BR Rodeo scheduled for weekend

Youths of all ages are ready for Old West excitement during the 47th Annual Boys Ranch Rodeo, the Panhandle's largest Labor Day weekend event.

More than 100 boys will ride calves, steers, bulls and bareback broncs during performances at 2:30 p.m. each day Sunday and Monday. Area riding clubs and girls from Girlstown, U.S.A. will join the boys for the grand entries. The girls, including daughters of Boys Ranch staff members, will also compete in barrel and flag races.

Boys who do not compete will sell barbecue beef plates, soft drinks and snow cones; provide musical entertainment; or work at one of the many jobs required for a successful rodeo.

While the girls compete for trophies, the boys will vie for belt buckles and the titles of Junior and Senior All-Around Cowboys. Specialty acts will include numerous clown skits, FFA project parades, calf scrambles and stick horse rides featuring the youngest boys and girls.

Many of the 4,000-plus boys who have called Boys Ranch "home" since 1939 will be among the spectators and will participate in the annual Alumni Association reunion activities.

Tickets for the rodeo performances are available for $3.50 for covered, reserved bleacher seats; $2.50 for general admission; and $1 for children ages 6 to 12. Barbecue beef plates will be sold at noon each day for $3.50.

The Boys Ranch Rodeo is the only one of its kind in the nation featuring only boys and girls of all ages as contestants. Much of their reward is hearing appreciative applause from as many as 5,000 fans each day.

For reservations call 372-2341 or write to PO Box 1890, Amarillo 79174.

No work, no money, no nothing

Record number of Americans jobless with no benefits

WASHINGTON (AP) - More than 300,000 out-of-work Americans exhausted their unemployment benefits in July, the highest level in at least 40 years, said a study released today by a group that advocates programs for the poor.

About 318,000 Americans exhausted their regular unemployment benefits in July and were unable to qualify for extended benefits, the Center on Budget and Policy Priorities said.

The study, based on figures from the Labor Department, said the 318,000 was the highest one-month total since the government first began tracking monthly statistics in 1951.

At the current pace, the study said, the number of Americans who run out of jobless benefits this year will exceed any year since the nation's unemployment insurance program was established in the 1930s.

"The problem is likely to remain acute in the months ahead, even if the economy continues to recover," said Isaac Shapiro, who researched the study for the liberal, Washington-based center.

It would take months of rebounding economic activity before the impact is great enough on the jobs market to bring down the number of jobless Americans exhausting benefits, Shapiro said.

In early August, Congress passed a $5.2 billion package to extend unemployment benefits to the long-term unemployed.

The measure, designed to help some of the 1.6 million workers put on unemployment lines by the recession, would have extended jobless benefits for up to 20 weeks beyond the 26-week standard.

But President Bush, noting that Congress offered no way to pay for the benefits, essentially killed the bill by signing it and then using a technical loophole in last year's White House-Congress budget agreement to avoid implementing it.

"The problem is likely to become more acute in the months ahead."

Bush, who made the decision to block the extension of benefits two weeks ago while vacationing in Kennebunkport, Maine, said, "I won't bust the budget" and accused Democrats of playing presidential politics on domestic issues.

Democrats cite the episode as an example of Bush's neglect of domestic issues.

House Majority Leader Richard Gephardt, D-Mo., said Wednesday that when Congress returns from its summer recess Sept. 10, lawmakers will send Bush new legislation to extend unemployment benefits. The new version won't give the president the option of using a loophole in the budget law to avoid implementing the program, Gephardt said.

Under the nation's unemployment system, states with high unemployment rates can qualify, under certain federal conditions, to extend their benefits beyond 26 weeks.

But as of July, only Alaska, Maine, Oregon, Rhode Island, Vermont and West Virginia had an extended benefit program in place, the study said.

South American visitors

A demonstration plot of food corn at the Roy Carlson farm, south of Milo Center, is explained by Noble Keopp, fourth from left, owner-president of Triumph Seed Company which hosted a visit by 37 agricultural producers from Uruguay to West Texas. While in the area, the South American farmers visited a feedyard and farms growing corn, cotton, sorghum and other products.

Texas sues for $1 billion

AUSTIN (AP) - Challenging the 1990 census as inaccurate, Texas is suing the federal government for $1 billion because the money rightfully belongs to Texans, Attorney General Dan Morales says.

Morales filed suit Wednesday in federal court, naming as defendants President Bush, U.S. Commerce Secretary Robert Mosbacher, whose department managed the census, and other cabinet departments spending money on programs in Texas.

"This is not Washington's money or Secretary Mosbacher's money that will be withheld from Texas. This is our money," Morales said.

The lawsuit, which Morales said may be the first of its kind, was filed in U.S. District Court in Brownsville.

The U.S. Census Bureau has estimated that its 1990 count missed more than 5 million people nationwide, including more than half a million in Texas.

Morales said the state estimates that over the next 10 years, Texas will lose more than $1 billion in federal aid to schools, children, the poor, farmers and ranchers, the elderly and others. Many payments are made on a per capita basis and Texas will be shortchanged if the 1990 census isn't revised to record the true number of citizens, he said.

The money is being "collected by the IRS and deducted from the paychecks of working Texas families, many of whom were not even counted in the census," Morales said.

"Just as we paid for this fictional census, we will pay out of our own wallets for the programs that will not be extended to Texas because indifferent bureaucrats in Washington choose to pretend that almost a million Texans do not exist."

The 1990 census estimated a Texas population of 16.9 million. State officials say it should be at least 17.5 million.

Russia, Ukraine bypass Kremlin, sign new treaty

MOSCOW (AP) - The two richest and most populous Soviet republics, Russia and the Ukraine, today announced formation of a temporary military and economic alliance that appears to leave the Kremlin in the cold.

The two republics invited other states "of the former U.S.S.R." to join their alliance, striking a serious blow to Mikhail S. Gorbachev's efforts to regain some semblance of the power he wielded before last week's failed coup.

Declaring the union dead simply "expresses today's reality," said Russian Vice President Alexander Rutskoi, who signed the agreement after meeting in the Lithuanian capital of Kiev with Ukrainian President Leonid Kravchuk.

The agreement amounted to a treaty between emerging independent states.

Soviet lawmakers took part in the meeting but the communique did not mention a future role for the Kremlin or Gorbachev, who had been trying to preserve the Soviet Union with a treaty that promised to shift power to the republics.

But the Soviet president has seen his authority plummet since the failed coup, which was mounted by Communist hard-liners in his own government.

Boris N. Yeltsin is now the ascendant political figure by virtue of his post as elected president of Russia and his defiance of the coup plotters.

He has issued a number of decrees in the coup's aftermath aimed at wresting authority and resources from the central government and placing it in the hands of Russia's leaders.

As Gorbachev struggles to try to regain public faith and restore central authority, the 15 Soviet republics are taking advantage of the disorder to charge ahead with independence drives.

The Ukraine and Byelorussia, which with Russia form the Soviet Union's Slavic heartland, declared independence over the weekend.

After Russia, the Ukraine is considered most important to the survival of any sort of union because of its agricultural bounty and industrial might, its warm water ports and lengthy border with Europe.

Together, the two republics comprise about 65 percent of the Soviet population of about 290 million. Russia possesses the bulk of the Soviet Union's rich natural resources.

In the communique they issued in Kiev early today after more than a day of talks, Ukrainian and Russian leaders said: "It is expedient to form temporary interstate structures with the participation of interested states-subjects of the former U.S.S.R."

The delegations also agreed on the need to reform the Soviet military "and to create a system of collective security."

In addition to the Ukraine and Byelorussia, Moldavia, Georgia and the three Baltic republics have declared outright independence. Russia has not yet taken that step formally, although Yeltsin has been claiming control of property, wealth and military units in Russia since the coup.

Trying to rebuild his government, Gorbachev on Wednesday named Boris D. Pankin as his new foreign minister.

Babbling Brooks

It's almost Sept. 1. That's the day that Texas state employees thought they were getting a three percent raise.

They're not. But the food stamp recipients some of them help are getting a three percent raise. State employees, especially those that help food stamp recipients, are upset to say the least.

A friend of mine who has worked as a food stamp caseworker for three years is mad as heck about the whole system. She's getting out.

She spells out, in no uncertain terms, how frustrating her job can be. Despite the record $59 billion budget, state agencies are facing staff cutbacks. The employees had been promised a raise, but Comptroller John Sharp couldn't find the money for the raise. At the same time, the employees are having more taken out of their check to pay for insurance.

My friend told me some of the frustrations of her job. This week, she had to work with a 31-year-old woman with 11 kids. Another woman, 30, had seven kids.

"Here I am busting my buns to help people, and these people don't want to work," the state employee said. "And we're supposed to tell them about birth control, that maybe they need to take it easy. They don't listen. All they want is their food stamps, and they are getting a raise. The whole thing just ticks me off."

"They're getting a raise because the federal government is giving the program more money. I'm sorry, but that stinks. That's what's wrong with the whole system."

"God, I'm glad I'm getting out."

Stress doubles risk of catching cold

BOSTON (AP) - Hard times may be nothing to sneeze at, but some people may have no choice, according to a study that found those who are stressed-out are more likely to catch cold.

Scientists at the Medical Research Council Common Cold Unit in Salisbury, England, reported today that they exposed volunteers to five cold viruses, and that test subjects who had lost their jobs, ended relationships, experienced sickness in their families or felt overwhelmed by life's challenges were nearly twice as likely to catch cold as those who weren't as stressed-out.

The idea that stress is bad for people's health is nothing new. Those who believe this notion contend that stress weakens the body's resistance to germs.

But until now there has been little proof that people who lead stress-filled lives are more apt to get sick.

Some experts say the carefully controlled cold experiment gives them the evidence.

"It is the first evidence for an association between stress and a biologically verifiable infectious disease," said the study's director, Dr. Sheldon Cohen of Carnegie Mellon University in Pittsburgh.

The study, published in today's New England Journal of Medicine, exposed 394 volunteers to equal doses of five cold bugs.

Typically in such experiments, about 35 percent to 40 percent come down with the sniffles. But in this study, 47 percent of those under the most stress caught colds, compared with 27 percent under the least stress.

"I think it is one of the very best pieces of work ever conducted in this area," said Dr. Janice Kiecolt-Glaser of Ohio State University.

But in an accompanying Journal editorial, Dr. Morton N. Swartz of Massachusetts General Hospital in Boston cautioned against making too much of the findings.

"The size of the effect suggests that the clinical importance of this relation may be limited," he wrote. He also said the study does not propose any easy way to treat or prevent colds.

The researchers calculated a numerical stress level for each volunteer by questioning them about such burdensome events during the previous year as moving, being fired, changing jobs, having a child, getting an abortion, suffering a burglary or experiencing a death in the family.

They also asked the volunteers about whether they had trouble coping with life's demands as well as whether they often felt such dark emotions as anger, depression, nervousness and guilt.

Among the findings: The more stress in people's lives, the more likely they were to become infected with cold viruses.

-Stress increased the chance of catching all five viruses tested.

-Personality differences could not explain the findings, nor could differences in such factors as age, diet, smoking habits, exercise or drinking.

Links between the mind and the immune system - a field called psychoneuroimmunology - have been sought by researchers in recent years.

Some have found that people's disease-fighting blood cells seem sluggish when they are under stress. But they have not clearly linked this suppression of immunity with real illness.

Local Roundup

Five arrested Wednesday

Deaf Smith County sheriff's deputies arrested five persons Wednesday, including two men, 17 and 57, for public intoxication; a man, 30, on a driving while intoxicated warrant; a man, 20, on an assault warrant; and a man, 17, on a violation of probation warrant.

Hereford police fielded several reports Wednesday, including assault by threat in the 200 block of Ave. H; theft of beer from a convenience store; criminal attempt in the 1500 block of Park; criminal mischief to windows in the 300 block of Main; domestic disturbance in the 900 block of 16th; theft of cigarettes from a convenience store; and harassment in the 300 block of Adelito Calle.

Police issued eight citations Wednesday and investigated a minor accident. Hereford volunteer firefighters responded to a trailer house fire just east of N. Progressive Road, northeast of the city. A faulty water heater burned through the floor.

Blood drive is today

The Women's Division of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce will sponsor Coffee Memorial Blood Center today from 4-8 p.m. at the Hereford Community Center.

Donors are asked to use the west entrance of the center. The drive will take place in the lounge area.

Slight chance for rain

Tonight and Friday, partly cloudy with a slight chance of evening and afternoon thunderstorms. Low in the lower 60s. High in the upper 80s. East wind 5 to 15 mph. Chance of rain is 20 percent.

Outlook for Labor Day weekend, a slight chance of afternoon and evening thunderstorms, otherwise partly cloudy. Highs in the upper 80s to lower 90s. Lows in the mid 60s.

This morning's low at KPAN was 63 after a high Wednesday of 88.

News Digest

World/National

MOSCOW - Russia and the Ukraine, the two main Soviet republics, forge a temporary economic and military alliance and invite other "former subjects of the U.S.S.R." to join them. The Kremlin appears to be pushed to the sidelines.

NEW YORK - A poll found seven out of 10 Americans favor U.S. recognition of the independence of the Soviet Union's breakaway Baltic republics - a move President Bush has so far resisted.

WASHINGTON - Turmoil in the Soviet Union has raised genuine concern about the future of its nuclear arsenal, but some U.S. weapons experts say fears that the Ukraine or other republics might take the nuclear reins probably are exaggerated.

WASHINGTON - The discovery of an empty crack cocaine vial in the operator's cab of a wrecked New York subway train is lending new urgency to the push by federal transportation officials for uniform drug and alcohol testing of mass transit workers.

NEW YORK - A subway motorman who passengers said took a train on a hurtling, white-knuckle ride before it crashed, killing five people, was charged with manslaughter for allegedly running the train while drunk.

WASHINGTON - More than 300,000 out-of-work Americans exhausted their unemployment benefits in July, the highest level in at least 40 years, according to a study released today by a group that advocates programs for the poor.

BOSTON - Stress can double your risk of coming down with a cold, scientists said today.

Texas

AUSTIN - Challenging the 1990 census as inaccurate, Texas is suing the federal government for $1 billion because the money rightfully belongs to Texans. Attorney General Dan Morales says. Morales filed suit Wednesday in federal court, naming as defendants President Bush, U.S. Commerce Secretary Robert Mosbacher and other cabinet departments spending money on programs in Texas.

HOUSTON - Attorneys for Wanda Webb Holloway today will continue trying to discredit testimony from her former brother-in-law about a murder-for-hire plot designed to give her daughter a better chance of making the cheerleading squad.

AUSTIN - Gov. Ann Richards said she expects her new appointee as chairman of the state parole board to have a "dramatic impact" on reducing the early release of violent criminals. "Texans are fed up and they are angry with the spectacle of violent criminals being released from prison after serving only a portion of their sentence," Richards said in announcing Jack Kyle's appointment Wednesday.

CORPUS CHRISTI - The next stop for Greyhound Lines Inc. will be decided by a U.S. bankruptcy judge. After final testimony and arguments Wednesday, Judge Richard Schmidt said he would decide within a few days whether to confirm the company's $600 million restructuring and end its 15-month stay in his court.

HOUSTON - Four Mexican and Colombian nationals remain jailed today after federal agents seized $1 million in cash, four luxury vehicles, cellular phones and weapons from a palatial Fort Bend County home in a raid authorities say busted a major drug money laundering operation.

SAN ANTONIO - A Romanian athlete defecting to the United States is looking for work and hopes eventually to attend an American university, said a Romanian-born woman who is helping him. For now Bogdan Vladu, 23, who is trained as a mechanic, is willing to cut grass or do a variety of jobs while seeking political asylum.

SAN ANTONIO - A judge has ordered a Bexar County elections clerk to commute to work from the county jail for 60 days after he pleaded guilty to a ninth drunken-driving charge.

NORFOLK, Va. - A doctor said two men and a pregnant Texas woman were in surprisingly good health following a 10-day ordeal in a life raft after their sailboat sank in the Atlantic Ocean.

MISSION - Authorities seized $1.7 million in gold and cash, believed to be the largest such find in Texas, during a routine drug bust in a quiet, middle-class neighborhood.

OAK RIDGE, Tenn. - Environmental concerns dominated the afternoon session of an Energy Department public hearing on the nation's next generation of nuclear power plants. DOE officials here are proposing to accept plutonium fabrication work now done at the Rocky Flats plant near Denver, plus the weapons assembly work done at the Pantex Plant near Amarillo.

Atheist can't sue judge, court rules

NEW ORLEANS (AP) - A Texas judge who violated an atheist juror's constitutional rights still cannot be sued by the woman, according to a federal appeals court ruling.

The 5th U.S. Circuit Court ruled Wednesday that judges can't require atheist jurors to swear an oath or any other religion-based promise that might violate their beliefs.

But the panel also said in a 2-1 ruling that the Judge Guy Herman of Travis County, Texas was immune to a lawsuit by a woman who is both the grand-daughter and adopted daughter of noted American atheist Madalyn Murray O'Hair.

Robin Murray O'Hair and others filed three lawsuits when Herman found O'Hair in contempt and jailed her for refusing to swear an oath or otherwise promise to tell the truth when she was called for jury duty in Austin.

O'Hair was released on bond after six hours of detention and Herman subsequently commuted her sentence to the time served.

In one of the lawsuits, a district court and an appeals court in Texas refused to throw out the contempt citation.

In another, a U.S. District Court and 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals refused to stop Texas from calling atheist jurors and then excluding them from jury duty for refusal to take a "God" oath or any similar promise.

In the third lawsuit, decided Wednesday by the 5th Circuit, O'Hair and an organization known as the Society of Separationists Inc. sought both damages from Herman and a class-action relief "on behalf of all individuals whose religious convictions precluded them from taking the juror oath."

O'Hair and the society appealed when U.S. District Judge Walter S. Smith dismissed the society as a plaintiff, declared Herman and other defendant court officials immune from liability and threw out the suit without a hearing.

On Wednesday, the 5th Circuit reinstated the society as a plaintiff, upheld the dismissal of all other court officials except Herman and, in granting declaratory relief to O'Hair, found that Herman did violate O'Hair's constitutional privilege.

But it also agreed that Herman was immune from being sued and that no injunction should be issued.

The 2-1 majority said Herman should have fashioned a generic statement "of commitment to truth and integrity in the jury box and the jury room, and to do everything that would make for absolute integrity."

"It is written that one need only 'render... unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's. Among those things are jury service and truthful testimony," said the majority opinion by Chief Judge Charles Clark of Jackson, Miss., and Judge Irving Goldberg of Dallas.

"But in assembling juries and in seeking the truth, Caesar's judiciary is constrained by the Constitution. While black-robed centurions may exact some pledge of veridicality, they may not require a protesting citizen to utter what is to her, an expression of religious faith."

In dissenting, Judge Will Garwood of Austin objected to the declaratory relief granted O'Hair and said it seemed that she came into court in a confrontational mood.

"There is no showing that O'Hair ever made anything other than a generic objection to the entire affirmation process," wrote Garwood. "Most significantly, O'Hair never informed Judge Herman, expressly or implicitly, that she was willing to formally make to him any sort of express declaration of personal commitment to tell the truth or that whatever questions would be propounded to you, that you will give true answers."

"Nor is there any indication that Judge Herman took advantage of or tricked O'Hair. On the contrary, Judge Herman was patient and engaged in dialogue with her, and did not cut her off; she was obviously prepared for the occasion and was represented by counsel."

Changes are made by firm

Frona Industries, L.P., headquartered in Amarillo, announced changes in management positions in its feeding division on Wednesday.

William S. Wehrbein has been named Manager-Special Projects and Quality Assurance for the division. Wehrbein has served as manager of Randall County Feedyard, FI's largest commercial feeding facility near Amarillo, for the past eight years. Wehrbein is serving on the Regulatory Committee of the Texas Cattle Feeders Association and the Grading and Labeling Committee of the National Cattlemen's Association.

Wehrbein will be responsible for projects at all four commercial feeding facilities in the Texas Panhandle and will be located in Amarillo.

Kevin Thompson has been named manager of Randall County Feedyard. Thompson has 10 years of feedyard management experience with top positions at facilities in Texas and California, and experience in the commercial production and feeding of lightweight calves at a large dairy calf facility in California. Thompson assumes his duties at Randall County on Sept. 9.

Health officials investigating births of babies without brains

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) - Health officials investigating the high number of babies born without brains in Cameron County are trying to determine if the births have a common denominator.

The latest anencephalic baby was born earlier this month at the Brownsville Medical Center, officials said Wednesday. It was the 10th recorded incident of the rare disorder in South Texas this year.

Babies suffering from anencephalia are born with all or part of their brains missing. They are stillborn or die within hours of being delivered.

Statistically, there is one anencephalic birth in every 10,000. The Lower Grande Valley this year is expected to register one for every 6,000 to 8,000 births, according to Texas Department of Health statistics.

Health officials want to know if the births represent an abnormal number of cases for the county or if some of the babies were born to women who crossed over from Mexico, said Dr. Gregg Sylvester, an investigator with the federal Centers for Disease Control in Atlanta.

If the babies were born to Mexican mothers, it would alter the ratio of anencephalic births to normal births because it would include infants that are not technically from Cameron County, he said.

"The CDC are not ready to make the statement that this is a high rate yet," Sylvester said.

The CDC investigation will be completed in about six months.

Sylvester said health officials also are trying to determine what causes the disorder.

"The second part is trying to find a common link between the mothers, so we can say (if) there is a risk factor," he said. "It's not a genetic disease. Babies that have this disorder as well as their parents have normal chromosomes."

Besides the baby born this month, there have been six other anencephalic babies delivered in Brownsville at Valley Regional Medical Center. Three more were born at Harlingen's Valley Baptist Medical Center.

Sylvester said the CDC and the Texas Department of Health have established a surveillance system to monitor anencephalia in South Texas.

Under the system, hospitals must report anencephalic births or any other spinal cord defects to the state health department, which will notify the CDC.

"We expect to keep track of any new births of this nature," Sylvester said. "We're very concerned about this. We hope to find out what's causing it."

Last month, Sylvester traveled to Cameron County to interview the mothers of the anencephalic babies. The women also were asked to complete a 16-page questionnaire.

"Still, we haven't found a common thread," he said.

Researchers hoping for MD breakthrough

NEW YORK (AP) - Scientists said gene injections appear to have partly corrected muscular dystrophy in mice, marking an important step toward the eventual use of genetic therapy for the disease in humans.

Years of research are required before the treatment can be attempted in patients, the researchers said Wednesday.

The findings were reported today in the journal Nature.

The insertion of corrective genes directly into the mice's muscles led to the production of low levels of the key protein that is missing in people with muscular dystrophy, said one of the study's authors, Kay E. Davies of the John Radcliffe Hospital in Oxford, England.

The research was conducted in collaboration with Dr. Jon A. Wolff of the University of Wisconsin in Madison.

"This is the first step in a long series of steps toward the eventual goal of trying to do something therapeutically" in humans, Davies said in a telephone interview.

"It's extremely exciting," said Dr.

Leon I. Charash, chief of the medical advisory committee of the Muscular Dystrophy Association, which helped finance the research. "It's a major step forward. We believe that direct gene therapy is the most exciting way and the most promising way of solving this problem."

One particularly exciting aspect of the research was that the critical protein, called dystrophin, was produced in the heart as well as the skeletal muscles, Charash said.

The Muscular Dystrophy Association holds its major fund-raising event, the Labor Day telethon, Sunday and Monday.

Musical family enjoys singing in local choirs

By DANEE' WILSON
Lifestyles Editor

Cecil and Eunice Boyer of Hereford met doing what they love best: singing. They are still actively involved in community choirs.

Presently Cecil and Eunice are members of the Hereford Senior Citizens' Young At Heart Choir and First Baptist Church Senior Citizen Choir.

"The senior citizens' choir has approximately 50 members and was started around five years ago," said the Boyers. "We provide programs for churches and civil clubs. The choir goes to both of the nursing homes once a month to perform."

Cecil is past president of the HSC choir.

The couple, married for 48 years, met at Progressive in 1930 at a nightly singing.

"The old Progressive building had Sunday morning services and at night we sang for a couple of hours," said Eunice. "That is how we met."

"One of our biggest interests is singing," Cecil said. "We've both enjoyed gospel singing all our lives. We've sang in quartets, trios and duets."

Cecil was recently involved in a quartet which has disbanded due to health problems one member has been experiencing.

When they are not singing, the Boyers are active members in Hereford Senior Citizens.

"We have been members of the senior citizens since 1976," Cecil, who serves as treasurer of the HSC board, said. "The main objective of the HSC is to provide balanced meals for the elderly and to meet their needs every way we can."

When there is work to be done at the center, the Boyers can be found volunteering their time.

"We both volunteer for anything," Eunice, who works in the serving line, said. "Recently we helped sort potatoes that had been donated to the center. We usually put in around 10 hours a week. During the garage sale, we put in 45 hours apiece."

Ask Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB: My wife insists that I use bran to prevent cancer. I have seen ads on TV that also claim fiber prevents cancer. How much of this is hype and how much is fact? How can fiber prevent cancer anyway — if it does?

She also insists that taking vitamins will prevent cancer and is trying to put me on vitamin E and C. Frankly, I'm skeptical. But the worst is she claims my nightly cocktail will cause cancer. I've never heard of alcohol causing cancer. Can you shed some light on this and improve my life?

DEAR READER: Over 20 years ago, Dr. Denis Burkitt, a British surgeon studied the frequency of colon cancer and found that in those populations who consumed a large amount of fiber, colon cancer was almost non-existent.

Since then there has been some controversy about how valid this is, but most authorities agree fiber is important. It is not the only factor affecting the risk of colon cancer. It is clear from recent studies that you can inherit genes that increase your risk. In many instances a combination of genes and environmental factors such as diet are important.

How does fiber decrease your risk of colon cancer? Burkitt emphasized that it speeded the transit of material through the colon, thereby limiting the time the surface of the colon could be exposed to substances that could cause cancer. Another idea is that fiber combines with bile acids to prevent changes that could cause cancer.

Fiber may have an indirect role in preventing several cancers. Individuals who consume foods that contain lots of fiber are likely to have less fat in their diet and less likely to be overweight. It is generally agreed that obesity and high fat diets are an important factor in the risk of several cancers.

Vitamins to prevent cancer is more speculative, but if you consume colored vegetables and fruit that contain beta-carotene, whole cereals and fresh fruit, you should not need supplements, and it is questionable whether they would have a significant effect.

There is much more to food and cancer which I have discussed in Diet and Cancer, which I am sending to you. Others who want this issue can send $3 with a long, stamped (52 cents), self-addressed envelope for it to THE HEALTH LETTER/36-04, P.O. Box 5537, Riverton, NJ 08077.

"The volunteers make the center," Cecil said. "Without the volunteers, the center could not operate. We have over 100 people volunteering."

Among the activities the Boyers enjoy at the center are the yearly trips.

"We aren't going to be able to go this year, but we've gone for several years," Eunice said. "Every trip is good. The fellowship is real good."

"One of the highlights of our trip to New Orleans was the bus breaking down by Baton Rouge," the Boyers remembered. "We always have goodies on the bus and the time seemed to fly by."

"We weren't real worried about the situation, but Margie Daniels was upset," Cecil said. "When we got to New Orleans, the World's Fair was in town and because the senior citizens get a discount the hotel gave our reservations to other guests."

"Margie demanded the hotel find us another place to stay. We finally got to bed around 2 a.m. and had to get up at breakfast by 7 a.m. We didn't get much sleep that night."

When the Boyers aren't at the Senior Citizens, they enjoy playing cards with their friends, both are actively involved with the Gideons and enjoy traveling and being with people.

Lapidary Club discusses trip

The Deaf Smith County Lapidary Club met Monday at the library. Members present viewed films and tumbled rocks and discussed upcoming trips.

Thama Pearson conducted the routine business meeting. The annual trip to Black Mesa State Park in Oklahoma was discussed.

Bud and Lurline Cawthon showed a film on the home and life of Will Rogers. Dale Henson showed tumbled rocks that had been picked up on previous trips.

Dale Henson won the door prize furnished by Weldon Roberson. Hosts were Ruth King, Betty and Dale Henson and Floyd and Juanita Coker.

Those present include Bert Brown, Merle Cawthon, Ruby Mulkey, Roberson, L.D. Combes, Pearson, Cecil Lady, Bud and Lurline Cawthon, Coker, Ezell Sadler, Ralph Packard, Henson and Jack Nunley. The next meeting is set for Sept. 23 at the library.

AC offers Bible class here

The Old Testament prophets will be the subject of a course offered by Amarillo Collage this fall at the Hereford Extension Center.

Taught by Dr. Jim Hickman, pastor of the Dawn Baptist Church, the course will survey the ministry and message of the major and minor prophets. According to Dr. Hickman, the writings of the prophets account for more than one-fourth of the books of the Bible. They greatly influenced the Christian social ethic and view of history.

"What the prophets said about God, redemption, hope and the future is echoed in our hymns, has shaped our devotional literature and given comfort to believers of all ages," Hickman said.

The course, which meets each Monday from 7:30-9:45 p.m. begins Sept. 8 and continues through Dec. 16. Students may take the course for college credit or on a non-credit basis.

The fee for credit is $84 and those taking it as a non-credit course, the fee is $5. Pre-registration ends Sept. 4.

For additional information about enrollment call the adult education office at 364-6591. Those wishing to enroll should come to the Hereford High School cafeteria at 6 p.m. Sept. 4.

Rebekah Lodge met

Hereford Rebekah Lodge #228 met Tuesday and discussed the district meeting recently held in Friona.

Noble Grand Genevieve Lynn reported on the meeting hosted by the Rebekah Lodge #308 in Friona. The informative school of instruction was enjoyed by members from Hereford, Muleshoe and Friona.

Reports were made on sick members and friends. Seventeen visits to the sick, 35 cheer cards, nine dishes of food and four flowers were recorded.

Lynn served as hostess to Susie Curtisinger, Rosalie Northcutt, Anna Conklin, Bess Conklin, Stella Hershey, Sadie Shaw, Leona Sowell, Shirley Brown, Lydia Hopson, Verna Sowell, Gene Bishop, Mary Lou Weatherford, Ocie Bolton, Connie Ivey, Gene Ivey, Ursalee Jacobsen and Faye Brownlow.

Spikers get tough draw in Amarillo

By JAY PEDEN
Sports Editor

The Lady Whitefaces will face some stiff challenges this weekend in the Amarillo Invitational Volleyball Tournament, which starts pool play Friday.

The pool Hereford is in is a tough one. It includes Canyon, which Hereford beat easily Aug. 20, but also includes Pampa and Lubbock Coronado.

Coronado beat Hereford in the championship game of the Lubbock Invitational Saturday. Hereford has not played Pampa, but the Harvesters won the consolation title at the Lubbock tournament. Throw Hereford in there and it appears that one good team is not going to make the winners' bracket.

"That's a possibility," Hereford coach Brenda Reeh said. "This is not a pool we can just sit back and ease our way through.

"Pampa has just gotten better and better," she said, adding that other coaches were saying the Harvesters were showing marked improvement from one match to the next during the Lubbock tournament.

Reeh also said the Lady Whitefaces are looking forward to another shot at Coronado, and has especially been working on what let the Mustangs win last week: defense.

"Our defense was not very consistent. We've focused on defense the last two days (in practice), and will today."

The Lady Whitefaces' first match Friday is against Canyon at 10 a.m. in the Tascosa High School Activity Center. They play Pampa at 2 p.m., then finish Friday with Coronado at 8 p.m.

Games in the winners' bracket will be played Saturday in the Caprock High School Activity Center. The losers' bracket will be played at Tascosa.

Sabatini continues title defense

NEW YORK (AP) - A year ago, Gabriela Sabatini sort of sneaked up on the U.S. Open.

With the attention in women's tennis riveted on the soap opera adventures of Monica and Martina, Steffi and Jennifer, Sabatini simply went about the business of playing her matches.

And the next thing she knew, she had won her first Grand Slam event.

Sabatini took the title from the No. 5 position, the lowest seeding for an Open winner in 22 years. And it meant that the secret was out.

Thrust onto the center court stage Wednesday night, Sabatini defeated Barbara Paulus 6-3, 4-6, 5-1, taking the match when her opponent retired after twisting her left ankle in the last set. It was workmanlike, reminiscent of last year. For Sabatini, however, it is not the same.

"The difference is I am playing much better this year," she said. "You can't compare it. I have improved my game. I play more offensively. I move to the net. I play with more confidence."

Graf and Seles, who won the Australian and French, are seeded ahead of the No. 3 Sabatini here. And both are winning, although Seles had a minor scare when she dropped a set in her 6-0, 4-6, 6-0 victory over Emanuela Zardo on Wednesday. If Seles' fans were worried, she wasn't.

"I was kind of disappointed in myself," she said. "Whenever I play the Open, I go easier in the first-round match as my mind wanders around. That is what happened. I've just got to concentrate a little bit more."

Seles' Grand Slam victories boosted her to No. 1 in the rankings, a pressure position, especially for a 17-year-old.

No. 7 Capriati also advanced with a 6-3, 6-0 wipeout of Petra Ritter in just 42 minutes.

Other seeded women players winning were No. 9 Jana Novotna, 6-2, 6-3 over Peanut Harper; No. 11 Katerina Maleeva, 6-3, 6-4 over Mariaan de Swardt; No. 13 Meskhi, 6-4, 3-6, 6-0 over Laura Gildemeister; and No. 15 Helena Sukova, 6-1, 6-3 over Erika de Lone.

On the men's side, No. 2 Stefan Edberg and No. 5 Ivan Lendl came back from scares the day before to win in straight sets. Lendl took out Patrick Kuhnen 6-3, 6-2, 6-4 and Edberg eliminated Jeff Tarango 6-3, 7-5, 6-0.

"I had to work really hard yesterday to come through," said Edberg, who dropped a set in his first match against Bryan Shelton. "Today was a little bit easier."

Lendl, who had his hands full in a five-set marathon with Richard Krajicek in his first match, had an easier time against Kuhnen. "It was very pleasant and I am definitely happy," he said. "Three sets is close enough."

The men's draw lost its No. 7 seed when Guy Forget lost to Jan Siemerink 4-6, 6-3, 6-2, 7-6 (8-6). No. 9 Sergei Bjogueru was eliminated by Javier Sanchez 7-6, 6-3, 6-0.

Dehydration following a five-set victory in the first round forced Jimmy Brown to withdraw from the tournament and allowed No. 3 Michael Stich to advance. In other matches, No. 12 Goran Ivanisevic defeated Goran Prpic 6-1, 6-3, 6-4 and No. 16 John McEnroe eliminated Martin Laurendeau 6-3, 6-4, 6-2.

Foster wins 3rd world title

TOKYO (AP) - Greg Foster took his third consecutive gold medal in the 110-meter hurdles at the World Championships today, winning a close finish with fellow American Jack Pierce.

Foster, who also won titles in Helsinki in 1983 and Rome in 1987, finished in 13.06 seconds. Pierce had the same time and Tony Jarrett of Britain was third in 13.25. Foster bettered his 1987 meet record of 13.20.

"Jack and I ran a great race," Foster said. "I tried to stay relaxed."

Burrus, Padilla capture roping

Cameron Burrus and Pat Padilla won the open division of a club members only roping held by the Hereford Riders Club Tuesday. It was the fourth consecutive year they captured the competition.

Padilla and Trent Barber also won the junior-senior division. Wes Burns and Charles Ray were second in the open division.

The club will hold their last Playday until spring on Sept. 8. Books will open at 1:30 p.m., and the Playday starts at 2.

I'm 32 now and it really does not get better with age. This was surely the hardest of my three golds."

He's the second triple gold medalist in the history of the championships. Carl Lewis is a three-time winner in the 100.

Sergei Bubka won the pole vault with a meet record 19 feet, 6 1/4 inches. He held the record at 19-2 1/4, which he set in 1987. In what could be his last competition for the Soviet Union, Bubka declined to continue after winning the gold medal.

Istvan Bagyula of Hungary was second at 19-4 1/4 and Maksim Tarasov, also of the Soviet Union, was third at 19-2 1/4.

Antonio Pettigrew, another American, captured the gold medal in the men's 400 with a time of 44.57. It was the United States' second gold of the day and left the U.S. and the Soviet Union tied at six each.

Roger Black of Britain, who led from the start to the last strides, was second in 44.62, and Danny Everett of the United States was third in 44.63.

Tatyana Ledovskaya of the Soviet Union won the women's 400 hurdles as charging American Sandra Farmer-Patrick hit the final hurdle, stumbled and dropped back to fourth place.

Ledovskaya finished in 53.11 seconds, the second fastest ever and a meet record. Sabine Busch set the previous record of 53.62 in 1987, while competing for East Germany.

Tech wrecked in Kickoff game

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) - How bad did it get for Georgia Tech at the Kickoff Classic?

It was so bad that Penn State's run-and-run-some-more offense connected on three touchdown passes in a 3:40 span of the second half on Wednesday night.

It was so bad that the Yellow Jackets, who had 26 turnovers in 12 games last season, had five in one half of their 34-22 loss at Giants Stadium.

It was so bad that All-American safety Ken Swilling ran two plays on offense late in the first half - and went nowhere.

"It's just too bad he couldn't get the job done when he was over there," said Willie Clay, the cornerback whose unit was victimized for five touchdown passes by Nittany Lions quarterback Tony Sacca.

The only ones doing the job were Sacca and the seventh-ranked Nittany Lions, who ended No. 8 Georgia Tech's 16-game unbeaten streak, the nation's longest.

"I don't want to say it was embarrassing, but for most of the guys, our pride was hurt," said Georgia Tech quarterback Shawn Jones, who lost three fumbles and threw an interception.

"We knew we were good, but yet we just about had to eat our words because we wanted to earn respect from this game."

The Nittany Lions showed off a passing attack highlighted by Sacca, who threw for 206 yards on 13 of 24 completions. They also featured a defense which held Tech without a touchdown until 4:40 remained in the game.

"I can't take credit for the five touchdowns," Sacca said. "It's no big deal to me."

"Coming in I thought we would score some points, but I didn't think we would get that many."

Sacca threw scoring passes of 4 and 8 yards to Terry Smith in the first half, before hitting for three strikes in the second, all following turnovers.

Leading 13-3, Sacca found wide receiver O.J. McDuffie for a 5-yard

TD following Jones' fumble. Two plays later, after Matt Baggett's interception, Sacca found McDuffie for a juggling, twisting 39-yard scoring catch.

On the first play after Georgia Tech got the ball back, Jones rolled out but was hit by linebacker Richard McKenzie, forcing a fumble.

The next play, Sacca hit Richard Anderson on a 4-yard screen pass which turned into 52-yard romp through half the Tech defenders.

"We did not have one of our better nights, there's no question about that," Tech coach Bobby Ross said. "We have some problems with our running game. We've got to get better there."

The Yellow Jackets rushed for only 113 yards - and much of that came in the final quarter when they scored three meaningless touchdowns. Jones rushed for a 2-yard score, and backup quarterback Jeff Howard threw touchdown passes of 41 yards to Jason McGill and 25 yards to Greg Lester.

Horns plan work on passing

AUSTIN (AP) - Texas is loaded with six running backs, but football coach David McWilliams said the Longhorns will throw the football in 1991.

Texas, in its 10-2 Southwest Conference championship season last year, averaged 197 yards a game rushing, 201 yards passing.

McWilliams was asked Wednesday on the SWC media tour how he could use "so many good backs," such as Butch Hadnot, Adrian Walker, Phil Brown, Patrick Wilson, Rodrick Walker and Shane Childers.

"You can never be disappointed about having good depth and good experience," McWilliams said. "It's a nice situation to be in. I'd like to have that same situation everywhere."

But McWilliams said, "We still want to throw the football. We're certainly going to throw the football. I think you have to be able to do that nowadays. We're not going to abandon the throwing game."

"Last year, we came in wanting to create a running game. This year, we have experience in the running game, and now we've got to work on the throwing game early in the season. I'd certainly like to be a balanced attack when it's all over."

Offensive leaders Hadnot and Peter Gardere at quarterback look better than ever, McWilliams said, but the Texas defense is showing signs of wear at linebacker.

The Longhorns open their 99th football season Sept. 7 against Mississippi State at Starkville, Miss.

McWilliams said Gardere strengthened his knee over the summer after spraining it in spring training and also seems to have a stronger arm for throwing the football.

"He's really doing things well - checking off, seeing blitzes, throwing the hot route. He has had really a good fall," McWilliams said.

Gardere said, "I want to be a leader this year. I want to be the one that the team can turn to."

Braves claim lead as Dodgers fall to Bucs

By The Associated Press

Look who's No. 1 in the NL West. Atlanta caught Los Angeles on Tuesday and waved good-bye to the Dodgers on Wednesday by taking a one-game lead. The Braves are trying to go from last place to first in the span of a year.

"Back when the Braves had a little dry spell, people were saying reality had set in," Mets manager Bud Harrelson said. "No one's saying that now."

Tom Glavine pitched a four-hitter to beat New York 3-1 and become the major leagues' first 17-game winner.

Glavine (17-8), pitching with a heavily-taped right ankle which he sprained in his last start, struck out four and walked one for his eighth complete game. "I'm starting to feel real comfortable again," said Glavine, the leading candidate for the NL Cy Young Award. "I can't say I'm not going to struggle again this year, but I feel a lot more confident again, like I did before the All-Star break."

The Braves have won six of eight and have an NL-best 31-16 record since the All-Star break. Los Angeles lost 6-4 to Pittsburgh, falling from the top spot for the first time since May 13. The Dodgers are 21-25 since the break.

"I'm not surprised about the Braves," Dodgers manager Tom Lasorda said. "What I'm surprised about is that when they lost Dave Justice and Sid Bream, I thought it would hurt them - and by golly, it didn't."

Glavine was touched for the Mets' only run in the third when Kevin Elster singled to extend his hitting streak to eight games and was sacrificed to second by Frank Viola.

Chuck Carr then drove in Elster with a single.

"That's as good as I've seen him," manager Bobby Cox said of Glavine. "But it seems like I'm always saying that about him."

The Braves went ahead in the fifth off Viola (12-12), who has lost four in a row and seven of his last eight decisions.

Pirates 6, Dodgers 4

Bobby Bonilla drew a one-out walk with the bases loaded to force in the go-ahead run in the ninth inning as Pittsburgh beat Los Angeles at Dodger Stadium to take a five-game lead over St. Louis in the East.

Pinch-hitter Gary Varsho opened the ninth off reliever Roger McDowell (4-8) with a single and moved to second on a single by Gary Redus. Jay Bell then sacrificed, and Andy Van Slyke was walked intentionally to load the bases.

Jay Howell replaced McDowell and walked Bonilla on five pitches to make it 5-4. Barry Bonds followed with a sacrifice fly.

Rosario Rodriguez (1-0) was the winner, getting the final two outs in the eighth to earn his second big-league win. Stan Belinda pitched a perfect ninth to earn his 14th save.

Padres 2, Cardinals 1

Fred McGriff snapped a tie with a ninth-inning sacrifice fly and Bruce Hurst won his 15th game as visiting San Diego ended St. Louis' five-game winning streak. The Padres have won four of their last five.

Pinch-hitter Oscar Azocar led off the ninth with an infield hit off Scott Terry (4-2) and went all the way to third when second baseman Jose Oquendo's throw from near second base bounced off his leg and rolled into shallow right field. With one out, Tony Gwynn drew an intentional walk before McGriff lofted a fly to medium center off Bob McClure that scored Azocar easily.

Reds 11, Expos 3

Tom Browning (13-8) prevailed in a rare matchup of perfect-game pitchers as Cincinnati pounded Dennis Martinez (12-9) for five runs in three innings and routed Montreal at Riverfront Stadium.

The majors' first pairing of perfect-game pitchers in 25 years was no contest. Chris Sabo drove in three runs off Martinez to start the offensive surge and Mariano Duncan went 4-for-5 with a pair of two-run homers off the Expos' bullpen.

Cubs 8, Giants 6

Chico Walker hit the NL's first inside-the-park grand slam since 1985, and Chicago held on to beat San Francisco at Candlestick Park. The Giants have lost four straight games.

Walker slapped a fourth-inning pitch from Paul McClellan (3-2) down the left-field line past the dive of left fielder Kevin Mitchell, who hurt his shoulder on the play and later had to leave the game.

Mike Bielecki (12-8), despite giving up six runs in 5 2-3 innings, broke a five-game winless streak and won for the first time since he beat Atlanta on July 28.

Phillies 11, Astros 10

Charlie Hayes, who hit a grand slam in the first inning, capped a three-run rally in the 10th with an RBI single off Al Osuna (7-4) as Philadelphia outlasted Houston for its 16th straight home victory.

Ken Caminiti drove in five runs for the Astros, who scored twice in the top of the 10th off Mike Hartley (4-2).

Candiotti helps Jays up lead

By The Associated Press

For a change, pitching in late August has some significance for Tom Candiotti.

"This is the first experience I've had of really being in a pennant race this late in the season, where every game really means something," Candiotti said after the Blue Jays' 3-0 victory over the Orioles on Wednesday night. "It's a feeling I haven't had before, and I'm really enjoying it."

Candiotti's late-August experience had usually been more negative than positive in the past. In five previous seasons in Cleveland, the Indians had finished no higher than fourth in the AL East.

The Blue Jays acquired Candiotti on June 27. On Wednesday night, they got one of his best performances in a big-game situation.

Candiotti pitched one-hit ball for eight innings, retiring the last 22 batters he faced, as the Blue Jays improved their first-place advantage in the AL East to two games over the Detroit Tigers, who lost 1-0 at California earlier in the day.

Candiotti gave up a single to Joe Orsulak and a walk to Glenn Davis in the first inning, then retired the next 22 batters before leaving in favor of Tom Henke, who recorded his 31st save with a perfect ninth.

Joe Carter drove in two runs for the Blue Jays, who completed a three-game sweep at Memorial Stadium.

Candiotti (11-11) struck out three and walked one, outdueling Ben McDonald (5-8), who gave up eight hits and struck out eight in eight innings.

"The first inning I was throwing the knuckler, trying to get it in the zone," Candiotti said. "Then, once I get my rhythm and mechanics down, then I usually go pretty good. It was a pretty typical game."

Actually, it was one of his finest efforts.

"It's one of the best," he said. "Anytime you only give up one walk and only have two baserunners, you've got to be pretty happy with that."

The Blue Jays' pitching staff allowed Baltimore only two earned runs and limited the Orioles to a .165 batting average in the three games.

"Pitching and defense down the stretch will win this thing," temporary manager Gene Tenace said. "If we continue to get the kind of pitching we've had the last three days, it'll be a lot of fun."

Tenace is 5-3 since taking over for Cito Gaston, who has been hospitalized with chronic back pain. After an 0-2 start, he's directed the Blue Jays to five victories in their last six games.

Angels 1, Tigers 0

Jim Abbott pitched four-hit ball over 7 1-3 innings and Luis Polonia doubled in the only run as the Angels beat the visiting Tigers.

The victory marked the first time in Abbott's three-year career that he has won five consecutive starts. Abbott (14-8) struck out six and walked one before Mark Eichhorn relieved in the eighth. Bryan Harvey got the last three outs for his 33rd save of the season and his 100th with California.

Bill Gullickson (16-7) failed in a bid to become the major leagues' first 17-game winner and equal a career-high in victories, despite allowing just five hits in eight innings.

Twins 4, Indians 2

Brian Harper drove in two runs, including the go-ahead run in the seventh inning, and David West pitched six strong innings as Minnesota beat error-prone Cleveland.

The Twins completed their six-game road trip with a 3-3 mark. Cleveland, which committed six errors, lost for the second time in its last six games.

West (4-3) allowed five hits, including Mark Whiten's game-tying two-run homer in the sixth inning. Carl Willis pitched two scoreless innings and Rick Aguilera worked the ninth for his 35th save.

Minnesota broke a 2-2 tie in the seventh. Loser Eric King (5-8) started the inning by hitting Randy Bush, and Kent Hrbek greeted reliever Jesse Orosco with a hit-and-run single that moved Bush to third. Harper followed with an RBI single off Jeff Shaw.

Athletics 9, Red Sox 3

Outfielders Mike Greenwell and Ellis Burks let Brook Jacoby's two-out fly ball drop between them for a three-run double to cap a four-run rally in the fifth inning as Oakland beat Boston, snapping a five-game losing streak.

Dave Stewart (10-8) won for the first time in four starts with his eighth straight regular-season winning decision over Boston. Counting postseason play, Stewart has 11 straight victories over the Red Sox, who have never beaten him in seven decisions at the Oakland Coliseum. Matt Young dropped to 3-5.

Yankees 5, Rangers 1

Rookie Bernie Williams drove in three runs and hit his first homer since July 15 to lead New York over Texas at Yankee Stadium.

Williams singled in two runs in the second inning, then hit his third homer of the season leading off the fifth as the Yankees snapped the Rangers' three-game winning streak.

Wade Taylor (7-7) allowed only three hits over the first five innings and held the Rangers scoreless until Gino Petralli opened the seventh with a homer. Williams' two-run single off Brian Bohanon (3-1) helped the Yankees take a 3-0 lead. They made it 4-0 on Williams' homer in the fifth.

Royals 7, White Sox 6

Warren Cromartie's two-out single in the ninth scored Bill Pecota from second base as the Royals handed the White Sox their ninth straight loss.

Pecota beat out an infield single off losing pitcher Bobby Thigpen (7-4), then stole second with two out to set up the winning run at Royals Stadium.

Jeff Montgomery (3-4) pitched one inning of hitless relief for the win. Robin Ventura's RBI single gave the White Sox a 6-5 lead in the top of the eighth, but Brian McRae singled home Terry Shumpert to make it 6-6 in the bottom of the inning.

Mariners 7, Brewers 6

Brian Holman pitched four-hit ball over seven innings and the Mariners withstood a five-run ninth by the Brewers to complete a three-game series sweep.

Holman (11-13) struck out five and walked one as Seattle beat Milwaukee for the 10th straight time at the Kingdome.

Ken Griffey Jr., Tino Martinez and Jay Buhner each drove in two runs for the Mariners.

Rangers choose Stadium design

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) - The Texas Rangers have laid out plans for a new stadium which owner George W. Bush says "will be one of the greatest ballparks ever built."

Rangers president Tom Schieffer said the owners "wanted a ballpark that looks like Texas."

So they chose the design of David M. Schwarz of Washington, sports architect Howard Needles Tammen & Bergendoff of Kansas City, and managing architect HKS Inc. of Dallas.

"The team that we put together is the best that could be assembled from around the country," Schieffer said Wednesday. "I'm confident they are going to come up with a creative design that will be the talk of baseball for years to come."

The park, which is due for completion in 1994, will offer an old-time touch of Texas.

The red brick and pink granite will give the stadium a neoclassical look on the outside similar to the state Capitol Building. Lone stars, Texas longhorns and light-fixture baseballs will decorate entry ways.

The inside will include a symmetrical design with no columns, much like Arrowhead Stadium in Kansas City. The park will seat 52,000 and will include a picnic area behind centerfield adorned with a giant "T" made of bluebonnets, the state flower.

The Rangers announced their architectural teams Wednesday, and Bush called it "a historic day. It will be one of if not the greatest ballpark ever built."

Bills' pass rush slowed to crawl by injuries

By The Associated Press

The pass rush - on both sides of the ball - is bound to be the chief concern for the Buffalo Bills when they open the NFL season Sunday against the Miami Dolphins.

The man they don't want sacked is quarterback Jim Kelly, who led them to the Super Bowl last season as the league's top-ranked passer. He said Wednesday that he'll play in the opener, but will be somewhat limited by an ankle injury that sidelined him for the last two exhibition games.

The pass rusher they probably won't have is defensive end Bruce Smith, second in the NFL last season in sacks. Smith underwent arthroscopic knee surgery two weeks into training camp and hasn't practiced since.

Kelly, practicing for the first time since the injury, said he felt good, but that "at times, I was a little rusty, missing a couple of wide-open receivers. But overall the ankle felt good and the arm definitely felt real good (and) fresh."

Kelly, acknowledging he's not one of the quicker quarterbacks even when completely healthy, said mobility is a concern.

"That's where the offensive line comes in," he said. "Hopefully, they're going to give me the time to throw and if they do blitz, I'll get the ball away quick enough that I don't have to worry about it."

The defensive pressure is a greater concern for coach Marv Levy because some of the Bills' other pass rushers also are hurting.

"It's not looking more like he will be able to go," Levy said of Smith.

"Right now, he hasn't worked. We still will carry him as questionable, but he's more questionable than Leon (Seals) or Mark Pike."

Seals, Buffalo's other starting defensive end, sustained a less severe knee injury two weeks ago. He said he was hopeful he would play.

"I just want to go out and practice," he said. "Right now, I really don't know."

Pike, a defensive end, sprained his foot at the beginning of training camp and is listed as questionable.

practice time curtailed. But the 6-foot-5, 274-pounder has shown he can succeed with a minimum of preparation.

After the Steelers made him their first draft pick in 1990, Green held out and missed the first three games. Still, he caught 34 passes for 387 yards and led the team with seven TD catches. Missing all of training camp is one thing; missing the repetitions of practice is another.

"I need practice," Green said.

The Steelers, though, have limited his work.

"I only do what they want me to do," Green said.

The Steelers also filled their roster at 49 with the signing of linebacker David Little and tight end Terry O'Shea. Little ended his contract holdout. O'Shea, among the last players cut Monday, was re-signed.

Four days before the Los Angeles Rams open the season against the Phoenix Cardinals, coach John Robinson doesn't know who will start at left tackle.

Irv Pankey remains a holdout in what increasingly looks like a hopeless stalemate and Robinson doesn't know if Robert Jenkins or Gerald Perry will start.

It's also clear the Rams feel no urgency to sign the 33-year-old Pankey at his asking price, something approaching the $750,000-a-year deal center Tom Newberry got. They're offering Pankey about $500,000 a year.

Linebacker Burnell Dent ended his 44-day holdout, signing a two-year contract with the Green Bay Packers. Green Bay has only linebacker Tim Harris still out of camp four days before it opens against Philadelphia.

Dent, who had 50 tackles as a linebacker and was an outstanding special teams player last season, made $200,000 in 1990. Terms of the new contract were not disclosed.

Conroe walkouts reinstated

CONROE, Texas (AP) - The punishment for 17 black Conroe High School football players who boycotted spring training because no blacks were selected on the school's junior varsity cheerleading squad has been reduced from a season-long suspension to three games.

The Texas Education Agency determined that the season-long suspension was too severe.

But investigators found no signs of racial discrimination in the handling of the incident by the Conroe Independent School District and said that it recommended a milder punishment, but could not condone the actions of the players.

School officials said Wednesday that they will allow the 17 players, including six returning lettermen, to rejoin the team. But they must miss the first three games of the season and play in only of the next three games. Their playing time for the remaining four regular season games will be up to the coaching staff, officials said.

"I'm very happy and thank God for allowing me another opportunity to play," said Lawrence Williams, a senior defensive back and blue-chip prospect.

Williams, 18, said the players were notified of the report and the school's revised sanction Wednesday. He said players wishing to rejoin the team will report to practice today.

"I think it's fair; I can't speak for the others," he said.

The state agency said participation in extracurricular activities is "a privilege and not a right."

The TEA recommended the players be reinstated immediately with a three-game suspension.

"The intent of this penalty is to allow the players who stayed on the team and earned a starting position to play at least half the season, and to permit the players who are rejoining the team to play half of the season as well, if their behavior and talents justify such," Superintendent Richard Griffin said. "Both groups will also have the opportunity to letter."

Louis Williams Jr., a returning defensive back who is Lawrence Williams' cousin, said he felt there had been "a little racial discrimination because of the way we were treated."

The players walked off the team after two black finalists for the junior varsity cheerleading squad were rejected in a vote by the student body in April.

Before he became heavyweight champion, Jim Corbett fought a 61-round draw with Peter Jackson in 1891.

The only losing fight for Jim Jeffries came in 1910, six years after he had retired as heavyweight champion. He was knocked out by Jack Johnson.

Ann Landers

DEAR READERS: I am on vacation, but I have left behind some of my favorite columns that you may have missed the first time around. I hope you enjoy them. -- Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a respectable married woman with grown children. Two years ago, I decided to go back to work as an executive secretary when our youngest child went off to college.

The problem is that my boss talks in his sleep. Before you get any funny ideas, let me assure you that there is nothing out of the way going on. My boss is an elder in the Mormon church, and I am a practicing Catholic. The man has not so much as glanced sideways at me.

But it seems he talks in his sleep, and in the past several weeks, he has mentioned my name several times. His wife phoned yesterday to tell me this and suggested that perhaps we should have a little talk. I told her there is nothing to talk about, and her reply was, "I feel relieved after our conversation, but this is the first time he has ever mentioned another woman. He usually talks about his brother or the children."

Will you please tell me why this man would be talking about me in his sleep? Should I tell my husband? I swear to you I am -- Innocent

DEAR INNOCENT: I believe you, and I'm sure his wife does, too. Stop worrying. Your boss talks about you in his sleep because you are one of the people he spends time with during his waking hours, so naturally you are in his subconscious. His thoughts need not be erotic, however. Witness the fact that he usually talks about his brother or the children.

Yes, tell your husband. It can do no harm. He should know about it, just in case Mrs. Boss decides to call him, too.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Help me, please, to get over this terrible feeling of resentment against a certain person. His presence in our home makes me ill. I find it difficult to cook a dinner when I know he is coming -- which is very often. When he is at the table, my stomach knots up, and I can't eat.

Unfortunately, he's our future son-in-law.

The young man is arrogant, obnoxious and an authority on every subject. He must always have the last word. I have told my daughter that her life will be hell if she marries him, but she won't listen. She's of legal age, 21, and can do as she wishes. I am sure she IS going to marry this terrible person and I see nothing in store for her but heartache.

My husband and I get along fine. We raised three good children. I hate to think of the struggles ahead for me -- since I must feign pleasantness and include him in all family get-togethers. Maybe you can say something that will help me like our future son-in-law. Please try. -- Heartsick Mother way you are EVER going to like your future son-in-law. The best you can do is accept the fact that your daughter is going to marry him. Refrain from knocking the fellow or trying to talk her out of it.

Some people must get their lumps the hard way and apparently your daughter is one of them. But please don't overlook the possibility that in spite of your evaluation, the marriage might turn out to be a good one.

I suggest that you not allow the young man to become a star boarder. Obviously he is hard on your nerves, and you should not subject yourself to so much unnecessary tension.

Planning a wedding? What's right? What's wrong? "The Ann Landers Guide for Brides" will relieve your anxiety. Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $3.65 (this includes postage and handling) to: Brides, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562. (In Canada, send $4.45.)

Whitmire honored recently

SARITA WHITMIRE

Sarita Whitmire, 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Whitmire of Sultan, Wash., has been selected as a finalist in the Washington National Teen-Ager Pageant that is being hosted by Pacific Lutheran University in Tacoma, Wash.

Whitmire is sponsored by Purcell and Walter Cattle Co., T.R. Sartor, ColorTyme, The Insurance Center, Pizza Hut, Custom Cleaners, Boots and Saddle, Park Ave. Bowl, Warren Bothers Motor Co., Park Ave. Florist.

She and her family are former residents of Hereford. Her father, Bill Whitmire, was transferred to Washington with Excel.

Men's fall fashions reviewed, earth in

What's new in men's fashions for the fall season? As usual, it depends on who you ask, but there seems to be agreement on color choice and comfortable fabrics.

According to a Liz Claiborne representative, "Fall is defined by a dynamic combination of texture, tone and well tailored pieces."

Another fashion observer says fall's best looks reflect an earthier way of dressing, combined with European savior-faire, but when asked for the rule of thumb for the season, replies: "There isn't one - but look for checks, softness and more jeweled tones."

Designer Marcos Ergas agrees. He believes men have begun to express a desire for more individuality in dressing.

"Fabrics, innovation and colors have all been discovered by men," Ergas says. "As life gets busier, men are looking for clothes which reflect a modern sense of style, which hinges on pure, understated sophistication."

In fall colors, Ergas is enthusiastic about gray, declaring "charcoal will never look drab again. Today's version is heathered tones which will awaken any men's wardrobe creating an utterly sophisticated statement."

In fabrics, he likes the softness of ultrasuede, the plushness of velvets, and the modern look of cotton and wool lycra knits. "The body will be wrapped in luxury," he says.

Some consultants refer to a new world order in fashion - namely, break the rules.

"Functional, warm-looking, comfortable clothes are what men want right now coupled with the added sophistication of international touches in detailing," notes Charles Cantrell, brand development manager for J.C. Penney Co.

"They want fashion value for their dollar and comfort in their closet. It is a simple concept - comfortable clothes just make you feel good."

Like many others in the fashion business, Cantrell believes that with the recession and environmental concerns on many people's minds, men want to relax a bit to get away from it all when they're not on the job.

"Leisure dress today, in contrast to the power dressing of the past decade, is definitely a more 'back-to-nature' way of dressing," he says.

Harris retirement reception Friday

Denim: kids' fashion mainstay

Form-fitting leggings or tights in brilliant colors and prints, topped by T-shirts, tunics and even dresses are this season's trends for girls.

But denims are still a mainstay for youngsters, done up in novel ways and colors.

Paisleys, plaids, polka dots, bell bottoms, lace knickers and stirrups are featured in a new line of leggings for young girls from HUE, the same company that markets trendsetting legwear to women. These can be layered with lace-up sweat socks or lace crochet anklets in colors. The leggings or tights sometimes are worn as pants and can be paired with over-sized sweaters, jackets, big shirts, or under short skirts, jumpers and dresses. They come in one size for girls from 5 through 12. Dressy, sophisticated variations are the Panne line from Baryshnikov for Kids, featuring footless tank unitards, high-waisted stirrup tights, footless tights and three-quarter sleeve tops in black stretch velvet. Bright prints in florals and abstracts also are featured in the Baryshnikov line, as they are in the Marika Kids' Fitness Apparel collections.

Prints also have found their way into the denim scene, with animals, cars, and bows on baggy pants and bib overalls from OshKosh B'Gosh. The line features coordinating tops and shirts for these as well as plain and plaid classics for both boys and girls.

Classic jeans with subtle variations

— such as a light blue denim with a violet cast — are featured in the Leo Kids Collections. The company assembled a student board of fourth graders to help them identify likely preferences, and found that girls like the violet tinted blue, called original indigo, in the Ruffle Back Rider and Snap Back Rider, both with ankle detailing. Boys' preferences were for non-restricting comfort, like the baggy Jock Jean with its sweat pant cut, available in black ice stripe, indigo ice and graffiti ice print, on acid indigo. "I like the baggy black ones because I can wear them after school when my brother and I play catch out back and my mom doesn't make me change my clothes," says Bobby Smith, 9, one of the board members.

Hints from Heloise

CLEANING WITH VINEGAR

Dear Heloise: I haven't been reading your column very long but noticed you frequently advocate the use of vinegar in cleaning. I was a little skeptical but decided to try it. Was I ever surprised!

My bathroom shower has glass doors that I was continually fighting to keep free of soap scum. I sprayed them with vinegar and scrubbed with a soft brush. The scum came right off and it took less than five minutes.

You've made a believer out of me! — B.H., San Antonio, Texas

Thanks for writing! I'm sending you a complimentary copy of my vinegar pamphlet containing many other wonderful and money-saving uses for vinegar. Anyone else interested in a copy should send $2 and a stamped (52 cents), self-addressed, business-size envelope to Heloise, Versatile Vinegar, P.O. Box 795001, San Antonio TX 78279-5001. — Heloise

BABY TOWELETTES

Dear Heloise: Here's a helpful hint for moms who use pre-moistened baby towelettes. To keep the top ones moist and the bottom ones from getting soggy, I store the container upside down. — Gina Verrette, Garland, Texas

Send a money- or time-saving hint to Heloise, P.O. Box 795000, San Antonio TX 78279. I can't answer your letter personally but will use the best hints received in my column.

Tips on makeup, contacts

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Contact lenses and eye makeup can be compatible, says a contact lens specialist at the University of Oklahoma Health Sciences Center.

Dr. Joseph Phillips, an optometrist, offers some advice about makeup to contact lens wearers:

— Put your contacts on first, making sure your hands have been washed with an oil-free soap. Soft lenses will absorb oil, dirt or cosmetics, which can cause eye irritation.

— Take your lenses off before removing makeup. Or, if you have extended wear lenses, close your eyes tightly and use a water-based makeup remover applied with a non-fibrous pad, such as a sponge or makeup squares. Rinse thoroughly with water.

— Use pressed powder rather than a liquid or cream eye shadow. Never use pearlized or frosted types, which contain a chemical which can stain lenses.

— Use water-based, water-resistant mascara designed specifically for use with contact lenses or by those with sensitive eyes. Two thin coats of mascara will cause less flaking and irritation than one thick coat.

— A soft pencil eyeliner won't flake off, as will liquid or powdered versions. Apply only to the outside lash line to avoid blocking ducts that line the eyelids.

— If you use aerosols — hairspray, deodorant or cologne — spray before you put lenses on. Otherwise, close your eyes tightly and immediately walk away from the area, since spray remains in the air for several minutes.

Phillips adds that contact wearers should never share makeup products or apply cosmetics to red, swollen eyes. Cosmetics should not be exposed to high temperatures, and applicators for mascara or eyeliner should not be reused. Don't use saliva or tap water to "stretch" cosmetics.

Don't use a straight pin to separate lashes, and don't put makeup on in a moving vehicle.
