Early voting to begin

Early voting will begin Wednesday in the Nov. 5 Constitutional amendment election, and will also be held on a Sunday, Oct. 27, in Deaf Smith County.

County Clerk David Ruland said today that he will honor the petition filed last week and offer hours on Oct. 27 for polls to be open.

"After talking with commissioners and my staff, we will be open from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. on Oct. 27," Ruland said.

During the regular County Commissioners' meeting Monday, Ruland asked for opinions from commissioners and the county judge. Afternoon hours seemed to be the consensus.

A petition was presented on Oct. 8 by Dr. Ron Cook, pastor of First Baptist Church, asking for early voting to be available on Oct. 27 "before and after morning church services."

Ruland, who is in charge of elections in Deaf Smith County, said that he is obligated to provide the service but has the option to select date and time.

"Oct. 27 seems to be the best date," Ruland said. The hours chosen are based on availability of staff for a Sunday afternoon.

In filing the petition for Sunday voting, Cook said the purpose is to attract as much attention as possible to defeat Proposition 11, the amendment that would allow a state lottery if approved by Texas voters.

Cook said that Oct. 27 is "high attendance day" in the Baptist General Convention of Texas, which might bring a high turnout of voters the same day. The high attendance day is held the last Sunday in October every year.

Cook reported that Texans Who Care has encouraged citizens opposed to the lottery to seek voting hours on weekends as well as weekdays.

State law requires that a petition signed by at least 15 registered voters must be filed for the county clerk to provide the special hours.

Early voting (formerly known as absentee voting) will be available weekdays, beginning Wednesday, in the Deaf Smith County courthouse office of the county clerk.

Ruland said that the office is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Staff members are in the office through the noon hour to accommodate voters, he added.

Texas voters have a list of 13 proposed amendments to the Constitution to decide. Going before voters again is an amendment that would allow issuance of $300 million in bonds to fund high education grants for students, along with other amendments.

Pumpkin painting at Otonofest

Children paint faces on small pumpkins at one of the many popular booths at Sunday's annual Otonofest at Dameron Park. The festival was a joint effort of St. Anthony's and San Jose Catholic churches and featured games, food and music.

Senators split on Thomas vote

WASHINGTON (AP) - A confident White House predicted Supreme Court nominee Clarence Thomas would win tonight's Senate vote, closing out the messiest and most intense confirmation debate in memory. President Bush was working the phones to forestall last-minute Democratic defections.

As the Senate opened debate, Thomas won crucial backing from Democrats who had expressed support for the nominee but then wavered after the sexual harassment allegations against Thomas were made public.

"The White House has a lot of clout... and they will probably win," was the reluctant assessment of Democratic Sen. Patrick Leahy of Vermont, a vocal Thomas opponent in a brief interview with The Associated Press.

The weekend's acrimonious hearings were over but the debate waged on as the climactic Senate vote drew near, not only over sexual harassment allegations against Thomas but also over the Senate's handling of the nomination.

An AP survey indicated Thomas would have a majority of at least 52 votes if Democrats stuck with pledges of support made before Ms. Hill's allegations surfaced.

"I have been troubled by the allegations," Sen. Richard Shelby of Alabama said on NBC. "But ultimately you have to make a decision and I made a decision this morning to support Judge Thomas, to give him the benefit of the doubt."

As the Senate opened debate, Sen. James Exon, D-Neb., also gave his support to Thomas.

"I intend to vote for confirmation but without enthusiasm," he said. "It's decisionmaking time and we can't punt."

Following Exon was Sen. Alan Dixon, D-Ill., who reaffirmed his support for Thomas.

Dixon said the inconclusive weekend hearings into the allegations by law professor Anita Hill left him no other choice.

"The person being accused gets the benefit of the doubt," Dixon said. "Judge Thomas is entitled to the presumption of innocence."

Bush, leading the lobbying effort for his nominee, said public support for Thomas was "holding strong." It appeared much of Thomas' crucial support among Southern Democrats was holding, too, leading to predictions the embattled nominee would win confirmation by a narrow margin.

Still, the White House said Bush would contact a half-dozen or so wavering senators.

"We think we have the votes to win," said White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater, an assessment shared not only by Thomas' Republican backers but also by Shelby, who predicted on NBC's "Today" show that Thomas would win by a narrow margin.

After a weekend of heated, sometimes sexually explicit hearings televised to the nation, the issue of Thomas' nomination at last was before the Senate, where floor debate was preceding the scheduled 6 p.m. EDT roll call vote.

"He's feeling good," Thomas' chief Senate backer, Missouri Republican Sen. John Danforth, said of the nominee.

"This is obviously, in my opinion, not one that you can decide by looking at public opinion polls," said one wavering Democrat, Sen. Joseph Lieberman of Connecticut.

Those polls indicated that more Americans believed Thomas' total denial than Anita Hill's detailed allegations of ugly sexual harassment in the office a decade ago.

"Her story in my opinion was not credible," said Republican Sen. Orrin Hatch of Utah, a Thomas supporter on the Senate Judiciary Committee told CBS today.

"I think Anita Hill was telling the truth," countered Democratic Sen. Patrick Leahy of Vermont, a Judiciary Committee member who opposes Thomas. Hatch criticized Democrats for their conduct during the weekend hearings, and Leahy answered with an indictment of Republican tactics. "It wasn't a search for the truth," Leahy said. "It was a search to try to smear Anita Hill."

A simple majority was needed to confirm and send the conservative black judge to a lifetime seat on the nation's highest court. Democrat Shelby predicted a narrow Thomas victory, but opponents held out hopes their last-minute lobbying would win enough defections to block the nomination.

Thomas would have 52 votes if 41 Republicans and 11 Democrats stick with pledges of support made before Ms. Hill's allegations surfaced. The Judiciary Committee had voted to send the nomination to the floor without recommendation after a motion of approval lost on a 7-7 tie vote.

A key Southern Democrat, Sen. J. Bennett Johnston of Louisiana, reaffirmed his support for Thomas, saying three days of hearings into the allegations by the University of Oklahoma law professor had not changed his mind. Georgia Democratic Sen. Sam Nunn reserved the right to change his mind, but said Monday night, "At this stage I continue to support Judge Thomas."

But other senators expressed anguish about their decision. And there was still more evidence to consider.

Another former aide to Thomas, Sukari Hardnett, told The Associated Press that some black women in his office at the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission felt they were objects of Thomas' "sexual interest" and physical inspection.

County accepts vehicle bid

A single bid for purchase of a patrol car was accepted Monday by Deaf Smith County commissioners who again expressed concern about a lack of competitive bidding.

Submitted by Stevens Chevrolet-Oldsmobile, the bid of $15,608 is more than $1,000 lower than the bid the firm offered in August when Commissioners' Court last bought a car for use by Sheriff Joe Brown's department. Both cars are 1992 models.

At the August bid-opening the Stevens price was $16,716. Commissioners then discussed what seemed to be lack of interest in bidding for the county's business.

However, County Judge Tom Simons reported that one dealership is unable to bid on a police package until February. Another dealer did not respond to the bid invitation.

He also pointed out that commissioners had the option of opening the single bid and accepting it or not opening the bid at all.

The consensus of commissioners was to open the bid. Johnny Latham of Precinct Four observed, "I don't want to go out of county."

Commissioners decided not to trade in 1988 and 1985 vehicles but to put them into a county auction, planned tentatively for 1992.

In another bid-opening, Commissioners' Court accepted the bid of Apian Corporation for seal-coating of roads in Precinct One. Cost will be $21,179 for approximately three miles. The company will make the cost per yard, 54.7 cents, applicable for similar projects until July 1, 1992.

County Clerk David Ruland gave a report on a survey of computer needs made by a consultant. He was asked to continue his research on needs of the county.

Simons advised the court that a house purchased recently will be painted and window blinds will be installed so the juvenile department may be moved to the new location by Nov. 1.

At the conclusion of the meeting, Simons suggested that commissioners accompany him on a tour of the courthouse to help in a study of space availability and requirements for county offices.

"I'd like to have mutual agreement on what we do," Simons said, noting that expansion of the justice of the peace office may be the most pressing need.

He appointed the court to serve as a committee of the whole to study space needs.

Landfill hearing set tonight here

A public meeting will be held at 6:30 p.m. today at the Hereford City Hall to review solid waste needs in Hereford and the Panhandle.

The meeting will be held by the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission to help develop a regional solid waste management plan.

The PRPC's Regional Solid Waste Management Advisory Committee was formed in September 1990 to develop a regional plan. The group, with members from cities, private companies and citizen groups, is also developing goals and objectives to set the tone and direction for future planning. The meeting here tonight is one of eight to be held across the Panhandle.

At the meeting, a presentation will be made by PRPC and advisory group representatives on the nation's "solid waste crisis," what has been done so far, and acceptance of public comment on the findings of the advisory group and suggested priorities for the regional plan.

All interested persons are urged to attend the meeting.

The meeting is one of many to be held across the PRPC's service area in the Panhandle to examine solid waste needs in the region, to ascertain what future needs may be, and to determine the best way to tackle the region's solid waste disposal. Also to be considered will be new regulations from the Environmental Protection Agency.

Signed into law on Sept. 11, the EPA's new regulations (known as "Subtitle D") are not as stringent as once feared but will still be quite costly to implement and will still lead to the closing of many Panhandle landfills.

Also being considered are the implications of SB 1519 passed by the Texas Legislature this year.

New regulations must be in effect by October 1993

The bill called for the creation of regional solid waste management plans throughout the state.

The hearing tonight is one of many steps taken by the PRPC since September 1990, when the EPA regulations were first submitted for public comment after two years of proposals by the federal agency. The new directives must be complied with by October 1993.

News Digest

World/National

WASHINGTON - Supreme Court nominee Clarence Thomas awaited tonight's verdict on his confirmation as the White House battled to preserve Senate support against last-minute soul-searching by key Democrats.

WASHINGTON - Another former assistant to Clarence Thomas has come forward with allegations that he "inspected and auditioned" attractive female office workers and demonstrated sexual interest.

ACROSS THE USA - There have been few, if any, occasions in history when Americans watched the inner workings of their Senate as closely as they did last weekend. For the most part, they didn't like what they saw.

WASHINGTON - This is no game for Boy Scouts, Clarence Thomas was told in one of the few understatement of the seamy finale to his Supreme Court confirmation hearings.

WOODSTOCK, Vt. - The Cabot and Camp families have run a funeral home in the big old Victorian house on the village green since 1917. And they say they've always paid their taxes promptly. But it took some time to convince TRW Inc. of that. TRW, the nation's largest keeper of credit reports, admitted it had erroneous tax information on up to 1,500 consumers in two states. And it agreed to give consumers free copies of their credit reports, which normally cost up to $20.

JUNEAU, Alaska - Gov. Walter J. Hickel's push into Alaska's wilderness and his taste for big Alaska-sized projects have caused a backlash from environmentalists.

SANTAREM, Brazil - The gold rush that began in the early 1980s has brought a million poor Brazilians to the Amazon and meant good fortune for a lucky few. But the mining process has reaped a deadly legacy: mercury poisoning.

Texas

WASHINGTON - More than 2,000 Texans called Sen. Phil Gramm's office to let him know what they think about embattled Supreme Court nominee Clarence Thomas.

AUSTIN - While the hearings on sexual harassment charges against U.S. Supreme Court nominee Clarence Thomas focused attention on a serious problem, they may not do much to end workplace harassment, Gov. Ann Richards says.

HOUSTON - A $3 million grant from the National Institutes of Health will help Texas Southern University open a center to research minority health problems, school officials said.

EL PASO - Members of the Tigua tribe were no-shows at a meeting with a direct descendant of Christopher Columbus that was supposed to soothe bad feelings between the Spaniards and American Indians.

AUSTIN - A recommended rate increase for El Paso Electric Co. is not enough to make the company financially healthy, says a utility spokesman. But a ratepayer advocate is urging the Public Utility Commission to reject the proposal as too high.

DALLAS - A man who had stolen $9 worth of gasoline died in the flaming wreckage of his car after it crashed while attempting to flee from a pursuing service station manager, police said.

FORT WORTH - The Fort Worth policeman who was videotaped while beating a handcuffed prisoner last July should be fired, a board of police supervisors has recommended.

COLLEGE STATION - Texas A&M officials have launched an investigation into allegations that a female member of the Texas A&M Corps of Cadets who alleged she was physically assaulted by three male cadets last month was attacked again last weekend.

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) - The outlook for an October peace conference appeared brighter today as Palestinians worked on terms for the negotiations with Jordan and Secretary of State James A. Baker III flew to see Syrian President Hafez Assad in Damascus.

The Palestinians seeing Prime Minister Taher Masri and probably King Hussein afterward would attend the conference as part of a delegation with Jordan.

Signaling the Palestinians, the last holdouts, may be on the verge of falling in line, the Palestine Liberation Organization has sent three executive committee members to participate in the bargaining.

They arrived Sunday and met with Masri and with Foreign Minister Kamel Abu Jaber over two days.

Baker, meanwhile, is seeing Assad and Syrian Foreign Minister Farouk Sharaa over Syria's role in the talks with Israel.

He hopes to persuade Assad to withdraw his objections to the phase of the negotiations that will deal with the weapons buildup in the region and Palestinian refugees.

"We will know in a reasonably short time if we will have an active peace process for the region, or not," Baker said Monday night after a three-hour meeting with King Hussein.

The king, who has flirted with negotiations with Israel for decades, was similarly upbeat. "I believe everything will come clear in a short space of time," he said.

Baker has set Oct. 21 as the deadline for sending out invitations to the conference that the United States and the Soviet Union are committed to cosponsor by the end of the month.

The surfacing of the PLO committee members brought into sharper focus the role Yasser Arafat's organization is playing in planning a peace conference.

It has been veiled in order not to infuriate Israel, the target of years of PLO attacks, and Baker was not eager to discuss the role in a joint news conference with Hussein.

Responding to a series of questions, Baker said the PLO officials' presence in Amman "is not a surprising phenomenon."

He said the United States was not negotiating with the PLO and "it is not our objective to bring or get Israel into a dialogue with the PLO."

Vendetta charged by PIA

HOUSTON (AP) - The state of Texas has a vendetta against people who give psychiatric care, the chairman of the parent company of the largest chain of psychiatric hospitals in the state says.

"It is my personal opinion the state of Texas has a vendetta against people giving psychiatric care," National Medical Enterprises Inc. Chairman Richard K. Eamer said Monday. "I think they picked on us because we're the biggest and largest psychiatric hospital chain."

Eamer says the state has interfered with his nearly $4 billion corporation's ability to do business in Texas.

The chairman said reports of investigations and news stories about alleged abuses at psychiatric hospitals had caused the morale of his corporation's more than 45,000 employees to fall.

The company's stock plunged from $25.75 per share to $16.125 last week. But it had risen to $17.75 per share Monday, corporate officials said.

The allegations have hurt the corporation's Texas hospitals, with their occupancy down 300 patients per day, Eamer said.

Psychiatric Institutes of America, a wholly-owned subsidiary of National Medical Enterprises - with 86 hospitals, including 12 in Texas - is being investigated for alleged use of patient "bounty hunters" to refer or deliver patients.

Texas Attorney General Dan Morales filed a lawsuit last month against Psychiatric Institutes, claiming the hospital chain had bilked the state's Crime Victim's Compensation Fund by treating patients for often unnecessary treatment and hospitalization.

The attorney general also stopped payment on more than $10 million worth of mental health care company claims to the fund, including a $3.1 million claim made by Psychiatric Institutes.

The investigation has expanded to include probes into criminal and antitrust allegations, including claims that the company refused to let patients leave until their insurance had run out, officials at the attorney general's office said.

Eamer said after an internal investigation by two law firms and the corporation's auditor, he believes the Texas attorney general's allegations are unsubstantiated.

The festival was a joint project of San Jose and St. Anthony's Catholic churches of Hereford.

Evangelist gives up leadership position

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) - Jimmy Swaggart is relinquishing leadership of his evangelical empire following allegations he picked up a prostitute, an official in Swaggart's organization says.

The 56-year-old Swaggart will "step down at least temporarily. Until Brother Swaggart gets back on his feet," said J.R. Heisch, administrator of the Family Christian Academy, a Swaggart-run school.

Heisch said Monday that the evangelist's son, Donnie Swaggart, will assume leadership of Jimmy Swaggart Ministries.

Calls to Jimmy Swaggart Ministries for comment from the Swaggarths went unanswered late Monday.

Rosemary Garcia, 31, of Indio, Calif., said she was with Swaggart in Indio when he was stopped by police on Friday and cited for traffic violations. Ms. Garcia said that she is a prostitute and that Swaggart asked for sex.

Swaggart was not charged with any sex-related offenses. In 1988, Swaggart resigned from the Assemblies of God, the nation's largest Pentecostal denomination, after a rival minister released photos of him with a New Orleans prostitute. Swaggart tearfully admitted to an unspecified sin.

Relocation Considerations

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) - Cost and availability of labor is one of the major factors to consider when a company is planning to relocate, says an economist who has helped several companies move here.

Another important factor is working environment - whether a new facility at a better location will enhance employee morale and productivity, says A.J. Christopher Wood, executive director of Richmond's Metropolitan Economic Development Council.

According to Wood, other relocation considerations should include:

- Availability of financial, accounting and legal services at the new location.
- Good public transportation for those employees who need it.
- Opportunities for vocational and industrial training, higher education and continuing education in the community.

Club holds 'auction'

La Madre Mia Study Club met recently in the home of Mary Beth White and conducted an auction to raise money for club expenses and projects.

Members placed bids on baked goods and crafts in paper cups. Members were delighted as their purchases were revealed.

Nancy Paetzold conducted the business meeting and a new member, Trudy Phillips, was introduced.

Further plans were made for the home tour. The club voted to purchase a camera for the historian to use.

Tonja Horrell was greeted as a guest and Jacy Allred was in Hereford from Amarillo.

Members and guests were served dessert by co-hostess Lucy Rogers.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I practice law in Clearwater, Fla., and deal primarily with wills and estates. Senior citizens constitute a large part of my practice. Often these people are faced with choosing a nursing home. Since these homes can cost upward of $30,000 a year, careful selection is required.

Recently, a client gave me a column you ran on how to select a nursing home. It would be a genuine service if you ran it again.--J.D.F., Clearwater, Fla.

DEAR J.D.F.: Thanks for asking. Here it is:

DEAR ANN: My elderly mother needs to be placed in a nursing home. There are several in this area, but I don't know which ones are good. In fact, I don't even know how to evaluate a nursing home.

Can you suggest some questions I should ask? I plan to visit several soon and make comparisons.--A Loving Daughter.

DEAR DAUGHTER: Here are some excellent guidelines from a brochure published by the Illinois Council for Long-Term Care.

1. Is the home licensed? Ask. If the answer is yes, ask to see the license.

2. Does the administrator have a current state license? Again, ask to see it.

3. Is the nursing home Medicare- and Medicaid-approved?

4. What other insurance plans are accepted?

5. Are there additional charges for personal laundry? Does therapy cost extra? If so, how much?

6. Are residents allowed to furnish their rooms with their own furniture? Can residents have their own radios or televisions?

7. Can a husband and wife share the same room?

8. Are residents permitted to smoke in their rooms? If so, are they supervised? What about alcohol?

9. Are there restrictions on making or receiving phone calls?

10. What are the visiting hours?

11. Where is the resident's money kept? Are there provisions for personal banking services?

12. When was the last state or local inspection, and what were the results?

13. How often are fire drills held for staff and residents?

14. What types of recreational activities are available to residents? Don't hesitate to ask to see the schedule of activities.

15. How are residents' medical needs met? Does the nursing home have an arrangement with a nearby hospital to handle emergencies?

16. Are special diets available for those who need them? Is there a professional dietician on the staff who is available as a consultant?

These are all valid questions. Don't hesitate to ask.

DEAR READERS: My Gem about Calvin Coolidge reminded a reader in Mexico City of this one:

When his wife Grace was under the weather one Sunday, President Coolidge, famous for his silence and short answers, went to church alone. When he returned, Grace asked what the minister talked about. "Sin," was the response. "Well," persisted the first lady, "What did he have to say about it?" Coolidge replied, "He was against it."

Is that Ann Landers column you clipped years ago yellow with age? For a copy of her most frequently requested poems and essays, send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $4.85 (this includes postage and handling) to: Gems, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562.

McBrayer honored by Crimestoppers

Dr. Duffy McBrayer, left, is presented a certificate of appreciation by Mal Manchee, a member of the board of Deaf Smith County Crimestoppers. McBrayer was honored for his service to the organization. He was a charter member and the first president of the group.

Tax workshops planned by TAES

The Texas Agricultural Extension Service, in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service, is once again offering the Tax Practitioner Workshops across the state of Texas, in the Fall of 1991. These workshops are led by CPA's and attorneys who are experienced in the field of income tax reporting and planning. They provide valuable continuing education opportunities for tax professionals seeking CPE and MCLE credit.

This year twenty-six General Tax Workshops, designed for practitioners who work mostly with individuals and small businesses, are offered in major Texas cities. The nearest one will be in Amarillo, on Dec. 16 & 17. Fifteen Advanced Tax Workshops are also offered. They are directed at the practitioner with substantial experience with individual returns, who does some business work, and feels the need to develop more skills in business related work. One will be offered in Amarillo, on Dec. 9-10.

In addition to the General and Advanced Workshops, there will be four each of the Estate Planning Workshops, and three each of the Fiduciary Income Tax, S Corporation and Basic Partnership Workshops. The Agricultural Tax Problems Workshop, which was introduced in 1989, will be offered this year in two locations--Corpus Christi and Lubbock.

For a brochure with a complete listing of the fifty-six Tax Practitioner Workshops offered in 1991, please contact your County Extension Agent, Beverly Harder, at 364-3573. Or you may contact the Tax Practitioner Workshop Office, Department of Agricultural Economics, Texas A&M University, College Station, Texas 77843-2124, or call (409)845-5446.

Names in the News

SAN DIEGO (AP) - Jane Seymour took a break from filming a cable movie to visit Sea World and feed the first emperor penguin hatched in captivity in more than five years.

The actress was accompanied Sunday by her son, Sean, 5, and daughter, Katy, 9, as she dropped a few fish down the throat of the month-old penguin chick.

The bird pecked out of its shell Sept. 16, marking the 12th successful captive hatching of an emperor penguin in zoological history. All have occurred at Sea World in San Diego, said Frank Twohy, assistant curator of birds.

Seymour is in San Diego for three weeks of filming for a USA Cable movie, a police drama titled "Are You Lonesome Tonight?"

NEW YORK (AP) - Ron Silver, who won praise for his portrayal of hotshot lawyer Alan M. Dershowitz in "Reversal of Fortune," is now taking on a real-life role as head of an actors' union.

Silver succeeds the late Colleen Dewhurst as president of Actors' Equity, probably the only union in the nation with a 90 percent unemployment rate.

He is dividing his time between acting, the union and the Creative Coalition, a political advocacy group he founded in 1988. At the union, his projects include organizing labor groups to lobby for a national health plan.

"Everyone has a duty to be an optimist," he said last week. "If you get everybody talking and yelling and participating, you can go beyond cynicism and apathy."

Silver is also known for his role in the Paul Mazursky movie "Enemies, a Love Story" and for his Tony-winning performance in David Mamet's "Speed-the-Plow."

NEW YORK (AP) - Mikhail Baryshnikov said he first came to know Martha Graham when the legendary dancer would walk into his dressing room after performances for "little chats."

"She didn't say very much," Baryshnikov said of the surprise visits from Graham in the 1970s. Graham died April 1.

"It was really strange and wonderful," said Baryshnikov in a recent interview.

The Russian-born dancer, veteran of the New York City Ballet and the American Ballet Theater, has become an honorary member of the Martha Graham Dance Company and will perform the title role in "El Penitente" tonight.

Before Graham died she left instructions that Baryshnikov, founder of the White Oak Project modern dance company, be given any Graham dance free of charge.

When he told Graham he wanted to attend her dance school, she told him, "Well, come. You could do it. You're more or less coordinated. And if you get it right in the beginning, it's much simpler," Baryshnikov recalled.

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) - Diane Ladd says Hollywood should look to the 1930s and films featuring strong women such as Bette Davis for guidance in coming up with better women's roles in the 1990s.

"I go back and look at what ... Davis, Barbara Stanwyck, Joan Crawford, Katharine Hepburn and a half a dozen others were doing in the 1930s," the actress said in today's The Tennessean, "and I have to hang my head in shame for my generation."

Ladd plays Mother in "Rambling Rose" with her real-life daughter, Laura Dem, playing a family servant.

Glimpses of the Future - Perhaps a Husband?

NEW YORK (AP) - Divination is commonly associated with Halloween in Britain.

According to old beliefs, chronicled in "The Folklore of American Holidays," it is a time when the veil between the living and the dead is partially lifted - and when clairvoyants, witches, diviners and ghosts are out and about.

A child born on Halloween is supposed to have second sight. If a young woman wishes to catch a glimpse of her future husband, her chances are good - provided she performs certain rites and is lucky.

A Fiery Part of the Fun

NEW YORK (AP) - Halloween bonfires are probably a remnant of the Druid practice of building hilltop fires to celebrate important festivals.

Nov. 1 was the Druid New Year and signaled the return of winter - definitely a good evening to cheer oneself up with a large fire - according to "The Folklore of American Holidays."

Let us show you a Texas you've never seen before.

THE ROADS OF TEXAS is the culmination of a mammoth project that has involved many individuals for over two years. When you get your copy of THE ROADS OF TEXAS you'll wonder how you ever traveled the state without it.

This 172 page atlas contains maps that show the complete Texas road system (all 294,000 miles) plus just about every city and community! Texas A&M University Cartographers.

Laboratory staff members produced the maps, based on county maps from the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation. The details shown are amazing—county and local roads, lakes, reservoirs, streams, dams, historic sites, pumping stations, golf courses, cemeteries, mines and many other features too numerous to list.

Arkansas-Texas series has rich history

LITTLE ROCK (AP) - During the next few days, there will be reams written about the Arkansas-Texas series. There will be numerous historical perspectives - from interviews with former participants to personal recollections.

Some radio station will probably dredge up "Short, Squashed Texan," and somebody will show highlights from 1964 or 1969 or 1987.

Why all the fuss over a football game?

For one thing, once Arkansas' program became established under Frank Broyles, the game usually had an impact on the Southwest Conference race.

For another, Saturday is the last go-around. Next year, Arkansas will be in the Southeastern Conference.

"I'm sure one of these days Arkansas and Texas will play sometime, but we're going to go about it as our last opportunity to play against probably the greatest rivalry we've had," said Arkansas coach Jack Crowe.

In the 1960s, the Arkansas-Texas winner earned the SWC championship six times. Twice during the decade, they shared the championship. The exceptions were 1966 and 1967.

The foundation for the series was built in the '60s. During those years, most of the games were humdrums: -Arkansas 24-23 in 1960 on Mickey Cissell's late field goal.

-Texas 7-3 in 1962 after recovering a Danny Brabham fumble at the UT goal and driving the length of the field to score with less than a minute to go.

-Arkansas 14-13 in 1964 when the Longhorns' two-point conversion attempt failed in the final minute. One of Arkansas' touchdowns was an 81-yard punt return by Ken Hatfield.

-Arkansas 27-24 in 1965 after the Razorbacks went from a 20-0 lead to a 24-20 deficit. Jon Brittenum to Bobby Crockett took the Razorbacks 80 yards in the final minutes.

-Texas 15-14 in 1969 after being down 14-0. James Street scrambled 49 yards for a touchdown on the first play of the fourth quarter and hit a let-it-all-hang-out pass on fourth-and-two. The Longhorns intercepted a Bill Montgomery pass in the end zone when it was 14-8. President Nixon was in the stands and the nation was watching the matchup between No. 1 and No. 2.

Texas won eight times during the 70s, losing only in 1971 and 1979. The Longhorns earned the league title in 1970, 1972, 1973 and 1977. The two teams and Texas A&M shared the 1975 title despite Texas' 24-18 victory. In 1971, Texas wound up as champion despite a 31-7 loss to the Razorbacks. Arkansas lost to Texas A&M and then suffered a 24-24 tie with Rice. Eight years later, the Razorbacks beat Texas 17-14, lost to Houston and shared the championship with the Cougars.

The Razorbacks' program declined for a few years and the winning margin widened - 20 points in 1972, 28 points the next year and 31 the next.

In 1976, Broyles and Texas coach Darrell Royal retired together at the season finale. The Longhorns won 29-12.

The following year was the first for Lou Holtz at Arkansas and Fred Akers at Texas. Steve Little kicked a 67-yard field goal, but Earl Campbell - bottled up most of the game - took a screen pass to the Arkansas 2 in the fourth quarter and Texas won 13-9.

In 1978, the Razorbacks had to use 5-foot-7 defensive back O.C. Jackson against 6-foot-6 tight end Lawrence Sampleton and the Longhorns won 28-21.

In 1979, Texas missed a 50-yard field goal attempt on the final play.

In the early 1980s, Southern Methodist University and A&M emerged as the best in the league. Texas went through the league unbeaten in 1983, but that was the only championship for UA or UT until 1988. That year, Arkansas beat Texas 27-24 and went 7-0 in the conference. The next year, the Longhorns won 24-20, but the Razorbacks captured the league championship.

There were several interesting matchups in the 80s:

-Texas, No. 1 in the country after a victory over Oklahoma in 1981, lost 42-11.

-Texas won 24-18 in 1984 after Arkansas fell behind 24-3 and then threw for more than 200 yards in the fourth quarter.

-Texas didn't score a touchdown in 1985 and won 15-13.

-Arkansas won in Austin in 1986 and 1988. Quinn Grovey and Barry Foster went wild in 1988 and Arkansas built a big lead, but it took a Steve Atwater interception to nail down a 27-24 win.

-Texas' Tony Jones caught a pass on the last play of the 1987 game in Little Rock and the Longhorns won 16-14 - an outcome that focused a lot of criticism on Hatfield and his staff.

Last year, the Longhorns clobbered Arkansas 49-17 and wound up 8-0 in the league. It was 21-17 after three quarters.

All this history may not mean a thing on Saturday. Then again, Arkansas is a surprising 3-0 in the league and Texas is 1-0.

Steelers fall despite coming back to tie

PITTSBURGH (AP) - For 2 1/2 quarters, the Pittsburgh Steelers had nothing to celebrate, save for an occasional first down. They were getting embarrassed big time, and the most audible sound in Three Rivers Stadium was that of TV sets clicking off across the nation.

"Man, we were looking bad in front of the whole country," Barry Foster said.

The defending Super Bowl champion New York Giants, leading 20-0 in the third quarter, were looking - well, super again.

Only 22 minutes of playing time later, following one of the most remarkable second-half comebacks in recent NFL seasons, the Steelers finally had something to celebrate. The trouble was they did.

Helped by an ill-timed touchdown celebration penalty, a rare mistake by one of the most dependable kickers in NFL history and a quarterback who didn't quit when his counterpart got started, the Giants beat the Steelers 23-20 Monday night.

Just when it looked like the Giants might lose the kind of game that can destroy a season - especially the kind of turbulent, tension-filled season they've been having - they turned to ole Mr. Dependable, Matt Bahr.

The Giants (4-2) took a 20-0 lead, lost it to a dramatic 20-point comeback directed by, of all people, Neil O'Donnell, then won it on a 44-yard field goal by Bahr with four seconds left. Of the Giants' last six victories, Bahr's field goals have decided four of them, three in the closing seconds.

Sure, the Steelers' comeback was remarkable, but so was Bahr's. Cut by the Steelers 11 years ago, he's still in the league, mostly because he just might be the best clutch kicker in football.

What worried the Giants was it was close.

"It shouldn't have been that close," quarterback Jeff Hostetler said.

Dave Meggett set up New York's first touchdown with a 22-yard reception, then scored his first career rushing touchdown on a 30-yard run and the Giants led by 20 with 7:13 left in the third period. New York had a 3-to-1 edge in time of possession and the Steelers were generating about as much offense as - well, the Pirates' Barry Bonds, who just happened to be in the stands.

Exit Bubby Brister, who was 6 of 16 for 97 yards. Enter O'Donnell, who had thrown exactly five passes in his NFL career.

If the Giants didn't believe they still were in a game, they were after two Gary Anderson field goals and two O'Donnell touchdown passes in less than five minutes, a 16-yarder to Louis Lipps and a 5-yarder to Eric Green, tied it with 50 seconds to play.

"I really felt we were going to win the game," Pro Bowl cornerback Rod Woodson said. "We all did."

Except the Giants, who suddenly realized they were headed to overtime and, perhaps, a catastrophic loss. And the Steelers, who did nothing right for 2 1/2 quarters, then could do no wrong, did two things very wrong.

First, they celebrated Green's touchdown with way too much exuberance. Bad mistake, because it cost them five yards on the kickoff. Then, Anderson, the second most accurate kicker in NFL history, kicked the ball out of bounds while trying to steer it away from Meggett.

"That meant 25 yards difference," Woodson said. "They get the ball on the 40 and they've only got to go 35 yards to set up the field goal."

Precisely, they went 36, with Hostetler hitting Meggett for 16 yards before ending the five-play drive by scrambling himself for 18. Enter Bahr. Exit Steelers.

Put all your business risks in one package.

A single package of business insurance gives you more than convenience. It also assures you that your buildings, contents and liability exposures are fully covered and that you're not paying extra for duplicate coverage from separate sources.

Our independent agency often recommends the Business Account Program from the CNA Insurance Companies, one of several we represent. One reason is the broad coverage which is provided automatically by this program. And there's never a doubt about who's responsible for your coverage when a claim occurs.

Let us help provide you with a package policy specially designed for your business.
