Authorities get tough on gun offenders

Local law enforcement officials are trying to head off any ideas that it's okay to carry weapons to local schools, even for "innocent" purposes.

"It's not gang-related or anything like that, but it's still serious when someone has a gun or brass knucks or any kind of weapon on school property," said Lou Serrano, juvenile probation officer in Hereford.

with possession of brass knuckles at HHS.

"Even though the gun at the junior high wasn't loaded, we felt we needed to deal with the child very seriously," said Serrano. "We think the kid was just showing the gun off to some of his friends, but we can't have guns taken to school for any reason."

A 12-year-old child who had taken a .22-caliber gun to Hereford Junior High has been sent to the Lubbock Youth Center as part of the punishment meted in his case. The gun was confiscated by school officials on Tuesday.

Last week, a 17-year-old was charged with possession of a .45-caliber gun at Hereford High School. Wednesday, a juvenile was charged

"The 17-year-old may be facing more serious problems, although that is something I don't handle. For an adult, possession of a gun on school property is a felony. They can get 10 years in prison for that."

"The person with the brass knucks at the high school was a juvenile, and we intend to treat that very seriously, too. We just need to nip this in the bud before it gets out of hand. We want to send a message to everyone that we are not going to tolerate this."

Team sets new goals

New goals and plans for the Hereford public schools are being prepared by a special team that met Thursday at the Stanton Special Programs Center.

Charles Greenawalt, Hereford superintendent, said the team of teachers, administrators and the general public will develop goals and a mission statement for the HISD for the next 5 to 10 years.

Thursday, the team discussed Texas Assessment of Academic Skills (TAAS) results, the Academic Excellence Indicator System (AEIS) and the results of a survey recently given to students and parents picked at random. The team also worked on a mission statement for the schools.

The team will meet again April 3 to develop goals from the information it received Thursday.

Thursday's session was the first step to site-based decision making at each school campus beginning with the 1992-93 school year. Committees will review goal setting, curriculum, budgeting, staffing and school organization.

Greenawalt said the Texas Education Agency will be more closely monitoring each campus beginning next fall. In the past, TEA has graded districts as a whole. TEA will use numbers from reports at each school and compare the numbers with statewide averages and objectives.

According to the AEIS plan

Working on school goals

presented by Marilyn Leasure, director of secondary education for HISD, the state wants:

--Ninety percent of all students passing the TAAS.

--Student attendance at 97 percent.

--A dropout rate at one percent or less.

--Higher participation in advanced level courses.

--A graduation rate of 99 percent.

--More graduates receiving advanced seals on transcripts.

--ACT or SAT tests taken by 70 percent of graduating seniors.

House orders release of hot check writers

WASHINGTON (AP) - Embarrassed House members are rushing to give constituents an explanation of their check-kiting habits before the release of an official offenders list. Many feared voters would seek retribution on election day.

The House early today voted 426-0 to make public the resignation of the overseer of the now-defunct bank, Sergeant at Arms Jack Russ. But for the most part, lawmakers worried aloud about their own jobs.

"As of today," ethics committee member Fred Grandy, R-Iowa, told his colleagues, "your talk-show hosts have a topic. Your opponent has an issue. And your constituents have a reason to support term limitations."

Before Thursday, only about five dozen lawmakers had confessed to writing checks beyond their balances, mostly small-change stuff. But when it became clear that the House was going to vote to disclose all the names, that figure began to soar.

House Speaker Tom Foley was asked today if he thought many members would lose their seats because of a repeated overdraft.

"I don't think that you'll see many members of Congress losing their jobs... over this itself," Foley said on NBC. "But members will have to tell the truth to their constituents, explain what happened. And I think for the most part, those who do, who come forward with the information and give it clearly and concisely, will have an opportunity to come back here..."

The surprise move had immediate political consequences, as members fearful of negative publicity hurriedly came clean.

Among those who came forward were: Rep. Charles Hatcher, D-Ga., who said overdrew his account as many as 780 times over the 39 months. Rep. Duncan Hunter, R-Calif., who disclosed he wrote an estimated 160 bad checks in the past three years.

Rep. Gerry Sikorski, D-Minn, 671 checks. "We should have known better," he said.

It was not immediately clear whether any of those three, or any of the others who went public, were on the worst offenders' list. Account data, published by the Washington Times on Thursday, showed there were many other contestants for that honor.

The list included no names. But it showed, for example, that one House bank user was more than $92,000 overdrawn at one point. The list was confirmed by The Associated Press.

"This is a sad and embarrassing chapter in this institution's history. We cannot deny it," said Rep. Mike Synar, D-Okla.

The disclosure resolution passed easily only after Democratic leaders abandoned their efforts to halt the revelations with the release of the names of the 24 worst offenders. As recommended by the ethics committee, the others would have been free to obtain and release their records - or not.

But Republicans insisted on exposing all the offenders and, feeding on public discontent with congressional perks, charged there was a coverup underway.

Under the resolution, the list of 24 labeled "abusers" - 19 current House members and five former members - will be officially released within 10 days. The rest of the list will be released 10 days later.

In addition to calling for release of the names, the House approved a report which sharply criticized the way the bank was run.

The ethics committee report said Sergeant at Arms Russ misused his office by cashing his own bad checks at the bank and failing to carry out reforms designed to end the abuses.

Some members were threatening a House debate and vote on whether to fire Russ, but he quit first.

Russ did so in writing. He is recovering from a gunshot wound to the face that he says was inflicted by robbers near the Capitol earlier this month.

While the House was wrestling with the check-kiting resolution, the Senate interrupted its debate on taxes to pass 95-2 a resolution making clear that it had no institution like the House bank - nor would it in the future.

Group wants term limits on agenda Clinton treads lightly for votes

AUSTIN (AP) - A spokesman for Gov. Ann Richards says it's doubtful she will open the upcoming special legislative session's agenda to a proposal that would limit terms of Texas politicians.

Texas for Term Limits asked Richards on Thursday to allow consideration of such a constitutional amendment.

Public opinion polls, signatures on petitions and results of a Republican Party referendum in Tuesday night's balloting all show strong support for the idea, said Rob Moshbacher, the group's co-chairman.

"There is, governor, a tremendous level of frustration with government in Austin and Washington among voters," Moshbacher wrote to Richards.

"They want the system changed and they see term limits as the first, best step toward reform," he said.

Richards has indicated that she plans to call the Legislature into special session later this year to again try to write a constitutional school finance law.

The Texas Supreme Court has struck down the finance system three times in recent years.

Governors, who control the agendas for special sessions, can limit the topics lawmakers may consider.

The governor's press secretary, Bill Cryer, said Richards has voiced support for the idea of term limits but isn't likely to include it on the agenda. The next regular legislative session begins in January 1993.

"Special sessions generally are reserved for the issue that they're called for. If you open them up to a lot of issues, especially controversial ones, then issues like school finance tend to get scrambled," Cryer said. "We want to concentrate on quality in education and school finance," he said.

Moshbacher's group favors a state constitutional amendment that would limit most statewide officeholders, legislators and congressmen to eight years, U.S. senators to 12 years and Railroad Commission members to one six-year term.

A non-binding ballot referendum in Tuesday's GOP primary found 86 percent approval for term limits, with 475,956 in favor and only 80,168 opposed. Democratic Party officials declined to put the question on their ballot.

Moshbacher said those votes reflected wider public sentiment.

WARREN, Mich. (AP) - The man whose message was carefully crafted with Macomb County and its Reagan Democrats in mind methodically ticked off his proposals for economic growth, job training, college access and welfare reform.

Then Arkansas Gov. Bill Clinton dropped his voice a notch and said he had one final topic to discuss: race relations.

With but three blacks among the approximately 150 people in the community college auditorium, it appeared the wrong message for the audience, given past studies showing many of these so-called Reagan Democrats abandoned the party because they believed its social policies too heavily favored minorities.

"I do not believe we have any hope of doing what we have to do in America unless we come together across racial lines," Clinton said Thursday. "The problems are not racial in nature. This is a crisis of economics and values. It has nothing to do with race."

Many of the television cameras were from Detroit stations, so Clinton's appeal for unity likely was seen by the inner-city blacks he is counting on in Tuesday's Michigan primary - even more so now that it appears the state's labor vote is up for grabs.

As he looks to win the Midwest, Democratic front-runner Clinton is trying to assemble the same biracial coalition that gave him huge victories across the South over former Massachusetts Sen. Paul Tsongas and former California Gov. Jerry Brown.

As he tries, he is testing the very premise of his candidacy: that he can not only win support from blacks but also from suburban blue-collar whites.

After Walter Mondale's 1984 defeat, Democrats began research here in Macomb County into why blue-collar, middle-class voters were defecting in national elections - earning the name Reagan Democrats.

When pollster Stanley Greenberg came to Warren in 1985, many disaffected Democrats said they were tired of seeing tax dollars spent on giveaways to minorities. Many said they moved out of the city they equated with blacks, crime and drugs.

But Thursday, Clinton's audience rose to its feet after he ended his appeal for racial unity by saying, "I can't change the country unless the American people are willing to be Americans again."

Greenberg said it's unclear whether a large number of Reagan Democrats will vote on Tuesday, but he predicted a moderate Democratic nominee could bring many back into the Democratic fold in the fall.

ELECTION '92

Hoping to stop Clinton from steamrolling, Tsongas and Brown are working harder for black support than they did in the South, although the principal battleground between the three so far has been for the labor vote left without a natural candidate since Iowa Sen. Tom Harkin quit the race.

Leaders of a dozen industrial unions that were backing Harkin met Thursday in Washington, deciding not to endorse for now, although some locals were backing Brown.

"I do not believe we have any hope of doing what we have to do in America unless we come together across racial lines," Clinton said Thursday. "The problems are not racial in nature. This is a crisis of economics and values. It has nothing to do with race."

Brown has been heavily courting the union vote, mixing his pitch with attacks on both Clinton and Tsongas.

On Thursday, he called Clinton "the slipperiest, slickest talker I have every run up against."

Brown's remark was reflected in an ABC News Poll that showed four in 10 Americans - including three in 10 Democrats - said they were not satisfied that Clinton has the honesty and integrity to be president. The network poll's margin of error is plus or minus 4 percentage points.

The overnight poll of 781 Americans found 39 percent had a favorable impression of Clinton and 31 percent view him unfavorably.

Tsongas kept the heat on Clinton, too, saying the Arkansas governor had a lousy labor record in Arkansas.

Although Tsongas had a solid labor voting record in Congress, his opposition to legislation banning permanent replacements of strikers alienated many union leaders.

On the Republican side, challenger Patrick Buchanan campaigned at Chicago's Croatian Cultural Center and for a moment, seemed to dismiss his "America First" theme.

"If I am nominated and I am elected, Patrick Buchanan will be the first president of the United States to make a visit to the free and independent state of Croatia," he said.

Money launderers caught in sting

McALLEN, Texas (AP) - Federal authorities posing as gun and drug smugglers have smashed an international money-laundering operation suspected of hiding millions of dollars in illegal profits. Eleven people were arrested Thursday on 25 indictments stemming from a scheme involving Mexican money exchange houses and South Texas banks. The arrests highlighted a problem common along the border, where the proximity of U.S. and Mexican financial institutions facilitates laundering operations, officials said. "I think this is the tip of the iceberg and I think you'll see more activity," said Dan Walker, resident agent in charge of U.S. Customs in McAllen. Undercover agents have been working on the case since July 1989. The operation began after agents in the Rio Grande Valley became aware that up to $7 million in cash was being brought into the country each week, said John Hensley, assistant commissioner of U.S. Customs Service for enforcement in Washington. Undercover officers posed as drug and gun smugglers and successfully laundered $1.2 million in government sting money through Casas de Cambio (money exchange houses) in Monterrey, Mexico. The exchange houses produced wire transfers to U.S. bank accounts that allegedly came from Mexico. Assistant U.S. Attorney David Novak told a news conference that U.S. bank executives charged a fee for the transactions, usually 3, 4 or 5 percent of the amount being laundered. Novak said that in most cases, exchange house officials contacted the undercover agents about moving the money. Three South Texas bank executives were arrested on their jobs Thursday. Officials of five of the largest money exchange houses in Monterrey were also named in the indictment.

HTFCU elects new director

The 55th annual meeting of Hereford Texas Federal Credit Union was held Thursday night at Hereford Community Center. Tom Betzen, left, was elected as a new director and Joe Kerr, board president, gave an annual report. HTFCU ended 1991 with total assets of $27,022,843, while loans amounted to $15,890,271. Entertainment at the meeting was provided by cowboy poet Robert Wilhite, and various door prizes were awarded during a drawing.

Authorities also confiscated hundreds of American bank accounts of the Casas de Cambio, two condominiums on South Padre Island and a four-unit apartment complex and a jewelry store in McAllen and 143,500 qualuludes.

The undercover agents had attempted to buy a ton of cocaine and the qualuludes as part of the laundering operation, officials said.

The qualuludes, which were smuggled in from Mexico, were retrieved at the Houston home of one of those arrested, Novak said.

Guillermo Garza-Garza, president and chief executive officer of Lone Star National Bank in Pharr; Juan Gerardo Lopez, assistant vice president of International Bank of Commerce in Laredo; and Margie Villagomez, supervisor of the wire transfer department at First City Texas Bank in McAllen were among those arrested. "The stability of the banks were not affected. The persons arrested and charged from the banks were believed to be acting alone," said U.S. Attorney Ron Wood.

Among others arrested were Rogelio Rodriguez, Jose Antonio Tiquet-Rivera, Francisco Castaneda-Cantu, Cesar Alaniz, Juan Jose Montemayor-Flores, David Torres-Saucedo. Others indicted were Gustavo Gonzalez, Hector Espinoza, Jaime Guerrero, Adan Garza-Garza, Baldomero Garza-Leal and Leonidas O. Gomez.

Cost cutting blamed for book errors

AUSTIN (AP) - Pressure on publishers to cut costs and make a profit is one reason that proposed U.S. history textbooks contained numerous errors, a Texas education official has charged.

But a lawyer representing the Association of American Publishers disagreed, saying publishers have economic incentive to produce quality books.

"Bottom-line profit pressures have caused you to reduce expenses to the point that you are producing shoddy work," State Board of Education member Will Davis of Austin said at Thursday's meeting with publishers.

But Joe Bill Watkins, an Austin lawyer representing the publishers' association, said later, "They (publishers) are in a very competitive business. If they don't produce quality, they get hammered" and risk not being able to sell their books.

"They try to be as perfect as they can," Watkins said. "This has been a very embarrassing situation for everybody ... It's causing some fundamental changes, I think. But they weren't sitting around, in my opinion, saying well, how much money can we save, and hopefully nobody catches us, because that is stupid."

Since U.S. history textbooks proposed for use in Texas schools came under intense scrutiny in November, more than 5,500 mistakes have been identified in them. Publishers must pay $647,100 in fines, with the payment to be made in books.

One of the most cited errors was a statement that the United States settled the Korean conflict by "using the bomb."

Errors found in the sample books will be corrected before they are used in the classroom, emphasized Carolyn Crawford of Beaumont, head of the State Board of Education.

A special board committee authorized a contract Thursday with a U.S. history textbook publisher, the Glencoe Division of Macmillan-McGraw-Hill School Publishing.

Contracts earlier had been authorized with four other publishers for U.S. history books to be used in the 8th grade and high school. The 5,500-error figure was the total for all the books; the number varied among them.

The Ad Hoc Committee on Textbooks asked publishers to submit information at their next meeting on what they have done in response to the number of errors that were found. The panel heard from publishers on how books are put together, and discussed how errors might have occurred.

Davis blamed the mistakes in part on publishers becoming part of large, publicly held holding companies that are expected to meet a particular bottom line.

"I think that when you're in that situation, you try to hold down your expense, and one of the things you hold down expense on is reviewers, and editors, and error-finders," Davis said.

Watkins said many publishers once were privately owned and now many are part of publicly held companies. "But to suggest that they are spending less on quality than they used to is crazy," he said.

Lake desalinization seems nearer

WASHINGTON (AP) - The four-year fight to get federal funds to remove the salt pollution from Lake Meredith - the source of drinking water for 450,000 West Texans - has moved a step closer to resolution.

The Senate Energy Committee agreed to consider legislation authored by Sen. Lloyd Bentsen to eliminate the primary source of salt pollution at the Panhandle lake. The provision, attached to the fiscal 1993 funding bill for the Bureau of Reclamation, should be voted on next week when the committee takes up the appropriation measure for that agency.

Bentsen, D-Texas, has tried since 1988 to obtain authorization for the Bureau of Reclamation to undertake the project. Earlier efforts stalled when the differing House and Senate versions could not be reconciled.

"I'm more confident than at any time since 1988 ... that we're going to win and probably this year," he said.

The Senate legislation is similar to a bill approved by the House last year.

Unless the situation is remedied, the naturally occurring salt could eventually render the water useless for human consumption. Each year, 30,000 tons of salt are added to the water, Bentsen said.

Studies show that 70 percent of salt entering the lake originates in a shallow brine aquifer in New Mexico. The aquifer is under artesian pressure and is leaking into the Canadian River, which feeds Lake Meredith.

A 1985 Bureau of Reclamation report recommended the most cost-effective solution would be to intercept the brine at the source by well pumping and disposal by deep well injection. Cost estimates have ranged as high as $9 million.

Bentsen's legislation would authorize the Bureau of Reclamation to pay for design preparation and construction management, which is an estimated one-third of the total cost.

The Canadian River Municipal Water Authority would be responsible for the remaining two-thirds, including construction, operation and maintenance costs.

Congress would still have to vote separately to appropriate money for the project even if it authorizes Bentsen's legislation.

Communities that depend on Lake Meredith for drinking water include Lubbock, Amarillo, Brownfield, Lamesa, Levelland, Plainview, Slaton, Borger, Pampa, O'Donnell and Tahoka. All 11 cities are members of the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority.

Military Muster

Hereford native, 2nd Lt. Alfonso Limas, son of Irene Limas of 403 Ave. H., recently completed Undergraduate Pilot Training at Laughlin Air Force Base in Del Rio, Texas.

The graduation is a culmination of a year of intense concentrated effort, to achieve the wings of an Air Force pilot. Each member of his class received approximately 190 hours of flying instruction, 56 hours of simulator instruction, and over 500 hours in the classroom pursuing subjects such as instrument flight procedures, applied aerodynamics, air craft systems, and weather. Another third of their time was dedicated to military training activities.

Use of chemical granted

A crisis exemption permitting use of the fungicide Baytan 30 on cottonseed to control black root rot has been granted by the Texas Department of Agriculture. The exemption applies to 36 West Texas counties.

The exemption, under Section 18 of the Federal Insecticide, Fungicide and Rodenticide Act (FIFRA), has been actively pursued by Plains Cotton Growers, with support of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, Texas Agricultural Extension Service and others. It is effective today (Feb. 25) and is good for 15 days, but will be extended with the application for emergency registration is being reviewed by the Environmental Protection Agency.

Seed treated during this period can be planted this spring, said Dr. James Supak, cotton agronomist with the Extension Service.

Black root rot is caused by the fungus Thielaviopsis basicola in the soil, explained Dr. Harold Kaufman, Extension Service plant pathologist. The disease has been verified in several counties of the Texas South Plains and Trans Pecos, and additional counties in these regions are expected to be added to the list this season. Dollar losses from the disease can be substantial, Kaufman said.

Baytan 30 is labelled as a seed treatment on wheat and has been shown effective in controlling black root rot on cotton.

Safer medication use needed

Every day millions of Americans take medications and every day an alarming percentage of them can become ill or die because of adverse drug reactions, medication errors, and other medication mishaps. However, pharmacists in the American Society of Hospital Pharmacists (ASHP) and in hospitals and HMOs across the country are developing innovative quality assurance methods that help to ensure safer medication use.

Medication mishaps can happen to anyone and include such things as having the wrong medication prescribed; taking too much or too little medication; taking two or more medications that may interact; unexpected medication allergies or adverse reaction; and more. The results can be anything from relatively minor discomfort to disability and death. One thing is certain, medication mishaps prolong hospital stays and increase health-care costs.

Pharmacists, as part of carefully planned medication process in

In the United States, about 321,000 companies make about a fourth of the world's manufactured goods, from airplanes to zippers.

American hospitals and HMOs, are one of the best protection against medication mishaps. A recent study reported in the May 2, 1990, Journal of the American Medical Association turned up potentially dangerous mistakes in three of every 1,000 prescriptions written in a large teaching hospital. But perhaps the most important part of the study is the fact that pharmacists successfully detected and prevented the prescribing errors from causing harm! However, the process of controlling medication mishaps is a true collaboration in which no single individual is solely responsible for safety. Instead, the patient and a full crew of health professionals must be integrally involved—working together as a team to ensure the best and safest use of medication.

Pharmacists are medication use experts, uniquely educated to guide patients and other health professionals in safe and effective medication use. They specialize in understanding thousands of drug products and the complex ways each works in the body. And, they know the best ways medication can work for the health and safety of the patient.

Safe medication use for each patient is a pharmacist's first priority. For further information on safe medication use, ask your pharmacist or contact the Public Information Division of the American Society of Hospital Pharmacists, 4630 Montgomery Avenue, Bethesda, Md., 20814.

Homfeld presents program

Members of the Bippus Extension Homemakers Club met March 11 in the home of Juanita Koetting for a luncheon.

President Mariellen Homfeld led the group in game as did Kate Bradley. Homfeld also presented the program entitled "Recruiting New Members."

Club members decided to take handmade crafts to the district meeting in Amarillo and Koetting reported making chair covers for the E.B. Black House. She also spoke about assisting at the Deaf Smith County Museum's 25th anniversary celebration held recently.

It was announced that the club is selling tickets for a quilt to be given away at the council meeting. The money will be used for a scholarship.

Others attending were Christine Larson, Louise Hall, and guest, Alta Mac Higgins.

Herd blows out Dalhart, 12-0

By JAY PEDEN
Sports Editor

Hereford's baseball squad started off the Dumas Tournament with a 12-0 drubbing of Dalhart Thursday. It was the Herd's second win in a row, running their record to 2-4-1.

The Herd offense was on-scoring six runs in the third inning—and three pitchers combined on the shutout: Sammy Casarez (three innings), Jake Head (one) and Andy Kalka (two). The Herd defense committed five errors but spread them out.

Hereford got on the board with a run in the top of the second. Tab Hathaway led off with a single. Richard Sanderson pinch ran for him, stole second and scored on Jerry Rincon's double.

The big third inning started with a walk to Casarez. Richard Rodriguez reached on an error and went to second while Jason Tatarevich, courtesy-running for Casarez, went to third. Both came home on Ruben Ramos' single.

Chris Brummett ran for Ramos, the catcher. Richard Sanderson's bunt single put runners on first and third. Jerry Rincon's fly ball plated Brummett, and Head's single scored Sanderson, who had stolen second. Fonzie Enriquez' double scored Head, and Kyle Hansen's single scored Enriquez. Hereford led 7-0.

Hereford got single runs in the fourth and fifth innings. In the fourth, Rene Cano tripled and Rodriguez singled him home. In the fifth, Head singled, stole second, went to third and passed ball and scored on Hansen's ground ball.

The Herd wrapped up the six-inning game with three runs in the sixth. Michael Campos reached on an error, and Ralph Holguin ran for him. Holguin stole second and went to third. Tatarevich walked and stole second to set up Head's two-run double. Enriquez' single brought Head home, finishing the scoring.

Hereford plays the host Dumas Demons at 4 p.m. today. Dumas, 4-2, beat River Road 8-1 on Thursday.

Boys' golf team plays well on 1st day at San Angelo

The Hereford boys' golf team is second in its group after 18 holes of the San Angelo Tournament, Coach Stacey Bixler said. The boys totaled 324 for the first day of the two-day tournament.

Among the 15 schools which played Thursday at Bentwood Country Club, Hereford trails only Plainview, which totaled 323. Tascosa at 330 is in third.

Hereford was led Thursday by Jayson Mines' 75. Mines score was second in the group to the 74 of Plainview's Shawn Savage. Hereford's other individual scores were Kevin Kelso, 81; Cory Newton, 82; Mikel Walser, 86; and David Bone, 89.

The tournament field includes 30 teams. Half the teams start on Bentwood and the other half start at San Angelo Country Club. All teams switch courses for Friday.

The teams which started at San Angelo CC had the seven best scores after the first day. Andrews led with a 311, followed by Lubbock Monterey, 313; Amarillo High, 316; Midland High, 318; Big Spring, 321; Odessa Permian, 323; and Pampa, 323. Midland Lee shot 324.

Because of differences between the two courses, Bixler said it would be unfair to compare a team's score to the score of another team that played at a different course.

Harvesters fall by one in OT

AUSTIN (AP) - A miracle shot, a chance for a miracle season and victories by three teams debuting at the boys state high school tournament highlighted the opening day of the championship.

A record crowd was in attendance Thursday for the Class A, 3A and 4A semifinals at the 72nd annual University Interscholastic League event.

The tourney continues today with the Class 2A and 5A semifinals.

By virtue of victories Thursday, Laneville and Petersburg will meet Saturday for the Class A title while Stafford and Groesbeck will duel in 3A. The 4A clash will pit Georgetown and Dallas South Oak Cliff.

The last semifinal played Thursday proved to be the best as Georgetown downed Pampa 65-64 in overtime.

Georgetown's Matt Shell forced the extra period with a 16-foot jumper with 2 seconds left in regulation.

"I saw the ball on the floor and I knew there were only 8 seconds left when it was shot. I just picked it up, threw it up in the air and fortunately it went in," said Shell, who also scored the winning points in overtime with a pair of free throws.

Pampa's Cedrick Wilbon missed a chance at victory when his jumper with 3 seconds left hit the rim and bounced away. Wilbon also missed two free throws in the last 38 seconds of the fourth quarter.

Glen Senclair led Georgetown (29-8) with 17 points in its final four debut.

Pampa (33-3) saw its season end in disappointment for the second straight year. At last year's tourney, Pampa was ousted in triple overtime by San Antonio Alamo Heights.

The other Class 4A semifinal also was close, but Dallas South Oak Cliff scored seven unanswered points in the last minute to beat Austin McCallum 65-56.

"Our kids did what they were supposed to do down at the end. Our kids hung tough," said South Oak Cliff coach Chris Dyer.

McCallum overcame a 40-26 halftime deficit to lead 54-50 with 3 minutes left in the game. But their comeback stalled just when South Oak Cliff heated up.

"We have nothing to be ashamed of. The sun will rise tomorrow," said McCallum coach Don Caldwell.

South Oak Cliff (33-2), playing in its seventh UIL tourney, will appear in its first final since 1977.

McCallum ended the year 28-9 with its first final four game since 1966.

The appearance of Central Texas teams Georgetown and Austin McCallum helped sell a first-day record 28,253 tickets at the Erwin Center.

Even more fans may show up Saturday to watch what could be the miracle team - Class 3A's Groesbeck, the only undefeated team left in the state and another team in its first state tournament.

The 18-0 Goats have played fewer games than any other team because they didn't start the season until after their football team finished - with a state title.

Should the basketball team also win the crown, it would be only the second double-championship school year by a Texas team. Dumas in 1961-62 holds the lone honor.

Groesbeck was led to its 70-60 victory over Clarksville (26-10) by Brandon Bennett and Lenoy Jones, both of whom also are football stars. Bennett scored 23 points and grabbed 12 rebounds, while Jones had 22 points and 11 boards.

Stafford defeated Clint 58-52 in the other Class 3A semifinal, but the Spartans had to withstand a 19-3 fourth-quarter run by the Lions.

Clint (25-8) was making its final four debut, while Stafford (29-8) was trying to erase the memory of a 97-52 loss to Jefferson in last year's semifinals.

In Class A, Petersburg enjoyed its tournament debut by defeating Weatherford Brock 77-62.

Tim Fox helped the Buffaloes (29-4) cruise into the finals by scoring eight of his 16 points during an early fourth-quarter run.

Fox also grabbed a game-high 16 rebounds. Doug Porter scored 14 points and hauled in 10 boards.

John Walker led Brock (30-7) with 16 points and Ernie Enax grabbed 11 rebounds. The Eagles were making their first tourney appearance since 1973.

Laneville earned a spot in its first title game since 1952 by defeating Dime Box 84-72.

The Yellowjackets, making only their second appearance since 1956, are 36-1. The Longhorns, another first-time semifinalist, finished the year 31-6.

Palmer finds confidence at 3rd

PORT CHARLOTTE, Fla. (AP) - Put yourself in Dean Palmer's place.

You are a minor league, homer-hitting hotshot and you've made it possible for the Texas Rangers to trade one of the most popular players in their history.

Then, after Steve Buechele is dished off to the Pittsburgh Pirates, you go into a deep hitting slump and make three errors in one game. You hear boos in your sleep.

"It's real tough following a legend," Palmer said. "Steve knows how tough it is. He had to follow one (Buddy Bell), too. Steve told me what to expect. He helped me a lot."

This spring Palmer has looked like the player he wasn't in Arlington Stadium where he hit .160 against right-handed pitching and boxed around grounders at third base. He became the first Ranger ever to strike out five times in one game.

This spring you see a relaxed Palmer.

He's hit several homers, one a tremendous opposite field blast, and played errorless ball afield. Palmer looks like the guy who hit 22 homers for Oklahoma City.

"I feel more confident now and I'm having a better time," said the 23-year-old Palmer. "I'm relaxed now and having a good time."

Texas general manager Tom Grieve has noticed the change.

"We may have been a little unfair to him last year when we put him in leftfield," Grieve said. "We needed his bat in the lineup but he just wasn't ready to play the outfield. I think it hurt him when he moved to third base. Dean was a little shellshocked with the added pressure of replacing Buechele. This year Dean will be relaxed and go about his business."

Palmer said knowing the job belongs to him as spring training begins means everything.

"I've worked hard on my defense and I'm trying to hit the ball to all fields instead of pulling the pitches all the time," Palmer said. "I think I'll hit for more of an average. I've seen a lot of pitchers in the league now and that always helps. I've got to learn not to swing at bad pitches."

Manager Bobby Valentine said it was too bad Palmer had to break in the way he did.

"It was a tough introduction to the Rangers, but you can see he is going to be a heckuva third baseman and just an outstanding hitter," Valentine said. To illustrate the point against Baltimore in an exhibition game, Palmer charged the ball on a drag bunt, fielded it barehanded and threw the runner out. Buechele or Bell couldn't have done it better.

Palmer is something of a spring training legend. His teammates figure in the last three years he's hit some 25 homers during the spring.

"They call me the Babe Ruth of the spring," Palmer said. "I just hope it carries over into the regular season."

Palmer added "the adjustments I need to make to major league baseball are mental. I think the tools are there."

In spring training at least, Palmer has found some peace.

But it's ironic that on the Pittsburgh Pirates exhibition visit to Charlotte County Stadium, you guessed who hit a homer.

The Buechele shadow is a long one for young Palmer.

Penders: Texas a top team with Cambridge

DALLAS (AP) - Tom Penders is making no bones about it. Arkansas may be gone, but Dexter Cambridge is back, and so are his Texas Longhorns.

"Without Dexter, we're probably a bubble team or an NIT team. With Dexter, we're a Top 25 team," said Penders, whose team struggled during his star forward's 16-game absence this year.

The Longhorns went 10-6 without Cambridge, but are 9-2 since his return, emerging as the top seed in the Southwest Conference Post-Season Classic, which begins today at Reunion Arena.

"With Dexter in the lineup," boasted Penders, "I don't think there's any team in the country we couldn't beat."

The Longhorns (21-10) face eighth-seeded Texas A&M (6-21) today.

In other first-round games, Texas Tech (14-13), with SWC Player of the Year Will Flemons, faces fourth seed Rice (20-10); No. 2 Houston (22-5) plays No. 7 Southern Methodist (10-17); and third-seeded Texas Christian (21-9) faces sixth-seeded Baylor (13-14).

It's the first SWC Post-Season

Classic since the departure of three-time defending champion Arkansas to the Southeastern Conference.

Cambridge, a senior, was suspended by the NCAA for 63 days after it was revealed he had accepted a $7,000 graduation gift from a booster at Lon Morris Junior College, where he led the nation with a 33.4 scoring average and 11 rebounds a game in 1990. Several appeals won his reinstatement after he repaid a portion of the money.

Cambridge has averaged 23.3 points and 7.9 rebounds since returning, and has once again become the Longhorns' physical and psychological edge.

Their field goal shooting has jumped from 38 percent to 50 percent and their 3-point success has gone from 24 percent to 45 percent.

"He's a great scorer, a great offensive rebounder, and a physical presence out there that the other team has to focus on. And what that does is makes our great guards that much more effective," Penders said.

"He's a go-to guy who will pass it out when he's covered. And he draws so much attention that everybody else has easier shots."

But Penders said he wasn't predicting any easy time for his Longhorns, even with Cambridge.

"The league is stronger from top to bottom," he said. "It's always been top-heavy with Arkansas, Texas and Houston and then a bunch of average teams. This year, we've got four or five teams that could get into post-season play."

"I wouldn't be shocked to see Rice, TCU, Baylor, walk through this."

The SWC has four 20-game winners for the first time in history.

Penders said he sees only better days ahead, with high school talent increasingly staying in state and the league attracting bright young coaches like Tony Barone at Texas A&M and James Dickey, who led Texas Tech to more victories this year than in the two previous seasons combined.

"Our only drawback is that we're limited to the state of Texas," said Penders. "And it's hard to get people in Chicago, LA, New York and the ACC country to respect our league because we don't get that much exposure."

"But in time that will come and it comes in the NCAA tournament," Penders added. "I have a feeling that our teams will do very well this year, as they have in the last three NCAA tournaments."

Lady 'Horns hope to avenge loss to Tech

DALLAS (AP) - Texas, which has suffered only one loss in the 10 years of the Southwest Conference Women's Post-Season Basketball Tournament, has a chance to make amends for that loss in this season's title game.

The No. 2-seeded Lady Longhorns, 21-8 and ranked 22nd in the nation, will meet the team that beat them in last year's semifinal, 15th-ranked Texas Tech (25-4), in Saturday afternoon's championship game.

Coach Marsha Sharp's Lady Raiders beat Texas, winners of the first eight post-season classics, 63-60 a year ago. Tech and Texas split their regular-season meetings this season, each winning at home, as the Lady Raiders captured their first league championship.

"I think it will be a great game," Sharp said. "We are excited that we are getting to play in it. I think a couple of things that we need to do will be to handle their pressure defense and control Cinietra Henderson."

Henderson, the All-SWC center, lifted the Lady Horns over 19th-ranked Houston in Thursday's semifinals, 70-60, with 26 points and 15 rebounds. Houston (22-7) led at halftime, 30-25, despite having only eight players in uniform.

"That was a very intense ballgame, as hard-fought a game as I've been involved in a long time," said Texas coach Jody Conradt.

"I think this game was a reflection of the first half of our season," Conradt said. "We turned it around in the second half, just like our season. We just got into the flow, and Nekeshia (Henderson, who had six assists) and her quickness helped us push the ball up the floor."

"I'm very proud for us to be where we are at this point of the season," Conradt added, "regardless of who we're playing."

SWC Player of the Year Sheryl Swoopes led Tech with 26 points and nine rebounds despite the obvious effects of a cold. Forward Terec McMillan added 15 points and nine rebounds.

Sharp went to a small, quick lineup to shut down SMU guard Suzanne McAnally after she scored 10 points in a 12-2 run that put the Lady Mustangs (17-12) ahead 19-15. With guards Noel Johnson and Stephanie Scott silencing McAnally, and Tech double-teaming center Vicki Walterscheid, SMU made only two of 13 shots in the last 11:52 of the first half, and Tech took a 38-31 lead.

Walterscheid fouled out with 14 points and 11 rebounds after getting career highs of 29 and 18 against Texas A&M Wednesday.

"We feel very fortunate to win," said Sharp. "We shut down their perimeter play and limited Walterscheid, considering that (starting center Jennifer) Buck sat on the bench with foul problems."

SMU coach Rhonda Rompola said she will not know until Sunday if the Lady Mustangs are invited to the women's National Invitation Tournament.

"I feel our chances are good that we will get to play in Amarillo," said Rompola.

UCLA edges Arizona; clinches Pac-10 tie

By The Associated Press

While most major conferences hold their postseason tournaments, the Pac-10 and Big Ten are still playing meaningful regular-season games.

Eighth-ranked UCLA clinched a tie for the Pac-10 title Thursday night by beating No. 2 Arizona 89-81. The Bruins can win the outright championship on Saturday if they beat Arizona State or Southern Cal loses to Arizona.

"We've got to beat Arizona State," UCLA coach Jim Harrick said. "We don't want to tie. ... We've got to get our emotions under control and play another ballgame."

No. 10 Southern Cal, which beat Arizona State 81-66 Thursday night, can gain a share of the league title with a win over Arizona and a UCLA loss to Arizona State.

UCLA is 24-4 overall and 15-2 in the league, while Southern Cal is 22-5 and 14-3. Arizona is 24-5 and 13-4. In the Big Ten, fourth-ranked Indiana routed Wisconsin 66-41 to regain a share of the league lead with Ohio State.

Indiana and Ohio State are both 14-3 in the conference. Ohio State ends its regular season at Minnesota on Saturday, while the Hoosiers finish against Purdue on Sunday.

Indiana beat Wisconsin despite shooting a season-low 35 percent from the field. The Hoosiers made up for it by hitting 26 of 29 free throws.

"Our shooting remains a tremendous puzzle for us," coach Bob Knight said. The Big Ten, Pac-10 and Ivy League are the only conferences that don't use a postseason tournament to determine their automatic bids to the NCAA tournament. In those three leagues, the regular-season champion gets the automatic berth. Princeton already has won the Ivy League title.

No. 22 Massachusetts earned its first NCAA bid in 30 years Thursday night by beating West Virginia 97-91 to win the Atlantic-10 tournament.

Maryland beat Clemson 81-75 in the opener of the Atlantic Coast Conference tournament, while Boston College downed Providence 78-68 and Miami upset Pittsburgh 83-71 in the first round of the Big East tournament.

In Southeastern Conference openers, Vanderbilt clobbered Mississippi State 77-55, Georgia beat Mississippi 85-66 and Tennessee topped South Carolina 70-63. Ole Miss coach Ed Murphy announced his resignation immediately after the loss to Georgia.

Memphis State beat Alabama-Birmingham 79-67 and Marquette downed St. Louis 74-63 in the opening round of the Great Midwest tournament, while Weber State defeated Idaho State 92-74 and Idaho beat Boise State 75-56 in the Big Sky.

In the Midwestern Collegiate tournament, Butler advanced with an 87-70 victory over Detroit and Loyola, Ill., eliminated Dayton 83-73.

Texas-El Paso, BYU and New Mexico won their openers in the Western Athletic Conference tournament. Texas-El Paso edged Colorado State 66-65, BYU blasted Air Force 72-51 and New Mexico beat Wyoming 89-83.

The other WAC game, Utah vs. Hawaii, was postponed after Hawaii coach Riley Wallace collapsed at courtside and was rushed to a hospital.

Wallace, 50, was in good condition at Poudre Valley Hospital in Fort Collins, Colo., where he was expected to stay overnight.

"He's conscious, he's alert, he's oriented," said hospital spokesman Mike Vogl. "He doesn't appear to be in a life-threatening situation ... We simply don't know what happened to him."

Wallace collapsed with Utah leading 4-0 and 18:15 left in the first half. The game will resume today at that point.

Atlantic-10

At Amherst, Massachusetts opened a huge 34-9 lead and then held off West Virginia to win the tournament.

Harper Williams scored 18 points for the Minutemen, who made 14 of their first 20 shots from the field. Loe Roe and Jim McCoy each added 17 points for Massachusetts (28-4). Pervires Green led West Virginia (20-11) with 21 points.

Atlantic Coast

At Charlotte, Walt Williams scored 38 points as Maryland won the first elimination game in ACC tournament history. The Terrapins (14-14) will play top-ranked Duke in Friday's quarterfinals.

with Mel Phillips

The much-ballyhooed public meeting conducted by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department March 2 was a huge success with a standing room crowd of more than 100 concerned citizens. The meeting had to be moved from the commissioners court to a bigger courtroom. TPW surely was impressed with the number of interested taxpayers.

Most were there to talk about the fishing conditions at Lake Meredith, but several avid hunters were there to get some answers on proposed changes in the 1992-93 hunting regulations.

The most interesting exchange on hunting concerned the proposal to keep bowhunters from carrying firearms. The best logic of the night was that the international signal of distress is three gun shots, not three arrows flying in the air.

For the fishermen, it was a night of a small victory and several disappointments.

Great news for local fish--After conducting cove kills as recently as the summer of 1991, TPW regional biologist Joe Kraai of Canyon promised that "no cove kills are scheduled for Panhandle lakes in 1992." Upon hearing the good news, that great stone face, Playa Pete, almost smiled. It took six months to get that answer from Mr. Kraai.

TPW disclosed that the proposed slot limit protecting smallmouth bass will allow an angler to keep only three smallmouth either shorter than 12 inches or longer than 15 inches. The current limit is five, and each must be longer than 14 inches.

Since last fall, Kraai has changed his mind concerning the need to lower the walleye length limit. Minimum size will remain 16 inches at least for another year.

Highlight of the meeting--After testimony from numerous anglers lamenting the fishing conditions at Meredith, up stepped part-time walleye guide Melvin Stovall of Fritch, who claimed that "Lake Meredith is a walleye fisherman's paradise." Melvin backed up his claim with a cooler full of keeper walleyes. It is nice that a guide can catch fish, but it would be better if the average angler, who can't be on the lake twice a week, could share that success.

Final decisions on all fishing and hunting rules will be made by the TPW commissioners at their summer meeting. New rules will be effective Sept. 1.

Summary--Sadly, TPW rejected all suggestions from the public on the need to improve fishing in the Panhandle. They continue to ignore the facts: local bass, walleye and striper anglers are being forced into spending their money in New Mexico, Oklahoma or down-state.

Next week--I interview Mr. Walleye, Melvin Stovall.

Mel Phillips is an avid hunter, a tournament fisherman and host of a Wednesday evening talk show on KGNC-radio (710 AM). He is also an award-winning member of the Texas Outdoor Writers Association.

Walker's steals kill Warriors

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) - Joe Dumars stole the show and Darrell Walker made the two critical steals that stopped the Golden State Warriors and ruined Don Nelson's 2,500th NBA game.

Hiding far down in the box which showed off Dumars' career-high 45-point effort that played a huge role in the Detroit Pistons' 119-112 victory over Golden State Thursday night were Walker's key defensive plays.

"The two turnovers in the fourth quarter were critical," the Warriors' Tim Hardaway said. "That put them up by 10, and that was the ballgame."

The Warriors had stormed back from a 16-point deficit to pull within 96-93 on Chris Mullin's 3-pointer with 7:05 to play when Billy Owens rebounded a missed shot by John Salley. As Owens turned upcourt, Walker snuck in behind and took the ball, then fed Salley for a dunk.

"Owens never saw me," Walker said. "Anybody could have done it."

In the night's other NBA games, it was Phoenix 106, Milwaukee 100; San Antonio 104, Houston 98; and Utah 114, Sacramento 103.

Spurs 104, Rockets 98

At San Antonio, Terry Cummings scored a season-high 31 points and Hakeem Olajuwon had his worst offensive night in nearly three years. Olajuwon's streak of games in double figures ended at 199 when he finished with six points, going 2-for-13 from the field. The last time Olajuwon scored fewer than 10 points was in April 1989.

 Classified advertising rates are based on 15 cents a word for first insertion ($3.00 minimum), and 11 cents for second publication and thereafter. Rates below are based on consecutive issues, no copy change, straight word ads.

TIMES	RATE	MIN
1 day per word	15	3.00
2 days per word	26	5.20
3 days per word	37	7.40
4 days per word	48	9.60

If you run ads in five consecutive issues with NO changes, you get the same ad in the Reach 4 More free. The regular charge for that ad would be $4.00

CLASSIFIED DISPLAY
 Classified display rates apply to all other ads not set in solid word lines-those with captions, bold or larger type, special paragraphing, all capital letters. Rates are $4.15 per column inch; $3.45 an inch for consecutive additional insertions.

LEGALS
 Ad rates for legal notices are same as for classified display.

ERRORS
 Every effort is made to avoid errors in word ads and legal notices. Advertisers should call attention to any errors immediately after the first insertion. We will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion. In case of errors by the publishers, an additional insertion will be published.

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

PROPHECY FROM THE JAILHOUSE

AS MOST PROPHETS, JEREMIAH AROUSED THE ANGER OF HIS KING, CONCERNING THEIR ALLIES. THE PROPHET TRADITIONALLY LOOKED TO GOD, AND THE KING USUALLY TO EGYPT OR BABYLON... NEVER THE TWIN SHALL MEET! IN FACT, SO INCENSED WAS HE THAT THE KING PUT JEREMIAH INTO JAIL. EVEN SO THIS DID NOT STOP HIM FROM PROPHECYING. HE CALLED FOR HIS FRIEND BARUCH THE SCRIBE AND IN THE CONFINES OF THE DUNGEON DICTATED HIS PROPHECY WHICH BARUCH INSCRIBED ON LEATHER SCROLLS. JEREMIAH IS PROBABLY THE ONLY BOOK IN THE BIBLE WHICH ACTUALLY COMES TO US FROM BEHIND BARS.

... CONCERNING JEHOIAKIM, KING OF JUDAH - HE SHALL HAVE NONE TO SIT UPON THE THRONE OF DAVID...
