

County Retains No. 1 Rank for Fed Cattle

By BOBBY TEMPLETON
Brand News Editor

The report is published each year by the SPS agricultural development department with the help of its local offices in its service area which spans four states, primarily the 32-county Texas Panhandle area. The SPS area also includes three counties in Oklahoma, five counties in New Mexico and one county in Kansas.

The total number of cattle fed in the SPS area was 4,082,142 in 1974 as opposed to the high of 4,962,763 in 1973. It was the first drop since 1966 when the SPS report first recorded totals. The Texas counties reported a drop of almost 700,000 cattle from last year. Iowa beat out Texas last year as the leading feeding state.

NEIGHBORING counties of Farmer and Castro ranked second and third in Deaf Smith county residents like being number 1 and they can rejoice again over the fact that their county has retained the top spot on the list of leading cattle-feeding counties.

The eight local feedlots fed a total of 503,045 cattle during 1974 to lead the state in number of fed cattle according to the annual Southwestern Public Service (SPS) Fed Cattle Report for 1975. The report, which is still in the printing stage, is expected to be off the presses by next month said Jake Webb, Hereford manager of SPS.

DEAF SMITH COUNTY lead last year as well with 602,889 cattle.

cattle feeding. Farmer County fed 424,824 fat cattle and Castro County fed 347,193 fat cattle.

These totals along with Deaf Smith County resulted in 38.3 per cent of the 3,326,878 cattle fed in the Texas portion of the SPS service area. In 1973, the three counties, known as the "magic triangle", composed only 35.5 per cent of the fed cattle in the Texas SPS area. So proportionately, the counties fed more than the previous year.

Of course during the past year, the cattle market has not been bright and Deaf Smith County took a loss of almost 100,000 cattle from 1973 to 1974 in the number of cattle processed through the local feedlots.

JUDGE McDONALD

Judge McDonald Dies Tuesday

Archie S. McDonald, 61, judge of the 69th Judicial District which includes Deaf Smith County, died Tuesday of an apparent heart attack while in a doctor's office in Dumas.

Services were to be announced by Morrison Funeral Home of Dumas.

Judge McDonald had been off the bench since the first of the year due to ill health. He underwent heart surgery March 5. Gene Jordan, retired judge of Amarillo, has been presiding over district court here during McDonald's absence.

McDonald was first elected judge of the 69th District Court in 1966, and was re-elected without opposition in 1970 and 1974. The district includes Deaf Smith, Oldham, Moore, Hartley, Sherman and Dallam counties.

The governor will appoint a successor to McDonald. The Hereford Bar Association has submitted a bill to the Legislature which proposes a new judicial district for Deaf Smith and Oldham counties. The decision is not expected until this summer. One of the primary reasons for the new district was the heavy case load carried by Judge McDonald.

Born in Cordell, Judge McDonald had been a resident of Dumas since 1947. He opened a law practice there after his discharge from the army. He has also served as county judge and county attorney of Moore County. A graduate of Texas Tech University, he received his law degree from the University of Texas.

McDonald was a member of the Masonic Lodge in Dumas, Khiva Temple in Amarillo, and the Order of Eastern Star in Dumas.

Survivors include his wife, Myrtle; one daughter, Mrs. Carolyn Lyons of Amarillo; one son, Frank, a student at Texas Tech; three brothers, Milton of Crosbyton, Robert of Santa Rosa, N.M., and Marshall of Palo Alto, Calif.; two sisters, Mrs. Helen Pardue of Metairie, La., and Mrs. Mary Searcy of Alamogordo, N.M.

Andrews Wins Runoff

Coming from behind in the general election, Clark Andrews barely edged out Bud Snyder Saturday in a runoff election for place 3 on the Hereford School Board of Education.

Snyder, manager of the E.C. Reinauer and Sons Vegetable Sheds, garnered the most votes in the general election April 5 with a total of 1,112 votes. However, fate dealt him a blow as he received only 831 votes in the runoff election. It was 49.1 per cent of the ballots issued.

Andrews, a local farmer, came out on top in the runoff with a slim 50.9 per cent of the votes cast. He is a former school board member having served out an unexpired term in 1972-73.

The total number of persons voting in the runoff was 1,691 persons with a total of 1,698 ballots being issued. That is about 24.6 per cent of the registered voters in the county. Of the total, 186 ballots were cast absentee.

In the general election, Snyder had received 41.2 per cent of the votes while Andrew received 35.8 per cent with 967 votes and the third contender Joe Whitley received the remaining 619 votes.

The runoff turnout was "real good" according to Orpha Click, school tax assessor-collector. "It was better than most of our regular elections."

Each of the candidates will serve three year terms.

The only county election left is the runoff race for the Walcott School Board. It is between Edwin Morrison Jr. and Bill Page. They tied in the general election.

The election is from 8 a.m.-7 p.m. in the Walcott Community Center.

Signals Viewed

This view looking west on highway 60 shows how much easier it will be for drivers to see traffic signals being installed Tuesday at Highway 60 and Main Street. The new overhanging signals will replace the old ones like the one on the curb to the right. The city authorized the signals after complaints were received of hazards facing visitors who didn't already know of the signals and were unable to see them from a distance.

Shoulders Enthusiastic About All-Girl Rodeo

Jim Shoulders, the owner of 16 world championships as a competing cowboy was in Hereford Monday, checking out preparations for the Girls Rodeo Association Rodeo to be held here May 16-18.

Shoulders made a stop in Amarillo early Monday to promote the event at a news conference.

He holds seven world championship bull riding titles, four world championship bareback bronc championships and five world championship all-around cowboy titles. Semi-retired from rodeos, he runs a string of rodeo stock and operates a rodeo riding school near his home in Henrietta, Okla.

THE HEREFORD GRA rodeo will be Shoulders' first attempt at producing an all-girl rodeo.

"At least I picked a good one to start with. This Hereford rodeo is going to be the biggest all-girl rodeo in the history of the business," Shoulders commented.

Shoulders estimated that there could be as many as 600 entries in the various rodeo events, and pointed out that the purse, which could amount to $20,000 or more, will draw a lot of cowgirls.

GRA Rodeo events will include bull riding, bronc riding, calf roping, steer undecorating, goat tying and team roping and barrel racing.

Asked about the type of stock he will be furnishing for the rodeo, Shoulders quipped, "We're going to bring gentle stock that will come right to you when you call 'em."

ON A MORE SERIOUS note he commented, "We'll bring bucking horses and bulls just like the RCA cowboys compete on. We'll have some stock here that will buck."

Shoulders admitted that he wants to wait and see how this all-girl rodeo turns out before he decides whether he will produce anymore.

"It's different when you talk about girls riding broncs and bulls, roping calves and really competing in events like the men. It attracts some attention," he said.

Explaining the total involvement of girls in the rodeo, Shoulders pointed out that two girls will serve as cowboys along with Bobby McAfee even sharing bullfighting duties.

According to Shoulders, all-girl rodeos did not begin because of the Women's Liberation movement. In fact, girls were competing in rodeos in the early 1950's, but the girls eventually leaned toward events like pole bending and barrel racing.

SHOULDERS explained that girls climbing aboard broncs and bulls when larger purses made the events more attractive.

Clem McSpadden has been secured by Shoulders as the announcer for the rodeo, and according to Shoulders "he's the best announcer in the business."

Shoulders is trying his first all-girl rodeo, and he makes no pretense about the competition being easy.

"If the girls don't think they can ride, they better not enter," he concluded.

Trustees Inspect New School

Conkwright Elected President

By O.G. NIEMAN

Moving through an eventful agenda in special session Tuesday night, Hereford School Board swore in two new trustees, elected Jim Conkwright as the new board president, took a preliminary inspection tour of the new elementary school, and heard an outline of the five school finance plans under consideration by the Texas Legislature.

Trustees also re-appointed Orpha Click as the tax assessor-collector for the school in 1975-76, and discussed the possibility of changing the per cent of appraised value assessed for school taxes.

CLARK ANDREWS, who defeated Bud

Snyder in a runoff election Saturday for Place 3, joined James Gentry as the new trustee to take the oath of office. James Arney, who won re-election, also repeated the oath as administered by B.F. Cain, county clerk.

In the reorganization of the board, trustees elected Conkwright as president, Dr. Ron Zimmerman as vice president, and Danny Martin as secretary. All were nominated and elected without opposition.

Trustees seemed pleased in their preliminary inspection of the new elementary school which is near completion behind Park Plaza Shopping Center. The building is expected to be completed in about a month, but it won't be occupied until the new school year starts. (See school floor plan, Page 4A) governor's bill. The amount spent per student in operating costs ranges from $85 to $175 in some of the bills—compared to a present figure of $26.40.

Hartman believes the minimum teacher salary will also wind up as a compromise figure. Minimum state requirement for a starting teacher with a BA degree is now $6,600. The Hereford district pays $800 above state schedule for a minimum of $87,400.

THE SUPERINTENDENT reported to trustees that they need to consider changing the per cent of appraised value assessed for taxes. The figure now stands at 45 per cent of appraised value. He explained the percentage needs to be changed in order to shift more funds from the interest and sinking fund to the local maintenance fund.

The school district is at a maximum rate of $2 per $100 valuation, so the only way to provide more funds for local maintenance would be to increase the percentage of assessment and lower the rate. This would not necessarily mean a

Rodeo Session

Bud Eades, president of the Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce, Jim Shoulders, owner of 16 world championships as a competing cowboy and promoter for the GRA Rodeo and Penny Jessup and Butch White, members of the board of directors of the National Cowgirl of Fame to be located here gathered for a session at the C of C Offices Monday afternoon. Shoulders was in Hereford to check facilities at the rodeo arena, which will be the site of the all-girl rodeo set for May 16-18. Shoulders attended a morning news conference in Amarillo promoting the rodeo before his stop in Hereford.

During the board meeting, trustees heard administrative assistant Bill Phillips outline the general provisions of the five major bills now being considered for school financing. Both Phillips and Hartman think that none of the bills will be approved, but that a compromise will be worked out by the Legislature.

All of the proposed bills, however, call for an increase in the local share of school costs. Where the local share was about $536,000 for the Hereford district the past year, or about an 80-20 state-local shares, some of the bills would be implemented—in two to four years—to a 70-30 basis or even as much as a 55-45 ratio. The governor's bill, which has not been favorably received, would raise the local share to $2.6 million when implemented.

Each of the bills provides for increases in starting teacher salaries, ranging from $10,000 in two bills down to $7,430 in the

Also student records must be sent from any previous schools. If the student does not possess them when registering, then the schools will send for them.

City Receives $17,788 in Taxes

The city of Hereford received a check in the amount of $17,788.25 from the Comptroller of Public Accounts in Austin this week. The check was for city tax collected between Feb. 18 and April 4 in Hereford.

Comptroller Bob Bullock issued $16.1 million in checks Tuesday in the first ever monthly payment of city sales taxes.

The new monthly payments replace the old quarterly rebates which Bullock said "were only a step ahead of the Pony Express."

The quarterly system, with a lag of 60 to 90 days between the state getting the tax and when it went to the cities, had been in use since the first city sales tax went into effect in 1968.

Tuesday's payments went to more than 500 towns and cities for taxes collected between Feb. 18, the cutoff date of the last quarterly payment, and Apr. 4.

In a letter to city officials Bullock said the "quicker payments should be an asset to every city's financial operations" and that "because this money belongs to your citizens we have a responsibility to get it to you as quickly as possible."

Bullock said cities can expect to be less than the payment of the third month of each cycle when quarterly tax payments by merchants come in.

Under the new monthly system payments of less than $500 won't be made, Bullock said. Monthly allocations of less than $500 will be added to next month and paid either when they top $500 or at the end of each third month regardless of amount.

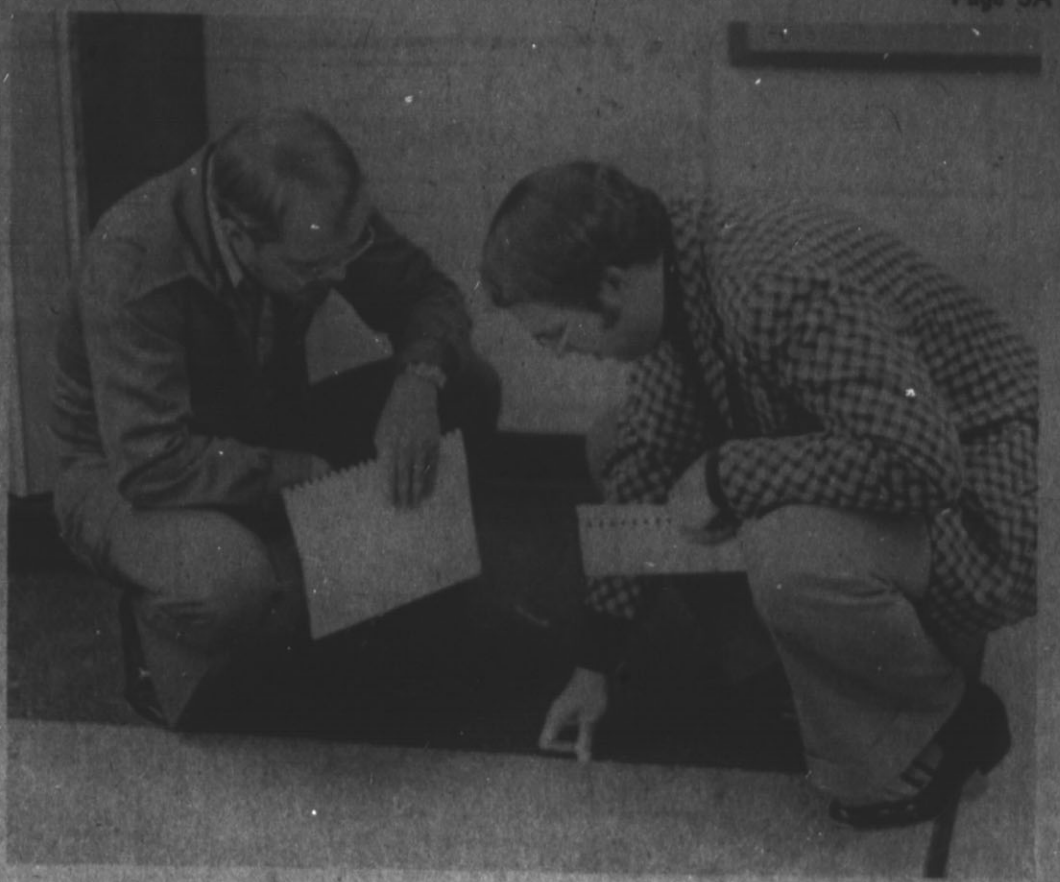

There were 273 towns with allocations of less than $500 for the first month on the new system.

1974 ELEMENTARY SCHOOL — HEREFORD, TEXAS

tax increase. The tax assessor also needs to know the assessment change, if any, in order to notify taxpayers before September.

In view of rising costs and the school financing legislation, it appears that a tax increase may be necessary—but no school officials went into this discussion Tuesday evening. Hartman did point out that the percentage was changed from 40 to 45 per cent in 1970, but added that this resulted in only a 2.8 per cent increase in taxes.

"We've had no real significant increase in taxes in eight or nine years," the superintendent told trustees.

Orpha Click was re-appointed as tax assessor-collector for the school district. He is in his 17th year with the district and would reach mandatory retirement age this summer. The district has made provisions, however, to retain persons with "specific skills" and Hartman recommended that Click be re-appointed under that policy.

A SPECIAL REQUEST for the use of Central Elementary in July and August was approved by the board on Hartman's recommendation. The request came from Sister Rachel Cavazos who will be directing the Panhandle and South Plains District Venture—a day care and headstart program for migrant children, ages 0-4. She estimated that 150 children will be involved in the program. The request was approved under contract conditions which are to be drawn up by the administration.

Before board president Hugh Clearman and Bobby Veigel left their last meeting, the board adopted a resolution to express "appreciation for their service on the school board." Conkwright made the motion "and the board gave unanimous approval.

Clearman, who served 12 years on the board, voices his appreciation for "letting me be a part of the team." He added that he thought the school "has the finest administrators and teachers anywhere."

Before the board went to view the new school, Hartman distributed booklets which outlined costs data and information on the planning of the facilities. The design of the new school was built around the "open" concept and blended with the best ideas from the traditional classroom approach.

THE BUILDING FEATURES seven learning centers—for kindergarten through sixth grade—with a large "media center" in the middle. The media center serves not only as a library, but as an area for study, reading, relation, planning and preparation.

Carpet covers the general learning and media center, offices and music room. Terrazzo is used in the kitchen, dressing rooms and toilets, while vinyl asbestos tile covers the other areas. Self contained heating and cooling equipment is located above the learning centers and administrative areas. Evaporative cooling will be used for the all-purpose room and kitchen.

The all-purpose room is a combination gym, cafeteria room, and auditorium—with a stage at one end. Sixteen folding in-wall tables are provided for the conversion to an eating area.

The non-graded concept has been utilized, which allows the pupil to function and process at his own rate. The child stays in the learning center with children of his own age, but individualization can be handled within a single learning center. Each student experiences both large group study in areas as social studies, science, music and art, and small group study in skill areas such as reading, arithmetic, spelling, writing, language and composition.

The physical design of each center allows for teachers to take smaller groups into an area which can be closed off from the rest of the center with a sliding partition. The rooms are further designed with chalkboards and tackboards placed to allow for small group instruction in any one of four corners of the room.

There are several conference rooms worked into and around the media center complex. These can be used for counseling, special reading and education programs, speech therapy, and others.

Dear Editor,

Allowing land to be traded for profit is the cause of inflation.

Our government must buy all the land and then rent it out for a third or a fourth of the crop. Government should also restrict the amount of land rented to individuals. There should be no hired men unless he has an interest in the crop.

Only the government should own any land. Those who presently own land could sell it to the government (trade for bonds). Our government could help anyone start in farming. A hired man is only helping the landlord take from him that which nature had endowed him.

Improvements on or built on the land would belong to the renter. He might sell the improvements or pay rent on them. Land should always have remained the property of the federal government, to be used by individuals under government control. Our government could loan anyone the money to farm with and be paid out of the crops.

Lose Weight

The experts tell us colder weather means our bodies burn up more calories keeping us warm and that the change to a colder season is therefore a good time to lose weight.

During the Christmas holidays many of us were tempted and ate too much of the traditional good things, all a part of Christmas. Now is a perfect time to limit one's diet to non-fattening food and to get the exercise which takes off extra pounds in cooler weather.

Walking, bicycling, hunting, jogging, or even ten minutes of exercise each day at home will do much to make the average individual look better and feel better—and live longer. Nothing else in life offers better dividends than this, at no cost!

Cancer Crusade Looks For More Donations

More than $3,000 were raised Monday evening by volunteer workers who canvassed the city for donations to the American Cancer Society.

Goal for this year's campaign in Deaf Smith County has been posted at $19,000, according to Jake Webb, drive president.

Further funds will be gleaned from a bike-a-thon during May under the direction of Wayne Woodward.

Mary Gibson, chairman of the door-to-door solicitation, organized volunteers who gathered at dusk Monday to collect educational packets which were then distributed.

More contribution funds are expected to trickle in from rural residents, stated Mrs. Jim Bob Perrin, division chairman. Farm dwellers who have not responded to ACS literature are urged to do so.

Mrs. D.D. Hetzel in overall chairman of the Cancer crusade. Other committee leaders are Bill Johnson, business division; Mrs. Virgil Marsh and John David Bryant, special gifts division.

Webb expressed appreciation to contributors and volunteer workers who were essential elements to the drive.

"The cooperative support of Hereford residents during the Cancer drive is greatly appreciated," Webb said. "We urge the community to heed the brochures distributed by volunteers. Prompt medical attention and campaign funds for research are strong weapons against the devastating disease."

Formby Praises Leaders In Texas Legislature

AUSTIN—Two officials of the Committee of Governing Boards of State Colleges and Universities today praised "extraordinary leadership" in the Legislature for adoption of the proposed new Constitution for Texas.

A.M. Willis, Jr., chairman of the Committee of Governing Boards and also chairman of the Committee of Governing Boards and also chairman of the Boards of North Texas State University, and Clint Formby of Hereford chairman, of the Executive Committee of the Governing Boards and also chairman of the Board of Regents of Texas Tech University, issued a statement. Last week, they served as spokesmen for 138 regents and board members not included in the University of Texas and Texas A&M System.

"We are especially pleased that the House, under the strong and able leadership of House Speaker Bill Clayton, adopted the Hale Amendment to the Education Article and that the Senate concurred in the amendment this week," Willis and Formby said.

They cited Speaker Bill Clayton and Representative DeWitt Hale, Bill Sullivan and Ray Hutchinson as "leaders in the effort to be helpful to higher education."

Both also praised the leadership of Lt. Governor Bill Hobby and Sen. Bob Gammage for their help in securing concurrence by the Senate in the House amendment which restores bond issuing authority to the 14 governing boards outside the Permanent Fund.

Both also praised the leadership of Lt. Governor Bill Hobby and Sen. Bob Gammage for their help in securing concurrence by the Senate in the House amendment which restores bond issuing authority to the 14 governing boards outside the Permanent Fund System.

Willis and Formby said, "All members of the Legislature who supported the new Education Article as amended for higher education showed their concern for the need for localized Board control in the field of higher education.

"As now written," they added, "the proposed Constitution assures those institutions not under the University of Texas and Texas A&M Systems of local board control over the issuance of ad valorem tax bonds. We believe that is best because local boards are in a position to best know and understand their own institutional needs."

They said that the language of the Hale Amendment in the House simply retained present constitutional authority to these boards and continued a system of bond issuing authority that has been successful since 1947.

Formby, as chairman of the Board of Texas Tech University, stated that he was particularly grateful to all West Texas representatives and senators who supported the retention of present Constitutional authority of the Regents.

It has been observed that women live longer than men. Possibly because they remain girls for so many years.

Mormon Youth Visits in City

Two representatives of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints are offering their services as moderators of family home evening conferences.

Nick Kantar of Sacramento, Calif., and Elder Lynn McMillan of Roy, Utah, will be in this area ministering to individuals in need of assistance. They stress that the family fellowship periods are non-denominational.

"We do not want to force the Mormon doctrine on others. Through these conferences, we hope that family members can get to know each other better and solve the misunderstandings," they stated.

Through this program, Mormon youth dedicate two years of their lives at their own expense to Christian work.

Here's Some Tips For Starting Tomatoes

By Roland E. Roberts Area Vegetable Specialist

Many varieties of tomato plants ready for planting are available at local nurseries. Gardeners, frustrated by recent cold weather and determined to plant now that warm weather has returned should be prepared to protect these young plants.

Tomatoes are the most popular garden vegetable in this area judging by the number of questions we get about their planting and care. The following planting pointers should help you get your tomato plants off to a fast start.

Try to select ideal plants. These should be about five weeks old, five inches tall and four inches wide across the foliage. Ideally, the plant should be growing in a fertile soil mix in a four to six-inch pot. There should be some buds about ready to open; or, if the plant is six weeks old there may be tiny fruits already set and growing. Plants of this type are usually quite costly. Less expensive and younger plants are what most of us can afford, but we must take great care in planting and protecting these plants.

Plant growers have tried diligently to have tomato plants ready on time for gardeners. Cold weather delayed transplanting from greenhouse to garden, so many of these plants have grown slightly tall. The taller plant is perfectly good as long as its stem is strong and the leaves are a rich green. The extra tall plant can be handled successfully by the skillful gardener. Dig a hole in the soil three to four inches deep to accept the root ball. Then make a shallow sloping trench from the hole to the surface of the soil to accommodate the extra stem length. Lay the plant in the trench so that all the roots are in the hole and all but the three or four inches of the plant top is underground. Roots will eventually sprout from this stem that is lying in the warm moist soil.

Apply a starter fertilizer that is high in phosphorus by dissolving it in water and using it for the first watering of the new plant. This phosphorus stimulates new root growth. Adhere strictly to the label directions for preparing the fertilizer solution. Too much dissolved fertilizer will harm roots.

Tender new-set tomato plants are fair game for cutworms. Protect the stems by mechanical or chemical means. Press a cardboard collar into the soil around the stem. Have the collar extend three or four inches above the soil. An insecticide such as diazinon or chlordane can be applied to a six-inch circle around the plant and to the stem. Read and obey the entire label of the insecticide.

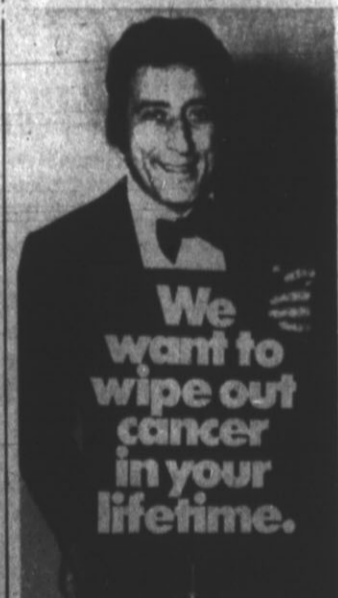

Our night temperatures are still too low for ideal tomato growth and a cover erected over the plants will be very helpful. These covers can be bought or made of wire and plastic. They will protect the young plants from cold and wind. Strong steel wire like coat hangers and polyethylene film can be used. Make the enclosure at least one foot wide and 12 to 15 inches tall. Cover the wire frame with clear plastic film and anchor at least six to eight inches of the lower edge of the plastic with soil so that it is drawn tightly over the frame. Be absolutely sure to cut a ventilation hole like a flap or louvre near the top of the plant cover. The hole should be about two square inches in area, facing in a northeast direction away from the prevailing winds. The plant will be killed by too much heat if the cover is not ventilated during the day.

Newly set tomato plants need partial shade for the first few days of their growth out in your garden. This shade can be made by painting about a square foot of the row cover on top and down the southwest side. Latex paint works fine. A big shingle or board pressed into the soil about six inches to the southwest side of the plant will do the job too.

Windbreaks for tomatoes are absolutely necessary here. We have seen everything from wood shingles to old railroad ties used successfully. The object is to cut off hot dry winds from the southwest. A windbreak about twelve to fifteen inches high and two feet wide should be located six to twelve inches to the southwest of each plant. Coffee cans can be used with top and bottom cut out for temporary wind protection.

Ideal conditions for tomato plant growth and fruiting are air temperature of between 80 degrees during the day and 60 degrees at night. Soil temperature should be between 65 and 75 degrees. Plants need full sunlight, ample soil moisture, high soil fertility, very gentle wind and no insects or diseases that hurt the leaves, stems, roots or fruits. That's a tall order. But, therein lies the challenge for the gardener.

He: I'd get down on my knees and die for you. She: Would you stand on your feet and work for me?

View From The Plains

BY J.D. PEER

TEXAS PARKS AND WILDLIFE DEPT.

Texas hunter safety classes are planned for Lubbock and Amarillo.

The minimal fee of $1.00 covers the registration for each course, but many would-be students cannot attend because of the lack of funds, and civilian instructors indicate that the costs covering many expenses are mounting each year and some of these expenses were paid by the instructor.

The University Optimists Club in Lubbock is one club that is helping defray the cost of many of the South Plains firearms safety classes. Over $1000.00 has been donated to the hunter safety program in Lubbock. Many of the safety students want to handle and fire target rifles and with the donated money, new rifles have been purchased. New hunter safety films have been made available by these funds also.

The completed hunter safety classes held in the Posey Elementary School in March, with over 27 students successfully completing the course, was one of the Optimist's Club's projects. Joe Davis, civilian instructor, and Bobby Goff, Texas game warden, have taught 350 students over the last two years, and both of these men have worked in cooperation with the Optimist Club.

The Parks and Wildlife Department appreciates these men and clubs such as the University Optimists and their president, Tom Erwin, for their support.

New hunter safety classes are being lined up both in Lubbock and Amarillo. Classes will begin soon at the Marine Corps Range in Amarillo under the instruction of George Parr and Doug Moreland. For more information about the dates and places of these classes, call Mr. Parr at 806-353-5131 or the Texas Parks and Wildlife Amarillo Field Office at 806-355-9246.

Potential hunters in the Lubbock area should call the regional office at 806-744-6847 and put their names on the list now. Sportsmen who are going to hunt in Colorado or 16 other states this fall, will be required to have a hunter safety card in their possession if they were born after January 1, 1949.

Texas has a voluntary hunter safety requirement and it is recommended that the course be successfully completed before a hunt is planned.

A GREAT Healer

Albert Schweitzer was a scholar and a famous musician, yet he felt that he should do more to serve his fellow man. So he went to medical college to study to become a physician. Finally, he became a medical missionary ministering to the natives of the African jungle. He felt that this was how he could best serve God. No matter what your vocation, you, too, can find a way to serve God. True happiness lies in service to others. This is the true meaning of Christian love.

Big Shipment of Pipe

It was a unique sight when Big T Pump Co. unloaded 13 rail cars of well casing over the weekend. The 16-inch casing would stretch six miles if laid out end to end. The local firm has announced other expansions in recent months, and manager Doc Carter reports another large shipment of well casing is due this summer. Big T plans to have an open house next month and invite area citizens to see its facilities on New York Avenue.

AC Names New VP

Dr. H.D. Yarbrough has been announced as the new vice president for Amarillo College, effective Aug. 1, to replace Charles D. Lutz, Jr., now AC president.

Dr. Yarbrough is currently president of Laramie County Community College in Cheyenne, Wyo. Previous to this he was executive secretary for the general coordination of Wyoming's seven community colleges.

While a PhD. doctoral candidate in the University of Texas Graduate School of High Education Administration, he served his administrative internship at Amarillo College in 1970.

mindful that expansion of local firms constitutes a vital part of industrial growth.

One example came to mind this week when Big T Pump Co. announced the arrival of 13 rail cars transporting new well casing. The huge shipment, representing six miles of 16-inch casing, was unloaded over the weekend at the firm's expanded headquarters on New York Avenue.

The shipment of casing was the result of a year's negotiations, according to Ralph Owens, president of the corporation.

"There was a shortage last year and we had to purchase used casing, so we started to work on placing orders for new well casing. We have confirmed another shipment about June," he added.

Owens also announced a new addition to the firm's building, with construction just completed on the drilling division facilities on the east side of the headquarters. Big T has also leased additional land on the west side of its location and a large tract across the street where huge pipe racks have been installed.

"We plan to have an open house in May and invite everyone to see our expanded and remodeled facilities," announced Owens. He pointed out that Big T will be observing its 30th anniversary in Hereford this year. The company started with four employees in 1945 and now has some 65 employees with offices in Hereford, Friona and Dimmitt. Future plans call for an office to be opened in Dalhart.

Doc Carter, who has been with Big T for about 22 years, is general manager of the company, and Bob Pope is assistant manager. Lloyd Smith is the drilling division manager; Thomas Davis is the ag manager; Bob Clark is the Friona manager, and George Hudson is the Dimmitt manager.

The firm's primary business is the installation of irrigation wells and sprinkler systems, and the service and sales of pumps.

Frost Damage Is Heavy

Juston McBride, county extension agent told the Brand Tuesday afternoon that some wheat fields may be suffering from 40-50 per cent freeze damage.

McBride reported that he has received numerous calls from farmers who have reported stalks breaking and falling over.

"We want to inform the farmers that this condition is not disease, it is frost damage," said McBride. "Dr. Kenneth Porter of the research center at Bushland has confirmed the problem as frost damage. Continued cold weather following a frost which injured the wheat about three weeks ago has accounted for the deterioration in the condition of the plants. The damage due to the frost could more than account for the 10 per cent cutback in production many farmers were planning on," he added.

Discriminatory Valuation Causes 2nd Austin Trip

More figures to substantiate area farmers' protests against "discriminatory" valuation methods used for farmland in proposed school financing bills were presented in Austin Wednesday by J.W. McMorris, tax appraiser consultant for three taxing bodies in Deaf Smith County.

McMorris had an appointment with administrative assistants in the lieutenant governor's office Wednesday afternoon. A veteran land appraiser with knowledge of values throughout the state, McMorris was expected to argue that the productivity method proposed on ag land is discriminatory—particularly in the highly productive High Plains area.

While both irrigated and dryland crops would be valued much above market value under the land capitalization method, McMorris was expected to show figures where rangeland and forest land would be much below market value.

McMorris is expected to show figures that would result in tax valuation at about $1,222 per acre for a 160-acre irrigated farm with mixed crops. He has confirmed the figures on productivity with farmers and bankers as being "conservative."

He will also contend that rangeland, figured statewide on the land capitalization method, will be about $2.26 billion below market value. By bringing this up to market value and figuring on a 60-cent rate per $100 valuation, the state could realize an additional $13.5 million.

The USDA land inventory of Texas in 1970 showed a total of 160,861,110 acres. Of that total, 85,604,543 is classified as rangeland and 35,630,331 acres is tabbed as cropland.

Last week, the ag committee of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce sent eight local representatives to Austin to confer with state legislators about the inadequacies of land valuation methods in the proposed bills.

The author of the so-called Governor's bill agreed with the group to propose a change in the language of the article on land values. It would provide that "in no event would land be valued at more than its fair market value."

IRS Audits Returns By DIF

Quality control helps ensure the safety of the food we eat, the cars we drive and the appliances we use. It also helps determine whether income tax returns will go unchallenged by the IRS after April 15.

The IRS doesn't call tax returns examinations quality control; instead, they are known as audits. The aim is to determine whether or not taxpayers have made errors in preparing their returns. A number of means are used to select returns for audit. A computer program is one of the most common.

The program is called the Discriminate Function (DIF). DIF uses a series of mathematical formulas to identify returns with a high probability of error. The formulas are developed from thousands of audits over the years, and a high DIF score normally indicates a high probability of error.

DIF formulas are continually revised as in-depth audits uncover new problems areas. For instance, certain changes in the tax laws may not be understood by vast numbers of taxpayers, leading to numerous mistakes. Usually, however, a combination of factors will "flag" a return, and in turn it will be examined by IRS "screeners."

Screeners are trained to consider local or other factors that may create a high DIF score on returns that normally would not need an audit. Thus, the screeners' knowledge and the computer selection process combine to determine which return will be audited. Humans file tax returns, and in the end, it's a human who will decide whether or not an audit is needed.

Cow Herd Decision Should Be Made

"Those of you in the cattle business should decide now how many cows you plan to keep over next winter. If you don't, you won't have enough forage on hand to get them through the winter months and the winter of 1974 will be repeated—many cows will die from malnutrition."

That challenge came from Dr.

George Alston at the recent Texas Animal Agriculture Conference at Texas A&M University.

"You must get out a pencil and use to determine how much forage you can produce," emphasized Alston, who is an area agronomist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "Once you determine that, then sell the rest of your herd. And, economists advise selling these excess animals in the next month or so."

"If you're going to keep cows in 1975, you're going to have to use fertilizer on your pastures," stressed the agronomist.

"Fertilizer is essential for quality forage, and especially if you're going to produce hay." Alston advised using a straight nitrogen fertilizer this year to get maximum forage growth. He recommended applying 200 pounds of ammonium nitrate per acre—or 67 pounds of actual nitrogen.

"If you're going to cut only one hay crop this year, delay fertilizing until about May 10 to get maximum forage growth and high quality hay. And, have all the hay you will need for your cows next winter in the barn by July 1. Remember, it takes about 40 bales of hay to winter a cow," Alston added.

"A cow has got to eat and you've got to feed her. If you can't, then sell her," emphasized the agronomist.

Lone Star Feedyard To Open At Happy

HAPPY, TEX.—Lone Star Feedyard, a new name in cattle feeding, will be ready to start receiving cattle sometime in May, according to new owners Leon Miller and Lee Hicks.

Formerly known as Happy Wheat Growers, Inc., the 25,000 head-capacity feedyard—located 35 miles south of Amarillo—was purchased on April 15 from a bankruptcy court. The purchase also included a 1,500,000-bushel grain elevator at Happy and three country elevators within a 40-mile radius.

Lee Hicks of Clovis, N.M. will be the general manager. He is a stockholder and former manager of Bovina Feed Yards at Farwell, Tex.; a member of the Board of Directors, Texas Cattle Feeders Association; and was recognized earlier this year as '1975 Commercial Feeder of the Year' by FEEDLOT MANAGEMENT magazine.

Leon Miller is president of the Alta Verde Industries at Eagle Pass, Tex., where he operates a 25,000-head-capacity feedyard and a dehydrated alfalfa business. He is vice president of the Texas Cattle Feeders Association and past president of the American Dehydrators Association.

"This purchase indicates our confidence in the cattle feeding business and in this area," says Miller. "Although cattle feeders have undergone rough times during the past 18 months, we are convinced that the situation has turned around and that the South Plains will continue to be recognized as the greatest cattle feeding area in the United States."

Two Injured In Rural Wrecks

The Texas Highway Patrol investigates seven accidents of rural highways in Deaf Smith County during the month of March, 1975, according to Sergeant W.E. Wells, Highway Patrol Supervisor of this area.

These crashes resulted in no persons killed and two persons injured.

The rural traffic accident summary for this county during the first three months of 1975 shows a total of 23 accidents resulting in one person killed and 22 persons injured.

The rural traffic accident summary for the 60 counties of the Lubbock Department of Public Safety Region for March, 1975, shows a total of 446 accidents resulting in 17 persons killed and 217 persons injured as compared to March, 1974, with 395 accidents resulting in 23 persons killed and 172 persons injured. This was 51 more accident, six less killed and 45 more injured in 1975 at the same period of item.

The 17 traffic deaths for the month of March, 1975, occurred in the following counties: three in Garza; two each in Ochiltree and Oldham; one each in Gray Haskell, Jack, Lubbock, Montague, Parker, Swisher, Wichita, and Young.

Expansion Predicted For Forage Fed Cattle

I believe the southern United States will eventually develop large scale production of forage finished beef."

That prediction came from Dr. C.S. Hoveland at the recent Texas Animal Agriculture Conference at Texas A&M University.

Hoveland, professor of crops at Auburn University, said he feels production of forage finished beef will increase when it becomes more economically feasible.

"Some of the problems in raising cattle on forage include uneven seasonal distribution of forage, pasture damage from hooves of animals, low digestibility of some grasses, and legumes that are not adapted to certain soils," said Hoveland.

One of the marketing problems encountered in raising forage finished beef, he noted, is a varying supply of slaughter animals.

"Winter forages are best for finishing cattle in the South," Hoveland said. "finishing cattle on winter annual pastures results in an oversupply of slaughter animals in late spring and none over much of the rest of the year."

Another problem he voiced is the appearance of yellow fat in the carcass. This, however, could be overcome by an educational program.

Hoveland described beef production on different types of grasses and said that cool season annual grasses offer the greatest potential for producing forage finished beef.

Poage Cited For Aiding West Texas Agriculture

The Executive Committee of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce has adopted a resolution recognizing the contributions Congressman William R. (Bob) Poage has made to the strength and vitality of agriculture in West Texas, the state and the nation as chairman of the House Agriculture Committee.

In the resolution, the West Texas Chamber of Commerce pointed out that agriculture is the largest business in West Texas and a multitude of factors govern the efficiency of this great industry in its increasing efforts to provide food and fiber for domestic needs as well as foreign exchange. National legislation and regulations create monumental effects which can alter the costs, methods and scope of production.

"The soundness and future of this nation," says Dick Yeager of Vernon, chairman of the WTCC Agriculture and Ranching Committee, "are dependent on government elected representatives to author sound legislation and regulations."

"West Texas and the nation have been fortunate to have had the services of Congressman Poage as chairman of the House Agriculture Committee. He has provided leadership and wisdom in legislative matters governing our great agriculture industry."

Good Management Results In Beautiful Weed-Free Lawn

A beautiful weed-free lawn is the result of good management, involving adequate watering, proper fertilization and careful mowing. In some instances, fungus control may be necessary. If bluegrass or bermudagrass lawns in the Panhandle area are properly managed, weeds can be virtually choked out, and only a minimum of weed control by hand or with herbicides will be required, according to A.F. Wiese, Weed Scientist with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

The most common management failure is inadequate watering. Water should be applied until the top 2 or 3 feet of soil are soaked. In most dry lawns, this requires about 6 inches of water. Most sprinklers apply 1 or 2 inches of water an hour; consequently, long periods of watering are required to adequately soak the soil.

Fertilization recommendations on most commercial formulations of lawn fertilizer are adequate and usually result in sufficient plant food (N, P, K, and iron) when applied in accordance with directions. Sometimes additional application of iron (iron sulfate or Sulfasol) is needed to keep healthy green foliage.

"A good rule of thumb" for proper lawn mowing is never clip more than one-half of the grass. Best weed control will be obtained if at least 2 inches of grass covers the ground at all times. Tall grass shades the ground, preventing or markedly reducing growth of young weeds," Wiese stated.

Dandelion is the most common weed in Panhandle lawns and is easily controlled with 1/4 pound of 2,4-D per acre. The 2,4-D will kill this perennial weed any time of year, but fall is the safest time to spray because shrubs and flowers mature and not particularly sensitive to the herbicide. Small carelessness or pigweed, goatheads and kochia can be controlled also with one application of 1/4 pound per acre of 2,4-D.

Crabgrass is controlled best by cutting lawns at least 2 inches tall. Grass shades the ground preventing germination. This, combined with a little hand pulling, will keep crabgrass under control in a vigorous lawn. Herbicides that will control crabgrass are Tupersan 50W, Dacthal, Betasan, calcium arsonate, Dymid and Enide. These herbicides must be applied in the spring, prior to crabgrass emergence. Once crabgrass has emerged, foliage applications of herbicides containing DSMA (disodium methanearsonate) and MSMA (monosodium acid methanearsonate) will give control. Grass burrs and barnyard grass are also controlled with DSMA and MSMA. (several brands of DSMA or MSMA are available at farm and nursery stores.) Wild mustard that germinates in fall planted bluegrass lawns can be controlled with a March application of 2,4-D at 1/4 pound per acre. Pigweed that emerge in summer-planted lawns can be controlled with 2,4-D applied about the time of the first mowing.

Research at the USDA Research Center at Bushland has shown the best way to eliminate bindweed before planting a lawn. Soil should be heavily watered about April 15 and 2,4-D at 1 pound per acre applied on May 10. After 2 weeks, the weed tops will be dead and lawn planting can proceed. "This will not eliminate bindweed, but the weeds will be stunted enough for grass to become established," Wiese stated. After the lawn is established, retreatment will be necessary.

Blueweed can be controlled prior to planting grass by spraying vigorously growing weeds in the bud stage with 2 pounds per acre of an ester formulation of 2,4-D. This stage occurs from May 20 to June 10. The 2,4-D should be applied with water containing some diesel oil or detergent. This treatment repeated again in mid-summer will control the weeds enough so that grass can be planted in the fall.

Large unsightly sprigs of Johnsongrass and fence can be controlled by applying a teaspoon of naphtha at the base of each sprig several times during the summer. This neither harms lawn grasses nor makes large bare spots in the lawn.

Because 2,4-D is toxic to shrubs and flowers, the chemical should be applied in a manner to minimize spray drift and volatility. The safest type of 2,4-D to use in a city is 2,4-D amine, a formulation that has minimum volatility. According to Wiese, 2,4-D can be safely applied with low pressure type hand sprayers and sprinkling cans. If susceptible weeds are located near or under shrubs, they can be treated with a rag or a sponge-type mop dipped in a 2,4-D mixture. The mixture should contain 1 tablespoon of 2,4-D per gallon of water.

"Everybody can not have the best lawn in the neighborhood," Wiese stated, "but with a little work and planning, anyone can be proud of their lawn."

Old Saying
"Fight Cancer with a Check-up and a Check" is something that the American Cancer Society volunteers have been saying for years. A check to the Society during its April Crusade will go far to fight cancer, while a health checkup is an excellent way of safeguarding your life against this disease.

An Army Against Cancer
This April some 2,300,000 volunteers will visit friends and local businessmen across the country to gather support for the American Cancer Society's 1975 educational and fund-raising Crusade.

WITH THE CLEAN-UP Drive week drawing to a close, it's tempting to pull the covers back over your head and succumb to a full-blown case of spring fever. But don't retire your rake and paintbrush for posterity just yet.

Community beautification is a good theme for all seasons. The C of C women have done a lot of pushing and prodding to get the ball on the playing field, but now it's up to the rest of us to grab it and run with it. Campaigns like this go down the drain if the winning team prop up their heels and rest on their laurels. (Since this town is stricken with football mania, it helps to explain things in terms of gridiron technology.)

The clean-up week is just a pep rally with the game still to come.

So with all that community spirit welling up, spend these summer months planting trees, painting the shutters or whatever improvement your place needs.

THIS LEADS TO A plug for Arbor Day. Tomorrow is when Hereford will recognize this national observance. Now Arbor Day is different from all those other days like Groundhog Day and Labor Day, because it's ACTION day.

There were two apparent things noted by the pioneer settlers who came to this region way back when: it was flat and it had no trees. There has been no diving decree that it has to stay that way.

So unless you've got a new provocative technique for bringing mountains to the Panhandle, at least plant a tree. Put one in your own yard or give one to a public facility, perhaps even as a memorial gift. For further information, contact a member of the county Bicentennial committee or even one of the garden clubs.

AS AN INDIVIDUAL MATURES, that childhood affection for teddy bears is transferred to another, equally obsessive symbol—the coffee cup. We've all seen the signs.

You could track a caffeine addict across the Ardes Mountains by simply following the coffee cups aimlessly littered across the territory. All devoted coffee drinkers share certain peculiar characteristics when it comes to their habitual libation.

They can walk through the most macabre chaos with a look of innocent contentment if they clasp a coffee mug in their hands. But that languid sense of self-satisfaction can transform into unadulterated panic tintured with insanity. All this over the loss of a coffee cup.

And they are always losing them.

So when you spot the bewildered peering face of one of these victims, by all means, search for the missing property. It could be a number of peculiar places, i.e. by the bathtub, on the lawnmower or by the percolator (Eureka!) Find it, place it in their pathetic clutching hands and let them return to their special, tranquil limbo.

THIS WEEK'S WOMAN in America tribute is to Emma Lazarus, who wrote the poem which is affixed on a bronze plate to the base of the Statue of Liberty.

After "Liberty" had finally been completed by the French people as a gift to America's centennial celebration, the U.S. discovered there was not enough money to build a pedestal for her. The mammoth statue, valued in excess of $250,000, had already been dismantled and packed for shipping to this country. There was panic in America for fear that the magnanimous gift might deteriorate at a New York wharf.

However, in reaction to an editorial plea by Joseph Pulitzer, an anonymous school teacher started a campaign among school children. By August 1885, the necessary $100,000 had been contributed in small donations from students across America.

Ms. Lazarus wrote her famous poem during the fund-raising campaign. It was found by an artist, who had it cast in bronze and submitted to the American Committee. Her message has been a welcome for thousands of visitors to the monument:

"Give me your tired, your poor,
Your huddled masses yearning to breathe free,

The wretched refuse of your teeming shore.
Send these, the homeless, tempest-tost to me,

I'll lift my lamp beside the golden door."

MRS. WILLIAM MCGHEE welcomed guests into her home at 504 N. Mill Ave. over the week end. Her grandson, Kinnith Burns of Monterey Park, Calif. was in Hereford for a couple of days. Also, Mr. and Mrs. J.W. Dines of Kress and Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Enquest of Glendale, Calif. were visitors Sunday afternoon.

REMEMBER THE SPECIAL art show which will be going on at Sugarland Mall this weekend. These artists have worked hard on their exhibits and you might find some really good bargains.

Mrs. James Hamby of 328 Ave. E. will be among those having booths at the mall. A mother of five, she finds time to delve into her new found hobby of oil painting. She was kind enough to even give a little canvas bearing some colorful pink roses. Thank you, Mary, I appreciate your special little bouquet.

To Feature Wares

Mrs. James Hamby of 328 Ave. E will be among those local artists exhibiting their wares this weekend at Sugarland Mall. Others having booths will be Mrs. E.S. Johnson and Mrs. Mildred Guinn. Mrs. Johnson's Book, "Things That Abide," will be on sale with half of the proceeds to be donated to High Plains Childrens Home at Amarillo. Mrs. Guinn will have watercolor paintings for sale and will be doing pastel and charcoal portraits.

Schools Receive Hefty Beef Cuts

One hundred pounds of rib roast and hamburger meat was donated by Hereford CowBelles to local home economics and classes during the "Cow Hacking Demonstration" Tuesday night.

Morris Hacker of Hereford Meat Market and his two sons directed the demonstration at Hereford Bull Barn.

In addition to the meat given to the high school and junior high schools, 38 packages of beef were given to the high school and junior high schools, 38 packages of beef were given away at a drawing after the program.

All meat was USDA Choice grain fed beef. The unique program was held in conjunction with Grain Fed Beef Month.

Those in attendance were given beef charts prepared by the National Livestock and Meat Board, illustrating the program methods. Recipe booklets were also distributed.

It was announced that Mrs. Rachel Hunter is chairman of the CowBelle float for the All Girls Rodeo Parade. Also, Mrs. Bill Howard will represent Hereford on the Texas CowBelle Industry Information Council.

The next CowBelle meeting will be a luncheon at Hereford

Country Club on May 13.

Mrs. Jim Perrin was general chairman of the hacking

Veleda Study Club Elects Officers

Electing a new slate of officers for the next club season, Veleda Study Club members met Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Richard Ottesen.

To be installed at a salad supper May 13 are Mmes. John Poindexter, president; Hugh Clearman, vice president; J.R. Oglesby, recording secretary; Lloyd Crume, corresponding secretary; Laurence Ruther, treasurer; Bill Brady, historian.

Mrs. Armon Lauderback, president, moderated the business session, which included roll call and approval of minutes of the previous meeting. Correspondence included a letter which recommended Mrs. Carroll Tucker as a new member. She was accepted unanimously.

"Success or Failure in Cake Decorating" was the program presented by Mrs. M.D.

Walcott Runoff Election Set

Walcott school will again be the scene of voter action this Saturday as a runoff election for a place on the Walcott School Board will be decided.

The race is between Edwin Morrison Jr. and Bill Page who tied with 27 votes each in the regular election held April 5. Willis Duggan won the other open spot on the Walcott School Board in that race. He received 30 votes.

The election is set for 8 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Henson and Mrs. Lynn Pittard, guest speakers. They were introduced by Mrs. Ottesen.

They gave pointers for making successful, pretty pastries, advising that one use tried and tested recipes. Members were told that fruit or nuts could be added to boxed cake mixes for variation.

They showed how to cut or level a cake which has not risen properly. They also demonstrated a crumb coating method which seals cake particles so they will not flake when icing is applied.

Roses, carnations and writing made of icing were illustrated by the two speakers and then members experimented with the techniques. A basic icing formula was shared with those present.

The cake which had been decorated during the program was served as part of the refreshments.

Among those attending were Mmes. Brady, Gid Brown, Crume, Lauderback, George Olson, Gwynne Owen, Poindexter, George Ritter, Ruther, Billy Wayne Sisson, Bill Walden, Frank Zinser Jr. and J.D. Gilbert Jr.

Pounds Shed

Weight loss goals were reached by Mrs. Arthur Blackburn and Mrs. Aubry Vandever, both members of TOPS local chapter. This accomplishment qualifies the pair for KOPS (Keeping Off Pounds Sensibly), a national program.

Mrs. Aubry Vandever and Mrs. Arthur Blackburn were recognized at the meeting for having reached weight loss goals previously set by their physicians. They will be on a trial period for three months during which they are required to maintain a weight within a certain margin. After completion of this step, they will be distinguished as KOPS Keeping Off Pounds Sensibly, a selective part of the National TOPS organization.

Satire Entertains Lone Star Members

A raucous satire of American history was reviewed during a humorous program presented by Mrs. Robert Thompson Tuesday for Lone Star Study Club members. Mrs. C.B. Womble and Mrs. Carl Williams were co-hostesses in Pioneer Natural Gas Flame Room.

"It All Started With Columbus," a book by Richard Armour, reportedly "set American History back 300 years." Relating the escapades of "Wild Bill Hickup" and the deadly combat between General Custer and "Crazy Quill," the book is a half-remembered, half concocted romp through U.S. history.

Armour reveals the inside story of the War of 1812 and explains how Dolly Madison "carried off the Washington Monument to keep the British from burning it."

Mrs. Thompson stated that the humorous account is a "compendium of distorted facts written for people who read American history books in school and swore they'd never read another one." Accompanied by 72 illustrations "for those who cannot read," the first edition was published in 1963.

Following the program, refreshments were served to Mmes. Gaston Baer, Hardy Benson, J.J. Durham, H.E. Henslee, Jim Higgins, W.O. McCutcheon, J.E. Shirkey and Dale Tunnin. Also, Miss Mildred Elliott and Mmes. Henry Vaughn, Edward Warren, M.H. Wiseman, R.G. Blue, V.E. Dodson, C.O. Phillips, Ray Suit, W.S. Faint and John Moore.

Secret pals will be revealed at the next meeting, the final one of this club season, May 13. Officers will be installed.

Tax Reports Due April 30

Austin—Comptroller Bob Bullock reminded 225,000 retail businesses Friday that April 30 is the deadline for sending in quarterly sales tax reports.

Reports due April 30 cover the January-March quarter. Forms for the reports were sent to all sales tax permit holders by Bullock's office in March.

Bullock said that most delinquencies "are strictly oversight—but the consequences are the same."

Bound For State

The Hereford FFA livestock judging team captured first place in overall and Area I competition at Texas Tech Saturday to earn the right to advance to the State judging contest at Texas A&M this weekend. Team members include Jerry Johnson, Rob Pope, Tom Schlabs, Curtis Smith and Wayde Boren.

Fashions Follow Flowing Natural Lines

Gimmicks are out—the simple natural look is in for women's fashions this spring, according to Margaret Ann Vanderpoorten, clothing specialist.

"We'll see a clean, soft, feminine look in clothing, accessories and hair styles," the specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, said this week.

Hair styles will be soft and curly—not frizzy—or simple and straight, showing off clean, shiny hair. Long hair will frequently be pulled back in a simple chignon for a smooth, dressier appearance. Off-the-face looks will be the newest. Bangs, when worn, will be long and sleek, she reported.

"Loose, feminine dress styles will look great with the waist nipped in by a belt. And belts may be the single most important accessory for summer—wide crushed styles, obi types and narrow leather ones," she said.

Shoes will be flatter and simpler. Espadrilles, sandals and slippers will have low heels or wedges. Very little trim and decoration will be seen.

"Jewelry will be in extremes—either kept to a minimum, or arms full of bangles. Natural stones, beads and shells will be good choices. Scarves and more scarves will complete the picture. Wear them over the shoulders with a sundress or around the neck for color. Wrapping the head bandana fashion or turban style will be a substitute for summer hats," she noted.

Teams Earn Trip To State Meet

Hereford High School's livestock and meat judging teams earned the right to advance to the state judging contest Saturday as they took high honors in judging competition at Texas Tech University.

The livestock judging team, composed of Jerry Johnson, Rob Pope, Tom Schlabs, Curtis Smith and Wayde Boren, captured first place in overall competition and also won first place in the area competition. Curtis Smith was also the second high individual. Some 125 teams competed in the livestock division.

In the meat judging contest, Hereford team members Chris Cabbiness, Ira Robinson, Stephen Fortenberry and Ryan White placed fifth in the overall competition and first in the area. The team competed against some 75 other teams at Texas Tech.

The meat judges also captured a third place finish in district competition earlier this spring.

Both the livestock and meats team will leave for Texas A&M today (Thursday). The teams will hold practice sessions en route and will compete Saturday.

Other teams which competed at Texas Tech over the weekend and their members include the land judging team, made up of Joe Ray, Tom Marnell and David York; Poultry judging team, made up of Dennis Schilling, Rex Reinart, Mike Clevenger and Bobby Meyer; dairy products team, made up of Joe Monroe, Jerry Bryan and Cory Waldon; dairy cattle team, made up of Jim Bob Wallen, Allyn Rowland, David Walter-shied and Dennis Yerby; and the grass judging team, composed of Stan McCabe, Gerald Jesko, Sam Finley and Chris Paetzold.

All the judging teams competed at Sweetwater and West Texas State University in addition to Texas Tech.

State Qualifiers

Chris Cabbiness and Ira Robinson are members of the Hereford FFA meat judging team which earned the right to advance to the state contest at Texas A&M this weekend by taking first place honors in Area I competition at a meet at Texas Tech Saturday. The team also placed fifth in overall competition at Tech. Not pictured are team members Stephen Fortenberry and Ryan White.

Top Grass Judges

The Deaf Smith County 4-H grass judging team finished first in Round 2 of the District Eliminations in Canyon April 12. Pictured from left are Micki Merritt, Sandee Finley and Sam Finley. Miss Merritt finished as the second high individual in the contest while Miss Finley was fifth and Sam Finley was fourth. The team will compete in the state 4-H Roundup at Texas A&M June 3-4.

HHS Juniors May Earn College Credits

WTSU—Academically-talented high school juniors will again be able to enroll in West Texas State University this summer to earn college credit.

Applications must be received by the WTSU Testing and Counseling by time for the second summer term, according to Dr. Kenneth Waugh, center director.

This program is being offered for the second time this summer to academically-talented students to broaden and/or accelerate their educational experience.

The courses taken by these students will be the same taken by the University's freshmen students, and will not replace or change in any way high school courses.

While accorded the same privileges as WTSU freshmen, these students will receive special academic advising and counseling.

An interested student must send by May 5 the regular WTSU application for admission, a letter expressing his reason for wanting to participate in this program, his high school record, recommendation from his high school principal or his representative, parental knowledge and approval, and proof of immunization against polio, diphtheria and tetanus.

The student must also have his scores on the American College Test of file at WTSU. For those who have not already taken this test, a special testing date will be arranged if Dr. Waugh is contacted by May 5.

Selection will be based on high school academic record, scores on the ACT and/or other standardized tests, the recommendation of high school and the student's reason for wanting to participate.

Drinks Tax Received

Hereford was one of 293 cities and Deaf Smith County was one of 184 counties to receive $2.3

million for local share of mixed drink taxes collected during the first three months of this year.

Hereford's 15 per cent remittance on total tax revenue $2,364.86 was $354.73. The county received $494.78 from tax revenue totaling $3,298.52.

The remaining 70 per cent—this time $5.7 million—goes to the state's general revenue fund.

The total for the first quarter was up $400,000 over the October-December, 1974, quarter, Comptroller Bob Bullock reported.

The tax is a 10 per cent gross receipts tax collected by the Alcoholic Beverage Commission.

SPS Employees To Attend Conference

Two Hereford employees of the Southwestern Public Service Company have been selected to attend a conference for supervisors of the electric company, according to Jake Webb, SPS district manager in Hereford.

Leon Tanck, working foreman, is in Amarillo this week attending the first conference and Maxine Lewis will attend the second conference starting April 28. Both 5-day conferences will be held at the Ramada Inn.

The conferees will hear discussions on 30 different subjects including management and supervision, company policy and financing, rates and budgetary control, and supervisory responsibility.

Ed Love, manager of training for Southwestern, is in charge of the conferences and SPS executives and supervisors will serve as instructors. In addition, Dr. Zeke Marchant, C.L.U. and department head, Business Administration, West Texas State University, will speak on "Personality and Improvement," and Dan Fleming, partner, Ordway-Saunders Company, will discuss insurance.

Cub Scouts To Hold Cleanup

Cub Pack 151 will hold a clean-up campaign at the Tierra Blanca Creek Nature Area Saturday.

Second, third and fourth grade cubs from six different dens will gather at the Nature Area at 10 a.m. Saturday to conduct a clean-up project in the area. The city is providing a truck for the cleanup project.

The Cub Scouts had originally planned to clean litter and rubbish from the creek bed itself, but since the creek is now holding water the youngsters were concentrate their efforts in the area around the creek.

The project is part of an effort on the part of the Cub Scouts to stimulate interest in the nature area.

At The Library Strong Men Profiled In Unique Biographies

Two profiles in courage and character, "Eric" and "Solitary Star," are featured books this week at Deaf Smith County Library.

"Eric" is a hard-hitting, realistic account written by Doris Lund, the mother of a 17-year-old youth stricken by acute leukemia. With love and admiration void of sentimentality, she recalls her son's valiant struggle with life and finally, with death.

"Solitary Star" by Donald Braider is a vivid portrait of Sam Houston, impoverished teacher, frontier lawyer, U.S. Congressman and eventually the Governor of Tennessee. Capturing Houston's enigmatic character, the author probes the inner man and the vital roles he filled in the fledgling nation.

The library is open to the public free of charge on Monday and Thursday from 9 a.m. until 9 p.m.; weekdays from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. and Saturday until noon.

ERIC
By Doris Lund

"Come and take me if you can."

"I'm alive, dammit." That was Eric at seventeen, challenging the disease that wanted his life—acute leukemia. The doctors said, "Six months to two years."

But Eric didn't get the message. Instead he took a death-defying leap into life. The disease had struck on the eve of his departure for college and during the next four years he managed to work on a university degree. But more important, he embarked on a cram course in living to manhood, a self-selected study that included lessons in pain and happiness and love. The facts say that death was victorious; in the end it was Eric's spirit that won.

Eric's mother tells his story with love and admiration but without sentimentality, sometimes in anger and sorrow as Eric whacked away at parental ties and met life his own way—by himself. There's Eric laughing irreverently at pompous authority, playing varsity soccer while filled with anti-leukemic drugs that might save or kill him, running ten or twenty miles a day to keep in shape, having a last New Year's Eve bash with hordes of young friends.

Eric, with other courageous patients, making jokes and cartoons on the chemotherapy ward of a great hospital. And then there's the year before Eric died—his all-to-short joyous love affair with a beautiful nurse. They didn't have much time, but they used it well.

To everyone who knew him during those years, Eric is unforgettable. For those who didn't, his mother's book can be a life changing experience.

SOLITARY STAR
by Donald Braider

Potential squaw man, soldier in the War of 1812, impoverished schoolteacher, frontier lawyer, United States Congressman, governor of Tennessee.

These were but a few of the many roles Sam Houston played before he had reached the age of forty.

Then, suddenly, disgrace washed him. A political career that promised to take him as far as the White House lay in ashes, destroyed by a marital scandal. Viewed with suspicion, even by his longtime friend and hero Andrew Jackson, he retreated into an alcoholic haze, abandoning civilization to live among the Indians and find his strength anew.

His ultimate fortunes became inextricably linked to the destiny of the Republic of Texas, whose independence he helped achieve as commander in chief of the Texas army during its war with Mexico.

A military hero and one of the most popular celebrities in the fledgling nation, he was twice elected president of Texas before his country was admitted to the Union in 1845. Both aided and hindered by the neurotic woman who was his second wife, he served his state as United States Senator for fourteen years before defeat in the gubernatorial election of 1857 because of his uncompromising stand against secession.

Counted out by his enemies, he made a remarkable comeback in 1859 to capture the governorship, eventually forcing the state to remove him from office when he refused to accept the verdict of the people that Texas should join the Confederacy.

Sam Houston is assuredly one of the most colorful, controversial and enigmatic figures of American history. What seems particularly remarkable today is his role as prophet.

Not only did he foresee with frightening accuracy the inevitable Civil War and devote himself with undeviating loyalty to the preservation of the Union, but his was almost a solitary nineteenth-century voice raised in defense of the Indian and in denunciation of the white man's greed.

Solitary Star is the first popular biography of Houston to appear since Marquis James' best-selling Pulitzer Prize-winner, The Raven, which was published in 1929. Since that time, much new scholarly material has become available, including a comprehensive edition of Houston's public and private papers.

Red Cross Convenes Sunday At Boston

The opening of America's bicentennial celebration will provide the backdrop for the 50th national convention of the American Red Cross which convenes in Boston, Sunday.

But while the atmosphere be geared to the nation's birthday, the more than 4,000 delegates from across the country will be concentrating on more serious topics.

The four-day meeting kicks off Sunday, just nine days after 200th anniversary of the battle in nearby Lexington and Concord which opened the Revolutionary War.

The convention's focus will be on the theme of the "volunteer spirit on the move," a theme that will be stressed in the address by Frank Stanton, national Red Cross chairman at the opening plenary meeting in the John B. Hyatt Memorial Auditorium at 9:30 a.m., Monday.

Other highlights of the opening session will be the presentation of the Harriman Award for Outstanding Volunteer Service and the appointment of four members-at-large to the 50-member, all volunteer Red Cross Board of Governors.

AGRI-SUL SULFUR

Could Be The Answer To:

Irrigation Age (April '75 Issue) Had This To Say About Sulfur & Powdery Mildew

POWDERY MILDEW- NEW THREAT TO SUGAR BEET PRODUCTION

"Powdery mildew has been a major problem for years in sugarbeet growing areas of Europe and the Mid-East, with reported crop losses as high as 22% of beet root yield and 24% of final sugar yield."

"Intensity of the attack in the U.S. last year varied from mild to severe, with losses in some areas estimated as high as 3 tons of beet root production, and up to 1 1/2% of sucrose content."

"Because the disease struck so suddenly and unexpectedly last year, most beet growers could do little more than sit back and watch."

"It appears that the earlier sulfur is applied, the better the results...This is a fast acting disease, and can sweep through a field before the grower is aware of it."

"The bright spot on the horizon is that sulfur as a control measure has been granted approval by the Environmental Protection Agency."

Agri-Sul sulfur is 100% water soluble for use in spray solution as well as dry application to the soil. Early pre-plant application of Agri-Sul, in my humble opinion could have helped fortify the sugar beets against the effects of this disease and/or other insects. See page 18 of the above mentioned issue of Irrigation Age—"Other Sugar beet Pests." Agri-Sul sulfur has been used to help control soil pests—has been cleared and used to control mites and other insects in sugar beets and other crops. FRIEND FARMER, I say use Agri-Sul sulfur in your soil and as foliar spray to control insects and fungus. "Ya Hear."

"Danny Kaye's Look-In at the Metropolitan Opera," a 60-minute special starring the world-famed comedian introducing schoolchildren to the myriad technical and artistic elements called upon to produce an opera, will be presented on "The CBS Festival of Lively Arts for Young People" series Sunday, April 27 (4:00-5:00 p.m.) on the CBS Television Network.

Guest starring on the special will be Metropolitan Opera stars Robert Merrill and Beverly Sills.

Kaye has successfully been imbuing young people with a love and appreciation of opera since 1972 with similar presentations at the Metropolitan. This special broadcast, however, represents the first time a "Look-In" is to be presented to a nationwide audience.

Employing his comedic artistry, Kaye draws the audience into the proceedings. The youngsters, schoolchildren from the New York, New Jersey and Connecticut areas, feel as much a part of the operatic experience as those appearing before the footlights.

With the entire opera and its varied personnel, totaling over 400, as his foil, Kaye explains, among other things, the many combinations of voices—duets, quartets—utilized in performances, the huge dimensions of the Metropolitan stage (a block and a half in depth), the remarkable technical paraphernalia which permits massive sets to rise and fall effortlessly, how dramatic scenes are rehearsed, and the function of the prompter.

CBS obtains broadcast rights to match between Jimmy Connors and John Newcombe

Jimmy Connors, the young tiger of tennis who is ranked No. 1, takes on the only top player he has never defeated, the hard-hitting John Newcombe of Australia. In a three of the set match at Caesars Palace, Las Vegas, Saturday, April 28, with the match to be broadcast live exclusively on the CBS Television Network, 2:30 p.m., to conclusion in a special edition of "CBS Sports Spectacular."

"This match is a natural follow-up to the Jimmy Connors-Rod Laver match broadcast on CBS earlier this month. According to their records over the past two years, these are the two greatest men players in the world today, and we are expecting a super match," Robert Wustler, Vice President, Sports, CBS Television Network, stated.

The announcement was made today at the CBS Broadcast Center in New York City with Connors present and Newcombe on camera live from Auckland, New Zealand, via satellite. This was the first live telecast to the United States from New Zealand.

In January, Newcombe defeated Connors in the finals of the Australian Open, 7-5, 3-6, 6-4, 7-4. Previously Newcombe defeated him in July 1974, in a World Team Tennis one-set match decided by a tie-breaker.
