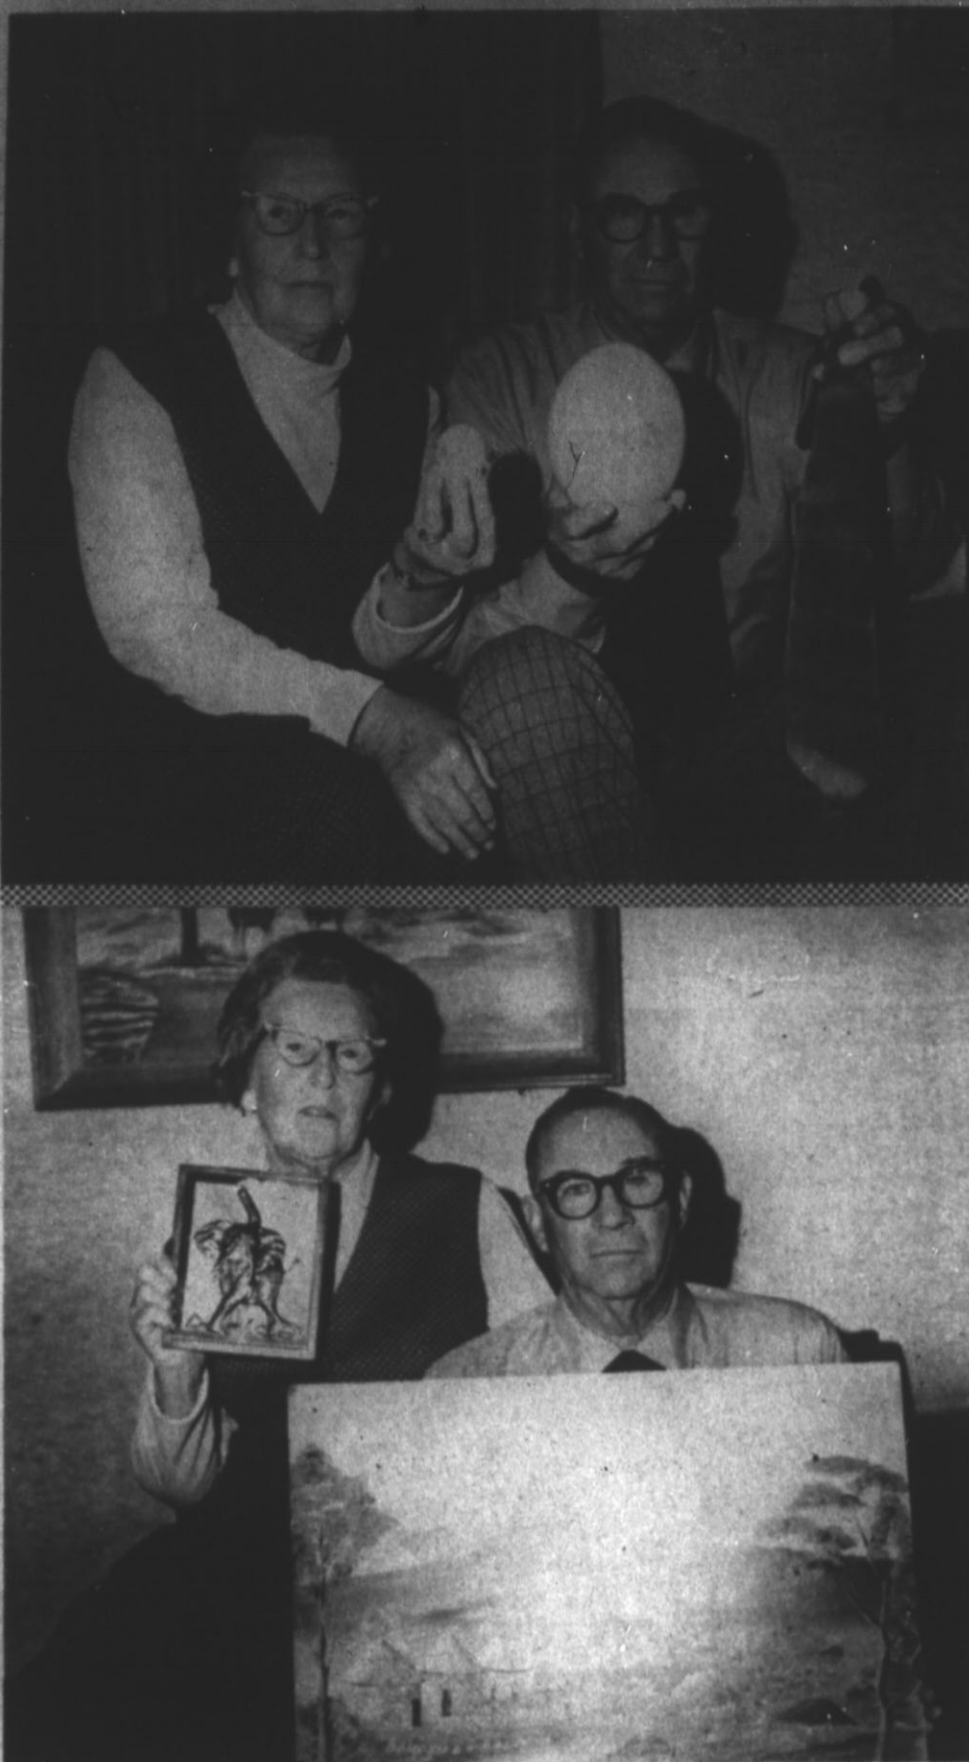

Agriculture is a prominent vocation with grape orchards ranking first in production. Many wineries have resulted from this local crop. Citrus fruits and wheat are also cultivated in the light, sandy soil. Mrs. Wester described the South African terrain as hilly, rough and rolling.

Capetown culture is formed by a combination of East Indian and British influence. South Africa gained independence from Great Britain in 1948 and Mrs. Wester termed it "a fairly new country." The democratic government is patterned after its mother country with parliamentary rule.

THE SOCIAL structure in South Africa is divided into three major classes: 1) Europeans, which includes all white races 2) colored, including those of mixed descent, usually Anglo-Negro, and 3) bantus, or Negroes, called "the true Africans."

The Westers noted very few cultural differences in Capetown, which has a population of one million. The stories of wild animals running loose were likened by the couple to the myths about gunslingers on the rampage in Texas.

"Capetown is a beautiful city with very modern architecture and conveniences," Mrs. Wester said. "The highway systems were up-to-date with freeways and interchanges much like ours."

ried or Scrambled?

African mementoes were brought home as reminders of a six-weeks stay in Cape Town by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wester of 311 Ave. J. In top photo, Mrs. Wester compares a chicken egg to the shell of an ostrich egg held by Wester who is also displaying an impala tie. In bottom photo, are examples of bantu, or true-African, art.

African students are required to have a fluent knowledge of the English language, as well as their own tongue. However, the Westers claimed they had a little trouble understanding the strange brand of English which was heavily accented.

Six weeks in Africa caused the Westers to become familiar with the country's currency. The major monetary bill is called a "rand" and is equal to $1.40 in American currency.

THE STRONGEST religion in South Africa is the Apostolic Church, a reformed version of a Dutch faith. However, the Westers noted, most of the major religions are represented lightly.

Most South Africans are fairly disinterested in the United States and the general populace

"is not too fond of Americans." Wester scanned the daily papers for news of the USA but it was rare for the headlines to involve his homeland.

Although most aspects of Capetown were familiar to the Westers, including the Walt Disney movies at theatres, there were some backward elements. The telephone system is not as modern as the USA lines, however they do have dial instruments. There are no television broadcasts available in Africa, but this convenience is currently being installed. TV reception is anticipated to begin in 1976.

While in Capetown, the Westers attended a light opera which was presented in English. The performance was given in a spacious building which is valued at 20 million rands.

THE WESTERS were bothered by "flight lag," a condition which affects travelers who imbalance sleep cycles by changing time zones. Wester said this radical change "muddled the mind" and left him quite confused about the correct time.

Mrs. Wester commented that jet travel across great distances disoriented her and caused mental and physical exhaustion.

The local couple returned to the United States via Rome. At the Italian capital, the Westers had some problems about hotel reservations and soldiers were present with machine guns and police dogs at the Roman airport.

Armed with cameras and miles of film on the long vacation, the Westers have 180 slide photos of African sites. Also, Mrs. Wester kept a written journal of daily events and hopes to type and organize her notes into a scrapbook.

The retired residents called their African visit "a once in a lifetime journey," but they are "glad to be home again."

Good Citizenship Urged By Lawyer

Responsible citizenship was stressed by Tom Kendrick, local lawyer, Thursday when he spoke to members of Callopean Study Club in the home of Mrs. Kathie Palmer.

Grouping his statements under "Laws and our Lives," Kendrick reported 71.9 million Americans are employed in private industry and this segment supports 72.5 million government workers. Twelve hundred persons are employed daily by the federal government, the attorney said.

Members learned the federal agriculture department allots eight employees for each U.S. farmer. He added that during the past five years, taxes have increased 65 per cent.

In conclusion, Kendrick commented that it is the responsibility of individual citizens to take an active role in government. He said that although the democratic process places direct control on politicians, it is the individual's duty to express beliefs.

Library Story Told To LAE Club Members

Background information on Deaf Smith County Library was given by Mrs. Gwen London, guest speaker, Tuesday when she addressed members of La Affiliatus Estudio Club in the home of Mrs. Emmett Hale.

Following the program, which was a segment in a series on community service organizations, the club decided to join Friends of the Library as a single unit. Individual memberships to the library club were also pledged.

Mrs. London, head librarian, was the guest of Mrs. A.B. Higgins. Detailing the history of the local library, Mrs. London said it was started in 1910 with only 400 books. In March 1930, the small library was moved from its location on Main Street to the County Courthouse. At this time, the volume of books had increased to 2,000.

Now housed in a $400,000 building, Deaf Smith County Library offers a variety of public services and contains more than 36,000 books, 255 of which are collector's items. The library subscribes to 100 periodicals and seven newspapers, Mrs. London stated.

A genealogy room, for tracing family descent, the Bicentennial Room and the Heritage Room are at the disposal of the community. On Wednesday and Friday afternoons, a reading program is conducted for Hereford youngsters. Also designed for local youth is a summer reading program, which enrolled about 650 children during 1974.

Mrs. London explained inter-library loan and reciprocal borrowing systems which gives the public access to other reading institutions. In order to meet public need, the library is now open two nights each week on Monday and Thursday until 9 p.m.

During a short business session, Mrs. T.W. Roberson read a thought for the day.

Mrs. Mary Morrow of Hereford was welcomed as a guest by these members: Mmes. A.H. Cook, Marlin Gilliland, Hale, Walter Johnson, F.B. Markham, Ira Ott, George Suggs, Roberson and Higgins and Miss Della Stagner.

HD Club To Assist 4-H Girls

Resolving to assist 4-H girls with a food show on Feb. 8, members of Cultural Extension Club met Friday for a covered dish luncheon in the home of Mrs. Paul Corbett.

In one segment of a multi-faceted program, Mrs. Grady Parsons explained the sources of proteins and their value to the human body. New economical cuts of meat were shown by Mrs. J.D. Gandy, who also distributed pamphlets provided by Hereford Cow-Belles and Texas Cattle Feeders Association. A quick beef dish called Mexican Fiesta was demonstrated by the hostess.

The meeting was opened by Mrs. J.D. Love, who read "The Country Store." Roll call was answered with a favorite meat serving.

Others present included Mmes. M.W. Sumner, John Hunter, Warden Hudgens, Tom Hargrave, Norvella Stallings and A.V. Dettman.

Bart Starr appointed coach of Packers.

Pageant To Feature Spectrum Of Beauty

The diverse beauty of blond, brunette and auburn haired pageant entrants will be apparent Saturday, Feb. 15, in the Miss Hereford contest at the high school auditorium.

Susie Hickman will relinquish her crown to one of the Miss Hereford contestants, who are mainly college coeds and a few high school seniors. The 1974 Miss Teenage Hereford, Monica Herring, will be vying for the Miss Hereford title and a chance to compete in the Miss Texas Pageant this summer.

High school girls seeking the Miss Teenage Hereford honor will not progress to further contests but she will participate at several civic functions throughout her reign.

Sandy Calson, now Mrs. Jay Robinson, and Sherry White are previous bearers of the Miss Hereford title. The annual pageant comes under the umbrella of the Women's Division, Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce.

Kay Blasingame, daughter of

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Allen Combs are residing at Amarillo after their recent marriage at that city. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Clay Lindsey of Hereford and Mr. and Mrs. W.E. Combs Jr. of Pampa. The bride, the former Pamela Sue Lindsey, attended West Texas State University and is a 1973 Hereford High School graduate. Combs attended WTSU where he was a member of Lambda Chi Alpha social fraternity.

Miss Blasingame, a 1974 graduate of Hereford High School, is studying dental hygiene at Amarillo Junior College. One of her most exciting moments includes acceptance by the college and by the Badger Belle Drill Team. She is 5'4" tall with matching brown hair and eyes.

One interesting aspect of the Miss Hereford contest is that Miss Blasingame's younger sister, Millie, will be competing in the Miss Teenage category.

The coed's favorite foods are shrimp and Mexican dishes, and she enjoys preparing the latter. Naming blue as a favorite color, Miss Blasingame prefers western and modern fashions.

She is active in water skiing, swimming and dancing. Her favorite spectator events include roping competition and ball games. Country and western music also suits her taste.

Blonde, blue-eyed Donna Carol Kendall, known as a talented vocalist, will be vying for the Miss Teenage Hereford crown.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Kendall of 1401 E. 13th St. and is a junior at Hereford High School. A member of the school choir for five years, Miss Kendall has competed in UIL solo and ensemble competition, often receiving No. 1 ratings. She has filled leading roles in school musicals.

Although involved in numerous school activities, Miss Kendall is a member of Acteens, a church organization for girls. Babysitting jobs are interspersed with tennis, bicycling, singing and playing piano.

The Hereford pageant is a high point in Miss Kendall's life so far. Jeans and knit tops are her idea of good fashion and blue is a favorite color. When it comes to food, Miss Kendall has a yen for fried chicken.

THE AIM OF THE CHURCHES OF CHRIST

We make it our aim, to further a movement, comprising churches and individuals, for a complete return to Christianity as it was at the beginning. Hence, WE STAND:

1. For the Bible as the all-sufficient standard of faith and practice, recognizing that what God required from His ancient people, Israel, is found in the Old Testament Scriptures, and what He requires from all now is contained in the New Testament Scriptures.
2. For the union of all believers on the New Testament basis. Our Lord prayed that "They all might be one...that the world may believe." This prayer makes the union of His people essential to the salvation of the world, and can only be answered when there is a return to the faith, ordinances, and order of the Church of Apostolic age.
3. For the rejection of all HUMAN creeds, confession of faith, doctrines, and commandments, and the acceptance of the Divinely-revealed creed, "Thou art the Christ, the Son of the Living God," believing that a real heart-grip of that, with all it implies, will lead to a complete surrender of life and will to Him.

4. For the ordinances are delivered by the Lord, and kept by the first Christians. The Scriptures clearly show that baptism was the immersion of a penitent believer into the name of Jesus Christ, in order to the remission of past sins. The Lord's Table, on which the Lord's Supper is spread, is inside the Lord's church, and is for the Lord's people, to be partaken of on the first day of the week. This divinely-ordained memorial of His death for us is to be kept by the church until He shall come again.
  5. For the ministry of all the church—every member, in different spheres, doing that for which they are fitted, limited by ability to edify the church.
  6. For the support of the church by the church only. Only those who have obeyed the Gospel have the duty and privilege of contributing to its treasury.
  7. For the abandonment of all sectarian names and ecclesiastical titles, and that churches and believers should be called by the names found in the New Testament.
- We shall be pleased to answer inquiries relating to the above, and to put those interested in touch with believers standing for these things.

Party Prepares Pretty Pageant Participants

A pre-pageant party in the home of Mrs. Terry Caviness yesterday afternoon acquainted Miss Hereford and Miss Teenage Hereford contestants their mothers and pageant directors.

Red and white decorations created a Valentine theme while guests ate refreshments and ironed out last minute details for the annual event, scheduled Feb. 15. The Women's Division, Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce, spearheads the pageant.

Members of the pageant steering committee were present. They included Mrs. J.W. Robinson, chairman; Mrs. O.G. Nieman, Women's Division president; Mrs. Harlan VanderZee; Mrs. Eugene Hendon; Mrs. Ken Rogers and Mrs. Joyce Shipp.

Six girls who will be vying for the Miss Hereford crown were invited to the informal gathering, the Miss Texas pageant this summer. Special guests included the reigning Miss Hereford Susie Hickman and her mother, Mrs. Robert Hickman.

Also attending were eight high school girls who will be competing for the Miss Teenage title.

The Women's Division of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce, was represented by committee directors. These pageant chairmen are Mrs. Glen Watts in charge of entries; Mrs. Caviness and Mrs. Dwight McGee, choreographers; Mrs. Calvin Goodin, heading a decorations committee; Mrs. Gerry Warden, advertising chairman. Also, Mrs. John Bunch, director of ticket sales, Mrs. Ed Linn, responsible for sponsorship of entrants; Mrs. Clyde Sorrells and Mrs. Steve Hodges, backstage beauty advisors.

The pageant will begin at 7 p.m., Saturday, Feb. 15 at Hereford High School auditorium. Tickets will be sold at some local businesses, the Chamber office and at the door for $2.50 apiece. Five judges will pick the two winning girls.

House Changes

The surprising strength of Young Turk Democrats in the House has produced needed reform. And there is a good chance that reform went far enough—and not too far.

The seniority system has its merits. It allows the most experienced to lead. It prevents popularity contests from determining House leadership of committees. It avoids tyrannies of temporary majorities. It produces orderly change, without bitter infighting and division, and is fair, in one way, to all.

But the seniority system goes too far when there is no sensible regulation to insure that committee chairmen retire when they should, refrain from an arbitrary use of their power, etc. Until the 94th Congress there was no workable regulation. Now, largely because of Wilbur Mills' Argentine Firecracker, there is.

As a result of Wilbur's attraction to the stripper, that key power, deciding which members are assigned to which committees, and chairmanships, was taken from the Ways and Means Committee in December. That set the stage for the Young Turks' success in January, in organizing the 94th Congress.

The power to determine committee membership and chairmanship was given to the Steering & Policy Committee (of the Democratic Party) and to the party caucus in the December change. The Steering Committee didn't go along with the seniority system automatically as the Ways and Means Committee would have. Nor did the party caucus.

Changes, which the caucus finally determined, indicated most members would go along with the seniority system so long as chairmen promoted by that were capable, alert, fair and considerate. But those considered high-handed or tyrannical would be removed. That is a revolutionary change, comparable to the revolt of 1910 when the disproportionate power of the Speaker was broken; it has been awaited by some since 1913, when Woodrow Wilson criticized the resulting power rise of committee chairmen.

Only time will show how well the new caucus-regulated seniority tradition and system work in the House. That a change was due is widely accepted; the surprise and gratification is that such a major change was effected so quickly, once Mills' removal from power cleared the way.

Talk of Texas

By Jack Maguire

OILIGARCHY — Thirty years before Lyndon Johnson became president of the United States, a Texas oil millionaire built his own "White House" on the Gulf coast.

In 1924, Ross Sterling, then president of Humble Oil Co., handed architect Alfred C. Finn a $20 bill. He pointed to the engraving of the south portico of the White House on the banknote and said, "Build this for me."

Finn went to Washington, measured the White House portico and copied it for the Sterling mansion on a scale of one-fifth the size of the original. With the portico as the focal point, Finn designed a 21,000 square foot white marble mansion that came to be known as the "Texas White House."

The Sterling mansion, located in Harris County near Morgan's Point on Galveston Bay, was completed in 1927. It was the principal home of the Sterlings until 1946, except for the two years (1931-32) that he served as governor of Texas. Then the Sterlings lived in the Executive Mansion in Austin. From 1946 until 1961, the "Texas White House" was a residence for homeless boys.

Now it is privately owned.

FIRST LADY OF JUSTICE — Judge Sarah T. Hughes of Dallas, who soon will complete 40 years on the bench, has achieved a record of "firsts" that likely won't be equaled soon.

When Gov. James V. Allred appointed her to the district court bench in 1935, she became the first woman ever to hold a permanent judgeship in Texas.

In 1952, she became one of the first women to have her name placed in nomination for the vice-presidency of the U.S. (The other was Senator Margaret Chase Smith, who was one of the nominees considered by the Republican Party the same year.)

In 1961, Mrs. Hughes became the first woman and first state judge to be elevated to the federal judiciary in the northern district of Texas. She was appointed by President John F. Kennedy.

Two years later, President Kennedy was assassinated in Dallas. Judge Hughes was called to the presidential airplane, Air Force One, to swear in Lyndon Johnson as the new president. She thus became the first woman to administer the oath of office to a president of the United States.

TRAVELING TEXAS — Galveston boasts an oleander plant that has been blooming for 134 years.

It was planted in 1841 by a merchant named Isadore Dyer to beautify his front yard. Dyer's home disappeared long ago (the site at 910 Rosenberg now is the headquarters for a gas utility company), but the oleander still flourishes.

Report From U.S. Chamber

Economic Questions Don't Change

By ARCH BOOTH
President of U.S.
Chamber of Commerce

Have you heard the one about the college grad who returns to the campus and visits his old economics professor. He's started to discover that the professor is still giving exactly the same final exam he gave years before.

"Don't you think you should change these questions?" he asked the professor. "Don't you know the fraternities keep files of old exams?"

"Ah, my boy," says the professor, "in economics, we don't need to change the questions. In economics, we change the answers!"

THAT'S OFTEN the way it looks. Not long ago the President and many economic commentators — myself included — were calling for a balanced federal budget. Now we're supporting the concept of a tax cut that may result in a $40 billion budget deficit. Inconsistent? Not really. In this case, the answers changed because the questions changed.

When the economy is booming, federal budget deficits cause inflation. When the economy is undergoing a serious recession deficits are not so inflationary, and can help end the recession.

Until recently, I was not convinced that the recession was serious enough to justify risking inflationary measures to fight it. Now, I am. The challenge, of course, is to design the anti-recession program to minimize its adverse impact on inflation.

THERE ARE two ways to incur a deficit: Increase federal spending or cut taxes.

In the past, we have often increased federal spending to combat recessions and then discovered that Congress is unwilling to cut back federal programs once they have grown, even when economic conditions change. Further, as government — at all levels — claims an ever larger share of the national income (probably 50 per cent five or ten years from now), it becomes increasingly difficult for the relatively smaller private

Legislators Letters Reflect Public Views

Many Hereford residents have expressed interest lately in communicating with their state and national representatives in government.

Today's legislative and congressional work schedule no longer permits the frequent and extended visits back home that used to keep representatives in close personal touch with their constituents. As a result, letters from back home have come to be the main form of voter contact with their legislators — and the prime source of constituency views.

Writing an effective letter to your state or national representative is easy. Here are a few guidelines:

Write on your personal or business letterhead, if possible, and sign your name over your typed signature at the end of your message.

Be sure your exact return address is on the letter in addition to being on the envelope. The envelope sometimes gets thrown away before the letter can be answered.

Be sure to clearly identify the subject about which you are writing. List the name of the legislation, and, if you know it, state the Senate or House bill number.

State your reason for writing. Your own personal experience is your best supporting evidence for or against any particular legislation. Explain how the issue would affect you, your family, your business or profession — or what affect it could have on the state or your community.

Avoid any "stereotyped" phrases and sentences that give the appearance of "form" letters. They tend to identify your message as part of an organized pressure campaign and they produce little, if any, impact.

Get Up and Go

Got Up and Went

How do I know my youth is all spent? Well, my get up and go has got up and went!

But in spite of it all, I'm able to grin, when I think of where my get up has been.

Old age is gold, so I've heard said, but sometimes I wonder when I get into bed.

With my ears in the drawer and my teeth in a cup, my eyes on the table until I wake up.

So sleepy, my eyes go to sleep, I say to myself is there anything else I should lay on the shelf.

But I am happy to say as I close the door, my friends are the same, perhaps even more.

When I was young my slippers were red, I could kick up my heels, even over my head.

When I grew older my slippers were blue, but still I could dance the whole nite thru.

Now I'm old my slippers are black, I walk to the store and puff my way back.

The reason I know my youth is all spent, is because my get up and go has got up and went.

But I don't mind when I think with a grin, of all the grand places my get up has been.

And since I've returned from life's competition, my schedules are schedules with complete repetition.

I get up each morning and dust off my wits, pick up the paper and read the obits.

If I see my name missing, I know I'm not dead, so I eat a good breakfast and go back to bed.

— The Lamb County Leader-News

Be reasonable. Don't ask for the impossible. Don't threaten. Don't say, I'll never vote for you unless you do such and such. That won't help your cause and it may harm it.

Be sure to ask him to state his position in his reply. As his constituent, you are entitled to know it.

Timing is very important. Begin to encourage approval or disapproval of a bill while it is still in committee. The representatives usually can be more responsive to your appeal at that time rather than after it has been approved or disapproved by a committee.

Sometimes your legislator may reserve his judgment — and his vote — until the feelings of his constituency has crystallized.

Don't expect an immediate answer to your letter. Your legislator has your letter in file and will answer as soon as he can investigate your problem.

Thank him, if he pleases you with his vote on an issue. Everyone appreciates a complimentary letter, and remembers it. Congressmen are no exception. But if he votes contrary to your position, don't hesitate to let him know. He will remember that, too.

The Bootleg

Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his Deaf Smith grass farm on Bootleg Corner comes out in favor of rebates this week in his own way.

Dear editor:

As you know, first Congress and the President both came out for a tax rebate, then the automobile companies fell in line with their rebates. Buy a new car at whatever price you can wangle out of the dealer here in Hereford and the company in Detroit will mail you a check for $300 or so.

I guess this is the first time in history we've ever tried to rebate ourselves out of a recession, but I'm in favor of it.

Only, it doesn't go far enough. If a car company will pay me to buy a new car, why won't the filling station pay me to fill it up with gas? What are the fire companies going to do for me when I wear out the first set?

What are the supermarkets hung on? What kind of rebate are they coming up with if you buy a sack of new groceries?

These are uncertain times and no half-way measures are going to get us out of our trouble. If I can get enough people sending me rebates, and they'll scatter them out so I've got an adequate amount coming in every month with maybe a few extras along about Christmas time, I'll figure I've done my part to whip the recession.

Speaking of rebates, the Soviet Union has beat us all hollow in that department. According to an article I read yesterday, in 1972 the U.S. agreed to cut Russia's World War II debt to us to $722 million, although it was a lot more than that originally, in some sort of trade agreement giving Russia what's called "most favored nation" status, but Russia has now said the agreement has collapsed (I don't know who built the scaffold) and therefore she doesn't owe us anything. I'd call that a pretty sizeable rebate.

By the way, I've been studying the car rebate plan and I'm in favor of it but wouldn't the companies sell more cars if they sent you the rebate before you bought a car so you could use that as a downpayment?

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

FORD'S TAX PROPOSAL

President Ford has proposed a $16 billion anti-recession tax cut and has asked Congress to vote cash rebates of up to $1,000 for individual taxpayers.

Cindy Gamez, Janet Burdine and Kelley Yarbrough, members of Wakan-Ki-lo Campfire group, prepared a Mexican dinner recently in the home of Mrs. Mike Gamez.

The dinner consisted of nachos, tacos, salad, beans, sopapillas and honey. The group prepared the meal in order to pass the firemaker rank.

Guests present included Deanna Pool, Cristi Crawford and Barbie Koelzer and the group leader Mrs. Floyd R. Eubanks.

At another meeting recently the campfire group had their first ceremonial based on an Arbor Day theme from materials received from the Texas Forest Service.

The program began with the singing of America the Beautiful and Joyce Kilmer reading the poem entitled "Trees." The history of Arbor Day and the importance of trees was also presented.

Before the pot planting of a loblolly pine and pecan tree were planted, a group recitation was given entitled "What Trees Teach Us." After the trees have reached a safe stage of growth they will be replanted at the Campfire Lodge yard.

In closing the program, the group recited the Conservation Pledge and a friendship circle was made. Deanna Pool presented a prayer and served refreshments.

Members and leaders present were Mrs. Bill Thompson and Mrs. Eubanks and Janet Burdine, Cristi Crawford, Cindy Gamez, Laurie Gonzales, Teresa High, Willa Bess Lawson, Tammy McCathern, Lori Parker, Brenda Parson, Ramona Rhodes, Corina Suarez, Linda Vera and Kelley Yarbrough.

Comings And Goings At King's Manor

By FAY GAUGGEL
Kings Manor Reporter
Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Naylor from Amarillo were Sunday afternoon guests in the home of Mrs. Lucile Naylor.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Schroyer and his mother, Mrs. Schroyer of Jacksonville, Fla. visited Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Dodson during the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. J.R. Stevenson, Mesdames Martha Shirkey, Ozetta Wilhelm, Louise Vaughan and Lucile Naylor attended the Tourama in the Holiday Inn West in Amarillo Saturday afternoon and evening. Pictures were shown of 1974 Continental tours. A banquet was served at 7 p.m.

and an enjoyable evening was spent visiting friends and traveling companions.

On the evening of Jan. 16, Kings Manor folk observed Game Night, in the Lamar memorial Garden Room. About 30 of us enjoyed dominoes, canasta, forty-two or eighty-four. We each brought enough refreshments to furnish the main part of the repast.

King's Manor wishes to thank Hop Arnold and Leroy McDonald for donating a barber chair to be used by our male residents. Jim Shaw will be coming to King's Manor one Monday each month to cut their hair free of charge. We appreciate this most generous gift.

Metric System Affects Cooking

by Joyce Shipp

The metric system in food purchasing and preparation won't mean throwing out everything in the kitchen, but there will be some adjustments. The metric system is already creeping onto supermarket shelves, where you'll find a number of cans and packages marked with grams, liters or ounces. With the metric system, milk will be sold in 1 liter (1, 500 millimeter (ml) and 250 ml containers; butter will be in 1 kilogram (kg), 500 gram (g) and 250 g sizes; a 14 ounce bottle of ketchup (397 g) will be rounded off to 400 g and a pound of candy will include a few more pieces to make it weigh 1/2 kg. A dozen eggs or cookies probably will remain the same.

The system should help standardize food packaging and eliminate the confusing number of sizes. It also will be useful when comparison shopping, since determining unit prices is easier when dividing by 10 rather than 16. For instance, if you want to buy 100 grams of meat that costs $3.00/kg (1,000 g) to find the price you move the decimal one place to the left — the meat costs 30 cents.

Fresh foods such as meat and produce will be weighed in grams and kilograms rather than ounces and pounds. Dual labeling probably will be used for prepackaged items like bags of onions, potatoes, apples, oranges, etc. Grocery scales will be modified to incorporate metric weight.

Non-food items that will be affected by a change to metrication include wrapping materials such as waxed paper and foil. These will be measured in meters, decimeters and centimeters rather than yards, feet and inches.

Some homemakers fear that conversion to the metric system will mean they can't use their familiar cookbooks and recipes; however, the difference between suggested metric measuring cups and spoons and those we currently use are so small that only sensitive recipes will need adjusting.

New cookbooks and recipes will use dual measurements and you can always use a conversion calculator to change your favorite recipes to metrics.

Some things defy the system. Some recipes will continue to specify a can of tuna, a package of noodles or a can of soup rather than the corresponding kilogram or liter amount. And good cooks will continue to season foods according to their own taste rather than by using exact measurements.

The main result of using metric measure in recipes will be a slight increase in the quantity produced. This may necessitate some changes in the size of cookware. Also, new measuring devices will be needed.

Dimensions of baking utensils and skillets will be in centimeters rather than inches, and capacities of saucepans and casseroles will be in liters or milliliters rather than quarts or fractions of quarts.

Measuring cups will have dual markings (several of these are already available) so you can use the cup markings for old recipes and liter markings for metric recipes. One suggested metric cup is 250 milliliters (ml), which is less than one tablespoon larger than present measuring cups.

Temperature will be measured in degrees Celsius (formerly Centigrade) rather than degrees Fahrenheit. Water will freeze at 0 degrees C (32 degrees F) and boil at 100 degrees C (212 degrees F). Food thermometers probably will have dual markings, as will cooking appliances.

No change from a long-established pattern comes easily and there are always dissatisfied people. When Australia converted to metric a few years ago, one irate Aussie complained to an editor: "Since eggs went metric they have been pale in yolk color and lacking in freshness. This clearly shows that (chickens) cannot adjust to laying different size eggs. We tamper with nature at our peril."

A training session on Metric Measure for home demonstration clubs will be held 2:30 p.m. Jan. 30 in the courthouse. Each club is expected to be represented by a program leader who will in turn give the club's program, at the February meeting.

The Defense Department says that 95 per cent of its 36,900 recruits for the armed services last month rated in the average and above-average mental categories. That was the highest percentage for a single month since records were begun 23 years ago.

Prayer Brings Area Churches Together

Six area Spanish-speaking churches gathered Wednesday evening at the San Pablo Methodist Church to celebrate the Week of Prayer for Christian Unity. This is thought to be the first time the churches met for such an occasion.

The services, conducted by pastors of the participating churches, began with a scripture reading by Rev. Tomas Balderas, pastor of San Pablo. Rev. Pablo Garcia gave a prayer of unity, and Father Jose Gilligan, the guest preacher, delivered a sermon on St. Paul's description of the church as a well-functioning human body.

The celebration included hymns sung by choirs of the following denominations: assembly of God, Baptist, Catholic, Evangelical, Methodist and Penecostal.

The service was well attended and received according to Rev. Balderas. Further such reunions of the Spanish churches are being considered in the future.

LAS IGLESIAS CELEBRAN ORACION

El Miércoles por la noche, el 22 de Enero, miembros de 6 Iglesias hispano parlantes se reunieron en la Iglesia Metodista San Pablo, por primera vez en la historia de la area, con motivos de celebrar la semana de oracion por la unidad Cristiana.

El servicio vespertino comenzo con la lectura Biblica llamando por la unidad entre Cristianos leida por el pastor de San Pablo Rvdo. Tomas Balderas. Una oracion por la unidad luego fue dada por el Rvdo. Pablo arcia.

La celebracion fue enriquecida con himnos religiosos en Espanol por grupos cantantes de las Iglesias: Asamblea de Dios, Bautista, Catolica, Centro Evangelico, Metodista, Y Pentecostes.

El sermón para la ocasion fue predicada, fuertemente, por el invitado Padre Jose, S.A. El tema de su mensaje fue la descripción de la Iglesia por San Pablo como analogia del cuerpo humano.

La Iglesia de Cristo debe funcionar unida como funciona un cuerpo sano. La escritura selectada llama a la comunidad Cristiana que vive la creencia profesada en un Cristo, en una fe, en un solo bautismo.

El servicio para la unidad fue un gran éxito. Se lleno el templo con gran numero de participantes de las diferentes congregaciones Cristianas de la comunidad Mexicana de Hereford. Y alrededor. Hubo un ambiente muy caloroso en la reunion.

Esta experiencia evoco deseos en los participantes para tal reuniones en el futuro. Est seria como ejemplo para la comunidad en general de la urgencia sentida por los Cristianos de Hereford de compartir en esa unidad que Jesucristo demanda de nosotros.

Grantham Ranks 11th Among Winners

John Grantham, 222 Greenwood, was among four Texans ranking among the leading 100 bridge winners of North America for 1974.

Richard L. Goldberg, executive secretary of the American Contract Bridge League, reports Grantham 11th at 961 points. Other Texans by rank and 1974 point winnings are James Jacoby, 13th, 931 points; Dr. John Fisher, 14th, 907 points; and G. Robert Nall, 80th, 494 points.

Master Points, the principal prizes in American Contract Bridge League (ACBL) tournaments, are awarded duplicate bridge game winners in proportion to the size and caliber of the competitive field in the event.

Players from 28 states and one Canadian province were among the 100 top winners of the 185,000 ACBL members who played at 5,000 local clubs and 700 Sectional, 80 Regional and three North American Bridge Championships, each year. California placed 25 players in the top 100; Michigan, seven; New York and Massachusetts, six; Illinois, five; and Texas, Georgia and Pennsylvania, four.

The first major event of the 1975 ACBL calendar is the 10-day Spring North American championships which will draw more than 4,000 players to Hawaii for a multi-event schedule beginning March 14 at Honolulu. The Summer Championships will be at Miami Beach and the Fall tournament at New Orleans.

PUBLIC NOTICES

Editor's Note: Public Notice advertising plays a unique role both in American history and in the process by which the country's democracy is preserved. Its one promise is that people must be informed if they are to govern themselves competently. Public Notice advertising first came into being with the Congress of 1792. That body, recognizing its responsibility to the people, re-enacted the Postmaster General to advertise for bids for the construction of new post offices. From that inauspicious beginning to the complex publication requirements in federal, state and local laws today, government officials have come near and near to understand their obligations to inform the public through Public Notice advertising. Newspapers over the years have been the vehicle by which these obligations have been fulfilled. They will continue to be so long as the public demands that it be informed frequently and by the best means possible.

Along The Frio By MRS. OWEN ANDREWS Brand Correspondent

Plans are being made for a revival effort for the week of March 16 - 23 at Frio Baptist Church. Rev. Clyde Hankins of Calhoun, Ky. is to be the guest preacher and Ed Shubert of San Jacinto Baptist Church, Amarillo, will direct music. Both men have been here for revivals before. Rev. Hankins has spent many years as a missionary in Brazil, preached at Wellington and several places in Oklahoma to name a few. He was here two years ago, as was Mrs. Hankins. They have a daughter living with her family at Dalhart.

Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Barber were visiting his sister and other relatives Mesdames E. P. Maddison Stanton and Paul Baron, Lorraine the first of the week. The Barbers went to Hutchinson, Kansas to see their new granddaughter. The baby, named Amber Lynn, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Barber. She was born Jan. 16, which is also Mrs. Barber's birthday. They have a four and half year old son Jason. The Barbers report the new baby is a blond with blue eyes and weighs 6 1/2 pounds.

Several Andrews relatives went to Texico last Saturday for a family gathering at the home of Mrs. Allie Burris. Among those going from here were Mr.

Mrs. H.M. Mobley and Neil Miller spent last weekend visiting their daughter and sister, Mrs. Earl Reno and Mr. Reno at Midland.

W.H. Andrews has visited several days in the home of his daughter Mrs. Godfrey Baldwin, Mr. Baldwin and sons in Temple Hills, Maryland. The plane ticket was a Christmas gift from the Baldwins.

Among those going on a tour sponsored by John Deere Co. were Pat Robbins, Frank Robbins and Earl Harkins. The tour highlights included manufacturing centers of the farm implements at Moline, Ill. and Waterloo, Iowa. An area group made up the passenger list of a chartered plane for the trip.

H3 HUSTLE HUSTLE HUSTLE By Bill Albright, Executive Vice President Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce

This week we're going to try to tie some loose ends together and maybe get caught up after the busy activities of closing out the Chamber year and beginning a new page in Hereford and Deaf Smith County's "Book of Progress."

First, a reminder to all those folks who really want to do something for their friends and fellow citizens and spend only a few minutes of their time. It's a gift from the heart and only YOU can give it. And it's so important to all of us - especially when we need it. So why not plan to visit the BLOOD MOBILE on Wednesday afternoon at the Community Center. You'll be glad you did but even more, someone else will be happy you did.

A highlight of each year in Deaf Smith County is the Junior Livestock Show. And folks - this is really a major attraction. Much credit and many compliments are due these youngsters and the adults who help with the event.

Heard some of the judges praising the Four County Show as "the best of it's kind anywhere" and you know those judges really don't have to pass out compliments, I want to say that we can be real proud of these young farmers and ranchers and that we can have a lot of confidence in our country's future ability to help provide food and fiber for this nation and for the world.

The March of Dimes began many years ago to help find a way to eliminate the ravages of infantile paralysis. This disease, known as polio, was a terriblecrippler with most of its victims being children and young people. Polio was whipped thru medical research but the MARCH OF DIMES continues. Today, this worthy cause focuses on birth defects. If the mothers who march in 1975 are as persistent as those who helped to eliminate polio, someday medical science will produce a solution to this dread malady.

Turn on your porch light tonight and support these gals as they do their part to make this a better world.

Officers of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce visited Hereford on Thursday and spent a few minutes reviewing the purpose scope and benefits provided by the largest regional Chamber of Commerce in the world.

President elect Frank Junell, Executive Vice President Fike Godfrey and Membership Director Bud Bell provided an explanation of current objectives and programs sponsored by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and invited interested citizens to enroll as members in support of the organization. We have two of our most capable leaders on West Texas Board of Directors and we hope to add one additional director this year.

Currently serving are Clint Formby and Harlan Vander Zee. The West Texas Chamber of Commerce has been instrumental in supporting legislation and projects which are beneficial to all of us as West Texans. As in the past, they can be counted on to help us in these times of difficult decisions and economic problems.

And speaking of doing things to help others, I'd like to add some words of appreciation to an outstanding group of young men who contribute much to our community. The Hereford Jaycees are always there, doing something for someone and helping make our community a better place. We can all be proud of their accomplishments. They are committed to a purpose of "service to humanity" and for this we should be grateful. Thanks, Jaycees, and we wish for you plenty of the necessary ingredient to do the job - lots of Hustle Hustle Hustle.
